

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2010 with funding from Allen County Public Library Genealogy Center

http://www.archive.org/details/imperialgazettee00wils

GEN

GENEALOGY 942.0003 IM73, A-C

IMPERIAL GAZETTEER

ENGLAND AND WALES;

EMBRACING RECENT CHANGES IN COUNTIES, DIOCESES, PARISHES, AND BOROUGHS: GENERAL STATISTICS: POSTAL ARRANGEMENTS: RAILWAY SYSTEMS, &c.:

AND FORMING

A COMPLETE DESCRIPTION OF THE COUNTRY.

ĽY

JOHN MARIUS WILSON.

AUTHOR OF TOPOGRAPHICAL GAZETTELRS OF IRELAND AND SCOTLAND, SCOTTISH CUIDE, &C., &c.

> GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY OF THE CHUR, IM UP JUSUS CHRIST OF SAMEDEAN SAMES

VOL. I.

AARON END-CHARTLEY-HOLME

55131

EDINBURGH, GLASCOW, LONDON, DUBLIN. 1870

WITHDRAWN From the Femily History Lierry

PREFACE.

THE IMPERIAL GAZETTEER OF ENGLAND AND WALES supersedes a previous Gazetteer, issned by the same publishers. That work was called the "Parliamentary Gazetteer of England and Wales," and was published in 1838 and following years. It embodied what was good in previous Gazetteers; added information from historians, antiquaries, and statists; engrossed the substance of many parliamentary documents on topographical, commercial, and social affairs; and aimed to be a complete and detailed description of all England and Wales. It was highly popular; it would have continued to be so but for immensely numerous changes, which rendered it in great degree obsolete; and, on account of these changes, as well as for sake of introducing important new features and topics, it is now superseded by the present work.

The Imperial Gazetteer professes to be as superior to the Parliamentary Gazetteer as it was superior to all previous Gazetteers, and aims to be much the best work of its class which has ever yet been produced. Its articles are about twice as numerous as those of the Parliamentary Gazetteer; they include names, subjects, and arrangements which do not occur in any other work; and they are framed with the best adaptations, which long experience in the preparation of Gazetteers could suggest, to all the purposes of an easy and perfect book of reference. They exhibit all sorts of inhabited places, down to villages and hamlets; territorial divisions of the different kinds, political, registrational, and ecclesiastical; natural objects, such as mountains, headlands, caverns, streams, and waterfalls; industrial works, such as railways, canals, great bridges, and ancient roads; notable spots or objects, such as historical scenes, archeological sites, ancient camps, castles, and ruins. Every place is described in its position, distances, and communications; and also, when such exist, in its history, antiquities, property, administration, edifices, institutions, productions, traffic, taxes, and population.

Some features of the work are new, or not found in any other Gazetteer; and others, though not new, are larger, more distinct, or better drawn. The most recent changes in the limits, divisions, or constitution of counties, boroughs, dioceses, and parishes are stated. The differences between the electoral counties and the registration ones are shown. Statistics of all kinds, in relation to counties, districts, boroughs, ports, dioceses, parishes, chapelries, and other localities, are given. All post-offices, all money-order offices, all postoffice savings' banks, and the nearest or proper post-office to any parish or chapelry which has not one of its own, are indicated. All railways are described; all railway stations and all telegraph offices are noted; and the distance and direction of the nearest or most suitable station to every parish, chapelry, or considerable township, are mentioned. New public buildings of every kind, new public works, new churches, new institutional erections, new schools, and even many new mansions, new hotels, and new great warehouses, so far as could be known till the time of going to press, are described. Views of the social condition of the country, as to employments of the people, distribution of property, agriculture, manufactures, commerce, crime, pauperism, and other matters, as well from general information as from statistics, are interwoven. Objects or features interesting to tourists, to invalids, to sportsmen, to geologists, to antiquaries, or to the curious—picturesque details even in spots little visited, spas, watering-places, trouting-waters, coursing-grounds, rock formations, bone caverns, land-slips, ancient and mediæval works, many things of a striking or peculiar kind, natural or artificial, are mentioned or described. And the account of every place, large or small, is so framed as to present all the information upon it at a glance.

The technical treatment of the work also is on an improved plan. Old modes of treatment are made more distinct, and some new ones are introduced. The spellings of names are the most modern or approved,-generally after the revised form of the Commissioners of the Census; and in cases where two spellings still prevail, at different points of the alphabetical arrangement, both are inserted, with a reference from the one to the other. Every concentric set of places, as of a village, a township, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, is treated under one name, in a continuous article, and in regular order from the centre to the circumference. All places capable of being so spoken of are designated as situated on a river, on a railway, on a Roman road, under a height, or in some other marked relative position. The recent subdivision of England and Wales into registration districts, for fixing the locality of towns, parishes, and other included places, is everywhere followed; and that arrangement is found to possess great and numerous advantages. The Census Commissioners of 1851 used it for all their statistics, retaining only so much reference to the old divisions as might form a nexus between the population tables of 1851 and those of the previous decades; and the Census Commissioners of 1861 discarded the old divisions altogether. One use of following the district divisions, in the Imperial Gazetteer, has been to save much space for useful information, by avoiding prolix and multiform designations; another has been to exhibit the entire country in far more equal sections than on the plan of the old divisions; another has been to show places in their practical connexion with the principal administrations; and another has been to introduce statistics of poor rates, births, marriages, and deaths at the date of the latest report before going to press, and statistics of places of worship and of schools according to the only Census of them which has been taken, the Census of 1851. The use of the new divisions, nevertheless, is still accompanied with sufficient notice of the old ones. The poor law unions, in the vast majority of instances, are conterminate with the districts, or, when two or more are included in a district. the fact is duly noticed and defined; so that these divisions are all constructively shown in the accounts of the districts. And as to the old divisions of hundreds, rapes, wapentakes, and wards, these are still noticed in articles on themselves and in the articles on the counties.

The Imperial Gazetteer has had the benefit of long experience in the preparation of other Gazetteers; and it can scarcely have failed to derive considerable value from that circumstance alone. Among other things brought thence to bear upon it were an acquaintance with authorities to be used, and with the best modes of using them; an expertness in sifting and assorting materials according to their value; and a skill in putting facts together in fewest words and in clearest order,—in proportioning statements according to their degree of importance,—and in symmetrizing articles, making those of a class everywhere similar, and the earlier parts of the work neither broader nor narrower than the concluding ones. These things, owing to the immense multitudinousness of its ingredients, affect a Gazetteer more strongly than almost any other compilation.

The Imperial Gazetteer does not profess to be perfect. No Gazetteer ever was; no Gazetteer ever will be. Mistakes and discrepancies in authorities, and changes in places and structures, always occasion some errors. But much care has been used to insure correctness; inquiries have been made to clear away doubts; and all articles which seemed in the least likely to want perfect freshness, including thousands of only a few lines each, have undergone revision by intelligent residents in the places which they describe; so that the amount of possible errors, throughout the work, may be presumed to have been reduced to a minimum.

PREFACE.

The only abbreviations used, such as r. station for railway station, and the mere initial of a proper name when the name itself has immediately gone before, are all so obvious as not to require explanation. The statements of acreage are from the Census of 1861. The water-areas of places on coasts, estuaries, and tidal rivers, are generally foreshore. The statements of real property are from the return of 1860; and those of rated property, from the return of 1859. The population of towns and parishes, when no year is specified, is always of 1861. The values of very many of the benefices are given as admitted or corrected by the incumbents themselves. All the tracts designated parishes are parishes in the civil or political sense; and the great majority of them, or all not stated to include separate benefices, are also parishes ecclesiastical. All the tracts designated chapelries or parochial chapelries, and at the same time indicated to have been formed at a given date, or to have a defined population, are ecclesiastical parishes, and may be readily distinguished, by the fact of their definite population, from chapelries in the lower sense. Most of them are simply sections of civil parishes, some are sections cut curiously through the core of townships, not a few comprise portions of several political parishes, and most were so obscurely defined at the Census of 1861 that "the exact limits of them were known to few persons in the locality except the incumbents;" so that to have designated them parishes, or even new parishes, would have both involved much tedious language respecting their boundaries, and produced extreme confusion in the correlative statistics. The Census calls them ecclesiastical districts, and exhibits them apart from parishes in supplemental tables; and it evidently required to adopt some such course in order to make its main statistics clear. The Imperial Gazetteer also might have called them ecclesiastical districts, if that could have been thought a better name than chapelries; but, to prevent ambiguity, it has all been written on the rule of applying the term district only to a registration district. The tracts called extra-parochial were, by a recent enactment, declared to be civil parishes for poor-law purposes; but as many of them have been found too small to be workable parochially, the Gazetteer designates them all as extra-parochial.

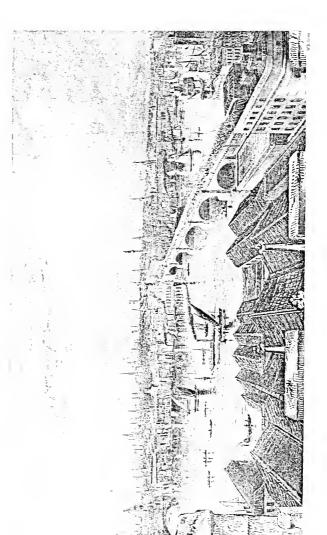

A comprehensive article on all England and Wales, similar in structure to each of the articles on each of the counties, but more in detail, with a vider range of topics, exhibiting all England and Wales in one view, and serving as both centre and cincture to the entire work, is an important portion of the Gazetteer. A thought was at first entertained to place it at the beginning, by way of Introduction; but mature consideration decides to place it at the end. It will figure there, not as an Appendix, but as a Summary; and, while presenting information peculiar to itself, will throw reflected light on words, phrases, statements, descriptions, or other matters in almost all the articles.

The engraved illustrations given with the Gazetteer aim at combining novelty and utility with artistic excellence. Besides plates of scenery and architecture, they comprise a series of interesting and beautifully-executed-and-coloured maps and plans of estuaries, harbours, bavens, cities, and towns—the Thames, the Humber, the Severn, the Mersey—London, Liverpool, Bristol, Manchester, Leeds, Plymouth, Portsmouth, Hull, Whithy, and many others of lesser name—brought up to the present time, each and all illustrating the letterpress of the book, instructive to the stranger and a subject of pleasurable interest to the resident.

PREFACE.

The Imperial Gazetteer is accompanied with a Sheet Atlas, or large map, of England and Wales. This supplies a very great desideratum. The county maps hitherto issued with Gazetteers are very unsatisfactory. They commonly amount to about sixty,—one for each of most of the counties, and two or three for each of the larger ones; they are usually all of one size and shape, so as to give for their several territories a uniform extent of space; and they, therefore, are drawn on widely different scales. The larger counties, which are also the richest in local features, are shown on a scale unduly small; and the smaller ones, which are also the poorest in striking features, are engraved on a scale unduly large, Devon, for example, which has an area of 1,657,180 acres, and abounds in features of local interest, is shown on the same space as Rutland, which has an area of only 95,805 acres, and possesses very little salient feature. The maps, as taken together, are no fair atlas: they do not exhibit the face of the country continuously; they convey, on a rough view, a vastly contorted notion of the porportions of its parts; and they fail, even with the aid of full observation of their several scales, to give a ready view of the connexions among the multitudes of places on opposite sides of county boundary-lines. Their very margins are confusing; and their differences of execution, suited to their differences of scale, make wrong impressions.

The Sheet Atlas of the Imperial Gazetteer would have been a great improvement had it done no more than merely avoid the faults of these county maps. But it also possesses great positive advantages. It is a reduction from the Ordnance and other actual surveys, on a scale so large, and in such a manner, as to give a complete and correct picture of the country. It is engraved on the uniform scale of 4 miles to an inch; it comprises 16 sheets, each having an engraved portion of 26 inches by 18; it measures, when put together, 8 feet 3 inches by 6 feet 6 inches; and it can either be retained in its sheet form or pieced up as one large wall-map. It is executed in the best style, and has been produced by immense labour and at great cost. It shows the lines of railway as corrected, and brought up to the time of publication, by the engineers of the respective companies. It distinctly exhibits every hill, valley, stream, canal, railway, railway branch, railway station, road, cross-road, and important tourists' foot-path; every town, village, parish church, gentleman's scat, castle, important ruin, and site of battle; every object of historical, antiquarian, and tourist interest; and all lights, beacons, banks, shoals, and other objects of marine interest on or near the coast. It is divided by engraved lines into equal rectangular spaces, with reference-letters for indicating positions. And it is accompanied with an index of names and positions, printed to bind up with it if a book, or to be placed separately if mounted.

N. 砂豆豆豆 电图

and which house house have been

A hallmoon & Colon Colon brodu.

IMPERIAL GAZETTEER

OF

ENGLAND AND WALES.

The sign * denotes that there is a habitable glebe house, + that there is a money-order office, ‡ that there are a money-order office and a savings' bank.

AARON END.

ABBEY-FARM.

AARON END, a mountain on the S side of the pass from Borrowdale over Sty Head toward Wastdale, Cumberland.

ABBANDUNE. See ABINGDON.
ABBAS-COMBE. See COMBE-ABBAS.
ABBAS-COMPTON. See COMPTON-ABBAS.

ABBENHALL. See ABINGHALL

ABBERBURY. See ALBERBURY. ABBERFORD. See ABERFORD.

ABBERLEY, a parish in Martley district, Worcester; near the river Teme, 5 miles SW of Stourport r. station. It has a post-office under Stourport. Acres, 2,636. Real property, £4,238. Pop., 692. Houses, 132. The pro-It has a post-office under Stourport. Acres, 2,636. Real property, £4,238. Pop., 692. Houses, 132. The property is much subdivided. Abberley hills are about 800 feet high. The rocks display the caradoc formation, and include lime and coal. An ancient camp occurs at Woodbury. The poet William Walsh, the friend of l'ope, was a native. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £249.* Patron, J. Moilliett, Esq. The church was rebuilt in 1852. There are a Wesleyne chapel and charging for the series of the statement of the statement leyan chapel, and charities £15. ABBERLEY, Kidderminster. See HABBERLEY. ABBERTOFT, a hamlet in Willoughby parish, 2 miles

ABBERTOFT, a namet in Willougaby parish, 2 miles Se of Alford, Lincoln. Pop., 23.

ABBERTON, a parish in Lexden district, Essex; on the river Roman, 5 miles south of Colchester r. station. It has a post-office under Colchester. Acres, 1,067. Real property, £1,674. Pop., 269. Houses, 59. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £289. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The clumbe is relative to read and the Lord Chancellor. The church is plain but good; and there is a Wesleyan chapel.

there is a Wesleyan chapel.

ABBERTON, a parish in Pershore district, Worcester; on the river Piddle, 3 miles SSW of Inkberrow and 4 NNE of Pershore r. station. It has a postal-box under Pershore. Acres, 1,001. Real property, £1,337. Pop., $2. Ilouses, 17. The property is all in one estate. There are saline springs, similar to the waters of Cheltanham. The living is a recovery in the diosess of of Cheltenham. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £161. Patron, W. Laslett, Esq.

of Cheltenham. The hving is a recompleted for the church is good.

ABBERWICK, a township in Edlingham parish, Northumberland; on the river Alne, 3½ miles W of Alnwick. Acres, 1,673. Pop., 123. Houses, 26.

ABBEY, an extra-parochial tract in the district of Llanrwst, and county of Carnarvon; on the Conway river, 3 miles N of Llanrwst. Pop. 18. Houses, 3.

ABBEY, a sub-district of Bath district, Somerset. It comprises three parishes. Pop., 11,086. House, 1,383. See Bath.

1,388. See BATH.
ABBEY, a railway station in Cumberland; on the Carlisle and Silloth railway, at Abbey-Holme, 17 miles

ABBEY, Devon. See HARTLAND. ABBEY, Hertford. See Albans (St.).

ABBEY, Hertford. See ALBANS (ST.).
ABBEY, Pembroke. See DOGMEL (ST.).
ABBEY-CWM-HIR, a parochial chapelry in Rhayader district, Radnor; 6 miles NNW of the Central Wales railway below Penybont, and 64 ENE of Rhayader. Post-town, Penybont. Acres, 10,965. Pop. 537.
Houses, 96. The name signifies the Abbey of the Long Vale. The surface lies along the Clywedog, a tributary of the Ithon; and is a charming, fertile bottom, environed and overhung by picturesque wooded hills. A Cistertian abbew was founded here, in 143, by Court wathelan ap Madoc; and destroyed, in 1401, by Owen Glendower. The property belonged, in the 17th centry, to Sir Wm. Fowler, concerning whom it was said, tury, to Sir Wm. Fowler, concerning whom it was said,-

> "There is neither a park nor a deer To be seen in all Radnorshire, Nor a man with five hundred a-year Save Fowler of Abbey-Cwm-Hir."

The abbey church was 255 feet long and 73 feet wide, but only a few fragments of it remain. The mansion of but only a few fragments of it remain. The mansion of F. Philips, Esq., partly built with the stones of the church in 1816, stands adjacent. A Roman road goes up the vale past the abbey, toward the valley of the Marteg. The living of Abbey-Cwm-Hir is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, 261. Patron, G. H. Philips, Esq. The church was rebuilt in 1867, and is in the Continental first pointed style.

in the Continental first pointed style.

ABBEY-DALE, a hamlet in Ecclesall Bierlow township, W. R. Yorkshire; 3 miles SW of Sheffield.

ABBEY-DEMENSES, a hamlet in the parish of Winchcombe, Gloucester.

See WINCHCOMBE.

ABBEYDORE, a village and a parish in the district and county of Hereford.

The village stands on the river and county of Hereford. The village stands on the river Dore, 2 miles NW of Pontrilas r. station, and 11 SW of Hereford; and has a post-office under Hereford. It is an old-fashioned place, and offers facilities for anglers. The parish comprises 5,390 acres. Real property, £4,593. Pop., 551. Houses, 99. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £650.* Patrons, the cohers of the late duches sof Norfolk. A Gistertian abbey was founded here, by Robert de Ewyas, in the time of King Stephen: and passed, at the dissolution to the King Stephen; and passed, at the dissolution, to the Scudamores. The present church belonged to the abbey, Scaldanores. The present entern belonged to the accept, was recently repaired, and contains a fine old pulpit, some beautiful painted windows, and several ancient monuments. Charities, £44.

ABBEY-FARM, an extra-parochial tract, the site of the ancient abbey of Cockerham, 4½ miles SSW of Lauster. Pop., with Crook-Farm, 42. ABBEY-FORD. See FORD-ABBEY.

ABBEY-FOREGATE. See SHREWSBURY.

ABBEY-GATE. See LEICESTER.
ABBEY-HOLME, or ABBEY-TOWN, a township and a sub-district in Wigton district, Cumberland. The township is in the parish of Holme-Cultram; and lies on the river Waver, and on the Carlisle and Silloth railway, near the head of Morecambe bay, 6 miles WNW of Wig. near the head of Morecamoe cay, o miles way to true.

The head of Morecamoe cay, o miles way to true.

The head of Abbey on the railway, and a post-office; of the name of Abbey-Town under Carlisle. It was formerly a market town; and it still has a fair on 29 Oct. A Cistertian abbey was founded here, in the 12th century, by Henry I.; and rose to such consequence that its abbots were frequently summoned to sit in parliament, in the reigns of Edward I. and II. It was demolished by Robert Bruce, afterwards splendidly rebuilt. It sustained much injury in the time of Henry VIII.; but its church continued in good condition till 1600; but then the steeple fell, and destroyed great part of the chancel; and in 1604, most of the rest was ruined by an accidental fire. Pop. of the township, 982. Houses, 200. A bill was introduced in 1864 to make a railway from the Carlisle and Silloth at Abbey-Holme to the Maryport and Carlisle, in the parish of Wigton, with a branch to Bolton, and branches therefrom to the Maryport and Carlisle, and near Priestcroft.-The sub-district comprises the greater part of Holme-Cultram, parts of two other parishes, and two entire parishes. Acres, with the rest of Holme-Cultram, 71,720. Pop., 8,024. Houses, 1,621.

ABBEY-HULTON, a lordship in Burslem parish, Stafford; near Burslem r. station. It contains the ham-

Station; near Durstein r. station. It contains the mains of a Cistertian abbey, founded in 1223 by Henry de Audley. Pop., 726. Houses, 145.

ABBEY-LANDS, a township in Alnwick parish, Northumberland; 2 miles NW of Alnwick. It contains the banklet of Paparhayae, Health, Health, Farry the hamlets of Broomhouse, Heckly, Heckly-Farm, Heckly-Grange, and Whitehouse; and it contained an-

Heckly-Grange, and Whitehouse; and it contained a ciently an abbey of canons. Pop. 288. Houses, 52. ABBEY-LANERCOST. See LANERCOST. ABBEY-MALMESBURY. See MALMESBURY. ABBEY-MILTON. See MILTON-ABBAS. ABBEY-STEPET. See CARLISLE. ABBEY-TOWN. See ABBEY-HOLME.

ABBEY-WOOD, a hamlet in Erith parish, Kent; on the North Kent railway, 23 miles E of Woolwich. It is named from the abbey of Lessness, about a mile distant; it has become a sort of metropolitan suburb; and it has a r. station with telegraph, and a postal pillarbox.

ABBEY-WOOD, Devon. See DUNKESWELL.

ABBORN. See AUBURN.

ABBOTS, a tything in Portbury parish, Somerset; 61 miles WNW of Bristol. It had a cell of the Augusti-nian priory of Bromere.

ABBOTS-ANN, a parish in Andover district, Hants; on the river Ann or Anton, adjacent to the Basingstoke and Salisbury railway, 21 miles SW by W of Andover. It has a post-office under Andover. Acres, 3,351. Real property, £3,932. Pop., 640. Houses, 140. The property is all in one estate. Red Rice House, an ancient perty is all more scattle. For five House, an ancient mansion, is the place where George IV. was married to Mrs. Fitzherbert. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Winchester. Value, 2645. Patrons, the heirs of Sir J. Burrough. The ancient church belonged to the abbey J. Burrough. The ancient church belonged to the abbey of Cornelies, in Normandy. The present church is a deformed structure of last century. There is an Independent chapel.

ABBOTS ASTLEY. See ASTLEY-ABBOTS.

ABBOTS-BICKINGTON, a parish in Holsworthy district, Devon; on the river Torridge, 2 miles SW of Umberleigh r. station, and 7 NNE of Holsworthy. Posttown, Torrington. Acres, 1,078. Real property, £581, Pop., 71. Houses, 13. A blue linestone, used for building, is quarried. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £93. Patrons, the trustees of Lord Rollo. The ancient church was a cell of the abbey of Hartland. The present church is a small structure of chancel, nave, two aisles, and low tower.

ABBOTS-BROMLEY, or Bromley-Abbots, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Uttoxeter, Stationd. The town stands near the river Ottoxeter, Station! The town stands near the river Blythe, 6 miles NNE of Rugeley 1, station, and 12 E of Stafford. It has a post-officer under Rugeley; and is a polling-place. It was formerly a market-town; and still has fairs on the Tuesday before Midtl, 22 May, and 4 Sept. It consists chiefly of a long street, containing some good houses and an ancient market cross. The parish includes also the liberty of Bromley-Hurst and the lordship of Bagots-Bromley. Acres, 9,391. Real property, £4,409. Pop., 1,538. Houses, 350. Blithfield, the seat of Lord Bagot, stands 2½ miles W of the town. A Benedictine abbay was founded at Blithbury, on the Plutte he where the seat of Lord Bagots stands 2½ miles W of the town. A Benedictine abbay was founded at Blithbury, on the Blythe, by Hugh Malveysin, in the reign of Henry I. or of Stephen; and passed, at the dissolution, to the Chadwick family. The living is a vicange in the discess of Lichfield. Value, £235. Patron, the Marquis of Anglesey. The church is an ancient structure, in various styles, chiefly later English; but has been modernized. There is an Independent chapel. There are also a free school, a national school, and other charities with £193 a-year. a national school, and other charities with £193 a-year. Mrs. Cooper, who saw her descendants to the sixth generation, lived at Abbets-Bromley.—The sub-district comprises three parishes and part of a fourth. Acres, 17,355. Pop. 2,976. Houses, 648.

ABBOTSBURY, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Weymouth, Dorset. The village stands in a vale, about a mile from the sca, 7½ miles W of the Weymouth railway, and 9 SW of Dorchester. It has a nost-officer under Dorchester, and an input the reservoir prost-officer under Dorchester.

post-office; under Dorchester, and an inn. It was formerly a market town, and has now a fair on 10 July. Most of its inhabitants engage in fishing. The parish contains also the hamlets of Rodden and Elworth; and exhibits picturesque features of both shore and surface. Acres, 5,616; of which 545 are water. Real property, £5,651. Pop., 1,089. Houses, 213. The property is divided among a few. The rocks belong to the shelly colite. The coast commands brilliant views, and is flanked by Chesil Bank, occasioning tunultuous tides. See Chesil Bank. St. Catherine's Chapel, romantically situated on the crown of a hill between the village and the sca, is a very strong edifice of the 15th century, wit large buttresses, a clerestory, and an octagonal tower and serves as a landmark to mariners. A Benedictine abbey was founded at Abbotsbury, in 1044, by Oreus, steward of King Canute; and passed, at the dissolution, to the Strangeways. The gateway of its church, the walls of a dormitory and barn, and some fragments scattered over a large area, still remain. A swamnery, which belonged to the abbey, and is said to have contained about 8,000 swans, still exists, with about 1,000 swans, and is connected with a decoy for the extensive capture of wild fowl. A castellated seat of the Earl of Ilchester, the present proprietor, is adjacent. An ancient fortifi-cation, 13 mile to the west, occupies 20 acres, comprises very high ramparts, ditches, and redoubts, and com-mands a noble view. Hardy's Monument, about 3 miles distant, commands a still nobler view; and the key for it may be had at Portisham. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £140.* Patron, the Earl of Hichester. The church adjoins the abbey ruins, and is an old embattled edifice with a curious weatherworn sculpture over the west door. A school has £20 a-year from endowment; and other charities £19.—The sub-district includes three parishes. Acres, 11,358. Pop., 2,034. Houses, 405 ABBOTS-CARSWELL. Houses, 405.

ABBOTS-CARSWELL. See ABBOTS-KERSWILL.
ABBOTS-CHARLETON. See CHARLETON-ABBOTS.

ABBOTS-CLIFF. See DOVER.
ABBOTS-COURT, an extra-parochial tract in Winterborne-Kingston parish, Dorset; 51 miles SSW of Blandford.

ABBOTSHAM, a parish in Bideford district, Devon; between Taw river and Barnstaple bay, 13 mile W of Bideford r. station. It has a post-office under Bideford; Real property, £2,267. Pop. 305. Houses, 67. The property is subdivided. Odun, Earl of Devon, in $73.

vanquished and slew here the Danish invader Hubba, at Keuwith Castle. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £159. Patron, E. U. Vidal, Esq. The church is a plain old structure with a square tower.

There are a small Baptist chapel, and charities £11.

ABBOTS HILL, a hamlet on the north border of Dorset; 5 miles SW of Yeovil.

ABBOTSIDE (High and Low), two townships in the parish of Aysgarth, N. R. Yorkshire. The former lies 2 miles NXW of Hawes; and the two are separated from 2 mites NAW of Flaves, and the two are separated room each other by Whitfield gill. Acres of High Abbotside, 11,150. Pop. 552. Houses, 111. Acres of Low Abbot-side, 5,080. Pop. 163. Houses, 37. High Abbotside Cambouses, and Litherskew; and Low Abbotside contains the hamlets of Grange, Bowbridge, Helme, and Shawcote. Much of both townships is high moorland Shawcote. Much of both townships is high mooriand and lofty fell, intersected by ravines and deep narrow valcs, all within the upper basin of the river Ure. A remarkable waterfall, called Hardraw force, occurs in one of the ravines; and a picturesque waterfall, called Whitfield force, occurs in another. See Hardraw Force and Ure (The).

ABBOTS-ISLE. See ISLE-ADBOTS.

ABBOTS-KENSINGTON. See Holland House. ABBOTS-KERSWELL, or Abbots-Carswell, a parish in Newton-Abbot district, Devon; on the South Devon railway, 2 miles south of Newton-Abbot. Posttown, Newton Abbot. Acres, 1,461. Real property, £3,043. Pop. 437. Houses, 106. The property is much divided. The minerals comprise him stone, coal, muca divided. The innersis comprise un'stone, coar, potter's clay, and alum. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £293." Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The ancient church was a cell of Montacute abbey. The present church is a neat small cdiffice of anosy. The present charles is a square tower. There are two small dissenting chapels, Baptist and Wesleyan. ABEOTS-LANGLEY, a parish and a sub-district in Warford district, Horts. The parish lies on the Grand

Watford district, Herts. The parish lies on the Grand Vunction canal and the Northwestern railway, 1 mile SE amento cana and the Northwestern raway, I may of King's Langley station; and has a post-office under Vatford. Acres, 5,213. Real property, £13,033. Pop., 409. Houses, 520. The property is subdivided. A oin of Claudius was found at Langley-House. The par-

In the clothes was found at hange-riouse. The pairsh gave birth to Nicholas de Breakspear, Pope Adrian IV.; and was given to the abbots of St. Albans "to find them in clothes." Here is the Booksellers' Provident The living is a vice range in the diocese of r. Value, £315. Patron, W. Jones Lloyd, Esq. Rochester. The church is partly Norman, partly of later date; and contains an ancient font and some handsome monuments. There are Independent and Wesleyan chapels, national schools, and extensive paper mills. - The sub-district is co-extensive with the parish.

ABBOTS-LEIGH, a parish in Bedminster district, Somerset; on the left bank of the Avon, near Rownham ferry, 31 miles WNW of Bristol. It has a post-office under Bristol. Aeres, 2,223. Real property, £3,522. Pop., 266. House, 66. Limestone is quarried. Leight Court, the soat of Sir William Miles, Bart., is an elegant structure, with Ionic porticees, commanding a fine view across the Bristol channel; and contains a splendid collection of pictures. An ancient manor-house, near the size of this mansion, belonging to the ancient family of Norton, and give concerding to Charles II, after the battle of Worccater. The living is a vicarage in the discose of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £77.* Patron, the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. The church was the Bishop of Glowester and Bristol. The church was ready burnt down about 1818, and afterwards partly restored, partly rebuilt. Charities, 932. APBOTS-LENCH, a hamlet in the parish of Fladburry, Worcester. Acr.s, 870. Pep. 63. Houses, 13. ABBOTSLEY, a parish in St. Neot's district, Huntingdon; 33 miles E of the Great Northern radway, and 44 SE of St. Neot's. Po.t-town, St. Neot's. Acres, 2,110. Real property, 42,005. Pop., 436. Houses, 91. The property is subdivided. The Invincis a vicarrage in the discusse of Ely. Value, 285.* Patron, Baliel College, Oxford. The church is good, and there are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £9.

ABBOTS-MORTON, a parish in the district of Alces-ABBOIS-MORION, a parals in the district of Alcester and country of Worcester; 6 miles N by E of Fladbury r. station, and 7 WSW of Alcester. It has a post-office under Bromsgrove. Acres, 1,420. Real property, E2,091. Pop. 245. Houses, 57. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Whose 240. Pattern C. 11. Williams in one estate. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £146. Patron, G. J. A. Walker, Esq. The church is good.

ABBOTS-NEWTON. See NEWTON-ABBOTS.
ABBOTS - NORTON. Sec Norton - with - Lenchwick. ABBOTS-RIPTON. See RIPTON-ABBOTS.

ABBOTS-ROOTHING. See ROOTHING-ABBOTS.

ABBOTS-ROUTHING. See ROUTHING ABBOTS ABBOTS-STOKE. See STOKE-ABLAS.
ABBOTSTON, a hamlet and a parish in Alresford strict, Hants. The hamlet lies 2½ miles NW of Alresdistrict, Hants. The hamlet lies 2½ miles NW of Airesford, and 7 ESE of Micheldever r. station. The parish is a rectory, united with the vicarage of Itchin-Stoke, in the diocese of Winchester. It contains a ruined church, and part of an old mansion of the Paulets. See ITCHIN-ABBOTSTON, a tything in the parish of Whiteparish, Wilts; 2 miles S of Dean r. station, and 8 SE of Salisbury. It is a resort of sportsmen.

bury. It is a resort of sportsmen.
ABBOTSTON, Gloucester. See Abson.
ABBOTSTREET. See WINBORNE-MINSTER.
ABBOTSWORTHY, a tything in the parish of Kingsworthy, 2 miles NNE of Winchester, Hants.
ABCOTT, a township in Clungunfod parish, Salop; on the river Clun, $\frac{1}{2}$ miles WNW of Ludlow.

ABDASTON. See Adbaston.

ABDICK AND BULSTONE, a hundred in Somerset. It contains the parish of Ashill and twenty-five other parishes. Acres, 38,575. Pop. in 1851, 12,401; in 1861, 12,047. Houses, 2,498.

ABDON, a parish in Ludlow district, Salep; under the Clee hills, 7 miles E of Marsh Brook r. station, and of NNE of Ludlow. Post-town, Burwarton under Bridg-north. Acres, 1,134. Real property, £590. Pop., 170. Houses, 33. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £147.* Patron, the Earl of Pembroke. The church is tolerable ham parish within Dennigh. Actors 4977.

ABENBURY-FAWR, a township in the part of Wrexham parish within Denbigh. Acres, 1,078. Pop., 167.

Houses, 33.

ABENBURY-FECHAN, a township in the part of Mexican parish within Flint. Acres, 138. Pop. 145.

Houses, 32.

ABENHALL. See ADRIGHALL.

ABER, a local name of the ancient Britons designating any place of a marked character near the mouth of a stream, whether on the coast or inland. It occurs seldom by itself, but often and prominently as a prefix.

ABER, a village and a parish in Bangor district, Cararvon. The village stands on the coast, at the mouth narvon. of the Gwyngregyn rivulet, 43 miles E of Bangor. It has a post-office under Bangor, a station on the Chester and Holyhead railway, and a comfortable inn. It is a charming place, and is much frequented by tourists. The views all round, and in the neighbourhood, over sea and views an round, and in the heighnouthfood, over sea and land, are rich and varied; and some of them are panora-taic and extensive. The Lavan sands extend in front, dry for 4 miles at low water; and may be crossed on foot, with a guide, to the ferry of Beaumaris. of the Gwyngregyn, narrow and romantic, strikes about 2 miles inland, flanked on one side by a well-wooded lofty hill, -on the other side by the stupendous rock of Maes y Gaer; and is blocked at the head by the dark, vast, concave precipies of the hill Bera, over which falls the famous cataract Rhayelr Mawr. The cataract is fringed with ash trees; and first breaks on the cliffs into three or four parts, then makes a sheer leap of more than 60 feet. An artificial conical mound, near the village, was the site of a pulace of the Wel h princes, where Elewelyn the Great received the summons to surrender his rights to Edward I. of England. A field, not far off, called Cae Gwilym Dhu, "Black William's Field," was the See of the summary execution of the Norman baron, William de Braose, whom Llewelyn ap Iorwerth had taken prisoner, and whom he suspected of an intrigue with his princess. A well-known Welsh distich, alluding to this event, records the following question and *uswer :-

"'Lovely princess,' said Llewelya,
'What will you give to see your Gwilym?'
'Wales and England, and Llewelyn, I'd give them all to see my Gwilym.'"

The parish of Aber comprises 8,833 acres; of which 1,515 are water. Real property, £2,464. Pop., 582. Houses, 116. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bargor. Value, £340.* Patron, the Hon. Col. D. Pennant. The church is ancient, with a square tower, in moderate condition. There are chapels for Calvinistic Methodists and Wes-There is also a free school, which was founded levans.

leyans. There is also a free school, which was founded about 1719 by Dr. Jones, Dean of Bangor.

ABER, a village in Llandyfriog parish, Cardigan; on the river Teifi, 2 miles NE of Newcastle-Emlyn.

ABERABON. See ABERATON.

ABERAFON. See ABERATON.

ABERAFON. See ABERATON.

ABERAHAN, a village at the influx of the Aman to the Cynon, 2 miles SE of Aberdare, Glamorgan. It has a post-officer under Aberdare. The ironworks and the mansion of C. Bailey, Esq., are adjacent.

ABERANGEL, a milway station 3; miles S by W of Dinas-Mowddwy, in Merioneth.

ABERARAD, a village in the parish of Kenarth, Carnarthen; a mile east of Newcastle-Emlyn.

ABERARTH. See LLANDDEW!-ABERATHI.

ABERARTH. See Llanddewi-Aberarth. ABERAVON, a town and a parish at the mouth of the river Avon, in the district of Neath, Glamorgan. The river Avon, in the district of Nearin, oraniongan. The town stands on the South Wales railway, in the western vicinity of Taibach, 5½ miles SSE of Neath, and 32½ WNW of Cardiff. It is a borough, municipal and parliamentary, and a sub-port under the port of Swansea. It consists of an old part, a little inland, which is Aheravon-proper, and a new part, on the shore, which embraces the harbour, and is called Port-Talbot. It has a post-officet of its own name under Taibach, and a station of the name of Port-Talbot on the railway. It was re-cently a small village, but has grown rapidly in connexion with neighbouring mines and the export of their produce. Its harbour was highly improved in 1838 by a new cut Its harbour was highly improved in 1833 by a new cut for the river, and gives floating accommodation with considerable depth. Numerous coasting vessels frequent it, and steamers come from Bristol. Fairs are held on the second Friday in May, and on 24 June, 1 July, 14 Ang., 7 Oct., and 1 Nov. The municipal borough lies wholly in Aberavon parish, and is governed by a portreeve and two aldermen. The parliamentary borough includes also part of Margam parish, and part of the hamlet of Upper Michaelstone; and is linked in the franchise with Swanses. Pan in 1851 6.567; in 1861, 7.74. Houses, 1423. alchaeistone; and is linked in the rindicines with Swainsea. Pop. in 1831, 6,567; in 1861, 7,754. Houses, 1,423.

—The parish comprises 1,943 acres of land and 655 of water. Real property, £5,073. Pop. in 1831, 573; in 1861, 2,916. Houses, 531. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, united to Baglan, it he diocese of Llandaff. Value, £154. Patron, G. Llewellyn, Esq. The church is an edifice in the middle pointed style; consists of nave changel, and south aisle. pointed style; consists of nave, chancel, and south aisle, with a tower; and was huilt in 1860, at a cost of £2,120. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Calvinistic Methodists, Primitive Methodists, Bible Christians, and Roman Catholics. Some remains exist on Aberavon-Myndyd hill, of the castle of Caradoc ah Jestyn, which was destroyed in 1150. Some interesting localities are in the neighbourhood. See Taieach, Margam, Cwa-

Avox, and BAGLAN.

ABERAYRON, a small scaport town and a district in Cardigan. The town stands in the parishes of Henfynyw, and Llanddewi-Aberarth, at the mouth of the Ayron river, 16 miles SSW of Aberystwith, and 13 miles NW of Lampeter r. station. It has two piers, enclosing a small harbour, and owns about 40 vessels. It was long a retired village, but has become a market-town and an esteemed watering place. The views around it are de-lightful; and the climate is about the healthiest in South Wales. The town has a post-office; under Carmarthen, a comfortable hotel, warm baths, a town-hall, a new subparochial church, and three dissenting chapels, Indedent, Calvinistic Methodist, and Wesleyan. The church is served by a perpetual curate, who is appointed by the inhabitants, and has a salary of £50. The quarter sessions for the county are held at Aberayron in Jan., April, July, and Oct.; and markets are held on Wednesday and Saturday, and a fair on 13 Dec. A circular comp, called Castell Cadwgan, and believed to have been formed in 1148 by Cadwgan ap Bleddyn, is on the shore. Mynachdy, the seat of the proprietor of the town, is in the neighbourhood, and is supposed to occupy the site of a monastery. Pop. of the town not separately returned.— The district of Aberayron comprehends the sub-district of Llandistlio, containing the parishes of Dihewid, Llanarth, Llandistlio, containing the parishes of Dihewid, Llanarth, Llandistlio Gogo, Llanllwchaiarn, and Llanina, and the sub-district of Llansantifficial, containing the parishes of Llanshhangel-Ystrad, Cilcennin, Cilie-Aeron, Llanerch-Ayron, Heniyuyw, Llanddewi-Aberarth, Llanddewi-Tek-Edwyr og Llanesing de Arabette (T. 2014). Llanerch-Ayron, Heni'rnyw, Llanddewi-Aberarth, Llandadarn-Tref-Eglwys, and Llansaintiffiaid. Acres, 67,704; of which 556 are water. Poor-rates in 1866, 25,109. Pop. in 1841, 12,875; in 1861, 13,540. Houses, 3,163. Marriages in 1866, 82; births, 405,—of which 47 were illegitimate; deaths, 239,—of which 51 were at ages under 5 years, and 13 at ages innwarls of 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 850; births, 3,953; deaths, 2,643. The places of worship in 1851 were 16 of the Church of England, with 3,357 sittings; 11 of Independents, with 3,168 s.; 11 of Calvinistic Methodists, with 3,260 s.; 3 of Weslevan Methodists, with 330 s.; 2 of Englists, with of Wesleyan Methodists, with 330 s.; 2 of Baptists, with 360 s.; and 4 of Unitarians, with 698 s. The schools in 1851 were 12 public day schools, with 930 scholars; 15 private day schools, with 537 s.; and 44 Sunday schools, with 5,121 s. The work-house is in LI ABERBAIDAN. See LLANELLY.

ABERBARGOED. See BARGOED. The work-house is in Llanddewi-Abcrarth.

ABERBECHAN, a township in Llanllwchaiarn parish, ABERBECHAN, a township in Llanlluchaiaru parish, Montgomery; at the influx of the Bechan to the Severn in the XE neighbourhood of Newtown. Pop., 147. A. Honse is the seat of Sit J. Clifton, Bart.

ABERBEG, a station on the Western Valleys Monmouth railway, 15 miles NNW of Newport, Monmouth. Here is a post-office under Newport, Monmouth.

ABERBAN, a station on the Neath and Brecon railway, 44 miles SW of Brecon.

ABERCARN, a town in Mynyddyslwyn parish, Monmouth, on the W. Valleys railway, 104 miles NW of Newport. It has a post-office; nuder Newport, Monmouth, a r. station, chemical works, iron and tin-plate works, and port. It has a post-case, make the sport, aboundont, r. station, chemical works, iron and tin-plate works, and extensive collieries. A. House is a seat of Lord Llanover. ABERCASTLE, a village in Mathry parish, Pembroke; on the coast, 6½ miles NNE of St. David's. It broke; on the coast, of miles ANE of St. David 3. It has a small harbour, frequented by coasters. On the farm of Longhouse, above it, is a cromlech, comprising a massive capstone 16 feet long, four supporting stones 5; feet high, and two other stones.

ABERCONWAY. See CONWAY.

ABELICRAVE, a locality 3 miles from Ystradynglais,

It has a post-office under Swansea; and was a seat of the Gwynnes.

ABERCWHILER, a township in Bodfary parish, Denbighshire; at the confinence of the Cwhiler and the Clwyd, 31 miles NE of Denbigh. Acres, 3,346. Pop., 430. Houses, 99. Here is a Calvinistic Methodist chapel.

ABERDARE, a town, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Merthyr-Tydvil, Glamorgan. The town stands at the confluence of the Dare and the Cynon, 4 miles SW of Merthyr-Tydvil, and 24 NNW of Cardiff. A railway and a canal connect it with Cardiff; and a A railway and a canal connect it will Cardin; and a junction branch, 1½ mile long, connects it with the railway from Merthyr-Tydvil to Neath. The scenery around it is picturesque. Extensive collieries and iron-works are adjacent; and these have raised the place, since about the year 1805, from the condition of a village to the condition of a large and flourishing town. The town has a telegraph station, a head post-office, two hotels, three banking-offices, an elegant church called St. Elvan's, another churches, several dissenting chapels, a public of which £12,374 are in mines and ironworks; in Forchaman, £54,571,—of which £31,718 are in mines and ironworks; in Llwydcoed, £29,574,—of which £26,457 are in mines and ironworks. Pop. of the parish in 1841, 6,471; in 1641, 82,299. Houses, 5,834. The property is subdivided. Abernant House, the seat of one of the principal proprietors, adjoins the town. The living is a vicarage, united with the chapelries of St. Elvan, Hirwain, and St. Mary, in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £305.*

Parron, the Marquis of Bute. The vicarage of St. Fagan and the neutron of Mantain-Ash are senarate. Value chaman, £54,871,-of which £31,718 are in mines and Parron, the Marquis of Bute. The vicariage of St. Fagan and the p. curacy of Mountain-Ash are separate. Value of St. F., £330.* Patron, the Bishop of L. The Welsh poet Owen was a native, and the dissenting theologian E. Eraus died here.—The sub-district comprehends three parishes. Pop., 37,487.
ABERDARE-JUNCTION, a railway station with tele-

Taph, in Glamorgan; 74 miles SSE of Aberdare.
ABERDARON, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Pwilheli, Carnarvon. The village stands in a vale, overhung by lofty cliffs, at the head of as mall a ye its own name, near the extremity of the peninsula of Liern, 4 miles N of Bardsey Island, and IT, SW of Pwilheli r. station. It is a small sequestered place; but has a post-office under Pwilheli, and a fair on 12 Aug. The scenery around it is very grand, and attracts distant visitors. The distinguished linguist, Richtracts distant visitors. The distinguished linguist, Richard Robert Jones, was a native. The potish comprises 6,903 acres of land, and 175 of water. Real property, 24,574. Pop., 1,268. Houses, 269. The property is not much divided. Bodwrdda, a large, well-constructed mansion, about 250 years old, now a farm-house, stands about 2 mile from the village. The fragment of an analysis of the property of the property is the fragment of an analysis. cient edifice, called Capel Vair, stands at the end of the peniusula. The scenery here, and at other parts of the coast, is equal in sublimity to some of the most striking parts of the Scottish Hebrides; and a sheer descent of vicarage in the diocese of Bangor, and includes the vicarage of Llanvaelrhys. Value, £120. Patron, the vicarage of Llanvaelrhys. Bishop of Bangor. The old church is an ancient structure of different styles, with a beautiful Norman door; and was formerly collegiate, and had the privilege of sanctuary; but was, some years ago, abandoned. new church is a recent tasteless structure. There are three dissenting chapels, and charities £12. The sub-three discenting chapets, and chartnes 1.12. The suc-district comprehends eight parishes, a chapetry, and Bard-sey isle. Acres, 20,433. Pop., 3,800. Houses, 830. ABERDOVEY, or ABERDYR, a scaport village and a chapetry in Towyn parish, Merioucth. The village stant is on the Boveyesthury, adjacent to the Lhyngwrill railway, 10 miles N of Aberystwith; has a station on the railway, a post-office; under Shrawsbury, a good he tell, and a few respectable lodging-houses; and is a watering-place and a seat of petty sessions. The Dovey here is about a mile wide, and is crossed by a ferry to the Porth sands, leading toward Aberystwith. to the 19, in state, reading count aberystwin. The chapelry includes the village, and was constituted in 1811. Pop., 1,186. Houses, 207. The living is a vicarge in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £90. Patrons, ABERDULAIS, a village at the influx of the Dulais river to the Neath, 21 miles NE of Neath, Glamorgan, It has a post-office unler Neath, and a station on the Neath and Merthyr-Tydvil railway. Extensive tinworks and a small cascade are in the neighbourhood

ABERDYFI. See Aberdovey.

ABERDYLAIS. See ABERDULAIS.
ABEREDW, a parish, with a r. station, in Builth district, Radnor; at the influx of the Edw to the Wye, and on the Mid Wales railway, 4 miles SE of Builth. Posttown, Builth. Acres, 4,500. Real property, £2,022. Fop., 251. Houses, 56. The property is much subdivided. Aberedw Court is the seat of the Winner 1879. Aberedw Castle, now reduced to mouldering walls, much hidden by foliage, on the summit of a mound, was the hunting-seat of Llewelyn-ap-Griffith, the last native prince of Wales. The adjacent scenery, up the glen of the Edw, is highly picturesque. Prince Llewelyn was slain Edw, is highly picturesque. Fince Liewelyn was stain in the vicinity; and an excavation in the rocin, about 6 feet square, still bears the name of Llewelyn's Cave. The living is a rectory, united with Llanvareth, in the diocese of St. David's. Valne, £355. Patron, the Bishop of St. David's. The church is an old edifice, in good condition, on an eminence a short way above the castle. T. Jones, the painter, who died in 1803, wasa native.

ABERERCH, a parish in Pwllheli district, Carnar-von: on the river Erch and thence to the coast, 11 mile von: on the river Erch and thence to the coast, 1\hat{1}\text{ mile} ENE of Pwilheli r. station. It has a post-office under Pwilheli. Acres, 5,962; of which 358 are water. Real property; £5,101. Pop., 1,652. Houses, 398. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage united with the cursey of Penrhos, in the diocess of. Bangor. Value, £132. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is partly early English. There are chapelfor Independents, Calvinistic Methodists, and Wesleyans. Charities, £6.

ABERFFRAW, a seaport village, and a parish in the district and county of Anglesey. The village stands at the mouth of the Firaw rivulet, on a creek of Carnarvon bay, 2\frac{3}{2}\text{ miles WSW of Bodorgan r. station, and 12 SE of Holyhead. It has a post-office under Bangor, and an inn. It was formerly a market town; and it still has fairs on 7 March, the Tuesday before Easter, the Wedtars on 7 harch, the Idesaus, before Esser, the war-nesday after Trinity, 15 Agg., and 11 Dec. It is now a poor place, inhabited chiefly by fishermen and farm-labourers; but it anciently, for four centuries, till the death of Liewelyn-ap-Griffith, was a capital of the princes of Wales. No remains of the palace exist; but a garden, at the S end of the village, still bears the name of Gardd-y-Llys or "palace-garden." The cisteddfodds, or assemblies of the bards, were anciently held here; and a spirited commemorative one was held in 1849. parish comprises 6,114 acres of land, and 138 of water; and it contains eight tythings. Real property, £5,044.

Pop., 1,238. Houses, 274. The property is not much rop., 1,255. The property is not much divided. A lake, called Llyn Coron, about 2 miles in circumference, lies a little east of the village, and is much frequented by anglers. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £883.* Patron, the Prince of Wales. The old church contains a very interesting doorway of the 12th century, and is in good condition. There are four dissenting chapels, and charities £24.

ABERFORD, a village, a township, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Tadcaster, W. P. York-shire. The village stands on the rivulet Cock, 2 miles NNE of Garforth r. station, and 6 SW of Tadcaster. 1: has a post-office; under South Milford, and is a sent of petty sessions and a polling-place. It consists of a long straggling street, on a gentle acclivity of limestone rock; and it had ruins of a castle, said to have been built soon after the Conquest. It was formerly a market town; and it still has fairs on the last Monday of April and May, the first Monday of Oct., the Monday after 18 Oct., and the Monday after 2 Nov. A femous pin manufecture once flourished in it, but has disappeared. Coal, limestone, and a line white building stone are worked in its neighbourhood. The township includes the village. Acres. 1,536. Real property, F2,621. Pop., 759. Acres, 1,536. Real property, £2,921. Pop., 759.
Houses, 147. The parish comprises the townships of Aberford, Sturton, and Parlington. Acres, 4,129. Real property, £7,551; of which £2,596 are in mines. Pop., Houses, 200. The property is divided among a few. Huddlestone Hall, a very ancient building, is 2 miles distant; and Watling-Street bisects the parish. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £305.* Patron, Oriel College, Oxford. The church is excellent. There are a Methodist chapel, a Roman Catholic chapel, and charities £18.—The sub-district comprehends two entire parishes and parts of three other parishes. Acres, ,413. Pop., 5,973. Houses, 1,256. ABERFORD, Sherburn, W. R. Yorkshire. See Lo-23,413, THERTON-CUM-ABERFORD.

ABERGARW, a village in Llangeinor parish, Glamorgan; 9 miles N of Bridgend. morgan; 9 muss N of Druggand.
ABERGAVENNY, a town, a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a hundred, in Monmouth. The town stands at the confluence of the Gavenny with the Usk, on the road from Monmouth to Brecon, and on the railway from Newport to Hereford, a mile E of the Monmouth and Brecon canal, 13½ miles W of Monmouth, and 17¼ N of Newport. Its environs comprise a picturesque reach of the Usk's valley, amid a near amphitheatre of mountains, with the Skyrrid-Vawr, the Blorenge, the Sngar-Loaf, and other summits; and are flecked with wood and studded with mansions. Its site was occupied by the Roman Gobannium; and has yielded coins and bricks with the inscription "Leg. II. Aug.," and other Roman relics. The place, owing to its position on the verge of the hill-country, was long an important post in the Border the full-country, was soing an important post in the borque warfare, and witnessed many a strift between the Normans and the Welsh. The town was described by Leland, in the time of Henry VIII., as, "a fair walled town, well inhabited;" and one of its gates, called Tudor's gate, stood till only a few years ago, and was then needessly destroyed. The present streets are chiefly three, leading out to Mommouth, Hereford, and Brecon; and thew are, for the most part, narrow and irrecular, and leading out to Monmouth, Hereford, and Brecon; and they are, for the most part, narrow and irregular, and show a mixture of old and new buildings. A castle, on an eminence near the Send, was built by the Norman, Hamaline de Bohun, soon after the Conquest; and passed to successively the Braoses, the Cantilupes, the Hast-ingses, the Valences, the Herberts, the Greys, the Beau-champs, and the Nevilles. It is now a fragmentary, shattered, uninteresting ruin, blended with a private house, which was built about 1805, on the site of the teen, but a public terrace, walk goes round it; and comkeep; but a public terrace-walk goes round it, and commands a delightful view. The poet Churchyard, in 1587, sang of its "most goodly towers;" and a more modern poet speaks of it as

"The rent Norman tower that overhangs The lucid Usk."

Some remains of a Benedictine priory, of early date, stand on the SE side of the town, but now form part of a private residence. The priory church, called St. Mary's, was formerly a very fine cruciform structure, but has was formerly a very fine crucitorm structure, out mas been excessively injured by modern alterations, yet attracts the antiquary and the artist by many curious monuments, especially Norman effigies. St John's, the original parish church, was converted by Henry VIII. into a free grammar school; and this has an endowed income of £255, and a fellowship and exhibitions at Jesus' Calles Coffeed This technical was accepted and of the control o College, Oxford. Trinity-church was creeted and en-dowed in 1839 by Miss Rachel Herbert. The Roman Catholic chapel of Our Lady and St. Michael is an edito in decorated style, with Bath stone dressings, erected in 1860. There are five dissenting chapels, Independent, Baptist, and Wesleyan. An old bridge of 15 arches takes the public road across the Usk; and an adjacent bridge on a higher level, takes across a rail-road toward Tredegar. The market-house is a well-arranged building, erected about 1830 on the site of a previous structhre. The Cymreigyddion hall is a plain edifice, remodelled out of an old malt-house, by the Cymreigyddion Society who made efforts for the revival of old national art, and the encouragement of native manufacture, but became defunct in 1855; and it is now used by the Volunteers as a drill-room, and called the Volunteers' hall, and is used also for large jubile meetings. The town was formerly famous for fine Welsh flannel, for fashionable Welsh wigs, made of goats' hair, and sometimes sold at 40 guincas each, and for the resort of invalids to drink goats' whey; but it now figures chiefly for coarser flannel, for boots and shoes, for the traffic of neighbouring coal and iron works, and espa-cially for crowded markets. The markets are held on Tnesday; and fairs are held on the third Tucsday in Inestary; and tiars are need on the third Aussiay in March, on 14 May, on 24 June, on the Tucsday before 20 July, on 25 Sept., and on 19 Nov. The town has a head nost-office, ‡ atelegraph station, two banking-offices, and two hotels. It is a seat of petty-sessions and a poliand two hotels. It is a sear of petty-sessions and a pon-ing-place; and it was anciently a corporate town, gov-erned by a bailiff, a recorder, and 27 councillors, but it forfeited its charter in the time of William III. Races are held in April on a one-mile course. Bishop Cantilupe. who died in 1267, and Baker, the Benedictine historian, were natives. The town gives the title of Earl to the family of Neville. Pop. in 1851, 4,797; in 1861, 4,621. Houses, 989.

The parish includes the town, and contains the ham-lets of Hardwicks and Lloyndu. Acres, 4,229. Real property, £22,077. Pop., 6,086. Houses, 1,157. The property, £22,077. Pop., 6,086. Houses, 1,157. The property is much subdivided. A large proportion of the surface is hill-sheepwalk. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £510. Patron, Sir John Guest, Bart. Trinity church is a separate benefice, a property is the extracreate Vice Path M. H. Parkers and Vice Path M. H. Path M. curacy, in the patronage of Miss Rachel Herbert.—The sub-district comprises four entire parishes, and parts of three other parishes. Acres, 20,674. Pop., 8,669. Houses, 1,692.—The district consists of two poor-law naions, Abergavenny and Bedwelty; and is divided into the sub-district of Llanarth, containing the paishes of Bettws-Newydd, Bryngwyn, Llanarth, Llanvair-Kilgidin, Llanfilangel-nigh-Usk, Llansaintfmed, and Llanthewy-Rhytherch; the sub-district of Llanthlangel, containing the parishes of Llanarley. Llanthungels, containing curacy, in the patronage of Miss Rachel Herbert .- The the parishes of Llanvapley, Llanthewy-Skirrid, Llanvetherine, Llangattock-Llingoed, Llanfihangel, Cwmyoy, venerine Langatices-Integer, Inaminanger, Compey, and Oldcastle; the sub-district of Abergavenny, containing the parishes of Abergavenny, Llangillo-Pertholey, Llangaticek-nigh-Usk, and Llangher, and Parit of the parishes of Llanover, Llanwenarth, and Llanfoist; the parishes of Liamover, Liamvenarum, and Liaminist, the sub-district of Blaenavon, containing parts of the parishes of Llanover, Llanwenarth, and Llandoist; the sub-district of Aberystruth, co-extensive with the parish of Aberystof Aberystruth, co-extensive with the parish of Aberystruth; and the sub-districts of Tredegar and Rock-Bed-welty, containing the parish of Bedwelty. Acres, $$\$176.$ Poor-rates in 18\(66, £22,733. \) Pop. in 18\(11, 50,8\) 59\(75. \) births, 2,76\(55. \) —of which 14\(00. \) were illegitimate; deaths, 1,69\(1, -00. \) which 14\(00. \) were illegitimate; deaths, 1,69\(1, -0. \) which 65\(00. \) were at ages under 5\(00. \) some and 40 at ages upwards of 85. Marriages in the ten years 18\(51. -60. \) 5,699\(50. \) births, 24,769\(75. \) deaths, 15,909. The places of worship in 1851 were 34 of the Church of England, with 9,172 sittings; 13\(00. \) of Independents, with 5,600\(0. \); 30\(of \) Baptists, with 12,750\(0. \); if of Wesleyan Methodists, with 5,754\(0. \); if of Primitive Methodists, with 5,754\(0. \); if of Variance 100\(0. \) is the finite Methodists, with 5,150\(0. \); of Foman Catholics, with 510\(0. \); of Valver 2,149 s.; 2 of Roman Catholics, with 510 s.; 4 of Latter-day Saints, with 100 s.; and 1 undefined, with 200 s. The schools in 1851 were 28 public day-schools, with The senoots in 1051 were 25 purine day senoots, with 1,303 s.; 94 Sunday schools, with 11,901 s.; and evening schools for adults, with 170 s.—The hundred is mainly identical with the district, but extends beyond it in some parts, and does not extend so far in others; and is cut into two divisions, Higher and Lower. Acres, 47,583 and 28,357. Pop. in 1851, 59,086: in 1861, 54,742. Houses, 16,483.

ABERGELE, a village, a parish, and a sub-district on the coast of the district of St. Asaph, Denbigh. The village stands near the Chester and Holyhead railway, I miles WNW of St. Asaph, and 344 W of Chester. It has a station, with telegraph, on the railway, a head post-office, ‡ and two hotels; and it is a seat of petty sessions, a scaport, and a watering-place. It consists chiefly post-owners, and two noters; and it is a sea of perty sessions, a sarport, and a watering-place. It consists chiefly of one wide, irregular street, along the highway, about 4 a mile from the shore. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs are held on 2 April, on the day before Holy Thursday, on 18 June, 20 Aug., 9 Oct., and 6 Dec. The bases his aveillant helding, reground, and the 6 Dec. The beach is excellent bathing ground; and the surrounding scenery, of coast and mountain, is magnifi-cent. Limestone is extensively shipped; lead, copper, and manganese occur in the neighbourhood; and some time studies for the geologist, in varieties of rock, are near. Castell-Cawr, on a high rock about a mile inland from the church, is one of the most perfect Roman campain Walks; and Gorddyn-Mawr, on Coppa'r Wylfa, or "the mount of the watch-tower," a mile further W, is a large, strong, British hill-fort. Gwrych Castle, the seat of L. H. B. Hesketh, Esq., under a high hill on the coast, about a mile W of the village, is a modern castellated edifice, with a frontage of 480 yards, a tower 93 feet high, and 17 turrets; and the grounds around it command delightful views, but they are not open to the public. Cave hill, in the vicinity of Gwrych, is a calcareous rock, pierced with several curious caverns; and one of these, called Cefn Ogo, has an entrance-arch 30 feet high, makes a brilliant display of stalactites and stalegnites, goes very far into the bowels of the hill, near. Castell-Cawr, on a high rock about a mile inland stalagmites, goes very far into the bowels of the hill. but cannot be safely explored beyond 40 yards, and was the place where Richard II. lay concealed, when betray-ed to Bolingbroke by Percy. Brynffanigle, within Abergelc, was the residence of Marchudd ab Cynon, Prince of North Wales; and an old mansion, now demolished, was the home of some of the early life of the poet, Mrs. was the nome of some of the early life of the poet, Mrs. Hemans. The parish includes the townships of Abergele, Bodorryn, Botegwel, Brynffanigle, Dolganned, Fowyn-Isaf, Garth-Gogo, Gwrych, Hendre-Gyda-Isaf, Hendre-Gyda-Uchaf, Nant, Sirior, and Twyn-Isaf and Uchaf. Acres, together with the parish of St. George, Uchaf. Acres, together with the parish of St. George, 1,998 of land, and 2,055 of water. Real property, 29,356. Pop., 3,308. Houses, 727. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. Asaph. The clurch is a neat good structure, of the time of Henry VIII. There are Independent, Baptist, Calvinistic-Methodist, and Wesleyan chapels, and charities £13.—The sub-district comprises five parishes. APERGLASLYN, a pass in the southern vicinity of Bed/2g-lert, 8 miles S of Snowdon, on the boundary between the counties of Carnervon and Merioneth. It is a tween the counties of Carnervon and Merioneth. It is a gorge between cliffs about 700 feet high, which answer face to tace, and look as if they had been split from each other by the vertical stroke of an earthquake; it forms, from end to end, a scene of terrific grandeur; and it is traversed by the castern road from Carnarvon to Aberystwith, and has barely breadth enough of bottom to allow the road to pass. A rock in it is said to have been the the road to pass. favourize haunt of the poet Rhys Goch O'ryri, who flour-ished in the time of Owen Glendower. The rivulet Glaslyn scours the pass, and makes a grand cataract on leaving it at a one-arch bridge, called Pont Aberglaslyn, which stretches from rock to rock.

ABERGLASNEY, a seat on the river Glasney, near Lludilofawr, in Carmarthen. It once belonged to the one of whom was the poet of "Grongar Hill.

Dyers, one of whom was the poet of "Grongar Hill."
ALERGORIECH, a village and a chaplry, in Llanbyther parish, Carmartheu; at the confluence of the Gorle-h with the Coth, 7 miles WNW of Llangadock r. statiou, and 7 NW of Llandeilofawr. Post-town, Llandeillo under Carmarthen. The chapelry is a p. curacy in the diocese of St. David's. Value, 260. Patron, the Vicar of Llanbyther.

ABERGWAIN. See FISHGUARD. ABERGWESSIN, a sub-district in the district of Builth, Brecon. It comprises three entire parishes, and parts of two other parishes. Acres, 46,144. Pop., 2,897. Houses, 512.

ABERGWILLY, a village and a parish in the district and county of Carmarthen. The village stands at the and county of Carmarden. The vinage status at the conducance of the Gwilly with the Towy, and on the Llandtho and Carmarthen (allway, 14 mile NE of Carmarthen). It has a station of the railway, and a postmartineh. It has a ration of the railway, and a post-office under Carmarthen. Fairs are held on 4 May, 23 Jane, 2 and 27 Oct. The pulsee of the fishop of St. David's, an edifice in the Tudor style, built in 1830, is adjacent. Merlin's hill, an eminence on the side of a dell, nearly 14 mile above the village, is said to have been the birthplace and the favourite bound of the sorcerer Merlin; and a rocky cavity near its summit still bears the name of Merlin's Chair. A battle was fought in the neighbourhood, in 1020, between Llewelyn-ab-Sytsylt and the adventure Run.—The parish contains also the hamlets of Cricklas, Glantawy, Hengil, Veney, and Ystyngwilly. Acres, 10,748. Real property is much sub-divided. There are slate quarries. The living is a vi-carage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £172.* Pa-tron, the Bishop of St. David's. The ancient church made collegiate in 1287, but was annexed in 1531 to the college at Brecon. The present church is a hand-some edifice, in the early English style, with a spire. A sub-parochial church stands at Llanfhangel-Uwchywilly. in the neighbourhood, in 1020, between Llewelyn-absub-parochial church stands at Llanfihangel-Uwchgwilly, and is served by a perpetual curate, on a salary of £75, appointed by the Vicar. There are Independent, Bapappointed by the vicar. There are Independent, Eap-itst, and Calvinistic-Methodist chapels, and charities £14. ABERGWYNOLWYN, a village, with a r. station and an inn, in Merioneth; on the Talyllyn railway, opened in 1868, 63 miles NE of Towyn. ABERHAFESP, a parish in Newtown district, Mont-gomery; at the confluence of the Hafesp with the Severn, part the forter Wales without 12 mer. W.N. Severn mear the Central Wales railway, 22 miles WNW of New-town. Post-town, Newtown. Acres, 4,568. Real pro-perty, £3,357. Pop., 486. Houses, 94. The property is held by two proprietors. Aberhafesp Hall and the is neid by two proprietors. Adernatesp Hall and the parsonage command fine views of the Severn. Fishing and quarrying are carried on. Traces exist of a Roman road; and there is a medicinal spring. The living its rectory in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, £356.* Patron, the Bishop of St. Asaph. The church is early English, and in very good condition. There are chapels for Independents and Eaptists.

ABERHALE, a township in Tregynon parish, Montgomery; 51 miles N of Newtown. ABERHONDDU. See Brecon.

ABERKENFIG, a village in Newcastle parish, Glamorgan; Smiles NNW of Bridgend. It has a post-office; morgan; Smiles NAW of Bridgend. It has a post-officer, under Bridgend, and a ruilway station. Pop., 237.

ABERLLUNVEY, formerly a parish, but now a hantet in Glasbury parish, Brecon; at the confluence of the Llunrey with the Wye, 4\forall miles SW of Hay. Acres, 626. Real property, 2\forall 5.75. Pop., 132. Houses, 23.
ABERNARCHNANT, a township in the parish of Llauthaiadr-yn-Mochnant, Montgomery; 4\forall miles NNW of Llanfyllin. Pop., 27.

ABERMARLAIS, a place on the river Towy, in Carmarthen; 1\frac{1}{2} mile NW of Llangadock. It was the scat of the Gritliths, of the celebrated Sir Rhys-ab-Thomas, and of the Foleys.

ABERMAW. See BARMOUTH.

ABERMENAI, the contraction at the SW end of the Menai strait, between Carnarvon and Anglesey. Here

ABERMULE, a village at the influx of the Mule to the Severn, 45 miles NE of Newtown, Montgomery. It has a station on the Oswestry and Newtown railway, and has a stanton on the Gowestry and Newtown failway, and a post-office under Shrewsbury.

ABERNANT, a village and a parish in the district and county of Carmarthen. The village stands near the river Cywyn, 21 miles N of the South Wales railway, and 5 WNW of Carmarthen; and is a seat of petty sections. sions. Post-town, Carmarthen. The parish comprises 6,321 acres. Real property, 23,718. Pop., 793. Houses, 163. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage, united to the vicarage of Convil, in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £131.* Patron, the Duke of Leeds. The church is good.

ABERNANT, a station on the Vale of Neath railway, 4 miles SW of Merthyr-Tydvil, Glamorgan. Extensive iron-works and collieries are adjacent.

ABERPERGWM, a chapelry in the parish of Cadoxton, Glamorgan; at Glyn-Neath r. station. Post-town, Glyn-Neath under Neath. The scenery of vale and mountain, with the vale of the Pergwin rivulet, a waterfall, and the fine grounds of Aberpergwm House, is very rich. worked. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £119. Patron, Rees Williams, Esq.

ADERPORTH, a village and a parish in the district and county of Cardigan. The village stands on the coast, at the mouth of the Hown; rivulet, 7 miles NE of Cardian and Cardia digan; and is partly in the parish of Blaenporth. It has a post-office under Cardigan; and is a scaport, a fishing-station, and a watering-place. The parish contains also station, and a watering-piace. 10e parish contains also the hamlets of Rectorial and Llanannerch. Acres, 2,200. Real property, £1,209. Pop., 454. Houses, 108. The property is much subdivided. Great portion of the surface is bare hill; and one of the summits is within view of the coast of Ireland. Plas, belonging to the Morgan family, is an ancient cruciform mansion. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £136. a rectory in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £136.

Patron, the Bishop of St. David's. The church is very good. There is a Calvinistic-Methodist chapel.
ABERRWI. See BANGOR.
ABERRHEIDOL. See ABERYSTWITH.

ABERRHIW. See BERRIEW.

ABERSOCH, a village, with a harbour, on St. Tudwell's bay, Carnaryon; 7 miles SW of Pwllheli. It has well's pay, Carnarvon; Thines SW of Pwinter. It has a post-office under Pwilheli.

ABERSYCHAN, a village in Trevethin parish, Monouth; at the influx of the Sychan to the Avon, 2 miles NNW of Pontypool. It has a post-office; under Pontypool, and a r. station on the Eastern Valleys Monmouth railway. It is a straggling populous place, connected railway. It is a stragging populous place, connected with the British Iron-works, on the neighbouring hill-side. Here is a sub-parochial church, for a pop. of 7,979, served by a vicar, with a salary of £300, appointed by the vicar of Trevethin.

ABERTANAT, a township in Llanyblodwell parish, Salap; no the river Tanat, 41 miles SW of Oswestry.

Samp; on the river lanar, 4; filles SW of Uswestry.
Pop., 102.
ABERTAWEY. See SWANSEA.
ABERTHAW, a seaport village in Penmark parish,
Glamorgan; at the mouth of the Ddaw or Thaw river, Standard Street Combider. Underlying the street. 54 miles SSE of Cowbridge. Hydraulic lime, got from lias pebbles on the beach adjacent to it, is shipped. ruins of Penmark and East Orchard castles are near.

ABERTHIN, a hamlet in Llanblethian parish, Glamorgan; 1 mile NE of Cowbridge.

ABERTILLERY, a village in Aberystruth parish, Monmouth; 5 miles N of Crumlin. It has a station on the Western Valleys railway, a post-officet under New-port, Monmouth, and a sub-parochial church.

ABERWHEELER. See ABERCWHILER.

ABERYSCIR, a parish in the district and county of Brecon; 2½ miles W by N of Brecon r. station. Post-town, Brecon. Acres, I,918. Real property, £1,224. Pop., 125. Houses, 26. The Yscir river falls here into Pop., 125. Houses, 26. The Yscir river falls here into the Usk; and has, on the right bank, the parish church, surrounded with yew,—on the left bank a rectangular camp and several ramparts, together with substructions of walls, supposed to have been a station of the Roman general Ostorius Scapula, preceded by the British town Bannium. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £136. Patron, the Rev. W. L. Jones. The church belonged anciently to Malvern priory, and is a poor structure.

is a poor structure.

ABERYSTRUTH, a parish, which is also a sub-district, in the district of Abergavenny, Monmouth; at the Blaina Acres, 11,788. Real property, £63,055,—of which Abergavenny. Post-town, Blaina under Tredegar. Acres, 11,758. Real property, £63,055,—of which £33,673 are in mines and iron-works. Pop. in 1841, 11,272; in 1861, 16,055. Houses, 2,865. The property is held in two cstates. The surface is chiefly upland, round the higher reaches of the Ebbw river. Collieries and iron-works, round Nantyglo, Beaufort, and other centres, employ a great proportion of the inhabitants, and have undergone great recent increase. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Llandaff. Value. £765. Patron rectory in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £265. Patron, the Earl of Abergavenny. The curacy of Abertillery is included; and the vicarage of Nautyglo and cur. of Beau-fort are separate benefices. The parish-church is good. Aberystruth is sometimes called Blaen-Gwent.

ABERYSTWITII, a town, a chapelry, a sub-district, and a district on the coast of Cardigan. The town is in the parish of Llanbadarn-Fawr; stands on both banks of the river Rheidol, and on the Welsh coast railway system, 39 miles NE of Cardigau; and is a fashionable watering-place, a head-seaport, and a borough. The part of it on the right bank of the Rheidol sometimes bears the name of Aberrheidol; and the part on the left bank is called Trefechan. The Rheidel is crossed by a five-arched bridge, forms a sort of inner harbour, is joined there by the Ystwith, and then scours the outer harbour to the The town chiefly occupies a gentle eminence, declining all round from the centre, and commands extensive superb views of sea and coast and lofty mountains. The streets are uneven and steep; but some are broad and well-edificed; and the Marine-terrace forms a fine crescent, with about 60 elegant dwellings. Two heights, at the end of the terrace, are pleasantly laid out in public The remains of a castle, consisting of a gateway walks. The remains of a castle, consisting of a gateway and fragments of towers and walls, crown the south-western height, overlooking the sea. The original castle was built in the time of Henry I. by Gilbert de Strongbow, and destroyed by Owen Gwynedd; and the present castle was built by Edward I., as a means of securing his conquest of Wales, and dismonted by the Parliamentarians after the defeat of Charles I. The Castle-House, at the end of the terrace, below the castle, is an edifice of fantastic design, in mixed Gothic and Italian, built by Nash for the late Sir Uvedale Price, Bart. An ancient church stood in front of the site of the Castleancient church stood in front of the site of the Castle-House, and was overwhelmed about the year 1650 by the sea. The present church stands near the castle ruins; and is a plain, quasi-cruciform edifice, built in 1830, at a cost of nearly £1,000. There are chapels for Inde-pendents, Eaptists, Calvinistic-Methodists, Wesleyans, and Roman Catholics. The court-house, built in 1850, is a handsome edifice with a tetrastyle Ionic portico. The assembly-rooms, built in 1820, have Grecian features, and contain a ball-room 45 feet by 20, card, billiard, and reading-rooms. Other public buildings are the grammarschool, the market-houses, the infirmary, the peor-house, and the prison.

The town was incorporated by Edward I., but has no charter. It is governed by a mayor, 4 aldernou, and 12 councillors; it was designed, at the building of the court-house, to be made a seat of quarter sessions and of assizes; and it joins with Cardigan, Lampeter, and Adhar in smiling a member to parliament. The borough boundaries include all Aberystwith chapelry and parts of lessyndre and Lower Vainov townships. The port las jurisdiction northward to the Diswyning river, and south-Jurish that he blay hing free, and south-ward to Llan-St. Fraid. The vessels registered at it in 1867 were 86 small ones of aggregately 2,984 tons, and 296 large ones of aggregately 37,995 tons. The vessels which entered from British colonies or foreign countries were 23, of aggregately 4,633 tons; and those which entered coastwise were 409 sailing vessels of 17,225 tons, entered coastwise were 409 sailing vessels of 17,225 tons, and 71 steam vessels of 6,675 tons. The amount of customs, in that year, was £87. The exports include lead ore and other minerals, timber, bark, and corn; and the imports include all kinds of goods from Liverpool, Bristol, and London. The harbour was much obstructed by a bar, but has been greatly improved by artificial cuttings of the river, by a new pier 260 yards long, and by other works. The town has a head post-office, a r. station with telegraph, two banking offices, three hotels, markets on Monday and Saturday, and fairs three hotels, markets on Monday and Saturday, and fairs on the Monday before 5 Jan, Palm-Monday, Whit-Monday, and the Monday after 18 Nov. About two thousand temporary residents, and several thousands of casual visitors frequent the town as a watering-place in autumn. The bathing beaches are excellent; bathing-machines are plentiful; hot salt-water baths are at haud; a chalybeate spring, of similar qualities to the water of Tunbridge, is on a neighbouring common; recreations in variety, are abundant; and the walks and drives in the xicinity are charming. Races are held on two days the vicinity are charming. Races are held on two days in September at Gogerddan, 3 miles distant. Cornelians, inseptember at organization, of missustant. Collectains, jaspers, agates, moccos, and other precious pebbles are often picked up by loungers on the beach. Public coaches used to run to distant towns, east, south, and north; railway trains have now superseded them; and steamers ply to Bristol and Liverpoel. Pläs-rung, a ruined castellated edifice, in the cuvirons, on the backs of the Rheidol.

is said to have been the residence of Owen Glendower. The grave of the poet Tuliesin, who flourished in the 6th century, is 8 miles distant. Pop. of the town in 1851, 5,231, in 1861, 5,641. Houses, 1,089. A system of railway, called the Aberystwith and Welsh Coast, ramify-A system of ing northward and eastward from Aberystwith, to an aggregate length of 86 miles, was authorized in 1861; un lerwent extensions and alterations under acts of 1862-1867; became amalgamated with the Cambrian system;

1301; recame amagamated with the Cambrian system; and connects, at Aberystwith, with a line southward to the South Wales system at Carmarthen.

The chapelry comprises 559 acres of land and 175 of water. Pop., 5,561. Houses, 1,068. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, not reported. Pattern the Plates of Carlot and ported Patron, the Bishop of St. David's.—The sub-district comprises Llanychaiarn parish and part of Llanbedarn-Fawr. Acres, 15,440. Pop., 8,772. Houses. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Llanrhystyd, containing the parishes of Llanrhystyd, Llanddeinol, Llangrwyddon, Llanilar, and Rhostic; the sub-district of Geneur-Glynn, containing the parish of Llancyniclin, and parts of the parishes of Llanbadarn-Fawr and Llanfihangel-Geneur-Glynn; and the sub-district of Rheidol, containing the parishes of Llanafan and Llan-Gradelloy, Croyddin, and part of the parish of Llanbadarn-Fawr. Acres, 132,592. Poor-rates in 1866, £3,025. Pop. in 1841, 22,242; in 1861, 25,461. Houses, 5,083. Pop. in 1841, 22,242; in 1861, 25,461. Houses, 5,083. Mirriages in 1856, 244; births, 916,—of which 70 were illegitimate; deaths, 523,—of which 143 were at ages under 5 years, and 22 at ages upwards of 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851—60, 1,938; births, 7,458; deaths, 4,637. The places of worship in 1851 were 20 of the Church of England, with 5,951 sittings; 11 of Independents, with 1,996 s.; 27 of Calvinistic-Methodists, with 7,507 s.; 10 of Walston Methodists with 2,510 with 7,275 s; 10 of Wesleyao Methodists, with 2,519 s; 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 212 s; 1 of the Wesleyan Association, with 258 s; and 9 of Baptists, with 2,095 s. The schools in 1851 were 20 public day-schools, with 1,492 scholars; 27 private day-schools, with 7,32s.; and 67 Sundry schools, with 9,535 s.

ARINGDON, a town, two parishes, a sub-district, and a district in Berks. The town comprises parts of the two parishes, and is a borough. It stands on a rich flat plain, at the influx of the Ock to the Thames, at the naction of the Wilts and Berks canal with the Thames, and at the terminus of a sub-branch railway of 13 mile trom the Oxford branch of the Great Western, 6 miles by road S of Oxford, and 601 by railway W by N of London. 1: was called originally Scheovesham, softened into Shovesham, and afterwards Abandune, altered into Abingdon. It was a place of note in the time of the Biitons, and became a royal residence in the times of the Synods were held at it in 742 and 822; and Sanons. the royal courts of Mercia and Wessex made it long a A manuscript in the Cottonian seat of state assemblies. library, called "the old book of Abendon," describes it as, "in ancient times a famous city, goodly to behold, and full of riches." Some foundations of its royal nalace Some foundations of its royal palace can still be traced in a meadow on the E side of the brilge. The town was visited by William the Conqueror, by Henry III., and by Henry VIII. It was garrisoned for Charles I.; made the head-quarters of his horse, and the temporary retreat of all his family; and became the scene of sharp struggles and great excesses before he was subdued. A sharp practice of its garrison, of hanging all Irish prisoners without trial, gave rise to the proverb of "Abing lon law."

The town consists of several wide streets, diverging from a spacious market-place. The market-house is a enricus edifice, of ashlar and rough freestone, with a curieus editice, or asidar and rough freestone, with a tower erected in 1678. The county prison is a substan-tial structure, with capacity for 45 male and 16 female prisoners, built in 1812, at a cost of £23,000. The grammar-school, founded in 1564 by J. Royse, was re-built outside the town in 1899; has an embowed income of £341; holds five scholarships at Pembroke College, Oxfor1; and numbers among its pupils Lord Chief Justice Holt Archbishop Newcome, Godwin and Morant, the antiquaries: Holwick, the linguist; and Graves, the author of the "Spiritual Quixote." Christ's hospital. founded in 1553 by Sir John Mason, is a curious clois-tered edifice of brick and timber, with turret and dome; contains an oak hall with pictures and stained glass; shows, at the E end of its cloister, a representation of a famous octagonal market-cross, which was destroyed in 1644; and has an endowed income of £682. charities have £930. The bridge across the river is a picturesque structure with six pointed arches, erected in 1416; was regarded, at the time of its erection, as a grand boon to all the surrounding country; and is the subject of some quaint old verses preserved in Christ's Hospital. Prince Albert's cross is an elegant crection of 1864, after Prince Albert's cross is an engant energing from and designs by Gibbs. It has a quadrangular base, with medallions; a central octagonal shaft, with rich entablature; side columns, with earved capitals supporting braldic lions; and a surmounting pyramidal pedestal, crowned by a statue of the Prince.

St. Helen's church occupies the site of an ancient number of the prince of the pr nery, and was about to be restored in July 1869. It has a nave, three aisles, and a south chapel, and forms altogether a spacious rectangle. The north aisle has rich timgetner a spacious recangie. In on orth assie has rich tim-ber ceilings of the time of Henry VI.; and the south aisle was built in 1539. A tower, in the early English style, rises at the NE corner; and is surmounted by a lofty octagonal spire, in the perpendicular style, which figures conspicuously for miles. St. Nicholas' church was built about the year 1300, on the site of an earlier edifice; and it has a good Norman doorway and a tower A graceful gateway, in the perpendicular style, adjoining St. Nicho-las' church, and part of a refectory behind, now used as astable, and containing a beautifully decorated window, are the chief remains of the Mitred Benedictine abbey of St. Mary, which was one of the richest in England. The original abbey was founded in Bagley-wood, in the neighbouring parish of Sunningwell, about the year 680, by Cissa, viceroy of Centurin, King of Wessex; but was totally destroyed, in the time of Alfred, by the Danes. The subsequent edifice was founded at Abingdon by King Edred, and completed in the reign of King Edgar. Edred, and completed in the reign of Ning Edgar. The nare was 180 feet long; the choir 65 feet long; the Lady Chapel, 36 feet long; the transept, 156 feet long; the western tower, 100 feet high. The Independent chapel was built in 1863, act is in the Italian style. The Roman Catholic chapel was built in 1865, at a cost of more than £5,000; and is in the second pointed style.

The borough comprises 239 acres. It received a charter of Queen Mary in 1557. It is governed by a mayor, 4 aldermen, and 12 councillors; it holds a commission of the peace and a court of quarter sessions; it is the seat of summer assizes for Berks; and it sends a mem-ber to parliament. The average annual revenue is ber to parliament. The average annual revenue is £750; the amount of taxation in 1859 was £3,759; the number of electors in 1868 was 329. Real perty in 1860, £29,425. Pop. in 1851, 5,954; in 1861, 5,680. Houses, 1,189. A large trade is carried on in clothing; and a little is carried on in matting, hempeloting; and sack and sail-cloth making. A weekly market is held on Monday; a wool fair, on the first Monday in July; a hiring fair, on the Monday before Old Michaelmas day; lamb firs, on 5 Aug., 19 Sep., and 11 Dec.; and other fairs on the first Monday in Lent, 6 May. and 20 June. Races are run annually, on a 11 mile course. The town has a head post-office, t a telegraph-office, two banking-offices, two principal hotels, four dissenting chapels, and a variety of local institu-tions. It gives the title of Earl to the family of Bertie; tions. It gives the title of Lair to the family of Eertle; and it numbers among its natives or celebrities Archbishop St. Edmund, Archbishop Newcome, Sir John Mason, Sir T. Smith, Abbot the Speaker, Moore who wrote the "Gamester," and W. Stevens the poet.

The parish of St. Helen comprises 3,184 acres, and includes the farms of Barton and Pumney, the hamlets of Northcourt and Cholsall, and the townships of Sunfford and Shippon. Rated property, £14,342. Pop., 5,958. Houses, 1,214. The parish of St Nichelas comprises 177 acres. Rated property, £2,212. Pop., 742. Houses, 143. The living of St. H. is a vicarage, that of St. N. a rectory, in the dio. of Oxford; and the two are conjoined. Value, £255. Patron, the Bishop of O. The conjoined. value, £255. Patron, the Disnop of U. Interview victarges of Drayton, Saniford, and Shippon are separate henefices,—The sub-district of Abingdon comprises five parishes and two extra-parochial tracts. Acres, 12,983. Pop., 8,672. Houses, 1,785. The district of Abingdon, though all in the registration county of Aconguon, though an in the registration county of Berks, is partly in the parliamentary county of Oxford. It comprehends the sub-district of Fyfield, containing the parishes of Kingston-Bagguize, Fyfield, Twbney, and Appleton, and parts of the parishes of West Hanney and Longworth; the sub-district of Abingdon, containing the parishes of Marcham, St. Helen, St. Nicholas, Radley, and Sunningwell, and the extra-parochial tracts of Bagley-wood and Chandlings-farm; the sub-district of Cumnor, containing the parishes of Besselsleigh, Cumnor, Woodden, Wytham, North Hinksey, and Einsey (the last in Oxfordshire), and the extra-parochial tract of Seacourt; the sub-district of Sutton-Courteney, containing the parishes of Sutton-Courteney, Milton, Drayton, Steventon, and Culham (the last in Oxfordshire); and the sub-district of Nune-(the last in Oxfordshire), and the since where the ham-Courteney, all in Oxfordshire, and containing the parishes of Sandford, Nuncham-Courteney, Baldon-Marsh, Baldon-Foot, Chiselhampton, Stadhampton, Drayton, and Clifton-Hampden, and parts of the parishes Drayton, and Cutton-frampuen, and parts of the platison of St. Mary-Oxford and Dorchester. Acres, 56,445. Poor-rates in 1866, £14,319. Pop. in 1841, 18,780; in 1861, 20,861. Houses, 4,328. Marriages in 1866, 162; births, 652,—of which 48 were illegitimate; deaths, 388,—of which 100 were at ages under 5 years, and 18 were at a conclusion. ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1, 409; births, 6,940; deaths, 4,911. The places of worship in 1851 were 37 of the Church of England, with 9,073 in 1891 were 3 of the Churen of Engiana, with 9,00 stittings; 2 of Independents, with 740 s.; 8 of Baptists, with 2,730 s.; 11 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 986 s.; 2 of Primitive Methodists, with 312 s.; and 2 undefined, with 333 s. The schools in 1851 were 27 public day schools, with 1,742 scholars; 33 private day schools, with 7,788 s. 43 Sunday schools with 9,707 s. and 3 even. 768 s.; 43 Sunday schools, with 2,707 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 133 s. The work-house is in Northcourt hamlet, and was built at a cost of £8,500.

ABINGER, a village and a parish in Dorking district, Surrey. The village is 2½ miles SE of Gomshall and Sheire r. station, and 4½ miles SW of Dorking; and has a post-office under Dorking. It was for many years the residence of Hoole, the translator of Ariosto; and it gives residence of Hoole, the translator of Ariosto; and it gives the title of Baron to the family of Scaulett. The parish is overhung on the SE by Leith hill, and drained westward by a tributary of the Wey. Acres, 5,547. Real property, £4,265. Pop., 906. Houses, 177. The property is not much divided. Abinger Hall is the seat of Lord Abinger; and was long the residence of the Countess of Donegal, Swift's "Glory of the Granard race." The living is a rectory in the diocess of Winchester Value, £4,53. Patron, W. J. Evelyn, Esq. The church is an ancient elifice, partly in the earliest Norman, partly in early English: was recently restored at a cost of in early English; was recently restored at a cost of about £1,500; and has some good coloured windows. Charities, £9. The parish is a meet for the Surrey Union hounds.

hounds.

ABINCHALL, or ABBENHALL, a parish in Westburyon-Severn district, Gloucester; in Dean forest, 13 mile SSW of Longhope r. station, and 5 N of Newnham.
Post-town, Longhope under Newnham. Aeres, 751.
Real property, £1,718. Pop., 228. Houses, 45. The roperty is not much divided. There is a mineral spring.
The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Pristol. Velue, £142.* Patron, J. F. Sevier, Esq. The church is an old Norman edifice, in good condition, and contains some anniant combs. contains some ancient tombs.

ABINGTON, a parish in the district and county of ABIAGTON, a parish in the district and colury of Northampton; near the river Nen and the Peterborough railway, 14 mile NE of Northampton. Post-town, Northampton. Acres, 1,112. Real property, 22,851. Pop., 164. Houses, 24. A spot here was the grave of Shakspeare's favourite grand-daughter, and is marked by a mulberry-tree planted by Garrick. Abington Abbry is a lunatic asylum. The living is a rectory in the dio-cese of l'eterborough. Value, £200.* Fatron, Lord OverThe church is early English, and contains tombs of the Berhards. Charities, £20.

ABINGTON, a village in Great Abington parish, Cambridge; near the C. and Haverhill railway, 2½ filles NW of Linton. It has a post-office under Cambridge, NW of Linton. It has a post-office under Cambridge, and ar. station; and was formerly a market-town.

ABINGTON (Great), a parish in Linton district, Cambridge. It contains the village of Abington, and the seats of Abington House, Abington Hall, and Abington Park. Acres, 1,500. Real property, £2,291. Pop., 330. Houses, 62. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £120. Patron, T. Mortlock, Esq. The church is early English.

ABINGTON (LITTLE), a parish in Linton district, Cambridge; adjoining the N side of Great Abington. Acres, 1,120. Real property, £1,650. Pop., 316. Houses, 66. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £87.* Patron, T. Mortlock, Esq. The church belouged to Pentney Abbey, is in good condition, and contains tombs of the Daltons.

of the Daltons.

ABINGTON-IN-THE-CLAY, or Abington-Pigotts, a parish in Royston district, Cambridge; 5 miles NW of a parish in Royston district, Cambridge; 5 miles NW of Royston, and 4 from Royston r. station. Post-town, Royston. Aeres, 1,237. Real property, £2,206. Pop., 228. Houses, 41. The manor has been held by the family of Pigott since the Conquest. The living is a rec-tory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £310. Patron, M. G. F. Pigott, Esq. The chren his good. AB-KETTLEBY, a township and a parish in Melton-Mowbray district, Leiecester. The township lies on an affluent of the river Wreak, at Broughton hill, 21 miles N by Z of Asfordby r. station, and 3 NW by N of Mel-ton-Mowbray: and has a post-office under Melton-Mow-

No y & ot Astordby r. station, and 3 NW by N of Mel-ton-Mowbray; and has a post-office under Melton-Mow-bray. Pop., 224. Houses, 50. The parish contains also the township of Helwell. Acres, 2,020. Rated property, £1,805. Pop., 371. Houses, 52. The pro-perty is sub-divided. The living is a vicatage in the dioces of Peterborough. Value, not reported. Patron, Rev. T. Bingham. The church belonged anciently to Laund priory, was recently restored, and have trees. Laund priory, was recently restored, and has a tower and spire. There are a Wesleyan chaped, and charities 28. ABLINGTON, a tything in Bibury parish, Glonces-ter; on the river Coln, 5½ miles NW of Fairford. Pop.,

Houses, 21.

ABLINGTON, a hamlet in Figheldean parish, Wilts;

ABLINGTON, a namiet in Fignetican parish, Witts, on the river Avon, 44 miles N of Amesbury. Pop., 137.

ABNEY, a hamlet in Hope parish, Derby; on a tributary of the river Derwent, 4 miles NE of Tideswell.

ABNEY-PARK, a suburb of London, 34 miles N of St. Paul's. It has a post-office under Stoke-Newington, London N. A mansion on its site was the seat of Sir Thomas Abney and the residence of Dr. Watts; and a caractery now here has a chanel in the centre and concemetery now here has a chapel in the centre, and contains a monument to Dr. Watts.

ABOVE-DERWENT. See ALLERDALE.

ABOVE-SAWTHE, a tract called a hamlet, containing Esgob, Chwekreen Hall, and the town of Llangadock, in the parish of Llangadock, Carmarthen. Pop., Houses, 169. See LLANGADOCK.

746. Houses, 169. See Liangadock.

ABRAHAM (Heisenis or). See Matlock.

ABRAM, a chapelry in Wigan parish, Lancashire on the Wigan and Newton railway, and Wigan and Leigh cand, 3½ miles SSE of Wigan. Acres, 1,965. Real property, £8,925.—of which £4,125 are in mines. Pop., 911. Houses, 173. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage. Value, £120. Patron, the Rector of Wigao. The church was built in 1313. There are an enfowed school, and charities £36. AliRIDGE, a village in Lambourne parish. Essex; on the river Roding, 5 miles S of Epping. It has a post-office under Romford, and a fair on 2 June; and it forms a curricy with the rectory of Lambourne.

omee under homoru, and a rur on 2 tune; and it forms a curacy with the rectory of Lambourne.

ABSON, ABSTON, or ABBOTSTON, a village and a parish in Chipping-Sodbury district, Gloucester. The village stands on a small tributary of the Avon, 3 miles SE of Mangetsheld r. station, and 7 E by N of Bristol. The parish contains also the villages of Bridgegate and Holbrook; and is sometimes called Abson-cum-Wick, and sometimes Wick and Abson. Post-town, Wick under sometimes wick and Abson. Post-town, Wick under Bath. Acres, 2,315. Real property, 25,541. Pop., 833. Houses, 185. The manor belonged anciently to Glaston-bury abbey, and belongs now to Messis. Batterbury and Tolinan. There are rounantic rocky heights, a Roman camp, two Druidical stones, lead and tin ores, and two The living is a p. curacy, annexed to iron-rolling mills. Pucklechnrch, in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. There are a church for Abson, of early English date; a

There are a church for Abson, of early English date; a church for Wick, built in 1850; Independent and Wesleyan chapels; and a national school.

ABTHORPE, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Towcester, Northampton. The village stands on the river Tove, 3 miles WSW of Towcester, and 8 SW by W of Blisworth r. station; and has a post-office under Towcester. The parish includes the hamlet of Foscote. Acres. 1.919. Real property 29 902 Acres, 1,919. Real property, 22,000 The property is divided of Foscote. Pop., 511. Houses, 110. among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £215. Patron, alternately the Bishon of Lichfield and the Trustees of Leeson's charity. The church is good. Charities, £191.—The sub-district comprises seventeen entire parishes, and parts of two others. Acres, 22, 323. Pop., 5, 473. Houses, 1,257. ABURY. See AVEBURY.

ADURI. See AVEBURY.
ABY, a parish in Louth district, Lincoln; 1 mile W of Claythorpe r. station, and 3 NW of Alford. Posttown, Alford. Acres, 1,440. Real property, £2,918.
Pop., 407. Houses, 87. The hamlet of Greenfield is included. The living is a vicarage, united to the rectory of Bellean, in the diocess of Lincoln. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and remains of a

Westeyan enapet, a national senoot, and remains of a Cistertian nunnery founded about the year 1150.

ACASTER-MALBIS, a township and a parish in York district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the river Ouse, 2 miles E of Copmanthorper, station, and 5 S of York; and has a post-office under York. The parish includes also part of the township of Naburn. Acres, 1,750. Real property, £2,894. Pop., 359. Houses, 61. The property is all in one estate; and it derived its name from the Malbisse family, who flourished here for several centuries after the Conquest. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £56. living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £56. Patron, F. Lawley, Esq. The church is very good. Charities, £35.

ACASTER-SELBY, a township-chapelry in Stilling-fleet parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Ouse, 3 miles E of Bolton-Percy r. station, and 8 S of York. Tadeaster. Acres, 1,51. Houses, 26. Three L of Lotton-Terty I. Scatton, 2008. Projective, Post-town, Tadeaster. Acres, 1,523. Real property, £2,633. Pop., 151. Houses, 26. The property belonged anciently to the abbey of Seby; and it still is undivided. A college for a provost and two or three follows was founded on it by Robert Stillington. The chapelry was constituted in 1850, and is a vicance in the chapter was constituted in 1850, and is a vicance in the chapter was constituted in 1850, and is a vicance in the chapter was constituted in 1850, and is a vicance in the chapter was constituted in 1850, and is a vicance in the chapter was constituted in 1850, and is a vicance in the chapter was constituted in 1850, and is a vicance in the chapter was constituted in 1850, and is a vicance was constituted was constituted in 1850, and is a vicance was constituted was the diocese of York. Value, £40. Patron, Sir W. M. The church is very good. Milner, Bart.

ACCONBURY. See ACONDURY.

ACCOTT, a hamlet in Swimbridge parish, Devon; 5 miles E of Barnstaple.

ACCININGTON, a town, two townships, two chapelries, and a sub-district, in Whalley parish, Lancashire. The town adjoins the E Lancashire railway, near the Leeds and Liverpool canal, 4 miles by road and 5½ by railway E of Blackburn. It is large and thriving; has spring up within the present century; is a seat of petty sessions and county courts; publishes a weekly newspaper; carries on industry in twenty cotton factories, three printworks, extensive turkey-red dye-work, several chemical works, foundries, steel-works, and a brewery; is well supplied with water from reservoirs; and has a 13 well supplied with water from less round, and has a head post-office, 2 a r. station with telegraph, a banking-office, four hotels, a market-house of 1868, public rooms of 1857 in the Italian style at a cost of £8,000, a mechanics' institution, a museum and pleasure gardens, a chur h enlarged in 1826, a church of 1841 in the early English style at a cost of £8,000, a church of 1866, two Wesleyan chapels of 1815 and 1866, nine other dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, seven public schools, and two annual fairs. Pop. in 1851, 7,481; iu 1861, 13,872. Houses, 2,579.—The townships are New A and Old A. Acres, 2,450 and 740. Real property, £52,634; of which £8,409 are in mines. Pop., 11,853 and 5,835.—The chapelries are St. James and Christand 0,000.—Ine enaperies are St. James and Christehurch; and both are p. curacies in the diocess of Manchester. Value of each, £300.* Patrons of St. J., Ilulme's Trustees; of C., Trustees.—The sub-district is conterminate with the two townships.

ACHURCH. See THORPE-ACHURCH. ACKENTHWAITE, a hamlet in Heversham parish, Westmoreland; adjacent to Milathorpe, and to the Lancaster and Carlisle railway.

ACKHAMPSTEAD. See ASHAMPSTEAD, Oxford. ACKLAM, a township and a parish in Malton district, E. R. Yorkshire. The township is called Acklam-with-

Barthorpe, and lies 5 miles ESE of Kirkham r. station, and 7 S of Malton. Acres, 1,800. Pop. 366. Houses, 82. The parish is called East Acklam, and contains 32. The parish is called East Acklain, and contains also the township of Leavening. Post-town, Kirby-Underdale under York. Acres, 2,970. Real property, £1,621. Pop., 774. Houses, 184. The surface is on the Wolds, and commands a very extensive view. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the statement of York. Pop. 2009. property is much subdivided. And fiving is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £108. Patron, the Archbishop of York. The church was rebuilt in 1868. There are chapels for Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists. Some ancient entrenchments and other works, British or Roman, are on the hills.

Some ancient entrenchments and other method.

ACKLAM (Wesr), a parish in the district of Stockton, and N. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles S of Newportr.

station, and 4 ESE of Stockton. Post-town, Stainton under Stockton. Acres, 1,476. Real property, £1,029.

Pop., 103. Houses, 19. The property is divided among a few. Acklam Hall is the seat of T. Hustler, Esq.

The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, and the seat of the se The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £77.* Patron, T. Hustler, Esq. The church is good.

this raise, stands, st

ACKLEY, a township in Forden parish, Montgomeryshire; 31 miles N of Montgomery. Pop., 84. ACKLINGTON, a township and a chapelry in Alawick district. Northumberland. The township is in Warkworth district, Normannerman, The cownsings in Narkworth parish, lies on the Northeastern railway and the river Coquet, 113 miles north of Morpeth, and has a station on the railway, and a head post-office. Acres, 2,072 Pop., 255. Houses, 52.—The chapelry comprises parts of Warkworth and Shilbottle parishes; was constituted in 1850, and is a vigore in the dispesse of Durbam. Pop., 635. Houses, 124. Value, not reported. Patron, the Duke of Northumberland. The clurch is in the early English style, and was erected in 1861, after designs by Deason, at the Duke of Northumberland's expense.

ACKLINGTON-PARK, a township in Warkworth parish, Northumberland; adjoining Acklington. Acres, 766. Pop., 163. Houses, 31.

ACKTHORPE, a hamlet in South Elkington parish, Lincolnshire; 2 miles W of Louth. Pop., 36.
ACKTON. See Acros.

ACKWORTH, a parish in Hemsworth district, W. R. Yorkshire ; 34 miles S of Poutefract r. station. tains Ackworth village and three hamlets, and has a post-office ‡ under Pontefract. Acres, 2,270. Real property, £9,725. Pop., 1,813. Houses, 333. A. Park, perty, £9,725. Pop., 1,813. Houses, 333. A. Park, A. House, and several good villas are chief residences. Stone is largely quarried; and the kennels of the Badsworth hunt are here. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £403. Patron, the Duchy of Lancaster. The church was rebuilt in 1851. There are chapels for Quakers, Wesleyans, and Roman Catholies, a large and famous Quakers' school, a training school for masters, two endowed schools, two other public schools, and charities £144.

ACLE, a village and a parish in Elofield district, Nor-lk. The village stands near the river Bure, 1 miles N of Brundall r. station, and 11 E of Norwich. It has a post-officet under Norwich, and was formarly a market town, and a fair is held at it on Midsummer day. The parish lies chiefly around the village, but part of it is at some distance, in the Marshes. Acres, 3,209. Real property, £8,417. Pop., 936. Houses, 197. The pretty is much subdivided. The hiving is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £605.* Patron, Lord Cathorpe. The church is old. A Wesleyan chapel was built in 1867. There is a national school. An Augustinian priory anciently stood at Ack-Dom. town, and a fair is held at it on Midsummer day.

built in 1867. There is a national school. An Augustinian priory anciently stood at Acle-Dam.

ACLEA. See OCKLEY.

ACLETON. See ACKLETON.

ACOCK'S GREEN, a chapelry in Yardley parish, Worcester; on the Oxford and Birmingham railway, 4½ miles SE of Birmingham. It was constituted in 1867; and it has a r. station, a post-office; under Birmingham, a church of 1867 at a cost of 24,000, a recent handsome Independent chapel, and a Wesleyan chapel. The some Independent chapel, and a Wesleyan chapel. The living is a vicarege. Statistics, not reported.

ACOLO, or Wood, a ville in Thanet, Kent; 3 miles SW of Margate. Acres, 1,176. Pop., 260.

ACOMB, a township and a parish in York district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies 2 miles W of York, and has a post-office under that city. Acres, 1,440. Pop., 897. Houses, 195. The parish includes also most of the township of Kanpton and part of the township of Drinkhouses, and is traversed by the Northeastern railway. Acres, 2,273. Real property, £5,361. Pop., 1,034. Houses, 226. The property is much subdivided. An eminence called Sivers' hill is traditionally said to have been the place where the body of the Emdivided. An eminence called Sivers' hill is traditionally said to have been the place where the body of the Emperor Severus was consumed to ashes. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £190. Patron, F. Barlow, Esq. The church is old, but good. There is a Wesleyan chapel. Charities, £12.

ACOMB, a township in St. John Lee parish. Northamberland; on the Tyne, 2 miles NNW of Hexham. It has a post-office under Hexham, and a Wesleyan chapel. Acres, 2,745. Pop., 800. Houses, 128.

ACOMB (EAST.), a township in the parish of Bywell St. Peter, Northumberland; on the Tyne, 4 miles E of Corbridge. Acres, 391. Pop., 62. Houses, 9.

ACOMBURY. or ACONDURY. a village and a parish

Corbridge. Acres, 391. Pop., 62. Houses, 9.
ACONBURY, or Acornmer, a village and a parish in the district and county of Hereford. The village stands 22 miles WSW of Holme-Laceyr. station, and 41 S of Hereford, and is an old-fashioned place. The parish S of Hereford, and is an old-fashioned place. The parish comprises 1,591 acres; and its post-town is Holme-Lacey under Hereford. Real property, £1,132. Pop., 183. Houses, 37. The property is divided among a few. Aconbury hill, to the S of the village, commands an extensive and very fine prospect, and shows distinct traces of a large Roman camp. An Augustinian nunnery anciently stood in Aconbury forest. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £53.* Patron, the Rev. S. Thackwell. The church is neat the Rev. S. Thackwell. 'The church is neat.

the Rev. S. Thackwell. The courch is partial, in Denbigh; 2 miles SSW of Rusbon.

ACRE (SOUTH). See SOUTH ACRE.

ACRE (WEST). See WEST ACRE.

ACRISE, a parish in the Elham district, Kent; 5 miles NNW of Folkestoner, station.

Post-town, Elham mutes NN w of Folkestoner, station. Fost-town, Linam under Canterbury. Acres, 1,034. Real property, £1,196. Pop., 173. Houses, 34. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £171.* Patron, W. A. Mackimon, Esq. The church has a Norman chancel-arch, and is very good. The East Kent hounds meet at the contract of arcu, and is very good. The East Kent hounds meet at Acrise; and a fair is held on 16 Oct, at Acrise Mill. ACTON, a name signifying "oak-town," and designating a seat of population which anciently was occu-y oak trees.

ACTON, a township in Weaverham parish, Cheshire; 41 miles WNW of Northwich. It lies on the North-western railway and on the Weaver river, and has a station on the railway. Acres, 1,139. Pop., 484. Houses, 100. A bridge on the Weaver here was built of stones from Vale Royal abbey. Fairs are held at Acton Bridge on 14 April and 14 Oct.

ACTON, a township and a parish in Nantwich district, loshire. The township lies on the Birmingham and Liverpool canal, near the Shropshire Union railway, 13 mile WNW of Nantwich; and has a post-office under Nantwich. Acres, 722. Pop., 297. Houses, 57. The parish comprises the townships of Acton, Cool-Pilate, Austerson, Baddington, Edleston, Burland, Faldiley, Brindley, Henhull, Hurleston, Poole, Stoke, Cholmondestone, Aston-juxta-Mondrum, and Worleston. Acres, 15,542. Real property, £2,978. Pop. 3,125. Houses, 625. The manor belonged to the Saxon earl Morcar, and passed, through the Lovels, Ardens, and Wilbrahams, to the Tollemaches. The parish church and Dorfold Hall were garrisoned, during the civil war, by successively the were garrisoned, during the civil war, by successively the regal and the parliamentary forces. The clurch is early English, and contains some ancient monuments. Dorfold Hall was built in 1616, consists of dark brick, has large bay windows and massive chimneys, and contains some well-preserved, rich, plaster ornaments. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £627.* Patron, J. Tollemache, Esq. The p. curacy of Burley Pam is a separate benefice. Charities, £100.

ACTON, a village, a parish and a sub-district in Brentford, Middlescx. The village stands $\frac{9}{2}$ uniles W of $\frac{1}{2}$$ t. Paul's, London; is linked to the metropolis by an almost continuous linced houses, bisected by the Junction of St. Paul's, London; is inked to the metropolis by an almost continuous line of houses, bisected by the Junction railway, connecting the Northwestern railway with the Southwestern; and it has a station on the railway and post-office; under London W. The parish contains also the hamlets of East Acton and Steyne. Acres, 2,286. Real property, £18,477. Pop., 3,151. Houses, 610. The property is subdivided. Old Oak Common, traversed by the Great Western railway and by the North and Southwestern inviction, was anciently a thick oak versed by the Great Western railway and by the North and Southwestern junction, was anciently a thick oak forest. Acton Wells, on the common, were in much repute, about the middle of last century, for their medicinal waters. Berrymead Priory was once the seat of the Savilles and the Evelyns. Sir P. Skippon, Richard Baxter, Sir Matthew Hale, Bishop Lloyd, Provest Ious, Thicknesse, the traveller, and Ryres, the author of "Mercurius Rusticus," resided in Acton. The living is a rectory in the diocese of London. Value, £063.* Patron. the Bishop of London. The church is early English, and was restored in 1865. There are Independent and Wesleyn charles, a literary institution, landsome national leyan chapels, a literary institution, handsome national schools, Wesleyan schools, and well-endowed alms-houses. schools, Westeyan schools, and well-endowed alms-houses.

—The sub-district comprises four parishes. Acres, 5,963.
Pon., 6,443. Houses, 1,044.
ACTON, a township in Featherstone parish, W. R.
Yorkshire; 3\(\frac{1}{2}\) miles W of Pontefract. It contains Actor.
Hall. Acres, 934. Pop., 67. Houses, 17.
ACTON, a parish in Sudbury district, Suffolk; near the river Stour, 2\(\frac{1}{2}\) miles N by E of Sudbury r. station.

the river Stour, 2½ mules N by E of Suddinty F. station. It has a post-office under Suddinty. Acres, 2,311. Real property, £4,159. Pop., 558. Houses, 122. The property belongs chiefly to two. Acton Place contains some old paintings and other interesting objects. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £255.* Patron. Earl Howe. The church contains five brasses, and is good.

ACTON, a township in Wrexham parish, Denbigh; on the Shrewsbury and Chester railway, 1 mile NNE of Wrexham. Acres, 852. Pop., 220. Houses, 42. Acton Park is the seat of Sir Robert H. Cunliffe, Bart., and occupies the site of the house in which the notorious Judge Jeffreys was born.

ACTON, a hamlet in Langton-Matravers parish, Dorset; 31 miles SE of Corfe Castle.

ACTON, a township in North Lydbury parish, Salop; 21 miles SSW of Bishop's Castle. Pop., 108. ACTON, a township in Swinnerton perish, Stafford;

y miles SW of Newcastle-under-Lyne.

ACTON AND OLD FELTON, a township in Felton

ACTON AND OLD FELTON, a township in Felton parish, Northumberland; near the river Coquet, 3 miles ENE of Acklington r. station, and 74 S of Aluwick. Acres, 1,214. Fop., 93. Houses, 21.

ACTON-BEAUCHAMP, a parish in the district of Bromyard and county of Worester; 5 miles SL of Bromyard, and 54 SW by N of Colwall r. station. It has a post-office under Worcester. Acres, 1,529. Real property, 22,026. Pop., 205. Houses, 42. The property belonged anciently to the Beauchamps, but is now much a rectory in the diocess of Worcester. Value, £320.*

There are mineral springs. The living is Value, £320.* subdivided. There are mineral springs.

Patron, Rev. R. Cowpland. The church is very good.

ACTON-BRIDGE. See ACTON, Weaverham, Che-The living is

ACTON-BURNELL, a township and a parish in At-nam district, Salop. The township lies 4 miles ENE of cham district, Salop. Dorrington r. station, and 81 SSE of Shrewsbury; and it has a post-office under Shrewsbury, and is the meet of the Wheatland hounds. Pop., 283. Houses, 56. The parish contains also the townships of Ruckley and Langley. Acres, 3,141. Real property, £3,839. Pop., 361. Houses, 72. Acton Park is the seat of Sir C. F. Smythc. Bart., the only landowner. A ruin on Acton hill, with Bart, the only landowner. A ruin on Acton hill, with very thick walls and curiously carved pointed windows, is part of a castle which was built in the 13th century, and belonged to the family of Burnell. The lords of Edward I.'s parliament of 1283, which passed "Statutum de mercatoribus," sat in a hall of the castle, while the commons sat in an adjacent barn. The living is a rectory in the disease of 1 in the day of the latter of the castle, while the in the diocese of Lichfield; and includes the chapetry of Acton-Pigott. Value, £350. Patron, Rev. R. Meyricke. The church contains a canopied brass of a Burnell, and is good

ACTON-DELAMARE. See Acton, Weaverham,

Cheshire.

ACTON-GRANGE, a township in Runcorn parish, Cheshire; on the Northwestern railway and the Bridge-Cheshire; on the Northwestern railway and the Endgewater canal, 2½ miles SW of Warrington. Acres, 1,004. Pop., 180. Houses, 28. ACTON-IRON. See IROX-ACTON. ACTON-PIGOTT, a chapelry in Ruckley township, Acton-Burnell parish, Salop; 1 mile NE of Acton-Burnell Seathways Engagement.

II. See ACTON-BURNELL.
ACTON-REYNOLD, a township in Shawbury parish, Salop; near the liver Roden, 7 miles NNE of Shrewsburv. Pop., 159.

ACTON-ROUND, a parish in Bridgaorth district, Salor; near Wenlock Edge, 5 miles W by S of Linley r. station, and 6, WNW of Bridgaorth. Post-town, Burstation, and 64 WNW of Bridgnorth. Post-town, Bur-ton under Wellington, Salop. Acres, 2,126. Rated pro-perty, £1,400. Vop., 173. Houses, 36. Sir F. R. E. Acton, Bart., of Aldenham Hall, is the chief proprietor; and Cardinal Acton belouged to his family. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £85. Patron, Sir F. R. E. Acton. The church is ancient and cruciform, has a small tower, contains three fine monu-netts of the Acton family, and was recently restored.

ACTON SCOTT, a parish in Church-Stretton district, Salop; near the river Onny, under Wenlock Edge, 2 miles E of Marsh Brook r. station, and 3 S of Church-Stretton. Post-town, Church-Stretton. Acres, 1,889. Real property, £2,012. Pop., 207. Houses, 41. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Hereford. Value, £238.* Patron, F.

M. Hendarvis, Esq. The church is very good.
ACTON-STONE, a township in Rushbury parish, Salop; 3 miles E of Church-Stretton.
ACTON-TRUSSELL AND BEDNALL, a townshipchapelry in Baswick parish, Stafford; on the river Trent and the Stafford canal, near Cannock Chase, and near the Northwestern railway, 3 miles N of Penkridge. It the Northwestern rathway, 3 miles N of Penkridge. It has a post-office, of the name of Beshall, noder Stafford. Acres, 2,547. Real property, £4,782. Pop., 617. Houses, 123. The property is divided among four propertors. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £231. Patrons, Hulme's Trustees. The church is in disrepair.

ACTON-TURVILLE, a parish in Chipping Sodlary divides Chescher, were the Fasia way and public the district, Gloucester; near the Fosse way and under the Cetswold hills, 51 miles E by S of Chipping Sodbury, and 74 E of Yate r. station. Post-town, Chipping Sodlury. Acres, 1,009. Real property, £1, £24. Pop., 310. Houses, 68. The manor belongs to the Duke of Beaufort. The living is a vicanage, annexed to the rectory of Tormerton, in the diocess of Glomester and Reistol. The church is early English, restored and cularged. There are a Baptist chapel and a free school of 1862.

ADBASTON, a township and a parish in the district of I

Newport-Salop and county of Stafford. The township lies near the Grand Junction canal, 44 miles W by S of Eccleshall, and 6 SW of Standon-Bridger, station; and has a post-office under Newport-Salon. Real property, has a post-office under Newport-Salop. Real property, £2,329. Pop., 210. Houses, 40. The parish contains also the townships of Flashbrook, Bishops-Offlow, and Tunstall. Acres, 4,560. Real property, £6,895. Pop. 593. Houses, 116. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Lichfield. Value, £100.* Patron, the Dean of Lichfield. The church is good. Charities, £8. Adbaston gave the title of Viscount to Earl Whitworth.

ADBEER, a hamlet in Trent parish, Somerset; 4 miles NE by N of Yeovil.

ADBOLTON, a hamlet, formerly a parish, on the river Trent, near Grantham canal, 11 mile SE of Not tingham. It is now included in Holme-Pierrepoint tingham. It is ADCOT, a township in Little Ness chapelry, Salop; near the river Perry, 64 miles NW of Shrewsbury.

13

Pop. 26.
ADDERBURY, a village, two townships, and a parish, in Banbury district, Oxford. The village stands near the Oxford canal and the river Cherwell, 13 mile XW of Aynhor, station, and 31 Sof Banbury; and has a post-office , and 3½ Sof Banbury; and mas a pos-Its church is cruciform, and chiefly perunder Oxford. pendicular English, with a lofty decorated spire. The chancel was built by William of Wykeham, and bas his arms on the outer wall. The ancient parsonage and arms on the old tythe-barn are adjacent. A Norman eastle, and afterwards a palace of the Dukes of Bucclench, stood at Adderbury, but are extinct. An impostor, who pretended to be the Saviour, was erucified here in 1219, by order of an Episcopal synod. Adderbury Lodge, in the neighbourhood, contains a portrait of Luke, the hero of "Hudibras." Wilmot, the witty, profligate Earl of Rochester, took from Adderbury the title of Baron, and lived and died in the manor-house near Adderbury Green; and Pope the poet afterwards made a visit there to the great Duke of Argyle, and wrote,—

"With no poetic ardour fired,
I press the bed where Wilmot lay."

The townships of Adderbury are called East and West. Real property of East A., £7,019. Pop., $95. Houses, 214. Real property of West A. £2,095. Pop., 346. Houses, $9. The parish includes also the hamlet of Milton and the chapelries of Barford-St. John, and Bodicott. Acres, 6,380. Real property, £17,615. Pop., 246. Pures. 523. The acres were called the Taxon and the chape of the control of the 2,146. Houses, 535. The property is subdivided. 2,146. Houses, 535. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicance in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £S18.* Patron, New College, Oxford. The curacies of Milton and Barford are included; while the vicarage of Boddicott is a separate benefice. There are three dissenting chapels, an endowed school, and charities £270. ADDERLEY, a township and a parish in Market-Drayton district, Salop. The township lies on the Weaver river and the Nantwich and Market-Drayton railway, 4 miles N of M.-Drayton; and has a station on the railway, and a nost-office under Market-Drayton. The patish and a post-office under Market-Drayton. The parish includes also the township of Shavington and part of the township of Spoonley. Acres, 2,850. Real property, 25,616. Pop., 428. Houses, 75. Adderley Hall is the seat of Richard Corbet, Esq.; and Shavington Hall is the seat of the Earl of Kilmorey. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichtfield. Value, 2655. Patten, R. Corbet, Ess. The church is good. Charities, 268.

ADDERLEY-GREEN, a hamlet in Caverswall parish.

Stafford; I mile E of Lanc-End. It is a meet of the North Stafford hounds.

ADDERLEY-PARK, a station on the Birmingham fork of the Northwestern railway, between Stechford and Birmingham.

ADDERMINTON. See ADMINGTON.

ADDERSTONE, a township in Bambrough parish, Northumberland; 2 miles W of Lucker r. station, and 3 SSE of Belford. Acres, 2,603. Pop., 321. Houses, 54. ADDERTON. See Advanton.
ADDINGHAM, a parish in Pemith district, Cumber land; on the river Eden, 6 miles E of Plumpton r. staand on the river Eden, o mines E of Frampoin 1. said tion, and 64 NE of Perirth. It contains the townships of Hunsonby and Winskel, Little Salkeld, Glassonby, and Gamblesby. Post-town, Kirkoswald under Penith. Acres, 9,520. Real property, £6,778. Pop., 754. and Gambiesoy. Acres, 9,520. Real property, £6,778. Pop., 754. Houses, 148. The property is much sub-divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £280.* Patron, the Dean and Chapter of Carlisle. The and Wesleyans. Two schools have £85 and £80 from endowment, and other charities £69. Dr. Paley was vicar from 1792 till 1795. The Roman Maiden way runs through the parish; and a remarkable Druidical monu-ment, called Long Meg and her Daughters, with a splen-did view from the Crossfell mountains to Helvellyn, occurs on an eminence about a mile ENE of the church. The monument comprises seventy-two large stones, most of them in a circle of 250 feet in diameter, and a predominant upright block 15 feet in girth and 18 feet high. Wordsworth pronounces this "family" of Druid stones unrivalled in singularity and dignity of appearance, and

> "A weight of awe not easy to be borne Fell suddenly upon my spirit—cast From the dread bosom of the unknown past, When first I saw that family forlora.

ADDINGHAM, a township, a parish, and a sub-district, in Skipton district, W. R. Yorkshire. The townthet, in Skipton district, w. R. forkshire. The town-ship adjoins the river Wharfe, 4 miles NNW of Kildwick and Crosshills r. station, and 6 ESE of Skipton; and has a post-office; under Leeds. It formerly carried on much industry in cotton, worsted, and woollen factories; but began to suffer great reverses about 1835. Fairs are held began to sufter great reverses about 1835. Fars are held on 22 March, 16 April, and 3 Oct. Acres, 4,293. Pop. in 1831, 2,179; in 1861, 1,859. Ilouses, 420. The parish includes also part of the township of Beamsley. Acres, 5,472. Real property, £7,478. Pop., 1,938. Houses, 440. The property is much sub-divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £360. Patron, Mrs. M. Cunliffe. The church is Norman, was restored in 1853, and stands in a beautiful situation. There are three dissenting chapels, a national school, and charities £13.—The sub-district comprises all Adding-charities £13.—The sub-district comprises all Adding-ham parish, and parts of two other parishes. Acres, 22,890. Pop., 3,157. Houses, 635. ADDINGTON, a parish in the district and county of Buckingham; on a tributary of the Ouse, 13 mile WNW of Winslow r. station. Post-town, Winslow. Acres, 1,320. Real property, £2,718. Pop., 111. Houses, 21. The property is divided among a few. Addington House was formerly the seat of Admiral Poulett, late Lord Nugent. Gallows Gap was a place of feudal capital punishment by the ameint mornifectors, the Moulines. punishment by the ancient proprietors, the Moulines. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £200.* Patron, J. G. Hubbard, Esq. The church is good.

ADDINGTON, a parish in Malling district, Kent; 33 miles WSW of Snodland r. station, and 7 WNW of Maidstone. It has a post-office under Maidstone. Acres, 942. Real property, £1,662. Pop., 262. Houses, 46. The property is somewhat divided. Two ancient stone circles occur in the grounds of Addington Park; and seem to have had connexion with other neighbouring seem to have mad connexton with other negationing Druidical monuments. A nailbourne spring in the parish breaks out at intervals of seven or eight years, and sends off its waters to the Lepborne rivulet. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £253." Patron, the Hon. J. W. Stratford. The church was built about 1402, is in good condition, contains two brasses, and stands on a finely picturesque wooded eminence. Charities, £20.

ADDINGTON, a village and a parish in Croydon district, Surrey. The village stands on the verge of the county, 3 miles ESE of Croydou r. station; and has a beon acception and the same of the same of Conqueror to his cook Tezelin, to be held on the tenure of presenting a mess of pottage to the king at his corona-tion; and it passed, with its curious tenure, in 1807, to the Archbishop of Canterbury. The mansion on it was built about 1780 by Alderman Trecothick, and improved in 1830 by Archbishop Howley. The higher ground of the park, and the hills above them, command fine views. About twenty-five tumuli, or remains of tumuli, altered by having been opened, occur on a common above the village. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Can-Value, £206. Patron, the Archbishop of The church is ancient, but was renovated terbury. Canterbury. in 1848; and it shows the late Norman style in the in-terior, and contains monuments and brasses. There are a national school, and charities £6.

ADDINGTON (GREAT), a parish in Thrapston dis-

ADDIACTON (GELAT), a parish in Thranston dis-rict, Northampton; on the river Neo, near Ringstead r. station, 4½ miles SW of Thrapston. Post-town, Ring-stead under Thrapston. Acres, 1,230. Real property, £1,919. Pop., 307. Houses, 67. The property is somewhat divided. The living is a rectory in the dio-cess of Peterborough. Value, £420.* Patron, Mrs. Clay.

The church is ancient.

The church is ancient.

ADDINGTON (LITTLE), a parish in Thrapston district, Northampton; immediately S of Great Addington, and also near Ringstead r. station. Post-town, Ringstead under Thrapston. Acres, 1,170. Real property, £1,054. Pop., 337. Houses, 76. The manor belonged anciently to Sulby monastery. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Peterborough. Value, £245.* Patron, Labra Beadle Fea. The church is coad: and there is a John Boodle, Esq. The church is good; and there is a Wesleyan chapel.

ADDISCOMBE, a locality 11 mile E of Croydon, with ADDISCOMER, a locality 11 mile £ of Croydon, with a post-office under that town, in Surrey. An edifice here, within a pleasant small park, was built by Vanburgh, inhabited by the Herons, Lord Chancellor Talbot, Lord Liverpool, and the Clarkes, purchased in 1812 by the East India Company, and made a military college for their cadets. The estate was sold, in 1861, for £33,600 to the British Land Company.

ADDLE, or ADEL, a township and a parish in Otley district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies near Horsforth r. station, and 6 miles NNW of Leeds; and it is joined to Eccup, forming Addle-cum-Eccup. Acres, 4,576. Real property, £6,160. Pop., 801. Houses, 145. The parish contains also the township of Arthing. Post-town, Horsforth under Leeds. Acres, 6,35%, property, £9,900. Pop., 1,145. Houses, 208. Real property, £9,900. Pop., 1,145. Houses, 208. The Leeds water-works are within Addle township. The Leeds water-works are within Adule township. Remains of the Roman town Burgodanum and other antiquities, are on Rumbold's Moor, 1,808 feet high. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £623.* Patron, John Murray, Esp. The church is a very fine Norman edifice, of date prior to 1100. The vicarage of Arthington is separate. Charities, £34. ADDLESTONE, a village and a chapelry in Chertsey parish, Surrey. The village stands 2 miles SSE of Chertsey; and has a station on the Chertsey branch of the South-western rullway and a least office wide Chert.

the South-western railway, and a post-office under Chert-sey. It contains the residence of Mrs. S. C. Hall: and is noted for a very large oak-tree, called the Crouch Oak, beneath which tradition asserts Wickliffe to have preached and Queen Elizabeth to have dined. The chapelry was ed and Queen Elizabeth to nave cuned. Ane enaperry was constituted in 1838, and is a vicarage in the diocese of Winehester. Value, £150.* Patron, the Bishop of Winehester. Pop., 2,896. Houses, 535.

ADDLESTROP, a parish in Stow-on-the-Wold district, Gloucester: on the river Evenlode, 33 miles ENE of Stow-on-the-Wold. It has a station, with Stow-Road, the Word Wolden and Stow-on-the-Wold. on the West Midland railway. Post-town, Stow-on-the-Wold, under Morston-in-the-Marsh. Acres, 1,285. Real property, £1,913. Pop. 184. House, 42. The manor belonged to the abbey of Evesham, passed at the dissolu-tion to Sir Thomas Leigh, and is now the property of Lord Leigh. Addlestrop House, the seat of his lordship, Lord Leigh. Amestrop House, the section has torusing, is a large and interesting mansion, parity of considerable antiquity, annid beautiful grounds laid out by Adey Repton. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Broadwell, in the diocese of Cloncester and Bristol. The church was built in 1764, and is in good condition.

ADDLETHORPE, a parish in Spilsby district, Lin-coln; on the coast, 4½ miles NE of Burgh r. station, and 7½ SE of Alford. Post-town, Ingoldmells under Boston. Ares, 20%. Real property, £4,653. Pop., 302. Houses, 53. The property is sub-divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £72. Patron, the Lord Chancelor. The church is rich perpendicular English, and has several oak stalls and a chancel wooden s. ren. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £18.

S. Ren. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £18. ADEL. See ADDLE. ADENEY. See ADNEY. ADFOLTON, a township with Stanway, Paytoe, and Grange, in the parish of Leintwardine, Hereford; 2 miles NW of Wirmore. Pop., 250. Houses, 57. ADGARLEY, a township in Urswick parish, Lancasire; 4 miles SSW of Ulverstone. Pop., 45. ADGETON, a hamlet in Brading parish, a mile SW of Brading, 1sle of Wight. It was a frequent scene of Ligh Richmond's labours.

ADHELWS HEAD (ST.). See ALBAN'S HEAD (ST.).

ADHELM'S HEAD (St.). See Alban's Head (St.). ADISHAM, a parish in Bridge district, Kent; on the Dover railway, 6 miles SE of Canterbury. It has a sta-Dover railway, 6 miles SL of Canterbury. It has a station on the railway, and its post-town is Wingham under Sandwich. Acres, 1,815. Real property, £3,004. Pop., 422. Houses, 84. The manor was given in 610 to Christ Church, Canterbury; and is now held by the Enclesiational Commissioners. The living is a rectory in the control of Carterbury and will see the control of Carterbury and will be control of the control of Carterbury and will be control of the co in the discess of Canterbury; and, till 1864, was united with the p. curacy of Staple. Value, £750.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church is cruciform, a. I carly English, with a central tower. Charities, £20.
ADLESTROP. See ADDLESTROP.
ADLINGFLEET, a township and a parish in Goole district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies near the confluence of the Ouse and the Trent, 51 miles E of Grole r. stariou; and has a post-office under Howden. Arres, 1.650. Real property, £2,842. Pop. 225. Houses. 53. The parish includes also the townships of Houses, 53. The parish includes also the townships of Feckerby, Haldenby, and Eastoft. Acres, 5,295. Keal property, 27,308. Pop., 480. Houses, 107. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of York. Value, 2300. * Patron, the Lor1 Chancellor. The church is good. The vicarage of Eastoft is separate. There are a Wesleyan Abra La parised called and charities 680.

chapel, a national school, and charities 269.

ADL!NGTON, a township in Prestbury parish. Cheshire; on the river Bollin and the Northwestern railway, 5 miles N of Macclesheld. It has a station on the railway. Valuable mines of coal and flagstone are in the Pon. 957. Houses, 187. Many of the inhabitants are Pop., 957. Houses, 187. Many of the inhabitants are slik-weavers. Addington Hall is an old scat, and was taken, in 1645, by the Parliamentary forces, after a four-teen-laws' siege. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

tean-lars' siege. There is a Wesleyan chapel. ADLINGTON, a township and a chapelry in Standish sh, Lancashire. The township lies on the Bolton and Preston railway, near the Leeds and Liverpool canal, 34 miles SE of Chorley; and has a station on the railway, and a rost-office under Chorley. Cotton manufacture is carried on; and coal mines were formerly worked, but carried on; and coal mines were formerly worked, our are exhausted. Acres, 1,062. Real property, £4,924. Pep., 1,975. Houses, 309. The chapelry was constituted in 1842, and is more extensive than the township. Pep., 3,301. Houses, 650. The living is a vicarage in the discose of Manchester. Value, £150.* Patron, the Rectur of Standish. The church was built in 1838, and is in the Norman style. There are a Wesleyan chapel careful exhaust school. and a national school

ADMARSH. See BLEASDALE.
ADMARSON, a hamlet in Blithfield parish, Stafford; 4 miles N of Rugeley. It has a post-office under Rugeley.

ADMASTON, a towaship in Wrockwardine parish, Salop; 1½ mile NW of Wellington. It has a station on Salog, 14 miles Avo to beringion. A has a station of the Saropshire Union railway, and a post-office under Wellfacton Pop., 188 ADMERGILE See BROGDEN. ADMINGTON, or ADDERMINTON, a haulet in

Quinton parish, Gloncester; 6 miles NE of Chipping-

Campden
ADMISTON, or ATHELHAMPTON, a parish in Dor-chester district, Dorset; on the river Piddle, 5 miles NW of Moreton r. station, and 6 NE of Dorchester. Post-or Moreton r. station, and 6 NE of Dorchester. Post-Acres, 471. Real of Moreton r. station, and 6 Nr. of Dorchester. town, Piddletown under Dorchester. Acres, 471. Real town, Piddletown under Dorchester. Ares, 411. Each property, 21,026. Pop., 95. Houses, 13. This place is said to have been at one time the principal residence of the Kings of Wessex. The living is a rectory, united to the rectory of Burrelston, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £200. Patron, G. J. Wood, Esq. The church is perpendicular English, and has a tomb of Sir W. Martin.
ADMISTON, Berks. See ALDERMASTON.

ADNEY, a township in Edgmond parish, Salop; near the river Strine, 3½ miles WSW of Newport-Salop.

Pop., 71.
ADPAR, or ATPAR, a small ancient town in Llandy-friog parish, Cardigan. It stands on the river Teifi, opposite Newcastle-Emlyn, separated from that town only by the river, and is practically a suburb of it. politically it is a borough by prescription, and now includes Newcastle-Emlyn within its borough limits; and it unites with Cardigan, Aberystwith, Lampeter, and Tregaron, in sending a member to parliament. Pop. of the old borough, 555; of the new borough, 1,472. Houses, 136 and 353. See Newcastle-Emlix. ADRIAN'S WALL. See ROMAN WALL (THE).

ADSTOCK, a parish in the district and county of Buckingham; on the Bucks tailway, midway between Buckingham and Winslow. Post-town, Buckingham. Acres, 1,130. Real property, £2,102. Pop., 385. Houses, 83. The property is not much divided. The market for 83. The property is not much divided. The market for Buckingham and Winslowwas held here during the plague of 1665. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Oxford. Value, 2444.* Patron, Philip Hart, Esq. The church is ancient but good; and there is a Wesleyan chapel. ADSTON, a township in Wentnor parish, Salop; 4½ miles W of Church-Stretton. Pop., 100.
ADSTONE, a chapelry in Ashby-Canons parish, Northampton; 5¾ miles SSW of Weelon r. station, and 6¾ W.W. of Toxecster. Post-town Ebbesley under Tox.

ampton; 5] miles SSW of Weeton r. station, and og. WNW of Towcester. Post-town, Blakesley, under Towcester. Acres, 1,190. Real property, £2,231. Pop. 165. Houses, 36. The living is a p. curvey in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £130. Patrons, the Sons of Clercy Corporation. There is a Wesleyan chapel. ADUR, or Added They, a river of Sussex. I rises in St. Leonard's forest, in the neighbourhood of Horsham; and runs about 20 miles southward, past Ashurst and Steyning, to the English Channel at Shoreham.

and Steyning, to the English Channel at Shoreham. It affords good trouting above Bolney, and is noted for its nullet further down. It is navigable to Binesbridge.

ADVENT, a parish in Cameford district, Cornwall; on Camef river, 2 miles S of Cameford, and 11 N of Bodmin-Road, station, Post-town, Cameford, Aeres, 40,59. Real property, £1,626. 190, 203. Houses, 45. The property is much subdivided. A copper mine is worked. The living is a rectory, annexed to Lanteglos, in the diocese of Eveter. The church is bad. As agreeing weather weather worm regulate roses, about 9 feet birth. An ancient weather-worn granite cross, about 9 feet high, stands in a field a short way from the church.

ADWALTON, or ADDERTON, a hamlet in Drighlington township, Birstal parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 54 miles SW of Leeds. It has a joint station with Drighlington on the Gildersome branch of the Leeds, Bradford, and Halifax Junction railway. It was formerly a market town; and it still has fairs on 26 Jan., 6 Feb., 9 Mar., Easter Thursday, Whit Thursday, 5 Nov., and 23 Dec. Adwalton Moor, in the neighbourhood, was the scene, in 1642, of the defeat of Fairfax by the Earl of Newcastle.

ADWELL, a parish in Thame district, Oxford; near the Chiltern hills, 2 miles SSE of Tetsworth, and 12 NE of Wallingford Road r. station. Post-town, Tetsworth. Acres, 430. Real property, £798. Pop., 68. Houses, 12. Adwell House is the chief residence. Adwell Cop is an ancient entrenchment supposed to have been constructed by the Danes when they burnt Oxford in 1019. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, Patron, H. B. Reynardson, Esq. The church £125. was rebuilt in 1865.

ADWICK-LE-STREET, a township and a parish in Doncaster district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on Ermine-street and near the West Riding and Grimsby on Ermine-street and near the West Riding and Grimsby milway, 4 miles NW of Doncaster; and has a r. station. Acres, 1,614. Pop., 280. Houses, 61. The parish includes also the township of Hampole. Post-town, Doncaster. Acres, 3,034. Real property, £2,937. Pop., 440. Houses, 95. The manor belongs to C. S. A. Thellusson, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £450.* Patron, J. Fullerton, Esq. The church is oxed; and there are two Weslevan chanels, an endowed good; and there are two Wesleyan chapels, an endowed ADWICK-UPON-DEARNE, a parish in Doncaster district, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Dearne, near Bolton-upon-Dearne r. station, 63 miles NNE of Rother-ham. Post-town, Bolton-upon-Dearne under Rotherham. Acres, 1,107. Real property, £1,473. Pop., 226. Houses, 44. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Wath, in the diocese of York. The church is ancient.

AERON (THE). See AYRON (THE).

ÆSCENDUNE. See ASHDOWN PARK.
AFF. PUDDLE, a parish in Wareham district, Dorset; on the river Piddle, 4 miles N of Moreton r. station and 8 ENE of Dorchester. It contains the hamlet of Pallington and the tything of Bryants-Puddle. Post-town. Post-town, Hiddletown under Dorchester. Acres, 3,818. Real property, £2,928. Pop., 455. Houses, 97. The manor colonged anciently to Cerne abbey. The property is divided. The living is a ricarage, annexed to the rectory of Themes 1,811. of Turners-Puddle, in the diocese of Salisbury. church is ancient but good. Charities, £5.

AFON. See Avon. AFTON, a village 2 miles S of Yarmouth, Isle of Wight. Afton House adjoins it, on a pleasant slope toward the Yar. Afton Down rises in the south-eastern neighbourhood, overhangs the English Channel, has an altitude of about 500 feet, and is crowned by tumuli.

AGAPEMONE. See CHARLINGH.

AGAR-TOWN, a metropolitan suburb in St. Pancras parish, Middlesex; 22 miles NW of St. Paul's. A chap-elry is here; and the living is a vicarage. See Loxpox. AGBRIGG, a village in Warmfeld-with-Heath town-ship, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles E of Wakefield.

ship, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles E of Wakefield.
AGBRIGG AND MORLEY, a wapentake of three divisions, Lower, Upper, and Morley, W. R. Yorkshire.
The Lower div. comprises Warmfield parish, nine other parishes, and 4 parts; the Upper div., Almondbury parish, three others, and two parts; the Morley div., Bradford parish, three others, and two parts, except, 7481, 83, 910, and 129, 522. Pop. in 1851, 84, 935, 139, 275, and 219, 107; in 1861, 475, 935. Houses, 99,096.
AGDEN, a township in Malpas parish, Cheshire; 3 miles NW of Whitchurch. Acres, 548. Real property, 2699. Pop., 110. Houses, 21.

AGDEN, a township in Bowden and Rostherne arishes, Cheshire; 3½ miles SW of Altrincham. Acres, 53 miles of Attrinoam. Acres, 250. Real property, £1,394. Pop., 98. House, 15. AGGLESTONE, a large isolated block of ferruginons sandstone, about a mile NW of Studland village, in the parish of Studland, Dorset. It crowns a hillock nearly a mile from the shore; measures 37 feet in length, 19 feet in breadth, and 15 feet in height; and is regarded by some persons as merely a boulder,—by others as a by some persons as merely a boulder,—by others as a Druidical monument. The common people allege it to have been thrown by the Devil, from the Isle of Wight, to demolish Corfe castle; and call it the Devil's Nightcap. AGGLETHORPE, a joint township with Coverham, in Coverham parish, W. R. Yorkshire. See COVERHAM. AGLIONBY, a towaship in Warwick parish, Cumberland; near the river Eden, and the Carlisle and Newcastle suilway. 34 miles E of Carlisle. Pon. 119. House. 23.

railway, 31 miles E of Carlisle. Pop., 119. Houses, 23. AGMONDESHAM. See AMERSHAM.

AGNES (St.), a town, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Truro, Cornwall. The town is a seaport, on a small bay of Bristol Channel; 4 miles N of Chaeswater r, station, and 9 NW by W of Truro. It has a post-office; under Scerrier; and is the centre of a rich mining district. A weekly market is held on Thursday; and an annual fair on 1 May. The harbour is small, and can be entered only near high water, and only by vessels of not more than 100 tons' burden. Coal, lime, and slate are imported. Most of the inhabitants are connected with neighbouring mines.—The parish comprises 8,294 acres of land, and 60 of water. Real property, 210,324,—of which £2,514 are in mines. Pop. 6,550. Houses, 1,395. The property is much subdivided. Granite is the prevailing rock; and copper, tin, and iron are worked. The scenery of coast and surface is picturesque. St. Agnes' Beacon, 621 feet high, immediately NW of the town, shows remarkable deposits of sand and clays at heights of from 300 to 400 feet; and sand and clays at heights of from 300 to 400 feet; and sand and clays at neights of from 300 to 400 reet; and was a beacon station during the French war, and a chief station of the Trigonometrical survey. Harmony Cot, 2 miles from the town, on the road to Perran Porth, was the birthplace of the painter Opie. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £230.* Paranged Charles & Francis Charles Western Western Paranged Charles & Francis Charles Processes. trons, the Dean and Chapter of Exeter. The church was tions, are bean and Chapter of Exerc. In enuren was built in 1482, has been restored, and shows interesting features. Chaptels for Independents, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists, are in the parish. Ruins of ancient chaptels are at Mawla and St. Agnes' Well.—The sub-district comprises two parishes. Acres, 19,694.

Pop., 9,509. Houses, 1,998.
AGNES (Sr.), one of the Scilly Islands, near the southern extremity of the group, separated on the NE from St. Mary's by St. Mary's Sound. It consists of southern extremuty of the group, separated on the NE from St. Mary's by St. Mary's Sound. It consists of two parts, St. Agnes-proper and the Gugh, divided from each other by high water of spring tides. The former measures about 1 mile by \frac{1}{2}; the latter, about \frac{3}{2} of a mile by \frac{1}{2}. Much of the land is fertile and well cultivated. St. Agnes-proper displays some interesting features, contains a church, and is crowned by a lighthouse, 72 feet high, having a revolving light, with one-minute flash. The Gugh has a curious rock pillar 9 feet long, and several stone-covered barrows. Pop., 200. AGNICOLA'S WALL. See ROMAN WALL (The). AIGBURTH, a chapelry in Childwall parish, Lancashire, 4\frac{1}{2}$ miles E of Liverpool. It has post-officer under Liverpool. Pop., 1,994. Houses, 333. The living is a vicarrage in the diocese of Chester. Value, \(\xi\)400. Patrons, Trustees. The church was built in 1853. There are Wesleyan and Roman Catholic chapels.

AIGHTON, one of three hamlets forming 4 township in the parish of Mitton, Lancashire. It lies near Hodder river, under Lourridge fell, 3\frac{1}{2}$ miles NNW of Whalley river, under Longridge fell, 31 miles NNW of Whalley r. station, and 5 WSW of Clitheroe. It contains cotton factories, a workhouse, and the Roman Catholic college of Stonyhurst.—The other hamlets of the township are Bailey and Chaighley. Acres in the three, 5,780. Real property, £6,726. Pop., 1,500. Houses, 214.

AIKBAR, or AKIBAR, a township in Finghall parish, N. R. Yorkshire; near the Leyburn railway, 4 miles NW of Bedale. Acres, 750. Pop., 37. Houses, 4.

AIKE, a township in the parishes of Lockington and St. John Beverley, E. R. Yorkshire; near the river Hull, 2 miles E of Lockington r. station, and 6 N of Beverley. Acres, 630. Pop., 103. Houses, 19.

AIKTON, a township and a parish in Wigton district, Cumberland. The township lies E of the Wampool river, 23 miles ESE of Kirkbride, r. station, and 4 NNE. factories, a workhouse, and the Roman Catholic college Cumberland. The township has L of the wallipsor river, 23 miles ESE of Kirkbride r. station, and 4 NNE of Wigton. Real property, £2,088. Pop., 284. Houses, 58. The parish includes also the townships of Warn-Rayley and Company of the parish includes also the townships of Warn-Rayley and Company of the Parish includes also the townships of Warn-Rayley and Company of the Parish includes also the townships of Warn-Rayley and Company of the Parish includes also the townships of Warn-Rayley and Company of the Parish includes a c pool, Wiggonby, Eiglands, and Gamblesby. Post-town, Wigton. Acres, 6,157. Real property, £7,299. Pop. 808. Houses, 154. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Carliele. Value, 2546. * Patron, the Earl of Londale. The clurch is small and old. Charities, £176.

AILBY, a hamlet in higsby parish, Lincoln; 1 mile NW of Alford. Pop., 53.

AILESBURY. See AYLESBURY.

Allesbury. See Aylesbury.
Allesbury.
Allesbu

AINDERBY, a station on the Bedale and Levburn branch of the Northeastern railway, adjacent to Ainderby Steeple, 31 miles west of Northallerton, N. R. Yorkshire.

AIN DERBY-MYERS-WITH-HOLTBY, a township in Hornby parish, N. R. Yorksbire; 31 miles NNW of Acres, 917. Real property, £1,364. Bedale. Houses, 15.

AINDERBY-QUERNHOW, a township in Pickhill parish, N. R. Yorkshire; near the Northeastern railway, 7 miles NNE of Ripon. Acres, 527. Real property, way, 7 miles NAE of Ripon. Acres, 527. Real property, £1,058. Pop., 90. Houses, 23.

AINDERBY-STEEPLE, a township and a parish in Northallerton district, N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the river Swale, adjacent to Ainderby r. station, lies on the river Swale, adjacent to Amderby r. station, 3 miles Wo of Northallerton; and has a post-office under Northallerton. Acres, 1,138. Real property, £2,755. Pop., 319. Hones, 75. The parish includes also the townships of Warlaby, Morton-upon-Swale, and Thrintoft. Acres, 4,035. Real property, £9,205. Pop., 345. Houses, 191. The property is divided among a law. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Ripon. No. The INING is a Meanage in the dioces of Riving Value, 2:00. Patron, the Lord Chamcellor. The church is good. Charities, £3.

AINSDALE, a hamlet in Formby chapelry, Lancashire; 33 miles S of Southport. It has a station on the Liverpool and Southport railway.

AINSTABLE, a parish in Fenrith district, Cumberland; between the Croglin and the Eden rivers, 7 miles E of Sonthwaite r. station, and 11 N by E of Penrith.

It is divided into the High and Low quarters, and includes the village of Ruckerott. Post-town, Kirkoswald under Penrith. Acres, 4,178. Real property, £3,957. Pop. 543. Houses, 113. The property is subdivided. A Benedictine numery was founded here by William Rufus; and its site, on high ground, is now marked by a stone pillar. Numery, a mansion taking name from it, stands on lower adjacent ground, amid scenery which is highly picturesque, and has been sung by Wordsworth. The living is a vicarage in the dixesse of Carlisle. Value, £225. Pa-Value, £225. Pa-ionby. The church trons, the representatives of Mrs. Aglionby. was built from the Plumpton Walls; contains a tomb of John de Doutorem; and is in tolerable condition. Charities, $15. Dr. John Leake, the founder of the Westminster lying-in-hospital, was a native.

Westminster lying-in-hospital, was a native. AINSTY, a wapentake, bounded by the rivers Uie, Onse, and Wherfe, in Yorkshire. It was originally a forest; was annexed, by Henry VI., to the city of York, as the country of the city; was made in 1837 a wapentake of the west riding; but, for parliamentary purposes, is in the north riding. It contains the parish Aromb, fifteen other parishes, and parts of six others. Acres, 50,151. Pop. in 1851, 9,509; in 1801, 9,896. Houses, 9,632

Houses, 2,032.

AINSWORTH, or COCKEY, a chapelry in Middleton parish. Lancashire; at Bradley-Fold r. station, 21 miles parish, Lanashire; at Bradley-Polu r. station, -1..... E of Bolton. Post-town, Bolton. Acres, 1,296. Real Cochiel £1.652 are in mines. Pop., property, £7,043,—of which £1,652 are in mines. Pop., 1,893. Houses, 346. Cotton manufacture is carried on. The living is a vicerage in the diocese of Manchester, Value, £135. Petron, the Rector of Middleton. The church is 2004; and there are two dissenting chapels, a national school, and charities £12. AINTHORN. See ANTHORN.

AINTHORPE, a village in Danby parish, N. R. York-

AINTREE, a township in Sephton parish, Lancashire; on the Alt river and the Leeds canal, 6 miles NNE of Liverpool. It has a post-office under Liverpool, a station on the Lancashire and Yorkshire railway, and an Episcopillan chap-I; and it contains, with a grand stand built in 1830, a race-course, 1) mile round, where the Liverbool mees are run in February and July, Acres 825. Pop., 200. Houses, 52. ALC (POINT OF). See AYEE.

ATRA, or Arrey (The), a rivulet running 5 miles east-ward to Uiles-water, on the boundary between West-moreland and Cumberland. It rushes along a woodel rocky ravine, and makes a very romantic fall of 80 feet colled Aim Porce. A eastellated shooting-box, called Lyulph's Tower, stands at its mouth on the site of an ancient tower of the same name. The present structure was built by the late Duke of Norfolk; and the ancient one perhaps took its name from L'Ulph, the first baron one pernaps took its name from L Ulph, the first baron of Greystoke. A pathetic old legend respecting L'Ulph's Tower and Aira Force is embodied in Wordsworth's poem of the "Sonnambulist:"—

"List ye who pass by Lyulph's Tower
At eve;—how softly then Doth Aira Force, that torrent hoarse, Speak from the woody glen."

a river of Yorkshire. It rises in wild AIRE (THE). moors near Mallam, in the north-west quarter of the west riding; runs about a mile underground to Mallam cove; then goes ESE, past Skipton and Bingley, to Leeds; then assumes a more easterly direction, till below Snaith; then turns to the NE and goes to the Ouse, a little below Armin, 3 miles SW of Howden. Its en-tire length is about 70 miles. It is joined at Leeds by the Liverpool canal, which follows it thither from Gar-the Liverpool canal, which follows it finther from Uargrave; at Castleford, by the river Calder; and at Birkin, by the Selby canal.

AIREDALE, the valley of the Aire in Yorkshire. Airedale college, for the education of young men to be Congregational ministers, is situated at Undereliffe, in the trainity of Erndfers.

the vicinity of Bradford. See AIRA.

AIRSHOLME, a hamlet in Linthorpe township, N. R. Yorkshire ; near the river Tees, 31 miles E of Stock-

AIRTON, a township in Kirkby-in-Malham-lale parish, AIRTON, a township in Kirkby-in-Malhamdale parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Aire, near the Midland railway, 6 miles SE of Settle. Acres, 2,720. Real property, 42,693. Pop., 236. Houses, 42. AIRYHOLME. See ARYHOLME. AIBBY, a village in Corringham parish, Lincoln; 4½ miles NE of Gainsborough. Pop., 63.

AISBY, a village in Haydor parish, Lincoln; 5½ miles NW of Folkingham. Pop., 190.
AISENBY. See ASRNEY.

NW of Folkingham. Pop., 190.
AISENBY. See ASENUY.
AISHIOLT, or ASHOLT, a parish in Bridgewater district, Somerset; 4\{\}\ milles E of Crowcombe-Heathfield r. station, and 7\{\}\ W by S of Bridgewater. It has a post-office under Bridgewater. Area, 1,252. Real property, E2,643. Pop., 181. Houses, 41. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £280. Patron, Rev. Josh. West. The church is good. Charities, £5.

AISKEW, or ASENUM, a township in Beddle parish. N

Mest. The enuren is good. Charrace, 25.
AISKEW, or ASKEW, a township in Bedale parish, N.
R. Yorkshire; 3 mile ENE of Bedale. It contains Little Leening hamlet, Baptist and Roman Catholic chapels, and an endowed school. Pop., 759. Houses, 164. AISLABY, a township in Eaglescliffe parish, Durham;

ALLADY, a township in Lagieschife parish, Durham, on the Tees river, near the Stockten and Darlington railway, 14 mile W by N of Yarm. Acres, 2,260. Real property, 62,894. Pop., 152. Houses, 28. AISLABY, a township in Middleton parish, N. R. Yorkshire; near the Whithy railway, 2 miles WNW of Edicharies. Acres 1,10. Leal waynery; 62,200. Perfectiving Acres 1,10. Leal waynery; 62,200. Perfecting and the second sec Pickering. Acres, 1,110. Real property, £1,319. Pop., 180. Houses, 36.

180. Houses, 30.

AISLABY, a chapelry in Whitby parish, Y. R. Yorkshire; on the Esk river and the Whitby railway, at Sleights station, 3 miles SW of Whitby. Post-town, Sleights under Whitby. Acres, 1,068. Real property, E1,368. Pop., 330. Houses, 76. A building limestone is quarried here, and was the material of Whitby abbey and of several great modern works. The living is a pentacy in the diocese of York. Value, £37. Patron, J. Value, £37. Patron, J. Boulby, Esq. Charities, £11.
AISMUNDERBY-WITH-BONDGATE, a township

ARMANDER WITH THOMBOATT, a TOWNSHIP AREA TO A THE RESEARCH WITHIN RIPON DOUGH, W. R. Yorkshire, Acres, 1,055. Pop., 620. Houses, 140. AISTHORPE, or EAST THOMPE, a parish in the district and country of Lincoln; on the Wolds, near Erminestract, 4 miles NE of Saxelly r. station, and 64 NNW of Lincoln. Dest town Saxishy under Lincoln. Acres of Lincoln. Post-town, Savelby under Lincoln. Acres, 803. Real property, £1,214. Pop., 100. Houses, 18. The property, and that of West Thorpe, are divided among four proprietors. The living is a rectory, united to the vicarage of West Thorpe, in the diocese of Lin-coln. Value, £289. Patron, J. Milnes, Esq. The church is tolerable, AIS WATER. See HAYS-WATER.

AITS, or Evors (THE), picturesque islets in the Thames, in the neighbourhood of Henley and of Rich-Thames, in the neighbourhood of nemery and of kich-mond. They occur sometimes singly, sometimes in groups; and, being generally planted with osiers, are sometimes called the Osier Islands. AKA. See Rock, Northunberland. AKEBAR. See Rock, Northunberland.

AKELDAK. SECAMBER.
AKELD, a township in Kirknewton parish, Northumberland; near the river Glen. 2 miles NW of Wooler.
Acres, 2,208. Pop., 162. Houses, 33.
AKELEY-CUM-STOCKHOLT, a parish in the district and county of Buckingham; 31 miles N by E of Buckand county of Buckingham; 33 miles N by £ of Buckingham r. station. Post-town, Buckingham. Acres, 1,080. Real property, 21,924. Pop., 366. Houses, 81. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £255. Patron, New College, Oxford. The church is good; and there is a Methodist chapel. Charities, 7 allotment acres.

AKEMAN STREET, a Roman road from Akemancester, now the city of Bath, north-north-eastward by Circuster through Weshwand farses and by Alection to cester, through Wychwood forest, and by Alcester, to Watling Street. It still exists from Tetbury to Ciren-Watting Street. It still exists from Tetoury to Cirencester, and can be traced at Blenheim.

AKENHAM, a parish in Bosmere district, Suffolk; near Gipping river, 2 miles E of Claydon r. station, and 4 N by W of Ipswich. Post-town, Claydon under Ipswich. Acres, 983. Real property, £1,630. Pop., 94. Houses, 22. The living is a rectory, nunced to Claydon, in the diocese of Norwich. The church is old but coad.

but good.
ALAN, or CAMEL (THE), a river of Cornwall. near Davidstow; runs southward, past Camelford, Michaelstow, and Helland, to Bodmin; then goes west-north-westward, past Wadebridge, to the Fristol Channel be-low Palstow. Its entire length is about 27 miles; and its lowest reach is estuary, and forms Padstow harbour.

ALANNA. Sec ALCESTER, Warwick.

ALBANS (St.), a town, three parishes, a sub-district, and a district in Herts. The town stands near the southern extension of the Midland railway, and at the terern extension of the formal tanway, and as the termini of branches of the Great Northern and the Northwestern railways, 21 miles NNW of London. Its site is the summit and the northern declivity of a hill, skirted by the rivulet Ver, a tributary of the Colne; near the vestiges of the ancient town of Verulam and the line of the Roman Watling-street. Verulam or Verulamium, according to the Roman historians, was founded by the Britons at an earlier period than London. According to Camden, it is the city or fortress of Cussibelan, or Cassivellaunus, which was forced by Cæsar. Milton calls St. Albans "jugera Cassibelauni," In Nero's reign it ranked as a municipium, or free city, enjoying the privileges of Roman citizenship. Boadicea, queen of the Iceni, surprised it in the reign of Clandius, and put the chief part of the inhabitants to the sword; but it soon recovered from this calamity. In A.D. 203, Alban, a citizen of Verulam, who had embraced the Christian faith, was beheaded on a hill in the neighbourhood. In 429, Germanus, bishop of Anxerre, and Lupus, bishop of Troyes, held a synod here, to confute the Pelagian heresy. Verulam fell not long after into the Pelagian heres. Verulam fell not long after into the hands of the Saxons, but was retaken by the Britons, and again reverted to the Saxons. While yet in ruins after these successive contests, Offa, king of Mercia, founded an abbey here in honour of St. Alban, whose remains had just been discovered on the spot of his martyrdom. Matthew Paris-who was himself a monk in the abbey of St. Albans—says that Alsinus, the 6th abbot, about 950, built a church on each of the three principal reads leading from the monastery, and that around these the present town of St. Albans gradually arose. Pope Adrian IV. constituted the abbot of St. Albans first abbot in England in order and dignity; and Pope Honorius in 1218, exempted the abbot from the jurisdiction of the bishop of Lincoln, his diocesan. A sanguinary battle was fought here in 1455, between Henry VI. and the Duke of York, in which the Lancastrians were defeated. Money is said by Camden to have been coined here in the time of the Romans. On the introduction of printing into England, a press was put up in the abbey of St. Albans, from which issued some of the earliest English specimens of the art. Giles, the physician, Sir John Mandeville, the traveller, Alexander Neckham, the poet, Sir John King, the lawyer, Chief Justice Pemberton, and Humphry, the nonconformist, were natives. Bacen, the philosopher, resided at the neighbouring seat of Gorham-bury, and had the titles of Baron Verulam and Viscount St. Albans. Verulam now gives the title of Earl to the Verulam now gives the title of Earl to the family of Grimston; and St. Albans gives that of Duke to the family of Beauclerk.

Verulam long continued to present great attractions to antiquaries, but now possesses nothing of interest except vestiges and associations. Parts of its walls and ditches still exist. Its streets also are still traceable in the green field, by the thin short grass that covers them, and by Reman bricks which can be dug from below. Even substructions of its buildings, matted with weeds or shaded with shrubs and trees, still draw the attention of the curious visitor. But coins, sculptures, and other valued relics, were all long ago carried off by thousands of investigators; and new the best things to be found are merely shingle, mortar, and layers of brick,-the last generally carbonized in the centre. Such multitude and variety of curiosities were gathered here, in former times, by antiquaries and others, that Camden says, "Were I by alternates and orders, and Cannon says, were it to relate what common report affirms respecting fleen, I should scarcely be believed." Philosophers and poets alike loved to saunter among the ruined fragments of the town; Sir Thomas More desired to live and die in its vicinity; and Spenser assumed the character of its presiding genius, to sing its grandeur and melancholy glory :-

"I was that city, which the garland wore Of Britain's pride, delivered unto me By Roman victory, which it were of yore, Though nought at all but ruins now I be, And lie in my own ashes, as ye see. Verlame I was: what boots it that I was, Sith now I am but weeds and wasteful grass."

St. Albans consists principally of three streets. Many of the houses are ancient; but others, particulariyen the new line of road to the S, are modern. The town hall was rebuilt in 1830. The corn-exchange was built in 1857, and is used also as a public hall. The prison consists partly of the tower of the Abbey gateway, partly of a modern addition; and has capacity for S5 male and 15 female prisoners. The free grammar school is in the Lady chapel, formerly a part of the Abbey church; was chartered in 1553 by Edward VI., and further endowed by Elizabeth and James I.; and has an endowed income of £157. The Marlborough buildings are alms-St. Albans consists principally of three streets. Many income of £157. The Marlborough buildings are almshouses for 36 decayed men and women, founded and endowed by Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough; and have an income of £757. There are other charities £626, four churches, six dissenting chapels, a literary and scientific institution, a blue-coat school, four national schools, and a British school.

The original abbey, founded by King Offa, became ruinous about the time of the Conquest. The subsequent abbey was of vast extent and great magnificence; but most of it, except the church, has fallen. The church, however, with enormous nave, pinnacled transept, graceful choir, lofty square tower, and grand, ornate, rich interior, is an imposing object, inferior to no minster in the kingdom, either as a feature in the landscape or for its own attractions. It comprises a nave of thirteen bays with aisles; a choir, with aisles; a transept without aisles; a presbytery and ambulatory to the east; and a Lady chapel, of three bays, with vestibule. The navo is 276 feet long, 65 feet bread, and 65 feet high; the choir is 175 feet long; the transcit, 1754 feet; the entire edifice, 5184 feet. Three noble towers, in fine symmetry.

formerly rose above it: but only the central one, without some or pinnacles, now stands; and this is 32 feet long, 503 feet hroad, and 144 feet high. The church was chiedy built in 1077-93, by Abbot Paul of Caen; but was extended and altered at subsequent periods by other abouts; and it exhibits specimens of every style from the Saron, through the Norman, to the English of the time of Edward IV. This edince, remarks Lady Morgan, "though but a fragment of the once magnificent, mitred, parliamentary abbey, attests the grandeur of the whole, and the perfection of euclesiastical architecture in England during the middle ages. There is still extant, in the interior, specimens of genuine Saxon architecture, a part of the original building, the rounded arch, the massy tower, and enormous pillar, whose rude but noble simplicity is forcibly contrasted to the elaborated elegance of the Gothic style. Screens of the most minute tabernacle-work, pointed arches, feathery shafts, and a pro-fusion of richly-sculptured tracery, display all the characteristic beauty of that most picturesque and fanciful epoch of the art. The high altar, the after part of the choir, the chapel of Abbot Rambridge, and that of St. Altan, are the most remarkable. There are also existing beneath the fretted roof of this beautiful abbey church, monuments and tombs well-suited to revive remote associations with great events, and to awaken a poetic nationality in the most phlegmatic temperament. Of these, the tomb of the Protector, Duke of Cloucester, familiarly called the good Duke Humphry, stands on the southern side." The church has acquired dramatic interest, too, from the pen of Shakspeare; and it has been splendidly illustrated by the Society of Antiquaries. The cloister connected with it was 150 feet square. A part of the south wall of the chapter-house, situated on the south side of the transept, is standing. The gatehouse, which formed the original grand entrance to the Athey-court, and is now the chief part of the borough prison, stands parallel with the west end of the church, at the distance of about 150 feet,

St. Michael's church was founded about the middle of the 10th century; underwent careful restoration, by beautiful sirting statue of him, erected by Sir T. Meautys. St. Peter's church was rebuilt on the site of a Saxon one. where many of the slain in the two battles of St. Albans had been buried; and it contains a tomb of Dr. Cotton. The ruins of a nunnery, founded in 1140, stand at Sopwell in the south-eastern vicinity of the town. Lady Juliana Berners, who wrote treatises on hunting, hawking, and heraldry, was one of the superiors of this number; and Henry VIII, is said to have been married to ne Boleyn in its chapel.

The town was incorporated in 1554, by Edward VI. 1: sent two members to parliament till 1852, and was then disfranchised. It is governed by a mayor, four adiermen, and twelve conneillors. It possesses a liberty cr district, with peculiar jurisdiction. The borough comprises 425 acres, including all Abbey parish, main parts of St. Michael and St. Peter parishes, and small rart of St. Stephen parish; and the liberty includes the jart of St. Stephen parish; and the liberty includes the test of these parishes, and also the parishes of Abbots Langley, Ablenham, Barnet, Sandridge, Redbourn, Codicote, Siephall, Brantfield, Elstree, Sarratt, Hexton, Norton, Itilge, St. Paulis Walden, Northaw, Newnham, Rickmansworth, and Watford. Quarter sessions are held in the same weeks as at Hertford; county counts and jetty sessions also are held. The town has a head post-offset, two banking offices, and several good inus; it publishes two weekly newspapers; and it has a thriving accord begings. A parise is held on Satestay and general business. A market is held on Saturday; and tales on 25 March and 11 Oct. Straw-platting and silkwaving are carried on. Real property, £13,035. Pop., in 1574, 7,000; in 1861, 7,075. Houses, 1,503.

The parishes of St. Albans are in the diocese of Roches-The parisms of S. Albans are in the moves on norms.

Fr. Albay, or St. Albans, proper, comprises 195 acres;

S. Michael, 190 acres; and St. Peter, 5,745 acres; and the last includes the hamlet of Sleep and Tittenhanger, and part of the hamlet of Smallford. St. Allams proper is a rectory, and includes, as a separate benefice, the p.

curacy of Christ Church. Value of the rectory, £290.4 Patron, the Eishop of Rochester. Value of the curacy, £100.* Patron, Mrs. Worley. St. Michael is a vicarage; and includes, as a separate benefice, the vicarage of Leverstock Green. Value of the vicarage, £300;* of the curacy, £50. Patron of both, the Earl of Verulam. St. Peter also is a vicarage, and includes, as a separate benefice, the vicarage of Colney Heath. Value of the vicarfice, the vicarage of Colney Heath. Value of the vicar age, £308.* Patron, the Crown. Value of the curacy £330.* Patrons, Trustees. Leverstock Green church was built in 1849.

The sub-district of St. Albans comprises the parishes of Abbey, St. Michael, St. Peter, and St. Stephen. Acres, 14,240. Pop., 11,926. Houses, 2,320. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Harpendeu; containing the parishes of Wheathampstead, Harpenden, Redbourn, and Sandridge. Acres, 34,615. Poor-rates in 1867, £7,333. Pop. in 1841, 17,048; in 1861, 18,926. Houses, 3,762. Marriages in 1866, 150; births, 645,— Poor-rates of which 57 were illegitimate; deaths, 361,-of which 123 were at ages under 5 years, and 12 were at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,136; births, 5,685; deaths, 3,593. The places of worship in 1851 were 12 of the Church of England, with 5,723 sittings; 4 of Inde-pendents, with 1,198 s.; 2 of Beptiess, with 950 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 150 s.; 6 of Wesleyan Methodists, with Unitarians, with 100 s.; 0 of westernal attendances, with 1,458 s.; 1 of Frimitive Methodists, with 203 s.; 1 of Roman Catholies, with 50 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 42 s.; and 5 undefined, with 630 s. The schools in 1851, were 17 public day schools, with 1,490 scholars; 36 private day schools, with 600 s.; 22 Sunday schools, with 2,726 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 16 s.

ALBANS (St.). See LONDON and WORCESTER.

ALBANS (ST.). See LONDON and WORCESTER.
ALBAN'S COURT (ST.). See NONINGTON.
ALBAN'S HEAD (St.), a promontory in the peri-h of Worth-Mattavers, 4 miles S of Corfe Castle, Derset.
Its skirt is pierced with the subterranean workings of Winspit quarry. Its face exhibits, in section, three beds of the Portland oolite. Its summit has an altitude of 441 feet; is crowned by an ancient chapel, with Norman doorway; and commands a brilliant and extensive view. It is sometimes called St. Adhelm's or Aldhelm's Head.

ALBANY BARRACKS. See PARKHURST. ALBERBURY, or ABBERBURY, a township and a subdistrict in the district of Atcham, Salop; and a parish, partly in the same district and county, and partly in the district and county of Montgomery. The township lies district and county of Montgomery. The township lies on Watling-street, near the Severn, 4 miles SW of Das-church r. station, and 9 W by N of Shrewshury; and has a post-office under Shrewsbury. Acres, with Wollaston chapelry, 6,471. Pop., exclusive of Wollaston, 632. Houses, 110. The township is called Alberbury Lower Quarter; and the chapelry is called Alberbury Upper Quarter. Loton Hall, the seat of Sir Baldwin Leighton, Bart, is adjacent. A priory for black monks was founded at Alberbury by Fitzwarren, in the time of Henry I., and was given by Henry VI. to All Souls' College, Oxford. The sub-district of Alberbury comprises two parishes and part of a third. Acres, 12,034. Pop., 2,235. Houses, 446. The parish of Alberbury comprises the two Alberbury Quarters in Salop, and the townships of Banseley, Middletown, and Uppington, and townships of Banseley, Middletown, and Uppington, and the chapelry of Crigoton in Montgomery. Acres, 9,589. Real property, 28,429. Pop., 1,918. Houses, 260. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £187.* Patron, All Souls' College, Oxford. The church is ancient. The vicarages of Wolfston and Crigoton are separate lengages. Classifica, £17. Clara, a braph to the parish fices. Charities, £17. Glyn, was the birth-place of old Parr. Glyn, a hamlet in this parish, was the buth-piace of our rarr.

ALDERT BRIDGE, a grand tubular viaduct, on the line of the West Cornwall railway, over the estuary of the Hanonze, between Devon and Cornwall. It was designed by Brunel, and opened, on 2 May 1850, by Prince Albert. "The bridge is 2,240 feet long, by 20 feet broad, and rises 200 feet from the foundations to the summit, so that line-of-battle ships can sail under it. It consists of 19 spans-double chains, composed of La bars: 17 of them are wider than the arches of Westminster Bridge; and the two central spans cross the Tamar with a leap of 900 feet. The latter rest upon the main central pillar, built into the solid rock, which was reached through 70 feet of sea and 20 feet of mud and gravel, by means of a coffer-dam; on this are four octagonal columns, 10 feet in diameter and 100 feet high. On this the great spans are laid, composed of two bows; the lower, with a curve of 28 feet, carries the roadway; the upper, a tube of wrought iron, is attached to the lower by supports. Each span was floated out and lifted into its place by hydraulic presses. The main columns, on its place by hydraulic presses. Inc main commiss, on either side of the river, are built of solid masonry, 11 feet square, which rests on granite piers, measuring 29 feet by 17 feet. They are 190 feet from the foundation to the summit. In the construction of this wonderful to the summit. In the construction of this wondering structure, 2,700 tons of wrought iron, 1,300 of cast iron, 17,000 cubic yards of masonry, and 14,000 cubic yards of timber have been used. It is 300 feet longer than the Britannia Bridge, and 60 feet higher than the Mour-

Britanna Druge, and to the meet."

ALBERT TOWN, a suburb of London, with postoffice; under Stoke-Newington, London N.

ALBION, the ancient Roman name of England; derived from Albus "white," in allusion to the white cliffs first seen in the approach from the Continent.

ALBION, a station on the Birmingham and Stafford railway, 6 miles WNW of Birmingham.

ALBOROUGH. See ALDBOROUGH.

ALBOUROUGH. See ALBOROUGH.
ALBOURNE, a parish in Cuckfield district, Sussex;
3½ miles W of Hassock's Gate r. station, and 6½ SW of Cuckfield. It has a post-office under Hurstperpoint.
Acres, 1,740. Real property, £2,641. Pop. 341. Acres, 1,740. Real property, £2,641. Pop., Houses, 68. The property is somewhat divided. bourne Place is said to have been built by Archbishop Juxon, who attended Charles I. on the scaffold; and was the residence of the eccentric Sir R. Fagge. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £225.* Patron, John Goring, Esq. The church is good. Charities, £11.

nes, 11.

ALBRIGHTLEE, a township in St. Alkmond parish, Salop; 3† miles NE of Shrewsbury. Pop., 45.

ALBRIGHTON, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Shiffinal, Salop. The village adjoins in the district of Shinnai, salop. The vinage automs the Shrewsbury and Birmingham railway, 51 miles ESE of Shifinal; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Wolverhampton. It was formerly a market town; and it still has fairs on the second Monday in Jan., the first Monday in March, 23 May, and the third Monday in Oct. The parish comprises 3,424 acres. Real property, £8,393. Pop., 1,156. Houses, 249. The manor anciently belonged to Dora abbey. The property is divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £651. Patrons, alternately the Haberdashers' Company and Christ's Hospital. The church is early English, with perpendicular transoms. Charities, £65. The sub-district comprises ten parishes Charities, £65. The sub-district comprises ten parishes and an extra-parochial tract. Acres, 22,511. Pop., 4,145. Houses, 820.

ALBRIGHTON, a chapelry in the parish of St. Mary, district of Atcham, Salop; near the Shrewsbury and Chester railway, 4 miles N of Shrewsbury. It has a post-office under Shrewsbury. Acres, 750. Pop., 78. Houses, 12. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £52.* Patron, W. Spurrier, Esq. The church is very goal.

The church is very good.

ALBURGH, a parish in Depwade district, Norfolk; on an affluent of the river Waveney, near the Buogay railway, 3½ miles NNE of Harleston. It has a post-office on an affluent of the river Waveney, near the Buogay railway, 3½ miles NNE of Harleston. It has a post-office under Harleston, and a fair on 21 June. Acres, 1,512. Real property, 23,699. Pop., 587. Houses, 139. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £395.* Patron, St. Jolin's College, Cambridge. The church has a large Norman porch. There are a national school, and charities £240. ALBURY, a parish in Bishop-Stortford district, Herts; a the river as he wine Sw of Standard as that on and on the river Ash, 4 miles W of Stanstead r. station, and 44 NW of Bishey-Stortford. It has a post-office under Ware; and a fair is held in it, at Putmore-Heath, on 17

July. Acres, 3,182. Real property, £5,275. Pop., 700. Houses, 147. The property shows pleasant scenery, and is much subdivided. The hiring is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £300. Patron, the Treasurer of St. Paul's. The church contains a brass of Sir R. Verney, and a tomb of De la Lee of Albury of Sir R. Verney, and a tomb of De la Lee of Albury Hall. Charities, £19.

ALBURY, or ALBURY, a parish in Thame district, Oxford; hear the river Thame, 3 miles NW of Tetsworth, and around Tiddington r. station. It includes Tiddington hamlet. Post-town, Tetsworth. Acres, 1,110. Real property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £276.* Patron, the Farl of Abingdon. The characteristics of the Parish Real of Abingdon. The Parish Real of Abingdon. tory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £276.* Patron, the Earl of Abingdon. The church is very good. Charities C.10.

ties, £10.

ALBURY, ALDBURY, or ALDERBURY, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Guildford, parish, and a sub-district in the district of Gnildford, Surrey. The village stands on a tributary of the river Wey, under the north downs, I mile N of Gonshall and Sheirer, station, and 5 ES of Gnildford; and has a post-office under Guildford. The new parish church at it is an edifice of red brick, in the Norman style, after the model of a church at Cae. The author of "Proverbial Philosophy" resided at the village. The discort country abounts in charming walks and rides: adjacent country abounds in charming walks and rides: and a spot, called Newland's Corner, commands a most and a spot, called Newland's Corner, commands a most extensive view.—The parish comprises 4,503 acres. Real property, £4,905. Pop., 1,041. Houses, 199. Albury estate belongs to Earl Percy; belonged previously, from 1319, to H. Drummond, Esq.; and belonged previously to the Finches and the Howards. The grounds of its park possess interesting artificial features; some derived from Henry Howard, afterwards Duke of Norfolk; others mentioned in the book of Domesday. The mansion has been modernized from designs by Pugin. The old parish church, in Early Norman, with a tower, adjoins the man-sion. The cathedral of the Catholic Apostolic church, a sion. The cathedral of the Cathone Apostone church, a cruciform edifice in the perpendicular style, built by Mr. Drumnond at a cost of £10,000, stands in the park. The living of Albury is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £600. Parton, the Duke of Northumberland. Charities, £31.—The sub-district comprises seven the company of the compan parishes. Acres, 19,760. Pop., 4,453. Houses, 892. ALBURY HATCH. See ALDBOROUGH HATCH.

ALBY, or ALDBY, a parish in Aylsham district, Nor-folk; near the river Bure, 41 miles NNE of Aylsham, folk; near the river Bure, 4; miles NAE of Aylsham, and 17 EXE of Elimban r. station. Post-town, Hanworth, under Norwich. Acres, 811. Real property, £1,974. Pop., 231. Houses, 53. The property is divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £140.* Patron, R. Driukley, Esq. The church is old but good.
See AllCANNINGS.

ALCESTER, the vestige of the Roman Elia Castra, on Akeman Street, 1½ mile SW of Bicester, Oxford. The place shows faint traces of a square enclosure divided by four ways

ALCESTER. a liberty in the parish of St. James Shaftesbury, within the parliamentary borough of Shaftesbury, but without the municipal borough, Dorset. Pop.,

342

2. Houses, 76. ALCESTER, a town, a parish, a sub district, and a district in Warwick. The town stands at the confluence of the Aloe and the Arrow, and on the Birminghau and Malvern railway, 9 miles NNE of Evesham. The Roman station Alanna stood on its site; and the Roman road, Icknield street, passed through, and may still be traced in the vicinity. Roman parements, substruc-tions, coins, and urns have been found. The place had great importance in the times of the Saxons, and was a royal residence at the period of the Conquest. A Benedictine abbey was founded, in 1140, on an island about $\frac{1}{2}$ a mile to the N; but fell into decay, became a cell of Evesham abbey, and has long disappeared. Alecster was made a borough by Henry I; and it continued to be of note in the 16th and 17th centuries, but it is now within the jurisdiction of the county magistrates. It consists of one principal street, and some small diverging ones; and presents a clean and neat appearance. The town-hall was built in 1641; the corn-exchange, in 1857. The man was onto in 1001; the contexentings, in 1007. He parish church, rebuilt in 1702, and retaining the previous tower, is a fine Gothic structure, and contains a well-preserved altar-tomb of Sir Fulke Greville and his lady, and a splendid monument of the Marquis of Hertford. There are three dissenting chapels, two public schools, eight alms-houses, and other charities £270. The town has a post-officet under Redditch, a r. station, a bankingoffice, a weekly market on Tuesday, and rans on the Tuesday before 29 Jan., on the Tuesday before 25 March, and Sept., on the a weekly market on Tuesday, and fairs on the on the third Tresday of April, May, and Sept., on the second Tuesday of July, on 17 Oct., and on the first Tuesday of Dec. The manufacture of needles and fish-hooks is carried on. Pop., not separately returned. The railway past Alcester was partly projected in 1861, but milway past Alcester was partly projected in 1861, but not all opened till 1868.

The parish of Alcester comprises 1,530 acres. Real property, £8,920. Pop., 2,128. Houses, 491. The manor belongs to the Marquis of Hertford; whose seat, Ragley Park, is about 2 miles SW of the town. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £259.* Patron, the Marquis of Hertford.—The sub-dis-2299.* Patron, the Marquis of Hertford.—The sub-district includes six entire parishes and part of another. Acres, 15, 419. Pop., 4,787. Houses, 1,066. The district, while all within the registration county of Warwick, is partly within the contry-proper of Worcester. It comprehends the sub-district of Studley, containing the parishes of Oldberrow, Morton-Baggott, Spernall, Studley, and Ipsley, and part of the parish of Coughton; the sub-district of Alcester, containing the parishes of Great Alne, Aston-Cantlow, Haselar, Kinwarton, Alcester, and Arrow, and part of the parish of Coughton; the sub-district of Feckenham, containing the parishes of Feckenham, Inkberrow, Abbots-Morton, and Weethley; and the sub-district of Brifford, containing the parishes of Salford, Bidford, Wixford, and Exhall. Acres, 52,430. Poor-rates in 1861, 210,578. Houses, 3,750. Marriages in 1866, 119; kirths, 518,—of which 45 were illegitimate; deaths, 374, of which 142 were at ages under 5 years, and 15 were lirths, 548,—of which 45 were illegitimate; deaths, 374, —of which 142 were at ages under 5 years, and 15 were at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 950; births, 6, 439; deaths, 3,553. The places of wership in 1851 were 23 of the Church of England, with 6,335 sittings; 1 of Independents, with 160 s.; 9 of Paptists, with 1,768 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 500 s.; 8 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,232 s.; 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 100 s.; and 3 of Roman Cathelies, with 1,180 s. The schools in 1851 were 18 nublic day schools 1,180 s. The schools in 1851 were 18 public day schools, with 1,150 scholars; 22 private day schools, with 355 s.; 30 Sunday schools, with 2,334 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 69 s. The work-house is in Oversley hamlet.

handet.

ALCISTON, a perish and a hundred in Sussex. The parish lies in the district of Lewes, 1 mile S of Berwick r. station, and 6\(\frac{1}{2}\) SE of Lewes. Post-town, Selmeston under Lewes. Acres, 2,079. Real property, £1,596. Pcp., 229. Houses, 47. The manor belonged anciently to the Abbot of Battle. The surface is hilly. The livest and the state of the state. ing is a vicarage, united to Selmeston, in the diocese of Chiohester. The church shows features of Norman and of early English, and is in tolerable condition .- The lundred of Alciston is in the rape of Pevensey, and com-Induced of Afciston is in the rape of Pevensey, and comprises the parishes of Alciston, Alfriston, and Lullington. Acres, 5,666. Pop. in 1861, 859. Houses, 181. ALCOMER, a handlet in Dunster parish, Somerset; I rails NW of Dunster. Pop., 259.

ALCONBURY, or ALEMUNDERY, a parish in the district and country of Huntinglon; on Alconbury brook, a parish in the district and country of Huntinglon; on Alconbury brook, and the feature of Country of Property and the feature of Country of Property and Country of Property of Pro near Ermine-street and the Eastern Counties railway, 5 Half rights and a fair on 24 June. Acres, 3,700. Real property, £5,087. Pop., 909. Houses, 200. Alconbury property, £5,087. Pop., 909. Houses, 200. Alconbury Lodge is the chief residence. Alconbury hill commands Logic is the chief residence. Alcoholity full commands a fine view. Alcoholity brook rises on the confines of Northamptonshire, and runs about 3 miles south-east-ward to the Ouse at Hantingdon. The living includes Wheenbury-Westen, and is a vicanage in the diorese of Liv. Value, £162. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Westminster. The church is good; and there is a Wesleyan chapel.

ALCONBURY-WESTON, a parish in the district and ALCONDURY WESTON, a parish in the district and county of Huntingdon, contiguous, on the NW, to Alconbury. Acres, 1,540. Real property, £2,770. Pop., 566. Houses, 114. See ALCONDURY.
ALCOTT-END. See AMPNEY CRUCIS.
ALDATE (ST.). See GLOUCESTER and BRISTOL.

ALDATE (Sr.). See GLOUCESTER and BRISTOL.
ALDBOROUGH, a parish in Erpingham district, Norfolk; on the river Pure, 43 miles N by W of Aylsham, and 7 NW of N. Walsham r. station. It has a post-office under Norwich. Acres, 78S. Feal property; £2,051. Pop., 305. Houses, 79. The property is sub-divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £173.* Patron, Lord Suffield. The church was restored in 1849. There is a P. Methodist chapel.
ALDEOROUGH, a decayed ancient town and a township in the district of Kurzeskozowach W. R. Vorkshire.

ALDEOROUGH, a decayed ancent town and a lowariship in the district of Knaresborough, W. R. Yorkshire; and a parish eliefly in the same district, but partly in Ripon district, N. R. The town stands on the river Ure and on Watling-street, near the Boroughbridge and Plimoor railway, I valle E by N of Boroughbridge; and it has a post-office under York. It was the capital of the Brigantes, the Isurium of the Romans, and the Ealdburg of the Saxons. It became a borough in the time of Outen Mary; and it sent two members to parliament till disfranchised by the act of 1832. It anciently covered about 60 acres, within defensive walls about 12 feet thick; but it is now a more village, irregularly built. Some vestiges of the walls remain; and many Roman coins, urns, utensils, and other relics have been found. coins, urns, utensis, and other relies have been found.
A Roman citadel is supposed to have stood in its centre;
a Roman bridge crossed the Ure contiguous to it; and Roman works of art, including sculptures, wall-paintings, baths, and fine parements, have left sufficient remains in it to show that it must have been a scene of luxnry and power during a considerable period of the Roman occupation. Many of the relies are preserved for the inspection of the curious. The parish church adjoins the site of the supposed citadel; is an edifice of some an-tiquity; and probably was built with materials from the titiquity; and probably was built with materials from the ancient town. A statue of Mercury occurs in the outside of the restry wall; and a gravestone, believed to be Saxon, is in the churchyard. Aldborough Hall is at the east gate of the ancient town; and Aldborough Manor is at the west gate.—The township includes the village, and comprises 1,590 acres. Real property, £6,300. Pop., 522. Houses, 115.—The parish includes also the townships of Boroughbridge, Rocliffe, Minskip, Ellenthorpe, and Lower Dunsforth, and parts of the townships of Humberton-with-Milby and Upper Dunsforthcum-Branton-Green. Acres, 9,323. Real property of Aldborough, Boroughbridge, Rocliffe, Minskip, and Dunsforth townships, £17,002. Pop. of the parish, 2,279. Houses, 519. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicence in the dioese of Kipon. Value, Houses, 519. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £350.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of York. The vicarages of Boroughbridge, Rocliffe, and Dunsforth are separate benefices.

ALDEOROUGH, or ALDEBURGH, a scaport town, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Plomesgate. parish, and a sub-district in the district of Flomesgate, Suffolk. The town stands at the terminus of a branch of the Eastern Union tailway, 7 miles SE of Saxmund-ham, and 914 NE of London. It occupies a pleasant site in Slaughdon Valley, on the river Alde, between Aldborough bay and Aldborough mere, overlooked by a steep hill, which commands a fine prospect. The beach steep nill, when commands a me passeed. The board adjacent to it consists of fine firm sand, slopes gradually to the soa, and is well suited for bathing. A shool in the vicinity, 2 miles long, called Aldbrough Knape, causes strong breakers in easterly winds. The sea has made great encroachments on the shore within the last two centuries. The town has become an esteemed watering place; and though containing many old houses, chiefly inhabited by fishermen, has also handsome new ones, and yillas, for the accommodation of fashionable visitors. The parish church, on the summit of the hill, is perpendicular English; was resently restored; has a tower with an octagonel turret; contains six brasses and a Tudor pulpit; and presents a good landmark to mariners. There are two dissenting chapels, a public library, and a national school. The town-hall is a half-timbered edifice, restored in 1853. The town was made a borough by Elizabeth; and it sent two members to parliament till disfranchised by the uct of 1832. It has a post-officet under Saxmundham; and it formerly had a market and two fairs. Herring and lobster fishings are carried on; corn and wool are exported; and coal and timber are imported. About 40 vessels, of aggregately about 1,800 tons, belong to the Crabbe, the poet, was a native. The title of Viscount Aldhorough was borne by an ancestor of F. J. V. court Aldhorough was borne by an ancestor of F. J. V. Wentworth, Esq., the proprietor of the manor. The parish comprises 1,732 acres of land and 50 of water. Real property, £6,136. Pop., 1,721. Houses, 391. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £383.* Patron, F. J. V. Wentworth, Esq. Charities, £40.—The sub-district includes eight parishes. Acres, 12,946. Pop., 4,049. Houses, 925.

ALDBOROUGH, N. R. and E. R. Yorkshire. See ALDBOROUGH, N. R. and E. R. Yorkshire.

ALDBROUGH.

ALDBOROUGH HATCH, a chapelry in Great Hord parish, Essex; 14 mile NE of Ilford r. station, and 84 miles ENE of Bishopsgate. It has a post-office under Ilford, London E. The famous Fairlop oak stood near it, 26 feet in girth of bole, and 300 feet in circumference of bead. Hainault forest, adjacent on the N, was part of the old great forests of the country. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of London. Value, not reported. atron, the Crown. A new church was built in 1863. ALDBOURNE, a village and a parish in the district Patron.

of Hungerford and county of Wilts. The village stands 7 miles NW of Hungerford r. station, and 9 SE of Swindon, and has a post-office under Hungerford. It was formerly a market town; but it suffered great devastation by fire in 1760; and it has never recovered its old prosperity. Aldbourne Chase, adjacent to it on the N, was a favourite hunting-ground of King John; given by Henry VIII. to the Duke of Somerset; and the scene of the defeat of the Parliamentarians under the Earl of Essex, by the Royal forces under Prince Rupert; but is now enclosed and cultivated. The parish includes the now encosed and cultivated. The parish includes the tytinings of Preston, Lower Upham, and Upper Upham. Arres, 8,495. Real property, £10,301. Pop., 1,539. Heuses, 343. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Yalue, £367. Patron, the Bishop of Salisbury. The church is ancient: has Norman features and a brass; and is good. Part of the parsonage is supposed to be a remnant of the ancient royal hunting-seat. Remains of an ancient British cucampment occur near a farm house called Pierce's Lodge. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £43.

ALDEROUGH, a township and a sub-district in the district of Richmond, N. R. Yorkshire. The township is in the parish of St. John Stanwick, on a tributary of the Tees, 7 miles N by E of Richmond; and has a postoffice under Darlington. Acres, 1,636. Real property, ±3,099. Pop., 420. Houses, 109. There is a Wesleyau chapel.—The sub-district comprises two entire parishes and part of a third. Acres, 11,996. Pop., 1,706.

Houses, 390.

ALDBROUGH, or ALDBURGH, a township, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Skirlaugh, E. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the coast, 8 miles NNE of Hedou r. station, and 13½ E of Beverley; has a post-office; under Hull; and includes the hamlets of Powick, Carlton-with-Fosham, Etherdwick, and Fan-stern. A fair is held on 4 Sep. Acres, 4, 911. Real property, £6,029. Pop., $31. Houses, 191.—The parish includes also the townships of East Newton and West Newton. Acres, 6,319. Real property, £10,147. Pop., 1,005. Houses, 228. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is ancient and tolerable, and has a curious Danish monuancient and tolerators, and as a cuttous ranks momental stone. This p. curacy of Colden-Parva is a separate benefice. Towrie's charity, founded in 1653, has an income of £200, and includes almshouses and school. There is a Wesleyan chapel.—The sub-district comprises two entire parishes and part of a third. Acres. 10.669_ Pop., 1,735. Houses, 373.

ALDBURGH. See ALDBOROUGH and ALDBROUGH.

ALDBURY, a parish in Berkhampstead district, Herta; under the Chiltern hills, 1 mile E of Tring r. station, and under the Chiltern hills, I mile E of Tring r. station, and 3\ NNE of Berkhampsted. It has a post-office under Tring. Acres, 2.071. Real property, £2,902. Pop., 813. Houses, 179. The manor was possessed by the Verneys, the Andersons, and the Hydes; and new belongs to the Duke of Leeds. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £418. Patron, £a.1 Brownlow. The church is early English, with a square embettled target properties. embattled tower; and contains some ancient tembs. Charities, £26 and poors' cottages.

ALDBURY, Oxford and Surrey. See ALDERY.
ALDBY. See ALEY.

ALDCLIFFE, a township in Lancaster parish, on the estuary of the Lune, 11 mile SSW of Lancaster. Acres.

52. Pop., 74. Houses, 13.
ALDE (THE), a river of Suffolk. It rises near Haxted; runs south-eastward to the vicinity of Aldborough; and goes thence southward to the sea at Oxford haven. entire length is about 30 miles; and its lower reaches, to the extent of 10 miles, are narrow, winding estuary, past the Lantern marshes.

ALDEBURGH. See Aldborough, Suffolk.
ALDEBY, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Loddon, Norfolk. The parish lies on Waverey river, 3 miles NE of Beccles; and it has a station on the Yarmouth branch of the Eastern Union railway, and a postmouth branch of the Eastern Union ratiway, and a post-office under Beceles. Acres, 3,056. Real property, £5,108. Pop., 557. Houses, 118. The manor belonged anciently to the cathedral of Norwich, and was made the site of a Benedictine cell. The property is divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £120.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Norwich. The church is ancient and good, and has a fine door. sub-district comprises sixteen parishes. Acres, 24,573. Pop., 4,954. Houses, 1.102.

ALDENHAM, a parish in Watford district, Herts; near the Colne river and the St. Albans railway, 2 miles NE of Watford. Post-town, Watford. Acres. 5,819. Real property, £13,801. Pop., 1,769. Houses, 352. The hamlet of Theobald Street is included. The property The harmest of Theobad-Street is included. The property is divided. The chief residences are Aldenhain Abboy and Aldenhain Lodge. The living is a vicerage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, $215. Pariors, the Trustees of P. Thelluson, Esq. The shurch is early English, of comented flint stones, in very good condition. Radlet chapetry, formed in 1865, is a separate vicerage. Platt's almshouses and free grammar school have an income of £1,141, and were founded in 1599, and rebuilt in Other charities, £24.

1825. Other charities, £24.

ALDENHAM HALL, the seat of Sir J. E. D. Acton, Bart., 3\{\} miles WNW of Bridgenorth, Sa\{\} op.

ALDER (THE). See ADUR.

ALDERBURY. a village, a parish, a sub-district, a hundred, and a district in Wilts. The village stands on the river Aven, near the Salisbury branch of the Southwestern railway, 3 miles SE of Salisbury; and has a post-office under Salisbury. - The parish includes also the chapelries of Pitton and Farley. Acres, 4,332. Real property of Alderbury, Whaddon, and West Grimstead, £4,270; of Pitton and Farley, £2,921. Pop. of the parish, 1,334. Houses, 288. The property is divised among a few. Alderbury House, the seat of the Forts, in the vicinity of the village, was built of materials from the ancient belfry of Salisbury cathedral. Try-Church, some remains of which exist in a school-louise on an eminance, was an Augustinian priory founded by King Stephen. The living of Alderbury is a virance in the diocese of Salisbury; and includes the caracles of Pitton and Farley. Value, £477. Patron, the Bishop of Salisbury. The church is excellent. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £16. -The sub-district comprises orage, and charmes 210.—The substance comprises five parishes, part of another parish, and three extra parochial tracts. Acres, 24,551. Pop., 4,357. Houses, 23 — The hundred comprises most of the parishes and tracts of the sub-district, and includes so many others as to be more extensive. Acres, 32,790. Pop., 4,377. Houses, 1,019.—The district comprehends the nonses, 1,049.—Inc. district comprehensis the Sun-district of Alderbury, containing the parishes of Alder-bury, Winterslow, West Grimstead, Whiteparish, and Landford, part of the parish of West Dean, and the extra-parochial tracts of Clarendon-Park, Melchet-Park, extra-parochial tracts of Clarendon-Fark, Melenet-Fark, and Earldons; the sub-district of Downton, containing the parishes of Downton, Standlinch, Munton-with-Bodenham, Odstock, Homingsten, Coombe-Bissett, and Stratforl-St. Anthony; and the sub-district of Britford, containing the parishes of Britford, West Harnham, Laverstock, Stratford-under-the-Castle, and Harnham, Laverstock, Strattord-under-tine-Castle, and Fisherton-Anger, part of the parish of St. Martin, the Eberty of Solisbury Close, and the extra-parochial Old Sarum. Acres, 53,490. Pour-rates in 1866, £11,085. Pep. in 1841, 14,174; in 1861, 14,770. Houses, £,977. Marriages in 1866, 91; births, 472,—of which 26 were illegitimate; deaths, 337,-of which 82 were at ages unillegitimate; deaths, 337,—of which 82 were at ages under 5 years, and 8 were at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,069; births, 4,550; deaths, 3,355. The places of worship in 1851 were 23 of the Church of England, with 4,827 sittings; 1 of Independents, with 55 s.; 7 of Baptists, with 894 s.; 12 of Weslevan Methodists, with 1,346 s.; and 2 of Primitive Methodists, with $22 s. The schools in 1851 were 27 public day-schools, with 1,633 scholars; 17 private day-schools, 1,255 e. 38 Sunday schools with 3,37 s. schools, with 325 s.; 36 Sunday schools, with 2,317 s.; and 5 evening-schools for adults, with 86 s. The workhouse is in Britford.

23

ALDERBURY, Surrey. See Albury, Surrey.
ALDERFORD, a parish in St. Faith district, Norfolk; on the river Wessum. 9 miles NNE of Thuxton r. station, and 10 NW of Norwich. 11 has a post-office under Norwich Acres, 422. Real property, £838. Pop., 25. Houses, 5. The manor belonged anciently to Normich cathedral. The living is a rectory, united with the vicarage of Attlebridge, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, 2212. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Norwich. The church is old but good.

ALDERHOLT, a tything and a chapelry in Cranborne pulsh, Porset. The tything lies on the verge of the county, 4½ miles E of Cranborne, and 5½ N of Ringwood r. station; and has a post-office under Salisbury. r. scatton; and has a post-once under Sansbury. 1949. The chapter includes the tything, but is larger, and was constituted in 1849. Pop., 708. Houses, 145. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Salisbury. Value, £105.* Patron, the Vicar of Cranborne. The church was built by the Marquis of Salisbury.

ALDERLEY, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Macclesteld, Cheshire. The parish lies on an affluent of the river Bollin, and on the Manchester and Birmingham railway, 7 miles SSW of Stockport. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Congleton; and it includes the townships of Nether Alderley, Over Al-11 mentals the townships of Acetac Antecopy of the deley, and Great Warford. Acres in Nether Alderley, 2,755. Real property, £3,768. Pop., 617. Houses, 105. Acres in Over Alderley, 2,146. Real property, £3,388. Pop., 421. Houses, 77. Acres in the parish, 6,173. Real property, £14,931. Pop., 1,418. Rouses, 257. The property is subdivided. Albelley Edge has a height of 300 feet, commands an extensive view, and yields excellent sandstone. Alderley Park is the seat of Lord Stanley of Alderley, and has fine grounds. Numerous next residences have recently been ivilit on Alderley Edge; and excursion trains run to it in cummer from Manchester. Copper or is worked. The living is a rectory in the dionese of Chester. Value, £750. Petron, Lord Stanley of Alderley. The church is good; and there are a l'aptiet chipel and a Wesleyan, -the latter a Gothic collide of 1863. Charities, £21.-The subdistrict includes also parts of three other parishes.

Acres, 13,559. Pop., 4,525. Houses, 798.

ALDERIEY, a village and a parish in Chipping-Sod-

ALDERTEY, a willings and a patish in Campang-Sod-lary district, Glomester. The village stands on a hill of the Cotwolds, above the confluence of two rivulets, 3 miles ESE Go Charnfeld is station, and 4 NY of Wickwar; and his a post-office under Wotton-under-Edge. The turish comprises $95 acres. Real property, 21,500. Fop., 95. House, 23. The property is not much divided. The hill on which the village stands has yielded many curious fossils. The parish was formerly the boundary of Kingswood forest. The estate of Alderley boundary of Kingswood lorest. The estate of Administration was the birthplace of Sir Matthew Hale, and continues to be held by his descendants. The living is a rectory in the discusse of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £200. Patron, R. H. B. Hale, Esq. The church is a hand-some building, conspicuously situated on the hill; and contains the grave and monument of Sir Matthew Hale.

ALDERMAN-HAW, a village in Woodhouse chapelry,

2 miles W of Mount Sorrel, Leicester. It had a cell of Bermondsey abbev. Pop., 25. ALDERMASTON, or ADMISTON, a village and a pa-rish in Bradfield district, Berks.—The village stands at the influx of the Emborne to the Kennet, 8 miles E of Newbury; and it has a station, 1½ mile distant, on the Great Western railway, and a post-office under Reading. It was formerly a market town; and it still has fairs on 6 May, 7 July, and 11 Oct. The Earl of Essex occupied it in 1644 The parish comprises 3,669 acres. perty, £4,718. Pop. 585. Houses, 129. The property is not much divided. Much of the surface is heathy. The park of Aldermaston Court includes 1,000 acres; and is one of the wildest and most diversified in the south of England. The mansion on it is a Tudor edifice, built in 1851; and contains many interesting relics of a remarkable structure which preceded it, the seat of the markable structure which preceded it, the seat of the Forsters and the Congreves; and the old lodges, with spired tower and roof, are still standing. An ancient camp occurs near Aldermaston Soak. The living is a vicarge in the dioces of Oxford. Yolue and patron, not reported. The church is an ancient edifice, with fine Norman doorway and interesting monuments.

ALDERMINSTER, a parish in the district of Strat-ford-on-Avon and county of Worcester; on the river Stour and on the Stratford and Moreton railway, 5 miles SSE of Stratford. It has a post-office under Stratford. Acres, 3,167. Real property, £3,777. Pop., Houses, 105. The property is not much divided. Real property, £3,777. Pop., 520. living is a vicerage in the diocese of Worcester Value, £170.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is cruciform, with a low tower, and partly Norman.

ALDERMOOR, an eminence, crowned by a windmill, and commanding a grand prospect, 11 mile SSW of Ryde, Isle of Wight.

ALDERNEY, one of the Channel Islands. It lies 10 miles W of Cape La Hogue in France, 15 NNE of Guernsey, and 57 S by E of Portland Bill, the nearest part of the English coast. Its length is 31 miles; its breadth, a little more than I mile; its circumference, about 8 miles. It was the Riduna of the Romans; and is called Auriguy by the French. It is surrounded by rocks. islets, and conflicting currents; so that the approach to isions, and connecting currents; so that the approach to it is often dangerous. Small bays indent its coast; and that of Braye, on the XW, affords good anchorage, Communication is maintained twice a-week, by a small steamer, with Guernsey. The surface is variously high and low, all destitute of trees; but contains some firtile land, in good cultivation. The Alderney cow, a small, straight-backed animal, has a world-wide fine for its milking properties; but is supplied to the English market from Jersey and Guernsey, very rarely from Alderney; and is of much smaller size in Alderney than in Jersey, and smaller in Jersey than in Guernsey. Many Roman coins and other Roman relies have been found in Alderney. Celtic monuments formerly were numerous: but only one, a damaged cromlech, now remains. A castle of the Earl of Essex and a numery stood on the coast; but are now represented by a modern fort and a barrack. Vast works, comprising forts, a capacious harbour, and a breakwater, recommended by the late Duke of Wellington are in the course of construction by Goverament, to check the great French works at Cherbourg, and maintain command of the English Channel. They were originally estimated to cost £600,000; but they actually cost £1,000,000 at a point in 1860, and were then computed to require about £309,000 more. The town of St. Anne stands within \(\frac{1}{2} \) a mile of the harbour, nearly in the centre of the island; and contains the dwellings of nearly all the inhabitants. It has two main streets, a government house, a new court house, a parish church, and chapels for Presbyterians, Wesley-aus, Primitive Methodists, and Roman Catholics. The parish church is an elegant cruciform edifice, in the parish church is an elegant cructorm edite, in the semi-Norman style, with central tower, built in 1850, at a cost of £8,000. The island is governed by a court of its own, subject to the court of Guernsey; it has a of its own, subject to the court of Guernsey; it has a post-office; under Guernsey; and it forms a parish in the diocess of Winchester. The living is a p. curacy of the value of £300, * in the patronage of the Governor of Guernsey. Both English and French are spoken by the inhabitants, but English more than French. Pop. in 1841, 1,033; in 1851, 4,932.—The strait between the island and France is swept by a tidal current of 6 miles an hour, and bears the name of the Race of Alderney. The French fleet escaped through it in 1692, after the battle of La Hogue; and Admiral Balchen was lost in it in 1774. Alderney gave the title of Baron to a son of George II.—See CASKETS (THE).

George 11.—See CASKEIS (1 HE).

ALDERSBROOKE, a locality in Epping forest, Essex; near the river Roding, 1 mile WNW of Ilford r. station, and 6 miles NE of St. Paul's, London. It has a postoffice under Ilford, London E. Here is the City cemetery; and here was the seat of the antiquary Lethicullier.

ALDERSEY, a township in Coddington parish, Cheshire; on an affluent of the river Dee, 4 miles

SW of Tattenhall r. station, and 8 SSE of Chester. Acres, 754. Real property, £1,175. Pop., 119. Houses, 21. The proprietor's seat is Aldersey Hall. ALDERSHOIT. See ALDERIOL.

ALDERSHOT, a town, a camp, and a parish in the district of Farnham and county of Hants. The town stands near the Basingstoke canal, and near the Ash, the Tongham, the Farnham, and the Farnborough r. sta-tions, 3 miles NE by N of Farnham. It has a post-office under Farnborough station, a church, and three dissenting places of worship; and it publishes two weekly newspapers. It suddenly rose from seclusion to impor-tance by the formation of the neighbouring camp. The church at it contains several monuments of the Tichbourne family who formerly resided in the parish.—The camp is situated close to the town, on Aldershot Heath, which consists of the Bagshot sand, and stretches away to the downsor Surrey; and it also has a post-office under Farnborough station. It was formed in 1854, at a cost of upwards of £600,000. It is practically a wooden town; covers an area of 7 square miles; and is divided by the Basingstoke canal into two parts, containing accommodation for respectively 12,000 and 8,000 men. Two churches of wood, and another church of cast-iron, are in it, for the use of the troops. Quarters for the commanding officers are on a rising ground overlooking it from the SW; the Queen's Pavilion, built at a cost of 25,000, is beyond these quarters; and permauent bar-racks, creeted in 1857 at great cost, with accommodation for about 7,000 men, and a large church, built in 1863, at a cost of £14,000, are near the Pavilion.—The parish comprises 4,144 acres. Real property, £12,073. Pop. in 1841, 685; in 1861, 16,720, of whom 11,720 were military in the camp. Houses, 763. The manor belonged anciently to Merton priory. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £164.* Patrons, F.

Eggar, C. Andrews, R. Alden, and H. Tice, Esqs.
ALDERTON, a parish in Winchcombe district, Gloucester; 5 miles ESE of Ashchurch r. station, and 9 NNE of Cheltenham. It has a post-office under Cheltenham ; and contains the hamlet of Dixton. Acres, 1,750. Real property, £2,067. Pop., 487. Houses, 109. The property is subdivided. Here are remains of a Saxon camp. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Glangester.

perty is subdivided. Here are remains of a Saxon camp. The living its a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £450.* Patron, the Rev. C. Covey. The church is good. Charities, £20.

ALDEITON, a parish in Potterspury district, Northampton; near Watling-street, the Tove river, and the Grand Junction caual, 31 miles W of Roade r. station, and the Company of the Co and 31 SE of Towcester. Post-town, Towcester. Acres, 910. Real property, £1,292. Pop., 131. Houses, 31. The property is divided among a few. Lace-making is carried on. The living is a rectory, annexed to Grafton-Regis, in the diocese of Peterhorough. The church is modern, and in the perpendicular English style. Charities, £1 and five poors' cottages.

ALDERTON, a parish in Woodbridge district, Suffolk: ALDERTON, a parish in Woodbridge uistrict, Sundak, on the coast, between the Deben river and Hollesley bay, 8 miles SSE of Woodbridge r. station. It has a rost-office under Woodbridge. Acres, 2,543. Real probay, 8 miles SSE of Woodbridge r. station. It has a post-office under Woodbridge. Acres, 2,513. Real property, £4,390. Pop., 634. Houses, 137. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £720. Patrons, T. Archer, Esq., and the Bishop of Norwich. The church is a modern brick edifice; and a previous church is in ruins, and serves as a landmark. Charities, £23. Gies Fletcher, the poet, was rector of Alderton, and died here in 1692 1623

ALDERTON, a parish in Malmesbury district, Wilts; near Akeman-street, 9 miles NNW of Chippenham r. near Areman-street, 9 lines 123 of complement at the station. It has a post-office under Chippenham. Acres, 1,587. Real property, £2,404. Pop., 192. Houses, 44. The living is a vicerage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, not reported. Patron, Sir J. Neeld, Bart. Gore, the antiquary, who flourished in the 17th century, was a native of Alderton, and was buried in the church.

ALDERTON, a township in Great Ness parish, Salop; near the river Severn, 8 miles WNW of Shrewsbury.

near the river oevern, o miles way of oncewsbury. Pop., 54.

ALDERTON, a township in Hadnall chapelry, Salop; 6 miles NNE of Shrewsbury. Pop., 25.

ALDERWASLEY, a township-chapelry in Wirksworth parish, Derby; near the Derwent river, the Cromford canal, and the Whatstandwell Bridge r. station, 24 miles Company of the Whatstandwell Bridge r. station, 24 miles Company of the Whatstandwell Bridge r. station, 24 miles and 24 m canai, and the wnatstandwell Bridge r. station, 2½ miles ESE of Wirksworth - Post-town, Wirksworth. Real property, £4,356,—of which £1,000 are in iron-works. Pop., 372. Houses, 70. The secentry is picturesque. Alderwasley Hall is a beautiful seat. Coal, iron, and lead are worked. The living is a donative in the dioces of Lichfield. Value, £120. Patron, F. Ilurst, Esq.

of Lichfield. Value, £120. Patron, F. Hurst, Esq. ALDFIELD, a township and a chapelry in Ripon parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the rivulet Skell, 4 miles SW of Ripon r. station. Post-town, Ripon. Acres, 1,225. Real property, £1,375. Pop., 128. Houses, 27. A sulphuretted spring exists here, in a picture-sque spot; and, but for being so near Harrowgate, would probably be in high request. The chapelry comprises the townships of Aldfield, Studley-Roger, and Studley-Royal, and bears the name of Aldfield-with-Studley. Pop. in 1851, 327. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £72. Patron, Countess Cowper.

ALDFOLD. See ALFOLD.

ALDFORD, a village, a township, and a parish in Great Boughton district, Cheshire. The village stands Great Boughton district, Cheshire. The village stands on an affluent of the Dee, 2\(\frac{1}{2}\) miles ESE of Saltney, t station, and 6 miles 8 by E of Chester. It has a post-office under Chester; and it was formerly a market town. A bridge here crosses an "old ford" on the line of a Roman road into Wales; and that old ford gave the place its name. its name. Remains of a castle are in the neighbourhood, erected in the reign of Henry II., and garrisoned by Brereton in the civil war. The township comprises 1,273 acres. Pop., 438. Houses, 88. The parish includes also the townships of Edgerley, Buerton, and Churton-byalso the townships of Edgeriey, Duerson, and Charton-oya-Allford. Acres. 2,633. Real property, £4,872. Pop., 731. Houses, 150. The manor, with Eton Hall, be-longs to the Marquis of Westminster. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Chester. Value, £330. Pa-tron, the Marquis of Westminster. The chartic was re-built in 1866, and is in the early English style. There are a Wesleyan chapel and a free school.
ALDGATE. See London.

ALDHATE. See LONDON.
ALDHAMI, a parish in Lexden district, Essex; near Colne river, 2 miles N of Marks Tey r, station, and 5
ENE of Coggleshall. Post-town, Marks Tey nuder Colclester. Acres, 1,825. Real property, 22,555. Pop., 403. Houses, 94. The manor belonged to the De Veres. The property is subdivided. The place is a meet for the East Essex hounds. The living is a rectory in the diacese of Rochester. Value, £327. Patron, the Bishop of Rochester. The church is very good. Charities, £32.

Morant the historian was rector of Aldham.

ALDHAM, a parish in Cosford district, Suffolk; near the river Bret, 2 miles N of Hadleigh r. station. Postthe river Bref. 2 miles N of Hadleigh r. station. Post-town, Hadleigh, under Ipswich. Acres, 1,744. Real property, £1,360. Pop., 267. Houses, 60. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £290. Patron, T. B. Lennard, Esq. The church is very ancient, and has a Norman round tower. A priory cell stood at Priory Farm. Rowland Taylor was burned, in 1555, on Aldham Common. ALDHELMS (St.). See AlEAN'S HEAD (Sr.). ALDINGBOURN, a parish in Westbampnett divict, Sussex; 1 mile north of Westbampnett divict, Sussex; 1 mile north of Westbampnett.

mict, Sussex; I mile north of Woodgate r. station, and 4 E of Chichester. It contains the hamlets of Lidsey and Westergate. Post-town, Chichester. Acres, 3,069. Real property, £6,678. Pop., 772. Houses, 162. ingbourn House was a seat of the Howards. The The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £220. Patron, the Bishop of Chichester. The church is early English, and has a black marble font.

ALDINGHAM, a parish in Ulverstone district, Lan-cashire; on Morccambe bay, 4 miles E of Furness Abbey r. station, and 5 S by W of Ulverstone. It includes the r. station, and 5.5 by W of Ulverstone. It includes a divisions of Gleaston and Leece. Post-town, Bardsea under Ulverstone. Acres, 4,694. Real property, £8,497. Pop., 1,011. Houses, 186. The property is much subdivided. Much land formerly in the parish has been carried off by the sea. Gleaston Castle, now a ruin of three towers, with connecting walls, was a seat of the Flemings, and of the Duke of Suffolk, the father of Lady Lane Grey. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £1,093. Patron, the Crown. The church is very good. The p. curacy of Dendron is a separate benefice. Charities, £15.

ADDINGTON, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of East Ashford, Kent. The village stands rear the Grand Military canal, 1½ mile S of Smeeth r. station, and 6 SE of Ashford. It has a post-office under Hythe; and is in the lib. of Romney Marsh.—The parish comprises 3,576 acres. Real property, £5,357. Pop., Houses, 144. The property is not much divided. The Roman road from Lymne to Pevensey went through the parish. Court-of-Street, on the line of that road, about a mile E of the village, was the scene of the im-posture of Elizabeth Barton, the nun of Kent, who made posture of Edzabeth Darton, the man of rent, who make so great a figure in the political party of Queen Catherine, the living is a rectory in the diocess of Canterbury; and till 1568 was united with Smeeth. Value, £850.* Patrickler tron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church is early English, with a tower in late perpendicular; and formerly had a brass of 1475. Charities, £9. The celebrated Erasmus of Rotterdam, and Richard Moster, who suffered death for aiding the imposture of Elizabeth Barton, were rectors of Aldington.—The sub-district com-prises seven parishes. Acres, 16,127. Pop., 2,487. Houses, 509.

ALDINGTON, a hamlet in Badsey parish, Worcester; 2 miles E of Evesham. Pop., 141. Houses, 35. ALDMONBURY. See ALMONBURY.

ALDON, a township in Stokesay parish, Salop; near the river Onny, 64 miles NW of Ludlow. Pop., 236. ALDON, a hamlet in Addington and Ryarsh parishes, Kent: 63 miles NW of Maidstone.

ALDRETH, a hamlet in Haddenham parish, Cam-

ALDRIDGE, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Walsall, Stafford. The town stands near Worley canal, 24 miles ESE of Pelsall r. station, and the 3) NE of Walsall; and it has a post-office under Walsall. 3) Me of Walsall, and it has a post-office under Walsall. An extensive distiller; is here; and fine potter's clay and cod are worked in the neighbourhood. Pop., 1,179. Houses, 234.—The parish includes also the town of Great Barr. Acres, 7,752. Real property, £6,041. Pop., 2,254. Houses, 454. The property is divided among a few. A height called Barr-Beacon, is said to Lave been a place of Pruidical sacrifices; and a pool, called Druid Mere, makes an occasional overflow, and has been popularly imagined to possess some supernatural nas been popularly imagined to possess some sign E. D. Scott, Bart. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £375.* Patron, the Rev. J. F. Smith. The church contains a monument of a Stapleton, and is good. The vicarage of Great Barr is a separate benefice. dan's schools have £118 from endowment, and other charities £64.—The sub-district countries two parishes and part of a third. Pop., 7,026. Houses, 1,413.
ALDRIDGE HILL, an extra-parochial tract contiguous to Brockenhurst parish, Hants.

25

ALDRINGHAM, a village and a parish in Blything district, Suffolk. The village stands near the coast and near the Aldborough railway, 24 miles N of Aldborough. It was formerly a market town; and it still has fairs on 11 Oct. and 1 Dec. The parish contains also the hamlet of Thorpe. Post-town, Aldborough under Saxuundham. Acres, 1,783; of which 80 are water. Real property, £1,913. Pop., 471. Houses, 111. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the 21,913. Pop., 471. Houses, 111. The project in the divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich; and includes the curacy of Thorpe. is transition Norman, and has an octagonal font. There is a Baptist chapel.

ALDRINGTON, or ATHERINGTON, a parish in Steyning district, Sussex; on the coast, near the South Coast railway, 3 miles W of Brighton. Post-town, Brighton Acres, 776. Pop., 7. Houses, 2. A villago here which antiquaries suppose to have been the Portus Adurni of the Romans, which some also suppose to have been given by King Alfred to his younger son, and which came to bear the same name as the parish, was destroyed at no very late period, by encroachment of the sea. So much of the parish also was carried away that not an inhabitant was found in it at the Censuses of 1801-31. ruins of the church, in early English architecture, still exist. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £294. Patron, Magdalene College, Cambridge.

ALDSTONE. See Alston, Cumberland. ALDSWORTH, a parish in Northleach district, Gloucester; near the river Leach, 10 miles NE of Cirencester r. station. It has a post-office under Cheltenham. Acres, r, station. It has a post-office under Chercollag. 3, 460. Real property, £3,107. Fop., 430. Houses, §2. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £66. Patron, Christ's Church, Oxford. The church stands on a hill, and commands an extensive view.

ALDSWORTH, a tything in Westbourne parish, Sussex; near Stanstead Park, 64 miles WNW of Chi-

chester.

tester. - Fop., 118. ALDWARK, a township in Bradbourne parish, Derby;

ALDWARK, a township in Fractionine parisin, Deriver Northead Market New Market New Yorksworth. Acres, 935. Pop., 65. Houses, 18. ALDWARK, a township in Alne parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the river Ouse, 3§ niles W of Tollerton r. station, and 12 NW of York. Acres, 2,217. Real property,

£2,012. Pop., 155. Houses, 37.

ALDWARK, a hamlet in Ecclesfield parish, W. R.
Yorkshire; on the river Don, 2 miles NE of Rotherham. Aldwark Hall, in the vicinity, was once a seat of the Fitzwilliam family.

ALDWICK, a tything and a hundred on the coast of Sussex. The tything is in Pugham parish, a mile SW of Begnor; and has a post-office under Begnor. The hundred is in the rape of Chichester; and comprises Begnor, and parts of five parishes. Acres, 13,546. Pop. in 1851, 4,977.

ALDWINKLE-ALL-SAINTS, a parish in Thrapston district, Northampton; on the river Nen, at Thorpe r. station, 21 miles NNE of Thrapston. Post-town, Thrapston. Acres, together with Aldwinkle St. Peter, 2,450. Real property, £4,424. Pop. of Aldwinkle All-Saints, 264. Houses, 53. The property is divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £311.* Patron, the Rev. Dr. Roberts. The church shows beautiful features of decorated English, and has handless three Three checks he will be a three three. a hand some tower. Thorpe's school has £16 from endowment; and other charities have £35. The father of the poet Dryden was rector of Aldwinkle-All-Saints; and the poet was born in the parsonage.

ALDWINKLE-ST. PETER, a parish in Thrapston district, Northampton; on the river Nen, a mile W of Thorpe r. station, and 3 miles N by W of Thrapston. Post-town, Thrapston. Acres and property returned Post-town, Thrapston. Acres and property returned with Aldwinkle-All-Saints. Pop., 222. Houses, 46. The property is subdivided. A curious cruciform build-The property is subdivided. A curious cruciform building, called Liveden, stands here on the Nen, crected by In probability and richly decorated with sculpture. The living is a rectory in the dicese of Peterborough. Value, £230. Patron, Lord Lilford. The church is good. Thomas Fuller, the historian, was native.

ALDWORTH, or Allber, a parish in Wantage district, Berks; in a high hilly tract, near leknield-street, miles WSW of Goring r. station, and 4 E by S of East 3 miles wor or some lister. Post-town, Ashampstead under Reading. Acres, 1,960. Real property, £2,119. Pop., 275. Houses, 64. The manor belonged to the family of De la Beche, one of whom was tutor to the Black Prince; and a farm called Beach was the site of their baronial castle. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. £449. Patron, St. John's College, Cambridge. The church contains nine remarkable monuments of the De la Beches, two of them aitar-tombs, and all so interesting, that Queen Elizabeth made a journey on horseback to see them. A yew-tree, 27 feet in girth, is in the churchyard.

ALED (THE), a stream of North Wales. It rises at Llyn-Aled, in the SW of Denbigh; and runs 10 miles northward, past Dyffryn-Aled, to a confluence with the Elwy, 2 miles NE of Llanfair.

ALEMOUTH. See ALMMOUTH.

ALEN (THE). See ALWEN (THE).

ALESHAM. See AVISHAM and HAILSHAM.

ALESHAM. See AVISHAM and HAILSHAM.

ALESWORTH. See AILESWORTH.

ALETHORPE, an extra-parochial tract, in Walsingham district, Norfolk; 2 miles ENE of Fakenham.

Acres, 239. Fop., 6. House, 1.
ALEX'S TOE, a peak near Brown Willy, 5! miles SE of Camelford, Cornwall.

ALEXTON, a parish in Billesdon district, Leicester; on the river Eye, 3 miles W by N of Uppingham, and 6 NW of Medbourne Bridge r. station. Post-town, Up-NW of Medbourne Bridge r. station. Post-rown, Oppingham. Acres, 997; but only 76 arable. Real property, £1,797. Pop., 67. Houses, 15. The property is divided among a few. Alexton Hall, now a farmhouse, was till lately a seat of Lord Berners. The living is a rectory in the discose of Peterborough. Value, £140.*
Patron, Lord Berners. The church was restored in 1863.

ALFOLD, ALDFOLD, or AWFOLD, a parish in the district of Hambledon, and counties of Surrey and Sussex; on the Wey and Arundel canal, 6½ miles SE of Witley r. station, and 8 SSE of Godalming. It has a post-office under Horsham. Acres, 2,883. Real property, £1,870. Pop., 535. Houses, 90. Much of the surface is woodland; and little yields any grain but oats. Several and; and little yields any grain but oats. French refugees from the massacre on St. Bartholomew's French refugees from the massacre of State of Winchester. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. £205.* Patron, the Rev. L. W. Elliott. The c The church is Norman.

ALFORD, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Spilsby, Lincoln. The town stands on a rivulet, adjacent to the East Lincoln railway, 104 miles SSE of Louth, and 231 NNE of Boston; took its name from an old ford on the rivulet; gives the title of Viscount to Earl Brownlow; comprises three main streets and a market-place; is a seat of petty sessions, and a pollingplace; carries on browing, tanning, dyeing, rope-making, and other employments; and has a r. station with telegraph, a head post-office, two banking-offices, three chief inns, a police-station, a handsome recent corrections, a near mechanics' institute of 1854, with leaching, a near mechanics' institute of 1854, with leaching the control of the c ture-hall and library, an early English church, five dissenting chapels, a grammar-school with £354 a-year from endowment, and with a fellowship and three scholarships at Cambridge, an endowed school for girls, a mixed na-tional school, six alms-houses, some other charities, a weekly market on Taesday, and stock fairs on Whit-Tuesday and 8 Nov. — The parish comprises 1,410 acres. Real property, £7,593. Pop., 2,658. Honses, 592. The property is subdivided. There are a mineral spring and barrows. The living is a vicarage, united to the curacy of Rigsby, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £163. Patron, the Bishop of Lincoln.—The sub-district comprises nineteen parishes. Acres, 32,570. Pop., 7,804. Houses, 1,633.

Houses, 1,633.

ALFORD, a village and a parish in Wincanton district, Somerset. The village stands on the river Brue, near Castlecary r. station, 8 miles SE of Glastonbury. It has a post-office under Bath. A chalybeate spring in its neighbourhood was formerly much resorted to, but is now neglected. The parish comprises 722 acress. Real property, with Lovington and Wheathill, £3,793. Pop. 109. Houses, 21. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Hornblotton, in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £788.* Patron, the Rev. J. G. Thring. The church is early perpendicular of the time of Heory VI.; with very fine features of structure and cavring. very fine features of structure and carving.

ALFRED. See ASHFORD, Kent.

ALFRED'S CASTLE. See ASHDOWN PARK.
ALFRED'S TOWER, a monumental edifice in Stourhad Park, on the confines of Wilts and Somerset, 5 niles NNE of Wincanton. It stands on Kingsettle hill, 800 feet high, 3 miles WNW of Stourhead House, and commands an extensive view over the circumjacent counties. It is a triangular structure of red brick, 150 feet high, with turrets at the corners, and surmounted by a colossal statue of Alfred the Great. It was built by the proprietor of the park, Henry Hoare, Esq., to com-memorate the achievements of Alfred: and it bears an appropriate inscription. Alfred, on issuing from his reappropriate inscription. Allred, on issuing from his re-treat in the Isle of Athelney, fixed his standard here against the Danish invaders. Hence the name King-settle given to the hill. A huge mound, called Jacks Castle, occurs a mile S of the tower, and was long be-lieved to have been formed for beacon fires, but is now

heved to have been formed for beacen lines, but is now known to have been sepulchral. See STOURTON. ALFRETION, a small town, a parish, and a sub-dis-trict, in the district of Eelper, Derby. The town stands on the brow of a hill, about a mile from the new branch railway connecting the Erewash line with the main Midland, and 14 miles NNE of Derby. It is main Midland, and 14 miles NNE of Derby. It is said, but without good reason, to have got its name and origin from a residence of King Alfred. Its form is irregular and straggling; and many of its houses are old. The parish church is variously early, decorated, and later English; and was restored and enlarged in 1869. The town has a railway station, a head post-office, two banking-offices, and two chief inns; and is a nolling place. Stocking manufacture is carried on and polling place. Stocking manufacture is carried on; and pounng piace. stocking mamiracture is carried on; and potteries, stone-quarries, collieries, and iron-works are in the neighbourhood. A weekly market is held on Friday, and fairs on 26 Jan., Easter-Tuesday, 31 July, 8 Oct., and 22 Nov.—The parish contains also the villages of Greenhill-Lane and Birchwood, and the contains also the property of the property of the parish contains also the villages of Greenhill-Lane and Birchwood, the manor of Riddings-with-fronville, and the hamlers of Summercotes and Swanwick. Acres, 4,550. Real property, £27,414,—of which £7,472 are in mices, and £2,000 in iron-works. Pop., 11,549. Houses, 2,032. The property is divided among a few. The manor of Alfreton belonged to successively the De Alfretons, the Chaperionged to successively the De Alfretons, the Charvorths, the Babingtons, and the Zouches; and now belongs to W. P. Morewood, Esq. Roman relies have been found at Greenbill-Lane. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £150.* Patron, W. P. Morewool, Esq. The p. curracy of Swamwick, the vicarage of Provide, and the vicarage of Riddingships Swampers, benefits. with Summercotes, are separate benefices. The ancient parish church belonged to Beauchier abbyy. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists. An endowed school has £50 a-year, and other charities £145. The sub-district is coextensive with the parish.

ALFRICK, a township-chapelry in Suckley parish, Worcester; near the river Teme, 71 miles W of Worcester. It has a post-office under Worcester. Acres, 1,790. Pop., 474. Houses, 99. The living is a curacy annexed to the rectory of Suckley. Charities, £14.

ALFRISTON, a village and a parish in Eastbourne strict, Sussex. The village stands on the Cuckmere district, Sussex. The village stands on the Cuckmere river, 21 miles S of Berwick r. station, and S SE of Its name is a corruption of Alfred's Town; and Lewes. points to ancient entrenchments in the neighbourhood, formed by King Alfred. It has a post-office under Lewes; and it formerly had two fairs. The Star Inn Lewes; and it formerly had two fairs. In some numbers, a building about 360 years old, contains some curious sculptures. The parish comprises 2,425 acres. Real property, £2,617. Pop., 522. Houses, 113. The manor belonged anciently to Michelham priory. The property is subdivided. Two fine varieties of apples, one of them called the Alfriston apple, are grown. man coins and Anglo-Saxon scenttas have been found. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £135. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. church is chiefly decorated English, and has stone stalls and an ancient tomb. There is an Independent chapel.

ALGARKIRK, a parish in Boston district, Lincoln; on the Peterborough and Boston railway, near Fosdyke Wash, 63 miles S by W of Boston. It has a station, with Sutterton, on the railway. Post-town, Sutterton under Spalding. Acres, 6,050. Real property, £10,828. Pop., 772. Houses, 155. The property is subdivided. Much of the surface is fon. Algarkirk House is the set of the Par R Paridge. of the Rev. B. Beridge. The living is a rectory, united with Fostyke, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £1,310.* Patron, the Rev. B. Beridge. The church is cruciform, with a low central tower; shows successive characters from traces of Norman to later English; has a beautiful new reados; and contains sedila and an octagonal font. A pillar in the churchyard is said to mark the grave of Algar, Earl of Morcia, who fell in battle against the Dunes at Threkingham, in 870. Hence the name Algarkirk. Charities £24, and a share in Fosdyke hospital

ALHAMPTON, a tything in Ditcheat parish, Somer-set; near the river Brue, 3 miles NNW of Castlecary. Pop. 236.

ALICANA See likley.

ALICE HOLT FOREST, a royal forest on the E border of Hants; near the Alton railway, between Binstead and farnham. It measures about 2 miles by 2. It was formerly stocked with fallow deer, and kept thickly wooded; and it still contains many stately trees. Much rude ancient pottery has been found in it, and is supposed to have been manufactured on the spot by the aboriginal Britons ALKBOROUGH, or AUKEOROUGH, a parish in Glan-forl Brigg district, Lincoln; at the mouth of the river Trent, 5 miles S of Brough r. station, and 101 W of Purton-upon-llumber. It has a post-office under Brigg; and contains the hamlet of Walcot. Acres, 2,875; of which 335 are water. Real property, £3,394. Pop., 497. Houses, 99. The property is divided between two. A high ground, with clift, overhanging the Trent, commands a brilliant view of the basins of the Trent, the Ouse, and the Humber, and forms a strong, natural, military post for overawing great part of the coast of England. A Roman camp occurs here, of square outline, 300 feet each side, with vallum and ditch nearly entire; and now bears the name of Countess Close, from a tradition that it was inhabited by a Countess of Warwick. Alkhorough is thought to have been the Roman Arms. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Whitton, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £200. Fatrons, the Bishop of Lincoln and the Rev. C. Constable. The church is ancient. There are two Method-states. The church is ancient. There are two Arcthodist charges and a large alms-house.

ALKERTON, a tything in Eastington parish, Goucester; 4 miles W of Strond. Pop., 1,005. Houses, 225. Hereans a Baptist chapel and a M-thodist chapel. ALKERTON, or AWKERINGTON, a parish in Banbury district, Oxford; on the verge of the county, & miles WNW of Banbury r. station. Post-town, Shennington under Banbury. Acres, 650. Real property, £1,316. Pop.,

194. Houses, 49. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £153. Patron, the Rev. R. E. Hughes. The courch contains, in its external courses, some curious figures of contains, in its external courses, some curious rightes of acolytes censing; and is in tolerable condition. The learned but unfortunate mathematician, Thomas Lydiat, who lived in 1572-1646, was a native of the parish, and for some time its rector.

> " If dreams yet flatter, once again attend, Hear Lydiat's life, and Galileo's end.

ALKHAM, a parish in Dover district, Kent; 3 miles SW of Ewell r. station, and 4 W of Dover. Post-town, Acres, 3,200. Real property, Houses, 102. The property is Ewell under Dover. Pop., 520. £3.567. much subdivided. A nailbourne here breaks out occa-sionally with such "store of water as would carry a ves-sel of considerable burden." The living is a vicurage, united with the vicarage of Capel-le-Ferne, in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £152. Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church is partly Norman, partly early English, and in very good condition. Reindein House, contiguous to Alkham, is extra-parochial.

ALKINGTON, a tything in Berkeley parish, Gloucester; adjacent to the town of Berkeley. Pop., 1,010.

Houses, 221.

ALKINGTON, a township in Whitchurch parish, Salop; 1 mile SSW of the town of Whitchurch. Pop., 135.

ALKMERE. See BETTON.
ALKMONTON, a township and a chapelry in Longford parish, Derby. The township lies 5 miles NNE of Sudbury 1. station, and 6.8 by E of Ashborne. Post-town, Longford under Derby. Pop., 82. Houses, 15. A chapel and an hospital were founded here, in 1474, by Lord Mountjoy; but are now extinct. The present chapelry was constituted in 1849, and is more extensive than the township. Pop., 164. Houses, 27. The liv-ing is a vicatage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £50.* Patron, W. Evans, Esq. The church is ALF MUNDBURY. See ALCONBURY. The church is very good.

ALKRINGTON, a township in Prestwick-cum-Old-ham parish, Lancashire; I mile W of Middleton Junc-tion r. station, and 4½ N by E of Manchester. Acres, 788. Real property, 21,957. Pop., 423. Houses, 77. The inhabitants are employed chiefly in the neighbour ing cotton factories. Alkrington Hall is the seat of the Lever family, and is noted for Sir Aston Lever's collecting a museum at it, which was sold in London.

ALLALEIGH, a hamlet in Cornworthy parish, Devon; 41 miles SE of Totnes. Pop., 93.

ALLAN-BANK. See GRASMERE.. ALLARTHORPE. See ALLERTHORPE.

ALLARTHORRE. See ARRATHORNE.
ALLACHORNE. See ARRATHORNE.
ALCANNINGS, a tything and a parish in Devices district, Wilts. The tything lies on the Avon canal, 2 miles S of Wans Dyks, 4 miles E by N of Devizes r.
station; and has a post-office under Devizes. Pop., 602. Houses, 138. The parish contains also the tythings of Allington, Etchilhampton, and Fallaway. Acres, 5,483. Real property, £8,647. Pop., 1,013. Houses, 230. Real property, £8,647. Pop., 1,013. Houses, 230. The manor-house is a building of the 14th century, now used as a farm-house. The living is a rectory, and was used as a farm-nouse. The fiving is a recory, and was formerly a prehend, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £1,100.* Patron, Lord Ashburton. The church was partly built in the 17th century. Charities, £19. ALLDER. See Aldworth.

ALLEN (The), a stream of Cornwall, which runs 6 miles southward to the Fal at Truro. Also a stream of Dorset, which runs 9 miles southward to the Stour in the vicinity of Wimborne-Minster. Also a stream of Flint, which runs a short distance underground near Mold, and falls into the Dee below Caergwrle. Also a stream of Northumberland, which rises, in two head-streams E and W, on the confines of Durham and Cumberland, and runs 14 miles northward to the South Tyne, 3 miles above Haydon-Bridge. ALLEN (Sr.), a parish in Truro district, Cornwall; on the Allen rivulet, 4½ miles N by W of Truro r. station. Post-town, Truro. Acres, 3,501. Real property.

£2,735. Pop., 687. Houses, 133. The property is divided among a few. Many of the inhabitants are miners. An old edifice, now a farm-house, was the seat of the Bevills. An ancient camp, with triple ditch, occurs at Gwarnike. The living is a rectory in the dioese of Exeter. Value, £174.* Patron, the Bishop of ess of Exeter. Value, £174. Patron, the Bishop of Exeter. The church is good.

ALLENDALE, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Hexham, Northumberland. The ALLENDAL, a sman town, a parish, and a sour-rict in the district of Hexham, Northumberland. The town stands on the Allen rivulet, and on the Allendale railway, 9 miles SW of Hexham. It has a post-officet under Carlisle; and is a polling place. A weekly market is beld on Friday; and fairs on the Friday after 12 May, and 29 Oct., and 22 Ang.—The parish is cut into eight divisions (some of them called prieveships), Allendale town, Cattou, Keenty, Broadside, High Forest, Low Forest, Park, and West Allen; and it contains the townships or villages of West Allendale, Catton, Keenty, Broadside-with-Forest, and Allenheads. Acres, 37,267. Real property, 264,716.—of which 27,373 are in mines. Pop., 6,401. Houses, 1,155. Much of the surface is moorish, bleak, hilly, and mountainous. The property is much subdivided. Lead mines are worked to the extent of about 2,500 tons of metal in the year; and there are several smelting-houses, with very extensive there are several smelting-houses, with very extensive thes. Coal also is worked; and some silver and rock crystal are found. Allenheads, at the sources of the Allen, 7 miles S of the town of Allendale, is in the neighbourhood of the lead mines, and has a post-office of neighbourhood of the lead mines, and has a post-office of its own name under Carlisle. An ancient camp occurs at Old Town. The living of Allendale is a rectory in the diocese of Durham. Value, £250.* Patron. W. B. Peaumont, Esq. The church was built in 1807. The p. curacies of St. Peter, Ninebanks, and West Allen are separate benefices. Values, £120, £150, * and £100. Patron of all, W. B. Beaumont, Esq. There are Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist chapels and a free grammar-school. The Allendale railway was authorized in 1855; oins the Newcastle and Carlisle page 142-braw. wee joins the Newcastle and Carlisle near Hexham; was opened to Langley in 1867,-to Catton-road in 1868; and was to be prolonged to Allenheads. -The sub-district of Allendale comprises Allendale parish and Haydon chap-elry. Acres, 50,955. Pop., 8,622. Houses, 1,589. ALLENFORD. See TOYD FARM. ALLENHEADS. See ALEXDALE.

ALLENHEADS. See ALLENDALE.
ALLENSMORE, a parish in the district and county of Hereford; near Train-lin r. station, 4 miles SW of Hereford. It has a post-office under Hereford. Acres, 2.007. Real property, £3,061. Pop., 612. Houses, 156. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, not reported. Patron, the Bishop of Hereford. The church is in disrepair. There are Wesleyan Methodist and Primitive Methodist chapels. Charities, £15.

ALLENTON, or ALWINTON, a township and a parish Bothbury district. Northumberland. The township in Rothbury district, Northumberland. The township lies on the Coquet river, at the influx of the rivulet Allen lies on the Coquet river, at the influx of the rivulet Allen or Alwin, 13 miles NNW of Scots Gap r. station, and 19 WSW of Alnwick. Acres, 1,550. Pop., 87. Houses, 13. There were formerly two annual fairs. The parish contains also the townships of Farnham, Sharperton, Peals, Clennel, Burrowden, Biddlestone, Liubridge, Fairhaugh, Netherton-North-Side, and Netherton-South-Side. Tost-town, Harbottle, under Morpeth. Acres, 31,940. Real property, £16,869. Pop., 899. Houses, 167. The property, together with that of Holystone, is held chiefly by two proprietors. Much of the surface is moor and hill, rising toward the Central Cheviots. The living is a vicarage, united to the p. curacy of Holystone, living is a vicarage, united to the p. curacy of Holystone, in the diocese of Durham. Value, £160.* Patron, the Duke of Northumberland. The church is early English and cruefform, and was restored in 1853. Charities, £2S.

ALLEN (WEST). See ALLENDALE.
ALLER, a hamlet in Hilton parish, Dorset; on an afluent of the Trent, 81 miles WSW of Blandford.

Pop., 91.

ALLER, a village and a parish in Langport district, Somerset. The village stands near the river Parret and the Durston and Yeovil railway, 21 miles N of Langport; and has a post-office under Taunton. This is said to be the place where Guthrum and his Danes were baptized after their defeat by Alfred at Edington. The captized after their defeat by Alfred at Edington. The parish includes also the tything of Cath. Acres, 3,651. Real property, £6,454. Pop., 518. Honses, 115. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £623.* Patron, Emmanuel College, Cambridge. The church was restored in 1861. There are on University above. in 1861. There are an Independent chapel, a national school, and charities £9. Dr. Ralph Cudworth, the author of the Universe," was a native; and his father was rector. A detachment of Goring's army was defeated, in 1645, on Aller Moor.

ALLERBY. See OUGHTERSIDE.
ALLERDALE, two wards in Cumberland. The one is called Allerdale-above-Derwent; the other Allerdalebelow-Derwent. The former contains Cockermouth and Ravenglass, and is bounded mainly by Bassenthwaite Derwent water, Lancashire, and the Irish sea: while the latter contains Maryport and Allerby, and extends conterminously with the former from the Irish sca tends conterminously with the former from the Irish sea to the E. Acres in A.-above D., 207,579. Pop. in 1851, 48,163; in 1861, 65,046. Houses, 12,988. Acres in A.-below-D., 155,080. Pop. in 1851, 21,730; in 1861, 34,841. Houses, 7,208. ALLERFORD, a tything in Selworthy parish, Somer-set; 4‡ miles W of Minehead. It has a post-office under Taunton. Pop., 181.

ALLERSTON, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Pickering, N. R. Yorkshire. The parish lics near the river Derwent, 31 miles ENE of Marishes-Road near the river Derwent, 37 miles ENE of Marishes-Koad r, station, and 4 E by S of Pickering. Post-town, Ebberston under York. Acres, 10,012. Real property, £4,101. Pop., 413. Houses, 82. The property is divided. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Ebherston, in the diocese of York. The sub-district comprises four parishes. Acres, 22,018. I'op., 2,526.

comprises four parishes. Acres, 22,018. Pop., 2,526. Houses, 535.

ALLERTHORPE, a township and a parish in Pocklington district, E. R. Yorkshire. The township lies near the Pocklington canal and the Market-Weighton railway, 2 miles SW of Pocklington. Acres. 1,565. Real property, £1,949. Pop., 147. Houses, 26. Part of the area is common. The parish includes also the township of Waplington. Post-town, Pocklington under York. Acres, 2,355. Real property, £2,125. Pop., 205. Houses, 43. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Thornton, in the diocese of York. Charities, £19 and two houses.

ALLERTHORPE, W. R. Yorkshire. See Alventhorpe.

THORPE.

ALLERTHORPE, N. R. Yorkshire. Sce SWAINBY ALLERTON, a township, with a r. station, in Childwall parish, Lancashire; 41 miles SE of Liverpool. Acres, 1,531. Real property, £8,361. Pop., 559. Houses, 94. Here are Allerton Hall, Allerton Priory, the famous Allerton oak, and the ancient monument of Calder-stone, supposed to be Druidical. Allerton Hall was at one time the scat of Mr. Roscoe, author of the "Life of Lorenzo de Medici."

ALLERTON, a township in Bradford parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 3) miles WNW of Bradford. It has a post-office under Bradford; and it includes the villages of Allerton-Lancs, Fairweather, Green, Upper Green, Lee, Moor-House-Moor, Pikely, Harrop-Edge, and Crosky-Hall. Acres, 1,970. Real property, with Wilsden, £14,536,—of which £1,206 are in quarries, and £762 in mines. Pop., 2,014. Houses, 433. Most of the inhabitants are employed in mannfactories and collieries. A chapelry for Wilsden-with Allerton was constituted in 1838.

in 1828; and there are three dissenting chapels.

ALLERTON, a railway station in W. R. Yorkshire; on the Knaresborough railway, 44 miles EXE of Knaresborough. See ALLERTON-MAULEVERER.

ALLERTON-BYWATER, achapelry in Kippax parish,
W. R. Yorkshire; on the Aire navigation, 5 miles NNW of Pontefract. Acres, 870. Real property, £5,271,—of which £3,000 are in mines. Pop., 704. The living is a vicarage. The church was built in 1866. ALLEPTON-CHAPEL, a parish in Axbridge district, Somerset; 4 miles N of the Glastonbury railway, and 3 SSW of Axbridge. It has a post-office under Weston-SSW of Axbridge. It has a post-ome under wester-super-Mare; and contains the hamlets of Arston and Stone-Allerton. Ares, 1,169. Real property, with Churchiand and Upper Weare, £13,268. Pop., 292. Houses, 55. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Walue, 2223. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Wells. The church was restored in 1860.

ALLERTON CHAPEL, or Chapel-Allerton, a chapelry in Leeds parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2½ miles N of Leels. It has a post-office of the name of Chapel-Allerron, under Leels; and it contains the hamlets of Moor-Allerton, Mean-wood, and Allerton-Gledhew. Acres, 2,747. Real property, £13,254. Pop. 3,083. Moor-Allerton, Jean-wood, and Allerton-General Acres, 2.147. Real property, £13,254. Pop. 3,083. Houses, 652. The property is much subdivided; and taere are many handsome residences. The living is a vic-arage in the diocese of Ripoa. Value, £361.* Patron, the vicar of Leeds. The church is in the Corinthian syle. There are a Wesleyan chaple and public schools. ALLERTON-GAULEVERER, a township and a parish in Knaresborough district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township includes Hopperton; and lies on an affluent of the Nidl. at the Allerton r. station, 41 nailse ENE of the Nill, at the Allerton r. station, 41 miles ENE of Knaresborough. Pop., 261. Houses, 52. The parish Americationing. 10p., 201. Rouses, 92. Into partial includes also the township of Clareton. Post-town, Whichey under York. Acres, 2,300. Real property, 23,639. Pop., 233. Houses, 55. The property is all in one estate. It belonged anciently to the family of to one estate. It belonged anciently to the failing Manlewerer; passed to Lord Galloway; and was sold, since 1755, to successively the Duke of York, Colonel Thornton, and Lord Stourton. The mansion on it, the seat of Lord Stourton, is a superh structure, and was called same time Thornville-Royal, but now Allerton-Mauleverer House. Clare hill, on the estate, is a remarkable eminence. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £63. Patron, Lord Stourton. The church is tolerable. The Reman Catholics have a priory was founded here in the time of Henry II., and given by Henry VI. to King's College Country II.

pri'sy was founded here in the time of Henry II., and given by Henry VI. to King's College, Cambridge.

ALLERTON (North). See Northallerton.

ALLERTON SHIRE, a wapentake in N. R. Yorkshire. It contains Northallerton parish, seven other parishes, and paris of five others; and is bounded on the N by the fiver Tees. Ares, 43,336. Pop. in 1851, 9,201; in 1831, 9,003. Houses, 2,957.

ALLESLEY, a parish in Meriden district, Warwick; practic Northerstein pulsary 2 miles NW of Caventry.

near the Northwestern railway, 2 miles NW of Coventry. That a post-office under Coventry. Acres, 4,225. Real property, 20,070. Pop., 974. Houses, 207. The property is much subdivided. The namor belongs to E. V. Nede, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, 2744. Patron, the Rev. W. T. Bree. The church was restored and enlarged in 1864. There are no not belong the state of the property of the control of the c are an educational establishment called Allesley Park Cellege, an endowed school for hoys, a subscription school for guls, and charities £60.

ALLESLEY-GATE, a station on the Coventry and

Nun-at a railway, 31 miles N by E of Coventry

Nun-at or railway, 35 miles N by E of Coventry.
ALLESTREE, a parish in Belper district, Derby; near Derwint river and the Midland railway, 2 miles N of Derby. Post-town, Derby. Acres, 990. Real property, £20,65. Pop., 529. Houses, 106. The property is divided among a few. The chief residences are Allestres Hall and Marketton. The living is a vicarage in the Hall and Mackeston. The living is a vicarage in the discusse of Lichfield. Value, £54. Patron, not reported. The church is amount, contains tombs of the Mundys, and is very good. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities 202.

ALLENTON. See ALEXTON.

ALLEXFON. See ALLEYON.
ALHALLOWS, a parisk in Wigton district, Cumberland; on the river fillen, 2 miles SE of Brayton r station, and 7 SW of Wigton. Post-town, Aspatria under Ron, and 7 Sw of Wigon. Post-town, asparia under Carlisle. Aprils, 1, 50. Real property, 22,195. Pop., 274. Houses, 47. The property includes the maners of Faggrey, Harby-Brow, Unikmanby, and Whithall. Cod.

lime, and freestone are worked. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £90. Patron, the Bishop of Carlisle. The church is good.
ALLHALLOWS, or Hoo-ALLHALLOWS, a parish in Hoo district, Kent; on the Thames, $\frac{1}{2}\text{ will see New York of the Thamps of the Strood r. station. Post-town, Hoo under Rochester. Strood r. station. Post-town, Hoo under Rochester. Acres. 5,165; of which 2,705 are water. Real property, £3,639. Pop., 236. Houses, 45. The property is divided among a few. The coast-guard station of Yauthet Creek is on the shore. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £247. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Rochester. The cluruch is very good. ALLHALLOWS, Berks. See Wallingford. ALLHALLOWS, Devon. See Exeter. ALLHALLOWS, Middleser. See London. ALLHALLOWS, Middleser. See London.

ALLINGHAM. See THORNHAM.

ALLINGTON, a township in Gresford parish, Denbigh; 31 miles N of Wrexham. Acres, 3,529. Pop., $89.

Houses, 180. A LLINGTON, a parish in Bridgort district, Dorset; on the river Brit, and on the Roman road from Old Sarum to Silchester, adjacent to the Bridgort railway, ½ a mile N to Successer, adjacent to the Bradport rankay, 4 a nule 5 of Bridport. Post-town, Bridport. Acres, 504. Real property, £5,511. Pop., 1,915. Houses, 376. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £103.* Patron, the Rev. H. Fox. The church is good. There was formerly a lepers' hospital, founded in 1553. A fair is held on the first Washeder in August 15 of the property of the propert rirst Wednesday in Aug.
ALLINGTON, a tything in South Stoneham parish,

Hants; near the river Itching, and the Southwesteru railway, 5½ miles NE of Southampton. Pop., 475. Houses, 107.

ALLINGTON, a parish in Malling district, Kent; on the river Medway and the Maidstone railway, 14 mile NNW of Maidstone. Post-town, Maidstone. Acres, 612. Real property, £1,495. Pop., 66. Houses, 10. The manor was granted, at the Conquest, to William de Warrene; passed to the family of Allington, to Sir Stephen de Penchester, to the Cobhans, the Brents, and the Wyatts; was the birthplace of Sir Thomas Wyatt the poet, and of his son Sir Thomas, who hended the insurpoet, and of in 3 so of M roomas, the headed the riser-rection against Queen Mary; was given, at the confisca-tion of manors, to Sir John Astley; and passed, in 1720, to the Earl of Romney. A castle was built on it by Warrene, rebuilt by Penchester, extended by the Wyatts, and abandoned to ruin by Astley. Considerable part of the structure still stands, and presents interesting features. The exterior is a long parallelogram, with projecting circular towers; and the interior is divided by a getting trienar lowers; and the interior is divided by a range of low building, with archays, into two distinct courts. A wide moat, fed from the Medway, nearly en-circles the pile; and a farm house, of picturesque charac-ter, built out of fallen parts of the castle, stands adjacent. Gentle hills, mostly covered with wood, rise in the vicentry; and irregular monods, which probably were ornamental features in the once-noble park, lie between the castle and the river. Wyatt, the poet, describing his life here, says,

" This maketh me at home to hunt and hawk; And in foul weather at my book to sit: In frost and snow then with my bow to stalk;
No man doth mark whereto I ride or go,
In lusty leas at liberty I walk;
And of these news, I feel nor weal nor wee."

The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £145.* Patron, the Earl of Romney. The church is decorated English, in very good condition.

Value, 2149. Fatton, the Latt of Romany.

ALLINGTON, a tything in Alleannings parish, Wilts; near the Kennet and Avon canal, 4 miles ENE of Devizes. Real property, £1,433. Pop., 159. Houses, 34.
ALLINGTON, a tything in Chippenham parish, Wilts;
2} miles NW of Chippenham. Real property, £1,743.

Pop., 120.

ALLINGTON, a parish in Amesbury district, Wilts; on an affluent of the river Avon, and on the Roman road from Old Samun to Silchester, 21 miles NE of Porton r. station, and 37 ESE of Amesbury. Post-town, Salisbury.

Acres, 936. Real property, with Cholderton and Newton-Toney, £4,637. Pop., 93. Houses, 20. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £270. Patron, the Earl of Craven. The church is very good. ALLINGTON (£asr), a parish in Kingsbridge district, Devon; 42 miles NW of Start bay, and 8 SSW of Totnes r. station. Post-town, Blackawton under trict, Devon; 4; miles NW of Starr Day, and 6 SSW of Totnes r. station. Post-town, Blackawton under Totnes. Acres, 3,646. Real property, with Blackawton, £11,644. Pop., 521. Houses, 111. The property is divided among a few. The parish is a meet for the Slapton harriers. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £510.* Patron, W. B. Fortescue, Esq. The church has a screen, contains monuments of the Fortescue family, and is good.

ALLINGTON (EAST and WEST), two parishes in the ALLINGTON (PAST and WEST), two partshes in the district of Newark and county of Lincoln; 2½ miles N of Sedgebrook r. station, and 4 NW of Grantham. They have a post-office, of the name of Allington, under Grantham. Acres in both, 2,070. Real property, £3,535, Pop. of E. A., 275. Houses, 64. Pop. of W. A., 135. Houses, 27. The property is not much divided. Allients United the State of the Stat lington House is an edifice in the Tudor style. The livings are in the diocese of Lincoln; and that of E. A. is a curacy annexed to the rectory of Sedgebrook; while that of W. A. is a rectory, of the value of £262, in the patronage of the Lord Chancellor. The church is very good; and there are charities £17.

ALLINGTON, or AUVINGTON (EAST), a hamlet in Chivelstone parish, Devon; 5] miles SE of Kingsbridge, ALLINGTON, or ALVINGTON (WEST), a parish and a sub-district in the district of Kingsbridge, Devon. The saddistrict in the district of kingsoriage, Devon. In parish lies on the Marlborough creek, I mile SW of Kingsbridge, and 9\forall Sof Kingsbridge-Road r. station. It has a post-office, of the name of West Allvington, under Kingsbridge; and it contains the hamlets of Woolstone, Easton, Sorley, and Bawcombe, and part of the hamlet of Marlborough. Acres, 4.110; of which 270 are water. Real property, with Thurlestone and South Milton, £13,111.
Pop., 925. Houses, 199. The property is much subdivided. Allington manor belonged anciently to the Eastards. Garston gardens were famous for producing, on wall-trees, oranges and lemons of as fine a quality as any in Portugal. The right to a weekly market was granted to West Allington in 1270, but went into disuse. The living is a vicarage, united with the curacies of Malborough, South Huish, and South Milton, in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £888. Patrons, the Dean and Chapof Exeter. Value, ESSS. Fatrons, the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury. The church has a screen, contains tombs of the Bastards, and is very good. The vicarage of Salcombe is a separate benefice. Charities, 29.—The subdistrict comprises six parishes. Acres, 15,901. Pop., 4,835. Honses, 999.

ALLITHWAITE, two townships and a chapter in the contained of the contained

ALLITHWAITE, two townships and a chapetry in Cartmel parish, Lancashire. The townships are Lower and Upper, and lie near Cark r. station. Acres, 2,360 and 3,710. Real property, £5,142 and £3,123. Pop., 933 and 729. Houses, 190 and 162. The chapelry was formed in 1865. Pop., 480. The living is a p. cnracy. Value, £150.* Patron, the Bishop of Carlisle. ALLONBY, a scaport village, a chapelry, and a township. in Bromfield parish. Cumberland. The village ship is promified parish. Cumberland.

ship, in Bronfield parish, Cumberland. The village stands on a wide open bay of its own name opposite Rigg light-tressel, 2½ miles N of Bull Gill r. station, and 6 NNE of Maryport. It has a post-office under Maryport; and it carries on a fishing trade, and is a summer resort for sea-bathing. It was the birthplace of the distinfor sea-nathing. It was the birthpiace of the distinguished hydrographer, Huddart, who died in 1816. The chapelry includes the village. Pop. in 1851, 749. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £94.* Patron, the Vicar of Bromfield. There are a Quaker's meeting-house and a slightly endowed school.—
The township includes West Newton, and bears the name of West Newton and Allonby. Acres, 1,794; of which 573 are water. Real property, £5,627,—of which £2,423 are in West Newton. Pop., 1,002. Houses, 25.23 ALLOSTOCK, a township in Great Budworth parish.

Cheshire; on an afflient of the river Weaver, 5 miles 8 by W of Knutsford. Acres, 2,924. Real property, £4.739. Pop., 536. Houses, 100.

ALLOW (THE), a stream of Durham, running 6 miles northward to the Tyne, in the vicinity of Swalwell. Also a stream of Anglescy, running 9 miles south-westward to a stream of Angiescy, funning a mine south-west.
Holyhead bay, in the vicinity of Pen-y-gored.
ALLOWENSHAY, a hamlet in Kingston
Somerset; 2 miles NNW of Ilchester. Pop., 219

ALL SAINTS. See Bristol, Camerioge, Canter-Bury, Chichester, Colchester, Derey, Dorchester, FORT, ORIGINAL MASTING, HEREFORD, HERTFORD, HENT-INGDON, KING'S LYNN, LEICESTER, LEWES, LONDON, MALDON, NEWGASTLE-FOON-TYNE, NORTHAMPTON, NORWIGH, NORWOOD, OXFORD, SOTTHAMPTON, STAM-FORD, SUDBURY, WORCESTER, and YORK.

ALLSCOT, a township in Worfield parish, Salop; near ALLSCOI, a township in Worfield parish, Salop; near the Severn, 2 miles NNE of Bridgmotth. ALLSCOTT, a township in Wrockwardine parish, Salop; on the river Tern, 31 miles WNW of Wellington. Pop., 94. ALLSOP-LE-DALE. See ALSOP-LE-DALE. ALLSTONEFIELD, or ALLSTONFIELD, a village, a township, and a parish on the NE border of Staffordshire, contiguous to Derbyshire. The village stands on the river Dove, 8 miles NNW of Ashborne r. station; and has a post-office under Ashborne. The township contains also the hamlet of Stanshope and a work-house; and is in the district of Ashborne. Acres, 2,700. Real and is in the district of Ashdorme. Acres, 2,700. Real property, £4,438. Pop., 651. Houses, 140. The parish contains also the townships of Heathylee, Quarnford. risa contains also the townships of Heathytee, Quarnford, Hollinsclough, Longnor, Fairfieldhead, Warslow, and Elkstone, in the district of Leek. Acres, 21,860. Real property, £19,824. Pop., £,117. Houses, 917. Thapproperty is divided among a few. Coal, lead ore, and copper are worked. Isaac Walton indulged his angling propensities here, with his friend Cetton of Beresford Hall. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £300.* Patron, Sir John Crewe, Bart. held. vame, 2000. Tation, on the church is a beautiful structure in early English style, with a pinnacled tower. The p. curacies of Quaruford, with a pinnacled tower. The p. curacies of Quarnford, Longnor, Warslow, and Elkstone are separate benefices. Charities, £54.

Charities, £54.

ALL-STRETTON, a township in Church-Stretton parish, Salop; 1½ mile N of Church-Stretton.

ALLT, a township in Eerriew parish, Montgomeryshire; 3 miles NW of Montgomery, Pop., 17.

ALLTGREIG, a hamlet in Llanguick parish, Glamorgan; 5½ miles NW of Neath. Pop., 1.078.

ALLTGYMBYD, a township in Llanarmon parish,
Denbigh; 10 miles WNW of Wrexham. Pop., 16.

ALLTGYMBYD, a township in Llanarmon parish,
Denbigh; 10 miles WNW of Wrexham. Pop., 16.

Dennigh; 10 miles WAW of Wrexham. Pop., 16.
ALLTMAWR, a parish in Builth district, Brecon: on the river Wye, 3½ miles SSE of Builth, and 6½ SE of the Central Wales railway. Post-town, Builth. Acres, 490.
Real property, 2272. Pop., 45. Houses, 6. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £45.

18 a vicarage in the enocese of St. David S. Patier, E. A. Patron, the Vicar of Llanavan-Vawr.

ALLTON. See IDERIDGEHAY.

ALLTYGAR, a hamlet in Llangathen parish, Carmarthen; 31 miles W of Llandeilofawr.

ALLWESTON, a hamlet in Folke parish, Dorset; 2 miles SE of Sherborne.

ALLWINTON. See ALLENTON.

ALMELEY, or ALMERLEY, a parish in Weobly district, Hereford; on Kington railway, 44 miles SE of Kington. It includes the township of Hopley's Green Aingron. It includes the township of roping's oreen and Logarston. Post-form, Weohley. Acres, 3,352. Real property, £3,922. Pop., 637. Houses, 140. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £254.* Patron, the Bishop of Worcester. The church is ancient, had once a chantry, and was recently restored.

ALMER, a parish in Blandford district, Derset; on an ALMER, a parish in Blandford district. Dorset; on an affluent of the Stour, 3½ miles S by W of Spettisbury r. station, and 7 W by S of Wimborne-Minster. It contains the hamlet of Mapperton. Post-town, Shapwich under Blandford. Acres, 1,161. Real property, £2,686. Pop. 155. Houses, 34. The manor belongs to T. S. Porax, Esq. of Charborough and much of the surface is included in Charborough Park. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £234.* Patron, Miss Dray.

Miss Drax.

ALMER-COMBE, a tything in Sturminster-Marshall parish, Dorset; on the river Stour, 4 miles W of Wim-ALMERLEY

See ALMELEY.

ALMES CLIFF, a grittone crag 5 miles SW of Har-lowgate, W. R. Yorkshire. It crowns a hill 716 feet high, and commands a brilliant, extensive, panoramic view. Numerous hollows are on its summit, whether formed naturally or artificially is doubtful; and a fissure, of great length, called the Fairy Parlour, is on its west side. Another crag, called Little Almes Cliff, 121 feet higher than this, is about 3 miles to the NW.

ALMHOLME, a hamlet in Bentley parish, W. R. Yorkshire; near the river Don, 31 miles NNE of Don-

ALMINGTON, a township in Drayton parish, Stafford; on the river Tern, 1 mile E of Market-Drayton.

ca the nver Tern, I mile E of Market-Drayton.

ALMINGTON AND STONY-DELPH, a township in Tanworth parish, Warwick; on the river Anker, near the Coventry canal and the Midland Counties railway, 2 miles NE of Tanworth. Pop., 449. Houses, 85. Almington Hall was formerly the seat of the Clintons, and is now the seat of the Repingtons.

ALMODINGTON, a tything in the parishes of Earnley and Siddleham, Sussex; near Pagham harbour, 41 miles SSW of Chichester. It was formerly a parish; and it contains the ruins of a church.

ALMONDBURY, a town, a township, a sub-district, and a parish in the district of Huddersfield, W. R. Yorkshire. The town stands near the Colne river and the Sheffield railway, 2 miles SE of Huddersfield. It has a post-office under Huddersfield, and a fair on Easter-Monday. It was anciently called Albanbury. It is sup-posed by some antiquaries to have been the Campodunum of the Romans; and it seems certainly to have been a seat of the Kings of Northumbria. An ancient castle crowned an eminence at it, strongly fortified by double wall and trenches, and interiorly disposed in outer and inner courts; and a few traces of this still exist, in an inner courts; and a lew traces of this stul exist, in an almost virified state, proving it to have been destroyed by fire. The township includes also the hamlets of Cotlinil, Fennybridge, Castlehillside, Oaks, Newsome, and Thorpe. Acres, 2,585. Real property, E22,943. Pop., 10,321. Houses, 2,225.—The sub-district comprises the townships of Almondbury and Faralley-Tras. Acres, 4,203. Fop., 11,063. Houses, 2,376. The prises the townships of Almondoury and Farmley-1 yas. Acres, 4,293. Fop., 11,063. Houses, 2,376. The parish, in addition to this sub-district, comprises the sub-districts of Lockwood, Meltham, and Houley, and part of the sub-districts of Slaithwaite and Holmfirth. Acres, 28,092. Rated property, exclusive of the chapel-like of Newton Thomas, Amittage Raides, and Holms. Acres, 28,002. Rated property, exclusive of the chapeties of Nether-Thong, Armitage-Pridge, and Helme, 2175,443. Pop. in 1841, 37,315; in 1861, 42,889. Houses, 8,884. The property in many parts is much sub-livided. A large proportion of the inhabitants are employed in cotton and woollen factories. The living is a vicanze in cotton and woomen actories. The living is a vicanze in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £571. Fatron, Sir J. W. Ramsden, Bart. The church is in the perpendicular English style. The chapelries of Honley, Mchaan, Marsten, Linthwaite, Lockwood, Crossland, Nether-Tnong, Upper-Thong, Holme-Bridge, Farnley-Tras, Mcitham-Mills, Milns-Bridge, Armitage-Bridge, Rasheliff, Wilshaw, and Helme, are all within the particular distributions change for Independent rich; and there are various chapels for Independents, Baptists, and Methodists. A free grammar school was founded in the time of James 1., and has £75 a-year from endowment; and other charities have £348.

ALMONDINGTON. See ALMODINGTON.

ALMONDSBURY, a village, a parish, and a sub-district an the district of Thornbury, Gloucester. The village stands near the rivulet Boyd, at the foot of a ridge of limestone rocks, 17 mile from the Bristol and South Wales railway, 8 miles of Bristol; and has a post-office under Bristol. It is said to have derived its name from Alemond, King Egbert's father, who was buried in the church, and from a fortification in the neighbourhood. The heights above it, and the grounds of Knole House, adjacent on the SW, command a very noble and extensive view, embracing the estuary of the Severn and the hills of Monmouth and Wales.—The parish includes the tythings of Almondsbury, Lea, Over, Gaunts-Earthcote, Lower Tockington, and Hempton and Patchway. Acres, 6,927. Real property, £15,078. Pop., 1,864. Houses, 394. The property is much subdivided. Some lands belonged anciently to the priory of St. Augustine in Bristol. living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £915. Patron, the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. The church is cruciform and early English, with tower and spire at the intersection. There are lish, with tower and spire at the intersection. There are a neat little chapel of ease at Cross Keys, two dissenting chapels, a national school, and charities £255 .- The subdistrict comprises six parishes. Acres, 23,687. Pop., district comprises SIX Parisues 5,233. Houses, 1,084.

ALMPTON. See OMPTON.
ALMSFORD, or ANSFORD, a parish in Wincanton district, Somerset; adjacent to Castlecary, the river Castlecary. Acres, 844. Real property, returned with contiguous parishes. Rated property is much subdivided. Houses, 69. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Bath and Wells. Value, £297.* Patron, F. Woodford, Esq. The church was recteding in 1861. The cast of Actual 2009. was restored in 1861, at a cost of about £1,000.

ALMWYCH. See AMLWCH.

ALNE (THE), a river of Northumberland. It rises a little west of Alnham; and runs about 16 miles eastward, nature west of Annam; and runs about 16 miles eastward, past Whittingham, Hulme abbey, and Alnwick, to the sea at Alnmouth. It is a fine fishing stream.

ALNE (The), a river of Warwick. It rises near Beardmore; and runs 15 miles southward, past Great Alne and Alcester, to the Avon at Salford-Priors. It is joined by the Array of Alcester.

joined by the Arrow at Alcester.

ALNE, a township and a parish in Easingwold district, N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on an affluent of the Ouse, and on the Northeastern railway, 11½ miles NW by N of York; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Easingwold. Acres, 2,240. Real property, £,428. Pop., 453. Houses, 99. The parish includes also the townships of Youlton, Aldwark, Tollernermeas asso the townships of roution, Andwark, Iolier ton, Flawith, and Tholthorpe. Acres, 9,947. Real property, £12,424. Pop., 1,592. Houses, 333. The property is much subdivided. A chief residence is Alno House. The living is a vicarage in the discose of York; and includes the energy of Aldwark. Value, £415.* Patron, Sir C. Codrington. The church is Norman, and has a carved oaken pulpit, a Norman font, a piscina, and a recumbent alabaster elligies. There are a Wesleyan a recument alabaster elligies. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £475. in Alcester district, Warwick; on the river Alne, 5 miles W by S of Bearley r. station, and 6½ NW of Stratford-on-Avon. It has a post-office under Birmingham. Acres, 1,753. Real property, £3,028. Pop., 347. Houses, $9. The property is subdivided. The living is a p. curacy, annexel to the rectory of Kinwarton, in the diocese of Worcester.

The church is good. Charities, £28.

ALNE (LITTLE), a hamlet in Aston-Cantilow parish, Warwick; on the river Alne, 2 miles NE of Great Alne.

Pop., 80.

ALNESBOURNE PRIORY, a depopulated hamlet in Nacton parish, Suffolk; near the river Orwell, 41 miles SE of Ipswich. A small Augustinian priory anciently stood here; and was annexed, in the 13th century, to the monastery of Woodbridge.

ALNEY (ISLE OF), an islet in the Severn, in the vicinity of Gloucester. Edmund Ironsides and Canute fought a single combat here in 1016; and proving equal in the strife, concluded a peace, and agreed to divide the kingdom between them.

ALNHAM, a township and a parish in Rothbury dis-ict, Northumberland. The township lies near the trict, Northumberland. The township lies near the source of Alne river, under the southern offsets of the Cheviots, 13 miles Wo f Alnwick r. station; and has a post-office under Alnwick. Aeres, 9,535. Pop., 119. post-olice under Almwek. Acres, 1,555. Pop., 119.
Houses, 22. The parish includes also the tornships of Prendwick, Unthank, and Screnwood. Acres, 12,389.
Real property, £4,326. Pop., 295. Houses, 47. The property is divided among a few. Much of the surface is moor and mountain. A semicircular ancient camp, 300 feet in diameter, with encircling double rampart and deep trench, occurs on a hill about a mile W of the village. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £200.* Patron, the Duke of Northumberham. Value, £200.* Patron, the Duke of Advantage land. The church is cruciform and old. The parsonage was built in the time of Edward III., and restored in 1844, and includes a peel tower.

ALNMOUTH, or ALEMOUTH, a seaport village, and a township-chapelry in Lesbury parish, Northumberland. The village stands on a small bay at the mouth of the river Alne, 2 miles E of Bilton r. station, and 5 ESE of Alnwick; has a post-office under Alnwick; and is a subport to Berwick. Its harbour admits vessels of from 50 to 150 tons; and is used chiefly for coasting trade. chapel anciently stood adjacent on an eminence at the shore; and a burying-ground connected with it was in use till about the year 1815, but has been washed away by the sea. Horses' bones were once found here, and gave rise to a foolish belief that the neighbouring country was formerly peopled by giants.—The chapelry includes the village, and was recently re-constituted. Acres, 579. Pop., 452. Houses, 100. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Durham. Value, £100. Patron, the Duke of Northumberland. The church was built in the Duke of Northumberland. The church was built in 1860; and there is a Wesleyan chapel.

ALNWICK, a town, a castle, two townships, a parisb, a sub-district, and a district, in Northumberland. The town stands on the river Alne, at the terminus of a branch railway of 3 miles from the Bilton Junction of the Northeastern, 34 miles by road, and 38½ by railway, N by W of Newcastle-on-Tyne. Its name signifies "the town on Alne." The town probably dates from the time of the Romans; or, at least, grew up as a dependeney of a strong baronial mansion, the original castle, in the time of the Saxons. The barony belonged to William Tyson, who fell at the battle of Hastings; it was given by the Conqueror to Ivo de Vesco, the ancestor of the De Vescis; and it passed, in 1310, to the family of Percy, the ancestors of the Dukes of Northumberland. Malcolm III. of Scotland besieged the town in 1093; and was killed before its walls in 1098. David of Scotland captured it in 1135. William the Lion besieged it in 1174; but was surprised by Ralph de Glanville, and in 1174; but was surprised by Raiph de Gianville, and taken prisoner to London. King John burnt it in 1215. Gualo, the Pope's legate, convoked a meeting of the Scottish bishops at it in 1220. Robert Eruce's nobles, Douglas and Randolph, besieged it without success in 328. Additional fortifications of both the town and the castle were made in 1411. The Scots took the town and burnt it in 1448, in revenge for the burning of Dumfries. The Earl of Warwick laid siege to the castle in 1463, after the battle of Hexham; and Sir George Douglas, with a considerable force, came to its relief, and en-

The town stands chiefly on a declivity on the south and well paved. The control of the sound of the sound of the Alne. It is well laid out; and has a spacious market-place in the centre. The streets are wide and well paved. The houses are chiefly modern; mostly built of reestone; many of them of considerable elegance. Four gates formerly pierced the town walls; and one of them, Bondgate, is still standing, and gives name to a street. A handsome stone bridge of three arches, erected by the Duke of Northumberland, takes the highway over the Alne. The town hall, on one side of the market-place, is a large edifice, surmounted by a square tower. Another building, on another side, is a modern structure, disposed below in meat and fish market, and containing above an elegant assembly-room and a spaci-ous reading-room. The corn-exchange was opened in The prison contains accommodation for 12 male and 6 female prisoners. The parish church is a large edifice, of the 14th century, with richly groined claused and carrol stalls; and was restored by the fourth Duke of Northumberland, at a cost of £6,000. St. Paul's church was built in 1846, at a cost of £20,000; is a handsome edifice, in the decorated English style; has a memorial window to the third Duke of Northumberland, produced at Munich in 1856; and contains an effigies of the Duke in Caen stone by Carew. The English Presby-abled its garrison to retire unmolested.

terians or Free Churchmen, the United Presbyterians, the Independents, the Wesleyan Methodists, the New Connexion Methodists, the Unitarians, and the Roman Catholics have places of worship; and there are a mechanics' institute, a dispensary and infirmary, two on-dowed schools with £22 a-year, and other charities with Alnwick claims to be a borough by prescription; and is governed by four chamberlains and 24 common councilneen. It is a seat of quarter sessions, and a polling-place; and has a head post-office, a telegraph station, four hotels, and an office of the Aluwick and county A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs bank. A weekly market is near on osturuay; and mars are held on Palm-Sunday-Eve, 12 May, the last Monday in July, the first Tuesday in Oct., 23 Oct., and the Saturday before 25 Dec. Trade in corn and cattle is extensive; tanning and brewing are carried on; and extensive; tanning and brewing are carried on, and brick-works, limestone quarries, and building-stone courries are in the neighbourhood. Two monthly newsquarries are in the neighbourhood. quarries are in the neighbourhood. Two monthly news-papers are published. Earl Beverley, who became fifth Duke of Northumberland in 1865, is Baron Alnwick. The friar Martin of Alnwick and the Bishop. William of Alnwick were natives. Pop. 5,670. Houses, 837. Alnwick Abbey, beautifully situated on the north hank of the Alne, was the first house of the Premonstratensian canons in England. It was founded in 1147 by Eustace Fitz-John, and dedicated to the Virgin; and, at the dissolution of monasteries, it had about 13 canons, and was valued at £190. It became the seat of successively the Brandlings and the Doubledays; and then was sold to the Duke of Northumberland. A gateway tower of it still stands, and has armorial shields of the Percys. crosses, and a niche richly canopied with open Gothic

Alnwick Castle, the seat of the Duke of Northumberland, situated on an eminence on the south side of the Alue, is a most imposing pile. It retains some vestiges of Saxon architecture, but probably none of the original eastle; and, after having passed almost to ruin by the shocks of war and the wear of time, it was reconstructed and embellished, at a modern period, in the Gothic style, and has just been undergoing extensive renovations, partly in a very fine light-tinted stone, after designs by the Commendatore Canina of Rome. It consists mainly of freestone or moorstone, covers or encloses about five acres, is disposed in three courts, exhibits sixteen towers and turrets, and is altogether a most noble and magnificent specimen of a great baronial seat. A notice of it in 1860 said .- "The new grand staircase forms the approach to the vestibule, in which the recesses will be filled with illustrations of the ballad of Chevy Chase. The ceiling will be painted with a subject from English The ceiling will be painted with a series the walls of the domestic apartments. The drawing-room has a ceiling of carved wood, gilt and coloured. The dining-room, 60 of carved wood, gilt and coloured. The dining-room, 60 feet by 24, stands on the site of the old banqueting-hall. The foundation-stone of the Prudhoe tower was laid on 25 Nov. 1854. It now rises 20 feet above the cluster of towers, breaks the hitherto long uniform sky-line, and forms a fine bold feature in the landscape. In the front is a deeply recessed triple-corbolled window. In the SW high-roofed chapel, early English, has a stone vault and an apsidal west end, and will be furnished with marbles and mosaics from Rome. It contains a tomb to the Duchess Elizabeth, daughter of Alvernon, Duke of Somerset. In the state apartments are exquisite carvings by Bulleti; copies, by Nucci, of slaves from Cen-stantine's Arch and the Greek Camephora, and coloured friezes by Mantovani; inlaid wood, pure white marbles, and carved walnut panels contribute to the magnificence of these rooms. A vaulted kitchen has been built on the SE side, which rivals a mediaval structure of the the St. Stee, which rivers a measure attractive sort. The octagonal Donjon tower contains a square dungeon, 11 feet by 93." The grounds connected with the castle lie along both sides of the Alne; are appeared of 3 miles long; exhibit great wealth and variety of both the state of the state and contain the variety. natural and artificial beauty; and contain the remains of Allowick and Hulne abbeys, a picturesque cross on the spot where King Malcolm of Scotland fell, a monument on the spot where William the Lion was taken prisoner, and the tower of Brisles, 65 feet high, erected in 1762, and commanding a superb extensive view.

33

and commanding a superb extensive view. The two townships of Almwick are Almwick and Almwick-South-Side.—The former comprises 4,604 acres, the latter, 4,769; and the latter includes the hamlets of Canledge-Park, Greensfield, Grumwells-Park, Hobberlaw, Rugley, Shieldykes, and Snipe-House. Pop. of A. township, 5,933. Houses, 876. Pop. of A.S.S. township, 203. Houses, 53.—The parish includes also the township of Alber-Lauls, Canongate Denvite and snip, 263. riouses, 55.—1 ne parish includes also the towoships of Abbey-Lauds, Canongate, Denwick, and Hulme-Park. Acres, 16,259. Real property, £31,183. Pop., 7,359. Houses, 1,110. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £175. Patron, the Duke of Northumberland. The chapelry of St. Paul's was constituted in 1846; and is a perpet, curacy, with salary of £200, in the patronage of the Duke of Northumberland - The sub-district differs only so far from the parish as to include a small additional township. Acres, 15,434. Pop., 7,359. Houses, 1,112.

The district of Alnwick comprehends the sub-district of Warkworth, containing the parishes of Lesbury and Shilbottle, and parts of the parishes of Warkworth and Felton; the sub-district of Alnwick, containing the parish of Alnwick and a township of the parish of Egling-ham; and the sub-district of Embleton, containing the parishes of Embleton, Howick, Long-Houghton, parishes of Embleton, Howick, Long-Hougaton, and Lellingham, and parts of the parishes of Whittingham, Eglingham, and Ellingham. Acres, 98,935. Poor-rates in 1866, £9,950. Pop. in 1841, 18,799: in 1861, 21,058. Houses, 3,850. Marriages in 1866, 90; births, 595,—of which 60 were illegitimate; deaths, 355,—of which of which 60 were illegitimate; deaths, 355,—of Wind-22 were at ages under 5 years, and 15 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 905; bitths, 6,339; deaths, 3,415. The places of worship in 1851 were 13 of the Church of England, with 4,375 sittings; 3 of the United Presbyterian Church, with 1,218 s.; 2 of the Presbyterian church in England, with 1,158 s.; 2 of Independents, with 1,080 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 210 s.; 7 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,339 s.; 2 of the New Connexion Methodists, with 370 s.; and 2 of Roman Catables, with 359 s. The schools in 1851 were 35 public day schools, with 2,488 scholars; 22 private day schools, with 500s; 37 Sunday schools, with 2,512s.; and 4 evening schools for adults, with 36 s.

ALOESBRIDGE, a hundred in the lathe of Shepway, Kent. It adjoins Romney march the P. Kent. It adjoins Romney marsh, the English channel, and Sussex; and contains Brookland, Fairfield, Snar-and Sussex; and contains brookland, ratheut, Sharpite, and Sante parishes, and part of Breuzett. Acres, 7,923. Pop. in 1851, 662. Houses, 168. ALPERTON, a humlet in the parish of Harrow-on-the-Hill, Middlesex; near the river Brent, the Paddington chad, and the Northwestern railway, 8 miles WNW.

ton canal, and the Northwestern railway, 8 miles WAW of St. Paul's, London. It has a post-office under Ealing, London W. Pop., 212.

ALPHAGE (87.). See CANTERBURY.

ALPHAMSTONE, a parish in Sudbury district, Essex; near the river Stonr, 21 miles WNW of Bures restation, and 5 S of Sudbury. Post-town, Bures under Colchester. Acres, 1,557. Real property, £2,614. Pop., 317. Houses, 72. The property is divided among a few. The living its recover in the dioses of Rochester. Pop., 317. Houses, 72. The property is averaged a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Valle, 2257. Pairon, the Lord Chancellor. The church is tolerable. Charities, £13. Cambon district. Suffolk;

ALPHETON, a parish in Sudbury district, Suffolk; on an affluent of the river Stour, 7 miles N of Sudbury on an annual of the Archam ander Sadbury. Acres, 1903 Pool property £1.811. Pop., 298. Houses, r. s.anon. Fostrown, Lavennam under Sadoury. Acres, 1,202. Real property, 21,511. Pop., 298. Houses, 69. The property is not much divided. The parish is a meet for the Suffolk hounds. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Fly. Value, £275.* Patron, the Rev. W. J. Alchabje. The church is tolerable.

ALPHINGTON, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of St. Thomas, Devon. The village stands mear the South Devon railway and the river Exe, 14 mile S of Exeter; and has a post-office under Exeter; and foirs on the Wednesday after 20 June and after 29 Sept. It was one of the head-quarters of Fairfax's army, in 1646, at the blockading of Exeter.—The parish comprises 2,471 acres. Real property, £8,598. Pop., 1,250. Houses, 270. The property is divided among a few. The manor was acquired, in the reign of Richard II., by The manor was acquired, in the reign of Richard II., by the family of the Earl of Devon; and the greater part of it continues still in their possession. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £937. Patron, the Rev. F. A. Savile. The church contains a Norman font with interlaced arches, seroll ornaments, and growth of the contains a contained to the contains and growth of the contains a contained to the contained the contained to the contained to the contained the contained to to with interest articles, so that or the sque figures over the arches; has a red turretted tower in perpendicular English; and, excepting the south wall, is in good condition. Charities £29, and some poors' cottages.—The sub-district comprises seven entire parishes and parts of two others. Acres. 17,470. Pop., tastes and parts of the values, $41.

ALPINGTON, a parish in Loddon district, Norfolk;
ALPINGTON, a parish in Loddon district, Norfolk;
A miles E of Swainsthopper, station, and 6 SE of Norwich.

Post-town, Rockland under Norwich. Acres, 2008. Houses, 47. wich. Post-town, Rockland under Norwich. Actor, 630. Real property, £1,285. Pop., 208. Houses, 47. A chief residence is Alpington Hall. The living is a rectory, annexed to Yelverton, in the diocese of Norwich.

ALPRAHAM, a township in Bunbury parish, Cheshire; near the Chester canal, 2 miles N of Calverley r.

shire; near the Chester caual, 2 miles N of Calverley r. station, and 3½ ESE of Tarporley. It has a post-office under Tarporley. Acres, 1,596. Real property, £2,691. Pop., 530. Houses, 99. There is a Wesleyau chapel. ALRESFORD, a parish in Tendring district, Essex; 5 miles SE of Colchester. It has a post-office under Colchester, and a r. station. Acres, 1,583; of which 75 are water. Real property, £2,195. Pop., 248. Houses, 62. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £378. Patrons, Hulme's Trustees. The church is good. ALRESFORD, or New ALRESFORD, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Hants. Theorem stands along a hill, contiguous to the Arle river, with a st. on the Alton and Winehester railway, 7 miles ENE of Winchester. The tract around it was given by Kromwald, second Christian king of Wessex, to the church of wald, second Christian king of Wessex, to the church of Winchester; and was thenceforth much controlled by The town scems to have been soon formed the bishops. by them; and, falling into decay, was restored, in the time of King John, by Bishop Godfrey de Lucy. A pond was then excavated adjacent to it, along the course of the Itchen, 11 mile in length and about 200 acres in area, with the view of bringing up navigation hither from the sea; but failed eventually to serve the purpose, and is now reduced to about 60 acres. The embankment on the north side, to the extent of nearly 500 yards, is said the north stue, to the extent of nearly overlays, as at the have been originally a Roman causeway. The towar was incorporated at an early period, and is said to have sent a member to parliament in the time of Edward I.; and it had at one time a considerable cloth manufacture, and many fulling-mills; but it is now merely a market-incorporate account, produce, with right to record reads. ing centre for country produce, with right to some rents and tells. It was burned by the royalist troops in 1644; and tolls. It was burned by the royalist troops in 1644; and again suffered severely from fire in 1689 and in 1736. It has a head post-office, two banks, a market-house of 1866, a weekly market on Thursday, and fairs on Holy Thursday, the last Thursday in July, the first Thursday in Sept., 17 Oct., and the last Thursday in Nov. Miss Mirford, the author of "Our Village," was a native. Many silver coins, of the reign of William I., were found, the state of the second section of the second section of the second section in the second section of the second section in the section with the second section in the second section in the second section is the second section in the second section section in the second section is the second section in the second section section section in the second section section in the second section section section is section. in 1833, in a leaden box, in a neighbouring field. The Alton and Winchester milway, opened in 1865, passes close to the town, and gives ready access to London and ciose to the town, and gives ready access to London and Southampton. The parish comprises 683 acres. Real property, 25,411. Pop., 1,546. Houses, 274. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Walke, 2240. Patron, the listop of Winchester. The church was built in 1690, and has a square embattled tower. There are an Indevented to the characteristics of the church was built in 1690. pendent chapel, a freegrammar school, with £149 a-year, and other charities with nearly £40.

The sub-district contains the parishes of New Alresford, Old Alresford, Ovington, Itchen-Stoke, Bighton, Swarraton, Northington, Brown-Candover, and Chilton-Called and Child an Candover, and the extra-parochial tract of Godsfeld. Acres, 16,619. Pop., 3,674. Houses, 679. The district includes also the sub-district of Ropley, containing the parishes of Ropley, West Tisted, Bramdean, Illinton-Ampner, Kilmiston, Beauworth, Cheriton, Titchhorne, and Bishops-Satton. Acres, 39,761. Poor-rates in 1866, £5,176. Pop. in 1841, 7,094; in 1861, 7,132. Houses, 1,407. Marriages in 1866, 49; births, 221, of which 11 were illegitimate; deaths, 118,—of which 39 were at ages under 5 years, and 8 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 433; births, 2,107; deaths, 1,190. The places of worship in 1851 were 18 of the Church of England, with 3,973 sittings; 2 of Independents. with 290 s. 1 of Baptists, with 40 s.; 2 of dependents. with 290 s.: 1 of Baptists, with 40 s.; 2 of dependents, with 200 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 40 s.; 2 of Primitive Methodists, with 130 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 70 s. The schools in 1851 were 16 public day schools, with 917 scholars; 13 private day schools, with 243 s.; 14 Sunday schools, with 780 s.; and 1 evening school for adults with 22 s. The workhouse is in Alresford.

ALRESFORD (OLD), a parish in Alresford district, Hants; adjoining the W side of Alresford parish. Postrost-town, Alresford, Acres, 3,608. Real property, £4,314. Pop., 526. Houses, 99. The property is divided among a few. Old Alresford House belongs to Lord Rodney, a lew. Old Artestoria fromes ocious to not a country, and was the residence of his ancestor, the Admiral. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £556.* Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The church was built in 1753, but has an ancient tower, church was built in 1753, but has an ancient tower.

ALREWAS, a village and a parish in Lichfield district, Stafford. The village stands on the Grand Trunk canal, near the South Stafford railway, the river Trent, the river Tame, and Ryknield-street, 5 miles NE of Lichfield. It has a station on the railway ³/₄ of a mile distant, a post-office under Lichfield, ²/₄ and an inn. Pop., 1,125. Houses, 294. The purish includes also the townships of Orgreave and Fradley. Acres, 4,329.
Real property £11 937. Pop. 1 638. Houses, 379 townships of Orgreave and Fradley. Aces, 4,329, Real property, £11,287. Pop., 1,633. Houses, 379, The property is divided among a few. The manor was given to Lichfield cathedral in 822. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £323. Patron, the Bishop of Lichfield. The church is good. There are chapels for Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist.

Aurus are chapels for dists. Charities, 226.

ALREWAS-HAYS, an extra-parochial tract in Lichfield district, Stafford; contiguous to Alrewas parish, It was formerly a common, but has been reclaimed. Acres, 1,689. Real property, £1,356. Pan 49. Pop., 48.

Houses, 10.
ALSAGER, a chapelry in Barthomley parish, Cheshire; North Stafford railway, 41 miles SSE of Sandbach. It has a station on the railway, about a mile distant; and its post-town is Lawton, under Stoke-on-Trent. Acres, 2,184. Real property, £4,202. Pop., 703. Honses, 139. Part of the land was a common, recently enclosed. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Chester. Value, £100. Patrons, the proprietors of the manor. There is a Wesleyan chapel of 1869. Charities, £41.

There is a Wesleyan chaper of ALSCOTT. See ALVERDISCOTT.
ALSCOTT. See ALVERDISCOTT.
ALSCOP-LE-DALE AND EATON, a chapelry in Ashborne parish, Derby; near the river Dove, 6 miles N by W of Ashborne r. station. Post-town, Parwich under Ashborne. Acres, with Newton-Grange hamlet, 2,264. Rated property, £1,558. Pop., 76. Houses, 12. The property is not much divided. The living is a p. curacy Value. £49. Patrons, the Rated property, £1,500. 10p., The living is a p. curacy property is not much divided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £49. Patrons, the The church is good.

in the diocess of Lichned. Value, 242. Factors, in Habitants and Fresholders. The church is good.
ALSTOE, a hundred in Rutland. It adjoins the counties of Leicester and Lincoln, and centains twelve parishes. Acres, 27,202. Pop., 4,296. Houses, 930.

ALSTON, a township and a sub-district, in the district of Preston, Lancashire. The township is in the parish of Ribchester; and lies adjacent to Longridge railway, near Longridgefell, 2 miles N of the river Ribble, 7 miles NE of Preston. Acres, 1,989. Real property, 25,268. Pop. 1,098. Houses, 213. A chief residence is Alston Lodge.—The sub-district comprises all the parish of Ribchester and part of the parish of the parish of Ribchester and part of the Parish of Ribchester and Parish of Ribches Preston. Acres, 11,773. Pop., 4,414. Houses, 550. ALSTON, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Cumberland. The parish is also designated Alsten Moor. The town stands on the South Tyne river, a little W of Middlefell, not far from the boundaries with Northumberland, Durham, and Westmoreland, at the terminus of a branch railway of 13 miles from the Haltwhistle station of the Carlisle and Newcastle railway, 26 miles by road and 35 by railway, ESE of Carlisle. Its site is a declivity, near the influx of the Nent to the South Tyne, amid a region of high, moorish uplands; and its appearance is relieved and beautified by the vales of the streams and by the neighbourhood of woods. Its houses are irregular, but consist chiefly of stone. The houses are irregular, but consist clinelly of stone. The chief public buildings are a new town-hall, the parish church, several dissenting chapels, a grammar-school, a workhouse, and a stone bridge. The chief employments are connected with a woollen factory and an extensive mineral traffic. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on the third Saturday of March, the last Thursday of May, 27 Sept., and the first Thursday of Nov. The town has a post-office; under Carlisle, a tele-

Nov. The town has a post-offsect under Carlisle, a telegraph station, a banking office, and two hotels; and it is a seat of petty sessions and a polling place.

The parish includes also the chapelries of Garrigill and Nenthead. Acres, 35,000. Real property, £12,573,—of which £4,243 are in mines. Pop., 6,404, Houses, 1,282. Much of the property belonged to the Earls of Derwentwater; and, after the attainder and execution of the last earl, was given to Green. and execution of the last earl, was given to Green-wich hospital. The land is chiefly moor and mountain, either utterly sterile or grazed by sheep; but the rocks abound with rich ores; and the hills in some parts are pierced with spar caves. Lead mines began to be worked in the time of Henry III.; they became greatly extended about 1683; they increased to 119 in 1768, with an annual produce of about 167,514 ext; and they then began to decrease, but still amounted to 102 in 1814 with an annual produce of 102 in 1814, with an annual produce of about 91,968 to an in 1913, with an annual produce or about 191,900 ewt. An aqueduct level, 5 miles in length, called Nent Force, was cut from the Neuthead mines to the town for carrying off the water. The lead ore generally contains so much silver as to yield from 8 to 10 ounces per ton; and that of Yadmess mine, opened in 1323, has yielded 96 ounces per ton. Copper ore has been found in the same mines as the lead. Some of the caves in the hills same onnes as tue tead. Some of the caves in the mus make both a beautiful and an opulent display of minerals; and one, called Tutman's Hole, has been explored to the extent of a mile from the entrance. Traces of the Roman Maiden-way are seen about a mile W of the town; and remains of Whitley castle, consisting of earthworks, and remains of Whitley castle, consisting of earthworks, substructions, and a most, occur on Hall-Hill. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham; and inhving is a vicarage in the diocese of Juliaun; and in-cludes the curacy of Garrigill. Velue, £210. Patron, Greenwich hospital. The chapelry of Neuthead is a separate benefice. The grammar school in the town has £40 a-year from endowment; and other charities have £65.

The sub-district and the district of Alston are co-ex-tensive with the parish. Poor-rates in 1866, £1,846. Marriages in 1866, £1,844.—of which 28 were illegitimate; deaths, 114,—of which 34 were at ages under 5 years, and 2 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 336; births, 2,294; deaths, 1,315. The places of worship in 1851 were 3 of the Church of England, with 1,000 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 520 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 200 s.; S of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,831 s.; and 5 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,118 s. The schools in 1851 were 10 public day schools, with 910 scholars; 5 private day schools, with 117 s.; 13 Sunday schools, with 1,393 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 39 s.

for adults, with 39 s.

ALSTONE, a chapelry in Overbury parish, Gloucester; 34 miles FSE of Tewkesbury r. station, and 44 NW of Winchcomb. Post-town, Tewkesbury. Acres, with Little Washbourne, 1,060. Rated property, 2500. Pop., 96. Houses, 20. The property is divided among few. The living is a curacy united to the vicing of a few. The living is a curacy, united to the vicarage of Overbury, in the diocese of Worcester. The church is very dilapidated.

ALSTONE, a hamlet in Gnosall parish, Staffordshire; 51 miles SW of Stafford. ALSTONE, Cheltenham. See CHELTENHAM.

35

ALSTONFIELD. See ALLSTONEFIELD.
ALT (THE), a small river of Lancashire. It rises near Knowsley-Park, a little W of Prescot; and runs about 12 miles north-westward to the Irish sea, in the vicinity of Formby.

ALT, ALT-EDGE, and ALT-HILL, three hamlets in the Knott-Lages sub-district of the parish of Ashton-under-

Lyne, Lancashire.
ALTARNUN. See ALTERNON.

ALTBACH, a township in Heutland parish, Hercford: 41 miles NW of Ross.

ALTCAR, a parish in Ormskirk district, Lancashire; a the river Alt, 3 miles SE of Formby r. station, and 6 WSW of Ormskirk. It includes the hamlet of Little 6 WSW of Ormskirk. It mendes the cannot of Artes, Altean Post-town, Formby under Liverpool. Acres, 4.234; of which 205 are water. Real property, £5,988. Pop., 540. Houses, 82. The property is divided among Pop., 540. Houses, 52. The property is divided among a few. The surface includes some marsh. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £150.* Patron, the Earl of Sefton. The church is very good. Charities, £7. ALT-EDGE

See ALT.

ALTERNON, or ALTARNUN, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Launceston, Cornwall. The parish lies round the head-streams of the rivers Inny and Lynher. 8 miles WSW of Launceston, and 12 N of Doubleher, 8 miles WSW of Launceston, end 12 A or Doubles r. station. It has a post-office under Launceston. Acres, 15,014. Real property, £6,272. Pop., 1,389. Houses, 279. The property is much subdivided. Much of the land is very poor or barren. The minerals include granite, hornblende, and stream-tim. The living is a or the sand is very poor or oarred. The minerals including granite, hornblende, and stream-tin. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £320. *Platings, the Penn and Chapter of Exeter. The church is a fine building, and has the highest tower in Cornwall, except that of Probus. St. Nunn, the mother of St. David of Wales, is said to have been buried here; and Jowle, the clerk in the time of Charles 11., died at the There are chapels for Wesleyan Methodists and Bible Christians. Charities, £6. The sub-district comprises 4 parishes. Acres, 22,489. Pop., 2,496. Houses, 501.

ALTHAM, a township-chapelry in Whalley parish, ALTRAM, a townsine-chaperry in waney parisa, Lancashire; on the Henburn river, near the Leeds and Liverpool canal, I mile N of Huncoat r. station, and 5 W of Burnley. It includes the village of Sykeside; and its post-town is Accrington. Acres, 1,406. Real property, £2,559. Pop., 410. Houses, 75. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £150.* Patron, R. T. R. Wilton Esc. The drugth was almost entirely rebuilt. Walton, Esq. The church was almost entirely rebuilt in 1559.

ALT-HILL. See ALT. ALTHORNE, a parish in Maldon district, Essex; near the river Crouch, 7 miles SE of Maldon r. station. It has a post-office under Maldon. Acres, 2,250. Real property, £2,697. Pop. 386. Houses, 79. The property is subdivided. Much of the land lies lower than spring-tide mark, and is protected by embankments constructed by Dutchmen, whose descendants remain here. The living is a vicarage, united to the rectory of Cricksca, in the diocese of Rochester. The church is good.

A fair is held on 5 June.

ALTHORP, an extra-parochial tract in Brixworth district, Northmantonshire; contiguous to Brington parish, rrec. To the appearance of the part of the state of the s Althorp," says Dibdin, "has been possessed by the Spencer family upwards of three centuries; but the exact riol of the crection of the house seems to be unknown. There is, however, no question of its having received its principal improvements during the time of the first Earl of Sunderland (1639-1619), who was the son of the second Baron Spencer. The lady of this earl (daughter of Robert Schey, second earl of Leicester, and better known as the Sacharissa of Waller the poet,) erected and covered in the great staircase, which had been formerly an interior courtyard, in the fashion of the times. From that period to the present, both the house and park have continued to receive improvements. The tamily of the Spencers became possessed of the park at Althorp about the year 1512. This originated in a license from the king to John Spencer, afterwards Sir John Spencer. that time the park is described as containing 300 acres of land, 100 acres of wood, and 40 acres of water in 'Oldthorpe;' but this seems to have been only an extension of some property previously acquired there, for it is certain that Althorp, so called, was purchased by this Sir John Spencer as early as the year 1503." The great attraction of Althorp House is its noble library, The which Dibdin says is the finest collection of books perhaps in Europe. "It occupies a suite of rooms, four in number, and measuring in the whole about 170 feet in length. These are garnished from top to tee with the choicest colitions of the choicest authors in the choicest bindings." The collection of autions in the concest minings. The concertion of pictures also is very rich. The queen and son of James I, when on their journey from Scotland to London in 1603, rested some days at Althorp; and a mask, composed by Ben Jonson, was exhibited for their entertainment.

ALTON.

ALTHORPE, a township and a parish in the district of Thorne and county of Lincoln. The township lies on the river Trent, and on the Doncaster, Barnetby, and Grinisby railway, 41 miles SE of Crowle; enjoys advantages of the Trent navigation; includes the hamlet of Dorrythorpe; and has a post-office under Eawtry, and a r. station. Real property, 23,093. Pop. 391, Houses, SS. The parish includes also the townships of Keolby and Argotts. Acres 5460. Pack are Houses, SS. The parish includes also the townships of Keadby and Amcotts. Aeres, 5,460. Rated property, £10,346. Pop., 1,316. Houses, £43. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £40.9. Patron, the Crown. The church is of the time of Edward IV. There are two Methodist chapels and a national school.

ALTHORTE, Norfolk. See ALETHORTE.

ALTOFTS, a township in Normanton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the North Midland railway, at its transit over the Calder river and the Aire and Calder caula, about a mile from Normanton station. 33 miles NE. of about a mile from Normanton station, 33 miles NE of agone a mine from Aormanton station, og mines NC Wakefeld. It has a post-office under Normanton.

Acres, 1,761. Pop., 1,210. Houses, 224.
ALTON, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a division, in Hants. The town stards on the Guildford, Farnham, and Winchester line of the Southwater, and the CW has $1.50. western railway, 83 miles SW by S of Farnham; and has a railway station with telegraph. It dates from the time of the Saxous; was the scene of a meeting in 1001 with the Danes; sent a member to parliament in the time of Edward I.; and was taken, in 1643, by the parliamentarian force of Sir William Waller from the royalist force of Colonel Boles. It consists chiefly of one long steep street; and contains some handsome houses. It is a seat of petty sessions, and a polling-place; and it has a head post-onice, two banking-offices, and a hotel. It formerly had a considerable manufactory of bombazines; and it afterwards had manufactures of silk, druggets, serges, and other fabrics; and it now has extensive breweries of much note, and a large paper mill. A weekly market is held on Tuesday, and fairs on the A weekly market is not on tressed, and that of the mar-ket-house was recently enlarged, and other aids to the market effected. The parish church is a spacious edifice, variously Saxon, Norman, and later English, with square embattled tower and spire; and contains some wall paint-ings of the 15th century. There are chapels for Indeembarried conditions and applied the list century. There are chapels for Independents, Wesleyan Methodists, and Quakers. A popular adage makes the town noted for its Quakers; and Bernard Barton has embalmed them in his verse. Dominican friary. William de Alton, in the time of Edward II., the biographical author, John Pitts, born in 1550, and the botanical writer, William Cuttis, born in 1746, were natives. Pop., 3,286. Houses, 616. The railway from Alton, past Alresford, to Headbourne-Worth Thinway 100ii. And the step, was formed under on act of 1860. The parish comprises 3,506 acres. Real property, 217,298. Pop., 3,769. Houses, 710. The property is much sublivided. A chief residence is Thedden Grange.

36

Hops are extensively grown. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester; and, till 1863, had annexed to it the living of Holybourne. Value, £496. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Winchester. There are a grammar school with £81 a-year from endowment, other charities with £22, a mechanics' institute, and a lunatic asylum. —The sub-district contains the parishes of Alton, Wield, Medsted, Bentworth, Lasham, Shalden, East-Tisted, Chawton, Farringdon, and Newton-Valence. Acres, 25,575. Pop., 7,197. Houses, 1,352. The district includes also the sub-district of Binsted, containing the parishes of Binsted, Schorne, Hartley-Mauditt, West-Worldham, East-Worldham, Holybourne, Froyle, and Bentley, and the extra-parochial tract of Coldrey. Acres, 53,057. Poor-rates in 1866, £8,650. Pop. in 1841, 12.99; in 1861, 12,063. Houses, 2,332. Mariages in 1866, 97; births, 389,—of which 29 were illegitimate; deaths, 210,—of which 78 were at ages above 55. Mariages in the to years, and 7 were at ages above 55. Mariages in the tweats -The sub-district contains the parishes of Alton, Wield, and 7 were at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years, and 7 were at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 730; births, 3,824; deaths, 2,129. The places of worship in 1851 were 18 of the Church of England, on wishing in 1001 were 10 of the Church of England, with 4,943 sittings; 4 of Independents, with 80 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 20 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 188 s.; 2 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 268 s.; 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 86 s.; and 2 of Bible Christians, with 104 The schools in 1851 were 17 public day schools, with 1,503 scholars; 13 private day schools, with 248 s.; 22 Sunday schools, with 1,118 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 10 s.—The division of Alton is considerably identical with the district, but more extensive; and it is subdivided into the towns of Alton and Alresford, and subdivided into the towns of Aton and Afrestori, and the hundreds of Alton, Bishops-Sutton, and Selborne. Acres, 70,811. Pop., 14,048. Houses, 2,770. Alton lundred is divided into Lower Half, comprising 16,152 acres, and Upper Half, comprising 14,027 acres. The work-house and lunatic asylum are in Alton.

ALTON, a constablewick in Rock parish, Worcester; near Wyre forest, 44 miles W of Bewdley.

near Wyre forest, 41 miles W of Bewdley.

ALTÖN, or ALVERON, a township, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Cheadle, Stafford. The township lies on the Churnet river, the Uttoxeter canal, and the North Stafford railway, 7½ miles NNW of Uttoxeter. If has a station on the railway, a post-office under Stafford, and an inn. Real property, 23,853. Pop., 1,173. Houses, 253.—The parish includes also the townships of Farley, Denston, and Upper and Lower Cotton. Acres, 7,739. Real property, £10,325. Pop., 2,250. Houses, 476. The manor belongs to the Earl of Shrewsbury. Alton Towers, the seat of the Earl, is a splendid edifice, Alton-Towers, the seat of the Earl, is a splendid edifice, in a variety of styles, built in 1814; and contains a magnia a arecy of syres, unit in 1014; and contains a mag-nificent hall, an armory, 120 feet long, a picture gallery, 150 feet long, with superb collection of pictures, a chapel with stained windows by Pugin, and a state drawing-room, with some ornaments of Queen Catherine. The gardens connected with it are richly ornate; and contain gardens connected with it are from younger, as Choragic temple, a Chinese conservatory, an imitation Stonehenge, a pagoda 95 feet high, and a Gothic temple commanding an extensive view. The ruins of a castle commanding an extensive view. The mins of a castle of the De Verdons, of the time of Henry II., stand ou a rock by the Churnet, 300 feet high. St. John's hospital, founded by the Talbots, for a warden and fellows, with church and school, is near the castle. An ancient camp, with double fossé, occurs at Bonebury. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £151.* Pavicarage in the diocese of Lichheld. Value, £151.* Patron, the Earl of Shrewsbury. The church is modern.

iron, the Earl of Shrewsbury. The church is modern. Cotton and Denston are separate charges; and there are chapels for Independents, Methodists, and Roman Catholics, and charities £25.—The sub-district comprises three parishes. Acres, 9,487. Pop., 2,693. Houses, 564.
ALTON-BAINNES, or ALTON-BERNERS, a parish in Devizes district, Wiltis; on the Kennet and Avon canal, near Wans Dyke, 7 miles E of Devizes r. station. Posttown, Pewsey under Marlborough. Acres, 1,053. Real property, £1,520. Pop., 177. Houses, 37. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £294. Patron, New College, Oxford. The church is good.

College, Oxford. The church is good.

ALTON-PANCRAS, a parish and a liberty in Dorchester district, Derset. The parish lies on the Downs, 21 miles NE of Cerne-Abbas, and 7 E by S of Evershot r. station. Post-town, Cerne under Dorchester. Acres, 2,243. Real property, £2,642. Pop., 270. Houses, 55. The The parish is a meet for the property is subdivided. Blackmoor harriers. The living is a vicetage in the dio-cese of Salisbury. Value, £298. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury. The church is good. The liberty is co-extensive with the parish.

alton-PRIORS, a chapelry in Overton parish, Wilts; on the Kennet and Avon canal, contiguous to Altonon the Kenuet and Avon canal, contiguous to Alton-Barnes, 7 miles E of Devizes r. station. It includes the tything of Stowell; and its post-town is Pewsey under Marlborough. Acres, 2,630. Real property, £2,038. Pop., 207. Houses, 46. The manor belonged anciently to Winchester monastery. The living is a curracy, annexed to Overton vicarge, in the diocese of Salisbury. The church has a curious brass of 1528.

ALTON-TOWERS. See ALTON, Stafford. ALTRINGHAM, a town, a township, two chapelries, a sub-district, and a district, in Cheshire. The town is in the parish of Bowdon, at an intersection

The town is in the parish of Bowdon, at an intersection of railways, adjacent to the Bridgewater canal, 8 miles of railways, adjacent to the bridgewater canal, 8 mites SSW of Manchester; comprises good streets and some handsome villas; is a seat of petty-sessions and county courts, and a polling-place; publishes a weekly new-paper; carries on iron-founding, bone-grinding, timber-sawing, much trade from neighbouring market-gardens, and much transit traffic, and has a head post-office, three r. stations, two chief inns, a town-hall of 1849, a literary t. stations, two chief times, a constraint of 1927, a fittering institution in the Tudor style enlarged in 1864, a plain church of 1799, a church in the decorated English style built in 1867, a Wesleyan chapel in the Byzautine style built in 1864, five other dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, five public schools, a medical hospital, charities £57, a weekly market on Tuesday, and three annual fairs.—The township comprises 657 acres. Real annuar lars.—The covining comprises of acress re-property, £24,087. Pop., 6,628. Houses, 1,240.—The chapleties are St. George and St. John. The livings are p. caracies. Value of St. G., £210.* Patron of St. G., the Vicar of Bowdon; of St. J., the Bishop of Chester.

Chester.

The sub-district comprises part of the parish of Bowdon and all the parish of Ashton-upon-Morsey. Acres, 17,796. Pop., 18,214. Houses, 3,453. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Wilmslow, containing the parishers of Mobberley, and Northen, and part of the parish of Wilmslow; the sub-district of Lymm, containing the parish of the sub-dist rishes of Lymm and Warburton, and parts of the parishes of Bowdon, Rosthern, and Great Budworth; and the of Bowdon, Rosthern, and Great Budworth; and the sub-district of Knutsford, containing the parish of Knutsford, and parts of the parishes of Rostherne and Great Budworth. Acres, 73,665. Poor-rates in 1966, 213,917. Plouses, 7,782. Marriages in 1856, 230; births, 1,335,—of which 115 were illegitimate; deaths, 855,—of which 317 were at ages ander 5 years, and 16 were at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 2,012; births, 12,179; deaths, 7,337. The riages of worshin in 1851 were 20 of deaths, 7,337. The riages of worshin in 1851 were 20 of deaths, 7,387. The places of worship in 1851 were 20 of the Church of England, with 8,832 sittings; 12 of Indenie charch of Engand, with 0,002 studies; 12 of Independents, with 2,905 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 615 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 200 s.; 6 of Unitarians, with 634 s.; 2 of Moravians, sittings not reported; 21 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,672 s.; 1 of New Cornexion Methodists, with 500 s.; 9 of Primitive Methodists, with 879 s.; 1 of Wesleyan Association and I of Brethren, sittings not reported; I of Latter Day Saints, with 50 s.; and 2 of reported; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 50 s.; and 2 of Roman Catholies, with 130 s. The schools in 1851 were 24 public day schools, with 2,755 scholars; 64 private day schools, with 1,590 s.; 63 Sanday schools, with 5,649 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 85 s. The work-house is in the township of Knutsford-Inferior.

ALUM BAY, a semicircular bay, about 7 furlongs wide, on the N side of the wester extremity of the Isle of Wight; near the Needles, and 2? niles WSW of Freshwater Gate. Cliffs of snowy chalk overhang it on one side; cliffs of bright variegated colours, streaked like a ribbon, overhang it on the other; and these combine with green turf above them, and with the fire bold headland of Headon Hill on the E to form a serve of uncommon force and beauty. "The chalk," says Sir H. Engleield, "forms an unbroken face, everywhere nearly perpendicular, and in some parts formidably projesting; and the tenderest stains of ochreous yellow and greenish moist vegetation vary, without breaking, its greenish moist regetation vary, without breaking, its sublime uniformity. This vast wall extends more than a quarter of a mile, and is probably nearly 400 feet in Leight. Its termination is by a thin edge of bold broken outline; and the wedge-like Needle Rocks, rising out of the blue waters, continue the cliff, in idea, beyond its present boundary, and give an awful impression of the stormy ages which have gradually devoured its enormous scormy ages which have gradually devoted its environments. The pearly line of the chalk is beyond description by words, and probably out of the power of the pencil. Deep rugged chasms divide the strata in many places, and not a vestige of vegetation appears in any part; all is wild ruin. The tints of the other cliffs are so bright and so varied that they have not the appearance of anything natural. Deep purplish-red, dusky-blue, bright ochreous yellow, grey nearly approaching to white, and absolute black succeed each other as sharply white, and absolute black succeed each other as small, defined as the stripes in silk; and after rain the sun, which from about noon till his setting, in summer, illuminates them more and more, gives a brilliancy to some of these nearly as resplendent as the high lights on real silk." Copperous stones, lignite, alum, pipe-clay, shells, and fossils are found on the shore; and a siliceous silvery-looking sand, long in high request for the glass and porcelain works of London, Bristol, and Worcester, abcunds at the sea-base of Headon Hill. Landslips some-times occur of considerable extent; and one, not many years ago, fell with a depth of between 200 and 300 yards, and carried off to the sea the tools and works of the diggers at the sand-pits. A cavern, called Mother Larges' Kitchen, pierces the chalk cliffs at a part which can be Fort, mounting 52 guns, was recently constructed at Cary's Sconce where the cliffs decline. An excellent hotel, the Needles, is near the head of the bay.

ALUM GREEN, au extra-parochial tract in New Forest district, Hants; contiguous to Lyndhurst parish, or miles NNW of Lymington. Pop. 13.

ALUM POT, a deep pond & a mile SW of Selside, and miles NNE of Kendal, Westmoreland. Its circum-Frence is at least 150 feet; its depth, from the rim, at least 165 feet, and from the surface of the water, after a drought, 130 feet.

ALUN, or ALLYN (THE). See ALLEN.
ALVANLEY, a township-chapetry in Frodsham earish, Cheshire; near Delamere forest, 13 mile S of lumbam r. station, and 3 SSW of Frodsham. town, Frodsham under Preston-Brook; Acres, 1,532. Real property, £2,171. Pop., 330. Houses, 55. The nanor has belonged, for many generations, to the Arden family; and gives them the title of Baron. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £160.* l'atrons, the Ilon, Miss Arden and others. The church was built in 1860, and a national school in 1861.

ALVASTON, a township in Nantwich parish, Chesiaire; 14 mile N of Nantwich. It includes part of Beam Heath. Acres, 616. Real property, £1,380. Pop., 28.

Houses, 6.

ALVASTON, a township-chapelry in St. Michael parish, Derby; on the Derwent river, near the Midland riiway, 3 miles SE of Derby. It has a post-office under Derby. Acres, 570. Rated property, £2,030. Pop., 5.55. Houses, 117. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £116. Petrons, the parishioners. The church was rebuilt in 1856. There are Presbyterian and Wes-ieyan chapels, and a clurch school.

ALVECHURCH, a vulage and a parish in Bromsgrove district, Worcester. The village stands adjacent to the Worcester and Birmingham caual, and to the Redditch branch of the Bristol and Birmingham railway, near Lyknield-Street, 5 miles NE of Bromsgrove; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Bromsgrove. It was formerly a borough; and it had, from the time of Henry H, till the time of Charles I., a palice of the Bishops of Worcester. Fairs are held on 3 May and 11 Aug. The parish is cut, for local purposes, into the sections of Yields of Town-Green, Barn-Green, Ferrili with Hopwood, and Lea End. Acres, 6,747. Real property, £12,518. Pop. 1,713. Houses, 352. The property is much subdivided. A chief residence is Bordes-ley Park, 11 mile SE of the village. A tunnel of the canal, nearly 3 miles long, begins at Hopwood. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £1,200.* Patron, the Bishop of Worcester. The church, excepting the tower, was recently rebuilt, at a cost of £3,200. There are a mission chapel, a Baptist chapel, £3,200. There are a mission chaper, a depute chaper, and endowed school with £36 a-year, and charities £33. Moore, the nonconformist, and Hicks, the author of "Thesaurus," were rectors. "Thesaurus," were rectors.

ALVECOTE PRIORY. See SHUTTINGTON.

ALVEDISTON. See ALVESDISTON.

ALVELEY, a township and a parish in Bridgnorth district, Salop. The township lies on the river Severn, adjacent to the Severn Valley railway, near Higley r. station, 8 miles NNW of Kidderminster; and has a poststation, 8 miles NNW of Nidderminster; and has a post-office under Bridgnorth. Pop., 882. Houses, 194. The parish includes also the township of Nordley-Regis and the liberty of Romsley. Acres, 6,788. Keal property, £8,423. Pop., 1,018. Houses, 225. The property is nuch subdivided. Lead ore occurs. The fiving is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £103. Patron. Mrs. Wakeman. The church had a chantry. A school has £26 a-year from endowment, and other charities £97. ALVERBANK, a group of Gothic villas on the shore,

2 miles SW of Gosport, Hants. One of them, built by the late Right Hon. John W. Crocker, was, in 1857, th residence of Prince Alfred.

ALVERDISCOTT, or ALSCOTT, a parish in Torrington district. Devon: 4 miles SE of Instowr. station, and ton district, Devon; 4 miles SE of Instowr, station, and 5 E of Bideford. Post-town, Newton-Tracy mnder Barnstaple. Acres, 2,273. Real property, £1,870. Pop., 306. Houses, 64. The property is not runch divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £183.* Patrons, Kev. E. Sturges, Rev. W. H. Bond, and H. Gibson, Esq. The church is old. A small Metholist chapel stands at Stone-Cross. ALVERSTOKE, a village, a parish, a liberty, a sub district, and a district in Hants. The village stands alignest to Stokeshay restation, opnosite Switchel. 13 adjacent to Stoke-bay r. station, opposite Spithead, 13 mile SSW of Gosport; and has a post-office under Gosport. It is a pleasant place, with charming environs.— The parish includes also the town of Gosport, the villages of Forton, Hardway, and Elson, the watering place of Anglesey, the villas of Alverbank, the Forton military Anguser, the vinus of Alverbank, the Forton military prison, the royal marine barracks, the Haslar barracks, the royal naval hospital, Blockhouse fort, and Fort Monckton. Acres, 5,222. Real property, £48,097,—of which £18,368 are in Gosport. Pop. in 1841, 13,510; in 1861, 22,533. Houses, 3,436. The manor was correct but have been seen to be a superconduction of the second second seed to be a superconduction of the second second seed to be a superconduction of the second second seed to be a superconduction of the second second seed to be a superconduction of the second second seed to be a superconduction of the second given by the noble Saxon lady Alwara to the church of Winchester; and it still belongs to the Bishop of Winchester as superior. Many excellent mansions, villas, and other residences, with gardens and terraces, adorn the surface and the shores; and a rich extensive prospect is enjoyed of the Solent and the Isle of Wight. Stoke-bay is now a noted roadstead, where all the steam war ships, when newly fitted with their engines, test their speed at the measured mile. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Whichester; and includes the curacy of Anglesey. Value, £1,087.* Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The vicatages of Trinity-Gosport, St. Matthew-Gosport, St. John-Forton, and St. Thomas-Elson are separate benefices. The parochial church is Saxon, built in 1130, repeatedly restored, and now chiefly modern. Christ church, in the decorated English style, was opened in June, 1865. Charities, 217. Dr. Wilberforce, the present bishop of Oxford, was once rector here; and Dr. Trench, the present Archbishop of Dublin, was his curate.

The liberty, the sub-district, and the district of Alverstoke, are co-extensive with the parish. The administration for the poor is still under the act of 43 Eliz. Poor rates in 1867, £8,276. Marriages in 1866, £35; 33 births, 757, -of which 23 were illegitimate; deaths, 474, of which 134 were at ages under 5 years, and 6 were at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years were at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,099; births, 6,287; deaths, 5,110. The places of worship in 1851 were 7 of the Church of Eag-land, with 6,102 sittings; 3 of Independents, with 1,630 s.; 2 of Baptists, with 320 s.; 2 of Weslevan Metholitss, 2 of the 2 of th with 754 e.; 1 of the Wesleyan Methodist Association. with 210 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 85 s.; 1 of Roman Catholics, with 200 s.; and 1 undefined, with The schools in 1851 were 9 public day-schools. with 1,076 scholars; 35 private day-schools, with 794 s.; and 13 Sunday schools, with 1,406 s.

ALVERSTON, an ancient manor in Brading parish, Isle of Wight; on the Yar river, 2 miles SW of Brading.

Isle of Wight; on the Yar river, 2 miles SW of Erading. Its Saxon proprietor, Tori, was allowed to retain possession at the Conquest. A free chapel was founded on it by the Strangways, but has gone to ruin.

ALVERTHORPE, a village, a township, a chapelry, and a sub-district in Wakefield parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stauds near the Midland railway, 14 mile NW of Wakefield; and has a post-office under Wakefield. The township bears the name of Alverthorpewith Thornes; lies partly within the borough boundaries of Wakefield; and contains the hamlets of Fanshaw, of Wakefield; and contains the hamlets of Fanshaw, Kirkham-Gate, and Silcoates, and part of the hamlet of Newton. Acres, 3,153. Real property, £23,690. Pop., £645. Houses, 1,423. The property is much subdivided.—The chapelry was constituted in 1830. Pop., 4,590. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £300.* Patren, the Vicar of Wakefield. The church is large, modern, and handsome. There are three Methodist changes the Northern Congressional three Methodist chapels, the Northern Congregational grammar school, four national schools, and charities £50. -The sub-district is co-extensive with the township.

ALVERTON, a hamlet in Kilvington parish, Notts;

7 miles S of Newark. Pop., 40. Houses, 7.
ALVERTON, a hamlet in the western vicinity of Penzance, Cornwall.

Penzance, Cornwall.

ALVESCOTT, a parish in Witney district, Oxford; near the Cheltenham and Faringdon railway, 3½ miles WNW of Bampton. Post-town, Bampton, under Faringdon. Acres, 2,690. Real property, 22,961. Pop, 407. Houses, 85. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the discusse of Oxford. Value, £371. Patron, Rev. A. Neate. The church is cruciform, in early Eaglish, with plain Norman tower. There are a Baptist chapt, a free school, and charities £22.

ALVESUISTON, or ALVEDISTON, a parish in Tisbury district. Wilts; on an affluent of the Avon, under White-district.

ALVESDISTON, or ALVEDISTON, a parish in Tisbury district, Wilts; on an affluent of the Avon, under White-sheet-hill, 4 miles SSE of Tisbury r. station, and 3 E of Shaftesbury. Post-town, Broad Chalk under Salisbury. Acres, 2,531. Real property, with Berwick-St. John and Tollard-Royal, £7,250. Pop. 267. Houses, 56. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £32.* Patren, the Vicar of Broad Chalk. The church is good. ALVESTON a parish in Theraphury district. Glouces.

ALVESTON, a parish in Thornbury district, Gloucester; 13 mile S of Thornbury, 2½ E of the Bristol and Wales railway, and 6 WNW of Yate r. station. It has Wales railway, and 6 WNW of Yate r. station. It has a post-office under Bristol; and contains the hamlets of Grovening and Urcat. Acres, 2,518. Real property, £5,334. Pop., 841. Houses, 188. The property is much subdivided. Vestiges of Roman camps occur on Oldbury-hill and Castle-hill. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £250. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Bristol. The church is ancient. There are two Methodist chapels, a national is ancient. Interest are two sectionists chapters, a diatoma-school, and charities £6.

ALVESTON, a village and a parish in Stratford-on-Avon district, Warwick. The village stands near the Avon, under Welcombe hills, amid charming environs, Avon, under Wetcombe little, aims charming eavitous, 21 miles ENE of Stratford-on-Avon r. station; was pronounced by Dr. Parry the Montpelier of England; and has a post-office under Stratford-on-Avon. The parish contains also the pleasant village of Tiddington. Acres. 4,300. Real property, £8,531. Pop., 811. Houses, 191. The property is much subdivided. A chief residence is Alveston House. The living is a vicarage in the diecese of Worcester. Value, £220. ratron, and the church contains some fine. Charities, £46.

Rector of Hampton-Lucy. The church contains some fino-tombs of the Lucys, and is very good. Charities, £46. ALVETON. See ALTON, Stafford. ALVINGHAM, a parish in Louth district, Lincoln; ou the Louth canal, 3; miles NE of Louth r. station. on the Louth canal, 31 miles AE of Louent Post-town, Louth Acres, 1,940. Real property, £2,802. Pop., 350. Houses, 74. The property is much subdivided. A Gilbertine priory stood here, dedicated to the Virgin and St. Adelwold; and was given, the dissolution, to the Clintons. The living is a contract of the contract of cated to the virgin and St. Adelwold; and was given, at the dissolution, to the Clintons. The living is a vicarage, united with Cockerington, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £170. Patron, the Bishop of L. The church is ancient. There are three Methodist chapels.

ALVINGTON, a parish in the district of Chepstow

ALVINCTON, a parish in the district of Chepstow and county of Gloucester; on the estuary of the Severn, and the South Wales railway, near Wollaston r. station, 2 miles SW of Lydney. Post-town, Lythey. Acres, 2,553; of which 500 are water. Real property, £2,709. Pop. 369. Houses, 79. The manor belongs to the family of Noel. The living is a p. curacy annexed the rectory of Wollaston, in the diocess of Gloucester and Bristol. The ancient church was a cell to Llantony aLVINGTON, a hamlet in Brimpton parish, Somer-set; 2 miles W of Yeevil.

ALVINGTON, Devon. See ALLINGTON. ALWALTON, a parish in the district of Peterborough and county of Huntingdon; on the river Nen, 2 miles SW of Overton r. station, and 5 WSW of Peterborough. SW of Overton r. station, and 5 WSW of Peterberough. It has a post-office under Peterborough; and contains the mansion of Alwalton Castle. Acres, 1,010. Real property, £1,704. Pop., 342. Houses, 63. The manor was given anciently to the monks of Peterborough, and transferred by Henry VIII. to the Dean and Chapter of Detarborough. Peterborough. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the discase of Ely. Value, £200.* Patron, the Hon. G. W. Fitzwilliam. The church is partly Norman, and was recently restored. There are a Weslevan chapel and a British school.

See ALLERBY. ALWARDBY.

ALWEN (THE), a stream of North Wales. It issues from Llyn-Alwen, a small lake 71 miles ESE of Llaurwst; and runs 14 miles south-eastward to the Dec, about 13

mile above Corwen.

mile above Corwen.

ALWINGTON, a parish in Bideford district, Devou; on the river Yeo, 4 miles SW by W of Bideford r. station. It contains the hamlets of Fairy-Cross, Ford, and Weedtown; and its post-town is Bideford. Acres, 2,653. Real property, £1,802. Pop., 359. Houses, 74. The Coffin family have held the manor since the Conquest, and have a handsome residence on it called Portledge. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £243.* Patron, J. R. P. Cotlin, Esq. The church is a very aucient pile, with lofty pinnacled tower; and contains several monuments. Remains of an ancient chapel occur at Yeo vale; and there is a small Wesleyan chanel at Ford. Charities, £16.

ALWINTON. See ALLENTON.
ALWOODLEY, a township in Harewood parish, W.
R. Yorkshire; 4½ miles N of Leeds. Acres, 1,511. Pop. 140. Houses, 28,

140. Houses, 25.
ALWYE (The). See OLWY.
AMAN (THE). See AEERMAN.
AMASTON, a township in Alberbury parish, Salop;
8 miles W of Shrewsbury.

AMBER (THE), a streamlet of Derbyshire, about 4 miles long, falling into the Derwent, 31 miles N of Belper.

AMBERGATE, a station on the Midland railway, near the mouth of the Amber rivulet, 101 miles N of Derby. Here are a post-office under Derby, and extensive limeworks. A branch railway, of 11½ miles, goes off hence north-north-westward to Rowley, and traverses one of the most grandly picturesque districts in the empire. See NOTTINGHAM AND GRANTHAM RAILWAY.

AMBERLEY, a township in Murden parish, Hereford; 4 miles ENE of Moreton r. station. Acres, 377. Pop.

30. Houses, 7.
AMBERLEY, a handet in Minchinhampton parish, and a chapelry in Minchinhampton and Rodborough parishes, Gloucester. The hamlet stands near Nailsparisies, Groucester. The namet scanus hear ranis-worth, 3 miles S of Stroud r. station; and its post-town is Nailsworth under Stroud. The chapelry includes the hamlet, and was constituted in 1841. Pop., 1,433. Houses, 364. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £300.* Patron, D. Ricardo, Esq

AMBERLEY, a village in Worthing district, and a parish partly also in Thakeham district, Sussex. The village stands on the river Arun, and on the Arundel railway, under the South Downs, 41 miles N by E of Arundel; and has a station on the railway. It is a quaint, old-fashioned, picturesque place; and has a post-office under Arundel. A palace at it, now used as a farmhouse, was a residence of the Bishops of Chichester, originating soon after the Conquest, castellated in 1379, forming a parallelogram, with square towers at the corners, and round towers at the gateway, and seized and dismantled by Waller in 1643. The parish church is dismantled by water in 1043. The parish courca is variously Norman and early English; and has a fine Norman chancel arch, and a very rich early English south door. The Wild Brook marsh adjacent is fooded in winter, but yields profusion of turf and cranberries in summer; and the river Arun runs through it, and coasummer; and the river Arun runs through it, and contains here choice salmon peel, which have long been noted as Amberley trout. The parish includes also the hamlet of Rackham. Acres, 2,900. Real property, 24,576. Pop., 650. Houses, 135. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Houghton, in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £166. Patron, the Bishop of Chichester. A school has an endowed income of £105, and other charities £12. ties £12.

AMEERSHAM (North and South), two tythings in Mi Ihurst district, Sussex; on the river Rother, 21 miles ESE of Mikhurst. They belong to Steep parish, but lie detached from the rest of it; and, prior to 1844, they were in Hampshire. Acres of N. A., 1,112. Pop., 111. Houses, 19. Acres of S. A., 1,506. Pop., 143.

Houses, S.

AMBERWOOD, a snall extra-parochial tract in New Forest district, Hants; 64 miles SW of Romsey.

AMBLE, a township in Warkworth parish, Northumberland; on the coast, and on the Coquet branch railway, 11 mile SSE of Warkworth. It contains a village of its own name, well-built and chiefly modern; has a post-office; under Acklington, Independent, Wesleyan, and Roman Catholic chapels, and extensive coal-mines; and carries on commerce at Coquet harbour. Acres, 1,112.

Pop., 1,275. Houses, 264.

AMBLECOAT, a hamlet and a chapelry in Old Swinford parish, Stafford. The hamlet stands on the southern verge of the county, at the river Stour; and is southern verge of the county, at the river stour; and is suburban to Stourbridge, being separated from it only by the river. Acres, 639. Real property, with Kingswinford, ±273,463,—of which £66,786 are in mines, £128,936 in iron-works, and £9,550 in causla. Popt., 2,613. Houses, 531. The inhabitants are employed 2,613. Houses, 551. The himaginants are supposed chiefly in potteries, glass-works, collieries, and iron-works.—The chapelry was constituted in 1845, and originally included Woolaston, but since 1860, has been originally inclined a botasion, our since 1997, has been coextensive with Amblecoat hamlet. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £100. *Patron, the Earl of Stamford. The church stands on an eminence, was opened in 1814, and is a pleasing structure of fire bricks.

AMBLESIDE, a small town, a township, a chapelry, AMBLENDE, a smail town, a township, a chaperry, and a sub-district, in Westmoreland. The town stands on a central spot of the Lake country, at the mouths of Stockgill glen and Rothny valc, under Wansfell and Faitheld mountain, I unle above the head of Windermere lake, and 4½ NNW of Windermere r. station. It is a great resort of tourists for visiting the Lakey; and it is a great resort of tourists for visiting the Lakey; and it commands a very noble circle of views and drives. presents an irregular appearance; but it has, of late years, been much extended and improved; and it contains three large hotels, some comfortable lodging-houses, and many good shops. It has a post-office, under Windermere, a banking-office, a library, a national school, and a free grammar school; and is a polling-place, and a seat of petty sessions. Coaches run from it daily to Winder-mere, Grasmere, Keswick, and Cockermouth. A market is held on Wednesday; and fairs on Whit-Wednesday, is neu on Weitnesstay; and lairs on Whit-Weitnesstay, and on 18 and 29 Oct. An ancient cross stood in the market-place. A church, built in 1812, stands within the town, continues to be in use; and a new church, built in 1854, in the mediaval style, with a memorial window to Wordsworth, and a disproportionately large steeple, stands in the vale to the west. There are a chapel for Methodists, a town-hall built in 1858, and a mechanics' institute. A bohbin mill, of picturesque appearance, is in the mouth of Stockgill glen. The Koman of Windermere, and can still be faintly traced. Many Roman coins and other Roman relics have been found there; and some of them are preserved at Oxford. Ambleside dates from renote times; and was called first Amelsate, and afterwards Hamelside. A peculiar cer-mony, which originated in the time of Pope Gregory IV., and includes a procession of school children bearing flower-garlands to the church, is observed annually on the eve of the last Sunday in July. Hence the lines of Wordsworth,-

"Forth by rustic music led, The village children, while the sky is red With evening light, advance in long array Through the still churchyard, each with garland gay, That, carried sceptre-like, o'ertops the head Of the proud wearer.

The township of Ambleside is partly in the parish of Windermer, partly in that of Grasmer. Acres, 3,244, —of which 454 are water. Real property, £7,482,
Pop., 1,603. Houses, 206. The property is much subdivided. Many parts are adorned with fine residences, divided. Many parts are adorned with fine residences, and with gardens, lawns, or woods. One part in the west contains a large slate quarry; and the mountains contain lead and copper ore. The chapelry is co-extensive with the township; and is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £50. Patron, General Le Fleming. Charities, £144.—The sub-district comprises twelve townships in the parishes of Windermere, Grasmere, and Kendal. Acres, together with Grayrigg subdistrict, 10,616. Pop., exclusive of Grayrigg, 8,404. Houses, 1,527.

AMBLESTON, a parish in Haverfordwest district.

AMBLESTON, a parish in Haverfordwest district, Pembroke; on an affluent of the river Cleddy, 5 miles NNW of Clarbeston road r. station, and 8 NNE of Haverfordwest. Post-town, Haverfordwest. Acres, 3,956. vertordwest. Post-town, Haverfordwest. Acres, 9,956. Real property, 22,980. Pop., 524. Houses, 118. The Roman station Ad Vigesimum, on the Via Julia Maritima, occurs about a mile NE of the church, and berrima, popularly the name of Castle Flemish. The Jiving is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, 2183. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. There is a Calvinistic Methodist chapel.

AMBRESBURY. See AMESDURY. AMBROSDEX, a village and a parish in Bicester dis-trict, Oxford. The village stands near the river Ray, adjacent to the Oxford and Bietchley milway, 24 miles SE by S of Bicester. Its name is supposed to have been derived from Ambrosius Aurelius, the British Merlin, who encamped here during the siege of Alcester by the Saxons. Ambrosden Park, adjacent on the NW, was the seat of the late Sir G. Page Turner, Bart. The parish includes also the hamlets of Blackthorn and Arncott. includes also the hamlets of Blackthorn and Arnoott, Post-town, Encester, Acres, 4,865. Real property, £4,248. Pop., 871. Houses, 210. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford, Value, £228. Patrons, the trustees of the late Sir G. P. Turner. The church is decorated early English. Charities, £40. Bishop Kennet, the author of "Parochial Antiquities," was for some fine vices. for some time vicar.

АМВКОТИ. See Амкоти.

AMCOTTES, a township-chapelry in Althorps parish, Lincoln; on the river Trent, 5 miles E by N of Crowle, Post-town, Althorpe under Bawtry. Pop., 374. Houses, 75. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln; ! and was formerly annexed to the rectory of Althorpe, but was recently made a separate benefice. Value, £260. l'atron, the Crown. The church is new. A former church, dedicated to St. Thomas à Becket, fell down There is a Wesleyan chapel.

in 1849. There is a Westeyan enaper.

AMELSATE. See AMBLESIDE.

AMERDALE, an upland vale in the parish of Arnelifie, W. R. Yorkshire. The Skirfare rivulet runs along its bottom on a rocky bed; and, in dry seasons, alternately merges and reappears.

AMERSHAM, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Bucks. The town was formerly called Agmondesham. It stands in a pleasant valley near the mondesham. It stands in a pleasant valley near the Misbourne tributary of the river Colne, surrounded by wood-crowned hills, 71 miles ENE of Wycombe r. station, and 81 SSW of Berkhampstead. It consists chiefly of a long street crossed by a shorter one. The townhouse was erected, in 1652, by Sir William Drake; and is a substantial brick edifice, with arched and pillared is a substantial brick editice, with arched and pulared basement, used as a market-place, and a surmounting clock lantern. The parish church is a Gothic edifice of brick coated with stucco; has a fine east window, filled with ancient stained glass; and contains monuments of the Drakes, the Dents, and the Curwens. nients of the Drakes, the Lents, and the Curwens. There are four dissenting chaples, a free grammar-school, founded in 1620, with endowed income of £86, and three exhibitions at Oxford; endowed writing-school, Sunday school, alms-houses, and other charities with aggregately £342; and a workhouse. A weekly market is held on Thesday, and fairs, on Whit Monday and 10 Sept. Manufactures of straw-plait, black lace, silk crape, and wooden chairs are carried on. The town has a head post-office; and two hotels, and publishes a biweekly newspaper. It was a borough, from the time of Fdward I., sending two members to parliament; but was disfranchised by the act of 1832. The Drakes represented it for upwards of two centuries; the poet Waller, in the reign of Charles I.; and Algernon Sydney, in 1679. Several of its inhabitants were burnt at the stake, as martyrs, in the times of Henry I. and of Mary; and John Knox preached in its church. Pop., 3,019. Houses, 578.

The parish includes also part of the hamlet of Coleshill. Acres, 10,544. Real property, £6,677. Pop. 3,550. Houses, 698. The property is not much divided. The manor belonged to the Nevilles, to Warwick the brakes. Shardeloes, the manor-house, stands about a mile NW of the town, and is a fine edifice designed by Adams. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £1,331.* Patron, T. T. Drake, Esq.—The subdistrict is co-extensive with the parish.—The district comprehends also the sub-district of Missenden, containing the parishes of Lce and Great Missenden; ing the parishes of Lee and Great Missenden; the sub-district of Chesham, containing the parishes of Chesham, and Chesham-Bois; the sub-district of Chalfont, contain-ing the parishes of Chenies, Chalfont-St. Giles, and Chalfont-St. Peter; and the sub-district of Beaconsfield, containing the parishes of B. and Penn, and the chapelry of Seer-Green. Acres, 49,840. Poor-rates in 1866, £10,021. Pop. in 1841, 18,212; in 1861, 18,240. Houses, 3,826. Marriages in 1866, 111; births, 617,— of which 42 were illegitimate; deaths, 351,—of which 148 were at area under 5 wers and 11 at area shows 5. 148 were at ages under 5 years, and 11 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,197; births, 6,167; Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,197; births, 6,167; deaths, 4,653. The places of worship in 1851 were 14 of the Church of England, with 6,109 sittings; 3 of Independents, with 1,150 s.; 18 of Baptists, with 4,458 s.; 2 of Quakers, with 430 s.; 3 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 300 s.; 5 of Primitive Methodists, with 620 s.; and 1 of Weslevan Methodist Reformers, with 143 s. I of Wesleyan Methodist Reformers, with 143 s. The schools in 1851 were 27 public day schools, with 1,753 scholars; 47 private day schools, with 802 s.; 33 Sun-day schools, with 3,367 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 60 s. AMERTON, a township in Stowe parish, Stafford-shire; 54 miles NE of Stafford. Pop., 120. AMESBURY, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, a hundred, and a district, in Wilts. The town stands in the valley of the Avon, 4 miles NW of Porton r. station, and 7½ N of Salisbury. It was formerly called Ambrosbury, Ambresbury, and Amblesberie; and it pro-bably derived its name from the ancient British chief Dably derived its name from the ancient pritish enter Ambrosius Aurelius. It dates from a high antiquity; and was the meeting place of a synod, in the time of king Edgar, for settling disputes between the regular and the secular clergy. A densely-wooded hill in its western vicinity bears the name of Vespasian's camp, and is marked by military defences round an area of 30 acres, which are believed to have been first formed by the ancient Britons, and afterwards strangeling. cient Britons, and afterwards strengthened and held by the Romans. Stoneheuge and the Cursus are only 14 mile beyond this hill; and several other ancient monuments are near. A monastery for 300 monks was founded at the town either by the British Ambrosius or by a contemporary churchman; and this was succeeded, about the year 980, by a Benedictine numery, founded by Queen Elfrida, on account of the murder of her son-inlaw, Edward, at Corfe Castle. The nunnery was converted by King Henry II. into a cell to the great convent of Font Everault in Anjou; became the retreat of several royal and noble ladies,—particularly Mary, daughter of Edward I., and Eleanor, queen of Henry Ill.; and rose again to be an independent monastery, one of the richest again to be an independent monastery, one of the richest non-nitred abbeys in England. A noble manison now occupies the site of the abbey, and bears its name. This was the seat of the Duke of Queensherry, built by Webb, from designs by Inigo Jones, and subsequently improved by the Earl of Burlington; it was also the retreat of the poet Gay, where he wrote the Beggar's Opera; and it passed, in 1824, to Sir Edmond Antrobus, Bart., and was afterwards in creat measure rebuilt, and adorned with a Coin 1824, to Sir Edmond Antrobus, Bart., and was afterwards in great measure rebuilt, and adorned with a Corinthian portico. The parish church belonged originally to the abbey, was well restored in 1853, and contains rich features of the early pointed style. The town has fallen greatly into decay; but still possesses interest for sake of the attractions around it; and it has a post-office; under Salisbury, a hotel, a Methodist chapel, two free schools, and a workhouse. The two schools have an endowed income of £115; and other charities laws £42 dowed income of £115; and other charities have £42. A weekly market was formerly held on Friday, but has been discontinued; and fairs are held on 17 May, 22 June, and 21 Dec. The immediate environs, along the Avon, are wooded and charming, while the country be-yond is bleak and dreary, but celebrated for coursing. Prime pipe clay is sometimes found in diggings; and famous loaches are caught in the streams.

The parish contains also the hamlet of Little or West The parish contains also the hamlet of Little or West Amesbury. Acres, 5,890. Real property, £7,490. Pop., 1,138. Houses, 229. The property belongs chiefly to the estate of Amesbury Abbey. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £141.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Windsor.—The sub-district comprises eight parishes. Acres, 27,363. Pop., 2,753. Houses, 783.—The hundred includes thirteen district compresse eight parishes. Acres, 21,000. App., 3,755. Houses, 753.—The hundred includes thirteen parishes, and parts of four other parishes. Acres, 35,832. Pop., 5,242. Houses, 1,104.—The district comprehends the sub-district of Amesbury, containing the parishes of Amesbury, Woodford, Durnford, Wilsford, Bulford, Durrington, Milston, and Figheldean; ford, Duttora, Dutrington, Auston, and rignemean; the sub-district of Orcheston, containing the parishes of Orcheston St. Mary, Orcheston St. George, Tilshead, Shrewton, Maddington, Rolistone, and Winterbourne, Stoke; and the sub-district of Winterbourne, containing the parishes of Winterbourne-Gunner, Winter-bourne-Dantsey, Winterbourne-Earls, West Cholderbourne-Dantsey, Winterbourne-Earls, West Cholderton, Newton-Toney, Allington, Boscombe, and Idniston. Acres 62,420. Foor-rates in 18-66, 45-549. Pop. in 1841, 7,706; in 1861, 8,127. Houses, 1/723. Marriages in 18-65, 41; births, 234,—of which 18 were allegitimate; deaths, 129,—of which 39 were at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 565; births, 2,536; deaths, 1,636. The places of worship in 18-51 were 24 of the Church of England, with 4,195 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 550 s.; 1 of Expitsts, with 550 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 302 s.; and 2 of Primitive Methodists, with 302 s.; and 2 of Primitive Methodists.

dists, with 130 s. The schools in 1851 were 21 public day schools, with 966 scholars; 9 private day schools, with 116 s.: and 24 Sunday schools, with 1,284 s.

AMICOMBE HILL, a mountain on the NW of Dartmoor, Devon; 51 miles SSW of Okehampton. It has an altitude of 2,000 feet, and commands an extensive view.

AMINGTON. See ALMINGTON.
AMINGTON. See ALMINGTON.
AMILWCH, a seaport town, a parish, and a sub-district, in Anglesey. The town stands on a small bay, 17 miles NW of Beaumaris; and is at the terminus of the Anglesey Central railway, opened in 1866. It was a fishing hamlet of only six houses in 1766; but it speeddy acquired bulk and importance by the working of the mines in the Parys mountain. It is itself dingy and disagreeable; but its neighbourhood contains very fine coast scenery, and commands some noble views. The harbour was cut out of slate rock, is protected by a breakwater, and has capacity for thirty vessels of 200 tons' burden. A fixed light is on the north pier, 26 feet high, visible at the distance of 8 miles; and a number of rocks or small islets, one of them serving as a seamark, he off the entrance. A small steamer phes weekly to Liverpool and Holyhead. The town has a post-officer bunder Eangor, a banking-office, two hotels, a parish church, four dissenting chapels, several good schools, and a scientific and literary institution. The parish church is a large and handsome edifice, built by the The parish Parys mine company, at a cost of £4,000. Many of the inhabitants are miners; and others are employed in alum and vitriol works and in shoemaking. Fairs are held on 8 March, 4 May, 12 Aug., and 21 Oct. Amlwch is a parliamentary borough under the Reform bill, united in the franchise with Beaumaris and Holyhead. Pop., 3,207. Houses, 825.

The Parys mountain is situated 2 miles S of the town. Its aspect, rising into vast rocks of aluminous shale and whitish quartz, is very sugged and impressive; and its picturesque appearance has been greatly increased by pacturesque appearance has been greatly indicessed by the mining operations. The Romans are believed to have obtained copper ore on it; and various vestiges of ancient workings have been observed, and some very ancient stone utensils found. Trials in quest of ore began to be made in 1761, and resulted in splendid discoveries on 2 March, 1768,—a day which has ever since been celebrated here by an annual festival. Rich lodes were found at a depth of only 7 feet from the surface; and two great mines, called the Parys mine and the Mona mine, were worked most productively, chiefly in the manner of quarries, till 1800. The Mona mine then the manner of quarries, till 1900. The stond finite then became unprofitable, and the Parys fell greatly off; but in 1811, by means of sinking and improved management, they again became valuable. The ore is chiefly a sufphate of copper; and the bed of it in the Mona mine was 300 feet broad, and in some parts 72 feet thick. A lead ore, yielding from 60 to 1,000 pounds of lead and 57 ounces of silver per ton, occurs occasionally in a stratum of vellow saponaceons clay above the copper ore. The produce of copper at the richest period of the workings, was worth £300,000 a-year. The deepest shaft sunk is about 200 fathoms. The mires belong to the Marquis of Anglesey and the representatives of the late Lord Dinorben.

The parish of Amlweb includes the borough of Amlweb, the chapelry of Llanwenllwyfe, and most of the town and chapelry of Llanerchymedd. Acres, 10,977. Real property, £7,590. Pop., 5,949. Houses, 1,450. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Eargor. Value, £217. Patron, the in the discess of Bangor. Value, £217. Patron, the Bislop of 1. The vic. of Linnerchymedd is separate.

-The sub-district comprises two parishes. Acres, 13,575. Pop., 7,777. Houses, 1,886.

AMMAN, or AMMOND (Tue), a streamlet of Carmar-then, rising in the Black Mountains, and running 10 miles WSW to the Lougher in the vicinity of Bettws.

AMMINGTON. See ALMINGTON and Empiroros.

AMMOND. See AMMAN. AMNEY. See AMPNEY.

AMORIL, a village in Batheaston parish, Somerset; 2 miles NE of Bath.

AMOTHERBY, a township in Appleton-le-Street parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the Thirsk and Driffield railway, near the river Rye, under the Cleveland moors, 44 miles WNW of Malton. It has a station on the railway. Acres, 1,250. Real property, £2,779. Pop., 256. Houses, 54. A church was built in 1868.

AMOUNDERNESS, a hundred in Lancashire. It extends from the coast to Yorkshire; and contains Fleetwood, Garstang, and parts of Lancaster and Ribchester. Acres, 175,528. Pop. in 1851, 43,702; in 1861, 47.716.

Houses, 8,581.

Houses, 8,581.

AMPFIELD, a village and a chapelry in Hursley parish, Hants. The village stands 4 miles ENE of Remsey r. station; and has a post-office under Romsey. The chapelry was constituted in 1841; and is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester. Value, not reported. Patron, the Vicar of Hursley. The church is a neat Gothic structure, erected at the expense of Sir William Heatbeate Bart, and surrounded by a model burving. Heathcote, Bart., and surrounded by a model burying-ground. Pop., 531.

ground. rop., 501.

AMPLEFÖRTH, a village, three townships, and a parish in Helmsley district, N. R. Yorkshire. The village lies near the Thirsk and Driffield railway, 4 miles SW of Helmsley; it comprises the townships of Ampleforth-St. Peter and Ampleforth-Birdforth in the parish of Ampleforth, and the township of Ampleforth-Oswald-kirk, in the parish of Oswaldkirk; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office under York. Pop., 605. A Roman Catholic college was established at Ampleforth Lodge, in Ampleforth-Oswaldkirk, in 1802; grew from a small commencement to great size and consequence; received the addition of a church in 1856, and of new college buildings in 1861; is now a massive quadrazyular pile, in the pointed style of the 14th and 15th ce.duries; and numbers among its pupils many members of the English Romanist aristocracy. Ampleforth and Oswaldkirk parishes are interlocked with each other through the village. Acres of the two, 3,573. Real property, £6,516. Pop. of Ampleforth alone, 450. House, 99. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £261. Patron, the Archbishop of York. The church is good; and there are two Methodist chapels. Charities, £29. AMPNEY-CRUCIS, a parish in Circnester district, Gloucester; on Ampney brook, near Ermine-street, 3 miles E of Circnester r. station. It contains the haulet of Alcott-End; and its post-town is Circnester. Acres. quadrazgular pile, in the pointed style of the 14th and of Alcott-End; and its post-town is Circneester. Acres, of Alcott-End; and its post-town is enducated. Actes, 2,660. Real property, £4,728. Pop., 648. Houses, 132. The property is not much divided. Ampney Park is the seat of Earl Ducie. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £84. Patron, Rev. E. J. Brewster. The church is an ancient structure, dedicated to the Holy Cross, and in good condition. A free school, founded and endowed, in 1722, by Sir Robert Pleydell, has an endowed income of £80.

AMPNEY-DOWN, or Down-Ameney, a parish in Circucester district, Gloucester; on Ampney brook, the Thames and Severn canal, and Ermine-street, 3 miles NNE of Cricklade, and 6 ESE of Cirencester r. station. It has a post-office under Cricklade. Acres, 2,510. Real property, £3,713. Pop., 429. Houses, 82. The property is undivided. The manor belonged at Domesday to Ralph du Todini, and passed to the Duchy of Lan-caster, to the Villierses, to Speaker Hungerford, to the Dunches, to Secretary Craggs, to the Eliots, and to the Bouveries. A musion built on it, in the time of Henry VIII., by Sir Anthony Hungerford, still stands, but has been much altered by modern additions. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloncester and Bristol. Value, £116. Patron, Christ Church college, Oxford. The church is early English, built about the year 1260, by the Knights Timplars; and was partly rebuilt about 1315, partly repaired in 1863.

AMPNEY-ST. MARY, or ASHBROOK, a parish in Circuit Children and Children

AMPNEASA, MARY, or ASHBROOK, a parish in Cir-encester district, Gloucester; on Ampney brook, 4 miles E of Cirencester t. station. Post-town, Cirencester, Aeres, 1,170. Real property, 22,552, Pop., 125. Houses, 28. The property is not much divided. The Irving is a vicerage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bris-

Value, £71. Patron, M. H. Beach, Esq. The church is an ivy-clad, quaint-looking, very ancient edifice, recently renaired.

AMPNEY-ST. PETER, or Easington, a parish in Circucester district, Gloucester; contiguous to Ampuoy-St. Mary, 41 miles E of Circucester r. station. Post-St. Marty, 43 mines & of entencester r. station. To-town, Grencester. Acres, 533. Real property, £1,291. Pop., 183. Houses, 49. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Glou-cester and Bristol. Value, £60. Tatron, the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. The church is good.

AMPORT, a parish in Andover district, Hants; on the Basingstoke and Salisbury railway, near Grateley station, 5 miles WSW of Andover. It includes the tythings of Sarson and East Cholderton; and has a post-officet under Sarson and East Cholderton; and mas a post-omeet under Andover. Acres, 3,933. Real property, with Monxton, £6,988. Pop. of Amport, 706. Houses, 156. The manor belongs to the Marquis of Winchester, and had descended to him from the Norman honse of De Port, the common ancestors of the Paulets and the St. Johns. Amport House, the sent of the Marquis, has just been rebuilt, in the Tudor style, after designs by Mr. Burns; and stands in a pleasant undulating park much marked with single trees. The living is a vicar-age, united till 1865 with Appleshaw, in the dio. of Win-chester. Value, £590.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Chichester. The church is chiefly in the late decorated style, with a central tower. There is a Primitive Methodist chapel. There are also an endowed school and en-dist chapel. There are also an eucowed school and en-towed almshouses, with jointly £150 a-year.

AMPTHILL, a small town, a park, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Beds. The town stands on a pleasant spot, overlooked by hills, 2½ miles £E of the Ampthill or Marston station of the Northwestern railway, and 7.8 by W of Bedford. It is not so we to when the west. and 7 S by W of Bedford. It is neat and regular; and has a head post-office, a banking-office, two chief inns, an old moot-hall, a new market-house, a parish church, three chapels for Independents, Weslevan Methodists, and Quakers, a national school, a workhouse, and two almshouses. The parish church consists of nave, aisles, and chancel; is in the later English style, with a tower at the west end; and contains a mural monument to the mewest ent; and contains a nural monument to the memory of Governor Nicholl, who fell in the sea-fight off Solebay in 1672. The town is a seat of petty sessions, and a polling-place. Most of its inhalitants are agricultural; but some are employed in an extensive brewery, and many are employed in straw-platting and bonnet-sewing. A weekly market is held on Thursday; and fairs on 4 May and 30 Nov.

Ampthill Park adjoins the town on the NW, and is united to Houghton Park on the NE. It was the seat of the late Lord Holland; and is now occupied by Lord Wenseydale. A castle was built on it, in the time of Ilenry VI., by Sir John Cornwall, afterwards Lord Fanhope; and was the residence of Catherine of Armgon, during the process instituted against her by Henry VIII. A cross, in commemoration of this event, was erected in 1770 by the Earl of Ossory, then proprietor of the estate, and bears an inscription from the pen of Horace Walpole. The present mansion stands on lower ground than the site of the ancient castle, yet commands an extensive view of the vale of Bedford, and is a magnificent edifiec, built by Lord Ashburnham, and containing some valuable paintings and a museum. The estate was constitated by Henry VIII. a royal domain, under the name of the Honour of Ampthill. The park is spacious, well diversified with picturesque scenes, and much studded with venerable oaks. Houghton Park contains the pearrace under which Sir Philip Sidney is said to have written part of his "Arcadia," and remains of the house built by "Sidney's sister, Pembroke's mother." A beautiful grove of lime-trees, called the Alameda, was planted by Lord Holland for the recreation of the townspeople.

The parish of Ampthill comprises 1,928 acres. Real property, £8,651. Pop., 2,144. Houses, 439. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £280." Patron, the Lord Chancellor.—The sub-district comprises 9 parishes, and part of another. Acres, 19,118. Pop., 9,076, Houses, 1,897.—The district comprehends the sub-district of Cranfield, containing the parishes of Cranfield, Liddington, and Marston-Moretaine; the sub-district of Shillington, containing the parishes of the succussive of summageon, containing the particles of Shillington, Upper Gravenhurst, Lower Graverhurst, Highau-Gobion, Clophill, and part of Flitton; and the sub-district of Ampthill, containing the particles of Ampthill, Hongaton-Conquest, Hawnes, Madden, Phys. Ampunii, Hongaton-Conquest, mawnes, mannen, run-loxhill, Westoning, Flitwick, Steppingley, Milbrook and part of Flitton. Acres, 41,551. Poor-rates in 1866, £10,281. Pop. in 1881, 16,970. Houses, 3,519. Marriages in 1866, 159; births, 646, of which 47 were illegitimate; deaths, 370,-of which 160 were at ages under timate; deaths, oro,—o. when 100 were at ages much 5 years, and 8 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,293; births, 5,742; deaths, 3,565. The places of worship in 1851 were 20 of the Church of The places of worship in 1891 were 20 of the United of England, with 6,305 sittings; 1 of Independents, with 290 s; 3 of Baptists, with 1,052 s; 1 of Quakers, with 220 s; 13 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,360 a; 3 of Primitive Methodists, with 309 s; and 3 undefined, with 672 s. The schools in 1851 were 18 public day schools, with 1,209 scholars; 19 private day schools, with 423 s.; 36 Sunday schools, with 3,657 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 91 s.

for alclts, with 91 s.

AMPTON, a parish in Thingoe district, Suffolk; 5 miles N of Bury St. Edmunds r. station. It has a postoffice under Eury St. Edmunds. Acres, 736. Real property, £910. Pop., 131. Houses, 28. Ampton Hall, the seat of H. Rodwell, Esq., is a large brick children

The billion is a carton in the discovery. in a spacious park. The living is a rectory in the dioceso of Ely. Value, £172. Patron, Hun. Rodwell, Esq. The church is a plain brick building, with a stone tower, and has a brass. Charities, Calthorpes' school, almshouses, AMROTH, or AMEROTH, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Narberth, Pembroke. The parish lies on Carmarthen bay, 6 miles SE of Narberth, and 63 S by Cernarthen bay, 6 miles SE of Narberth, and 63 S by w of Whitland r. station; and has a post office under Tenby. Acres, 2,578; of which 230 are water. Real property, £2,754. Pop., SS9. Houses, 195. The prepriy is divided among a few. Coal is worked, and ishing is carried on. Amoth Castle, delightfully situated on the coast, was formerly a grand feuchal residence, the sea of a follower of Arnulph de Montgonnery, called Eare Wear; but passed to the family of Ackland, and is now a splendid modern mansion. The living is a vicar-ray in the discusse of St. David's Value 2 s. Pattern age in the diocess of St. David's. Value, 2.vs. Patron, J. L. P. Lewis, Esq. The church is early English, and has a curiously formed tower. Charities, 220.—The sub-district comprises eight parishes and part of another Access 0.1908. Acres, 24,608. Pop., 3,265. Houses, 689. AMSTEY. Sec ANSTEY, Herts.

AMWELL. See CLERKENWELL. AMWELL-END. See WARE.

AMWELL (GREAT), a village and a parish in Ware district, Herts. The village stands near the sources of the New river, and near the Eastern Counties railway, 11 mile SE by S of Ware; and has a post-office, of the name of Amwell, under Ware. Its name is supposed to have been derived from Emma's Well a fountain which issues from a hill, and forms one of the sources of the ssites from a first, and forms one of the sources of the New river. The parish comprises 2,457 acres. Real property, £9,463. Pop., 1,660. Houses, 314. The property is not much divided. Anwell Place was the scat of the Quaker poet Scott, who described the pictur-"I hate the drum's discordant sound." Annwell Bury, near Parrow hill, has yielded some ancient relies. leybury college belonged to the East In Iia Company, and is now a first class school similar to Marlhorough schools. A monument studes on an islet in the New river, erected in 1800 by Mr. Mylne the architect, to the memory of the ill-required Sir Hugh Myd-lleton, who impoverished himself by the formation of that work to which London owes a large supply of water. This artificial river is 36 miles long; has 43 spices and 218 bridges; and was begun in 160%, and completed in 1613. Sir Hugh, notwithstanding aids from Parliament and from London, was so reduced by the work as to be driven to spend his subsequent life in Jenury and ob-scenty, -some accounts say in mean manual labour. Scarty,—some accounts say in literal manual resour-lasso Walton was a frequent visitor at Anwell; and Hoole, the translator of Tasso, was a resident. The liv-ing is a vicarage in the diorese of Rochestor. Value, £310.* Patrons, Trustees of late W. M. Nab, Esq. Tine church stands on an eminence, and is an edifice of the 14th century. The church-yard contains the graves of Reed, the editor of Shakespeare, and of the poet Warner, who wrote "Albion's England." The vicarage of Hoddesdon is a separate benefice.

AMWELL (LITTLE), a chapelry in All Saints parish,

AMWELL (LITTLE), a chapelry in All Saints parish, Herrford; 1 mile Wby Sof Ware. Acres, 491. Real property, 23,019. Pop., 500. Houses, 96. The living is a vicatage, Value, 290. The church was built in 1853. ANCASTER, a village and a parish in Grantham dis-trict, Lincola. The village aljoins the Grantham and Boston radway, ou the line of Ermine-street, 8 miles It has a station on the railway, and N.E. of Grantham. NE of Grantham. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Grantham. It gave the title of Duke, how extant, to the Berties of Uffington. A Roman station, either Censenme or Crocolana, occupied its site; and many Roman coins, bricks, and other relies have been found. A spot in the neighbourhood was the scene been thand. A spot in the neighbourhood was the scene of a victory, in 1643, over the Parliamentarians. The parish contains also the hamlets of Sudbrooke and West Willoughby. Acres, 2,800. Real property, £4,241. Pop., 632. Houses, 139. The property is much subdivided. The chief residences are Ancaster Hall, Sudbrooke Hall and West Willoughby Hall. A tract which formerly was a common, will and barren, is now enformerly was a common, wild and barren, is now en-closed and letrille. A fine colitic building-stone is ex-trasively quarried; has been used for Belvoir Castle, Wollatch [Hall, and other great edifices; and is well ex-emplified in the parsonage, which was built in 1842. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, $150.9 * Baron, the Rev. Z. S. Warren. The church is a mixture of Norman and early English. There are two National character of the character of the common control of the co Methodist chapels, and charities £7.

ANCHOLME (The), a river of Lincoln. It rises in the Wolds near Market-Rasen; and runs about 22 miles. the Wolfs near Jarker recent; and am acoust some morthward, post Enga, to the Humber near Ferriby. The Caistor canal joins it at Kelsey; and an artificial ctt, called New Ancholme river, goes, in nearly a straight line, along its whole course. It is navigable from the line, along its whole course. It is no Humber to Erigg. An old adage says, " Ancholme eel and Witham pike, In all England is none like.

ANCHOR-CHURCH, a rock on the river Trent, 61 railes SSW of Derby. It has an outline somewhat re-sembling that of a Gothic church; and was once the residence of an anchorite.

ANCHOR-HEAD, or WESTON-HEAD, a headland in Bristol Channel, between Sand bay and Uphill bay, adjugent to Waston-Super-Mare, Somerset. Worle mill on it is a sea-mark; and Brean rock and Weston ledge are in front.

ANCHOR-STONE, a rock in the river Dart, a little S of Dittishata, Devou. It rises steeply from a depth of fully ten fathous, and is visible at low water. It is sall to have been frequented by Sir Walter Raleigh, from his aliacent seat of Greenway, for the purpose of smoking. A project was recently a foot for using it as a means for constructing a rulway viaduet over the Dart.

ANCOATS. See MANCHESTER.

NCROFF, a township and a parochial chapelry in Berwick district, Northumberland The township lies Berwick district, Northamberland The township lies in a plea ant vale, t miles NW of Screnerston r, rtation, and 54 S of Berwick; and has a post-office under The chapelry comprises also the townships of Ca wick, Hazgerston, and Scremeston; lies along the cost; and is traversed by the Northeastern railway. A.r.s. 10,215; of which 549 are water. Beal property, 21,955,—of whi h £2,311 are in mines, quarries, and fisheries. Pop., 2,113. Houses, 973. The property i. divided among a few. The chief residences are Cleswith House and Haggerston Castle. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham Value, £131.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Durham. The church is a very old edifice, with a square tower; belonged for-merly to Holy Island; and is in good condition. The vicarage of Scremerston is a separate benefice.

ANDERBY, a village and a parish in Spilsby district, Lincoln. The village stands within a mile of the coast, 33 miles ENE of Willoughby r. station, and 5 E by S of Alford. A rivulet goes past it to the sea, and forms a small harbour; and a canal, cut in 1828, at a cost of £37,000, connects it with Alford. The parish comprises £37,000, connects it with Alford. The parish comprises 1,080 acres of land, and 765 of water. Post-town, Huttoft under Alford. Real property, £2,389. Pop., 276. Houses, 62. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory, united with Cumberworth, in the dio. of it. Value, £543. Patron, Magd. College, Cambridge. The chutch is good; and there is a Wesleyan chapel. ANDERBY, YORKSHIBE. See AINDERBY. ANDERBY, And College of the Coast of College of the Coast of College of the Coast of College of Coast of Coa

Sussex. It was attacked and destroyed, in the latter part of the 5th century, by the Saxons. Its site has been claimed by seven places in Sussex, and one in Kent; but is now fixed, by the best antiquaries, at Pevensey. The tract around it was called Sylva Anderida, signifying the "uninhabited forest," and continued to be known by the Saxons as Andredswald.

by the Saxons as Andredswald.

ANDERSFIELD, a bundred in Somerset. It contains the parishes of Broomfield, Creech-St. Michael, Emmore, Goathurst, and Lyng, and parts of the parishes of Durleigh, Chilton-Trinity, and North Petherton.
Acres, 13,701. Pop., 2,807. Houses, 575.

ANDERSON, or ANDERSTONE-WINTERBOURNE, a parish in Blandford district, Dorset; on an affluent of the river Stour, 7 miles S of Blandford, and 7 WNW of Poole Junction r. station. Post-town, Winterbourne. the river Stour, 7 miles S of Blandford, and 7 WNW of Foole Junction r. station. Post-town, Winterbourne-Kingston under Blandford. Acres, 570. Real property, £1,140. Pop., 62. Houses, 12. The chief residence is Anderson House. The living is a rectory in the dioces of Salisbury. Value, £146. Patron, St. B. Tregonvell. ANDERTON, a township in Great ibu Iworth parish. Cheshire; on the Grand Trunk canal, 2 miles NW of Northwich. Acres, 451. Real property, £13,187. Pop., 324. Houses, £46.

ANDERTON, a township in Studish parish, Lancashire; under Rivington Pike, near the blolton railway and the Manchester and Leeds canal, 31 miles SE of Chorley. Acres, 1,175. Real property, £2,241. Pop., 243. Houses, £7.

3. Houses, 47.
ANDERWYKE. See ANKERWYKE.

ANDOVER, a town, a parish, a sub-district, a district, a hundred, and a division in Hants. The town stands on the Anton river, and on the Andover, Romsey, and Southampton railway, I mile S of that railway junction with the London, Yeovil, and Exeter railway, and 171 miles N of Romsey; and has a station with telegraph on the former railway, and another station at the junction. A canal, 225 miles long, with a fall of 179 feet and 24 locks, formerly commenced at the town, and went down the line of the Anton river, past Stockbridge and Romsey, to Southampton water at Redbridge. The Andover, Ron, sey, and Southampton railway was constructed principally by transmutation of that canal down to Redbridge; was connected there with the Weymouth and Southampton railway; and was opened in 1861. The vale of the Autamany, and was opened in 100. The valid in the most part, beautifully wooled, and presents a striking contrast to the bare downs which flank and overlook it. Early lill, about 1½ mild. Wo f the town, commands a picture-sque view of the vale, together with an extensive prospect forward the borders of Berks and Wilts; and is crested with a large, strong, ancient camp, which probably was first formed by the aboriginal h, and afterwards occupied by the Romans and avons. The town stands on the Roman read from the Savons. Salisbury to Silchester, and possibly occupies the site of a Reman station; and it took its name from a ford of the Anton, called Andovera by the Romans and Andofera by the Secons. It probably is indicated by the fetters A N D O on some Celtic gold coins in the British museum; and it was a royal manor, and the place of several witenagements in the times of the Savons. Ethelred concluded a peace here, in 998, with the Norse king | Olaf Tryggvason; and many a conflict must have taken place, at prior periods, among the neighbouring strong chalk hills.

The town is compactly built, and extends on either side about a third of a mile from the market-place. The town-hall, with corn-market below, is a handsome stone edifice, with Grecian front, supported on arches; and was built in 1825, at a cost of £7,000. The parish church is a spacious structure, in the early English style, curren is a spacious structure, in the early Lagisia style surmounted by a lofty tower, with crocketted prinnales; and was built in 1849, at a cost of £30,000, furnished by the Rev. Dr. Goddard, head master of Winchester col-lege, and afterwards viear of Andover. The previous church was an edifice of the time of William the Concontrol was an entine of the time of william the College queror, subsequently altered, and in various styles; and a very rich late Norman doorway of it now forms one of the entrances to the church-yard. This church was long a cell to the albey of St. Florence in Anjou, and afterwards was given to the college of Winchester. The other noticeable buildings are four dissenting chapels, a free grammar school, two other free schools, two sets of tree grammar school, two other tree schools, two sets of alms-houses, a workhouse, and a borough jail. Income of the charities, £189. The town has a large trade in agricultural produce; it shares much in the business of the great Weyhill fair, held in October, 3 miles to the NW, it carries on malting and the manufacture of silk shag; and it is much frequented, during the sporting saagi, and it is much requirement, uniting the sporting season, by parties following the hounds over the extensive neighbouring downs. It has a head post-office, the telegraph station, two banking offices, and two chief inns; and it publishes two weekly newspapers. Markets are held on Saturdays, and fairs on Mid-Lent Friday and Saturday 12, Mary 2011, 2011, 2011. are ned on Saturdays, and hairs on Mid-Lent Friday and Saturday, 13 May, and 17 and 18 Nov. The town was incorporated under King John; it sent two representatives to parliament in the times of Edward L and IL, and from the 27th year of Elizabeth till 1867; but, by the reform act of 1867, it was reduced to the right of sending only one. It is governed by a mayor, four aldernien, and twelve councillors; and is a seat of petty sessions and a nolling-alone. Its manufactive limits are consions and a polling-place. Its municipal limits are con-terminate with the parish of Andover; and its parlia-mentary limits comprise the parishes of Andover; Knights-Enham, and Foxcott. It gives the title of Vis-count to the Earl of Suffolk and Berkshire. Pop. of the in. borough, 5,221; of the p. borough, 5,430. Houses, 1,058 and 1,102. Electors in 1868, 263. Direct taxes,

The parish contains also the hamlets of Charlton, Enham-Kings, Little London, Smannell or Swanhill Wildhern, Woodhouse, and part of Hatherden. Acres, 7,670. Real property, £19,340. Pop., 5,221. Houses, 7,670. Real property, £19,340. Pop., 5,221. Houses, 1,058. The living is a vicatage, conjoined with the curacy of Foxcott, in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £400. Patron, Winchester college. The p. curacy of Smannell with Hatherden is a separate benefice.—The sub-district comprises six parishes. Acres, 12,706. Pop., 6,435. Honses, 1,323.—The district comprehends the sub-district of Longparish, containing the parishes of Longparish, Bullington, Barton-Stacey, Chilbotton, Wherwell, Goodworth-Clafford, Upper Clafford, and Abbots-Ann; the sub-district of Andover, containing the parishes of Andover, Knights-Enham, Foxcott, Pentroperts of the parishes of Andover, Knights-Enham, Foxcott, Pentroperts. Abbots-Ann; the sub-district of Andover, containing the parishes of Andover, Knights-Enham, Foxcott, Penton-Grafton; the sub-district of Ludgershall, containing the extra-parcolaid tract of Park-House, and the parishes of Monxton, Annport, Thruxton, Quarley, Grately, Shipton-Bellinger, Kimpton, Fyfield, South Tidworth, North Tidworth, and Ludgershall,—the two last electorally in Wilts; and the sub-district of Hurstbourne-Tarrant, containing the parishes of Hurstbourne-Tarrant, entaining the parishes of Hurstbourne-Tarrant, encountded, Linkenholt, Vernhams-Dean, Taugley, and Clute, and the tract of Chute-Forest. Acres, 83,615. Poor-rates in 1860, £11,937. Pop. in 1811, 15,938; in 1961, 17,182. Houses, 3,627. Marriages in 1869, 94; births, 524.—of which 36 were illegitimate; deaths, 290. births, 521, -of which 36 were illegitimate; deaths, 290, of which 86 were at ages under 5 years, and 15 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,096; births, 4,993; deaths, 3,170. The places of worship in with $50 s.; 10 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,110 s.; 11 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,272 s.; and 1 undefined, with 70 s. The schools in 1851 were 36 public day schools, with 1,672 scholars; 27 private day schools, with 1,672 scholars; 27 private day schools, with 4,19 s.; and 36 Sunday schools, with 2,019 s. The hundred consists of lower half and upper half. The lower half contains Knights Enham, Forcett, Upper Clatford, Monxton, Penton-Mewsey, Weyhill, and part of Abbots-Ann. Acres 10,981. Pop. in 1851, 2,872. Houses, 476. The upper half contains Amport, Appleshaw, Fyfield, Grately, Kimpton, Quarley, Shipton-Bellinger, Thruxton, and South Tidworth. Acres, 10,372. Pop. in 1851, 2,805. Houses, 586.—The division comprises the hundreds of Lower and Upper Andover, Barpires and Lower and Upper Andover, Barpires the hundreds of Lower and Upper Andover, Barpires the August Andover, Barpires the August August Andover, Barpires the August Andover, Barpires the August Andover, Barpires the Au Pop. in 1851, 2,805. Houses, 586.—The division comprises the hundreds of Lower and Upper Andover, Barton-Stacey, Upper-Pastrow, Upper-Thorngate, and Lower and Upper Wherwell. Acres, 81,507. Pop. in 1851, 13,422; in 1861, 14,758. Houses, 3,197.

1851 were 31 of the Church of England, with 6.394 sittings; 7 of Independents, with 1,201 s.; 4 of Baptists, with 880 s.; 10 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,110 s.;

ANDOVERFORD, a village in Dowdeswell parish, Consecutive the being Liberature.

Gloucester; on the river Isborne, under the Cotswolds, 53 niles ESE of Cheltenham. It has a post-office under Cheltenham.

Cheltennam.

ANDREAS, or Kirk-Andreas, a village and a parish in the Isle of Man. The village stands 51 miles NW of Ramsey; and has a post-office of the name of Kirk-Ramsey; and has a post-office of the name of Kirk-Andreas, under Donglas. Fairs are held on St. Andrew's and St. John's days. Pop., 76. Pop. of the parish, 1,955. Houses, 372. The land is very fortile. Many barrows and a camp occur near Ballacurry. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Sodor and Man. Value, 2750.* Fatron, the Crown. The church was re-Value, L'150. Tarron, the Crown. The chatter was re-built in 1802, on the site of a preceding one which was the oldest in the island; and it has an ancient marble font, which belonged to Philip I. of France. Two runic monuments are in the church-yard. St. Jude's p. curacy is a separate benefice, of the value of £100,* in the patronage of the Archdeacon.

ANDREDSWALD, a quondam great forest round the And Mark And Anderida, over much of Sussex and Kent, and westward to Privet in Hants. It was 120 miles long, and 30 miles broad. Sigebert, king of Wessex, was slain in it by a swine herd. Fragments of it remain in Woolmer forest, Alice holt, and the forest

of Bere

of Bere.

ANDREW (Sr.), a parish in Cardiff district, Glamorgan; 3 miles S by W of St. Fagans r. station, and 5 SW of Cardiff. It contains the village of Dinas-Powis, with a post-office under Cardiff. Acres, 3,149. Real property, £3,518. Fop., 570. Houses, 114. Remains exist of Dinas-Powis castle, built by Gestyn ap Gwrgan, and named after this wife Denis, daughter of the prince of Powis. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Llandadff. Value, £410. Patron, the Bishop of Llandaff. Value, £410. Patron the Bishop of Llandaff. daff. The church has monuments of the Howells.

ANDREW (St.), a parish in Guernsey, 2 miles WSW of St. Peter's Port. It contains a village of the same name, the manor-house of St. Helena, and the estate of Vanbellets. Pop., 1,049. Houses, 293. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £150.* Patron, the Governor. The church is a houdsome Gothic editice, the finest in the island, with an embattled tower and a spire. There is a result discount of the content of the same of the tower and a spire. There is a small dissenting chapel embosomed in trees.

ANDREW (St.). See PLYMOUTH, CANTERBURY, HASTINGS, CHICHESTER, LONDON, DROITWICH, HERT-HASTINGS, CHICHESTER, LONDON, DROUTING, HEAT-FOILD, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, NORWICH, PERSHORE, CAMBRIDGE, WELLS, WOLCESTER, and YORK. ANDREW (St.), Ilketshall. See LEKETSHALL-ST.

ANDREW.

ANDREW (St.) Minor, a parish in Bridgend district, Glamorgan; 41 miles SSE of Bridgend r. station. It is a sinecure rectory in the diocese of Llandaff, of the value of £5; and contains but one house, Clemenston, the scat of T. Franklin, Esq. Pop., 12.

ANDWELL, an extra-parochial tract in Basingstoke district, Hants; contiguous to Up-Nately parish, 2 miles E of Basingstoke. Acres, 143. Pop., 26. Houses, 4. ANERLEY, or Annealey, a village on the Croydor railway, a mile SSW of Sydenham, Surrey. It has a r. station, a post-office; under Norwood, tea-gardens, and an entrance to the Crystal Palace.

an entrance to the Crystal Fance.

ANGEL FROAD, a railway station with telegraph, at the junction of the Enfield railway with the Hertford, on the NE border of Middlesex.

ANGELTOWN, a village in the higher section of Newcastle parish, Clamorgan. Pop., 48

ANGERSLEIGH, a parish in Taunton district, Songr-

ANGERSLEIGH, a parish in Taunton district, Somerset; on the verge of the county, under Black Down hills, 4 miles SSW of Taunton r. station. Post-town, Wellington, Somerset. Acres, 403. Real property, £655. Pop., 30. Houses, S. The property is not nuch divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £111. Patron, the Rev. H. T. Tucker. The church has a painted window representing the arms and alliances of the ancient family of Lyte. ANGEPTON (Hear and Low) two townships in ing the arms and alliances of the ancient family of Lyra-ANGERTON (Here and Low), two townships in Hartburn parish, Northumbelland; on the Waasbeek tiver and railway, with a r. station, 6 the miles W of Morpeth. Acres, 2,272. Pop., 185. Houses, 23.

ANGLE, or NANGLE, a village and a parish in the district and county of Penhorke. The village stands in a nook or "angle" of the south side of Milford haven, a nook or ' a nook of large of the sound side of annote independent of miles W of Milford-road r. station, and 9 W of Pembroke; bears marks of having been a place of some importance in former ages; and has a post-office under Pembroke. The parish comprises 2,276 acres of land. remotive. The parish comprises 2,270 acres of little, and 2,305 of water. Real property, £2,107. Fop., 512. Houses, 82. The property is divided among a few. The chief residence is Angle Hall. Limestone is Angle bay affords good anchorage. The livquarried. Value, ing is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £80. Patron, the Bishop of St. David's. The church is good.

ANGLE TARN, a mountain lakelet on the fell on the E side of Patterdale, a short way N of Hartsop, West-moreland. It has an area of about five acres and a curious outline; contains two rocky islets; and abounds with good trout. Its efflux descends rapidly westward to Patterdale water.

ANGLE TARN, a mountain lakelet in a hollow high up Bow fell, 101 miles S of Keswick, Cumberland. It contains fine trout, and sends down a streamlet northeastward into Borrowdale.

ANGLESEY, an insulated county of North Wales. It is separated on the SE, by the Menai strait, from Carnaryoushire; and is surrounded elsewhere by the Irish sea. It consists chiefly of the island of Anglesey; but includes also the island of Holyhead and the islets of Skerries, Priestholm, and Llauddyn, with some others. Its length, south-eastward, is 20 miles; its breadth, south-westward, 16 miles; its circumference, 76 miles; its area, 193,453 acres. Its outline has long sweeps which which with the summer of the s which might occasion it to be pronounced triangular or pentagond; but is indented by several considerable bays and a number of small ones. The coast is extensively rocky, and presents some fine scenery; but, in the S, is partly desolated with sand. The general surface is uninteresting; not much diversified with hill and dale; and quite devoid of lofty mountains or deep glens; flat in the S and in the centre, and rising into only moderate hills in the N. The climate is mild, but foggy. The most extensive rocks are Cambrian; the next most exteusive, lower Silurian; the next, lower carboniferous limestone and shale; the next, granite and intrusive felspathic traps; the next, Permian conglomerate and stone and red marl. Some coal exists, but of most uncertain character, -- sometimes in alluvial boulders of a ton or upwards; and is worked at present in only five pits. Peat fuel is obtained in inexhaustible plenty. Gritstone, limestone, coloured marble, lead ore, and copper ore, are worked; and serpentine, soapstone, fuller's earth, potter's clay, magnesia, calamine, sulphur, alum, silver, and zine, are found. Much of the land is pastoral and The arable soils are chiefly a sandy leam, unenclosed. unenciosed. The arrow sons are carry a study frain, a stiff reddish earth, and a blackish regardable mould; all pretty fertile, and receiving improvement by means of shell sand, from various parts of the shore. Wood occurs along the banks of the Menai, but is elsewhere scarce. The enclosures are not quickset hedges, but stone or turf walls; and they combine with the bleakness of the surface to render the general aspect tome and cold. The farm buildings and the cottages are generally poor and mean. Agriculture has undergone great improvement, yet is still in a backward condition. Oats, barley, rye, and potatoes, are the chief crops. The black barley, rye, and potatoes, are the enter crops. The black cattle are of the kind called runts, and are much esteemed for the flavour and tenderness of their flesh; and about 5,000 are annually exported. The native sheep are the largest breed in North Wales; and many are reared for exportation. Not a few sheep also of the mountain districts are sent hither to fatten. The chief streams are the Braint, the Cevin, the Devon, the Allow, and the Dulas; but all are small. Numerous kinds of fish, some of them not common in other parts, are plentiful along the coast. Shell-fish also abound; and good oysters, in particular, are taken at Penmon. Coarse oysters, in particular, are taken at remnon. Government woollen fabrics, for home use, are manufactured. The Chester and Holyhead railway goes through the southern part of the county, from the Britanuia bridge to Holyhead; and the Auglesey Central, opened in 1866, goes from a junction at Gaerwen northward to Amlwch.

The towns and chief villages are Beaumaris, Amlwch.

Llangefni, Holyhead, Llanerchymedd, Newborough, and Aberifraw. The ports are Beaumaris, Amlwch, Holy-head, Cremlyn, Dulas, Red Wharf, and Maltracth. The political divisions were, first, three cautrefs; next, six hundreds; and now, one district and parts of two other districts. The ecclesiastical divisions are 74 cures, 42 districts. The ecclesiastical divisions are 74 cures, 42 parishes, and 6 deaneries, in the archdeacoury and divisions cess of Bangor. The hundreds are Tyndacthwy, in the NE; Menai, in the SE; Twrcelyn in the middle N; Maltraeth, in the middle S; Talybolion, in the XW; and Llyfon, in the SW. The district is Anglesey, constituting the registration county of Anglesey, and will be noticed below; and the parts of districts are four parishes in the district of Carnarvon and eleven in the parishes in the district of Carnarvon and eleven in the district of Bangor, both in the registration county of Carnarvon. The county is governed by a lond-lieuten-ant, high sheriff, deputy lieutenants, and about twenty-six magistrates; and it is in the North Wales circuit and the Home military district. The county jail is at Beaumaris. The unmber of known thieves and depredators, and of suspected persons at large, in 1864, was 13 at ages under 16 years and 100 at ages above 16 years; and the number of crimes committed in that year was 34, and the number of criminals apprehended, 15. One 54, and the number of criminals apprehencied, 15. One member is sent to parliament by the county at large; and another by the boroughs of Beaumanis, Holyhead, Amlwich, and Llaugefai. Electors of the county, in 1868, 2,352; of the boroughs, 563. Real property in 1815, £92,559; in 1813, £165,523,—of which £5,334 1810, £92,559; in 1843, £105,525,—or which £5,854 was in mines and £68,495 was on rentals; in 1800, as assessed to the property and income tax, £206,683,—of which £19,626 were in mines and £505 in quarries Pop. in 1801, 33,806; in 1821, 45,033; in 1841, 50,891; in 1861, 54,609. Inhabited houses, 12,328. Uninin 1861, 54,609. habited, 534. Building, 55. Anglesey was called by the ancient natives Ynys Fou, Angesey was caneed by the adherent and the formus, or Mon, signifying "remote;" and by the Romans, Mona. Its present name was given by the Saxons; is strictly Angle's I, or Angle's Eve; and signifies "the Englishman's island." Landard says: "Some, as Polydore, will have Mona, or Monia, to be the Isle of Man, which others cal Menania, or Eubonia, reputings Monia to be that which at this day is called Anglisey, amongest whome is Lelande. Of whose opinion I am for two causes, thone for that it continueth the name of Mon to this day in the Brytishe or Welshe speche, as by their common proverbe, expressingo the truitfulness theref, common provecor, expressing the transmiss theory, may appeare, Terr mor man Kymbry, i. c., Anglisev is the mother or nuise of Wales. Thother, for that Sylvester Gyraldus, in his booke called Itinerarium Wallie, savethe, that Caerarvon is soe called byenuse it is a cytic standings over-agaynst Mon. This Gyral-lus was a Welshman, learned in the antiquities of his countrye, and lived in Hen. II. tyme, and before. Of the same mynd also is he that wrote 'Additamenta Prosperi Aquit." This is generally believed to have been the chief seat of the Druids; and, so far as we know anything of the Druids, there is some probability in the supposi tion, especially considering the number of cromlechs, or altars, which have been found in the island. In A. D. 61, Anglesey was invaded by the Romans under Suctonius Paulinus, who cut down the groves—"sevis super-stitionibus sacri," and suppressed the order of Druids. Their complete extirpation, however, was not effected till some years after by Julius Agricola. At this period, says Lambard, it "was to be waded over on foote betwene that and the mayne land, wherby that seamethe the more likely, which Paulus Jovius writethe of it, saying, that it was somtyme part of the continent, and was by rage of sea (like to Scicile) rent therfroe, as by a bridge which dothe yet somtyme appeare, dothe seme manifest." Traces of a natural isthmus are still visible at Pertaethwy, where a line of rocks juts out nearly across the channel. It is, perhaps, to this that Lambard alludes in the preceding extract. From that period, Angle-sey remained under the dominion of the Romans till they withdrew from Britain. A sovereignty was established here in 450 by Caswallon Llawhir, a British prince, who was sent hither to expel invaders. Aberffraw was the royal residence; and Cadwallader, the last king of the Britons, is said to have been a descendant of this family. In the reign of William Rufus, Hugh, earl of Chester, and Hugh, earl of Shrewsbury, are said to have assisted the inhabitants to repel an invasion of Griffith-ap-Conen, prince of Wales; and about the same time the island was invaded by Magnus, king of Norway. From this period it became a part of the kingdom of Wales, and period it became a part of the kingdom of wares, and was even regarded as the seat of government, till the final extinction of Welsh independence by Edward I. After the subjugation of the island by Edward I., he built a castle at Beaumaris to intimidate the inhabitants, and fortified the town with a wall. "Ever sythens," says Lambard, "they hav lyved in better quiet." Anglesey was afterwards incorporated with England; and in the reign of Henry VIII. was constituted a county. The chief antiquities are eight or nine standing cromlechs, remains or memorials of about twenty other cromlechs, traces of the royal residence at Aberifraw, the castle of Edward I. at Beaumaris, a priory and cross at Penmon, a friary at Llanvaes, and a number of churches of the 14th and 15th centuries. Anglesey gives the title of Marquis to the family of Paget.

The district of Anglesey, or the registration county, consists of the two poor-law unions of Anglesey and Holy-head, and is divided into the sub-district of Llangefni, containing the parishes of Llangeful, Llangwyllog, Llangristiolus, Heneglwys, Cerng-Ceinwen, Tredraeth, Abertrav, and Llangadwaladr or Eglwysael, and the parochial chapelry of Tregaian; the sub-district of Bryngwran, containing the parishes of Ilanbeulan, Llaudrygarn-with-Gwydu, and Llaudrisaint, the parochial chapelries of Llangwyfan, Llaufaelog, Llechylched, Deckylched, D Ceirchiog, Trewalchmai, Bodwrog, Llanllibio, Llechgwenfarwydd, and Rhodogeidio or Ceidio, the village of Llanerchymedd, and the extra-parochial tract of Gwredog; the sub-district of Llandyfrydog, containing the parishes of Llandyfrydog, Llanddyfnan, Llaneugrad, and Penrhos-lligwy, and the parochial chapelries of Llanfihangel-Tre'r-Beirdd, Llanfair-Mathafarn-Eithaf, Coedana, Fentree-perua, Mannir-Mannar-Minna, Cocann, Fetrarth, Linabedr-Goch, and Llanallgo; the sub-district of Amiwch, containing the parishes of Amiwch and Llanellan, and the parochial chapelry of Llanwelllwyfo; the sub-district of Llanddansaint, containing the parishes of Llanddansaint, Llanbadrig, Llanfechell, Llanrhyddald, Llandshop, Llanfachethy, and Llanfacheth, and the parochial chapelries of Rhosbeirio, Bodewryd, Llandbarth, Llandbarth, and the parochial chapelries of Rhosbeirio, Bodewryd, Llandbarth, and the Rhosbeirio, and the Rhosbeirio, and the Rhosbeirio, rhwydrys, Llanfairynghornwy, Llanfflewyn, Llanfwrog, and Llanfigael; and the sub-district of Holyhead, containing the parishes of Holyhead, Rhoscolyn, Bodedern, and Llanfihangel-yn-Howyn, and the parochial chapelries of Llanynghenedl and Llanfair-yn-Eubwll. Acres, 138,834. Poor-rates in 1866, £21,843. Pop. in 1841, 38,106; in 1861, 33,157. Houses, 8,364. Marriages in 1866, 216; births, 1,011, -of which 80 were illegitimate; deaths, 786. of which 185 were at ages under 5 years, and 46 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,537; births, 11,047; deaths, 7,663. The places of worship in births, 11,047; deaths, 7,063. The places of worship in 1851 were 53 of the Church of England, with 8,654 sittings; 25 of Independents, with 4,606 s.; 15 of Baptists, with 2,718 s.; 52 of Calvinistic Methodists, with 12,912 s.; 14 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,506 s.; and I undes; 140 Westeyan Alemonists, with 2,500 s.; and 1 andefined, with 329 s. The schools were 31 public day schools, with 2,504 scholars; 16 private day schools, with 385 s.; and 115 Sunday schools, with 11,662 s. There is no workhouse, out-door relief being given in all cases.

ANGLESEY, a charming watering place, in Alverstoke parish, Hants; 2 miles SW of Gosport, opposite Spithcad and the Isle of Wight. It was founded in 1326, by the Marquis of Anglesey; it includes a terrace, a crescent, public gardens, marine villas, a hotel, realing-rooms, baths, and a church; and it commands splendid views and has delightful environs. The church is an edifice in the Tudor style, built in 1844; and united an edince in the fudor style, built in 1844; and united with the rectory of Alverstoke.

ANGLEZARKE, a township in Bolton-le-Moors parish, Lancashire; 3 miles E of Chorley. Acres, 1,279. Real property, £946. Pop., 134. Houses, 25. Building-stone is quarried; and lead ore, witherite, and carliated the state of the control of the contro bonate of barytes are found.

ANGLIA. See EAST ANGLIA.

ANGMERING, a parish in Worthing district, Sussex; on the South Coast railway, 4 miles SE of Aruudel. It has a station on the railway, a post-officet under Arundel, and a fair on 3 July. Acres, 3,150. Real property, 26,352. Pop., 953. Houses, 193. Angmering Park belongs to the Duke of Norfolk. Ham House is the seat of W. K. Gratwicke, Esq. New Place, now inhabited by work-people, was the seat of Sir Edward Palmer in the time of Henry VIII., and the birthplace of his three sons, who all were knighted. The living is a rectory and a vicarrage—rectory of East Angmering, vicarage of West Angmering—in the diocess of Chichester. Value, £258.* Patron, Sir G. R. Pechell, Bart. East Angmering clurch on the South Coast railway, 4 miles SE of Arundel. It Patron, Sir G. R. Pechell, Bart. East Angmering church has disappeared. West Angmering church, excepting the tower and small part of the chaucel, was rebuilt in There are an Independent chapel and a free school.

ANGRAM, a township in Long Marston parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 4 miles NE of Taleaster. Acres, 518.

Pop., 59. Houses, 14.

ANGRAM, a hamlet in Muker chapelry, N. R.
Yorkshire; on the river Swale, near Shunner fell, 2 miles NW of Muker.

N. R. Yorkshire; 41 miles N of Easingwold, Acres, 438. Pop., 31. Houses, 5.
ANICK AND ANICK GRANGE, two townships in St.

John Lee parish, Northumberland: near the Tyne, 11 mile NE of Hexham. Acres, 451 and 2,220. Pop., 137 Houses, 27 and S.

ANKER (Thus), a stream of the NE of Warwickshire, It rises near Bulkington; and runs about 17 miles north-westward, past Nuncaton and Atherstone, to the Tame at Tanworth. Its course is mainly followed by the Coventry canal and the Trent Valley railway; and it crosses Watling street near Atherstone, and is crossed by the railway on a nineteen-arched viaduct 269 yards long.

ANKERWYKE, or ANDERWYKE, an estate in Wyt ardisbury parish, Bucks; on the Thames, 2 miles WNW of Staines. A Benedictine numery was founded here, in the time of Henry II., by Sir Gilbert Montichet; and was given by Edward I. to Sir Thomas Smith, provost of has goen by Diward I. 10 Str Homas Sentit, provest of Eton. A mansion now occupies the site; and only the hall of the nunnery remains. A famous old yew-tree, 23 feet in girth, is in the grounds; and tradition says that Henry VIII, had a meeting beneath it with Anno Boleyn.

ANKTON, a hamlet in Felpham parish, Sussex; in the castern vicinity of Bognor.

ANLABY, a township in Kirk-Ella and Hessle parishes, E. R. Yorkshire; near Selby railway, 4 miles W of Hull. Acres, 2,020. Real property, £3,777. Pop., 493. Houses, 103. Anlaby House has been the seat of saccessively the Anlabys, the Legards, and the Vauses.

There is a Wesleyan chapel.

ANMER, a parish in Docking district, Norfolk; near ANJER, a parish in Docaria and Anjelia Peddar war, 4 miles E by S of Dersingham r. station, and 14 NE of King's Lynn. Post-town, Dersingham, under Peddar way, 4 miles E by S of Dersingham I. Station, and It NE of King's Lynn. Post-town, Dersingham, under Lyan. Acres, 1,420. Real property, £1,290. Pop., 142. Houses, 30. The manor belongs to H. Coldham, Esp.: whose seat is Anmer Park. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £222. Patron, H. Coldham, Esp. The church is small. ANN-ABBOTS. See Abbots-Ann.

ANN (St.). See LEWES, NOTTINGHAM, and KIRK-St. ANN.

ANNE (St.). See Alderney and London. ANNERLEY. See Amerley.

ANNERY, a residence in the valley of the Torridge, 3 miles NW of Torrington, Devon. It was long the seat of the Hankfords; and was the birthplace and deathplace of Chief-justice Sir William Hankford, who committed Philip Henry; and is now the property of W.

Tardrew, Esq.
ANNE'S HILL (St.), a hill about a mile W of Chertsey, in Surrey. It rises abruptly from the low ground of the Thames to a height of 240 feet; and looks, from some points of view, to be almost conical. An ancient camp was on it, and gave it the name of Eldebury hill; but is now effaced. A chapel, dedicated to St. Anne, was built on it in 1334; and a dwelling-house is said to have been constructed out of the chapel by Lawrence Tomson, translater of the New Testament; but only a piled heap of the stones remains. St. Anne's House, once the seat of Charles James Fox and of the late Lord Holland, is on the SE side of the hill; and Monk's Grove, the seat of the St. side of the fini; and Monks Grove, the search La ly Monrfort, is on the NE side.

ANNES HILL (Sr.), the highest summit of the Marlborough Downs, 6 miles ENE of Devizes, in Wilts. It has an elevation of about 1,000 feet above the level of the sea. The Wans Dyke goes along its summit; and the catop of Rybury, a primitive military work of the aboriginal inhabitants, is on a southerly projection.

fir, known throughout Wilts and the neighbouring countries, as Tan Hill fair, is held on St. Anne's Hill on 5 Aug.

ANNE'S-IN-THE-GROVE (St.). See Brier's.
ANNE'S-LEY, a parish in Basford district, Notts; on the border of Sherwood forest, 25 miles NW of Linby r. station, and 65 SSW of Mansfield. It contains the 55. Hon, and 65 SSM of Manshell. It contains the intarflet of Annesley, Woodhouse, and Wansley; and its post-town is Linby under Nottingham. Acres, inclusive of the extra-parochial tract of Felley, 3,360. Real property, 22,743. Pop., 288. Houses, 57. Annesley Fark was the birthplace of Mary Chaworth, the object of the carly attachment of Lord Byron, celebrated in the poem of "the Presam;" and is now the sent of J. Chaworth Mustra Fare. The present belonged for corne time of a the ters, Esq. The manor belonged, for some time after the Con paest, to the Annesleys, now of Bletchingdon; who built a castle in the park, and a priory in Felley. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, 254. Patron, J. Chaworth Musters, Esq. The church is old but good, and contains monuments of the Annes-There are two Wesleyan chapels, a free school, and leys. There are two treated and the charities et di.

ANNESLEY, Stafford. See ANSLOW.

ANNESLEY, Surrey. See ANSLOW. Agnes, separated by Smith's sound; was formerly much larger than now; and is uninhabited. Annet Head, at target than now; and is unitablest. American with its north-vestern extremity, overlooks very whirling tales, aroong obstructing rocks, the "dogs" of Scilly. ANNIFER (Ture), a stream of Pembroke. It rises in the NE of the Precelly mountains, and runs 10 miles west-north-westward to Newport bay.

ANNINGSLEY, or ANNESIEY, an estate 3 miles SSW of Weyirdige, in Surrey. It was purchased in 1771 by Thomas Day, the author of "Sandford and Merton;" was the scene of his eccentric experiments; and Merton; was the scene of his eccentric experiments; and pussed, by marriage of his grand-niece, to the Hon. James Norton.

ANN (LITTLE), a tything in Abbots-Ann parish,

ANN'S (St.). See Lewes, Nottingham, Kirk-St.

ANN, ALDERNEY, and LONDON.

ANN'S HEAD (St.), a headland at the W side of the entrance of Milford Haven, Pembroke. Two fixed lights are on it, 159 and 192 feet high, seen at the distances of 17 and 19 miles.
ANN'S HILL (St.). See Anne's Hill (St.).

ANSFORD. See ALMSFORD. ANSEQRD. See ALMSFORD.

ANSLEY, a parish in Atherstone district, Warwick; on the river Bourne, 5 miles W of Nuncaton r. station. It has a post-office under Atherstone. Acres, 2,899. Real property, 25,023. Pop., 685. Houses, 160. The property is not much divided. Ansley Hall belonged one to the Ludfords, and belongs now to the Astleys. and it stands in an extensive park, which abounds with both natural and artificial beauties, and contains a hermitage and a Chinese temple. The hermitage was formed out of an ancient oratory, and was the place where Wharton wrote his lines, "Beneath this stony roof reclined:" and the Chinese temple was constructed by Sir W. Chambers, and contains a monument of the Purcov family, brought from Caldecote church. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, #115.* Norman, has a fine square tower, and is in good condition. There is an Independent chapel. Charities, £47.

dition. There is an Independent chapel. Charities, 241.

ANSLOW, or ANNESIEY, a township-chapelry in Rolleston parish, Stafford; near the Grand Trunk caral, 31 miles NW of Eurton-on-Trent. Post-town, Burton-Trent. Real property, 22,020. Pop., 318. Houses, The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Lichield. Value, not reported. Patron, Sir O. Mosley, Bart.

There is a Wesleyan chapel.

ANSTEY, a parish in Royston district, Herts: on Ermine-street, near the river Quin, 31 miles NE of Buntingford, and 61 SSE of Royston r station. Postrose town, Buntingford, Acres, 2,170. Real property, 22,194. Pop., 473. Honses, 93. A castle stood here upon a high round hill, said to have been erected, soon after the Conquest, by Eustace, Earl of Boulogne; but was demo-lished, in the time of Henry III., "because it had been a nest of rebels." The most which surrounded it, and a nest of rebels." some works which were added in the time of King John. still remain. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £501.* Patron, Christ's College, Cambridge. The church was built out of the materials of the castle; and is cruciform and of mixed architecture, from Norman to debased. There are a P. Methodist chapel, a national school, and charities £3.

ANSTEY, a chapelry in Thurcaston parish, Leicester;

A STATA a crapping in Tunicastori parist, Lecester, on a branch of the river Soar, near Swannington railway, 4 miles NW of Leicester. It has a post-office under Leicester. Acres, about 1,400. Real property, 62,144. Pop., 734. Houses, 174. The manor belonged to Ulverscroft abley; and went to the Greys of Groly. The living is a rectory in the dio. of Peterborough. Value, The church was recently rebuilt, but retains an ancient tower. There are three dissenting chapels, a national school, and charities £11.

ANSTEY, a parish in Foleshill district, Warwick: on ANNUAL, a parish in rote-bill district, warwick; on the Oxford canal, near the river Sow, 2 miles SW of Bulkington r. station, and 5 NE of Coventry. It has a post-office under Coventry. Acres, 990. Real property, £2,340. Pop., 171. Houses, 47. The property is divided among a few. Some of the inhabitants are ribbon weavers. The living is a vicazage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £162. Patron, the Losd Chancellor. The church is very good. There is a chancellor. Chancellor. The church is very good. There is a charity school.

ANSTEY, a parish in Tisbury district, Wilts; under Whitesheet hill, 2 miles S by E of Tisbury r. station, and 5 SSE of Ilindon. Post-town, Tisbury under Salisbury. Acres, 840. Real property, with Swallowelift, 23,773. Pop., 293. Horses, 59. The property is divided among a few. A preceptory of the Hospitallers was founded here in 1210; and a barn belonging to it still remains. The living is a donative in the diocese of Salisbury.

Value £20 Patron, Lord Arundell. The church is the oldest in the diocese; has an ancient font; and is in tolerable condition. Dr. Richard Zouch, judge of the court of admiralty in the reign of Charles 1., was a

ANSTEY, a hamlet in Hilton parish, Dorset; 9 miles

ANSTEY, a hamlet in Hilton parish, Dorset; 9 miles WSW of Blaudford. Pop., 200.

ANSTEY (EAST), a parish in South Molton district, Devou; on the river Yeo, 4½ miles WSW of Dulverton, and 12 NNW of Tiverton r. station. Post-town, Dulverton under Tiverton. Acres, 3,245. Real property, 21,310. Pop., 227. Houses, 32. The surface is hilly; and the property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the dioces of Exeter. Value, 2180. Patron, T. S. Jessopp, Esp. The church is tolerable. T. S. Jessopp, Esq. The church is tolerable.

ANSTEY-PASTURES, an extra-parochial tract in Barrow-upon-Soar district, Leicestershire; contiguous to the parishes of Anstey and Glenfield, 3 miles NW of Leicester. It was included within the duchy of Lan-

Hall. Pop., 34. Houses, 6.

ANSTEY (West), a parish in South Molton district, ANSTEY (West), a parish in South Molton district, Devon; on the river Yeo, contiguous to East Anstey. Post-town, Dulverton under Tiverton. Acres, 3,008 Real property, £1,845. Pop., 299. Houses, 50. The surface is hilly; and the property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £132.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Exeter. The church is pretty good. Charities, £7.

ANSTIEBURY, or HANSTIEBURY, an ancient circular camp with a double trench, in the eastern vicinity of Coldharbour, 41 miles S of Dorking, in Surrey. It comprises 10 acres, and is nearly covered with trees and brushwood. Flint arrowheads and many Saxon coins brushwood. That arrowheads and many Saxon coins have been found in its neighbourhood.

ANSTIS COVE, a romantic little dell on the coast of Devon; in the southern vicinity of Babbacombe bay, 4½ miles S of Teignmouth. Its sides consist of limestone cliffs, variously rugged, buttressed, and smooth, and partly covered with ivy or shaded with wood; and its northern promontory commands a magnificent view of the coast from Teignmouth to Portland. Adjacent to it, on the Babbacombe road, are the terraces and towers of the Bishop of Exeter's Italian villa of Bishopstowe, the Bisnop of Exercis Laman value of Essapered, which was partly burnt in 1858.

ANSTON, a township, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Worksop, and W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the Chesterfield canal, about I mile N of Kiveton Park r. station, and 10 ESE of Sheffield; is divided into North and Sonth Anston; and has a postoffice, of the name of South Anston, under Rotherham. Pop., 1,126. Houses, 237. -The parish is called Austoncum-Membris; and includes also the township of Woodsetts. Acres, 4,490. Real property, exclusive of Woodsetts. £1,820. Pop., 1,290. Houses, 279. The property is divided among a few. Nail-making and starchsetts. Acres, 4,300. Reat property, excusive of woods ests, £4,820. Pop., 1,290. Houses, 279. The pro-perty is divided among a few. Nail-making and starch-naking are earried on. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £280. Patron, the Archbishop of York. The church is good. The sub-district com-prises seven parishes. Acres, 16,580. Pop., 3,222.

ANSWELL TOR, a hill on the left side of the river Dart, 15 mile NW of Ashburton, Devon. It is skirted with a wood of firs; and it commands a fine view to the S.

ANT (THE), a stream of Norfolk. It rises near Antingham; and runs about 12 miles south-south-eastward, past North Walsham and Irstead, to the Bure below Horning.

ANTHOLIN (St.). See LONDON.

ANTHONY-IN-EAST. See ANTONY.
ANTHONY-IN-MENEAGE (Sr.), a parish in Helston district, Cornwall; on the S shore of the estuary of the Helford, 55 miles S by W of Falmouth, and 12 SE of Redruth r. station. Post-town, Mawnan under Falmouth. Acres, 1,510 of land, and 330 of water. Real property, £1,736. Pop., 232. Houses, 49. Picturesque creeks branch here from the Helford; Dinas promoutory projects at its mouth, and commands fine views; and the Great and I ittle Dinas entrenchments, originally ancient British camps, command its entrance, and were held as military posts in the civil war of Charles I. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £101. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church stands on the Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church stands on the shore, at the base of Dimas promontory; is an old edifice, with a granite tower and a font; and was a cell to Tywardraeth priory, founded before the time of Richard I. ANTHONY-IN-ROSELAND (Sr.), a parish in Truro district, Cornwall; on the English Channel and the Eside of Falmouth hardbourt, 3 miles E of Falmounth, and 9\frac{1}{3} Sof Truro r. station. Post-town, St. Mawes under Grampound. Aeres, 682 of Iand, and 435 of water. Rea property, £1,200. Pop., 169. Houses, 28. St. Anthony's Head projects into the sea at the mouth of Falmouth harbour; and is crowned by a lichthouse, showmouth harbour; and is crowned by a lighthouse, showing a white flashing light 65 feet high, visible at the distance of 12 miles. The Old Wall rock, with 25 feet of water, lies off the headland. A bed of shell, 30 feet above high-water mark, occurs at Porth. Place House. a seat of Sir S. T. Spry, adjoins the church, and occupies the site of an Augustinian priory, which was founded in 1124, by Warlewast, Bishop of Exeter, and was a cell to Plympton. The living is a donative in the diocese of Exeter. Value, not reported. Patron, Sir S. T. Spry. The church is a beautiful small structure in early English, with a Norman doorway; was recently restored by Sir S. T. Spry; and contains a monument, by Westmacott, to Admiral Sir Richard Spry.

ANTHONY (St. Jacob). See Antony.

ANTHONY'S (St.), a locality 1½ mile NW of Walker, with a post-office under Newcastle-on-Tyne, Northum-

ANTHONY'S HEAD (St.). See Anthony-in-Rose-LAND (Sr.)

ANTHONY'S HILL (St.). See EASTEGURNE.
ANTHORN, or AINTHORN, a township in Bowness parish, Cumberland; on Authorn lake and the N side of the Wampool estuary, 8 miles NNW of Wigton. Pop., Houses, 38.

197. Houses, 38.

ANTINGHAM, a parish in Erpingham district, Nor-folk; at the source of Ant river, 3 miles NNW of North Walsham r, station, and 16 N of Norwich. Post-town, North Walsham, nuder Norwich. Acros, 1,509. Real property, £2,166. Pop., 227. Houses, 54. The pro-perty is not much divided. There are ecclesiastically two parishes, St. Mary and St. Margaret; and both are rectories in the diocese of Norwich. St. Mary is united with the vicarage of Thorpe-Market and the donative of Bradfield. Value, £262. Patron, Lord Suffield. The Bradheld. Value, 2202. Fatron, Lord Student. And church is a structure of flint, in good condition; and has a brass of Calthorpe. St. Margaret is annexed to the vicarage of North Walsham; and the church is in ruins.

Charities, two coombs of wheat.

ANTON (THE), a river of Hants. It rises among the chalk hills in the neighbourhood of Penton-Mewsey; runs 7 miles south-eastward, past Andover, to a junction with the Test in the vicinity of Wherwell; and goes thence 17 miles southward, past Stockbridge and Romsey, to the head of Southampton water. See Andover.

ANTONY, a parish and a sub-district, in the district of St. Germans, Cornwall. The parish is called also Anthony: it-East and St. Jacob Anthony; ites on Lynher creek and the Hamouze, 4 miles S of Saltash r. station, and 4 SE of St. Germans; and has a post-office, of the name of Autony, under Devenport. Acres, 3,222 of land, and 1,260 of water. Real property, £14,508. Pop., 3,887. Houses, 562. The manor of East Antony belonged formerly to the Dawneys, and belongs now to the Carews. Antony House, on that manor, is a large square Carews. Antony House, on that manor, is a large square edifice of Pentnan stone, built in 1721 by Gibbs; and contains an interesting collection of old pictures. Wathout yillage, or Sc. Javob, is a pleasant place; and, owing to its proximity to Devonport and Plymouth, is a favourite residence of officers counceted with the dockyards and the navy at these towns. Antony Passage, at yards and the navy at these towns. Among transposes, East Antony, has a ferry to Trenaton. Beggars Island, below the passage, was named after Banfyeld Moore Carew, commonly called King of the Beggars. The investigation of Explaint Care and Property Cally 1982. ing is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £262 *

Patron, W. H. P. Carew. The church was built in 1420, but has a tower of the previous century; and it contains monuments of Lady Marjory Arundel, Richard Carey, who wrote the "Surrey of Cornwall," and Captain Graves, R. N., who figured in the time of George II. The curacy of Merrifield is united with the vicarage; and the p. curacy of Torpoint is a separate incumbency. There is a Wesleyan chapel. The workhouse of St. Germans is in this parish. Charities, £12. The sub-district of Antony comprises four parishes. 7,878. Houses, 1,336. Acres, 9,740.

7,878. Houses, 1,336.

ANTROBUS, a township and a chapelry in Great Budworth parish, Cheshire. The township lies 3 miles NE of Acton r. station, and 44 NW of Northwich.
Acres, 2,036. Real property, 24,233. Pop. 514. Houses, 99. Pop. of the chapelry, 673. Post-town, Northwich.
The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, 250. Patron, the Vicar of Great Budworth. The church was built in 1848, and improved in 1863. There are a was built in 1848, and improved in 1863.

was built in 1848, and improved in 1863. There are a Wesleyan chapel and a national school.

ANVICK, a parish in Sleaford district, Lincoln; near the Sleaford canal, 4½ miles ENE of Sleaford r. station. Post-town, Sleaford. Acres, 1,820. Real property, £2,773. Pop., 277. Houses, 58. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage annexed to the rectory of Brunnewell, in the diocese of Lincoln. The church is road. is good.

APESTHORPE. See APPLETHORPE.

APETHORPE, a parish in Oundle district, Northampton; on an affluent of the river Nen, 33 miles W by S of Elton r. station, and 5 SW of Wansford. It has a post-office under Wansford; and it includes Moorhay Lodge in Rockingham forest, which some account extraparochial. Acres, 2,630. Real property, £1,335. Pop., 243. Houses, 56. Apethorpe Hall is the seat of the Earl of Westmoreland; has a statue of James I.; and was the place where that monarch first met his favourite Villiers. The living is a vicarage, united in 1868 to Value, £300. Patron, the Bishop of P. The church is good, and contains a splendid monument to Sir W. Mildmay, Chareller of the Frebence in the living of Over Vilne. Chancellor of the Exchequer in the time of Queen Elizabeth, and founder of Émmanuel college, Cambridge. Charities, £66.

APETON, a hamlet in Gnosall parish, Staffordshire; 5½ miles SW of Stafford.

5½ miles SW of Stafford.

APLEY, a parish in Lincoln district, Lincoln; near Langworth river, 3½ miles SW of Wragby, and 5 N of Barlney r. station. Post-town, Wragby. Acres, 1,658. Real property, £1,670. Pop. 221. Houses, 45. The manor belonged to the Tyrwhittses, and descended to the Prakes; and the old mansion on it is now a farmhouse. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £20. Patron, T. T. Drake, £sq. There is no church; but there is a Wesleyan chapel.

APLEY, a seat on the edge of a wooded sea-cliff, § of a nide E of Ryde, in the Isle of Wight. It was built, in the early part of last century, by the noted smuggler, David Boyce; and it occupies one of the most enchanting spots in the island.

ing spots in the island.

APLEY CASTLE, an old baronial seat, 1 mile NW of Wellington, and 23 miles N of the Wrekin, Salop. It was the head house of the Charletons in the time of APLEY PARK, the seat of the Whitmore family, on the river Severn, 3 miles N of Bridgmorth, Salop. The grounds are richly picturesque, in both natural and artificial feature; and a terrace, about a mile long, comficial feature; and a terrace, about a mue 1019; commands a superb panormule view to the Clents, the Malverns, Clee, Wenlock Edge, and the Wrekin.

APPERLEY, a township in Bywell-St. Peter parish, Northumberland; near the Tyne, 7 miles ESE of Corbridge. Acres, 429. Pop., 20. Houses, 4.

Normanneriana; near the 13me, a miss ESE of Corbridge, Acres, 429. Pop., 20. Houses, 4.
APPERLEY-BRIDGE, a village in the townships of Calverley-with-Farsley and Eccleshill, parish of Calverbey, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Aire, the Leeds and Liverpool canal, and the Leeds and Colne railway, 73 miles WNW of Leeds. It has a station on the railway, a post-office under Leeds, and a large school of the sons of Methodist ministers; and it commands a fine view.

APPERIEY WITH WHITEFIELD, a hamlet in Deerhurst parish, Gloucester; on the river Severn, 4 miles SW of Tewkeshury. It has a post-office under mines 51 of Tewkesbury. It has a post-office under Tewkesbury, and a chaptel of case. Pop., 427.

APPERSETT, a hamlet in Hawes chapelry, N. R. Yorkshire; in Wedale, under Cam fell, at the head of the river Ure, 4 miles SW of Hawes.

APPERTON. See ALPERTON.

APPERTON.

APPERTON. See ALPERTON.
APPLEBY, a parish in Glanford-Brigg district, Liucoln; near the Doneaster and Grimsby railway, 7 miles NNW of Brigg. It includes Raventhorpe hamlet: and has a post-office under Brigg, and a r. station. Acres, 6,164. Real property, £6,192. Pop., 579. Houses,
101. The property is divided between two. Appleby House is the seat of C. Winn, Esq. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £150. Patron, C. Winn, Esq. The church is a neat structure, with a tower. with a tower.

APPLEBY, a village and a parish in Ashby-de-la-Zouch district, on the confines of Leicester and Derby. The village stands 11 mile WSW of the Mease river and the Ashby-de-la-Zouch canal, and 6 miles SW by S of Ashby-de-la-Zouch r. station. It has a post-officet under Atherstone; and is a meet for the Atherstone hounds. Atherstone; and is a meet for the Atherstone hounds. It is sometimes called Appleby-Magna or Great Appleby, while a hamlet a little S of it, in the same parish, is called Appleby-Parra or Little Appleby. The parish comprises 2,020 acros. Real property, £7,067. Pop., 1,070. Houses, 248. The property is not much divided. Appleby Hall is the seat of G. Moore, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £75.0.* Patron, G. Moore, Esq. The church is a handsome structure with a spire; and has some good painted class. There are three discenting charels and a painted glass. There are three dissenting chapels and a free grammar-school,—the latter founded in 1697, by Sir John Moore, lord mayor of London. Endowed income of the grammar-school, £326; other charities £9.

APPLEBY, a small town, two townships, two parishes, and a sub-district in the district of East Ward, Westmoreland. The town stands on the river Eden, and on the Eden Valley railway, 91 miles ENE of Shap, and 13 SE of Penrith. It consists of Appleby-proper, in the parish of Appleby-St. Lawrence, on the left bank of the river, and Old Appleby or Bongate, in the parish of Appleby-St. Michael, on the right bank. It dates from the time of the Romans; and was long a place of similar importance to York. It gave name to a sherifflom lar importance to York. It gave name to a sheriffdom under Edward the Confessor; stood prominent at the Conquest; underwent surprise and demolition by William the Lion, king of Scotland; re-acquired speedily its former strength, and became the seat of a Court of Exchequer; suffered demolition again by the Scots in 1388; recovered but partially from the blow, and was desolated in 1598 by the plague; made a heroic resistance, under the direction of Anne, Countess of Pembroke, to the Parliamentarian army in 1648, but was constrained to yield. It is supposed to have had a length or breadth of at least 2 miles; and the name Burrals, belonging to a township now 1] mile distant from it, is believed to be a corruption of Borough-walls. The town was made a horough by Henry II.; and it sent two members to parliament from the time of Edward I. till disfranchized by the act of 1852. It is governed by a mayor, twelve aldermen, and sixteen burgesses; is a seat of petty-sessions, quarter sessions, and assizes; and is the place of nomination for the county members, one of the pollingplaces, and the head quarters of the county militia. But its ancient glory is represented mainly by antiquities and historical associations, and has not been followed by modern prosperity.

Appleby-proper stands on a hill-slope, with the castle at its head, and the church of St. Lawrence at its foot: comprises one main street and three intersecting small ones; and is irregularly built, but contains some good houses. The castle occupies the site of the Roman station Galacum; was built by the Saxons, and rebuilt, in the time of Henry VI., by Lord Chifford; and contains a portrait of the Countess Anne of Pembroke, many other family portraits, some valuable manuscripts, and some interesting old armour. The church of St. Lawsome interesting old armour. The church of St. Law-rence is an edifice in late English, chiefly rebuilt by the Countess Anne of Pembroke; and contains tombs of that lady, of her mother, the Countess of Cumberland, and of other Childreds. The county-hall, in the Main-street, is a large, ancient structure. The market-house, built in 1811, after a design by Smirke, is a haudsome Gothic edifice. Queen Elizabeth's grammar-school contained some curious ancient inscriptions, recording the misfortunes of the town, found here and put up by one of the masters, the friend of Camden, but which have been removed: and it possesses an endowed income of £216, with five exhibiit possesses an endowed income of £216, with nivexinitions at Queen's college, Oxford. Countess Anne's hospital, founded and endowed by the Countess Anne of Pembroke, is a quadrangular building for thirteen aged widows, and has an endowed income of £512. Other charities have £182. An ancient two-arched bridge spans the Eden, and connects the two sections of the town. The county jail, in Bongate, is an irregular structure of 1771, with capacity for 35 male and 8 female prisoners. The church of St. Michael, about $\frac{3}{2}$ of a mile SE of the town, is a neat edifice; and has tombs of the SE of the town, is a neat edifice; and has tombs of the Hiltons of Murton. A monastery for white friars, founded in 1281 by Lord Vessey, stood in Bongate, and was given to an ancester of the Earl of Lonsdale. The town has a railway station, a post-officet under Penrith, and a banking office. A weekly market is held on Saturday, and fairs on 17 Feb., Whitsunday Eve, Whit-Monday, the second Wednesday in June, the last Wednesday in July, and 21 Aug. Thomas de Viteripont of the 12th century. Thomas de Anglely, bishen of Caliela. day, in second wednesday in June, the last weenesd day in July, and 21 Aug. Thomas de Viteripont of the 13th century, Thomas de Appleby, bishop of Carlisle, Roger de Appleby, bishop of Ossory, Dr. Bambridge, archbishop of York, and Dr. Christopher Potter, dean of Durham, were natives; and Bedell, bishop of Kilmere, Barlow, bishop of Lineolu, Addison, dean of Lichfield, and Dr. Langhorne, the translator of Plutarch, were cducated at the grammar-school.

The township of Appleby is identical with Appleby-proper. Acres, 48. Pop., 960. Houses, 178. The township of Old Appleby, or Bongate, includes the part of the town on the right side of the Eden, but also extends into the country. Acres, 3,261. Real property, £4,488. Pop., 654. Houses, 128. The parish of 24,485. rop., 634. Houses, 125. The parish of Appleby-St. Lawrence comprises the townships of Appleby Scattergate, Colby, Burrals, Hoffe and Kow, and Drybeck. Acres, 5,350. Real property, £6,291. Pop., 1,569. Houses, 300. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £306. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Carlisle. The parish of Appleby-St. and Chapter of Carlisle. The parish of Appleby-St. Michael comprises the townships of Bongate, Crackenthorpe, Murton, and Hilton. Acres, 14,550. Real property, inclusive of Bampton, £10,220. Pop., 1,255. Houses, 242. This living also is a vicarage in the diocess of Carlisle. Value, £175.* Patron, the Bishop of Carlisle. The p. curacy of St. Jolin's, Murton, is a separate incumbency. There are, in the two parishes, several distributions of the property of the incumbency. There are, in the two parishes, several dissenting chapels. The sub-district comprises these two parishes and four others. Acres, 55,873. Pop., 5,529. Houses, 1,092.

APPLEDORE, a tything in Barlescombe parish, Devon; near the Great Western railway, the Western canal, and the Culm river, 7½ miles ENE of Tiverton.

Pop., 195. ORE, a scaport village and a chapelry in Mortham parish, Devon. The village stands on the bay at the mouths of the rivers Torridge and Taw, 3 miles N of Bideford r. station; and has a head post-office, designated Appledore, North Devon. It has pleasant environs, a fine bathing-heach, and good accommodation for strangers; so that it has become an esteemed water-ing place. It is a sub-port to Bideford; and a number of its inhabitants are engaged in the coasting trade and in dock-yards. Hubba, the Dane, landed here in the time of King Alfred, but was taken in the neighborrhood, and put to death. The chapelry includes the village, and was constituted in 1844. Pop. 2,210. Houses, 513. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter.

Value, £150. Patron, the Vicar of Northam. The church is a neat edifice; and there are chapels for Independents, Baptists, and Wesleyans.

APPLEDORE, a village and a parish in Tenterden district, Kent. The village stands on the Military ennal, on a branch of the river Rother, on the W border of Ronney marsh, 14 mile W of a station of its own name on the Ashford and Hastings railway, and 6 ESE of Ten-terden. It has a post-office; under Staplehurst; and it formerly had a weekly market, and still has a fair on the of the rest in the state of the Robert, and state as a scaport, ou the quendam estuary of the Rother; and it was assailed by the Danes in the time of King Alfred, and by the French The parish comprises 3,001 acres. Real proin 1389. The parish comprises 3,001 acros. Real property, £6,184. Pop. 640. Houses, 132. The property is divided among a few. Much of the land is rich meadowy pasture. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury; and includes the curacy of Ebony.

Value, £200.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church has a singular projection from the N side of the nave, and is a strange mixture of Norman, early English, and decorated; but has been greatly altered, and is in good condition.

APPLEDRAM, a parish in Westhampnett district, Sussex; on the E side of Chichester harbour, adjacent Sussex; on the E side of Chichester harbour, adjacent to the Armudel and Portsmouth canal and the South Coast railway, 2 miles SW of Chichester. Post-town, Chichester. Acres, 1,197; of which 290 are water. Real property, 21,768. Pop., 129. Houses, 29. The property is divided among four. Appledram House is an old Tudor edifice. A farm-house near the church is said to have been part of a castle which William Renan was stopped in building in the time of Edward II., and the rest of the materials for which he used in creeting the rest of the materials for which he used in the living the tower that bears his name at Chichester. The living the vicerage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £64. is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Chichester. church is early English, and had a chantry.

APPLEDURWELL. See APPULDURGOMEE.
APPLEFORD, a chapelry in Sutton-Courtney parish, Berks; on the river Thames and the Oxford branch railway, 1 mile S of Culham r. station, and 31 SE of Abingdon. Post-town, Abingdon. Acres, 760. Real property, £1,768. Pop., 288. Houses, 61. The property is divided among a few. The living is a p. curacy annexed to the vicarage of Sutton-Courtney, in the diocese of Oxford. The church is good; and there is a free school.

APPLEGARTH-FOREST, a hamlet in Bowes town-ship and parish, 12 miles N of Muker, N. R. Yorkshire, APPLESHAM, a locality near the river Adur and the South Coast railway, 1 mile NW of Shureham, Sussex.

South Coast rainway, I mue NW of Shurenam, Sussex. It is a resort of sportsmen.

APPLESHAW, a village and a parish in Andover district, Hants. The village stands under the Downs, 5 miles WNW of Andover r. station; and it has a postoffice under Andover, and fairs on 23 May, on the Friday and Saturday before Weyhill, and on 4 and 5 Nov. The parish contains also the hamlet of Tilly-Down, and parts of the hamlets of Appleshaw-Bottom and Dancey. parts of the humlets of Appleshaw-Bottom and Dancer, Acres, 697. Real property, £1,805. Pop., 284. Houses, 62. The property is divided among a faw. Appleshaw House is the seat of the family of Duke. The fiving is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester; and till 1365 was annexed to Amport. The church is good. APPLESHAW-BOTTOM, a hamblet in the parishes of Appleshaw and Weyhill-with-Penton, Hants. Pop., 43. APPLETHORPÉ, APSETHORPÉ, OT HABBLESHOUTT, a parish in East Retford district, Notts; on the verge of the country. I mile E of Leverton r, station, and 5 f. c. of the county, 1 mile E of Leverton r. station, and 5 E of East Retford. It contains the hamlet of Coates; and its East Refford. It contains the namet of Coates; and its post-town is Sturbon under Retford. Acres, 1,040. Real property, £1,369. Pop., 142. Houses, 26. The living is a p. curacy in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £31. Patron, the Bishop of L. There is no church; but there are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £62.

APPLETHWAITE, a township and a chapelry in Windermere parish, Westmoreland. The township contains Windermere village and r. station, includes part of Windermere lake, and extends southward from the mouth

c: Troutorck vale to about a mile from Bowness. Posttown, Win-Ierinere. Acres, 5,320 of land, and 911 of water. Fop., 1,283. Houses, 187. An upland tract on the XE side, between Troutbeck and Kentmere, is ea the AL side, between Troutbeck and Kenthaere, is Applethwaite Common. The chapelry is less extensive than the township, and was constituted in 1856. Pop., 1,235. Houses, 179. The living is a vicarnge in the discess of Carlisle. Value, £120. Patron, the Bishop of Carlisle. See Windermer.

APPLETHWAITE, a village on the ascent of Skiddaw, 2 miles N of Keswick, Cumberland. It commands a brilliant view of Derwentwater and the encincturing monntains. A small property adjacent to it was given by Sir George Beaumont to the poet Wordsworth.

by S.F. George Beaumont to the poet Wordsworth.

"APPLETON, a village and a parish in Abingdon district, Berks. The village stands near the Thames. 5 miles NW of Abingdon r. station; and has a post-office moder Abingdon. The parish includes also the township of Exton. Acres. 1,991. Real property, £2,820. Pop. 542. Horses, 121. The Fettiplaces shad an old seat here, which is now reduced to a fragment. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Oxford. Value, £307.* Patron, Magdalene College, Oxford. The church has tombs of the Fettiplaces, and a brass of a skeleton. A school has 215 from endowment, and other charities £35. Edmind =16 from endowment, and other charities £35. Edmund Dickenson, the famous chemist and physician, born in 1624, was a native.

APPLETON, a village in Widnes township, Prescot parish, Lancashire; near St. Helen's railway, the Sankey canal, and the river Mersey, 64 miles NNW of Warrington. It has a station on the railway, a post-office under Warrington, a Wesleyan chapel, and a Roman Catholic Chapel.

APPLETON, a hamlet in Flitcham parish, Norfolk;

miles NE of Castle-Rising. It is regarded ecclesiastically as a parish; a vicarage, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £8. Patron, Edmund Kent, Esq. The church is in ruins.

APPLETON, or HULL and APPLETON, a township in AFTLETON, OF RELL and AFFLETON, a township in Great Bulworth parish, Cheshire; near the Bridgewater canal, 3 miles SE of Warrington. Acres, 3,324. Real property, £9,571. Pop., 1,525. Honses, 376. Here are Appleton Lodge, and Independent, Eaptist, and Western State of the Computation of the Computa i-van chapels. APPLETON (EAST and WEST), a township in Catter-ick parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 54 miles SE of Richmond. A.r.s., 1.582. Real property, £2,812. Pop., 115.

Hous HOLESS, 16.
APPLETON-LE-MOORS, a chapelry in Lastingham parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 5 miles NW of Pickering. Acres, 2,570. Real property, £2,023. Pop., 265. Houses, 53. The hving is a vicarage, Value, £301. The church was rebuilt in 1538. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

rebuilt in 1893. There is a Wesleyan chapel.
APPLETON-LE-STIKEET, a township and a parish in Malton district, N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the Roman road to Alborough, near the river Rye, 1; miles WNW of New Malton r. station. Acres,
1,149. Real property, 21,1815. Pop., 185. Houses,
25. The parish contains also the townships of Swinton, Proughton, Amotherby, and Hildenley. Post-town, New Malton, Adves, 4,715. Real property, £8,117. Pov., 937. Houses, 213. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicanage in the diocess of York. Value, Patron, the Rev. J. J. Peach. The church has an early Norman tower, contains two recumbent effigies, and was recently restored in a manner incongruous with its drie and style. Charities, 220.. APPLETON-NUN, a seat in Bolton-Percy parish, W. lt. Yorkshire; at the confluence of the Wharfe and the Ouse, 51 miles SE of Tadcaster. It was the site of a Cistertian nunnery, founded by Adeliza de St. Quina discertion numery, founded by Addiza de St. Quinton, in the region of Stephen; and it is now the property of Sir W. M. E. Milner, Eart.

APPLETON-ROEBUCK, a township and a sub-district in the district of Tadeaster, W. R. Yorkshire. The township is in the parish of Bolton-Percy, near Appleador-Num, 11 mile Sh of Bolton-Percy, near Appleador-Num, 12 mile Sh of Bolton-Percy r. station; and last a post-office under Tadeaster, a church built in 1869, and a Washayan chung. Agres 2, 780 Perc. 629. and a Weslevan chapel, Acres, 2,780. Pop., 622.

Honses, 141.-The sub-district comprises the townships of Bolton-Percy parish and another township. Acres, 8,671. Pop., 1,272. Houses, 263.
APPLETON-WISKE, or APPLETON-UPON-WISKE, a chapelry and a sub-district, in the district of Northaller-ton, N. R. Yorkshire. The chapelry lies on the river ton, N. R. Yorkshire. The chapelry lies on the river Wiske, 3 miles NW of Welbury r. station, and 7½ NNE of Northallerton; and it has a post-office under Northallerton. Acres, 1,827. Real property, £2,300. Pop., 466. Houses, 119. The property is much subdivided The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of York, annexed to the rectory of Great Smeaton in the diocese of Ripon. to the rectory of creat smeaton in the docese of knop-The church is very bad.—The sub-district comprises six parishes, and parts of three other parishes. Acres, 26,590. Pop., 2,952. Houses, 620. APPLETREE, a hamlet in Aston-le-Walls parish, Northampton; 7 miles NNE of Banbury. Pop. 88.

Pop. 88.

Houses, 15.

APPLETREE, a hundred in Derbyshire. It is bounded on the W by Staffordshire; and it contains Belper, part of Ashborne, twenty-nine parishes, and parts of five part of Ashborne, twenty-nine parishes, and parts of uve other parishes. Acres, 97,273. Pop. in 1851, 35,548; in 1861, 34,702. Houses, 7,242. APPLETREEWICK, a village and a township in Burnsall parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands on the river Wharfe, near Bardon fell, 8½ miles NE by E of Skipton; and has a fair on 25th Oct. Lord-Mayor Craven was a native. The township includes also Skire-halm kendlet and not of Gweenhowhill village. Acres. Craven was a native. The township includes also sale-holme hamlet, and part of Greenhowhill village. Acres, 7,740. Real property, £3,313. Pop., 354. Houses, 70. APPLEY-BRIDGE, a railway station in Lancashire;

on the Wigan and Newburgh, See APREY. on the Wigan and Southport railway, between Gathurst and Newburgh.

APPREY. See APPEY.

APPREYOURT, a seat near the Thames, 4½ miles WSW of Kingston, in Surrey. It belonged anciently to the Halls; belongs now to the Sharps; and was the residence of "Conversation" Sharp, the author of "Letters."

APPULDURCOMBE, or APPLEDIEWELL, a manor in Godshill parish, 2½ miles NW of Ventnor, isle of Wight. It was given by Isabella de Fortibus, in the time of Henry II., to the Benedictine abbey of Montbourg in Normandy; suffered seizure, in the time of Henry IV. Normandy; suffered seizure, in the time of Henry V., in reprisal of the hostilities of France; was granted by in reprisal of the nostilities of rrance; was granted by Henry VI. to the Minoresses without Adlgate in London; went from them by lease to the Frys, and from the latter by marriage to the Leighs and the Worsleys; passed, at the death of Sir Richard, the last of the Worsleys, to the noble family of Yarborough; and was sold by the present Earl to Winn Williams, Esq. A priory stood on it while it belonged to the Benedictines, and was afterwards converted jute a manner buses; and equent the afterwards converted into a manor house; and one of the Worsleys entertained here Henry VIII, and his minister rousely entertained nere Denry 111, and his minister Cromwell. The present mansion was founded in 1710 by Sir Robert Worsley, and completed by Sir Richard, the historian of the island; and is a square Corinthian edifice of Portland stone, with low projecting wings. A very rich collection of pictures, statues, and autiquities was made in it by Sir Dichard and Issandiad in his A very rich collection of pictures, statues, and autiquities was made in it by Sir Richard, and described in his magnificent and very costly work, the "Museum Worslemm;" but has been removed to the other seats of the Earl of Yarborough. The park is extensive, picturesque, and highly diversified; and commands noble views. A granite obelisk, erected in 1774 in memory of Sir Robert Worsley, crowns the highest point, at an elevation of 655 feet above the level of the sea; and was originally 70 feet high, but lost several feet of the top by a stroke of lightning in 1831. of lightning in 1831.
APSLEY-WITH-FORDHALL, a hamlet in Ullenhall

chapelry, 51 miles NW of Henley-in-Arden, Warwick.

Pop., 126. APTHORPE. See APETHORPE.

AQUALATE-MERE, a lake on the W border of Staffordshire; 2 miles ENE of Newport, Salop. It is nearly a mile broad, and upwards of a mile long; possesses considerable beauty; abounds in several fish, of large size; and is the resort of various aquatic wild fowls. Aqualate Hall, the seat of the baronet family of Boughey,

GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY JOR CONTINUES SHOULD

AOUIS. See ALKBOROUGH.

AQUIS. See ALKBORDGH.
ARBORFIELD, a parish in Wokingham district, Berks; on the river Loddon, 4 miles W of Wokingham r, station. Arborfield Cross, 14 mile SE of the village, has a post-office under Reading. Acres in the parish,
1,466. Real property, 23,975. Pop., 286. Houses, 65.
The property is divided among a few. The manor forof the Brazen Band;" and the old manor-house, called in "Our Village," the "Old House at Aberleigh," was the deathplace, in 1730, of Edward Standen, Esq., the person alluded to in the ballad of "Molly Mogg of the Rose." The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £345.* Patron, Lord Braybrooke. The church was built in 1863, and is in the middle pointed style.

ARBOR-LOW-HILL, an eminence in the vicinity of Youlgreave, Derby. Its summit is crowned by a Druidical circle of 150 feet in diameter, with 30 stones; and commands a fine view.

ARBORY. See KIRK-ARBORY.

ARBURY, a hamlet in Winwick parish, Lancashire; on the Roman road, near the Liverpool railway, 3 miles N of Warrington. See Houghton.

N of Warrington. See Houghton.
ARBURY. a Roman camp on leknield-street, 5½ miles NNE of Baldock, Herts.
ARBURY, or HARBOROUGH, a Roman camp near Gogmacog hills, 2 miles N of Cambridge.
ARBURY-BANKS, a Roman camp on Watling-street,
1 mile W of Chipping-Warden, Northampton.
ARBURY-HALL, the seat of the Newdegate family, in Chilvers-Coton parish, 3 miles SW of Naneaton, Warrick An Augustian priory was huilt on its site Warwick An Angustinian priory was built on its site in the time of Henry II.; given, in 1538, to Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk; purchased, in the reign of Elizabeth, by Sir Edmund Anderson; and transferred, soon afterwards, in exchange for other property, to John Newdegate, Esq. The priory was demolished, and a quadrangular mansion erected in its place, by Sir Edmund Anderson; and the mansion was transmuted into an elegant Gothic pile, of four fronts in different styles, by Sir Roger Newdogate, who founded the Newdegate prize poem, and died in 1806. The interior is splendid; and possess, among other attractions, a very curious and interesting picture of the time of Henry VI., brought hither from Astley Castle. The park is extensive and richly ornate; and has been called the "Strawberry Hill of Warwickshire.'

ARCHCLIFF. See Dover.
ARCHDEACON-NEWTON, a township in Darlington parish, Durham; 3 miles NW of Darlington. Acres, 1,040. Pop., 61. Houses, 11.

040. Pop., 61. Houses, 11. ARCHENFIELD. See IRCHINGFIELD.

ARCLEDON, a hamlet in Plumbland parish, Cumberland; 5 miles ENE of Maryport. Coal mines are in the neighbourhood.

ARCLID, a township in Sandbach parish, Cheshire; 2 miles E by N of Sandbach. It contains the Congleton workhouse. Acres, 538. Pop., 265. Houses, 25. ARD, a prefix of Celtic names, signifying "high," and commonly applied to a high point or head.

ARDDA, a hamlet in Dolgarrog township, Carnarvon; 41 miles NW of Llanrwst.

ARDDLEEN, a railway station on the eastern verge of Montgomery; on the Oswestry and Newtown railway, 64 miles NNE of Welshpool.

ARDDYNWENT, a township in Mold parish, Flint; in the vicinity of the town of Mold. Pop., 463.

105

Houses, 105.

ARDELEY, or YARDLEY, a parish in Royston district,
Herts; on the river Beane, 4 miles W of Westmill r. station, and 4; SW by W of Buntingford. Post-town, Buntingford. Acres, 2, 405. Real property, £3, 815. Pop., 574. Houses, 126. The manor was given by Athelstane to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's. Ardeley-Bury belonged once to the Cornwalls, then to the Chaunceys; and passed to the Murrays. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £224.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's. The church was reviced in 1855, and has a brass of a priest. Charities £20. paired in 1859, and has a brass of a priest. Charities, £20.

ARDEN, a part of Temple-Grafton parish, midway between Stratford-on-Avon and Alcester, in Warwick; or, more extensively, a tract about 17 miles long and 12 or, more extensively, a tract about 11 mues long and 12 miles broad, extending northward from the Aron to the vicinity of Birmingham. This was anciently a forest, and originally but part of a still greater forest, between the Severn and the Trent, held by the British Cornavii. It was probably the type of Shakespeere's "Forest of Arden;" and it gave the title of Baron to Earl Egmont. The name signifies "the high wood," and much of the treat designed by it is one collect the Woodland. tract designated by it is now called the Woodland.

ARDEN-WITH-ARDENSIDE, a township in Hawnby parish, N. R. Yorkshire; $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles NW of Helmsley. Acres, 4,613. Pop., 129. Houses, 25. The surface is chiefly part of Humbleton moor. A Benedictine nunnery was founded here in 1150; but has disappeared.

ARDINGLY, a parish in Cuckfield district, Sussex; near the Brighton railway, 2 miles SE of Balcombe r. station, and 3 NE of Cuckfield. It includes the hamlet of Hapsted; and its post-town is Cuckfield. Acres, 3,817. Real property, £3,554. Pop., £28. Houses, 114. Wakchurst Place, a short distance NE of the church, was formerly the seat of the Wakchursts and the Culpeppers; and is now the seat of Sir Alex. Cockburn. The mansion was built in 1590, by one of the Culpeppers; The mansion was built in 1000, by one of the case of the and is a picture sque structure, stained with lichens. The and is a picture sque structure, of Chichester. Value, and is a picture-sque structure, stanned with inchens. The living is a rectory in the dioses of Chichester. Value, £498. Patron, J. F. W. Peyton, Esq. The church is ancient. There are an Independent chapel, a national school, and a great lower middle school, called Ardingly college. The buildings of the college were completed in 1869; are in the first pointed style; and comprise two quadrangles, with accommodation for 1,000 resident boy-pupils.

ARDINGTON, a parish in Wantage district, Berks; on an affluent of the Thames, near the Wilts and Berks canal and the Great Western railway, 2 miles E. of Wantage, and 4 SW of Steventon r. station. Post-town, Wantage. Acres, 1,775. Real property, £3,518. Pop., 354. Houses, 78. Ardington House was the residence of Clarke the antiquary, and the seat of Robert Vernon, Esq., who collected here the "Vernon Gallery" of pic-

Esq., who concerns a trues, which he left to the nation, and died in 1849. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value not reported. Patron, Christ's Church, Oxford. The church is good, and has a tomb of R. Vernon.

ARDLEIGH, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Tendring, Essex. The parish lies on the Eastern Union railway, 41 NE of Colchester; and it has a station the railway, and a post-office under Colchester. onto ranway, 13 A of concester; and rasa's status on the railway, and a post-office under Colchester. Acres, 4,905. Real property, £9,445. Pop., 1,582. Houses, 360. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Bochester. Value, £389. * Tatron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good; and there is a Wesleyan chapel.—The sub-district comprises six parishes. 4,964. Houses, 1,136. Acres, 18,037.

ARDLEY, a parish in Bicester district, Oxford; on the boundary ditch between Mercia and Wessex, 31 miles the boundary ditch between Mercia and Wessex, 35 miles ENE of Heyford r. station, and 41 NW of Bicester. Post-town, Fritwell under Bicester. Acres, 1,469. Real property, £1,729. Pop., 169. Houses, 36. The property is divided among a few. Foundations exist of a Norman castle, built in the reign of Stephen, on the site of the control of of Offa's camp. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £307. * Patron, the Duke of Marlborough.

The church is good,

ARDSLEY, a township and a chapelry in Darfield parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the Barnsley branch railway, and on the Pearne and Dove eanal, 2; miles ESE of Barnsley; and it has a station on canal, 27 lines E.S. of Editsicy; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Tairnsley. Acres, 1,212. Real property, £12,093,—of which £7,109 are in mines and quarries. Pop., 1,772. Houses, 268. The chief residences are Ardsley Hall and Ardsley Park. The fanatical and ill-used Quaker, James Nayler, who died in 1660, was a native. The chapelry is less extensive than the township, and was constituted in 1844. Pop., 1,712. Houses, 363. The living is a vicamge in the diocese of York. Value, £120.* Patron, the Vicar of Darfield. The church is in the Norman style, and was built in 1841. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

ARDSLEY, a railway station and a sub-district in the district of Wakefield, W. R. Yorkshiro. The railway station is on the Leeds and Wakefield railway, 3 miles from Leeds, and 5 from Wakefield. The sub-district comprises the parishes of Ardsley, East and West, and the township of Thorpe. Acres, 4,414. Pop., 2,786.

Henses, 557.

Heurss, 557.

ARDSLEY (EAST), a parish in Wakefield district, W. R. Yorkshire; on the Leeds and Wakefield railway, 1½ mile from Ardsley station, and 3½ NW of Wakefield. It has a post-office under Wakefield. Acres, 1,530. Real property, £3,963. Pop., 1,069. Houses, £19. The projerty is not much divided. Coal abounds; and there is a large woollen factory. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £369.* Patron, the Earl of Cardigun. The church is good; and there are a U. Fras Vethodist change and charties £11.

Free Methodist chapel and charities £14.

ARDSLEY (West), or WOODKIRK, a parish in Wake-field district, W. R. Yorkshire; on the Leeds and Wake-field railway, at Ardsley station, 5 miles NW of Wakeneut railway, at Arusley station, 5 miles NW of Wake-feld. It includes six hamlets, and has a post-office, of the name of West Ardsley, under Wakefield. Aeres, 2.255. Real property, £5,139. Pop., 1,646. Houses, 235. Coal is worked, and bricks are made. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £265.* Patron, the Earl of Cardigan. The church was rebuilt in 1831. There are two Methodist chapels, a partially endowed school, and charities £10.
ARDUDWY, a hundred in the NW of Merioneth. It contains Harlech, sixteen parishes, and part of another; and is ent into two parts, Is-Artro and Uwch-Artro. Acres of A. Is-Artro, 89,415. Pop. in 1851, 10,629; in 1861, 13,324. Houses, 775. Acres of A. Uweh-Artro, 36,540. Pop. in 1851, 3,559; in 1861, 11,750. Honses, ARDWICK, a township, three chapelries, and a sub-dis-ict in Manchester parish, Lancashire. The township trice in Manchester parish, Lancasnire.

is suburban to Manchester city, on the SE; and lies within the borough boundaries.

Acres, 470. Real prowithin the borough boundaries. Aeres, 470. Real pro-perty. £57,895. Pop., 21,757. Houses, 4,414. The Manchester and Sheffield railway has a station here, 2 of a mile from the terminus; joins here the Manchester and Birminghom railway near Chancery lane; and is carried here on a succession of immense viaducts.—The chapelare Ardwick-St. Thomas, Ardwick-St. Silas, and Ardwick-V. Inohas, Ardwick-V. Sinas, and Ardwick-V. Matthew; and were constituted in respec-tively 1838, 1844, and 1868. Pop. of A. St. T., 10,147. Hoases, 2,029. Pop. of A. St. S., 10,375. Houses, 2,143. The livings are rectories in the diocese of Manchester. Value of St. E. and St. S., each £300; of St. M., not reported. Patrons of St. T., the Dean and Chapter of Manchester, of St. S. and St. M., Trustees. - The of Manchester, of St. S. and St. M., Trustees. - Inc sub-district includes also four other townships, and is in Chorlton district. Acres, 4,031. Pop., 47,752. Houses, 9,322.

ARELEY (KING'S), a parish in Martley district, Worcester; on the river Severn, & a mile SW of Stourport r. station. It contains the hamlet of Dunley; and its post-Station. It contains the namet of Dunley; and its post-town is Stourport. Acres, 1,449. Real property, £3,659. Pop., 564. Houses, 138. The property is much subdivided. An eminence on which the church is struated commands an extensive prospect. Areley House and Arcley Hall are chief residences. The living is a s.tuated commands an extensive program of Arcley Hall are chief residences. The living and Arcley Hall are chief residences. Value, £346. and Afterly than are timer residences. The riving is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £346. Pa-tron, the Rev. H. J. Hastings. The church is early English, with a Norman doorway. A rude sepulched monument, inscribed with a quaint rhyming distich, sail to be to the memory of Sir Henry Coningsby of Herefordshire, is in the churchvard. Layamon, author of an ancient British history, was a native. Charities, £19.

ARELEY (UPPER). See ARLEY (UPPER).

ARGAM, or Enguam, a parish in Bridlington district, E. R. Yorkshire; on the Wolds, 23 miles WSW of Specton r. station, and 5 NW of Bridlington. Posttown, Grindale under Hull. Acres, 510. Real property, 2798. Pop., 27. Houses, f. The living is a sinecure rectory. Value, £21. Patron, C. Grimston, Esq. ARGOED, a railway station in the W of Menmonth, between Blackwood and Tredegar.

between Hackwood and Tredegar.
ARGCED, a township in Mold parish, Flint; 14 mile from the town of Mold. Pop., 874. Houses, 179.
ARGCED AND YSTRAD, a township in Caron-ysClawdd parish, Cardigan. It contains the town of Tregaron. Pop., 882. Houses, 213.
ARK (The), a stream of N. R. Yorkshire. It rises on Ark (1HE), a stream of N. N. Torkshire. It rises on Stonciale Moor, adjacent to the boundary with Westmoreland; and runs 11 miles south-eastward, through Arkengarth-Dale, to the Swale below Reeth.

ARKENDALE, a township-chapelry in the parishes of Knaresborough and Farnham, W. R. Yorkshire; 27 or Anaresporouga and Farnham, W. R. Yorkshire; 27 miles N of Goldsborough r. station, and 3½ NE (Knaresborough, 1t has a post-office under Knaresborough, Acres, 1,620. Real property, £4,235. Pop., 242. Houses, 47. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Kipon. Value, £80.* Patron, the Vicar of Knaresborough. The church is modern and goods and there is N. W. is modern and good; and there is a Wesleyan chapel.

is modern and good; and there is a Weslevan chapel. ARKENGARTH-DALE, a parish in Reeth district, N. R. Yorksbire; on the river Ark, 2 miles NW of Reeth, and 10 W of Richmond r, station. It includes the hamlets of Arkle, Booze, Langthwaite, Eskelith, Seal-Houses, Whaw, and Dale-Head; and its post-town is Reeth, under Richmond. Acres, 14,256. Real property, £7,320,—of which £2,647 are in lead mines. Pop., 1,147. Houses, 249. The lead mines belong to Sir J. Lowther, Bart; and the other property is much subdivided. The mines were worked so early as the time of King John: and are still so valuable as to have time of King John; and are still so valuable as to have been estimated, a few years ago, at an annual produce of 2,000 tons. Barytes and witherite ores are found. Much of the land is moor. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £123. Patron, Sir J. the diocese of Rijon. Value, 2120. Parion, on a. Lowther, Bart. The church is good; and there are a Methodist chapel, and charities 237.

ARKESDEN, a parish in Saffron Sale district.

Essex; on an affluent of the river Stort, 2½ miles W of Newport r. station, and 5 SW of Saffron-Walden. Pest-Newport r. station, and 5 SW of Sauron-warren. town, Newport under Bishop-Stortford. Acres, 2,320. town, Asyport under bisnop-stortion. Acres, 23,207. Real property, 23,207. Pop., 506. Houses, 111. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £181. Patron, the Rev. W. B. Wolfe. The church is very good, and contains a brass of a knight.

ARKHOLME, a township-chapelry and a sub-district in Lancaster district, Lancashire. The township is in Melling parish; lies on the river Lune, and on the Furness and Midhaud railway, 3 miles NNE of Hornby; and has and Andraid railway, 5 muse NAL of from the page at post-office under Lancaster, and a r. station. Aer's, 3,022. Real property, £3,424. Pop., 331. Honses, 59. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £50.* Fatron, the Vicar of Melling. Charities, £14.—The sub-district comprises this township. the parish of Whittington, and part of another parish. Aeres, 9,278. Pop., 910. Houses, ARKLE. See ARKENGARTH-DALE Pop., 910. Houses, 173.

ARKLEBY, a sub-station on the Carlisle and Mery-port railway, 14 mile SW of Aspatria, Cumberland, ARKLESIDE, a hamlet in Carlton-Highdale town-ship, Coverlaan parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 64 miles SW of Middleham.

ARKLEY, a chapelry in East Barnet parish, Herts; a p. curacy in the diocese of Rochester. Statistics returned with the parish.

ARKSEY, or BENTLEY-WITH-ARKSEY, a parish in ARKSEY, or BENTLEY-WITH-ARKSEY, a parish in Doneaster district, W. R. Yorkshire; on the Great Norhern rulway and the river Don, 2 miles N of Doneaster. It has a station on the railway; it includes the hamlets It has a station on the rativary; it includes the harmlets of Almholme, Bodles, Domeaster-Bridgend, Sawthorpe, Shaftholme, and Stockbridge; and it has a post-office, of the name of Bentley, under Domeaster. Acres, 5,220. Lated property, £8,859. Pop., 1,099. Houses, 200. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of York, Value, £113. Patron, Sir W. R. C. Cooke, Bart. The cluwing the against "These are true, Without the whole of the second of the sec is ancient. There are two Methodist chapels, a free school, 12 alms-houses, and other charities £160.

ARLE, a tything in the parish and within the borough of Cheltenham, Gloucester.

ARLE (THE), a head stream of the Itchen river in ARLECDON, a parish in Whitehaven district, Cumberland; 43 miles E by N of Parton r. station, and 53 ENE of Whitehaven. It includes the townships of Frizington and Whiltprinore; and its post-town is Whitehaven. Acres, 5,700. Real property, £18,702, —of which £15,407 are in mines. Pop., 1,550. Houses, 254. The property is much subdivided. Coal, lime, and ironstone are worked; and there is a good chaly-beate spring. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Carlisle. Value, £100. Patron, the Bishop of Car-lisle. The church was built in 1829. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

ARLEEN, a locality on the NW border of Montgo-mervshire: 21 miles S of Llanymynech, with a post-office

under Oswestry.

under Oswestry.

ARLESCOTE, a hamlet in Warmington parish, Warwick; near Nadbury camp, 41 miles ESE of Kington.

Pop., 43. Arlescote manor, around the hamlet, was given at the Conquest to the Earl of Mellent; was, in great part, transferred by him to the monks of Preaux; and passed, at the dissolution, to the family of Andrews.

ARLESEY, ARLEST, or ARSLEY, a village and a parish in Biggleswade district, Beds. The village stands parish in Biggleswade district, Beds. The village stands on the river Hiz, a little E of the Great Northern railway, 4 miles ESE of Shefford; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Baldock, and was formerly a market-twn. The parish comprises 2,370 acres. Real property, £5,357. Pop., 1,401. Houses, 270. The property is divided among a few. An ancient castle stood at Etonbury, near the road to Baldock; and appears, from an entrenchment which still remains, to have been a place of considerable strength. The living nave been a piace of considerant strength. The living is a vicarage, united with Astwick rectory, in the diocese of Ely. Value, £420.* Patron, James Curtis, Esq. The church is a plain edifice; was recently fitted with new benches; and contains some ancient monuments. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and extensive heid, weeks. tensive brick-works.

ARLESTON, a hamlet in Wellington parish, Salop; 1 mile SE of Wellington. Pop., 181.

ARLESTON AND SINFIN, a liberty in Parrow-upon-Trent parish, Derbyshire; 31 miles SE of Derby. Pop., 54. Houses, 10.

ARLEY, a parish in Nuneaton district, Warwick; on the Birningham and Leicester railway, with a r. station, 6 miles W by S of Nuneaton. It includes a place called Sloley Hill; and its post-town is Fillongley under Coven-Slotey Fill; and its post-town is rillongier under Loven-try. Acres, 1,929. Real property, £3,366. Pop., 230. Houses, 56. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £351.* Patron, the Rev. Roger R. Vaughton. The church is good; and there are charities £36.

ARLEY, a locality in Great Budworth parish, Cheshire; 41 miles NNE of Northwich, with a post-office Nulley to the NNE of Northwich with a post-office Nulley than the NNE of Northwich. under that town. Arley Hall, with an extensive park, is adjacent; and Arley Mere is in the park.

ARLEY, a railway station adjacent to the meeting-point of Stafford, Worcester, and Salop; on the Severn Valley railway, at Upper Arley, 41 miles NNW of Bewdley ARLEY (KING's). See ARELEY (KING's).

ARLEY (UPPER), a parish in the district of Kidderminster, and county of Stafford; in the southwestern projection of the county, on the river Severn, and on the Severn Valley railway, at Arley r. station, 4½ miles NNW of Bewiley. It has a post-office under Dewaley.

Acres, 3,912. Real property, £9,031. Pop., 836.

Houses, 158. Arley Hall here is the seat of Viscount Valentia; and there is an ancient camp in the woods of its park. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield, Value, £255. Patron, Viscount Valentia.* The church is conspicuously situated, and has a fine pros-Charities, £35.

ARLINGHAM, a parish in Wheatenhurst district Gloucester; on the left side of the Severn, within a fold of that river, nearly opposite Newnham r. station, and S miles WNW of Stonehouse. It has a post-office under Stonehouse. Acres, 3,225,—of which 835 are water, Real property, £5,333. Pop., 693. Houses, 163. The property is divided among a few. Much of the land is marshy. Some spots command a fine view of the Severn and its screens. A chief residence is Arlingham Court. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £193.* Patron, John Sayer, Esq. The church is good; and there are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £80

ARLINGTON, a parish in Barnstaple district, Devon; near East Down, 6 miles NNE of Earnstaple r. station. hear Last Flown, o miles and to Larmstante it station. It has a post-office under Barnstante. Acres, 2,535. Real property, £2,622. Pop., 219. Houses, 37. The manor belongs to the Chichester family,—came into their possession in the time of Henry VII.; and Arlington Court, the family scat, is a very handsome edification for the living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £272.* Patron, Sir A. P. B. Chichester, Bart. The church, with the exception of the tower, was rebuilt a few years ago; is in the Gothic style, and contains many memorials of the Chichesters. Charities, £4.

ARLINGTON, a tytling in Bibury parish, Gloncester; 4 miles NNW of Fairford. Here is a Baptist chapel. Pop., 415. Honses, 90.

ARLINGTON, a parish in Hailsham district, Sussex; on the river Cuckmere, 1 mile NE of Berwick r. station. and 4 SW by W of Hailsham. It has a post-office under Hurst-Green. Acres, 5,185. Real property, £5,681. Pop., 623. Houses, 123. The Roman Anderida Sylva occupied all the surface; and the Roman camp of Buroccupied all the surface; and the common is a vic-low Castle is in the neighbourhood. The living is a vic-arage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £156.* Patron, the Bishop of London. The Dicker p. curacy is a separate benefice.

ARLSEY. See ARLESEY.

ARMATHWAITE, a village, a castle, and a chapelry in Hesket-in-the-Forest parish, Cumberland. The village stands on the river Eden, 4 miles E of Southwaite. r. station, and 10 N of Penrith. It has a post-office under Carlisle; and it was the site of a small Benedictine numery, built and endowed by King William Bufus. The castle stands adjacent; is a plain, modernized, ancient tower; was the scat of the satirical poet Skelton, noted for his attack on Welsey, "Why come ye not to Court;" and is now the property of the Earl of Lonsdale. The surrounding scenery on the Ealen is picturesque; and includes a long wooded walk, a grand projecting crag, a cataract in the stream, and a lake-like expanse above, with the massive background of the Couns and the Baren Wood. The chapelry is a p. enracy in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, 290. Patron, the Earl of Lonsdale. The church is plain but picturesque.

ARMATHWAITE HALL, the scat of Sir Henry Vane, Bart., at the foot of Bassenthwaite water, 5½ miles ENE of Cockermouth, Cumberland. The grounds are very beautiful; and a spot adjacent to them, on the road to Hesket-Newmarket, commands one of the richest views of Bassenthwaite water and its screens.

ARMBOTH FELLS, a range of steep high hill, over-hanging the W side of Thirlmere, and contronting Hel-vellyn, 5 miles SSE of Keswick, Cumberland. The summit commands a magnificent view.

ARMIN, a chapelry in Snaith parish, W. R. York-shire; at the confluence of the Aire and the Ouse, 11 mile NW of Goole r. station. It has a post-office under Howden Acres, 3,660. Real property, 25,750. Pop., 557. Houses, 117. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of York. Value, 274. Patrons, C. Heber Percy, Esp., and G. L. Yarburgh, Esq. The church had a chantry. ARMINGFORD, a lundred in Cambridge. It is bounded by Horts or the S. by Replace 450. We see the control of the Property of the S. by Replace 450.

bounded by Herts on the S, by Beds on the W; and it contains thirteen parishes and part of another. Acres, 29,307. Pop. in 1851, 9,711; in 1861, 9,256. Houses,

ARMINGHALL, a parish in Henstead district, Nor-folk; near a branch of the river Yare, 3 miles ENE of Swainsthorpe r. station, and 3½ S by E of Norwich.

Post-town, Norwich. Acres, 650. Real property, £1,444. Pop., 75. Houses, 21. The property is not runch divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £50. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Norwich. The church is very good; and belonged anciently to Norwich priory. Charities, £6.
AIMITAGE, a parish in Lichtheld district, Stafford; on the Northwestern gulvax and the Grand Trunk good.

on the Northwestern railway and the Grand Trunk canal, 54 miles NW of Lichfield. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Rugeley; and it includes the hamlet of Handsacre and part of the village of Brere-Acres, 1,921. Rated property, £4,943. Pop., Houses, 206. The property is divided among a Houses, 206. 937. few. Armitige Park is a fine mansion. The Grand Trunk canal, in its course within the parish, passes through a large tunnel. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £300. Patron, the Diship of Lichfield. The church stands on a rocky emi-nence; has a Norman doorway, and an interior handsome arch; and is a picturesque object. A church stood formerly at Handsacre, but is now a ruin. There are charels for Independents and Wesleyans. Charities, £9.

chartels for Independents and wesleyans. Chartices, 29, ARMITAGE-BRIDGE, a chaplery in Almondbury parish, near Huddersfield, W. R. Yorkshire. It was constituted in 1848. Pop. 2,455. Houses, 561. The living is a vicarage in the dicess of Ripon. Value, 2196.* Farrons, the Vicar of Almondbury and J. Brooke, Esq. ARMLEY, a township-chapelry in Leeds parish, W. R.

ARGILET, a rownship-enaperry in Leeus parish, W. E. Forkshire; on the Leeds and Bradford railway, the Leeds and Liverpool canal, and the river Aire, 12 mile W of Leeds. It has a station on the ruilway, and a post-office runder Leeds. Acres, 907. Real property, £16,744. Fop. 6,734. Houses, 1,491. A number of factories, in various departments of the woollen-trade, are on the banks Armley Park, the scat of the Gott family, of the river. and Leeds borough gaol, are near the railway station. A Danish camp, called Giants' Hill, was an object of much antiquarian interest; but was cut through at the forming of the canal, and has been nearly effaced. borming of the canal, and has occu nearly effaced. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, $204.* Parron, the Vicar of Leeds. The church is a lain edifice; and there are four dissenting chapels. ARMSCOTT, a hamlet in Tredlington parish, Worcester: near the river Stour, 2 miles NNW of Shipston-onter: hear the river stoff, 2 lines NAV of Schapeson, 189.

ARMSTON, a hamlet in Polebrook parish, Northamit.n; near the Feterborough railway and the river Nen, 31 miles SE of Oundle. Pop., 26.
ARMTHORPE, a parish in Doneaster district, W. R. Yorkshire; 3 miles NE of Doneaster r. station. Post-1 orsaire; o miles Mr. of Prohasset i statements town, Doucaster. Acres, 2,810. Real property, 23,485. Ppp, 424. Houses, 83. The living is a rectory in the discesse of York. Value, 2366.* Patron, J. W. Childer, Esq. The church is old but good. There are a P. Childer, Leaves of the property of the property of the property of the property of the prohasset of the Methodist chapel, a national school, and charities £49.

ARNCLIFFE, a township and a sub-district in the district of Settle, and a parish chiefly in that district but partly also in the district of Skipton, W. R. York-The township lies on the river Wharfe, 10 miles NE of Settle r. station, and has a post-office under Skip-No. of Settle r. station, and has a post-office under Skipton. Acres, 5,750. Real property, £1,854. Pop., 174. Horses, 26. The sub-district comprises also the townshirs of Hawkeswick, Litton, and Halton-Gill. Acres, 20,757. Pop., 405. Houses, 87. The parish includes also the township of Buckden. Acres, 34,021. Real property, £12,009. Pop., 740. Houses, 159. The property is considerably divided. Much of the land is hilly ack monthly halt man such the statement of the statement. and moorish; but many spots, near the streams, are low and pleasant. Manufacturing industry, in textile fabrics, craployed many of the inhabitants, but has much de-The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. clined. Value, £35.* Patron, University College, Oxford. church is old, and has been carefully restored. The parareles of Halton-Gill and Hubberholme are separate incumbencies. A school has £28 from endowment, and other charities £34.

ARNCLIFFE-INGLEBY. See Ingliby-Arncliffe. ARNCOTT, a handet in Ambresden parish, Oxford; on the river Ray, 31 miles SE of Bicester. Acres, 2,010. Real property, £1,618. Pop., 334. Houses, 87. Arncott Wood commands a fine view.

ARNE, a parish in Wareham district, Dorset; on the W side of Poole harbour, 4 miles E of Wareham r. station. Post-town, Wareham. Acres, 4,196; of which 1,550 are water. Real property, with Earlsmend and Haymoor, £524. Pop., 139. Houses, 50. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Wareham, in the diocese of Salisbury.

ARNESBY, a parish in Lutterworth district, Leicester; 3½ miles SE of Countessthorpe r. station, and 8 S by E of Leicester. Post-town, Shearsby under Rugby. Acres, 1,510. Real property, £3,034. Pop., 573. Acres, 1,510. Real property, £3,034. Pop., 578. Houses, 121. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £119. Patron, the Rev. W. Pilling. A Baptist church has existed here since 1702. Pilling. A Baptist church has existed here since 1702.
Robert Hall was a native. Charities, 57.
ARNOLD, a hambet in Swine and Long-Riston parishes, E. R. Yorkshire; 7 miles E of Beverley. Pop., 192.

ARNOLD, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Basford, Notts. The village stands near Sherwood forest, 2½ miles ENE of Bulwell r. station, and 5½ N by E of Nottingham. It has a post-office; under by n by n or Nottingnam. It has a post-office, under Nottingham. Its inhabitants are employed chiefly in lace and stocking making. The parish includes also part of Daybrook hamlet and the seats of Arnold Grove and Sherwood Lodge. Acres, 4,670. Real property, 212,059. Pop., 4,642. Houses, 971. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £310. Patron, the Duke of Devoushire. The church is later English, and has a tower. There are chapels for Sc. Presbyterians, Baptists, Wesleyans and P. Methodists. A school has £23 from endowment, and other charities £10. R. Bonington the painter, born in 1801, was a native.—The sub-district comprises six parishes and an extra-parochial liberty. Acres, 18,540.

Pop., 8,378. Houses, 1,779. ARNSIDE, a village in Beetham parish, Westmoreland; on the coast, near the Lancaster and Ulverstone railway, at the influx of the river Kent to Morecambe rainway, at the limits of the river hear to Andreamon buy, 41 miles W of Burton-in-Kendal. It has a station on the railway, a post-office under Milnthorpe, and a church built in 1866; and is a sub-port to Lancaster. Arnside Knot is an adjacent eminence, commanding an Arnside Knot is an adjacent eminence, commanding an extensive prospect; and Arnside Tower, on that eminence, is the ruined ancient residence of the Stanleys. ARNWOOD, a tything in Hordle parish, Hants; 2 miles NW of Lymington. Pop., 543.

ARRAM, a hamlet in Leckonfeld parish, E. R. Yorkshire; on the river Hull, 3 miles N. of Beverley. It has a station on the Hull and Scarborough, railway. Pop., 117.

state) on the fiver finit, a miles A. of peverley. It has a station on the Hull and Scarborogh, railway. Fop., 117. ARRAM, a hamlet in Atwick parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 3 miles NW of Hornsey. Pop., 25. ARRAN-FOWDDY. ARRAN-GESSEL, and ARRAN-FENLLYN, three chief summits of the Berwyn mountains, on the mutual boundary of Montgomery and Merioneth. They have altitudes of respectively 2,955, 2,224, and 2,004 feet above the level of the sea. The headstreams of the Dee rise on their NW side. See BWLCH-Y-GROUS.

ARRAS. Sec MARKET-WEIGHTON.

ARRATHORNE. See ALLATHORNE. ARRENIG, a mountain, 2,809 feet high, 7 miles W of Bala, Merioneth.

ARRETON, or ATHERTON, a village and a parish in the Isle of Wight. The village stands 23 miles SE of Newport; consists of a long straggling street, leading down to the river Main; and has a post-office under Newport. The parish contains also the haulet of Biddles-ford. Acres, 8,833. Real property, £12.527. Pop., 1,880. Houses, 355. Arreton Down, adjacent to the NW end of the village, forms part of the range of chalk hills, extending from Culver Cliff to the Needles; commands an extensive and very brilliant view; and is erowned by two barrows. The living is a vicange in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £220. * Patron, J. Flem-ing, Esp. The church stands in a vale at the foot of the Down, at the head of the village; is an ancient struc56 ture, in mixed Norman and early English, with a low tower of perpendicular date; and contains some fine monuments of the family of Holmes, and a curious brass of a knight of 1430. It was one of the six churches given by Fitz-Osborne, soon after the Commest, to the abbey of Lire in Normandy. A school has £37 from endowment, and other charities £27. Elizabeth Walbridge, the "Dairyman's Daughter" of the Rev. Leigh Richmond's well-known narrative, was a native. Her father's cottage is on the right of the road to Sandown: and her grave is in the churchyard, marked by a head stone, with an epitaph from the pen of her biographer. beginning, -

"Stranger! if e'er by chance or feeling led, Upon this hallowed turf thy footsteps tread, Turn from the contemplation of the sod. And think on her whose spirit rests with God."

ARRINGTON, a village and a parish in Caxton district, ARKINGTON, a vinage min a pairsh in cancon usanton Cambridge. The village stands on Ermine-street, near the bridge on the Cam, 3½ miles WNW of Shepreth r. station, and 7 N of Royston; and was anciently called Erminton. It has a post-office under Royston; and is a seat of petty sessions. Sixteen human skeletons were found near it in 1721, within 2 feet of the surface; supposed to have been the remains of soldiers killed in a tkirmish, in the time of Charles I., for the possession of the property is divided among a few. The hiring is a vicerage in the diocese of Ely. Value 269. Patron, Trinity College, Cambridge. The church is ancient, and heart of the property and the college.

ARROW, a township in Woodchurch parish, Cheshire; miles SW of Birkenhead. Acres, 752. Pop., 109.

Houses, 19.

ARROW, a township and a parish in Aleester district, Warwick. The township lies on the Alne or Arrow river, 1 mile SW of Aleester r. station, and 8 W of Stratford-on-Avon; and its post-town is Alcester, under Redditch. Real property, £4,137. Pop., 295. Houses, 69. The parish includes also the township of Oversley. Acres, 4,220. Real property, £6,811. Pop., 590. Houses, 111. The chief feature is the Marquis of Hertford's magnificent seat of Ragley Park. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £248.* The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Vanie, 2248.— Patron, the Marquis of Hertford. The church is ancient. Charities, £5. See RAGLEY PARK. ARROW (THE), a river of Worcester and Warwick. It rises in the Lickey, near Alvechurch; and runs 11 miles southward to a confluence with the Alma at Alcester. mues southward to a confluence with the Alme at Alcester.

ARROW (The), a river of Radnor and Hereford. It rises 2½ miles N of Glasowin; and runs about 25 miles eastward, past Kington and Pembridge, to the Lug below Leominster. ARSCOTT, a township in Pontesbury parish, Salop;

61 miles SW of Shrewsbury. Pop., 127. ARSLEY. See ARLESEY.

ARTH (THE), a stream of Cardigan. It rises at the S end of the Mynydd-Bach mountains; and runs 8 miles westward to the Irish sea at Aberarth.

wasawatto the first sea at Aberarus.
ARTHINGTON, a chapelry in Addle parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Wharfe and on the feeds and Stockton railway, 4 miles E of Otley. It has a station on the railway, 9 miles from Leeds. Acres, 1,789. Feal on the railway, 9 miles from Leeds. 'Acres, 1,780. Real property, £3,740. Pep., 344. Houses, 63. A Cluniac numery was founded here, in the 12th century, by Peter de Ardington. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Kipon. Value, £140.* Patron, W. Sheepshanks, Esq. The church was built in 1864. ARTHINGWORTH, a parish in the district of Market-Harborough, and county of Northampton; on an affluent of the river Nen, 1 mile NW of Kelmatsh r. station, and 5 S by E of Market-Harborough. Postown, Kelmarsh under Northampton. Acres, 2,030. Real property, £3,056. Pop., 275. Honses, 53. The property is divided among a few. Arthingworth Hall is the seat of the family of Rokeby. The parish is a meet for the Pytchley hounds. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Petersborough. Value, £323. Patron, the Gloces of Petersboronga, value, 2323. Patron, the Rev. H. R. Rokeby. Charities, 239. ARTHUR (GREAT and LITTLE), two islets of tho Scilly Islands. They lie near St. Martin's, and are of small extent.

ARTHURET, a parish in Longtown district, Cumber-land; on the river Esk, and the Border Counties railway, land; on the river Esk, and the Border Counties railway, 8 miles N of Carlisle. It contains Longtown, with r. station and post-office, the latter under Carlisle; and contains also the townships of Netherby, Breconhill, and Lyneside. Acres, 17,390. Real property, £9,615. Pop., 3,714. Honses, 615. The property is divided among a few. Much of the surface is the low flat land of Solway moss, stretching toward the head of the Solway frith; and this, in 1543, was the scene of a famous battle in which the Scots under Oliver Sinclair were defeated by the English under Sir Thomas Wharton. Netherby Hall is the seat of Sir F. U. Graham, Bart.; and contains a large collection of Roman coins, tablets, altars, baths, and other relies found in the vicinity. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Carliels. Value, 8347. Patron, Sir F. U. Graham, Bart. The church was renovated in 1869. There is an endowed school with £40 a-year.

1869. There is an endowed school with £40 a-year. Archy Armstrong, court-jester to James I. and Charles I., was a native, and was buried in the church-yard. ARTHUR'S CHAIR, or CADER-ARTHAN, two grand mountain peaks, 5 miles S of Brecon. They rise to the height of 2,862 feet; are among the loftiest summits in South Wales; command a very extensive view; have a striking appearance; and are sometimes called the Brecknock Beacons.

ARTHUR'S GRAVE. See GLASTONBURY.
ARTHUR'S PALACE. See CADERY (SOUTH).
ARTHUR'S ROUND TABLE, an ancient circular plot of ground on the left side of the river Lowther, 11 mile S of Penrith, Westmoreland. It measures S7 feet in diameter; is encompassed by a broad ditch and a high mound; and is supposed to have been used in the time of Richard III. and later, for tournaments. Sir Walter Scott calls it

" Red Penrith's Table Round. For feats of chivalry renowned."

ARTHUR'S ROUND TABLE, a series of ancient artificial cavities in rock, in Llansannan parish, Deubigh-shire; 61 miles W of Denbigh. They are twenty four shire; 64 inites w of Denlogh. They are twenty-four in number, and large enough for men to sit in.

ARTHUR'S STONE, a crounlech on the N slope of Cefa-Bryn, 9 miles W of Swansea, Glamorgan. It comprises a mass of millstowarsea, I feet long, 7 feet 2 inches deep, and about 20 tons in estimated weight, resting apparently on nine upright supporters, but really npon only four; and all somewhat sunk in a hollow rowded with rough stones. It ranks in the same class of great autiquities as Stonehenge. See Clerk-Bryn.

ARTHUR'S STONE, a crondech in Moccas parish, Hereford, on an eminence adjacent to the river Wye, 61, miles SSW of Weobly. It consists of one chief stone nales SSW of weavity. It consists of one cities stone and eleven supporters; and commands a fine view. ARTINCTON, or ERTINDON, a tything in St. Nicholas-Gnildford parish, Surrey; on the river Wey, 13 mile SSW of Gnildford. Acres, 2,560. Pop., 944. Houses, 170. ARTLEBURY, a township in Worfield parish, Salop; near Bridgnorth.

ARUN (THE), a river of Sussex. It rises in St. Leonard's forest; runs westward, past Horsham, to the vicinity of Loxwood; receives, by the way, a head-stream from Surrey; turns to the S, goes to Stopham, and receives there the Rother; and proceeds southward, past Arandel, to the English channel at Little Hampton. Its length of course is about 33 miles. It abounds with mullets, which are much famed under the name of Arundel mullets; and it also contains troat of superior quality, but in no great quantity. It is navigable for some distance from the sea; and it opens the way for inland navigation, through the Arundel and Portsmouth canal, with Chichester, -through the river Rother, with Petworth and Midhurst-and, through the Arun and Wey canal, with Guildford and the Thames. Causes of the ancient Bri57 tish appear to have plied on it; and two, formed of open trunks, were found in 1834 and 1857 at North Stoke and South Stoke; one of them six feet below the surface of the soil, at 150 yards from the present edge of the river, and now preserved in the British Museum. The Arun has been sung by Collins and by Charlotte Smith; and the former, alluding to a brother poet, says,-

> " Wild Arun too has heard thy strains, And Echo, 'midst thy native plains, Been soothed by Pity's lute; There first the wren thy myrtles shed On gentlest Otway's infant head; To him thy cell was shown.

ARUN AND WEY CANAL, a canal connecting the rivers Arun and Wey. It leaves the Arun below Stop-ham; goes northward past Loxwood and Bramley; and joins the Wev 2 miles S of Guildford. It is 18 miles iong, and has 23 locks.

ARUNDEL, a railway station, a town, a castle, a ARUNDEL, a railway station, a town, a castle, a parish, a hundred, a sub-district, and a rape in Sussex. The railway station is on the Horsham and Arundel railway, 2 miles NNE of Ford junction, and 84 S by W of Pulborough; superseded a previous station, 2 miles S, on the Brighton and South Coast railway; and has a telegraph. The town stands on the right bank of the Arun, on the irregular ascent of a considerable hill, § a mile W of the station. It takes its name from the vale of Arun, Arun-dale, a word probably of ancient British origin; and it is supposed to have been influenced by the origin; and it is supposed to have been influenced by the Roman station Ad Decimum at Bignor, and by the Roman Portus Adurni which may have been within the mouth of the river; but it is first mentioned in the will of King Alfred, who bequeathed it to his cophew Adhelm. It consists of one street going steeply ur from the Arun to the castle, and two others going off from this at right It is a small place of little intrinsic interest; angles. but it has always derived much consequence, in many ways, from the castle. Its houses, in general, are well built. A neat bridge of three arches spans the river. The town-hall was erected by Bernard, Duke of Norfolk, at a cost of £9,000. The parish church is a cruciform edifice, of flint and stone, 190 feet long, with a low central tower, surmounted by a short leaden spire. It occupies the site of a Benedictine priory, founded, soon after the Conquest, by Roger de Montgomery; and it was built in 1380, and made then collegiate for a master and twelve canons, under the name of the college of the Holy Trinity. It is entirely perpendicular English; it has a college chapel E of the chancel, and a Lady chapel N of the former; and it contains six grand monuments of Earls of Arundel and several brasses. A Maison Dieu, a quadrangular edifice, with chapel and refectory, was built at the foot of the town, about the same time as the church; but only some fragments of it now exist. There are two but only some fragments of it now exist. dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, a work-house, and a considerable inn. The town ranks as a head sea-port, and vessels drawing 13 feet water come up to it; but the real head-port, and now the place of the custom-house, is Little Hampton, 33 miles distant, at the month of the river. The vessels belonging to the port, at the beginning of the year 1868, were 34 small sailing-vessels, of aggregately 995 tons, and 42 larger sailingvessels, of aggregately 6,845 tons. The sailing-vessels that entered in 1867 were 432 of 40,590 tons, in the coasting trade; 4 of 216 tons, from British colonies; and 36 of 3,883 tons, from foreign countries. Chief imports are coal and truit; and chief exports, corn, timber, and oak-bark. The amount of customs, in 1867, was #600. The town has a bend post-office, a telegraph station and two banking offices; and it publishes a weekly newspaper. A fortnightly market is held on Monday; and fairs on 14 May, 21 Aug., 25 Sept., and 17 Dec. Arundel is a borough by prescription; and it sent two members to parliament from the time of Edward I, till 1802; but it was half disfranchised by the reform act of 1832, and wholly disfranchised by the act of 1868 for increasing the representation of Scotland. The town is governed by a mayor, four aldernaen, and twelve councillors; and it is a seat of petty sessions, and a county polling-place. Real property, £11,055. Assessed taxes, £1,379. Pop. 2,498. Houses, 528.

Arundel Castle is the chief seat of the Duke of Norfolk. It stands adjacent to the church, at the head of the town, on the verge of a plateau which stoops precipitously, on two sides, at least 90 feet, to the low bank of the Arun. Its position is a strong one, in a military view; and was well fitted, in the old times, to maintain high command over the surrounding country. The original pile is said to have been built, in the Saxon times, ginal pile is said to have been built, in the Saxon times, by Bevis, a here of romance; the next pile, possessing much military strength, was built, soon after the Conquest, by Roger de Montgomery, who was related by blood to the Conquery, and led the centre division of the victorious army at the battle of Hastings; and of the victorious army at the battle of Hastings; and the greater part of the present pile, 250 feet long and 250 feet broad, was built, in 1791 and succeeding years, by Charles, eleventh Duke of Norfolk. The castle was visited, in 1097, by William Rufus; it was besieged in 1102 by Henry I. and taken then from Robert de Belesme, Robert de Montgomery's heir, who had rebelled against the Crown; it was inhabited by had rebelled against the Crown; it was innabled by Henry I.'s widow, Queen Alice or Adeliza, and gave hospitable shelter, under her, in 1139, to the Empress Mand; it passed from Queen Alice, by marriages, to successively the De Albinis, the Fitzalans, and the Howards; it was declared by act of parliament, in the second year of Henry VI., to confer the title of Earl of Arundel without creation; and it was besieged and captured, in 1643, by the Parliamentarian forces under Sir W. Waller, recaptured by the Royalists, and again capstate, overs an area of five acres. The entrance gate way is magnificent, in the Norman style, machicolated, and flanked by two imposing towers; was commenced in 1861; and leads into a quadrangle, with extensive re-mains of the ancient castle on the one side and the grand Gothic pile of the modern mansion on the other. A Gothic pile of the modern manison on the other. A towered gateway, a raised causeway, a steep flight of steps, and a spacious court-yard with four flauking towers, lead up to the keep. The towers have four stages, with dungeous below; and one of them, called the Bevis tower, is so clad with ivy as to look like a tall green pyramid. The keep is proximately circular; stands on an artificial steep mound, raised above a fosse; a progressive from S to 10 feat; in thickness of wall and variance. measures from 8 to 10 feet in thickness of wall, and vari ously 59 feet and 67 feet in diameter; and appears to be of late Norman architecture, with Caen-stone facings; but is almost all mantled with ornamental foliage and rich The modern mansion displays mixtures of Gothic. in Whitby freestone, and is far from being congruous, but has a grandly imposing effect in its general mass. The library is 120 feet by 24, with eight tall walls; the dining-room, 45 feet by 24, with a window 20 feet by 10; the drawing-room, 54 feet by 28; the long gallery, 195 feet by 12, with groined ceiling; the baron's hall, 115 feet by 35, with a window of stained glass, representing the signing of Magna Charta, and eight other window's containing figures of the barons connected with the signing. The castle contains a splendid collection of family portraits and other pictures. The park is 7 miles in circuit; contains many hundreds of deer; and affords rich scenes and beautiful prospects.

The parish of Arundel, as also the hundred, is co-extensive with the limits of the coronau. A cares; and most of this is within the ducal park. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £222. Patron, the Earl of Albemarle. The sub-district comprises also six other parishes and parts of two more; and is in the district of Worthing. Acres, 14,000. Pop., 3,797. Houses, 789. The rape extends northward from the English channel to Suriev; is bounded on one side by the river Arun; and contains the hundreds of Avisford, Bury, feding, Rotherbridge, and West Eas-writh. Acres, 129,928. Pop. in 1851, 30,709; in 1861, writh, Acres, 129,528. 29,975. Houses, 5,936.

ARUNDEL AND PORTSMOUTH CANAL, a canal westward from the river Arun to Chichester Larbour, with a branch to Chichester, and another, through Langston harbour, to Portsea. It was opened in June 1823; and cost £160,000. The main line leaves the Arun, at the tideway, 2 miles from the sea; passes Barnham, Merston, and Dounington; is 12 miles long; and has a fall of 21 feet, with four locks. The branch to Chichester is 14 mile long. The branch to Portsea is 24 miles long; but has been partly filled up for the railway, and is now disusced.

ARUNDEL-SAMPFORD. See SAMPFORD-ARUNDEL. ARVANS (Sr.), a parish in Chepstow district, Momouth; near the river Wye, 2 miles NNW of Chepstow r. station. It contains the hamlet of Portcasseg and the tract of Kingsmark, sometimes deemed extra-parochial; and it has a post-office under Chepstow. Acres. 2,309. Real property, £3,703. Pop. 379. Houses, 88. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £53. Patron, the Duke of Ecaufort. The church is an ancient structure, with an octagonal tower, and is in good condition. There are remains of two ancient chanels.

ARWERTON. See ERWARTON.

ARYHOLME of AIRYHOLME AND HOWTHORPE, a township in Hovingham parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 7½ miles WNW of New Malton. Acres, 690. Pop., 35.

ASAPH (St.), a city in Flint; a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Flint and Denbigh; and a diocese in Flint, Denbigh, Merioneth, Montgomery, Carnarvon, Salop, and Cheshire. The city stands in the parish, on an eminence between the rivers Elwy and Clwyd, adjacent to the Vale of Clwyd railway, 51 miles N by W of Denbigh, and 53 SSE of Rhyl. It was formerly called Llanelwy, from its position on the Elwy; it takes the name of St. Asaph from the second bishop of its see; and the eminence on which it stands is called Bryn-Paulin, from having been encamped on by the Roman general Paulinus, on his way to Mona. It has a station on the railway, and a post-officet under Rhyl; and it is a market town, a borough, and a place of petty sessions; but it ranks as a city solely on account of its being the scat of a bishopric; and is practically a village, consisting of little more than a single street. A five-arched ing of little more than a single strect. A five-arched bridge spans the Elwy; and another good bridge spans the Clwyd. The episcopal palace stands a little W of the cathedral, overlooking the Elwy; and is a large modern edifice, built by Bishop Carey. The deanery stands about ½ of a mile distant; and is also a recent structure, erected by Dean Leximore. The parish church stands at the foot of the eminence: and is a mean small edifice, of the time of Henry VIII., without a tower. The churchyard contains several ancient tombs; and a new cemetery was opened in 1849. The cathedral stands on the summit of the eminence; is a cruciform structure, with central, low, square, embattled tower; was built chiefly in 1490, and partly in 1783; has a very plain and simple exterior; is mostly in decorated English, but partly in modern perpendicular; measures 179 feet from E to W; and contains monuments of Bishops Owen, Griffith, Barrow, and Luxmore, Dean Shipley, and Mrs. Hemans. A fine view of the vale of Clwyd and of a long reach of sea-coast is obtained from the summit of the tower, and has been sing by Robert Moutgomery. There are four dissenting chapels, a free graumar-school, an alms-house, a workhouse, and four chief inns. The grammar-school has £57 a-year from endowment, the alms-house £31, and other charities £58. A market is held on Saturday, and fairs, on 2 March, Easter Tuesday, 15 July, 19 Aug., 16 Oct., 2 Nov., and 15 Dec. The borough unites with Flint and six other towns in sending a member to parliament. Pop., 2,063. Houses, 458. The town gives the title of Viscount to Earl Ashburnham. The environs include Bromwylfa and Rhyllon, which were abodes of Mrs. Henans; and contain other objects of interest.

The parish contains the townships of Eodeigan, Bodllewyddan, Brynpolyn, Cilowen, Cyrchynen, Faenol, Gwernelefryd, Gwerneigrou, Pengwern, Rhyllon, and Talar, in Flint; and the townships Meriadog and Wygfair or Wickwer, in Denbigh. Acres, 10,825. Rated property, £24,577. Pop., 3,592. Houses, 759. The preperty is much subdivided. The living is a vicaraga of four parts, two of which are Bodllewyldan and Cefin chapelres. Value of each, £179. Patron, the Bishop.—The sub-district comprises also five other parishes and part of another, all in Flint. Acres, 33,589. Pop., 11,992. Houses, £587.—The district comprehends the sub-district of Denbigh, containing the parishes of Denbigh, Llannefydd, Heullan, and Llansannan, all in Denbigh; the sub-district of Abergele, containing the parishes of Abergele, St. George, Llanddulas, Llanfairtallhaiam, and Bettws-yn-Rhôs or Bettws-Abergele, all in Denbigh; and the sub-district of St. Asaph, Containing the parishes of St. Asaph, Rhuddlan, Meliden, Dyserth, Cwm, and Dymeirchion or Trevejichion, and part of the parish of Bodiary. Acres, 92,934. Poor-rates, 13,396. Pop. in 1841, 23,547; in:761, 27,513. Houses, 5,963. Marriages, 186; births, 785,—of which 53 were illegitimate; deaths, 547,—of which 130 were at ages alone 5 years, and 30 were at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 1,731; births, 7,379; deaths, 5,559. The places of worship in 1851 were 19 of the Church of England, with 7,704 sittings; 13 of Independent, with 2,807 s.; 10 of Baptitist, with 1,562 s.; 25 of Calvinistic Methodists, with 3,778 s.; 16 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,505 s.; 2 of Latter Day Saints, with 360 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholies, with 1,562 s. 76 Sunday schools, with 5,005 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 278.

half of Merioneth, the greater part of Montgomery, three parishes of Carnaryon, ten of Salop, and part of one of Cheshire. Acres, 1,067,583. Pop., 246,837. one of Chestite. Acres, 1,001,500. 10p., 240,501. Houses, 52,242. An arrangement was made, in the recent revisal of dioceses, to unite it to Bangor; but this has not taken effect. The see was founded in 543 by Kentigern or St. Mungo, the founder of the see of Glasgow, who was driven by persecution from the north, and found refuge here under the protection of Cadwallon; and it was renge are under the protection of Canamon; and it was held by Asaph or Hassaph, a bishop of good family and of great piety, who died and was buried here in 596. The most notable of the bishops, after Asaph, were Geoffrey of Monmouth, the Welsh Herudotta; Anian, the black friar of Schonau; John de Trevor, the Crusader, who pronounced the deposition of Richard II.; Edmund de Birkenhead, and Goldwell, who sat in the council of Trent; Pocock, the Wickliffite; Morgan and Davis, translators of the Bible; Owen, who introduced sermons in Welsh; Griffith, the author of the "Form of Adult Baptism;" Isaac Barrow, who educated his nephew of his own name, the distinguished mathematician; Beveridge, the author of "Thessurus Theologicus" and "Private Thoughts;" Tanner, the historian of monasteries; and Samuel Horsley, the eminent oriental scholars of the historian of the control of har and biblical critic. The cathedral establishment includes the bishop, the dean and chancellor, four canons, nine honorary canons, two archdeacous, four canons, nine honorary canons, two archdeacous, four minor canons, and four bishop's chaplains. The income of the bishop is £4,200; of the dean, £700; of the chancellor, £150; of each of the canons, two of whom are the archive deacons, £350. The diocese is in the prov. of Canterbury; and is divided into the archdeaconries of St. Asaph and Montgomery; the former comprising nine deancries,— the latter three. Many of the livings have recently been raised in status, and are named as they now stand in the separate articles on them in our work; but all will be named here as they stood in 1881.

The deanery of Mold includes the rectories of Hawarden, Llandegla, and Llanterres, the vicatages of Hope, Llanarmon-yn-fâl, and Mold, the p. curacies of Bistre, Gwernafield, Llanfryngdd, Nerquis, Pontbleiddyn, and Treiddyn, and the donative of Bryn-Eglwys. The deanery of Wresham includes the rectories of Bangor-Monachorum, Erbistock, Marchwiail, and Worthenbury, the vicatages of Wrexham, Gresford, Hanmer, and Ruahon, and the p. curacies of Derse, Brynnbe, Gwersyllt, Holt, Iscoyd, Minera, New Fens, Rhos-Llanerchrugog, Rhosv-Mider, Rosset, and Threapwood. The deanery of Llungoilen includes the rectory of Llanaumon-Dyffryn-Ceiriog, the vicanages of Chirk, Llangollen, Llanrhaiadr-Mochant, Lanslin, and Hanyblodwel, and the p. curacies of Llanarmon-Mynydd-Hawr, Llansdadwaldar, Lansaintfiant, Poutfalog, Trevor, Llansaintfiad-Glyn-Ceiriog, Llantysilio, and Rhyd-y-Crossan. The deanery Ceirog, Liantysilo, and Rhyd-y-Croesan. The deanery of Oswestry includes the rectories of Knockin, Llany-typnsch, Selattyn, and Whittington, the vicanages of Kinnetley, Oswestry, and St. Matrin's, and the p. cura-cies of Hengoed, Melverley, Morton, Trinity-Oswestry, and Trefonen. The deanery of Denbigh includes the rectories of Denbigh, Llandulas, Llanelian, Llangerrectories et Denugh, Biandans, Biantain, Biantain, Friew, Llysdaen, and St. George, the vicarages of Abergele. Bettws, Henllan, Llansannan, Llannfyld, and Nantglyn, and the p. enracies of St. David's-Denbigh, Bwichau, Llantair-Talhairn, and Trefnant. The deanery of Llanrast includes rice rectories of Llanrast, Cerrig-y-Draidien, Gwytherin, Llanddoget, Llanfhangel-Glyn-y-Myfyr, and Llansintiffaid-Glan-Conway, the viearages of Eglwysfach, Llandrillo-yn-Rhos, and Llangwin, and the p. curacies of St. Mary-Llanrwst, Capel-Garmon, Colwyn. Foelas, Llangwstennin, Llanrhos and Yspytty-Colaym, Foelas, Llangwistennin, Llanthos and Yspytty-Ifan. The deamery of St. Asaph includes the rectories of Bolfary, Caerwys, and Gwaenysgor, the vicarages of St. Asaph, Cwm, Dymerichion, Llanasa, and Rhudd-lan, and the p. cur. of Cefn, Bodllewyddan, Diserth, Mc-liden, Newmarket, and Rhyl. The deamery of Hollywell includes the rectories of Halkin, Nannerch, and Ysecifog, incincles the rectories of Halkin, Namerch, and Ysecifog, the vicarages of Holywell, Clicain, Northop, and Whitforl, and the p. curacies of Bagillt, Brynford, Flint, Rhes-y-Cae, Mestyn, and Connah's Quay. The deanery of Dyffryn-Clwyd or Ruthin includes the rectories of Cleacanoz, Derwen, Efenechdyd, Llanbedr-Dyffrynfyn, Llandyrnog, Llanelidan, Llanfwog, Llangwyfan, Llangynbafal, Llanpkhad, and Ruthin-Wardship-with-Llanrhydd, the vicarages of Llanfair-Dyffrynd, Llanphaidrin, Kimmerch, and Ilanwas and Clevel, Llanchaidrin, Kimmerch, and Ilanwas and Clard, Llanchaiadrin - Kinmerch, and Llanynys, and Clayd, Llanriasadrin - Kinmeren, and Llanynys, and the p. curacties of Prion and Grifylliog.

The deanery of Welshpool includes the rectories of Castle-Cacreinion, Llandrinio, Llandysilio, and Llan-gratiew, the vicarages of Guilsfield, Llanfair-Cacreinion, Llansaintffraid-w-Mechin, Meidod, and Welshpool, and the p. curacies of Buttington, Pont-Dolanog, Pont-Robert, Penrhôs. The deanery of Llanfyllin includes the rectories of Garthbeibio, Hirnant, Llanerful, Llanfechan, L'inchangel, Llanfyllin, Llangadfan, and Llangynog, the vicarage of Pennant, and the p. curacies of Llan-widyn, Llwydiarth, and Penybont. The deanery of The deanery of Penllyn and Edeirnion includes the rectories of Bettws-Femily Address that the control of t ASBY, formerly ASHEV, or ASHEDY, a parish in East Warl district, Westmoreland; on an affluent of the river Eden, adjacent to the Eden Valley railway, near Warcop r. station, and 4 miles S by E of Appleby. It comprises the townships of Great Asby, Little Asby, Asby-Coatsforth, and Asby-Winderwath, and the tract of Grange Hall sometimes deemed extra-parochial; and is post-town is Warcop under Penith. Acres, 8,395.

Beal property, 23,507. Pop., 440. Houses, 89. The property is subdivided. Great Asby belonged to Roger Chiracl. Little Asby had formerly a chapel with a chantry; and belonged to the Honeywoods. Asby-Coarsforth belonged to the Coatsforths and the Mus-Asby-Winderwath belonged to the Vanes. A-by-Overgange belonged to Byland abbey; and Gathorne to St. Leonard's, York. Asby Hall is the seat of the Park family. Great part of the parish is mountainous. Three of the chief summits, Gathornelingow, Oxenbargh, and Castlefolds, have altitudes of respectively 1,53, 1,629, and 1,700 feet. Asby-Sear is a ridge of rock extending about 2 miles from X to S, and 4 miles from E to W. A cavern called Pate Hole, about a 1 of a mile S of the hamlet of Great Asby, runs 430 yards in one direction, and 230 yards in another, and has, at the end of its first gallery, a pool 20 yards long and a lofty dome. Some striking seenery occurs among the moun-Freestone, limestone, and copper ore, are worked. Several tumuli, various in form, exist at Sayle Bottom; and two, which were found to contain human remains, are and two, which were found to contain numan remains, are at Gatherne Hall. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Carlisle, Value, £205. Patroness, Miss Hill. The church was rebuilt in 1866 at a cost of £2,000; and is in the decorated English style. There are an endowed school, with £41 a-year, an alms-house, with £18, and other charities, with £20.

ASCOT, a chapelry and a race-course in Winkfield par-ish, Berks. The chapelry adjoins the Staines and Read-ing railway, 8 miles W by S of Staines; was constituted ing rainway, 6 mines 11 by 50 ceanies, in a constitution 1866; and has a post-office under Staines, and a r. station. Pop., 900. Ascot Place is the scat of C. C. Ferard, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, 2100. Patron, the Bishop of Oxford. There is a national school.—The race-course is adjacent to the SW extremity of the Great Park of Windsor; has a rich sward, a grand stand with noble view, and the a rich sward, a grand stand with noble view, and the most complete range of racing chateaux in the empire; is circular, and only 66 yards short of 2 miles; and goes half the way on the descent, the other half chiefly up hill. The races were instituted by the Duke of Cunberland, uncle of George III.; they take place early in June; and they are generally attended by the Royal Family in state, and by the clitte of the court, the nobility, and the fashion. A cup was given to them by the Emperor Nicholas of Russia after his visit to England and dis-Nicholas of Russia after his visit to England, and dis-continued at the Crimean war: and another has been oranneed as the Crimean war; and another has been given, in its stead, by the Emperor Napoleon of France. ASCOTE, a hamlet in Pattishall parish, Northampton; near Watlingstreet, 3 miles N of Towester.

ASCOTE (CHAPEL), an extra-parochial tract in South-am district, Warwick; contiguous to Bishops-Itching-ton parish, 3 miles S of Southam. ASCOTT, a hamlet in Whichford parish, Warwick; on the Wolds, 51 miles SE of Shipston-on-Stour. Pop., 158. ASCOTT, a hamlet in Wing parish, Bucks; 51 miles W of Ivinghoe. Pop., 98. Ascott Ilall, the seat of NW of Ivinghoe. Pop., 98. Ascott Hall, the seat of the Stanhope family, is adjacent.

ASCOTI, a hamlet in Great Milton parish, Oxford; near the Thame, 6 miles N of Wallingford. Pop., 29

Houses, 6.

ASCOTT, a station on the West Midland railway, 4 niles SE of Chipping-Norton junction, and 174 XW by W of Oxford.

ASCOTT-UNDER-WYCHWOOD, a parish in Chipping-Norton district, Oxford; on the river Evendole and on the West Midland railway, at Ascott station, 33 miles W of Charlbury. It contains High Lodge in miles W of Charlbury. It contains High Lodge in Wychwood forest; and has a post-office under Enstone Acres, 1,798. Real property, £2,960. Pop., 458. Houses, 90. The property is divided among a few, Assort-Earl is a chief residence. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £80. Patron, the Bishop of Oxford. The church is good, excert the chancel. There are chapels for Baptists and Wesleyans, and obstities £80. charities £45.

charities 445.

ASEXPY, AISENBY, or AZENBY, a township in Top-cliffe parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the river Swale, 54 miles SW of Thirsk. Acres, 1,130. Real property, £2,146. Pop., 202. Houses, 45.

ASFORDBY. See ASHFORDBY.

ASCAPING ANY STATEMENT.

ASGARBY, a parish in Sleaford district, Lincoln; adjacent to the Boston and Grantham railway, 3 miles E of Sleaford. It includes the hamlet of Boughton; and its post-town is Sleaford. Acres, $33. Real property, £1, £24. Pop., $3. Houses, 14. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Kirkby-la-Thorps, in the diccess of Lincoln. The church is later English, and has a ces or transfer crocketted spire. ASGARBY, a parish in Horncastle district, Lincoln; on the Wolds, 4 miles ESE of Horncastle r. station. Acres, Acres, Smiles, Smiles, Acres Post-town, Hagworthingham under Spilsby, Acres, 838. Real property, £1,361. Pop., 89. Houses, 17. The property is divided among a few, Eight acres are an allotment in the West Fen. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £50,* Patron, the Bishop of Lincoln. The church is good.

ASH (THE), a stream of Herts. It rises near Little Hadham; and runs about 8 miles south-westward to the sea a little below Ware.

ASH, a hamlet in Sutton-on-the-Hill parish, Derbyshire; 8 miles W by S of Derby. Acres, 601. Pop., 46. Houses, 7.

ASH, a hamlet in Parkham parish, Devon; 61 miles

W of Torrington. ASH, a hamlet in South Tawton parish, Devon: 41

miles ESE of Okehampton. Ash House in the vicinity, now a ruin, was a seat of the Drakes, and the birthplace, in 1650, of the mother of the Duke of Marlborough.

ASH, a hamlet and a chapelry in Martock parish, omerset. The hamlet stands near the Durston and Somerset. Yeovil railway, 3 miles SW of lichester. Pop., 322. The chapelry includes the hamlet, and was constituted 1 ne chaperry includes the namer, and was constituted in 1845. Post-town, Martock under Ilminster. Pop., 580. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £62. Patron, the Vicar of Martock. ASH, a tything in Crewkerne parish, near the town of Crewkerne, Somerset.

ASH, a village in Farnborough district, and a parish Farnborough and Farnham districts, Surrev. village stands near the Southwestern railway, the Basingstoke canal, and the Blackwater river, 2 miles NW of Hog's Back, and 4 NE of Farnham; and it has a staof Hogs Back, and 4 NE of Farnham; and it has a sta-tion on the railway, and a post-office under Farnborough station. The parish includes also the tything of Nor-mandy, and the handlet-chapelry of Friudey. Acres, 12,273. Rated property, £15,443. Pop., 4,164. Houses, 753. The property is much subdivided. The southern tracts are hilly, and party common. Ash Lodge is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchaster. Value £423. Paten Winchestracellars. tracts are may, chief residence. The fiving is a recon...
Winchester. Value, £473.* Patron, Winchester college. The church has a plain Norman doorway, and is good. The rectory of Frimley and the p. curacy of York-Town caparate charges. Charities, £16.
Whitehurch parish, Salop; 24 are separate charges. Charities, £16.

ASH, a chapelry in Whitchurch parish, Salop; 21 miles SE of Whitchurch r. station. It includes the townships of Ash-Magna and Ash-Parva; contains the residences of Ash House and Ash Grove; and has a postoffice under Whitchurch. Pop., 545. Houses, 110.
The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield.
Value, £145.* Patron, the lector of Whitchurch.

ASH, Hants, Dorset, and East Devon. See ASHE. ASH, Durham. See Esh.

ASH, North-East Kent. See ASH-NEXT-SANDWICH. ASH, or ASH-NEXT-RIDLEY, a parish in Dartford district, Kent; 6 miles S of Northfleet r. station, and 7 SSE of Dartford. It includes the hamlets of Hodsol-Street and West-York and part of Culverstone-Green; Street and West-Tork and part of Chiverstone-treen; and it has a post-office under Sevenoaks. Acres, 3,023. Real property, £4,761. Pop., 587. Houses, 132. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £548.* Patron, W. Lambarde, Esn. The church is good; and there are a Baptist chapel and a national school.

ASH ABBEY. See CAMPSEY-ASH.

ASHAMPSTEAD, a parish in Bradfield district, Berks; 6 miles W of Pangbourne r. station, and 10½ W by N of Reading. It has a post-office under Reading. Acres, Reading. It has a post-office under Reading. Acres, 2,057. Real property, £2,316. Pop. 385. Houses, 87. Part of the land is cummon. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £30. *Patrous, Rev. W. Sykes and Simeon's Trustees. There are two dissenting chapels, a free school, and charities £12.

ASHAMPSTEAD, or ACKHAMPSTEAD, a chapelry in the parish of Lewknor and counties of Oxford and Buck-ingliam; 31 miles NW of Great Marlow, and 37 WSW of Wycombe r. station. The part of it known as Stutridge and Cadmore End is in Oxford; and the part known as the Moor and Finnemoor is in Bucks. Post-town, Lewknor under Tetsworth. Pop., 399. The Fring bears the name also of Calmore-End; and is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, 2150. Patrons, the Bishop of Oxford two turns, and All-Souls College one turn.

ASHATCH, a village 3} miles NE of Ludlow, Salop.

ASHBADWELL. See Badwell-Ash. ASHBEACON HILL, a hill 655 feet high, near Mil-borne Port, Somerset.

OF ASH-BOCKING, or ASHBOCKEN, a parish in Bosmere district, Suffolk; 5 miles NE of Claydon r. station, and 8 N of Ipswich. Post-town, Coddenham under and 8 N of Ipswich. Post-town, concennam under Needham-Market. Acres, 1,408. Real property, £2,558. Pop., 324. Houses, 70. The property is not much di-vided. The living is a vicarage in the docese of Norwich. Value, £333.* Patrou, the Lord Chancellor. The church has a brass of a Bocking of 1585, and is very good. Charities, £25.

ASHBORNE, or Ashbourne, a small town, a township, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Derby. The town stands on the river Henmore, 1, mile above its influx to the Dove, at the terminus of a branch of the North Stafford railway, 7½ miles NE of the junction with the main line at Rocester station, and 131, by road, NW of Derby. It was formerly called Ashburn, and anciently Esseburn. It belonged to the Crown at the time of the Conquest; passed to the duchy of Lancaster; was taken by the Parliamentarian forces in 1644; retaken by the Royal forces, and visited by Charles I., in 1645; and occupied as heal quarters by the Scottish army of Prince Charles Edward, on their march to Derby, in 1745. Its situation is pleasant, and its vicinity rich in romantic scenery; so as to occasion it to attract many visitors. Its houses, in general, are of red brick, roofed with slate; and its streets are tolerably neat. It has a head post-office, a telegraph office, banking office, three chief inns, a town-hall, news-rooms, banking-onice, three chief inns, a town-hall, news-rooms, a small jail, a grammar school, a national school, a parish church, a Calvinist chapel restored in 1869, three other dissenting chapels, a R. Catholic chapel, a work-louse of 1864, several alms-houses, and large general charities; and is a seat of petty sessions and county courts. and a poling place. The grammar school was founded in 1535; has estates yielding £214 a-year; and is a substantial stone building. The house once inhabited startial stone building. The house once inhabited by Dr. John Taylor, and visited by his intimate friend the great Dr. Johnson, stands opposite the grammar school. The parish church is a spacious, cruciforn, early English edifice of 1241; is surmounted by a central square tower, with lofty, ornamented, octagonal spire; was renovated in 1845, at a cost of nearly £5,000, mostly raised by subscription; and contains brasses and tembs of the Cockaines, the Bradburns, and the Boothbys. The finest of the monuments is a statuary one, in white marble, from the chisel of Banks, to the memory of Penelope, the only child of Sir Brooke Boothby, who died, in 1791. in her sixth year; and this is supposed to have suggested to Chantrey his beautiful group of the two children in Lichfield cathedral. The town is in high repute as a mart for cattle, cheese, and other agricultural produce; mart for cattle, eneese, and other agreement produce, and it has a weekly market on Saturday,—general fairs on the first Tuesday in Jam., 13 Feb., 3 April, the last Thursday in April, 21 May, 5 July, 16 Aug., 20 Oct., and 29 Nov., or on the preceding day if the 29th be a Sunday,—fairs for cheese on the second Tuesday in March and the third Tuesday in Sept.,-and fairs for horned cattle, sheep, and horses on the days preceding each. Malt-making, lace-making, and cotton manufacture are carried on. Pop., 3,501. Houses, 760.

The township lies wholly in the town. Real property, 25,605. Pop., 2,120. Houses, 472.—The parish includes also the liberty of Offente and Underwood, the townships of Sturston, Yeldersley, Hulland, Hulland-Ward, Hulland-Ward-Hukky, and Clifton and Compton, the hamlet of Newton-Grange, and the chapelry of Alsop-le-Dale and Eaton. Acres, 7,932. Rated property, exclusive of Hulland chapelry, 220, 312. Popof the whole, 5,078. Houses, 1,098. The property is much subtivibled. Ashborne Hall was long the seat of the Boothbys; was the quarters of Prince Charles of the Boothoys; was the quarters of Frince Charles Edward on his march to Derby; and is now the resi-dence of Captain Holland R. N. Ashborne Green Hall belongs to the De Burghs, and is a meeting-place of sportsmen. Ashborne Grove belongs to the Dales. Mayfield Cottage, in the neighbourhood, was, for a considerable time, the residence of the poet Moore, and the place where he wrote great part of his "Lalla Rookh." The Henmore and the Dove, in their connexion with the parish, afford prime angling for trout and grayling, and were noted for it by Warton and Cotton. Thorp-Cloud Hill, 3 miles from the town, and 300 feet Inorp-cloud Hill, Since round the congr. and sole religion, commands a fine view of the eraggy flanks of the Dove. The living is a vicarage, united with the rectory of Mappleton, in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £420.* Patron, the Bishop of Lichfield. The chapelries of Clifton, Hulland, and Alsop-le-Dale are separate charges. Sir Aston Cockaine, the Elizabethan poet, and Sir Brooke Boothby, the author of "Tables and Satires" and of other works, were natives. The sub-district comprises the parishes of Edlastonwith-Wyaston, Osmaston, Bradley, and Kniveton, and parts of the parishes of Ashborne and Bradbourne. parts of the parishes of Ashborne and Bradbourne. Acres, 11,442. Pop., 4,876. Houses, 1,041. The district censists of Ashborne poor-law union and part of Allstonefield, Gilbert's incorporation; and comprehends, in addition to Ashborne sub-district, the sub-district of Brailsford, containing the parishes of Brailsford, Longford, and Shiley, and parts of the parishes of Ashborne, Mugginton, and Wirksworth,—the sub-district of Hartington, containing the parish of Parwich, and parts of the parishes of Ashborne, Hartington, and Bradbourne, Parishes of Ashborne, P -the sub-district of Brassington, containing the parishes of Carsington, Hognaston, and Bonsall, the extraparochial tract of Griff-Grange, and parts of the parishes of Bradbourne, Kirk-Ireton, and Wirksworth,—the subdistrict of Mayfield, containing the parishes of Snelston and Ellastone, the latter electorally in Stafford, and parts of the parishes of Ashborne and Mayfield, the latter electorally in Statford, -and the sub-district of Calton, containing the parishes of Tissington, Fenny-Bentley, Thorpe, Mappleton, Okeover, Blore, llam, and Waterfull, the four last electorally in Stafford, the extra-parochtail, the four last electorally in Station, the extra-parochila tract of Muslen-Grange, electorally in Stafford, and parts of the parishes of Bradbourne, Mayfield, and Allstonefield, the two last in Stafford. Acres, 100,937. Poor-rates in 1866, £8,029. Pop. in 1841, 21,358; in 1861, 20,638. Houses, 4,334. Marriages in 1866, 163; births, 620,—of which 51 were illegitimate; deaths, 397,—fig. 1861, 186 births, (29),—of which 51 were inegitimate; deaths, 397, of which 114 were at ages number 5 years, and 12 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,390; births, 6,252; deaths, 4,064. The places of worship in 1851 were 41 of the Church of England, with 9,921 sittings, 4 of Independents, with 440 s.; 1 of Lady Huntingdon's Connection, with 340 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 300 s.; 21 of Weslevan Methodists, with 2,841 s.; 24 of Primitive Methodists, with 2,301 s.; 3 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 290 s.; and one undefined, with 90 s. in 1851 were 60 public day schools, with 2,193 scholars; 40 private day schools, with 930 s.; 57 Sunday schools, with 3,112 s.; and 4 evening schools for adults, with 70 s.

ASHBRITTLE, a parish in Wellington district, Somerset; on the verge of the county, and on the river Tone, near the Western canal, 31 miles from the Bristol and Exeter railway, 6 miles W by 8 of Wellington. It includes the tything of Greenham; and its post-town is Wellington, Somerset. Acres, 2,489. Real property, £3,715. Pop., 525. Houses, 100. The property is 23,715. Pop., 525. Houses, 100. The property is sub-livided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Barth and Wells. Value, £150. Patron, J. Quicke, £8q. The church is mainly old, partly new. There are a chapel of ease, built in 1560, and a national school, ASHBROOK. See AMPREY-ST. MARY, ASHBURN. See ASHBORNE.

ASHBURN (THE), a stream of Sussex. It rises near Kent's Hill; and runs about 8 miles southward to the Channel at Pevensey. Its mouth, up to Pevensey bridge, till about 1700, was a harbour for small vessels, but has been rendered unnavigable by accumulation of sand and shingle.

ASHBURNHAM, a parish in Battle district, Sussex; 5 miles W of Battle r. station. It has a post-office to the family of Ashburnham, the descendants of Bertrar de Eshburnham, who was "vice-comes" of Kent | maish includes also the tythings of Idatone and Ods'one, and Sussex at the landing of William the Conqueror. Pop., Acres, 3,648. Real property, £3,577. Pop., 844. Houses, 154. Ashburnham Place, the seat of the Earl of Ashburnham, is a red-brick mansion, mostly modern; and contains a rich collection of books and manuscripts, several rare pictures, some fine old plate and ancient armour, and the shirt worn by Charles I. on the scaffold. armour, and the shirt work of Charles I. on the scannor, his watch, his white silk drawers, and the sheet thrown over his body after the execution. These relies were given on the scaffold to the King's attendant John Ash-burnham, and bequeathed by one of his descendants to the parish for ever; and were formerly preserved in the church. A public path through the church-yard commands grand views of the coast to Beachy-head. An iron furnace, in the north, was noted for producing the best iron in England, and continued to be worked after every other iron furnace in Sussex was extinct; and the site of other from farmace in Sussex was extinct; and the site of it may still be traced. The living is a vicarage, united with the rectory of Penhurst, in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £307. Patron, the Earl of Ashburnham. The church was rebuilt by the John Ashburnham who attended Charles I.; and contains monuments of himself and of other members of the family. Charities, £5.

ASHBURTON, a town, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Newton-Abbot, Devon. The town stands on the Yeo, about 1½ mile from the Dart, near the grandest part of Dartmoor, 7 miles NNW of Totnes; and a railway to it, from the South Devon, was in advanced progress in 1869. It was anciently called Asperton and Aisbertone. It belonged to the Crown at Domesday; was bertone. given to the see of Exeter before 1310; became a stannary town in 1328, on account of tin and copper mines in its neighbourhood; belonged to the Crown again in the time of Charles I.; was taken by Fairfax in 1646: and went, after various changes, into the possession of Lord Clinton. It consists principally of two long streets; and has a neat appearance. The market-house has a lofty basement for market purposes, and an upper story with public rooms; and is a fine edifice, in the Italian style, built in 1850, at a cost of upwards of £3,000. The parish church is a spacious cruciform structure, of perpendicular date, with modern alterations, surmounted by a central tower, 90 feet high, was formerly collegiate, a central tower, 90 Let high, was formerly collegate, and contains some fine monuments. There are four dissenting chapels, a grammar-school, with £80 of endowed income, and two exhibitions and two exholarships at Exeter college, Oxford, other charities with £322, a post-effice; under Newton-Abbot, and three chief inns. A weekly market is held on Saturday, and fairs on the first Thursday in March and June, 10 Aug., and 11 Nov. The manufacture of serge and blanketting is carried on. A great business formerly arose from the thoroughfare between London and Plymouth; but has died away since the opening of the South Devon railway. The town is a brough by prescription; sent two members to parliament in the times of Edward I, and Henry IV., and from 1610 till 1832; and was half disfranchised by the act of 1832, and entirely disfranchised in 1898. It is gov-1610 till 1832; and was half distranchised by the act of 1832, and entirely disfranchised in 1868. It is governed by a portreeve, a bailiff, and constables. Acres, 6,936. Real property, 213,670. Electors in 1868, 356, Pop., 3,062. Houses, 574. John Dunning, solicitor-general in 1767, Dr. Ireland, dean of Westminster, and William Giffonl, the well-known editor of the Quarterly Parisher heavy in 1755, were noticed. Review, born in 1756, were natives. A peerage, with the title of Baron Ashburton, was given to Dunning in 1752; and, becoming extinct in 1823, was revived in favour of Alexander Baring in 1835.—The parish, as favour of Mexander Baring in 1835.—The parish, as already noted, is co-extensive with the borough. The living is a vierruge, in annexation with the vicatage of Buckland-in-the Moor, in the diocess of Eveter. Value, 2639.* Latrons, the Dean end Chapter of Exeter—The sub-district includes six parishes and a chaptly. Acres, 31,599. Pop., 6,362. Houses, 1,245.
ASHBCRY, a village and a parish in Farringlon district, Berks. The village stands near the Ridge-way or lexinell-street, at the W end of Whitehorse vale, 3 wiles SSE of Shriveingum, r station, and 7.8 of Carriarand the hamlet of Kingstone-Winslow. Acres, 5,520. Real property, £6,828. Pop., 742. Houses, 153. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £375. Patron, Magdalen college, Oxford. The church is partly Norman, partly decorated English. There are a P. Me-

Norman, partly decorated English. There are a P. Methodist chapel, a national school, and charities £14.
ASHBULY, anciently Essebury, a parish in Okehaupton district, Devon; on an affluent of the river Torridge, 5 miles SSW of Hatherleigh, and 14 WSW of Morehard Road r. station. Post-town, North Lew under Exbourne, North Devon. Acres, 1,700. Real property, £743. Pop., 80. Honses, 9. The manor, with most of the property, belongs to the owner of Ashbury House, a large old residence in a well-wooded park. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £26. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is a small old edifice, with nave, chancel, and tower. edifice, with nave, chancel, and tower.

ASHBURY'S, a station on the Manchester and Sheffield railway, 11 mile ESE of Manchester. It serves for

ASHBY, a township in Bottesford parish, Lincoln; 7 miles WNW of Brigg. It has a post-office under Brigg. Real property, £2,611. Pop., 503. Houses, 111. ASHBY, a hamlet in Litton-Cheney parish, Dorset;

9 miles W of Dorchester.

9 miles W of Dorchester.

ASHBY, a parish in Loddon district, Norfolk; 3 miles SW of Buckenham r. station, and 7 SE of Norwich. Post-town, Rockland under Norwich. Acres, 487. Real property, £1,850. Pop., 257. Houses, 55. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Carleton, in the diocese of Norwich.

ASHBY, a parish in Flegg district, Norfolk; near the river Bure, 8 miles NE of Brundall r. station, and 12 ENE of Norwich. Post-town, Luddham under Norwich. Acres, with Oby and Thirne, 1,403. Real property, with Oby, £3,085. Pop. of Ashby, 16. Houses, 3. Ashby, Oby, and Thirne are three rectories forming one benefice in the diocess of Norwich. Yalue, £690.* Patron. the Bishop of Norwich.

tron, the Bishop of Norwich.

ASIBY, a parish in Mutford district, Suffolk; near the river Waveney 21 miles N of Somerleyton r. station, the river waveney 23 miles N of Somerieyron r. station, and 58 NW of Lowestoft. Post-town, Somerleyton under Lowestoft. Acres, 1,100. Real property, £1,137. Pop., 70. Houses, 14. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £214. Patron, Sir S. M. Peto, Bart. The church is mainly early English, and has a decorated east window, a square Norman font, and a circular west tower, with octagonal upper story.

ASHBY, Westmoreland. See Asby.
ASHBY-BY-PARTNEY, or ASHBY-EAST, a parish in Spilsby district, Lincoln; on the river Steeping, 2 miles Spulsby district, Lincoln; on the river Steeping, 2 miles for Spilsby, and 3\fo 90 f Burgh r. station. Post-town, Spilsby. Acres, 1,210. Real property, £1,640. Pop., 148. Houses, 33. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £157.* Patron, the Rev. L. Fowler. The church is plain. There is a Wesleyan chapel. ASHBY (CANOSS), a parish in Duventry and Tow. coster districts, Northampton; on the river Cherwell, 8 miles SW of Weedon r. station, and 9 S of Daventry. It includes the hamlet of Adstone; and its post-town is Evalon puts. Eydon under Daventry. Acres, 2,600. Real property, £3,109. Pop., 220. Houses, 46. A friary of black canons was founded here, in the time of Henry II., by Stephen de Leye; and given, at the dissolution, to Sir Francis Bryan. Canons-Ashby House is the seat of Sir Halles Biyai.

H. E. L. Dryden, Bart, and contains a very large apartment floored with oak from one tree. The living is a donative in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, not reported. Patron, Sir H. E. L. Dryden. The church is ported. Patron, Sir H. E. L. Dryden. The church is good; and has tombs of the Drydens. The p. curacy of Adstoue is a separate charge.

ASHBY (CASTLE), a parish in Hardingstone district, Northampton; near the Nen river and the Peterborough railway, 7 miles E of Northampton. It has a station on the railway at White Mill, and includes the hamlet of Chadstone; and its post-town is Grendon under Northampton. Acres, 1,926. Real property, £3,088. Pop., 183. Houses, 38. Castle-Ashby House, the seat of the Maronis of Northampton, stands within the parish, at the north end of a wide avenue of upwards of 3 miles the north end of a wide avenue or upwards or a muss through Yardley Chace; and is a large quadrangular edi-fice, with two lofty octangular towers, built in 1625-35; and contains a good picture gallery, with valuable por-traits and very old oil paintings. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Peterborough. Value, £238.* Patron, in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £238.* Patron, the Marquis of Northampton. The church stands in the park; has a Norman porch; and contains an altar-tomb, with effigies of a crusader.

with effigies of a crusader.

ASHBY (COLD), a parish in Brixworth district, Northampton; 34 miles S of Welford, and 5 SE of StanfordHall r. station. Post-town, Welford under Rugby,
Acres, 1,940. Real property, £4,960. Pop., 446.

Houses, 104. The property is subdivided. The place Houses, 104. The property is subdivided. The place is a meet for the Pytchley hounds. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £230, Patron, the Rev. W. Monsley. The clurrch is tolerable; and contains tombs of the Langhams. A school has £23 from endowment, and other charities £20. Richard Knolles, born in 1543, the author of a History of the Turks, was a native.

ASHBY-CUM-FENBY. See ASHBY-WITH-FENBY.
ASHBY-DE-LA-LAUND, a parish in Sleaford district, Lincoln; 41 miles N of Sleaford r. station. tret, Lincoln; 43 miles N of Sleatord r. station. Post-town, Digby under Sleaford. Aeres, 2,880. Real pro-perty, £2,938. Pop., 176. Houses, 28. The property is not nmel divided. Ashby-Laund Honse is an old mansion, the seat of J. W. King, Esq. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £299. Pa-tron, J. W. King, Esq. The church is good. Charities, £9.

ties, £9.

ASHBY-DE-LA-ZOUCH, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Leicester. The town stands in a pleasant situation, on the NW border of the county, on the rivulet Gilwiskaw, near the Midland railway and the Ashby-de-la-Zouch cand, 18 miles by road and 20% yrailway NW by W of Leicester. It was anciently called Esseby; and it took the afterpart of its present the ancient Norman-French family of La name from the ancient Norman-French family of La Zouch. It belonged to that family from the time of Zouch. It belonged to that family from the time of Henry III. till 1461; it passed then to the Crown; and it was given to the family of Hastings, the anvesters of the present Marquis. The castle of the La Zonches stood on a rising ground at the S end of the town; and a stronger one was built on its site, out of its materials, in 1480, by Sir William Hastings. This gentlenan was master of the mint, and introduced a new gold coinage; and he was sected Bearn Hastings to Edward W. Sell had, at his ereated Baron Hastings by Edward IV., and beheaded in the Tower by Richard III. Mary, Queen of Scots, was for some time confined in the castle; James I.'s queen and son Henry were entertained in it, on their journey to London in 1603; James I. himself visited it in 1617; and Charles I, dined at it a few days before the storming of Leicester. Colonel Henry Hastings, son of the Earl of Huntingdon, and afterwards created Baron Loughborough, garrisoned it for Charles, was besieged in it by Fairfax, and surrendered it to Colonel Needham. parliament thought it more likely, if left entire, to be serviceable to the Royalists than to themselves; and they ordered it to be dismantled in 1648. Only portions of the hall, the chapel, and the kitchen are now standing; but they form an extensive and picturesque mass of ruin, perhaps the finest in the country; and they show Tudor teatures of architecture which indicate that some parts were of later erection than the original rile. The scene of the grand tournament described in "Ivanhoe" is about a mile to the W, near the village of Smisby; and some Roman coins have been found in the vicinity.

The town consists chiefly of one principal street, with two smaller ones running in a parallel direction; and con-tains some well-built houses. The town-hall was built in 1857, and is a noble edifice. St. Helen's church is fine decorated English; includes two chapels, separated by four lofty arches, springing from fluted pillars: and contains tombs of the Earls of Huntingdon, and of the good Countess Sclina, who figures largely in religious history, and spent £100,000 in works of benevolence. Trinity church, at the west end of the town, is a handsome structure, in the early English style, with about 900 sit-tings, built in 1835, at a cost of £4,000. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyan Metho-dists, and Primitive Methodists; and the first was rebuilt in 1825, at a cost of nearly £2,000. The grammar-school is a large edifice; was founded, in 1567, by Hearry, Earl of Huntingdon; has endowments yielding £840 a-year; holds ten exhibitions of £10 a-year each, in Emanuel college, Cambridge; and had for its first master Joseph Hall, afterwards Bishop of Exeter, and author of well-Hall, atterwards Bishop of Execet, and addition of well-known Christian writings. Two other public schools have £50 and £36 from endowment, and other charities £150. Iyanhoe baths, constructed in 1826, have a fine Doric edifice 200 feet long; are supplied, by pipes, from Doric entires you beet long; are supplied, by piece, not springs 3 miles distant, with mineral water containing bromine; and are noted for medicinal effect in serofula and kindred diseases. The town is a summer resort of invalids and visitors; and has two good hotels, good lodging-honses, a theatre, a railway station, a head postrouging-noises, a meatre, a ranway station, a flead pos-office; and a banking office. A weekly market is held on Saturday, and fairs on the Monday before Shrove-Tues-day, Easter-Tuesday, Whit-Tuesday, 14 Sept., and 8 Nov. Trade is carried on in multing, stocking making, hat-making, and in the traffic of neighbouring bricknat-making, and in the traine of neighbouring brick-fields, smelting-works, and collieries. A coal-field lies around, of irregular outline, about 10 miles by 8; estimated to comprise 40,000 acres of workable area of coal, having nine seams, with an aggregate thickness of 33 feet; and includes pits at Swadlincote, Moira, Donnisthorpe, and Oakthorpe, belonging to the Marquis of Hastings, and pits at Snibston, Whitwick, Church-Cresley, Measham, Staunton-Harrold, and elsewhere, belonging to other proprietors. The town is governed becoming to other propheters. The court-leet of the lord of the manor; and is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place. Pop., 3,772. Houses, 830. Bishop Joseph Hall and Dr. John Bainbridge were natives.

The parish includes also part of Blackfordby chapelry. Acres, 8,097. Real property, £39,884; of which £12,230 are in mines, and £1,130 are in railways. Pop., 6,958. Houses, 1,347. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £417.° Patron, the Marquis of Houses, 1,347. The tiving is a vicinage in the discount Peterborough. Value, £417.° Patron, the Marquis of Hastings. Trinity church is a separate charge, with income of £180,* in the patronage of the Vicar.—The subdistrict includes the parishes of Osgathorpe and Calke, the latter electorally in Derby, and parts of the parishes of Ashby-de-la-Zouch and Breedon-on-the-Hill. Acres, 12,480. Pop., 8,290. Houses, 1,640. The district compactness also the sub-district of Hartshorn, concomprehens as also the sub-district of farcishers, containing the parishes of Willesley, Smisby, Hartshorn, and Ticknall, the extra-parochial tract of Bondary or Burton Road, and parts of the parishes of Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Seal, Stretton-en-le-Field, Church-Gresley, and Measham, all, except the parts of Ashby-de-la-Zouch and Seal-Boal-Gatterphic, but but with an All Seal-Boal-Gatterphic, but but with an All Seal-Boal-Gatterphic in Laborators and Seal-Boal-Gatterphic in Laborators in Control of the Seal-Gatterphic in Laborators in Control of the Control of th and Scal, electorally in Derby; the sub-district of Measham, containing the parishes of Heather, Swepstone, and Snarestone, and parts of the parishes of Kailstone, Measham, and Appleby, the three last electorally in Derby; and the sub-district of Whitwick, containing the Derby; and the sub-district of Whitwick, containing the parishes of Whitwick, Cole Orton, Packington, and Ravenstone, parts of the two latter electorally in Derby, and part of the parish of listock. Acres, 50,242. Poorrates in 1866, #11,636. Pop. in 1861, 28,480. Honses, 5,931. Marriages in 1866, 339; births, 1,188,—of which 96 were illegitimate; deaths, 509,—of which 251 were at ages under 5 years, and 11 were at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851 60, 2,007; births, 9,902; deaths, 5,665. The places of worship in 1851 were 33 of the Church of England, with 10,081 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 655 s.; 13 of Baptists, with 2,934 s.; 27 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 4,455 s.; 7 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,040 s.; 3 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 160 s.; and 2 of Homan Catholies, with 259 s. The schools in 1851 were 49 public day schools, with 3,253 scholars; 48 private day schools, with 888 s.; 60 Sunday schools, with 4,191 s.; and 1 evening school for adults,

ASHBY-DE-LA-ZOUCH CANAL, a canal from the neighbourhood of Moira, 31 miles W of Ashby-de-la-

Zouch, to the Coventry canal, 2 miles S of Nuncaton. Zouch, to the Coventry canal, 2 miles S of Nuncaton, It was opened in 1805; is 203 miles long, all on a level; and goes in a S by easterly direction, past Market-Bosworth and near Hinckley, but is very winding. Tran railways connect its N end with Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Ticknall, and Church-Gresley.

ASHBY (EAST). See ASHBY-EY-PARTNEY.

ASHBY-FOLVILLE, a township and a parish in Melton-Bowbray district, Leicester. The township lies on an affluent of the river Wreak, 5 miles ESE of Bearsby tattice, and 5 SW of Wiles Lynchury. Accept 1859.

r. station, and 6 SW of Melton-Mowbray. Acres, 1,983. r. station, and 6 SW of Melfon-Mowning. Acres, 1, year, Real property, 25,460. Fep., 160. Houses, 43. The parish includes also the chapelry of Barsby; and its post-town is Gaddebsy under Melfon-Mowbray. Acres, 3,013. Real property, 25,579. Pop., 450. Houses, 106. The property is divided among a few. The living is a minimar in the discrete of Patenberguity. Value 2190. vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £190. Patron, the Rev. W. Acworth. The church is decorated Fation, the Rev. According to the 14th century; has tine square-headed windows; and needs repair. Almshouses and other charities were founded by Lord Carrington, and have an income of £139. The Franciscan friar, William Folville, who figured in the controversy "De pueris in-ville, who figured in the controversy "De pueris inducidis," was a native.

ASHBY (Geean). See Ashby-Magna.

ASHBY (Geean). See Ashby-Parva.

ASHBY-MAGNA, a parish in Lutterworth district, Leicester; 2 miles ESE of Broughton-Astby r. station, and 4 N by E of Lutterworth. Post-town, Leire under Lutterworth. Acres, 1,720. Real property, £2,881.

Pop., 315. Houses, 65. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £200. Patron, the Earl of Aylesford
The church was restored in 1861.

The church was restored in 1861.

ASHBY MEARS, Or MEARS-ASHEY, a parish in Wellingborough district, Northampton; 3 miles N by W of Castle-Ashbyr, station, and 33 WSW of Wellingborough. Post-town, Wilby, under Northampton. Acres, 1,890.

Real property, 23,220. Pop., 525. Honses, 117. A.-M. Hall is the seat of H. M. Stockdale, Esq. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Peterborough. Value, 2235.

Patrons, Trustees. The church was restored in 1858.

There are two dissenting chapels and an endowed school.
ASHBY-PARVA, or LITTLE ASHIV, a parish in Lutterworth district, Leicester, 12 mile NE of Ulesthorpe r. station, and 34 NNW of Lutterworth. It has a poststation, and 34 NAW of Intterworth. It has a post-office, of the name of Ashby-Parva, under Lutterworth. Acres, 1,957. Real property, £2,742. Pop., 160. Houses, 46. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, Patron, the Lord Chancellor. Charities, £187:

of which $150 belong to an almshouse and a school.
ASHBY-PUERORUM, a parish in Horncastle district, Lincoln; on the Wolds, 4½ miles ENE of Horncastle 1.
station. It includes the hamlet of Stainsby and the station. It includes the hamlet of Stainsby and the tract of Holbeck, which is in some respects extra parochial; and its post-town is Hagworthingham under chai; and its post-town is Hagwortinignam under Spilsby, Acres, 1,620. Real property, 22,220. Pop., 149. Houses, 30. The property is divided among a few. An estate was bequeathed to the Lincoln chorister boys; and this is allued to in the distinctive name Puerorum. A Roman surcephagus or stone chest, con-Theoream. A noman succession of some chess, containing a strong, well-made, glass urn, was found, in 1801, near the clurch. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, 2118. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln. The church is a small antique structure. ture, with a massive tower; and is in very good condition.

ASHBY-ST. LEBGLIRS, a parish in Daventry district, Northampton; rear Warling-street and the Oxford and Grand Junction cands, 2 miles W of Crick, r. station, and 4 N of Daventry. It has a post-office under Rugby, Acres, 2,050. Real property, 23,055. Pop., 300. Hould property, 23,055. Engles is taken from the patron saint of the church. Ashby Manor-house, a substantial old mansion, belonged to the Catesbys, passed to the Jamons, and is now the property of W Senhouse, Esq.; and a small room in one of its offices was the place where Robert Catesby and his fellow conspirators concocted the gunpowder plot. Ashby Lodge is another chief residence. The parish is a meet of the Pytchley hounds. The endowed charities in it amount borough. Value, £130. Patron, W. Senhouse, Esq. The church is an edifice of nave and aisles, with tower and spire; has screen, rood-loft, and three piscinas; and contains an altar-tomb of William Catesby and his wife, of date 1493. This Catesby was the favourite of Richard III., fought for him at the battle of Bosworth, and was captured there and beheaded at Leicester; and he is "the cat" of the triumvirate—while Richard Ratcliffe is "the rat," Lord Lovel "the dog," and Richard III. "the hog," in allusion to his crest of the boar—named in the satirical distich

" The rat and the cat, and Lovel the dog, Do govern all England under the hog.

ASIBY (West), a parish in Horneastle district, Lin-coln; 2 miles N by E of Horneastle r. station. It con-tains the hamlets of Farthorpe and Middlethorpe; and the post-town is Horneastle. Acres, 1,590. Real property, 24,853. Pop., 526. Houses, 118. Ashby-Thorpe House is a chief residence. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, 254. Patron, the Bishop of Carliela The church is later English. There are the diocese of Lincoln of Carlisle. The church is later English. 2 nere are two Methodist chapels and some charities.

ASHBY-WITH-FENBY, a parish in Caistor district, Lincoln; on the Wolds. 3 miles SW of Holton-le-Clay r. station, and 6½ S by W of Great Grimsby. Post-town, Holton-le-Clay under Grimsby. Acres, 1,675. Real property. £2,640. Pop., 274. Houses, 60. The property. property, £2,640. Pop., 274. Houses, 60. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £310.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is ancient. There are a Wesleyan cellor. The church is ancient. There a chapel, and alms-houses with £30 a-year. ASH-CAMPSEY. See CAMPSEY-ASH.

ASHCHURCH, a parish in Tewkesbury district, Gloucester; on the Bristol and Birmingham railway, at the junction of the Tewkesbury branch, 2 miles E of Tewkesbury. It has a station on the railway; it includes the tythings of Pamington, Fiddington and Natcludes the tytinings of the Aston-on-Carron, and Northway and Aston-on-Carron, and Northway and Aston-on-Carron, and Northway and Aston-on-Carron, and Northway and Aston-on-Carron, and Northway and N is much subdivided. There is a mineral spring of similar quality to the waters of Cheltenham. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, 2270.* Patron, Rev. C. N. Williams. The church is later English, with a Norman porch and a pinnacled tower. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charlitis £26. The junction of the Towkesbury branch railway is at Ashchurch; and a railway from A.

Evesbury was formal under an act of 1860.

orance ransway is at Assiciation; and a ransway from A. to Evesham was formed under an act of 1862.

ASHCOMBE, a parish in St. Thomas district, Devon; 3 miles E of Chudleigh, and 4½ NW of Dawlish r. station. It has a post-office under Dawlish. Acres, 1,932.

Real property, £1,957. Pop., 212. Houses, 41. The property is all in one estate; and about 500 acres are waste or west. The bigging is a rather in the disease of waste or wood. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £222. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. Exeter. The church is a small edifice, repaired and partly rebuilt in 1825; and has a square tower and a stained glass east window

ASHCOMBE, a hamlet in Weston-super-Mare parish, Somerset; near the Bristol channel and the Great Western railway, 81 miles NW of Axbridge.

ASHCOMBE, an estate in Cranborne Chase, Wilts; 5 miles SE of Shaftesbury. It belonged formerly to Lord Arundell, and belongs now to Mr. Grove. It comprises a romantic circular hollow, engirt with an amphitheatre of wooded hills, accessible only by a declivitous road; and has, in the centre, an isolated knoll, crowned by remains of an old mansion.

nams of an our mansson.

ASHCOTT, a parish in Bridgewater district, Somerset; near the Glastonbury railway, 5 miles WSW of Glastonbury. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Bath; and includes the hamlet of Pedwell. Acres, 2,272. Real property, £4,328. Pop., $17. Houses, 183 The manor belonged to Glastonbury abbey. The living is a vicarage, annexed to Shapwick, in the diocese of Bath and Wells. The church was restored in 1860.

There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £70.

ASHDON, a village in Saffron-Walden district, Essex, and a parish chiefly in that district and county, but partly also in Linton district, Cambridge. The village stands on an affluent of the river Cam, 35 miles NE of Saffron-Walden, and 51 ENE of Audley-End r. station; and has a post-office under Cambridge. Pop., 1,011. Houses, 220. The parish includes also the hamlet of Houses, 220.

Bartlow-End.

Acres, 4,069. Real property, £6,969.

Pop., 1,235.

Among a few.

The manor belongs to Viscount Maynard. A place with a fine prospect and four harrows—the latter supposed to be sepulchral monuments of Danish chiefs contends with Ashingdon in Rochford district the repute contends with Ashington in Rochtord district the repute of being the battlefield of Cantle's victory of Assandune, in 1016, over Edmund Ironside. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £909. Patron, Caius College, Cambridge. The church is good; and Camb Conege, Cambridge. The entiren is good; and there are a Baptist chapel, and charities £21.

ASHDOWN FOREST, an ancient forest, now a heathland, midway between East Grinstead and Uckfield, It lies within the manor of Maresfield, ex-Sussex. Sussex. It has within the manor of Marsheld, extending into five parishes; and comprises 13,991 acres. It once was fenced, covered with wood, and stocked with deer; but was laid open during the civil war in the time of Charles I., and allowed to be desolated. Most of its timber was consumed as fuel in the iron furnaces which formerly abounded in the neighbourhood; and only a few trees, scattered and on the lower grounds, now remain. trees, scattered and on the lower glounds, now tenant. The general surface is bare and wild, cut with ravines and glens, or rising into heights which command extensive views.

The manor, with the forest, belonged to the sive views. The manor, with the forest, belonged to the honour of Pevensey; was given, among other lands, in lieu of Richmond castle, to John of Gaunt, and took then the name of Lancaster Great Park; passed, at the Restoration, to the Earl of Bristol; and is now divided among various proprietors.

ASHDOWN PARK, the seat of the Earl of Craven, in Berks; on a high desolate spot, among bleak downs, na Ridge-way or Icknield-street, 3 miles SSW of White Horse vale, and 3! NW of Lambourn. The house was built by Webb, the nephew of injur Jones; is in the same style as Coleshill; and contains interesting family portraits. Stones called the Grey Wethers, looking like a flock of sheep, remains of a stratum of Bagshot sand, similar in nature to the stones of Stonehenge and Avebury, lie on the turf around the house; and a small cirbury, lie on the turt around the house; and a smail en-cular camp, known a Alfred's Castle, lies to the E. Some neighbouring spot on the downs contests with Aston, Ashendon, Aslampstead, and Hsley, the celebrity of having been the scene of the famous battle, in 871, between Alfred and the Danes, and is now thought by most antiquaries to have the best of the claim; so that, most probably, Ashdown was the Æscendune of the Savans

ASHE, a tything in Stourpaine parish, Dorset; on the river Stour, 31 miles NNW of Blandford. Pop., 64. ASHE, or Asn, a tything in Netherbury parish, Dorset; mile SW of Beaminster. It is a curacy annexed to Netherbury.

ASHE, or Asu, a hamlet in Musbury parish, Devon; 2½ miles SW of Axminster. An old mansion here, now a farm-house, was the birthplace, in 1650, of John Churchill, the famous Duke of Marlborough.

ASHE, or Asu, a parish in Whitchurch district, Hants; near the Southwestern railway, in the vicinity of Overton station, 5 miles ENE of Whitchurch. Postof Overton station, 5 miles EAR of manchands. town, Overton under Micheldever station. Acres, 2,107. Paul property, £1,759. Pop., 145. Houses, 25. Part town, overton under Micheldever station. Acres, 2,107. Real property, £1,759. Pop., 145. Houses, 25. Part of the surface is warren. Ashe Park and Oakley Hall are chief residences. The parish is a resort of sportsmen. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Winchester. Value, £410. Patron, W. H. Beach, Esq. ASHEBY. See ASNY.

ASHELDHAM, a parish in Maldon district, Essex; near the coast, 10 miles ESE of Maldon r. station. Posttown, Tillingham under Maldon. Acres, 2,398; of which 700 are water. Real property, £1,950. Pop., 212. Houses, 38. The surface is low, and partly marshy. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Ro-chester. Value, £339.* Patron, the Bishop of Rochester.

chester, Value, £339. Patron, the bishop of Rochester, ASHELWONDITH, or ASHLEWONTH, a parish in the district and country of Gloucester; at a ferry on the river Severn, 5 miles N of Gloucester, restation. It has a post-office under Gloucester. Acres, 1,710. Real property, £3,710. Pop., 517. Honess, 136. The property is subdivided. Ashelworth House is an old seat. perty, £3,719. rop., 517. Houses, 130. The property is subdivided. Ashelworth House is an old seat of the Haywards. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Gloncester and Bristol. Value, £280. Patron, the Eishop of Gloncester and Bristol. The clurch is early English, and has a tower and spire. There are a national school, a police station, and some charities ASHEN, a parish in the district of F sebool, a police station, and some charities.

ASHEN, a panish in the district of Risbridge and county of Essex; on the verge of the county, at the river Stour, 21 miles SW of Clare, and 31 NNW of Yeldham r. station. Post-town, Lumpstead-Steeple under Halstead Acres, 1,498. Real property, £2,528. Pop. 344. House, 71. The property is subdivided. An Augustinian priory was founded here in the time of Edward II. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £300.* Patron, the Duchy of Lancaster. The church was renaired in 1850.

r. The church was repaired in 1859. ASHENDON, a parish and a hundred in Bucks. The parish is in Aylesbury district, near the Julian way, 7½ miles W of Aylesbury r. station; and includes the ham-Acres, 1,790. Real property, £3,498. Pop., 325. Houses, 64. The property is divided among a few. The manor of Ashendon has been held for centuries by the Grenvilles. The manor of Little Pollicot was given about the year 1179 by John Bucktot, a priest, to one of the colleges of Oxford. Ashendon figures repeatedly in the wars of the heptarchy, and claims against Ashdown to have been the scene of Alfred's victory in 871. Dorton in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £106. Patron, Chris: Church College, Oxford. Value, £106. Patron, Chris: Church College, Oxford. The church conturns the tomb of a crusader, and is good.—The hundred is bounded on the SW and the W by Oxfordshire; and contains twenty-seven parishes and parts of four others. Acres, &3,638. Pop. in 1551, 13,389; in 1861, 13,389. Houses, 2,656. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Porton, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £106. Pa-

ASHERIDGE, a hamlet in Chesham parish, Amersham district, Bucks; 2 miles NW of Chesham. Pop.,

ASHERIDGE, Berkhampstead district.

ASHEY, an extensive ancient manor in the Isle of Wight; extending from the coast around Ryde southward to the hills which overhang the Main river. It Isolonged to the abbess of Wherwell, near Andover; was demised, in 1533, to Giles Worsley; and the northern art of it, on which Ryde stands, was sold to Anthony Dillington, and passed afterwards to the family of Player. Ashey Common, 2 miles S of Ryde, is now enclosed. Ashey Farm, a little further S, was the site of a cell of the mannery of Wherwell. Ashey Down, still further S, rises 424 feet above the level of the sea, and commands a splen lid view from Southampton to Chiehester. Ashey-Saranak, on the summit of the down, is a triangular gyramid, erected in 1735 by the Trinity Board; and guides the navigation into St. Helen's Road at Spithead. The Hyde water-works, constructed in 1855, are at the foot of the down.

ASHFIELD, or ASHFIELD-WITH-THORPE, a parish in ASTITULIT, or ASHPILID-WHIT-HORIEF, A parish in Bosmere district, Suffolk; 2 miles ESE of Debenham, and 9 NE of Needham r. station. Post-town, Deben-ham under Stonlam, Acres, 1,565. Real property, £2,574. Pop., 306. Houses, 67. The living is a vic-arage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £53. Patron, Lord Hamiker. The church is a brick structure of 1853.

ASHFIELD (GREAT), a parish in Stow district, Suffelk; 2½ miles N of Elmswell r. station, and 7½ NW of Stowmarket. It has a post-office of the name of Ashfield, under Bury St. Edmunds. Acres, 1,546. Real property, £2,769. Pop., 403. Houses, 78. Ashfield

Lodge is now the seat of Sir Henry C. Blake, Bart., and was the birthplace of Lord Chancellor Thurlow, and of his brother, the Bishop of Durham. The living is a vierage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £54. Patron, Lord Thurlow. The church is a small brick edifice, with Charities, £104. a tower

ASHFIELD-WITH-RUTHALL, a township in Ditton-Priors parish, Salop; 7½ miles SSW of Much-Wenck. Pop., 55. ASHFIELD-WITH-THORPE. See Asufield.

ASHFORD, a village, a township, and a chapelry in Eakewell parish, Derby. The village stands on the Bakewell parish, Derby. The village stands on the river Wye, adjacent to the Buxton railway, in a charming situation, surrounded by high hills near Monsal dale, I mile WNW of Hassop r. station, and 2 NW of Bake well. It has a post-office under Bakewell; and it earries on stocking-making, spinning, and a trade in marble. Mills for the eutting and polishing of marthe were event ed in its vicinity in 1748, and are the oldest establishments of their kind in England. Marbles of many tints, but shiffly black and great was found adjacent. Accept 10 but chiefly black and grey, are found adjacent, about 40 feet beneath the surface, in nine beds from 3 to 9 inches thick; and are mannfactured at the mills into a great variety of ornamental articles. Ashford Hall, in the neighbourhood, is the seat of the Cavendish family; and the manor belongs to the Duke of Devonshire. A spot near the church was the site of the mansion of Edward Plantagenet, of Woodstock, Earl of Kent, now traceable Flantagenet, of Woodstock, Larl of Kent, now traceable only by the moat.—The township and the chapelty are co-extensive. Real property, £5,195. Pop., $29. Houses, 172. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £102.* Patron, the Vicar of Bakewell. The church is ancient. There are chapels for Methodists and Unitarians, free schools for boys and girls, and charities £20.

ASHFORD, a parish in Barnstaple district, Devon; on the north side of the estuary of the Taw, 21 miles NW of Barnstaple r. station. Post-town. Barnstaple. Acres, 359. Real property, £706. Pop., 157. Houses, 31. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £110. Patrou, the Lord Chancellor. The church was built in 1554, and is a neat small edifice, with low square tower and a ASHFORD, a village and a parish in Staines district, Middlesex. The village stands amid a richly-cultivated tract, near the London, Richmond, and Reading railway, 2 miles to of Staines; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Staines. The parish includes the western part of Old Hounslow Heath, once the retreat of highwaymen, and the terror of travellers. Acres, 1,378.

Real property. £3,586. Pop., 781. Houses, 130 Real property, £3,586. Pop., 781. Houses, 130 Ashford Common was formerly a field for milit ry reviews, but has now been long enclosed and cultivated. Ashford Lodge, Manor House, and Clock House are handsome seats. The living is a vicarage in the dio handsone seats. The living is a vicarage in the dio cese of London. Value, £136. Patron, the Lord Chan cellor. The church was rebuilt in 1859. A Welsh chanty school, an edifice in the Tudor style, for 200 children. was founded in 1857.

ASHFORD, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and two districts, East and West, in Kent. The town stands on the Esshe or Esshet river, the western branch of the Stour, and on the Southeastern railway, at the intersection of the line from Reigate to Folkestone with the line from Hastings to Ramsgate, 67 miles SE by E of London. It was anciently called Esslietford, from its situation on the river; and it belonged to Hugo de Montfort, and passed to successively the Asshetfords, the Criols, the Leybornes, the Auchers, the Smyths, and the Footes. The original town is situated on an eminence, Footes. The original town is situated on an emmence, on the N bank of the river; and has a High-street, of considerable width, about ha mile long. A new town, called Alfred or Newtown-Ashford, was built by the railcalled Affred or Newtown-Ashford, was ourn by the ran-way company, adjacent to the station; and includes ex-tensive workshops, constructed at a cost of upwards of £100,006, and about 200 dwellings and a school, used as a church. The parish church, in the old town, is a spacious structure, in fine perpendicular English, built or restored by Sir John Pogge in the time of Edward IV.; comprises nave, transept, and three chancels, with a lofty tower, resembling the Bell Harry tower of Canterbury cathedral; and contains a figured font, the tomb of Sir John Fogge, a brass of the Countess of Athole of 1375, and some fine monuments of the Smyths of Westenhanger, one of whom was the Sacharissa of Waller. An ecclesiastical college was founded by Sir John Fogge as a pendant to the church; but was dissolved in the time of Henry VII. A new church, in the second pointed style, was built in the new town in 1867. Charities exist to the amount of £309; and include two public schools. There are chapels for five dissenting bolies and Roman Catholies; a police station, built in 1864; a mechanics' institution; assembly rooms, and reading-room; a four-arched bridge, a market-house, a corn-exclange erected in 1861, a head post-office, ‡ in High-street, and a receiving-office, ‡ 1½ mild distant, in the new town. There is also a next cemetery, with two chapels. A great stock market is held on the first and third Tuesdays of every month, and fairs, on 17 May, 9 Sept., and 12, 13, and 24 Oct. There are two banking-offices and two chief inns. Fine linen is manufactured; and a weekly newspaper is published. The town is one of the polling-places for the county; and is under the jurisdiction of the county magistrates. Pop., 5,522. Houses, 1,049. Wallis, the mathematician, Glover, the antiquary, and Milles, the herald, were natives. The "headstrong Kentish man" of Shakespeare also, is "John Cade of Ashford." The Osborne family, Dukes of Leeds, are said to have originated here; and the Keppels, Earls of Alberrals a test of the county and the party of the distant of the results are found to have originated here; and the Keppels, Earls of Alberrals a test of the county and the distant of the Revn.

Ashford. The Osborne family, Dukes of Leeds, are said to have originated here; and the Keppels, Earls of Albemarle, take from the place the title of Baron.

The parish of Ashford comprises 2,786 acres. Real property, £27,729. Pop., 6,950. Honses, 1,311. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £460.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Rockester.— The sub-district of Ashford includes six parishes. Acres, 19,366. Pop., 9,826. Houses, 1,884.—The district of 19,366. Pop., 9,826. Houses, 1,884.—The district of East Ashford comprehends the sub-district of Aldington, containing the parishes of Aldington, Warehorne, Orlestone, Ruckinge, Bilsington, Bonnington, and Hurst; the sub-district of Brabourne, containing the parishes of Brabourne, Mersham, Sevington, Willesborough, Hinx-hill, Smeeth, and Bircholt; and the sub-district of Wge, containing the parishes of Wge, Hastingleigh, Brook, Keunington, Crundale, Boughton Aluph, Eastwell, Challock, Moldash, Chilham, and Godmersham. Acres, 54,498. Poer-rates, £8,292. Pop. in 1841, 11,530; in 1861, 12,286. Houses, 2,444. Marriages, 80; births, 396,—of which 13 were illegitimate; deaths, 233,—of 396,—of which 13 were illegitimate; deaths, 233,—of which 64 were at ages under 5 years, and 10 at ages aboves. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 892; births, 4,141; deaths, 2,234. The places of worship in 1851 were 21 of the Church of England, with 3,911 sittings; 1 of Laptists, with 203 s.; 7 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 739 s.; and 1 of Bilbe Christians, with 100 s. The schools in 1851 were 17 public day schools, with 1,169 scholars; 14 private day schools, with 329 s.; and 19 Sunday schools, with 1,313 s. The workhouse is in Willesberough.—The district of West Ashford comprehends the snb-district of Ashford, containing the parishes of Ashford Hothfield, Bethersden, Great Chart, Kingsof Ashford, Hothfield, Bethersden, Great Chart, Kingsnorth, and Shadoxhurst; and the sub-district of Cale-hill, containing the parishes of Westwell, Smarden, Egerton, Little Chart, Charing, and Pluckley and Person, Cale and Chart, Charing, and Pluckley and Person. vingten. Acres, 41,901. Poor-rates, £7,348. Pop. in 1841, 11,329; in 1861, 15,137. Houses, 2,891. Marriages, 135; births, 533,—of which 36 were illegitimate; deaths, 315,—of which 116 were at ages under 5 years, and 13 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,085; births, 5,281; deaths, 2,820. The places of worship in 1851 were 13 of the Church of Engplaces of worship in 1851 were 13 of the Church of Lng-land, with 7,146 sittings; 1 of Lady Huntingdon's Con-nexion, with 370 s.; 5 of Baptists, with 1,395 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 150 s.; 6 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 966 s.; 1 of Bible Christians, with 115 s.; 1 undefined, with 30 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 30 attend-ants. The schools in 1851 were 14 public day schools, with 157 s.; 2 betto 18 public day schools with 375 s. with 1.552 scholars: 19 private day schools, with 375 s.; 21 Sunday schools, with 1,422 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 20 s. The workhouse is in Westwell.

ASHFORD-BOWDLER, a parish in Ludlow district,

ASHFORD-BOWDLER, a parish in Ludlow district, Salop; on the river Teme, adjacent to Wooferton r. station, 21 miles S of Ludlow. Post-town, Ludlow. Acres, 575. Real property, £1,144. Pop., 106. Houses, 18. The property is not much divided. Ashford-Bowdler Court and Ashford-Bowdler Hall are chief residences. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford, Value, £55. Patron, C. Walker, Esq. The church is an old edifice, figuring picturesquely in a neat small village.

The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Hereford. Value, £55. Patron, C. Walker, Esq. The church is an old edifice, figuring picturesquely in a neat small village. ASHFOKDBY, or ASFOKDBY, a parish in McHondwobray district, Leicester; on the Midland railway and the river Wreak, 3 miles W of Melton-Mowbray. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Melton-Mowbray. Acres, 1,210. Real property, £3,902. Pop., 485. Houses, 125. The property is much subdivided. Stecking-making is carried on. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £455. Patron, the Rev. Frederick G. Bunnaby. The church was recently repaired, and has a tower and spire. There are chapels for Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists, and charities £8.

ASHFORD-CARBONELL, a parish in Ludlow district, Salop; on the river Teme, near Wooferton r. strion, 3 miles S by E of Ludlow. It has a post-office under Ludlow. Acres, 1,478. Real property, £2,657. Fop., 282. Houses, 59. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Little Hereford, in the diocese of Hereford. The church is good.

ASHFORD-HILL, a locality on the north border of Hants; 3 miles from Kingselere, with a post-office under Reading.

Reading.
ASHFURLONG, a village in Sutton-Coldfield parish, Warwick; 2 miles NE of Sutton-Coldfield.

ASHGILL, a hamlet in Coverham parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles SW of Middleham.

ASII-HOLE, a cavern at Berry Head, on the south side of Tor bay, Devon. The bones of hyaenas and of other animals, now known only in hot climates, have been found in it.

tound in it.

ASHILL, a parish in Swaffham district, Norfolk; near the river Stoke, 5 miles S of Dunham r. station, and 6 SE of Swaffham. It has a post-office under Thetford. Acres, 2,990. Real property, £5,260. Pep., 696. Houses, 151. The property is divided among a few. The manor was held by the Hastingses, on the tenure of serving the king's linen at the coronation. Part of the land is common; and some points command a fine view. The living is a rectory in the dioces of Norwich. Value, £850.* Patron, the Rev. B. Elwards. The church is later English, has a flint tower, and is good. Charitics, £36 and 30 acres of allotment.

Charties, £39 and 30 acres of altotment.

ASHILL, a village and a parish in Chard district, Somerset. The village stands near Chard canal, and near the Chard and Taunton railway, 4 miles NW of llminster, and 8 SSE of Taunton. It has a post-office under Ilminster, and fairs on Easter-Wednesday, and on 12 Sept. or the following Wednesday. The parish comprises 1,790 acres. Real property, £3,824. Pop.
445. Houses, 92. The property is much subdivided.
A spring which cbbs and flows is near the village. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells.
Value, £300.* Patron, the Bishop of Bath and Wells.
The church is ancient, and was recently restored.

ASHINGDON, a parish in Rochford district, Essex; part the river Crosch 23, wiles Vof Espekforl and ASHINGDON, a parish in Rochford district, Essex; near the river Cronch, 21 miles N of Rochford and 6 NNE of Leigh r. station. Post-town, Rochford, under Ingatestone. Acres. 1,165. Real property, £1,878. Pop., 99. Houses, 17. The property is divided among a few. Ashingdon-disputes with Ashdou heing the ancient Assandune, the scene of Canute's victory over Elmud Ironside in 1016. An ancient camp was formerly at Canewdon; a great group of barrows, supposed to be the graves of the Danes, is in the neighbouring parish of Woedham-Mortimer; and a clurch built by Canute, in commemoration of his victory, is said to have stood in the neighbouring village of Hockley. The living is a rectory in the discess of Rochester. Value, £254. Patron, the Rev. S. Nottidge. The church is ancient, and has a fine view.

ASHINGDON, N. W. Essex. See Ashdon.

ASHINGTON, a parish in Yeovil district, Somerset; on the river Yeo, and on the Durston and Yeovil railway, 31 miles N of Yeovil. Post-town, Ilchester under way, 31 miles a of 1 covil. Fost-town, lichester under Tannton. Acres, 554. Real property, with Draycott, £1,957. Pop., 57. Houses, 10. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of among a few. The Bath and Wells. Value, £162.* Patron, not reported.

The church is gool.

ASHINGTON, a parish in Thakeham district, Sussex;

4 miles NW of Steyning, and 5 ESE of Pulborough r. 4 miles A w of stephing and D 151 of Introductric station. It has a post-office under Hurstperpoint; contains the hamlet of Bunckton; and has fairs on 29 June and 21 July. Acres, 1,273. Real property, £1,509. Pop., 234. Houses, 52. The property is subdivided. The parish is noted for coursing. The living is a rectory united with the curacy of Bunckton, in the diocess of Chichester. Value, £288.* Patron, the Duke of Nor-The church is good. folk.

ASHINGTON AND SHEEPWASH, a township in Bothal parish, Northumberland; on the river Wansbeck, 31 miles E of Morpeth. Acres, 688. Pop., 76.

Houses, 13. ASHLEWORTH. See ASHELWORTH.

ASHLEY, a township in Bowdon parish, Cheshire; on the Knutsford and Altrineham railway, near the river on the knutstord and Altrincham railway, near the river Bollin, 24 miles S of Altrincham. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Manchester. Acres, 2,173. Real property, £3,900. Pop., 375. Houses, 59. Ashley Hall was a place of councils against the cause of the rebellion in 1715. A school church was built in Ashley Hair was a post-the rebellion in 1715. A school church was built in 1864; and a Wesleyan chapel in 1839.

ASHLEY, a tribing in Milton parish, Hants; near the Channel. 4½ miles WSW of Lymington. Real pro-perty, 23,475. Pop., 552.
ASHLEY, a hamlet in Box parish, Wilte; adjacent to the Great Western railway, 4½ miles WSW of Corsham ASHLEY, a parish in Stockbridge district, Hants; 2 miles E of the Andover railway, and 7 W of Winchester, Post-town, Stockbridge under Winchester. Acres, 1,857. Real property, £1,811. Pop., 104. Houses, 24. The Real property, £1,811. Pop., 104. Houses, 24. The property is subdivided. There are vestiges of Roman cumps, and a Danish entrenchment. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £329. Patron, the Rev. James Hannay. The church is Norman, has a very small chancel arch, and was restored in ASHLEY, a parish in the district of Market-Harberough and county of Northampton; on the verge of the county, at the river Welland, in the vicinity of Medbourne-Bridge r. station, 5 miles ENE of Market-Har-Post-town, Market-Harborough under Rugby. Acres, 1,130. Real property, £2,620. Pop., 348. Honses, S2. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, 229.9. * Burton, the Rev. R. T. Pultency. The church is good; and there are a Eaptist chapel, and charities £24.

is good; and there are a Eaptist chapel, and charities £24. ASHLEY, a parish in the district of Market-Drayton, and county of Station!; 4 miles SW of Whitmere r. station, and 5 ENE of Market-Drayton it contains the village of Ashley-Heath, and part of the hamlet of Hook-Gate; and has a post-office under Market-Drayton. Acres, 2,850. Real property, £5,303. Pop., 870. Houses, 195. The property is much subdivided. There is a Roman camp on a site 803 feet high. The living is a readry in the diocess of Lichfield. Value, £316.* Patron, Mrs. Kinnersley, two turns, and H. C. Meynall Ingram, Esp., one turn. The church is very good has a font given by a sobiler of the Elack Prince, and has a font given by a soldier of the Black Prince, and was enlarged by a chapel which contains handsome monuments of the Kinnersleys. There are chapels for Independents and Roman Catholics, and charities £22.

ASHLEY, a parish in the district of Tethury and county of Wilts; near Akeaan-street, 3 miles NE of Tethury, and 14 SSW of Tethury Road r. station. Posttown, Terbury. Acres, 945. Real property, with Newnton, £1,581. Pop., 90. Houses, 17. The property is all in one estate; belonged formerly to the Georges and the Hungerfords, and belongs now to the Estcorts. There is a large mansion, and there was formerly a market. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £220. * Patron, the Duchy of Lancaster. The church is ancient, with some arches round, others pointed, and a square embattled tower; contains others pointed, and a square emotitud town; contains a large rude font, and tomb of the Georges; and was repaired in 1858.

ASHLEY, Cloncester. See Clifton.

ASHLEY-COMBE, a summer residence of the Earl of Lovelace, 2 miles W of Porlock, Somerset. It stands on the coast, on a high narrow terrace, looking out on Porlock bay and Wales. A glen adjacent to it leads up to a grand amphitheatre, streaked by five brooks on the side of a moorland height.

ASHLEY-CUM-SILVERLEY, a parish in Newmarket district, Cambridge; on the verge of the county, at Ashley Gap. 4 miles ESE of Newmarket r. station. Ashley Gap, 4 miles ESE of Newmarket r. station.
It has a post-office, of the name of Ashley under Newmarket. Acres, 2,143. Real property, ±3,293. Pop.
509. Houses, 109. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory and a vicarage—Ashley rectory, Silverley vicarage—in the diocese of Eiv. Value, £150.* Patron, the Hon. W. R. J. North. The church was built in 1845.

ASHLEY (Great and Little), two villages on the W border of Wilts; near the river Avon, 13 and 23 miles NW of Bradford.

miles NW of Bradford.

ASHLEY-GREEN, ahamlet in Chesham parish, Bucks;
21 miles NNE of Chesham. Pop., 536.

ASHLEYHAY, a township in Wirksworth parish.
Derby; I mile SE of Wirksworth. Pop., 232. Houses, 49.

ASHLEY-HEATH. See ASHLEY, Stafford.
ASHLEY-HILL, a station on the Bristol and South Wales Union railway; 3 miles N of Bristol.

ASHLEY-LODGE, an extra-parochial tract in the New Forest, Hants; 3 miles ENE of Fordingbridge.

ASHLEY (Norru), a tything in Ringwood parish.
Hants; contiguous to Ringwood. Pop., 237.

ASHLEY-PARK, the seat of Sir Henry Fletcher,
Bart, on the N border of Surrey; on the Thames, 41 Bart, on the N border of Surrey; on the Thames, 45 miles E by S of Chertsey. The mansion is an edifice of red brick, with Tndor features; but has been much modernized; and contains a gallery 100 feet long.

inductinized; and contains a gathery flow tectrong. Some very large Scotch pines are in the park.

ASHLEY-WALK, a portion of the New Porest, Hants; partly extra-parochial, and partly in the parishes breamore and Ellingham. Acres, 5,245.

ASHLING (East and WEST), two tythings in Function parish. Suggest, near the South Congressions.

ington parish, Sussex; near the South Coast railway, 4 miles NW of Chichester. Pop., 310 and 455. West Ashling has a post-office under Chichester. ASH-MAGNA and ASH-PARVA. See ASH, Salop.

ASH-MAGNA and ASR-PARVA. See ASI, Salop, ASHMANIAUGH, a parish in Tunstead district, Norfolk; 9 miles NNE of Norwich r. station. Posttown, Coltishall under Norwich. Acres, 655. Real property, £1,172. Pop., 136. Houses, 32. The property divided between two. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £42. Patron, Sir J. H. Preston, Bart. The church is good. Charities, £12. ASHMANSWORTH, a parish in Kingselere district. Hants; 6½ miles NNW of Whitchurch r. station, and 83. SSW of Newhury. Post town, East Woodhay under Norwbury. Acres, 1,603. Real property, £1,403. Pon., 201. Houses, £4. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of East Woodhay, in the dioces of Winchesthe rectory of East Woodhay, in the diocese of Winchester. The church is early English.

ASHMORE, a parish in Shaftesbury district, Dorset; contiguous to Wilts, 5 miles SE of Shaftesbury, and 71 contiguous to Witts, 5 miles SE of Shaftesbury, and 13. Nof Blandford r. station. Post-town, Shaftesbury under Salisbury. Acres, 2,395. Real property, with Fartham, £3,420. Pop., 251. Houses, 61. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £410.* Patron, the ltv. C. Chisholm. The church is good; and there is a Western State of Salisbury. leyan chapel

ASHNESS, a locality on the E side of Derwent water,

8 miles S of Keswick, Camberland. It commands a good bird's-eye view of the lake. ASH-NEXT-RIDLEY.

See Asn, Kent.

ASH-NEXT-RIDLEY. See Ash, Kent.
ASH-NEXT-SANDWICH, a village and a perish in Eastry district, Kent. The village stands on a risingground, by the side of Wingham brook, a tributary of the Stour, 3 miles Wo Sandwich r. station; and has a post-office, to the name of Ash, under Sandwich. The parish comprises 6,871 acres. Real property, £20,467.
Pop., 2,039. Houses, 438. Richborough Castle, the Roman Ratupia, is on the E border, about a mile N of Sandwich. See RICHDOROUGH. One of the earliest settemporate of the Savage was in the parish, and power relies tlements of the Saxons was in the parish; and many relics of the earliest Saxon times have been found. Hops are grown; and pale ale is extensively brewed. There are two livings, St. Nicholas and Trinity, and both are vicar-ages in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £293° and £50. Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. St. N. church is runtion, the Archivist Property of the property of the control of the control of the property of the control of Trinity stands at Westmarsh, 2 miles distant; and there is a neat Independent chapel. A school has £90 from endowment; and other charities have £47.

ASHOLME, a hamlet in Lambley parish, Northumberland; near the South Tyne, the Alston railway, and the Maiden way, 5 miles S of Haltwhistle.

ASHOLT. See AISHOLT.

ASHOP (THE), a stream of Derbyshire. It rises at Ashop-Head, on the N side of the Peak; and runs about 8 miles east-south-eastward to the Derwent at Ashton inn. ASHOENE, a hamlet in Newbold-Pacey parish, Warwick; on an affluent of the river Avon, 41 miles S by E of Warwick.

ASHOVER, a village, a township, a parish, and a subdistrict in Derby. The village stands in a deep narrow valley, near the rivers Amber and Milntown, 3 miles WNW of Stretton r. station, and 7 SSW of Chesterfield. It is a place of great antiquity; had a church at Domes-day; and was once a market-town. Fairs are still held at it on 25 April and 15 Oct.; and it has a post-office under Chesterfield. Lace-making is carried on. Tambour-working and stocking-weaving also were once probour-working and stocking-weaving also were once pro-minent; but the former has ceased, and the latter is de-clining.—The township includes the village, and is in the district of Chesterfield. Acres, 9,180. Real pro-perty, 29,732. Pop., 2,351. Houses, 542.—The parish includes also the chapelry of Dethwick-Lea, in the dis-trict of Belper. Acres, 11,290. Real property, 213,206. Pop., 3,286. Houses, 748. The property is much sub-divided. Limestone is quarried; and lead ore was formerly mined. Overton Hall was the seat of Sir Jo-sch Payle the president of the Event Section. Dath seph Banks, the president of the Royal Society. Dethwick was the seat of the Babingtons; one of whom was executed for treason against Quene Elizabeth. Lea Hurst, a fine Gethic mansion, is the seat of the Nightingales. Robin Hood's Mark, a rocking-stone about 26 teet in circuit, is on a slope of Ashover Common; and the Turning-stone, a remarkably shaped block 9 feet high, supposed to have been an object of Druidical veneration, is about 200 yards further off. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £540. Patron, the Patron, the Rev. J. Nodder. The church was built in 1419, and recently repaired; is surmounted by an embattled tower, and a haudsome spire; has a grand window of taket, and a haddsome spre; has a grand window of the Babingtons and two brasses. An endowed school, at High Ashover, has £23, and other charities £12. The p. curacy of Dethwick-Lea is a separate benefice. There are Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist chapels.—The sub-district of Ashover is in Chesterfield district, and contains two parishes, and parts of three others. Acres, 21,234. Pop., 10,757. Houses, 2,106.
ASHOW, a parish in the district and county of War-

Northwestern railway, 24 miles ESE of Kenilworth. It has post-officet under Kenilworth. Acres, 1,012. Real property, £1,527. Pop., 149. Houses, 40. The property is not much dividel. The manor was given, in the time of Edward IV., to the abbey of Stoneleigh. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £295.* Patron, Lord Leigh. The church is ancient.

Charities, £45.
ASHPERTON, a parish in Ledbury district, Hereford; ASHPERTON, a parish in Ledbury district, Hereford, on the Worcester and Hereford milway, near the river Frome, 5 miles NW of Ledbury. It has a station on the railway; and its post-town is Ledbury. Acres, 1,741. Real property, 23,199. Pop., 534. Houses, 105. The property is divided among a few. The living is a partner of the courage anaexed to the vicarage of Stretton-Grandison, in the diocese of Hereford. The church is good. ASHPRINGTON, a parish in Totnes district, Dovon; at the influx of the Hareborne river to the Dart, 23 miles SSE of Technes r station. Post-tayn Totnes. Acres at the indux of the fraction restrict to the Date, 2, muse SSE of Totnes r. station. Post-town, Totnes. Acres, 2,790. Real property, with Cornworthy, £7,768. Pop. 537. Houses, 121. The property is not much divided. Sharpham House, the seat of the Durant family, is an elegant edifice, and commands an extensive view along teigant cannee, and commands an extensive view along the Dart. The living is a rectory in the dioces of Exeter. Value, £537.* Patron, the Rev. G. T. Carwithen. The church is a neat old edifice, of nave, chancel, and aisles, with square tower. A dilapidated old chapel stands at Painsford.

ASH-PRIORS, a parish in Taunton district, Somerset; ASH-PRIORS, a parisn in Taunton district, Somerset; near Bishops-Lydeard r. station, and 6 miles NW of Taunton. Post-town, Bishops-Lydeard under Taunton. Acres, 635. Real property, £1,057. Pop., 207. Houses, 45. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarige in the diocess of Bath and Wells. Value, £70. Patron, Sir T. B. Lethbridge, Bart. The church is good.

ASHREIGNEY, or Rino's-Ash, a parish in Torring-ton district, Devon; 4 miles WNW of Eggesford r. sta-tion, and 4 WSW of Chumleigh. Post-town, Chum-Houses, 169. The property is subdivided. The parish was a rendezvous of Fairfax in 1646, prior to his attack on Torrington. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £335.* Patron, the Rev. J. T. Johnson. The church is an ancient structure, of nave, chancel, and south aisle, with low square tower. Charities, £10.

ASHEIDGE PARK, the seat of Earl Brownlow, on the mutual border of Bucks and Herts; adjacent to the Northwestern railway, 3½ miles N of Berkhampstead. A monastery of the order of Bonhommes was founded hero in 1283, by Edmund Plantagenet, Earl of Cornwall: and in 1203, by Lammia Frantagenet, Lan of Commun; and put into high celebrity by means of an alleged portion of the blood of Christ, which he brought to it from Ger-many. Edward I. kept Christmas and held a parliament in the monastery in 1290. The Princess Elizabeth, afterwards Queen Elizabeth, received a grant of the place, and resided in it; and she was taken prisoner hence to London on the charge of being a party to Wyatt's conspiracy. The church was destroyed in Elizabeth's time; the great hall and the cloisters stood till 1800; and only the crypt of the monastery now remains. A new mansion was built in 1808-14, after designs by Wyatt; and "is a varied and irregular line of towers and battlements, arched doorways, mullioned windows, corbels, and machicolations, with a turreted centre, fine Gothic porch, and beautifully proportioned spire, surmounting the chapel;" and it contains fine statues, ancient brasses, chalet, and to contains me statues, uncert ousses, choice paintings, and other objects of interest. The property was given by Elizabeth to her Lord Keeper of the Great Seal, Baron Ellesmere; and passed through the Earls and Dukes of Bridgewater, to Earl Brownlow. The pretended blood of Christ in the ancient monastery was publicly exposed, in 1538, at Paul's Cross, by the Bishop of Rochester: and shown to be clarified and coloured honey. An old poet says

"The Benchemmes at Asheridge beside Parcanstede, Where the sange royal is, Christis thole so rede.
A pleasanter place than Asheridge is, harde were to finde,
As Skelton rehearseth with words few and playne,"

ASIITEAD, a parish in Epsom district, Surrey; on the Croydon and Leatherhead railway, 21 miles SW of Ep-

It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Epsom. Acres, 2.522. Real property, £3,519. Pop., 729. Houses, 124. The property is divided among 3 few. Ashtead House, the seat of the Howard family, is a splendid mansion, and contains some good pictures. The park has some venerable old oaks and elms, and a long avenue of limes; and is well stocked with deer. Ashtead Common, above the park, commands picturesque views; and contains, among wood, an ancient entrench-ment. The Roman Stone-street passed through the parish; and has left relics in the materials of the church. There is a mineral spring, similar to that of Epsom. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Winchester. Value, £499.* Patrons, the Heirs of the late Hon. Col. Howard. The church is an ancient structure, with a tower; and embodies Roman bricks and tiles in its walls; but has undergone numerous alterations. Sir Robert Howard used to entertain Charles II. in a mansion which occupied the site of the present Ashtead House. An almshouse for six poor widows has £32 from endowment, and other charities £16.

ASHTED, a chapelry in Aston parish, Warwick. It includes the north-eastern part of Birmingham; and has a post-officet of Ashted-Row, in the street of that name, 11 mile distant from the Birmingham head-office. in 1851, 11,198; in 1861, 13,392. Houses, 2,661. living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £143. Patrons, three Trustees. The church is a plain Dr. Ash; converted into a chapel in 1789; purchased for the Church of England in 1791; and now used as well for the troops at the horse barracks as for the parishioners.

ASHTON, a township and a chapetry in Tarvin parish, Cheshire. The township lies near Delamere forest, 31 miles SE of Dunham-Hill r. station, and 7 NE of Ches-It has a post-office under Chester. Acres, 1,303. leal property, £2,732. Pop., 411. Houses, 81.—The chapelry is called Ashton-Hayes, and was constituted in 1849. Pop., 626. Houses, 114. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £160. Patron, age in the diocese of Chester. Value, £160.* Patron, W. Atkinson, Esq. The church is in the later English style. There are two Methodist chapels.

style. There are two Methodist enapers.

ASHTON, a parish in St. Thomas' district, Devon; 'ASHTON, a parish in St. Thomas' district, Devon; adjoining the river Teigm, 4 miles N of Chudleigh, and 6½ WSW of Exminsterr. station. Post-town, Chudleigh under Newton-Abbot. Acres, 1,709. Real property, £1,935. Pop., 317. Houses, 66. Viscount Exmouth is lord of the manor, and owns most of the land. The Chudleighs were proprietors for several hundred years; and their mansion, some remains of which still exist, was garrisoned for King Charles I., and taken by the Parliamentarians. Manganese ore is mined. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £230. Patron, the Rev. George Ware. The church is a small Patron, the Rev. George Ware. The church is a small ancient editice, with square turreted tower. Charities, £6.
ASHTON, a township, conjoint with Eye and More-

ASH 1003, a townsup, conjoint with Lye and more ton, in Eye parish, Hereford; near the Leominster ca-nal, 4 miles NNE of Leominster. ASHTON, a tything in Bishops-Waltham parish, Hants; 1 mile NW of Bishops-Waltham. Pop., 310.

ASHTON, a parish in Potterspury district, Northampton; on the Northwestern railway and the Grand Junction canal, near Salcey forest and the Blisworth tunnel, 14 mile SSE of Reader, station, and 7 S of Northamp-14 mile SSF of Roade r. station, mar r. soc. soc. soc. ton. Post-fown, Roade under Northampton. Acres, 1,290. Real property, £1,787. Pop., 374. Houses, 84. The property is divided among a few. The inhabitants bevee meht of common in Salcey forest. The liying is have a right of common in Salecy forest. The livit a rectory in the dio of Peterborough. Value, £275. tron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good; and there are Baptist and Methodist chapels, and charities £20.

ASITON, a hamlet in Oundle purish. Northampton; near the Peterborough railway and the Nen river, I mile Real property, £1,934. Pop., 177. E of Oundle.

20

Houses, 39.

ASHTON, a hamlet in Ufford parish, Northampton; 25 miles W of Helpstone r. station, and 5 E by S of Stanford Acres, 980. Real property, £1,069. Pop., 115. Houses, 21. Ashton Wold is a resort of sportsmen.

See ASHTON-IN-MACKER-ASHTON, Lancashire. FIELD, ASHTON-ON-RIEBLE, ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE, and ASHTON-WITH-STODDAY.
ASHTON-BLANK. See Aston-Blank.

ASHTON (COLD), a parish in Chipping-Sodbury district, Gloucester; on the verge of the county, under tho tret, Gloucester; on the verge of the coontry, under the Cotswolds, 55 miles N of Bath r. station. It includes the village of Pensylvania; and its post-town is Marshfeld under Chippenham. Acres, 2,300. Real property, £4,284. Pop., 503. Houses, 99. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £492. Patron, the Rev. E. Sayres. The church has a stone pulpit, and is very good. Charities, £10. Bishop Latimer was for some time rector.

ASHTON-COURT, the seat of Sir John H. G. Smyth, Bart., in Long Ashton parish, Somerset; on the SE slope of Ashton-Down, 2 miles SW of Bristol. The mansion belonged originally to the Lyons family; is an mansion belonged originally to the Lyons family; is an old edifice, with a front 143 feet long by Inigo Jones; and contains a portrait-gallery 90 feet by 20.

ASHTON-GIFFORD, a township in Codford-St. Peter parish, Wilts; on the river Wiley, 2½ miles SE of Heytesbury. Pop., 141.

parish, viits; on the treshort, respectively.

ASHTON-GREEN, a hamlet in Prescot parish, Lancashire; 2‡ miles E of St. Helen's.

ASHTON IFALL, a seat in the township of Ashtonwith-Stodday, Lancashire; between the Preston and Lancaster railway and the estuary of the Lune, 23 miles S of Lancaster. It belonged to the Lawrences; passed. by marriage, to the Dukes of Hamilton; and is now the by harrings, to the butes of Hammton; and is now the residence of Le Gendre N. Starkie, Esq. The mansion is a large e-lifice, with square embattled towers. The park is finely wooded, and commands charming views over Morecambe bay,

ASHTON-HAYES. Sec ASHTON, Cheshire. ASHTON-HAYLES. See ASHTON, CHESHIFE. ASHTON-IN-MACKERFIELD, or ASHTON-LE-WILLOWS, a village col a township in Wigan district, and a parish partly also in Warrington district, Lancashire. The village stands 2½ miles NW of Newton, and 3 WNW of Golborne r. station; and has a post-office, t of the name of Ashton-in-Mackerfield, under Warrington. The township has long been noted for the manufacture of hinges, locks, files, and nails; and is maintained also by cottonfactories and coal-mines. Acres, 5,557. Real property, #23,364,—of which £13,065 are in mines. Pop. in 1851, 5,679; in 1861, 6,566. Houses, 1,176.—The parish includes also the township of Haydock, and comprises 7,919 acres. Real property, £42,630,—of which £20,893 are in mines. Pop. in 1851, 7,673; in 1861, 10,181. Houses, 1,777. There are two livings, or ecclesiastically two parishes, Holy Trinity and St. Thomas, the former a rectory, the latter a vicarage, in the diocess of Chester. Value of H. T., £550;* of St. T., £245.* Patron of H. T., the Earl of Derby; of St. T., the Rector. H. T., church is near the hamlets of Downhall-Green and North Ashton, where is a post-office under Wigan; and St. T. church is in the village of Ashton. There is also a vicarage of St. James, Haydock. There are likewise a handsome Independent chapel built in 1867, three other dissome independent enapel built in 1867, three other dis-senting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, an endowed school with £33, and charities £97. ASHTON-INN. See Asinor (Thir). ASHTON-KEYNES, a parish in Cricklade district, Wilts; on an affluent of the Thames, 24 miles NNE of Minety r, station, and 4 W of Cricklade. It includes Minety F. Station, and 4 W of Crickide. Includes the chapelry of Leigh; and has a post-office under Cricklade. Acres, 3,520. Real property, £3,086. Pop., 1,070. Houses, 242. The property is much subdivided. Ashton-Keynes House is a chief residence. The living Value, £325. Patron, J. Swinford, Esq. The church is good; and there are two dissenting chapels, and charities £119.

ASHTON-LE-WILLOWS. See ASHTON-IN-MACKER-

ASHTON (Long), a parish and a sub-district in Bedminster district, Somerset. The parish lies on the Bristol and Exeter railway, near Wans Dyke and Dunder Beacon, 3 miles SW of Bristol. It contains Bedminster workhouse, and Bower-Ashton, Kingcott, Providence, Yanley, and Rownham hamlets; and has a post-office under Bristol. Acres, 4,237. Real property, £10,535. Pop., 2,000. Houses, 297. The contre is a fertile wooded vale; partly disposed in market gardens and orchards. for sending vegetables and fruit to Bristol. rises into a range of bleak but picturesque hills, which command a grand view of the surrounding country. The S goes up to Barrow Common, which is sometimes deemed o gots up to barrow common, which is sometimes deemed extra-parochial, and has remains of Roman camps at Stokeleigh and Burwalls. The chief residence is Astr-TON COURT: which see. Many Roman coins have been The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath ls. Value, £450.* Patrons, Sir J. Smyth, Bart., and Wells. Value, £450.* Patrons, Sir J. Smyth, Bart., and W. G. Langton, Esq. The church dates from 1390; has a carved Gothic screen, dividing the chancel from the nave and aisles; contains figured stained windows and some handsome monuments; and is surmounted by a tower, with the arms of the Lyons family in stone.

There are an Independent chapel, an endowed school with £14, and other charities with £142. Collinson, the county historian, was viear.—The sub-district comprises seven parishes. Acres, 19,349. Pop., 5,864. Houses, 1,073.

ASHTON-ON-MERSEY, a township and a parish in Altrincham district, Cheshire. The township lies on the river Mersey, near the junction with it of the Bridgewater canal, 1½ mile NW of Sale r. station, and 5½ WSW of Manchester; it is not wholly within the parish of Ashton-on-Mersey, but extends into the parish of Bowden; and it has a post-office under Manchester. Acres, 1,611 Real property, £9,522. Pop., 1,476. Houses, 298.— Acres, 1,611.

Real property, £9,522. Pop., 1,476. Houses, 208.—
The parish includes also the township of Sale. Acres, 5,502. Real property, £28,506. Pop., 4,507. Houses, 895. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chester. Value, £608.* Patron, the Rev. C. B. Sowerby. The vicanage of Sale is a separate benefice. There are places of worship for Quakers, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists. Charities, £7.

ASHTON ON RIBBLE, a chapelry in Preston parish, Lancashire; on the river Ribble, adjacent to the Wyre and Preston railway, 2 miles W of Freston. It consists of the townships of Lea, Ashton, Ingol, and Cottann. Post-town, Preston. Acres, 3,522; of which 175 are water. Real property, £9,882. Pop., 911. Houses, 176. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Mauchester. Value, £106. The church was built in 1852. There are a Roman Catholic chapel and a free school. There are a Roman Catholic chapel and a free school.

ASHTON (STEEPLE), a village and a tything in Westbury district, and a parish in Westbury and Melksham districts, Wilts. The village stands 2½ miles S of the Kennet and Avon canal, and 3½ to the Great Western railway at Trowbridge. It takes its distinctive name from a tall steeple which was destroyed by lightning in 1670. It formerly was a market-town, and still has a fair on 19 Sept.; and it is a seat of petty sessions, and has a post-office under Trowbridge.—The tything comhas a post-office under Trowbridge.—The tything comprises 2,508 acres. Real property, 25,546. Pop., 776. Houses, 177.—The parish includes also the tythings of Great Hinton, West Ashton, and Littleton, and the chapelry of Semington. Acres, 6,789. Real property, £13,474. Pop., 1,767. Houses, 359. A considerable extent of the land was formerly common and recently enclosed. Rood-Ashton House, the seat of the Long family, is about a mile SW of the village. Very numerous fossils have been found; and an ancient pavement, thought to have been Roman, but of different character from other Roman pavements, has been dug up. The living is a vicarage, united with the curacy of Semington, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £852. Patron, the Master of Magdalene college, Value, £852. Patron, the Master of Maguarene Conversion of Cambridge. The church is large and later English, with a four-spired tower; and was built, toward the end of a four-spired tower; and was bind, owned the end of the 15th century, chiefly by Robert Leng, a clothier. The vicange of West Ashton is a separate charge.

ASHTON-UNDER-HILL, a perish in the district of Evesham, and county of Gloncester; on the Ashchurch and Evesham railway, with a r. station, 5 miles SW of Evesham. Post-town, Ecckford, under Tewkesbury. Acres, 1,300. Real property, £2,475. Pop., 411. Houses, 93. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Beckford, in the diocese of Gloucester and Eristol.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE, a town, a parish, and a district, on the SE border of Lancashire. The town stands on the river Tame, at a convergence of canals and railways, 6½ miles E by N of Manchester. Its site is a rising-ground, from 30 to 40 feet high, on the N bank of the river; its environs are a low flat tract, reclaimed from the condition of a marsh, overlying rich strata of coal and sandstone, and studded with factories, villages, and mining-shafts; and many parts of both site and environs, previous to the introduction of the cotton trade in 1769, were bare, wet, and almost worthless. The Assheton family, now represented by the Earl of Stamford, were lords of the mauor; shared their name with it; and maintained their power over it by means of dungeon and gallows; and a commemoration of their rule is kept up, garlows; and a commemoration of their rine is kept up, on Easter Monday, by what is called "riding the black lad," the parading of a figure in black armour through the streets. The distinctive name "Under-Lyne" probably refers to the vicinity of the remarkable line of hills called the "Back Bone of England."

The town comprises about 16 miles of street; is well supplied with water; and has undergone great and eostly improvements. Some of the oldest houses are at Boston and Charleston, which were built during the American war. The old streets are narrow and dingy; while the more modern ones are wide and regular, and contain many good houses. The town-hall was built in 1840, at a cost of more than £7,500; is in the Corinthian style; and contains police offices, rooms for petty sessions and county courts, and a public hall 83 feet by 40. St. Michael's church is a spacious structure in later English, built in the reign of Henry V., thoroughly restored in 1844, surmounted by a tower of more recent date, with a fine peal of bells; and contains tombs of the Asshetons. St. Peter's church, at the west end of the town, is a beautiful edifice, with pinnacled square tower; and was built in 1821, at a cost of £12.689. Christ church, in Oldham road, is a cruciform building of One Independent chapel was built in 1834, at a 1847. One Independent chapel was built in 1831, at a cost of £3,200; another in 1852, at a cost of £3,500. One of two Weslevan chapels was built in 1851, at a cost of £3,300. One of three New Councxion Methodist chapels was enlarged in 1832. Two liquist chapels, a Primitive Methodist, an Independent Methodist, a Swedenborgian, and two Roman Catholic are neat edifices. The Jewish synagogue was built in 1825, at a cost of £9,500; but is now vacant. The mechanics' institute was built about 1840, at a cost of more than £4,000. A suite of school-houses was built in 1863, at a cost of £3,500. There are six national schools, and three British. The workhouse was built in 1850, at a cost of £12,000; the infirmary in 1855, at a cost of £9,500.

Ashton has upwards of 90 cotton factories; carries on the cotton trade in all its branches; does business in bleaching, dyeing, calico-printing, hat-making, and silkweaving; and derives importance from upwards of 70 factories and 80 coal-pits throughout its neighbourhood. Railway communication goes from it E, W, N, and S, to all principal towns; and 3 canals lead respectively to Huddersheld and the German ocean, to the Peak-forest of Derbyshire, and to Manchester, Stockport, and Oldhain. The town has a telegraph station, a head post-office, three banking-offices, and five chief inus; and multisher two weekly newspapers. Markets are held on Wednesday and Saturday; and fairs, on 23 March, 29 April, 25 July, 5 Aug., 21 Nov., and 3 Dec. The pri-vileges of a borough were enjoyed anciently, but went into disuse, and were lost. The act of 1832 gave the right to send a member to parliament; and a charter of 1847 created a municipal governing body, consisting of a mayor, eight addermon, and twenty-four councillors. The paliamentary borough is conterminate with the parochial division called Ashton-Town. Pop. in 1841, 22,678; in 1861, 33,917. Houses, 6,460. The municipal berough includes also part of the parochial division called Audenshaw. Pop. in 1851, 30,676; in 1861, 34,886. Houses, 6,647. Electors in 1868, 967. Direct taxes, £14,793. Real property, £113,703. Police force, 21. Cost of rolice establishment, £1,426. Known depredators, 70 Prisoners are committed to the county gaol at Lancaster, or the house of correction at Salford.

The parish consists of the four divisions of Ashton-Audenshaw, Knott-Lanes, and Hartshead: and includes the hamlets of Lees, Crosshank, Alt, Altedge, Althill, Taunton, Knott-Lanes, Wood-Park, Hazlehurst, Althill, Taunton, Knott-Laues, Wood-Park, Hazienurs, Heyrod, Smallshaw, and Hartshead, the villages of Hooleyhill, Walkmill, Audenshaw, Littlemoss, Woodhouses, North-Street, Hurst, Hurstbrooks, Mossley, and Mossley-Brow, and part of the town of Stalybridge, Acres, 9,300. Real property, £23,117. Pop. in 1841, 46,304; in 1861, 66, 501. Houses, 12,962. The Earl of Stamford has about 2,030 tenants within the manor; and draws from it an income of upwards of £30,000. Ashthat should be a mixed building, long the residence of the Assheton family, is occupied by his head-steward. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Manchester. Value, 2900. Patron, the Earl of Stamford. St. Peter's is a separate p. curacy, Christ church a separate vicarage, each with an income of £300; the former in the patronage of the Rector, the latter in the patronage of alternately the Crown and the Bishop. Audenshaw, Bardsley, Hurst, Leesfield, Lees, Mossley, Staleybridge Old and New, and Hurstbrook, also are separate charges.

The district of Ashton-under-Lyne comprehends the sub-district of Ashton-Town, identical with the parochial division of Ashton-Town; the sub-district of Audenshaw, containing the parochial division of Audenshaw and the Manchester township of Droylsden; the sub-district of Knott-Lanes, identical with the parochial division of Knott-Lanes; the sub-district of Hartshead, identical with the parochial division of Hartshead; the sub-district of Denton, containing the Manchester townships of Denton and Haughton; the snb-district of Dukinfield, containing the Stockport township of Dukinfield, electorally in Cheshire; the sub-district of Newton, containing the Mottram townships of Newton and Godley, electorally in Cheshire; the sub-district of Mottram, containing the townships of Mottram, Hattersley, Hollingworth, and Tintwistle, electorally in Cheshire; and the sub-district of Stayley, containing the hamlet of Micklehurst, and the townships of Stayley and Matley, in Cheshire. Acres, 38,657. Poor-rates in 1866, £30,767. Pop. in 1841, 101,605; in 1861, 134,753. Houses, 26,500. Marriages in 1866, 1,320; biths, 4,631,—of which 282 were illegitimate; deaths, 3,398,—of which 1,438 were at ages under 5 years, and 28 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 11,114; births, 46,646; deaths, 33,852. The places of worship in 1851 were 25 of the Church of England, with 20,844 sittings; 11 of Independents, with 5,497 s.; 3 of Baptists, with 1,830 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 740 s.; 2 of Moravians, with 846 s.; 8 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,862 s.; 13 of New Connexion Methodists, with 5,617 s.; 10 of Primitive Methodists, with 2,875 s.; 3 of the Wesleyan Association, with 433 s.; 1 of the New Church, with 250 s.; 5 of Frethren, with 1,016 s.; 2 of Latter Pay Saints, with 970 s.; 2 of latter Pay Saints, with 970 s.; 2 of lounan Catholies, with 1,400 s.; and 3 undefined, with 1,396 s. The schools in 1851 were 38 public day schools, with 5,536 scholars; 108 private day schools, with 5,233 s.; 93 Sunday schools, with 24,636 s.; and 28 evening schools for adults, with 558 s.
ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE CANALS, two canals connecting Ashton-under-Lyne with the Hudderslield canal and Manchester, and sending off branches to Stockport They were formed in 1793-1805; they and Oldham. are respectively 61 and 8 miles long; and the one has a fall of 162; feet, with IS locks, -the other a fall of 83 feet, with 8 locks.

ASHTON-UPON-MERSEY. See Ashton-on-Mur-

ASHTON (WEST), a tything and a chapelry in Steeple-Ashton parish, Wilts. The tything lies near the Great Western railway, 21 miles SE of Trowbridge. Post-town, Trowbridge. Acres, 2,040. Pop., 314. Houses, 67. The chapelry is conterminate with the tylining; and is a p. curacy in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £200.* Patron, W. Long, Esq., of Rood-Ashton. The church is a neat modern edifice; and has a stone pulpit and a good organ.

ASHTON-WITH-STODDAY, a township in Laucaster parish, Lancashire; on the Preston canal, between the Lancaster and Preston railway, and the estuary of the Lune, 3 miles S of Lancaster. Acres, 1,439. Real property, £2,387. Pop., 184. Houses, 41. Sce Asit-TON HALL.

ASHTON-WOLD. See ASHTON, Ufford, Northampton

ton.

ASHURST, a parish in Tunbridge district, Kent; on the verge of the county, at the river Medway, 5 miles W of Tunbridge Wells r, station. Post-town, Laugton-Green under Tunbridge Wells. Acres, 591. Real property, £1,956. Pop., 247. Houses, 45. The property is divided among a few. Ashurst Park, the seat of G. Field, Esq., is in the east. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £207.* Patrou, Countess Delawarr. The church is tolerable.

ASSILIEEE a parish in Stayning district, Sussexy on ASHURST, a parish in Steyning district, Sussex; on the river Adnr, 31 miles N of Steyning, and 2 SSW of The river Addr., a finnes is to steyling, and 2 SSW of Partitidge-Gr. r. station. It has a post-office under Hurst-perpoint. Acres, 2,355. Real property, £2,701. Pop., 374. Houses, 58. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £268.* Patron, Magdalene College, Oxford. The church is small but acod. A fair is half on 16 Oct.

as small but good. A fair is held on 16 Oct.

ASHURST, a hamlet in East Grinstead parish, Sussex.

ASHURST-BEACON, a sea-mark on a hill, 4 miles WNW of Wigan, Lancashire. It guides the navigation up to Liverpool; and commands a magnificent view over the Irish sea, with the Isle of Man, and from the mountains of the Lake district to the mountains of Wales.

ASHWATER, a village and a parish in Holsworthy strict, Devon. The village stands 7 miles SSE of district, Devon. The village stands 7 miles SSE of Holsworthy, and 21 SSW of Bideford r. station. It has a post-office under Lannceston, and fairs on the first Tuesa post-office finder Lannesson, and fairs on the first first day in May, and on the Monday after 1 Aug. The parish includes also the hamlet of Quoditch. Acres, 8,587. Real property, £3,887. Pop., 803. Houses, 161. The property is subdivided. Good building-stone 101. The property is snowing that the control of the property is quarried. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £700. Patron, W. W. Mellmish, Esq. The church is an old structure, with lofty pinnacled tower; and contains several monuments and a very fine ancient font. There are two chapels of Bible Christians.

ASH-WEEK, a tything in Bishops-Lydeard parish, near Ash-Priors, Somerset,

ASHWELL, a village and a parish in Royston district, Herts. The village stands at the source of the river Rhee, an affluent of the Cam, 2 miles N of a station of its own name on the Hitchen and Cambridge railway, and 45 NNE of Baldock. It is thought to have been of Roman origin; it bore anciently the name of Escewell; and it was a seat of the Saxon kings, a borough, and a market-town. It now consists of several scattered streets: and has a post-office; under Baldock. The parish comprises 3,852 acres. Real property, £7,509. Pop., 1,507. Houses, 293. The manor was given, before the time of Edward the Confessor, to Westminster abbey; and passed, at the dissolution, to the see of London. The Roman at the dissolution, to the see of London. not the dissemble, to the sea of borons. The Armond, Icknield-street, passes § a mile S of the village; and the Roman camp of Arbary occurs there, covers an area of 12 acres, and has vielded Roman coins, and other Roman relies. A small dell adjacent to the village leads up to a steep rocky bank, from the foot of which a number of springs gush out to form the river Rhee. Buildber of springs gas out to form the free Ares. Ingestine ingestion is quarried. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Rochester. Value, 2513. * Patron, the Bishop of Rochester. The church is ancient and good; consists of nave, aisle, and chancel; has a tower at the W and, surmounted by a spire 175 feet high; and contains several old slabs, formerly inlaid with brasses. There are Independent, Baptist, Wesleyan, and Quaker chapels, an endowed school with £17 a-year, and other charities with £55. Cudworth was vicar till his death in 1688.

ASHWELL, a parish in Oakham district, Rutland; on the Midland railway and an affluent of the river Wreak, near the Melton-Mowbray canal, 31 miles N of Oakham. It has a station on the railway, and its post-town is Oakham. Acres, 1,799. Real property, £3,051. Pop., 206. Houses, 48. The manor was known, in the Saxon 206. Houses, 48. The manor was known, in the Saxon times, as Exwell; belonged to Earl Harold; and passed, in the time of Edward III., to the Touchets, and afterwards to others. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £401.* Patron, Viscount Downe. The church is a handsome edifice, with a tower; and con-

The church is a handsome connect, when a characteristic altar-tombs.

ASHWELL-THORPE, a parish in Depwade district, Norfolk; on an affluent of the river Yare, 3 miles SE of Post-town, Wymondham. wymonunam r. statuen. Post town, Wymondham. Acres, 970. Real property, £2,191. Pop., 409. Houses, 88. The manor belonged anciently to the family of Thorpe; passed to that of Bourchier; and was held, in the time of Henry VII., by Sir John Bourchier, the translator of Froissart, and ancestor of the present Lord Berners. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Wreningham, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, 2643.* Patron, Lord Berners. The church contains some old monuments. Charities, 1½ acre of fuel allotment.

ASHWICK, a parish in Shepton-Mallet district, Somerset; on the Fosse way, near Masbury camp, 33 miles NNE of Shepton-Mallet r. station. It includes part of If the of Suppon-state 1. Station. It includes part of the hamlet of Oakhill, which has a post-office under Bath. Acres, 1,525. Real property, £4,179. Pop., 778. Houses, 201. The property is divided among ten. Aslwick Grove is the seat of the Stracheys. Coal is worked. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Walle. Value £113. Patron the Vicar of £11. and Wells. Value, £113. Patron, the Vicar of Kil-mersdon. The church is good; and there are three dis-mersdon. The church is good; and there are three unsenting chapels, and charities £13.

ASHWICKEN, or ASHWYKEN, a parish in Freebridge-thym district, Norfolk; 1½ mile NW of East Winch restation, and 5½ E by S of King's Lynn. Post-town, East Winch under Lynn. Acres, 1,282. Real property, £1,143. Pop., 108. Houses, 23. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory, united with the restaryof Legiste in the diocese of Norwich. Value, the rectory of Leziate, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £520.* Patron, the Rev. J. Freeman. The church is ASHWOOD, a hamlet in King's Swinford parish, Stafford; near the river Stour, 4½ miles NNW of Stour-bridge. Remains of a Roman camp, called Wolverhampton churchyard, are on an adjacent heath.

ASHWORTH, a township-chapelry in Middleton parish, Lancashire; on an affluent of the river Roch, 3 miles NE by E of Bury r. station. Post-town, Rochdale, Acres, 1,022. Real property, £2,143. Pop., 233. Houses, 45. The property is all held by one proprietor. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £119. Patron, Lord Egerton. The church is good. ASHWYKEN. See ASHWICKEN.

ASKE, a township in Easby parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 25 miles N of Richmond. Acres, 1,670. Real property, 24,537. Pop., 140. Houses, 20. Aske Hall is the seat of the Earl of Zetland; belonged formerly to the Dareys; and commands a fine prospect up and down the Swale.

ASKERN, a village, a township, and a chapelry in Campsall parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands on a rocky eminence, bordering on a plain, adjacent to the Lancashire and Yorkshire railway, 61 miles N of Doucaster; and has a station on the railway, and a postoffice under Doncaster. It was, not long ago, a paltry hamlet; hut is now a pretty place, with hotels and lodging-houses, much frequented by invalids and others, seeking benefit from medicinal waters and salubrious air. A sulphureous spa is here, by the side of a small, plain sheet of water, called Askern Pool; and possesses celebrity for the cure of rheumatism and scorbutic diseases. The British prince Ambrosius is said to have defeated and killed the Saxon leader Hengist on the neighbouring plain. -The township comprises $00 acres. Pop., 379. Houses, $4. The chapelry is conterminate with the township; and is a vicarage in the diocese of York, with income of £64,* in the patronage of the Archbishop. There are a Weslevan chapel, and a national school.

ASKERSWELL, a parish in Bridport district, Dorset; on an afflicant of the river Brid, 5 miles E of Bridgort r. station. It has a post-office under Bridgort. Acres, 1,161. Real property, with Loders, Up-Loders, and Mattravers, £7,127. Pop., 223. Houses, 48. The surface is a pleasant valley surrounded by hills. The livers of the state of the ing is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £160.* Patron, Mrs. H. T. Bower. The church was built in 1858, but has a tower which belonged to a previous edifice. Charities, 26.

ASKERTON, a township in Lanercost parish, Cumberland; on an affluent of the river Irthing, 6 miles NNE of Brampton. Real property, £3,914. Pop., 380. Houses, 68. Berethen Castle here was built by the Dacres, who derived their name from the exploits of one of their ancestors at the siege of Acre under Richard Cour de Lion; and was, at one time, garrisoned for the Crown against the Scots.

ASKETT, a hamlet in Monks-Risborough parish,

ASKELLI, a hamlet in Monks-Misotrough parish, Bucks; I mile NYE of Princes-Risborough.

ASKEW. See Aiskew.
ASKHAM, a parish in East Retford district, Notts; 3 miles WNW of Tuxford r. station, and 44 SE of East Retford. It includes the hamlet of Rockley; and its post-town is Tuxford under Newark. Acres, 1,302. Real property. £2,337. Pop., 287. Houses, 69. The living post-town is Tuxiord under Newark. Aeres, 1,302. Real property, £2,337. Pop., 287. Houses, 69. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £243. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Yerk. Charities, £22. ASKHANI, a township and a parish in West Ward district. Westmoreland. The township lies pleasantly on the Lowther river, opposite Lowther Castell. 21 miles SW of Cliffort activities. SW of Clifton r. station, and 5 S of Penrith; and it has SW of Chitton r. station, and 5 of Penrith; and it has a post-office under Penrith. Real property, £1,822. Pop., 323. Houses, 67. The parish includes also the township of Helton. Aeres, 4,327. Real property, £3,469. Pop., 503. Houses, 105. Askham manor belongs to the Earl of Lousdale; and there is another manor. Askham Hall, on Askham manor, is a gloomy edifice of 1574, with embattled roof. Linestone is quarried. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £180.* Patron, the Earl of Lonsdale. The church is good; and there are charities £21.

ASKHAM-BRYAN, or East Askham, a parish in the district and county of York; 2 miles NNW of Copmanthorpe r. station, and 3½ SW of York. Post-town, York. Acres, 1,920. Real property, £4,124. Pop., 362. Houses, 68. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £120.* Patron, W. Morris, Esq. The church is old but good. A school has £10 from endowment, and other charities £24.

ASKHAM-RICHARD, or WEST ASKHAM, a parish in the district and county of York; contiguous to Askhamthe district and country of York; contignous to Askham-Bryan, 3 miles NW of Copmanthorper, station, and 45 SW of York. Post-town, York. Acres, 960. Real pro-perty, 21,649. Pop., 235. Houses, 52. The property is divided among a lew. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £200. Patron, John Wood, Esq. The church is good; and there are charities £17.

Esq. The church is good; and there are chartness Lit.

ASKRIGG, a small town, a township, a chapelry, a sub-district, and a district, N. R. Yorkshire. The town stands on the left side of the river Ure, 6 miles E of Hawes, and 10! W of Leyburn r. station; and has a postoffice under Bedale. It is a very ancient place; and was once much more prosperous than now. It resembles and the state of t mere village; but has a weekly market on Thursday, and fairs on 11 May, the first Thursday of June, 11 July, and 28 Oct. A moorish, upland country lies around it, and embosoms some striking scenery, with the fine waterfalls of Millgill, Whitfieldgill, and Hardraw forces.—The township includes also the hamlets of Newbigging, Naptownship includes also the names of rewolgging, Nappa, and Wraxhall. Acres, 4,741. Real property, 24,357. Pop., 653. Houses, 157. The property is much subdivided. Lead ore occurs, and has been worked, but not very productively. Roman remains exist at Newbigging, Nappa, and Woodhall.—The chapelry includes the township, but is more extensive. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £100. Patron, the Vicar of Aysgarth. The church is an ancient and interesting edifice, in good condition. There are Independent, Wesleyan, and Quakerchapels, an endowed school with £65 a-year, and six alms-houses for widows with £60.—The sub-district comprises nine townships. Acres, 44,206. Pop., 3,207. Houses, 704.—The district is con-terminate with Aysgarth parish, is not under the poor-law amendment act, and is divided into the sub-districts of tawamenument act, and is divided into the sun-districts of Askrigg, Aysgarth, Bainbridge, Carperby-cum-Thoresby, Burton-cum-Walden, Newbiggen, Thoralby, Bioplale, and Thornton-Rust,—the latter containing the townships of Hawes, High Abbotside, and Low Abbotsides and Low Abbotsid townships of Hawes, Figure Abbotshie, and Low Abbotshie, Acres, 77,808. Poor-tates in 1866, £2,429. Pop. in 1861, 5,649. Houses, 1,227. Marriages in 1866, $5; births, 174,—of which 9 were illegitimate; deaths, 35; OITURS, 174,—01 WHICH F WELF HIGGILIMAGE, ACCURAGE, 122,—of which 45 were at ages under 5 years, and 4 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 426; births, 1,879; deaths, 1,123. The places of worship in 1851 were 6 of the Church of England, with 2,474 sittings; 9 of Independents, with 460 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 7 at-Methodists, with 1372 s.; and 4 undefined, with 380 s. The schools were 9 public day schools, with 405 schools, 15 partial day schools, with 272 s.; and 20 Sunday schools, with 932 s. The workhouse is in Bainbridge township. were 9 public day schools, with 438 scholars; 19 private ASKWITH, a township in Weston parish, W. R. Yorkshire; near the river Wharfe, 3 miles NW of Otley. It includes the hamlets of Upper and Lower Snowden. Acres, 3,180. Real property, £3,329. Pop., 33S.

Houses, 76.

ASLACKBY, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Bourn, Lincoln. The parish lies 2 miles S of Folkingham, and 7 N by W of Bourn r. station; in-Folkingham, and A S by hour bound cludes the hamlets of Graby and Millthorpe; and has a few allotment. Post-town, Folkingham. Acres, 3,934. fen allotment. Post-town, Folkingham. Acres, 3,934. Real property, £5,944. Pop., 534. Houses, 100. A commandery of the Knights Templars was founded here, in the time of Richard I., by John le Mareschal; he-longed afterwards to the Knights Hospitallers; and passed, at the dissolution, to Edward, Lord Clinton. A farm-house, called the Temple, now stands on the site of its church; and includes remains of a square embattled tower. A castle also was founded here before 1002; and can still be traced in fosse and mounds. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £433.* Patron, E.F. Barstow, Esj. The church is a handsome edifice, with an embattled tower.—The subdistrict comprises ten parishes. Acres, 23,635. Pop., 4,730. Houses, 982.

ASLACOE (EAST and WEST), two wapentakes in the parts of Lindsey, Lincoln. They lie toward the NW of the county; include Blyborough parish and twenty other parishes; and are traversed by Ermine-street. Acres, 23,011 and 21,104. Pop. 5,925. Houses, I,211.

ASLACTON, a parish in Depwade district, Norfolk; on an allluent of the river Yare, 1½ mile W of Forneett r. station, and 6 ENE of New Buckenham. Post-town, r. station, and o E.M. of New Buckenham. Post-town, Fornect under Long Stratton, Acres, 1,194. Real property, £2,300. Pop., 356. Houses, 76. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged to the Le Neves; and was the native place of Sir William le Neve, the herald and antiquery in the time of Charles. 1. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £53. Patron, the Rev. T. G. Curtler. The church is good; and there are a Wesleyan chapel and IS acres of fuel allotment.

ASLACTON, or ASLOCKTON, a township in Whatton, Notts: on the river Smite, adjacent to the Nottingham and Grandham railway, 3½ miles E of Bingham. It has a station on the railway, and its post-town is Whatton under Nottlingham. Real property, 22, 103. Pop., 410. Houses, 96. Chief residences are Aslacton Abbey and Aslacton House. A chapel here was a peculiar of the collegiate church of Southwell, but is now a ruin. Archbishop Cranmer was a native.

ASPALL, a parish in Hartismere district, Suffolk: 13 ASPALL, a parish in Hartismere district, Suffolk; 1½ mile NNW of Debenham, and 11 miles NE of Needham r. station. Post-town, Debenham under Stoneham. Acres, 834. Real property, £1,397. Pop., 156. Houses, 27. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £149. Patron, Mrs. Chevallier. The church is good. ASPALL-STONEHAM. See STONEHAM-ASPALL. ASPARAGUS ISLAND. See KINANCE COVE. ASPATPUL as good town and a township in the discassing the second seco ASPATRIA, a small town and a township in the district of Wigton, and a parish in the districts of Wig-ton and Cockermouth, Cumberland. The town stands on the right side of the river Ellen, adjacent to the Carlisle and Maryport railway, 73 miles NE of Maryport. It has a station on the railway, a post-office; nnder Carlisle, and a weekly market on Thursday; and is a pollingplace. Its site is the side of a hill; and its appearance that of a long straggling village. Its name is a corruption of Aspatrick or Cospatrick; and was derived from one of the Cospatricks, Earls of Dunbar. - The township hears the name of Aspatria and Brayton. Acres, 4,611. Real property, £13,551,—of which £7,598 are in mines. Pop., 1,210. Houses, 254. The parish includes also Fop. 1,2210. Houses, 254. The parish includes also the townships of Hayton and Mealo, and Oughterside and Allerby. Acres, 9,0415; of which 435 are water. Real property, £25,368,—of which £12,570 are in mines. Pop. 2,305. Houses, 475. The property is much subdivided. The surface is hilly. Coal and red saudstone are worked. A human skeleton, 7 feet long, supposed to have been that of some great chief, buried about the 2d century, toogstar with a break leave and feet of the great and feet. together with a broad sword 5 feet long, and some fine ornaments of a warrior, was found, in 1790, beneath a barrow on Beacon hill, an eminence about 200 yards N barrow on Beacon hill, an eminence about 200 yards A of the town. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £249.* Patron, the Bishop of Carlisle. The church was rebuilt in 1848. Hayton was made separate charge in 1867, and is a rectory. There are an Independent chapel, and charities £10.

ASPEDEN, a parish in Royston district, Herts; on the river Rib, 8 miles SE of Baldock r. station. It includes not of the post-town of Buntineford. Acres.

cludes part of the post-town of Buntingford. Acres, 1,351. Real property, £3,539. Pop., 577. Houses, 114. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Cliffords, the Freemans, and the Jocelyns; and passed to Earl Hardwicke and the Bolderos. Aspeden Hall and its park are a prominent feature. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £35.7.* Patron, the Counters of Mexbrough. The church contains a curious monument to Sir Robert Clifford, master of the ordnance to Henry VIII., and other tombs and brasses; and is in good condition. An endowed school has £17 a-year, and other

charities £37

ASPERTON. See ASHBURTON.

ASPLEY, a township in Eccleshall parish, Stafford; near the Northwestern railway, 34 miles NNW of Eccleshall. Acres, 540. Pop., 30. Houses, 5.
ASPLEY-GUISE, a parish in Woburn district, Beds; 14 mile WNW of Ridgemount r, station, and 2 N of Woburn. It has a new office where Woburn. Woburn. It has a post-office under Woburn; and for-merly had a market. Acres, 1,996. Real property; £4,815. Pop., 1,497. Houses, 824. The property is sub-divided. The manor belonged anciently to the Guises. Aspley House and Aspley Guise House are chief residences. Aspley Heath and Aspley Wood give emer residences. Aspery wood give fine views. Fuller's earth occurs. The living is a rec-tory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £325. Parron, the Duke of Bedford. The church is elegant; and a new church and three dissenting chapels are at Woburn-Sands.

ASPS, a village in Bishops-Tachbrook parish, War-

ASPS, a village in fissions-Tachbrook parish, wat-wickshire; 13 mile SE of Warwick. Pop., 32. ASPUJL, a township and a sub-district in Wigan district, Laucashire. The township is in Wigan parish, 3 miles NE of Wigan; and has a post-office, of the name of Aspull-Moor, under Wigan. Acres, 1,879. Real property, E7,181; of which 219,863 are in mines. Pop., 4,290. Houses, 783. The inhabitants are employed chiefly in collieries and cotton mills. There are a schoolchurch, Independent, Wesleyan, and Roman Catholic chapels, and four public schools. - The sub-district comprises three townships. Pop., 8,372. Houses, 1,534.

ASTLEY.

ASSANDUNE. See Asinon and Ashingdon.

ASSELBY, a township in Howden parish, E. R. Yorkshire; near the Hull railway and the river Ouse, 2 miles W of Howden. Acres, 1,117. Real property, £2,331.

Pop., 276. Houses. 58.

ASSENDON, a liberty in Pirton parish, Oxford; 4 miles NW of Henley-on-Thames. It has a post-office under Henley. A land-spring here breaks out after a run of wet weather; and is so copious as to inundate neighbouring low tracts.

Bouring low fracts.

ASSERBY. See BILSBY.

ASSINGTON, a parish in Sudbury district, Suffolk; on an affilient of the river Stour, 34 miles NE of Bures r. station, and 5 SE of Sudbury. It has a post-office under Sudbury. Acres, 2,986. Real property, £5,020.

Pop., 747. Houses, 162. The manor belonged formerly the Corbets, and belongs now to J. Gurdon, Esq., whose seat is Assing on Hall. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £390.* Patron, J. Gurdon, Esq. The church was recently restored at a £3,000. There are a national school, and charities £7. The church was recently restored at a cost of ASTBURY, a village and a parish in Congleton district, Cheshire. The village stands on an affluent of the river Dane, adjacent to the North Staffordshire railway, near the Macclesfield canal, 1½ mile SW of Congleton; and has a post-office under Congleton, and fairs on 30 April and 30 Oct. The parish includes the townships of Davenport, Somerford-Booths, Hulme-Walfield, Radof Davenport, Somerford-Bootas, Hulme-Walleid, Rad-nor, Buglavton, Congleton, Newbold-Astbury, Moreton-cum-Alcumlow, Smallwood, and Odd-Rode. Acres, 19,602. Real property, £66,903. Pop. in 1841, 14,619; in 1861, 19,351. Houses, 4,009. There are six chief proprietors. Coal, limestone, and building-stone are worked. Very many of the inhabitants are employed in silk factories, and some in cotton mills. The living is a rectory, united with the curacy of Hulme-Walfield, in the diocese of Chester. Value, £2,040.* l'atron, Lord Crewe. The church is early English, with a good spire; and contains chancel stalls, a rood-loft, some fine screen-work, stained windows, and carved oaken ceilings. Two very ancient monuments, with insignia of knighthood, are in the churchyard. pelities of Buglawton, Congleton, Congleton-St. James', Congleton-St. Stephen's, Eaton, Mossley, Odd-Rode, and Smallwood, and the donative of Somerford, are separate charges. Charities, exclusive of Congleton, £63. See CONGLETON.

ASTERBY, a parish in Horncastle district, Lincoln; ASIERDI, a parish in Horncastic district, Lincolni, on the Wolds, near the river Bain, 6 uniles N by E of Horncastle r. station. Post town, Scamblesby under Horncastle. Acres, 620. Real property, £1,832. Pop., 304. Houses, 63. The property is not much divided. Asterby Hall is the seat of T. Sonthwell, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £210. Patron, W. H. Trafford, Esq. The church is ancient. There are a Baptist chapel, and charities £13.
ASTERLEY, a township in Pontesbury parish, Salop; near the river Rhea, 9 miles SW of Shrewsbury. Pop., 305.

ASTERLEY FARM AND HOUSE, an extra-parochial tract in Woodstock district, Oxford; contiguous to Kiddington parish, 44 miles NW of Woodstock. It was anciently a parish, and had a church at Chapelbroke; but was annexed to Kildington in 1466.

ASTERTON, a township in Norbury parish, Salop; ou Long Mynd hills, 41 miles SW of Church-Stretton.

Pop., 164.

ASTHALL, a village and a parish in Witney district, Oxford. The village stands on the Windrush river, and on Akeman-street, at the SW end of Wychwood forest, 23 miles ESE of Burford, and 5 S of Ascott r. station. It was known to the Saxons as Esthale, and belonged to Roger d'Ivri. The parish includes also the hamlet of Asthall-Leigh. Post-town, Burford, under Faringdon. Acres, 1,180. Real property, £2,386. Pop., 424. Houses, 89. The manor belonged to the Lumleys, the Joneses, and the Fettiplaces; and the manor-house is now a farm-house. A large barrow, believed to be the sepulchre of some person of note, is on Akeman-street. separate of some person of note, is on Archamarstreet. The living, is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £100. Patron, Eton College. The church is ancient; and a new one, at Asthall-Leigh, was recently built. There are two small free schools, and charities £25.

ASTHORPE, a hamlet in Willoughby parish, Lincoln: 43 miles SSE of Alford.

coln; 44 miles SSE of Alford.
ASTHORPE, Herts. See Marston (Long).
ASTLEY, a chapelry in the parish of St. Mary Shrewsbury, Salop; 24 miles ENE of Hadnall r. station, and 64 miles NE of Shrewsbury. Post-town, Shawbury under Shrewsbury. Acres, 1,168. Inted property, £1.670. Pon. 239. Houses, 54. The property is £1,670. Pop., 239. Houses, 54. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the Value, £56. Patrons, Trustees diocese of Lichfield.

The church is good.

The church is good.

ASTLEY, a parish in Nuneaton district, Warwick; on the Sow brook, 3\(\frac{3}{2}\) miles W by S of Chilvers-Coton r. station, and 4\(\frac{1}{2}\) SW by W of Nuneaton. It contains a place called Soley-End; and has a post-office under Nuneaton. Acres, 2,550. Real property, 23,820. Pop., 332. Houses, 70. The manor belonged to the family of Astley, one of whom fell on the field of Evesham fighting against Heury III., two taken prisoners on the field of Bannockburn, and one distinguished highly for military services in the time of Henry VIII.; it passed by marriage to the Greys of Ruthin, of whom were the Duke of Suffolk and his daughter, Lady Jane Grey, who suffered on the block for their claim to the crown; and it now belongs to C. N. Newdegate, Esq., of the neighbouring grand seat of Arbury Hall. Astley Castle, tho ancient residence of the Greys, rebuilt in the time of Queen Mary, was allowed to fall into neglect, and used as a farm-house; but is now a renovated and elegant residence; and contains some old armour, and a portrait residence; and contains some one amount and approximate of the last Duke of Suffolk. The old parts of it are picturesquely clothed with ivy; and a most around it has remains of massive masonry along the inner edge, and is overshadowed with fine trees. The living is a has remains of massive masonry along the times edge, and is overshadowed with fine trees. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Worcester. Value, £60. Parton, C. X. Newdegate, Es₁. The church is part of an edifice built, in the time of Edward III., by Sir Thomas de Astley, for a dean, two caons, or prehendises, and three vicars, and adorned with a tall spire, which served as a landmark in the broad surrounding woodlands, and was popularly called "the Lanthorn of Arden;" but even what remains of the structure has been much injured by neglect and maltreatment. There is a free school.

ASTLEY, a parish in Marttey district, Worcester; on the river Severn, 3 miles SW by S of Stourport r. station. Post-town, Stourport. Acres, 2,958. Real property, Post-town, Stourport. Acres, 2,958. Real property, £6,862. Pop., 864. Houses, 198. A Benedictine priory, subordinate to the abbey of St. Taurinus in France, was founded here, in the time of William the Conqueror, by Ralph de Todeni; suffered frequent seizure by the Crown during the wars with France; passed, in the time of Richard 11., to John Beauchamp, and in that of Edward IV. to the college of Westbury; and was given by Henry VII. to Sir Ralph Sadleir, the compiler of the state papers. A hermitage was cut out of the solid rock at Astley Cliff, near Redstone ferry; was a place of great resort for devotees in the Roman times; and is now an alchouse. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Wor-cester. Value, 2023.* Patrons, the Trustees of the Rev. D. J. J. Cooks. The church stands on an eminence; is Norman; and has a font and some monuments. Au endowed school has £20, and other charities £6.

ASTLEY, a hamlet in the parishes of Swillington and ippax, W. R. Yorkshire; 65 miles SE of Leeds. ASTLEY, or East Leigh, a township-chapelry in Leigh parish, Lancashire; near the Bridgewater canal and the Manchester and Liverpool railway, 81 miles W of Manchester. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Manchester. Acres, 2,628. Real propost-office under mancheset. Avies, 2,023. According perty, £11,967,—of which £5,000 are in mines. Popt., 2,109. Houses, 437. There are collicries and a large cotton mill. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £230.* Patron, the Vicar of Leigh. The church is modern, and has been thrice enlarged.

There are a Wesleyan chapel, a free grammar school, a national school, and some small charities.

ASTLEY-ABBOTS, a parish in Bridgnorth district, Salop; on the river Severn, and on the Severn Valley railway, 15 mile Sof Linley r. station, and 23 N of Bridgnorth. Post-town, Bridgnorth. Acres, 3,228. Real property, 24,716. Pop., 668. Houses, 137. The property is divided among a few. Astley-Abbots House is the seat of T. Whitmore, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, not reported. Patron, W. A. Warwick, Esq. The church is Saxon, in tolerable condition; and has some ancient monuments.

Charities, £t1.
ASTLEY-BRIDGE, a village and a chapelry in Bolton-le-Moors parish, Lancashire. The village is partly in the township of Sharples; stands near the Bolton and Blackburn railway, 3 miles N of Bolton; and has a postoffice: under Bolton. The chapelry was constituted in 1814. Kated property, 29,729. Fop., 3,210. Houses, 670. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £150. Patrons, the Crown and the Bishop alternately. The trons, the Crown and the Bishop alternately. The church was built in 1848. There are Baptist and Wes-leyan chapels, and national and British schools.

ASTON, a township in Hope parish, Derby; 2 miles ENE of Castleton. Acres, 714. Pop., 103. ASTON, a township in Aston-upon-Trent parish, Derovshire; on the Grand Trunk canal and the river Trent, 6 miles SE by S of Derby. The right of a market and fair was obtained in 1256; but has long been in disuse. Some of the inhabitants are employed in potteries. The place is a meet for the Dennington hounds

ASTON, a township in Hawarden parish, Flint; adjacent to Queen's Ferry r. station, near the river Dee, 15 mile N by W of Hawarden. Acres, 613. Real property, £3,918, -of which £2,600 are in railways. Pop., 333. Houses, 64. Most of the inhabitants are employed in an extensive iron foundry. The manor, with an ancient castle, was held by the Whitleys from the time of Edward III.; and now belongs to the Dundas family, whose seat is Aston Hall.

ASTON, a parish in the district and county of Hertford; on the river Beane, 3 miles SE of Stevenage, and 4 SE by S of Stevenager, station. Post-town, Stevenage. Acres, 2,052. Real property, £3,697. Pop., 639. Houses, 122. The manor belonged to the Saxon kings; was given, by the queen of Henry I., to Reading abbey; and passed, at the dissolution, to the Botelers of Walton. The manor-house, at Aston Place, is a building of older date than the time of Henry VIII. Six large barrows, supposed to be Danish, occur contiguous to the public road. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, 2380. Patron, the Rev. G. A. Oddie. ASTON, a township in Lydham parish, Montgomery, 7 miles W by S of Church-Stretton. Acres, 1,125.

Pop., 62. Houses, 10.
ASTON, a township in Wem parish, Salop; on the river Roden, 1 mile E of Wem. Pop., 212.

ASTON, a township in Mucklestone parish, Stafford;

3 miles W of Whitmore r. station, and 61 NE of Market-Drayton. t-Drayton. Aeres, 910. Pop., 237. Houses, 47. ASTON, a hamlet in Avening parish, Gloucester; 2 miles ESE of Minchinhampton.

ASTON, a township in Kingsland parish, Hereford; on the river Lug, 3} miles WNW of Leomiaster. Pop., 109. ASTON, a township in Claverley parish, Salop; 63 miles E of Bridgnorth. Pop., 126.

ASTON, a township in Hopesay parish, Salop; on the river Clun, 64 miles SE of Bishop's Castle. Pop., 292. It has a head post-office; of the name of Aston-on-Clun. ASTON, a township in Munslow parish, Salop, near the river Corve, under Wenlock Edge, 7½ miles N of

Pop., 163.

ASTON, a chapelry in Oswestry parish, Salop; on the Llanymynech canal, and the Shrewsbury and Oswestry railway, 31 miles SE of Oswestry. Post-town, Oswestry. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, not reported. Patron, Mrs. Lloyd of Aston Park. ASTON, a township in Wellington parish, Salop; near Watling-street, under the Wrekin, 2 miles SW of Wel-

Hington. Pop., 84.
ASTON, a chapelry in Stone parish, Stafford; on the river Trent, the Grand Trunk canal, and the Northwestern railway, 2 miles SE of Stone. It includes the hamlet of Little Aston; and has a post-office under Stafford. ford. Real property, with Burston, Stoke, and Little ford. Real property, with bittsoin, dock, and Internation Aston, £61,183. Pop., 625. Houses, 149. The manor belonged anciently to the Astons, and passed to the Hevinghams and the Simeons. The living is a p. currecy, united with the curacy of Eurston, in the diocess of Lichfield. Value, £166. Patron, the Hon. E. S. Jervis. The church is a neat edifice in the English style, with a tower. There is a Roman Catholic church.

ASTON, a handet in Ivinghoe parish, Bucks; I mile NE by N of Ivinghoe. Acres, 1,180. Real property, £1,607. Pop., 446. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

ASTON, a parish and a district in Warwick. The parish partly lies within Birmingham on the E, partly spreads adjacent. It is traversed by Ryknield-street, the river Tame, the Fazeley canal, and the Northwestern, the Tamworth, the Oxford, and the Bristol railways. It contains the sub-post-offices of Aston-street, Ashted-row, Aston-Park, and Deritend, each about 15 mile distant Aston-Park, and Derirend, each about 17 line dissipation Birmingham head office. It comprises the hanlets of Deritend, Bordesley, and Duddeston-cum-Nechells; the manor of Aston, and the hamlets of Witton, Exlington, Little Bromwich, Saltley and Washwood, Castle-Bromwich, and Water-Orton. The hanlets of Deritend Bromwich, and Water-Orton. The hanlets of Deritend and Bordesley foun one of the borough wards of Birmingham: the hamlet of Duddeston-cum-Nechells forms another ward; and the manor and the other hamlets are another ward; and the manor and the other handets are suburban or rural. Acres within the borough, 2,626; without the borough, 11,231. Real property of Aston manor, £53,185; of the suburban or rural handets, £43,452; of the entire parish, £270,514. P.p. in 1811, 45,718; in 1861, 94,995. Houses, 19,255. The manor belonged to the Saxon Earls of Mercia; was given, at the Conquest, to William Fitz-Ausculf; and passed to the Pagenels, the Erdingtons, and the Holts. The manor-house, Aston Hall, stands on a rising ground, at the end of a fine avenue, in the north-eastern outskirts of the town; is a noble edifice in the Tudor style, built in the time of James I. by Sir Thomas Holt; gave entertainment to Charles I. prior to the battle of Edge-Hill, and suffered a cannonade afterwards from the Parliamentarian forces; and was, for some years, the residence of the late James Watt, son of the famous engineer. Most of a beautiful park which surrounded it has been aligned for streets, and let on building-leases; and a tract of about 43 acres immediately around the hall was sold, in 1857, to a public company, for £35,000, with the view of being made free to the inhabitants of Birmingham. The hall itself was included in the sale, and designed to be used for a permanent exhibition of manufactures and works of art; and was inaugurated, in 1853, by Queen Victoria. The parish church stands 300 yards E of the hall; is an interesting edifice in varieties of English, from Edward 11, to Henry VII., with fine tower and spire; suffered great change and mutilation in 1790; and contains four altar tombs. some fine antique stone scats, a carved church-yard cross some line antique stone scats, a carved charch-yard cross of early English date, and beautiful windows of strined glass. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Wor-cester. Value, £1,600. Patrons, Trustees. The chapel-ries of Ward-end, Ashted, Castle-Bronwich, Bordesley, (two are here,) Aston-Brook, Deritend, Erdington, Duddeston, Nechells, Lozelis, Siltley, Water-Orton, St. Lawrence, and Sparkbrooke are separate charges. There me chapels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyans, and others; public schools, an alms house with £58 a-year, and other charities £334.

The district of Asson comprehends the sub-district of Deritend, containing the hamlets of Deritend and Bor-desley; the sub-district of Duddeston, conterminate with the hamlet of Duddeston-cum-Nechells; the sub-district of Erdington, containing the other parts of Aston parish; and the sub-district of Sutton-Coldfield, containing the parishes of Sutton-Coldfield, Curdworth, and Wishaw.

Poor-rates in 1866, £9,822. Pop. in 1841, 50,977; in 1861, 100,522. Houses, 20,415. Marriages in 1866, 951; births, 5,224,—0f which 185 were illegitimate; deaths, 2,493—of which 1,326 were at ages under 5 years, deaths, 2,403—of which 1,326 were at ages under 5 years, and 32 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1831-60, 7,635; births, 32,988; deaths, 17,585. The places of worship in 1851 were 17 of the Church of England, with 11,520 sittings; 7 of Independents, with 1,765 s.; 3 of Baptists, with 1,817 s.; 11 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 90 a.; 1 of Vesleyan Reformers, with 150 a.; 1 of the Catholic and Apostolic church, with 300 s.; 5 of Roman Catholics, with 1,070 a.; and 1 undefined, sittings not reported. The schools were 23 public day schools, with 3.00 acholars: 118 private day schools, with 2,533 not reported. The schools were 28 public day schools, with 3,300 scholars; 118 private day schools, with 2,553 s.; 31 Sunday schools, with 5,483 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 25 s. The workhouse is in Erdington.

ASTON, Oxford. See COATE and ASTON.

ASTON, Yorkshire. See ASTON-WITH-AUGHTON.
ASTON, N. Cheshire. See ASTON-BY-SUTTON.
ASTON, S. Cheshire. See ASTON-JUXTA-MONDRUM.

ASTON, or PIPE-ASTON, a parish in the district of Ludlow and county of Hereford; near the river Teme, 3½ miles WSW of Woofferton r. station, and 4 SW of Ludlow. Post-town, Ludlow. Acres, 920. Real pro-

Ludlow. Fost-town, Ludlow. Acres, 920. Real property, with Burrington and Downton, £3,750. Pop., 34. Houses, 9. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £34. Patron, A. R. B. Knight, Esq. ASTON-ABBOTS, a parish in Aylesbury district, Bucks; among the Chiltern hills, 5 miles E of the Buckinghamshire railway, and 5 NNE of Aylesbury r. station. Post-town Wissense and 5 labelian. Buckinghamshire railway, and 5 NNE of Aylesbury at station. Post-town, Wingrave under Aylesbury. Acres, 2,180. Real property, £4,342. Pop., 311. Houses, 69. The property is divided among a few. The parish is a meet of the Rothschild hounds. The living is a vicntage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £143.* Patron, Lord Overstone. The church is good; and there are two dissenting chapels and a national school.

ASTON-AIR. See ASTON-EYRE.

ASTON-BAMPTON. See BAMPTON, Oxford.

ASTON-BLANK, or ASHTON-BLANK, a parish in Northleach district, Gloucester; under the Cotswolds, near the Fosse-way and the Windrush river, 4 miles NNE of Northleach, and 8 SW by W of Addlestrop r. station. It has a post-office under Cheltenham. Acres.

And of Northeach, and 8 SW by W of Addlestrop r. station. It has a post-office under Cheltenham. Acres, 2,250. Real property, £2,331. Pop., 325. Houses, 68. The property is not much divided. The living is a vic-Value, arage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £186.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good; and there are charities £39.

good; and there are charites £39.

ASTON-BOTTERELL, a parish in Cleobury-Mortimer district, Salop; under the Clee hills, 6½ miles NNW of Cleohury-Mortimer, and 9½ NE of Ludlow r. station. It contains the hamlet of Bold; and its post-town is Burwarton, under Bridgnorth. Acres, 2,238. Real property, £3,978. Pop., 171. Houses, 35. The manor belonged anciently to the Bottcrells. The living is a rectory in 23,978. Pop., 171. HOUSES, 35. The manor periongea anciently to the Botterells. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £367.* Patron, the Duke of Cleveland. The church is good.

ASTON-BROOK, a new chapelry in Aston parish; suburban to Birmingham. Pop., 6,360. The church was built in 1864; and is in mixed Gothic, French and English. ASTON-BY-BUD WORTH, a township in Great Bud-

ASTON-IN-TOD WORTH, a Township in Great Bindworth parish, Cheshire; 31 miles No f Northvich. Acres, 2,859. Real property, £4,958. Pop., 459. Honses, 77. ASTON-BY-SUTTON, or ASTON-BY-SUTTON, a township-chapelry in Runcorn parish, Cheshire; on the Northwestern railway and the Weaver river, near Preston-Book r. station, and 3 miles E by N of Frodsham. It includes a place called Middleton-Grangs, sometimes deemed extra-parochial; and its post-town is Freston-Brook. Acres, 1,012. Real property, £3,021. Pop., 207. Houses, 38. Aston Hall here is the seat of Sir Arthur Aston. Bart. The living is a vicarage in the discusse of Aston, Bart. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £88. Patron, Sir A. Aston, Bart. The original church was at Middleton; and the present one contains an old lectern.

ASTON-CANTLOW, or ASTON-CANTELUPE, a parish in Alcester district, Warwick; on the river Alce, near the Birmingham and Stratford caual, 23 miles W by S of Bearley r. station, and 5½ NW of Stratford-on-Avon. It includes the divisions of Newnham, Sheffield, Little Alne, and Fathlow, and part of the hamlet of Wilncott; and its post-town is Henley-in-Arden, under Birmingham. Acres, 4,300. Real property, £7,611,—of which £1,563 are in quarries. Pop. 1,055. Houses, 230. The manor belonged anciently to the Cantelupes. The right to a market was obtained by one of the Cantelupes in the time of Henry III.; but has gone into dis-use. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. cur-racy of Wilmcote, in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £93.* Patron, the Rev. E. B. K. Fortescue. The church has an embattled tower.

ASTON-CHETWYND. See CHETWYND-ASTON.

ASTON-CHURCH. See CHERTWYND-ASTON.
ASTON-CLINTON, a township, a parish, and a subdistrict in the district of Aylesbury, Eucks. The township lies near lcknield-street and the Wendover and Avlesbury canals, 31 miles ESE of Aylesbury r. station. Aylesbury canais, of miles had of Aylesbury 1. Season. It has a post-office under Tring; and is a meet of the Rothschild hounds. Acres, 2,670. Real property, 24,582. Pop., 1,108. Houses, 232.—The parish includes also the hamlet of St. Leonard. Acres, 3,640. cludes also the hamlet of St. Leonard. Acres, 3,640. Real property, 25,509. Pop. 1,297. Houses, 207. The property is divided among a few. Aston-Clinton House was the seat of Viscount Lake, who died in 1802. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £506.* Patron, Jesus' College, Oxford. The church is good; and there are a Eaptist chapel, and charles £192. The p. curacy of St. Leonard is a separate charge.—The sub-district comprises ten parishes. Acres, 1775.9 ASTON-CROSS. See ASTON-ON-CARRON.

ASTON (East and West), two tythings in the parish of Longparish, Hants; on the river Anton, 3 miles SW of Whitchurch ASTON-EPISCOPI. See White-Lady-Aston.

ASTON-EYIE, a township in Morvill parish, Salop; 4 miles W by N of Bridgnorth, Acres, 1,330. Pop., 85. Houses, 12. It forms a curacy annexed to the vicarage of Morvill.

ASTON-FLAMVILLE, a township and a parish in Hinckley district, Leicester. The township hes near meriver Sour, the Fosse-way, and Watling-street, 31 miles ESE of Hinckley r. station, and 9 NW of Lutterworth. Real property, £1,576. Pop., 81. Houses, 15. The parish includes also the chapelry of Burbage and the hamlet of Sketchley. Post-town, Hinckley. Acres, Pael property. £9,601. Pop., 1,946. Houses, the hamlet of Sketchiey. Fost-town, funckiey. Acres, 4,670. Real property, 26,601. Pop. 1,946. Houses, 431. The living is a rectory, united with the curacy of Burbage, in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £878.* Patron, Countess Cowper. The church is ancient, and was partly restored in 1855. Charities, £22.

ASTON-GRANGE, a township in Runcorn parish, Cheshire; near the Northwestern railway and the river Weaver, 3 miles E of Frodsham. Acres, 487. Real property $327. Rep. 49. House, 6. perty, £337. Pop., 42. Houses, 6.
ASTON-HALL. See Aston, Flint, and Aston, Warwick

ASTON-INGHAM, a parish in the district of Newent and county of Hereford; on the verge of the county, 25 miles N by E of Mitcheldean-Road r. station, and 53 E of Ross. Post-town, Linton under Ross. Acres, 2,378. Real property, £3,693. Pop., 563. Houses, 123. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £350.* Patron, the Rev. H. T. Whatley. The church is old. Charities, £10.

ASTON-IVINGHOE See ASTON, Bucks. ASTON-JUXTA-MONDRUM, a township in Acton parish, Cheshire; near the Chester and Crewe railway, 4 miles N of Nantwich. It has a post-office of the name of Aston under Nantwich. Acres, 1,255. Real property, £1,797. Pop., 146. Houses, 29.
ASTON-LE-WALLS, a parish in the district of Ban-bury and county of Northampton; on the verge of the county, on the Roman road to Dorchester, near the Oxchurch is of the late teach.

ASTON (LITTLE), a hamlet in Shenstone parish, Stafford, 5\[\] miles ENE of Walsall. Pop., 115. Also a hamlet in Aston chapelry, Stone parish, Stafford.

ASTON-MAGNA, a chapetry in Blockley parish, Worcester; near the Fosse-way, adjacent to the West Midland railway, near Blockley station, 3 miles NW by N of Moreton-in-the-Marsh. Post-town, Blockley under Moreton-in-the-Marsh. Real property, £1,851. about 300. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Worcester. Value, £246.* Patron, Lord Redesdale. The church is very good.

ASTON (Middle), a township in Steeple-Aston parish, Oxford; near the Cherwell river and the Oxford canal, 13 mile N by W of Heyford r. station, and 3 miles S of Deddington. Real property, £1,368. Pop., 86.

Houses, 21.

Houses, 21.

ASTON MOLLINS, a hamlet in Dinton parish, Bucks; 3½ miles SW of Aylesbury.

ASTON (Nonth), a parish in Woodstock district, Oxford; on the river Cherwell, adjacent to the Oxford canal 1 mile W of Somerton r. station, and 2 SSC obeddington. Post-town, Deddington under Oxford Acres, 1,272. Real property, £3,129. Pop., 296. Houses, 68. Aston Park is a chief residence. The parish is a resort of sportsmen. The living is a vicarage parish is a resort of sportsmen. The living in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £199.

in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £199. Paron, J. Wills, Esq. The church was rebuilt in 1865. ASTON-ON-CARRON, or Asron-Cross, a tything in Aslichurch parish, Gloucester; near the Birmingham and Gloucester railway, 3 miles ENE of Tewkesbury. It has a post-office, of the name of Aston-Cross, under Tewkesbury. Real property. £1 414

Tewkesbury. Real property, £1,414. Pop., 296.
ASTON-ON-CLUN. See ASTON, Hopesay, Salop.
ASTON-ON-TRENT. See ASTON-UPON-TRENT.
ASTON PARK. See ASTON, Warwick, and ASTON

(NORTH). ASTON-PIGOTT, a township in Worthin parish, Salop; near the river Rhea, 2 miles NE of Worthin.

Salop; near the liver lands, 2 links 3 to 4 Northin parish, Salop; near the river Rhea, ½ a mile NE of Aston-Figott. Pop., 174.
ASTON-ROWANT, a parish in Thame district, Oxford; under the Chiltern hills, the SEVENTE. miles SE of Tetsworth, and 4 miles SSE of Thame r. station. It includes the liberties of Chalford and Kingston-Blount,-the latter containing the hamlet of Kingston-Stirt; and its post-town is Tetsworth. Acres, 2,980. Real property, £4,357. Pop., 884. Houses, 182. Aston House is the seat of Thomas Taylor, Esq. Marcasite or crow-tron occurs in the hills. Roman remains have been found in Kingston-field, a short distance from Icknield-street. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £190.* Patron, the Bishop of Oxford Icknield-street. ford. The church is early English, was repaired in 1850, and contains an elegant ancient font. There are an Independent chapel, an endowed school with £41 a-year, and charities £80

ASTON-ST. LEONARD. See LEONARD (St.), Bucks, ASTON-SANDFORD, a parish in Aylesbury district, Bucks; on a branch of the river Thame, 6 miles SW of Aylesbury, r. station. Post-town, Dinton under Aylesbury. Acres, 669. Real property, £SS5. Pop., 59. Houses, 14. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £135.* Fatrons, Trustees. The church is later English, and small, with a gable-roofed porch. Scott the con-mentator was rector from 1803 till his death in 1821.

ASTON-SOMERVILLE, a parish in the district of Evesham and county of Gloucester; on the river Isborne, 4 miles S by E of Evesham r. station. Post-town, Broadway. Acres, 993. Real property, £1,475. Pop., 105. Houses, 21. The manor has been held, for upwards of Six centuries, by the family of Somerville; of whom were William Somerville, the poet, author of "The Chase," and Lord Somerville, the distinguished agriculturist, who died in 1819. A salt spring occurs, and interesting fossils have been found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £272.* Patron, The church is very good. Lord Somerville.

ASTON-STEEPLE, a township and a parish in Woodstock district, Oxford. The township lies on the river Cherwell, the Oxford canal, and the Oxford and Rugby railway, adjacent to Hayford r. station, 61 miles Rugby railway, adjacent to Hayford r. station, 0§ miles NNE of Woodstock; and has a post-office under Oxford. Real property, £2,846. Pop., 650. Houses, 150. The parish includes also the township of Middle Aston. Acres, 1,870. Real property, £4,214. Pop., 736. Houses, 171. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged anciently to the Molines, and passed to the Hungeranciently to the Molines, and passed to the Integration of the State of the Integration of the Integration of the Integration of Oxford. Value, £582. Patron, Erasenose college, Oxford. The church is ancient, but very good. There are a Wesleyan chapel and a national school. Dr. Samuel Radcliffe, principal of Enasenose college, was for some time rector, and founded a free school and alms-houses.

ASTON-SUB-EDGE, a parish in the district of Evesham and county of Gloucester; on the West Midland railway, under Bredon hill, 2 miles SSW of Honeybourne r, station, and 6 ESE of Evesham. Post-town, Campden, under Moreton in the Marsh. Acres, 755. Real perty is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £201.* Patron, Earl Harrowby. The church is tolerable. ASTON-SUTRIOLD, a parish in Wallingford district, Berks; 2½ miles NW by N of Wallingford Road r. station, and 4 SW of Wallingford. It has a post-odice under Wallingford. Acres, 1,674. Real property, £2,561. Pop., 395. Houses, $2. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £233. Patron, Magdalene college, Oxford. The church is good. There are an Independent chapel, and church is good. There are an Independent chapel, and charities £14. ASTON-UNDER-EDGE.

ASTON-UNDER-EDGE. See ASTON-SUB-EDGE.
ASTON-UPON-CARRON. See ASTON-ON-CARRON. ASTON-UPON-TRENT, a parish in Shardlow district, Derbyshire; on the verge of the county, Grand Trunk canal, and the river Trent, 33 miles S of Spondon r. station, and 6 SE by S of Derby. It contains the town-ships of Aston and Shardlow-with-Far-Wilne; and its sups of Aston and Shardlow-with-far-Wilne; and its post-town is Shardlow under Derly. Acres, 3,290. Real property, £4,933. Pop., 551. Houses, 135. The property is divided among a few. Aston Itali is the seat of the Holdens; and Aston Lodge, of the Rev. J. Miller. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Lichfield. Value, £1,000.* Patron, E. A. Holden, Esq. The church is good. Shardlow is a separate charge, and contains the district workhouse. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £22. See Astron.

ASTON-UPTHORPE, a chapelry in Blewberry parish, Berks; 3½ miles NW of Wallingford r. station, and 4 SW of Wallingford. Post-town, Blewberry under Wall-SW of Wailingford. Post-town, Blewberry under Wallingford. Acres, 1,320. Real property, 21,219. Pop., 169. Houses, 36. The property is divided among a few. Kenowwalen of Weessex was overthrown here, in 659, by Wulfhere of Mercia. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Upton, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, not reported. Patron, the Eishop of Oxford. The church is ancient.

ASTON (WYST). See Acrox (Figurard Wyst).

ASTON (WEST). See ASTON (EAST and WEST).
ASTON-WHIEATON, See WHEATON-ASTON.
ASTON-WHITE-LADY. See WHITE-LADY-ASTON.

ASTON-WITH AUGHTON, a township and a parish in Rotherham district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies near the river Rother, 2 miles SSW of Beighton r.

78

station, and 5 E of Rotherham; and has a post-office, of the name of Aston, under Rotherham. Real property, £7,105,—of which £2,002 are in mines. Pop., 995. £7,105,—of which £2,002 are in mines. Pop., 995. Houses, 195. The parish includes also part of the township of Ulley. Acres, 2,915. Real property, with the rest of Ulley. £8,569. Pop., 1,032. Houses, 203. The property is sub-divided. The manor belonged formerly to the D'Arcys, and belongs now to the Duke of Leeds. A. Hall is the seat of T. Tillotson, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £760.* Patton, the Duke of Leeds. The church is ancient, and contains monument to Lord D'Arcy and his three wives, a splendid screen, and a Norman font. There are Methodist changles, national schools, and charities £37. The splendid screen, and a Norman tont. There are nethodist chapels, national schools, and charities £37. The Rev. William Mason, the editor of Gray's poems and the author of "Isis" and other poems of his own, was rector.

ASTRAD, a township in Llandyrnog parish, Denhighshire; 1½ mile SE of Denbigh. Pop., 49.

ASTROP, a hamlet in Kings-Sutton and Newbottle parishes, Northampton; near the river Cherwell, 6 miles W of Brackley. Pop., 224. A mineral spring here, called St. Rumbald's well, was formerly much frequented for cutaueous diseases. Astrop Hall is the seat of E.

Cunliffe, Esq.
ASTWELL, a hamlet in Wappenham parish, Northampton; on an affluent of the river Tove, 6 miles NNE ampton; on an afineent of the river Tove, 6 miles NNE of Brackley. Real property, with Falcutt, £2,465. Pop., 83. Houses, 12. The property belonged formerly to the Billing, the Lovett, and the Ferrers families, and belongs now to the Duke of Buckingham. The old seat of the Earl of Ferrers still stands, and is now used as a farm-house. The hamlet is a resort of sportsmen.

ASTWICK, a parish in Biggleswade district, Beds; on the river Ivel, 2½ miles ENE of Arlesey r. station, and 4 N by W of Baldock. Post-town, Arlesey under Baldock. Acres, 570. Real property, £1,117. Pop., 64. Houses, 14. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory annexed to the vicarage of Arlesey, in having is a rectory annexed to the variety of Artesty, in the diocese of Ely. The church is good.

ASTWICK, a decayed hamlet in Evenly parish, Northampton; 3 miles SSW of Brackley. It was formerly a large town; and it retains traces of a capital manor-house. Several Roman coius have been found in Astwick-field.

Several Roman coius have been found in Astwick-field.
ASTWICK, Yorkshire. See Austwick.
ASTWOOD, a parish in Newport-Pagnell district, Bucks; on the verge of the county, 5j miles ENE of Newport-Pagnell, and 7 N of Ridgmount r. station.
Post-town, Newport-Pagnell. Acres, 1,259. Real property, £1,850. Pop., £17. Houses, 65. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £230.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good. The church is good. Chancellor.

Chancellor. The church is good.

ASTWOOD-BANK, a village in Feckenham parish, Worcestershire; near Studley r. station, 31 miles S of Redditch. It has a post-office 1 under Redditch, needle recution. It has a post-once; and the tendent, needed factories, and Baptist and Wesleyan chapels.

ASWARBY, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Sleaford, Lincoln. The parish lies in the Fens, 5 miles S of Sleaford r. station. Post-town, Osbournby under Folkingham. Acres, 1,548. Real property, £2,213. Pop., 128. Honses, 18. The manor belonged formerly to the Harveys; and belongs now to Sir Whichcote, Bart., whose seat is Aswarby House. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, 2255.* Patron, Sir T. Whichcote. The church is a good edifice of lofty nave, aisle, and chancel, with fine tower and spire. Charitice, £5. Bass, the discoverer of Bass's Straits, was a native.—The sub-district comprises ten parishes. Acres, 17,740. Pop., 3,059. Houses, 621. ASWARDBY, a parish in Spilsby district, Lincoln; on the river Steeping, 4 miles NW of Spilsby, and 6 SW of Alford r. station. Post-town, Hagworthingham under Spilsby. Acres, 741. Real property, £1,755. Pop., 68. Houses, 15. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £266. Patron, R. Brackenbury, Esq. The church is good. Whichcote, Bart., whose seat is Aswarby House.

ASWARDHURN, a wapentake in the parts of Kesteven, Lincoln. It includes the parish of Asgarby and nineteen other parishes. Acres, 47,660. Pop. in 1851, 8,070; in 1861, 7,685. Houses, 1,608.

ATCHAM, a township, a parish, a sub-district, and o district in Salop. The township lies at the influx of the Tern to the Severn, 2 miles SSW of Upton-Magnar. station, 4 SE of Shrewshury, and 6} W by N of the Wrekin. It also bears the name of Attingham; and has an inn. The marish includes also the townships of has an inn. The parish includes also the townships of Berwick, Chilton, Cronkhill, Emstray, and Uckington; and has a post-office under Shrewsbury. Acres, 3,762. Real property, £4,851. Pop., 406. Honses, 92. The property is divided among a few. Attingham Hall is the seat of Lord Barwick, and contribute for Hall is the seat of Lord Berwick, and contains a fine gallery of paintings, chiefly by the early Italian masters, also a fine collection of Etruscan vases and other antialso a nne concection of Litriscan vases and other auti-quities from Herculaneum. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £330. Patron, R. Bur-ton, Esq. The church has a good Norman doorway, an old porch, a reading-desk with carved panels, and an ivy-covered square tower; but is in very bad condition. Charities, £84. Ordericus Vitalis, the historian, born Charles, 121. Otterfor The sub-district comprises the parishes of Atcham, Uppington, Leighton, Eaton-Constantine, and Wroxeter. Acres, 12,316. Pop., 1,699. Houses, 347.—The district comprehends also the sub-dis-Houses, 347.—The district comprehends also the sub-district of Battlefield, containing the parishes of Battlefield, Preston-Gubbals, Uffington, Upton-Magna, and Withington, the extra-parochial tract of Haughmond-Demesne, and part of the parish of St. Mary-Shrewsbury; the sub-district of Montford, containing the parishes of Montford, Melverley, Shrawardine, and Fitz; the sub-district of Alberbury, containing the parishes of Carleston and Ford and ratt of the parish of Alberbury, porto and Ford, and part of the parish of Alberbury, por-tions of which are electorally in Montgomery; the sub-district of Westbury, conterminate with the parish of Westbury; the sub-district of Pontesbury, containing the parishes of Pontesbury, Habberley, and Great Hanwood; and the sub-district of Condover, containing the parishes of Condover, Harley, Shineton, Cound, Kenley, Hughley, Church-Preen, Acton-Burnell, Frodesley, fey, Hughley, Church-Preen, Acton-Burnell, Frodesley, Pitchford, Berrington, Sutton, Stapleton, and Church-Pulverbatch. Poor-rates in 1866, £8,972. Pop. in 1841, 18,842; in 1861, 19,455. Houses, 3,848. Marriages in 1866, 105; births, 538,—of which 36 were illegitimate; deaths, 344,—of which 75 were at ages under 5 years, and 27 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60. 974; births, 5,352; deaths, 3,499. The places of worship in 1851 were 43 of the Church of England, with 9,027 sittings; 9 of Independents, with 1,299 s.; 4 of Baptists, with 433 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 990 s.; 1 of New Connexion Methodists, with 96 with 290 s.; 1 of New Connexion Methodists, with 96 s; 16 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,219 s.; 1 of Cal-vinistic Methodists, with 125 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 40 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 170 s. The schools were 29 public day schools, with 1,703 scholars; Schools were 25 product day schools, with 1,765 schools; 24 private day schools, with 138 s.; and 32 Sunday schools, with 1,391 s. The workhouse is in Berrington. ATCH-LENCH, a hamlet in Church-Lench parish, Worcester; 5 miles No Evesham. Pop., 77.
ATFORD. See ATWORTH.

ATHAN (Sr.), a parish in Bridgend district, Glamorgan; on the coast, 5 miles S by E of Cowbridge, and 8 SW of St. Fagans r. station. It has a post-office under Cowbridge. Acres, 1,771; of which 285 are water. Real property, £2,574. Pop., 357. Honses, 79. The property is divided among a few. Breaksea Point is on the coast, and commands a fine view. Remains of Roger Berkrols' castle, built in 1691, are at East Orchard; and remains of two other castles, of later date, are at West Coulond and Castleton. The living is a rectory in the Orchard and Castleton. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, #36%.* Patron, W. C. Rayer, Esq. The church is good, and contains two interesting Gothic monuments of the Berkrols family. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

ATHELHAMPTON. See Anmiston.
ATHELINGTON, or Allington, a parish in Honne district, Suffolk; 5 miles SE by E of Eye, and 8 NW of Framlingham r. station. Post-town, Horham under Wickham-Market. Acres, 487. Real property, £926.

Pop. 115. Honses, 24. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £155.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good.

ATHELNEY, a railway station and quondam island in Lyng parish, Somerset. The station is on the Durston and Yeovil branch of the Bristol and Exeter railway, 4 miles WNW of Langport. The quondam island is a rising-ground, or small hill, of about 100 acres, surrounded by marshes, at the confluence of the rivers Tone and Parret. King Alfred took refuge here, in 879, after his defeat by the Danes; made frequent incursions hence against them till he became able to take the field for their complete overthrow; and founded here, in 888, a Benedictine abbey, in expression of gratitude for his victories. abbot did not sit in parliament; yet enjoyed great privileges, and was regarded as a spiritual lord. The edifice is extinct; but recent traces of it show it to have been large. A stone pillar, with an appropriate inscription, was erected on the spot, in 1801, by John Slade, Esq., the then proprietor. An amulet of enamel and gold, inscribed with words signifying "Alfred caused me to be made," was found on Athelney in the 17th century, and is now in the Ashmolean museum.

ATHELSTAN ABBEY. See Eggleston Abbey. ATHERFIELD, a tything in Shorwell parish, Isle of Wight; on the S coast, 63 miles SSW of Newport. Atherfield rocks here are subject to landslips; and then after being washed by the waves, show very strikingly the juxtaposition of the lowermost of the greensand dethe juxaposition of the lowermost of the greensand de-posits with the uppermost of the Wealden. ATHERINGTON, a village and a parish in Barnstaple district, Devon. The village stands on a hill, adjacent to the river Taw, in the vicinity of Umberleigh r. station, 7 miles SSE of Barnstaple; and has a post-office under Barnstaple. The parish comprises 3,326 acres. Real property, £3,270. Pop., 598. Houses, 120. The property is divided among a few. The manor belongs to the Bassetts. A palace of King Athelstan is said to have stood at Umberleigh; and an ancient chapel was there, which also is said to have been built by him. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £403.* Patron, the Rev. J. Arthur. The church is an ancient edifice, of nave, chancel, and north aisle, in had condition; was a cell to Caen abbey; and contains a very handsome carved screen, and two recumbent effigies of the 15th century, brought to it in 1800 from the chapel at Umberleigh. There are a Baptist chapel in the village, and a Wesleyan chapel at Langridge.

ATHERINGTON, Sussex. See ALDRINGTON.
ATHERSTONE, a hamlet in White Lackington parish, Somerset; 1 mile NE of Hminster.

ATHERSTONE, a market town, a township, a chapelry, a sub-district, a district, and a division, wick. The town stands on Watling-street and the Trent Valley railway, adjacent to the Anker river and the Coventry canal, at the northern extremity of the forest of Arden, 8 miles SE of Tamworth. It was anciently called Adrestone and Edrestone. It was given at the Conquest to the monks of Bec in Normandy; who obtained for it the right of a market and an annual fair. An Augustinian friary was founded at it, in 1376, by Ralph Basset of Druiton; and given, at the dissolution, to the Cartwrights. The Earl of Richmond and other disaffected nobles of Richard III, concerted in it, in 1485, the measures which led next day to their victory on Bosworth field. The place where they held their conference is said to have been the Three Tuns lun, which still exists; and the place on which their troops encamped was a meadow N of the clurch. The field of Bosworth lies 8 miles to the NE, within Leicester. The town of Atherstone consists chiefly of one principal street, wellbuilt, and nearly a mile long. The market-house stands ount, and nearly a mite long. The inductions stands on pillars, and has a spacious assembly-room above. The corn-exchange is large and recent. The church was mainly re-edificed in 1850, and is in the decorated English style. The grammar-school was founded, in 1873, by Sir William Devereux and two other persons; has a free income of £350; and was recently removed to new buildings. There are chapels for Independents, Methodists, Unitarians, and Roman Catholics; a Benedictine nunnery; an endowed school with £42 a-year; other charities £293; a library and news-room, a dispensary, and a work-house. The town is a seat of petty sessions, and a polling-place; and has a station on the railway, a head post-office, a banking office, and two chief inns. A weekly market is held on Tuesday; and fairs, in Feb., April, June, Aug., Oct., and Dec. The manufacture of ribbons, hats, and shalloens is carried on; and a considerable traffic from neighbouring quarries and coal-mines exists. Drayton, who wrote the "Polyand a considerable traine from neighbouring quarries and coal-mines exists. Drayton, who wrote the "Polyolbion," and Dr. Grew, the botanist, were natives. Pop., 3,857. Houses, 860.

The township includes the town, and is in the parish of Mancetter. Real property, £11,854. Pop., 3,877. Houses, 864. Atherstone Hall is the seat of C. A. Bracebridge, Esq.; and stands on a pleasant bank, commanding an extensive view. The park contains some very grand old oaks. A very hard quartzose sandstone is largely quarried, and sent to distant parts, for road-making. Manganese has been extensively brought from the contiguous hamlet of Hartshill; and coal from the neighbouring moor of Baddesley .- The chapelry is conterminate with the township. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £150.* Patron, Church Pat. Society.—The sub-district and the district are coextensive; and comprehend the parishes of Mancetter, Ansley, Baxterley, Baddesley-Ensor, Polesworth, Grendon, Merevale, Sheepy-Magna, Sheepy-Parva, Witherley, Fenny-Drayton, the extra-parochial tract of the Mythe, and part of the parish of Shustoke; and four of these parishes, part of another, and the extra-parochial tract are electorally in Leicester. Acres in the district, 27,883. Poor-rates in 1866, £4,980. Pop. in 1861, 12,118. Houses, 2,665. Marriages in 1866, 89; births. 426,—of which 23 were illegitimate; deaths, 212,—of which 64 were at ages under 5 years, and 7 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 760; births, 3,949; deaths, 2,336. The places of worship in 1851 were 15 of the Church of England, with 5,226 sittings; 7 of Independents, with 1,976 s.; 2 of Baptists, with 380 s; 6 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 770 s.; 2 of Primitive Methodists, with 170 s.; 1 of the Independent Methodist Society, with 176 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 140 s. The schools were 10 public day schools, with 1,047 scholars; 30 private day schools, with 564 s.; 24 Sunday schools, with 2,124 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 43 s .- The division is in Hemlingford hundred, and excludes the parts of the district which are electorally in Leicester, but includes ten other parishes which are electorally in Warwick. Acres, 55,495. Pop. in 1851, 26,144. Honses, 5,722.
ATHERSTONE-ON-STOUR, a parish in Stratford-on-Avon district, Warwick; on the Moreton and Stratford railway and the river Stour, 3 miles S by E of Stratford-on-Avon. It contains the village of Alistow; and its post-town is Stratford-on-Avon. Acres, 1,060. Rated property, £1,412. Pop., 90. Hones, 21. The property is undivided. The manor belonged, in the time of Edward III., to John de Langley; and passed to successively the Mortons, the Hawkses, and the Lidkotes. successively the Mortons, the Hawkess, and the Lithucost. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £288.* Patrons, Representatives of late Rev. Dr. Cox. The church is good. Dr. Thomas, the continuator of Dugdale's "Antiquities," was a native.

ATHERTON, a town, a township, a chapelry, and a Nativity of Visit Language.

sub-district, in the parish and district of Leigh, Lancashire. The town stands about a mile E of the Bolton and Kenyon railway, 2 miles NNE of Leigh, and 13 WNW of Manchester. It bears also the name of Chowbent; and it has a station of the name of Atherton on the railway, and a post-olice; of the name of Chowbent under Manchester. The inhabitants are employed variously in cotton factories, iron works, nail factories, and collieries. Pop., 2.692. Houses, 683. The township rural. Acres, 2,323. Real property, 223,633; of which £8,929 are in mines. Pop., 5,907. Houses, 1,222

Atherton Hall stands near the site of a quondam seat of the Athertons; and is the property of Lord Lilford.—The chapelry is a p. curacy in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £100. Patron, Lord Lilford. The church was rebuilt in 1810. There are Baptist and Unitarian chapels, and a national school.—The sub-district includes Tyl-desley-cum-Shakerley. Pop., 11,936.

ATHERTON, Isle of Wight. See ARRETON.

ATHERTON, Isle of Wight. See ARRETON.
ATLOW, a chapelry in Bradbourne parish, Derby; on a branch of the river Dove, 41 miles NE by E of Ashborne r. station. Post-town, Ashborne. Acres, 1,580. Real property, £1,926. Pop., 129. Houses, 26. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £143. Patron, C. H. Okeover, Esq. The Curch is tolerable.
ATPAR. See ADPAR.
ATPECTURE See APPAR.

ATPAR. See ADPAR.
ATRE (THE). See ATTERY.
ATTENBOROUGH, a village and a parish in the district of Shardlow and county of Nottingham. lage stands at the confluence of the Erwash and the Trent, lage stands at the confluence of the Erwash and the Trent, adjacent to the Nottingham railway, 1½ mile NE of Long-Eaton junction, and 5 SW of Nottingham. The parish comprehends the township of Toton and the hamlet of Chilwell; the latter of which has a post-office under Nottingham. Acres, 2,843. Real property, £5,507. Pop., 1,110. Houses, 240. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, united with the curacy of Bramcote, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £250.* Patron, G. S. Foljambe, Esq. The church is large and good. Charities, £19. Henry Ireton, the son-in-law of Oliver Cromwell, was a native. ATTERPLY a township in Bishon-Norton parish Lin-

ATTERBY, a township in Bishop-Norton parish, Lincoln; near Ermine-street, 9 miles NW by W of Market-Raisen. Acres, 1,190. Real property, £1,354. Pop.,

Raisen. Acres, 1,190. Real property, £1,353. Pop., 95. Houses, 22.
ATTERCLIFFE, a chapelry, a township, and a suidistrict, in the parish and district of Sheffield, W. R. Yorkshire. The chapelry lies on the Rotherham railway, the Tinsey canal, and the river Don, 14 mile NE by E of Sheffield, and within that town's borough boundaries. by Loi Shemera, and within that town's borough boundaries; and was constituted in 1847. Rated property, £7,306. Pop., 5,061. Houses, 1,059. The living is a vicamage in the diocese of York. Value, £130. Patron, the Vicar of Sheffield. The church was built in 1826, at a cost of £12,800; and is in the later Gothic style. There a cost of £12,800; and is in the later Gothic style. There are four dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel built in 1868 at a cost of £4,700, a news-room, two public schools, and charities £36.—The township is conjoined with Darnall; and has a post-office, ± of the name of Attercliffe, under Sheffield. Acres, 1,270. Real property, £15,412. Pop. 7,464. Houses, 1,554. The inhabitants are chiefly cutlers, mechanics, and callium Coeff treal was forced and the control was considered and control was considered and control was considered as a control was control was considered and control was considered and control was considered and control was control was control was control was controlled to the control was controlled and control was controlled to the controlled to the controlled to the controlled to the control was controlled to the colliers. Cast-steel was first made here; and cannel coal is mined. Attercliffe Hall is the seat of J. Milner, Esq. An abrupt precipice overhangs the Don, and probably gave name to the township. Archbishop Secker was educated at Attercliffe dissenting academy.—The subequated at Atterctific dissenting academy.—The subdistrict is conterminate with the township.

ATTERLEY, a township in Much-Wenlock parish,
Salop: 2 miles SE of Much-Wenlock. Pop., 52.

ATTERTON, a hamlet in Witherley parish, Leicester;
3 miles E by N of Atherstone. Real property, £1,184.
Pop., 78. Houses, 17.

Pop., 78. Houses, 17.
ATTELY, or ATTE (The), a stream of Cornwall. It rises on Wilsey down, near Trenegloss; and runs about 14 miles east-south-eastward to the river Tamar, in the vicinity of Launceston.

ATTINGHAM. See ATCHAM.

ATTINGTON, an extra-parochial tract in Thame district, Oxford; 3 miles S of Thame. Acres, 435. Pop.,

Houses, 3

ATTLEDEROUGH, a chapelry in Nuneaton parish, Warwick; on the Trent Valley railway and the river Anker, near the Coventry canal, I mile S of Nuneaton. It was constituted in 1818. It has a post-office under Nuneaton. Real property, £4,539. Pop., 1,392. Houses, 322. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicurage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £170.* Patron, the Vicar of Nuneaton. The church was built in 1841, and is in the early English style. There are a Baptist chapel and a national school.

ATTLEBOROUGH, or ATTLEBURGH, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Wevland. Norfolk. The town stands adjacent to the Norfolk and Eastern Union railway, 16 miles SW of Norwich. It was the capital of East Anglia, and had strength enough to check the incursions of the Danes; and it retained fortifications of some note till the time of Henry II. It is now decayed and small; yet serves still as a county centre. It has a station with telegraph on the railway, a head post-office, a banking office, and a chief inn. A corn-market hall was built in 1863, at a cost of £1,000. corn-market nail was built in 1863, at a cost of £1,000. A weekly market is held on Thursday; and there are three annual fairs. A college, for a custos and four fellows, was founded, in the time of Richard II., by Sir Robert de Mortimer; and given, in the time of Henry VIII., to Robert, Earl of Sussex. The church of the college is the product of the contribution o lege still stands; is a spacious cruciform edifice in Norman and early English, with square tower rising from the centre; and contains monuments to distinguished members of the families of Mortimer, Ratcliffe, and members of the families of Mortimer, Ratcliffe, and Blickley.—The parish comprises 5,260 acres. Real pro-perty, £12,682. Pop., 2,221. Houses, 494. The pro-perty is much subdivided. A. Hall, Hill House, and the Point are chief residences. The first turnpike road in England was made in this parish. The living is a rec-tory in the diocess of Norwich. Yalle, £1,226. Patron, Sir W. B. Smijth. There are three dissenting chapels. Sir W. B. Smith. There are three dissenting chaptes. Charities, 276 and 57 acres of poors' allotment.—The sub-district includes eleven parishes. Acres, 22,885. Pop., 5,506. Houses, 1,223.
ATTLEBRIDGF, a parish in St. Faith district, Norfolk; on the river Wensum, 9 miles NW of Norwich r.

station. It has a post-office under Norwich. Acres, The living is a vicarage annexed to the rectory of Alderford, in the diocese of Norwich.

ATTLEBURGH. See ATTLEBOROUGH, Norfolk. ATWICK, a hamlet and a parish in Skirlaugh district, E. R. Yorkshire. The hamlet stands on the coast, 2 miles N of Hornsea r. station, and 13 NE of Beverley; and has a post-office under Hull. The parish includes and has a post-ome under hill. The parish includes also the hamlets of Arran and Skirlington. Acres, 2,350; of which 165 are water. Real property, £3,186, Pop., 319. Honses, 69. The property is much sub-divided. The land is undergoing encoachment by sea. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £149.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good. There is a Wesleyan chapel. Fenwick's charity, for educating and apprenticing boys, has an income of £46, and other charities £13.

ATWORTH, or ATFORD, a chapelry in Bradford parish, Wilts; near the Roman road, 3 miles WNW of Melksham r. station. Post-town, Melksham. Acres, Melksham r. Station. Post-town, Melksham. Acres, 1,170. Real property, with South Wraxall, £5,337. Pop., 949. Houses, 225. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage with South Wraxall, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £255. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Bristol. The church was built in 1828. There are an Independent chapel, and charities AUBIN (Sr.), a small town in St. Erelade parish, Jersey; on the west side of a bay of its own name, 39 miles W of St. Helier. The bay is semicircular; has a picturesque appearance; fills all the space castward to St. Helier; and is defended on the west side by St. Aubin Castle, on the SE by Elizabeth Castle. It forms a good roadstead; but has several shoals. St. Aubin Castle is a tower mounted with 14 guns; and has done service in the defence of the island. The town is the service in the defence of the island. The town is the second in Jersey; and has a post-office under St. Helier, a weekly market on Monday, a pier, inns, a chapel of ease, and an alms-house. The chapel is served by a curate, with a salary of £60, appointed by proprietors. Several handsome villas are in the neighbourhood. Pop. about 800.

AUBOURN, a township and a parish in the district and county of Lincoln. The township lies on the river

Witham, near the Fosse road and the Nottingham and Lincoln railway, 3\footnote{1} miles SE of Thorpe r. station, and 6\footnote{1} SW by So I Lincoln; and includes the hamlet of Marlborough. Acres, 1,843. Real property, £2,474. Pop., 308. Houses, 61. The parish includes also part of the township of Haddington. Post-town, Waddington under Lincoln. Acres, 2,109. Real property, with the rest of Haddington, £3,636. Pop., 376. Houses, 73. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £209. Patron, the Rev. H. Neville. The church is Norman. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £19.

AUBURN, or Awburns, a township-chapelry in Fraisthorpe parish, E. R. Yorkshire; on the coast, 2 miles SE of Carnaby r. station, and 3\footnote{1} miles Sb y W of Bridlington. Post-town, Bridlington under Hull. Pop. Witham, near the Fosse road and the Nottingham and SE of Carnaby r. station, and 3\(\) miles S by \(\) of Brid-lington. Post-town, Bridlington under Hull. Pop., 16. Houses, 2. Much of the land has been washed away by the sea. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to Fraisthorpe, in the diocese of York. AUCKLAND, a district in Durham. It comprehends the sub-district of Bishop-Auckland, containing the parish of Whitworth, the parochial chapely of Escomb, and parts of the parishes of St. Andrew-Auckland, Mer-rington, and Brancepeth; and the sub-district of Ham-steller, containing the parochial chapely of Witten lesterley, containing the parochial chapelry of Witton-le-Wear, and parts of the parishes of St. Andrew-Auckland, Wear, and parts of the parishes of St. Andrew-Auckland, Brancepeth, and Gainford. Poor-rates in 1866, 216, 479. Pop. in 1841, 21,988; in 1861, 50,491. Houses, 9,653. Marriages in 1866, 542; births, 2,809,—of which 146 were illegitimate; deaths, 1,365,—of which 727 were at ages under 5 years, and 15 at ages above 8years. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 3,792; births, 17,982; deaths, 9,447. The places of worship in 1851 to 1 Independents, with 200 a.; 2 of Baptists, with 400 a.; 2 of Calcars, with 250 a.; 18 of Waslavan Matho. 3:, 2 of Quakers, with 350 s.; 18 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,852 s.; 19 of Primitive Methodists, with 2,823 s.; 2 of the Wesleyan Methodist Association, with 420 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 240 s. The schools were 34 public day schools, with 2,536 scholars; 33 private day schools, with 1,189 s.; 43 Sunday schools, with 3,122 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 30 s. The workhouse is in Bishop-Auckland.

tth 30 s. The workhouse is in Dishop-Auckland.
AUCKLAND (Bishop). See Bishop-Auckland.
AUCKLAND (St. Andrew), a township and a parish
Auckland district, Durham. The township lies on in Auckland district, Durham. The township lies on the Bishop-Auckland and Weardale railway, and at the confluence of the Gaunless and the Wear rivers, 1 mile SE of Bishop-Auckland. Acres, 1,186. Real property, £12,242,—of which £9,373 are in mines. Pop., 1,401. Houses, 283. The parish includes also the town of Bishop-Auckland, and the townships of Bishop-Auckland, St. Helen-Auckland, Middlestone, Westerton, Old-Tark, Binchester, Newfield, Byers-Green, Hunwick and Helmington, Newton-Cap, Pollards-Lands, Coundon, Coundon-Grange, Windlestone, Eldon, Middridge, Grange, East Thickley, Shildon, Middridge, West Auckland, Barony, Lynesack and Softley, Ilamsterley, North Bedburn, and South Bedburn; and its post-town is Bishop-Auckland under Darlington. Acres, 45,868. confluence of the Gaunless and the Wear rivers, 1 mile Bishop-Auckland under Darlington. Acres, 45,868. Real property, £134,725. Pop. in 1841, 19,100; in 1861, 32,111. Houses, 6,301. The property, in most parts, is subdivided; in many parts, much subdivided. Coal and limestone are extensively worked. The living, with St. Ann, is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £587.* Patron, the Bishop of Durham. The church is a cruciform structure, with a tower at the west end; was made collegiate by Bishop Bock, in 1292, for a dean and nine prehendaries; contains brasses and the elligies of a crusader; and needs repair. The chapelries a usan and mne prenemaries; contains prasses and the elligies of a crusader; and needs requir. The chapelries of St. Helen-Auckland, Byers-Green, Etherley, Hamsterley, Shildon, Witton-le-Wear, Coundon, Escomb, Fir-Tree, Hunwick, Lyoseack, Evenwood, and New Shildon, are separate charges. Three endowed schools have a hucomo of $1625, us they charging here. an income of £485; and other charities have £304

AUCKLAND (St. HELEN), a township-chapelry in the parish of St. Andrew-Auckland, Durham; on the river Gaunless and on the Haggerleases branch railway, 21 miles SW of Bishop-Auckland. It has a station on the railway; and its post-town is West Auckland under Darlington. Acres, 1480. Real property, £7.570,—of which £5,102 are in mines. Pop., 842. Houses, 167. The property is subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Durham. Value, £220. Patron, the Bishop of Durham. The church is tolerable.

AUCKLAND (West), a township in St. Andrew-Auckland parish, Durham; on the river Gaunless and on the Haggerleases branch railway, 3 miles SW of Bishop-Anckland. It has a post-office; under Darling-ton. Acres, 3,700. Real property, £7,019,—07 which £2,300 are in mines. Pop., 2,581. Houses, 535. Here are chapels for Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists, a large brewery, and a lunatic asylum.

AUCKLEY, or Awkley, a township in the parish of Finningley, and partly in Notts, partly in W. R. Yorkshire; 3 miles E by N of Rossington r. station, and 5 ESF of Doncaster. Acres, 1,970. Pop., 209. Houses, 69.

AUDELEY-END. See AUDLEY-END.

AUDENSHAW, a village, a chapelry, a parochial division, and a sub-district, in the district of Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancashire. The village stands adjacent to the Ashton canal and the Manchester and Sheffield railway, 3 miles SW of Ashton; and has a post-office under Manchester.—The chapelry was constituted in 1844. property, £9,000. Pop., 5,185. Houses, 1,037. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £150.* Patron, altern. the Crown and the Bishop. The church is in the early English style. There are Methodist. chapels and good schools.—The division includes the villages of Hooley-hill, Walkmill, Littlemoss, Woodvillages of Hooley-Init, Watkmin, Intuemoss, Wood-houses, and North Street, and part of the borough of Ashton-under-Lyne. Real property £20,814. Pop., 6,327. Houses, 1,277. Many of the inhabitants are employed in hat making, cotton-spinning, calico-printing, and silk-weaving. The large reservoirs of the Manchester and Salford water-works are in the SW. High-Ash is an old hall of the Stopfords, where coats of arms and portraits of the kings of England were once preserved; and Shepley Hall is a modern seat, well-known for its collection of pictures.—The sub-district includes also a township of Manchester parish. Acres, 1,611. Pop., 15,125. Houses, 2,995.

AUDLEBY, a hamlet in Caistor parish, Lincoln; on the Wolds, 1 mile N of Caistor. It is a resort of sports-en. Pop., 28. AUDLEM, a township in Nantwich district, Cheshire. and a parish chiefly in that district, and wholly in that county, but partly also in the district of Market-Drayton. The township lies on the Nantwich and M. Drayton railway, 6 miles S of Nantwich; and has a st. on the railway, a post-officet under Nantwich, and fairs on 24, 25, 26 July and 28 Nov. Acres, 2,558. Real property, 27,186. Pop., 1,510. Houses, 344. The parish includes also the 100, 100 to 100 ported. Patron, Lord Combernere. The church is good. There are five dissenting chapels, an endowed school with £40 a.year, and charities £292.

with £40 a-year, and charities £292.

AUDLEY, a township, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Newcastle-under-Lyne, Stafford. The township lies 3 miles W of Harceastle tunnel on the Grand Tunk canal, 3 S of Alsager r. station, and 51
NW by N of Newcastle-under-Lyne. It has a post-officer under Newcastle-under-Lyne; and it gives the title of Baron to the family of Touchet. Real property, £4,189.
Pop., 1,556. Houses, 317. The parish includes also the liberty of Halmer-End, and the townships of Talk-o'
College For Lyne For Berneller Find and th'-Hill, Eardley-End, Knowl-End, Bignall-End, and Park-End. Acres, 8,530. Real property, £30,383,—of which £11,431 are in mines. Pop., 6,494. Houses, 1,330. The property is much sublivided. Heleigh Castle, now a ruin, was the seat of the Audleys. Coal and ironstone are worked. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield, Value, £520.* Patron, the Rev. E. Gilbert. The church was restored in 1846 and 1856, and has some fine features. The vicarage of Talko'-th'-Hill is a separate charge. There are Methodist chapels. Vernon's grammar school has an endowed income of £115, and other charities have £35 .- The sub-come of £119, and other charmies have £30.—Ine sub-district comprises two parishes and part of a third. Acres, 11,171. Pop., 7,625. Houses, 1,566. AUDLEY-END, a railway station and a noble park near Saffron-Walden, Essex. The station is on the Eastern Counties railway, 19 mile W by S of Saffron-Walden, each of the investor of the heart of Walden, and at the junction of the branch railway thither. The park lies between the station and the town, on the river Granta; and is the seat of Lord Braybrooke. A bridge is in it by Adams; and a camp, on Ermine-street. The mansion is part of a splendid Tudor pile, built in 1603-16. It occupies the site of a Benedictine priory of 1136; and was erected by Heward, Earl of Suffolk, afterwards Lord High Treasurer of England, and named after his uncle, Audley. It was offered by the Earl to James I., who declined to have it on account to charles II, who detined to nave it on account of its being too costly; was sold by a succeeding Earl to Charles II, who failed to pay the purchase-money, and renounced possession; and was found by its owners to be so intolerably expensive, in the maintaining of a dne establishment for it, that a large portion of it had to be taken down. What remains of it is magnificent; and it contains some valuable paintings and a fine museum.

it contains some valuable paintings and a nic museum.

AUGHTON, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Ormskirk, Lancashire. The parish lies on a branch of the river Alt, and on the Liverpool and Preston railway, at Town-Green station, near the Liverpool and Leeds canal, 24 miles SSW of Ormskirk. It has a post-office canal, 24 miles SSW of Offmskirs. It has a positional under Offmskirk. Acres, 4,462. Real property, £13,804. Pop., 1,870. Houses, 360. The property is much subdivided. Aughton Hall is a chief residence. The living 1870. Patron, J. P. Tempest, Esq. The church was rebuilt in 1867, at a cost of £6,000. There is a Roman Catholic chapel.—The sub-district includes also two chapelries.

Acres, 8,530. Pop., 3,862. Houses, 708. AUGHTON, a chapelry in Halton parish, Lancashire; on the river Lune, 2 miles N of Caten r. station, and 7 NE of Lancaster. Post-town, Caten, under Lancaster. Acres, 1,900. Pop., 132. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £140.* Patron, the Rector of Halton. The church was rebuilt in 1864.

AUGHTON, a township in Howden district, and a parish in Howden and Pocklington districts, E. R. York-The township lies on the river Derwent, 13 mile NNW of Bubwith r. station, and 7 NE of Selby. Acres, 1,790. Real property, £2,216. Pop., 202. Houses, 38. The parish includes also the townships of Laytham and East Cottingwith; and its pest-town is Bubwith, under Howden. Acres, 4,295. Real property, £5,711. Pep., 633. Houses, 134. The property is divided among a few. Traces exist of a castle which was the seat of successively the family of Hai and the family of Aske. Here lived the family of Hai and the family of Aske. Here lived Sir Robert Aske, who was executed as a leader of the insurrection called "the pilgrimage of grace," occasioned by the suppression of the monasteries in the reign of Henry VIII; and here lived also the Aske who was one of the judges of Charles I. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Cottingwith, in the diocess of York. Value, £90.* Patron, A. J. Fletcher, Esq. The church is fair; and there are charities £48.

Aught TOX a tything in Collington and the property of the control of the contr

AUGHTON, a tything in Collingbourne-Kingston parish, Wilts; 4½ miles NW of Ludgershall.

AUGHTON, W. R. Yorkshire. See ASTON-WITH-

AUGUSTINE FRIARS. See LEICESTER.

AUGUSTINE (Sr.), a lathe in Kent. It forms the eastern part of the county; measures 19 miles by 20; and contains the hundreds of Beaksbourne, Bewsborough, Bleangate, Bridge and Petham, Cornilo, Downhamford, Bestry, Kinghamford, Preston, Ringslow, Seasalter, Westgate, Whitstable, and Wingham. Acres, 172,494. Pop. in 1851, 72,146; in 1861, 66,143. Houses, 12,908. AUGUSTINE (St.). See Eristol, Canterbury,

LONDON, and NORWICH.

AUKBOROUGH, See ALEBOROUGH.

AUKLEY. See AUCKLEY.
AULT-HUCKNALL, or HAULT-HUCKNALL, a parish in the district of Mansfield and county of Dorby; on the verge of the county, adjacent to Hardwick Park, 5 miles ENE of Claycross r. station, and 61 SE of Chesterfield. It contains the hamlets of Rowthorne and Stainsby; and its post-town is Heath under Chesterfield. Acres, 3,730. Rated property. £3.191. Pop., 686. Houses, 134. its post-town is Heath under Chesterheid. Acres, 0,100.
Rated property, £3,191. Pop., 686. Houses, 134.
The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £168.*
Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. The church is good, and contains monuments to the first Countess of Devonance. shire and to the philosopher Hobbes. See HARDWICK HALL. AUNBY.

AUNBY. See HOLYWELL-WITH-AUNBY.
AUNSBY, a parish in Sleaford district, Lincoln; 5‡ miles ESE of Honington r. station, and 5‡ SSW of Sleaford. Post-town, Osbournby under Folkingham. Acres, 1,183. Real property, £1,786. Pop., 140. Honses, 27. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £251. Patron, J. A. Houblon, Esq.

The church is early Excited, and here found for the court of the court of £251. Patron, J. A. Houblon, Esq. The cnurch is early English, and has a figured font.

AURIONY. See ALDERNEY.

AUST, or AUST CLIVE, a village and a chapelry in Henbury parish, Gloucester. The village stands on the E shore of the Severn, 2 miles distant from the South Wales and the Bristol and Wales railways, 31 W by S of Thernbury; and has a post-office, of the name of Old Passage, under Bristel. A ferry is here on the Severn, 2 miles over, to Chepstow, and bears the name of tha Old passage, to distinguish it from the New passage, which is 2 miles lower down the river. This was the ancient Trajectus, where the Roman legions used to be ferried over; and was also the place where Edward I. passed over to hold a conference with Llewelvn. chapelry is a tything. Acres, 1,200. Real property, £2,398. Pop., 187. Houses, 39. The property is not much divided. Much of the surface is marshy. Clays, alabaster, strontian, and some interesting fossils are found. The living is a p. curacy, annaxed to the vicarage of Henbury, in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. The church is externally good.

AUSTELL (St.), a market-town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Cornwall. The town stands adja-cent to the Cornwall railway, 13 mile NW of a bay of its own name, and 39½ W by S of Plymouth. Its site is the side of a hill, which descends to a narrow vale watered by a rivulet. The original town, or rather village, stood a short distance to the E, and is still represented by a few cottages. The present town dates from about the time of Henry VIII.; was taken by Charles I., in 1644, from the parliamentarian forces; and has risen to importance in connexion with neighbouring tin-mines, and as a centre of great mineral tradic. It has narrow streets, and a somewhat gloomy aspect, yet shows interesting features, and is skirted with pleasant villas. The mar-ket-house and the town-hall are large granite buildings. The Devon and Cornwall bank is a tasteful edifice of granite and marble. The parish church is a spacious ancient structure, of nave, chancel, and aisles, with a remarkably fine tower, and many curious sculptures; the chancel early English, the nave and the tower perpendicular. A communion cup used in the church is very ancient; was found by tinners, in 1774, about 17 feet below the surface of the ground, in the neighbourhood of the town; and contained several costly personal orna-ments of silver and gold, and a large collection of curious Saxon coins. The town has a station on the railway, a Saxon coms. The town and a sentent of the chief inne, head post-office, thou banking offices, three chief inne, seven dissenting chapels, an alms-house, a work-house, and several blowing-houses, not now worked, for grain tin; and it is a scat of petty sessions, and a polling-place. weekly market is held on Friday; and fairs, on the Thursday before Easter, Whit-Thursday, the Friday after 23 July, 16 Oct., and 30 Nov. A small manufactory of serges is carried on; a fishery for pilchards, in St. Australia and the serges is carried on; a fishery for pilchards, in St. Australia and the serges is carried on; tell bay, is extensive; and the mineral traffic embraces a large tract of surrounding country, and includes tin, copper, nickel, percelain clay, china-stone, perphyry cranite, and Pentuan stone. The principal mines are Polgooth, Carclazo, Crinnis, Pembroke, Lanescot, and Pentuan. Harbours exist at Pentuan and Charlesremean. Francours exist at remean and charles-town; and railways go down to them from the town. The name St. Austell is of uncertain origin, but most probably is a corruption of St. Auxilius. Pop., 3,825.

Honses, 777.

The parish comprises 12,125 acres. Real property, £37,325; of which £14,010 are in mines, and £2,157 in Pop. in 1841, 10,320; in 1861, 11,893. Houses. quarries. Pop. in 1841, 10, 320; in 1861, 11,893. Mouses, 2,369. The property is subdivided. St. Austell bay is 4 miles wide and 5 miles long; and forks in the N into the bay of St. Blazey. Hensbarrow hill, about 24 miles N of the town, is one of the loftiest heights in Cornwall. The general surface of the parish, together with that of adjacent tracts, is bleak and desolate, and acquires increase to its ruefulness from the appearance of the mines and miners. The quarries in Pentnan vale supply a famous building-stone, which has been used in the construction of many churches and mansions. One of the best tin-stream works, not far from the quarries, has thrown out fossil bones of men, of a whale, of enormous oven, and of extinct species of animals. An ancient holy well, with remains of a small chapel or baptistry, occurs in a pretty spot, beside a cataract, at Menacuddle hill, on the grounds of Mr. Martin. Penrice, 11 mile S of the town, on the road to Pentuan, is the seat of Sir Cr. B. G. Savle, Bart. Polruddon and Treerebyn were ancient residences. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £537.* Patron, the Crown. The vicarages of Charlestown and Treerbyn are separate charges.

changes.

The sub-district contains the parishes of St. Austell, St. Dennis, and Roche. Acres, 21,665. Pop., 14,768.
Houses, 2,946.—The district comprehends also the subdistrict of Fowey; containing the parishes of Fowey, Tywardreath, St. Sampson, and St. Blazey; the sub-district of Mevagissey, containing the parishes of Mevagissey, Gorran, St. Ewe, and St. Michael-Carhayes; and the subdistrict of Grampound, containing the parishes of Creed, St. Mewan, and St. Stephen in Brannel, and part of the parish of Probus. Acres, 57,446. Poor-rates, £10,449. Pop. in 1841, 31,408; in 1861, 33,797. Houses, 6,829. Marriages, 286; births, 1,200, -of which 47 were illegitimate; deaths, 675,-of which 292 were at ages under 5 years, and 21 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,804; births, 12,239; deaths, 6,577. The places of worship in 1851 were 18 of the Church of England, with 7,701 sittings; 5 of Independents, with 1,502 s.; 1 of Daptists, with 350 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 355 s.; 31 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 7,020 s.; 6 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,001 s.; 2 of the Wesleyan Association, with 440 s.; 27 of Bible Christians, with 4,032 s.; 6 of Parkiers and 1,020 s.; 6 of Parkiers and 1,02 4.082 s.; 2 of Brethren, with 161 s.; and 2 undefined, with 400 s. The schools were 18 public day schools, with 1,166 scholars; 89 private day schools, with 2,070 scholars; 56 Sunday schools, with 5,651 s.; and 2 evening schools for aduits, with 24 s.

AUSTERFIELD, a township-chapelry in Elyth parish,
W. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to Notts, and to the Retford and Doncaster railway, 1½ mile NNE of Bawtry.
Post-town, Bawtry. Acres, 2,776. Real property, 23,477.
Pop., 389. Houses, 89. A Roman camp occurs here on the line of North Watling street; and a great battle is supposed to have been fought adjacent between the Britons and the Romans under Ostorius. The living is a curacy, joined with Bawtry, in the diocese of Lincoln.

ing schools for adults, with 24 s.

The church is Norman.

AUSTERTON, a township in Acton parish, Cheshire;
on the river Weaver, 2 miles S of Nantwich. Aces,

89. Real property, £1,150. Pop., 57. Houses, 6. AUSTHORPE, a township in Whitkirk parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the Selby railway, 4 miles E of Leeds. 1; includes the hamlets of Barrowly and Great and Little Manston. Acres, 660. Real property, £1,966. Pop., 231. Houses, 44. Smeaton, the civil engineer, born in 1724, was a native; and his monument, with a representation on it of his greatest work, the Eddystone lightbouse, is in Whitkirk church.

AUSTHWAITE. See BIRKER AND AUSTRWAITE. See HULL.

AUSTINDYKE, a hamlet in Moulton parish, Lincoln . 61 miles NE of Crowland.

83

64 miles N.E. of Crowland.
AUSTLE (St.). See Austell (St.).
AUSTONLEY, a township in Almondbury parise, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Colne, 2 miles SW of Holmfirth r. station, and 64 SSW of Huddersfield.
Acres, 1,760. Real property, £5,698. Pop., 1,901.
Houses, 368. Many of the inhabitants are employed in manufactories. See HOLME-BEIDGE.

AUSTREY, a parish in the district of Tamworth, and county of Warwick; 4 miles NE of Polesworth r. station, and 64 E by N of Tamworth. It has a post-office under Atherstone. Acres, 2,097. Real property, 24,735. Pop., 557. Houses, 126. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £162.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church presents some curious specimens of stained glass in the windows; and is very good. There is a Baptist chapel. Monk's school has an endowed income of £20, and other charities have £27.

AUSTWICK, a township-chapelry in Clapham parish, W. R. Yorkshire; near Ingleborough hill, 2 miles NE of Clapham r. station, and 41 NW of Settle. Post-town, of Clapham r. station, and 44 NW of Settle. Post-town, Clapham, under Lancaster. Acres, 5,400. Real property, £5,224. Pop., 561. Houses, 128. Austwick Hall is the seat of T. R. Clapham, Esq. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Clapham, in the diocese of Ripon. The church is modern. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £27. AUTHORPE, a parish in Louth district, Lincoln; on the Wolds, and on the East Lincoln railway, 4½ miles NW of Alford. It has a station on the railway, and its post-the Wolds, and on the East Lincoln railway; 4½ miles NW of Alford. It has a station on the railway; and its posttown is Withern under Alford. Acres, 921. Real property, £1,024. Pop., 134. Houses, 26. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £166. Patron, R. Vyner, Esq. The church is very good; and there are charities £6. AVEBURY, or AEURY, a village and a parish in Marlborough district, Wilts. The village adjoins a head-stream of the Kennet river, 1½ mile N of Silbury hill, 4 miles N of Wans dyke, 6½ W of Marlborough r. station, and 8 SSE of Wootton-Dassett; and has a post-office under Chippenham. Its site is a flat area of 28 acres, once occupied hay axed Druidical tenule. Dr. Stukelev.

once occupied by a vast Druidical temple. Dr. Stukeley, who examined the temple in 1720, supposed it to have originally consisted of 650 stones, and to have included the whole site of the present village. It is surrounded by a broad ditch, ontside of which is a lofty vallum, intended, it is supposed, to enable spectators to observe the ceremonies over the whole extent of the area. Within the ditch was a circle, 1,400 feet in diameter, formed of 100 upright stones, from 15 to 17 feet in height, and about 40 in circumference, placed at a distance of 27 yards from one another. Within this were two circles, each consisting of two double concentric rows, composed of the same number of stones, and arranged in a similar manner. The grand circle had two entrances, consist-ing of double rows of 100 upright stones each, placed at equal distances, and extending a mile in length; the one terminating in a double concentric circle of smaller diameter, and the other having a stone larger than the rest at the extremity. Of this vast structure few traces now remain, the stones leaving been broken down and used in the construction of the houses of the village, and in repairing the roads. Many barrows and tumnli, together with Druidical stones, are in the neighbourhood; and a most remarkable one is that called SILBURY HILL: which see. -The parish includes the tythings of Beckhampton and East and West Kennet. Acres, 4,544. Real property, 26,717. Pop., 725. Houses, 153. The manor was given, in the time of Henry I, to the abbey of Boscharville in Normandy; passed first to Winchester college, Oxford, next to the collegiate church of Fotheringhay in Northamptonshire; and went, at the dissolution, to Sir William Sharington. Avebury-house is the manor-house. The living is a vicarage, united till 1865 to the vic. of Winterbourne-Monkton, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £250.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is an ancient structure of stone and flint, with some Norman features, but much altered by modern repairs; and has a curious Norman font. Charities £10.

AVECOTE. See SHUTTINGTON.

AVELAND, a wapentake in the parts of Kesteven, Lincoln. It contains the parish of Aslackby and twentytwo other parishes. Acres, 47,012. Pop. in 1851, 10,782; in 1861, 11,863. Houses, 2,431. AVELEY, a village and a parish in Orsett district,

The village stands adjacent to the Purfleet station of the Tilbury railway, near the Thames, 7 miles SE of Romford. It has a post-office under Romford, and a fair on Easter Monday; and was formerly a market The parish comprises 2,934 acres of land, and Pop., 930. town. The parist comporty, £5,944. Pop., 930.
Houses, 195. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £266.* Patron, the Bishop. The church is very old. There are an Independent chapel and a national school. Real property, £5,944. AVEN. See Avon.

AVENBURY, a parish in Bromyard district, Hereford; on the river Frome, 11 mile SSE of Bromyard, and 71 E of Dinmore r. station. It includes a detached tract, situated near Bridenbury; and its post-town is tract, situated near Educatory; and its post-town is Bromyard under Worcester. Acres, 3,233. Real property, £4,155. Pop., 371. Houses, 74. The property is divided among a few. Limestone occurs. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £105.* Patron, John Freenuan, Esq. The church is good. There was anciently a small priory.

AVENING, a parish in Stroud district, Gloucester;

31 miles S of Brimscombe r. station, and 6 SSE of Stroud. It lies within the parliamentary borough of Stroud; has a post-office under that town; and includes the hamlets a post-office under that town; and includes the hamlets of Aston, Forest-Green, Freeholds, West-End, Bell-Street, and Windsors-Edge, and part of the chapelry of Nailsworth. Acres, 4,423. Real property, 25,443. Pop., 2,070. Houses, 479. The manor belonged anciently to the nunnery of Caen in Normandy; and passed to the Shepheards. A large tumulus, known as the Longstone, and supposed to be the seculchre of a Danish Longstone, and supposed to be the sepulchre of a Danish chief, occurs in a field near Gatcombe Park; and there are several barrows in which human skeletons have been found. A small manufacture of woollen cloth is carried found. A small manufacture of wooffen cioth is carried on. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Glouester and Bristol. Value, 2769.* Patron, the Hon. L. H. Harman. The church is thought to have been erected by an abbess of Caen. The p. curacies of Nailsworth and Inchbrook are separate charges. There are three dissenting chapels, a school with £22 a-year from endownent, and other charities £9.

AVENIS, a tything in Bisley parish, Gloucester; 41

miles E of Stroud.

AVENUE (THE), a railway station in Northumber-land; on the Morpeth and Tynemouth railway, between Hartley-junction and Whitley. It serves for Seaton-

Sluice and Delaval Hall.

AVERHAM, a township and a parish in Southwell district, Notts. The township lies at the confluence of the Greet river with the Trent, adjacent to the Great Northern railway. 2 miles W by N of Newark. Real property, £4,049. Pop., 175. Houses, 36. The parish includes also the townrop. 1/15. Houses, 30. The parish metudes also the fown-ship of Staythorpe; and its post-town is Newark. Acres, 2646. Real property, £5,209. Pop. 237. Houses, 48. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to Sir William Sutton; who is commemorated by a curious monument in the clurch. Averham Hall the property of the stay of th is the parsonage. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Kelham, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, $1,435.* Patron, J. H. M. Sutton, Esq. The church is good. The monument to Sir William Sutton records that he had sixteen children; one half of whom

"Ushered to heaven their father; and the other Remained behind him to attend their mother."

AVETON-GIFFORD, a village and a parish in Kings-bridge district, Devon. The village stands on the river Avon, 31 miles NW of Kingsbridge, and 71 S of Kingsbridge-Road r. station. It has a post-office under Ivybridge; and was anciently a market-town. The parish comprises 3,052 acres of land, and 130 of water. comprises 3,052 acres of land, and 150 or water. Read property, £5,909. Pop., $39. Houses, 178. The property is much divided. The manor belonged formerly to the family of Gifford. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Exter. Value, £667. Patron, the Rev. W. P. Pitman. The church is early English and cruciform, with central tower; one of the finest old churches in with central tower; one of the nnest out churches in South Devon; but is in indifferent condition. There are chaples for Baptists, Methodists, and Bule Christians, good national schools, and charities £7.

AVILLE, a hamlet in Dunster parish, Somerset.

Pop., 17. AVINGHAM. See OVINGHAM.

AVINGTON, a parish in Hungerford district, Berks; on the Kennet river, the Kennet and Avon canal, and the Newbury branch of the Great Western railway, 21 miles E of Hungerford. Post-town, Hungerford. Acres, 1,143. Real property, £1,285. Pop., 104. Houses, 18. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £300. * Patron, Sir R. Burdett, Bart. The church is an interesting specimen of Norman architecture, with two early English windows, and a small early English spire-bell tur-The chancel is separated from the nave by an arch, richly ornamented with zigzag moulding and a great variety of grotesque heads, which has so settled as to look almost like two arches, and springs from enriching piers leaning outwards. The font also is Norman, of a circular form, and adorned with rudely sculptured figures.
The church was repaired in 1849. The parsonage stands adjacent, and is picturesque.

AVINGTON, a parish in Winchester district, Hauts; on the river Itching, 3 miles E of the Southwestern railway, and 5 NE of Winchester. Post-town, Itchen-Ahhots under Winchester. Acres, 1,794. Real property, £1,833. Pop., 162. Houses, 33. The manor belonged anciently to the Crown; was given, in 961, by King Edgar, to the monastery of St. Swithin at Winchester; passed, at the dissolution, to the Clerks of Mitcheldeter: and went, in the rairm of Elizabeth to the cheldever; and went, in the reign of Elizabeth, to the family of Bruges or Brydges, who afterwards became Dakes of Chandos and Buckingham. The infamous Countess of Shrewsbury, who married into this family, was often visited here by Charles II. The present house is a modern brick structure, on the site of the ancient is a modern brick structure, on the size of the survey mansion. The park lies in a sequestered valley, nearly surrounded with high downs; is well wooded; and measures about 3 miles in circuit. The living is a rective in the diocese of Winchester. Value, 2205.* Park tory in the diocese of Winchester. Yalue, £295.* Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The church stands in the park, and is modern. Charities, £20.

AVISFORD, a hundred in the rape of Arundel, Susting the park of the park of sex. It contains the parish of Barnham, and eleven other parishes. Acres, 16,258. Pop. in 1851, 3,120. Houses, 563. Avisford House, the seat of the Houston family, is 41 miles W of Arundel.

AVON, an ancient British word, signifying "stream" or "river," and specially applied to a stream of easy and gentle course. It is used both as a complete name and as a prefix; and it occurs in the hydrographical nomen-elature of all the divisions of the United Kingdom. The closest form of spelling it perhaps would be Abhin; but the various forms of Avon, Aven, Afon, Afen, Awin, Owen, Awn, Aun, and Aan, are used.

AVON (THE), a river of Monmouth. It rises 11 mile E of Nantyglo; and runs about 16 miles south-south-eastward, past Pont-y-pool, to the Usk at Caerleon. Most of its valley is traversed by one of the Monmouth railways; and part, by the Brecon and Monmouth canal. It is sometimes called the Avon-Llwyd; and sometimes the Torryden.

AVON (The), a river of Glamorgau. It rises near the sources of the Taif, 3 miles SE of Aberpergwin; and runs about 15 miles south-westward to the British channel at

AVON (The), a river of Davon. It rises in Dartmoor forest, 6 miles WSW of Ashburton; and runs, in a great casterly curve, with prevailing direction to the S, about 20 miles, past Diptford and Aveton-Gifford to the English channel at Bigbury bay.

AVON (THE), or EAST AVON, a river of Wilts and Hants. It rises 23 miles E of Devizes; runs about 64 miles south-eastward, to Upavon; and goes thence about 41½ miles southward, past Amesbury, Salisbury, and Fordingbridge, to the English channel at Christchurch. It is navigable to Salisbury. Its chief affluent is the Its waters abound with small delicate loach.

AVON (THE), or LOWER AVON, a river of Gloucester, Wilts, and Somerset. It rises near the sources of the Thames, in the vicinity of Tetbury, on the SE border of Gloucester; goes southward into Wilts, past Malmesbury, Chippenham, and Melksham, to within 13 mile of Trowbridge; strikes westward there 4 miles, past Brad-ford, to the boundary with Somerset; goes northward 41 inlies along or near that boundary; and proceeds then westward and west-north-westward, past Bath to Keynsham, and along the boundary with Gloucester, past Bristol, to the Bristol channel at King's Road. Its length of course is about 80 miles; and its bed is chiefly a deep channel, in many places through very rich and picturesque valleys. It is navigable to Eath; and is connected thence eastward, past Bradford, Senington, Devizes, Tottenham Park, Hungerford, and Newbury, to Midgham, by the Kennet and Avon canal, with the Thames. A lighthouse at its mouth, in the Bristol channel, was constructed in 1840, is 70 feet high, and shows a fixed light visible at the distance of 13 miles.

AVON (THE), or MIDDLE AVON, a river of Gloncester. It rises on the Cotswolds, SE of Alderley; and runs about 15 miles north-westward, past Wootton-under-Edge, to the estuary of the Severn in the vicinity of Berkeley.

AVON (THE), or UPPER AVON, a river of Northampton, Leicester, Warwick, Worcester, and Gloucester. It rises at Avon-Well, near Naseby in Northampton; runs 8 miles west-south-westward, along the boundary with Leicester; goes south-westward, nearly through the cen-tre of Warwickshire, past Rugby, Warwick, and Stratfordon-Avon; and proceeds in the same direction, on the boundary with Gloucester, across the S of Worcester, and into the NW corner of Gloucester, past Evesham and Pershore, to a confluence with the Severn at Tewkesbury. Its length of course is about 96 miles. Its channel, in many parts, as at Warwick and Stratford, is picturesque; and in other parts, through long reaches, lies along rich low country. Its chief tributaries are the Alne, the low country. Its chief tributaries are the Aine, the Leame, the Stour, the Sow, and the Swift. It is navigable for barges to Stratford; and is connected thence, by a branch canal, with the Worcester and Birmingham AVON, an extra-parochial tract in Chippenham dis-Western railway, 34 miles NE of Chippenham. Aeres, 156. Pop., 20. Houses, 3.

156. Pop., 20. Houses, 3.

AVON, a tything in Sopley parish, Hants; on the river Avon, 44 miles N by W of Christchurch. Pop., 207.

AVON, a hamlet in the parish of Stratford-under-the-Castle, Wilts; 2 miles NW of Salisbury. Pop., 23.

AVON, a tything in Christian-Maiford parish, Wilts; 3 miles NF of Chippenham. Pop., 76.

AVON-DASSET, a parish in the district of Banbury and county of Warwick; 2 miles SW of Fenny-Compton r. station, and 64 NNW of Banbury. 1t has a post-office under Eaphury. Acres 1.550. Real property £3.038.

1. station, and of Artwo of Danbury. It has a post-office under Banbury. Acres, 1,580. Real property, £3,038. Pop., 230. Houses, 57. The living is a rectory in the dio. of Worcester. Value, £366.* Patron, the Rev. R. G. Jeston. The church was rebuilt in 1869.

AVONMOUTH, a new sca-port in the SW of Gloueester; at the mouth of the river Avon, and at the terminus of the Bristol Port and Pier railway, 54 miles NW by W of Clifton. The railway and the pier were opened in 1865; and a dock, 1,400 feet long and 85 wide, was being constructed in 1869. The port is to accommodate such large vessels as cannot readily go up the Avon to Bristol. AVONMOUTH, a hamlet in Thurlestone parish, Devon; on the river Avon, 41 miles W of Kingsbridge, AVON (NETHER). See NETHER-AVON.

AVON-WEN, a railway station in the Lleyn peninsula, Carnarvon; 4 miles NE by E of Pwllheli.

AWBRIDGE, a hamlet in Mitchelmersh parish, Hants; 2½ nides N v o. sey. Pop., 345.
AWBURN. See AUBURN.
See ALFOLD. See A 21 miles NW of Romsey. It has a post-office under Rom.

AWKERINGTON. See ALKERTON.

AWKLEY. See AUCKLEY. AWLISCOMBE, a village and a parish in Honiton district, Devon. The village stands near the river Otter, and near the Yeovil and Exeter railway, 2 miles WNW of Honiton. It has a post-office under Honiton; and was formerly a market-town. The parish comprises 2,569 acres. Real property, £4,022. Pop., 579. Houses, 125. The property is much subdivided. The manor was given, in 1491, by Thomas Calwoodley, to the corporation of Exeter; but comprised then only 2034 acres. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £213.* Patron, the Duke of Bedford. The church is a neat Gothic edifice, mostly rebuilt in 1846; consists of nave, chancel, and aisles; and has a beautiful carved stone screen, and a tower. There are a Unitarian chapel, and charities £10. Thomas Charde, the last abbot of Ford, was a native.

AWNBY. See HOLYWELL-WITH-AWNBY.

AWRE, a tything and a parish in the district of Westbury-on-Severn, Gloucester. The tything lies on the river Severn, and on the South Wales railway, 2 miles SE of Newnham; and has a post-office under Newnham, and a r. station. The parish includes also Bledisloe, Hagand a r. station. The parish includes also Bledisloe, Hag-loe, Etloe, and Blakeney. Acres, 6,115; of which 2,035 are water. Real property, £10,888. Pop., 1,526. Houses, 287. The property is much subdivided. Part of the land has been washed away by the Severn. Iron pyrites occur. The weaving of cloth is carried on. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Pristol. Value, £30.° The church is in good repair. The vicarage of Blakeney is a separate charge. Stemhold, one of the translators of the English metrical version of the Psalms, was a native.

AWSWORTH, a chapelry in Nuthall parish, Notts; 31 miles W of Bulwell r. station, and 6 NW of Nottingham. Post town, Bulwell under Nottingham. Rated property, £900. Pop., 294. The property is subdivid-ed. Most of the inhabitants are colliers or stocking weavers. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £101.* Patron, the rector of Nuthall. The church is modern. There is a P. Methodist chapel.

AXBRIDGE, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Somerset. The town stands near the river Axe, and near the Cheder valley and Yatton railway, at the NW end of the Mendips, 10 miles NW of Wells and has a railway station. It is an ancient place; and Roman roads went from it to Portishead and Ilchester. It consists chiefly of a tolerably neat street, running in a winding manner from east to west; and is practically no more than a village. The guild-hall and market-house stands at the east end; and is a modern edifice, rebuilt at a cost of about £1,800. The parish church stands on an emineuce near the market-house; is a large, cruciform, early English structure, with a handsome tower; and contains old monuments to the family of Prowse. The town has a post-office; under Weston-super-Mure, two banking-offices, and a chief inn; and is a polling-place, and a seat of petty sessions. Markets are held on Saturdays; and fairs, on 3 Feb., 25 March, and 2d Tues. of Oct. Axbridge was formerly a borough by prescription, and sent members to parliament during the reigns of the first three Edwards, but was afterwards excused on the ground of poverty; and it still is governed, under charter from Queen Elizabeth, by a mayor, a bailiff, and ten aldermen. A tract adjacent to it was so improved by drainage of the Axe, about the year 1800, at a cost of £70,000, that land which previously was worth only about 2s. 6d. yearly per acre, is now rented at £5 and £6.—The parish comprises 540 acres. Real property, £2,625. Pop., 799. Houses, acres. Real property, £2,625. Pop., 799. Houses, 173. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Value, £158.* Patron, the Bishop of Bath and There are chapels for Wesleyans and Plymouth Brethren, and charities £101.

The sub-district contains the parishes of Axbridge, The sub-district contains the parisnes of Axoriage, Christon, Loxton, Compton-Bishop, Winscombe, Rowberrow, Shipham, Cheddar, and Nyland. Acres, 18,297. Pop., 5,856. Houses, 1,234.—The district comprehends also the sub-district of Wedmore, containing the parishes of Wedmore, Mark, Chapel-Allerton, Weare, Badgworth, and Biddisham; the sub-district of Burnham, containing the parishes of Burnham, East Brent, South Brent, Berrow, Brean, Lympsham, and Bleadon; the sub-district of Banwell, containing the parishes of Bauwell, Worle, Uphill, Hutton, Locking, Weston-super-Mare, Kewstoke, and Wick-St. Lawrence; and the subdistrict of Blagdon, containing the parishes of Blagdon, district of Biagdon, containing the parishes of Biagdon, Burrington, Churchill, Puxton, Congresbury, Wrington, and Butcombe, and the ville of Charterhouse-on-Mendip. Poor-rates in 1866, 221,819. Pop. in 1841, 32,204; in 1861, 36,106. Houses, 7,053. Marriages in 1866, 254; births, 1,071,—of which 45 were illegitimate; deaths 709.—of which 901 were at age which years. deaths 792, -of which 291 were at ages under 5 years, and 29 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years and 29 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,903; births, 9,637; deaths, 6,029. The places of worship in 1851 were 41 of the Church of England, with 13,143 sittings; 3 of Independents, with 730 s.; 13 of Baptists, with 2,729 s.; 2 of Quakers, with 60, s.; 24 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,856 s.; 2 of the Wesleyan Association, with 538 s.; 7 of Bible Christians, with 820 s.; and 1 undefined, with 30 attendants. schools were 36 public day schools, with 2,271 scholars; 67 private day schools, with 1,036 s.; 54 Sunday schools, with 3,444 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 12 The workhouse is in Compton-Bishop.

AXE (THE), a river of Somerset. It rises on the Mendip hills, 2 miles NW of Wells; and runs about 20 miles north-westward, past Axbridge, to the Bristol channel at Uphill bay. It is a good trouting stream.

AXE (THE), a river of Dorset and Deven. It rises near Cheddington, in Dorset; runs south-westward to Ford, where it enters Devon; and goes thence south-southwestward, past Axminster, to the English channel at Its length of course is about 21 miles. It Axmouth is navigable for about 4 miles from its mouth.

is navigance for about 4 miles from its mouth.

AXE-EDGE HILL, a hill on the meeting point of Derby, Stafford, and Cheshire; at the sources of the rivers Dove, Wye, and Dane, 4 miles SW of Buxton. It has a savage outline; rises to the height of 1,756 feet; and commands a view from Lincoln cathedral to Snowden.

AXEL. See AXHOLME.

AXFORD, a tything in Ramsbury parish, Wilts; on the river Kennet, 3 miles ENE of Marlborough. Pop.,

Houses, 74.

AXHOLME (ISLE of), an insulated tract, between the rivers Trent, Idle, and Don, in the extreme NW of Lincolashire. It comprises the parishes of Althorpe, Belton, Crowle, Epworth, Haxey, Luddington, and Owston. Its length, north-north-eastward, is 17 miles; Its length, north-north-eastward, is 17 miles; and its mean breadth is about 41 miles. lew, flat, and naturally marshy. A forest seems anciently to have covered it; and remains of trees are found a few feet below the surface. The body of a woman, supposed to have lain from the time of Edward I., was found in a state of entire preservation, in 1747, in a merass near Amcotts. A castle of the Mowbrays, razed in 1174, stood at Haxey, then called Axel; and thence arose the name of Axelholm, now altered into Axholme. AXIUM. See UPHILL.

AXMINSTER, a town, a sub-district, a hundred, and a district, in Devon; and a parish partly also in Dorset. The town stands on a rising ground, adjacent to the river Axe, above the influx of the Yarty, and contiguous to the Yeovil and Exeter railway, 25 miles E by N of Exeter. It has a station on the railway; which serves also for Lyme Regis. It dates from a period prior to the Roman invasion; it was called by the Anglo-Saxons Bruuenburgh, and gave that name to the battle-field of Athelstan's famous victory, in 937, over the Danes, the Scotch, and the Irish; and it took the name of Axniinster from a great church or minster, for seven priests, said to have been founded at it by Athelstan, in comsome to have been founded as it by Atherstan, in com-memoration of his victory. A party of the Royal troops were stationed in it in 1644; and fought an action, in its neighbourhood, with the Parliamentarians. The Prince of Orange abode some days in it, in 1689, on his way to Lenden. Its streets are irregularly formed, but spacious. A central place in it, called Trinity-square, was laid out after a great fire in 1834. The parish church is a large edifice of nave, aisles, and chancel, with massive central tower; consists variously of ancient parts and modern renovations, and perhaps includes some portion of Athelstan's minster; possesses a fine Norman doorway, and displays elsewhere the three styles of pointed architecture, -early English, decorated, and perpendicular; and centains two monumental effigies, a number of armorial shields, and a painting of the twelve apostles. A new cemetery is about a mile distant, on the Chard road. There are chapels for Independents, Wesleyans and Roman Catholics; likewise a national school, and a free education charity. The work-house was erected in 1836, at a cost of £7,000; and afterwards enlarged at a further cost of £2,500. The town has a emarged at a further cost of 22,000. The town has a head post-office, two banking offices, and three chief inns; and is a seat of petty sessions, and of county-courts. Markets are held on Thursdays and Saturdays; courts. Markets are need of Hunsday and Saududys, and fairs, on the Tuesday after 25 April, the Tuesday after 24 June, and the Wednesday after 10 Oct. A manufacture of famous carpets, rivalling those from Turkey, was begun in 1755, but came to an end in 1835; and silk-throwing then was tried. The environs of the town are pleasant; the views in the vicinity, extensive and beautiful; and all the approaches, good and wide. A tunnel on the road from Charmonth, opened in 1832. A tunnet on the road from charmouth, opened in 1832, pierces one of the steepest hills between London and Exeter, and is about 70 yards long, and of sufficient capacity to permit two of the largest stage-waggons to capacity, to perimit two of the largest stage-waggons to pass each other. A bill was introduced in 1860 for an Axminster, Scaton, and Beer Junction railway, with bridge over the Axe.

The parish includes the tythings of Abbey, Shapwick, Smallridge, Trill, Uphay, West Water, Weycrott, and Wyke or Week, in Devon, and the tything of Beerhall in Dorset. Acres, 7,637. Real property, £16,253. Pop., 2,918. Houses, 547. The manor belonged to the Crown till after the Norman conquest; was given by Crown the after the Norman conquest, was given by King John to Lord Brewer; passed to Lord Reginald do Mohttn, who gave it to the abbey of Newchham; went, at the dissolution, to the Duke of Norfolk; and was sold, in the time of James I., to Lord Petre. The rest of the landed property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage, naited with the curacies of Kilmington and Membury, in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £975. Patrons, the Reps. of Dean Conybeare. Dr. Bucklaud, the famous geoloof Dean Conybeare. gist, was a native.—The sub-district comprises 5 parishes. Acres, 19,219. Pop., 5,537. Houses, 1,098.—The hundred contains thirteen parishes, and an extra-parochial tract. Acres, 48,699. Pop., 10,823. Houses, 2,178.— The district comprehends the sub-district of Axminster, containing the parishes of Axminster, Kilmington, Combcontaining the patients of Alawkchurch, the two last electorally in Dorset; the sub-district of Lyme, containing the parishes of Uplyme, Charmouth, and Lyme-legis, the two last electorally in Dorset; the sub-district of Chardstock, containing the parishes of Membury, Stockland, Dalwood, and Chardstock, the last electorally in Dorset; and the sub-district of Colyton, containing the parishes of Colyton, Shute, Musbury, Axmouth, and Seaton, and the extra-parochial tract of Roosdown. Acres, 61,738. The Chara-parocinal tract of Acosadown. Acres, 61,788. Poor-rates in 1866, £12,875. Pop. in 1861, 19,758. Houses, 3,997. Marriages in 1866, 123; births, 605,—of which 31 were illegitimate; deaths, £27,—of which of which of were negitimate; deaths, 227,—61 which all 9 were at ages under 5 years, and 17 at ages above 85 years. Martiages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,870; births, 5,729; deaths, 3,921. The places of worship in 1851 were 20 of the Church of England, with 8,630 sittings; 8 of Independents, with 2,255 s.; 4 of Baptists, with 900 s.; I of Unitarians, with 195 s.; 7 of Wesleyans Methodists, with 1,064 s.; 3 of Bible Christians, with 170 s.; and 2 of Roman Catholics, with 96 s. The schools were 23 public day schools, with 1,397 scholars; senous were 20 public day schools, with 1,007 schools; 43 private day schools, with 834 s; 32 Sinday schools, with 2,551 s; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 21 s. AXMOUTH, a village and a parish in Axminster district, Devon. The village stands at the mouth of the trict, Devon. The village stands at the mouth of the river Axe, under Hawksdown hill, 6 miles SSW of Ax-It has a post-office under Axminster; and is a coast-guard station, and a station of the survey com-menced in 1837 to detect the differences of level between the English and the British channels. A harbour here gave refuge, in ancient times, to vessels under stress of weather; was much improved in the early part of the weather; was much improved in the early part of the 17th century; and now has piers for the moorage and discharge of vessels of 150 tons burden. A range of cliffs extending hence east-north-eastward to Lyme-Regis has been remarkably subject to land-slips; and commands magnificent views of nearly the whole coast of Devon and Dorset. A great land-slip occurred on the 25th of December 1839, destroying two cottages and 45 acres of fine arable land, and forming a chasm 300 feet or more broad, 150 feet deep, and $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile long; and another, of much smaller extent, occurred on the 3d of February 1840. The parish comprises 4,533 acres of land, and 190 of water. Real property, £5,631. Pop., 662. Houses, 126. The manor was given by Rivers, Earl of Devon, to the abbey of St. Mary, Mountbarrow, in Normandy; passed, at the suppression of alien monasteries, to the abbey of Sion; went, at the final dissoluasteries, to the abbey of Sion; went, at the nam dissolu-tion of monasteries, to Catherine, queen of Henry VIII.; was granted, in 1552, to Walter Erle, Esq.; passed from him to Sir W. Yonge; was purchased, in 1691, by R. Hallett, Esq.; and belongs now to that gentlyman's de-scendant, W. T. Hallett, Esq., whose residence is a fine mansion, called Stedcombe House. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £230.* Patron, W. T. Hallett, Esq. The church consists of nave, chancel, and south porch; is early English and perpendicular, but has an Anglo-Norman doorway and some wildly grotesque gurgoils; and centains monuments of the Erles and the Halletts.

AXTON, a township in Llanasa parish, Flint; 61

miles ENE of Rhyddlan.

AXTON, a hundred in the lathe of Sutton-at-Hone, parishes. Acres, 34,139. Pop. in 1851, 9,869. Houses, 1,852.

AXWELL PARK, the seat of Sir W. A. Clavering, Bart. on the north horder of Durham; on the rivulet Derwent, a little above its influx to the Tyne, 2 miles S of Blaydon.

AYCLIFFE, a village, a township, and a sub-district in the district of Darlington, and a parish in the districts of Darlington and Stockton, Durham. The village stands adjacent to the river Skerne, 1 of a mile W of the York and Berwick railway, 51 miles N of Darlington. It has a station on the railway, and a pest-office under Darlington. It is an ancient place; belonged to the see of Lindisfarne; and was the meeting-place of synods in 782 and 789 .- The township bears the name of Great Ayelisic; and comprises 2,134 acres. Real property, £3,131.
Pop., 840. Houses, 185. Extensive lime quarries are worked .- The sub-district includes another township of the same parish, parts of two other parishes, and two entire parishes. Acres, 27,745. Pop., 4,955. Ilouses, 1,045. The parish includes the townships of Great Aycliffe and Brafferton, in the district of Darlington, and the townships of Preston-le-Skerne and Woodham, and the townsmps of Preston-te-Skerne and Woodman, in the district of Stockton. Acres, 10,558. Real property, £10,234. Pop., 1,458. Houses, 290. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £350. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Durham. The church is mixedly Norman and pointed; consists of nave, chancel, asies, and porch, with a western tower 85 feet high; and is in good condition. There are remains of two Saxon crosses in the churchyard. There are chapels for Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists, and charities £8.

AYCLIFFE (School), a township in Heighington

parish, Durham; near the Clarence railway, 2 miles WNW of Ayclille. Acres, 524. Pop., 25. Houses, 4.

AYDON, a township in Corbridge parish, Northumberland; 2 miles NE of Corbridge, midway thence to the Roman wall. Acres, 750. Pop., 78. Houses, 15. Lead ore and coal occur; and Roman remains have been AYDON CASTLE, a township in Corbridge parish, Northumberland; 1½ mile N of Corbridge. Aeres, 393. Pop., 30. Houses, 5. A fortified house of the Aydon family was built here, in the time of Edward I., on the side of a ravine; and still stands well in a state of ruin. It has the form of the letter H, with a tower at the end of each of the four wings. The walls are very thick; and one of the towers is upwards of 60 feet high.

AYES WATER. See HAYS WATER.

AYLES WATER. See HAYS WATER.
AYLBURTON, a tything in Lydney parish, Gloucester; about a mile W of Lydney. It has a post-office under Lydney. Pop., 604. Houses, 106. It forms a curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Lydney; and its church was rebuilt in 1857.

AYLESBEAR, a village and a parish in St. Thomas strict. Devon. The village stands on the eastern dedistrict, Devon. clivity of the bold range of hills, between the basins of the Otter and the Exe, 31 miles S by W of Whimple r. the Otter and the Exe, 3; miles S by W of Whitaple F. station, and S E of Exeter. It has a post-office under Exeter; is a very straggling place; and was anciently the inheritance of the Earls of Devon, and then bore the name of Earlesbear. The parish includes also the tything of Newton-Poppleford. Acres, 2,948. Real property, £3,530. Pop., 1,079. Houses, 227. Tho property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarproperty, £3,530. 109., Aproperty is divided among a few. The living is a vical property is divided among a few. Value, £210. Patron, age, in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £210. Patron, the Rev. W. H. Carwithen. The church is an ancient edifice, of nave, chancel, north aisle, and western tower; and contains a memorial window to Cecilia Yates, and mural tablets to the Markers, the Stokes, and others. The vicarage of Newton-Poppleford is a separate benc-There is an Independent chapel.

AYLESBURY, or AILESBURY, a town, a parish, AYLEADURY, or AILESBURY, a town, a parish, a sub-district, a hundred, and a district, in Bucks. The town stands on a rising-ground, and on a small affluent of the river Tame, in the rich vale of Aylesbury, at railway termini, 16 miles SSE of Buckingham, and 38 by road, or 433 by railway, NW of London. One railway goes from it into junction with the Northwestern; another goes into junction with the Great Western; and another, 121 miles long, the Aylesbury and Buckingham, authorised in Aug. 1860, and opened in 1868, goes north-north-westward to the Buckinghamshire at Claydon. A canal also, 6 miles long, rising 95 feet, with 16 locks, goes eastward to the Grand Junction canal at Marsworth. Aylesbury was a strongly-fortified seat of the ancient Britons; and was maintained by them in independence till captured, in 571, by Cuthwolf, brother of Coadwin, king of the West Saxons; and it was then called Æglesberg or Elisherie. It became a royal manor at the Conquest; was soon given to one of the followers of the court; belonged for ages to the Packingtons; passed, in the time of Henry VIII., to Sir John Baldwin, chief-justice of the common pleas; and was an important post of the parliamentarian forces in 1644 and 1645.

The town is irregularly built, and consists of a spacious central, rectangular market-place, and diverging streets and thoroughlares. The corn-exchange and marketand thoroughtures. and thoroughards. In both cathaday are in the Tudor style. The county-hall is a large, handsome childre of red brick. The county-gaol was handsome edifice of red brick. built in 1847; contains 220 cells for male prisoners, 17 cells for female prisoners, and very ample accommodation for debtors; and stands within an enclosure of 5 acres, entered by an archway. The work-house was built in 1844; and is an edifice of red brick, in Tudor architecture. The patish church is a crueiform structure, of successive ages, from early English to the latest perpeu-dicular; is surmounted at the centre by successively a low embattled tower, a square turret, a short spire, and a cross 9 feet high; was restored by Scott in 1849; contains beautifully-stained windows, and two canopied decorated tombs; and is so situated as to command a fine view, and be seen for many miles round. The churchyard is extensive; and is laid out in walks, and planted with trees. The prebendal house, adjoining the churchyard, occupies the site of an ancient monastery; was formerly the residence of the prebendaries of Aylesbury; and became the private property of the vicar, Archdeacon Bickersteth. The new county infirmary was erected in 1862, and has accommodation for 54 patients. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Methodists, and Quakers. A grammar school has an endowed income of £539; and other charities have £1,056.

The town has a head post-office, three banking-offices, and four chief inns; and publishes three newspapers, two Markets are of them weekly, the other twice a-week. held on Saturdays; and fairs on the Friday after 18 Jan., Palm Saturday, 8 May, 14 June, 25 Sept., and 12 Oct. Public conveyances run daily to Princes-Risborough and to Thame. Lace-making once flourished, but has greatly declined; straw-plait-making is prosperous; there is a silk factory; and about £22,000 worth of ducks are annually sent to London. Aylesbury is the seat of the assizes for the county, the principal place of the county elections, and the seat of the county quarter sessions. It was a borough, governed by a corporation under a It was a corough, governed by a corporation, made a charter of Mary, dated 1554; but, from neglect and dis-use of its privileges, it forfeited the charter in the time of Elizabeth. It sends two members to parliament; but, in 1804, in consequence of excessive corruption by bribery, the franchise was extended to the whole hundred of Aylesbury. The number of electors in 1868 was 1,329; and the amount of direct taxation in 1859 was £13,845. The town gives the titles of Earl and Marquis to the family of Bruce. The vale of Aylesbury is a fer-tile tract, described by Drayton as "lusty, firm, and fat," affording pasturage to an extraordinary number of sheep, interesting to geologists for abundance of ammonites and other fossils, and bounded along the S and the nites and other fossils, and bounded along the S and the N by chalk hills. Pop. of the town, returned with the parish; of the borough, the same as that of the hundred. The parish includes the hamlet of Walton. Acres, 200. Real property, £19,694. Pop., 6,168. Houses, 1,313. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £300.* Patron, the Bishop of Oxford. The vicarage of Walton is a separate charge.—The sub-district contains five parishes. Acres, 11,239. Pop., 8,272. Houses, 1,715.—The bundred, which is also the borough, comprises the parishes of Aylesbury, Aston-Clinton, Bierton-with-Broughton, Buckland, Cuddington, Haddenham, Halton, Hartwell, Hulcott, Stone, and Weston-Turville, and part of the parish of Dinton, in the district Turville, and part of the parish of Dinton, in the district of Aylesbury; the parishes of Lee and Great Missenden, in the district of Amersham; and the parishes of Bledow-with-Ridge, Ellesborough, Great Hampden, Little Hampden, Horsendon, Great Kimble, Little Kimble, Little Missenden, Monks-Risborough, Princes-Risborough, Stoke-Manderille, and Weudover, and part of the parish of Hitchenden, in the district of Wycombe. Acres, 71,069. Pop. in 1851, 26,794; in 1861, 27,090.

The district of Aylesbury comprehends the sub-district of Aylesbury, containing the parishes of Aylesbury, Hartwell, Stone, Aston-Sandford, and Dinton; the subdistrict of Haddenlam, containing the parishes of Haddenlam, Cuddington, Chearsley, Nether-Winchendon, Ashendon, Wotton-Underwood, Grendon-Underwood, Lidamobil Underwood, Wishands and word Wildenberg. Ashendon, Wotton-Underwood, Grendon-Underwood, Ludgershall, Upper-Winchendon, and part of Waldesdon; the sub-district of Aston-Clinton, containing the parishes of Aston-Clinton, Weston-Turville, Halton, Hawridge, Choulesbury, Drayton-Beauchamp, Buckland, Hulcott, Bierton-with-Broughton, and Wingrave-with-Rowsham; and the sub-district of Waddesdon, containing the parishes of Aston-Abbotts, Cubling-ton, Creslow, Whitehurch, Hardwicke, Quarrendon, Fleet-Marston, Quainton, Pitcheott, Oving, and part of Waddesdon. Acres, 73,364. Poor-rates in 1866, £15,993. Pop. in 1861, 23,600. Houses, 5,063. Marriages in 1866, 160; hirths, 802,—of which 65 were illegitimate; deaths, 490,—of which 147 were at ages under 5 years, and 16 were at ages above 83 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,661; births, 7,781; deaths, 5,026. The places of worship in 1851 were 35 of the 5,025. The piaces of worsing in 1891 were 35 of the Church of England, with 9,879 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 590 s.; 13 of Baptists, with 2,695 s.; 10 (Quakers, with 182 s.; 13 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,669 s.; 6 of Primitive Methodists, with 809 s.; 1 of Roman Catholics, with 120 a.; and 4 undefined, with 1,033 s. The schools were 22 public day schools, with 1,787 scholars; 19 private day schools, with 337 s.; 55 Sunday schools, with 4,096 s.; and 4 evening schools for adults, with 41 s.

schools for adults, with 41 s.

AYLESBY, a parish in Caistor district, Lincoln; on the Wolds, 2½ miles WSW of Great Coates r. station, and 4 W of Great Grimsby. Post-town, Lacely under Grimsby. Acres, 2,110. Real property, £2,851. Pop., 130. Houses, 26. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £73. Patron, T. T. Drake, Esq. AYLESFORD, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a lathe, in Kent. The town, the parish, and the sub-district, are in the district of Malling. The and the sub-district, are in the district of Malling. The town stands at the foot of a hill, on the right bank of the Medway, aljacent to the North Kent railway, 3 miles NNW of Maidstone; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-officet under Maidstone. It dates from the times of the Saxons; and was then called Eaglesford. A battle was fought at it, in 455, between the British king Vortimer and the Saxon chiefs Hengist and Horsa; and terminated in favour of the Britons. The alleged grave of Horsa is shown, in a heap of flint-stones, at Horsted, 2 miles to the N; but is claimed also at Horsham and Horsted in Sussex. Victorious battles against the Danes also were fought in the vicinity, in 893 by Alfred, and in 1016 by Edmund Ironside. The town consists of one long street. Remains of a Nor-The town consists of one long street. Remains of a Norman keep, about 10 feet high, are in it; and a six-arched bridge, of considerable antiquity, is adjacent on the river. A Carmelite priory was founded at it, in 1240, by Richard Lord Grey of Codnor; passed, at the dissolution, to Sir Thomas Wyatt of Allington; went, in the time of Elizabeth, to John Sedley of Southfleet; was sold, in the time of Charles I., to Sir Peter Rycaut; and came eventually to Hencage Finch, who was created Earl of Aylesford in 1714, and whose representatives still possess it. The existing edifice retains much of the ancient buildings; but includes additions and alterations, from the 17th century downward, by its successive occupants. The parish church crowns an abrupt risingground at the end of the town; is principally Norman, with a square tower at the west end; and contains a brass of 1426, monuments of the Colepeppers, the Sedleys, and the Rycauts, and a costly one to Sir John Banks, who died in 1699. There are a neat Wesleyan chapel, a literary institution, national schools, an almshouse-hospital with £135 a-year, restored in 1841, and other charities £43. An extensive stone-ware pottery and a large paper-mill are on the river a short reserve the hospital burning the stone of the reserve the reserve the stone of the reserve the reserve the reserve the stone of the reserve the reserv A remarkable Druidical monument, called way to the E. KIT'S-COTTY-HOUSE (which see) is on the hill-side, AITS-COTTY-HOUSE (which see) is on the hill-stide, above the town. Cosention, the seat of a family of its own name, from the time of King John till that of Henry VIII., but now a farm-house, is on the same hill-side. Sir Charles Salley, the poet, and Sir Paul Rycaut, the oriental traveller, were natives of Aylesford.

oriental traveller, were natives of Aylestord.

The parish comprises 4,391 acres. Real property, £10,104. Pop., 2,057. Houses, 327. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £531. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Rochester.—The sub-district contains ten parishes. Acres, 19,208. Pop., 8,036. Houses, 1,437.—The district of Aylesford lies N of Malling district; and bearthe name of North Aylesford. It consists of the subthe name of North Aylesford. It consists of the subdistrict of Northlest, containing the parishes of Northlest, district of Rorthlest, containing the parishes of Northlest, lfield, Nursted, Meopham, Luddesdown, Cobham, Denton, Chalk, and Shorne and Mcrston; and the subdistrict of Strood, containing the parishes of Strood, Higham, Cliffe-at-Hoo, Frindsbury, Cuxtone, and Halling. Acres, 41,732. Poor-rates, £11,138. Pop. in 1811, 14,676; in 1861. 19.121. Houses, 3,579. Marriages, 206; births, 643,—of which 27 were illegitimate; deaths, 327,—of which 131 were at ages under 5 years, Teaths, 327,—of which 131 were at ages under 5 years, and 6 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,868; births, 6,390; deaths, 3,648. The places of worship in 1851 were 14 of the Church of England, with 4,484 sittings; 3 of Independents, with 744s.; 3 of Baptists, with 571s.; 3 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 514 s.; 2 of Primitive Methodists, with 220 s.; and 1 of the Wesleyan Methodist Association, with 55 s. The schools were 12 public day schools with 1,277 scholars; 37 private day schools, with 857 s.; and 24 Sunday schools, with 1,933 s. The workhouse is in Strood.—The lathe of Aylesford extends from the Thames to Sussex; is from 71 to 23 miles broad; and contains the hundreds of Brenchley and Horsemonden, Chatham and Gillingham, Eyhorne, Hadlow, Hoo, Larkfield, Littlefield, Maidstone, Shamwell, Toltingtrough, Lowey-Tunbridge, Twyford, Washlingstone, West Malling, and Wrotham. Acres, 261,743. Pop. in 1851, 121,108; in Wrotham. Acres, 261,743. Pop. 1861, 138,752. Houses, 24,897. AYLESHAM. See Hallsham.

AYLESTONE, a village and a parish in Blaby district, Leicester. The village stands at the junction of the Union canal with the river Soar, near the Fosse-way, 1½ mile WNW of Wigston r. station, and 2½ S by W of Leicester. Pop., 392. Houses, 90. The parish includes also the township of Glen-Parva and the chapelry of Lubbesthorpe; and its post-town is Leicester. Acres, 3,850. Real property, £5,444. Pop., 575. Houses, 132. The property is not much divided. Avlestone Hall was formerly the seat of the Rutland family; and is an ancient mansion recently restored. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £845.* Patron, the Duke of Rutland. The church is a substantial structure, with tower and lofty spire. A neat national school, in the Gothic style, was recently built.

AYLMERTON, a parish in Enjingham district, Nor-folk: near the coast, 3 miles WSW of Cromer, and 18 E of Walsingham r. station. Post-town, Cromer under Norwich Acres, 1,679. Real property, £1,484. Pop., 250. Houses, 66. The property is divided among a few. Beacon Hill commands a fine prospect. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Runton, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £500. Patron, John Ketton, Esq. The church is later English, and was restored in 1865.

AYLSHAM, a small town, a parish, and a district, in Norfolk. The town stands on the river Bure, amid one of the most pleasant tracts in the county, 12 miles N by W of Norwich r. station. It has a post-office+ under Norwich, a good inn, a police station, and a corn-ex-change; is a seat of petty sessions and county courts; had a county bridewell, now converted into dwelling-houses; and conducts some commerce by harges on the Bure. A manufacture of linen, known as Aylsham web, was carried on in the times of Edward II. and Edward III.; and a manufacture of woollen fabrics sprang up at a later period; but both have disappeared. The chief employperiod; but both have disappeared. ments now are in the corn-trade, the timber-trade, and country business. A weekly market is held on Tuesday; and fairs, on 23 March and the last Tuesday of Sept. The parish church is decorated English, said to have been built by John of Gaunt ; consists of nave, chancel, and transept, with a square tower, and spire; and contains an ancient rood-screen, a carved font, and numerous brasses. The churchyard contains the grave of olls orasses. The characteristic contains are given of Humphrey Repton, the landscape gardener, who died in 1813. There are chaples for Eaptists, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists, a free school, and clearities £25. The interesting seat of Blickling Hall is in the vicinity, within the contiguous parish of Blickling. Pop. of the town, 2,388. Houses, 524.

own, 2,388. Houses, 52... The parish comprises 4,308 acres. Real property, 15,153. Pop., 2,623. Houses, 572. The property in the disc The parish comprises 100 Houses, 572. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £125. Latrons, the Dean and Company of the Company of th Chapter of Canterbury .- The district comprehends the sub-district of Buxton, containing the parishes of Aylsham, Buxton, Ingworth, Erpingham, Thwaite, Alby,

Colby, Banningham, Tuttington, Skeyton, Swanton-Abbot, Scottow, Coltishall, Belaugh, Hautbois-Magna, Hantbois-Parva, Lammas, Oxnead, Burgh, Brampton, Marsham, Hevingham, and Stratton-Strawless; and the sub-district of Eynsford, containing the parishes of Thursub-district of Eynsford, containing the parishes of Thurning, Hindolveston, Wood-Norton, Foulsham, Themelthorpe, Guestwick, Wood-Dalling, Hackford-by-Reepham, Whitwell, Reepham, Kerdiston, Sall, Cawston, Heydon, Corpusty, Saxhorpe, Irimigland, Oulton, Itteringham, Mannington, Barningham-Pavva, Wickmerc, Wolterton, Calthorpe, and Bilckling. Aeres, 68,123. Poor-rates in 1866, 29,887. Pop. in 1856,
19,052. Honses, 4,297. Marriages in 1866, 112; births, 563,—of which 69 were illegitimate; deaths, 327,—of which 191 were at gase under 5 years, and 26 were at which 121 were at ages under 5 years, and 26 were at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ren years 1531-00, 1,342; births, 6,256; deaths, 4,113. The places of worship in 1851 were 42 of the Church of England, with 8,803 sittings; 4 of Independents, with 938 s.; 5 of Baptists, with 1,260 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 180 s.; 14 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,430 s.; 16 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,609 s.; and 10 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 1,168 s. The schools were 24 public day schools, with 1,411 scholars; 41 private day schools, with 1,001 s.; 51 Sunday schools, with 2,192 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 53 s. The work-house is in Aylsham.

is in Ayusham.

AYLTON, a parish in Ledbury district, Hercford; 13 mile SE of Ashperton r. station, and 31 W of Ledbury. Post-town, Ledbury. Acres, 825. Real property, £1,174. Pop., 89. Houses, 21. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hercford. Value, £149.* Patron, the Earl of Oxford. The church needs repair.

AYLWORTH, a hamlet in Naunton parish, Gloucester; near the Cotswolds, 61 miles SW of Stow.

AYMESTREY, a township and a parish in Leominster district, Hereford. The township lies on the river Lug, 31 miles NNW of Kingsland r. station, and 7 NW of Leominster. The village in it is pleasant; the neighbouring banks of the Lug are singularly rich and beautiful; and a circumjacent limestone formation is famous for fossils picked up either in quarries or on the public road. Real property, £1,893. The parish includes also the townships of Leinthall-Earls, Nether-Lye, Over-Lye, Yatton, Shirley, and Covenhope or Conhope; and its post-town is Kingsland, Herefordshire. Acres, 6,349. Real property, with Elton and Leinthall-Starkes, £8,324. Pop., 855. Houses, 178. The property is much subdivided. Traces of Roman and British camps are near the village. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £249.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good. The p. euracy of Leinthall-Earls is a separate charge. Two endowed schools, an almshouse, and other charities, have aggregately an income of £50.

AYNHO, a village and a parish in Brackley district, Northampton. The village stands on the Roman Portway, near the Oxford and Birmingham railway, the Oxford canal, and the river Cherwell, 6 miles SE by S of Banbury; and it has a station on the railway, and a postoffice under Banbury. It was once a market-town; and it had anciently an hospital, for the accommodation of travellers, founded by the Fitz-Riehards in the time of Henry II., and eventually given to Magdalene college, Oxford. A spring, called the Town well, runs from it to the Cherwell; and traces exist at its E end of the Roman Oxiou. As Justices exist at its E end of the Roman the Cherwell; and traces exist at its E end of the Roman Portway. The parish comprises 2,330 acres. Real property, £4,724. Pop., 595. Houses, 131. The property is not much divided. Aynho Park, adjacent to the village, the seat of W. C. Cartwright, Esq., is a prominent feature, and contains a good collection of pictures. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, 2500. Patron, W. C. Cartwright, Esq. The church was restored in 1861. There are an endowed school with £20 a-year, a national school, and charities £179. Robert Wild, a poet and satirist, was rector in the time of the Commonwealth, and ejected from it in 1662. Shakerley Marmion, the dramatist, and Sir Ralph Winwood, the statesman, were natives.

AYOTT-ST. LAWRENCE, or AYOTT-MAGNA, a parish in Hatfield district, Herts; near the river Maran, 23 miles WNW of Welwyn r, station. Post-town, Welrish in Hatfield district, Herts; near the river Maran, 23 miles WNW of Welwyn r. station. Post-town, Welwyn and Welwyn r. Station. Post-town, Welwyn and Station and Station and Station and Polonges and Station and Belonges now to the Lydes of Ayott Park. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Rochester. Value, £150. Patron, Lionel Lyde, Esq. The church was rebuilt, in 1778, at the expense of Sir Lionel Lyde, in the Greciau style, after a design by Revett. The previous church still stands as a min and contains some curious monuments.

a design by Revett. The previous church still stands as a ruin, and contains some curious monuments.

AYOTT-ST. PETER, or AYOTT-PARVA, a parish in Hatfield district, Herts; 2 miles SW of Welwyn r. station. It has a post-office under Welwyn. Acres, 1,100. Real property, £1,558. Pop., 234. Houses, 53. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £250.* Patron, Rev. E.

The church was rebuilt in 1863. Prodgers.

AYRE (POINT OF), the northern extremity of the Isle of Man. A lighthouse stands on it, erected in 1818, with lanthern 106 feet above high water, showing a revolving two-minute light, alternately bright and red, visible at the distance of 15 miles. The Whitestone and Stranakiley sands are adjacent.

AYRE (POINT OF), a headland at the W side of the mouth of the estuary of the Dee, in Flint. A lighthouse adjoins it, erected on piles in 1844, with lanthern 42 feet high, showing a fixed bright and red light, visible at the distance of 9 miles. AYRON, or AERON (THE), a river of Cardigan. It rises on the Ayron hills, near the middle of the county, 6 miles NW of Tregaron, and makes a circuitous course, of about 17 miles sonthward, south-westward, and northwestward to Cardigan bay at Aberayron.

AYSFORD. See ALMSFORD. AYSGARTH, a township and a parish in Askrigg dis-AYSGARTH, a township and a parish in Askrigg district, N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the river Ure, at the junction of Wensley-dale and Bishopdale, a miles ESE of Askrigg, and 7½ WSW of Leyburn r. station. It has a post-office under Bedale. Acres, 1,174. Real property, 21,513. Pop., 283. Houses, 64. A remarkably fine fall of the Ure, called Aysgarth force, is The river flows in a narrow channel over a rugged bed of limestone, between picturesquely wooded banks; and makes a series of cascades which are variously grand or beautiful according to the fluctuations of its volume. "In floods it is a great, a mighty river, bursting with a prodigious effect through magnificent rocks; but in droughts, only a few gentle rills, the tears of the Naiads, run over the ledges of lunestone." The parish church, an ancient structure, restored in 1536, by the last abbot of Jervanx, and containing a splendid carved wooden screen which belonged to Jervaux abbey, occupies a finely picturesque site above the rapids. A bridge of a single arch, 71 feet in span, stands immediately above the falls, and commands a fine view of the church and the river. Another waterfall, called Foss Gill, occurs in Bishopdale. The parish is identical, in extent and statistics, with the district. See AKKRIGG. Real property, £48,454. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £137. Patron, Trinity college, Cambridge. The p. curacies of Askrigg, Hawes, Stalling-Busk, and Hardrow with-Lunds, are separate charges. An endowed school bas £65, and other charities £107.

AYSLEBEY. See AISLABY, Yorkshire.
AYSTON, a parish in Uppingham district, Rutland;
1 mile NNW of Uppingham, and 3 miles SSW of Manton r. station. Post-town, Uppingham. Acres, 897. ton r. station. Post-town, Uppingham. Acres, syf., Real property, 21,745. Pop., 97. Houses, 21. Ayston House is the sent of G. Fludyer, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £183.* Patron, G. Fludyer, Esq. The church is good.

AYTHORP-ROOTHING. See ROOTHING-AYTHORP.

AYTON, two townships and a parish in Stokesley district, N. R. Yorkshire. The townships are distinguished from each other as Great and Little. Great Ayton lies on the river Leven, and on the Guisbrough railway, 3 miles NE of Stokesley; includes the handet of Langbaurgh; and has a post-office under Northallerton, and a r. station.

Acres, 3,146. Real property, £5,778. Pop., 1,450.

Houses, 320. Little Ayton lies contiguous on the E. also on the river Leven; and includes the hamlet of Tunstall. Acres, 1,334. Real property, £1,100. Pop., 78. Houses, 14. The parish contains likewise the township of Nunthorpe. Acres, 5,890. Real property, £8,727. Pop., 1,688. Houses, 361. The property is subdivided. Freestone is quarried; and appearances of iron ore exist. Au agricultural school and model farm were established at Ayton House by T. Richardson. Some of the inhabi-tants are employed in linen factories. The living is a at Ayon House by 1. Achardson. Some of the innan-tants are employed in linen factories. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of York. Value, £82. Patron, the Rev. G. Marwood. The church is tolerable. The p. cu-racy of Nunthorpe is a separate charge. There are chapels for Independents, Methodists, and Quakers. A charity school, with £10 a year, was founded, under Rose-Topping hill, in 1704, by Michael Postgate; and here the cele-brated navigator, Captain Cook, received part of his edu-cation. Other charities have £17.

AYTON (East), a township in Seamer parish, N. R. Yorkshire; near the river Derwent, 13 mile W of Seamer r. station, and 4 SW of Scarborough. It has a postr. station, and 4 SW of Scarborough. It has a post-office under York. Acres, 2,610. Real property, 22,772. Pop., 406. Houses, 78. Ironstone occurs, and is worked. There are a chapel of case and a Primitive Methodist chapel. The insurrection of 1548 began here. AYTON (West), a township in Hutton-Bushell parish, AYTON (West), a township in Hutton-Bushell parish,

N. R. Yorkshire; on a tributary of the Derwent river, 31 miles W of Seamer r. station, and 5 WSW of Searborough. Acres, 2,160. Real property, £2,704. Pop., 385. Houses, 78. Remains exist of an ancient castle which belonged to the Evers or Eures and the Cliffords.

which decoded the Evers of Lures and the Chilords, AYTROP-ROOTHING. See ROOTHING-AYTHORE. AZERLEY, et COZENLEY, a township in Kirkby-Malzeard parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on a head-stream of the river Ure, 4½ miles NW of Ripon. It includes the hamlets of Galphay and Mickley. Aeres, 3,919. Real property, £3,901. Pop., 606. Houses, 147.

B

BABBICOMBE, a chapelry in St. Marychurch parish, Devon; on the coast, 13 mile NE of Torquay. It has a post-office under Torquay, and an inn. It was recently post-office under Torquay, and an inn. a sequestered place, but has now a well-built and rapidly increasing village. The scenery is very fine. The living is a vicarage. The church is a splendid edifice. built in 1868.

BABCARY, a parish in Langport district, Somerset; near the river Parret, 33 miles NNE of Hehester r. station. It includes the hamlets of Higher Farrington, Lower Farrington, and Stort; and its post-town is Charl-Lower Farrington, and Stort; and its post-town is charled in-Mackerel under Taunton. Acres, 2,393. Real property, £3,923. Pop., £26. Houses, 94. The property is much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £450. Patron, Mrs. Burke. The church is good; and there is a Wesleyan chapel.

BABERGH, a hundred in the SW of Suffolk. joins Essex, includes Sudbury, and contains thirty parishes and parts of two others. Acres, 73,428. Pop. in 1851, 24,401; in 1861, 24,198. Houses, 5,430.

1851, 24,401; in 1801, 24,105. Houses, 5,450. BABINGLEY, or BABURGHLEY, a parish in Free-bridge-Lynn district, Norfolk; on a rivulet of its own name, near Lynn-Deeps, 1½ mile S of Wolferton x. station. Post-town, Castle-Rising under Lynn. Acres, 849. Real property, 2924. Pop., 67. Honses, 12. The first Christian church in East Anglia was erected. here; and several hills in the neighbourhood are called Christian Hills. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Sandringham, in the diocese of Norwich. The church has a nave and a tower; but its chancel is mined.

BABINGTON, a parish in Frome district, Somerset; 5 miles WNW of Frome r. station. Post-town, Mells under Frome. Acres, 607. Real property, 21,448.
Pop., 129. Houses, 25. The property is divided among a few. Babington House is the seat of W. F. Knatchbull. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £170. Patron, the Rev. T. R. Jolliffe. The church is good; and there are an endowed school with £15, and other charities with £10.

BABLOCK-HYTHE, a ferry on the river Isis, 4 miles by road, and 7½ by river, WSW of Oxford. Arnold sings it as "crossing the stripling Thames at Bablock-Hythe.

BABRAHAM, anciently BADBURHAM, a village and a parish in Linton district, Cambridge, a parisa in Eminua district, camoriage. The Vinage stands on an affluent of the river Cam, near the Gogma-gog hills, 24 miles ENE of Whittlesford r. station, and 64 SE of Cambridge. It has a post-office under Cam-bridge; and was formerly a market town. The parish comprises 2,350 acres. Real property, £2,760. 204. Houses, 67. The manor belonged to Algar, Earl of Mercia; passed, about the year 1576, into the possession of Sir Horatic Palavicini, a Genose; and now belongs to H. J. Adeane, Esq. Sir H. Palavicini collected the pope's taxes in England during the reign of Mary; converted them to his own use, and became Protestant, on the accession of Elizabeth; became a favourite of that queen, one of her negotiators in Germany, and a commander of one of her ships against the Spanish armada; and died at his seat in Babraham; and his widow was married to Sir Oliver Cromwell, the uncle of the Protector. A curious epitaph on him is given in "Lord Orford's Anecdotes of Painting." The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £106. Patron, H. J. Adeane, Esq. An almshouse and a free school, with income of £134, were founded in 1723 by Lebinus Bush and Judith Bennet; and a monument to her is in the BABTHORPE. See Menthorpe-with-Bowthorpe. BABURGH. See Baweurgh.

BABURGHLEY. See Babingley. BABWORTH, a village and a parish in East Retford strict, Notts. The village stands near the Chesterdistrict, Notts. field canal and the Great Northern railway, 11 mile W of East Retford; and has a post-office under Retford. The parish includes also the hamlets of Great and Little Morton and Morton-Grange, and part of the hamlet of Ranby. Acres, 6,165. Real property, £7,205. Pop., 701. Houses, 133. The property is divided among a few Houses, 133. The property is divided among a few. Babworth Hall is the seat of the Simpson family, and stands in very fine grounds, which were laid out by Repton. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £826.* Patron, the Hon. B. J. Simpson. The church is a neat Gothic structure, with a small steeple; and was repaired in 1859. A charity school has £8. BABYLON, a hamlet in Higher Kinnerton township, Flint; 31 miles NE of Caergwrle.

BABYLON HILL, an eminence on the mutual border of Dorset and Somerset; about a mile E of Yeovil. It commands a fine view.

BACHE, a township in St. Oswald parish, Cheshire; 1½ mile N of Chester. Acres, 94. Real property, £514. Pop., 34. Houses, 4. Bache Hall is the seat of the Hughes family.

BACHE, a township in the Llangollen-Traian division of Llangollen parish, Denbigh. Real property, £2,666.

91

of Lianguist Pales, 2007 Montgomeryshire; 14 mile SE of Montgomery. It belongs to Earl Powis. Pop., 137.
BACHIE, a township in Llanfyllin parish, Montgomery.

ery. Pop., 356.

BACH-MILL, a hamlet in Munslow parish, Salop.

BACHRHYD. See BOUGHROOD.

LACHWELL. See BACKWELL.

BACHWY, or Machwy (THE), a stream of Radnorshire. It rises a little north of Llanbedr ; fetches a compass round by the east; and goes west-south-westward, past Pains' Castle and Llanbedr, through some fine scenery, to the Wye, near Erward, 7 miles below Builth. Its length of course is about 10 miles.

BACHYGRAIG, a township in Dymeirchion parish, near St. Asaph, Flint. Pop., 53. Here is an old seat which belonged to Sir R. Clough, and passed to Dr. Johnson's friend, Mrs. Thrale.

BACHYMBYD, a township in Llanynys parish, Deubigh; 3 miles NXW of Ruthin. Here is a seat of Lord Bagot, formerly a seat of the Salisburys; and on the pagot, formerly a sear of the Sanshirys; and of the grounds is a grove of nunsually large chestnut trees.

BACH-YNYS, MACHYNIS, or MYXACH-YNYS, an isle on the SE border of Carmarthen; in the mouth of the river Loughor, 3½ miles E of Llanelly. A monastery was founded on it, in 513, by St. Piro; and it became a seat of the Stepneys BACK, a hamlet in the parish of St. Clement, within the borough of Ipswich, Suffolk; 1 mile SE of Ipswich.

Pop., 272.

BACKBARROW, a locality on the SW border of Westmoreland; adjacent to the Lancaster and Carlislo railway, 81 miles SSW of Kendal. It has a post-office under Newton-in-Cartmel.

BACKFORD, a township and a parish in Great Boughton district, Cheshire. The township lies on the Elles-mere canal, 1 mile NE of Mollington r. station, and 31 N of Chester. Acres, 749. Real property, £1,271. Pop., 150. Houses, 29. The parish includes also the townships of Lea, Caughall, Chorlton-hy-Backford, and Mollington-Tarrant or Great Mollington; and its posttown is Chester. Acres, 3,109. Real property, £4,682. Pop., 525. Houses, 88. The property is divided among a few. Backford Hall is the seat of the Gleggs. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £230. Patron, the Bishop of Chester. The church has monuments of the Birkenheads and the Morgalls.

Charities, £26. BACKWELL, or BACHWELL, a parish in Bedminster district, Somerset; 1 mile SE of Nailsea r. station, and 7 WSW of Bristol. 1t includes the hamlets of Church-Town, Downside, Farley, Mooreside, and West-Town; and its post-town is Nailsea. Aeres, 2,002. Real property, £6,223. Pop., 926. Houses, 183. The property is subdivided. Coal is extensively mined; and building stone is quarried. The living is a vicarage, and a sinecure rectory, in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value of the vicarage, £111; of the rectory, £253.* Patron of the vicarage, Mrs. Uniacke; of the rectory, the Marquis of Dath. The church is good, and has a very fine tower; and there are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £16. BACKWORTH, or BLACKWORTH, a township in Earsdon parish, Northumberland; on the Morpeth and Tynemouth railway, 41 miles NW of North Shields. has a station on the railway; which serves also for Holywell and Earsdon. Acres, 1,360. Pop., 954. Houses, 189. The manor belonged anciently to the priory of Tynemouth; and belongs now to the Duke of Northumberland. A coal mine here produces the Northumber-land Wallsend or Earsdon Main coal.

BACON-HOLE, a cave on the coast of Glamorgan; at the E side of the mouth of Oxwich bay, 8 miles SW by W of Swansea. Its floor is about 20 feet above the level of the sea; and its interior has been much altered by blasting. Fossil remains, of great interest, and in successive layers, have been found in it;—first, bones of the ox, the red deer, the roebuck, and the fox, in alluvial earth; next, bones of the ox, the deer, and the bear; next, bones of the ox, the deer, the bear, the wolf. the hyena, the rhinoceros, and the mammoth; next, bones of the polecat, the badger, and the mammoth; all bones of the polecat, the badger, and the mammoth; all the successive layers screated from one another by deposits of stalagmite. The mammoth bones are remarkably large, and may be seen in Swansea museum.

BACONSTHORPE, or BEACONSTHORPE, a parish in Erpingham district, Norfolk; 4 miles SE by E of Holt, and 15 E by N of Fakenham r. station. It has a post-office under Thetford. Acres, 1,360. Real property, £1,968. Pop., 328. Houses, 67. The property is divided among a few. The old hall, built in 1495, realizing a central tower but is otherwise a min. The live is divided smong a row. but is otherwise a ruin. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value not reported.* Patron, J. T. Mott, Esq. The church is later English. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £5.

BACOP, or BACUP, a town and three chapelries in Whalley and Rochdale parishes, Lancashire. The town stands on the river Irwell, at the terminus of a branch of the Lancashire and Yorkshire railway, 7 miles NNW of Rochdale; is a seat of petty sessions and county courts; Additional is a season perty sessions and county contras, and carries on industry in cotton factories, wouldn printworks, Turkey-red dye-works, iron foundries, cornalls, and coal mining; has been much improved, by a local board, since 1864; and has a post-officet under Manchester, a r. station with telegraph, a banking-office, a police-station, water-works, a market-hall of 1807 built at a cost of £6,000, a plain church of 1788, two churches of 1854 and 1865 in the early English style, two recent handsome Wesleyan chapels, seven other dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, a mechanics' institution, with public hall and reading rooms, several public schools, a weekly market on Saturday, and two annual pleasure fairs. Pop. in 1851, 6,981; in 1861, 10,935. Houses, 2,085. The chapelries are St. John, Christchurch, and St. Saviour. Pop., 6,981, 5,730, and 2,350. The livings of St. J. and C. are vicarages, and that of St. S. is a p. curacy, in the dio. of Manchester. Value of St. J., Hulme's Trustees; of C., Five Trustees; of St. J., L. Hulme's Trustees; of C., Five Trustees; of St. J., M. Hulm's Trustees; of C., Five Trustees; of St. J., M. Hulm's Trustees; of C., Five Trustees; of St. S., J. M. Holl, Esq. BACTON, a parish in the district and county of Hereford; near the Dore river, 4 miles NW of Pontrilas r. station, and 11 SW of Hereford. Post-town, Abbeydore under Hereford. Acres, 1,155. Heal property, £1,172. Pop., 154. Houses, 28. The property si divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £129. Patron, F. Hamp, Esq. The church is good; and there are charities £30.

BACTON, a parish in Tunstead district, Norfolk; on pels, a Roman Catholic chapel, a mechanics' institution, BACTON, a parish in Tunstead district, Norfolk; on the coast, 44 miles NE of North Walsham r. station, and 19 NNE of Norwich. It includes the hamlets of Bacton-19 NNE of Norwich. It literings the names of Interior Green, Bromholm, and Keswick; and has a post-office under Norwich. Acres, 1,770; of which 170 are water. Real property, 23,055. Pop., 490. Houses, 129. The property is subdivided. Considerable encroachments have recently been made by the sea. A clurch formerly stood at Keswick, but has been completely washed away. Ruins of a Cluniae-priory, founded in 1113 by Baxton de Clanville, stand at Bromholm. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £263. Patron, Farl of Kimbersley. The church is an ancient structure, with a square tower; has a good font; and is in good condition. There are a Baptist chapel, a national school, and a coast-guard station.

BACTON, a parish in Hartismere district, Suffolk; on the East-Union railway, near Finningham station, 6 miles N of Stowmarket. It has a post-office under Stowmarket. Acres, 2,204. Real property, £4,642. Pop., 733. Houses, 161. The property is subdivided. The diocese of Norwich. Valuc, living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £700.* Patron, the Rev. A. B. Hemsworth. The church is good; and there are charities £86. BACUP. See BACOP.

BADBURHAM. See BABRAHAM.

BADBURY, a tything in Chisledon parish, Wilts; 3½ miles SE of Swindon. Pop., 395. An ancient camp here, called Badbury or Siddington Castle, is supposed to be the Mons Bodonicus of the Romans, and the Baddiebrigg of the Saxons; and was the scene, in 520, of King Arthur's defeat of Cerdic.

BADBURY, a tything and a hundred in Dorset. The tything is in Wimborne-Minster parish, 41 miles NW of Wimborne. An ancient camp here, called Badbury Rings, crowns a naked hill; commands an extensive panoramic view; is planted with firs; consists of three concentric ramparts, each with an outer ditch, the outermost a mile in circumference; occurs on the line of a Roman road to Old Sarum; seems to have been originally British, but to have been afterwards occupied by both the Romans and the Saxons; and was held by Edward the Elder after the death of Alfred the Great.—The hundred lies in Wimborne division, and includes eight parishes. Acres, 26,880. Pop. in 1851, 6,941. Houses, 1.414

BADBURY HILL, a hill crowned by a Danish camp, in Berks; 2 miles SW of Farringdon.

BADBURY RINGS. See BADBURY, Dorset.

BADBY, a village and a parish in Daventry district, BADBY, a village and a parish in Davcutry district, Northampton. The village stands on the ascent of a hill, amid a sandy heath called Badby Down, near the source of the river Nen, 2½ miles SSW of Daventry, and 4½ W of Weedon r. station. It has a post-office under Daventry. The parish comprises 2,370 acress. Real property, £4,455. Pop., 618. Houses, 161. The property is much subdivided. The manor belongs to Sir C. Swidstle. Hard blue rac-stone is quarticl. An ancient Knightly. Hard blue rag-stone is quarried. An ancient camp, ten acres in area, with wide deep fosse and very steep ramparts, occurs on Arbury hill, and is supposed to steep ramparts, occurs on among min, and a supplementation be Roman. The living is a vicarrage, united with the curacy of Newnham, in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £306. Patron, Christchurch, Oxford. The church is a fine old structure. There are a free school for girls, a a fine old structure. There are a free school for guis, a national school, and charities £10.

BADDESLEY-CLINTON, a parish in Solihull district, Warwick; on the Warwick and Birmingham canal and the Warwick and Birmingham railway, at Kingswood station, 81 miles NW of Warwick. Post-town, Rowingstation, $\frac{1}{2}$ miles NW of Warwick. Fostions, 100 miles ton under Warwick. Acres, 1,329. Real property, £1,787. Pop., 143. Houses, 25. The manor belongs to M. E. Ferrers, Esq. of Baddesley Hall. The living is the diocese of Worcester. Value, £27. Pato M. E. Ferrers, Esq. of Baddessey Hall. The inving is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £27. Patron, M. E. Ferrers, Esq. The church is ancient. There are a Roman Catholic chapel and a nunnery. BADDESLEV-ENSOR, a parish in Atherstonelistrict, Warwick; 3 miles WNW of Atherstone r. station. 12 has a post-office under Atherstone. Acres, 1,100. Real property, £2,278. Pop., $72. Houses, 171. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £106.* Patrons, the lubabitants. The church is good. There are chapels for Independents and Wesleyans.

BADDESLEY (Nouru), a parish in Winchester district, Hants; on the Gosport and Salisbury railway, near Chandler's Ford station, 33 miles E by S of Romsey. Post-town, Romsey. Acres, 2,570. Real property, 21,449. Pop., 255. Houses, 55. The property is di-vided among a few. Baddesley Hall is a chief residence. The parish is a meet for the Hursley hounds. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £112. Patron, T. Chamberlayne, Esq. The church is good.

BADDESLEY (SOUTH), a tything-chapelry in Boldre parish, Hants; 2 miles ENE of Lymington, and 6 SSE of Brockenhurstr. station. Post-town, Lymington. Real property, £2,835. Pop., 561. Houses, 116. A famous tree, a young elm, known as "the groaning tree," exIsted here toward the middle of last century, emitting a singular noise from its roots similar to the groans of & person in extreme agony, and drawing many persons from a distance to visit it. The sound continued for about a year and a half, not regularly but fitfully, and could not be explained by any naturalist; and at length stopped by the tree first being bored, then rooted up, but could not even then be explained. A preceptory of Knights Templars, afterwards of Knights Hospitallers. of knights lemphars, attended to knights hospitales, stood at South Baddesley; and the chapel was taken down so late as 1818. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £100. Patron, P. W.

freeman, Esq.

BADDIEBRIGG. See BADDURY, Wilts.

BADDILEY, a parish in Nantwich district, Cheshire; on the Ellesmere canal and the Shropshire Union railway, 3 miles SW by W of Nantwich r. station. Postrown, Nantwich. Acres, 1,962. Real property, £3,258. Pop., 272. Houses, 49. The property is not much divided. The manor formerly belonged to the Mainwaring family; and their seat, Baddiley Hall, a very ancient structure of timber and plaster, was first converted into structure of timoer and plaster, was first converted into a farmhouse, and then recently pulled down. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chester. Value, £219.* Patron, J. Tollemache, Esq. The church dates from times when public buildings were generally constructed of timber; consisted entirely of oak till 1811, but was the access with being its fit is still in particular and then encased with brick; is still in pretty good condi-tion; and contains two fine marble monuments of the Mainwarings. Charities, £43.
BADDINGHAM. See BADINGHAM.

BADDINGTON, a township in Acton parish, Cheshire; on the Grand Junction canal, 2 miles SSW of Nantwich. Acres, 1,401. Real property, £1,715. Pop.,

135. Houses, 20.

BADDOW (Great), a village, a parish, and a subdistrict, in the district of Chelmsford, Essex. The village stands near the river Chelmer, 2 miles ESE of Chelmsford r. station; has a post-office under Chelmsford; and is a pleasant place, with a considerable number of genteel residents. The parish comprises 3,821 acres. Real property, 211,061. Pop., 2,061. Houses, 473. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged to Algar, Earl of Mercia; was given by William the Conquerer to the abbey of Caen in Normandy; passed, in the time of Henry I., to the Earl of Gloucester; and weut through a series of pro-prietors, to the family of Houblon. The living is a vicar-age in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £402.* Patron, Mrs. Bullen. The church formerly had two chantries; and is very good. Parker's school has an endowed income of £169; and other charities have £36. Richard de Badew, the founder of Clare Hall, Cambridge, was a native. The sub-district contains four parishes.

14,685. Pop., 6,857. Houses, 1,490.
BADDOW (LITTLE), a village and a parish in Chelms ford district, Essex. The village stands on a tributary of the Chelmerriver, 2 miles S of the Eastern Counties railthe Chemier river, 2 miles S of the Eastern Columbes radius, and 4 miles E by N of Chelmsford; and has a post-officeunder Chelmsford. The parish includes also the hambet of Middlemead. Acres, 2,779. Real property, £3,246. Pop., 605. Houses, 131. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £490.* Patron, Lord Rayleigh. The church is good; and contains a costly and splendid monument to the memory of Sir Henry Mildmay, Bart, who died in 1639. There is an Independent chapel. Free schools here and at Boreham, founded in 1817 by Edward Butler, Esq., have an income of £200.

BADECANWYLLA. See BAKEWELL.
BADGENDON. See BADGINGTON.

BADGER, or BAGSORE, a parish in Shiffnall district, Salop; on the eastern verge of the county, 41 miles SW of Albrighton r. station, and 6 S by E of Shidhall. Postor attorgation r. station, and 6.8 by E of Shiffhall. Post-town, Beekbury under Shiffhall. Acres, 920. Real pro-perty, £1,804. Pop., 178. Houses, 57. The property is divided between two. Badger Hall is the seat of R. H. Cheney, Eq.; and Badger Digle, in the grounds connected with it, is a picture-sque dell of red rock, wood, and water liber the contraction. and water, liberally open to the public, and much visited. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Here-ford. Value, £230. Patron, R. H. Cheney, Esq. The church is good.

BADGEWORTH, a village and a parish in Chelten-BADGENORTH, a vinage and a pairs in Concept, ham district, Gloucester. The village stands on a small stream, 2 miles S of the Gloucester and Birmingham railway, and 4 SW of Cheltenlam. The parish includes also the hamlets of Bentham, Little Shurdington, and Little Witcombe; and its post-town is Shurdington under Cheltenham. Acres, 3,927. Real property, 27,202. Pop., 1,048. Houses, 227. The manor belongs to J. E. Viner, Esq., of Badgeworth House. There is a mineral spring. The living is a vicarage, united with E. Viner, Esq., of bangeworth riouse. There is a mineral spring. The living is a vicarage, united with the curacy of Great Shurdington, in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, 2295. Patron, J. E. Viner, Esq. The church is later English; consists of nave, north aisle, and chancel, with tower at the west end of the nave; and is in good condition. Cox's charities for the poor yield £100 a-year, and other charities £10. BADGEWORTH, Somerset. See ВАDGWORTH.

BADGEWORTH, Somerset. See BADGEWORTH.
BADGINGTON, or BADGEMON, a parish in Cirencester district, Cloucester; on the river Churn and near Ermine-street, 4 miles N by W of Cirencester r. station.
Post-town, North Cerney under Cirencester. Acres, 1,106. Real property, £1,604. Pop., 175. Houses, 40. The property is divided among a few. Remains exist of two entrenchments, which are supposed to have been two entrenchments, which are supposed to have been thrown up in 556, on occasion of a battle between the Britons and the West Saxons. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £191.

Britons and the West Saxons. The ning is a certain in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £191. Patron, Jesus College, Oxford. The church is good.

BADGWORTH, a parish in Axbridge district, Somerset; 3 miles SW of Axbridge, and 10 SE of Weston-super-Mare Junction r. station. Post-town, Axbridge near Weston-super-Mare. Acres, 1,815. Real property, it sulls. Weston-super-Mare. Acres, 1,815. Real property, £2,563. Pop., 279. Houses, 63. The property is sub-Weston-super-man £2,568. Pop., 279. Houses, 63. The property is suddivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath Patron, Sir C. Moidaunt. and Wells. Value, £482. Patron, Sir C. Mordaunt. The church is good.

BADINGHAM, a parish in Hoxne district, Suffolk; 33 miles N by E of Framlingham r. station. post-office under Sarmundham. Acres, 3,172. Real property, £5,514. Pop., 749. Houses, 166. The property is subdivided. Badingham Hall and Badingham Green are chief residences. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £582.* Patron, Rev. R. G. Gorton. The church is good; and there are a Wesleyan chapel, a free school, and charities £24. BADINGTON. See BAINTON, Northampton.

BADLAND. See KINNERTON, SALFORD, and BAD-

BADLESMERE, a parish in Faversham district, Kent; 45 miles S of Faversham r. station. It has a post-office under Faversham. Acres, 778. Real property, £1,060.
Pop., 133. Houses, 23. The property is not much divided. The manor belonged, in the times of Edward I. and Edward II., to the potent family of De Badles-inere; was forfeited by the attainder and execution of John Earl of Oxford and Baron Badlesmere; and passed into the possession of the family of Sondes, now repremot the possession of the family of Sondes, now represented by Lord Sonles. A house of regular canous was founded in the 13th year of Edward II. by Bartholomew de Badlesmere. The living is a rectory, united to the rectory of Leaveland, in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £323. Patron, Lord Sondes. The church is a result value, Sayon structure in very case of a children. small, plain, Saxon structure in very good condition. A fair is held on 17 Nov.

BADLEY, a parish in Bosmere district, Suffolk; near the river Gipping, 2 miles WNW of Needham-Market r. station. Post-town, Needham-Market. Acres, 1,050. Real property, £1,430. Pop., 70. Houses, 15. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £40. Patron, the Hard addess of Nowich value, 239, Tattor, the Earl of Ashburnham. The church is good.

BADLINGHAM, a hamlet in Chippenham parish, Cambridge; 54 miles NE of Newmarket.

BADMINSTONE, a hamlet in Fawley parish, Hauts;

51 miles SW of Fareham. BADMINTON, or GREAT BADMINION, a village, n parish, and a ducal park in Chipping-Sodbury district, Gloucester. The village stands under the Cotswolds, on the SE verge of the county, 5 miles E by N of Chipping-Sodbury, and 7 E of Yate r. station. It has a post-office; under Chippenham, a reading-room of 1862, a free school under Chippenham, a reading room of 1862, a tree sensor for girls, and six alms-houses.—The parish comprises 1,783 acres. Real property, 22,990. Pop., 524. Houses, 107. The property belongs all to the Duke of Beaufort; and most of it is included in his park. The living is a minimal behalioses of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, not reported. Patron, the Duke of Beaufort. The ancient church belonged to the abbey of Pershore; and the present one was built by the late Duke of Beaufort in 1785, stands within the park, lifts a pinnacle tower into view over the mansion, is a remarkably elegant structure, and contains many monuments of the Beaufort family, and the remains of Field-Marshal Lord Ragian. A free the remains of Field-Marshal Lord Raglan. school and an alms-house have an income of £94, left in 1705 by the then Duchess-Dowager of Beaufort. park is about 3 miles long, nearly 2 miles wide, and up-wards of 9 miles in circuit; and contains some very fine woods and beautiful drives. The mansion in it was erected in 1682, by the first Duke of Beaufort; and sucsecond Raglan castle, in Monmouthshire, as the principal seat of his family. The edifice is very extensive; consists of centre and wings; is in the Palladian style, with rusticated basement and two surmounting enpolas; and contains many family portraits, downward from John of Gaunt, some rare and curious pictures by the Italian masters, and the remarkable satirical piece by Salvator Rosa, which occasioned that artist's expulsion from Rome.

From Rome.

BADMINTON (LITTLE), a tything in Hawkesbury parish, Glouester; I mile N of Great Badminton. Real property, £1,478. Pop., 113. Houses, 24.

BADSEY, a village and a parish in Evesham district, Worcester. The village stands on a tributary of the river Avon, adjacent to the Great Western railway, 2 miles ESE of Evesham. The parish includes also the hamlet of Aldington. Post-town, Evesham. Acres, 1,770. Real property, £4,238. Pop., 546. Houses, 119. There are mineral springs, and a silk mill. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £150.* Patron, Christchlurch, Oxford. The church is ancient. There are a national school, and charities £18.

E150. Patron, Christenurch, Oxford. Inc church is ancient. There are a national school, and charities £18.

BADSHOT AND RUNFOLD, a tything in Farnham parish, Surrey; 2 miles NE of Farnham. It contains the work-house of Farnham district, and is prominent in hop culture.

Real property, £8,057. Pop., 1,733.

Houses, 308

BADSWORTH, a township and a parish in Hemsworth district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies 5 miles S of Pontefract r. station, and has a post-office under Pontefract. Acres, 1,529. Real property, 22,073. Pop., 219. Honses, 44. The parish includes also the rop., 219. Houses, 44. The parish includes also the townships of Upton and Thorpe-Andlin. Acres, 3,815. Real property, £5,915. Pop., 744. Houses, 158. The property is divided among a few. Badsworth Hall The property is divided among a rew. Endoworth Hair is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £596.* Patron, the Earl of Derby; The church is later English. There are three Methodist chapels, a national school, and charities £47.

BADWELL-ASH, or LITTLE ASHFIELD, a parish in Stow district, Suffolk; 29 miles N by E of Elmswell r. station, and 8 NNW of Stowmarket. It has a postoffice, of the name of Badwell-Ash, under Bury St. Ed-munds. Acres, 1,860. Real property, £3,263. Pop., 527. Houses, 112. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £69. l'atron, Miss Clough. The church is good; and there are a national school of 1861, and charities £13.

BAEBBANBURGH. See BAMBROUGH.

BAGBERE, a tything in the parish of Sturminster-Newton-Castle, Dorset; I mile N of Sturminster. Pop., 402.

BAGBOROUGH (EAST), a tything in Bishops-Ly-deard parish, Somerset; 7 miles WNW of Tannton.

BAGBOROUGH (WEST), a parish in Taunton district. Somerset; in a pleasant hilly tract, on the Taunton and Watchet railway, between Bishops-Lydeard and Crow-combe-Heathfield stations, 8 miles NW of Taunton. It combo-lleathfield stations, 8 miles in w or launton. 11 has a post-office, of the name of Bagborough, under Taunton; and a fair on 23 May. Acres, 1,972. Real property, £3,017. Pop., 495. Houses, 97. The property is divided among a few. Bagborough House is the seat of the Popham family. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £550.* Patron, the diocese of Dath and Wells. Talue, 2000. Adam Clarke, Esq. The church is good.

BAGBURY, a handet in Evercreech parish, Somerset;

I mile S of Shepton-Mallet. Pop., 23.

BAGBY-WITH-ISLEBECK, a chapely in Kirby.

BAGBY-WILLI-ISLEDEUK, a cnaperty in Kiroy-Knowle parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on an affluent of the river Codbeck, 2½ miles SE of Thirsk r. station. Posttown, Thirsk. Acres, 1,795. Real property, £3,102. Pop., 302. Houses, 62. The living is a p. euracy, annexed to the rectory of Kirby-Knowle, in the diocese of Val. York.

BAGDEN (Lower and Upper), two hamlets in the township of Denby and parish of Penistone, W. R. Yorkshire; 51 miles NW of Barnesley.

BAGDON-HILL, a hill with a Roman camp, 34 miles N of Devizes, Wilts.

BAG-ENDERBY.

See ENDERBY-BAG.

BAGENDON. See BADGINGTON.
BAGGEARN-HUISH, a hamlet in Nettlecombe parish, Somerset; 41 miles S of Watchet.

BAGGRAVE, a liberty in Hungerton parish, Leicestershire; 7½ miles ENE of Leicester. Pop., 26. Baggrave Hall is the seat of the Burnabys.

BAGGROW, a station on the Bolton branch railway, Cumberland; 2 miles NNE of Aspatria.

BAGGY POINT, a small headland at the S side of Morte bay, Devon; 5 miles NNW of the month of the river Taw. A dangerous reef, called Baggy Leap, lies about & a mile off it.

about & a mile on it.

BAGILLT, a village, a township, and a chapelry in Holywell parish, Flint. The village stands on the S side of the estuary of the Dee, contiguous to the Chester and Holyhead railway, 2 miles NW of Flint, and 21 SE of Holywell. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Holywell; and is a sub-port to Chester. The tract around it is rich in minerals, and yields a great out-put of coals; and the village itself is the seat or centre of extensive lead, iron, and alkali works. So large a quantity of lead ore as 100,000 tons, accompanied by 42,000 ounces of silver, has been annually smelted. One of the adjacent hills bears the name of Eryn-Dychwelwch, sig-nifying "the hill of retreat;" and was the place at which Owen Gwynedd sounded his retreat from the pursuit by Henry II. Bagillt Hall, in the vicinity, is an old seat of the Griffiths.—The township bears the name of Ba-gillt-Fawr, and includes the hamlets of Bagillt-Bach and Bull-raw, and memuestine namers of Bagillt-lach and Bagillt-Fechan. Real property, £7,040; of which £927 are in mines.—The chapelry was constituted in 1844. Pop., 2,935. Houses, 687. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, £155. Patron, the Vicar of Holywell. The church is in the early English style, and was opened in 1839. There are chapels for Independents, Eaptists, Wesleyans, and Welsh Methodists BAGINTON, a parish in the district and county of Warwick; on the river Sow, 13 mile E of the Noith-western railway, and 3 S by E of Coventry. Post-town, Coventry. Acres, 1,667. Real property, £2,977. Pop., 213. Houses, 49. The property is all in one estate. Beginton Hall, the seat of the proprietor, was built by W. Bromley, Speaker of the House of Commons in the time of Queen Anne; and is now held by his descendant. Slight traces exist of a castle of Sir William Eagot, a Slight traces exist of a castle of Sir William Lagot, a strong partizan of lichard II.; where the Duke of Here ford, afterwards Henry IV., spent the night prior to his duel with the Duke of Norfolk, in the presence of Richard II., on Gosford Green, as described by Shakspeare. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worsetter. Value, £35.0.* Patron, the Rev. W. Bromley. The church is good; has a fine bell turret; and contains a brass of Sir W. Bagot and his lady. A school has an endowel income of £223; and other charities £22.

BAGLAN, a parish in Neath district, Glamorgan; on the E side of the mouth of Neath river, and on the South the L side of the mouth of Neath river, and on the South Wales railway, 11 mile 3 by W of Briton Ferryr, station, and 3\{ \text{Sof Neath}}\]. It comprises the hamlets of Lower Baglan and Upper Baglan; and its post-town is Briton Ferry, under Neath. Acres, 6,479; of which 1,240 are water. Real property, £3,471; of which £550 are in mines. Pop of Lower Baglan, 456. Houses, 92. Pop. of Higher Baglan, 259. Houses, 28. The scenery posterior of the post of the scenery posterior water and the scener posterior water than 10 miles. sesses much beauty and some romance; and the higher grounds command very brilliant views. Earl Jersey's park spreads away, in extensive woods, over several bold hills; and Baglan House, the mansion in it, though without attraction as a building, possesses interest as once the resort of Mason, who wrote here his elegy :-

" Coventry is dead! attend the strain, Daughters of Albioa."

Coal and fire-clay are worked. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Aberavon, in the diocese of Llandaff. The church is very picturesquely situated; and there is a Calvinistic Methodist chapel.

BAGLEY, a hamlet in Calverley-with-Farsley town-ship, Calverley parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 4½ miles NE of Bradford.

BAGLEY-WOOD, an extra parochial tract in Abing-don district, Berks; 3 miles S of Oxford. Acres, 390. Pop. 8. Houses, 3. A spot here, on Chilswell farm, was the site of the original Abingdon abbey; and another spot, on the top of a hill, commands a splendid view of Oxford.

BAGNALL, a hamlet in Basford parish, Notts; 2 mailes SSW of Nottingham.

BAGNALL, a township-chapelry in Bucknall parish, Stafford; near the Churnet river and the Uttoxeter canal, 2 miles S of Endon r. station. Post-town, Leek, under 2 miles S of Endon r. station. Post-town, Leek, under Stoke-on-Treut. Real property, E.2,345. Pop., 424. Houses, 75. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Bucknall, in the diocese of Lichfield. BAGNALL-END. See BIGNALL-END. BAGNIGGE WELLS, a locality in St. Paneras parish, London; 13 mile NW of St. Paul's Cathedral. It is named from two mineral springs, which were once in repute, near Nell Gwynne's house.

BAGNOR, a tything in Speen parish, Berks; on the ver Kennet, 2 miles NNW of Newbury. Pop., 105. BAGOTS-BROMLEY. See ABBOTS-BROMLEY. river Kennet

BAGSHOT, a hamlet in Shalbourn parish, Berks; on the verge of the county, 2 miles SSW of Hungerford.

Pop., 194. BAGSHOT, a village and a chapelry in Windlesham parish, Surrey, and an extensive heath in Surrey and Berks. The village stands on the Great Western road, 54 miles NNE of Farnborough r. station, and 10 SW of Staines. It has a post-officet under Farn-borough station, and an inn; and a fair is held at it on 15 July. It was a place of hotels, posting-houses, and much thoroughfare prior to the railway period; and it bore the name of Holy Hall in the times of the Stuart kings. Bagshot Park, to the N of it, was a hunting-seat of these kings, and a residence of George IV. when Prince of Wales, and passed afterwards to the Duke of Gloucester. An American garden here, and a neighbouring large nursery, are remarkable for very fine azaleas and rhododendrous.—The chapelry includes fully one half of Wintlesham parish. The rated property is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Windlesham. The church was built by the Duke of Gloucester about 1816. There is a Baptist chapel.—The heath contains 31,500 acres; and is a sandy flat, diversified with long dusky ridges, at an elevation of 463 feet above sea-level. It was once au enclosed royal hunting-ground; but was disparked during the civil war in the time of Charles I .; and it afterwards lay long waste, and was the scene of many highway robberies. Much of it has been again enmany highway robberies. closed, and subjected to the plough, and produces tolerable corn crops; and the rest is notable for depasturing small sheep, with very excellent mutton. The geognostic nature of it is so peculiar as to give the name of Bag. shot sand to the uppermost deposit of the so-called London basin

BAGSORE. See BADGER.

BAGTHORPE, a parish in Docking district, Norfolk; 7½ miles N by W of Rougham, and 9 WNW of Faken-14 mies A by W of Rougham, and 9 WAW of Faken-ham r. station. Post-town, Bircham under Rougham. Acres, 750. Real property, £830. Pop., 69. Houses, 14. The property is divided among a few. Bagthorpe Hall is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwica. Value, £125. Patron, the Rev.

BAGTHORPE, a hamlet in Selston parish, Notts; on the western verge of the county, 11 miles NNW of Not-the Western verge of the country of mines and of this hand in Basford parish, Notts; near the Mansfield railway, 2 miles NNW of Nottingham. BAGTOR, a seat of Lord Cranstonn, 31 miles N of Ashburton, in Devon. It was the birthplace, in 1586, of Ford, the dramatist.

BAGULEY, a chaplery, with a r. station, in Bowdon parish, Cheshire; 31 miles ENE of Altrincham. Acres, 1,769. Real property, £5,028. Pop., 611. Houses, 118. Market gardening is largely carried on. The chapelry was constituted in 1868. Living, a p. curacy.

BAGWORTH, a chapelry in Thornton parish, Leicester; on the Leicester and Burton railway, 5½ miles NE of Market-Bosworth. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Leicester. Real property, £2,912. Pop., 534. Houses, 102. A chief feature is Bagworth Pop., 534. Houses, 102. A chief feature is Eagworth Park. The living is annexed to Thornton.

BAHAITHLON, a township in Kerry parish, Montgomery; 3 miles E of Newtown. Pop., 108.

BAHAMA BANK, a shifting sand across Ramsey bay, in the Isle of Man. It extends from NW to SE; and is 10 miles long, and 1 mile broad. A light-vessel is moored at its SE end, in 9 fathons; and shows two fixed lights, 20 and 33 feet high, visible at the distance of 10 miles.

BAHANTUNE. See BAMPTON.

BAILDON, a village, a township, and a chapelry, in Otley parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands near the river Aire and the Leeds and Liverpool canal, 2 miles NNE of Shipley r. station, and 5 N of Bradford. It has a post-office under Leeds, and fairs on 2 March and 4 Nov. Its inhabitants are couployed chiefly in woollen and worsted manufactures.—The township comprises 1,722 acres. Real property, £9,123. Pop., 3,895. Houses, 854. Baildon Hill, in the W, is 922 feet high, and has ancient cotrenchments and tumuli feet high, and has ancient currending as The chapelry is conterminate with the township. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £148.* Patrons, Trustees. There are three dissenting chapels and a national school.

BAILEY, a hamlet in Mitton parish, Lancashire; contiguous to Aighton, 8 miles N of Blackburn. Pop., 200.

Houses, 43.

BAILEY, or EAILIE, a township in Beweastle parish, Cumberland; on a small tributary of the Esk, 5 miles NE of Longtown. Real property, £3,523. Pop., 363, Houses, 65.

BAILEY-GATE, a railway station in Porset; on the

BAILEY GATE, a railway station in Porset; on the D. and Somerse railway, 21 miles NW of Wimborne. BAILEY (NORTH and SOTTH). See DURHAM, BAIN (THE), a stream of Aysgarth parish, N. R. Vorkshire. It rises in Raydale-side, among high mountains; and runs 8 miles northward to the river Ure at Bainbridge. It expands into Simmer water 3 miles above Bainbridge; and makes two fine waterfalls. Simmer water is a lakelet of about 105 acres, a resort of water fowl, and alsounding with fish; and borrows picturesqueness from surr unding scenery.

BAINBRIDGE, a village and a township in Aysgarth parish, N. B. Yorkshire. The village stands on the river Ure, 11 mile SW of Askrigg; and has a post-office under Bedale. Here are a three-arched bridge, two dissenting chapels, a free grammar school, and the Askrigg workhouse. Here also was the Roman station Bracchium. Traces of the rampart of the Roman camp, enclosing an beck and Morton. Acres, 14,98 £8,185. Pop., 807. Houses, 160.

96

£$,185. Pop., 807. Houses, 160.

BAINTON, a township, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Driffield, E. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the Wolls, 44 miles W by S of Hutton-Cranswick r. station, and 6 SW of Great Driffield. It has a post-office under Driffield, and is a seat of a state cases inc. Acres 2 320 Real property £4111. It has a post-office under Driffield, and is a seat or petty sessions. Acres, 2,320. Real property, £4,111. Pop., 399. Houses, 78. The parish includes also the township of Noswick. Acres, 3,230. Real property, £6,086. Pop., 465. Houses, 90. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £757.* Patron, St. John's college, Oxford. The church is ancient but very good.—The sub-district comprises seven parishes and part of another. Acres, 31,014. Pop., 4,009. Houses, 759.

BAINTON, or BADINGTON, a parish in the district of Stamford and county of Northampton; near the river Welland, 2 miles ESE of Uffington r. station, and 41 E by S of Stamford. Post-town, Uffington under Stamford. Acres, 760. Real property, £1,730. Pop., 217. Houses, 42. The living is a p. curacy, anuexed to the rectory of Ufford, in the diocese of Peterborough. The church is early English. Charities, £51.

BAINTON, or BEANTON, a hamlet in Stoke-Lyne parish, Oxford; 3 miles N of Bicester. Pop., 34.
BAINTON-BEACON, a division of Harthill wapentake, E. R. Yorkshire. It contains Bainton, Driffield, and twelve other parishes; and it takes its name from a warning signal formerly used in times of danger in Bainton. Acres, 55,635. Pop. in 1851, 11,045. Houses, 2,219.

BAKE, a property of Sir Joseph Copley, Bart., 41 miles WSW of St. Germains, in Cornwall. It formerly was the seat of the Moyles; one of whom was Speaker in the time of Henry VIII.

BAKEWELL, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Derbyshire. The town stands at the foot of a hill, on the river Wye, adjacent to the Buxton railway, 11 miles W by S of Chesterfield. Its name is a corruption of Bath-well, originally Bath-quelle; and was derived from a mineral well, used for the supply of baths, and supposed to have been in repute prior to the year 924. The manor of it was known to the Saxons under the name of Badecanwylla; probably had a Roman station, and certainly had a castle of Edward the Elder, on Castle-hill, on the road to Chatsworth; was given at the Conquest to the family of Peveril; passed to successively the Gernons and the Vernons; and belongs now to the Duke of Rutland. The town is clean and pleasant; exults in picturesque environs; and is much visited by strangers, both for its own sake, and for sake of the splendid neighbouring scenery. It is a seat of petty sessions, and a polling-place; and it has a railway station, a head post-office, it banking-office, a parish church, two dissenting chapels, an endowed grammar-school, an hospital and other charities with £382, a work-house, a six-arched bridge, a public library and reading-room, a museum, public baths, and seven good inns. parish church stands on an eminence; is a spacious cruciform structure, in Saxon, Norman, and early English: has new transepts, and a new octagonal tower and spire, erected in 1841; and contains an ancient font and interesting tombs of the Vernons, the Folijambes, the Mannerses, and others. A very ancient cross, 8 feet high, decorated with rude sculpture, but much mutilated, is in the churchyard. The public baths have been rebuilt by the Duke of Rutland; contain good accommodation; and include a large swimming-bath, and separate shower and warm baths. The water from the mineral spring is chalybeate and slightly tepid; and that for the warm haths may be had of any temperature by artificial heating. A pleasant promenade is attached, called the Bath Garden, well laid out in walks and grot-The public museum contains a great variety of British, Roman, and Saxon relics, obtained from places in the neighbourhood; and a private museum, connected with a shop, exhibits splendid specimens of spar orna-ment and inlaid marble. A number of the inhabitants are employed in the working of marble and chert; and others are employed in a cotton mill. A weekly market others are employed in a cofton mitt. A weekly niarry is held on Monday; and fairs, on Easter Monday, Whit-Monday, 26 Aug., the Monday after 10 Oct., and the Monday after 22 Nov.—The township of Bakewell includes the town, together with a circumjacent tract. Real property, 210,414. Pop., 2,704. Houses, 485.

The parish includes also the townships of Froggatt,

The parish includes also the township of Freggato, Curbar, Calver, Rowland, Hassop, Great Longstone and Holme, Little Longstone, Ashford, Sheldon, Taddington and Priestelliff, Brushfield, Chelmorton, Monyash, Over and Nether Haddon, Hartle or Harthill, Great Rowsley, and Aether Haddon, Hartle or Harthill, Great Rowsley, Beeley, Baslow-with-Bubnell, Blackwell, and part of Wardlow, all in the district of Bakewell; and the township of Buxton, in the district of Chapel-en-le-Frith. Acres, 43,020. Real property, with the rest of Wardlow, £62,699. Pop. in 1841, 10,363; in 1861, 11,254. Houses, 2,164. Two objects of grand interest are the ducal seats of Charley-Robert and Haddon-Hall; which see. Mines of coal, lead, and zinc, and quarries of stone and marble are worked. Rocking-stones and a Druidiand marble are worked. Rocking-stones and a Drudical circle occur on Stanton manor. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £460.* Partons, the Dean and Chapter of Lichfield. The chapelries of Ashford, Baslow, Beeley, Buxton, Chelmorton, Great Longstone, King's Sterndale, Monyash, Rowsley, Sheldon, and Taddington, are separate charges.

The sub-district includes the greater part of Bakewell parish work of Vauleure and Ustington with parish, parts of Youlgreave and Hartington parishcs, and all Edensor. Acres, 56,916. Pop., 12,547. Houses, 2.490. The district comprehends also the sub-district of 2.430. The district complements also the sub-district of Tideswell, containing the parishes of Eyam and Hope, and parts of the parishes of Bakewell, Tideswell, and Ifathersage; and the sub-district of Matlock, containing the parishes of Matlock and Darley, and parts of the parishes of Youlgreave, Crich, Wirksworth, and Bradbourne. Acres, 107,105. Poor rates in 1866, £5,519. Pop. in 1861, 31,378. Houses, 6,448. Marriages in 1866, 170; births, 949,—of which 67 were illegitimate; deaths, 650, of which 191 were at ages under 5 years, and 17 at ages alove 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,909; births, 9,323; deaths, 6,157. The places of worship in 1851 were 33 of the Church of England, with 10,546 sittings; 8 of Independents, with 1,553 s.; 2 of Eaptists, with 100 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 90 s.; 5 of Unitarians, with 290 s.; 31 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 4,555 s.; 20 of Primitive Methodists, with 2,585 s.; 7 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 586 s.; 3 of Roman Catholics, with 200 s.; and 1 undefined, with 0 attendants. The schools were 37 public day schools, parishes of Youlgreave, Crich, Wirksworth, and Brad-70 attendants. The schools were 37 public day schools, with 2,298 scholars; 62 private day schools, with 1,371 s.; 80 Sunday schools, with 6,141 s.; and 4 evening schools for adults, with 83 s.

BAL, a prefix in many topographical names of Celtic rigin. It is commonly taken to mean a town; but it originally bore that meaning only in reference to the central seat of population on a single estate,—the town or homestead of a landlord. It does not occur often in England and Wales; but is plentful in Scotland, and exceedingly so, in the kindred form of Bally, in Ireland.

BALA, a small town, a sub-district, and a district, in Merioneth. The town is in Llanyeil parish; stands at the foot of Bala lake, and on the Ruabon and Dolgelly railway, 14 miles SW by W of Corwen; and has a railway station with telegraph. An artificial mount called Tomen-y-Bala, probably of Roman origin, adjoins it; and two anciently fortified hills, called Caer-Gai and Castell-Corndochan, the former believed to have been occupied by the Romans, are in the neighbourhood. The town consists chiefly of one wide street, with a few handsome houses. It has a post-officet under Corwen, a church of 1867, two dissenting chapels, a free grammar-school, a fine Calvinistic Methodist college of 1866, an Independent college, a townhall, a market-house, a banking-office, and two good inns. A manufacture of woollen hose and gloves was at one time flourishing, but has very greatly declined. A weekly market is held on Saturlay; and fairs, on 14 May, 10 July, 27 Sept., 24 Oct., and 8 Nov. Bills were introduced in 1861 for rail-Oct., and S Nov. Bills were introduced in 1861 for rail-ways to Corwen and Dolgelly. The town is a borough by prescription, governed by two bailiffs and a common council; and is a polling-place for the county, a seat of petty sessions, the seat of quarter sessions in January and July, and the seat of the Lent assizes. Real property, 23, 221. Pop. in 1851, 1,341. The Rev. Thomas Charles, one of the founders of the British and Foreign Rible Society, lived here till his death in 1812. Bible Society, lived here till his death in 1813.

The sub-district and the district are identical with each other, and contain only the parishes of Llanych, Llanuwchyllyn, Llangower, Llandderfel, and Llanfawr or Llanfor. Acres, 58, 292. Poor-rates in 1866, £3,565. Pop. in 1861, 6,352. Houses, 1,373. Marriages in 1866, 50; births, 188,—of which 26 were illegitimate; deaths, 121,—of which 24 were at ages under 5 years, and 11 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the teu years 1851-69, 447; births, 1,704; deaths, 1,178. The places of worship in 1851 were 7 of the Church of England, with 1,656 sittings; 10 of Independents, with 1,354 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 123 s.; 18 of Calvinistic Methodists, with 2,647 s.; and 1 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 178 s. The schools were 10 public day schools, with 433 schools were 10 public day schools, with 433 schools were 10 public day The sub-district and the district are identical with schools, with 433 scholars; 1 private day school, with 25 s.; 39 Sunday schools, with 3,079 s.; and 1 evening 25 s.; 35 Sunday Schools, Will 5,075 s.; and I evening school for adults, with 20 s.

BALA-LAKE, LYHN-TEGID, or PEMBLE-MERE, a lake in Merioneth. It extends north-eastward to Bala; is 4 iniles long, 1 mile broad, and more than 100 feet deep; receives the river Dwirdwy at its head, and discharges the Dee from its foot. Its shores are gravelly; its borlers are wooded, easy slopes; its flanks, hills of no great beauty, overlooked by interesting mountains. Its waters abound with pike, and contain perch, roach, eels, char, and gwyniad. The fishery belonged anciently to Basingwerk abbey; and is now the property of Sir W. W. Wynn, who has a fishing-lodge at the head, called Glan-y-Llynn.

IGN-Y-LAMBIL
BALA-SALLA. See BALLA-SALLA.
BALASLEY. See BATSELET.
BALBY-WITH-HEXTHORPE, a township-chapelry in Doncaster parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Don, 2 miles SW of Doncaster r. station. It has a post-office under Doncaster. Areas, 1,567. Real property, £4,844.
Pop., 1,653. Houses, 241. Tanning, brickmaking, and sand-digging are largely carried on. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £150. Patron, the Rev. R. J. Banks. The church was built in 1847. There are a Wesleyan chapel of 1868, a P. Methodist chapel, and a national school. The Quakers, under George Fox, held their first meetings here.

EALCOMBE, a village and a parish in Cuckfield dis-trict, Sussex. The village stands on a pleasaut spot, adjacent to the London and Brighton railway, 4 miles N of Cuckfield; and it has a station on the railway, a post-office under Cuckfield, a small inn. and a fair on 13 post-once under cuesneld, a smart inn, and a tar of April. The parish comprises 4,786 acres; of which 1,180 are in Highbeach warren. Real property, £3,652. Pop., $83). Houses, 170. The property is divided among a few. Balcombe Place and Wakehurst Place are elegant mansions. A tuncel of the radway, 1,1939. The property of the radway 1,1939. yards long, goes through a hill within the parish; and the Ouse viaduet, 100 feet high and upwards of 1 of a mile long, with 37 arches of 30 feet each in span, is about 14 mile from the station. The parish is a meet for the Horsham hounds. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £515. Patron, the Rev. G. C. Bethune. The church is early English in part, and BALDERSBY, a township and a chapelry in Topcliffe parish, N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the river Swale and on the Leeds and Thirsk railway, 5 miles NE of Ripon. It has a station on the railway, of the name of Baldersby-Gate; and its post-town is Top-cliffe, under Thirsk. Acres, 1,752. Real property, £3,360. Pop., 333. Houses, 67. The chapelry is more extensive than the township. Pop. in 1851, 687. The property belongs to two. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of York. Value, £120. Patron, Viscount Dewrse. The about. The church is new.

BALDERSTON, a township-chapelry in Blackburn parish, Lancashire; near the river Ribble, 5 miles NW parish, Lancashire; near the river Hibble, 5 miles NW of Blackburn r. station. Post-town, Mellor-Brook under Blackburn. Acres, 1,710. Real property, £2,593. Pop., 532. Houses, 105. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £160. Patron, the Vicar of Blackburn. The church is very good. Charlites, £11. BALDERSTON-ST. MARY. See ROCHDALE. BALDERTON, a parish in Newark district, Notts; on the Great Northern railway, 2 miles SE of Newark. It has a pactaffice and railway.

It has a post-office under Newark. Acres, 4,050. Real property, £8,017. Pop., 987. Houses, 231. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. The church is later English, but has a fine Norman porch. There are a Methodist chahas a fine Norman porch. There are a pel, a national school, and charities £50.

BALDHU, a chapelry in Kea and Kenwyn parishes, Cornwall; in the northern vicinity of Truro r. station. Post-town, Truro. Rated property, £2,000. Pop., 2,070. Houses, 427. The property is not much divided. The living isa vicange in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £200.* Patron, Viscount Falmouth. The church is very £200.* Patron, Viscount Falmouth. The church is very good. The chapelry was constituted in 1846.

BALDOCK, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Hitchin, Herts. The town stands in a valley between two hills, on Icknield-sireet, adjacent to the Hitchin and Cambridge railway, near the source of the river Rhea, 5 miles NE of Hitchin. It has a station on the railway, a head post-office, a parish church, four dissenting chapels, almshouses, a banking-office, and two good inns; and is a seat of petty sessions. Its name was anciently written Baudoc; and is supposed by some to have been taken from Baalbee in Syria, and applied by the Knights Templars. These military monks got a grant of the place, in the reign of Stephen, from Gilbert, Earl of Pembroke; and they built upon it a church, and obtained for it the rights of a market town. The present parish church includes some portions of the Templars' church; is a spacious edifice, in later English, with a large chancel and an ancient tower; was recently renovated; and contains some monuments of the Templars, a finely-carved oak screen, a very curious font, and part of the ancient rood-loft. The principal street of the town is wide, and has many respectable houses. Much business is done in the corn and malting trades; and a great quantity of straw-plait is made here and in the neighbourhood. A weekly market is held on Friday; and fairs, on 7 March, the last Thursday in May, 5 Aug., 2 Oct., and 11 Dec.—The parish comprises 200 acres. Real property, £6,312. Pop., 1,974. Houses, 408. The living is a rectory in the discose of Rochester. Value, £200.* Patron, Bishop of Rochester. Charities, £270.—The sub-district contains sixteen parishes. Acres,

28,650. Pop., 8,738. Houses, 1,811.

BALDON-MARSH, a parish in the district of Abing-don and county of Oxford; on the Roman road from Alcester to Wallingford, 31 miles E by N of Culham r. station, and 6 SE of Oxford. Post-town, Nuncham-Courtney under Oxford. Acres, 570. Real property, £1,370. Pop., 342. Houses, 69. Baldon House belonged formerly to the Pollards; and passed to the baronet family of Willoughby. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £93.* Sir H. P. Willoughby, Bart. The church is later English. There are loughby, Bart. The church is later English. There are a free school, and charities £9.

BALDON-TOOT, a parish in the district of Abingdon and county of Oxford; 4 miles NE of Culham r. station, and 5 SE of Oxford. Post-town, Kuncham-Courtney under Oxford. Acres, 2,010. Real property, £1,708. Pop., 260. Houses, 59. The living is a vicarge in the diocese of Oxford. Value, not reported. Patron, the Bishop of Oxford. The church is alcient.

BALDOXFEE. See BAULDOXFEE. BALDSLOW, a hundred in the rape of Hastings, Sussex. It contains the parishes of Crowhurst and Hollingsex. It contains the parishes of Crowhurst and Hollington, and parts of four others. Acres, 12,326. Pop. in 1851, 3,957. Houses, 669.

BALDUXTON, a township in Middle parish, Salop; 9 miles NNW of Shrewshury. Pop., 26.

BALDWIN, a chapelry in Kirk-Braddan parish, 1 mile W of Donglas, Isle of Man. Post-town, Douglas, Pop., returned with the parish. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Sodor and Man. Value, £70. Patron, the Vicar of Kirk-Braddan, Patron, the Vicar of Kirk-Braddan.

BALDWINHOLME, a township in Orton parish, Cumberland; 5\(\frac{1}{2}\) miles SW of Carlisle. Real property,
22,371. Pop., 234. Houses, 46.
BALE, or BATHLEY, a parish in Walsingham district, Norfolk; 4\(\frac{1}{2}\) miles E by N of Walsingham r. station.
Post-town, Holt under Thetford. Acres, 1,041. Real property, £1,850. Pop., 227. Houses, 50. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Gunthorpe, in the diocese of Norwish. The church was restored in 1864. Chertica 615. wich. The church was restored in 1864. Charities, £15.

BALHAM, a hamlet and a chapelry in Streatham parish, Surrey. The hamlet adjoins the West London and Crystal Palace railway, 4 miles WNW of the Crystal Crystal range railway, a mines waw of the Orystal Palace; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Clapham, London S. A bill was introduced in 1861 for a railway to connect the West London and Crystal Palace railway at or near Balham with the Windsor line of the Sonthwestern at Putney. The chapelry bears the name of Balham-Hill. Pop., 1,786. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester. Value, not reported. Patron, the Rector of Streatham.

not reported. Fatron, the Rector of Streatham. BALK, a township in Kirby-Knowle parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 44 miles NE of Thirsk. Acres, 780. Real property, £934. Pop., 86. Houses, 16. BALKHOLME, a township in Howden parish, E. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the Hull and Selby railway, 2 miles E by Sof Howden. Acres, 1,199. Real property, £1,595. Pop., 184. Houses, 36.

BALKING, or BAULKING, anciently BETHELKING, a hamlet and a chapelry in Uffington parish, Berks. The hamlet stands near the Great Western railway, and the Berks and Wilts canal, 3 miles W by N of Faringdon Road r. station, and 4 SSE of Faringdon. It was for-merly a market town; and its post-town is Uffington merry a market town; and its post-town is Olington under Faringdon. The chapelry contains 1,443 acres. Real property, £2,154. Pop., 181. Houses, 41. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage united to Woolstone, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £78. Patron, C. Eyre, Esq. The clurch is good.

BALLASALLA, a village in Kirk Malew parish, Isle of Man; on the Silver burn, and on the road to Douglas, 23 miles NNE of Castletown. It has a post-office under Douglas, and remains of a Cistercian abbey founded in 1098 by Mac Manns, King of Man, enlarged and richly endowed by his successors, and given in 1134 to Furness abbey. Pop., 516. Ballasalla House, in the vicinity, is the seat of the Drinkwater family.

BALLAUGH, or KIRK-BALLAUGH, a village and a parish in the Isle of Man. The village stands on the W coast, 7 miles W of Ramsey; is watered by a small stream descending from Snawfell; straggles upward from the shore over a space of nearly 2 miles; and has a post-office, t of the name of Ballaugh, under Douglas. The parish includes Ballamoor, and has marl-pits and several warrens. Bones and horns of the great Irish elk have been found in the marl-pits; and a skeleton of one was sent hence to the Hunterian museum at the university of Glasgow. Pop., 1,228. Houses, 266. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Sodor, 2nd Man. Value, £325.* Patron, the Crown. The old church stands on the shore, and was recently well restored; and a beautifully carved Runic cross is in the churchyard. A new church, built in the early part of the present century, stands fully a mile up the streamlet.

BALLIDON, a chapelry in Bradbourne parish, Derby; near the North Stafford railway, 6 miles W by N of Wirksworth. Post-town, Brassington under Wirksworth. Real property, £2,488. Pop., 110. Houses, 15. The property is divided among a few. The living is a The living is a the property is avenued among a tew. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Bradbourne, in the diocese of Lichfield. The church is good.

BALLINGDON-CUM-BRUNDON, a parish in the district of Sudbury, and county of Essex; on the northern verge of the county, & a mile SW of Sudbury r. station. Post-town, Sudbury. Acres, 366. Real property, £4,392. Pop. 361. Houses, 190. There are two manors, Ballingdon-above-Bridge and Ballingdon-below-Bridge. The whole tract was long a parish under the name of Brundon, and seems to have been part of the manor of Brundon, which in the earliest times belonged to the family of Limesi; but now is sometimes regarded as a portion of the parish of Sudbury. The living is a vicar-age, annexed to the vicarage of Sudbury, in the diocese of Ely. There is no church.

of Ely. There is no church.

BALLINGHAM, a parish in Ross district, Hercford; on the river Wyc, and on the Hereford and Gloucester railway, near Fawley station, 5½ miles NNW of Ross. Post-town, Holme-Lacey under Hereford. Acres, 901. Real property, £1,802. Pop., 168. Houses, 40. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicariage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £165. Patron, Sir E. F. S. Stanhope, Bart. The clurch is good. RALLYS POND. a suburban tract in Islington parish, BALL'S POND, a suburban tract in Islington parish, London; on the North London railway, near the Now river, 24 miles N of St. Paul's. The cattle market of 15 acres, projected by Perkins, is here. B. Pond is a chapelry, constituted in 1830; a vicarege in the diocese of London; of the value of £420, in the patronage of London; Trustees. The church is in the pointed style, and was designed by Barry. A chapel in Gloucester-road is under the vicar; and two churches in Essex-road and Mildmaypark are served by other vicars, each with income of £400, and both appointed by the vicar of B. Pond.

BALNE, a township in Snaith parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 3 miles S of Whitley Bridge r. station, and 44 SSW of Snaith. Acres, 2,870. Real property, £3,111. Pop., 367. Houses, 73. A recent church is here. BALSALL, BASHALL, or TEMPLE-BALSALL, a chapter of the parish of the property of the pr

BALSALL, BASHALL, or FEMTLE-BALSALL, a challer in the parish of Hampton-in-Arden, Warwick; 3 miles E of Knowle r. station, and 9 W by S of Coventry. Post-town, Knowle under Birningham. Real property, £3,864. Pop. 1,140. Houses, 291. The manor was given, in the reign of Stephen, to the Knights Templars; belonged afterwards to the Knights Hospitallers; passed, in the time of Edward VI., to the Earls of Warwick and Leicester, and afterwards to Lady Katherine Leveson; and was bequeathed by that lady for the erection and endowment of an hospital for poor women and boys. A hall was built by the Templars as a com-mandery or preceptory; and remains of it still exist. The hospital of Lady Leveson was enlarged under an act of Queen Anne; is now an extensive and substantial suite of buildings, in the form of a square, on the border of a large green; and has an income of £1,421. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £50.* Patron, the Governor of Balsall Hospital. The church was built by the Templars, about the middle of the 12th century; is 104 feet long, 39 feet wide, and 57 feet high; and has lofty, pointed, finely-traceried windows, timber roof, and stone stalls. Other charities than the hospital £26.

BALSALL HEATH, a chapelry in King's Norton parish, Worcester; on the Birmingham and Gloucester parisa, Worcester; on the Birmingham and Gloucester railway, 24 miles S of Birmingham. It was constituted in 1853; and it has a post-office under Birmingham, Pop. 7,651. Houses, 1,616. The living is a vicarrage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £300.* Patron, the Vicar of King's Norton. The church is ancient. BALSCOTT, a chapterly in Wroston parish, Oxford; on the verge of the county, 44 miles WNW of Banbury station. Post from Wroston under Embury. Acres

r. station. Post town, Wroxton under Banbury. Acres, 550 Pop., 211. Honses, 47. The name is a corruption of Beletscot; and was derived from Michael Belet, who founded Wroxton priory. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Wroxton, in the dioceso of Oxford. The church is decorated English.

BALSDEAN, a hamlet 4 miles NE of Brighton, Sus-5ex. A building here, called the Chapel, now used as a stable, is ancient and seemingly decorated English.

BALSHALL. See BALSALL.

BALSHAIL. See BALSAL.

BALSHAM, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Linton, Cambridge. The village stands near Worsted Street, 31 miles S of Six Mile-Bottom x station, and 4 NE by N of Linton; and has a post-office under Cambridge. The parish comprises 4,402 acres; and includes part of the Gogmagog hills. Real property, £5,851. Pop., 1,162. Houses, 266. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £1,101. Patrons, the Governors of the Charterhouse, London. The church is handsome, and has a tower. There are an Independent chanel. and of the Charterhouse, London. The church is handsome, ond has a tower. There are an Independent chapel, and charities £49. Hugh de Bottesham, foundr of Peterhouse College, Cambridge, was a native. See Gogmanden Hills.—The sub-district contains six parishes. Acres, 17,772. Pop., 3,925. Houses, 866.

BALSTON. See BAYSTON.

BALTERLEY, a township in Barthomley parish, Stafford; 64 miles NW of Newcastle-under-Lyne. Acres, 1,206. Real property, £2,213. Pop., 281. Houses, 52. BALTONSBOROUGH, a parish in Wells district, Somerset; on the river Brue, 4 miles SW of Glastonbury r. station. It includes the hamlet of Southwood; and has a post-office under Glastonbury. Acres, 2,472. Real property, £6,934. Pop., 763. Houses, 166. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to Butleigh, in the dio. of Bath and Wells. The church is later English. There are

Wesleyan and Moravian chapels, and two public schools. BALVAST, or POOLVASH BAY, a bay at the SW end of the Isle of Man. It opens between Scarlet point and Spanish head; aud is 43 miles wide at the entrance, and 21 miles long.

BAMBER BBIDGE, a village and a chapelry in Black-burn parish, Lancashire. The village stands adjacent to the East Lancashire railway, 3 miles SE by S of Preston; and has a post-office under Preston, and a r. station. The chapelry was constituted in 1832. Rated property, £6,231. Pop., 2,182. Houses, 408. There are two large cotton factories. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £150.* Patron, the Vicar of Blackburn. The church was built in 1836. are a Wesleyan chapel and a national school.

BAMBROUGH, or BAMBOROUGH, a village, a township, a parish, and a ward, in Northumberland. The village stands on the coast, 2 miles NE of Lucker r. station, and 5 E by N of Belford; and has a post-office under Belford. It was a seat of the kings of Northumbria; bore originally the name of Bacbbanburg or Bebbanburg, signifying Queen Bebba's town; was afterwards a market town and a royal burgh, sending two members to parliament; gave name to an extensive district around it, called Bambroughshire; and had churches of St. Oswald and St. Aidan, a cell of Augustinian canons, a house of Blackfriars, a college, and an hospital. It now possesses none of its aucient characters; but has become a retired, pleasant, favourite summer resort for sea-bathing .- The township includes also a place called Fowberry. Acres, 1,242. Pop., 403. Houses, 84.—The parish contains likewise the townships of Bambrough-Castle, Budle, Glororum, Burton, Hoppen, Elford, Shorstone or Shos-too, North Sunderland, Beadnell, Tughall, Swinhoe, Fleetham, Newham, Lucker, Adderstone, Bradford, Spindlestone, Outchester, Monson or Mowson, Warenton, Warenford, Ratchwood, and Newstead; and is in the diswater. Real property, 235,320. Pop., 4,105. Houses, 814. The surface exhibits diversity of feature; and is rich in at once geognostic, antiquarian, and modern interest. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Dur-ham. Value, ±300.* Patrons, the Trustees of Bishop Lord Crewe. The church is early English and crueiform, with a western tower; and has an unusually long chancel, with good modern stall-work, three sedilia, an ambrey, and the elligies of a knight. The chapelries of Beadnell, Lucker, and North Sanderland are separate charges.— The ward is about 17 miles long and about 8 miles broad; contains seven parishes; and consists of two divisions, North and South. Acres of North B., 33,421; of South B., 35,842. Pop. of both, 11,244. Houses, 2,222.

BAMBROUGH CASTLE, a township in Bambrough Bahbrough Castler, a township in Bambrough parish, Northumberland; on the coast, contiguous to Bambrough township, 5 miles E of Belford. Acres, 1,724; of which 1,134 are water. Pop., 38. Houses, 5. A famous castle was founded here, about the year 554, by Ida, first king of Northumbria, consort of Queen Bebba; and gave rise to the adjacent town. The site of The site of it is a rugged, triangular, basaltic rock, projecting into the sea, rising 150 feet above the watermark, and accessible only from the SE side. The original pile was formed chiefly of wood; yet made a great figure throughout the troubled times of the Northumbrian kings. A stronger structure, with Norman tower and Norman keep, was built principally about 1070; and this acted a part in most of the contests which shook the country, down to the reign of Edward IV.; but sustained very severe injury in a siege after the battle of Hexham. It passed, along with the manor, by grant of the Crown in the time of James I., to the family of Forster; underwent forfeiture in 1715, on account of its owner, Thomas Forster, having joined the Fretender; and was purchased by that gentlenan's maternal uncle, Lord Crewe, Bishop of Dur-ham, and bequeathed by him, under trustees, for chari-table uses. The structure, as it now stands, includes a space of eight acres, and contains stores, schools, and a public library for the benefit of the surrounding population, together with numerous, constant, effective appli-ances for the rescue and relief of shipwrecked mariners. The Farn islands, with accompanying rocks and shoals, so dangerous to navigation, are in the offing; and the appliances at Eambrough Castle are held in continual readiness, under resident managers and continual patrols, to afford succour to the endangered or the shipwrecked The great tower commands an extensive view; and one of the apartments has some interesting portraits and four large ancient pieces of tapestry. Grace Darling, who acted so very heroically at the wreck of the Forfarshire steamer, lies interred in the neighbouring churchyard. BAMBURGH. See BAUMBER.

BAMFORD, a township chapelry in Hathersage parish, Derby; on a head-stream of the river Derwent, in the Peak, 44 miles ENE of Castleton, and 9 N of Bakewell r. station. Post-town, Hathersage under Shef-field. Acres, 1,456. Real property, £1,456. Pop., 377. Houses, 73. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £100.* Patron, W. C. Moore, Esq. The church was built in 1859, after designs by Mr. Butterfield; is in the decorated English style; consists of nave, north aisle, and chancel, with tower and spire 108 feet high; and has floor of encaustic tiles. There are a Methodist chapel and a national school.

BAMFORD, a village in the township of Birtle-cum-Bamford, parish of Middleton, Lancashire; 3 miles W of Rochdale. It has a post-office under Rochdale, and an Independent chapel; and its inhabitants are employed chiefly in cotton factories. Bamford Hall, the fine old seat of J. Fenton, Esq., is adjacent.

BAMPFYLD-WESTON, See WESTON-BAMPFYLD.

BAMPTON, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a hundred, in Devon. The town stands in a vale, on the rivulet Batherne, about a mile above its influx to the Exe, 7 miles N of Tiverton r. station. It was anciently called Bahantune, Baunton, Bathampton, and Bathrumpton; and it disputes with Bampton in Oxfordshire being the Beamdune of the Saxon chroniclers, where, in 614, the Britons were defeated with great slaughter by Cynegilsus, king of the West Saxons. is supposed by some to occupy the site of a Roman station; and it had a castle, erected in 1336 by a member of the Cogan family, on a knoll at the east end of Castle-street, now called the Mount, and crowned with firs. The town consists of stone houses, irregularly scattered over a space of about & a mile; and has picturesque environs. It was formerly a borough, and sent two members to parliament; it was governed by a portreeve and other officers; and it is now a seat of petry sessions.

It has a post-office under Tiverten, and two good inns; and it formerly had a manufacture of serges and pottery. A weekly market is held on Saturday; fairs, on Whit-Tuesday and the last Thursday in Oct.; and great mar-kets for cattle, sheep, and Exmoor ponies, on the last Wednesday in Nov. and the Wednesday before Lady-day. John de Bampton, a Carmelite friar, who first read lec-tures on "Aristotle" at Cambridge, and died in 1391, was a native.

The parish includes also the hamlets of Petton and hillingford. Acres, 7,785. Real property, £9,144. pp., 1,971. Houses, 397. Limestone is worked, in Shillingford. Shillingford. Aeres, 7,785. Real property, £9,144. Pop., 1,971. Houses, 397. Limestone is worked, in about 15 quarries; for supplying the country as far as to South Molton. There is a chalybeate spring of some celebrity. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £130.* Patron, Rev. E. Rendell, The church is decorated and perpendicular English; consists of nave, aisles, transept, and channel, with western tower; and contains a fine carved oak screen, and monutant of the Ramshings. A small channel of seas is at ments of the Bourchiers. A small chapel of ease is at Petton; and a small Baptist chapel in the town. Charities, £9.—The sub-district contains four other parishes; and is in the district of Tiverton. Acres, 17,718. Pop., 3,296. Houses, 631. — The hundred contains seven parishes; and is noted principally for its quarries of limestone, and its fine breed of sheep. Acres, 28,757.

Pop., 6,628. Houses, 1,360.

BAMPTON, an ancient village or township, a parish, a sub-district, and a hundred, in Oxford. The village stands on a small tributary of the Thames, 54 miles SSW of Witney r. station, and 6 NNE of Faringdon. It was formerly called Bampton-in-the-Bush; and is sometimes designated, in union with the handet of Weald, as Bampton-with Weald. It was a place of some import-Bampton-with weath. It was a place of some importance in the times of the Saxons; and it rose to still more importance, as a market-town, after the Conquest. It has a post-officet under Faringdon, a town-hall, a parish church, a Baptist chapel, a weekly market on Wednesday, and a large horse fair on 26 and 27 Aug. The church at it is a handsome crueiform edifice, with a tall church at it is a nanusome cruenorm entine, what a cut spire; and possesses considerable portions of Norman architecture; yet includes features of almost every period from the Conquest till the time of George III., and was partially restored in 1869. A castle of Aylmer de Valence, Earl of Pembroke, stood near the church, and was described, in the time of the Commonwealth, as "a quadrangular building, moated round, with towers at each corner, and a gatehouse of tower-like character on the south and east sides;" and picturesque remains of it still exist as two farm-houses, called Ham Court and Castle Farm. Real property of the township, £8,872, Pop., 1,713. Houses, 393.

The parish includes also the chapelry of Shifford, and

The parish includes also the chapter, the hamlets of Weald, Brighthampton, Lew, Chimney, Acres, 8,750. Real property, Coate, and Aston. Acres, 8,750. Real property, £17,492. Pop., 2,863. Houses, 651. The property is much subdivided. The living is a three-fold vicarage,— Bampton, Bampton-Aston, or Aston Bampton, and Bampton-Lew; of the value of respectively £550, £550, £550, and £300; all in the diocese of Oxford, and in the particular of the tronage of the Dean and Chapter of Exeter. Endowed schools have £78, and other charities £271. Phillip the author of "Cyder" and the "Splendid Shilling. Phillips, was a native. - The sub-district contains six other parishes; and is in the district of Witney. Acres, 20,300. Pop., 5,629. Houses, 1,269.—The hundred includes seventeen parishes and parts of two others; is bounded by Berks on the south and by Gloucester on the west; and measures about 13 miles by 11½. Acres, 43,188. Pop. in 1851, 16,539; in 1861, 16,123. Houses, 3,554.

Houses, 3,554.

BAMPTON, a village and a parish in West Ward district, Westmoreland. The village stands on the river Lowther, 2 miles NNE of Hawes-water, 4 NW of Shap r, station, and 9 S of Penrith; and it has a post-office under Penrith. The parish extends upward to Hawes-water; and includes part of Mardale chapelry. Acres, 10,390. Real property, £3,672. Pop., 511. Houses, 111. The property is much subdivided. A lead mine, belonging to the Earl of Lonsdale, has been discovered. A spot not far from the village was the scene of a skir-mish in the rebellion of 1745. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £101. Patron, the Earl of Lonsdale. The church is good. A grammar-Pari of Lonsuate. Inc cource is good. A grammar-school, founded in 1627, has an endowed income of £83; and other charities have £95. Dr. Mill, the bibli-cal critic, Bishop Gibson, the editor of "Camden," and Judge Wilson, were educated at the grammar-school; and Bishop Law, the friend of Paley, an I Dr. Gibson, the and Bishop Law, the friend of Paley, an I Dr. Gibson, the author of a system of anatomy, were natives.

BAMPTON GRANGE, a bamlet in Bampton parish, Westmoreland; 1 mile SE of Bampton village.

BAMPTON KIRK, a township and a parish in Weston district, Cumberland. The township lies 44 miles NNW of Dalston: station, and 64 W of Carlisle; and has a post-office, of the name of Kirk-Bampton, under Carlisle. Acres, 1,260. Real property, £1,506. Pop. Carlisle, Acres, 1,260. Real property, £1,506. Pop., 205. Houses, 37. The parish contains also the town-205. Houses, 87. The parish contains also the townships of Little Bampton and Oughterby. Acres, 5,602. Real property, £2,817. Pop., 497. Houses, 99. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £100.* Patrons, the Earl of Lonsdale and Sir W. Brisco. The church is bad. BAMPTON (LITLE), a township in Bampton-Kirk parish, Cumberland; 2 miles W of Bamptou-Lirk township. Acres, 1,337. Real property, £1,366. Pop., 172. Hones, 37.

parist, Cumberly, 21,366. Pop., ship. Acres, 1,337. Real property, £1,366. Pop., 172. Houses, 37.

BANBURY, a town, a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a hundred in Oxford canal and the Oxford canal and the Oxford on the Cherwell river, the Oxford canal and the Oxford on the enerwert river, the conduct cause and the oxford and Birmingham railway, 22½ miles N by W of Oxford. Its name, in the Saxon times, was Bancsbyrig; and its site is supposed to have been a Roman station. Roman coins and a Roman altar have been found at it; and a bind of architecture. kind of amphitheatre, still existing, is thought to be Roman. A castle was built here, about the year 1125, by Alexander, Bishop of Lincoln, and continued to be by Alexander, Distop of Lincoln, and continued to be an episcopal residence till the reign of Edward VI.; but ouly a fragment of one of the walls remains. During the wars between the houses of York and Lancaster, the forces of the Yorkists held possession of the town, and a memorable action, known as the battle of Banbury, was fought, in 1469, about 3 miles distant, on Danesmoor near Edgecott. In the wars of the time of Charles I., the castle was garrisoned for the Parliamentarians, and aided by the townspeople, who were almost all Puritans; but it was captured by the Royalists after the battle of Edgehill, and held by them during thirteen weeks, till relieved by the Duke of Newcastle; and afterwards it sustained a siege of ten weeks by Colonel Whalley, and surrendered on honourable terms.

The town presents a cheerful appearance, and has undergone much recent improvement, but does not possess any claim to elegance. The town-hall, built in 1854, is a handsome edifice, in the prevailing style of the 15th century, with an apartment 60 feet by 34, and a conspicuous tower. The parish church is a large costly structure, raised under an act of parliament of 1790; has a tower over the western entrance 133 feet high; and contains two monuments of the Pigott family. new cemetery contains two neat chapels in the early English style. The Roman Catholic chapel, built in new cemeter, the Roman Catholic chapel, built in 1833, and a Wesleyan chapel, built in 1864, are fine structures. There are churches in Neithrop and South B., nine dissenting chapels, a school of science built in 1861, a mechanics' institution, a blue-coat school with £70 ayear, alms-houses and other charities with £193, a workyear, annismous and other chartes when zero house in Neithrop, a jail, two corn-exchanges, a theatre, and a numery. A free grammar-school was once so famous that the statutes of it were taken as models for schools in London and Manchester; but is now extinct. A college, dedicated to St. Mary, stood on the Oxford road; and a fragment of it still exists. A lepers' hospital stood on the cast side of the town, at what is now called Spital farm. A spire-cross, with a fountain, was recently erected on or near the site of an ancient market-cross of great note, and described by Leland. The town has a head post-office, tastation on the railway, three wharves on the canal, four banking offices, and four chief inns; and publishes two weekly newspapers. It has a large corn trade, is famous for cakes, and carries on malting. brewing, wool-stapling, agricultural-implement making, and the manufacture of plushes and other webbing. A weekly market is held on Thursday; and fairs on the Thursday after Old Twelfth day, on the third Thursday of Feb., March, and April, on Holy Thursday, on the third Thursday of June, July, Aug., and Sept., on the tirst and the third Thursdays after Old Michaelmas, on the third Thursday in Nov., and on the second Thursday lefore Christmas. The town was made a borongh in the time of Queen Mary; is governed by a mayor, four aldermen, and twelve councillors; is a sent of petty sessions, and a court of record; and sends one member to parliament. The municipal borough consists of the parish, exclusive of Neithrop township; while the parliamentary borough includes all the parish, and also the hamlets of Grimsbury and Nethercote. Pop. of the ni. namness of Grinsbury and Achiercote. Fop. of the h. borough, 4059. Houses, 791. Pop. of the p. borough, 10,216. Houses, 2,068. Direct taxation, £8,117. Real property, £20,049. Electors in 1868, 763.—Barbury formerly gave the title of Earl to the family of Knollys. Whately, the Puritan author of the "Bride Bush," born in 1583, was a native. The seats of Neithrop House, in 1683, was a native. The seats of Neutrop House, Broughton Castle, Wroxton Abber, and Wykham Park are in the neighbourhood. A sulphurous spring adjoins the Ram inn; a chalybeate spring is at a short distance from the town; and the pyrites aureus, or golden firestone, is frequently found in digging wells.

101

The parish includes the town, the Neithrop subnrb, and a tract of circumjacent country. Acres, 3,150. Rated property, £23,750. Pop., 9,140. Houses, 1,833. and a tract of circumjacent country. Acres, 5,1,26. Hated property, £23,750. Pop., 9,140. Houses, 1,533. The living is a vicatage, united with the p. curacy of Ncithrop, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, not reported.* Patron, the Bishop of Oxford. South Banbury or Christ Church, is a separate charge, a vicar-age, of the value of £180,* also in the patronage of the Bishop of Oxford.—The sub-district contains five other parishes, and part of a sixth. Acres, 14,925. Pop. 13,293. Houses, 2,797.—The hundred consists of two portions, on the northern horder of the county, separated 31 miles from each other by the hundred of Bloxham. Acres, 21,186. Pop., 10,393. Houses, 2,265.—The district comprehends the sub-district of Banbury, containing the parishes of Eanbury, Warkworth, Middleton-Cheney, Chalcombe, Edgeott, and Chipping-Warden, and the chapelry of Wardington,—all, excepting Banbury and Wardington, electorally in Northamptonshire; the stud-district of Bloxham, containing the parishes of Blox-lam, Hook-Norton, Wigginton, South Newington, Bar-tord-St. Michael, and Adderbury; the sub-district of Swal-cliffe, containing the parishes of Swalcliffe, Broughton, Tadouarton, Alkerton, Shenington, Hornton, Horley, Wroxton, Drayton, Radway, and Ratley,—the two last electorally in Warwickshire; and the sub-district of Cropredy, containing the lordship of Prescot, the extraparochial tract of Clattercote, the parish of Hanwell, and parochial tract of Clattercote, the parish of Hanwell, and great part of the parish of Cropredy, electorally in Oxforlshire,—the parishes of Upper Boddington, Lower Boddington, and Aston-le-Walls, electorally in Northamptonshire,—and the parishes of Slotswell, Warmington, Avon-Dassett, and Farnborough, and small part of the parish of Cropredy, electorally in Warwickshire. Acres, 75,324. Poor-rates in 1866, 253,172. Pop. in 1861, 30,171. Houses, 6,742. Marriages in 1866, 256 birthe 1 051—of which 62 were flegitimate: deaths. births, 1,05 t,-of which 62 were illegitimate; deaths, 593, — of which 192 were at ages under 5 years, and 16 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,257; births, 10,054; deaths, 6,391. The places of worship in 1851 were 42 of the Church of Tagland, with 12,042 sittings; 7 of 1 Independents, with 1,200 s.; 9 of Baptists, with 2,030 s.; 5 of Quakers, with 829 s.; 10 f Unitarians, with 929 s.; 23 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,505 s.; 23 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,505 s.; 14 of Frimitive Methodists, with 1,602 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 20 s.; 2 of Roman Catholics, with 500 s.; and I undefined, with 90 s. The schools were 35 public day schools, with 2,751 scholars; 51 private day schools, with 1,062 s.; 61 Sunday schools, with 3,608 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 95

BANBURY LANE, a hamlet in Gayton parish, Northampton, 41 miles N of Toweester. Pop., 45.
BANCHORIUM. See BANGOR-IS-Y-COED.

BANE (THE), a river of Lincoln. It rises in the Wolds, near Kelstern; and runs 20 miles southward, past Horn-castle, to the Witham, about a mile below Tattershall. The lower part of it is navigable, and has been improved. BANE-END. See BONE-END. See BONE-END.

BANESBYRIG. See BANBURY.

BANGLEY, a liberty in Tamworth parish, Stafford; 3 miles SW of Tamworth. Pop., 12. Honses, 3.

BANGOR, a city, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Carnaryon; and a diocese in Carnaryon, Anglesey, Merioneth, and Montgomery. The city stands adjacent to the Chester and Holyhead railway, on the rivulet Cegid, in a narrow fertile vale, near the Menai strait at its opening to the Lavan sands, 2} miles NE of the Britannia Bridge, 83 NNE of Carnarvon, and 593 W of Chester. Rocks and heights overlook it; and command magnificent views, over coast and mountain, away to Great Ormes Head and Snowdon. The environs include Beaumaris bay, the Menai and Britannia bridges, Penrhyn Castle and quarries, delightful promenades, and many picturesque attractions. The name is a corruption of Ban Chor, signifying "the high or white choir;" and, in contra-distinction to Bangor-is-y-Cood or Bangor-Monachorum, was formerly written Bangor-Fawr, signifying Bangor the Great. A grit stone, 16 inches long, bearing an inscription in honour of Antoninus Pius, was found in 1806 at Ty Coch, about 2 miles distant; and has suggested the probability that the Romans had some settlement in the neighbourhood. The scattered remains of a British camp exist on the top of a hill on the N side of the city; and slight traces of a strong eastle, crected in the reign of William Rufus, by Hugh, Earl of Chester, the reign of William Ruius, by Hugh, Earl of Chester, occur on the summit of a steep rock, opposite Friar's School. A college was founded, in 525, on the site of the cathedral by St. Deimiol or Daniel; and this, most probably, gave rise to the city. The place seems never to have acquired more than the bulk of a village before the early years of the present century; and then it had only 93 houses; but now, in consequence of the thoroughfare to Holyhead, the forming of the Menai bridges, the opening of the railway, and the rush of strangers to cojoy sea-bathing and the scenery of Wales, it has become a considerable and very thriving town, with crowded influx of tourists and temporary residents.

The town consists chiefly of one narrow street, nearly a mile long, in a waving line, between two ridges of rock; and has, within these few years, been greatly improved, and for the most part rebuilt. Extensions of it are in progress; and a kind of suburb, designed to comprise terraces, crescents, and fine isolated villas, has been commenced on ground belonging to the Railway com-pany, midway between the Menai and the Britannia bridges. The chief public buildings in the city, or connected with it, are the cathodral, the episcopal palace, the deanery-house, four dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, Glyna's free school, the work-house for the district, the infirmary for Carnarvon and Anglesev, the market-house, the assembly-rooms, a temperance hall, the railway station, two banking offices, two great hotels, and several respectable inns. The cathedral is small, and wants effect from the lowness of its site, yet contains some good architectural details. The original pile was destroyed in 1071 by the Anglo-Normans; destroyed again in 1211; dilapidated, about 1247, in the wars between Henry III. and the Welsh; burnt down in 1402, during the troubles which followed the revolt of Owen Glendower; and remained, for more than 90 years, in a state of ruin. The present pile is cruciform, with central massive tower 60 feet high; the nave and choir 233 feet long; the nave and side aisles, 60 feet broad; the transept, 95 feet long. The choir is perpendicular English, and was built in 1496; but its east window was put up, in the course of a general repair of the edifice, about 1826. The nave, the transept, and the tower were built from 1509 till 1532; and the windows of the navo retain some remnants of the previous pile in decorated tracery. The choir is used for the cathedral service; the north aisle of it for the chapter-house; and the nave for the parish church. The only monuments of interest are the tomb of Gruffydd-ap-Cynau, Prince of North Wales, and a recumbent stone effigies of his celebrated successor, and a recument stone emgiss of his celebrated successor. Owen Gwynedd. The episcopal palace stands on a low secluded spot, a little N of the cathedral; and is an ediace of the early part of the 16th century, much altered, plain, and commodious. The deanery-house adjoins the cemetery, and is a good building. Glynn's free school was founded in 1557, by Dr. Jeffrey Glynn, brother of Bishop Glynn; and has an income of £581. Jones' museum contains a large collection of rare and curious articles. The railway crosses the Cegid rivulet, on a via-duct 200 yards long; approaches the station through a rock-cut tunnel, 1,000 yards long; aud immediately afterwards enters another tunnel. The town has a station, telegraph station, and a head post-office; and publishes a weekly newspaper. Its chief trade consists in the export of slates, raised in quarries 6 miles distant, and brought on a railway to Port Penrhyn, at the mouth of the Cegid, and from another quarry to a newly-formed shipping-place at Garth. Port-Penrhyn has a quay upwards of 300 yards long, and is accessible at all states of the tide, by vessels of from 200 to 300 tons; and adjacent to it is a good building, with hot and cold ses-water baths. A manufacture of slates is carried on into billiard tables, chimney-piers, and many other objects. Steam vessels ply to Liverpool, calling at Beaumaris and Llandulno. Markets are held on Fridays; and fairs are held on the second Friday of February, March, and April, the first Friday of May, the third Friday of June, the fourth Friday of Aug., the third Friday of Sopt. and Oct., and the first Thursday of Dec. The town is a seat of petty sessions and a coast-guard atation; and it unites with the Carnarvon boroughs in sending a member to parliament. Pop. in 1831, 4,751; in 1861, 6,738. Houses, 1,331.

The parish includes also the village of Tynlon, and the places called Aberwh, Carth, and Hiracl. Acres, 7,543; of which 740 are water. Real property, £23,615. Pop., 10,662. Houses, 2,090. The living is a vicarage, in the diocese of Bangor; and includes the curacy of Pentir. Value, £883.* Patron, the Bishop of Bangor. A new eemetery is about a mile from the town; and two churcles, for two new chapleries, were built in 1863-5.—The subdistrict contains also the parish of Llandezsi. Acres, 23,643. Pop., 14,013. Houses, 2,779.—The district comprehends likewise the sub-district of Llandezsi. Acres, 23,643. Pop., 14,013. Houses, 2,779.—The district comprehends likewise the sub-district of Llandezsi. Acres, 12,479.—The district containing the parishes of Llandethid, Aber, and Llanfair-Fechan; and the sub-district of Beanmaris, all electrally in Anglesey, and containing the parishes of Beanmaris, Llanfihangel-Esceifiog, Penmynydd, Llansadwrn, Llaniestyn, Llanfihangel-Tyn-Sylwy, Penmon, Llanfæs, Llandegfan, and Llandistlio. Acres, 92,473. Poorrates in 1866, 25; Births, 1,075.—of which 60 were illegitimate; deaths, 1,005. of which 274 were at ages under 5 years, and 41 at ages above 55 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,619; births, 10,772. deaths, 7,095. The places of worship in 1851 were 24 of the Church of England, with 7,085 sittings; 15 of Independents, with 4,013 s.; 8 of Baptists, with 945 s.; 15 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 9,593 s.; 10 f Roman Catholics, with 9,593 s.; 10 f Roman Catholics, with 9,503 s.; 10 f Roman Catholics, with

The diocese comprehends all Anglesey, most of Carnarvon, about half of Merioneth, and part of Montgomery. Acres, 985,946. Pop., 195,390. Houses, 41,970. The see was founded in 550. The first bishop was St. Deiniol, the founder of the precurrent college.

The bishop, in the time of Edward I., was Anian; who baptized the young prince Edward, and wrote a folio volume, which is preserved in the cathedral library. A bishop in the time of George I. was Hoadley; who breached a sermon which gave rise to a long and famous dispute, known as the liangorian controversy. Two other distinguished bishops were Sherlock and Herring. The cathedral establishment consists of bishop, dean, chancellor, two archdeacons, three canons residentiary, a prebendary, five honorary canons, and two minor canons. The income of the bishop is £4,200; of the dean, £700; of each of the canons residentiary, £350; of the prebendary, £318. The archdeaconries are Bangor and Merioneth; and the former comprises nine deameries, the latter five. Some of the livings have recently been raised in status, and are named as they now rank in the separate articles on them in our work; but all will be named here as they ranked in 1861.

haiarn, Llanberis, Llanddeiniolen, Llandwrog, Llanllyfni, naturn, Landerts, Danderthoen, Landertoe, Landym, and Llanvilg; the vicarages of Bangor, Llanbeblig, and Llanwinda; and the p. curacies of Bettws-Garmon, Carnarvon-St. Mary's, Llandinerwig, and Llanfairisgaer. The deanery of Arllechwedd contains the rectories of Aber, Llanfairfechan, Llangelynin, Llanllechid, and Trefriw; the vicarages of Conway, Dwygyfylchi, and Lianbedr; and the p. curacies of Bettws-y-Coed, Capel-Curig, Dolwyddelan, Glanogwen, Gyffin, Llandegai, Llandegai St. Ann's, Llandudno, and Pennachno. The deanery The deanery of Caedewen contains the rectories of Aberhafesp, Llan-dyssil, Llanmerewic, Llanwyddelan, Manafon, and New-Llanllwchairn; and the p. curacies of Llanllugan, Mochtre, and Tregynon. The deanery of Llifon contains the rectories of Lianbeulan, and Liantrisaint; and the p. cura-rectories of Lianbeulan, and Liantrisaint; and the p. curacies of Bodedern, Llandrygarn, and Talyllyn. ery of Menai contains the rectories of Llangeinwen and Newborough; the vicarage of Llanidan; and the p. curacy of Llanfihangel-Ysceifiog. The deancry of Malltreeth contains the rectories of Aberffraw, Heneglwys, Llangadwaladr, Llangefui, Llangristiolus, and Trefdraeth; and the p. curacy of Llangwyllog. The deanery of Tyndacthwy contains the rectories of Llandegfan, Llanddyfnan, Llancontains the recovers of Liamegian, Liandayman, Liansadwin, and Llanfairphigwyngyll; and the p. curaeics of Llanfacs, Llangoed, Llanddona, Pentraeth, and Penmynydd. The deanery of Talybolion contains the rectories of Llanfachrath, Llanfachtle, Llanfachell, Llanfachtle, Llanfachell, Llanfachtle, Llanfachtle, Llanfachell, Llanfachtle, Llanfach rhuddlad, Rhoscolyn, and Llanddensant; the vicarage of Llanbadrig; and the p. curaey of Holyhead. The dean-ery of Twrcelyn contains the rectories of Llandyfrydog,

The deanery of Eviouveld contains the rectories of Criccieth, Llanfilangel-y-Pennant, Llangybi, Llanystundwy, and Penmorfa; and the p. curacy of Beddgelert. The deanery of Ardwidwy and Estimanner contains the rectories of Dolgelly, Festinieg, Llanaber, Llandianwg, Llanenddwyn, Llanfair-near-Harlech, Llanfforthen, and Trawsfynydd; the vicaruge of Towyn; and the p. curacies of Brynoccadifar, Llanegryn, Llanellyd, Llanfair-near-Harlech, Llanfipel-y-Traeth-an, Pennal, Tallyllyn, and Aberdovey. The deanery of Arnssy contains the rectory of Penystowed; the vicaruges of Llandianm, Llandloes, Llangirig, Llanwag, Llanidloes, and Trefeglwys; and the p. curacy of Carno, The deanery of Ceiffing contains the rectories of Cemmacs, Llanwiin, Llany-Mowddwy, Mallwyl, Machynlleth, and Penegoes; and the vicarages of Darowen and Llanbrynmair. The deanery of Lleyn contains the rectory of Bodfaen, Elern, Llanbedrog, Llanegan, Llanistyn, Mylltyryn, and Rhiw; the vicarages of Aberdaron and Llannor; and the p. curacies of Aberarch, Bryneroes. Ceidio, Llangwadl, Nefvn, and Tudwilliog.

Llaneilian, and Llanengrad; and the p. curacies of Amlweh, Bodewryd, Penrhoslligwy, and Llanerchy-

medd

and Liambri; and the p. curnetes of Adererca, pryneroes. Celidio, Llangwaadl, Aviya, and Tudwelliog.

BANGOR, a parish in Newcastle-in-Emlyn district, Cardigan; on the river Telfi, 5 miles E of Newcastle-Emlyn r. station. Post-town, Newcastle-Emlyn, under Carmarthen. Acres, 1,392. Real property, 2978. Pop., 204. Houses, 41. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Pistogs. The living is a rectory united with Henllan, in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £163. Patron, the Bishopof St. David's.

The church is good.

BANGOR, or CAPEL-BANGOR, a chapelry in Llan badarn-Fawr parish, Cardigan; on the river Rheidol, 5 miles Eof Aberystwith. Post-town, Aberystwith. Pop., 1,919. Houses, 354. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £148. Patron, the Vicar of Llanbadarn-Fawr.

The church is good.

BANGOR-IS-Y-COED, or BANGOR-MONACHORUM, a township in the district of Wrexham and county of Flint, and a parish partly also in the county of Denbigh. The township lies on the river Dee, in an open fertile country, 51 miles SE of Wrexham railway station. has a post-office,; of the name of Bangor-Is-y-Coed, under Wrexham, and a bridge of five arches on the Dee. It was the Roman Banchorium or Bovinm, and the Saxon Bancornaburg; and it anciently had a large monastery, said to have been founded previous to the year 180, by Lucius, son of Coel, the first Christian king of Britain. The monks increased in number to 2,100; and so many as 1,200 of them were massacred in 593 by King Ethel-frith of Northumbria. Gildas Ninnius, who lived in the 7th century, and wrote a history of England which is still extant, was one of the abbots. The ruins of many churches and of other extensive buildings are described by William of Malmesbury as existing soon after the Conquest; but these, and all other traces of the ancient Conquest; but these, and all other traces of the ancient monastery, long ago disappeared. Real property of the township, £4,834. Pop., 535. Houses, 138. The parish includes also the townships of Eyton, Royton, Pickhill, and Sesswick. Acres, 5,795. Real property, £11,400. Pop., 1,240. Houses, 231. The propert is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. Asaph; and till 1868 was united with Overton. Value, £700.* Patron, the Marquis of Westminster. The lue, £700.* Patron, the Marquis of Westminster. church contains a curious, octagonal, ancient font, and is good. A school has £39 from endowment, and other charities £37.

BANGROVE. See BECKFORD.

BANHACLOG, a chapelry in Llandinam parish, Montgomery; near Llandinam r. station, and 45 miles NE of Llauidlees. Post-town, Lllandinam under Shrewsbury. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Bangor. Value, not reported. Patron, the Bishop.

BANHAM, a parish and a sub-district, in the district of Guilteross, Norfolk. The parish lies 21 miles SW of New Buckenham, and 4 E of Eccles Road r. station; and has a post-office under Attleborough. Acres, 3,963.
Real property. £8,131. Pop., 1,163. Houses, 253. Real property, £3,131. Pop., 1,163. Houses, 253. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £1,000.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good; and there are two Methodist chapels, a national school, and charities, £136.—The sub-district contains eight parishes. Acres, Pop., 5,516. Houses, 1,243.

BANKER, a township in Llandyrnog parish, Denbigh-

BANKED, a township in Landyton parties, persons shire; 4 § miles E of Denbigh. Pop., 96. BANKFOOT, a chapelry in Bradford parish, W. B. Yorkshire. It was constituted in 1850. Post-town, Bradford. Rated property, £1,213. Pop., 2,641. Houses, 600. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £120. Patron, Rt. Hon. G. Hardy.

BANKHEAD, a township in Rothbury parish, Northumberland; included in Cartington township, 2 miles

N of Rothbury. Pop , 16.

BANKLAND, a hamlet in North Petherton parish, Somerset; 61 miles NE of Taunton.

BANK-NEWTON, a township in Gargrave parish, W. R. Vorkshire; on the Lee Is and Liverpool canal, 6 niles W by N of Skipton. Acres, 2,326. Real property, £2,980. Pop., 106. Houses, 19.

BANKS, a constablewick in Lanercost parish, Cumberland; 2 miles N of Brampton.

BANKS, a chapeiry in North Meols parish, Laucashire; 3 miles NE of Southport. It was constituted in 1867. The living is a vicarage.

BANKS (FEE), a hamlet in Longborough parish,

BANKS (FEE), a hamlet in Longborough parish, Gloucester; 2 miles NW of Stow-on-the-Wolds. BANK-TOP, a village in Sharples township, Bolton-B-Moors parish, Lancashire; 44 miles NNW of Bolton. BANNAGOR CRAGS, picturesque crags, "scathed, verdureless, and slivered," amid a grand landscape, otheriver Wye, 5 miles N by W of Chepstow, Monmouth.

BANNAN-BRECHEINOG, or BRECKNOCK-BEACONS, two summits of the Black Mountains, 2,862 feet high, 51 miles SSW of Brecon, South Wales.

103

BANNAN-SIR-GAER, or CARMARTHEN-BEACONS, two summits of the Black Mountains, about 2,600 feet high; the one within Breeknockshire, the other within Carmarthenshire, 81 miles SSE of Llandovery, and 121 W by N of the Bannan-Brecheineg, South Wales.

W by N of the Bannan-Brecheineg, South Wates. BANNEL, a township in Hawarden parish, Fliut; near the Mold railway, 4 miles E of Mold. Acres, 376. Real property, 24:35. Pop., 124. Houses, 28. BANNER-CROSS, a handet in Ecclesall-Bierlow township, Sheffield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 3 miles E.W. of Charled A. warning here, built by Consender. SW of Sheffield. A mansion here, built by General Murray, is in the later English style.

BANNERDOWN, a tract containing the meetingpoint of Wilts, Gloucester, and Somerset. The point is 1½ mile NW of the Box tunnel of the Great Western railway, and 4½ miles W of Corsham. It was marked, for upwards of a century, by three small stones; but is marked now by a cromlech, set up in 1853.

BANNINGHAM, a parish in Audabase.

marked now by a cromlech, set up in 1853.

BANNINGHAM, a parish in Aylsham district, Norfolk; on a tributary of the river Bure, 2½ miles NE of Aylsham, and 14 N of Norwich r. station. Post-town, Aylsham under Norwich. Acres, 920. Real property, £2, 209. Pop., 302. Houses, 67. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £446. Patrons, J. S. Dawber, Esq. and Rev. W. Leeper. The church is old but good. There are a national school, and charities £5.

BANNIUM. See ABERYSCIE.

BANSTEAD, a village and a parish in Epsom district, Surrey. The village stands under the SW side of Banstead Downs, 4 miles E of Epsom; and has a post-office under Epsom, a r. station, and a police station. parish comprises 5,513 acres. Real property, £7,214. Pop., 1,461. Houses, 275. The property is subdivided. Banstead Park is a seat belonging to Mr. Yong; and Eurgh House, in the neighbourhood, is the seat of the Earl of Egmont. Banstead downs rise to the height of 576 feet; command extensive views; and are famous for coursing, for hunting, and for fine sheep pasturage. Here, said Pope.

" To Hounslow-Heath I point, and Banstead Down, Thence comes your mutton, and these chicks my own."

The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £300. Patron, the Earl of Egmont. The church is chiefly perpendicular English; has a good tower, surmounted by a tall spire; stands on high ground, and serves well, for miles round, as a landmark. Charities, £20. The Roustend and Fragon Down ruleur, from the £39. The Banstead and Epsom Downs railway, from the Sutton station of the Croydon and Epsom, was authorised in 1862 and opened in 1865.

BANTHAM, a hamlet in Thurlestone parish, Devon; on the river Aven, & a mile above its mouth, and 41 miles W of Kingsbridge. A ferry is here across the river; and a roadstead adjacent gives shelter to small craft.

BANWELL, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Axbridge, Somerset. The village stands under Banwell Hill, at the NW extremity of the Mendip range, 3 miles SE of the Bristol and Exeter railway, and 4 NNW of Axbridge. It has a station on the railway, a post-office under Weston-super-Mare, and two inns: and was formerly a seat of petty sessions. A fair is held at it on 18 January, or on the following Monday. A monastery was founded here by some early Saxon king; had for one of its abbots Asserms or Asser, the biographer of King Alfred; was destroyed by the Danes, and after-wards restored; but seems to have given place to an Episcopal palace; and ceased to be monastic long before the dissolution of monasteries. A mineral well in the vicinity expands into a lakelet, drives two mills, and sends off a rivulet to the Bristol Channel near Woodsends off a rivulet to the Bristol Channel near Wood-spring priory. The parish contains also the hamlets of knightoot, East and West Rolston, Towerhead, West-wick and Waywick, Woolfords-hill, and Yarborough. Acres, 4,829. Real property, £15,880. Pop. 1,853. Houses, 362. The property is much subdivided. Ban-well-bill belongs chiefly to Captain Law, grandson of the late Bishop of Bath and Wells; and has an obelisk, erected by that prelate. The manor has belonged, since the time of Edward the Confessor, to the Bishops of the time of Edward the Confessor, to the Bishops of Bath and Wells. A palace was built on it by Bishop Beekington, but went into neglect, and now is represented only by a large farm-house and offices, called Banwell Court, and by a cottage ornee. Two remarkable caverns, discovered in 1824, and now so famous as to draw many visitors, occur on the skirts of Banwell Hill; the one, called the Stalactite cavern, presenting many beautiful specimens of translucent stalactites; the other, called the Bone cavern, found to have contained many bones of bears, buffalos, deer, wolves, foxes, and other animals, mingled with diluvium. Bowles depicts a geological crisis, at which he fancies the bones to have been deposited, in his poem of "Banwell Hill or Days Departed." The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £702. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Bristol. The church is later English; and has a richly-carred screen, a finely sculptured stone pul-pit, a circular font, and three brasses. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £17.—The sub-district comprises eight parishes. Acres, 19,906. Pop., 12,649. Houses, 2,043.

104

BAPCHILD, a village and a parish in Milton district, BAPCHILD, a village and a parist in Muton district, kent. The village stands near the Chatham railway, 1 noile ESE of Sittingbourne; and has a post-office under Sittingbourne. It probably was the Saxon Bachancild, where Withtred, king of Kent, in 694, held his great council for the repairing of churches. The parish comrises 1,055 acres. Real property, £3,160. Pop. 389.
Houses, 85. The property is divided among a few.
The manor belonged to the Crown in the time of King John; and was then given to Chichester cathedral. Bapchild Court, adjoining the village, is the seat of W. Gascoigne, Esq. A small oratory stood by the wayside, Cascongne, Esq. A small oratory stood by the wayside, as a resting-place for pligrims in route to Canterbury; but has disappeared. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £192. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Chichester. The church consists of nave, north aisle, two chancels, and a square tower; is principally Norman, but contains many parts in vari-ons dates of English; and is in very good condition.

BAPTON, a hamlet in the parish of Fisherton-de-laMare, Wilts; 5½ miles SE of Heytesbury. Pop., 143.

BARBARY. See BARBURY.

BARBER AND COCKLE SHOALS, two shoals off Caistor, north of Yarmouth harbour, Norfolk. They separate Hemesby Gat from Cockle Gat; and are both well buoyed.

Well buoyed.

BARBER-NOOK, a hamlet in Ecclesall-Bierlow township, Sheffield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 4! miles SW of Sheffield.

BARBON. a chapelry in Kirkby-Lonsdale parish. Westmoreland; on the river Lune and the Ingleton railway, under Casterton fell, 3 miles NNE of Kirkby-Lons-It has a station on the railway, and includes the hamlet of Beckfoot. Its post-town is Kirkby-Lonsdale, namnet of Becktool. Its post-town is kritty-Lonsuale, under Burton-in-Kendal. Acres, 4,204. Real property, £2,568. Pop., 364. Houses, 60. The property is divided among a few. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £80. Patron, the Vicar of K.-L. BARBOURNF, a chapelry in Claimes parish; in the N vicinity of Worcester city. Pop., about 1,400. Living, a p. cnracy. The church is a handsome edifice of

1864

BARBRIDGE, a hamlet in Cheshire; 31 miles NW of Nantwich. It has a post-office under Nantwich.
BARBURY, a hill at the northern extremity of Marllorough downs, 5 miles S of Swindon, Wilts. It is a culminating height of the county, amid wild lonely downs; and commands an extensive view. A long and obstinate battle was fought on it, in 556, between the Saxons under Cynric and the Britons; which led to the annexation of Wilts to Essex. A well-preserved British camp is on it, called Barbury Castle, about 2,000 feet in diameter, with double ditch and rampart.

BARBY, a village and a parish in the district of Rug-by and county of Northampton. The village stands near the Oxford canal, 11 mile from the Kilsby tunnel of the Northwestern railway, 4 miles NW of Crick r. ot the Northwestern railway, 4 miles NW of Crick r. station, and 4½ SE of Rugby; and has a post-office under Rugby.

The parish is called also Earby-with-Onley. Acres. 9,2535. Real property, £6,960. Pop., 645. Houses, 156. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £1,150. Patron, John Jackson, Esp. The clutch is Patron, John Jackson, Esq. The church is good. Charities and town-lands, £121.

good. Charities and town-lands, £121.

BARCHESTON, a village and a parish in Shipston-on-Stour district, Warwick. The village stands on the verge of the county, at the river Stour, 1 mile SE of Shipston-on-Stour, and 7½ NE of Bleckley r. station; and was a place of some consequence at the Conquest. The parish includes also the hamlet of Willington; and The parish includes also the hamlet of Willington; and its post-town is Shipston-on-Stour. Acres, 1,475. Real property, £2,609. Pop., 190. Honses, 41. The property is divided among a few. The manor was purchased, in the reign of Henry VII., by William Willington; and passed to the family of Sheldon. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £240.* Patron, the Rev. G. D. Wheeler. The church was restored in 1869.

BARCLAY. See BARKELEY.
BARCOMBE, a parish and a hundred in Lewes district, Sussex. The parish lies on the Uckfield railway and the Ouse river, 4 miles N by E of Lewes; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Lewes. a station on the railway, and a post-office under Lewes, Acres, 4,983. Real property, £7,266. Pop., 1,990. Heuses, 203. The property is divided among a few. Sutton-Hurst and Barcombe Place are chief residences. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £719 * Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is tolerable; and an endowed school has £68. The burded is with the arm of the control of th £68.—The hundred is in the rape of Lewes; and includes 203.—The induced is in the rape of Lewes; and includes the parishes of Barcombe, Hamsey, and Newick. Acres, 9,710. Pop., 2,570. Houses, 485.

BARDEN, a township in Hawkswell parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 3½ miles NE of Leyburn. It includes the hamlet of Barden-Dykes. Acres, 1,330. Real property, £1,292. Pop., 76. Houses, 17. BAPDEN, termship in Shiritan and M. R.

BARDEN, a township in Skipton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; in Wharfdale, 7 miles ENE of Skipton. It Includes the hamlet of Drebley; and has a post-office under Skipton. Acres, 6,115. Real property, £1,332. Pop., 371. Houses, 63. Most of the surface is moor and fell, and anciently was a forest. Barden Tower, built by Henry Clifford, "the Shepherd-Lord," after his restoration to his reverting of the capital control of the surface is the control of the surface and the control of the surface and the capital control of the surface and the capital control of the surface and the capital restoration to his property and titles, a plain structure in the Tudor style, was in good repair so late as 1774, and is now a picturesque ruin. A chapel of the same age, attached to an adjacent farm-house, is still in use. The Shepherd-Lord, as says the poet Wordsworth, > — — did not in wars delight;

> This Clifford wished for worthier might; Nor in bread pomp, or courtly state; Him his own thoughts did elevate, Most happy in the shy recess Of Barden's lowly quietness."

BARDFIELD (GREAT), a village and a parish in Dunmow district, Essex. The village stands on Blackwater river, 9 miles NW of Braintree r. station. It has a postoffice; under Braintree, a new town hall, a police station, and a fair on 22 Jan; and is a seat of petty sessions. The and a fair on 22 Jan; and is a seat of petty sessions. The parish comprises 3,659 acres. Real property, £6,715. Pop., 1,065. Houses, 259. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £202.* Patron, Representatives of late Rev. B. E. Lampet. The church is old. There are three dissenting chapels, two public schools, and charities £72.

BARDFIELD (LITTLE), a parish in Dunmow district, Essex: on Blackwater river, 11 miles NW of Braintree 1, station. It has a post-office under Braintree. Acres, 1,710. Real property, £3,082. Pop., 429. Houses, 90. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £590. tron, the Rev. M. Barnard. The church is good. Almshouses and other charities have £89.

BARDFIELD-SALING, or LITTLE SALING, a parish BARDFIELD-SALING, or LITTLE SALING, a parsan in Danmown district, Essex; 5 miles NW by W of Braintree r. station. Post-town, Saling, under Brain-tree. Acres, 1.111. Real property, 21,757. Pop., 355. Houses, 84. The property is divided among a few. The living is a donative in the diocese of Roches-ter. Value, 275. Patron, W. Sandle, Esq. The church is good. Charities, £7.

Is good. Charmes, 2.7.

BARDLEY, a township in Stottesden parish, Salop;

3th miles N of Cleobury-Mortimer. Pop., 178.

BARDNEY, a village and a parish in the district and conary of Lincoln. The village stands on the river Witham, adjacent to the Lincoln and Boston railway, 51 miles E by S of Lincoln; and has a station on the railway, and a post-officet under Wragby. It dates from ancient times; and was called by the Saxons Bardanig or Bealthanig. The parish includes also the hamlet of Southrow Acres, 5,490. Real property, £8,653. Pop., 1,425. Houses, 298. An abbey was founded, about \(\frac{1}{2} \) a nile west of the village, in 697, by Ethelred, king of Mercia; who himself afterwards became abbot of it till his death. It is said to have had 300 monks; but was destroyed, in 870, by the Danes; lay in ruins upwards of 200 years; was re-edified, in the time of William the Conqueror, for Benedictine monks, by Gilbert de Gaunt, Earl of Lincoln; and passed, at the dissolution, to Sir Robert Tirwhit. The later abbots were styled Lords of Lindsey, and were peers in parliament. Not a vestige of the edifice now exists. A large barrow occurs in the neighbourhood, said to have been the grave of King Ethelred; and is surmounted by a modern cross, erected to his memory. The parish is a neet for the Burton hounds. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £300.* Patron, the Bishop of Lincoln. The church consists of nave, aisle, chancel, and tower. There are three Wesleyan chapels. A free school has ±135, and other charities £70.
BARDON, a hamlet in St. Decumans parish, Somerset; 2 miles SW of Watchet.

BARDON, an extra-parochial tract in Loughborough district, Leicester; on the Leicester and Burton railway, 10 miles by road and 14½ by railway, NW of Leicester. It has a station on the railway; and contains the Birch-Tree hotel, Bardon Park mansion, and an Independent chapel. Acres, 1,710. Pop., 63. Houses, 13. Bardon Hill here is a peak of the Carnwood Forest range, has an altitude of 853 feet, and commands a panoramic view, said to include about one-fourth of England. Drayton sings of the dryads,

"On Sharpley that were seen, and Cadman's ancient rocks, Against the rising sun to braid their silver locks, And with the harmless elves on heathy Bardon's height.

By Cynthia's golden beams to play there night by night."

BARDON-MILL, a railway station in Northumberland; on the Newcastle and Carlisle railway, adjacent to the South Tyne river, 4 miles W of Haydon Bridge. Here is a post-office under Carlisle.

BARDOP (THE), a rivulet of Northumberland; falling into the Reed at Rochester, 5} miles NW of Otter-

BARDSEA, a township-chapelry in Urswick parish, Lancashire; on Morecambe bay, 3 miles S by E of Ulverstone r. station. It has a post-office under Ulverstone. lical property, £1,846. Pop., 272. Houses, 62. An leospital of the Knights of St. John once stood here. A project was at one time afoot to cut a ship canal hence the foot of Windermere. The chapelry was constituted in 1834. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £100. Patron, the Rev. F. Lee. The church is modern Gothic. There is an endowed school.

BARDSEY, a township in Tadcaster district, and a Parish partly also in Otley district, W. R. Yorkshire.
The township is united to Rigton, under the name of Bardsey-cum-Rigton; lies 5 miles SW by S of Wetherby parusey-cum-nigron; nes 5 miles 5W by 5 of wetherby r. station; and has a post-office, of the name of Rigton, under Otley. Acres, 2,745. Real property, £2,920. Pop., 295. Honses, 55. The parish includes also the township of Wothersome, and part of that of Wike. Acres, 3,437. Real property, with the rest of Wike. £4,524. Pop., 318. Houses, 69. The property is divided among a few. Bardsey Grange was probably the birthplace of Congreve, the poet and dramatist; and was the occasional residence and the deathplace of Francis Thorpe, the notorious Baron of the Exchequer. Castle Hill, a little north of the village, was the site of a Roman fort. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Ripon. Value, £300.* Patron, G. L. Fox, Esq. The church is good early Norman. A school has £20 from endowment, and other charities £5.

BARDSEY ISLE, an extra-parochial island in Pwllbard Sale 1 Sale, an extra-parocnial island in rwin-heli district, Carnarvon. It lies at the NW extremity of Cardigan bay, 2½ miles S by W of Braichy-Pwll headland, and 15 SW of Pwllheli. The sound between it and Braich-y-Pwll has from 15 to 25 fathoms water; but is swept by so strong a current in spring-tides as to be called Bardsev race. The island is nearly 2 miles but I swept by so strong a cuttent in sping-mass as to be called Bardsey race. The island is nearly 2 miles long; measures \(\frac{3}{2}\) of a mile at the north end; contracts into a narrow headland on the south, and comprises 430 acres. Pop., 81. Houses, 14. It belongs to Lord Newborough; and yields a rental of £122. Part of it. on the north-east, is a high rugged hill, with precipitous sca-face; but the rest is chiefly low fertile plain. A lighthouse, built in 1821, and 108 feet high, stands on the southern headland, and shows a fixed light, visible at the distance of 5 miles. The islanders are employed variously in farming and fishing; and conduct a brisk coast trade in lobsters, oysters, and white fish, with Liverpool. A small well-sheltered harbour, on the south-east side, admits vessels of from 30 to 40 tons. The island is called Ynys-Enlli by the Welsh, signifying "the island of the current," in allusion to the tidal stream in the sound; but was called Bards-Y, or Bards' Island, by the Saxons, whence its present name Bardsey, and Insula Sanctorum, or the island of the saints, by the monks, in allusion to its early ecclesiastical history. A monastery was founded on it, prior to 516, by Cadfan; and became the retreat and the deathplace of Dubritius, archbishop of Caerleon, who died in 612, and also the asylum of numerous refugees from the massacre of the asyland of numerous relarges from the massacre of the monks at Bangor-Is-y-Coed. The bards allege that 20,000 saints were buried here; and Fuller, in his "Worthies," remarks that "it would be more facile to find graves in Bardsey for so many saints, than saints for so many graves." The monastery was reconstituted for so many graves." an abbey for canons in the 13th century; but is now represented by only a fragment of its church-tower.

BARDSLEY, a chapelry in Ashton under Lyne parish, Lancashire; 2 miles N by W of Ashton. Pop., 2,721. Honses, 529. The inhabitants are employed chiefly in cotton factories, iron-works, and coal-mines. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £221. Patrons, Hulme's Trustees. The church was built in 1844, and schools in 1846, at costs of £2,500 and £2,100.

BARDWELL, a village and a parish in Thinge dis-iet, Suffolk. The village stands on a tributary of the trict, Suffolk. Little Ouse river, 6 miles N by W of Thurston r. station; and 8 NE of Bury-St. Edmunds; and has a postoffice under Bury-St. Edmunds. The parish comprises 3,144 acres. Real property, £4,971. Pop., 882. Houses, 198. The property is much subdivided. Some barrows occur on Bowbeck Heath. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Elv. Value, £597.* Patron, St. John's college, Oxford. The church has a tower, stained glass windows, and some good monuments; and was thoroughly renovated in 1853. There are two dissent-ing chapels, an endowed school, and charities £103.

BARE, a hamlet in Lancaster parish, with a st. on the Morecambe railway, 3 miles NW of Lancaster. Pop., 120.

BAREHAM. See LINTON, Cambridge.

BARHAM.

BARF, a bold, rugged hill, on the upper part of the BARF, a bold, rugged hill, on the upper part of the west flank of Bassenthwatte water, Cumbertand.

BARF-END, a hamlet in Melbecks township, Grinton parish, near Reeth, N. R. Yorkshire.
BARFIELD, a village in Whitbeck parish, Cumberland; near the coast, 64 miles SSE of Ravenglass.
BARFORD, a hamlet in Kingston-Lacy manor, Dorset; 3 miles W of Wimborne.
BARFORD, a sph-district and a hundred in Reds.

BARFORD, a sub-district and a hundred in Beds. The sub-district is in the district of Bedford; and contains the parish of Great Barford and four other parishes. Acres, 12,340. Pop., 3,100. Houses, 655.—The hundred includes the sub-district and three other parishes; extends north-eastward from Bedford to Hunts; and is 111 miles long and 41 broad. Acres, 24,770. Pop., Houses, 1,460. 6,988.

6,988. Houses, 1,400.
BARFORD, a parisb in Forehoe district, Norfolk; on the river Yare, 5 miles NNW of Wymondham r. station, and 9 W of Norwiel. Post-town, Barnham-Broom and y w of Activella. Tost-town, ballman-bloom under Wymondham. Acres, 1,052. Real property, £2,506. Pop., 419. Houses, 94. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £288. Patron, Skinner Turner, Eq. The church is good; and there are two Methodist chapels.

BARFORD, an extra-parochial truct in Kettering district, Northampton; 2 miles ENE of Rothwell.

Pop., 7.

BARFORD, a village and a parish in the district and county of Warwick. The village stands on the river Avon, amid pleasant environs, 3 miles S by W of Warwick r. station; contains some fine houses; and has a postoffice under Warwick. The parish comprises 1,540 acres.
Real property, £5,668. Pop., 754. Houses, 190. The office under Warwiek. The parish comprises 1,940 acres Real property, 25,668. Pop., 751. Houses, 190. The property is much subdivided. Barford House is the seat of Capt. W. Eyton, and commands a charming view. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £860.* Patron, John Mills, Esq. The church was rebuilt in 1844; but includes the square tower of a previous edifice, and contains several monu-ments of the Mills family. A school has an endowed income of £48; and other charities £12.

BARFORD (GREAT), a parish in the district and county of Bedford; on the river Ouse, 3 miles NNW of Sandy r. Station, and 6 E by N of Bedford. It has a post-office under St. Neot's. Acres, 2,830. Real property, £4,679. Pon, 907. Houses, 198. The property is subdivided. The river Ouse here is crossed by a bridge is subcuivided. I'me river Ouse here is crossed by a bridge of about the beginning of the 15th century, and is navigable. The living is a vicarage, annexed to Roxton, in the dio, of Ely. The church is later English. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £20. BARFORD (GREAT), Oxford. See BARFORD-ST.

MICHAEL

BARFORD (LITTLE), a parish in the district of St. Neot's and county of Bedford; on the river Ouse, and on the Great Northern railway, at the verge of the county, on the Ureat Morthern railway, at the verge of the county, 3 miles S of St. Neot's. Post-town, St. Neot's. Acres, 1,188. Real property, £1,251. Pop., 91. Houses, 26. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £254. Patron, W. Allington, Esq. The church is old but good. Charities, £7. BARFORD (LITTLE), Oxford. See Banford (St. Love).

BARFORD (St. John), a chapelry in Adderbury DARTOND (ST. Joins), a chapetry in Adderbury parish, Oxford; on a tributary of the river Cherwell, 24 miles WNW of Dedblington, and 4 W by N of Aynho r. station. Post-town, Deddington, under Oxford. Acres, 480. Real property, £1,532. Pop., 107. Houses, 26. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicatage of Adderbury, in the discesse of Oxford. The clurch is ancient, which has a Navyana does.

and has a Norman door. BARFORD (Sr. MARTIN), a parish in Wilton district, Wilts; on a tributary of the river Avou, 3 miles W of Wilton r. station, and 5½ W by N of Salisbury. It has witton r. station, and 53 w by N of Saisbury. It has a post-office under Salisbury. Acres, inclusive of the extra-parochial tract of Grovely Wood, 2,236. Real property, together with Baverstock, £5,934. Pop., 519. Houses, 116. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury.

Patron, All Souls' College, Oxford, Value, £577.* The church is good; and there is an Independent chanel.

elapel.

EARFORD (St. Michael), a parish in Banbury district, Oxford; on the river Swere, 21 miles W by N of Deddington, and 4 W of Aynho r. station. Post-town, Deddington, under Oxford. Acres, 1,180. Real property, £2,204. Pop., 332. Houses, 85. The property is divided among a lew. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £67.* Patron, John Hall, Esq. The church is early English, with tine Norman door. There are two Methodist chapels, and charities £25. BARFORTH, a township in Forest parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the river Tees, 6 miles W by S of Darlington. It had a Roman station; and was formerly called Old Richmond. Aeres, 1,750. Real property, £2,403.

106

Old Renmond. Acres, 1,750. Real property, 22,340. Pop., 167. Houses, 25.

BARFRESTON, or Barston, a parish in Eastry district, Kent; on the Dover and Canterbury railway, near Sherd's Well station, and 61 miles NW of Dover. Posttown, Goodnestone, under Sandwich. Acres, 500. Real property, £641. Pop., 144. Houses, 26. The property is not much divided. The manor belonged early to the is not much divided. The maintr belonged early to rive see of Canterbury; and passed, in 1031, to Hugh de Port, constable of Dover. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £132.* Patron, St. John's College, Oxford. The church consists of nave and chancel, separated by a circular arch; is one of the most remarkable structures of its class in England; exhibits rich exterior decorations, in corbels, wreaths, and other sculptures; and was well restored in 1840.

BARGOED, a station on the Rhymney railway, on the mutual border of Monmouth and Wales, 184 miles N of Cardiff. The Bargoed Rhymney valley here joins that of the Rhymney river; and is crossed by the railway on a handsome viaduct.

BARHAM, a parish in the district and county of Huntingdon; on a tributary of the river Ouse, 7 miles WNW of Huntingdon r. station. Post-town, Spaldwick, under St. Neots. Acres, 700. Real property, £703. Pop., 115. Houses, 28. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £58. Patron, the Bishop of the diocese of Ely.

Ely. Charities, ±8.

BARHAM, a village, a parish, downs, and a sub-district, in the district of Bridge, Keut. The village stands in a valley, under the downs, about 31 miles SW of Adisham station on the London, Chatham, and Dover railway, and 6 SE of Canterbury; and has a post-office; under Canterbury. The parish comprises 4,600 acres. Real property, £6,058. Pop., 1,090. Houses, 232. The subsoil is chiefly chalk. The manor belonged early to the subsoil is chiefly chalk. see of Canterbury; and was held by Reginald Fitzurse, one of Thomas a Becket's murderers, and afterwards by Fitzurse's descendants till the time of James 1. principal residences are Broome-Park, the scat of Sir Henry Chudleigh Oxenden, Bart., and Barbam-Court, belonging to George C. Dering, Esq. The living is a Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The church is early decorated English; and has a lofty spire and some neat monuments. Digges, the mathematician, had connexion with the parish; and Admiral Sir T. Thomson was a native. The downs extend from SE to NW, along the line of Watling-street; and are about 3 miles long. Numerous barrows are on them, of times from early British to later Saxon, showing them to have been scenes of many ancient public events. King John, with his army of 60,000 men, encamped on them, in 1213, prior to the resigning of his erown. Simon de Montford assembled his troops on them, in the time of Henry III., to oppose the landing of Queen Eleanor. Queen Henrietta Maria, after her landing at Dover in 1625, was met on them by the flower of the English nobility. Several regiments lay posted on them, in the time of Napoleon Buonaparte, to oppose his threatened invasion from Boulogne. Traces of the camp of these regiments, and also a small square ancient eamp, still exist. Tho Canterbury races, now of little note, are held on the downs; and the election of members for East Kent takes rlace on them. The sub-district comprises thirteen parishes. Acres, 22,871. Pop., 6,290. Houses, 1,257. BARHAM, a parish in Bosmere district, Sulfolk; on the river Gipping, 11 mile NE of Claydon r. station, and the five dippings. Fost-town, Claydon, under aporton 5 N of Ipswich. Post-town, Claydon, under aporton 5 N of Ipswich. Post-town, £3,231. Pop., 568. Acres, 1,806. Real property, £3,231. Pop., 568. Acres, 1,806. Ical property, 25,351. 104., 305. Houses, 90. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, 2342.* Patron, F. W. Schreiber, Esq. The church is good. The work-house for Bosmere district is here.

107

BARHAM COURT, a manor on the river Medway, near East Farleigh r. station, 44 miles SW of Maidstone, Kent. It belonged to Reginald Fitzurse, the proprietor of Barham manor in Bridge district in the time of A' Becket; continued with his descendants, the De Berhams, till the time of James I.; passed to successively the Botilers, the Bonveries, and Sir Charles Middleton, who was created Lord Barham; descended to Lord Barham's grandson, the present Earl of Gainsborough; and is now the property and seat of the Right Hon. T. Pemberton Leigh. The mansion on it is modern.

BARHOLM, a parish in Stamford district, Lincoln; on the Glen river, near the Great Northern railway, 23 miles SSE of Corby r. station, and 31 WNW of Market-Deeping Post-town, Market-Deeping Acres, 1,230.

Real property, £1,876. Pop., 192. Houses, 42. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Stowe, in the diocese of Lin-coln. Value, £147. Patrons, the Trustees of Oakham and Uppingham schools. The church is good.

BARIPPER, a locality 1 mile from Camborne, Cornwall, with a post-office under that town.

BARKBY, a township and a parish in Barrow-upon-par district, Leicester. The township lies on an affluent Soar district, Leicester. of the river Wreak, 11 mile S by E of Syston r. station, and 45 NE of Leicester; and it includes the hamlet and 43 NE of Estesser, and the includes the hannel of Hambleton. Real property, £3,739. Pop., 504. Houses, 117. The parish contains also the township of North Thurmaston and the hamlet of Barkby-Thorpe; Aorth Intrinsicion and the hamlet of Darksy-Intogra-and its post-town is Syston, under Leicester. Acres, 2,290. Real property, exclusive of Thurmaston, £4,739. Pop., 791. Houses, 133. Barkby Hall is the seat of W. Pochin, Est. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £250.* Patron, W. Pochin, The church is good; and there are two Methodist chapels and a national school.

EARKEY-THORPE. See preceding article.

BARKELEY, a hundred in the lathe of Seray, Kent.

Acres, 7,298. Pop., 1,457. Houses, 278.

EARKESTONE, a parish in the district of Bingham and county of Leicester; in the vale of Belvoir, and on and county of Leteester; in the vale of Bervoir, and on the Nottingham and Grantham railway, 13 mile W of Bottesford station, and 17 E of Nottingham. It has a post-office under Nottingham. Acres, 2,870. Real property, 22,950. Pop., 411. Houses, 83. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocase of Peterborough. Value, 2114. Patron, the Duke of Rutland. The church is excellent. A school has £25 from endowment, and other charities £40

BARKHAM, a parish in Wokingham district, Berks; on a small affluent of the Thames, 21 miles SW of Wokingham r. station. Post-town, Wokingham. Acres, on a small amount of the mannes, 23 mines on to most ingham r. station. Post-town, Wokingham. Acres, 1,355. Real property, 21,345. Pop., 230. Houses, 55. The property is not much divided. The living is a rec-tory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £350. Patron, Rev. A. Roberts. The church was rebuilt in 1862.

BARKING, a village and a parish in Bosmere district, Satfolk. The village stands 14 mile SW of Needham-Market, on the road to Hadleigh. Pop., 409. Houses, 93. The parish contains also the hamlet of Darmsden and the town of Needham-Market; the latter of which has a railway station and a head post-office. Acres, 3,164. Fallway station and a head post-office. Acres, 3,164. Real property, 28,275. Pop., 1,850. Houses, 417. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory, united with the curucy of Darmsden, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, 2840.* Patrou, the Earl of Ashburnham. The p. caracy of Needham-Market is a separate charge. A school has an endowed income of £55, and other charities £77

BARKING, or Berking, a town, a sub-district, and a parish, in the district of Romford, Essex. The town stands on a rich flat tract, on the river Roding and on the stands on a rich nat tract, on the river roding and on the Southend railway, 2 miles N of the Thames, and 7 E of Bishopsgate, London. Its name is a corruption of Burg-ing, signifying the "fortification in the meadow;" and seems to allude to an ancient entrenchment, enclosing upwards of 48 acres, and still traceable. The town rose to importance in 670, by the founding at it of an extensive abbey for lenedictine nuns; and it was the residence of William the Conqueror during the erection of the tower of London, and the place where the Earls of Mercia and Northumberland, and many other nobles, swore fealty to him on the restoration of their estates. The abbey was founded by Erkenwald, Bishop of London; destroyed, in 870, by the Danes; rebuilt by king Edgar; governed, after his death, by his queen, and at other times by a long series of royal or noble ladies; served, throughout all its duration, as a prime seminary of the gentry of England; and passed, at the dissolution, to Edward, Lord Clinton. Nothing now remains of it except a gateway at the entrance to the present church-yard, a square embattled structure, with an octagonal yard, a square embattled structure, with an octagonal turret at one corner; whose upper part is a room, formerly called the Chapel of the Holy Kood, having large windows in perpendicular English. The parish church stands near the site of the abbey church; and possesses two Norman pillars in the N aisle, some lancet lights in the chancel, a curious niche at the NW of the nave, and some brasses and sculptured mural monuments; but is chiefly a structure of late and poor style, very taste-lessly restored. The market-honse or town-hall is a timbered edifice of the time of Queen Elizabeth. town has a station on the railway, a post-office under London E, two hotels, three dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, an endowed school with £20 a-year, alms-houses with £185, and other charities with £125. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and an annual fair on 22 Oct. The inhabitants are chiefly market-gardeners, graziers, fishermen, or scamen; and the last are employed largely in bringing coal and timber to London. The creek of the Roding bears the name of Barking creek, has a convenient wharf and a magazine, and is a coastnas a convenient what and a magazine, and is a consequent station. Pop. of the town in 1841, 3,751; in 1861, 5,076. Houses, 1,059.

The sub-district includes also Ripple ward. Pop.,

The Sub-district inclines also kipple ward. Pop., 5,591. Houses, 1,162. The parish includes likewise Chadwell and Great llford wards. Acres, 12,741; of which 225 are water. Real property, £54,590. Pop., 10,996. Houses, 2,246. Most of the tract between the railway and the Thames is a fertile meadowy flat, called Barking level, disposed in grazing ground for black cattle, and protected from high tides in the Thames by an immense embankment. This work, as originally constructed, gave way in 1707, with the effect of about 5,000 acres being inundated; but it was repaired and strengthened at a cost of about £40,000. The contiguous reach of the Thames bears the name of Barking reach; is 11 mile long; and has, in the middle, a dangerous shoal of 5 furlongs, called Barking shelf, on which the Grampus of 54 guns was wrecked in 1799. The great outfall of the new drainage of London is at Barking creek. work comprises three gigantic parallel sewers; is 51 miles long; crosses streams, roads, and railways, by means of bridges and tunnels; possesses more stupendous features than those of most railways; was undertaken at an estimate of £625,000, and employed, in 1861, ten steam engines and locomotives, and about 1,500 workmen. Eastbury House, about a mile ESE of the town, is an old brick building, said by some to have been the residence of Lord Monteagle, and alleged by tradition to have been the place where the Gunpowder plot was concocted. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of London. Value, £767.* Patron, All Souls' college, Oxford.

BARKING-ROAD, a chapelry, with a r. station, in West Ham parish, Essex; 1, mile S by E of Stratford. It was constituted in 1867. Pop., about 5,050. Living, ap. curacy. Value, £200. Patron, the Bishop of Rochester.

BARKING-SIDE, a chapelry in Great Ilford parish,

BARKING-SIDE, a chapetry in Great Hord parish, Essex. It was constituted in 1841; and has a post-office under liford, London E. Pop., 1,712. Houses, 334. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of London. Value, 2110. Patron, the Vicar of Great Hord.

BARKISLAND, a township-chapelry in Halifax particle, W. R. Yorkshire; 2½ miles WSW of Elland r. station, and 5 SSW of Halifax. It includes part of the village of Riponden; and has a post-office under Halifax.

Acres 2,420. Real property, 66,729. Pop. 2003. village of Riponden; and has a post-once under riaditax. Acres, 2,420. Real property, £6,219. Pop., 2,003. Houses, 426. The property is much subdivided. The inhabitants are employed chiefly in woollen and worsted factories. There is a Druidical circle, called the Wolf Fold. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £91.* Fatron, the Vicar of Halifax. The church is good. A school has an endowed income of £32, and other charities £51.

BARKSDON-GREEN, a village in Herts; 2 miles

BARKSDON-GREEN, a village in Herts; 2 miles SW of Buntingford.

BARKSTON, Leicester. See Barkestone.
BARKSTON, Leicester. See Barkestone.
BARKSTON, Leicester. See Barkestone.
BARKSTONE, a parish in the district of Newark and contry of Lincoln; near the Great Northern railway, 4 miles NNE of Grantham. It has a post-office under Grantham, and a r. station. Acres, 2,033. Real property, 23,539. Pop., 540. Houses, 114. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £600. Patron, the Bishop of Lincoln. The church is bandsome. An endowed school has £17. and other charities £69.

BARKSTONE, a township in Sherburn parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 1 mile W of Church-Fenton r. station, and 4 S of Tadcaster. Acres, 1,260. Real property, £1,932.

Pop., 319. Houses, 71.

BARKSTONE-ASH, a wapentake in W. R. Yorkshire; bounded on the S by the river Aire, on the E by the river Ouse, on the N by the river Wharfe. It contains 4 market towns, 18 parishes, and 48 townships; and is cut into two divisions, Lower and Upper. Acres, of L. B., 43,852. Pop. in 1851, 13,544. Acres of U. B., 40,941. Pop. in 1851, 13,688. Pop. of both in 1861, 13,688.

40,941. Pop. in 1801, 10,000. Top. of ooth in 1802, 27,866. Houses, 6,049.

BARKWAY, a small town and a parish in Royston district, Herts. The town stands on a rising-ground, near the sources of the Quin river, 4½ miles SSE of Royston r. station. It has a post-officet under Royston; was formerly a market town; has still a fair on 20 July; formerly a market town; has still a fair on 20 July; and, prior to the railway times, was a great throngshare on the northern road from London. It consists principally of one street; and most of its houses are modern. Pop., 940. Houses, 195. The parish includes also the hamlets of Newsells and Nathampstead. Acres, 5,060. Real property, £7,057. Pop., 1,221. Honese, 251. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Chesters and the Jenningses. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Reed, in the diocese of Rochester. The church is an sncient structure and was recently restored. and the tower rebuilt. ture, and was recently restored, and the tower rebuilt. There are an Independent chapel, a reading-room, a

There are an Independent chapel, a reading-room, a national school, and charities £63.

BARKWITH (EAST), a parish in Horncastle district, Lincola; 3½ miles NE of Wragby, and 5½ E by S of Wickenby r. station. Post-town, Wragby. Acres, 990. Real property, £1,776. Pop., 387. Houses, 74. The property is divided among a few. The manor belongs to G. F. Heneage, Esq. Living, a rectory in the dio. of Lincoln. Value, £230. * Patrons, Dean and Chap. of Lincoln. The church is good; and there is a Washern chem.

The church is good; and there is a Wesleyan chapel.

BARKWITH (West), a parish in Horncastle district,
Lincoln; 21 miles NE of Wragby, and 5 ESE of Wickenby r. station. Post-town, Wragby. Acres, 500. Real property, £996. Pop., 150. Houses, 25. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £144. Patrons, Trustees. diocese of Lincoln.

The church is good.

BARLAND. See EVENJOBB, BARLASTON, a parish in Stone district, Stafford; on the Grand Trunk canal and the North Stafford railway, 31 miles NNW of Stone. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Stone. Acres, 2,157. Real property, £5,078. Pop., 637. Houses, 121. The property is divided among a few. Barlaston Hall was formerly a seat of the Bagnalls; and is now the seat of a branch of the Adderleys. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £150. Patron, the Duke of Sutherland. The church is modern, but has an BARLAVINGTON, or BARLAVI, a parish in Chichester district, Sussex; near the river Arun, 41 miles S of Petworth r. station. Post-town, Petworth. Acres, 1,175. Fetworth F. Station. Fost-town, retworth. Alles, 1,110-Real property, £1,136. Pop., 136. Houses, 23. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £68. Patron, T. Biddulph, £5q.

EARLEOROUGH, a parish in the district of Work.

sop and county of Derby; near the Chesterfield canal. 2 miles E of Eckington r. station, and S NE of Chesterfield. It has a post-office under Chesterfield. Acres, 3,220. It has a post-office under Chesterfield. Acres, 3,220. Real property, £7,029; of which £1,733 are in mines. Pop., 1,170. Houses, 231. The property is divided among a few. Barlborough Hall, an edifice in the Tudor style, is the seat of W. H. de Rodes, Esq. Coal and iron-stone are worked. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £750. Patron, W. H. de Rodes, Esq. The church was repaired in 1859. An almshouse, founded in 1752, has £69, and other charities £13. BARLBY a changiry in Heminghrough acris. P. D. BARLBY a changiry in Heminghrough acris.

founded in 1752, has £59, and other charities £13.

BARLBY, a chaplerly in Hemingbrough parish, E. R.

Yorkshire; on the river Ouse, 1 mile N of the Leeds and Hull railway, and 13 NE of Selby. It includes Barlby-Bank hamlet; and its post-town is Selby. Acres, 1,411. Real property, £2,825. Pop., 471. Houses, 95. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of York. Value, £65. Patron, the Vicar of Hemingbrough. The church is good Clarithe Vicar of Hemingbrough. The church is good. Charitice f7

BARLE, or BARLEY (THE), a river of the western border of Somerset. It rises in Exmoor forest; and runs about 16 miles south eastward, past Simons-Bath, Withypoole, Hawkridge, and Dulverton, to a confluence with the Exe, 21 miles below Dulverton.

the Exe, 21 miles below Dulverton.

BARLESTONE, or BARLESTON, a chapelry in Market-Bosworth parish, Leicester; 22 miles NE of Market-Bosworth and 3 SW of Bagworth r. station. Post-town, Market-Bosworth under Hinckley. Acres, $10. Real property, £2,910. Pop., 544. Houses, 140. The property is much subdivided. Many of the inhabitants are employed in the manufactory of hosiery. The living is annexed to Market-Bosworth. The church is plain.

america to Biarket Hosworth. The church is plain. There are two dissenting chaptels and a free school.

BARLEY (THE). See Barle.

BARLEY, a parish in Royston district, Herts; on the NE verge of the county, 3 miles SE of Royston r. station. It has a post-office under Royston. Acres, 2,648. tion. It has a post-onnee under roysten. Acres, 2000. Real property, £4,222. Pop., 809. Houses, 171. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £501.* Patron, the Crown. The church is ancient. There are a BARLEY, Vorkshire. See Barlow.
BARLEY-BOOTHS. See Barley-With-Whitley-

Вооти.

BARLEY-HALL, a hamlet in Wentworth township, BARLET HALL, a namnet in ventworth townsing, Wath-upon-Dearne parish, W. R. Vorkshire; near Wentworth Park, 5½ miles NW of Rotherham.

BARLEYTHORPE, a manor in Oakham parish, Rutland; 1 mile NW of Oakham. It was given to Westminster abley by Edward the Confessor; and it belongs still to the dean and chapter of Westminster. Real property, 23, 850. Pop. 168. Houses, 31. BARLEY-WITH-WHITLEY-BOOTH, a township in Whalley parish, Lancashire; 44 miles W of Colne. Acres, 2, 370. Real property, 22, 233. Pop., 495. There are two cotton-mills and a Wesleyau chapel. BARLEY-WOOD, a house in Wrington parish, Somerset; near the Mendip hills, 6 miles NE of Axbridge. It was built in 1800 for Menanch West.

It was built in 1800 by Hannah More; was for several years her residence; and contains a bust of Locke, the philosopher, given by Mrs. Montagu. Hannah More's grave is in Wrington churchyard; and a tablet to her memory is in the church.

BARLICHWAY, a hundred in Warwickshire; bounded on the W by Worcester, on the S by Gloucester, and on the central E by the river Avon. It contains 36 parishes or chapelries; and is cut into the four divisions of Alcester, Henley, Snitterfield, and Stratford. Acres, 110,679. Pop. in 1851, 28,448; in 1861, 25,604. Houses, 5,623. BARLINCH.

See BROMPTON-REGIS.

BARLING, a parish in Rochford district, Essex; on a creek of the Broomhill river, 45 miles ESE of Rochford, and 5 NE of Southend r. station. It has a post-office under Chelmsford. Acres, 1,258. Real property, £2,801. Pop., 354. Houses, 77. The property is subdivided. The manor was given by Edward the Confessor to St. Paul's Cathedral. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £230. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's. The church is a neat structure, with chancel and tower.

BARLINGS, a parish in the district and county of Lincoln; 24 miles SE of Reepham r. station, and 7 ENE of Lincoln. It includes the hamlet of Langworth; and its post-town is Nettleham under Lincoln. Acres, 2,630, Real property, £3,117. Pop., 475. Houses, 96. The property is subdivided. A Premonstrateusian abbey was founded, in 1154, at Barling-Grange; and afterwards refounded at Oxeney; and was given, at the dis-solution, to Charles, Duke of Suffolk. The last abbot of it, Dr. Mackerel, was executed at Tyburn, in 1537, for heading the Lincoln insurrection against the Crown. Only a few mutilated pillars of the edifice now remain. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £55. Patrons, T. T. Drake and C. Turner, Esqs. £55. Patrons, T. The church is tolerable.

BARLOW, a township in Hopesay parish, Salop; 5½ miles SE of Bishops-Castle.

BARLOW, or BARLEY, a township chapelry in Brayton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Ouse, 3 miles SE of Selby r. station. Post-town, Selby. Acres, 2,278. Real property, £3,433. Pop., 239. Houses, 45. The living is a donative in the diocese of York. Value, £30. Patron, G. H. Thompson, Esq.

BARLOW (GREAT), a chapelry in Staveley parish, BARLOW (Gileat), a chapelry in Staveley parish, Derby; on a small stream, 41 miles NW of Chestefield r. station. It has a post-office, of the name of Barlow, under Chesterfield. Acres, 3,760. Real property, £2,966. Pop., 682. Houses, 137. The property is divided among a few. Barlow-Grange is a chief residence. The living is a p. curacy in the diocess of Lichfield. Value, living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £95. Patron, the Rector of Staveley. The church is good. Charities, £8.

BARLOW (LITTLE), a township in Dronfield parish, Derby; 51 miles NW of Chesterfield. Pop., 54. BARLOW-MOOR, a chapelry in Manchester parish, Lancashire. Pop., 1,013. Living, a rectory. Value, £230. BARLTON. See BARLAVINGTON.

BARMBROUGH, BARMBOROUGH, BARNBROUGH, or BARNBOROUGH, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Doncaster, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands 31 miles NNW of Conisborough r. station, and 6 W of Doncaster, and has a post-office, of the name of Barmborough, under Doncaster.-The parish includes also the hamlet of Harlington. Acres, 1,947. Real property, £3,435. Pop., 462. Houses, 111. The property is much subdivided. Earmborough-Hall is the seat of the Griffiths family; and contains two portraits of Sir Thomas More's family by Holbein. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £555.* Patron, Southwell Collegiate Church. The church is later English, in tolerable condition; and has interesting monu-ments of the Cresacres, formerly lords of the manor. One of the monuments is a rude representation of a contest about the middle of the 15th century, between Percival Cresacre and a wild cat, said to have been begun in an adjacent wood, and to have terminated fatally to both combatants in the porch of the church; and another is a rich altar-tonib of the same gentleman. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £34.

—The sub-district contains eleven parishes and two tracts. Acres, 23,953. Pop., 5,860. Houses, 1,251.

BARMBY-ON-THE-MARSH, a township-chapelry in Howden parish, E. R. Yorkshire; at the confluence of the Derwent and the Ouse, 2 miles SSW of Wressel r. station, and 4½ W of Howden. Post-town, Hemingborough under Howden. Acres, 1,711. Real property. borough under Howden. Acres, 1,111. Real property, 25,812. Pop., 458. Houses, 103. Some of the inhabitants are sacking-makers. There are two mineral springs, chalybeate and sulphurous. The living is a currey in the diocess of York. Value, 230. Patron, the Vicar of Howden. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £106.

BARMBY-ON-THE MOOR, or BARMBY-MOOR, a parish in Pocklington district, E. R. Yorkshire; near the Market-Weighton railway, 1½ mile W of Pocklington. It has a post-office, of the name of Barmby-Moor, under York. Acres, 2,290. Real property, £3,088. Pop., 537. Houses, 110. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value. The living is a vicarage in the moves of total factors, £263. Patron, the Archbishop of York. The church consists of nave and channel; has a fine octagonal spire; and was repaired in 1828. There are chapels for Wesand was repaired in 1828. There are chapels for levan and Primitive Methodists, and charities £53.

leyan and trimitter Methodists, and charties 253.

EARMER, a parish in Docking district, Norfolk; 3 miles SSE of Stanhoer, station, and 6 S by Wof Burnham-Westgate. Post-town, Syderstone, under Fakenham. Acres, 890. Real property, £1,183. Pop., 62.
Houses, 9. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £5. Patron, T. Kearslake, Esq. The Norwich. Value, 2.5. Fauron, 1. nearstace, 1884. Learner is now used only as a burial-place.

BARMING, or BARMING (EAST), a parish in Maid-stone district, Kent; on the river Medway, 1 mile NW of East Farleigh r. station, and 23 WSW of Maidstone. of Last Farriego, r. station, and 24 Washing of Malustone. It has a post-office, of the name of Barning, under Maid-stone. Acres, 749. Real property, £3,170. Pop. 559. Houses, 117. The property is divided among a few. Hops and fruits are richly cultivated; and Kentish rag is quarried. Roman remains have been found near the church. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £598.* Patron, the Lord Chanof Canterbury. Value, £598. Patron, the Lord Chan-cellor. The church is a neat edifice, with a cemetery embosomed in fine elms. Mark Noble, the antiquary, was rector; and Christopher Smart, the poet, was a resident.

resident.

BARMING (West), a parish in Maidstone district, Kent; contiguous to East Barming, 3 miles WSW of Maidstone. Post-town, Barming, under Maidstone.
Acres, 331. Pop., 24. Houses, 5. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Nettlestead, in the diocesa of Canterbury.

BARMOOR, a township in Lowick parish, Northum-berland: 1 mile W of Lowick, and 8 N of Wooler. Barmoor Castle here, the seat of the Sitwells, is an elegant edifice of 1802; on the site of an ancient seat of the Muschamps. Barmoor wood was the head-quarters of the English general on the eve of the battle of Flodden

BARMOUTH, a small scaport town and a sub-district, BARMOUTH, a small scaport town and a sub-district, in the district of Dolgelly, Merioueth. The town is in the parish of Llanaber; and stands on the N side of the mouth of the river Maw, and on a brunch of the Welsh Coast railway, 10 miles W by S of Dolgelly. It is called by the natives Abermax, or, abbreviatedly, Barmaw; whence, by corruption, the English name Batmouth. It consists partly of a street along the strand, but chiefly of successive tiers of houses on the steep slope of a lofty rock, accessible from below by steps. It has a head postoffice, a r. station, two good inns, a public library, a chapel of ease, and three dissenting chapels. It is much frequented as a watering-place; and it possesses excel-lent bathing facilities, enjoys splendid views, and offers ready access to charming excursions and recreations. A ferry plies across the Maw; and ample railway communication exists, northward, northeastward, and southward, by the Aberystwith and Welsh Coast, the Cambrian, and the Carnarvonshire systems, together with their branches and connexions. Markets are held on Tuesday and Friday, and fairs on 10 May, 19 Sept., 7 Oct., and 8 Nov. Business is done in woollen manutacture, ship-building, and coasting. The harbour is small, but has a pier and upwards of 100 small sloops; The harbour is and is a sub-port to Carnarvon. An island, called Ynys-y-Brawd, divides the entrance of the Maw into two channels; and the large shoal, called Sarn Badrig, lics about 10 miles off. Wilberforce used to spend his autumns at Barmouth when labouring against the slave trade; and a tower anciently stood here which was a retreat of the Earl of Richmond, afterwards Heary VII., when planning his expedition against Richard III. Pop. of the town, about 950.—The sub-district comprises six

The town, about 930.—The sub-district comprises six parishes. Acres, 72,147. Fop., 7,643. Houses, 1,773. BARMPTON, a township in Haughton-le-Skerne parish, Durham; 3 miles NNE of Darlington. Real property, £2,307. Acres, 1,520. Fop., 127. Houses, 24. BARMSTON, a township in Washington parish, Durham; on the river Wear, 5 miles W of Sunderland. Acres, 893. Real property, £1,879. Pop., 475.

Houses, 89,

BARMSTON, a parish in Bridlington district, E. R. Yorkshire; on the coast, 4 miles SE of Burton-Agnes r. sta-tion, and 6 S by W of Bridlington. Post-town, Lissett tion, and 6 S by W of Endington. Fost-town, Lissett under Hull. Acres, 2,336; of which 156 are water. Real property, £3,857. Pop., 206. Houses, 36. The manor belongs to Sir H. Boynton, Bart; and the ancient manison on it is now a farm-house. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £1,065.* Patron, Sir H. Boynton, Bart. The church is perpendicular English, has a Norman perch-door, had once a chantry, and contains a circular font with cable moulding and a curious monument to Sir Martin de la Mare. Charities, £22.

BARNABY-ON-THE-MOOR. See BARNBY-MOOR. BARNACK, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Stamford; the village and the parish in the district of Stamora; the vinage and the partial Northampton, the sub-district variously in Northampton, I incoln Huntingdon, and Rutland. The village stands 14 mile SSE of Uffington r. station, and 34 ESE of Stam-14 mile SSE of Ultrington r. station, and og 250 of them-ford; and has a post-office under Stamford. Pop., 569. Houses, 137. The parish includes also the hamlets of Pilsgate and Southorpe. Acres, 4,440. Real property, Pilisgate and Southorpe. Acres, 4,440. Real property, £8,699. Pop., 947. Houses, 202. The property divided among a few. Building-stone is extensively quarried; and was furnished hence for Peterhorough and Ely cathedrals, and for several other churches. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Patron, the Bishop of Peterborough. The church is partly early Norman, and in very good condi-tion. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and a poors' estate yielding annually £73.—The sub-district contains sixteen parishes. Acres, 28,722. Pop.,

5,692. Houses, 1,148.

BARNACLE, a hamlet in Bulkington parish, Warwick; near the Trent Valley railway, 4 miles SSE of Nuneaton.

BARNACRE-WITH-BONDS, a township in Garstang parish, Lancashire; 2 miles NE of Garstang. Acres, 4,316. Real property, £5,809. Pop., 907. Houses, 162. BARNARD-CASTLE, a town, a township, a chapelry, and a sub-district, in the district of Teescale, Durham. The town, the township, and the chapelry are in the parish of Gainford. The town stands on the left bank of the river Tees, on the line of railway from Darlington to Lancashire, 154 miles W of Darlington. Its site is the side of an eminence rising abruptly from the bank of the river. Its principal street is spacious, and nearly a mile long; and is intersected by smaller streets. The environs are remarkably pleasant, and present remarkic scenery, especially along the Tees. A narrow bridge of two especially along the Tees. A narrow bridge of two pointed arches, built in 1596, spans the river. The market-house is an octagonal freestone building, open at the sides. The church is ancient and cruciorm. There are four dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, a mechanics' institution, national schools, a dispensary, a workhouse, an hospital for aged persons, and some minor charities. The hospital was founded in 1229 by John Baliol of Scotland; and is endowed with 180 acres of land. Remains of an ancient castle, comprising entrance gateway and two towers, stand on the brink of a steep rock, about 80 feet above the Tees; and command a charming prospect. The castle was founded by Barnard Baliol, son of Guy, who accompanied Wil-liam the Conqueror to England, and grandfather of John Baliol, king of Scotland, and it took its name of Barnard from him, and gave its name of Barnard-Castle to the town. It ruled an extensive domain in Tecsdale and Marwood, granted by William Rufus; but was transferred, along with that domain, by Edward I. to Guy Ecauchann, Earl of Warwick. It remained for five generations with the Beauchanns; then went to the Crown; was inhabited and embellished by Richard Ill.; and eventually passed by sale to an ancestor of the Duke of Cleveland. The area which it occupied was about 63 of Cleveland. The area which it occupied was about of acres; but this is now partly sheep pasture, and partly disposed in orchards. The castle figures in Sir Walter Scott's poem of "Rokeby;" and it gives the titles of Baron and Viscount to the Duke of Cleveland. The town has a head post-office, a r. station with telegraph, three banks, and two chief inns; and is a seat of petty sessions, a polling place, and the head quarters of the county militia. A weekly market is held on Wednesday; a fortnightly A weeksty market is nead on wednesday; a fortnightly one, for cattle, sheep, and horses, on every alternate Wednesday; and fairs, on Easter Monday, Whit-Wednesday; and Magdalene day. Manufactures of carpets, plaids, cloth, and shoe-thread are carried on. John Baliol and Hutchinson, the historian of the county, were natives. Pop., 4,178. Houses, 757.—The township comprises 4,007 acres. Real property, £13.337.—of comprises 4,007 acres. Real property, £13,337,—of which £1,352 are in mines. Pop., 4,477. Houses, 810.

—The chapelry includes three other townships; and it is —The chapetry includes three other townships; and it is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £400.*
Patron, Trinity College, Cambridge.—The sub-district contains five parishes and parts of five others. Acres, 58,607. Pop., 8,555. Houses, 1,629.
BARNARDISTON, corruptedly Erreitson, a parish in Risbridge district, Staffolk; 33 unles NW of Clare r. station, and 12 SSE of Newmarket. Post-town, Clare, 1,440.

under Sudbury. Acres, 1,100. Real property, £1,489. Pop., 280. Honses, 51. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £191. Patron, the Rev. Val. Ellis. The church The church

Value, £191. Fatron, the new Val. Emis. The church is good; and there is a Primitive Methodist chapel.

BARNARD-SAND, a shoal 3 miles long, extending parallel to the coast, off Lowestoft roads, Norfolk. Its breadth is about two furlongs; and its highest part has only two feet water.

BARNARD'S GREEN, a village I mile ESE of Great Malvern, Worcester. It has a post-office under Great Malvern; and is a curacy to that place. BARNARD'S INN. See LONDON.

BARNBOW, a hamlet in the township and parish of Barwick-in-Elmet, W. R. Yorkshire; 5\(\frac{1}{2}\) miles E of Lecds.
BARNBROUGH. See BARMBROUGH.

BARNBY, a parish in Mutford district, Suffolk; near the river Waveney, and near Carlton-Colville r. station. 5 miles E by S of Beccles. Post-town, Mutford-Bridge, under Lowestoft. Acres, 1,099. Real property, £1,418. Pop., 270. Houses, 59. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory, annexed to the vicarage of Mutford, in the diocese of Norwich. The church is old but good. Charities, £9.

BARNBY, or East Barnby, a township in Lythe parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the coast, 41 miles WNW of Whitby. Acres, 1,435; of which 35 are water. Real property, £2,133. Pop., 247. Houses, 50.

BARNBY-BASIN AND BARNBY-FURNACE, two hamlets in Cawthorne parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 41 miles

WNW of Barnsley.

BARNBY-DUÑ. See BARNHY-UPON-DON.

BARNBY-DUN. See Barnut-tron-Dox. BARNBY-IN-THE-WILLOWS, a parish in Newark district, Notts; on the river Fesdick, 21 miles N by E of Claypole r. station, and 41 E by S of Nowark. Post-town, Claypole, under Newark. Acres, 1,763. Real property, £2,736. Pop., 302. Houses, 64. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £184. Patron, South-well Collegiate Church. The church is good; and thero is a Weslevan charel. is a Weslevan chapel.

BARNBY-LE-WOLD. See BARNETBY-LE WOLD.

BARNBY-MOOR, anciently BARNABY-ON-THE-MOOR, a township in Blyth parish, Notts; 31 miles NW of East Retford. It includes Bilby; and has a post-office, the name of Barnby-Moor, under Retford. Real property, 23,602. Pop., 245. Houses, 49.

BARNBY-UPON-DON, or Barnsy-Dun, a township and a parish in Doncaster district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the river Don, and on the Doneaster and Thorne railway, 5 miles NE by N of Doncaster: and it has a station, of the name of Barnby-Dun, on the railway. Acres, 2,230. Real property, £4,259. Pop., 537. Houses, 118. The parish includes also the township of Thorpe-in Balne; and its post-town is Donsup of thorpe in banne; and its post-town is Don-caster. Acres, 3,737. Real property, £5,638. Pop., 644. Houses, 141. The living is a vicarage in the dio. of York. Value, £115. Patron, J. H. Newsone, Esq. The church was recently restored. There are two Method-

The control was recently restrict. The reference is the highest state thanks an endowed school, and charities £59.

BARNES, a parish in Richmond district, Surrey; on the Richmond railway and the river Thames, 7 miles WSW of Waterloo Bridge station, London. station on the railway; and it contains the village of Barnes and the hamlet of Barnes-Elms or Barn-Elms, both of which have post-offices under Mortlake, London, S. W. Acres, 1,051; of which 115 are water. Real property, £18,738. Pop., 2,359. Houses, 414. The manor was given by King Athelstane to the canons of St. Paul's, London; and was then and afterwards called Berne. A tract in the N, 13 mile long, is engit by a semicircular sweep of the Thames. Barnes common, contiguous to this on the S, comprises about 500 acres, and lies lower than the level of the Thames' spring tide. Barnes terrace is a pleasant range of houses, chiefly let to summer sojourners. Barn-Elms House was the residence of Sir Francis Walsingham, visited by Queen Elizabeth; afterwards the residence of Heydegger, George zabeth; alterwards the residence of Heydegger, George II.'s master of the revels, visited by the king; afterwards the property of Sir R. C. Hoare, the antiquary; and now chiefly a modern mansion, belonging to the family of Chapman. A house in the vicinity, the "queen's dairy," was the residence of the celebrated bookseller Jacob Tou. son, and the meeting place of the Kitcat club, adorned with portraits of the members, painted by Sir Godfrey Kneller. This house has gone to ruin; but the portraits have been preserved, and are now at Bayfordbury near Hertford. Cowley, the poet, Fielding, the novelist, and Handel, the composer, were residents of Barnes; Eishop Wilson was for some time rector; and Sir William Bliyard, the surgeon, was a native. The duel between the Duke of Buckingham and the Earl of Shewsbury, in January 1667-8, was fought near Barn-Elms; and the assassination of the count and the countess D'Antraignes, in 1812, was done in the parish. A suspension bridge, 750 feet long, takes a thoroughfare hence across the Thames to Hammersmith; and a three-arched iron bridge, cach arch 100 feet in span, takes across a loop-line of railway from the Barnes station toward the Windsor railway near Hounslow. The living is a rectory in the diocese of London. Yalue, £375.* Patrons, the Dean diocese of London. Value, £375.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's. The church was built in 1150, and looks to be mainly early English, but has been rendered uninteresting by numerous alterations. A recess, with rose-bushes on its S exterior, marks the grave of Edward Rose, a citizen of London, who died in 1653, leaving a bequest of £20 to the poor of the parish, on condition that his monumental tablet should be kept in condition that his monutental traces should be kept in repair, and have rose-bushes trained around it. A small chapel, of recent erection, stands at Castlenau, built and endowed by Major Boileau; and is served by a curate, with salary of £100. Charities, £43.

BARNES CHINE, a small wild ravine on the SW coast of the Isle of Wight; 1½ mile SE of Brixton. The cliffs which flank it rise to a considerable height; and a dangerous reef, known as the Shipledge, is near its mouth.

BARNESLEY, a hamlet in Kingston-Lacy manor, Dorset; 2 miles N of Wimborne-Minster. BARNESLEY, Yorkshire. See BARNSLEY.

BARNET, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a distriet, in Herts and Middlesex. The town is called also Chipping-Barnet and High-Barnet. It is partly in the parish of Barnet, Herts, and partly in the parish of South Mimms, Middlesex; and it stands on the top of an eminence, on the great north road, 1½ mile WNW of a station of its own name on the Great Northern railway, 14 miles Northern tallway, 14 miles Northern tallway, 15 miles Northern tall 91 miles N by W of King's Cross, London. It consists principally of one street upwards of a mile long. John's church is an edifice of 1400, erected by John Moot. abbot of St. Albans; has a square embattled tower; and contains monuments of the Ravenscrofts and others. Christ church, on Barnet common, is a recent erection. There are a chapel for Independents, a grammar-school, founded by Queen Elizabeth in 1573, two sess of almshouses, founded in the time of Charles 11. and in 1729, charities altogether to the yearly value of £870, and a workhouse built at a cost of £3,757. The town has a head post-office, a telegraph office at the railway station, and two chief inns; and publishes a weekly newspaper. A weekly market on Monday used to be largely attended, but has become nearly extinct. Fairs are held on 8, 9, and 10 April, and on 4, 5, and 6 Sept.; and races are run, on Barnet Heath, after the fairs. Much business arose, in the ante-railway times, from the daily transit of nearly 150 public coaches; but this has perished. Several fine seats are in the vicinity; and the place has become a resort for summer residence by the merchants of London. A mineral spring on Barnet Common was discovered in 1652. At the twelfth milestone from London, N of the town, stands a stone column, commemo-rative of the battle of Barnet Field, fought there in 1471, between the army of the House of York, headed by Ed-ward IV., and that of the House of Lancaster, headed by the Earl of Warwick.

The parish of Barnet bears also the name of Chipping The parish of Barnet bears also the name of Chipping-Barnet; and lies wholly in Herts. Acres, together with the parish of East Barnet, 3,185. Real property, £10,829. Pop., 2,989. Houses, 475. The manor belonged to the abbots of St. Albans. The living is a rectory, with Arkley chapelry, in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £435. Patron, the Crown. Christ church is a separate p. curacy.

The sub-district comprises the parish of Hadley in Middlesex, and the parishes of Barnet, East Barnet, and anadisesex, and the parishes of Barnet, East Barnet, and Totteridge in Herts. Acres, 7,312. Pop., 5,466. Houses, 929. The district comprehends also the subdistrict of South Mimms, containing the parish of South Mimms, in Middlesex, and the parishes of Elstree, Shenley, and Ridge, in Herts; and the sub-district of Finchley, containing the parishes of Finchley and Fryern-Barnet, in Middlesex. Poor-rates in 1866, 210,332. Pop. in 1841, 13,759: in 1861 19,128. 10,392. Pop. in 1841, 13,759; in 1861, 19,128. Houses, 3,216. Marriages in 1866, 108; births, 552,—of which 14 were illegitimate; deaths, 570,—of which 127 were at ages under 5 years, and 6 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 596; births, 4,125; deaths, 4,179. The places of worship in 1851 were 16 of the Church of England, with 5,552 sittings; 5 of Independents, with 1,478 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 200 s.; 4 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 520 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholies, with 40 s. The schools were 31 public day schools, with 2,107 scholars; 32 private day schools, with 644 s.; 15 Sunday schools, with 1,292 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 56 s.

BARNET (East), a parish in Barnet district, Herts; on the Great Northern railway, near Barnet station, 13 mile ESE of Barnet. Post-town, Barnet. Acres, with Barmile RSE of Barnet. Post-town, namict. Acres, with Dariet, 3,185. Real property, 27,690. Pop., 851. Houses, 167. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester; and till 1808 was united with Barnet. Value, 2695.* Patron, the Crown. The church is an ancient structure, in good condition; and belonged to the abbey of St. Albans. There are a national school, and charities £5.

BARNETBY-LE-WOLD, a parish in Glanford-Brigg district, Lincoln; on the Manchester and Lincolnshire railway, 33 miles NE of Brigg. It has a station, of the name of Barnetby, on the railway, and a post-office, of the same name, under Ulceby. Acres, 1,630. Real the same name, under Ulceby. Acres, 1,630. Real property, £4,334. Pop., 828. Houses, 186. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Liucoln. Value, £400.*
Patron, the Bishop of Lincoln. The church is early Eug-lish. There are three dissenting chapels.
BARNET-FRYERN, a parish in Baraet district, Middlesex; on the northern verge of the county, 11 mile W by N of Southgate and Colney-Hatch r. station, and 3 miles SSE of Barnet. It contains the hamlet of Colney-Hatch, and part of the village of Whetstone; both of which have post-offices under London N. Acres, 1,292. Real property, £6,552. Pop. 3,344. Houses, 221. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of London. Value, £255.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of St. Pauls. The church was restored in 1853. There are national schools, seven almsbouses, and some other charities. Walker, the author of "the Pronouncing Dictionary," was a native; and Judge Poplam, a resident. See Colney-Harch.

BARNEWELL. See BARNWELL.

BARNEY, a parish in Walsingham district, Norfolk; 5 miles EXE of Fakenham r. station. It has a post-office under Thetford. Acres, 1,389. Real property, 2,2105. Pop., 283. Houses, 73. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, 2129.* Patron, Lord Hastings. The church is an old building, with a tower. There are chapels for Baptists and Wesleyans.

BARNFIELD (EAST), a hundred in the lathe of Scray, conterminate with the parish of Hawkhurst, Kent. See HAWKHURST.

BARN-GREEN, a hamlet in Yardley parish, Worcester; near the Birmingham and Bristol railway, 4 miles NE of Bromsgrove. It has a station on the railway. See ALVECHURCH.

BARN-GREEN, a hamlet in Hambledon parish, Hauts; 61 miles SE of Bishops-Waltham.

BARNHAM, a parish in the district of Thetford and county of Suffolk; on the Little Ouse river, 3 miles S of Thetford r. station. Post-town, Thetford Acres, 5,184. Real property, £2,455. Pop., 475. Houses, 87. Some tumuli in the N are supposed to mark the scene of a conflict, in 870, between King Edward the Elder and the Danes. An ivy-clad square tower belonged to the church of the extinct or incorporated parish of Barnham-St .-

of the extinct or incorporated parish of Barnham-St.-Martin. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Euston, in the diocese of Ely. The church was restored and enlarged in 1864. There is a free school. BARNHAM, a parish in Westhampnett district, Sussex; on the South Coast railway, with a station at the junction of the Bognor branch, 1½ mile W of Yapton, and 4½ SW of Arundel. Post-town, Yapton under Arundel. Acres, 730. Real property, £1,832. Pop., 125. Houses, 27. The property is subdivided. The luving is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £67. Patron, the Bishon of Chichester. The church is very good.

age in the diocess of Chichester. Value, £67. Patron, the Bishop of Chichester. The church is very good. BARNHAM-BROOM, a parish in Forehoe district, Norfolk; on the river Yare, 3 miles E of Hardingham r. station, and 5 NNW of Wynnondham. It has a post-office under Wymnondham. Acres, 1,776. Real property, £3,748. Pop., 451. Houses, 110. The property is not nucli divided. The manor belongs to the Earl of Kimbon and the control of the cont berley. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Bixton and the vicarage of Kimberley, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £604.* Patron, Earlof Kimberley. The church is a neat structure, with an embattled tower, and has a fine screen.

BARNHILL, a hamlet in Malpas parish, Cheshire; 10 miles SE of Chester. It is a seat of petty sessions. BARNINGHAM, a parish in the district of Thetford and county of Suffolk; 23 miles S of the Little Ouse river, and 9 SE of Thetford r. station. It has a postoffice under Bury-St.-Edmunds. Acres, 1,586. office under Bury-St.-Edmunds. Acres, 1,530. Keep property, £2,932. Pop., 439. Houses, 109. Barning-ham Park is the seat of R. Hunt, Esq. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Coney-Westoo, in the divesse of Ely. Value, £770. Patron, R. Hunt, Esq. The church is a brick building, with a stone tower, and has a brass of 1499. There are a Wesleyan Methodist chapel, and charities £55.

BARNINGHAM, a township in the district of Tees- | history of the place has perplexed antiquaries.

dale, and a parish partly also in the district of Richmond, N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on a tributary of the Tees, near Arkengarth forest, 51 miles SE of Barnard-Castle r. station; and has a post-office under Darlington. Acres, 3,454. Real property, £3,350. Pop., 307. Houses, 78. The parish includes also the townships of Scargill and Hope; and part of the township of Newsham. Acres, 10,771. Real property, with the rest of Newsham, 28,998. Pop., 526. Houses, 129. Much of the surface is upland moor. Barningham Park is the seat of the The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £553.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. There are Value, £553.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. I nere are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £20.

BARNINGHAM (GHEAT). See BARNINGHAM-TOWN. BARNINGHAM (LITTLE), or BARNINGHAM-PARVA, a parish in Aylsham district, Norfolk; 5½ miles NNW of Aylsham, and 13 E by N of Ryburghr. station. Posttown, Itteringham, under Norwich. Acres, 1,224. Real property, £1,373. Pop., 273. Houses, 54. The property is divided among a few. A market and a fair were formerly held here, under charter of Edward I. to Walter de Berningham, lord of the manor. The living is a rec-tory in the diocesc of Norwich. Value, £180. Patrons, G. D. Graver, T. L. Graver, and G. B. Knight, Esors.

The church is old but good.

BARNINGHAM-MAGNA. See BARNINGHAM-TOWN. BARNINGHAM-NORWOOD, a parish in Erpingham district, Norfolk; 4½ miles ESE of Holt, and 16 ENE GISTICE, AORIOIK; 44 MIGES ESE OF HOIL, and 16 ENE of Ryburgh r. station. Post-town, Holt, under Thetford. Acres, 834. Real property, £1,065. Pop., 30. Houses, S. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £156. Patron, Trustees of late W. H. Wyndham, Esq. The church has an ancient brass, and is tolerable. EARNINGHAM-PARVA. See BARNINGHAM (LITTICAL)

TLE).

BARNINGHAM-TOWN, or B. WINTER, or B. MAGNA, or B. GREAT, a parish in Erpingham district, Norfolk; 5 miles SE of Holt, and 15 ENE of Ryburgh r. station. 5 miles SE of Holt, and 15 ENE of Ryburgh 7. station. Post-town, Holt, under Thetford. Acres, 833. Real property, £1,036. Pop., 125. Houses, 23. The property is divided among a few. Barningham Hall, a fine Thdor mansion, is the seat of J. T. Mott, Es₁. A market and a fair were formerly held in the parish, under grant of Edward II. to Roger le Curzam. The living is a recof Edward II. to Roger le Curzam. The livin tory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £135.

J. T. Mott, Esq. The church is partly a ruin.

BARNOLDBY-LE-BECK, a parish in Caistor district,
Lincoln; 3 miles W of Waltham r. station, and 5 SW Lincoin; 3 miles w of Waltam r. station, and 5 SW by S of Great Grimsby. Post-town, Waltham, under Grimsby. Acres, 1,460. Real property, £1,781. Pop., 242. Houses, 60. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £235. Patron, Southwell Church. The church is good; and there are two Methodist chapels.

BARNOLDSWICK, a township, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Skipton, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies adjacent to the Leeds and Liverpool canal, 5 miles N of Colne; and has a post-office ‡ under Colne. A railway from it, 2 miles long, to the Leeds and Bradford, was authorised in 1807. Acres, 2,020. Pop., 2,810. Houses, 550. The parish is also called Gill-Kirk, from the situation of its church on the verge of a deep glen; and includes likewise the townships of Salter-forth. Coates, and Brogden-with-Admergill. Acres. forth, Coates, and Brogden-with-Admergill. Acres, 6,040. Real property, £12,515. Pop., 3,478. Houses, 687. The property is much subdivided. Much of the surface is hilly and high. An abbey was founded here in 1147; but, in consequence of local disputes, was removed to Kirkstall. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £162. Patron, R. Hodson, Esq. The church is Norman. There are four dissenting chapels and a national school.—The sub-district comprises four parishes. Acres, 17,463. Pop., 5,986. Houses, 1,191.

BARNSCAR, a ruined town on Birkby Fell, 34 mile-E of Ravenglass, Cumberland. Traces of streets and houses occur throughout an area of about 300 yards hy 100; and some silver coins have been found.

BARNSDALE, a hamlet in the township and parish of Campsall, W. R. Yorkshire; 61 miles N of Doneaster. Barnsdale forest adjacent was the haunt of Robin Hood, and is noted in old song as the scene of his curious adventure with the Bishop of Hereford.

"Then Robin he took the bishop by the hand, Angu Room ne took the bishop by the hand, And led him to merry Barnsdale; He made him to stay and sup with him that night, And to drink wine, beer, and ale."

BARNSHAW. See GOOSTREY-CUM-BARNSHAW. BARNSIDE, a hamlet in Hepworth township, Kirk-burton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 6½ miles S of Huddersfield.

BARNSLEY, a township in Worfield parish, Salop:

2 miles E of Bridgnorth.

BARNSLEY, a parish in Circncester district, Gloucester; near the river Colne, 4 miles NE of Circncester r. station. It has a post-office under Cirencester. Acres, r. station. It has a pose-once under circucester. Acres, 2,090. Real property, 21,852. Pop, 327. Houses, 64. The chief projectly belongs to Sir W. Musgrave, Bart. The manor belonged formerly to the Perrots and the Bourehiers; and the old mansion of the latter still stands. chiers; and the old mansion of the later still stamps Barnsley Park, the seat of the present proprietor, is extensive; and the mansion is in the Italian style, and contains some frescoes and antiques. Freestone is quarried. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, 2820. Patron, Sir W. Musgrave, Bart. The church is transition Norman, and was recently restored. Charities, £15.

BARNSLEY, a town, a township, three chapelries, a smb-district, and a district in W. R. Yorkshire. The town stands in a fertile tract, on the river Dearne, at a focus of railways and canals, 10 miles by road, and 111. focus of railways south of Wakefield. Railways go from it north-westward, south-westward, and south-eastward; and canals connect it northward with Wakefield, and eastward with the Don. It figures in Domesday as a manorial seat, under the name of Bernesley; and was known afterwards as Bleak Barnesley or Black Barnsley; but is now a busy and flourishing scene of manufacturing out is now a use, and non-industrial scales of nature transfer industry. It consists chiefly of narrow streets, and is straggling and plain, yet has two large market-places and some handsome houses, and is built principally of stone from quarries in the neighbourhood; and it is governed by a local board of health. Its chief objects are waterworks, enlarged in 1868; a handsome court-house, built in 1861, at a cost of about £4,000; a large corn-exchange, in the Greeian style; a public park presented to the town by Joseph Locke, Esq., and containing a statue of him by Marcchetti, erected in 1866; a church, rebuilt in 1821; two handsome churches, built in 1822 and 1858, the former at a cost of £5,918; a beautiful Independent chapel, built in 1851, at a cost of £5,000; a fine and very spacious Wesleyan chapel; eight other dissenting chapels; a Roman Catholic chapel; an ultra-mural cemetery with two mortuary chapels, formed at a cost of £7,000; a mechanics' institution; a Franklin institution; an endowed grammar-school; a workhouse; and charities £306 a-

The town has a head post-office, tatelegraph station, two banking-offices, and three chief inns; and it is a seat of petty sessions and county courts, and publishes four weekly newspapers. A weekly market is held on Wednesday; and fairs on the Wednesday before 28 Feb., 13 May, and 11 Oct. Wire-drawing was carried on from at least the time of James I., and had long the reputation of producing the best wire in the kingdom, but has now very greatly declined. The manufacture of linen cloth, damasks, diapers, ducks, cheeks, ticks, and similar fabrics, took the place of the wire-drawing, and is very prosperous. The yarn is partly spun in large mills on the spot, and partly brought from the mills of Leeds; and is woven principally by the weavers in their own About 1,000 power-looms and about 3,500 hand-looms are employed. Bleaching, dyeing, woolworking, glass-making, and iron-working also are earried on. Extensive coal mines likewise are in the neighbourbood. An explosion, with loss of 72 lives, took place, in 1847, at the Oaks colliery; and another, with similar loss, took place, in December 1862, at Worsbrough. The pop. in 1801 was little above 3,000; in 1861, was upwards of 17,000; in 1865, nearly 20,000.

"The township includes also the hamlets of Old Barnsley, Measborough, Kinston-place, and Old Mill; and is in the parish of Sikstone. Acres, 4,000. Real property, £69,154; of which £14,490 are in mines. Fop., 17,890. Houses, 3,565.—The chapteries are St. Mary, of old date; St. George, constituted in 1821; and St. John, in 1814. The three jointly comprise the township. The livings are St. M. a rectory, St. G. and St. J. vicarges, in the dio. of Ripon. Value of St. M., £409.' of St. G., £300; of St. J., £300. Patron of St. M. and St. G., the Bishop of Ripon; of St. J., £14ernately the Crown and the Bishop.—The sub-district comprises parts of the parishes of Silkstone, Darton, Roystone, and Darfield. Acres, 10,628. Pop., 25,468. Houses, 5,125. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Darton, containing parts of the parishes of Darton and Roystone; containing parts of the parishes of Darton and Roystone; The township includes also the hamlets of Old Barnscontaining parts of the parishes of Darton and Roystone; the sub-district of Darfield, containing parts of the parishes of Darfield and Wath-upon-Dearne; and the paristics of Darhent and variant-apolic-zante; and using sub-district of Worsbrough, containing parts of the parishes of Darfield and Silkstone. Acres, 35,376. Poor-rates in 1866, 419,024. Pop. in 1861, 45,797. Houses, 9,094. Marriages in 1866, 448; births, 2,143, of which 138 were illegitimate; deaths, 1,298, -of which 710 were at ages under 5 years, and 10 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 3,121; births, 16,907; deaths, 9,713. The places of worship in 1851 were 17 of the Church of England, with 9,014 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 377 s.; 1 of Eaptists, with 390 s.; 2 of Quakers, with 300 s.; 19 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,993 s.; 6 of New Connection Methodists, with 1,408 s.; 7 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,539 s.; 4 of the Wesleyan Association, with 870 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 130 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 500 s. The schools were 27 public day cannoues, with ouv s. The schools were 27 public day schools, with 2,875 scholars; 44 private day schools, with 1,217 s.; 54 Sunday schools, with 6,100 s.; and 5 evening schools for adults, with 154 s. BARNSLEY CANAL, a canal, 15 miles long, in W. R. Yorkshire. It goes from Corthorn in the vicinity of Barnsley to the visual College were Westerland.

Barnsley, to the river Calder near Wakefield; joins the Dove and Dearne canal; crosses the Dearne by an aqueduct of 5 arches; passes Roystone and Sandall, both in the vicinity of the North Midland railway; and makes an aggregate descent of 158 feet, with 21 locks. It was opened in 1799.

opened in 1/32.

BARNSLEY OLD, a hamlet in Barnsley township,
W. R. Yorkshire; 1 mile NW of Barnsley.

BARNSTAPLE, a town, a bay, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Devon. The town is a scaport, a borough, and the capital of North Devon. It stands a borough, and the capital of North Devoin. A stantas on the right bank of the river Taw, about 6 miles from its month, at an elbow of the North Devon railway, 9 miles NE of Bideford, and 39½ NW of Exeter. Its site is a pleasant valley, bounded by a semicircular range of hills, to which the river forms a chord; and its environs abound in charming spots, and command brilliant views over land and sca. Two of the best views are from the road to Bideford, and from Coddon hill, 623 feet high. The town was known to the ancient Britons as Tunge Abertawe,-to the Saxons as Berdenestaple; and it is now popularly called Barum. It formed part of a domain of the Saxon kings; was for some time a residence of Athelstane; and received from him various liberties and rights. An ancient eastle stood at it, built by Athelstane, and strengthened after the Conquest; but is now represented only by a mound. Tho town fitted out three ships, in 1588, for the fleet raised to repel the Spanish Armada; and it took part with the Parliamentatians in the time of Charles I., and underwent some sharp events in the wars which followed. Three monastic edifices were erected at it, a Cluniae monastery, an Augustinian friary, and an hospital to the Holy Trinity; but are all extinct.

The town is well aligned, and one of the most agreeable in the county. A bridge of 16 arches, supposed to have been built in the 13th century, spans the river, and was widened in 1834. Queen Anne's Walk, on the quay, west of the bridge, is a colonnade, upwards of 60 feet long, erected in the time of Queen Anne, adorned with a statue of that monarch, used originally as an exchange, and reconstructed by the corporation in 1798. The North Walk, further west, is a promenade, by the side of the river, planted with trees.

The market-place in High-street was enlarged, and a new and elegant town-hall erected, in 1855, at a cost of upwards of £8,000. The corn-market is at the upper end; and a music hall is over it. The theatre, in Boutport-street, built in 1834, is small but very neat. The North Devon infirmary, at the foot of Litchdon-street, is a fine massive edifice. The borough jail is a substantial structure, with capacity for 10 male and 9 female prisoners. There are also a custom-house, a dispensary, a work-house, five suites of almshouses, a free grammar-school, a blue-coat school, a variety of day schools and benefactions, and a school, a variety of day schools and benefactions, and a literary and scientific institution. The parish church, nearly in the centre of the town, is a spacious ancient structure, bearing many evidences of the hand of time; and has a curious timber spire, covered with lead, warped by the sun, and leaning to the south. Holy Trinity church, at the south end of the town, has a tower 133 feet high, and was built in 1843. St. Mary Magdalene church is a plain structure, erected in 1846. The Independent chapel is a very fine building. The Wesleyan chapel was rebuilt in 1869, and is in the decorated English style. The Roman Catholic chapel is a recent erection in very chaste style. There are three Baptist chapels, and a chapel for Bible Christians.

The town has a head post-office, a railway station, three banking-offices, and two chief inns; and it is the head-quarters of the North Devon militia, and publishes three weekly newspapers. A weekly market is held on Friday; and a fair on the Wednesday after 19 Sept. The manufacture of woollens was formerly extensive, and is still carried on. Manufactures of bobbin-net, paper, pottery, leather, and malt also exist; and ship-building is prominent. The chief commerce is in exports of pottery, leather, and malt also exist; and ship-building is prominent. The chief commerce is in exports of grain, wool, oak-bark, leather, and earthenware; and in imports of coal, fruit, wine, and foreign timber. The vessels belonged to the port and its sub-ports, at the beginning of 1863, were 62 small ones of aggregately 2,866 tons; and 31 large ones of aggregately 2,866 tons; and those which entered, in 1867, were 11 of aggregately 2,467 tons from the colonies and foreign countries, and 1,484 of aggregately 7,4923 tons constwise; and 236 of the latter were steamers. The customs in 1867, were of eggregately 74,923 tous coastwise; and 236 of the latter were steamers. The customs, in 1867, were £7,447. The town was made a borough by Edward I.; sends two members to parliament; is governed by a mayor, six aldermen, and eighten councillors; and is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place. Its limits as a shorough, both parliamentary and municipal, include all the parish of Barnstaple and parts of the parishes of Pilton and Bishops-Tawton. Electors in 1868, 763. Direct taxation, £4,959. Real property, £29,490. Pop. in 1851, 11,371; in 1861, 10,743. Houses, 2,186. Eishops Jewel and Gay were educated at the grammarschool; and Dr. Parsons, the author of "Japhet," was a native. native.

The bay expands north and south at the mouth of the The bay expands north and south at the mouth of the Taw; has there a dangerous bar; measures 15 miles across the entrance, from Morte point to Hartland point; lies much exposed to westerly winds; and includes, on the south side, Clovelly roadstead, with from 4 to 8 fathoms water. The navigation up from it to Barnstaple is through a narrow channel, with never more than 12 fect water.—The parish, though not containing all the borough, extends beyond the town. Acres, 1,102. Rated property, £18,826. Pop., 8,127. Houses, 1,624. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £245. Patron, Lord Wharncliffe. Holy Trinity is a permacy, St. Mary Magdalene a vicarage; the former of the value of £120, in the patronage of the Bishop of Exeter; the latter of the value of £150, in the patronage of alternately the Crown and the Bishop of Exeter.—The subdirict comprises the parishes of Barnstaple, Swim-bridge, Landkey, and Goodleigh. Acres, 12,711. Pop., 10,652. Houses, 2,167. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Paracombe, containing the parishes of Paracombe, Highbray, Challacombe, Brendon, Countis-bury, Lynton, Martinhoe, and Trentishoe, aud part of the extra-parochial tract of Exmon Forest; the sub-district of Combinartin, containing the parishes of Combcustrict of compinariti, containing the parishes of Combinariti, Kentisbury, Arlington, Loxhoro, Bratton-Fleming, Stoke-Rivers, and Sherwill; the sub-district of Hiracombe, containing the parishes of Hiracombe, Bittadon, Berryn-arbor, East Down, and West Down; the sub-district of Braunton, containing the parishes of Braunton, Morthee, Georgeban, Heanton-Punchardon, Marwood, Ashford, and Pilton; and the sub-district of Bishons-Tawton, containing the parishes of Rishons-Marwood, Ashford, and Filton; and the sub-district of Bishops-Tawton, containing the parishes of Bishops-Tawton, Fremington, Instow, Westleigh, Newton-Tracey, Horwood, Tawstock, and Atherington. Acres, 149,729. Poor-rates in 1866, 121,117. Pop. in 1861, 36,293. Houses, 7,550. Marriages in 1865, 245; births, 1,128, —of which 88 were illegitamate; deaths, 689,—of which 88 were illegitamate; deaths, 689,—of which 182 were at ages under 5 years, Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,621; births, 10,413; deaths, 6,563. The places of worship in 1851 were 40 of the Church of England, with 11,568 sittines; 13 of Independents, with 2,761 s.; 15 of Bap-sittines; 13 of Independents, with 2,761 s.; 15 of Bapsittings; 13 of Independents, with 2,761 s.; 15 of Baptists, with 2,334 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 45 s.; 14 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,753 s.; 10 of Bible Chriswesteyan methodists, with 2,753 s.; 10 of Bloic Christians, with 1,554 s.; 3 of Brethren, with 180 s.; 4 undefined, with 1,120 s.; and 1 of Latter Day Saints, s. not reported. The schools in 1851 were 44 public day schools, reported. The scinois in 1551 were 44 public day scinois, with 2,620 scholars, 82 private day schools, with 1,692 s.; and 64 Sunday schools, with 4,489 s. BARNSTON, a township in Woodchurch parish, Cheshire; 4 miles N of Great Neston. It has a postoffice under Birkenhead. There is a tunnel of the Grand office under Birkeuhead. There is a tunnel of the Grand Trunk canal here, 550 yards long. Acres, 1,068. Real property, £1,325. Pop., 252. Houses, 52.

BARNSTON, or BIRNSTON, a parish in Dunmow district, Essex; on the river Chelmer, 2 miles SE of Dunmow r. station, and 7½ WSW of Braintree. It has a post-office under Chelmefsord. Acres, 1,442. Real property, £2,415. Pop., 192. Houses, 40. The property is divided among a few. Barnston Hall is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rechester. Value, £335. Patron, the Rev. W. Toke. The church is Norman. church is Norman.

BARNSTONE, a chapelry in Langar parish, Notts; 3½ miles S of Elton r. station, and 5 SE of Bingham. Post-town, Elton, under Nottingham. Pop., 169. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Langar, in the diocese of Lincoln.

BARNT-GREEN. See BARN-GREEN, Worcester. BARNTON, a township and a chapelry in Great Eudworth parish, Cheshire. The township lies near the Northwestern railway, 2 miles NW of Northwich; and has a post-office under that town. Acres, 751. Real property, £3,052. Pop., 1,219. Houses, 264. The chapelry is more extensive than the township; and was constituted in 1843. Pop., 1,431. Houses, 310. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £120.* Patron, the Bishop. The church is good; and there are three Methodist chapels.

BARNWELL. See BARNWELL-ST.-ANDREW. BARNWELL, or St. Andrew-the-Less. See Cam-

BARNWELL-ALL-SAINTS, a parish in Oundle district, Northampton; on the Peterborough railway, § a mile S of Barnwell station, and 3 miles SSE of Oundle. mile Soi Darnweil station, and 3 miles SSL of Utilide. Post-town, Barnweil-St.-Andrew, under Oundle. Acres, 1,680. Real property, £1,988. Pop., 115. Houses, 29. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Barnweil-St.-Andrew, in the diocese of Peterborough. BARNWELL-ST.-ANDREW, a village and a parish in Oundle district, Northampton. The village stands of the period of th adjacent to the Peterborough railway, 21 miles SSE of Oundle; and has a station, of the name of Barnwell, on the railway, and a post-office, of the name of Barnwell-St.-Andrew, under Oundle. Its name is alleged to be a corruption of "Bairn's well;" and is said to have arisen from an old superstitious belief, that some wells in the uron an old superstitious benef, that some wells in the neighbourhood had a miraculous efficacy to cure the discusses of children. The parish comprises 1,740 acres. Real property, £2,339. Pop., 240. Houses, 50. The property is divided among a few. A castle was erected new, in 1152, by Reginald le Moine, and passed to the here, in 1152, by Reginald le Moine, and passed to the family of Montague; and the ruin of it, comprising a quadrangular court, with massive circular towers at the corners, and a grand gateway on the south side, is an interesting specimen of early Norman castellated architecture. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory Barnwell-All-Saints, in the diocess of Peterborough. Value, £303. Patron, the Duke of Buccleuch. The church is early English, and has a tower and spire. A hospital for the poor, founded in the time of James I., has an income of £316; and other charities have £125. £125

BARNWOOD, a parish in the district and county of Gloucester; on the Fosse-way and Cheltenham railway, 2 miles ESE of Gloucester. Post-town, Gloucester. Acres, 1,471. Real property, £5,133. Pop., 507. Houses, 110. The property is much subdivided. Barnwood Court and Barnwood House are chief residences. Pop., 507. ded. Barn-wood Court and Barnwood House are chief residences. The living is a vicarage in the diocesse of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £195. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Gloncester. The church is tolerable.

BAR9G, a township in Llanfairtalhaiarn parish, Dembighshire: 9 miles WNW of Denbigh. Pop., 197.

BARON-HILL, the seat of Sir Richard Bulkeley, Bart., in Anglesey; on the coast, 14 mile N of Beaumaris. The mansion comprises part of a structure of 1618 by Sir Richard Bulkeley; but consists chiefly of a fine edifice, built by the last Lord Bulkeley, after designs by Mr. S. Wyatt. The grounds are beautiful, and are liberally open to the public; and they contain, a short distance from the house, under a monumental recess, the stone coffin of Joan, daughter of King John of England, and wife of Llewelyn-ap-Jorwerth, prince of North Wales, oricinally placed in the neighbouring priory of Llanvaes, and brought hither in 1805 by Lord Bulkeley.

BARONY, a township in St. Andrew-Auckland parish,

Durham; on the river Gaunless, and on the Northern Counties Union railway, at Evenwood station, 7 miles SW of Bishop-Auekland. It includes the hamlet of Evenwood: contains extensive coal-mines; and belongs to the Bishop of Durham. Acres, 5,336. Real property, £10,247,—of which £4,820 are in mines. Pop., 2,674. 518.

BARRAS, a railway station in Westmoreland; on the South Durham and Lancashire Union railway, between Bowes and Kirkhy-Stephen.

BARR (GREAT), a village, a township, and a chapelry in Aldridge parish, Stafford. The village stands 21 miles SE of Walsall r. station; has a post-office under Birmingham; and is a seat of petty sessions. The township comprises 4,995 acres. Real property, £8,405, Pop., 1,075. Houses, 220. Barr Hall is the seat of Sir E. D. Scott, Bart; and stands amid charming grounds, in a beautiful valley. An urn, near the flowergarden, is monumental of Miss Mary Dolman, the cousin of Shenstone. Barr Beacon, 653 feet high, is said to have been the seat of the Archdruid; and was used by the Secons and the Danes as a place of alarm-fires.—The charelry is conterminate with the township; and is a vicarage in the dio. of Lichfield. Value, £405. Fatron, Sir E. D. Scott, Bart. The church stands at the village; and is a handsome recent structure, with an eastern painted win low by Egginton. A school has an endowed income of £67, and other charities have £35. BARR (PERRY). See PERRY-BARR.

BARLASFORD, a township in Chollerton parish, Northamberland; on the North Tyne river, and on the Border Counties railway, 7½ miles NXW of Hexham. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Hexham. The right of a weekly market for it was ob-Hexham. tained by Robert de Umfraville from Edward I.; but has long been in abeyance. Acres, 1,394. Pop., 215.

Houses, 47.

BARRAWAY, or BARWAY, a hamlet in Soham parish, Cambridge; near the river Ouse, 31 miles S by E of Ely. Pop., 71. It is a chapelry to the vicarage of Soham.

BARRICANE, a creek on the N coast of Deven; between Morte point and Woolacombo sands, 41 miles SW of Ilfracombe. It is notable for great profusion and va-ricty of ocean-flowers, sea-weeds, and shells.

BARRINGTON, a parish in the district of Royston and county of Cambridge; on the river Cam, 6 miles W by S of Shelford r. station, and 7 SSW of Cambridge. It has a post-office under Royston. Acres, 2,129. Real property, £3,792. Pop., 563. Houses, 111. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £107.* Patron, Trinity College, Cambridge. The church is old but good; and there are a neat Independent chapel, and charities £43.

BARRINGTON, a parish in Langport district, Somerset; 3½ miles NE of Ilminster, and 5 SW of Langport r. It includes the hamlet of Barrington Hill, and station. part of the hamlet of Westport; and its post-town is Ilminster. Acres, 1,656. Real property, £3,857. Pop., 501. Houses, 104. The property is much subdivided. Barrington Court was a seat of the Phelipses and the Strodes, visited in the time of the latter by the Duke of Monnouth. The living is a vicarage in the dio. of Bath and Wells. Value, £84. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Bristol. The church is ancient. There are a Wesleyan chapel and an endowed school.

BARRINGTON (GREAT), a parish in the district of Stow-on-the-Wold, Gloucester; on the verge of the county, 3½ miles NW of Burford, and 7 SW of Shipton r. station. It has a post-office, of the name of Barring-1. station. It mas a post-onice, of the lambe to Bartington, under Faringdon. Aeres, 2,933. Real property, £3,517. Pop., 496. Houses, 107. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged, prior to the Conquest, to Earl Harold; and belongs now to Lord Dynevor. The present mansion on it is an elegant moderated for the conference of the property of the proper dern edifice, within a park about 3 miles in circuit; and a previous mansion was built in 1734 by Lord Chanceller Talbot, and soen afterwards destroyed by fire. Quarries of excellent freestone are worked; and supplied the material for Blenheim House and for the restoration of Westminster Abbey. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £221. Patron, Lord Dynevor. The church is a handsome building, with pinnacled tower; was erected in the time of Henry VII.; and has monuments of Captain Edward Bray and Lord Chancellor Talbot. Charities, £17.
BARRINGTON HILL. See BARRINGTON, Somerset.

BARRINGTON (LITTLE), a parish in Northleach district, Gloucester; 23 miles WNW of Burford, and 7 SW trict, Gloucester; 24 miles WAW of Burrort, and 7 Sw of Shipton r. station. Fost-town, Earrington, under Faringdon. Acres, 925. Real property, £1,600. Pop., 151. Houses, 33. The property is divided among a few The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Gloucester and Eristol. Value, £100.* Parton, the Lord Chancellor. Bristo, Value, 2000. Tatoli, the Durd Chamberlies £66.

BAIRRON'S PARK, a hamlet in Desford parish, Leicester; 64 miles E of Market-Bosworth. Pop., 18

BAIRROW (The), a stream of Westmoreland; falling into the Burbeck, near Howsehouse.

BARROW (THE), a rivulet of Cumberland; falling into Derwent water, 21 miles S of Keswick. A cascade of two falls occurs on it, altogether 122 feet; and is approached through the beautiful grounds of Barrow House, the seat of S. Z. Langton, Esq.

BARROW, a parish in Great Boughton district, Cheshire; on a stream which goes northward to the Mersey, 31 miles S of Dunham r. station, and 5 ENE of Chester. It includes the townships of Great Barrow and Little Barrow; and has fairs on 22 June and 22 Dec.; and its Barrow; and has fairs on 22 June and 22 Dec.; and as post-town is Tarvin, under Chester. Acres, 2,916. Real property, £4,951. Pop., 623. Houses, 118. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Chester. Value, £263.* Patron, Lord Chebrocolober. The church is early English. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school built in 1865, and charities £9.

BARROW, a township in Boddington parish, Gloucester: 4 miles NW of Cheltenham. A hill here commands an extensive view, including 36 churches.

manda an extensive view, including so convenes.

BARICOW, a township in Holystone parish, Northnumberland; 10 miles WNW of Rothbury. Pop., 14.

BARBOW, a parish in Madely district, Salop; on the Much-Wenlock railway, 3 miles E of Much-Wenlock.
Post-town, Much-Wenlock, under Wellington. Acres,
3,013. Real property, 23,780. Pop., 365. Houses,
55. The property is all in one estate. The living is a convey annexed to Willey, in the diocese of Hereford p. curacy, annexed to Willey, in the diocese of Hereford. The church was restored in 1850. There is an endowed school, with £34 a-year.

school, with £34 a-year.

BARROW, a parish, with a village, in Thingoe district, Suffolk; 1½ mile S of Higham r. station, and 6 W of Bury-St.-Edmunds. It has a post-office under Bury-St.-Edmunds, and a fair on 1 May. Acres, 2,665. Real property, £4,698. Pop., 1,030. Houses, 216. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £690.* Patron, St. John's College, Cambridge. The church was restored in 1852. There is en Indapendent charel. A school has an en-There is an Independent chapel. A school has an endowed income of £20, and other charities £60. Francis.

the translator of Horace, was rector.

BARROW, a hamlet in Wath-upon-Dearne parish,
W. R. Yorkshire; 34 miles N of Rotherham.

BARROW, or BARROW-IN-FURNESS, a scaport town
BARROW, or BARROW-IN-FURNESS, a scaport town
BARROW, or BARROW-IN-FURNESS, a scaport town and two chapelries in Dalton-in-Furness parish, Lanca-The town stands at the terminus of a branch of the Furness railway, opposite Walney Island, 8 miles SW of Ulverston; was only a village, with a pop. of 325, so late as 1847; rose to a pop. of about 2,000 in 1847, and to a pop. of more than 12,000 in 1868; owed its rise mainly to rapid development of mineral wealth in its vicinity; began, in 1867, to acquire a grand artificial harbour, with docks and wharves, estimated to cost about £300,000; imports large quantities of timber and coal; has a long range of hlast furnaces, extensive foundries, and steel-works, large timber-yards, ship-building yards, and saw-mills; draws from neighbouring mines yards, and saw-mils; draws from neighbouring mina-about 400,000 tons of iron ore a-year; produces about 4,000 tons of pig-iron weekly; converts about one-fifth of that quantity into steel by the Bessemer process; exports, and addition to its iron produce, about 3,000 tons of copper ore and about 20,000 tons of slate a-year; is built on a regular plan, chiefly with streets crossing at right angles; and has a head post-office, t a fine new r. station with telegraph, a spacious town-hall and market-house built in 1865, an assembly-room, a temperance hall, a subscription news-room and library, a mechanics' institute, a police office, a custom-house, a church in the geometric style built in 1859, another church built in 1867, an Independent chapel in the early English style, a Wesleyan dependent chapel in the early English style, a Wesleyan chapel of 1863, a Welsh chapel of 1864, a Roman Catholic chapel of 1866, and a national school.—The chapelries are St. George and St. James, and were constituted, the former in 1863, the latter in 1867. The livings are p. c. racies in the diocese of Carlisle. Value of St. G., £149.* of St. J., £150. Patron of St. G., the Duke of Devonshire; of St. J., Trustees.

BARROWBY, a parish, with three hamlets, in Grantham district, Lincohi; on the Grantham and Nottingham railway. It mule W of Grantham, It has a past-office nam district, Lincolni; on the Grantham and Nottingham railway, 1½ mile W of Grantham. It has a post-office under Grantham. Acres, 4,462. Real preperty, 27,969. Pop., 862. Houses, 187. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, 21, 200. * Patron, the Duke of Devon-shire. The church is good. BARROWEY, W. R. Yorkshire. See Austhorpe, and Brunger, 17, Eller.

and BARWICK-IN-ELMET.

BARROWBY, N. R. Yerkshire. See Borrowby. BARROW-COMMON. See Ashton (Long).

BARROWDEN, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Uppingham, Rutland. The parish lies on the river Welland, 3 miles NE of Seaton r. station, and 6 E of Uppingham. Post-town, Morcott, under Uppingham. Acres, 2,073. Real property, £2,866. Pop., 653.

Houses, 147. The property is divided among a few.

Houses, 147. The property is divided among a few, The living is a rectory in the diocese of Pcterborough. Value, £483.* Patron, the Marquis of Exeter. The church is good. There are a Baptist chapel, and charities £47.—The sub-d. contains ten parishes. Pop., 3,887. BARROW (East and WEST), a shoal, partly dry at low water, about 12 miles E of Fonlness, Esex. It extends from NE to SW; is 15 miles long, and from 1 to 3 miles broad; and has from 1 to 4 fathoms water. A floating light is near the inner end. A navigable channel, called Barrow Deeps, with from 5 to 10 fathoms water. is on the one side; and another, called the Swin water. is on the one side; and another, called the Swin water, is on the one side; and another, called the Swin Deeps, more used by ships, is on the other.

BARROWFORD, a township and a chapelry in Whalley parish, Lancashire. The township lies on the East tey parish, Lancashire. The township lies on the East Lancashire railway, 2 miles W of Colne; and has a post-office under Burnley. Acres, 1,540. Real property, 27,754. Pop., 2,850. Houses, 612. The property is much subdivided. Many of the inhabitants are employed much subdivided. Many of the innabitants are cuppoyed in cotton manufactories.—The chapelry was constituted in 1843; and bears the name of Barrowford-Colne, or Colne-Barrowford. Pop. 2,796. Houses, 591. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £150. Patrons, Hilme's Trustees. The church is recent; and there are four dissenting chapels.

recent: and there are four dissenting chapels.
BARROW GREAT. See BARROW, Cheshire.
BARROW GREEN. See OXSTEAD.
BARROW-GREEN. See OXSTEAD.
BARROW-GUNKEY, a parish in Bedminster district, Somerset; 14 mile SSE of Burton r. station, and 5
WSW of Bristol. Post-town, Long-Ashton, under Bristol. Acres, 2,025. Real property, £3,360. Pop., 321
House, 61. The property is divided among four. Barrow Court, near Harrow Hill, is a fine Tudor massion, the seat of 1. H. Blagraye. Eso., and occupies the site of a the seat of J. H. Blagrave, Esq., and occupies the site of a Benedictine nunnery founded by the Fitzhardinges. The living is a donative in the diocese of Bath and Wells.

Value, £66.* Patron, J. H. Blagrave, Esq. BARROW-HAVEN. See BARROW-UPON-HUMBER. BARROW-HILL, an eminence adjacent to English-combe village, Somerset; 3 miles SW of Bath. It surmounts an elevated ridge; is about 100 feet high; figures conspicuously in the view from Bath; and, if artificial, is one of the largest barrows in England.

BARROW-HILL, a quondam Roman station on Watling-street, near Daventry, Northamptonshire.

ing-street, near Daventry, Nortnamptonsnire.

BARROW-HILL, an eminence on Akeman-street, in Wychwood forest, Oxford; 54 NE of Burford.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS. See BARROW, Lancashire.

BARROW (LITTLE). See BARROW, Cheshire.

BARROW-MINCHIN, a hamlet in Barrow-Gurney parish, Somerset.

parish, Somerset.

BARROW (KORTH), a parish in Wincanton district, Somerset; adjacent to the Wilts and Somerset railway, 3 miles SW of Castle-Cary. Post-town, Castle-Cary, under Bath Acres, 751. Real property, with South Barrow, £2,481. Pop., 114. Houses, 24. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £148.* Fatron, Lord Portman. The church is good.

BARROW (SOTTH), a parish in Wincanton district, Somerset; adjacent to the Wilts and Somerset railway, 4 miles SW of Castle-Cary. Post-town, Castle-Cary, under Bath. Acres, 752. Real property, with North Barrow, £2,481. Pop., 140. Houses, 29. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £30. Patron, Mrs. Toogood. The church is good.

BARROW-UPON-HCMBER, a village and a parish in Glanford-Brigg district, Lincoln. The village, stands in Glanford-Brigg district, Lincoln. The village stands 21 miles E of Barton; and has a post-office; under Ulceby. The parish includes also New Holland; lies on the Humber, nearly opposite Hull; has a ferry there, at Barrow-Ilaven, to Hull; and is traversed, along the coast, by the Barton branch railway, with a regular station at New Holland, and a road-side one at Barrow-Haven. Acres, 5,990; of which 1,370 are water. Real property, £10,167. Pop., 2,443. Houses, 543. The property is much subdivided. An ancient monastery, founded by Wulpher, king of Mercia, stood at a place called Al Barwe. An extensive entrenchment, called the Castle, and supposed to have been an ancicut British camp, exists about a mile NW of the village. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £260. Patron, the Lord Chanrellor. The church is very good. An endowment for an afternoon preacher yields £160 a-year; and charities yield £41. There are chapels for Independents, Weslevans, and Primitive Methodists.

BARROW-UPON-SOAR, a village, a township, BARROW-LFON-SOAR, a village, a township a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Leicester. The village stands on the river Soar, and on the Midland railway, 3 miles SE of Loughborough; and it has a station, of the name of Barrow, on the railway, and a post-office, of the same name, under Loughborough. It is inhabited principally by gentry, farmers, labourers, and quarrymen, together with workers in lace and hosiery; and it has long been noted for a hard blue limestone which contains interesting fossils, and makes an esteemed cement under water.—The township includes the village, and comprises 2,510 acres. Pop., 1,800. Houses, 404.

—The parish includes also the townships of Mountsorrel-—The parish includes also the townships of Mountsorrel-North-End and Quorndon, the liberty of Beaumanor, the chapetry of Woodhouse, and the hamlets of Wood-house-Eares and Maplewell. Acres, 9,160. Real pro-perty, £3,182. Pop., 5,621. Houses, 1,231. The manor was known to the Saxons as Barwe, and belonged to High Lupus. The property is now much subdivided. to Hugh Lupus. The property is now much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £326.* Patron, St. John's College, Cambridge. The church is partly old,—was partly rebuilt in 1850. The vicarages of Mountsorrel-North-End, Quorndon, and Woodhouse are separate charges. There are chaples for Baptists, Wesleyans, Primitive Methodists, and Roman Catholics. Perkins' grammar-school has an endowed income of £110; Babington's alms-houses, £475; Beverdad, be facilities for scatter religious and £324, and idge's benefactions, for certain religious ends, £224; and other charities £170. Bishop Beveridge, who died in 1708, was a native.

The sub-district comprises Barrow-upon-Spar township, and the parishes of Walton-on-the-Wolds, Scagrave, Thrussington, Ratcliffe-on-the-Wreak, Cossington, and Sileby. Acres, 13,521. Pop., 5,144. Houses, 1,169. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Quorndon, containing the parish of Swithland, the extra-parochial tract of Ulverscroft, and parts of the parishes of Rothley and Barrow-upon-Soar; the sub-district of Rothley, containing the parishes of Wanlip, Thureaston, and Newton-Linford, the extra-parochial tracts of Rothley-Temple, Broadgate, Anstey-Pastures, Beaumont-Leys, Sherman's Grounds, Gilroes, and Leicester-Abbey, and Sherman's Grounds, Gilroes, and Leicester-Abbey, and parts of the parishes of Rothley and Belgrave; and the sub-district of Syston, containing the parishes of Syston, Rearsby, Queeniborough, South Croxton, Beeby, and Barkby, and part of the parish of Belgrave. Aeros, 47,868. Poor rates in 1886, £11,830. Pop. in 1861, 19,778. Honses, 4,460. Marriages in 1860, 127; births, 712,-of which 49 were illegitimate; deaths, 398,-of 712,—of which 19 were illegitimate; deaths, 395,—of which 150 were at ages under 5 years, and 13 at ages above 25 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,425; births, 6,194; deaths, 4,316. The places of worship in 1851 were 27 of the Church of England, with 7,504 sittings; 14 of Baptists, with 2,200 s.; 17 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,551 s.; 14 of Primitive Methodists, with 2,121 s.; 3 of the Wesleyan Association, with 405 s.; 2 of Latter Day Saints, with 190 s.; and 2 of Roman Catholics, with 204 s. The schools were 23 public day schools with 1.74 scholars with the second of were 28 public day schools, with 1,774 scholars; 44 private day schools, with 927 s.; 58 Sunday schools, with 3,968 s.; and 4 evening schools for adults, with 131 s. The workhouse is in Rothley township, and was built at a cost of £6,400.

BARROW-UTON-TRENT, a township and a parish in Derbyshire. The township is in Shardlow district; and lies on the river Trent, adjacent to the Grand Trunk canal, 3\{\}\text{ miles E by N of Willington r. station, and 6 Sof Perby. Real property, £2,345. Pop., 260. Houses, 61. The parish is partly also in Button-upon-Trent district; and includes likewise the liberty of Arleston and Sinfin, and the township of Twyford and Stenson. Posttown, Chellaston, under Derby. Acres, 5,810. Real property, £6,303. Pop., 526. Houses, 111. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Twyford, in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £105. Patron, A. Moore, Esq. The church is old but good; and there are Independent and Weslevan chanels, and charities £30.

BARRULE (NORTH and SOUTH), two eminences at the ends of the mountain ridge across the centre of the Isle of Man. The former is 2 miles SSW of Ramsey, and 1,840 feet high; and the latter is 5 miles SSE of Peel, and 1,545 feet high.

117

Peet, and 1,545 teet figh.

BARRY, a village, an island, and a parish in Cardiff district, Glamorgan. The village stands on the coast, opposite the island, 9 miles SB of Cowbridge; is a subport to Cardiff; and has acquired importance by a harbour act of 1865, and by acts of 1865-6 for railways to the South Wales line at Peterston, to Sully, and to Penarth.

The island comprises about 300 acres; and is separated —The island comprises about 200 acres; and is separated from the instinand only by a narrow channel, passable for carriages at low water. —The parish contains 570 acres of laud and 265 of water; and its post-town is Barry under Cardiff. Real property, £634. Pop. 87. Houses, 13. The property is divided among a few. There are ruins of an ancient castle and an ancient chapel. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Porthkerry, in the diocese of Llandaff. The church isgood.

BARSBY a chapelry in Ashby-Folville parish, Leicestershire: 6 miles E of Syston r. station, and 10 NE of Leicester. Post-town, Gaddesby under Melton-Mowbray. Acres, 1,030. Real property, £2,219. Pop., 295. Houses, 63. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

BARSHAM, a parish in Wangford district, Suffolknear the river Waveney, 2 miles W by S of Beccles r. near the river Waveney, 2 miles W by S of Beccles . As station. Post-town, Beccles . Acres, 1,871. Real property, £2,976. Pop., 239. Houses, 49. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £531.* Patron, Mrs. Anna M. Snekling. The church has a remarkable east front of 1617-37, and a round west tower; and contains a round decorated font, a brass of 1380, and a brick altar-tomb of 1599. Echard, the ecclesiastical historian and early gazetteer writer, who died in 1730, and Catherine, the mother of Lord Nelson, were natives.

BARSIJAM (EAST), a parish in Walsingham district, Norfolk; adjacent to the Norfolk railway, 24 miles N of Fakenham. Post-town, Fakenham. Acres, 1,167. Real property, E1,932. Pop., 221. Houses, 44. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, united with the rectory of Little Snoring, in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £645.* Patron, Lord Hastings. The church is old but good. Henry VIII. walked bare-footed from East Barsham to Walsingham, in 1510, to make a votive offering of a necklace.

make a votive offering of a necklace. BARSHAM (Nortn), a parish in Walsingham district, Norfulk; adjacent to the Norfulk railway, 2 miles SW of New Walsingham. Post-town, New Walsingham under Fakenham. Acres, 1,015. Real property, £1,609, Pop., 57. Houses, 14. The property is divided among a few. The living is a retory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £244.* Patron, the Earl of Orford. The church is good.

BARSHAM (West), a parish in Walsingham district. Norfolk; adjacent to the Norfolk railway, 3 miles NNW of Fakenham. Post-town, Fakenham. Acres, 1,571. Real property, £1,925. Pop., 92. Houses, 17. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £155. Patron, General Balders. The church is good.

BARSTABLE, a hundred in Essex. It touches the Thames, 12 miles above and below Gravesend; extends from 7½ to 15 miles inland; and includes 33 parishes. Acres, 77,400. Pop. in 1851, 15,216; in 1861, 15,280:

Houses, 3,038.

BARSTON, a parish in Solihull district, Warwick; 13 mile ENE of Knowle r. station, and 9 W of Coventry. Post-town, Knowle, under Birmingham. Acres, 1,866. Real property, £4,507. Pop., 336. Houses, 79. The property is much subdivided. Barston Park is a chief residence. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Berkeswell, in the diocese of Worcester. The church is excellent. Charities, £8.

BARSTON, Kent. See BARFRESTON.
BARTESTREE, a chapelry in Dormington parish,
Herefordshire; on the Worcester and Hereford railway, near the Wothington station, the Roman road, and the river Wye, 4 miles E of Hereford. It has a post-office under Hereford. Acres, 250. Rated property, £533. Pop., 61. Houses, 13. The property is divided among a few. The living is a p. enracy, annexed to the vicarage of Dormington, in the diocese of Hereford. The church is good. BARTHERTON.

BARTHERTON. See BATHERTON.
BARTHOLOMEW (St.), a tract contiguous to Sudbury, Suffolk; held by some to be extra-parochial, by others to be within Sudbury borongh.

BARTHOLOMEW (Sr.), Sussex. See Chichester.
BARTHOLOMEW (Sr.), Middlesex. See LONDON,
BARTHOLOMEW HOSPITAL, (Sr.), an extra-paro-BARTHOLOGIAN HOSTITAL, (SI.), an extra-pero-chial tract in Eastry district, Kent; adjacent to the south side of Sandwich. Acres, 6. Pop., 51. Houses, 16. An hospital was founded here, about 1190, by Thomas Crompthorn, and re-endowed in 1244 by Sir Henry de Sandwich; and still exists, as an almshouse, with income

BARTHOLOMEW-HYDE (St.). See WINCHESTER. BARTHOMLEY, a township in Nantwich district, Cheshire, and a parish in Nantwich and Congleton districts, Cheshire, and in Newcastle-under-Lyne district, Stafford. The township lies adjacent to the North Stafford railway, 1 mile S by W of Radway-Green station, and 5 SE of Crewe; and has a post-office under Crewe. Acres, 1,982. 2. Real property, £3,164. Pop., 416. The parish includes also the townships of Houses, 78. Crewe, Haslington, and Alsager in Cheshire, and the township of Batterley in Staffordshire. Acres, 11,035. Real property, £19,825. Pop., 3,002. Houses, 572. The property is not much divided. Barthonley Hall, on Alsager Heath, is a chief residence. The living is a cretory in the diocese of Chester. Value, £824. Patrons, the Trustees of the late Lord Crewe. The church is an ancient edifice, with Norman porch and richly carved roof, the latter put up in 1589; and it was the scene of a tragical onslaught, in 1643, by a troop of Lord Byron. A school has an endowed income of £10, and other charities £41. The chapelries of Alsager, and other charties 241. The chapteries of Alsager, Crewe-Green, and Haslington, are separate benefices. BARTHORPE. See ACKLAM. BARTINGTON, a township in Great Endworth parish, Cheshire; 4 miles NW of Northwich. Acres,

 Real property, £756. Pop., 63. Houses, 15.
 BARTINNEY, a hill in the vicinity of Land's End, Cornwall. It has an altitude of 689 feet; and commands a fine view. Its name signifies "the hill of fires."

BARTLEY, two tythings in Eling parish, Hants; near the Southampton and Dorchester railway, 74 miles

W of Southampton. The one bears the name of Bartley-Regis; the other is united with Bistern, under the name of Bistern and Bartley; and they have a post-office, of the name of Bartley, under Southampton. Bartley House is the seat of Lord Vivian; and Bartley Lodge, the seat of the Blaquieres.

the sear of the Biaquieres.

BARTLEY, or BARTLEY GREEN, a subdivision of Northfield parish, Worcester; near the Birmingham and Worcester railway, 6 miles SSW of Birmingham. It has a post-office, of the name of Bartley Green, under Birmingham; and it forms a curacy with Northfield.

BARTLOW, or GREAT BARTLOW, a parish, with a r. station, in Linton district, Cambridgeshire; on the Cambridge and Haverhill railway, 21 miles SE of Linton. Post-town, Linton, under Cambridge. Acres, 370. Real property, £677. Pop., 120. Houses, 23. The property is divided among a few Bartlew Honse and Bartlow Cottage are chief residences. Four barrows, popularly called Earthow Hills, command an extensive view; and are generally, but erroneously, regarded as graves of the slain in the battle of 1016 between Edmund Ironside and Canute. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £259. Patron, R. Watkins,

The church has a round Saxon tower, and is very Esq. good.

BARTLOW END, STEVENTON END, OF LITTLE BART-Low, a hamlet in Ashdon parish, Essex; contiguous to Great Bartlow, 3 miles SE of Linton. Pop., 216.

BARTON, a chapetry in Whippingham parish, Isle of Wight; 2 miles NE of Newport. Pop., 1,314. The living is a vicarage. Value. £190.* See Osborne House. BARTON, a parish in Chesterton district, Cambridge-

BARTUN, a parish in Chesterion distinct, comornishine; on a tributary of the Cam river, and on the Hitchin and Cambridge railway, 3 miles SW of Cambridge. It has a post-office under Cambridge. Acres, 1,812. Real property, £3,803. Pop., 324. Houses, 70. The Real property, £3,803. Pop., 324. Honses, 70. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Ely. Value, £156. Patron, the lishop of Peterborough. The church has a brass of 1593, and is good. The rectorial tithes were given to Merton priory.

BARTON, a township in Farndon pavish, Cheshire;

$\frac{1}{2}$ miles S by F of Chester. Acres, 511. Real property, 2964. Pop., 131. Houses, 23. Here is a Calvinistic Methodist chapel.

BARTON, a township in Preston parish, and a chapelry in Preston, Kirkham, Lancaster, and Garstang parishes, Lancashire. The township has a station on the Northwestern railway, 54 miles N of Preston. Acres, 2,536. Real property, 23,732. Pop., 343. Houses, 67. Barton Hall and Barton Lodge are within the limits.— The chapelry was constituted in 1850; and its post-town is Preston. Pop., SS6. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £120.* Patron, R. Jacson, Esq., and G. Marton, Esq.

BARTON, a sub-district in the district of Glanfords

Brigg, Lincoln; containing Barton St. Peter, Barton St. Mary, and eleven other parishes. Acres, 57,077. Pop.,

12,599. Houses, 2,799.

BARTON, a parish in West Ward district, Westmore-BARTON, a parish in west ward district, a estimate land; on the river Earnont, 3g miles W by S of Clifton r. station, and 4 SW of Penrith. It extends along Ulles water to its head at Patterdale; includes the townships of High Barton, Low Winder, Stockbridge and Tirril, Yanwath and Eamont Bridge, and the chapelries of Nameth and Famont Siringe, and the chapteries of Martindale and Patterdale-with-Hartsop; and contains the post-offices of Pooley-Bridge and Patterdale under Fenrith. Acres, 35,312; of which 1,622 are water. Real property, 219,825. Pop., 1,808. Houses, 345. The property throughout the townships is not much divided; and the greater part of it belonged to the Lancasters, and has descended from them to the Earl of Locatelle, whils that of the trap chapting is subjuiled. Lonsdale; while that of the two chapelries is subdivided. The scenery includes many of the most admired features of the Lake country; and will be noticed in our article on Ulles-water, and in other articles. Various minerals are found in the hills; particularly a variety of spars and petrifactions, on Barton-fell. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £170.* Patron, the Earl of Lonsdale. The church is a low large building, with a heavy tower between the nave and the this, with a heavy tower between the mave and the chancel; was recently repaired and improved; and con-tains the tomb of one of the Lancasters, and monumental memorials of several other families. The chapelries of Martindale and Patterdale are separate benefices. grammar-school has an endowed income of £91: and other charities £23. Dr. Langbaine, the historian and antiquary, who died in 1657, was a native.

antiquary, who died in 1657, was a native.

BARTON, a township and a parish in Darlington district and N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on a tributary of the river Tees, 4½ miles Wo of Croft r. station, and 5 SW of Darlington; and has a post-office under Darlington. Acres, 2,177. Real property, £4,546. Pop., 507. Houses, 117. The parish includes also the township of Newton-Morrel and part of the township of Steadton. Acres 2,702. Eval Immerty, with the prest. Stapleton. Acres, 2,790. Real property, with the rest of Stapleton, £7,012. Pop., 584. Houses, 132. Limestone occurs. The parish is a meet for the Raby hounds. The living is a double vicarage of Barton-St. Cuthbert and Barton-St. Mary, in the diocese of Ripon. Value. £110. Patrons, the vicar of Stanwick and the vicar of

119

BARTON, a hamlet in Piddletown parish, Dorset; 53 miles NE of Dorchester.

BARTON, a hamlet in Guyting-Temple parish, Gloucester; 41 miles E of Winchcomb.

BARTON, a tything in Cirencester parish and borough,

Cloucester. BARTON, a hamlet in Bidford parish, Warwick; 61 miles SW of Stratford. Pop., 147. BARTON, South Lancashire. See BARTON-UPON-

EARTON, Notts. See Barton-in-Fabis.
BARTON, Suffolk. See Barton (Great).
BARTON, N. R. Yorkshire. See Barden.
BARTON, BRADNOR, AND RUSHOCK, a township

in Kington parish, Hereford; 1 mile N of Kington. Pop., A Benedictine monastery anciently stood in the neighbourhood.

BARTON AND EASTLEY, a tything in South Stoneham parish, Hants; on the Southwestern railway, 51 miles NNE of Southampton. Pop., 57.

BARTON AND WALTON, a station on the Derby and Birmingham railway; adjacent to the river Trent, I mile E of Barton-under-Needwood, and 15 SW of Derby.

BARTON-BENDISH, a village and a parish in Downham district, Norfolk. The village stands 5½ miles SSW of Narborough r. station, and 71 ENE of Downham; and has a post-office under Brandon. It took its distinctive name from a dyke, called Bendish, which the Saxons erected to mark the boundary of the hundred. The parish includes also the hamlet of Eastmore. Acres, 4,390. Real property, £4,849. Pop., 484. Houses, 94. The property is divided among a few. Barton-Bendish Hall is the rectory of St. Mary-with All Saints, and the rectory of St. Mary-with All Saints, and the rectory of St. Andrew; and is in the diocese of Norwich. Value, ±550.* Patrons. Sir H. Raman Parks ±560.* Patrons, Sir H. Berney, Bart. and the Lord Chaucellor. The church of St. Mary-with-All Saints is good; and that of St. Andrew has a fine screen, with hagiological figures, and was repaired in 1859. are a Wesleyan chanel, and charities and re a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £36.

BARTON-BLOUNT, a parish in the district of Burton-upon-Trent and county of Derhy; on a tributary of the river Dove, 4 miles NNE of Tutbury r. station, and 10 W of Derby. Post-town, Church Broughton, under Derby. Acres, 1,150. Real property, £2,301. Pop. 73. Houses, 7. The property is not much divided. Barton Hall is the seat of F. Bradshaw, Esq. The parish is a resort of sportsmen. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £69. Patron, F. Brad-Shaw, Esq. The church is excellent.

BARTON-EARLS, a parish and a sub-district in Wellingborough district, Northampton. The parish lies on the river Nen, adjacent to the Peterborough railway, 11 mile NE of Castle-Ashby r. station, and 31 SSW of Wellingbor-S. Or Castic-Ashoy r. station, and 3, 55 W of Weiningoor-engh; and has a post-office‡ under Northampton. Acros, 1,750. Real property, £6,251. Pop., 1,557. Houses, 315. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £195.* Patron, E. Thornton, Esq. The church stands on the substructions of an ancient fort; is partly Saxon or nearly Norman, but exhibits other styles; has a curious tower, striped with stone-work, and faced by long and short quoins. There are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels, national and British schools, alms-houses, and other charities £30.—The sub-district comprises nine parishes. ties 2-90.—100 sub-market comprises nine parisines. Acres, 19,234. Pop., 6,230. Honses, 1,329.
BARTON (EAST). See Barron (Great).
BARTON-END, a handlet in Horsley parish, Gloucester; 3 miles WSW of Minchinhampton.

BARTON-FARM, a tract in Abingdon-St. Helen parish, & a mile E of Abingdon. Pop., 8. Barton Court and Barton Lodge are adjacent.

BARTON (GREAT), a parish in Thingoe district, Suf-folk; near the Bury St. Edmunds railway, 21 miles NE of Bury St. Edmunds. It contains the villages of Great Barton and East Barton; and has a post-office, of the name of Barton, under Bury St. Edmunds. Acres, 4,030. Real property, £4,794. Pop., 848. Houses, 200. Barton Hall is the seat of Sir H. E. Bunbury, Eart.

The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, not reported.* Patron, Sir C. J. T. Bunbury, Bart. The church contains several old monuments, and is good. There are a free school, and four alms-houses.

There are a tree school, and four alms-nouses.

EARTON-HARTSHORN, a parish in the district and county of Buckingham; on the verge of the county, 21 miles S of the Euckinghamshire railway, and 4 WSW of Buckingham. Post-town, Buckingham. Acres, 870. Real property, £1,341. Pop., 126. Houses, 27. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarproperty is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, nuited with the vicarage of Chetwode, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £102.* Patron, Mrs. Bracecese of Oxford. Value, £1 bridge. The church is good.

BARTON (High), a township in Barton parish, West-moreland; on the river Eamont, 4 miles SW of Penrith. It extends beyond the source of the Eamont in Ulles water; and includes the hamlet of Pooley; and it once had the right of a weekly market. Acres, 5,653; of which 278 are water. Real property, £3,134. Pop.,

Houses, 60.

BARTON-HILL, a station on the York and Scarborough railway; adjacent to the river Derwent, at the boundary between the E. and N. ridings of Yorkshire.

boundary between the L. and N. ruungs of AURASHIE, 12 miles NE of York.

BARTON-IN-FABIS, a parish in Basford district, Notts; on the river Trent, 2\(^1\) miles E of Long Eaton station, and 5\(^1\) Word Nottingham. It has a post-office, of the name of Barton, under Nottingham. Acres, 1,620. Real property, £2,682. Pop., 295. Houses, 73. The property is all in one estate. A British camp occurs, property is an in one estate. A British camp occurs, and coins have been found on Barton-moor. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £360. Patron, the Archbishop of York. The church is BARTON-IN-THE-BEANS, a township in Market-BARTON-IN-THE-BEARS, a township in James Besworth district, Leicester; chiefly in Nailstone parish, but partly also in Market-Bosworth and Shackerstone parishes, 2 miles N of Market-Bosworth. Acres, 820. Real property, 21,712. Fop., 155. Houses, 39.

BARTON-IN-THE-CLAY, a parish in Luton district,

Beds; on the verge of the county, 7 miles N of Luton r. station. It has a post-office under Ampthill. Acres, 2,270. Eel property, £3,400. Pop., 956. Houses, 210. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £400. Pa is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £400.* Patron, the Crown. The church is ancient and good. There are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels, an endowed school with £50, and other charities with £33.

BARTON-LE-STREET, a township and a parish in Malton district, N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies of the Thirsk and Defifield railway, and on the line of a Roman road, under the Cleveland Moors, 6 miles WNW of Malton; and it has a station on the railway, and a of Malton; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Malton. Acres, 1,644. Real property, £1,419. Pop., 184. Houses, 37. The parish includes also the townships of Entterwick and Conceysthorpe. Acres, 3,476. Real property, £3,395. Pop., 454. Houses, 93. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory, united with the curacy of Entterwick, in the diocese of York. Value, £450. Patron, H. C. Meynell Ingram, Esq. The church has two claborately sculptured Norman doorways, and is good. There is a Weelenge threa! Weslevan chapel.

BARTON-LE-WILLOWS, a township in Crambe pa-BARTON-LE-WILLOWS, a township in Crampe parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the river Derwent and on the York and Scarborough railway, adjacent to Barton-Hill station, 10 miles SW of Malton. It has a post-office under York. Acres, 980. Pop., 225. Houses, 43. BARTON (MIDLE), a township in Earton-Steeple market Oxford parish, Oxford.

BARTON-MILLS, or LITTLE BARTON, a parish in Mildenhall district, Suffolk; adjacent to the river Lark, 1 mile SSE of Mildenhall, and 5 N of Kennet r. station. Post-town, Midchall, under Soliam. Acres, 2,050. Real property, £3,547. Pop., 531. Houses, 131. The property is subdivided. Earton Place is the principal residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Valne, £550. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The churca is old; was restored in 1840; and contains an ancient font and a carved oak pulpit. There are a Baptist chapel, and charities £14.

BARTON-MOSS, a station on the Liverpool and Man chester railway, on the border of Chat Moss, 73 miles W of Manchester.

BARTON-ON-THE-HEATH, a parish in the district of Chipping-Norton and county of Warwick; on the verge of the county, near the Four-shire-stone, 34 miles verge of the county, near the rout-succession, v_{1} and ε S of Shipton-on-Stour. It has a post-office under Moreton-in-the-Marsh. Acres, 1,540. Real property, £2,408. Pop., 184. Houses, 36. The property is divided among a few. The munor belonged, 1,540. Real property, £2,408. Fop., 184. Houses, 68. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged, from the time of Henry III., to the Marshalls; and passed, in the time of Elizabeth, to the Overburys. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £364. Patron, Trinity College, Oxford. The church is old and plain, but good. Dover, the lawyer, who instituted the Cotswold games, so famous in the times of Lawrell and II. were a resident. James I. and II., was a resident.

BARTON-REGIS, a hundred in Gloucester. It adjoins Bristol, includes Clifton and other parishes, and measures 6 miles by 4. Acres, 6,976. Pop., 19,853.

Measures of mind 2, 2.

Houses, 3,838.

BARTON-ST. CUTHBERT. See Barton, N. R.

BARTON-ST.-DAVID, a parish in Langport district, Somerset; on the river Brue, 4 miles NE of Somerton, and 6 SE of Glastonbury r. station. Post-town, Somerton, under Taunton. Acres, 945. Real property, £2,002. Pop., 404. Houses, 88. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £60. Patron, the Rev. Mr. Garrett. The church was restored in 1853. There is an Independent chapel. BARTON-ST.-LAWRENCE.

See BARTON, Lancashire BARTON-ST.-MARY, a hamlet in the parish of St. Mary-de-Lode, in the suburbs of Gloucester city, and within the boundaries of Gloucester borough. Acres, with Tuffley hamlet, 1,470. Pop., 4,335. Houses, 828.

BARTON-ST.-MARY, Lincoln. See Barton-upon-

HUMBER.

BARTON-ST.-MARY, Yorkshire. See BARTON, N. R. Yorkshire

BARTON-ST.-MICHAEL, a hamlet in St. Michael parish, in the suburbs of the city of Gloncester. It has a post-office under Gloucester. Acres, 500. Pop., 2,315.

Houses, 423.

BARTON-ST.-PETER. See BARTON-UPON-HUMBER, BARTON-SEAGRAVE, a parish in Kettering district, Northampton; on the Leicester and Bedford railway, 2 miles SE of Kettering. It has a post-office under Ket-tering. Acres, 1,782. Real property, £3,666. Pop., 199. Houses, 40. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged anciently to the Seagraves, who had a castle on it in the time of Edward II., and one of whom was marshal of England in the time of Edward IV.
The principal landowner now is Viscountess Hood.
The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough.
Value, £492.* Patron, the Duke of Buccleuch. The church is ancient but good; has a tower; and contains monuments of the Bridges. Bishop Henchman, born in 1592, and the two Bridges, father and son, the former of whom was the first grower of sainfoin in these parts, while the latter made extensive collections for a history of the county, and died in 1724, were natives.

BARTON-SESWELLS, a township in Barton-Steeple

parish, Oxford.

BARTON-STACEY, a tything, a parish, and a hundred in Hants. The tything lies on a headstream of the Anton river, and on the line of the Roman road to Winchester, 41 miles E of the Andover railway, and 51 SE of Andover; and has a post-office under Winchester, and a fair on 31 July. The parish includes also the towna tair on 31 July. The parish includes also the townships of Braisbury, Drayton, and Newton-Stacey. Acres, 4,943. Real property, £5,923. Pop., 516. Houses, 108. The property is divided among a few. A strong ancient cutrenchment occurs at Bransbury. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £306.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Winchester. The church is early English and cruciform; and has a fine perpendicular tower. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £44. The hundred is conteminate with the parish.

BARTON-STEEPLE, a township and a parish in Woodstock district, Oxford. The township lies on a tributary of the Cherwell river, 21 miles W of Heyford r. station, and 41 SSW of Deddington. The parish includes also the townships of Middle-Barton and Seswells-Ended and the post-town is Lower Heyford, under Oxford. Acres, 2,710. Real property, 23,981. Pop, 859. Houses, 204. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged for centuries to the Dormors, passed in 1750 to Sir Clement Cottrell, and belongs now to H. Hall, Esq.; and the mansion on it is a picturesque struc-ture of 1524, enlarged tastefully by the present proprie-tor. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £123.* Patrons, the Duke of Martborough and H. Hall, Esq. The church is an ancient edifice, recently restored. There are Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist chapels.

BARTON-TURF, a parish in Tunstead district, Norfolk; 61 miles SE by S of North Walsham r. station, and 11 NE of Norwich. Post-town, Smallburgh, under Post-town, Smallburgh, under Post-town, Eggl branerty, £2.643. Pop., and Il NE of Norwich. Post-town, Smallburgh, under Norwich. Acres, 1,599. Real property, £2,643. Pop., 379. Houses, 88. The living is a vicarage, united to the rectory of Irstead, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £360. * Patron, the Bishop of Norwich. The church is good, and has a lofty tower.

BARTON-UNDER-NEEDWOOD, a village and a chapelry in Burton-upon-Trent district, Stafford. The village stands near Icknied-street, the Grand Trunk canal, the river Trent, and the Birmingham and Derby canal, the river Trent, and the Birmingham and Derby railway, I mile W of Barton and Walton station, and 54 SW of Burton-upon-Trent. It has a post-office; under Burton-upon-Trent; is in the honour of Tutbury, and a seat of courts; and has fairs on 3 May and 28 Nov. Several fine villas are in the neighbourhood. The chaapelry includes the village, and is in the parish of Tatenhill. Acres, 3,529. Real property, £12,654. Pop., 1,589. Houses, 359. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £135.* Patron, the Dean of Lichfield. The church is the Evaluation and the Parish and was the high that the church is later English; and was built, in the time of Henry VIII., by Dr. John Taylor, a native of the village. There are chapels for Wesleyan and Primitive Metho-Two endowed schools have £60, and other charities £39.

BARTON-UPON-HUMBER, a town and two parishes in Glanford-Brigg district, Lincoln. The town stands on a rising-ground, about § of a mile from the Humber, at the terminus of a branch of the Lincolnshire railway, 5 miles westward from New Holland, and 6 WSW of Hull. It occupies the site of a Roman station; and was a place of considerable commerce in the time of the Cona piace of consideration commerce in the time of the Con-queror; but suffered much when Edward I. made Hull a free borough. It consists principally of spacious but irregularly built streets, and contains some good modern houses. St. Peter's church is a large edifice, of nave, aisles, and chancel, chiefly in decorated English, with a tower partly Saxon, partly early Norman; and was renovated in 1859 at a cost of about £1,400. St. Mary's church is a structure of probably the 14th century. There are three dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, a national school, charities £250, a newspaper, a head post-office, a banking-office, and two chief inns. A weekly market is held on Monday; and a fuir on Trinity Thurchy. A sect tradestict is nown and four Trinity Thursday. A good trade exists in corn and flour; manufactures are carried on in ropes, sacking, bricks, tiles, pottery, and malt; and quarrying is done in chalk and colite. The town is a coast-guard station, a seat of petty sessions, and a polling-place. The two parishes are St. Peter and St. Mary. They are regarded politically as conterminate with the town, yet comprise 6,710 acres of land and 1,430 of water. Real property, £16,799. Pop. of St. Peter, 1,672. Houses, 384. Pop. of St. Mary, 2,185. Houses, 504. The property in both is much subdivided. The manor belonged at one time to Lord Beaumont, and afterwards to the Crown. Remains of ramparts and other works, raised for defence in the Saxon times, occur at Castle Dykes. The livings are jointly a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, 250.* Patron, G. C. Uppleby, Esq. BARTON-UPON-IRWELL, a village, a chapelry, a township, a sub-district, and a district in Lancashire. The village stands on the river Irwell, adjacent to the Manchester and Liverpool railway, in the vicinity of Patricroft station, 5 miles W of Manchester. It has a post-office, of the name of Barron, under Manchester; and it finds employment for many of its inhabitants in a silk-mill and three spinning-mills at Patrieroft. An aqueduct here, across the Irwell, with three arches, in the line of the Bridgewater canal, was the earliest structure of its kind in England. The chapelry includes the village, and was constituted in 1843. Pop. in 1851, The property is divided among a few. ing is a p. curacy in the diocese of Manchester. Value. Patrous, the Bishop of Manchester, the Vicar of Eccles, and others. The church is modern. There are a fine Roman Catholic chapel of 1863, two Methodist chapels, and two public schools. The township includes two hamlets, and is in the parish of Eccles. Acres, 10,530. Real property, £47,264. Pop. in 1851, 12,637; in 1851, 14,216. Houses, 2,783. The sub-district bears the name of Barton; and is conterminate with the township. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Worsley, containing the townships of Worsley and Clifton in the parish of Eccles; and the sub-district of Stretford, containing the township of Stretford in the parish of Manchester, and the townships of Flixton and Urmstone in the parish of Flixton. Acres, 23,279. Poor-rates in 1866, £11,144. Pop. in 1861, 39,033. Houses, 7,462. Marriages in 1866, 318; births, 1,459,—of which 86 were illegitimate; deaths, 994,-of which 390 were at ages under 5 years, and 14 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 3,546; births, 11,790; deaths, 7,725. The places of worship in 1851 were 10 of the Church of England, with 6,625 sittings; 5 of Independents, with 1,562 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 339 s.; 10 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,863 sittings; 1 of New Connexion Methodists with 200 s. ; 4 of Primi-Tive Methodists, with 476 s.; 5 of the Wesleyan Association, with 1,230 s.; 1 of the New Church, with 212 s.; 1 of Roman Catholies, with 117 s.; and 2 undefined, with 397 s. The schools were 19 public day schools, with 2,950 scholars; 40 private day schools, with 1,396 a.; 43 Sunday schools, with 6,475 s.; and 4 evening schools for adults, with 136 s.

BARTON-WESTCOT, a parish in Woodstock district, Oxford; on a tributary of the Cherwell river, 22 miles W of Heyford r. station, and 41 SSW of Deddington. Post-town, Sandford, under Oxford. Acres, 500. Property, £1,579. Pop., 302. Houses, 70. The property is divided between two. The living is a rectory in the disease of Oxford. Value, £230. Patron, Mrs. Post-town, Sandford, under Oxford. Acres, 650. Real the diocese of Oxford. Value, £230.* Patron, Mrs. Seagrave. The church has some Norman features, and was restored in 1856.

BARUGH, a handet in Orton parish, Westmoreland; near Orton and the Lune.

BARUGH, a township in Darton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles NW of Barnsley. It includes the hamlets of Gawber and Higham. Acres, 1,419. Real property, £4,383. Pop. 1,771. Houses, 355.

BARUGHS AMBO, a township in Kirkby-Misperton parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 4 miles SW of Pickering. 1t consists of the hamlets of Great and Little Barugh. Acres, 1,433. Real property, £2,004. Pop., 318. Houses, 60. A well-preserved Roman camp is at Great Baruch BARUM. See BARNSTAPLE.

BARWAY. See BARRAWAY. BARWE. See BARROW-UPON-HUMBER and BARROW-UPON-SOAR

BARWELL, a township in Blaby district, and a parish in Bl.by, Hinckley, and Market Downwrth districts, Lei-cester. The township less 2 miles NNE of Hinckley r. station, and 63 NE of Nuncaton; and has a post-office under Hinckley. Acres, 2,290. Real property, £6,589.

Pop., 1,353. Houses, 304. The parish includes also FOD. 1,355. Houses, 304. Ine parts includes also the hamlet of Potters-Marston and the chapelry of Stapleton. Acres, 3,950. Real property, £10,059. Pop., 1,613. Houses, 361. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacies of Marston and Stapleton, in the diocese of Peterborough, Value, #865.* Patron, Rev. R. Titley. The church is ancient, and was recently restored. There are Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist chapels, and charities £22.

BARWICK, a parish in Yeovil district, Somerset; on the verge of the county, 2 miles S of Yeovil r. station. It includes the hamlet of Stoford; and its post-town is Yeovil. Acres, 734. Real property, £2,064. Pop., 458. Houses, 89. Barwick House is the seat of J. Newman, Esa. There are two flax mills. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £100. Patron,

In the diocese of part and Wells, Value, 2100, 1 arror, J. Newman, Esq. The church is early English. BARWICK, or BERWICK-IN-THE-BRAKES, a parish in Docking district, Norfolk: 4 miles SSW of Burnham-Westgate r. station, and 9 WNW of Fakenham. Post-town, Burnham, under Lynn. Acres, 1,278. Read property, 21,321. Pop., 26. Houses, 5. Barwick House is the seat of D. Hoste, Esq. The living is a vicational control of the control arouse is the seat of 10. Hoste, Esq. The fiving is a vicarage, united with the rectory of Stanhoe, in the diocese of Norwich. The church is in ruins.

BARWICK-HAUL, a hamlet in Roothing Abbots parish, Essex; $3 miles SW of Dunmow. Pop. 97.

BARWICK-IN-ELMETT, a township in Talcaster district and a parish in Talcaster.

district, and a parish in Tadcaster and Hunslet districts, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies 21 miles N of Carforth r. station, and 8 ENE of Leeds; includes the Carforth r. station, and 8 ENE of Leeus, monanth hamlets of Barrowby, Crosgates, Barnbow, Hiddle, Mornald Stanks and part of Winwick, Potterton, Scholes, and Stanks, and part of Winmoor; and has a post-office under South Milford. Acres, 6,400. Real property, £9,721. Pop., 1,804. Houses, 386. The parish includes also the township of Roundhay. Acres, 8,030. Real property, £15,432. Pop., 2,374. Houses, 496. The property is not much divided. Traces of a castle, said to have been the residence of Edwin, King of Northumbria, occur on Hall-Tower-hill. A monastery, founded about 730, stood somewhere in the parish. The living is a rectory in the dioces of Ripon. Value, £770. Patron, the Duchy of Lancaster. The church is road: and there are charities diocese of Ripon. Value, £770.* Patron, the Duchy of Lancaster. The church is good; and there are charities £32. The chapelries of Manston and Roundhay are separate benefices. The work-house of Tadcaster district is in Barwick township.

BARWISE, a hamlet in Hoffe and Row township, Appleby-St. Lawrence parish, Westmoreland.

BASCHURCH, a township, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Ellesmere, Salop. The township lies on the river Perry, near the Ellesmere canal and the Shrewsbury and Chester railway, 8 miles NW of Shrewsbury; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Shrewsbury. The parish includes also the townships of Little Ness, Birch, Boreatton or Bratton, Eyton, Fennemere, Merehouse, or Murhouse, Newtown, Prescott, Stanwardine in the Wood, Stanwardine in the Fields, Walford, Weston - Lullingfield, and Yeaton. 8,273. Real property, £15,701. Pop., 1,559. Houses, 320. The property is subdivided. There are traces of a Roman camp. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Roman camp. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £203. Tatron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is ancient. The vicarage of Weston-Lullingfield is a separate benefice. Harris's school has an endowed income of £321, and other charities have 217.—The sub-district comprises four parishes, Azres, 21,293. Pop., 3,435. Houses, 712.

BASCOTE, a hamlet in Long Itchingdon parish, Warwick; 2 miles NNW of Southam.

BASFORD, a township in Wybunbnry parish, Cheshire; on the Northwestern railway, 21 miles SSE of Crewe. It has a station on the railway. Acres, 642.

BASFORD, a village, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Notts. The village is called also Old Basford. It stands on the river Leen, adjacent to the Nottingham and Mansfield railway, in a luxuriant valley, 3 miles NNW of Nottingham; and has a station of the name of Basford, on the railway, and a post-office, of the same of Old Basford, under Nottingham. It has under gone great recent increase; is a chief seat of the cotton hose and lace manufactures; has cotton and corn mills. bleaching and dyeing works; is the seat of the court of the honour of Peverel; and contains a jail for the honour, with attached bowling-green, which is much frequented by persons from Nottingham. The parish includes also by persons from Nottingham. The parish includes also New Basford, Bagthorpe, Carrington, Sherwood, Mapperley, Two-mile House, Bagnall, White-Moor-Place, and part of the hamlet of Daybrook. Acres, 2,720. Real property, 22,7795. Pop. 12,185. Houses, 2,489. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Cinderhill, in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £260. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. of Lincoln. Value, 2200. Farron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is early English; was renovated in 1860, at a cost of about £3,000; and has a new lofty tower in three storeys. The p. curacies of New Basford, Cinder-hill, and Carrington are separate benefices. There are fourteen dissenting chapels, and a free school.

The sub-district comprises the parishes of Basford, Beeston, and Wollaton. Acres, 6,500. Pop., 15,935. Houses, 3,303.—The district comprehends also the sub-Beston, and Wollaton. Acres, 6,500. Pop., 15,935. Houses, 3,303.—The district comprehends also the subdistrict of Bulwell, containing the parishes of Bulwell, Bilborough, Strelley, Nuthall, and Hucknall-Torkard; the sub-district of Arnold, containing the parishes of Bulwell, and Hucknall-Torkard; the sub-district of Arnold, containing the parishes of Arnold, Lambley, Linby, Papplewick, Calverton, and Woodborough, and the extra-parochial liberty of Newstead-Priory; the sub-district of Carlton, containing the parishes of Geralton, containing the parishes of Wilford, Containing the parishes of Wilford, Ruddington, Bradmore, Bunny, Gotham, Thrumpton, Barton-in-Fabis, and Cliffon-with-Glapton; the sub-district of Greasley, containing the parishes of Greasley, Eastwood, Kirkby-in-Ashfield, Selston, and Annesley, the extra-parochial tract of Felley, the extra-parochial tract of Felley, the extra-parochial tract of Codnor-Park, and part of the parish of Heanor,—the two last electorally in Derby; and the sub-district of Ilkeston, containing the parishes of Cossul, Trowell, and Ilkeston, and part of the parish of Heanor,—the two last electorally in Derby. Acres, 88,039. Poor-rates in 1866, 228,550. Pop. in 1861, 73,285. Houses, 15,276. Marriages in 1866, 566; births, 2,711,—of which 807 were at ages under 5 years, and 37 were at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 5,781; births, 27,183; deaths, 15,843. The places of worship in 1851 were 43 of the Church of England, with 14,585 sittings; 4 of Independents, with 1,371 s.; 23 of Baptists, with 5,358 s.; 1 of Quakers. with 300 s.; 1 of worship in 1851 were 43 of the Church of England, with 14,585 sittings; 4 of Independents, with 1,371 s.; 23 of Baptists, with 5,353 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 300 s.; 0 of Unitarians, with 100 s.; 2 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 6,946 s.; 7 of New Connexion Methodists, with 2,023 s.; 19 of Primitive Methodists, with 2,816 s.; 3 of the Wesleyan Americkies with 250 s. 5 of Wesleyan Americkies with 250 s. the Wesleyan Association, with 782 a.; 5 of Wesleyan the resievan Association, with 782 a.; 5 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 1,095 a.; 6 of Latter Day Saints, with 562 a.; and two undefined, with 84 s. The schools were 48 public day schools, with 3,305 scholars; 115 private day schools, with 3,330 s.; 117 Sunday schools, with 3,449 s.; and 14 evening schools for adults, with 342 s. The workhouse is in Basford.

BASFORD, a township in Cheddleton parish, Stafford; 3 miles S of Leek. Real property, £3, 123. Pop., 423. Houses, 76. Charles Cotton, the comic poet, hern in 1630, was a native.

BASFORD (New), a village and a chapelry in Basford parish, Notts. The village stands 1 mile SSE of Old Basford, and 2 NNW of Nottingham; and has a post-office under Nottingham. The chapelry was constituted in 1347. Peter incompare 64 500. Pen 3 941 stituted in 1347. Rated property, £4,590. Pop., Houses, 699. The property is much subdivided. living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lincoln. Pop., 3,241. Value, £130. Patron, alternately the Crown and the Bishop. The church was built in 1860; is of brick, with stone dressings; and has windows of stained glass.

BASFORD (OLD). See BASFORD, Notts.
BASHALL-EAVES, or BECKSHALCH, a township in Mitton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the western verge of the county, 21 miles WNW of Clitheroe. It includes the hamlet of Pagefold; and was a seat of the Talbots and the Lacys. Pop., 259.

BASILDEN, or BASILDON, a parish in Bradfield district, Berks; on the river Thames, and on the Great Western railway, 1 mile SSE of Goring station, and 71 Western railway, 1 mile SSE 10 Gotting Santon, and WNW of Reading. Post-town, Pangbourns, under Reading. Acres, 3,083. Real property, £4,875. Pop., 712. Houses, 148. The property is divided among a few. Basilden Park was the seat of the Viscounts Fane from 1718 till 1766; passed then to the baronet family of Sykes; and was recently purchased by T. Morrison, Esq. The house contains a fine collection of works of Esq. The house contains a line contents a short distance art. The railway crosses the Thames a short distance art. above the church. The parish had two clurches at Domesday, and afterwards the right of a weekly market. Domesday, and alterwards the right of a weekly market. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Oxford. Value, £200. Patron, the Rev. W. Sykes. The church is accient. There is a dissenting chapel. BASILDON, a chaplery in Laindon parish, Essex; 2 miles NNW of Pitsea r. station, and 4 SE of Billericay.

Post-town, Laindon, under Billericay. Acres, 1,627.
Real property, £1,927. Pop., 180. Houses, 25. The living is annexed to Laindon rectory in the diocese of Rochester.

ochester.

BASING, or Old Basing, a village and a parish in assingstoke district. Hants. The village stands adja-Basingstoke district, Hants. Basingstoke district, Hants. The village stands adjacent to the Basingstoke canal and the Southwestern railway, 2 miles NW of Basingstoke; and has a post-office, of the name of Old Basing, under Basingstoke. The parish includes also Water-End. Acres, 5,104. Real property, £5,974. Pop., 1,193. Houses, 232. The property is all in one estate. Ethelred I. was defeated here, in 871, by the Danes. A very early castle, adjacent to the village, was held by the family of De Port from the Conquest till the time of Richard II.; passed then by marriage. to the Poynings: and went, in the then, by marriage, to the Poynings; and went, in the time of Henry VI., to the Paulets. Sir William Paulet, created Marquis of Winchester by Edward VI., rebuilt created Alarquis of Winchester by Edward VI., robuilt the castle in a style of great magnificence; and gave sumptuous entertainment in it to Queen Elizabeth. John, the fifth marquis, garrisoned it in defence of Charles I.; maintained it against a siege, by successive parliamentary leaders, during two years; and was eventually and the protection. parnamentary teaters, autring two years; and was eventu-ally beaten by storm, under Cromwell's own leading, with results which made the place a ruin, and gave the victors about £200,000 worth of plunder. Only an ivyclad gateway, and a few walls and mounds of the castle now remain; and even a subsequent but smaller mansion built near it, has passed away. Many balls, skeletons, and other relics of the conflict have been found; and a neighbouring field bears the name of Slaughter-close. Many ancient entrenchments are in the vicinity; and Many ancient entrenchments are in the vicinity; and one, called Winklesbury Circle, about 1,100 feet in diameter, with a flint-formed vallum, was used by Cromwell as a surveying post preparatory to his attack. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Up-Nately, in the diocese of Winchester. Value, nor reported. Parameter of the property of the propert in the diocese of winchester. Value, not reported. Fatton, Magdalene College, Oxford. The church is late permedicular; was repaired, in 1519, by Sir John Paulet; and contains tombs of the Paulets, including the six and contains tombs of the Paulets, including the six Dukes of Bolton, descendants of the fifth Marquis of Charities, £51. Winchester.

BASINGFIELD. See Bassingfield. BASINGSTOKE, a town, a parish, a sub-district, a district, a hundred, and a division in Hants. The town stands on a headstream of the river Loddon, and on the Southwestern railway, 151 miles SSW of Reading, and 451 SW by W of London. A canal goes from it to the Thames; five roads from the S and the W meet at it to proceed to London; and two branch railways go off from its vicinity, the one to Reading, the other to Andover and Salisbury. The town dates from the Saxon times; and was a royal possession and a market-town at Domesday. It consists of several streets; and contains neat well-built houses. The town-hall is a handsome edifice of 1832, and cost £9,695. The corn exchange was built 1865 at a cost of unwards of £3,000. The parish in 1865, at a cost of upwards of £3,000.

church is late perpendicular, large, and handsome; consists of nave, chancel, and side aisles, with a square tower; was built chiefly in the reign of Henry VIII., by Bishop Fox; was recently repaired and new-seated; and contains a parochial library and the monument of Thomas Warton. An hospital for aged priests, founded in 1261 by Walter de Merton, adjoined the churchyard, but has disappeared. A picturesque ruin, known as the Holy Ghost chapel, founded, in the time of Henry VIII., by onto chapet, founded, in the time of nearly villt, by the first Lord Sandys, stands adjacent to the railway station; shows characters of very late perpendicular, with debased and Italian details; and is believed to occupy the site of some previous religious edifice or edifices, dating back to the times of the Saxons. A buryingground around it, now disposed as a new cemetery, contains two funeral chapels in decorated Gothic, each with tower and spire about 70 feet high, founded in 1857; and contains also some interesting ancient monuments. contains also some interesting ancient monuments. In town has four dissenting chapte, a grammar-school with endowed income of £153, a blue-coat school with £170, other charities with £607, a mechanics' institute, a head post-office, $\pm$ 3 banking-offices, and 5 chief inns; and it is a seat of petry sessions and a polling-place. A weekly market is held on Wednesday; and fairs, on Easter-Trasslay, Whit. Wednesday, the last Thursday of May, 23 Sept., 11 Oct., and the last Thursday of Nov. The manufacture of druggets and shalloons was once extensive; but malting and the corn trade are now the chief employments. The town sent members to parliament in the times of Fdward I. and II.; was chartered by James I. and Charles I.; and is now governed by a mayor, four aldermen, and twelve councillors. John de Basingstoke, a celebrated Greek scholar of the 13th century; Sir James Lancaster, the eminent navigator in the time of Elizabeth; Richard White, the enthor of a History of Britain, in the time of James I.; end the brothers Joseph and Thomas Warton, the former head-master of Winchester, the latter the well-known poet, were natives of Basingstoke; and Thomas Warton, the father of these Wartons, and Sir George Wheeler the Eastern traveller, were vicars .- The parish is politically conterminate with the town; and comprises 4,036 acres. Real property, £17,663. Pop., 4,654. Houses, 945. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester; and, till 1861, was united with Basing and Up-Nately. Value, £572. Parron, Magdalene College, Oxford.

The sub-district comprises the parishes of Basingstoke, Westing, Eastrop, Basing, Tunworth, Weston-Patrick, Upton-Gray, Maplederwell, Up-Nately, Nately-Soures, and Newnham, and the extra-parochial tracts of Andwell and Weston-Corbett. Acres, 19,884. Pop., 7,784. Honses, 1,577. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Bramley, containing the parishes of Bramley, Sherborne-St. John, Sherfield-upon-Loddon, Hartley-Westpall, Stratfield-Turgis, Silchester, Pamber, West Shertorne, and Stratfieldsaye, - the last partly in Berks; and the sub-district of Dummer, containing the parishes and the sub-district of Dummer, containing the parisines of Dummer, Nutley, Woodmancott, Popham, North Waltham, Church-Oakley, Steventon, Deane, Wootton-St. Lawrence, Cliddesden, Farleigh-Wallop, Ellisfield, Winslade-with-Kempshot, Herriard, Bradley, and Preston-Candover. Acres, 73,852. Poor-rates in 1866, 120, Pop. in 1861, 17,429. Houses, 3,546. Marriages in 1866, 120; births, 530,—of which 32 were illegitimate; deaths, 298,-of which 89 were at ages under 5 vears, and 15 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,001; births, 5,139; deaths, 3,284. The places of worship in 1851 were 37 of the Church of England, with 6,943 sittings; 8 of Independents, with 1,000 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 100 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 153 s.; 8 of Primitive Methodists, with 927 s.; and 1 of Lady Huntingdon's Connexion, with 325 s. The schools were 27 public day schools, with 1,983 scholars; 10 private day schools, with 373 s.; 26 Sunday schools, with 1.513 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 26 s. The workhouse is in Basing; was creeted at a cost of 27,500; and has capacity for 400 inmates.—The lumdred comprises seventeen parishes; and is cut into the two parts of Lower Half and Upper Half. Acres, 18,964 and 14,108. Pop. in 185t, 4,211 and 2,969. Houses, $10 and 551. - The division comprehends the hundreds of Basingstoke, Lower and Upper, Bermondspit, Lower and Upper, and Holdshott, Lower. Acres, 70,906.

Pop. in 1851, 13,560; in 1861, 12,790. Houses, 2,616.
BASINGSTOKE CANAL, a canal from Basingstoke

in Hants to the Wey and Arandel canal in Surrey. It in mains to the wey and Artimet canal in Surry. It goes eastward, past Ohlam and across the river Blackwater, to the border of Surrey in the vicinity of Ash; then goes 3\[\] miles northward to the Chobharn hills, near Fariborough; then proceeds east-north-eastward, in the route of the Southwestern railway, to the Wey and Arundel canal about 3 miles from the latter's junction with the Thames. Its length is 37 miles; and it makes a total descent of 195 feet, with 29 locks, and passes, near Odiham, through a tunnel of 3 of a mile. It was completed in 1796, at a cost of £180,000; and it is navigable by vessels of nearly 50 tons burden.

BASINGTHORPE. See BASSINGTHORPE.

BASINGWERK, a ruined Cistertian abbey in Holy-well parish, Flint; on the coast of the estuary of the Dee, I mile NE of Holywell. The abbey was founded in 1131, by Ranulph, Earl of Chester; and was a beautiful structure in early English. The ruin comprises only the south transept of the church, with parts of the out buildings; and it stands on a gentle eminence, with very pleasing view; but is marred both by a neglected state of its own interior, and by the neighbourhood of smelting-works and mean houses. A castle stood near it, on the margin of Watt's dyke, wielding command over a wide country; but has all disappeared excepting mere vestiges. The abbey is called also Dinas-Basing and Greenfield.

BASLOW, a village, a township, and a chapelry in Bakewell parish, Derby. The village stands on the river Derwent, in the northern vicinity of Chatsworth, 33 miles NE of Bakewell r. station. It has a post-office; undor Chesterfield, and a good inn; and it forms a pleasant centre to tourists for visiting Chatsworth and some of the most picturesque parts of the Peak district. A neat small Italian villa is at its east end.—The township is united to Bubnell, under the name of Baslow-withis united to Burdent, nuter the name of Basiow-with-Bobbell. Acres, 2,360. Real property, £4,004. Pop., 903. Houses, 191.—The chapelry includes the township, but is more extensive. Rated property, £6,129. Pop., 2,400. The property is divided among a few. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £115.* Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. The church stands at the village; and is neat and commodi-The churchyard contains some interesting slabs and stone coffins. There are a Unitarian chapel, two public schools, and charities £10.

BASON-BRIDGE, a station on the Glastonbury branch of the Bristol and Exeter railway; the first of two between Highbridge and Glastenbury, in the valley of the Brue, Somersetshire.

BASSALEG, or BASSALLEO, a village and a parish in Newport district, Monmouth. The village stands in the rale of the Ebbw, at the junction of the Western Valleys and the Sirhowy railways, adjacent to Tredegar Park, 3 miles WNW of Newport; and it has a station at the railway junction, and a post-office under Newport. A priory of Black monks, a cell to the abbey of Glastonbury, was founded here about 1110, by Robert de Hava: bury, was founded here about 1110, by Robert de Haya; but went into decay before the general dissolution. The parish includes also the hamlets of Duffryn, Craig, and Rogerstone. Acres, 6,955. Real property, £10,811. Pop., 2,169. Houses, 433. The property is all in one estate. Traces of a Saxon camp, called Craeg.y-Saesson, occur on the brow of a hill about a mile from the village; and traces of a British one, called Pen-y-Park-Newydd, occur about a mile further. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £318. Patron, the Bishop The church is an ancient structure, with an embattled tower. There are chapels for Independents and Baptists, and charities #23.

BASSENTHWAITE, a village, a parish, and a lake Cockermouth district. Cumberland. The village in Cockermouth district, Cumberland. The village stands on the E side of the lake, opposite Bassenthwaite L. r. station, 5 miles NNW of Keswick; and has a post-office under Windermere. The parish is divided. 194 into two constablewicks, High-side around the village and Low-side or Hawes. Acres, 6,930. Real property, £1,568. Pop., 570. Houses, 120. The property is much subdivided. The surface is highly diversified and picturesque, ranging from the summit of Skiddaw to the meadows on the lake. Lead ore has been found: and a mine of antimony worked. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £150. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Carlisle. The church is old but good; and there are charities £14 and some land. -The lake is in the basin of the Derwent river; commences 3 miles NW of the foot of Derwent water; extends 41 miles north-northwestward, with a mean breadth of a of a mile; and has a surface elevation of 210 feet above the level of the sea. Its bosom is not gemmed with any island; its head is flat and open, but looks away to the mountains round Derwent water; its W side is flanked by a range of wooded fells, mostly rising from the water's edge; its foot is screened by vale and slope, going up at 3 miles distance to Binsey hill; and its E side is flanked by the grand skirts and shoulders of Skiddaw, crowned, at 21 miles' distance, by that mountain's summit. Pike and perch abound in the lake; and salmon pass through it to BASSETLAW, a wapentake in the N of Notts. It includes East Retford borough and fifty-four parishes; Includes Last Rettort borough and htty-four parishes; and is cut into the divisions of Hatfield, North Clay, and South Clay. Acres of Hatfield div., 116,806, Pop. in 1851, 24,621; in 1861, 26,03. Houses, 5,658. Acres of North Clay div., 45,714. Pop. in 1851, 10,327; in 1861, 10,133. Houses, 2,290. Acres of South Clay div., 40,314. Pop. in 1851, 8,806; in 1861, 8,072.

div., 40,314. Houses, 1,766.

BASSETT HOUSE AND THE KNOLL, an extra-parochial tract in Blaby district, Leicestershire; 7½ miles rochal tract in billoy district, Lettersteining, 14 mins SE of Leicester. Pop., 14. Houses, 3. BASSETT-STREET, a hamlet in South Stoneham parish, Hants; 3 miles N of Southampton. BASSETT-WOOTTON. See Wootton-Bassett. BASSILDON. See BASILDON.

BASSINGBOURNE, a village and a parish in the district of Royston and county of Cambridge. The village stands 3 miles NNW of Royston r. station, has a postoffice under Royston, and was formerly a market town. The parish includes also the hamlet of Kneesworth. Ine parish includes also the hamlet of Kneesworth. Acres, 4,223. Real property, £10,396. Pop., 2,213. Houses, 415. The property is much subdivided. The living is a yiearage in the diocese of Ely. Valne, £224.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Westminster. The church is of the 14th century. There are an Independent chapel, a British school, and charities £21.

BASSINGFIELD, a hamlet in the parishes of Holme-Pierreport and West Bridgford, Notts; 4 miles SE of Nottingham. It has a post-office under Nottingham.

Pop., 53.
BASSINGHAM, a parish and a sub-district, in the district of Newark and county of Lincoln. The parish lies on the river Witham, 3 miles S of Swinderby r. station, and 81 NE of Newark; and has a post-office; under tiot, and 8; Mc of Newark; and nas a post-once; under Newark. Acres, 1,940. Real property, £6,335. Pop., 928. Houses, 191. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £483.* Patron, Corpus Christi College, Oxford. The church was restored in 1861. There are two Methodist chapels, a national school, and charities £29.—The subdistrict contains nine parishes. Pop., 3,852. BASSINGHAM, Norfolk. See Bessingham.

BASSINGTHORPE, a parish in Grantham district, Lincoln; on the Great Northern railway; 2 miles SSE of Great Ponton station, and 3 NNW of Corby. It includes the hamlet of Westby; and its post-town is Corby, under Grantham. Aeres, 1,790. Real property, £2,017. Fop. 154. Houses, 31. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £230. Patron, the Earl of Dysart.

BASSINGTON, a township in Eglingham parish, Northumberland; on the river Alne, 3 miles NW of Alnwick Acres, 234. Pop., 9. Houses, 2. BASTEAD, a hamlet in Wrotham parish, Kent: 11

miles WNW of Maidstone

BASTON, a parish in Bourn district, Lincoin; 54 miles NN W of Market-Deeping, and 3 E by S of Brace-borough r. station. It has a post-office under Market-Deeping, Acres, 3,520. Real property, £5,837. Pop., 787. Houses, 183. The property is much aubdivided. The living is a vicamage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, 2331. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is tolerable; and there are charities £14.

BASTWICK, a hamlet in Repps parish, Norfolk; on the North river, 5½ miles NE of Acle. It was formerly a parish, and has a ruined church; and it occasions Repps to be called Repps-with-Bastwick.

BASWICK, or BERKSWICK, a township in Stafford district, and a parish in Stafford and Penkridge districts, Staffordshire. The township is united to two other tracts, under the name of Baswick, Milford, and Walton; it lies on the Worcester canal, near the Northwestern and the Trent Valley railways, 2 miles SE of Stafford; and it contains the post-office of Walton under Stafford. Real property, £4,015. Pop., 660. Houses, 128. The parish contains also the township of Brockton and that of Acton-Trussel and Bednell. Acres, 6,608. Real property, £10,497. Pop., 1,555. Houses, 302. The proof Acton-Trusset and Deunen.
perty, £10,497. Pop., 1,555. Honses, 302. The proThe living is a vicange. perty is unviace among a tew. The living is a vicariage, united with the p. curacy of St. Thomas, in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £233.* Patrons, J. N. Lane, £87., and the Rev. C. Inge. The church is good; and the p. curacy of Acton-Trussel-with-Bednell is a separate benefice. Charities, £15.

BATCHAORE, a hamlet in Adbaston parish, Stafford; 54 miles SW of Eccleshall.

BATCHCOTT, a township in Richard's Castle parish, Salop; on the verge of the county, 41 miles SSW of Ludlow BATCHPOOL, a township in Worfield parish, Salop; 2 miles NE of Bridgnorth.

BATCHWORTH, or BATCHWORTH-HEATH, a hamlet in Rickmansworth parish, Herts; on the verge of the county, 2 miles SSE of Rickmansworth. It has a post-office, of the name of Batchworth-Heath, under Watford.

BATCOMPE, a parish in Dorchester district, Dorset; 2 miles ESE if Evershot r. station, and 31 NW of Corne-2 hines ESB A Eversitor r. station, and 34 NV of Cerno-Abbas. It includes Newland tytling; and its post-town is Cerne under Dorchester. Acres, 1,109. Rated pro-perty, £1,035. Pop., 184. Houses, 37. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory, au-nexed to the rectory of Frome-Vauchurch, in the diocesof Salisbury. The church is old and small.

BATCOMBE, a parish in Shepton-Mallet district,
Somerset; near the East Somerset railway, 3 miles Not Somerset; near the East Somerset railway, 3 miles N of Bruton. It has a post-office under Bath. Acres, 3,229. Real property, £4,006. Pop., 713. Houses, 172. The living is a rectory, united with the vicarage of Upton-Noble, in the ducese of Bath and Wells. Value, not reported. Parron, the Rev. J. Brown. The church was restored in 1844. There are two Wesleyan chapels. BATCOMBE, a tything in Nyland parish, Somerset; 5½ miles NW of Wells. Pop. 11.

RATES ISLAND. a small island in Fembra acrist.

BATE'S ISLAND, a small island in Earsdon parish, Northumberland; nearly opposite Hartley, 41 miles SSE of Blyth. Here are remains of a chapel and a her-Here also is a small harbour, made by Lord Delaval, for sheltering fishermen in storms.

BATH, a city and a district in Somerset. The city BAIL, a city and a district in Somerset. The city stands on the river Aron, the Fossé way, Akeman-struct, and the Great Western railway, 113 miles ESE of Bristol, and 1063 W by So Loudon. Its site is partly the bottom of a valley, partly the alopes and shoulders of encircling hills. The Aron is navigable to it from the sea; the Kennet and Aron canal goes from it into the way, in its main line, its branches, and its connexions, gives it communication with all parts of the kingdom.

History .- The city owes its origin and its name to famous thermal springs. An old tradition says that the springs were discovered, and the city founded, by Bladud, son of Lud, king of Britain, about the year 863 n. c.; and a statue of Bladud, with an inscription embodying the tradition, was erected in the Pump-room so late as 1629. But the first appreciators of the springs, and the real founders of the city, were most probably the Romans. These made the place one of their most important stations; called it Aque Solis or Calida; surrounded it with walls, nearly on the lines of the streets now called Lower Boroughwalls, Westgate Buildings, Sawclose, and Upper Boroughwalls; built at it a temple to the goddess Minerva, and a manufactory of weapons for the legions; and constructed, around its springs, a magnificent suite of baths, with sudatories, tesselated floors, and ornamental columns. The substruction of the station-walls have frequently been haid open; fragments of the temple were fourl, during excavations, in 1862; and the remains of the baths, in remarkable preservation, at a depth of from 11 to 20 feet below the present surface, were discovered, at the razing of the old abbey-house, in 1755. The Romans delicated the springs to Apollo Medicus, and erected a statue in honour of him, early in the third century; and they probably maintained the baths in high firms till the end of their times.

After their expulsion, the place remained several years are their explained, the place remained several years in comparative tranquillity; but during the protracted wars between the Scathern Britons and the Saxons, it was the scene of many obstinate contests. Prince Arthur defended it for a time against successive armies; but at length was overcome in its neighbourhood, and com-pelled to abandon it. The Saxons made it their own: and called it Hat Pathum or "hot haths," and Ace-mannes-cester. or "the sick man's city." Christianity was introduced in the sixth century; and led to the erection of religious houses by the Saxon kings. A nunnery, on the site of the temple of Minerva, was founded, in 676, by King Osric; destroyed by the Danes; rebuilt, about 775, by King Offa; and changed into a Benedictine above, in 573, by King Edgar. That monarch was crowsed, by Archbishep Dunstan, in the church; and a number of the kings, from Athelstane downward, occainclude of the kings, from Arteristane downward, occa-fectally resided here, and struck coins. The partisans of Robert, Duke of Normaudy, fighting against William Etfus, assumed the city, and burned it to the ground. John de Villula, Bishop of Wells, bought it from Henry I., re-treated the abbey church, and made it the seat of the disease. The treather in the time of Vine Scales. his diocese. The troubles in the time of King Stephen broke heavily upon it; and the whole city is said to have then been destroyed by fire. It passed back, in 1193, to the Crown; and was then made a free borough, and to the Trown; and was then made a free borough, and began to rise in wealth and importance. The abbey be-came very rich; and the monks did good service by in-troducing woollen manufacture. Leland, who visited Lith in the reign of Henry VIII, says that it then had four gates, and that the walls which surrounded it contained many Roman antiquities, which he supposed to have been collected and set up by Norman architects. Queen Elizabeth visited it in 1591, and granted then a charter to the burgesses, with powers for the improvement of the town. In the early stages of the dissensions under Charles I., the city was fortified for the King, at an expense of £7,000; but on the retreat of the Marquis of Hertfor linto Wales, it was seized by the parliamentary forces under Sir William Waller. The royalist army returned to the adjacent Lansdown hill, erected breastworks there, and drew the parliamentarians into a battle, which ended in their defeat. The city was now recovered by the royalists; and it remained in their possession two years, till June, 1645; but was then, through treachery, surrendered to the parliamentarians. Charles II., under advice of his physician, and attended by a numerous court, visited the place in 1663; and is thought to have then given rise, by his example, to the drinking of the ways. In the reign of James II., the inhabitants closed their gates against the Duke of Monmouth, putting a stop to his career, and obliging him to fall back on his fate at S of zemoor.

The city as yet was comparatively insignificant; its bothings covered little more than fifty acres of ground; and the accommodations and attractions for visitors to its medicinal waters were few and mean. Some organization was given to it, as a watering-place, in consequence of two visits of Queen Anne, before and after her accession to the throne; and a great and permanent one was effected by Beau Nash, the "King of Bath," who appeared here about 1703, and died in 1761. The first pump-room was erected in 1706, and an officer appointed in charge of it. Amusements were multiplied and regulated; the roads leading to the city were repaired; the streets were better paved, cleansed, and lighted; pleasure-grounds and gardens were laid out; and spacious streets and places, with large, ornate houses, were constructed. An architect, of the name of Wood, even formed the grand design of rebuilding the entire city on a uniform plan; and, though defeated in this, was so encouraged by the proprietors of the soil, as to make magnificent additions. He first planned several streets; then in 1729 began Queen-square, in 1740 the Northparade, and in 1754 the Circus; and in 1769 his son designed the Royal-crescent. Bath now was the summer rendezrous of persons of all classes, and even the occasional resort of members of the Royal family. Fielding and Smollett linked it with the stories of their heroes; Lord Chesterfield was often at it; the great Chathan took to it for the healing of his gout; and Anstey, in his famous sarcastic "New Bath Guide," satirised its follies.

Structure.—Bath is strikingly beautiful. Its site, in the hollow and up the sides of a sort of amphitheatre, is grandly conducive to picturesque effect. Its building material, the white colite, so well known as Bath stone, and found in great abundance in neighbouring quarries, gives fine scope for architectural details. Its street arrangement, compact in the old parts at the centre, ontspread at the suburbs, and presenting a mixture of den and grove, crescent and terrace, up the ascents of the encircling hills, tier above tier, to a commanding height over the valley, is unique and charming. Good views of the city are obtained from Canden and Lansdown-cres-cents, which can be reached by an easy walk from the railway station; and the best is obtained from Beechcacliff, a steep eminence of upwards of 360 feet above the Avon. overhanging the railway, and accessible by a walk of ten minutes from the station, up Holloway, the Roman Fosse way, and taking the path to the left. Camden-crescent, on the clevated acclivity of Beacon-hill, is an elliptical range, of uniform design, with Corinthian columns and central portico. Lansdown-crescent, Somerset-place, Cavendish-erescent, Cavendish-place, and St. James's-square, are situated in the northern portion St. James s-square, are situated in the northern portion of the city, and form a splendid group. The Royal-crescent and Marlborough-buildings, a little lower, also command noble views; and the former is a fine semi-circle of thirty houses, all uniform, with Ionic columns and surmounting cornice. The Circus, still lower, has fronts, with Deric, Ionic, and Corinthian columns, double and in successive order, crowned by a decorated battlement. Queen square, further down, but still on high ground, measures 316 feet by 306, and has four façades, all uniform and ornamental, each after a different design. The North and South parades, east of the Abbey church, are elegant ranges of buildings, with terraces nearly 1,800 feet long and 52 feet broad. Pultency bridge, leading eastward from High-street to Bathwick, is a fine structure of three arches, crowned on each side with honses; and Pultency-street, on a line with it, built about 1770 by the Hen. William Pulteney, is in some respects the finest street in the city. Green Park-buildings and Norfolk-crescent, in the SW, also are elegant. Milsom-street contains the finest shops, and may be called the Regent street of Bath.

Public Buildings.—The Railway station stands on the right bank of the Avon, and is a handsome editice in the Tudor style. An elegant viaduct takes the railway diagonally across Pulteney-road; and a stone bridge and an ingeniously constructed skew one take it twice across the Avon, above and below the station. Nine other bridges, two of them stone, two ion, three suspension, and two pedestrian, bestride the Avon. The guild-hall, in High-street, was built in 1703-75; has a tetrastyle composite portice; includes court-rooms, public offices, and a spacious banqueting-room; and contains portraits of Frederick Prince of Wales and his consort George III.

and Queen Charlette, the Earl of Chatham and Earl Camden. The markets adjoin the guild-hall, were reconstructed in 1863, in a manner of much elegance and convenience, and have a central dome, 40 feet in diameter. The new gaol, at Twerton, was built in 1842, at a cost of about £23,000; and has capacity for 93 male and 24 female prisoners. Bookford's tower, on the summit 24 female prisoners. Ecckford's tower, on the summit of Lansdown hill, was built by William Beckford, the author of "Varhek," who died in 1844; is 130 feet high; and eemmands an extensive view. A welled garden was originally around it; and this is now a public cemetery, with Byzantine gateway. Lansdown tower, 2½ miles beyond Beckford's tower, is on the battlefield of Lansdown, and was erected in 1720 by Lord Lansdown, the poet, to the memory of his grandfather, Sir Bevil Granville, who fell in the battle. A handsome drinking fountain, contiguous to the Abbey and the markets, fac-ing the High-street, with sculptural representation of Rebecca at the Well, was constructed in 1861. Other buildings will be noticed in the subsequent paragraphs.

Baths. - The baths are situated near the centre of the city. The pump-room was rehuilt in 1797; bears on its front a Greek motto, signifying "Water the best of elements;" and is a handsome erection, 85 feet long, 48 feet broad, and 34 feet high, adorned with Corinthian portico and colonnade, and lighted by a double range of windows. At the west end is an orchestra gallery; and at the east end, a handsome marble statue of Beau Nash. The King's or principal bath adjoins the pump-room; measures 66 feet by 41; is open to the sky, except a colonnade on one side; contains about 364 tons of water; and is filled daily, to a height of 4 feet 7 inches, with water rising directly from the spring in its centre, and hearing in temperature throughout the bath from 114° to 100.° The Queen's bath is attached to the King's; derives its waters from it, slightly lessened in temperature; and measures 25 feet by 25. Private baths, in Stall-street, draw supplies from a cooling reservoir connected with the King's bath; and coning reservoir connected with the Kings oath; and contain excellent arrangements for baths of various kinds, and various temperatures. The Cross bath, so called from an ancient cross which stood in it till 1745, is situated about 150 yards from the King's bath, yields 12 gallons per minute at 109°, and is used as a swimming bath by the less affluent classes. The tepid swimming bath by the less affluent classes. Ine tepid swimming bath is in a neat building, from a design by Desimus Burton; measures 65 feet by 25; and is supplied from the King's at a temperature of 88. The hot bath, 40 yards SW of the King's, was built at the time of the finest extensions of the city; is an elegant structure; nnest extensions of the city; is an eigenst structure, and has a spring of its own, giving constant supply at about 117°. The royal private baths adjoin the hot bath; are remarkable for comfort and convenience; and comprise seven large baths, lined with steps for descending into them. The Kingston baths, in Church-street, occur py the site of the Roman baths; have sudatories and various other conveniences; and are the property of Earl Manvers. All the other baths belong to the borough, and are under the management of the town-council. The waters contain carbonic acid, sulphate and muriate of soda, sulphate and carbonate of lime, and minute quantities of silica and exide of iron. They act as a stimulant; and are regarded as beneficial against gont, rhenmatism, paralysis, biliary obstructions, and cutaneous disorders; but may be injurious where there are inflammatory symptoms.

Ecclesiation Affairs.—The benefices within the city are the rectory of St. Peter and St. Paul, or the Abbey; the r. of St. Michael; the r. of Walect, with Margaret C., the c. of St. Thomas, and the c. of St. Stephen; the c., the c. of St. Thomas, and the c. of St. Stephaed; r. of St. St., with the c. of Avon Street chapel; the r. of Bathwick, with the c. of Wooley; the v. of Wilcombe, with the c. of St. Matthew's; the v. of Lyncombe; the v. of St. James, with the c. of Cornstreet chapel; the c. of St. John Baptist; the c. of St. James, which was the c. of St. John Baptist; the c. of St. John Baptist John Bapti John's chapel; the c. of St. Mary Magdalene; the c. of Octagon chapel; the c. of the Penitentiary chapel; the c. of Christ Church; the c. of Portland chapel; the c. of All Saints; the c. of Queen Square chapel; and the c. of Laura chapel. All are in the diocese of Bath and Wells. The value of St. Peter and St. Paul is £750: of Wells. The value of St. Feter and St. Faul is £750; of Walcot, £600; of St. Saviour's, £309; of Trinity, £350; of Bathwick, £209; of Widcombe, £300; of Lyncombe, £335; of St. James, £155; of the Penitentiary chapol, £200; and of the rest, not reported. The patrons of St. Feter and St. Paul, of St. Michael, of Wildcombe, of Lyncombe, and of St. James, are Simeon's Trustees; of Walcombe, and are Simeon's cot, also now Simeon's Trustees; of St. Saviour's, the Rev. Dr. Stamer; of Trinity, the Rev. S. H. Widdrington; of Bathwick, Lord W. Powlett; of St. John's chapel, Trustees; of St. Mary Magdalene, the Lord Chancellor; of Octees; of St. Mary Suggiatence, the Lord Chancemor; of Oc-tagon chapel, the Proprietor; of the Penitentiary chapel, the Committee; of Portland chapel, the Rev. T. L. Hill; and of Christ church and All Saints, the Rector of Walcot.

and of Christ church and All Saints, the Rector of Walcot. The places of worship within the borough, in 1351, were 23 of the Church of England, with 20,575 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 1,430 s.; 5 of Farticular Baptists, with 2,301 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 300 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 300 s.; 1 of Meravians, with 300 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,436 s.; 1 of Frimitive Methodists, with 432 s.; 1 of the Wesleyan Association, with 180 s.; 2 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 891 s.; 3 of Lady Huntingdon's Connexion, with 1,070 s.; 1 of the New Church, with 300 s.; 1 of Brethren, with 40 s.; 3 of isolated congregations, with 1,20 s.; 1 of Later Day Saints, with 230 s.; 1 of the Catholic and Apostolic Church, with 230 s.; 3 of Roman Catholics, with 270 s.:

Saints, with 250 s.; 1 of the Catholic and Apostolic Church, with 250 s.; 3 of Roman Catholics, with 270 s.; and 1 of Jews, with 40 s.

The Abbey church was cleared and remodelled in 1834, at a cost of nearly £11,000; and again was much renovated in 1869. It is one of the latest specimens of perpendicular English. It was built on the site, and partly with the materials, of the previous pile; was commenced in 1809, and completed in 1616, art is in 1499, stepped in 1539, and completed in 1616; yet is of uniform character. It is cruciform; has a central tower, 162 feet high; and measures 210 feet in length, 72 in breadth, 78 in height, and 126 along the transepts. Its west front has a splendid window of seven lights, flanked by decorated turrets; its tower is well composed, and has octagonal, panelled, surmounting turrets at the corners; and its interior is remarkably light and elegant, in uniform perpendicular, but much crowded with tasteless monuments. Traces of either an old Norman apse or a Roman temple can be observed on the outside of the east end. The most interesting of the menuments are, in the nave, those of Bishop Montague, Beau Nash, the Hon. William Bingham, James Quin, Hermon Katen-camp, Col. Champion, John Malthus, and Sarah Field-ing; in the south transept, that of Lady Waller; in the north transept, those of Fletcher Partis, Sir R. H. Bickerton, Dr. Sibthorp, James Tamesz Grieve, and Mary Frampton; and in the chancel, those of Lady Miller, Mrs. Frazer, Col. Walsh, and the artist Hoare.—St. James's church is a neat structure, rebuilt in 1768; and has a new tower in the Italian style, surmounted by an elegant lanthern. St. Michael's church was preceded, on the same site, by three other churches; and is an elegant edifice, with a pierced spire 182 feet high. St. Saviour's church was built in 1832; is an elegant edifice, in the decorated English style, with graduated and pinnacled buttresses; and has a tower of three stages, embattled, and 120 feet high. Trinity church was built in 1822; is in florid Gonigh. Frinity church was built in 1822; is in horid Guithic; and has a beautiful memorial window to William West Jones, Esq., put up in 1859. St. Mark's or Lyncombe church was built in 1832; is in the perpendicular style; and has a tower. Widcombe church is the oldest in the city; has been partially restored; and has an ivy-clad tower. St. Matthew's church was built in 1847; is a large edifice, in the decorated English style; and has a fine tower 155 feet high. St. Mary Magdalene's chapel was renovated from a state of ruin about 1820; and preserves the character of ancient early English, with embattled tower. Christ church was built in 1798; is in the later English style; and has a handsome altarpiece. Queen Square chapel was built in 1735; and is externally Doric, internally Ionic. Margaret chapel, in Brock Street, is a commodious structure, in the early English style. All Saints' chapel, near Lansdown Crescent.

was erectel in 1794; and is a good specimen of the decorated style. St. Stephen's church was built in 1845; and is in the decorated style, with a tower of three stages. St. John Baptist's church was opened in 1864, and completed in 1868; and has a tower and spire 200 feet high. Several of the dissenting places of worship are very handsome structures. The Argyle Independent chaple is in the Roman style, and was enlarged in 1862; the Porcy Independent chaple is in the Byzantine style, and was built in 1854; the New King-street Wesleyan chapel, decorated Gothic, 1847; the Moravian chapel, Roman, 1345; the New Jerusalem church, Fondan-Ionic, 1844; the Sou'h Parade Roman Catholic church, florid Gothic, 1863. The Abbey new cemetery was opened in 1844; the Lansdown new cemetery, in 1848; the Bathwick, in 1856; the Lower Bristol road, and the upper Bristol road, in 1862; the Reman Catholic, in 1859.

Schools and Institutions.— The schools within the borough, in 1851, were 46 public day schools, with 5,564 scholars; 113 private day schools, with 1,959 s.; and 34 Sunday schools, with 5,095 s. The free grammar school was founded and endowed with lands by Edward VI.; and it numbers amongst its pupils Prynne, the two Lysoness, Sir S. Smith, and other distinguished men. The Blue coat school, for 60 beys and 60 girls, is a new edifice in Upper Borough Walls. The Walcot parcelial school is a building in the Italian style, erected in 1841 at a cost of £1,700. The Art school, at Hetling House, was established in 1854. The Lauedown Proprietory college, on the ascent of Lansdown hill, was changed in the Latter part of 1863, into a college for the daughters of military chicers; was built in 1858; is in the Gothic style of the geometric period; contains one school of 3,500 square feet, lighted by traceried windows, and another school of 2,100 feet; and has a lofty central tower. The Weslevan college, on the same ascent higher up, was erected in 1850; is in the Tudor style; and has a tower 20 feet high. Grosvenor college, in Grosvenor place, was established in 1837, for the sons of noblemen and gentlemen. The Bath Proprietory college occupies the building at the cnd of Pulteney-street, formerly the Sydney hotel. The Somersetshire college is in the Circus.

Theroval, literary, and scientific institution, a little east of the Abbey, occupies the site of the old assembly rooms retains their portice; and has a large library, and a rich russum, the last antiquarian and scientific, and free to the public. The Athensum, in Orange-grove, was originally a mechanics' institution. The Bath and West of England society for the encouragement of agriculture, the urts, manufactures, and counterce, was established in 1777. The Commercial and Literary institution occupies a part of the post-office building. The city contains a greater number of booksellers and circulating libraries, in proportion to its population, than any other town in the kingdom. It may be regarded also as the cradle of English geology; and it boasts a remarkable number of eminent literary men as natives or as residents. Among the natives have been Gildas the historian, John Hales the professor of Greek, B. Robins the mathematician, R. L. Eigeworth, Terry the comedian, and Hone the author of the "Every-day Book;" and among the residents have been physicians, chemists, naturalists, historians, divines, artists, and popular writers, too numerous to be named. The house, No. 13, New King street, was the residence of Herschel, at the time of his making the observations which led to the discovery of the planet Vranus.

Charities.—The Bath general hospital was founded in 1742, for the use of the diseased poor from all parts of the kingdom who may be hencified by the Bath waters; it comprises a suite of new baildings erected in 1861 at a cost of £18,000, together with an older adjoining suite; it contains accommodation for 85 male and 48 female partients; and it is supported partly by endowment and partly by subscription. The patients within it are accommodated with baths upon the premises supplied from the springs. The united hospital was founded in 1826 by the amalgamation of the city infirmary and the casualty hospital; is a spacious building with sickwards, lecture-room, anatomical museum, and library, near the Cross hath; and, besides receiving in-patients, gives relief to vast numbers of out-patients. St. John's hospital was founded in 1180 by Bishop Fitz-Jocelyne; escaped the dissolution under Henry YIII.; Jocelyne; escaped the dissolution under Henry YIII.; and commonalty of the city; rebuilt in 1728 by Wood; and has an income returned at £214, but valued at £8,828. St. Catherine's hospital, or the Bimberries, was founded in the reign of Edward VI. Bellott's hospital, for poor persons using the waters, has an income of £76; and St. Mary Magdalene's hospital for idiets, founded before 1332, has £118. Partis College, on Newbridge hill, for 30 reduced gentlewomen, was founded by Mrs. Partis, and completed in 1827; and is a capacious range of building, forming three sides of a quadraugle. There are also an eye infirmary, a penitentiary, lying-in hospitals, almshouses, and other benevolent institutions, either liberally supported or well endowed.

Anusements.—Bath was at one time the gayest place in England; and it continues to possess the means of splendid and numerous amusements. The assembly rooms, in the vicinity of the Circus, were erected in 1791, at a cest of £20,000; and contain a lofty vaulted octagou reception-room, and a ball-roem 105 feet long, 43 feet wide, and 42 feet high. The theatre, in Beaufort square, is an elegant edifice of 1863, on the site of a previous one, built in 1805 and burnt in 1862, reputed one of the best out of Loaden. The race-course, on Lansdown, is an oval 1½ mile round; and the grand stand on it was improved in 1859. The Victoria Park, immediately west of the Royal crescent and the Circus, is an ornate enclosure of about 22 acres; was thrown open to the public in 1830, at a cest of £4,000 raised by subscription; contains horticultural and botanic gardens; and has at the entrance an obelisk in honour of the Queen, and higher up a colossal bust of Jupiter by the self-taught artist Osborne. The Sydney gardens, at the end of Fultency-street, comprise 16 acres, were laid out in 1795, and used to be called the "Vauxhall" of Bath. The walks and drives around the city may be endlessly varied, and abound with interesting objects, charming close views, and brilliant prospects.

Trade.—Bath is a favourite residence of annuitants, and a fashionable resort of wealthy strangers. Hencarises its principal trade. Rents are moderate; coal is abundant; the markets are well supplied; all the wants of taste and society are readily ministered to; and in a full season, from Christmas till the end of May, about 14,000 persons, in addition to the permanent population, are present. A manufacture of coarse woollen cloth, called Bath-coating, was at one time carried on, but has long been extinct. Weekly markets are held on Wednesday and Saturday; and fairs on 14 Feb. and 10 July. The city has a tolegraph station, a head post-office; the banking-offices, a savings' bank, and nine chief hotels: and it publishes four weekly newspapers. The savings' bank, originally founded in 1815, new occupies a hand-some edifice in the Italian style, built in 1842. Paper and carpet making is carried on in the neighbourhood. The Borough.—The city formerly consisted of the parish of St. Peter and St. Paul, the parish of St. James, the parish of St. Peter and St. Paul, the parish of St. James, the parish of St. Michael, and the part of the parish of St. James, the parish of St. Michael, and the part of the parish of Walcot switch and all the rest of the parish of Valcot except Soper's farn. The extent from N to S is about 2 miles; from E to W, about 2 miles; in area, 3,534 acres. The city is divided into 7 wards; is governed by a mayor, 14 aldermen, and 42 councillors; has a corporate income of about £23,000; is a seat of courts, a polling-place, and the head-quarters of militia; and has sent two members to parliament since the time of Edward I. Direct taxation in 1857, £45,527. Electors in 1868, 3236. Pop. in 1841, 50,800; in 1861, 52,528. Honses, 8,017. Real property in the three parishes St. Peter and St. Paul, St. James, and St. Michael, in 1860, £60,856.

The District.—The district of Bath comprehends the sub-district of Abbey, containing the parishes of St. Peter and St. Paul, St. James, and St. Michael, all within the city; the sub-district of Lyncombe, conteninate with the parish of Lyncombe and Widcombe, also within the city; the sub-district of Walcot and Lansdown, embracing, in nearly equal portions, Walcot within the city; the sub-district of Bathwick, containing Bathwick parish within the city, and the parishes of Fathampton, Claverton, and Monckton-Combe; the sub-district of Eatheaston, containing the small part of Walcot without the city, and the parishes of Eatheaston, Bathford, St. Catherine, Swainswick, Langridgo, Wooley, Charletombe, and Weston; and the sub-district of Twerton, combany Wellow, Charterhouse-Hinton, South Stoke, and Englishcombe. Acres, 30,321. Poor-rates in 1866, 230,950. Pop. in 1861, 63,336. Houses, 11,223. Marriages in 1866, 654; births, 1,699,—of which 123 were illegitimate; deaths, 1,523,—of which 433 were at ages under 5 years, and 53 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 6,314; births, 17,614; deaths, 16,224. The places of worship in 1851 were 50 of the Church of England, with 26,332; stiftings; 5 of Independents, with 1,710 s.; 10 of Haptists, with 3,478 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 300 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 300 s.; 2 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,228 s.; 4 of Primitive Methodists, with 808 s.; 1 of the Catholic and Apostolic church, with 1,60 s.; 1 of Moravians, with 100 s.; 2 of the New Church, with 40 s.; 1 of Brethren, with 110 s.; 4 undefined, with 1,28 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 250 s.; 1 of the Catholic and Apostolic church, with 250 s.; 3 of Roman Catholics, with 270 s.; and 1 of year, with 2,68 s.; 59 Sunday schools, with 6,972 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 2 s. The workhouse is on Old Down in the parish of Lyncombe and Widcombe. BATH AND WELLS, a diocese comprehending all Somerset except Bedminster. Acres, 1,043,059. Pop., 422,527. Houses, 83,600. The see sprang from a college at Wells, founded in 704 by King Ina; was constituted there, in 905, by Edward the Elder; was removed to Bath, in the time of William Rufus, by John de Villula; was for some time designated of Bath only, and altogether administered there; but in the 13th centry, after long contention, was reconstituted of both Bath and Wells, with cathedral at each. It numbers among its bishops, Lord Chancellor Burnell, Lord Treasurer De la March, Viceroy Drokensford, Lord Keeper Beckington, Lord Chancellor Stillington, Cardinals De Castello and Wolsey, Henry VIII.'s confidant Clerk, President Bourne, Montague, Laud, Ken, and Baron Auckland. The bishop's palace is at Wells. The dignitaries and officials are a dean, four canons, three archdeacons, sub-dean, a chancellor of the diozes, achancellor of the church, a treasurer, forty-four prebendaries, and three minor canons. The income of the bishop is £5,000; of the dean, £1,000; of one of the canous, £30; of two of the archdeacons, £65 and £250; of the chancellor of the church, £31; of the treasurer, £65; and of six of the prebendaries, aggregately £86.

The diozese is divided into the archdeaconries of Wells,

The diocese is divided into the archdeaconries of Wells, Bath, and Taunton. The archdeaconry of Wells comprises seven deaneries; that of Bath comprises two deaneries, each in two districts; and that of Taunton comprises four deaneries. Many of the livings in the several deaneries have recently been raised in status,—chiefly p. curacies raised to vicarages; and they are named according to their present rank in the separate articles on them in the Gazetteer; but all will be named here as they ranked in 1861.

The denorey of Wells contains the rectories of Binegar, Dinder, and Litton; the vicarages of Wells, Wookey, Pilton, Westbury, and East Harptree; and the p. curacies of Coxley, Easton, Henton, Horrington, North Wootton, and Theale. The decapery of Axbridge contains the rectorics of Axbridge, Allerton, Badgworth, Biddisham, Blagdon, Bleadon, Breane, Christon, Hut-Biddisham, Blagdon, Bleadon, Breane, Christon, Hutton, Locking, Loxton, Lyupsham, Rowberrow, Rodney-Stoke, Shipham, Uphill, and Weston-super-Mare; the vicarages of Banwell, Berrow, East Brent, South Fernt, Burnham, Cheddar, Bishop-Compton, Congresbury, Kewstoke, Weare, Wedmore, Winscombe, and Worle; and the p. caracies of Churchill, Highbridge, Mark, Puxton, Blackford-Wedmore, Christ Church-Weston, Trinity-Weston, and Emmanuel-Weston. The deanery of Carey contains the rectories of Alforddeanery of Carey contains the rectories of Alford-with Hornhlotton, Ansford, Bahcary, North Ear-row, Batcombe, Blackford, Bratton, North Cadbury, South Cadbury, Charlton-Musgrove, Compton-Paunce-foot, Croscombe, Cueklington-with-Stoke-Trister, Dit-cheat, Holton, Keinton-Mansfield, Kilmington, King-weston, Lamyatt, East Lydford, West Lydford, Maper-ton, Milton-Clevedon, Penselwood, Pylle, Shepton-Mallett, Sparkford, Sutton-Montague, Weston-Bamfylde, Wheathill, and Varlington: the vicanges of Earlon-St Mallett, Sparkford, Satton-Montague, weston-Damiyue, Wheathill, and Yarlington; the vicarges of Barton-St. David, Castle-Carey, Doulting, Everorecch, and East Pennard; and the p. curacies of South Barrow, North Brewham, South Brewham, Bruton, Lovington, Pit-Brewham, South Érewham, Bruten, Lovington, Pitcomhe, Redlynch, Shepton-Montague, Stoke-Lanc, Wincanton, and Wyke-Chamflower. The deanery of Frome contains the rectories of Babington, Beckington-with-Standervick, Berkley, Cameley, Cameton, Combe-Hay, Dunkerton, Elm, Farley-Hungerford, Foxcot, Hemington-with-Hardington, Laverton, Mells, Meston-Bigot, Holcombe, Nunney, Orthardleigh, Radstock, Road-with-Wolverton, Stratton-on-the-Fosse, Tellisford, Wanstrow, Whatley, and Writhlington; the vicarages of Buckland-Dinham, Chewton-Mendip, Cloford, Frome, Wellow, Kilmersdon, Midsomer-Norton, and Norton-St. Philip; and the p. curacies of Asbwick, Chil-Wellow, Kilmersdon, Midsomer-Norton, and Norton-St. Philip; and the p. curacies of Asbwick, Chil-compton, Christ Church-Frome, Trinity Church-Frome, Hinton-Charterhouse, Coleford, Lullington, Vobster, Claudown, Downside, Paulton, Rodden, Chantry, Em-borough, Stone-Easton, Farrington, and Witham-Friary. The deanery of Ilchester contains the rectories of Ilchestre, Aller, Brimpton, Charlton-Mackrell, East Chinnock, Middle Chinnock, Chiselborough, High Ham, Hardington, Kingsdon, Lufton, Limington, Norton-sub-Hamden, Odcombe, Pendomer, North Perrot, Pitney, Podimore-Milton, Thorne-Coffin, and Yeovilton; the vicarages of Charlton-Adam, Chilthorne-Domer, Compton, arages of Charlton-Adam, Chilthorne-Domer, Compton, Dundon, Haslebury-Plucknett, Huish-Episcopi-with-Langport, Martock, Montacute, Northorer, Somerton, and Long Sutton; and the p. curacies of Nether Ham, Ash, Muchelney, West Chinnock, Stoke-sub-Hamden, and Tintinhull. The deanery of Merston contains the rectories of Abbas-Combe, Ashington, Barwick, West Camel, North Cheriton, Chilton-Canteloe, Closworth, Carlotte West Caker, Curton-Denbum, Goathill East Coker, West Coker, Curton Denham, Goathill, Horsington, Kingston or Pitney, Pointington, Rimpton, Sandford-Orcas, Stowell, Sutton-Bingham, and Trent; the sinecure rectory of Socke; the vicarages of Charlton-Canfield, Henstridge, Merston-Magna, Milborne-Port, Mudford, and Queen-Camel; and the p. curacy of Hend-ford. The deanery of Pawlet contains the rectories of Bawdrip, Cossington, Greinton, and Huntspill; the vicarages of Pawlet and Woollavington-with Puriton; and the p. curacy of All Saints-Huntspill. The deamery of Glastonbury contains the rectory of Street; the vicarages of Butleigh, Middlezcy, Meare, Mcorlinch, Othery, Shapwick, and Weston-Zoyland; and the p. curacies of Burtle, Glastonbury-St. John, Glastonbury-St. Benediet, Godney, Chilton-on-Polden-with-Edington, Catcott, and West Pennard.

The deanery of Bath, in its Bath district, contains the rectories of St. Peter and St. Paul, St. James, St. Michael, Walcot, St. Saviour, Trinity, Bathwick, Claverton, Farmborough, Freshford, Marksbury, Priston, Stanton-Prior, and Timsbury; the vicarges of Lyncombe, Widcombe, Bathampton, Englishcombe, and Weston; and the p. curacies within the city. The deanery of Eath, in its Keynsham district, contains the rectories of Burnett, Charlcombe, Kelston, Langridge, Newton-St. Loe, North Stoke, Saltford, and Swainswick; the vicarges of Batheaston, Bathford, Corston, Keynsham, South Stoke, and Twerton; and the p. curacies of Brislington, Combe-Down, Monkton Coombe, Queen-Charlton, and Woolley. Down, Monkton-Coombe, Queen-Charlton, and Woolley. The deanery of Cnew, in its Chew-Magna district, contains the rectories of Butcombe, Chelwood, Chew-Stoke, Clatton, Compton-Martin, Hinton-Bluett, Norton-Martin, Herton-Butch, Norton-Martin, Honton-Butch, Norton-Marton-Drew, and West Hapttee; the p. curacies of Dudry, Nempett, and Whitchurch; and the donatives of Earnw-Gurney and Publow. The deanery of Chew, in the Devided Hirter contains the sectories of Partin its Portishead district, contains the rectories of Portisris rorusteau district, contains the records of rorusteau district, contains the records of rorusteau district, Riagston-Seymour, Nailsea, Walton-in-Gordano, with-Weston-in-Gordano, Wraxull, and Wrington; the sincenire rectory of Backwell; the vicarages of Backwell, Clevedon, Easton-in-Gordano, Long Ashton, Portbury, Tickenham, and Yarton; and the p. curacies of Burrington, Cleeve-in-Yatton, Christ Church-Clevedon, East Clevedon, Flax-Bourton, Kenn-in-Yatton, Christ Church-Nailsca, and Bourton, Kenn-in Redhill-Wrington.

Rethill wrington.
The deanery of Taunton contains the rectories of Angerskigh, Ashbrittle, Bathealton, West Bagborough, Cheldon-Fittpaine, Combe-Florey, Heathfield, Kittesford, Lydsard-St. Lawrence, West Monkton, Nortonford, Lydeard-St. Lawrence, West Monkton, Norton-Fitzwarren, Oake, Orchard-Portman, Runnington, Staple-Grove, Stawley, and Thorn-Falcon; the vicarages of Bradford, Creech-St. Michael, North Curry, Halse, Kingston, Bishops-Lydeard, Milverton, Nynehead, Pitrinister, Sunoford-Arundell, St. Mary Maglalene-Taunton, and Wellington; and the p. curacies of Ash-Priors, Bishops-Hull, Corfe, Cothelstone, Hillfarrance, Otterford, Ruishton, St. Gregory-Stoke, St. Mary-Stoke, St. James-Taunton, Trinity-Taunton, St. Margaret-Thorn, Thurlbere, Trull, and Wilton. The deanery of Bridgewater contains the rectories of Aisholt, Chilton, Charlingh, Chieley, Crowenbe, Dodington, Emmore, Fidwater contains the records of Alshot, United, United, Spirit, Chedzey, Crowcombe, Dodington, Enmore, Fiddington, Geathurst, Holford, Kilve, Otterhampton, East Quantoxhead, Spaxton, and Thurloxton; the vicarages Quantoxnead, Spaxton, and Inufoxton; the Vicarages of Bridgawter, Cannington, Kilton, Stringston, Lyng, Over-Stower, North Petherton, Stockland-Gaunts, Stognrsey, Nether-Stower, and Wembolon; the p. car-racies of Eastover-Bridgewater, Trinity-Bridgewater, Broomfield, Burrow-Bridge, Michaelchurch, North-Newton, and Northmoor-Green; and the donatives of Durleigh and Durston. The deanery of Crewkerne contains Figa and Durson. The dealer's Crewella contact the rectories of Bestroncome, Buckland-St.Mary, Chaff-combe, Cricket-Mailierby, Cricket-St. Thomas, Curry-Mallet, Donyatt, Dowlish-Wake-with-Dowlish-West, Dravton, Earn shill, Eastham, Hatch-Beauchamp, Hinton-St. George, East Lambrook in Kingsbury Episcopi. St. George, East Lambrook in Kingsbury Episcopi, Packington, Seaborough, Searington St. Michael, Shepton Beauchamp, Staple Fitzpaine with Bickenhall, Stocklinch Maglalene, Stocklinch Ottersea, South Brayton, Wayford, Wnite-Staunton, and Winsham; the vicarges of Ashill, Chard, Combe-St. Nicholas, Curry-Rivell, Fivehead, Ilminster, Ilton, Isle-Abbots, Isle-Browers, Kingsbury-Episcopi, White-Lackington, Meriott, Misterton, South Petherton, and Swell; and the powerous of Barrin ton Recolutor, Tatworth Chilling. curacies of Barrington, Broadway, Tatworth, Chillington, Crewkerne, Culworth, Courland, Dinnington, Hamton, Crewkerne, Culworth, Courtand, Dimangoon, Tobridge, Kingston, Knowle, Lopen, and Seavington-St. Mary. The deanery of Dunster contains the rectories of Ecompton-Ralph, Brushford, Chipstable, Clatworthy, Elwerth, Extord, Exton, Hawkridge, Huish-Champ-Rower, Kitnor, Luckham, Monksilver, Nettlecombe, Oars, Porlock, West Quintoxhoad, Raddington, Sumpfir-Breit, Selworthy, Skilgate, Stock-Pero, Tolland, Treborough, Withycombe, and Wootton-Courtney; the vicerages of Brompton-Regis, Cathampton, Old Gleeve, Cutombe, St. Decuman's, Dulverton, Minehead, Stoganbir, Timberscombe, Winsford, and Wiveliscombe; and the pourches of Bicknoller, Dunster, Fitzhead, Lighlandin-Old Cleeve, Upton, Williton-in-St. Decuman's, Withypool, and Withiel-Florey.

BATHAMPTON, a parish in Bath district, Somerset; on the river Avon and the Great Western railway, In £3,526. Pop., 382. Houses, 71. The property is not much divided. A series of suburban villas extends onwards to Bath. The living is a vicarage in the dioceso of Bath and Wells. Value and patron, not reported. The church is perpendicular English; has a fine west door; contains efficies of a knight and his haly of the time of Edward III.; and was repaired in 1858. BATHAMPTON, Deron. See BAMPTON. BATHAMPTON (GEAT and LITTLE), two tythings in Steephe-Langford parish, Wilts; 5½ miles NW of Wilton.

Wilton

Wilton.

BATHEALTON, a parish in Wellington district, Somerset; near the Western canal, 4½ miles WNW of Wellington r. station, and 5½ from Wellington. It has a post-office under Wellington, Somerset. Acres, 941. Real property, £1,481. Pop., 135. Houses, 26. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Bath and Wells. Valley, £226.* Patron, the Rev. E. Welber. The church is good.

ratron, the Rev. E. Wether. The church is good.

BATHEASTON, a purish and a sub-district in Bath district, Somerset. The parish lies on the river Avon, near the Fossé way, 14 mile N by E of Bathampton r. station, and 24 NE of Bath. It has a ferry to Bathampton, and a post-office under Bath. Acres, 1,863. Reproperty, 211,106. Pop., 1,638. Houses, 353. The property is much subdivided. Lines of houses and numerous villa, make the south-water and submitted. merous villas make the south-western part suburban to Bath. The manor belonged to the Saxon kings, and the church was early appropriated to Bath abbey. Solshury church was early appropriated to Bath abbey. Solshury hill, 600 feet high, has traces of a circular camp sup-posed to have been used by the Saxous in their siege of Bath. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of St. Catherine, in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £298.* Patron, Christ Church college, Oxford. The church is perpendicular English; was partly rebuilt in 1860; and contains a tablet to the Rev. J. Conybeare, the Anglo-Saxon scholar, who was several years vicar. There are a church at St. Catherines, Wesleyan and Moravian chapels, a national school, and charities £35. Moravian chapels, a national school, and charities £35.

—The sub-district comprises Soper's farm and eight parishes. Acres, exclusive of Soper's farm, 9,819.

Pop., 6,989. Houses, 1,374.

BATHERM (The), a stream of Devon, 8 miles long, falling into the Exe a little below Bampton.

BATHERTON, or BATHERTON, a township in Wybunbury parish, Cheshire; 2 miles S of Nantwich. Acres, 404. Ecal property. #809. Pan. 92. Honese.

404. Real property, £690. Pop., 24. Houses, 4.

BATHFORD, a village and a parish in Bath district,
Somerset. The village stands adjacent to the river Avon somerset. Ine village stands adjacent to the river Avon and to the Great Western railway, 2 miles E by N of Bathampton station, and 3½ ENE of Bath; and it has a post-office under Bath. The parish includes also the hamlets of Shockerwick and Warley. Acres, 1,820. Real property, £5,329. Pop., 892. Houses, 186. The property is divided among a few. An old ford on the average of the rillage graphs of the standard public services to the standard public services the standard public services the standard public services the standard public serv Avon at the village gave rise to the name Bathford; and an elegant viaduct, of one flat arch, takes across the rail-way a little below. Hampton cliffs, in the vicinity, are picturesque, and command remarkably fine views. Some interesting Roman remains have been found in the parish. Bathford House is a chief residence. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £395.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Bristol. The church

Patrox, the Dean and Chapter of Bristol. The church is very good.

BATH-FORUM, a hundred in Somerset. It lies round Bath, and includes foundean parishes. Acres, 11,562. Pop., 9,213. Houses, 1,874.

BATHLLY, a township in North Muskham parish, Notts; 33 miles NW by N of Newark. Pop., 234. Houses, 54. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

BATHLEY, Norfolk. See Batte.

BATHRUMPTON. See Batte.

miles NNE of Hailsham. It belonged to the family of Bathurst, who were expelled from it in the wars between the houses of York and Lancaster; and it retains vestiges of their castle, which was demolished at the time of their BATHWICK, a parish and a sub-district in Somerset.

The parish lies on the left bank of the Avon, within the borough of Bath; and is intersected by the Kennet and Avon canal, and by the Great Western railway. Acres, 573 Real property, £43,868. Pep., 5,266. Houses, 573. Real property, £43,868. Pop., 5,266. Houses, 836. At the beginning of last century, the parish contained only a few scattered houses, and was marshy; but now it contains some of the finest streets and decorations of Bath, including Great Pulteney-street, Laura-place, and the Sydney gardens. The living is a rectory, united with the curacy of Woolley, in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £299. Patron, Lord W. Powlett. The church is in the decorated English style, with a tower 120 feet high; was built in 1829; and contains a monu-ment to Mackinnon, who figured at Culloden. Lsura chapel is a separate charge. There is a proprietary college, cuaper is a separate charge. There is a proprietary college, with about 100 pupils.—The sub-district includes also other parishes beyond the borough. Acres, 3,452. Pop., 7,132. Houses, 1,201.

BATLEY, a town, a township, and a sub-district in BATTLEY, a town, a township, and a sub-district of the district of Dewsbury, and a parish in the districts of Dewsbury and Hunslet, W. R. Yorkshire. The town adjoins the Leeds and Manchester railway, 13 mile N by E of Dewsbury; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Leeds. It is remarkable only as a post-omer, timer beeds. It is remarkable only as a seat of manufacture; but evinces much public spirit, and has a lecture-hall, with mechanics' institution, erected in 1853. Pop., 7,206. Houses, 1,480. The township includes also the hamlets of Brownhill, Brookroyd, Carincludes also the hamlets of Frownill, Brockroyd, Carlinghow, Clark-Green, Havercroft, Chapel-Fold, Healey, Staincliffe, White See, Kelpin-Hill, Capas-Height, Pulwell, and New Roadside, and part of the hamlet of Batley-Carr. Acres, 2,140. Real property, £38,795. Pop., 14,173. Houses, 2,956. The sub-district is conterminate with the township. The parish includes also Pop., 14,173. Houses, a combined the township of Morley, Gildersome, and Churwell. Acres, 6,446. Real property, £69,308. Pop., 25,278. nufacture of cloths, carpets, and other fabrics from "shoddy," or the reduced substance of old woollen rags, shouldy, of the reduced substance of old wooling rags, is here carried on to a great extent; and there are upwards of twenty-two factories. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, 2300.* Patrons, Earl Cardigan and Earl Wilton. The church is later English. The p. curacy of St. Thomas is a separate charge, constituted in 1868. The vicarages of Morley and Gildersome, and the p. curacy of Staincliffe, also are separate. There are a handsome Independent chapel of 1856, an elegant Wesleyan chapel of 1861, four other dissent-ing chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, au endowed grammar-school, a workhouse, and charities £237.

EATLEY-CARR, a hamlet and a chapelry in Batley and Dewsbury parishes, W. R. Yorkshire. The hamlet stands $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile S of Batley, and has a post-office unstatus, 3 of a line 3 of Dattey, and has a post-onnee under Dewsbury. The chapelry was constituted in 1842. Rated property; £6,505. Pop., 3,859. Houses, 796. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £150. Patron, the Vicar of Dewsbury. The church is good.

BATSFORD, or BATTISFORD, a parish in the district of Shipston-on-Stour, and county of Gloucester; near the Stratford railway and the Fosse way, 2 miles NW of Moreton. Post-town, Moreton-in-the-Marsh. Acres, 932. Real property, £2,075. Pop., 130. Houses, 22. The property is not much divided. Batsford Park is the scat of Lord Redesdale. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £370.* Patron, Lord Redesdale. The church was rebuilt in IS62.

BATSON, a hamlet in Malborough parish, Devou;

41 miles SSW of Kingsbridge. BATTEL. See BATTLE.

BATTERLEY. See BALTERLEY.

BATTERSBY, a township in Ingleby-Greenhoe parish, N. R. Yorkshire; under the Moors, 5 miles E by S of

Stokesley. Acres, 1,020. Real property, £575. Pop., 119. Houses, 20. BATTEKSEA, a parish in the districts of Wandsworth said Croydon, Surrey. The main body of it, or Battersea-proper, is a sub-district of Wandsworth, suburban to London, on the river Thames and on the West-End and Southwestern railway, opposite Chelsea; and the rest, consisting of Penge hamlet, lies in Croydon district, detached from the main body, 8 miles distant. Acres of the main body, 2,177 of land and 166 of water; of the entire parish, 3,183. Real property, £158,897. Pop. of the main body in 1841, 6,616; in 1861, 19,600. Houses, Pop. of the entire parish in 1841, 6,887; in 1861, Houses, 3,793. The manor was known to the Saxons as Petersey, signifying Peter's Island; belonged to the abbey of St. Peter at Westminster; was granted, in 1627, to the family of St. John; and passed, in 1763, to the Spencers. The old mansion on it was the residence of the famous Viscount Bolingbroke, and a haunt of the poet Pope; but has been entirely demolished; yet is commemorated in the neighbouring localities of Boling-broke Terrace and Bolingbroke garden. Battersea Fields, within the mauor, along the Thames, were long notable as a marshy tract, producing a great variety of indigenous plants; and were the scene, in 1829, of the duel between the Duke of Wellington and Lord Winchelsea; but are the Duke of Wellington and Lord in library, now partly disposed in a fine new public park, and partly covered with streets and buildings. The park comprises 185 acres; lies almost all below the level of high water; was purchased at a cost of £246,517, and laid out. in 1852-58, at a further cost of £66,373; and is disposed in valks, drives, ornamental plantations, and a fine sheet of water. A suspension bridge, across the Thames, at the upper end of the park, measures 347 feet between that towers and 705 between the abutments; is remarkably light and elegant; and was erected, in 187, after designs by Mr. T. Page, at a cost of £35,319. The West End railway to Sydenham is carried across, in the vicinity, on a substantial, tasteful, segment-arched bridge, constructed by Mr. Fowler, and opened in 1860, to the Victoria station in Pimlico; goes 3 of a mile south-southeastward to Battersea station; then runs 23 miles westsouth-westward, parallel to the South-western railway, and past Battersea Risc, to New Wandsworth station. Battersea New Town aljoins the two railways where they mutually approach; Battersea Old Town stands on they mutually approach; patterses for your sames on the Thames below the park; and Battersea. Rise is a hill covered with villas. Both Battersea and Battersea. Rise have post-offices‡ under London S.W. The living of Battersea is a vicatage in the diocese of Winchester. Va-Battersea is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £982.* Patron, Earl Spencer. The parish church is a commodious but inelegant structure, built in 1777. The vicarages of Christchurch, St. George, and St. John-with-St. Paul, are separate benefices. Value of C., not with-St. Paul, are separate benefices. Value of C, not reported; of St. G., £290; * of St. J., £430.* Patron of all, the Vicar of B. C. church was built in 189, at a cost of £5,556; and is in the decorated English style; St. G.'s church was built some years later; St. J.'s, in 1863; St. P.'s, in 1869. The vicarages of Penge and Upper Penge also are separate benefices. A handsome Independent chapel, in the Lombardic style, was built in 1867, at a cost of £4,488. There are several other dissenting chapels, the training national school, a free school with £160 a-year, and charities £121. See LONDON. BATTESFORD. See BATSFORD.

BATTISFORD, a parish in Bosmere district, Suffolk; 2 miles W by S of Needham r. station. Post-town, Needham. Acres, 1,542. Real property, £2,662. Pop., 504. Houses, 103. The property is subdivided. An hospital of knights of St. John of Jerusalem was erected here in the reign of Henry II., and given, at the dissolution, to Sir Richard Gresham. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £400. Patron, the Rev. E. Paske. The church is good.

BATTLE, a parish in the district and county of Brecon; on the river Vscar, 3 miles NW of Brecon r. station, Post-town, Brecou. Acres, 1,544. Real property, £1,398. Pop., 118. Houses, 30. The surface is diversified, and commands fine views. The manor belonged to the priory of Brecon. Here was the scene either of the battle between Robert Fitzhamon and Rhys ap Tuder, or the battle at the invasion of Breckneckshire by Bernard Newmarch. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David. Value, £73. Patron, Col. L. Y. Watkins. The church is a low building, situated on an cuinence.

BATTLE, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a hundred, in Sussex. The town was called by the Saxons Epiton, signifying "heath land;" and took its present name from the great battle of the Conquest, in 1066, commonly called the battle of Hastings. It stands in a fine valley, three-fourths encircled by wooded hills, in the vicinity of the Tunbridge-Wells and Hastings railway, 7 miles NW of Hastings; and it has a station on the railway, a head post-office, two bankingoffices, and two chief inns. The principal street runs up a rising ground; and is confronted, at a brief distance. by Battle Abbey, standing on the site of King Harold's camp, and on the spot where his standard was taken. This edifice was founded by the Conqueror, in commemoration of his victory; it contained his sword, his corona-tion-robe, and the roll-call of the knights who followed him from Normandy; and it was very richly endowed, and gave its abbots a seat in parliament. It passed, at the dissolution, to Sir Anthony Browne; continued with his descendants, the Lords Montacute, till the time of the fourth Lord; and was sold then to Sir Thomas Web-ster, and in 1857 to Lord Harry Vane. The buildings were converted into a mansion by Sir Anthony Crowne; were converted into a mansion by Sir Antinony Drowne; and, though still retaining a number of the original apart-ments, are so greatly changed as to present outwardly very little of their ancient character. The grand gateway still stands, and is chiefly late decorated English, of very beautiful workmanship; and a long range to the right of it was used till 1794 as the town hall, but has been allowed to go to ruin. A spot about 1 a mile distant, on the road to Hastings, commands the best view of the abbey, and at the same time affords a good comof the abbey, and at the same time and as you conference, notion of the battle-field of the Conquest. The petty-sessions court-house and county police station are a handsome edifice of 1861. The parish church is are a nanciscine editice of 1501. The parish refuter is partly Norman, and was restored in 1569. There are three dissenting chapels, a mechanics' institute, a school with endowed income of £68, other charities with £80, and a workhouse built at a cost of £5,000. Extensive powder mills, of great note, are situated to the SW; and the walk to them, and the walks generally through the environs, are charming. A weekly market is held in the town on Tuesday; and fairs are held on Whit-Monlay, 6 Sept., and 22 Nov.

The parish contains also the hamlet of Netherfield. Acres, 7,889. Real property, £14,313. Pop., 3,293. Houses, 583. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £500. Patron, Lord H. Vane. The vicarage of Netherfield is separate.—The sub-district vicarge of Actierring is separate.—In Sub-district comprises the parishes of Battle, Brightling, Dallington, Penhurst, and Ashburnham. Acres, 20,476. Pop., 5,494. Houses, 1,001.—The district comprehends also the sub-district of Ewhnrst, containing the parishes of Ewhurst, Sedlescomb, Whatlington, and Mountfield; and the sub-district of Bexhill, containing the parishes of Bexhill, Hollington, Catsfield, Crowhurst, and Westor beauti, fromigion, cassieri, crownirs, and vestifield. Acres, 54,000. Poor-rates in 1866, £1,118. Pop. in 1861, 12,680. Houses, 2,394. Marriages in 1866, 103; births, 421,—of which 35 were illegitimate; deaths, 204, - of which 60 were at ages under 5 years, and 5 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years, and 55 at ages above 85 years, Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 962; births, 4,216; deaths, 2,292. The places of worship in 1851 were 15 of the Church of England, of worsaip in 1801 were 10 of the Chirch of England, with 3,790 sittings; 3 of Baptists, with 500 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 350 s.; 10 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,195 s.; and 1 of Freethinking Christians, with 25 s. The schools were 14 public day schools, with 1,045 schools were 14 public day schools, with 303 s.; and 16 sunday schools with 1,140 s. The hundred of Battle is in the rape of Il istings, and consists of the parishes of Battle and Whatlington. Acres, 9,135. Pop., 3,636. Houses, 652

BATTLE-BARROW, a village in Bongate township, Westmoreland; I mile NE of Appleby, BATTLE-BRIDGE, a village in Rettendon parish, Essex; 64 miles E of Billericay. It has a post-office under Chelmsford.

BATTLE-BRIDGE, a chapelry in Islington parish, London; near the Regent's canal, and the terminus of the Great Northern railway. It was constituted in 1839. Pop., 17,489. Houses, 1,886. The living is a vicarage, united with p. curacy of St. Matthias, in the diocese of London. Value, £300. Patron, the Vicar of Trinity BATTLEBURN, a hamlet in Kirkburn parish, E. R.

Yorkshire; 31 miles SW of Great Driffield. BATTLEDEN. See BATTLESDEN.

BATTLEDEN. See BATTLESDEN.

BATTLEFIELD, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Atcham, Salop. The parish lies adjacent to the Crewe and Shrewsbury railway, 1½ mile S by E of Hadnall station, and 3 NNE of Shrewsbury. Post-town, Hadnall under Shrewsbury. Acres, 550. Rated property, 2930. Pop. 81. Houses, 17. The property is divided among a few. Here was fought the battle in the control of the control perty, 2933. Pop. 51. Houses, 17. the property as divided anong a few. Here was fought the battle in 403, in which Harry Hotspur was slain, and Douglas captured. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, 2233. Patron, A. W. Corbet, Esq. The church was erected by Henry IV. to commemorate his victory over Hotspur; is chiefly perpendicular English; and was restored in 1861. A fair is held on 2 Aug. -The sub-district comprises five parishes, two chapelrics, and an extra-parochial tract. Acres, 11,554. Pop. 1,881.

BATTLE HALL. See Nash, Kent.
BATTLESBURY, an ancient British camp, 2 miles E of Warminster, Wilts. It crowns an abrupt eminence, almost inaccessible on two sides; has ramparts rising 60 feet; occupies fully 23 acres; and commands a very extensive view.

BATTLESDEN, a parish in Woburn district, Beds, on Watling-street, 3 miles SSE of Woburn, and 41 NE of Leighton-Buzzard r. station. Post-town, Woburn. Acres, 1,123. Real property, £1,981. Pop., 143. Houses, 31. The manor belonged, in the time of Education. Houses, 31. The manor belonged, in the time of Edward III., to the Firmbands; passed, in the time of Elizabeth, to the Duncombes; was purchased, in 1705, by the Bathursts,—to whom it gives the title of Baron; and is now the property of the Turners. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Potsgrove, in the diocese of Ely. Value, 2509.* Patrons, the Trustees of the late Sir G. P. Turner, Bart. The church is good.

BATTRAMSLEY, a tything in Boldre parish, Hants; in the New Forest, 61 miles NE of Ringwood. Real property, £1,838. Pop., 302.

BATTRIX, a hamlet in Bowland-Forest township, Slaidburn parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 11 miles SW of Settle BATTYEFORD, a chapelry, with a village, in Mirfield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles WSW of Dewsbary r. station. It was constituted in 1841; and its posttown is Dewsbury. Rated property, £8,000. Pop., 3,115. Houses, 704. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Eipon. Value, £150.* Patron, the Vicar of Mirfield. The church is good; and there is an Independent chapel.

BAUDOC. See BALDOCK.

BAUGHCOTT, a hamlet in Tugford parish, Salop;

61 miles SE of Church-Stretton.

BAUGHURST, a village and a parish in Kingsclere strict, Hants. The village stands near the Roman district, Hants. Port way to Silchester, 5½ miles S of Aldermaston r. station, and 7 NNW of Basingstoke; and has a postoffice under Basingstoke. The parish includes also the ome under Basingstoke. In a parish includes also the tythings of Ham and Inhurst. Acres, 1,675. Real property, £1,210. Pop., 563. Houses, 98. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £183.* Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The church is a recent erection of brick and stone, with a lofty spire. There are two dissenting chapels.

EAULDOXFEE, a tything in Eling parish, Hants; 3 miles W of Southampton. Real property, £2,610.

Pop., 931. BAULKING. See BALKING.

BAUMBER, or BAMBURGH, a parish in Horncastle district, Lincoln; on the Wolds, 4 miles NW by N of Horneastle r. station. It has a post-office, of the name of Baumber, under Horneastle. Acres, 3,200. Real property, £4,052. Pop., 393. Honses, 85. Sturton Hall is the seat of the Liveseys. The living is a vicarnge, annexed to Sturton-Magna. The church is good;

and there is a Wesleyan chapel.

BAUNTON, a parish in Cirencester district, Gloucester; on the Churn river and the Fossé way, 2 miles N of Circnesster r. station. Post-town, Circnester Aeres, 1,340. Real property, £1,596. Pop. 122. Houses, 29. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Patron, Miss Masters. The church is Value, £67.

BAUNTON, Devon, See BAMPTON, BAUSELEY, or BALASLEY, a township in Alberbury parish, Montgomery; 10 miles NE of Welshpool. Pop., 404. Houses, 83.

14. Houses, 83. BAVANT-FIFIELD. See FIFIELD-BAVANT.

BAVERSTOCK, a parish in Wilton district, Wilts; on the river Nadder and on the Salisbury and Yeovil railway, near Dinton station, 4 miles W of Wilton. It railway, near Dinton station, 4 mines w or witton. It includes the hamlet of Hurdcott; and its post-town is Barford-St. Martin, under Salisbury. Acres, 1,168. Real property, with Barford-St. Martin, £5,934. Pop., 168. Houses, 34. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £296.* Patron, Exeter college, Oxford. The church is good.

BAVINGTON (GREAT), a township in Kirkwhelping-ton parish, Northumberland; 4 miles E of Watling-street, and 10½ N of Corbridge. Acres, 1,565. Pop., 61. Houses, 15. Bavington Hall is the seat of C. C. Shafto, Esq. There is an English Presbyterian church.

Shafto, Esq. There is an English Presbyterian enurum.

BAVINGTON (LITTLE), a township in Thockrington. parish, Northumberland; 11 mile S of Great Bavington, and 9 N of Corbridge. Acres, 1,702. Pop., 67. Houses, 15. Limestone, freestone, and whinstone are quarried.

BAWBURGH, a parish in Forehoe district, Norfolk; on the river Yare, 5½ miles W of Norwich r. station. Post-town, Colney, under Norwich. Acres, 1,440. Real property, £3,604. Pop., 433. Houses, 92. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £120. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Norwich. The church has a round tower, an old funt, and a brass of 1531; and is good. St. Walstan was a native.

BAWCOMBE, a hamlet in West Alvington parish, Devon; 6½ miles SE of Modbury. BAWDER, a stream of N. R. Yorkshire; running 10 miles eastward to the Tees, 3½ miles NW of Burnard-Castle.

Castle.

BAWDESWELL, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Mitford, Norfolk. The parish lies a little N of the Wensum river, 3 miles E by S of Elmhann r. station, and 3½ W by S of Reepham; and has a post-office under Thetford. Acres, 1,196. Real property; £2,740 Pop., 515. Houses, 127. The property is nauch sub-divided. Bawdeswell Hall is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £203. Patron, Rev. H. Lombe. The church is recent; and there are chaptel for Wesleyans and Primitive and there are chapels for Wesleyans and Primitive Methodists, and an endowed school with £20. - The sub-

Methodists, and an endowed sensor with £20.—The subdistrict comprises eight parishes. Pop., 3,333.

BAWDRIP, a parish in Bridgewater district, Somerset, 3 miles NE of Bridgewater, station. It has a post-office under Bridgewater. Acres, 1,889. Real property, £5,001. Pop., 472. Houses, 93. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £360.* Patron, E. The church is ancient and cruciform. Page, Esq.

are Independent and Wesleyan chapels, and charities £6.

BAWDSEY, a village and a parish in Woodbridge district, Suffolk. The village stands near the mouth of the Deben river, 9 miles SSE of Woodbridge r. station; has a post-office under Woodbridge; and was once a market-town. The parish comprises 1,744 acres of land, and 325 of water. Real property, £3,099. Pop., 426. Houses, 101. The coast is defended by Martello towers. Bawdsey Haven, in the mouth of the Deben, gives shelter to small craft. Bawdsey Hall is on the coast. Bawdsey Sand is a shoal, about 5 miles distant, 4 miles long, and a of a mile broad, with 10 feet and upwards of water. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £193.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is a small, neat, recent structure; and was preceded by a fine early Saxon edifice, the reduced tower of which, now 60 feet high, still stands. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and national schools.

BAWSEV, a parish in Freebridge-Lynn district, Norfolk; 11 mile NNW of Middleton r. station, and 3 ENE 1018; 13 mile NAW of Middleton r. station, and o LAKE of Kings-Lynn. Post-town, Lynu. Acres, 1,090. Real property, £549. Pop., 32. Houses, 5. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value £55. Pa-tron, A. Hammond, Esq. The church is in ruins. BAWTRY, a small town, a chapelry, and a sub-dis-trict in the district of Doncaster, W. K. Yorkshire.

The town stands on the verge of the county, on the river Idle, and on the Great Northern railway, 8 miles SE of Doncaster. Part of it is low, and used to be subject to inundation; but part is high, and contains a market-place. It has a station on the railway, a head postoffice, ta banking-office, a hotel, a good supply of water, a church, and two dissenting chapels, Independent and a church, and two dissenting chapets, independent and Wesleyan. The church is later English; consists of Roche abbey limestone; was built in 1350; and has a tower, added in 1712. A weekly market is held on Thursday; and fairs on Holy Thursday and 22 Nov. An hospital for a priest and certain poor was founded in the noighbourhead court 1318. A form hours a will the neighbourhood about 1316. A farm-house, a mile distant, occupies the site, and was formed of the materials of a palace of the Archbishops of York, inhabited by Cardinal Wolsey and Archbishop Saudis. Eawtry-Cardinal woisey and Archivshop Saudis. Lawtry-Hall is a seat of Lord Houghton. Acres of the town, 244. Real property, £3,514. Pop., 1,011. Houses, 229.—The chaptry includes also the township of Austerfield. Pop., 1,400. Honses, 318. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £500. Patron, Trinity College, Cambridge.—The sub-district Patron, Trinity Coffege, camorrage.—I ne sno-district comprises six parishes, and part of three others. Acres, 31,765. Pop., 5,623. Houses, 1,202. BANBY. See Tronkrovs-wife-Hill. BANEXDEN, a large village in Whalley parish, Lancashire; on the East Lancashire railway, 11 mile N

Lancashir? on the East Lancashir? January, 34 into a of Haslingden. It has a post-office under Acerington, a r. station, two cotton mills, and a colliery.

BAXTERLEY, a parish in Atherstone district, Warwick; 2 miles ENE of Kingsbury r. station, and 3½ W by S of Atherstone. Post-town, Kingsbury, under Tamworth. Acres, 874. Real property, £2,115. Pop. 273. Houses, 54. The property is divided among a few. Baxterley Hall is the seat of Apsley Smith, Esq. tew. Daxteriey that is the seat of Apsiey Smith, Esq. Coal is largely worked. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £202. Patrons, the Chancellor and another. The church is not good.

BAXTON-MOOR, a hamlet in Whitwell parish, Derby; 11 miles ENE of Chesterfield.

BAYARD LEAP, an extraparochial tract in Sleaford district, Lincoln; 5½ miles NW of Sleaford. Pop., 18. Houses, 3.

Houses, 3.

BAYCLIFF, a hamlet in Hill-Deverill parish, Wilts;
5 miles W by S of Heytesbury.

BAYDEN, a clapelry in Llangonoyd parish, Glamorgan; 51 miles NW by N of Bridgend r. station. Posttown, Bridgend. Pop. 339. The living is a p. cnracy, annexed to the vicarage of Llangonovd, in the diocese of Llandar. The church is in rains.

BAYDON, a parish in the district of Hungerford and county of Wilts; on the verge of the county, 31 miles WSW of Lambourne, and 7 SSE of Shrivenham r. station. It has a post-office under Hungerford. 3,000. Real property, 22,592. Pop., 350. Houses, 81. The property is subdivided. The bring is a victoriage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £110. Patron, the Rev. A. Meyrick. The church was repaired in There is a Wesleyan chapel.

BAYFIELD, a parish in Erpingham district, Norfolk; 2 miles W of Holt, and 7 E by N of Walsingham r. station. Post-town, Holt, under Thetford. Acres. 799.

133

Real property, with Glandford, £1,663. Pop., 30. Houses, 4. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £150. Patron, Major E. Jodrell.

There is no church.

BAYFORD, a parish in the district and county of Hertford; on the river Lea, near the Hatfield and Hartford railway, 3 miles SSW of Hertford. It has a postoffice under Hertford. Acres, 1,632. Real property, £2,133. Pop., 297. Houses, 61. The property is not much divided. The manor belonged, before the Conmuch divided. The manor belonged, before the Con-quest, to Earl Tosti, the Dane; and passed afterwards to the Knightons, the Fanshaws, and the Bakers. Bay-fordbury, the present seat of the Bakers, contains the portraits of the Kit-Cat club, brought hither from Barnes-Elms. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester; and till 1857 was annexed to Essendon. Value, £150. Patron, W. R. Baker, Esq. The church was built in 1802. There is a national school.

BAYFORD, a hamlet in Stoke-Trister parish, Somerset; 1 mile E of Wincanton. It has a post-office under Bath; and it forms a curacy with Cucklington rectory.

BAYFORD, a farm-house, originally a castle, near Sittingbourne, Kent. The castle is said to have been erected by King Alfred, as a counter-fortress to Castle-Rough, about a mile distant; and it became the seat of successively the Nottinghams, the Cheneys, and the Lovelaces. The most and a piece of wall still exist.

BAYHAM, a hamlet in Frant parish, Sussex; on the verge of the county, on the river Tun, 4 miles ESE of Tunbridge-Wells. A Premonstratensian abbey was reverge of the county, on the Tunbridge-Wells. A Premonstratensian abbey was removed hitner, in 1200, from Ottcham or Otham, and largely endowed by Robert de Thurnham and Ela de Saekrille; was given, at the dissolution, to Cardinal Market and afterwards to the Montagues; and was Wolsey; passed afterwards to the Montagues; and was purchased, in 1714, by the ancestor of Marquis Cam-The Marquis has now a villa here, amid beautiful grounds; and takes from the place the title of Viscount. The ruins of the abbey, comprising the church and some contiguous buildings, in a state of tolerable preservation, stand in the grounds, and show interesting features of decorated early English and some decorated additions.

BAY HORSE, a station on the Preston and Lancaster railway, 5\(^2\) miles N by W of Garstang, Lancashire. BAYLHAM, a parish in Dosmere district, Suffolk; on the river Gipping and the Eastern Union railway, 1 mile NNW of Claydon station, and 7 NW by W of Ipswich. Best tors. Claydon and Invited Aven 1 29\(^2\) Deal Post-town, Claydon, under Ipswich. Acres, 1,332. Real property, £2,276. Pop., 327. Houses, 65. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £256. Patron, W. Downes, Esq. The church is old but good.

BAYNARDS, a r. station in Surrey; oo the Guildford and Horsham railway, 64 miles NW of Horsham.

BAY-NESS, a hamlet in Fylingdales parish, N. R.

Yorkshire; 9 miles S of Whithy.

BAYNTON, a tything in Edington parish, Wilts.

BAYONS-MANOR, the seat of the D'Eyncourts in Tealby parish, Lincoln; 44 miles E of Market-Rasen.

EAYSTON-HILL, a chaplery in the parishes of Condover and St. Julian, Salop; on the Shrewsbury and Hereford railway, 1 mile N of Condover station, and 33 S of Shrewsbury. It was constituted in 1844; and it has a post-office under Shrewsbury. Pop., 605. Honses, 134. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield Value, £140.* Patron, the Vicar of St. Julian.

BAYSWATER, a suburb of London, and a chapelry in Paddington parish and Marylebone borough, Middlesex. The suburb adjoins Hyde Park, Kensington Gardens, and the Great Western railway, 3½ miles W of St. Paul's; and has a post-office under London W, and a r, station. It was called originally Baynard's water; and it took the first part of its name from Baynard, an associate of William the Conqueror, who held it of Westminster abbey, -and the second part from copious springs which long supplied the greater part of the metropolis with water. The same Baynard gave his name to Baynard Castle, now extinct, and to the ward of Castle Baymard. The suburb is now a fashionable, richly-built part of London; and contains some fine streets, terraces, crescents, and squares, of recent erection. The extensive tca-gardens, belonging to the famous herbalist, Sir John Hill, satirbelonging to the maints including the Marking and India, satir-ized by Garrick, were here. St. George's burial-ground, fronting Hyde Park, contains the graves of Lawrence Sterne, Sir Thomas Picton, and Mrs. Badcliffe.—The chapelry bears the name of St. Matthews Layswater, and was constituted in 1858. Pop., 5,513. Houses, 783. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of London. Value, not reported. Patron, the Rev. C. Smalley. A United Presbyterian church was built at Westbourne grove, in 1862, after designs by W. G. Habershow, and consists of naive, aisles, and transept, in the decorated English style, with tower and spire. A lecture-hall was built in the same locality, in 1861, after designs by A. Billing, and exhibits a highly embellished façade of four stories in the Venetian renaissance style. The hall itself is in the rear; measures 70 feet in length, 30 in width, and 27 in height; and is lighted from above.

BAYTHORNE-END, a locality on the N verge of Essex; on the river Stour, adjacent to Baythorne Park, 4 miles SE of Haverhill. It has a post-office under

Helstand

Halstead.

BAYTON, a parish in the district of Cleobury-Mortimer and county of Worcester; on the verge of the county, 6 miles W by S of Bewdley r. station. It has a post-office under Bewdley. Acres, 1,960. Real property, £2,557. Pop., 447. Houses, 100. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Mamble, in the diocese of Hereford. The church is zond.

The church is good. BAYVIL, a parish in the district of Cardigan and county of Pembroke; on the river Nevern, 31 miles ENE of Newport, and 64 SW of Cardigan r. station. Post-town, Newport, and of St. of Cardganr, station. Post-town, Newport, under Haverfordwest. Acres, 1,344. Real property, £1,195. Pop., 118. Houses, 29. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Moylgrove, in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £224. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good.

BAYWORTH, a hamlet in Sunningwell parish, Berks; 3 miles N of Abingdon. Here was formerly a church in which many private marriages were celebrated before the marriage act.

BEACHAMPTON, a parish in the district and county BEACHABI FION, a parish in the district and county of Euckinglam; on the river Oose, 24 miles SW of Stoney-Stratford, and 44 SW by W of Wolverton r. station. Post-town, Stoney-Stratford. Acres, 1,492. Real pro-perty, £2,592. Fop., 272. Houses, 58. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Bennets; one of whom was made a baronet in 1627, and figured as a great friend to University college, Oxford.
The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, 2379. Patron, Caius college, Cambridge. The church is a plain structure; and contains monuments of the Bennets. A school has an endowed income of £43, and other charities £178.

BEACHAMWELL. See BEECHAMWELL.

BEACHBOROUGH, the seat of the Brockman family, on the SE coast of Kent; 2} miles NNE of Hythe. hill adjacent to the mansion commands very extensive views, insomuch that a bonfire on it can be seen from the coast of France; and is crowned by a summer-house, which overlooks the views, and is accessible to strangers. BEACHINGSTOKE. See BEECHINGSTOKE.

BEACHLEY, a chapelry in Tidenham parish, Gloucester; at the influx of the river Wye to the Severn, adjacent to the South Wales railway, 2 miles SE of Chepstow. Post-town, Chepstow. Rated property, £958. Pop., 229. The property is divided among a few. Beachley Lodge is a fine seat. Here is the Aust ferry across the Severn, which was considered an important military pass in all times of war; and here was the termination of Offa's Dyke, which can still be traced. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £16. Patron, the Vicar of Tidenham. The church is very good.

BEACHY HEAD, a promontory on the coast of Sussex; at the end of the South Downs, 21 miles SSE of Eastbourne. Its summit has an altitude of 575 feet above sea-level; and commands a view from Hastings to the Isle of Wight, and across the channel to France. Its front and sea-skirts are precipitous, and pierced with caverns, the resort of multitudes of sea-fowl. Shipwreeks here and in the vicinity used to be frequent and dreadful; but have been less numerons since the erection of the Bull and been less numerous since the erection of the Belle Tout elighthouse in 1831. This stands on a projecting skirt of the promontory; and shows a revolving light, at the height of 285 feet above the sea, flashing every 2 minutes, and visible at the distance of 22 miles. On the 30th of June, 1690, the combined English and Dutch fleets of 56 sul, under Lord Torrington, were defeated within sight of Beachy Head, by the French fleet of 50 will write the Court of Lord 18 for the of 82 sail, under the Count de Jourville.

BEACON, a locality 1 mile from Camborne, Cornwall; with a post-office under that place.

BEACON-HILL, any eminence, with conspicuous summit, formerly used for a beacon-fire or a signal-post, and still retaining its ancient name. Eminences, called Beacon-Hills, occur in Cornwall, Devon, Somerset, Wilts, Hants, Notts, Oxford, Cumberland, and other counties; and nearly all of them command extensive views.

BEACONSFIELD, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Amersham, Eucks. The town stands on an eminence anciently used for beacon-fires, 3 miles NE of Woburn-Green r. station, and 5\frac{3}{4} S by W of Amersham. It has a post-office,\frac{1}{4}—B. Bucks; and is a seat of petty sessions, and a polling-place. It consists of four streets, which meet at the centre in a spacious market-place; and it contains the parish church and three dissenting chapels. The church is built of flint and squared stones; comprises nave, chancel, and side aisles, with a western tower; belonged to an Augustinian monastery, founded at Burnham, in 1165, by Richard, Earl of Cornwall; and contains the remains of Edmund Burke, whose scat was in the neighbourhood; and a marble monument to the poet Waller, who owned the manor, is in the churchyard. A weekly market recently ceased; but fairs are held on 13 Feb. and 10 May.—The parish includes also part of Coleshill hamlet. Acres, 4,541. Real property, with the rest of Coleshill, £9,619. Pop., 1,662. Houses, 342. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £545. Fatron, Magdalene College, Oxford. Charities, £114.—The sub-district comprises two parishes and a chapelry. Acres, 9,401. Pop., 3,092. Houses, 655. whose scat was in the neighbourhood; and a marble 656.

BEACONSTHORPE. See BACONSTHORPE. BEACON-WALKS. See EXMOUTH.

BEADLAM, a township in Helmsley parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 2½ miles E of Helmsley. Acres, 1,405. Real property, £1,200. Pop., 145. Honses, 30. BEADNELL, a village, a township, and a chapelry in Bambrough parish, Northumberland. The village stands on the coast, 33 miles ENE of Chathill r. station, stands on the coast, 33 miles ENE of Chathill r. station, and 54 SE of Bambrough; and has a post-office under Chathill, and a small harbour. The township comprises 743 acres. Pop., 311. Houses, 66. The chapelry includes the township, but is more extensive; and was constituted in 1854. Rated property, £1,371. Pop., 577. Houses, 115. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Durham. Value, £79.‡ Patroo, the Vicar of Bambrough. The church is a baylegome Guibe wilding. church is a handsome Gothic edifiee.

BEADON WELL, a hamlet in Erith parish, Kent; 41 miles E of Woolwich.

miles L of Woolwich.

BEAFORD, a parish in Torrington district, Devon; on the river Torringe, 5 miles SE of Torrington, and 6½ WSW of Urnberleigh r. station. It has a head post-office, designated Beaford, North Devon. Acres, 3,203.

Real property, £2,702. Pop., 639. Houses, 133. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £315.* Patron, the Rev. C. Wood. The church is an old-fashioned edifice with a Wood. The church is an old-fashioned edifice with a low tower. There are chapels for Baptists and Bible BEAGHALL, or BEAL, a township in Kellington parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 4 miles E of Pontefract. It includes Kellingley hamlet. Aeres, 1,757. Real property, £3,977. Pop., 488. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

BEAKSBOURNE, or BEKESBOURNE, a parish in Bridge district, Kent; on the Canterbury and Dover railway, 23 miles SE of Canterbury. It is a member of the cinquo port liberty of Hastings; and has a station ou the railway, and a post-office under Canterbury. Acres, 1,115. Real property, £2,393. Pop., 475. Houses, 92. The property is divided among a few. Beakshourne House is the seat of Dr. C. T. Leke. The libraries results. Brainsourine Touche is the sear of Dr. C. 1. Legg. The living is a vicarage, in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £187.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church is perpendicular English; was restored in 1948; and contains the monument of Hooker, who became vicar in 1595. The parsonage has been much modern-ized; yet contains features which were in it in Hooker's time BEAL, a township in Kyloe chapelry, Northumber-Bhall, a township in Ayroc enaperty, Northamoral, and, on the Northeastern railway, opposite Holy Island, 7 miles SE of Tweedmouth. It includes Lowlin; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Berwick. It was the residence of the famous Irish female BEAL, Yorkshire. See BEAGHALL.

BEALBY. See BIELBY.

BEALE, or BEULT (THE), a river of Kent. It rises near Ticehurst, on the border of Sussex; and runs 15 miles northward to the Medway, in the vicinity of Yalding BEALINGS, a station on the East Suffolk railway, 3 miles WSW of Woodbridge.

BEALINGS, a season miles WSW of Woodbridge.
BEALINGS (GERAT), a parish in Woodbridge district, Suffolk; on a branch of the Deben river, and on the East Suffolk railway, near Bealings station, 2½ miles W by S of Woodbridge. Acres, 1,029. Real property, 22,091.
Pop., 338. Houses, 88. The property is divided among a few; and much of it belongs to Lord Henniker. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, a lew; and much of the diocess of Norwich. Value, 2250. Patron, Lord Henniker. The church is good. BEALINGS (LITTLE), a parish in Woodbridge district, Suffolk; on a branch of the Deben river, and on trict, Suffolk; on a branch of the Deben river, and on the East Suffolk railway, at Bealings station, 3 miles WSW of Woodbridge. It has a post-office under Woodbridge. Acres, 764. Real property, £1,142. Pop., 278. Houses, 62. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £140. Patron, F. Smythies, Esq. The church is tolerable.

BEAUTHANIG. See BARDNEY.
BEAMDUNE. See BAMTON, Devon.
BEAM-HEATH, a tract in Nantwich and Alvaston townships, in the vicinity of Nantwich, Cheshire. It consists of enclosed waste lands, managed by trustees under a private act of parliament.

BEAMHURST, a village in Checkley parish, Stafford;
34 miles NW of Uttoxeter.

BEAMINSTER,-pronounced Bemminster-a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Dorset. The town stands on the river Birt, near the confluence of its headstreams, among high environing hills, 43 miles NW of Powerstock r. station, and 6 NNE of Bridport. It is a piace of considerable antiquity; but it was burnt to the ground by the troops of Prince Maurice in 1644, and again much destroyed by fire in 1684 and in 1781; and it now presents a modern and neat appearance. It has a post-officer under Bridport, a banking-office, a hotel, a townhall, a church, a chapel of case, an Independent chapel, a Wesleyan chapel, a free school, and almshouses with £173, and other charities with £99; and is a yelling-place for the county. The church is later English and large; contains tombs of the Strodes of Parnham; has a tower nearly 100 feet high, with curious sculpture on the western side; and was restored in 1862. A weekly market is held on Thursday; and a fair on 19 Sept. A good trade exists in double Dorset or mould cheese; and the manufacture of sailcloth, sacking, and rottery is carried on. The Rev. T. Hood, father of Lords Hood and Bridport, w.r.

master of the free school; and Bishop Spratt the poet, and Russell who defended Warton's History, were natives.

natives.

The parish includes elso the tything of Laugdon, and the hamlets of Axknoll, Marsh, Meerhay, North Mapperton, Parnham, and Wansley. Acues, 5,118. Red property, 213,632. Pop., 2,614. Houses, 590. The property is much subdivided. The manor belongs to the prebends of Beaminster Prima and Beaminster Secunda precends of Beaminster Prima and Beaminster Secunda in the eathedral of Salisbury. Parnham House, formerly the seat of the Strodes, now the seat of Sir Henry Oglander, Bart., is an old Tudor edifice, and contains a fine hall, with gallery of portraits. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £246. Patron, the Bishop of Salisbury.—The sub-district comprises the parishes of Beaumister, Mapperton, Hook, North Poorton, and Poorstock. Acres, 11,901. Pop., 4,112. Houses, 912. The district comprehends also the subdistrict of Netherbury, containing the parishes of Nether-Jury, Stoke-Abbott, Broadwinsor, Burstock, Bettiscombe, Pilsdon, and Marshwood; the sub-district of Evershot, containing the parishes of Evershot, Melbury-Osmond, Melbury-Sampford, Wraxall, Rampisham, East Chelborough, West Chelborough, Halstock, and Corscombe; borough, West Chelborough, Halstock, and Corscombe; and the sub-district of Misterton, containing the parishes of Cheddington, South Perrot, Mosterton, Misterton, and Seaborough,—the two last electorally in Somerset. Acres, 53,764. Poor-rates in 1856, 210,116. Pop. in 1861, 13,587. Houses, 2,913. Marriages in 1866, 72; births, 420,—of which 20 were illegitimate; deaths, 219,—of which 71 were at ages under 5 years, and 10 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 1,029; births, 4,465; deaths, 2,821. The places of worship in 1851 were 31 of the Church of England, with 6,893 sittings; 7 of Independents, with 1,482 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 194 s.; 9 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 758 s.; and 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 65 s. The 758 s.; and 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 65 s. schools were 24 public day schools, with 1,286 scholars; 24 private day schools, with 523 s.; 35 Sunday schools, with 2,127 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 25 s. The workhouse is in Stoke-Abbott.

BEAMINSTER-FORUM AND REDHONE, a hundred in Bridport division, Dorset. It contains nine parishes of Beaminster district, three other parishes, and part of another. Acres, 31,922. Pop. in 1851, 9,956. Houses, 2,032.

BEAMISH, a township in Taufield chapelry, Chesterle-Street parish, Durham; on the river Urpeth, near Stanhope railway, 6 miles SW of Gateshead. Acres, 4,120. Real property, £6,757; of which £2,900 are in Pop., 2,074. coal mines.

DEAMSLEY, a township in Addingham and Skipton varishes, W. R. Yorkshire; 6 miles E by N of Skipton. Acres, 1,556. Ecal property, 22,733. Pop., 264. Houses, 55. Here is an hospital, founded in the reign of Elizabeth by Margaret, Countess of Cumberland, for 13 poor women; the income of which is £375.

BEANACRE, a tything in Melksham parish, Wilts.

Pop., 257. BEANE (THE), a river of Herts. It rises in the vicinity of Rushdea; and runs about 13 miles southward, past Yardley, Aston, Great Watton, and Stapleford, to the Lea at Hertford.

BEANLEY, a township in Eglingham parish, Northumberland; on the river Breamish, 7 miles NW of Alnwick. Acres, 2,341. Pop., 116. Houses, 23. The earls of Dunbar anciently held it on the tenure of main-Houses, 23. The taining a road into Scotland. A cross stands on Hedge-ley-moor, at a short distance from the village, creeted to the memory of Sir Ralph Percy, who fell in 1464 in a battle with the Yorkists

BEANTON, See Baiston, Oxford.

BEARD, a township in Glossop pari h, Derby; in the High Peak, near the river Etherow and the Peak railway, 5 miles NW of Chapel-le-Frich. It comprises the humlets of Beard, Thornsett, Whittle, and Ollersett; and includes the village of New Mills, Acres, 5,014. Meal property, £15,623,—of which £1,150 are in mines. Pop., 4,522. Houses, 940.

BEARDON, a village 51 miles N of Launceston. Cornwall.

BEARD'S HILL, a hamlet in St. Peter's parish, Kent:

2 miles NE of Ramsgate. BEAR-FOREST. See BERE-FOREST.

BEAR-GREEN, a locality 41 miles S of Dorking, Surrey; with a post-office under Dorking.

BEARL, a township in Bywell-St. Andrew parish, Northumberland; 5 miles E of Corbridge. Aeres, 421. Pop., 58. Houses, 10.

BEARLEY, a parish in Strafford-on-Avon district, BEARLEY, a parisa in Stration-on-avon district, Warwick; on the Stratford branch of the Oxford and Birmingham railway, and near the Birmingham canal, 4 miles NNW of Stratford. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Stratford-on-Avon. Acres, 810. Real property, £1,348. Pop., 238. Houses, 54. The Eving is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £52. Patron, King's College, Cambridge. The gloweby is of the property of th The church is old.

BEARN-ROCK, or BEARN-BACK, a rugged islet be-low Worle Hill, in the vicinity of Weston-super-Mare, Somerset. An exciting and productive sprat fishery is carried on at it from the middle of October till Christmas.

BEARSE. a tract in the district of Chepstow and county of Gloucester; recently incorporated with St.

county of Gloucester; recently incorporated what co-Briavels parish, and previously extra-parochial. BEARSTED, or Bresten, a parish in Maidstone dis-trict, Kent; on a tributary of the Medway river, 24 miles E by S of Maidstone r. station. It has a post-office under Mailstone. Acres, 610. Real property, miles L by S of Madstone r. station. It has a post-office under Mailstone. Acres, 610. Real property, £2,636. Pop., 638. Houses, 132. The property is divided among a few. Some lands here were held by divided among a few. Some lands here were here the Bertie family before the reign of Henry II. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £191.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Rochester. The church is perpendicular English; and has a tower with three rude figures, said to refer to the name Bearsted. There is a large national school.

BEARSTONE, a township in Woore chapelry, Mucklestone parish, Salop; 6 miles NE of Market-Drayton. Pop., 101.

BEARSWOOD-GREEN, a handet in Hatfield parish,

W. R. Yorkshire: 2 miles SW of Thorne.
BEARWARDCOTE, a township in Etwall parish, Derbyshire; near leknield-street and the Birmingham and Derby railway, 6 miles SW of Derby. Pop., 32. Houses, 4.

BEARWOOD, a chapelry in Hurst and Wokingham parishes, Berks; 21 miles S of Wokingham r. station. It was constituted in 1846; and its post-town is Wokingham. Pop., 814. Houses, 169. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £180.* Patron, J. Walter, Esq. The church is handsome.

BEATHWAITE-GREEN, a hamlet in Levens town-ship, Heversham parish, Westmoreland; near the river Kent, 3 miles N of Milnthorpe. Here are Levens church and a Wesleyan chapel.

BEAUCHAMP-COURT, a farm-house near the river Arrow, 1 mile N of Alcester, Warwick. It was once the seat of the Grevilles and the Beauchamps, Farls of War wick; and was the birth-place of Fulke Greville, Lord Brooke.

BEAUCHAMP-HATCH. See HATCH-BEAUCHAMP. BEAUCHAMP-ROOTHING. See ROOTHING-BEAU-CHAMP.

BEAUCHIEF ABBEY, an extra-parochial liberty and a chapelry in the district of Ecclesull-Bierlow, and county of Derby. The liberty lies on the verge of the county, 3 miles NNW of Prenfield, and 4 SSW of Sheffield r. station: and its post-town is Dronfield, under Sheffield. Acres, 780. Real property, £1,038. Pop., 122. Houses, 24. A Premonstratensian albey was founded here, in 1183, by Rotert Fitz-Banulph, one of the murderers of Thomas à Becket. The chapelry is conterminate with the liberty; and is a donative in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, not reported. Patron, E. P. Burnell, Esq. The church is a small fullding, creefed about 1600; and has a tower which 1-longed to the abbey. BEAUDESCHT, a parish in Stratford-on-Aven district, Warwick; in the eastern vicinity of Henley-in-Arden, near the Stratford canal, 4½ miles W by S of Hatton r. station. Post-town, Henley-in-Arden, under Birmingham. Acres, 1,285. Real property, £2,562. Pop., 172. Houses, 40. A small village, of the same name as the parish, was formerly a market-town. A strong castle was erected here by Thurstane de Montfort. soon after the Conquest; but was completely destroyed in the wars of the Roses. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £320.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church has a Norman chancel, an early English nave, and a perpendicular tower. Richard Jago, born in 1715, the author of "Edge-Hill" and other poems, was a native.

poems, was a native.

BEAUDESERT PARK, a seat of the Marquis of Anglesey in Cannock chase, Stafford; 4 miles NW of Liehfield. The Marquis takes from it the title of Baron. The mansion is a stately old Tudor edifice; and the park is large and noble. Castle-Hill camp, within the grounds, was the site of an ancient royal hunting-seat; and commands a very extensive view.

BEAUFORT, a village in Aberystruth parish, Mon-BEADFORT, a Village in Aberystruth and Bedwelty parishes, Monmouth, and Llangattock and Llanganider parishes, Brewin. The village stands adjacent to the Merthyr and Abergavenny railway, near the source of the Ebbw.-Fawr river, 21 miles ENE of Tredegar; and has a static and a pres effect under Tredegar. a r. station, and a post-office; under Tredegar. ar. station, and a post-omes; under Tredegar. It comprises a very dirty straggling street about a mile long; and extensive ironworks, with seven furnaces. The thapelry was constituted in 1346. Pop., 5,830. Hooses, 1,212. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £130. Patron, alternately the Crown and the Bishop.

BEAULIEU, or BEWLEY, a village, a parish, and a liberty, in the district of New Forest, Hants. The village stands at the head of a creek, 4 miles SE of Lynd-hurst Road r. station, and 7 NE of Lymington. It has a post-office; under Sonthampton; carries on some sacka post-omee, timest sommappen, carries on some star-making and ship-building; and has fairs on 15 April and 4 Sept. It is a quaint old-fashioned place; and was formerly of more note than now. The creek at it goes 4½ miles south-south-eastward to the Solent; is navigable hither; and receives, at the head, a streamlet of 5 miles, coming from the vicinity of Lyndhurst, and called variously the Beaulieu and the Exc.—The parish com-prises 9,480 acres of land, and 2,560 of water. Real property, 44,820. Pop., 1,176. Houses, 233. The property all belongs to the Duke of Buccleuch. A Cisterian abbey was founded here, in the neighbourhood of the village, in 1204, by King John; had the privilege of sanctuary; and gave shelter to Margaret of Anjon and to Perkin Warbeck. The abbot's honse, the refectory, the cloister walls, the dormitory, and the ruins of the sac-risty, fratry, and chapter-house still remain. The abbot's house was mosted by a Duke of Montague, to protect it from French privateers; and is still maintained as a seat of the Duke of Buccleuch. The refectory is now the parish church; measures 125 feet by 301; and shows the characters of late early English. An hospital of the Knights Templars, of earlier date than the abbey, stood Anigas Templars, or earner due than the above, Surabut § a mile distant, on a rising-ground commanding an extensive view; and the ruins of it have been converted into farm-buildings. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Winchester. Value, £140.* Patron, the Duke of Buceleuch. There are two Baptist chapels .-

Duke of Bucelench. There are two Rapitst chapels.—The liberty comprises the parishes of Reaulieu and Exbury. Acres, 15,106. Pop., 1,549. Houses, 304. BEAUMANOR, a liberty in the parish of Barrow-upon-Soar, Leicester; 3 miles W of Mount-Sorret. Acres, 1,210. Real property, E2,161. Pop., 137. Houses, 19. Beaumanor Park is the seat of W. P. Hornschapel, 2016. Pop. 141. rick, Esq.; and the mansion is a splendid recent edifice, in the Tudor style, after a design by Railton.

BEAUMARIS, a town, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Bangor and county of Anglesey. The the district of Banger and county of Anglessy. The town stands on the west side of Beaumaris bay, at the NE end of the Menai strait, 21 miles geographically, but 7 by read, N by E of Bangor, and 5% NE of Llanfair r. station. It was the Welsh Porth-Wgyr and Bonover; and it acquired consequence from a castle crected by Edward I, to secure his conquests. It is well-built: and comprises two long streets, Watergate and Castlestreet, together with a third leading to the west. a post-office; under Banger, three hotels, a number of a post-office; under Exinger, arter forest, a future of good foldging-houses, a county-hall and court-house, a county jail, a nest town-hall, with elegant assembly room, a bath-house, a custom-house, a church, four dissenting chapels, a free grammar-school, almshouses, and other charities. The jail has capacity for 42 male and 7 female prisoners. The church is a handsome structure, female prisoners. The endron is a namisone structure, partly perpendicular English; and contains an ancient menument, probably of Sir Henry Sydney, and monuments of the Bulkeley fumily and of Lady Beatrice Her-The grammar-school was founded in 1609, by D. bert. The grammar-school was founded in 10st, by D. Hughes; and has £617 from endowment, and a fellow-ship and exhibition at Oxford. The castle of Edward I., in a state of ruin, stands within the grounds of Sir R. W. B. Bulkeley, Bart., adjacent to the upper end of tho w. B. Buikeley, bark, adjacent to the upper end of the town, and has a picturesque appearance. It was garti-soned in 1643 for Charles I., and made a considerable defence; but surrendered, in 1646, to General Mytton. The outer wall has ten low round towers; the main structure is nearly quadrangular, with a large round tower et each corner; and the banqueting-hall, the staterooms, the domestic apartments, and a small chapel, with finely groined roof, can still be traced. A bardie meeting was held in 1832 in the ruined banqueting-hall and chapel, attended by Her Majesty, then Princess Vic-toria, and her mother the Duchess of Kent. The surrounding grounds have been converted by the owner into a pleasant promenade.

The town is much and increasingly frequented for seabathing; and it offers many attractions to visitors, -fine bathing-ground, charming walks, pleasant recreations, nathing-ground, charling wairs, pleasant recreations, and most magnificent views. Ferries are open to Bangor and Aber; and steamers ply to Liverpool and Carnarvon. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on 13 Feb. Holy Tilursday, 19 Sept., and 19 Dec. The port has jurisdiction over Conway, Anlweb, Holyhcad. Aberffraw, Rhydpoint, and some smaller sub-ports; and the craft belonging to it, at the close of 1867, comprised the creat belonging to 1, at the close of 1977, complised 133 small salling-vessels of aggregately 4,406 tons, and 163 larger ones of aggregately 14,92t tons; while the vessels which entered it during that year, counting repeated voyages, were 27 sailing-vessels from the colonies and foreign countries of aggregately 6,370 tons, 1,074 and foreign countries of aggregately 48,359 tons, and 778 steam-vessels coastwise of aggregately 48,359 tons, and 778 steam-vessels coastwise of aggregately 313,606 tons. The chief imports are timber, coal, and provisions; and the chief exports copper-ores, slate, and marble. The town was made a borough by Edward I.; it is governed have more four allegan, and twike convolutions; is by a mayor, four aldermen, and twelve councillors; is the seat of the assizes for Anglesey, and of quarter sessions; is the election town, and the head-quarters of the militia; and, along with Amlwch, Holyhead, and Llangefni, sends a member to parliament. Its borough boundaries include Beanmaris parish and parts of six edjoining parishes. Direct taxes, in 1857, £3,986. Electors, in 1868, 563. Pop., 2,558. Houses, 541.—The parish comprises 440 acres of land, and 780 of water. Real property, £6,443. Pop., 2,210. Houses, 466. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Llandegfan, in the diocese of Bangor.—The sub-district comprises eleven parishes and five parochial chapelries. Acres, 35,370. Pop., 13,139. Houses, 2,983. See BARON HILL.

BEAUMARIS-BAY, the expansion of sea at the NE end of the Menai strait. It extends 12 miles north-east-ward from Bangor to Great Orme's Head; measures 75 miles, across the entrance, east-north-eastward, from Trwyn-Dhu-Point to Great Orme's Head; expands, in the NE, into the estuary of the Conway river; and is mainly occupied, in the upper part, opposite and around Beaumaris, by the Lavan Sands. A safe capacions harbour oo it, called Friar's Road, adjoins Beaumaris; has aneborage in from 4 to 6 fathoms; and is entered, round Puffin's Island, by two channels marked with buovs.

BEAUMONT, a parish in Carlisle district, Cumber-and; on the river Eden, the Roman wall, and the Carand on the river rough, the roman wan, and the Car-lisle and Silloth railway, in the vicinity of Burgh sta-tion, 5 miles NW of Carlisle. Post-town, Burgh-by-Sands, under Carlisle. Acres, 1,470. Real property, 22,306. Pop., 257. Houses, 56. The property is sub-divided. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Kirk-Andrews-upon-Eden, in the diocese of Carlisle. The church is small and plain.

The church is small and plain.

BEAUMONT, a village in the parish of St. Peter, Jersey; 2 miles NE of St. Aubin. It has a post-office under St. Heliers. Pop., 255.

BEAUMONT-OHASE, an extra-parochial tract in Uppingham district, Rutland; 1½ mile from Uppingham.
It commands some fine views. Pop., 31. Houses, 4.

BEAUMONT-OUM-MOZE, a parish in Tendring district, Essex; near the head of an inlet of the North sea, between the Naza and Harrich At Wiles S. of Wenham.

between the Neze and Harwich, 41 miles S of Wrabness r. station, and 10 E of Colchester. It has a post-office, of the name of Beaumont, under Colchester. Acres, 2,261; of which 215 are water. Real property, £4,349.
Pop., 490. Honses, 109. The property is divided rinong a few. Beaumont Hall is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. £652.* Patron, Wadham College, Oxford The Patron, Wadham College, Oxford. The church is good; and there is a Wesleyan chapel.

BEAUMONT-LEYS, an extra-parochial tract in Bar-row-upon-Soar district, Leicestershire; near the Leicester and Swannington railway, 2 miles N of Leicester.
Acres, 1,210. Real property, £1,955. Pop., 31.

BEAUPRE CASTLE, the ancient seat of the Bassett family, in Glamorganshire; on the river Thaw, 3 miles SE of Cowfridge. It occupies the site of an early Welsh fortress, enlarged by the Normans, and is itself a curious mixture of Gothic and Greek architecture, designed by a native artist of the name of Twrch.

BEAUSALL, a hamlet in Hatton parish, Warwickshire; 4 miles NW of Warwick. It includes Brown-Lloyd-Green, Old Park, Old Folly, New Folly, and Waste-Green. Real property, £2,378. Pop., 273.

Houses, 59.
BEAU-VALE, a manor in Greasley parish, Notts; 7 miles NW of Nottingham. It belonged anciently to the Cantilupes; and had a Carthusian priory, founded by one of that family in the time of Edward III. Some fragments of the ancient manor-house, and some tottering walls of the priory, connected with the offices of a BEAUVOIR TOWN, or DE BEAUVOIR TOWN, a charelry in West Hackney parish, London; near Kingslaud Road, 21 niles N by E of St. Paul's.

p. curacy in the diocess of London. Value, not reported. Patron, R. B. De Beauvoir, Esq.: who built

BEAUWORTH, or BEAWORTH, a parish in Alres-ford district, Hants; 42 miles S of Alresford r. sta-tion, and 65 ESE of Winchester. Post-town, Cheriton, under Alresford. Acres, 1,214. Real property, £1,194. under Alresford. Acres, 1,214. Real property, £1,194. Pop., 127. Houses, 28. A leaden box containing about 760 coins of William the Conqueror and William Rufus was found here in 1833. The parish is a resort of sportsmen. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory men. The hving is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Cheriton, in the diocess of Winchester.

EEAWORTHY, or BEWORTHY, a parish in Okehampton district, Devon; 6 miles SW of Hatherleigh, and 9 W of Okehampton r. station. Post-town, North Lew under Exbourne, North Devon, Acres, 2,806. Real property, £1,122. Pop., 238. Houses, 52. The land is filly and boggy. The manor belongs to the representatives of the late Sir W. Molesworth. The living is a rectory in the diozese of Exeter. Value, £143. Patron, Edwin Force, Esq. The church is a neat small edifice, with a low square tower. There is a chapel for Bible Christians.

BEAZLEV-END, a village 41 miles N of Braintree, in Essev.

BEBBANBURY. See BAMEROUGH.

BEBINGTON, two townships and a parish in Wirrall district, Cheshire. The townships are styled Higher and Lower; they lie on the river Mersey, and on the Birkenhead and Chester railway, 21 and 33 miles S by E of Birkenhead; they have a station, of the name of Eebington, on the railway, and a post-office of the same name, under Birkenhead; and they have had great recent increase of houses and inhabitants from their situation on the Mersey, in immediate communication with Liveron the stersey, in immediate communication with Liver-pool. Acres of Higher Bebington, 1,084; of which 135 are water. Real property, £14,790. Pop., 2,086. Houses, 336. Acres of Lower Behington, 1,542; of which 490 are water. Real property, £10,035. Pop., 2,485. Houses, 465. The parish includes also the townships of Tranmere, Storeton, and Poulton-cum-Spittle. Acres, 6,437; of which 1,060 are water. Real property, 266,922. Pop. in 1841, 5,003; in 1861, 15,105. Houses, 2,549. The property is much subdivided. Excellent building stone, with notable geological peculiarities, is extensively quarried. The living is a rectory, with St. extensively quarried. The living is a rectory, with St. Mark's chapelry, in the dioceso of Choster. Value, 2670. Patron, the Rev. G. R. Feilden. The parish church is partly Norman, partly mixed English; and St. Mark's was built in 1866. The p. caracy of Christchurch is a separate benefice, in the patronage of the Rev. G. Tronghton; and its church was built in 1859. The vicarages of Rock Ferry and Tranmere also are separate benefices. There are four dissenting chapels, two national schools, a workhouse, and charities £53.

BEBSIDE, a township in Horton parish, Northumberland; on the Blyth railway, 23 miles W of Blyth. It has ar. station, and extensive iron-works. Pop., 53.

BECCANLEN. See BECKLEY, Sussex.

BECCLES, a town, a parish, and a sub-district, in Wangford district, Suffolk. The town stands on the river Waveney, and on the Eastern Counties railway, amid pleasant environs, & miles W of Lowestoft. It belonged anciently to Bury abbey; and suffered severely, in 1586, from fire. It is now well-built; and comprises several streets, which diverge from a spacious market-place. The town-hall was built in 1839, and is used as a contr-house. The coru exchange was formerly the theatre. The assembly-room is a handsome building, with a public library attached. The house of correction is a substantial and commodious structure; but is now used only as a police station. The parish church is later English; consists of nave, chancel, and aisles, altogether 148 feet long and 614 feet wide; was renovated in 1850; and has a tower, 92 feet high, built about 1515, detached a short distance from the SE corner, and commanding a fine view of the surrounding country. Another church, or a chapel, connected with an hospital for lepers founded in the time of Edward III., stood at Endgate. A new cemetery has been formed, comprising 5 acres, beautifully laid out, and containing two chapels. The town has chapels for Independents, Baptists, and Methodists, a free grammar school with income of £184, another free school with £197, further charities with £290, a head post-office, t a railway station, two banking-offices, and two chief inns. A weekly market is held on Friday; and a fair also is held on Whit-Mon-The Waveney is navigable honce to the sea, making Beccles a sub-port to Yarmouth; a good coal, corn, and malt trade is carried on; and a weekly newspaper is published. The town was incorporated by Queen Eizabeth; is governed by a mayor, four aldermen, and twelve conneillors; possesses a common of about 900 acres; and has a corporate income of about £2,200; and is a pollingplace for East Sutfolk. The parish is conterminate with the borough. Acres, 1,892. Real property, £16,381. Pop., 4,266. Houses, 984. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £370. Patron, the Rev. E. Hollond. The sub-district comprises thirteen parishes. Acres, 18,181. Pop., 7,221. Houses, 1,558.

BECCONSALL. See HESKETH-WITH-BECCONSALL BECCOTT, a hamlet in Arlington parish, Devon. BECHAN, a river of North Wales. It rises on the Berwyn mountains, near the boundary between Mon: gomery and Merioucth; and runs 16 miles south-cost-ward, past Llanwddan, Llwydiarth-Park, and Pont-Dolanog, to the Einion, 13 mile below Maifod. BECHTON. See BETCHTON.

BECK, a name of Saxon origin signifying "a brook;" also a name of Scandinavian origin, signifying "a beacon-stone" or "beacon-tower."

BECK, a village in Arthuret parish, Cumberland; 2 miles W of Longtown.

BECK, a village on the eastern border of Cumberland, 31 miles NW of Kirkoswald.

3\[\text{miles NW of Kirkoswald.} \] BECKBURY, a parish in Shiffnal district, Salop; on a tributary of the Severn, 4\[\text{ miles SW of Albrighton r.} \] station, and 5\[\text{ S by E of Shifmal.} \]
It has a post-office under Shiffmal. Acres, 1,343. Real property, 22,140.
Pop., 237. Houses, 66. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Here-ford. Value, £350. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good.

BECKENHAM, a village and a parish in Bromley district, Kent. The village stands on a small tributary of the Ravensbourne river, close to a junction of several railways, 3 miles SE of the Crystal Palace, and 2 W of Bromley; has stations on the railways, and a post-office under London, SE.; and is rapidly becoming a suburb. under London, SE; and is rapidly becoming a suburb. The patish comprises 3,875 acres. Real property, in 1865, about £40,000. Pop. in 1861, 2,124; in 1865, about £40,000. Pop. in 1861, 2,124; in 1865, about £3,500. The property is subdivided. Beckenham Place is the seat of A. Cator, Esq.; Kelsey Park, of P. R. Hoare, Esq.; Old Manor House, of H. Fortesene, Esq.; and Langley Park, of C. Goodheart, Esq. Beckenham was the residence of Brandon, Duke of Suffolk, when visited by Henry VIII; and Clay-Hill here was the residence of Edward King, author of the "Munimenta Antiqua," who died in 1807. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Canterbury. Value, £900. * Fatron, J. Cator, Esq. The church was built about the beginning of the 16th century; has a loft white spire, rebuilt in of the 16th century; has a lofty white spire, rebuilt in 1796; and contains monuments of the Styles, the Burrells, the Hoarrs, and others, and a tablet to Captain Hedley Vicars, who fell at Sebastopol. The ancient lich-gate, for setting down corpses at funerals, still stands. The p. curacies of B. St.-Paul and Shortlands are separate charges, both of them constituted in 1868. There are endowed national schools with £42 a-year, and other charities £63. Dr. Assheton, prolocutor in convocation, who died in 1711, was rector.

BECRERING-HOLITON. See HOLITON-BECKERING.

BECKERMET, a township in the parishes of St. Bridget-Beckermet and St. John-Beckermet, Cumberland; on the river Ehen, adjacent to the Whitehaven and Furness railway, in the vicinity of Braystones station, 3 miles S of Egermont. It has a post-office under Whitehaven. Real property, with Calder, £2,138. A property in the neighbourhood, called Wotobank, was the scene of the tragical subject of Mrs. Cowley's "Edwina." The lady of a proprietor was killed on the grounds by a wolf, and found in a mangled state on a bank; when her husband exclaimed in horror. "We to this bank!"

"Wo to thee, bank! the attendants echoed round, And pitying shepherds caught the grief-fraught sound; Thus to this hour, through every changing age,— Through every year's still ever-varying stage,-The name remains."

BECKERMET-ST. BRIDGET, a parish in White-haven district, Cumberland; on the coast and on the Whitehaven and Furness railway, from Beckermet town-ship south-eastward to the vicinity of Calder-Bridge. Post-town, Beckermet, under Whitehaven. Acres, 5,025; of which 377 are water. Rated property, £3,002, 90, 657. Houses, 126. The property is much subdivided. Freestone is quarried. The living is a vicarage, united the content of the property is the vicarage, united the property of the propert to the p. enracy of Calder-Bridge, in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £127. Patron, Captain Irwin. The church is old and lonely, and now used merely for marriages and burials; and a new church at Calder-Bridge is attended by the inhabitants.

BECKERMET-ST. JOHN, a parish in Whitehaven district, Cumberland; on the coast and on the Whitehaven and Furness railway, from Beckermet township north-westward to the vicinity of Nethertown station. Post-town, Beckermet, under Whitehaven. Acres, 2,752. Rated property, £2,563. Pop., 492. Houses, 100. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £96.* Patron, II.

Gaitskell, Esq. The church is modern.

BECKETSBURY, an ancient camp on Westridge, Cloucester; 1 unile N of Wootton-under-Edge. It occupies about 4 acres; has a double trench; and is planted with beech.

BECKETT, a tything in Shrivenham parish, Berks; in the vicinity of the Great Western railway, 5 miles SW of Faringdon. Pop. 23. Houses, 6. It was formerly called Becote; belonged once to the Earls of Evreux, then to the priory of Norion in Normandy; was seized, and made an occasional residence, by King John; and passed afterwards to a family who took from it the name of De Beckete. It now belongs to Viscount Barrington. The present mansion on it superseded a large ancient manor-house; is a fine edifice in the Tudor style; and contains some interesting paintings and the chess-pieces of Charles I.

BECKFOOT, a hamlet in Bingley township and parish, W. R. Yorkshire.

BECKFOOT, Westmoreland. See BARBON

BECKFORD, a village and a parish in Winchcomb district, Gloucester. The village stands near the Ashchurch and Evesham railway, 7 miles SW of Evesham; and has a r. station, and a post-office under Tewkesbury. The parish includes also the hamlets of Bangrore, Didthe parish includes also the name of hangrore, Did-cote, and Grafton. Acres, 2,650. Real property, 2,454. Pop., 473. Houses, 103. The property is divided among a few. Beckford Hall is the seat of Hatti Foll, Esq. The manor was given, in the time of Henry I., to the abbey of St. Martin in Normandy; and passed, after the suppression first to Fton college, part to Fell, included. suppression, first to Eton college, next to Fotheringhay, next to Sir Richard Lee. The living is a vicarage, united to the p. curacy of Aston-under-Hill, in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £317.* Patron, the Rev. Dr. Timbrill. The church is Norman, was recently re-stored, and has a lofty tower, crowned with pinnacles. Charities, £47. BECK-HALL.

See BILLINGFORD, Norfolk.

BECKI-HALL. See BILLINGFORD, Nortolk. BECKI-MAM (EASY), a parish in Etpingham district, Norfolk; 4 miles WSW of Cromer, and 14 E by N of Walsingham r. station. Post-town, Lower Sherringham, under Norwich. Acres, 782. Real property, 2608. Pop., 73. Houses, 17. The living is a sinecurc in the diocese of Normick and Paris Property. 73. Houses, 17. The living is a sinecure in the diocese of Norwich; and the church has been long in ruins.

BECKHAM (West), a parish in Erpingham district, Norfolk; 5 miles WSW of Cromer, and 13 E by N of Walsingham r. station. Post-town, Lower Sherringham, under Norwich. Acres, 785. Real property, £1,477. Pop., 329. Houses, 42. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £61. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Norwich. The church is early English, and had formerly a round tower, surmounted by an octagonal lanthern.

BECKHAMPTON, a tything in Avebury parish, Wilts; on the Downs, 6 miles W of Marlborough. Here are severid barrows, two large Druidic stones, and a ruined ancient chapel. Pop., 155.

ancient enaper. 170p., 150.

BECKINGHAM, a parish in the district of Newark and county of Lincoln; on the river Witham, 31 miles N of Claypole r. station, and 5 E of Newark. It includes the hamlet of Sutton; and has a post-office under Newark. Acres, 2,200. Real property, £4,200. Pop., 431. Houses, 105. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacies of Strag glesthorpe and Fenton, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, gless.norpe and remon, in the mocess of laticoth. Value, 2697. Patron, the fieve, Ø, Marsland, The church was recently restored. There is a Wesleyan chapel. BECKINGHAM, a parish in Gainsborough district, Notts; on the Lincoln and Doneaster railway, 23 miles W by N of Gainsborough. It has a post effice under Gainsborough, and a r. station. Acres, 3,010. Real property, £5,727. Pop., 450. Houses, 104. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £110. Patron, the Pre-bendary of Southwell. The church is good; and there are Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist chapels, and chari-Dr. William Howell, the historian, was a BECKINGTON, a village and a parish in Frome district, Somerset. The village stands near the river Frome and the East Somerset railway, 3 miles NE of Frome; and has a post-officet under Bath. It was formerly a place of some importance, carrying on woollen manufacplace of some importance, carrying on women mannactures; but has suffered greatly from the decline of the clothing trade. The parish includes also the hamlet of Endge. Acres, 1,830. Real property, £5,243. Pop., 1,036. Houses, 229. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Standerwick, in the diocess of Bath and Wells. Value, £540.* Patron, S. L. Sainsbury, Esq. The church was restored in 1861, and it contains monuments of the Seymours and the poet Daniel. There are a Baptist chapel, national, British, and boarding schools, and charities £23. Thomas Beckington, Bishop of Bath and Wells, who figured in the legislation against the Wickliffites, was a native; and Huish, one of the editors of the Polyglott Bible, was rector.

BECKJAY, a township in Clungunford parish, Salop; miles WNW of Ludlow. Pop., 73.

BECKLEY, a village and a parish in Headington dis-trict, Oxford. The village stands on the line of the Roman road from Alcester to Wallingford, on an eminence overhaging the south side of Ottmoor, 3 miles SE of Islip r. station, and 5 NE of Oxford; and has a postoffice under Oxford. It was the burial-place of the British saint, Donanverdh; the hereditary property of King Alfred; and the site of the castellated palace of Richard King of the Romans. The parish includes also the hamlets of Studley and Horton-cum-Studley. Acres, 4,370. Real property, £1,888. Pop., 749. Houses, 165. The surface is hilly. Verious fragments of Roman pottery have been found. A Benedictine priory was founded at Studley, in the time of Henry 11., by Bertrand de St. Walery; passed, at the dissolution, to the Crokes; and was converted into a dwelling-house in 1587. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £112. Patron, the Rev. T. L. Cooke. The church is an interesting structure of the 14th century; and has remains of very curious frescoes, a font with ancient stone desk, and tombs of the Crokes. There are almshouses with ±92, and other charities £7.

BECKLEY, a parish and a sub-district in the district Rye, Sussex. The parish adjoins the river Rother, on of Rye, Sussex. the border of the county, 6 miles NW of Rye r. station; it was known to the Saxons as Beccanlen; and it has a it was known to the Saxons as Beccanien; and it cans a post-office under Staplehurst. Acres, 5,316. Real property, £7,113. Pop., 1,252. Houses, 273. The property is subdivided. There were formerly extensive iron-works. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £851.* Patron, University college, Oxford. The church is very good. There is a Wesleyan Oxford. The church is very good. There is a Wesleyan chapel. A fair is held on Easter Thursday.—The subchapel. district comprises six parishes. Acres, 23,073. Pop., 5,574. Houses, 1,169.

BECK (LITTLE), a hamlet in Ugglebarnby township, N. R. Yorkshire; 31 miles SW of Whitby.

BECK-ROW, a watch or hamlet in Mildenhall parish,

Sntfolk; 3 miles NW of Mildenhall. Pop., 684. Houses, There are two Methodist chapels, BECKS, a village in Marshfield parish, Gloucester. BECKSHALGH. See Bashall-Eaves. BECKSIDE, a village 81 miles SSE of Ravenglass, in Cumberland BECKURMONDS. See BEGGARMONDS.

BECKWITH, a hamlet in Pannal parish, near Lower

BECKY (THE), a streamlet of Devon; rising on the east side of Dartmoor forest, and running I miles northeastward to the river Wrey, 44 miles SE of Moreton-Hampstead. A fall occurs in it, about 3 miles from its source, about 80 feet in descent, down a granite precipice. This makes a grand appearance after heavy rains; and has accompaniments which always look romantic. even when the water shrinks into mero tricklings among the rocks. A cottage belonging to the Earl of Devon is adjacent. The valley of the stream is the Houndton Combe, overhung by the Houndtor mountain, capped with rocks resembling the colonnade of a ruined temple; and it both contains very striking scenery within itself, and looks out on some most interesting views.

EECONTREE, a hundred in Essex. It is bounded on the W by the river Roding,—on the S by the Thames; measures 8 miles by 5½; and contains uine parishes.

Acres, 38,826. Pop. in 1851, 46,777; in 1861, 73,023.

Houses, 12,606.
BECOTE. See BECKETT. BEDALE, a small town, a township, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in N. R. Yorkshire. The town stands on a small tributary of the Swale, adjacent to the Stands on a small tributary of the Swale, adjacent to the Northallerton and Leyburn railway, near the Leeming Roman way, 8 miles SW by W of Northallerton. It consists chiefly of one street; and has a head post-onlice, a railway station, a bauking-office, two chief ins, petty sessions, court-house, and assembly-rooms, a parish church, a Wesleyan chapel, two endowed schools, alms-houses, a workhouse, and charities £247. The church is early English, and large; has a square embattled tower, so strong as to have been used for defence in the Border forays; contains ancient monuments to the Earl of Arundel and others, modern ones to Admiral Sir J. P. Beresford and Henry Peirse, Esq., and beautiful memorial windows to Mr. and Mrs. Monson and others; and was renovated in 1855. A weekly market is held on Tuesday; and fairs on Easter-Tuesday, Whit-Tuesday, 6 July, 11 Oct., and the Monday week before Christmas. The circumjacent country is highly cultivated, and has a character for producing excellent riding-horses. Bedale Hall, an elegant mansion, and Bedale Grange, another chief residence, are adjacent. A castle was built by Brian Fitzallan, Earl of Arundel, on a spot now within the grounds of Bedale Hall; but has disappeared.

The township includes the town, and comprises 1,613 aeres. Real property, £7,064. Pop., 1,157. Houses, 233. The parish contains also the townships of Forby, Crakehall. Aiskew, Langthorne, and Rauds-Grange in the district of Bedale, and the township of Burrell-cum-Cowling in the Bedaie, and the cownship of burrell-cum-Cowning in the district of Leyburn. Acres, 7,551. Realproperty, 219,637. Pop., 2,860. Houses, 620. The projecty is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ripon. Value, 21,936.* Patrons, Trustees of Lord Beaumont, and of Harry Monson de la Poer Beresford, Esq. The victorage of Craichall is a separate benefice. The subdistrict comprises the parishes of Kirkby-Fleetham, Scrudistrict of Redela. ton, and Burneston, and parts of the parishes of Bedale, Catterick, Hornby, Kirklington, and Pickhill. Acres, Catterick, Hornby, Kirklington, and Pickhill. Acres, 25,210. Pop., 0,000. Houses, 1,309. The district includes also the sub-district of Masham, containing the parish of Well, and parts of the parishes of Mashan and Thornton-Watlass, Acres. 45.588. Poor-rates in 1866. parising of Weil, and parts of the parisines of Mashani and Thornton-Watlass. Acres, 46,588. Foor-rates in 1866, £3,578. Pop. in 1861, 8,650. Houses, 1,929. Mar-riages in 1866, 51; births, 227,—of which 13 were illegi-timate; deaths, 149,—of which 35 were at ages under 5 years, and 11 at ages above $5 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 586; births, 2,580; deaths, 1,588. The places of worship in 1851 were 12 of the Church of Marriages in the England, with 4,268 sittings; 2 of Baptists, with 466 s.; 16 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,446 s.; 5 of Primitive Methodists, with 538 s.; 1 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 100 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholies, with 60 s. schools were 29 public day schools, with 931 scholars; 19 private day schools, with 545 s.; 25 Sunday schools, with 1,333 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 25 s.

BEDANFORD. See BEDFORD.

BEDBURN (THE), a stream of Durham. It rises on Egglestone Common; and runs 10 miles north-castward to the Wear below Happy Land Park.

BEDBURN (North, a township in Auckland-St. Andrew parish, Darham; near the Weardale railway and the river Wear, 54 miles NW of Bishop-Auckland.

140

Acres, 2,036, Real property, £6,112, -of which £2,963 are in mines. Pop., 1,771. Houses, 335. There is a Wosleyan chapel.

BEDBURN (South), a township in Auckland-St. Andrew parish, Durham; on the Bedburn rivulet, 33 miles from the Weardale railway, and 7½ W of Bishop-Auckland. Acres, 6,765. Real property, £2,920. Pop., 332. Houses, 61.

BEDCESTER, a hamlet in Fontmell-Magna parish, Dorset; 3 miles S by W of Shaftesbury.
BEDDAU-GWYR-ARDUDWY, a group of ancient graves on Michanat hill, Merioneth; 3 miles S E of Festiniog, and 14 WNW of Bala. The men of Ardudwy made an incursion into the vale of Clwyd; carried off thence a number of maidens, whom they intended to marry; and were pursued by the warriers of the vale to Michant hill, and all there put to the sword. graves on the spot are the graves of these men; they were about 36 in number, arranged in a regular order; and they long continued to be each from 2 to 3 feet high, with a small stone at the head end another at the feet; but they have ceased to be distinguishable, and only two head-stones are standing.

BEDDGELERT, or BETHGELERT, a village in the district of Festiniog and county of Carnarvon, and a parish partly also in Merioneth. The village stands at the con-fluence of the Colwyn and the Gwynnant rivers, near Aberglaslyn pass, 6 miles S of the summit of Snowdon, and 12 SE of Carnarvon; and is connected by railway, near completion in 1869, with the Cambrian at Port-Madoc. It nestles in a deep romantic vale, engirt by lofty mountains, smidst the graudest scenery in Wales; presents very strong attractions to tourists, artists, and anglers; was anciently noted as a resting - place of pilgrims; and has a post-office; under Carnarron, large excellent hotel, comfortable lodging-houses, a parish church and two dissenting chapels. The church is early English; measures 80 feet by 30; and belonged originally to an Augustinian priory. The priory is thought by some to have been older than Owen Gwynedd, who began to reign in 1137; by others, to have been founded by Llewelyn the Great. A romantic tradition asserts that Llewelyn founded it to commemorate the preservation of an infant child in its cradle from an inpreservation of an initial enion in its create from an intruding wolf, the animal being killed there by a watchful nound, and the hound itself killed immediately after through mistake by the master; and this tradition is the subject of the late Hon. W. R. Spencer's ballad of "Prince Llewelyn and his Greyhound Gelert;" but it probably was borrowed from some one of similar old stories current in England, in Ireland, in France, in Persia, and in other countries. Fairs are held at the village on 10 April, 10 Aug., 21 and 27 Sept., and 13 Oct .- The parish includes the hamlet of Llwynllinon, the lordship of Nanthnynant, and the hamlet of Nantmor; and the two former contain the village of Beddgemor; and the two former contain the village of Beddge-lert. Acres, 26,716. Rated property, £2,187. Pop., 1,375. Houses, 275. The property is subdivided. Titunium and copper ores are found. Moel-Hebog mountain, overlanging the village on the W, has a recess which was a hiding-place of Owen Glendower; and yielded up from a bog, in 1784, a very curious brass Roman shield. Some pretty cascades occur on the Colwyn, a few hundred yards from the village; and the pass to the S, noticed in our article ABERGLASLYN, teams with interest. The principal seene of Southey's poem of "Madoc" is laid in the parish. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £189. Patron, John Priestley, Esq.

BEDDINGHAM, a parish in Lewes district, Sussex; on the river Ouse and on the South Coast railway, near Glynde station, 25 miles SE of Lewes. It has a post-office under Lewes. Acres, 2,918. Real property, Glynde station, 24 miles SE of Lewes. It has a post-office under Lewes. Acres, 2,918. Real property, £2,857. Pop., 334. Houses, 59. The property is divided among a few. The manor is mentioned in the will of King Alfred; and had a nonastery in the beginning of the 9th century. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of West Firle, in the diocess of Chichester. Value, £480. Patrons, the Bishop and the Dean and Chapter of Chichester alternately. The church was restored in 1858.

BEDDINGTON, a village and a parish in Croydon district, Surrey. The village stands on the river Wandle, near the Southeastern and the Wimbledon and Croydon railways, 21 miles W of Croydon; and it has a station on the latter railway, and a post-office under Croydon, London S. The parish includes also the place called Beddington Corner, and the hamlet of Wallington. Acres, 3,909. Real property, £12,060. Pop., 1,556. Houses, 311. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Carews from 1360 till 1860. The manor belonged to the catews from tool the foot. Beddington House, on the manor, now the seat of the Rev. A. H. Bridges, is chiefly a brick edifice of 1709; but includes a great hall, with very rich open roof, visited by Queen Elizabeth; and contained interesting family por-traits, a curious trophy of arms, and an elaboratelyformed door-lock. An orangery here, destroyed in 1739, sprang from pips imported by Sir Francis Carew, the brother-in-law of Sir Walter Raleigh, the first pips planted in England. At Woodcote, in the southern part of the parish, many Roman remains have been found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £1,212.* Patron, the Rev. A. H. Bridges. The church shows Norman traces; was founded before the Conquest, and rebuilt of flint in the time of Richard I .; was renovated and extended, at a cost of £3,000, in 1850; renovateu and extended, at a cost of 25,000, in 1869. The p. curucy of Wallington is a separate charge, formed in 1867. BEDDINGTON CORNER, a locality in Beddington parish, Surrey; 2 miles N of Beddington village. It has a post-office under Mitcham, London S.

BEDEWIND. See BEDWIN (GREAT).

BEDFIELD, a parish in Hoxne district, Suffolk; 4 miles NW of Frandingham r. station. It has a postoffice under Wickham-Market. Acres, 1,268. Real property, £2,469. Pop., 415. Houses, 88. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £286.9 Patron, Earl Stradbroke. The church is old but good.

broke. The church is our our good.

BEDFONT (EAST), a village and a parish in Staines district, Middlesex. The village stands adjacent to the Southwestern railway, near Feltham station, 3½ miles.

ENE of Staines; and has a post-office, of the name of Bedfont, under Hounslow. The parish includes also the hamlet of Hatton. Aeres, 1,856. Real property, £6,497. Pop., 1,150. Houses, 237. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of London. Value, £283.* Patron, the Bishop of London. The church is ancient, has a Saxon porch, and has been

BEDFONT (West), a hamlet in Stanwell parish, Middlesex; on King's river, 11 mile W by N of East

BEDFORD, a town, two sub-districts, and a district in Bedfordshire. The town stands on the river Ouse, in a pleasant fertile valley, 471 miles NNW of Londou. The Ouse is navigable hence to the sea; the Hitchin and Leicester railway, deflecting from the Great Northern at Hitchin, comes 151 miles hither, and goes away to the NW; the Bletchley and Bedford railway, 16 miles long, comes northeastward from the Northwestern at Bletchley; the Bedford and Cambridge, 291 miles long, goes east-north-eastward to the Great Eastern; and the Bedford and Northampton, 26 miles long, authorized in 1865, goes west-north-westward to Northampton.

Bedford was known to the Saxons as Bedanford or Bedicanford, signifying "the lodgiog or fortress at the Cuthwulf defeated the Britons near it in 571. The Danes attacked it in 911 and 921; and burned it in 1010. A castle was built at it, near the river, soon after the Conquest; figured in the wars of the Barons; was taken, in 1133, by King Stephen; taken, in 1216, by Fulk de Brent; and destroyed, in 1224, by Henry III. Nothing of the castle remains except a portion of the entrenchments; and the site of its keep is occupied by a bowling-green. Hugh de Bellemont, son of the Earl of Leicester, was made Earl of Bedford by King Stephen; but fell from his allegiance, and was degraded.

run de Coucy was raised to the earldom by Edward III. John Plantagenet, third son of Henry IV., was made luke of Bedford by Henry V.; but died without issue. The Russel family were raised to the dukedom in 1694; and have their chief seat at Woburn Abbey. Three men who have shed great lustre upon Bedford were Sir W. wan have shed great instre upon Bedford were Sir W. Harpur, some time Lord Mayor of London, who died in 1574; S. Palmer the nonconformist; and John Bunyan, the author of the "Pilgrim's Progress." The first and the second were natives; and the third was born at Elstow, 14 mile to the S, and achieved at Bedford the chief experiences of his remarkable life.

The town consists of a principal street, nearly a mile long, several intersecting streets, and some suburbs; has undergone great recent improvement, and considerable increase; contains many old substantial houses, and some handsome new ones; and presents altogether a pleasing appearance. The bridge across the Ouse, connecting High-street and Mary-street, occupies the site of one which stood nearly 600 years; has live arches; and was built in 1813, at a cost of £15,000. The town-hall contains apartments for the sessions and the assizes. county-jail, on the site of the prison in which Bunyan wrote his Pilgrim's Progress, was rebuilt in 1849, at a cost wrote his rigrim's riogress, was reomet in 1945, at a cost of £23,000; is of three stories; and has capacity for 243 male and 29 female prisoners. The work-house was erected as a house of industry in 1796, at a cost of £5,000; and changed to its present form, at a further cost of £1,800. The county lunatic asylum was built in 1512, at a cost of £13,000; and was a substantial brick structure; but has been taken down, and a new edifice instead of it has been built at Stotfold. The county infirmary was founded in 1803; is a brick edifice, with stone tront; and contains 100 beds. The corn exchange, in St. Paul's-square, is a very commodious building. mains of an interesting edifice of the 14th century, with window-tracery and other decorations, stand at the foot of a yard leading out at High-street, and now form part of the George Inn. A meadow, called King's mead, belonging from old times to the town, lies about 2 miles distant, on the right bank of the Ouse; and contains a sulphuretted saline spring. Extensi drainage-works were formed in 1868. Extensive water-works and

The town, as defined by its borough boundaries, com-prises 2,200 acres; and it is divided into two wards and five parishes. The wards are Eastern and Western: and the parishes are St. Cuthbert, St. Peter, St. Paul, St. Mary, and St. John. St. Cuthbert is wholly in the Eastern ward; each of the other parishes is partly in both wards; and St. Paul includes the chapelry of Trimity. All the livings are in the diocese of Ely. St. Cuthbert, St. Peter, St. Mary, and St. John are rectories; St. Paul is a vicarage; and Trinity is a vicarage. The value of St. Cuthbert is £145; of St. Peter, £204; of St. Paul, £230; of St. Mary, £273; of St. John £149; of Trinity, £75. The patron St. Cuthbert and St. Peter is the Lord Chancellor; of St. Paul, the Rev. C. Fitzeradd; of St. Mary, £2130 Collego Oxford; the parishes are St. Cuthbert, St. Peter, St. Paul, St. St. Peter is the Lord Chancellor; of St. Faul, the new.

W. G. Fitzgerald; of St. Mary, Relial College, Oxford; of St. John, the Corporation of the borough of Bedford; and of Trinity, the Vicer of St. Faul. St.
Cuthbert's church was rebuilt in 1847, and is in the Norman style. St. Peter's is Norman and early English, and was recently colleged. St. Paul's is early and docorated English, and has a handsome tower and octagonal spire. Trinity church was built in 1840, and made a separate charge in 1860. St. Mary's is later English with a Norman tower. St. John's is later English. A Wesa Norman tower. St. sounds is more lengths. A Des-leyan chapel, in the Florentine Gothic style, was built in 1866. The Bunyan chapel was rebuilt in 1819, on the site of the "Old Meeting" in which John Bunyan preached from 1671 till 1688; and has a tablet to him on its side, and his chair in the vestry. There are eight other dissenting chapels. An ultra-untal cemetery of 18 acres, with two conjoined chapels, was opened in 1855, A menastery seems to have been founded on the bank of the Ouse, to the W of the town, portly early in the Saxon times; and a chapel, probably connected with it, read the lawish whose of them. Of the course the lawish whose of them. was the burial-place of King Offa, and was swept away in an inundation. Caldwell priory, near this, was founded in the time of King John, for bretheen of the order of the Holy Cross; and some vestices of it remain.

A Frauciscan friary, an hospital of St. Leonard, and an hospital or priory of St. John the Baptist, stood in the S part of the town; and the last was endowed in the time of Edward H., and still exists as a public charity.

The charities and the educational appliances of Bedford are remarkably rich and numerous. A bequest by Sir William Harpur, in the time of Edward VI., of some property in Bedford and of 13 acres of land within the parish of St. Andrew-Holborn in London, has increased in yearly value from £40 to upwards of £17,000; and is disbursed, under parliamentary regulation, in supporting a grammar-school, a commercial school, a preparatory English school, a cational school, a girls' school, an infant school, and numerous almshouses, and in giving university exhibitions to scholars, apprentice fees for boys and girls, and marriage portions to maidens. The grammar-school furnishes the highest education to free boarders and scholars; the other schools are conducted with signal efficiency; and all are accessible to the chil dren of all classes of the townspeople. The school buildings were considerably enlarged in 1861; and they form a handsome range, in the Tudor style. Other charities exist, to the amount of about £790 a-year; and include schools and alms-houses. Scientific, artistic, philau-thronic, and religious societies are numerous. The Literary and Scientific institution was established in 1846; includes a reading-room and a niuseum; and was amalgamated, in 1864, with a public library dating from 1830, and now containing upwards of 8,000 volumes. The working-men's institute is a neat building of 1856, and contains a reading room and a library. The Bedford contains a reading room and a library. The Bedford Rooms are a fine edifice, with tetrastyle Grecian portico; and include an assembly-room, 72 feet long, 32 wide, and 23 high, used for lectures, concerts, and public meetings.

Bedford is the marketing centre of a great agricultural district, and carries on considerable manufacture of lace, and a large manufacture of agricultural implements, but otherwise has little trade. Weekly markets are held on Monday and Saturday; and fairs on the first Tuesday in Lent, 21 April, 6 July, 21 Aug., Old Midsummer-day, 12 Oct., 17 Nov., and 19 Dec. The town has a head post-office,  two railway stations with telegraph, two banking-offices, and three chief inus; it publishes three newspapers; and it is the political capital of the county, the seat of assizes and sessions, the head-quarters of the militia, and the head of an excise collection. It is a borough by prescription; was chartered by Henry II.; is governed by a mayor, six aldermen, and eighteen counis governed by a major, six algering, and eighteen concillors; and sends two members to parliament. Real property, in 1880, £49,424. Direct taxes in 1857, £7,392. Electors in 1868, 1,108. Pop., in 1841, 9,178; in 1861, 13,13. Houses, 2,752.

The two sub-districts of Bedford are called Pedford and Kempston and Bedford and Cardington. The former and Kempston and behind and Cartangion. The obliner comprises the eastern ward of the borough and the parishes of Kempston, Wootton, Biddenham, Bromham, Oakley, and Clapham. Acres, 18,331. Pop., 11,921. Houses, 2,487. The latter comprises the western ward of the borough and the parishes of Carlington, Elstow, Wilshampstead, Cople, Willington, Goldington, and Renhold. Acres, 18,375. Pop., 11,734. Houses, 2,376. —The district comprehends also the sub-district of Barford, containing the parishes of Great Barford, Ravens-Wilden, Colmworth, and Roxton; the sub-district of Turvey, containing the parishes of Turvey, Steventon, and Stagsden; the sub-district of Harrold, containing the parishes of Harrold, Pavenham, Felmersham, Odell, Chellington, and Carlton; the sub-district of Sharn-brook, containing the parishes of Sharnbrook, Knotting, Souldrop, Eletzoe, Thurbeigh, and Milton-Ernest; and the sub-district of Riseley, containing the parishes of Riseley, Bothaurst, Keysoe, Melchhourn, and Yelden. Aeres, 97,320. Poor-rates in 1860, 222,747. Pop. in 1861, 28,672. Houses, 7,923. Marriages in 1866, 297; births, 1,176,—of which 81 were illegitimate: 297; births, 1,170, -of which 81 were illegitimate: deaths, 721, -of which 289 were at ages under 5 years, and 24 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,926; births, 12,026; deaths, 7,399. The places of worship in 1851 were 43 of the Church of England, with 13,791 sittings; 12 of Independents, with 4,029 s; 14 of Baptists, with 3,648 s; 15 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,638 s; 5 of Primitive Methodists, with 906 s.; 2 of Moravians, with 640 s.; 1 of the Catho lie and Apostolic church, with 80 s.; 1 of Jews, with 20 s.; and 4 undefined, with 1,357 s. The schools were 43 s.; and a indefined, with 1,767 s. The schools were 43 public day schools, with 3,786 scholars; 27 private day schools, with 428 s.; 73 Sunday schools, with 6,701 s.; and 7 evening schools for adults, with 235 s.

BEDFORD, a township and a chapetry in Leigh parish, Lancashire. The township lies on the Tyldesley and Lancashire. The township lies on the Tyldesley and Kenyon brauen railway. I mile ENE of Leigh; and has a station on the railway. Post-town, Leigh, under Manchester. Acres, 2,438. Real property, £11,144. Pop., 6,558. Houses, 1,323. The property is much subdivided. There are cotton and silk mills, an iron foundry, collieries, and brickfields. The chapelry is con-terminate with the township; and was constituted in 1842. The living is a vicarage in the dio. of Manchester. Value, £300.* Patron, the Vicar of Leigh. The church is recent; and there are Methodist and Roman Catholic is recent; and there are memorias and avoidant chapels and a national school.

BEDFORD CIRCUS. See EXETER.
BEDFORD LEVEL, an extensive marshy flat, in Norfolk, Suffolk, Huntingdon, Northampton, Lincoln, and Cambridge. It includes about 63,000 acres in Norand Cambridge. It includes about 63,000 acres in Nor-folk, 30,000 in Suffolk, 50,000 in Huntingdon, Peterborough fen in Northampton, the parts of Holland in Lincoln, and nearly all the isle of Ely in Cambridge; and comprises altogether about 400,000 acres. It was and comprise attogether about 1909, 300 acres. It was anciently covered with forest; was disforested by the Romans, and intersected by a Roman road; was afterwards brought into a state of high cultivation; was laid waste, in the 13th century, by repeated inundations of the sea; and settled into a mixture of morass and lake, the sea; and settled into a mixture of moras and lake in some places 20 feet deep, and in some parts navigated by boats. Repeated attempts were made to drain it, especially in the reign of Henry VI. and in the carly part of the roign of Charles I., but without success. Another and better attempt was begun in 1649 by the fourth Earl of Bedford. A company was then formed to effect and maintain drainage; was incorporated in 1664; and has continued to act till the present day. Great cuts, called the Old and New Bedford rivers, Bevil's very San's cut Packith Southeaus Sixtee Earl course. river, Sam's cut, Peakirk, South-eau, Sixteen-Feet counter, South Holland drain, and North Level drain were formed; numerous small cuts also were made; old em-bankments were strengthened and improved; new embankments were thrown up; and extensive tracts of pasture and corn-land were reclaimed.

The Bedford Level was divided, in 1695, into the North, Middle, and South Levels. The North has its drainage by the Non; the Middle and the South, by the Ouse; and the three, in some great respects, have competing interests. The first was put under separate management from the others in 1753; and the second also has recently been proposed to be put under separate management from the third. One of the earliest and chief works of the corporation was a sluice across the Ouse at Denver, about 12 miles above Lynn. This consists of folding doors set in strong brick-work, and so constructed as to be opened by the fresh water when the tide runs out, and shut by the salt water when the tide comes in : and it was formed entirely with a view to drainage, and possessed the advantage that the banks above it did not require to be strong enough to resist the weight and surge of the sca-water, or high enough to prevent an overflow by an unusually high tide. But the sluice was soon supby an unusuary might full. But the since was soon sup-posed to be injurious to navigation, particularly by oc-casioning a choking of Lynn harbour; and it gave rise to sharp controversy. It was subject, however, to a gradual undermining of its brick-work by the action of the tides; it suddenly "blew up" in 1713; it lay in min till 1750; and it then, in spite of strong opposition, was rebuilt. The numerous and extensive works on the Middle and South Levels, till this time and later, failed to make the drainage good, and were accompanied by increasing obstruction to the navigation of the Ouse. An opinion gained ground that the bad state of both drainage and navigation arose from the width, shallowness, and circuitousness of the river's course from Eau ness, and circuitousness of the river's course from Eau Brink to Lynn, and would be corrected by the forming of a straight cut between these points. Such a cut was authorized by an act of 1795, but not completed till 1821; and it answered the expectations of its promoters. Other works, connected with it, were authorized by sub-sequent acts, and have been found highly beneficial. A chief of these bears the name of the Middle Level drain; is about 11 miles long, and perfectly straight; was completed in 1852, at a cost of upwards of £400,000: has its outfall into Eau Brink cut, about 3 miles above Lynn, by a sluice which cost £30,000; and was formed entirely for drainage, without reference to navigation. This drain, though made solely for the benefit of the Middle Level, traverses the fen territory of Marshland, which lies between Wisbeach and Lynn, forms no part of the Bedford Level, and was reclaimed, about the beginning of the present century, from a state of swamp, into a state of fertile corn land. On the 4th of May 1862, the sluice "blew up," the drain was swept by the tide, and the banks, which had been constructed to resist only the fresh-water from above, threatened to give way. Vigorous attempts were made to form a dam across the drain, but they failed; and on the 12th, under the weight of a high spring tide, the west bank broke to the extent of about 210 feet, allowing the rearing surge to pour, with spreading flood, over the adjoining lands; and for the next eleven days, at every tide, the inundation continued to go on till nearly 10,000 acres became submerged. The remedy required only the reconstruction of the sluice and the reparation of the breach in the bank, there being a complete system of drainage throughout the lands themselves; yet it was a work of great difficulty and much expense.

BEDFORD RIVERS (New and OLD), two of the finest drains of the Bedford Level. They go 21 miles north-eastward, from Earith in Hunts to Salter's Lode near Downham in Norfolk; and run nearly parallel to each other, about a mile asunder. The New river was cut about 1650, and is 100 feet wide; while the Old was cut earlier, and is 70 feet wide.

BEDFORDSHIRE, or BEDS, an inland county; bounded on the NW by Northampton, on the NE by Huntingdon, on the E by Cambridge, on the SE and the S by Herts, and on the SW and W by Bucks. Its length southward is 35 miles; its greatest breadth, 221 miles; its circuit, about 145 miles; and its area 295,582 acres. general aspect is diversified and pleasing. The surface in the centre, called the vale of Bedford, is prevailingly flat and luxuriant; in the SW, hilly, a portion of the Chilterns, commanding extensive views; on the flanks of the vale of Bedford and in the N, hillocky and rolling; and in other parts, a mixture of swells and flats. The chief rivers are the Ouse, the Ivel, the Hiz, the Ousel, and the Lea. The prevailing rocks in the S, up to Houghton-Regis and Barton-in-the-Clay, are chalk; those of a belt about 7 miles broad, east-north-eastward from Eaton-Bruy and Leighton-Buzzard, are upper greensand and gault; those of a helt of similar but more irregular breadth immediately N of this, are lower greensand; those of the tracts further N and NE, including most of the vale of Bedford, are middle colite, variously coral rag, calcareous grit, and Oxford clay; and those of a small tract along the Ouse N of Bedford, and of another small tract continuous with this in the extreme NW, are lower colite, variously forest marble, Bradford clay, and fuller's earth. Chalk, under the name of clunch, is burnt for lime; freestone is quarried at Tattenhoe; a little iron-stone is found; fuller's carth, of economical value, was formerly raised in Aspley-Gnise; and a few grains of gold were once obtained at Pulloxhill. Minerd springs occur at Bedford, Bletsoe, Bromham, Clapham, Crunfield, Milton-Ernest, Odell, and Turvey. The climate is mild and genial, the prevailing winds south-westerly. The climate The soil is very various and mixed; and occasions diversity of husbandry. A very thin soil lies on most of the chalk hills; a mixed sand prevails from Woburn to the vicinity of Biggleswade; a rich gravelly loam lies along much of the Ouse and the Ivel; and a clayey soil, often very fertile, prevails throughout the vale of Bedford and the N. About 84,000 acres are in tillage; some small tracts are in market-gardens; about 168,000 acres are pasture; and a considerable extent, but not so large as formerly, is woodland. The system of agriculture was much improved through the exertions of the late Duke of Bedford. The average size of farms is less than 200 acres. The chief crops raised are wheat, barley, turnips, acres. In other crops raised are wheat, barrey, tutings, oats, and beans. Large quantities of vegetables, butter, and cheese, are sent to market. The eattle are of a mixed breed, and estimated at 200,000. The produce in wool is reckoned at 4,250 packs. Husbandry employs a wood is reconstructed as a state population than in almost any other tract of equal extent in England. Manufactures are confined chiefly to pillow-lace, straw-plat, rush-mats, and agricultural implements. The Great Northern railway traverses the eastern district, northward from Hitchin; and sends off a branch to Potton. The Midland railway, deficiting from the former at Hitchin, goes north-westward, through the centre of the county, to-ward Leicester. The Northwestern railway impiages on the county at Leighton-Buzzard; and sends off thence a branch eastward to Luton. The Bletchley and Bedford railway strikes off from the Northwestern at Bletchley; goes north-eastward to Bedford; and is prolonged thence to Cambridge. The Bedford and Northampton railway to Cambridge. The Bedford and Northampton railway was in progress, but not completed, at June 1869. The turnpike roads have an aggregate of about 240 miles, and are under cleven trusts; and the revenue from them, as reported in 1859, was £5,163.

Bedfordshire contains 122 parishes, parts of 3 other parishes, and 2 extra-parochial tracts; and is divided into the borough of Bedford and the hundreds of Barford, Biggleswade, Clifton, Flitt, Manshead, Redbornestoke, Stodden, Willey, and Wixantree. The registration county differs from the electoral one; includes 10 parishes of Bucks, and 1 parish and parts of 2 others of rishes of Bucks, and I parish and paris of zones or thers; excludes I parish to Herts; 3 parishes to Northampton, and 7 parishes to Huntingdon; comprises 305,365 acres; and is divided into the districts of Bedford, Biggleswade, Ampthill, Woburn, Leighton-Buzzard, and Luton. The county-town is Bedford; and the market-towns are l'edford, Dunstable, Ampthill, Biggleswade, Harrold, Leighton-Buzzard, Luton, Potton, Tod-dington, and Woburn. The chief seats are Woburndington, and woodin. The ciner seas are roomer abbey, Luton-Hoo, Oakley House, Silsoe Park, Hawnes House, Ampthill House, Old Warden Park, Eattlesden Park, Chicksand Priory, Milton-Byant, Sutchesden Park, Aspley-Guise, Bromham House, Eushmead Priory, Colwarth House, the Hasels, Henlow Grange, Hexton Hall, warth House, the Haseis, Henlow Grange, Rexton Halt, Houghton-Regis, Hinwiek House, Howhury Park, Ick-wellbury, Moggerhanger, Southhill, Stockwood, Stratton, Tempsford, and Turvey. Real property in 1815, £364,277; in 1843, £317,474; in 1860, £315,336. The country is governed by a lord-lieutenant, a high ab-rift, about 36 deputy-lieutenants, and 160 magistrates.

It is in the Home military district, and in the Norfolk to be the folia minimary unatter, and in the control in the folia minimary unatter, and in the control in the country in the country in the country juil at Bedford. The primer, in 1861, were the country juil at Bedford. The erimes, in 1861, were 116 in the county and 34 in the borough; the persons apprehended, 100 in the county and 21 in the borough; the number of depredators or suspected persons at large, 699 in the county and 98 in the berough; the houses of bad character, 114 in the county and 14 in the borough. The county, exclusive of the berough, sends two members to parliament; and the electors in 1868 were 1,845. It was formerly in the diocese of Lincoln, but is now in the dionese of Ely; and it constitutes an archdeaconry, com-prising six de eries. The poor-rues for the registration county in 1 swere £75,376. Marriages in 1866, 1,168, of which . Ji were not according to the rites of the Established church; births, 5,085,+cf which 416 were illegitimate; deaths, 3,104,-of which 1,351 were at ages under 5 years, and 67 at ages above 85 years. The places under 5 years, and of at ages above 50 years. Inc places of worship within the electoral country in 1851 were 133 of the Church of England, with 42,557 sittings; 19 of Independents, with 5,27 s.; 55 of Baptists, with 14,902 s.; 3 of Quakers, with 622 s.; 3 of Moravians, with 840 s.; 78 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 16,736 s.; 18 of 9.; 16 of Westgran alcinoustics, with 0,760 S.; 19 of Preimitive Methodists, with 2,490 S.; 1 of Brethren, with 500 S.; 11 of isolated congregations, with 3,021 S.; 1 of the Catholic and Apostolic church, with 80 S.; 3 of Latter Day Saints, with 20 S.; 1 of Koman Catholics, with 21 S.; and 1 of Jews, with 20 S. The schools were 120 public day schools, with 9,863 scholars; 157 private day schools, with 3,140 s.; 243 Sunday schools, with 24,753 s.; and 22 evening schools for adults, with 652 s. Pop. in 1801, 63,393; in 1821, $4,052; in 1841, 107,936; in 1861, 135,287. Inhabited houses, 27,422; uninhabited, 1861, 135,287. 753; building, 139.

The territory now forming Bedfordshire was inhabited, in the primitive times, by the tribe called Cassii. It became part of the Roman Britannia Superior; afterwards part of the Britannia Prima; afterwards, in 310, part of the Flavia Cæsariensis. It belonged, in the time of the heptarchy, to the kingdom of Mercia; and became subject, in 827, to the Saxons. And it first took the name of Bedford in the reign of Alfred the Great. Icknieldstreet crosses its southern extremity eastward over the Watling-street crosses its south-western exchalk hills. tremity north-westward through Dunstable and near Battlesdon. A Roman road, coming in from Baldock, traverses the eastern extremity to Potton. British, Roman, Saxon, and Danish remains occur near Dunstable, near Sandy, near Hexton, at the Maiden Bower, at Totnear sandy, near Hexton, at the Maiden Bower, at Tot-tenhoe, Arlesby, Biggleswade, Brailford, and other places Earth-works, ruins, or other vestiges of ancient castles may be seen at Bedford, Eisinghoe, Cainhoe, Bletsoe, Ridgmont, Meppershall, Publington, and Thurleigh. An old-cross stands at beighton-Buzzard; a famous priors stood at Dunstable; 14 other monastic houses stood in other places; and some of the old existing churches, particularly those of Luton, Elstow, Eaton-Bray, Felmers-ham, and Puddington exhibit interesting features of ancient architecture.

BEDFORD-STREET. See BRIGHTON.

BEDGRALOE, a hamlet in Wales parish, W. R.

Yorkshire; 2 miles SSE of Rotherham. BEDGWYN. See BEDWIN (GREAT).

BEDHAMPTON, a village and a parish in Havant district, Hants. The village stands on Langston harbour, adjacent to the South Coast railway, 1 mile W of Havant; and it has a post-office under Havant, commands a charming sea-view, and is noted for its fine springs. The parish comprises 2,416 acres of land and 190 of water. Real property, £4,182. Pop., 576. Houses, 119. The property is divided among a few. The manor once belonged to a dowager Countess of Kent, who took a nun's wow in grief for the death of her husband, afterwards married Sir Eustace Dabrieschescourt, founded a chantry in penance for her marriage, and died here in 1111. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £328.* Patron, E. Danbeny, Esq. The church is a small, old, substantial elifice, with pointed steeple.

BEDBURST, a tything in Compton Abbas parish, Dorset: 8 miles NNW of Dorchester.

BEDICANFORD, See BEDFORD.

BEDINGFIELD, a parish in Hoxne district, Suffolk; BEDINGFIELD, a parish in Hoxac district, Sunnya, a miles SSE of Eye r. station, and 54 N by E of Debenham. Post-town, Therndon, under Lye. Acres, 1,752. Real property is divided among a few. Bedingfield Hall is the seat of J. J. Bedlingfield, Esp., The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, 2300.* Patron, tory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £300 J. J. Bedingfield, Esq. The church is good.

BEDINGHAM, a parish in Loddon district, Norfolk; 4 miles NW of Bungay r. station. Post-town, Toperor, under Bungay. Acres, 1,349. Real property, 22,471. Pop., 288. Houses, 64. The property is divided among a few. Bedingh on Hall-list achief residence. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, 2159 Patrons, the Impropriators. The church is good.

BEDLINGTON, a township, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Morpeth, Northumberland. The township lies on the river Blythe, and on the Morpeth township lies on the river Blythe, and on the Morpett and Tynemouth railway, 5 miles SE of Morpeth; it includes an irregularly built village, chiefly of one spacious street, about a mile long, commanding afine sea-ward view; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-officet under Morpeth, and is a seat of petty sessious. The mouks of Durham, at the Conquest, when fleeing to Lindisfarne with the remains of St. Cuthbert, rested a night here. The parish includes also the townships of North Blyth, Chambiag Cheminate, whether and Fast and West The parish includes also the townships of Aorta Liyth, Chambois, Choppington, Netherton, and East and West Sleakburn; and, prior to October 1844, it formed part of the county of Durham. Acres, 9,011; of which 523 are in water. Real property, 453,326; of which £29,987 are in mines. Pop. in 1841, 3,155; in 1861, 8,228. Honses, The property is not much divided. The manor 1,490. belonged anciently to the Crown, and passed to the Bishops of Durham. The inhabitants are employed Bishops of Durham. The limitations are targety chiefly in the coal-trade, in quarrying-works, in iron-works, and in chain and nail making. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £600.* The living is Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Durham. The church was repaired and enlarged in 1818. The vicarages of Chambois and Choppington are separate charges. are chapels for Presbyterians, Baptists, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists. There is also a mechanics' institu-tion. The Rev. F. Woodmas, the expositor of Chrysos-tom, was viear from 1966 to 1710.—The sub-district comprises three parishes, two parochial chapelries, parts of three other parishes, and part of another parochial chapelry. Acres, 50,622. Pop., 15,577. Houses, 2,822. BEDLINGTONSHIRE, a hundred in Northumberland; conterminate with Bedlington parish.

BEDMINSTER, a suburban town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Somerset. The town is a southern suburb of Bristol; separated from the city by the river Avon; connected with it by two bridges; included within the borough; and traversed, from within a furlong of the terminus, by the Bristol and Exeter railway. It comprises Redcliffe Crescent, a considerable number of streets, and some outskirts; has a receiving post-officet of streets, and some ontskirts; has a receiving post-office; of Bristol in North Street; and contains Bristol jail, a dispensary, four churches, five dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, and remains of an hospital. One of the churches is partly an ancient building, in a mixed style of architecture; another is a spacious pointed modern edifice, with a tower, erected about 1833, at a cost of £8,673; another is a large middle-pointed edifice, of of 28,613; another is a large middle-pointed editice, of nave, aisles, and polygonal apsidal chancel, with tower and spire, erected in 1861, at a cost of 27,636; and one of the dissenting chapels, belonging to the Independents, is a large and handsome edifice, with a Grecian front. The town is a polling-place and a seat of petty sessions. Pop. in 1851, 17,598. —The parish includes also the tythings of Bishport and Knowle. Acres. 4,161. Real property, £58,280; of which £3,102 are in mines. Pop. in 1841, 17,862,—of whom 17,402 were within the borough of Bristol; in 1861, 22,346. Honses, 3,856. Coal is extensively worked. Veins of strontian 3,856. Coal is extensively worken. The living is a vicarage in the vale of the Avon. The living is a vicarage in the discose of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £450. ration, the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. The p. curacy of St. Luke, and the vicarages of St. Paul and St. Peter are separate benefices; the first in the patronage of Trustees: the second and the third in the patronage of the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. Value of St. Luke, £400; of St. Paul, £300; of St. Peter, £300.*

—The sub-district is conterminate with the parish.— The district comprehends also the sub-district of Long-Ashton, containing the parishes of Long-Ashton, Dundry, Winford, Barrow-Gurney, Backwell, Flax-Borrton, and Wraxall; the sub-district of Yatton, containing the parishes of Yatton, Tickenham, Nailsea, Chelvey, Brockley, Kingston-Seymour, Kenn, and Clevedon; and the snb-district of St. George, containing the parishes of Walton-in-Gordano, Weston-in-Gordano, Easton-in-Gordano, Clapton, Portishead, Portbury, and Abbots-Leigh. Acres, 57,068. Poor-rates in 1866, £22,487. Pop.

in 1861, 41,257. Houses, 7,454. Marriages in 1866, 348; births, 1,794,—of which 61 were illegitimate; deaths, 966,-of which 424 were at ages under 5 years, deaths, 966,—of which 424 were at ages under 5 years, and 36 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,825; births, 13,749; deaths, 7,875. The places of worship in 1851 were 28 of the Church of England, with 10,505 sittings; 14 of Independents, with 2,635 s.; 5 of Englists, with 600 s.; 2 of Quakers, with 290 s.; 8 of Weslevan Methodists, with 3,783 s.; 1 of the Wesley at Methodists, with 3,783 s.; 1 of the Wesley at Methodists, with 2,835 s.; 10 of the Wesley at Methodists, with 2,783 s.; 1 of the Wesley at Methodists, with 2,783 s.; 1 of the Wesley at Methodists, with 2,783 s.; 1 of the Wesley at Methodists, with 2,783 s.; 1 of the Wesley at Methodists, with 2,783 s.; 1 of the Wesley at Methodists, with 2,783 s.; 1 of the Wesley at Methodists, with 3,783 s.; 1 of the Wesl of the Wesleyan Association, with 200 s.; 3 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 942 s.; 2 of Bible Christians, with 340 s.; and 2 undefined, with 225 s. The schools were 33 public day schools, with 3,086 scholars: 63 private day schools, with 1,057 s.; and 36 Sunday schools, with 2,058 s. The work hours is 1,000 and 1 The workhouse is in Long-Ashton.

BEDMONT, a locality 3 miles SW of St. Albans, Herts. It has a post-office under Hemel-Hempstead, BEDNALL. See Acron-Trussell.

BEDS. See BEDFORDSHIRE,

BEDSTONE, a parish in the district of Knighton and county of Salop; on a tributary of the river Teme, and on the Craven-Arms and Knighton railway, between Hopton-Heath and Bucknell r. stations, 41 miles NE by E of Knighton. Post-town, Bucknell, under Aston-on-Lot Magaton. Post-town, Bucknell, under Aston-on-clun, Shropshire. Acres, 776. Rated property, £739. Pop., 164. Houses, 26. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Here-ford. Valne, £230.* Patron, E. Rogers, Esq. The church is good. BEDWARDINEST, JOHN, a parish in the district and county of Worcester; on the river Severn, partly within the borough of Worcester. It includes a western suburb of Worcester, the places called Boughton and wick-Episcopi or Upper and Lower Wick, and the re-putedly extra-parochial tract of Henwick. Acres, 3,775. Real property, £19,548. Pop., 2,974. Houses, 653. The property is not much divided. The living is a vic-arage in the diocese of Worcestor. Value, £635. Pa-trons, the Dean and Chapter of Worcestor. is partly Norman, and good. A school has an endowed income of £36, and other charities £60.

BEDWARDINE-ST. MICHAEL, a parish in the dis-BEDWARDINE-ST. MICHAEL, a parish in the distinct and county of Worcester; adjacent to Bedwardine-St. John, and within Worcester city. Acres, 12. Real property, £5,389. Pon, 570. Houses, 100. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £90. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Worcester. The church was recently rebuilt. Charities, £113.

BEDWAS, a village and two hamlets in Newport dis-BEDWAS, a village and two hamlets in Newport district, Momonth; and a parish partly also in Carliff district, Glamorgan. The village stands near the Rhymney railway, 2 miles NNE of Caerphilly; and has a r. station. The hamlets lie around the village; bear the names of Lower and Upper Bedwas; and jointly comprise 4,207 acres. Pop. of L. B., 422. Houses, 83. Pop. of U. B., 597. Houses, 115. The parish includes the Chemoran kenter of Yam Derit trans General Parish and Carlot and Carlot Carlot Carlot Carlot and Carlot also the Glamorgan hamlet of Van. Post-town, Caerphilly, under Cardiff. Acres, 5,032. Real property, exclusive of Van. £3,806. Pop., 1,031. Houses, 214. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rec-The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory, united with the vicarage of Ruddry, in the diacese of Llandaff. Value, £380. Patron, the Bishop of Llandaff. The church is good.

BEDWELL PARK, the seat of Sir Culling Eardley, Eart., 3 miles ESE of Hatfield, Herts.

BEDWELTY, or BYDWELTY, a village, a sub-district, and a parish in Abergavenny district, Monmouth. The village stands between the Rhymney and the Sirhowev rivers, near the Rhymney railway, not far from Bargoed station, 7½ miles W by S of Pontypool; it has a postoffice under Newport-Monmouth, and fairs on 15 April, 3 July, and 7 Oct.; and is a polling-place.—The sub district bears the name of Rock-Bedwelty; and is conterminate with Ishlawreed handet. Pop., 2,965. terminate with Islamarcoen named. 10p., 2,701. Houses, 584.—The parish includes also Tredegar subdistrict, comprising the hamlets of Uchlawrcoed and Manmoel; extends many niles along the Rhymney and Sirhowey rivers and the Rhyniney and Western Valleys railways; and contains the populous iron-work towns of Tredegar, Ebbwvale, and Sirhowev. Acres, 16,210. Real Property, £132,645,—of which £18,674 are in mines, and £55,500 are in iron-works. Pop. in 1801, 1,434; in 1831, 10,637; in 1861, 31,510. Houses, 5,724. The property is much subdivided. Very extensive coal-works and ironworks are carried on; and have, within the present century, drawn enormous increase of population. An old document, written when there was but one place of worship in the parish, records that one sermon in the month at it was allowed by rine bishop on application of the inhabitants. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £150. Patron, the Bishop of Llandaff. The church is a plain old building, repaired in 1859. The chap-dries of Tredegar and Rhymney are separate tenefices; and there are chapels for Independents and Calvinistic Methodists. Charities, £41.

BEDWIN, or BEDWYN (GREAT), a small old town and a parish in the district of Hungerford and county of The town stands on the Kennet and Avon canal, a ijacent to the Hungerford and Devizes railway, near Wans Dyke, 5 miles SW of Hungerford; and has a station on the railway. It is supposed to have been the Leucomagus of the Romans; and it was the Bedgwyn or Bedewind of the Sarons. It was the residence of Cissa, the Saxon viceroy of Wilts and Berks; and the scene, in 675, of a desperate battle between the forces of Wessex and those of Mercia. It enjoyed the privileges of a city under the Saxons; and retained them after the Conquest. It was a borough by prescription; and sent two members to parliament from the time of Edward I. till disfranchised by the act of 1832. It has an old-fashioned markethouse, which has ceased to be used, an ancient church, and a dissenting chapel. The church is cruciform, mixedly Norman and English, and built of flint; was restored in 1854; has a fine central tower; shows curious sculpturings on its round pillars, and rich Norman decorations on its obtusely-pointed arches; and contains interesting monuments of the Stokes and the Seymours. The town has a post-office under Hungerford, and fairs on 23 April and 26 July. Dr. Willis, a physician of the 17th century, who founded a philosophical society at Oxford, the germ of the Royal Society of London, was a native.—The parish includes also the tythings of Crofton and Wolfhall, East and West Grafton, Martin, Westand Workhall, East and West Grafton, Martin, Wex-combe, and Wilton. Acres, 10,420. Real property, £10,655. Pop. 2,252. Houses, 435. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged once to the Earl of Clare, and belongs now to the Marquis of Ailesbury. Castle Hill, about a mile S of the town, takes name from an ancient entrenchment in which large quantities of Roman bricks and tiles have been found. Chisbury, on Wans Dyke, 14 mile N by E of the town, is a very fire Saxon camp of 15 ocres, with rampart 45 feet high; and encloses an ancient chapel, in decorated feet high; and encloses an ancient coapet, in decorated English, now used as a barn. The living is a vicarage in the discess of Salisbury; and, till 1864, was united with another charge. Value, £212. Patron, the Marquis of Allesbury. The vicarages of East Grafton and Savernake-Forest are separate benefices. There is a Wesleyan

DEDWIN, or BEDWEN (LITTLE), a parish in the district of Hungerford and county of Wilts; on the Kennet treet of Hungerbort and country of Wits; on the Kennet and Avon canal, and on the Hungerfort and Devizes railway, near Wans Dyke, 11 mile NE of Bedwin r. station, and 24 SW by S of Hungerford. It includes the her 'et of Chisbury, and has a post-office under Hungerford. Acres, 4,223. Real property, £3,796. Pop., gerion. Acres, 4, 200. Real property, 23, 789. For 409. Houses, 117. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicarage in the diorese of Salisbury. Value, £280.* Pairon, the Marquis of Ailesbury. The clurch is ancient, jurily Norman, and built of flint; consists of nave, aisles, and chancel, with a tower; and chapel at Wilton. Charities, £37.

contains the tomb of a Hungerford.

EEDWORTH, a town and a parish in Foleshill district. Warwick. The fown stands adjacent to the Coventry cand and the Coventry and Nuncaton rullway, 31 miles S of Nuneaton; and has a station on the railway, a post-office; under Nuneaton, and two chief inus. It carries on a manufacture of gauze ribbons, and a large trade in coals, lime, and bricks; and has a fair on Whittrade in coals, lime, and bricks; and has a tair on Whi. Wednesday. Pop. 3,963. Houses, $88.—The parish comprises 2,157 acres. Real property, £15,245; of which £2,700 are in mines. Pop., 5,656. Houses, 1,239. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Yalue, £562. Patron, the Lord of the Manor. The church is a modern edifice with square embattled tower; and was enlarged in 1850. There are three dissenting chapels, two free schools, and very extensive alms-houses; the last in the form of three sides of a cloistered quadrangle, in later Gothic, bnilt in 1840, at a cost of £8,500. The almshouses have £1,176 of income, and other charities £20.

BEDWYN. See BEDWIN.

BEEBY, a parish in Barrow-upon-Soar district, Leicester; on an affluent of the river Wreak, 4 miles SE of Syston r. station, and 5½ NE of Leicester. Post-town, Hungarton, under Leicester. Acres, 1,020. Real property, £2,620. Pop., 119. Houses, 26. The property is divided among a few. Beeby House is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £282.* Patron, Earl Shaftesbury. The church is good.

BEECH, a township in the parishes of Stone and Swinnerton, Stafford; 42 miles NW of Stone. Pop., 120. swinnerron, statiord; 4½ miles N w of stone. Pop., 120. EEECHAMWELL, a parish in Swaffbam district, Norfolk; 4½ miles S of Narborough r. station, and 5 SW of Swaffham. It has a post-office under Swaffham. Acres, 3,730. Real property, £2,289. Pop., 356. Houses, 66. The property is divided among a few. Beechamwell Lodge and Beechamwell Warren are hief There are two livings, Beechamwell-Ali residences. residences. There are two livings, Beechamwell-All Saints and Beechamwell-St. John and St. Mary, both rectories, in the diocese of Norwich. B.-All Saints is united to the rectory of Shingham, and has no church. B.-St. John and St. Mary is a separate benefice. Value, £191.* Patron, J. Fielden, Esq. The church is good, and has a fine tower.

BEECHBURN, a station on the Stockton and Redear railway, 3 of a mile N of Crook, in Durham. Brancs-peth Park and Mandon Hill, 845 feet high, are in its neighbourhood.

BEECHEN-CLIFF. See BATH. BEECH-HILL, a chapelry in Stratfieldsaye parish, Berks; 6 miles S by W of Reading. It has a post-office under Reading. Acre, 915. Real property, £1,485. Pop., 260. The chapelry was constituted in 1867. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £150. Patron, Mrs. Forbes. There is a Baptist chape!.

Patron, Mrs. Forbes. There is a Baptist chape!. BEECHING-STOKE, a parish in Devizes district, Wilts; on the river Avon, 2 miles S of the Kennet and Avon canal, and 6 ESE of Devizes r. station. It has a post-office under Devizes. Acres, 880. Real property, £1,893. Pop., 180. Houses, 44. The property is divided among four. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £293. Patron, G. W. Hene-age, Esq. The church is tolerable.

BEECHWOOD, a village 41 miles WSW of Coventry, in Warwick; near a tunnel of its own name, 480 feet long, on the Northwestern railway.

BEEDING. See BEEDING (UPPER).

BEEDING (Lower), a parochial chapelry in Horsham district, Sussex; in St. Leonard's forest, on the Mid-Sussex railway, near Faygate station, 5 miles ENE of Horsham. It has a post-office under Horsham. Acres, 9,675. Real property, £5,466. Pop., 1,149. Houses, 172. There are several good residences. Many cottages, occupied by labourers employed in the reclamation of waste land, have been erected since 1841. The lands of Bewbush and Holmbush belong ecclesiastically to Upper Beeding. A large brown pottery manufactory is pear Holmbush. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Pollard-Ook, in the dio. of Chichester. Value, £135.* Patron, W. E. Hubbard, Esp. The church was built in 1889, and enlarged in 1862. There are a chapel of ease and a national school, BEEDING (UPPER), a parish in Steyning district, Sussex; on the River Adur, near Bramber r. station, and 1½ mile E of Steyning. It has a post-office, of the name of Beeding, under Hurstperpoint. Acres, 3,847. Real property, £5,356. Pop., 553. Houses, 118. The property is subdivided. A small Benedictine priory was property; 23,259. Fob., 533. Hollies, 116. The property is subdivided. A small Benedictine priory was founded here about 1075; belonged to the alien monastery of Salmur; and passed to Magdalene college, Oxford. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £112. Patron, Magdalene college, Oxford. The church is good, and there is a national school.

church is good, and there is a national school.

BEEDON, or BUDON, a parish in Wantage district, Berks; 2½ miles S of East Ilsley, and 6½ N by E of Newbury r. station. It includes the tything of Stammore; and has a post-office of the name of Beedon-Hill, under Newbury. Acres, 2,004. Real property, £2,251. Pop., 317. Houses, 66. The property is divided among few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford Value, £126. Patron, Sir J. Reade, Bart. The church is recoding.

BEFORD, a township in the district of Driffield, and a parish in the districts of Driffield, Skirlaugh, and Bridlington, E. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the Beverley and Barmston drain, 41 miles SSE of Low-thorpe r. station, and 7 ESE of Great Driffield; and has a post-officet under Hull. Acres, 3,470. Real property, £5,021. Pop., 808. Houses, 183. The parish includes also the townships of Dunnington and Lissett. meludes also the townships of Dunnington and Lissett. Acres, 5,461. Real property, inclusive of Little Kelk, £8,452. Pop., 1,006. Houses, 221. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Lissett, in the diocess of York. Value, £779. Patron, the Archbishop of York. The church is perpendicular English, with a fine tower; and has an oaken screen, ancient stalls, and a brass of 1472. There are an Independent chapel, and two Methodist chapels.

BEE-HILL, an isolated eminence on the southern border of Rutland; in the vicinity of Lyddington. It border of Ruttand; in the vicinity of Lyddington. It has a roundish outline; stands detached from hills to the N of it; and commands a fine view.

BEELAH (THE). See BELLEAU (THE).

BEELEHIGH, a hamlet in the parish of St. Peter-in-Maldon, Essex; 1 mile W of Maldon. A Premoustratensian abbey was founded here, in 1180, by Robert de Mantell; and given, at the dissolution, to Sir John Gate. Bourchier, Earl of Essex, and his wife were buried in the church; and this, measuring 36 feet by 18, and having groined arches, still stands, and is used as a farm-office.

BEELEY, a township-chapelry in Bakewell parish, Derby; on the river Derwent, adjacent to Chatsworth Park, 13 mile N of Rowsley r. station, and 32 E by S of Bukewell. Post-town, Rowsley, under Bakewell. Acres, 3,250. Real property, £1,134. Pop., 420. Houses, 74. The property is divided among a few. Millstone grit is quarried on Beeley moor. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £98. Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. The church is toler-Charities, £7.

BEELSBY, a parish in Caistor district, Lincoln; 5 miles E of Caistor, and 6 W of Waltham r. station. Post-town, Caistor. Acres, 2,189. Real property, £3,692. Pop., 181. Houses, 33. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £450. Patron, the Collegiate Church of Southwell. The church is good.

BEENHAM, or BEENHAM-VALLENCE, a parish in Bradfield district, Berks; adjacent to the Kennet and Avon canal and to the Berks and Hants railway, 1½ mile N of Aldermaston station, and 8½ WSW of Reading. It has a post-office of the name of Beenham, under Heading. Acres, 1,890. Real property, £2,548. Pop., 505. Houses, 105. The property is much subdivided. Beenham House and Beenham Lodge are chief residences. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £250. Patron, Mrs. Bushnell. The church was chiefly rebuilt in 1860. There are a Primitive Methodist chanel and a national school. Stackhouse, the author of the "History of the Bible," was vicar.

BEEN-HILL. Sce Sutton, Surrey.

BEER, a village and a tything in Seaton parish, Devon. The village stands on the coast, in a romantic cove, 14 mile SW of Axmouth; has a post-office under Axminster; carries on fishing and lace-making; and was noted, in former days, for sminggling. It was the birthnoted, in former days, for soungging. It was the pirtu-place of the notorious Jack Rattenbury, sometimes called the Rob Roy of England; and it produced the wedding, dress of Queen Victoria in 1839. The cove around it is a fine subject for the pencil. Beer Head, projecting on the west, is crowned by two natural towers; and Beer quarry, about a mile inland, is a labyrinth of excavations, about 4 of a mile long, and about 300 feet below the surface of the ground. The tything includes the village, about 4 of a mine long, and about 4 of a mine long, and sourface of the ground. The tything includes the village, and forms a curacy with the vicarage of Seaton in the diocess of Exeter. Pop. 1,157. Houses, 260. The church consists of nave, chancel, and aisles. There are BEER, a tything in High Ham parish, Somerset; 1 mile N of Langport. Pop., 45.

BEER, in CANNIGTON, Somerset. See Edstock and BEER.

BEER-ALSTON, a small ancient town, formerly a borough, in Beer-Ferris parish, Devon. It stands on an eminence overlooking the rivers Tamar and Tavy, 5 miles NW of Bickleigh r. station, and 6 S by W of Tavistock. It has a post-office under Tavistock, a Tavistock. It has a post-onnee under lavistock, a chapel of ease, and chapels for dissenters; and it long had a weekly market. It was given by William the Conqueror to a branch of the Alençon family, whence it took the name of Beer-Alencon, corrupted into Beer-Alston; and it passed to successively the Ferrers, the Asson; and it passed to successively the Ferrers, the Champernouns, the Blounts, the Maynards, and the Edgeumbes. It was a borough by prescription; and it sent two members to parliament from the time of Elizabeth till disfranchised by the act of 1832. Many of its inhabitants are employed in neighbouring lead and silver writes. Para them 1900. mines. Pop., about 1,600.
BEER-CHARTER, a hamlet in Braunton parish, Devon.

BEER-CHARTER, a hamletin braunton parish, period.
BEER-CROCOMBE, a parish in Langford district, Somerset; on Chard canal, 4½ miles NNW of Ilminster, and 6 SSE of Durston r. station. Post-town, Isle-Abbots, under Taunton. Acres, 871. Real property, £1.534. Pop., 175. Ilouses, 32. The property is bots, under Taunton. Acres, 871. £1,534. Pop., 175. Houses, 32. divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £195. Patron, the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £195. Patron, the Earl of Egrement. The church is good.

BEER-FERRIS, BIER-FERRES, or BEER-TOWN, a parish in Tavistock district, Devon; between the rivers Tamar and Tavy upwards from their confluence, 4 miles W of Bickleigh r. station, and 7 N by W of Plymouth. It contains the town of Beer-Alston and the mouth. It contains the town of neer-Aiston and the village of Beer-Town, the former of which has a post-office under Tavistock. Acres, 6,838; of which 950 are water. Real property subdivided. A great part belongs to the Earl of Mount-Edgeumbe; and the manor of Ley was long held by a family of its own name, one of whom was created Earl of Marlborough, but belongs now to Sir T. Drake, Bart. Much of the surface is picturesque; and many spots command fine prospects. Silver and lead mines are worked; and several kinds of rare miner-als are found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £700. Patron, the Earl of Mount-Edgeumbe. The church is decorated and perpendicular English, and very picturesque; consists of nave, aisle, chancel, and transepts; and contains monuments of the chancel, and transepts; and contains monuneuts of the Ferrers and the Champernouns, and one to Licutenant-Major Bayley, who fell at the storming of Schastopol. There is a chapel-of-easo at High Cross, Beer-Alston, and there are chapels for Independents, Wesleyans, U. Free Methodists, and Bible Christians. Charities, £66. Stothart, the artist and antiquary, was killed at Beer-Ferris.

BEER-HACKETT, a parish in Sherborne district, Dorset; ou the Dorchester and Ycovil railway, near Yetminster station, 5 miles SE by S of Ycovil. It includes the hander station, 3 mines SE by 8 of 160 M. It includes the hander of Knighton; and its post-town is Yetminster, under Sherborne. Acres, 903. Rated property, £1,024. Pop., 96. Houses, 16. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £201. Patrons, Sir J. Munden and W. Helyar, Esq. The church needs repair.

BEERHALL, See Axminster. BEER-REGIS, See Bere-Regi See Bere-Regis. BEER-TOWN. See BEER-FERRIS.

BEES (St.), a small town, a township, and a sub-dis-trict, in the district of Whitehaven, and a parish in the districts of Whitehaven and Bootle, Cumberland. The town stands on the coast, adjacent to the Whitehaven and Furness railway, 4 miles S of Whitchaven. Its site is a narrow vale, watered by a streamlet, near the shore. It has a station on the railway, a post-office; under Whitehaven, and two hotels. It sprang from a religious house, founded about the year 650 by St. Bega, an Irish female Culdee. Her institution was destroyed by the Danes; and a Benedictine abbey was erected on the site of it, in the time of Henry I., by William des Meschines. The time of Henry I., by William des Meschines. The abbey property was given, at the dissolution, to Sir Thomas Chaloner; passed to the Wybergs and the Lowthers; and now belongs to the Earl of Lonsdale. The church, retaining much of its original masonry, in combination with reconstructions at various periods till 1810, still stands. It is a cruciform pile of red freestone, mixedly late Saxon, Norman, early and late English, with a low square central tower; and has some fine carv-The nave and transept are used as the parish church; and the choir was fitted up as a lecture-hall for church; and the choir was fitted up as a lecture-hall for the clerical college, established in 1817, for students not going to Oxford or Cambridge. A new lecture-room was built in 1858. A grammar school, near the church, was founded in 1857 by Archbishop Grindal; and has an endowed income of £125, and a fellowship and scholar-ships at Oxford and Cambridge. Other charities, £46. The poet Wordsworth, pointing to the origin of the town, and alluding doubtless more to the present than to the role character of its church care. to the prior character of its church, says,-

"When Bega's voice, that instrument of love, Was glorified, and took its place above The silent stars, among the angelic quire, The steen states, among the angent quite, Her chantry blazed with sacrilegious fre, And perished utterly; but her good deeds Had sown the spot that witnessed them with seeds Which lay in earth expectant, till a breeze With quickening impulse answered their mute pleas, And lo! a stateller pilc,—the Abbey of St. Bees!"

The township includes the town; and comprises 1,758 acres of land and 187 of water. Real property, £4,829. Pop., 1,031. Houses, 206.—The sub-district includes also the townships of Preston-Quarter, Sandwith, Kottington, and Lowside-Quarter, and the chapelry of Hensingham. Acres, 10, 407. Pop., 8,681. Houses, 1,659.

—The parish includes likewise the town, township, or sub-district of Whitehaven, the townships of Ennerdale, Kinniside, Weddicar, and Wasdale-Head, and the chapel-Namistre, weddicar, and wasuare-freat, and the traper-ries of Nether Wasdale and Eskdale. Aeres, 71,332; of which 2,072 are water. Real property, £151,370,—of which £25,015 are in mines, and £22,358 are in railways. Pop. in 1541, 19,687; in 1861, 23,901. Houses, 4,660. The surface is very diversified; and contains much of the admired scenery of the Lake country. Gill-Foot and Linethwaitz mansions are in the vicinity of the town; and a number of other fine residences are in other parts. St. Bees' Head, a large bold promontory, overhangs the Irish sea, 21 miles NW of the town; forms the most Irisn sea, 25 mines 130 of the town, forms westerly ground of Cumberland; and is surmounted by a lighthouse, showing a fixed light 333 feet high, visible at the distance of 23 miles. Coal, lime, and freestone are extensively worked; and lead and iron ores are found. Several vestiges of ancient works occur along the coast, appearing to be remains of fortifications raised by the Romans against incursions of the Irish and the Scotch. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £193.* Patron, the Earl of Lonsdale. The chapelries of Ennerlale, Hensingham, Lowes-water, Eskdale, Wasalake-Head, and Nether Wasalake, and the four vicarages of Whitehaven, are separate benefices. are dissenting chapels of ten denominations. WHITEHAVEN.

BEESANDS, a fishing village in Stokenham parish, 2) miles from Stokenham village, Devon.

BEESBY. See HAWERBY.

BEESBY. See HAWERRY.
BEESBY-IN-THE-MARSH, a parish in Louth district, Lincoln; 3 miles NNE of Alford r. station. Peattown, Alford. Acres, 1,180. Real property, £1,822. Pop., 174. Houses, 34. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £207. Fatron, Rev. H. P. Mason. The church is good.
BEESON, a hamlet in Stokenham parish, Devon.

BEESTHORPE, a hamlet in Caunton parish, Notts: 5½ miles NW of Newark. Pop., 43. I here is a mansion of the time of James I. Beesthorpe Hall here is a mansion of the time of James I. BEESTON, a hamlet in the parishes of Sandy and Northill, Eeds; 24 miles NNW of Biggleswade. Pop. of the Sandy portion, 364. Houses, 81. Pop. of the Northill portion, inclusive of Hatch, 252. Houses, 55. BEESTON, a township in Bunbury parish, Cheshire; on the Crewe and Chester railway, 193 miles SE by F of Chester. It has a r. station, a Wesleyan chapel of 1868, and a Prim. Methodist chapel. Acres, 1,957. Real property, £2,785. Pop., 355. Houses, 70. Beeston Castle here crowns an isolated sandstone rock, 366 feet high; and commands a charming view of the vale of Cheshire. and commands a charming view of the vale of Cheshire, and over the Mersey to Liverpool. The castle was built, as a fortress, in 1228, by Ranulph de Blundeville; be-came a royal garrison between Henry III. and his barons; was dismantled, in 1645, by order of parliament; and is now an extensive and picturesque ruin.

BEESTON, a parish in Basford district, Notts; on the Midland railway, adjacent to the river Trent, 31 miles SW of Nottingham. It contains the hamlet of Beeston-Ryelands; and has a station on the railway and a post-Ayelands; and has a station on the ranway and a post-officet under Nottingham. Acres, 1,440. Real property, £11,307. Pop., 3,195. Houses, 698. The property is subdivided. There are a large silk-mill, and consider-able manufacture of lace and hosiery. A canal, called the Beeston cut, goes off here from the river Trent to Nottingham. The living is a visage in the disease of Nottingham. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £300.* Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. The church is a handsome structure of 1844, conjoined to the chancel of an old previous pile. A handsome parsonage was built in 1860. There are two Baptist chapels, two Methodist chapels, a public library, a national school, and charities £24. BEESTON, a township-chapelry in Leeds parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the Leeds and West Riding railway, within the borough of Leeds, 21 miles SSW of the town of Leeds. It has a station on the railway, and a postoffice under Leeds. Acres, 1,535. Real property, £8,607,—of which £2,100 are in mines. Pop., 2,547. Houses, 537. Extensive coal mines here were worked from the time of Charles II.; but have become partly exhausted. There are woollen and iron manufactures. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £189.* Patron, the Vicar of Leeds. The church is very old; and there are two Methodist chapels.

BEESTON, or BEESTON-NEXT-LITCHAM, a parish in Mitford district, Norfolk; 2 miles N of Fransham r. station, and 6½ NE of Swaffham. It includes Little Bittion, and 6; Ar. of Swaiham. It includes Little Bittering; and its post-town is Great Dunham, under Swaffham. Acres, 2,073. Real property, £4,491. Pop. 645. Houses, 140. The property is much subdivided. Beeston Hall is the seat of the Rev. C. B. Barnwell. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £450.* Patron, the Rev. C. B. Banwell. The church is very good, and has a conspicuous tower and spire. Charities, £61.

BEESTON-REGIS, a parish in Expingham district, Norfolk; on the coast, 3 miles WNW of Cromer, and 18 E by N of Walsingham r. station. Post-town, Cromer, nder Norwich. Acres, 957; of which 135 are water. Real property, £839. Pop., 196. Houses, 46. Beeston Hall is the chief residence. Some remains exist of a small Augustinian priory, founded in the 13th century, by Lady Margery de Cressy. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £138. Fatron, the Duchy of Lancaster. The church is decorated English, with square embattled tower; and has a painted rood-screen. BEESTON-RYELANDS. See BEESTON, Notts.

BEESTON-ST. ANDREW, a parish in St. Faith district, Norfolk; 4½ miles NNE of Norwich r. station. Post-town, Rackheath, under Norwich. Acres, 626, Real property, £1,201. Pop., 37. Horses, 5. The living is a rectory in the Real property, £1,201. Pop., 37. Horses, 5.20. Real property, £1,201. Pop., 37. Horses, 5. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £190. Patron, the Rev. H. Banfather. The church is BEESTON-ST. LAWRENGE, a parish in Tunstead district, Norfolk; 3½ miles ENE of Coltishall, and 10½ NE of Norwich r. station. Post-town, Coltishall, under NE of Norwich r. station. Post-town, Coltishall, under Morwich. Acres, 519. Beal property, £1,020. Pop., 50. Houses, 7. The property is divided between two. Beeston Hall is the seat of Sir J. H. Preston, Bart. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £200. Patron, Sir J. H. Preston, Bart. The church is monuments of the Prestons. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

BEETHA, or Belo (The), a stream of Westmoreland. It issues from Lily Farm, 5 miles E of Kendal; and runs 14 miles south-westward, past Bridgend, End-Moor, and Beetham, to the river Kent, § of a mile W of Milnthorpe.
It makes a fall at Beetha mill.

good; has a round tower; and contains some handsome

BEETHAM, a township and a parish in Kendal district, Westmoreland. The township lies on the river Beetha, 1½ mile S of Milnthorpe. Acres, 7,101; of which 1,835 are water. Real property, with Tarleton, 26,095. Pop., 776. Houses, 160. The parish extends down both sides of the river Kent to Morecambe bay; includes the townships of Tarleton, Haverbrack, Wither-slack, and Methop-with-Ulpha; is traversed by the Lancaster and Carlisle and the Lancaster and Ulverston railways; and contains the village of Arnside, with a station on the latter railway and a post-office under scation on the latter railway and a post-office under Miinthorpe. Acres, 17,49; of which 4,177 are water. Real property, £11,449. Pop., 1,510. Houses, 239. The property is much subdivided. The surface is diversified, hilly, and picturesque. Slate and limestone occur; and paper-making is carried on. Beetham Hall, formouly the seat of the Bathen, Facility, and formerly the seat of the Betham family, now the property of the Earl of Derby, was a fine castellated man-sion, but is now in ruins. Cappleside House also was a great mansion, with 117 feet of frontage; but is like-wise in ruins. The towers of Arnside and Helslack, supposed to have been erected to guard the bay of Morecambe, make a conspicuous figure, but are also in ruins. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £159.* Patron, the Duchy of Lancaster. The church is a neat edifice; and contains monuments of the Betham and Wilson families, and a manuscript history of the parish, written by the vicar Hutton. The p. curacy of Witherslack is a separate benefice. A grammar school, founded by Dean Barwick, has an endowed income of about £40; and other charities have about £472.

BEETLEY, a parish in Mitford district, Norfolk; 2 miles WSW of Elmham r. station, and 4 N by W of East Dereham. Post-town, Elmham, under Thetford. Rings 1731. Post-town, Elmham, under Thetford. Acres, 1,770. Real property, £2,870. Pop., 363. Honses, $2. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of East Bilney, in the diocese of Norwich. The church is good.

BEFCOTE, a bamlet in Gnosall parish, Statfordshire;

1 miles WSW of Statford.

BEGBROOKE, a parish in Woodstock district, Oxford; near the Oxford canal, the Oxford and Rugby railway, and the Oxford and Wolverhampton railway, 1½ mile SW of Woodstock Road r. station, and 2½ SE by S of Woodstock. Post-town, Bladon, under Woodstock. Acres, 623. Real property, £1,437. Pop., 104. Houses, 17. The property is divided among a few. A small portion of it onco belonged to the abby of Godestow. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £170.* Patron, Brasenose college, Oxford. The church has some Norman details, and is very good.

BEGELLY, a township, a parish, and a sub-district in Narberth district, Pembroke. The township lies near the Pembroke and Tenby railway, 5 miles S by E of Narberth; and has a post-office under Narberth, and a ration. Acres, 2,447. Rated property, £2,430. Pop., 776. Houses, 160. The parish includes also the chapelry of Williamston. Acres, 3,878. Real property, £4,082; of which £820 are in mines. Pop. 1,311. Honses, 288. The property is divided among a few. Begelly House is the seat of J. Child, Esq. Coal and culm are mined. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Williamston, in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £216. Patron, Lord Milford. The church is early English and good; and there is a Calvinistic Methodist chapel. The sub-district comprises five parishes. Acres, 13,033.

The sub-district comprises are parishes. Acres, 13,033. Pop., 4,313. Houses, 907.

BEGGARMONDS, a hamlet in Buckden township, Arnelisse parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 11 miles NNE of Settle.

BEGGAR'S BRIDGE, a handsome, one-arched bridge on the river Esk, 11 mile W of Egdon, N. R. Yorkshire. The crection of it is ascribed to a romantic love incident; and the scene around it is often visited by pleasure parties.

BEGGAR'S ISLAND. See ANTONY.
BEGGARY (THE), a streamlet of Beds; running 41 miles eastward, past a place of its own name, to the river Ouse, 2 miles S of St. Neots.

BEGGERIDGE, a hamlet in Wellow parish, Somerset. BEGUILDY, or LLANFIHANGEL-BEGUILDY, a town-ship and a parish in Kinghton district, Radnor. The township lies on the river Teme, 8 miles NW of Knighton r. station. Real property, £2,210. The parish consists of two divisions, Lower and Upper; and includes the townships of Creebyther, Mydwalled, Beguildy, and Pennant, and part of the borough of Knuckginidy, and remain, and part of the corough of Kinck-las; and its post-town is Felindre, under Knighton. Acres, 16,645. Real property, £6,863. Pop., 1,203. Houses, 214. The surface is hilly; and most of it is moor or pasture. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £164. Patron, the Bishop of St. David's. Charities, £17.

BEIGHAM, a hamlet in Frant parish, Kent: 23 miles W of Lamberhurst. A small Premonstratensian monastery was founded here in 1200; and given, at the dissolution, to Cardinal Wolsey, in aid of his colleges.

BEIGHTON, a parish and a sub-district in the dis-ict of Rotherham and county of Derby. The parish trict of Rotherham and county of Derby. lies on the river Rother, and on the Eckington and Sheffield railway, 3 miles N of Eckington; contains a charmingly situated village of its own name; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Sheffield. Acres, 3,070. Real property, £8,864,—of which £4,000 are in mines. Pop. 1,284. Houses, 263. Medicinal waters, which have been long in repute, are at Birley; and scythes and sickles are manufactured at Hackenthorpe. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £312.* Patron, Earl Manvers. The church was partly restored, partly rebuilt, in 1869. There are a was partly resource, pa

BEIGHTON, a parish in Blofield district, Norfolk; 2 miles SW of Acle, and 3 NNE of Buckenham r. station. It has a post-office under Norwich. Acres, 1,015. Real Trins a post-once under Forvier. Acres, 1913. Responserty, £2,995. Pop., 365. House, 72. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £363. Patron, E. Fellowes, Esq. The church is decorated English, and was recently restored. There is a national school.

BEIGHTON, Suifolk. See BEYTON.

BEILBY. See BIELBY.

BEIN. See BEST.
BEIN. See BEST.
BEIN-Y-PHOT, a mountain summit in the Isleof Man,
1,750 feet high; 2 miles S of Snea Fell, and 7½ SSW of Ramsev

BEKESBOURNE. See BEAKSBOURNE.

BEL. See BAL.

BELAN-POINT, a headland in Carrarvonshire; at the SW entrance of the Menui strait, near the ferry to Anglesey, 33 miles SW of Carnarvon. Belan Fort here is glessy, 34 mass 8W of Carnaron, Telan Fort fiere is the bathing station of Lord Newborough, BELAUGH, a parish in Aylsham district, Norfolk; on the river Bure, 14 mile SE of Coltishall, and 74 NNE of Norwich r. station. Post-town, Hoveton, under Nor-Acres, 854. Real property, £1,437. Pop., 154. Hall is the chief residence. The living is a rectory, united with the vicarage of Scottow, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £411.* Patron, the Bishop of Norwich. The church has a brass of 1471, an ancient circular font, and a square pinnacled tower; and is very good.

BELBANK. See BELLBANK.

BELBROUGHTON, a manor, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Bromsgrove, Worcester. The manor lies 41 miles S by E of Stourbridge r. station, and 5 NW of Bromsgrove; and has a post-office; under Stourb N w of Ecomograve; and has a post-onice, under Stoff-bridge, and furs on the last Monday of April and the second Monday of Oct. The parish includes also the nanors of Fairfield, Bromhill, and Brian's Bell, and the village of Hartle. Acres, 4,605. Real property, £11,450. Pop., 1,995. Houses, 405. The property is much sub-dicided. The actuality nanofacture of cauther have divided. An extensive manufacture of scythes, hay-knives and many kinds of edge-tools, is carried on. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. 11 Annual is a rectory in the diocess of worester. Valle, 21,214 * Patron, St. John's college, Oxford. The church is old but good; and there are Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist chapels. A school has an endowed income of £10, and other charities £24. The snh-district comprises five parishes and part of a sixth. Acres, 15,584. 5,584. Pop., 4,867. Houses, 1,053. BELBUKY RING, an ancient camp 21 miles SW of Steeple-Largford, Wilts; occupying 17 acres, fortified by double and triple ramparts, and enclosing a still older

Work

BELBY, a township in Howden parish, E. R. York-skire; near the Selby and Hull railway, 1 mile E by N of Howden. Acres, 679. Real property, £829. Pop., Houses, 6.
BELCHALWELL, See BELICHALWELL,

BELCHAMP-NORTHWOOD, an extra-parochial tract in Sudbury district, Essex; contiguous to Belchamp-Walter. Pop., 12. Houses, 3.

BELCHAMP-OTTON, a parish in the district of Sudbury and county of Essex; on a small affluent of the river Stour, 4 miles NE of Yeldham r. station, and 5 W by N of Sudbury. Post-town, Belchamp-St. Paul, under not suggery. Post-town, betchamp-St. Paul, under Halstead. Acrea, 1,689. Real property, £2,961. Pop., 275. Houses, 81. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £44.5. Patron, the representatives of the late Rev. E. H. Dawson. The church is good; and there are charities £21.

BELCHAMP-ST. PAUL, a parish in the district of Sudbury and county of Essex; on the river Stour, 6 miles WNW of Sudbury r. station. It has a post-office under Sudbury, and a fair on 11 Dec. Aress, 2,557. Real property, £4,209. Pop., 832. Houses, 179. The property is divided among a few. The patish is a meet roperty is divided among a rew. And particle for the East Essex hounds. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £240.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's. The church is very good.

BELCHAMP-WALTER, a parish in the district of BELCHAMP WALTER, a parsh in the district of Sudbury and county of Essex; on a small affluent of the river Stour, 4 miles W of Sudbury. I station. It has a post-office under Sudbury. Acres, 2,125. Real property, £4,319. Pop., 768. Houses, 152. Belchamp Hall is the seat of the liaymonds; and contains an intresting collection of pictures. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Bulmer, in the diocesc of Rochester. The church is a neat high edifice; and contains a brass of 1501, and tombs of the Raymonds.

BELCHFORD, or BELSHFORD, a parish in Horncastle district, Lincoln; on the Wolds, 4½ miles NNE of Hornastle r. station. Post-town, Horncastle, Acres, 2,390. 3.885, Pop., 638, Houses, 148, The Real property, £3,885. Pop., 638. Houses, 148. The maner belongs to R. Vyner, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £125.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good; and there are two Methodist charels and a national school.

BELFORD, a small town, a township, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Northumberland. The town stands on a gentle eminence, about a mile W of a station of its own name on the Northeastern railway, 15; miles

SSE of Berwick. It is neatly built; contains a church, two dissenting chapels, and a workhouse; has a head post-office, a market-place, and two chief inns; and is a seat of petty sessions. The church was lately reis a seat of petty sessions. The church was lately rebuilt, is in the early English style, and has a lofty tower. A weekly market is held on Wednesday; fairs, on Tuesday before Whitsunday and 23 Aug; and races, in September.—The township includes the town, and comprises 2,693 acres. Pop. 1,067. Houses, 204.—The parish includes also the townships of Ross, Elwick, Easington, Easington Grange, Middleton, and Detchant. Acres, 11,604; of which 2,224 are water. Real property, 211,801. Pop., 1,724. Houses, 229. The property is 11,601; of which 2,224 are water. Real property, £11,801. Pop., 1,724. Houses, 329. The property is divided among five. Belford Hall is the seat of the Rev. J. D. Clark. Coal, lime, and freestone occur. Traces of an ancient chapel are on a rising ground near the town; and remains of a very strong Danish campenompassed by a deep ditch, are not far distant. The liming is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, the district of the contract o living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £147.* Patron, the Rev. J. D. Clark.—The sub-district and the district are coextensive; and contain the parishes of Belford and Bambrough, the extra-parochial tracts of Monk's-Honse and Fern-Islands, and part of the parish of Ellingham. Acres, 41,753. Poor-rates in 1866, £4,548. Pop. in 1861, 6,260. Houses, 1,221. Marriages in 1866, 41; births, 174,—of which 17 were illegiti-mate; deaths, 120,—of which 24 were at ages under 5 mate; deaths, 120,—of which 24 were at ages inder 3 years, and 4 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 198; births, 2,007; deaths, 1,072. The places of worship in 1851 were 6 of the Church of England, with 1,920 sittings; 1 of the Church of Sectland, with 500 s.; 2 of the United Presbyterian Church, with 730 s.; 3 of the Presbyterian Church in England, with 730 s.; 3 of the Presbyterian Church in England. with 1,027 s.; and 10 f Roman Catholics, with 70s. The schools were 13 public day schools, with 606 scholars; 8 private day schools, with 363 s.; and 13 Sunday schools, with 678 s

BELGRAVE, a township and a parish in Barrow-npon-Soar district, Leicester. The township lies on the river Soar, the Fossé way, and the Midland railway, 13 nile NNE of Leicester; and has a post-office under Leinaile NNE of Leicester; and has a post-office under Lei-cester. It gives the title of Viscount to the Marquis of Westminster. Real property, £9,333. Pop., 1,510. Houses, 34.1 The parish includes also the township of Sonth Thurmaston and the chapelry of Diretall. Acres, 3,450. Real property, with North Thurmaston, 418,943. Pop., 2,898. Houses, 625. Helgrave House and a half-share of the manor belong to Isaac Harriand a harrsmare of the manor belong to Islan Italians, son, Esq. The living is a vicarge, united with the p. curacy of Birstall, in the diocese of Peterborough, Value, £194.6. Patron, the Bishop of Lichfield. The church is later English, but has a Norman door; and contains monuments and a curious font. There are chapels for Baptists, Wesleyans, and Primitive Mctho-There are dists, a national school, town-lands worth £90 a year, and other charities £36.

BELGRAVE, a sub-district of St. George Hanover Square district, London. It includes Buckingham palace and part of the parish of St. George Hanover Square. Acres, 580; of which 55 are water. Pop., 55,113.

Honses, 6,613.

BELGRAVIA, the southern wing of the West End of London. It is bounded, on the N, by Knightsbridge; on the E, by Grosvenor Square; on the SE, by Ebury Street; and on the W, by Sloane Street. It stands on on the E, by Grosvenor Square; on the SE, by Ebury Street; and on the W, by Sloane Street. It stands on ground, originally marshy, belonging to the Marquis of Westminster; and was built chiefly in 1826-52. It includes Belgrave and Eaton squares; has generally large, regular, elegant houses; and is lighly fashionable. BELIDDEN, an amphitheatre on the coast of Cornwell; about 14 mile NNE of the Lizard. It consists of a recess in cliffs, banked above by sloping turf; and is thought by some antiquaries to have been used by the accessit Britons as a tenule.

ancient Britons as a temple.

BELLAN, a township in Ruabon parish, Denbigh; 51 miles E of Llangollen.

iles E of Llangollen. Pop., 138. BELLASIS, a hamlet in Stannington parish, Northumberland; near the river Blyth, 41 miles S of Mor-BELLASIZE, a township in Eastrington parish, E. R. Yorkshire; near the Selhy and Hull railway, 4½ miles E of Howden. It includes the hamlets of Greenoak and Bennetland. Acres, 1,343. Real property, £2,176. Pop., 231. Houses, 60.

BELLBANK, a township in Stapleton parish, Cumberland; 71 miles N of Brampton. Real property, £832.

Pop., 111. Houses, 17.

Pop., 111. Houses, 11.

BELLBANK, a township in Bewcastle parish, Cumberland; 9½ miles NNE of Brampton. Here are coal and iron-works. Real property, £1,851. Pop., 415. Houses, 81.

BELL-BUSK, a hamlet in Cold-Coniston township, Gargrave parish, W. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the Midland railway, 6? miles WNW of Skipton. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Leeds.

station on the failway, and a post-office under Leeds.
BELLCHALWELL, a parish in Sturminster district, Dorset; 3 miles S of Sturminster, and 64 WNW of Blandford r. station. Post-town, Turnworth, under Blandford. Acres, 1,308. Real property, with Fifehead-Neville, £3,188. Pop., 158. Houses, 37. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, not reported. Patron, Lord Rivers. The church has a Norman porch and a square tower; and is very good.

BELLEAU, a village and a parish in Lonth district, BELLEAU, a village and a parish in Louin district, Lincoln. The village stands near the Boston and Great Grimsby railway, in the vicinity of Claythorpe station, 4 miles NW by N of Alford. The parish includes also the chapelry of Claythorpe; and its post-town is Alford. Acres, 1,344. Real property, £1,947. Pop., 214. Houses, 33. The property is divided among a few. The name Belleau is derived from some fine springs of water arising from chalk rocks. Ruins exist of a monastery, comprising two gateways and part of a turret. The lands were given, in the time of Cromwell, to Sir Henry Vane. The living is a rectory, united with Aby, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £300.* Patron, Lord Wil-The church is an ancient edifice, loughby d'Eresby. with a small tower; and contains a fine effigies of a cru-BELLEAU, or BEELAH (THE), a stream of Westmoreland. It rises on Stanemoor, near the boundary with Yorkshire; and runs 8 miles westward to the Eden in the vicinity of Musgrave.

BELLE ISLE, or CURWEN'S ISLE, an island in Windermere, Westmoreland; near the centre of the lake, opposite Bowness. It measures about 15 mile in circuit, and upwards of 30 acres in area; is all disposed in landscape garden; and contains the mansion of Henry Curwen, Esq.,—a circular four-storey edifice, with hexastyle portico, built in 1776. A baronial fortalice once stood on the site of the mansion; belonged, in the time of Charles I., to the family of Phillipson; and was garricular to the contained on the site of the mansion; belonged, in the time of Charles I., to the family of Phillipson; and was garricular the contained on the co soned and defended, at that time, for the Crown.

soned and defended, at that time, for the trown.

BELLERDY, a township-chapelry in Spennithorne parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 1\(\frac{1}{2}\) mile N of Leyburn r. station. It has a post-office under Bedale. Acres, 2,540.
Real property, £2,033. Pop., 391. Houses, 90. Eellerby Park is the seat of J. C. Chaytor, Esq. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £78. Patron, J. C. Chaytor, Esq.

BELL-HOUSES, a hamlet in Ecclesfield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 5½ miles W of Rotherham.
BELLIENSE, a village in St. Martin parish, Guern-

BELLINGDON, a hamlet in Chesham parish, Bucks; 2 miles NNW of Chesham. Pop., 173.

BELLINGHAM, a town, a township, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Northumberland. The town stands on the left bank of the North Tyne, at the mouth of Hareshaw burn, adjacent to the Border Counties railway, 16 miles NNW of Hexham. It has a station on the railway, a post-office; under Hexham, a town-hall, a church, a U. Presbyterian chapel, a R. Catholic chapel, and three public schools; is of small extent, but of local importance; a seat of county courts, and a polling-place; and has had much recent change in connexion with iron-works and the railway. Markets are held on Saturdays; and fairs on the Wednesday before Good Friday, and on certain Saturdays of May, July, Aug., Sept., Oct., and Nov. The church is of the 13th century; was recently restored; and has a finely groined stone roof. A fall of 30 feet, on the Hareshaw burn, is in the neighbourhood.—Pop. of the township, 860. Houses, 172.—The parish includes also the townships of Charlton-East Quarter, Charlton-West Quarter, Tarof Charlton-East Quarter, Charlton-West Quarter, Tar-retburn, Nook, and Leemailing. Aeres, 20,211. Real property, £5,952. Pop., 1,662. Houses, 335. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged, in the time of Richard II. and Henry IV., to the De Beiling-hams; passed to the Earls of Derwentwater; went to Greenwich Hospital; and was sold to the Duke of Northumberland. The royalties were leased, in 1864, to Sir W. Armstrong, for working ore. Hesleyside, the seat of the Charlton family since the time of Edward VI., stands on a rising ground, on the right bank of the Tyne, 13 mile above the town. The present mansion was built about the middle of last century; and occupies the site of a previous one of elaborate character, destroyed by fire. Much of the parish is moor and sheep-walk; and many parts of it have cairos, tumuli, and Druidical stones. Game is pientiful; and coal, ironstone, and limestone are worked. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Durham. Value, £200. Patron, Greenwich Hospital.

Durham. Value, 2200. Patron, Greenwich Hospital.
The sub-district comprises the parishes of Greystead, Falstone, and Thorneyburn, the townships of Bellingham, Charlton-E. Q., Charlton-W. Q., and Tarretburn in Bellingham parish, the townships of Rochester, Otterburn, and Troughend in Elsdon parish, and the extraparochial tract of Ramshope. Pop. 4,247. Houses, 716. The district includes also the sub-district of Kirkhabitant strict includes also the sub-district of Kirkwhelpington, containing the parishes of Corsenside, whetpington, containing the parishes of Corsensate, Wark, Thockrington, and Kirkharle, the paroticulat cha-pelry of Birtley, and parts of the parishes of Kirkwhelp-ington and Bellingham. Acres, 225, 861. Poor-rates in 1866, £4,326. Pop. in 1861, 7,080. Houses, 1,308. Marriages in 1866, 42; births, 239,—of which 29 were illegitimate; deaths, 128,—of which 37 were at ages under 5 years, and 8 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 263; births, 1,737; deaths, 969. The places of worship in 1851 were 12 of the Church of England, with 2,248 sittings; 2 of the United Presbyterian church, with 680 s.; 5 of the Presbyterian church in England, with 1,444 s.; I of Wesleyan Methodists, with 123 s.; I of Frimitive Methodists, with 200 s.; and I of Roman Catholics, with 54 attendants. The schools were 15 public day schools, with 672 scholars; 8 private day schools, with 195 s.; and 15 Sunday schools, with The workhouse is in Bellingham township. 554 g

BELLISTER, a township in Haltwhistle parish, Northumberland; on the South Tyne, near the Newcastle and Carlisle and the Alston railways, 1 mile S of Halt-whistle. Acres, 983. Pop., 117. Houses, 27. Belwhistle. Acres, 983. Pop., 117. Houses, 27. Bellister Castle, now a crumbling mass of ruin, was the seat of the Blenkinsops parish of Ghisprongh, N. N. JOKESHITE.

BELLMANGATE, a hamlet in the township and parish of Guisbrough, N. R. Yorkshire.

BELLOWS CROSS, a hamlet in Chettle parish,
Dorset; 2 miles W of Cranborne.

BELL-STREET. See AVENING.

BELLS-YEW-GREEN, a locality 4 miles from Tunbridge-Wells; with a post-office under that place.

BELL TOUT. See BEACHY HEAD.
BELLURIAN COVE, a cove on the SW coast of Cornwall; 5! miles NNW of the Lizard. The rock of it is a conglomerate containing fragments of greywacke limestone, and appears to have been surmounted by hornblende slate. Mullion island, about a mile in circuit, and of very curious outline, lies in the offing, and presents a striking appearance as seen in the descen; to the cove.

BELMISTHORPE, a hamlet in Ryhall parish, Rutland; on the river Wash, 2½ miles NNE of Stamford. It once belonged to the celebrated Lady Godwin. Pop., 121.

BELMONT, a chapelry in Bolton-le-Moors parish, Lancashire; 32 miles E of Cherley r. station. It was constituted in 1851; and has a post-office under Bolton. Rated property, £4,005. Pop., 1,033. Houses, 202. There are cotton-mills and print-works. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £120.*

151

Platon, the Rev. C. Wright. The church is good.

BELMONT, a chapelry in the parish and county of Durham; on the Durham and Sunderland railway, 2 miles ENE of Durham. It was constituted in 1852; it contains the Durham suburb of Gilesgate-Moor or Gillians. gate, and the villages of Broomside and Carrville; and gate, and the villages of Drobinside and Carryine; and Early property, £6,840. Pop., 3,337. Houses, 676. The property is divided among a few. Coal is worked. Belmout Hall, Ravensflat, and the Grange are chief residences. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £150.* a vicarage in the diocese of Durnam. Value, £190.*
Parron, alternately the Crown and the Bishop. The church was built in 1857, and is in the early decorated Enclish style. There is a Wesleyan chapel.
BELMONT, an estate in Herefordshire; on the river
Wye, 21 miles WSW of Hereford. A large Roman Catholic church, and a wing of a Benedictine monastery thohe church, and a wing of a beneuertine monastery containing 40 chambers, were built here in 1859. The church is cruciform, in the early English style, very richly decorated; and is surmounted by a tower, intended to be terminated in a spire 210 feet high.

BELO (THE). See BEETHA (THE).

BELPER, a town, two chapelries, a snb-district, and a district in Derbyshire. The town is in Duffield parish, and stands in a pleasant situation, on the river Derwent and on the Midland railway, 74 miles N of Derby. It was an inconsiderable village till 1777; but has risen to importance by means of manufactures; and was visited, in 1832, by Queen Victoria and the Duchess of Kent. It comprises several regular streets, and contains some interesting buildings. A handsome bridge of three arches spans the river. An old chapel, built by John of Gaunt, is used as a school-house. The head church, erected in spans the river. 1824, at a cost of £12,603, is a fine edifice, in the decorrated style, with a high tower, surmounted by pinnacles. Christ Church, in Bridge-street, was erected in 1854. censery, with entrance offices and two chapels, in the late decorated style, was opened in 1850. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyan Methodists, Primitive Methodists, Un. Free Methodists, and Unitarians. There are also alms houses and a work-house; the latter in the Tudor style, and erected at a cest of 27,580. The town has a head post-office, $\pm$ a railway station with telegraph, a banking-office, and four rainwy station with telegraph, a banking-once, and obling-chief inns; and is a sent of petty sessions and a polling-place. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on 25 Jan., 12 May, and 31 Oct. Cotton works, belong-ing to the Messrs. Strutt, employ upwards of 2,000 per-sons. Hosiery work and nail-making also are carried on; and an extensive pottery and coal works are in the neighbourhood. Bridge-Hill-House, the residence of J. II. Strutt, Esq., and Green Hall are fine mansions. The town gives the title of Baron, created in 1855, to the clder branch of the family of Strutt. Acres, 3,078. Real property, £18,081. Pop., 9,509. Houses, 1,976.

The charefries are Belper and Bridge-Hill; were constituted in the structure of the

The chareftess are Belper and Bridge-Hu; were constituted in 1846 and 1815; and jointly comprise most of the town. Pop., 6,106 and 2,839. Houses, 1,309 and 563. Both are vicarages in the dicess of Lichfield. Value of the former, £300; of the latter, £150. Patron of the former, the Vicar of Duffield; of the latter, alternately the Crown and the Bishop.—The sub-district is conterminate with the town .- The district comprehends also the sub-district of Ripley, containing the parishes of Pentrich and South Wingheld, the chapelry of Heage, of Pentrich and South wingness, the enapers of a supersonal part of the parish of Crich; the sub-district of Alfredon, the contaminate with the parish of Alfredon; the containing parts of the freton, conterminate with the parish of Attreton; the sub-district of Wirksworth, containing parts of the parishes of Wirksworth, Duffield, Ashover, and Kirk-Ireton; the sub-district of Horsley, containing the parishes of Horsley, Morley, and Deuby, the chapelty of Holbrook, and part of the parish of Kirk-Hallam; and the sub-district of Duffield, containing the parishes of the August Market and Kirk-Walleston and Kirk-Walleston and Kirk-Mackworth, Allestree, Quarndon, Kedleston, and Kirk-Langley, and parts of the parishes of Duffield and Mug-ginton. Acres, 66,590. Poor-rates in 1866, £15,542. Pop. in 1861, 51,711. Houses, 10,535. Marriages in 1866, 517; births, 1,959,—of which 142 were illegitimate; deaths, 1,199,—of which 507 were at ages under 5 years, and 20 at ages above S5 years. Mauriages 5 years, and 20 at ages above 55 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-69, 4,217; births, 17,197; deaths, 10,106. The places of worship in 1851 were 30 of the Church of England, with 12,745 sittings; 8 of Independents, with 2,445 s.; 12 of Baptists, with 2,931 s.; 2 of Unitarians, with 776 s.; 39 of Wesleyan Methodist, with 9,086 s.; 1 of the Methodist New Connection, with 100 s.; 8 of Primitive Methodists, with 3,072 s.; 13 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 2,290 s.; 1 undefined, with 150 s.; and 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 46 attendants. 150 s.; and 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 46 attendants. The schools were 51 public day schools, with 4,515 scholars; 72 private day schools, with 1,556 s.; 93 Sunday schools, with 10,405 s.; and 5 evening schools for adults, with 171 s.

BELPH, a hamlet in Whitwell parish, Derby; 11 miles NE of Chesterfield.

BELSAR HILLS, eminences in Cambridgeshire; in the vicinity of the river Ouse, 8 miles E of St. Ives.
They were occupied by William the Conqueror's camp, when he menaced the Isle of Ely; and they took their

name from his general Belasis.

name from his general Belasis.
BEI.SAY, a township in Bolam parish, Northumberland; on the river Blyth, 9\frac{1}{2}\text{ miles SW of Morpeth. It has a post-office under Newcastle-upon-Tyne. Acres, 2,516. Pop., 384. Houses, 74. Belsay Castle, the ancient seat of the Middletons, now the property of Sir C. M. L. Monek, Bart., is an old tower, with additions made by Sir C. Middleton in 1628. The pile measures 56\frac{1}{2}\text{ feet from N to S, and 47\frac{1}{2}\text{ from E to W; has four projection turned, there of them round the other squares. projecting turrets, three of them round, the other square; terminates in a corbelled parapet; and contains, on the first floer, a solar 43 feet long, 21 wide, and 17 high.

BELSFORD, a hamlet in Harberton parish, Deven;

1 mile SW of Totnes. Pop., 53. BELSHFORD. See BELCHFORD.

BELISHFORD. See BELCHFORD.

BELISTEAD, a parish in Saniford district, Suffolk; near the Eastern Union railway, 34 miles SW of Ipswich.

Post-town, Ipswich. Acres, 1,022. Real property, £1,849. Pop., 292. Houses, 57. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £370. Patron, the lev. E. J.

Lockwood. The church is tolerable; and there is an Independent chapel.

BELSTONE, a parish in Okehampton district, Devon; on the headstreams of the Taw and Okement rivers, 2 miles SE of Okehampton r. station, and 20 W by N of Exeter. It includes the hamlet of Prestacott; and its Exeter. It inclines the namet of rresaccot; and its post-town is Okchampton. Acres, 1,500. Real property, £1,205. Pop., 181. Houses, 41. The property is not much divided. The surface lies within Dartmoor, and partakes of its striking scenery. Belstone Cleave, on the course of the Okcment river, shows wild massings of rock, with impetuous current of the stream. The glen of St. Michael of Hatstock has the influx of the Black Avon from the uplands of Yes Tor; and contains Chapel Ford, named from an extinct ancient chapel of St. Michael. Belstone Tor, about 11 mile above the ford, has on its W side a Druidic circle of 17 stones, the highest not more than 21 feet above-ground. Some of the inhabitants are employed in woollen manufacture. The living The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £154. Patron, the Rev. H. G. Fothergill. The church is a small edifice of nave and chancel, with a very low tower; has Norman work and a fine old carved screen; is traditionally said to have been built by Baldwin de Brioniis; and was repaired in 1555. There is an Independent chapel.

BELSWAINS, a hamlet in Herts; on the North-western railway, 2 miles SSE of Hemel-Hempstead. BELTHORPE. See Bisnor-Wilton.

BELTINGE, a hamlet in Herne parish, Kent; 61 miles

NNE of Canterbury.

BELTINGHAM, a chapelry in Haltwhistle parish, Northumberland; on the South Tyne, adjacent to the Newcastle and Carlisle railway, near Bardon Mill station, 152

4 miles W of Haydon Bridge. Post-town, Bardon Mill, under Carlisle. Statistics not separately reported. market was formerly held here; and there is a very old and large yew in the churchyard. The living is a p. curacy in the diocess of Durham. Value, £87. Patron, the Vicar of Haltwhistle. The church is good.

BELTISLOE, a wapentake in the parts of Kesteven, Lincoln. It contains Basingthorpe parish, 18 other parishes, and part of another. Acres, 51,216. Pop. in 1851, 8,816; in 1861, 8,289. Houses, 1,707. BELTOFT, a hamlet in Belton parish, Thorne district, BELTOFT, a hamlet in Belton parish. Thome district, Lincoln; 2 miles NE of Epworth. Pop., 139.

BELTON, a parish in Loughborough district, Leicester; 4½ miles NNE of Swannington r. station, and 6 WNW of Loughborough. Its statistics include the extra-parochial tract of Grace-Dieu; and its post-town is Sheepshead, under Loughborough. Acres, 1,900. Real property, £5,259. Fop., 781. Houses, 161. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £179. Patron, the Marquis of Hastings. The church is a fine old edifice, with tower and spire: and contains a monument of Marquis of Hastings. The church is a fine old edifice, with tower and spire; and contains a monument of Roesia de Verdun, the founder of Grace-Dien nunnery. There are two dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, a national school, and a great annual horse fair.

chajel, a national school, and a great annual horse fair. BELTON, a parish in Grantham district, Lincoln; on the river Witham, adjacent to the Great Northern and the Grantham and Boston railways, 2 miles NNE of Grantham. It contains a village of its own name, and has a post-office under Grantham. Acres, 1,709. Real property, £2,544. Pop., 142. Houses, 33. The property belongs all to Earl Brownlow, and gives him the title of Baron. Belton Hall, the Earl's seat, stands in a park of 5 miles in circuit; and is an edifice in the shame of the letter H. created in 1689 after. edifice, in the shape of the letter H, erected in 1689 after designs by Wren, and considerably modernized by Wyatt. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £430. Patron, Earl Brownlow. The church is ancient and good; and contains monuments of the Custs and the Brownlows, and a rich eight-sided font. An ornamental cross is in the village; end an ornamental tower on a height in the park. There is an endowed school. BELITON, a parish in the district of Thorne and county of Lincoln; in the Isle of Axholme, 11 mile N of Epworth, and 3 miles SE of Godnow-Bridge r. station. It includes the hamlets of Beltoft, Carrhouse, Mosswood, Sandtoft, Westgate, and Woodhouse; and has a postoffice under Bawtry. Acres, 8,530. Real property, £12,403. Pop., 1,571. Houses, 357. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, not reported. Patron, J. Brunyee, Esq. The church is handsome. There are three diseaseting above and having the first property of the control of the property of the control o three dissenting chapels, and charities £40. A fair is held on 25 Sept.

BELTON, a parish in Uppingham district, Rutland; on the river Eye, 4 miles WNW of Uppingham, and 5 WSW of Manton r. station. It contains a village of its own name, and has a post-office under Uppingham. Acres, 2,330. Real property, £2,441. Pop., 441. Houses, 98. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Wardley, in the diocese of Peterborough. The church is old but good, and has a square embattled tower. There are a Partist chargel and a free school. Poors lands yield £83 a year, and other charities £20.

BELTON, a parish in Mutford district, Suffolk; on the East Suffolk railway and the Waveney river, 3 miles SW by W of Yarmouth. It has a station on the railway, and includes the hamlet of Browston; and its postway, and national the manner of Browson; and its post-town is Yarmouth. Acres, 2,059. Real property, 23,460. Pop., 516. Houses, 114. The property is much sub-divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Nor-vich. Value, £362. Patron, the Bishop of Norwich. The church is old but good; and has a round tower, which was rebuilt in 1849.

BELVIDERE, a station on the North Kent railway, 13 miles Wof London Bridge. Belvidere House, in its vicinity, near the Thames, is the seat of Sir Culling Eardley, Bart; and contains a choice collection of pic-

BELVIDERE, Berks. See VIRGINIA WATER. BELVOIR, an extra-parochial tract in the district of Grantham and county of Leicester; on the verge of the county, near the Grantham canal, 7 miles W by S of Grantham. Acres, 170. Real property, £1,780. Pop., 171. Houses, 18. Belvoir Castle here is the seat of the Duke of Rutland, and one of the most magnificent structures in the kingdom. The original building was a fortress erected soon after the Conquest by Robert de Todeni, standard-bearer to William; and was several times burned down or otherwise destroyed. The present times burned down or otherwise descroyed. Inc present pile is a modern, castellated, hollow quadrangle, restored by Wyatt; measuring 252 feet along the east front, and containing a noble apartment called the Regent's and containing a move apartment carea the regent's gallery, 127 feet long, filled with the choicest productions of art. It stands on an isolated and perhaps artificial hill; and commands a view of 30 miles, over a picturesque extensive vale, called the vale of Belvoir. The Prince Regent, afterwards George IV., visited it in If it is the first account of by Robert de Todeni; and was given, at the dissolution, by hover our votent; and was given, at the dissolution, to Thomas, Earl of Rutland, and Robert Turwhit. BEMBRIDGE, a village and a chapelry in Brading parish, Isle of Wight. The village stands on the E side of Brading harbour, 21 miles ENE of Brading. It has a post-office under Ryde, and is a coast-guard station. It rose from obscurity about 1826; acquired some handsoma houses and a hotel; and made strong claims to become a fashionable watering-place; but has not met so much favour as its situation and other advantages deservo. The chapelry was constituted in 1827. Acres, not separately returned. Real property, £3,783. Pop., 783. Honses, 179. The tract of 2½ miles by 1½, between Brading harbour and the Channel, bears the name of Isla of Bembridge; and the termination of it on the NE is called Bembridge Point. A ridge of hill, across its neck, called Bembridge Down, has an altitude of 355 feet, commands a very gorgeous view, was the scene of a re-buff of the French in 1546, and is crewned by a granite obelisk, 70 feet high, erected in 1849 to the memory of the late Lord Yarborough. The rocks present a fine the late Lord Yarborougn. The rocks present a nie study to the geologist; and lignite, fuller's earth, and red ochre are found. The Bembridge ledge, and other red cente are found. The Demorrage range, and other ledges run off from the E coast into shoals; and the Bembridge fleating lights are situated to the ENE, and show two lights 18 and 25 feet above deck and 43 feet apart. A railway, 2 miles long, was authorised, in 1864, to be formed from Yar Bridge to Bembridge Point, with pier and landing-place. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £100.* Patron, the Vicar of Brading. The church was built in 1845, and is in the early English style.

and is in the early English style.

BEMERSLEY, a township in Norton-in-the-Moors parish, Stafford; 2 miles NE of Burslem. It includes part of Whitfield ville. Pop., 258. Houses, 45.

BEMERTON, a chapelry in Fugglestone-St. Peter parish, Wilts; 1, mile W by N of Salisbury r. station.
Post-town, Salisbury. Rated property, 21, 336. Pop., 109. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory, angues do the rector of Fugglestone is a rectory, angues do the rector of Fugglestone is the like tory, annexed to the rectory of Fugglestone, in the diocese of Salisbury. The old church had windows of decorated English, and a font of early English; and was restored by George Herbert, the poet. The present church was built in 1861; is in the transition style from first to second pointed; and consists of nave, aisles, chancel, and porch, with northeastern square tower, but presents a very irregular outline. George Herbert, who died in 1635; John Norris, the poet and metaphysician, who died in 1711; and Archdeacon Cox, the traveller and historian, who died in 1828, were rectors.

BEMMINSTER. Sec BEAMINSTER.

BEMPSTONE, a hundred in Somerset. It contains Burnham and six other parishes. Acres, 25,698. Pop. in 1851, 8,123; in 1861, 8,383. Houses, 1,804. in 1851, 8,123; in 1861, 8,333. Houses, 1,804.
BEMPTON, a parish in Bridlington district, E. R. Yorkshire; on the coast, and on the Hull and Scarborough railway, 41 miles N of Bridlington. It has a station on the railway; and its post-town is Bridlington, under Hull. Acres, 2,093; of which 163 are water, Real property, £3,708. Pop., 346. Houses, 70. The property is much subdivided. The living is a donative in the diocese of York. Value, £51. Patron, H. Broad-ley, Esq. The church has a nave of four bays with round lev. Esq. pillars, and a chancel rebuilt in 1829. There is a Weslevan chapel.

BEN, a prefix in Celtic names, signifying "a hill" or "mountain." It is sometimes written Bein, Bhein, or Pen; but in the last case is significant more of a projection or of a headland than of a summit.

tion or of a headland than of a summit.

BENACRE, or BirxAcne, a parish in Blything district, Suffolk; on the coast, 55 miles NNE of Wangford, and 51 S of Carlton-Colville r. station. Its post-town is Kessingland, under Wangford. Acres, 1,660. Real property, £3,040. Pop., 212. Houses, 48. The property is not much divided. Beneare Hall is the seat of Sir E. S. Gooch, Bart. A lake of about 100 acres, called Benacre Broad, abounding in pike and other fish, lies about a mile from the sea. A stone vessel, containing about 900 Roman silver coins, some of them of the Emperor Vespasian, was found at the mending of a road in 1786. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Easton-Bavents and the vicarage of North Hules, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £440. Patron, Sir E. S. Gooch, Bart. The church has a fine perpendicular font, and is good.

BENAIGHN, a township in Llannefydd parish, Den-bighshire; 51 miles NW of Denbigh.

BENBOULE, a village 31 miles NE of Wadebridge,

BENDALL, a village in the S of Derbyshire; 51 miles

ENE of Eurton-upon-Trent.
BENDISH. See BARTON-BENDISH.

BENDON, a quondam mansion, now a farm-house, 3 of a mile W of Axmonth, Devon. It shows well the architectural features of the 16th century; and was long a seat of the Erle family, including Lord Chief Justice Erle and Sir Walter Erle.

BENEDICT (St.). See CAMBRIDGE, HUNTINGDON, and LINCOLN

BENEFIELD, a parish in Oundle district, Northampton; adjacent to Rockingham forest, 3 miles W of Oundle r. station. It consists of two divisions, called Upper End and Lower End, and embraces an extra-parochial tract in Rockingham forest; and it has a post-office under Onndle. Acres, 5,100. Real property, £6,068. Pop., 527. Houses, 110. The property is divided among a few. The manor belongs to J. W. Russell, Esq. Nine holes, called the Swallows, occasionally suck up and absorb land floods. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £531.* Patron, J. W. Russell, The church was recently restored, and is good. A school has an endowed income of £10, and other chari-

BENENDEN, a village and a parish in Cranbrook strict, Kent. The village stands 3 miles SE of Crandistrict, Kent. district, Aeric. The strange stands of mines of soft of the brook, and 8 S of Staplehurst r. station; and has a post-office under Staplehurst. It is a place of great antiquity; contains several good old homes; and presents a pleasant appearance. It once was noted for cloth manufacture; and it has a fair on 15 May. The parish comprises 6,508 acres. Red property, £7,374. Pop. 1,602. Houses, 309. The property is divided among a few. Ponds and springs abound. A beacon stool near the village during the civil wars, forming part of a line of communication between Tenterden and London. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £112.* Patron, G. Hardy, £83. The church was restored in 1862, tron, G. Hardy, Esq. The church was restored in 1862, at a cost of £6,000. There are a recent school-church, a Baptist chapel, a neat national school of 1861, an endowed school with £114 a-year, and charities £60. BENET (St.). See LONDON.

BENFIELDSIDE, a township and a chapelry in Lanchester parish, Durham. The township lies on the river

Derwent, and on a branch of the Northeastern railway, 4 miles K of Cold Rowley; and has a r. station. It is a watering place, and has coal mines; and its post-town is Medomsley, under Gateshead. Acres, 1,834. Access 1, 2004. Inch 1847. The chapter was constituted in 1847. Pop. 9, 223. Houses, 1,575. The living is a vicarage in the dio. of Durham. Value, 2300. * Patron, al, the Crown and the Bishop.

The church is good; and there are two Methodist chapels and a R. Catholic one.

BENFLEET, a station on the London and Southend railway, on the south coast of Essex; 6 miles W of Southend.

BENFLEET (NORTH), a parish in Billericay district, Essex; 24 miles NE of Pitsea r. station, and 3 W by S of Rayleigh. It has a post-office under Chelinsford. Acres, Agrical To The Sale of Sale of BENFLEET (South), a parish in Rochford district Essex; on the coast, including part of Canvey island, and on the London and Southend railway, at Benfleet station, on the London and Southend railway, at Bentleet station, 4 miles SSW of Rayleigh. It has a post-office under Chelmsford. Acres, 3,361; of which 305 are water. Real property, £3,756. Pop., 573. Houses, 125. The pro-perty is much subdivided. A strong castle was built here by the famous Danish pirate, Hastings; and taken and destroyed by Alfred the Great. The waters on the coast were celebrated for oysters. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £233.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Westminster. The church is a fine structure of the time of Henry VII.

BENGAL, a hamlet, 1 mile W of Towcester, Northampton. Pop., 39.

BENGEO, a parish in the district and county of Hertford; on the river Rib, and on Ermine-street, adjacent to the Hertfordshire railway, 1 mile N of Hertford, and to the neritorishine saliway, in mile is of neritoria, and partly within Heritorid Porough. Post-town, Heritorid Acres, 3,047. Real property, £8,150. Pop., 1,791. Houses, 355. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £620.* Patron, A. Smith, Esq. There are an old church now disused, a new church built in 1855, two chapels of ease, a Calvinistic chapel, three national schools, a reformatory, four alms-houses, and other charities £45.

BENGEWORTH-ST. PETER, a parish in Evesham district, Worcester; on the river Avon, and the Ashchurch and Evesham railway, with a r. station, 11 mile SW of Evesham. Post-town, Evesham. Acres, returned with Evesham. Real property, 26,720. Pop., 1,259. Houses, 254. The property is not much divided. A castle here belonged to the Beauchamps; and was destroyed, in nelonged to the Leauchamps; and was described, in 1156, by the Abbot of Evesham. The living is a vicar-age in the diocese of Worcester. Value, 2155. Patron, the Rev. W. Harker. The church occupies the site of the Beauchamps' castle; and is a substantial editire, with a handsome tower and spire. A school endowed by John Deacle, a native of Bengeworth and an alderman of London, has an income of £256; and other charities have £86.

BENGLOG (FALLS OF), three cataracts on the stream at the outlet of Llyn Ogwen, Carnaryon; 41 miles NE of the summit of Snewdon, and 10 SSE of Banger. They occur in a rocky chasm; have an aggregate descent of about 100 feet; and are overhung by massive mountains.

BENHADLAF (ISAF and UCHAF), two townships in the parish of Llaurhaiadr-yn-Mochiant, on the mutual border of Denbigh and Montgomery, 10 miles SW of Chirk. Real property, £4,265 and £2,471. Pop., 207 and 100.

and 100.

BENHADLAN, a township in Llanarmon parish,
Denhigh; 63 miles SSW of Llangollen.

BENHALL, a parish in Plomespate district, Suffolk; adjacent to the Alde river and the East Suffolk indivay.

It mile SW of Saxnundham. It has a post-office, of the name of Benhall Green, under Saxmundham. Acres, the name of Bennai Green, under Saxmundman. Acres, 2,156. Real property, 23,816. Pop., 678. Houses, 153. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to successively the Uffords, the De la Pdes, and the Dukes. Benhall Lodge is the seat of the Rev. E. Hollond. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Nerwich. Value, 2473. Patron, the Rev. E. Hollond. The church is good; and has a brass of 1548. An en-

The church is good; and has a brass of 1548. An endowed school has £28.

BENHAM (Marsh), a tything in Speen parish, Berks; 14 mile W of Newbury. Benham Place here belongs to Earl Craven. Pop., 316.

ENHILTON. See SUTTON, Surrey.

BENHARTH, a township in Bettws-yn-Rhos parish, Denbigh; 34 miles SSW of Abergelo. Pop., 99.

BENJIE TOR, a summit in Dartmoor forest, Devon, and the state of the parish parish beginning the state of the parish parish beginning the state of the parish parish beginning the state of the parish paris overhanging the river Dart, 5 miles WNW of Ashburton. It has a rugged rocky character; and commands a wild, striking view over Dartmoor and away to the Isle of Portland.

BENNETLAND, a hamlet in Bellasize township, Eastrington parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 5 miles E by N of Howden. Pop., 82. BENNET'S (St.).

See HORNING.

BENNETT'S END, a township in Cainham parish, Salop; 34 miles ESE of Ludlow. Pop., 309.

BENNETT'S HOUSES, a hamlet in Hawarden township and parish, Flint.

BENNINGBOROUGH, a township in Newton-upon Ouse perish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the river Ouse, 13 mile WSW of Shipton r. station, and 7 NW of York. Acres, 1,070. Pop., 88. Houses, 15. Benning-borough Hall here is a fine mansion.

BENNINGHOLME AND GRANGE, a township in BENNINGHOLDIE AND GRANGE, a townsup m Swine parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 7 miles E by Sof Be-verley. Acres, 1,280. Real property, £2,460. Pop., 106. Houses, 15. BENNINGTON, a village and a parish in the district and county of Hertford. The village stands near the and county of Hertford. The village stands near the river Beane, and near a branch Roman way, 5 miles river Beane, and near a branch Roman way, 5 miles ESE of Stevenage, and 6 from Stevenage r. station. It has a post-office under Stevenage; and was formerly a market-town, and has still a fair on 10 July. The parish comprises 2,908 acres. Real property, £4,754. Fop., 637. Houses, 133. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Benstedes, the Casars, and the Earl of Essex; and belongs now to the Proctors. An ancient palace of the kings of Mercia stood here; and either that, or a castle which succa stood nere; and either that, or a castle which succeeded it, is now indicated by an intrenched eminence. Bennington Place, to the east, is a fine seat. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £635. Patron, the Rev. J. E. Pryor. The church contains some ancient monuments, and is good. There are a

Wesleyan chapel and a national school.

BENNINGTON, a parish and a sub-district in Boston district, Liucoln. The parish lies on the Wash, 3 miles district, Liucoln. The parish lies on the Wash, 3 miles SSE of Silsep r, station, and 5 ENE of Doston. It includes an allotment in the East Fen; and has a postofice under Boston. Acres, 7,495; of which 4,405 are water. Real property, £7,025. Pop., 588. Houses, 133. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £305. * Patron, the Earl of Ripon. The church has a perpendicular clerestoried nave, a fine tower, and a sculptured ectagonal font. There are a Primitive Methodist chapel, are willowed achieved. an endowed school with £90 a-year, five alms-houses, and some other charities.—The sub-district comprises four parishes, parts of three others, and the East Fen allotment of Boston. Acres, 50,285. Pop., 6,572.

Houses, 1,340.

BENNINGTON, a sub-district in Newark district Notts. It contains six parishes and an extra-parochial tract electorally in Lincoln, and five parishes and part of another electorally in Notts. Acres, 22,642. Pop., 4,666. Houses, 1,054. BENNINGTON GRANGE, an extra-parochial tract in the district of Newark and county of Lincoln; adjacent on the south to the parish of Long Bennington.

int on the south to the partial state of the south of the district of Newark and county of Lincoln. The village stands on the river Witham, 3, miles W by S of Houg-ham r. station, and 8 NW by N of Grantham; consists of one long street; and has a post-office under Granthau. The parish, inclusive of Bennington Grange, comprises 4,420 acres. Real property, £3,142. Pop., 1,066. Houses, 255. The property is subdivided. Freestone and lime are worked. A Cistertian priory, with local endowment, was founded here, before 1175, by Ralph de Filgeriis; given to the abbey of Savigney in Normandy; transferred, by Richard II., to the Carthusians of St. Ann, near Coventry; conveyed by Henry V. to the priory of Mountgrace; and given, at the dissolution, to the dean and chapter of Westminster. Remains of a moat, which surrounded its farm-house, are in Bennington Grange. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Foston, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £463.* Patron, the Duchy of Lancaster. The church is good; and there are two Wesleyan chapels, a national school, and charities £21.

BENNIWORTH, a parish in Horncastle district, Lincoln; on the Wolds, 51 miles ENE of Wragby, and 81 coln; on the Wolds, 53 miles ENE of Wragby, and 85 Eof Wickenbyr. station. Post-town, Donington, under Louth. Acres, 2,994. Real property, 24,224. Popr., 431. Houses, 83. The property is divided among a few. A Eritish urn was found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £506. Patron, G. F. Heneage, Esq. The church has a Norman porch, and is good. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

BEN-RHYDDING, a hydropathic establishment, with a r. station, in Wharfdale, W. R. Yorkshire; on the slope of Rombald's Moor, adjacent to the Leeds and llkley railway, 5 miles W of Otley. It was erected in 1846, at a cost of nearly £30,000; and is an imposing 1846, at a cost of nearly 200,000; and is an imposing pile, amid extensive and pleasant grounds.

BENRIDGE, a township in Mittord parish, Northumberland; 2 miles WNW of Morpeth. Pop., 49.

BENRIDGE, a hamlet in Ponteland parish, Northumberland; 64 miles SSW of Morpeth. Pop., 30.

BENSHAM, a chapelry in Gateshead parish, Durham;

BENSHAM, a chaptery in datesacea parist, Durman; I mile SSW of G. r. station. It was constituted in 1865. Pop., about 3,600. The living is a vicarage. Value, £130. ENSINGTON, or BENSON, a village and a parish in the district of Wallingford and county of Oxford. The village stands on the river Thames, 14 mile NXE of Wallingford. The station; is a considerable place; and waningioru r. station; is a considerative place; and has a post-office, if of the name of Benson, under Walling-ford. It occupies the site of a town of the aucient lit-tons; which was taken from them, in 572, by the West Saxons; held by the latter till 775; and surrendered then to the Mercians. The parish includes also the ham-lets of Fifield, Roke, and Crowmarsh-Battle or Preston-Crowmarsh. Acres, 2,922. Real property, £6,382. Pop., 1,169. Houses, 282. The property is divided among a few. A very ancient manor-house is in the hamlet of Fifield. A Maison Dieu was founded in the time of Henry VI., by William de la Pole, Duke of Suffolk; and given to the University of Oxford. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £250.* Patron, Christ Church college, Oxford. The church is partly ancient, variously late pointed Norman and decorated; has a modern tower; contains a Norman font and two brasses; and is very good. There are national and British schools, and charities £80. BENSON. See BENSINGTON.

BENSON-KNOT, a hill 2 miles ENE of Kendal, Westmoreland. It rises abruptly; is not easily climbed; has an altitude of 1,098 feet above the level of the sea; and commands an extensive and magnificent view.

BENTFIELD, a hamlet in Stansfed-Mountfitchet parish, Essex; near the Eastern Counties railway, 31 miles NE of Bishop-Stortford. Acres, 749. Real property, £3,410. Pop., 529. Houses, 121. BENTHALL, a township in Alberbury parish, Salop; 9 miles WNW of Shrewsbury.

y mines waw of Shrewsbury.

BENTILIALI, a parish in Madeley district, Salop; near the river Severn, 2 miles NE of Much-Wenlock r. station. Post-town, Much-Wenlock under Wellington.
Acres, 824. Real property, £1,704. Pop., 429.
Houses, 102. The property is all in one estate. Lime spars are found; and potteries are carried on. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £93. Patron, the Vicar of Much-Wenlock. The church is good.

BENTHAM, a hamlet in Badgeworth parish, Gloncestershire; 41 miles E of Gloucester. Pop., 236.

BENTHAM, two hamlets, a township, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Settle, W. li. Yorkshire. of ease, a grammar-school, a weekly market on Monday, and fairs on 5 Feb., 23 June, and 25 Oct.—The township includes the hamlets. Acres, 7,642. Real property, £3,673. Pop., 2,342. Houses, 465.—The parish in-Experience the diameters. Houses, 4,552.—The parish includes also the township of Ingleton. Acres, 25,560. Real property. £16,289. Pop., 3,589. Houses, 727. The property is much subdivided. Large portion of the surface is upland. Many of the inhabitants are emplayed to the surface of the surface of the surface in the surface of the surface is upland. ployed in factories, and some in potteries. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £452.* Patron, Rev. E. Sherlock. The church is at Low Benham, and is ancient. The p. curacy of Ingleton, and that of Ingleton-Fells or Chapel-le-Dale are separate benefices. There are three dissenting chapels, two endowed schools, six alms-houses, and other charities £38.—The sub-district comprises two parishes and part of a third. Acres, 51,652. Pop., 5,436. Houses, 1,104. EENTLEY, a village, a parish, and a liberty in Alton district, Hants. The village stands adjacent to the Alton of England district, riants. The Vinage stants adjacent to the Arton and Farnham railway, 5½ niles NE of Alton; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Farnham.—The parish comprises 2,258 acres. Real property, £4,717. Pop., 721. Houses, 140. The property is divided among a few. The pavements of a Roman villa have been found at Powlerham. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Winchester. Value, £700.

is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £700.\(^{\text{M}}_{2}\) Patron, the Archdeacon of Surrey. The church is Norman, with a small tower; and there are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £17.—The liberty is conterminate with the parish.

BENTLEY, a township in Wolverhampton parish, Stafford; near the Northwestern railway, 2 miles W by N of Walsall. Acres, 1,650. Real property, £4,327; of which £1,270 are in mines, and £500 are in iron-works. Pop., 345. Houses, 63. The inhabitants are employed largely in collieries and iron-works. Bentley Hall belonged to Col. Lane, who sheltered Charles II. after the battle of Worcester; and was the seat of the late Hon. E. Anson. E. Anson mile NE of Bridgmorth.

BENTLEY, a township in Worfield parish, Salop; 1

BENTLEY, a parish in Samford district, Suffolk; at the junction of the Eastern Counties railway with the Ha Leigh branch, 6 miles SW of Ipswich. It has a sta-Ha Leigh branch, 6 miles Sw or 1980 cm. 11 mes definition on the ridlway, and a post-office under lpswich. Acres, 2,801. Real property, £3,725. Pop., £53. Houses, v5. The property is divided among a few. The Househes had a seat here before the Conquest. The Tollemaches had a seat here before the Conquest. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £152. Parron, the Rev. C. E. R. Keene. The church is good: and there are national schools.

BEXTLEY, a hamlet in Shustoke parish, Warwick; 3 miles SW of Atherstone. Acres, 1,830. Real property, £2,749. Pop., 233. Honses, 50. It includes perty, 22, 49. 10p., 200. Houses, 50. It measures Bentley Pack; and forms a chapelry annexed to the vi-camage of Shustoke. The church was built in 1844. EENTLEY, a handlet in Rowley parish, E. R. York-shire; 2 miles SSW of Beverley. Acres, 1,037. Pop., 57. Houses, 11. FENTLEY, W. R. Yorkshire. See Arrsay. BENTLEY (FINNY), a parish in Ashborne i, station. Derly; in Dovedde, 25 miles N of Ashborne r. station It has a post-office under Ashborne. Acres, 1,036. Real property, £2,023. Pop., 305. Houses, 63. The manor belonged to the Beresfords and the Cottons; and belongs now to Sir W. Fitcherbert, Bart. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Lichfield. Value, £124. Patron, the Bishop of Lichfield. The church was repaired in 1850, and contains a curious old monument of the Beresfords.

BENTLEY-GRANGE, a hamlet in Emley township and parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 63 miles ESE of Huddersheld.

BENTLEY (GREAT), a village and a parish in Tendring district, Essex. The village stands near the Tendring Hundred railway, 8 miles SE by E of Colchester; and has a post-office under Colchester, a railway station, and an annual fair. The parish comprises 3,188 acres. Real property, £5,380. Pop., 1,031. Houses, 235. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicatoge The property is subdivided. The living is a vicaroge in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £360.* Patron, the m are moves of moenester. Vame, £300.* Patron, the Bishop of Rochester. The church is very good; and there are a Wesleyan chapel and a national school.

BENTLEY (HUNGRY), a liberty in Longford parish, Derby; 44 miles S of Ashborne. Real property, £1,614.

Pop., 82. Houses, 12.

Pop., 82. Houses, 12.
BENTLEY (LITTLE), a parish in Tendring district,
Essex; 23 miles NNE of Bentley r. station, and 74 E of Essex; 23 miles NAE of Bentiey? Station, and 13 Eof Colchester. It has a post-office under Colchester. Acres, 2,012. Real property, £3,453. Pop., 458. Houses, 101. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, * Patron, Emmannel College, Cambridge. church is good.

BENTLEY-PAUNCEFOOT, or BENTLEY (Lower and Upper), a township in Tardebigg parish, Worcester; 3½ miles SSE of Bromsgrove. Pop., 238. Houses, BENTLEY-PRIORY, the seat of the Marquis of Abermiles WNW of Edgeware. It occupies the site of a small priory; and contains some antiques end fine paint-Queen Adelaide, after a residence of some months, died here in 1849.

BENTON. See BENTON (LONG).
BENTON CASTLE, an ancient fortress on Milford haven Pembrokeshire; on a beautiful small promontory, 3 miles NNE of Pembroke.

BENTON (LITTLE), a hamlet in Walker township, Long Benton parish, Northunberland; adjacent to the Northeastern railway, 4 a mile Sof Long Benton. The manor belonged to the Scropes, the Fitzhughs, and others; and belongs now to the Bigges.

BENTON (LONG), a township, a parish, and a subdistrict, in the district of Truemouth, Northumberland. The township lies on the Northeastern railway, and on the Blyth and Tyne railway, near the Roman wall, 3 miles NNE of Newcastle npon-Tyne; and has stations on the railways, and a post-office under Newcastle-upon-Tyne. The village consists of one long street, and stands on rock, dry, healthy, and pleasant. Pop., 2,222. Houses, 472. The parish includes also the townships of Walker, lingworth, and Weetslade; and lies partly on the Tyne. Acres, 9,040; of which 110 are water. Real property, £39,372; of which £12,541 are in mines, £500 in quarries, and £2,000 in iron-works. Pop. in 1841, 8,711; in 1861, 13,304. Houses, 2,415. The property is not much divided. The manor belonged formerly to the Pe Merlays; and passed partly to the Brandlings. The inhabitants are employed mainly in extensive collicries, quarries, foundries, copperas-works, and gunpowder-works, The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value. 2353. Patron, Balliol College, Oxford. The church is very good. The vicarage of Walker and the p. curacy of Killingworth are separate benefices. There are several dissenting chapels, and a national school .- The sub-district is conterminate with the parish,

BENT'S GREEN, a hamlet in Ecclesall-Bierlow town-ship, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles SW of Sheffield. BEN-TWITCHEN, a hamlet in North Molton parish, Devor BENTWORTH, a village and a parish in Alton district, Hants. The village stands 3½ miles WNW of Alton r. station, and has a post-office under Alton. The parish comprises 2,688 acres. Real property, £4,091. Pop., 647. Houses, 123. The property is sub-livided. The manor was inherited from his father by George Withers, the poet; and was sold by him, at the outbreak of the civil war, to raise a troop of horse. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £760. Patron, the Rev. Mr. Mathews. There is a dissenting chanel.

BENTY-GRANGE, a village 51 miles SW of Bakc-

BENTY-GRANGE, a village 54 miles 8M of data-well, Derby.

BENWELL, a township and a chapelry in St. John pa-rish, Northumberland. The township lies on the river Tyne, the Roman wall, and the Newcastle and Carlisle Tyne, the Roman wall, and the Newcastle and Carlisle 1340. Pop., 1,771. Houses, 350. Here are collieries, the oldest in England; one of which, in the beginning of last century, took fire from a candle, and burned for nearly thirty years. Benwell is believed to have been the Condercum of the Romans; and urns, coins, inscriptions, and other Roman remains have been found. Benwell tower belonged at one time to Tynemouth priory, and afterwards to the Shaftoes. Benwell High Cross, to the E, was named from a cross that formerly stood at it. The chapelry is more extensive than the township; and The chapter is more extensive than the lowiship; and was constituted in 1842. Pop., 4,323. Houses, 749. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Durham. Value, £150.* Patron, the Vicar of Newcastle. The church is a Gothic structure with a tower, built at a cost of £1,607.

BENWICK, a chapelry in Doddington parish, Cambridge; in the Isle of Ely, 44 miles NW of Chatteris r. station, and 61 SW of March. Post-town, Doddington, nnder March. Acres, 3,096. Real property, £7,040. station, and 64 SW of March. Post-town, Doddington, moder March. Acres, 3,096. Real property, £7,040. Pop., 773. Houses, 162. The living is a rectory. The church is recent. There are two dissenting chapels. EEOBRIDGE, a township in Claverley parish, Salop; 44 miles Se of Bridgaroth. Pop., 61.

BEOFFELIC. See BEYERLEY.

BEOLEY, a parish in Kings-Norton district, Worcester; on the verge of the county, 2½ miles NE of Redditch r. station. Post-town, Redditch, under Bromsgrove. Acres, 4,480. Real property, £6,809. Pop. 682. Houses, 151. An ancient castle, of which very slight traces remain, belonged successively to the noble families of Mortimer, Beanchamp, and Holland. Beoley Hall is the seat of Capt. R. Mole. The parish is a meet for the North Warwick hounds. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £73. Patron, W. Holmes, Esq. The church is ancient. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

BEPTON, a parish in Midhurst district, Sussex; 21 miles SW of Midhurst r. station, and 51 ESE of Petersfield. Post-town, Midhurst. Acres, 1,224. Real pro-troo, Prince of Wales. Dr. Cowper, chaplain to George troo, Prince of Wales. Dr. Cowper, chaplain to George II., and father of Cowper the poet, was rector. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £127. Patron, the Earl of Egmont.

BERDEN, or BERDON, a parish in the district of Bishop-Stortford, and county of Essex; 44 miles NW of Bishop-Stortford, and 6 N by Wo f Bishop-Stortford. It has a post-office under Bishop-Stortford. Acres, 1,771. Real property, £2,856. Pop., 414. Houses, 82. The property is divided among a few. A small Augustinian priory was founded here in the reign of Henry III.; was given, at the dissolution. to Henry Henry III.; was given, at the dissolution. to Henry Augustinan priory was founded ner in the reign of Henry III.; was given, at the dissolution, to Henry Parker; and passed to the hospitals of Christchurch, Bridewell, and St. Thomas. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £170.* Patro, Christ's Hospital. The church is ancient. The Rev. Joseph Mede, author of the "Clavis Apocalyptica," was BERDENESTAPLE. Sce BARNSTAPLE.

BERDWICK, a hamlet in the parish of Wick-with-Abson, Gloucester.
BERE-ALSTON. See BEER-ALSTON.

BERECHURCH, a parish in Colchester district, and within Colchester borough, Essex; near the river Roman, 2 miles S by W of Colchester r. station. Post-town, Colclester. Acres, 1,450. Real property, £1,880. Pop.; 112. Houses, 19. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicange in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £110. Patron, T. White, Esq. The church is good.

BERE-FERRIS. See BEER-FERRIS.

BEREFORD. See BARFORD, Beds. BERE FOREST, an ancient royal hunting ground in Hants; on the SE border of the country, 41 miles NNW of Havant. It was divided into two walks, cast and west; and it contained about 16,000 acres. All has been enclosed; great part has been cleared and cultivated; and only 1,417 acres are now under wood. The surface is cemparatively level, yet presents some good pieces of scenery. See Waterlooville.

BERE-HACKET. See BEER-HACKET.

BERE-REGIS, a small ancient town, a parish, a subdistrict, and a hundred in Dorset. The town stands on the Bere rivulet, adjacent to a vast tract of barren heath, 13 mile N of the river Piddle, 53 miles N by W of Woel r. station, and 8 SSW of Blandford-Forum. It dates from the time of the Romans; was a residence of Queen Elfrida and of King John; and suffered severely from fire in 1634, in 1788, and in 1817. It is now a poor place, consisting chiefly of thatched cottages. has a post-office under Blandford, and two inus; and, till lately, was a market-town. It was constituted a free horough by Edward I., but never sent representatives to parliament. The parish church at it is a large ancient edifice, with a square tower; contains a round figured font, and numerous monuments of the Turbervilles and others; and was entirely restored and repaired in 1835. There are chapels for Independents and Methodists, a free school with £30, and other charities with £16. Remains of King John's palace are seen in a field opposite the church; and the manor-house of the Turbervilles. an ancient irregular structure, with armorial bearings, stands at the outlet toward Wool. Cardinal Morton, who figured prominently in the time of Henry VII., and Bishop Turberville of Exeter, were natives. Pop. of the town, 1,336. Houses, 278.

The parish includes also the tything of Shitterton and the hamlet of Milborne-Stileham; and is chiefly in the the finite of windows and its many and is cherry in district of Warcham, but partly in that of Blandford. Acres, 8,894. Real property, £7,602. Pop., 1,624. Houses, 338. The property is divided among a few. Half of the manor belonged to the Turberrilles from the time of the Conquest; and the other half was given by Henry III. to Simon de Montfort, Earl of Leicester, given again to the King's brother Edmund, and given by Henry VIII. to the Turbervilles. Woodbury-Hill, & a mile east of the town, was the site of a Roman camp; has still a circular entrenchment of 10 acres, formed by three ramparts and ditches; commands a very extensive view: and is the scene of an annual fair, formerly very famous, on 18 Sent. and the five following days. The surroundand is the scene of an annual ran, some on 18 Sept. and the five following days. The surrounding tract has many barrows. The neighbouring downs research of sportsmen. The living is a vicariage, ing tract has many barrows. The living is a vicaruge, united with the vicarage of Winterborne-Kingston, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £330. Patron, Balliol College, Oxford .- The sub-district is in the district of College, Oxford.—Ine sub-district is in the district of Wareham, and comprises seven parishes, besides the greater part of Bere-Regis. Acres, 33,833. Pop., 4,749. Houses, 938.—The hundred comprises only the parishes of Bere-Regis and Winterborne-Kingston; and is partly in the division of Wareham, partly in that of Blandford. Acres, 11,402. Pop., 2,213. Houses, 447.

BERESFORD HALL, the ancient seat of the Beres-Betterford HADS, the ancient seas of the Derestords, afterwards of the Cottons, on the NE verge of Stafford; in Dovedale, 42 miles SSE of Longnor. A fishing house was built here, in 1674, by Charles Cotton, the poet and angler; adorned with panel portraits of himself and "his worthy father, Izack Walton," who used to angle here; but the building is now a mere shell, bereft of its decorations

BERETHEN CASTLE. See ASKERTON.
BERGH-APTON. See BURGH-APTON.
BERGHILL, a township in Whittington parish,

Salop; 41 miles E of Oswestry. Pop., 328.

EERGII-MATTISHALL. See BURGH-MATTISHALL.

EERGH-MATTISHIALL. See DURGH-JIALLIBHRAID.
EERGHOLT (EAST), a parish in Samford district, Suffolk; on the river Stour, and on the Fastern Union railway, midway between the Manuingtree and the Bentley stations, 9 miles SW of Ipsvich. It has a postoffice under Colchester. Acres, 3,063. Real property, office under Colchester. Acres, 3,663. Real property, £8,450. Pop., 1,307. Houses, 339. The property amuch subdivided. Ackworth House is the seat of Sir Thomas Seaton. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, not reported. College, Cambridge. The church Patron, Etamanuel The church is excellent; and there are three dissenting chapels, a Benedictine nunnery and chapel, a police station, an endowed school with £70 ayear, and other charities with £112. J. Constable, the prainter, born in 1776, was a native.

BERGHOLT (WEST), a parish in Lexden district, Essex; on the river Colne, near the Eastern Counties railway, 4 miles NW of Colchester. It has a post-office railway, 4 miles AW of Colenester. If ans a post-onice under Colehester. Aeres, 2,273. Real property, £4,238. Pop., 906. Houses, 198. The property is subdivided. A circular eatrenchment here is thought to have been the site of the residence of the British King, Cunobeline. the site of the residence of the limits Ring, Cambridge The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £600, * Patron, W. F. Hobbs, Esq. The church is good. BERIDEN (THE), a stream of Norfolk. It rises near New Buckenham, and runs about 12 miles northward to the Yare, in the vicinity of Norwich.

BERKELEY, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a hundred, in Gloucester. The town stands on a and a nunared, in Gioucester. The town stands on a pleasant eminence, in the vale of Berkeley, on the Little Avon river, about a mile from the Severa, 21 miles W of Berkeley Road r. station, and 61 NNE of Thornbury. It was a place of importance in the times of the Saxons; and figured at Domesday as a royal domain and a free beautily. The control of borough. An ancient religious house at it was suppressed, in the reign of Edward the Confessor, through some villany of Earl Godwin, and conferred upon the Earl. The manor connected with it, which is one of the largest in the kingdom, was given by William the Conqueror to his follower Roger de Berkeley; forfeited by that gentleman's grandson for his adherence to King that gentleman's grandson for his authernice to king Stephen; and given by Henry II. to Robert Fitz-Har-dinge, governor of Bristol, who assumed the title of Baron de Berkeley. The town consists principally of four streets; contains a market-house, a church, an In-dependent chapel, a Wesleyan chapel, a free school, and charities £194; has a head post-office; and two chief inns; and is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place. The church is a spacious structure, partly early English, of the time of Heary II., partly of later character in renovations; and contains some curious monuments of the Berkeley family, and the ashes of Dr. Jenner. tower belonging to it stands detached, and was built in the latter part of last century. Dean Swift's well-known epitaph on "Dicky Pearce, the Earl of Suffolk's fool," A market is held on the first Wedis in the churchyord. nesday of every morth; and fairs on 14 May and 1 Dec. Trade is carried on in coal, timber, corn, malt, and cheese; and is facilitated by the vicinity of the Severn, and the Berkeley and the Gloucester canal. The town has nominally a corporation; but is really governed by the county magistrates. Dr. Jenner, who introduced the practice of vaccination, was a native. Real property,

F2.755. Pop., 1,011. Houses, 196. Keal property, 22.755. Pop., 1,011. Houses, 196. The parish includes also the tythings of Hamfallow, Ilinton. Breadstone, Alkington, and Ham, and the chapelry of Stone. Acres, 15,740; of which 2,320 are water. Real property, 23,234. Pop., 4,316. Houses, 875. The property is not much divided. Great portion of the surface is rich dairy land. Strontian and agates are found in the rocks. Berkeley Castle, close to the SE side of the town, was founded, soon after the Conquest, by Roger de Berkeley; and got important additions in the reigns of Henry II., Edward II., and Edward II. ward III. It was the scene of the murder of Edward II., by a red-hot iron being driven through his body, at the instigation of his queen; and it sustained a siege of nine days, in 1645, from the parliamentarian forces, but was obliged to surrender. A small apartment, called K. Edward's room, now lit with windows, but then lit only from arrow-slits, is shown as the place where Edward H. was murdered.

" Mark the year, and mark the night

When Severn shall re-echo with affright, The shricks of death through Perkeley's roof shall ring; Shrieks of an agonizing king.

The entrance is under a massive arch, adorned with rich Norman carvings. The main body is an irregular court, with vestiges of a moat. The chief buildings are an ancient keep, flanked by three semicircular towers, and a square tower of more recent date. A portion of the pile has been modernized, and contains numerous family portraits, some paintings by the Italian masters, and the cabin furniture of the Navigator Drake. The eastle was formerly the residence of the Earls Berkeley, whose title dates from 1679; but is now the seat of Lord Fitzhardings. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Clon-cester and Bristol. Value, now £750.* Patron, Lord Fitzhardings. The p. curacy of Stone is a separate charge. - The sub-district contains Berkelev parish and three other parishes, and is in the district of Thornbury. Acres, 21,186. Pop., 5,396. Houses, 1,094. The hundred is cut into two divisions, Lower and Upper. Tho Lower division contains Elberton parish, three other parishes, and parts of two others. Acres, 13,393. The Upper division contains Berkeley parish, seventeen other parishes, and part of another. Acres, 57,190. Pop. of both, 24,453. Houses, 5,441. oth, 24,453. Houses, 5,441.
BERKELEY, or BERKLEY, a parish in Frome district,

Somerset; on the Great Western railway, 2 miles ENE of Frome. It includes part of the tything of Old Ford; and its post-town is Frome. Acres, 1,927. Real proand its post-town is Frome. Acres, 1,927. Real property, with Standerwick, £3,351. Pop., 386. Houses, 86. The property is divided among a few. Berkledy fluxe is the seat of £. Dickinson, Esp. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Welts. Value, £110.* Patron, Sir C. Mordant, Bart. The church is good.

BERKELEY AND GLOUCESTER CANAL, a ship

eanal in Gloucestershire. It opens from the Severn, at a point about 2½ miles N of Berkeley; and goes 16½ miles north-eastward, somewhat parallel with the Severn, to Gloncester. It was completed in 1827; and is navigable for vessels of 500 tons. A cut connects it with Berkelev

BERKELEY ROAD, a station on the Bristol and Birmingham railway, 221 miles NNE of Bristol. BERKELEY (VALE OF), a rich strip of dairy land, in Gloucestershire. It extends from the southern vicinity of Gloncester, along the course of the Berkeley and Gloucester canal, to its junction with the Severn; and thence past Berkeley, down the left side of the Severn, to Aust. Its length is 23 miles: and its mean breadth, about 4. The soil of the upper part is clayer; that of the lower part is deep rich loam; and nearly all is disposed in grass for the produce of the dairy. About 5,000 lbs. of butter are made weekly; and about 1,200 tons of cheese, chiefly double Gloneester, are made annually.

BERKESWELL, or BERKSWELL, a parish in Meriden BERKESWELL, or BERKSWELL, a parish in Meriden district, Warwick; on the Birmingham and Staffold railway, 6 miles W of Coventry. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Coventry. Acres, 5,958. Real property; £10,872. Pop., 1,624. Houses, 363. The property is much subdivided. Berkeswell House is the seat of T. Walker, Esq. The living is a rectory, united with the vicarage of Barston, in the dioces of Worcester. Value, £975.* Patrons, the Misses Shirretf. The church is Norman. There are a next end-awed school with £50 areas research thus, bourse with £155 and others. with £50 a-year, recent alms-houses with £155, and other charities ±45.

BERKHAMPSTEAD, a town, a sub-district, and a BERKHIAMI'STEAD, a town, a sub-district, and a district in Herts. The town is chiefly in the parish of Great Berkhampstead, but includes part of that of North-church. It stands in a deep rich valley on the Bulbourneriver, and on the Grand Junction cand, adjacent to time Northwestern railway, 23 miles NW of London. It perhaps occupies the site of the Roman station Durchawa: and it was a residence of the kings of Mercia. William the Conqueror made oath at it to maintain the aucient laws of the kingdom. Robert, Earl of Mortaigne, get it from the Conqueror, and creeted at it a strong castic on the site of the Mercian palace. Henry I, took it from the earl, in punishment of rebellion; and made it the centre of a royal domain. Henry 11. kept his court at Shricks of an agonizing king."

it. King John gave it for a time to Jeffrey Fitz-Piers, The outline of the castle is not far from being circular.

Earl of Essex; but resumed it at the earl's death, and made it again Crown property. Richard, king of the Romans, got it from Henry III., and died at it. The castle now belongs to the Prince of Wales as Duke of Cornwall, and gives him the title of Baron. The "honour" connected with it includes numerous manors in Herts, Bucks, and Northampton.

158

The town comprises one street about a mile long, and five others leaving this at right angles. The houses are chiefly of brick, and not regularly aligned; but many are handsome. The railway passes on an embankment overlooking the town and the valley; and a communication comes from it over the canal. The remains of the tion comes from it over the canal. The remains of the castle are at the N end of Castle Street; and consist of detached portions of massive walls, with a double moat on the NW side, and a triple one on the other side. The chief public buildings are a new market-house, a grand town-hall, a church, three dissenting chapels, a grammarschool, a free-school, a workhouse, and almshouses. The church is a spacious, ancient, cruciform structure, of mixed styles, with a central square embattled tower; has a number of side chapels; and contains tombs of the Torringtons, the Cornwallises, the Incents, the Waterhouses, and others, and some brasses. The grammarschool was founded by Dean Incent, in the time of Henry VIII.; underwent recent restoration; has an endowed income of about £1,300; and was intended originally for Income of about £1,500; and was intended originary to the education of 144 boys, but now educates only 24. The free school was founded, in 1727, by Thomas Bourne; and has an endowed income of £279. There were an-ciently three monastic hospitals, The town has a head post-office, a railway station, a banking-office, and three chief inns. A weekly market is held on Thursday; and Sept., and 11 Oct. Straw-platting and the manufacture of wooden utensils are carried on. Berkhampstead sent two members to parliament in the time of Edward III.; and got a new charter from James I., conferring privileges some of which are still enjoyed. It is now a seat of petry sessions and a polling-place. Axtel the Furitan and Cowper the poet were natives. The town's limits are those for registration of births and deaths. Pop., 3,631. Houses, 738.
The sub-district contains the parishes of Great Berk-

The sub-district contains the parishes of Great Berkampstead, Berkhampstead-St. Mary, and Little Gaddesden, and part of the parish of Pitstone. Acres, 9,474. Pop., 5,733. Houses, 1,178. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Tring, containing the parishes of Tring, Wigginton, Aldbury, Puttenham, and Marsworth, and part of the parish of Pitstone. Marsworth and Pitstone are electorally in Bucks. Acres of the district, 24,538. Pour-rates in 1866, £6,506. Pop. in 1861, 13,204. Houses, 2,725. Marriages in 1866, 105; births, 456. — of which 30 years illegitymate, deaths 23, …of 845; births, 4,286; deaths, 2,750. The places of worship in 1851 were 12 of the Church of Eugland, with 4,035 sittings; 1 of Independents, with 314 s.; 13 of Baptists, with 4,264 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 200 s.; and 2 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 370 s. The schools were 12 public day schools, with 359 scholars; 12 private day schools, with 320 s.; 23 Sunday schools, with 2,308 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 29 s.

BERKHAMPSTEAD (GREAT), or BERKHAMPSTEAD

St. Peter, a parish, containing most of the post-town of Berkhampstead, in the district of Berkhampstead, Herts. Berkhampstead, in the district of Berkhampstead, Herts. Acros. 4,250. Real property, with Friesden, 213,300. Rated property of E. alone, £12,538. Pop., 3,585. Houses, 738. The property is much divided. Berkhampstead Place is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £431.* Parcon, Prince of Wales. Dr. Cowper, chaplain to George II., and father of Cowper the poot, was rector. BERKHAMPSTEAD (Lurrick), a parish in the district and county of Hertford, 4 miles ESE of Hatfield r. statement of the statement of the and country of rections, a muse LSE of Interior I. sta-tion, and 44 SW of Hertford. It has a post-office under Hertford. Acres, 1,689. Real property, £3,025. Pop., 450. Houses, 53. The property is subdivided. Berk-hampstead House is a chief residence. The observatory tower commands a fine view. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £249.* Patron, tho Marquis of Salisbury. The church is very good. Charities, £15. Bishop Ken was a native.

BERKHAMPSTEAD-ST. MARY, or NORTHCHURCH, a parish in Berkhampstead district, Herts; on the Northwestern railway and the Grand Junction caual, averagely 1 mile NW of Berkhampstead, but including part of that town. It has a post-office, of the name of North that fown. It has a post-oince, of the name of Aoren-church, under Berkhampstead. Acres, 3,880. Real property, £7,464. Pop., 1,638. Houses, 334. The pro-perty is subdivided. An ancient structure, now used as perty is stoutered. An ancient structure, now used as farmhouse, was originally part of a small priory. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £794. Patron, the Prince of Wales. The church is decorated English, and cruciform. There is a chapel of ease at Broadway, a beautiful edifice, built in 1854.

There are also a Baptist chapel, and charities £30.

BERKING. See BARKING, Essex.

BERKLEY. See BERKELEY, Somerset.

BERKS, or BERKELER, an inland county, within the basin of the Thannes. It is bounded, on the N, by Gloucester, Oxford and Bucks; on the E, by Surrey; on the S, by Herts; and on the W, by Wilts. Its outline is irregular; and has been compared by some to that of a lute, by others to that of a slipper or a sandal. Its boundary, in a tortuous line, along the N, from its most westerly extremity to its most easterly one, is the Thames. westerny extremity to its most easterny one, is the I manuse. Its greatest length is 45 miles; its greatest breadth, 29 miles; its mean breadth, about 14 miles; its circuit, about 165 miles; its area, 451,210 acres. Its surface presents few abrupt or bold elevations. A series of downs, a continuation of those in the N of Wilts, poes eastward across its broadest part, and attains, at White Horse hill, an altitude of 893 feet above the level of the sea. Most of the other tracts are distinguished by soft. gentle, luxuriant beauty. The chief streams are the Thames, the Kennet, the Lodden, the Lambourn, and the Ock. A small tract on the SE border, round Finchampstead and Sunninghill, consists of Bracklesham and Bagshot beds. A large tract across all the S, from the western border in the southern vicinity of Hungerford, past Newbury and Wokingham, to the eastern boundary at Old Windsor, consists of London clay and plastic clay. A broad tract all across, from the western border at Hungerford and the neighbourhood of Ashbury, to the Thames from the vicinity of Reading to Moulsford, consists of chalk. A considerable belt N of this, and all across, consists of upper greensand and gault. A narrow belt, further N, to escond lying all along the lsis or Thames to a point below the vicinity of Keunington, consist of colite, the former of the upper series, the latter of the middle. The minerals and the fossils do not possess much interest; and mineral waters are scarce. Peat exists in considerable quantity on low grounds of the Kennet, and in small quantity on some high lands of the Thames; and has been extensively burned for its

About 260,000 acres are arable, 76,000 meadow, 55,000 arks and sheep walks, 30,000 wood, and 29,000 waste. The soils are exceedingly various, ranging from strong filt loam to a mixture of sharp sand and peat. The vale of the White Horse is the most fertile tract; and the vale of the Kennet vics with it, and perhaps is better cultivated. The state of agriculture and the condition of the farmer are middle rate. Wheat, oats, barley, turnips, and beans are the chief crops grown; but buckwheat, vetches, pease, potatoes, rape, carrots, hops, flax, and artificial grasses also are cultivated. Much land on the Thames and around Faringdon is devoted to the dairy. The sheep walks are depastured by a native breed called the Notts, and by mixtures of them with the Southdowns, the Wiltshires, and other breeds. The cattle are mostly of the long horn or common country breed. The draught horses are good and strong, but not tall. Hogs and poultry are numerous in the dairy tracts; and from the proximity of London, yield much profit to the farmer. The native breed of hogs is highly esteemed; and a mixed breed at Sunninghill Park is pro-eminently good. Wood-lands prevail much in the E; and get prominence there from Windsor forest. Oak and beech are the chief trees in the woods. Osiers are grown in watery places for baskets; and alders, for rake-handles and other uses. Fine trout and other fish abound in most of the streams. Manufactures are of small note. Woollen cloth, sacking, and sail-cloth were formerly made in large quantity; but have ceased to be of any consequence. Paper is made in the vale of the Kennet. Much malt is mannfactured for the London market; and the Kennet and Windsor ales are in repute. The Thames is navigable clong all the N boundary; and the Kennet, by means of for 30 miles, from Reading to Hungerford. The Borks and Wilts canal goes across all the N, from the ricinity of Abingdon up the vale of the White Horse; and the Kennet and Avon canal completes the navigation of the Kennet from Newbury to Hungerford. The Great Western railway enters at Maidenhead; sends off a branch thence into Bucks towards High Wycombe; passes on to Twyford; sends off a branch thence across the Thames to Henley; passes on to Reading; is joined there by a line coming up from the South-western at Guildford; passes up the Thames to Didcote; sends off thence a branch to Oxford, with sub-branch to Abingdon; and goes away westward to Wilts in the vicinity of Shrivenham. Minor lines also come to Windsor; the Staines line comes westward into junction with the Reading and Guildford at Wokingham; a line goes southward from Realing toward Basingstoke; another line goes westward from Reading to Hungerford; and recently-formed branches go from the Great Western to Wal-lingford and Faringdon. The roads have an aggregate of about 1,620 miles.

Berks contains 146 parishes, parts of 14 others, and three extra-parochial tracts; and is divided into the boroughs of Abingdon, Maidenhead, Newbury, Reading, Wallingford, and Windsor, and the hundreds of Beynhunt, Eng., Charlton, Compton, Cookham, Faircross, Faring lon, Ganfield, Hormer, Kintbury-Eagle, Lambourn, Moreton, Ock, Reading, Ripplesmers, Shrivenham, Sonning, Theale, Wantage, and Wargarve. The act of 1814, for consolidating detached parts of counties, severed from Park pulpages amounting to $6.10, acres and pages and pages of the park pages and pag from Berks places amounting to 6,510 acres, and annexed to it places amounting to 1,515 acres. The registration county excludes 4,100 acres of the electoral county; includes 113,464 acres of adjoining electoral counties; compriese altogether 594,717 acres; and is divided into the districts of Newbury, Hungerford, Faringdon, Abingdon, Wantage, Wallingford, Bradfield, Reading, Wokingham, Cookham, Easthampstead, and Windsor. The county town is Reading; and the market towns are Reading, Abingdon, Faringdon, Newbury, Wantage, Wokingham, Maidenhead, East Ilsley, Lambourn, Hungerford, Wallingford, and Windsor. The chief scats are Windsor ingford, and Windsor. The chief scats are Windsor Castle, Wytham Abbey, Ashdown Park, Coleshill House Billinghear Park, Sandleford Priory, Beekett Park, Basildon Park, Beehhun House, Bear Place, Stanlake, Warnes, Windson Park, Beehhun House, Adermas, Windson Park, Beehhun House, Bear Place, Stanlake, Warnes, Warnes, Adermas, Warnes, Adermas, Warnes, Adermas, Warnes, Adermas, Park, Warnes, Adermas, Warnes, Adermas, Park, Warnes, Adermas, Warnes, Adermas, Park, Warnes, Adermas, Park, Warnes, Adermas, Warnes, Adermas, Park, Warnes, Park, Warnes, Park, P don Park, Beenman House, Bear Flace, Standare, War-fell House, Lockynge Park, Abbey House, Aldermas-ten, Bangor House, Berton Court, Benliam House, Bear Wood, Bill Hitl, Binfield, Bisham Abbey, Besselsleigh, Buckland, Busent, Castle Priory, Chaddleworth, Chil-ton House, Culliam Court, Donnington Castle, Engle-field House, East Hendred, Hall Place, Hayward Lodge, Holme Park, Hungerford Park, Kingston Lisle, Luck-Home Park, Rungeront Pare, Kingston Liste, Lites-ley House, Lambourn Place, Maidenhead House, Midg-him, Old Windsor, Padworth, Pusey House, Shaw Ilouse, Silwood, Shibbing, Sunninghill Park, Swallow field House, Temple House, Titness Park, Wasing Lodge, West Court, White Knights, Winkfield Park, Woodley Nest Court, Witter Kingliet, Witterland Park, Woodley Park. Assessed property in 1815, £613,781; real property, in 1843, £967,475; in 1851, £977,386; in 1860, £1,021,944.

Berks is governed by a lord-lieutenant, a high sheriff, 40 deputy-lieutenants, and about 150 magistrates. It is in the home military district, and in the Oxford judicial circuit. The Lent assizes are held at Reading: the summer assizes at Abington. Quarter sessions are held on 31 Dec. and S April, at Reading; and on 1 July and 14 Oct., at Abingdon. The police force includes 114 men for the county and 62 for the boroughs. There are county jails at Reading and Abingdon, and a reformatory school at Reading. The crimes, in 1864, were 223 in the county at Reading. The crimes, in 1904, were 225 in the county and 106 in the boroughs; the persons apprehended, 140 in the county and 91 in the boroughs; the known depredators or suspected persons at large, 662 in the county and 730 in the boroughs; the houses of bad character, 64 in the county and 96 in the boroughs. Three members are sent to parliament by the county, exclusive of the boroughs; two by Reading; one by Windser; one by Abingdon; and one by Waltingford. The elec-Windsor. tors of the county, exclusive of the boroughs, in 1868, were 5,066. Berks is in the diocese of Oxford; and constitutes an archdeacony, comprising four deaneries. The poor-rates for the registration county in 1863 were 1214,426. Marriages in 1864, 1,529,—of which 213 were not according to the rites of the Established church; births, 6.738,-of which 439 were illegitimate; deaths, 4,024,of which 1,392 were at ages under 5 years, and 160 at ages above 85 years. The places of worship within the ages above 85 years. The places of worship within the electoral county in 1851 were 206 of the Church of England, with 56,679 sittings; 34 of Independents, with 8,442 s.; 41 of Baptists, with 8,222 s.; 5 of Quakers, with 944 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 220 s.; 70 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 10,084 s.; 53 of Primitivo Methodists, with 5,948 s.; 4 of Lady Huntingdon's Connexion, with 750 s.; 1 of Brethren, with 70 s.; 10 of isolated congregations, with 1,078 s.; 2 of Latter Day Saints, with 300 s.; and 6 of Roman Catholics, with 1,192 s. The schools were 218 public day schools, with 1,192 s. The schools were 215 public day schools, with 16,584 schools; 245 Sunday schools, with 18,972 s.; and 10 evening schools for adults, with 392 s. Pop., in 1801, 110,480; in 1821, 132,639; in 1841, 161,759; in 1861, 176,256. Inhabited honses, 35,761; uninhabited, 1,355; building,

The territory now forming Berks was inhabited, in the ancient British times, by two tribes whom the Roman invaders called Bibroci and Attrebatii. It became part of the Roman Britannia Prima. It next formed part of the Saxon kingdom of Wessex; and was then called Berrocseire. It was the scene of frequent conflicts with the Danes; and it afterwards figured in the struggle be-tween the Empress Matilda and Stephen, in the quarrels between King John and his nobles, and in the war between Charles I. and his parliament. The chief events in its history will be found noted in the articles Abing-DON, MAIDENHEAD, WALLINGFORD, WANTAGE, and WINDSOR. British, Roman, and Saxon remains, chiefly barrows and camps, occur at Little Coxwell, Sinodun, Letcombe, Uffingham, the White Horse hill. Ashbury, Ashdown, Speen, Binfield, Castleacre, Hardwell, and Wantage. Icknield-street traverses the county southwestward from Streatley to the southwestern vicinity of Newbury; and sends off branches along the hills. An ancient road went from Speen to Silchester; another, called the Devil's Causeway, went by Old Windsor to Staines; and some others have left traces. Ruined castles occur at Faringdon, Donnington, and Wallingford; and ancient mansions at Aldermaston, Appleton, Ockholt, Cumnor, and Wytham. Abbeys stood at Abington, Bisham, Bradfield, Faringdon, and Beading; priories at Bisham, Cholsey, Harley, Faringdon, Reading, Sandleford, and Wallingford; preceptories at Bisham and Brimpton; and colleges at Shottesbrook, Wallingford, and Windsor. Interesting ancient churches, Norman or otherwise, occur at Avington, Bucklebury, Cumuer, Englefield, Shottesbrook, Uffiagton, and Welford. Berkshire gives the title of Earl to the Earl of Suffolk

BERKS AND HANTS BALLWAY, a railway from Hungerford in Berks to Devizes in Wilts. It is 25 miles long, and was opened in Nov. 1862; and it was authorised, in 1865, to be extended, 13 miles, to Westbury, BERKSHIRE. See BERKS.

BERKSHIRE ISLAND, a wooded island in Windermere, Westmoreland; on the W side, near Ferry point. BERKSWELL. See BERKESWELL. BERKSWICH. See BASWICK.

BERLING. See BIRLING, Northumberland.

BERMERSLEY. See BEMERSLEY.
BERMONDSEY, a parish and a district in Southwark borough, Surrey. The parish lies on the right bank of the Thames, below London bridge, between Southwark proper and Rotherhithe; and is in the postal district of London S. E., and traversed by the Greenwich railway. Loudon S. E., and traversed by the Greenwich railway. Acres, C38; of which 27 are water. Real property, £155,629. Pop. in 1841, 34,947; in 1861, 58,856. Houses, 8,220. Large portion of the surface is covered with compact town, suburban to London. A quondam island or "eye," belonging to a Saxon chief Beormund, seems to have given rise to the name Bermondsey, originally Beormand's-eye, then Bermundesye. A Cluniac bloom was founded been in 1089 by A Arvisi, Child of abbey was founded here, in 1082, by Aylwin Child of London; endowed with the surrounding manor by William Rufus; male the prison and the death-place of the widowed queen of Edward IV.; given, at the dissolution, to Sir Robert Southwell; and sold, the same year, to Sir Thomas Pope. A magnificent mansion speedily super-seded the abbey church; and was afterwards inhabited by Thomas Ratcliffe, Earl of Sussex, who died here in 1583. A gate of the abbey and some other remains were standing within the present century; but the only me-morial of it now is the name of Abbey-street. Two morian of it now is the name of Abbey-street. Two ancient hospitals, dedicated to St. Saviour and St. Thomas, stood adjacent. A chalybeate well, some distance SE of the abbey's site, came into repute about 1770; and though now built over, is commemorated in the name of the Spa road. Numerous watercourses or mill-streams, rising and falling with the tidal current of the Thames, carly attracted manufacturers of the classes requiring their aid; but gave rise to noxious effluvia, and were converted into sewers under the sanitary regulations consequent on the ravages of Asiatic cholers. The suburb was long one of the fithiest seats connected with Loodon; but has, of late years, been greatly improved. One part of it, called Jacob's Island, the scene of Bill Sykes's death in "Oliver Twist," is still pre-eninently bad. The chief employments are leatherworking, ship-building, and hat-making; but other employments are numerous. A tract on the S is disposed ployments are numerous. A tract on the S is usposed in very productive market gardens.

The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £300.* Patron, Mrs. Ram. The church is a plain structure of 1680, on the site of one which stood at the Conquest; and it has, among its communion plate, a richly chased silver salver, supposed to be of the time of Edward III and to such a supposed to be of the time of Edward II., and to have belonged to the Cluniac abbey. Three chapelries, all vicarages, St. James, Christ Church, and St. Paul, were constituted in respectively 1840, 1845, and 1846. Value of each, £300. Patron of St. James, the Rector; of Christ Church and St. Paul, alternately the Crown and the Bishop. St. James church was built in 1829, at a cost of £21,412; and is a handsome structure, with an Ionic portico and a tower, after designs by Savage. Christ Church was built in 1848, at a cost of £4,870; and is in the Romanesque style. The total places of worship in 1851 were 5 of the Church of Eugland, with 5,313 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 1,500 s.; 7 of Baptists, with 1,930 s.; 2 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,972 s.; 2 of the Wesleyan Association, with 370 a; I undefined, with 70 a; and I of Roman Catholics, with 1,250 s. There is also a convent of the Sisters of Mercy. The schools in 1851 were 18 public day schools, with 3,081 scholars; 132 private day schools, with 3,277 s.; 14 Sunday schools, with 3,237 s.; and 5 evening schools for adults, with 252 s. One of the public schools has an endowed income of £213; another has £98; and other charities have £179.

£38; and other charities have £179.
The district is conterminate with the parish, and is divided into St. James, St. Mary Magdalene, and Leather-Market. Poor-rates in 1866, £25,638. Marriages in 1866, 617; births, 2,897,—of which 79 were illogitimate; deaths, 1,623,—of which 891 were at ages under 15 years, and 20 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-69, 4,341; births, 21,152; deaths, 13,228. St. James sub-district is conterminate with St. James chapelry. Acres, 454; of which 27 are water. Pop., 25,154. Honses, 3,630. St. Mary Magdalene sub-district extends from the parish boundary, crossing Swan-street, near the Kent-road, along the E side of Swan-street and Pages-walk and the S side of the Grange-road, Star-corner, and Bermondsey-street to Crucifix-lane; thence along the parish boundary to Artillery-street, Charch-street, and Pussellstreet to Dockhead; thence to Gedling-street and the Neckinger-road to the Spa-road, and along the Spa-road, Grange-road, and Upper Grange-road; and thence along the parish boundary to Swan-street. Acres, 142. Fop., 16,505. Houses, 2,195. Leather-Market sub-district commences at the parish boundary, crossing Swan-street, near the Kent-road, and comprises the space in a line to run from that point and encompassing the W side of Swan-street, Pages-walk, Grango-rual, Star-corner, Bermondsey-street, into Snows-fields, and following the pamondary there into Crosby-row, crossing Long-lane, Baalzephon-street, and the New-road up to Swan-street again. Acres, 92. Pop., 16,696. Houses, 2,395. EERMONDSPIT, a hundred in Basingstoke division, BERMONDSPIT, a hundred in Basingstoke division, Hants. It is cut into lower half and upper half. The lower half contains Candover parish and four other parishes, Acres, 10,156. Pop. in 1851, 1,318. Houses, 249. The upper half contains Bentworth parish and eight other parishes. Acres, 15,816. Pop., 2,430. Houses, 450. BERNE, a quarter in Whitchurch-Canonicorum parish, Dorset; 44 miles WNW of Bridport. Pop., 876. BERNE, Surrey. See BARNES. BERNERS-ROOTHING. See ROOTHING-BERNERS. BERNERS-ROOTHING.

BERNESLEY. Sec BARNSLEY, Yorkshire. BERNICIA, the northern part of the ancient Saxon kingdom of Northumbria. It extended from the Tyno ampaon of Astrumenta. It extended from the Typio to the Forth; took its name from the river Brennich, which is the part of the Till above Wooler; and was a kingdom by itself, separate from Deire or the southern part of Northumbria, from the time of Ida in 347 to that of Eanred in 841.

BERNISTON. See BARNARDISTON. BERNOLDSWICK. See BARNOLDSWICK

BERNWOOD, an ancient forest around Brill, on the borders of Bucks and Oxford. See BRILL.

BERRACH, a hamlet in Llanfihaugel-Aberbythych

BERRACH, a hamlet in Llamhnagel-Aberbythych parish, Carmarthen; 2 miles SW of Llandilofawr.

BERRICK-PRIOR, a liberty in Newigaton parish, Oxford; 4 miles NYE of Wallingford. Pop., 181.

BERRICK-SALOME, a parish in the district of Wallingford and county of Oxford; adjacent to the Chiltern hills, 4 miles NE by N of Wallingford. Acres, 678.

Real property, £971. Pop., 141. Houses, 36. The Real property, £971. Fop., 141. Houses, 36. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Chalgrove, in the diocess of Oxford. Charities, £12.

grove, in the diocess of UNION. Channes, £12.

BERRIER AND MURRAH, a texnship in Greystoke parish, Cumberland; 8 miles W of Penrith. Acres, 2,604. Real property, £1,248. Pop., 109. Houses, 19. BERRIEW, or AEEE-Riuw, a township and a parish in the district and county of Montgomery. The township lies on the cand, at the influx of the river Rhiw to the Severn, 2½ miles NW of Montgomery, and 5½ SSW of Welshpool r. station. It has a post-officet-of the name of Berriew, under Shrewsbury; is a seat of petty sessions; and carries on some woollen manuof petry sessions, and carries on some wonter manufacture. Real property, with Alb. £2,393. The parish includes also the townships of Alb. Brincamistr, Britchlir, Frygld, Garthmill, Keel, Keelcochwyn, Llaudinir, Llivior, Penthiyn, Trystrwelin, Vaynor-Issa, and Vaynor-Ucha. Acres, 12,010. Rated property, £11,938. Pop. 2,155. Houses, 414. The property is much subdivided. Vaynor Park is a chief residence. Some fine scenery occurs on the Severn; and there are Some ancient British remains. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, £350. Patron, the Bishop of St. Asaph. The church is good. A school has £93 from culowment, and other charities £92.
BERRINGTGN, a township in Kyloe chapelry, Northumberland; 51 miles S of Berwick-upon-Tweed. Pop.,

BERRINGTON, a hamlet in Chipping - Campden parish, Gloucester; near Chipping-Campden. Pop., 155. H. uses, 42. BERRINGTON, a parish in Atcham district, Saloy; on the river Severn, and the Severn V. railway, with a on the fiver Severn, and the overent v. raiway, with a restaine, 4\ \text{miles SE of Shewsbury. It has a post-office under Shrewsbury. Aeres, 3,520. Real property, 53,970. Pop., 772. Houses, 112. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £393. Patron, Lerd Ber-cese of Licenseta. Janes, 1999. Patron, Lord Berwick. The Atcham workhouse is here.

EERRINGTON, a Lamlet in Tonbury parish, Worcester; on the river Teme, 2 miles WXW of Tenluny.
Pop. 524. Houses, 43.

Fop. 134. Houses, 41.

BETHINGTON AND EYE, a station on the Shrewsbury and Hereford railway, 31 miles N of Leominster, Hereford. Berrington Park adjacent is the seat of Lord Rodney, and a meet of the Hereford hounds.

BERROCSCIRE. See BERKS.

BEFRON, a township in Llannefydd parish, Denbigh-shire: 51 miles NW of Denbigh.

BERROW, a parish in Axbridge district, Somerset; on a bay of its own name, on Bristol channel, 4 miles NN W of Highbridge r. station, and 91 WSW of Axbridge. Post-town, Burnham, under Bridgewater. Acres, 6,563; of which 4,410 are water. Real property, with Breine, £7,994. Pop., 489. Houses, 112. The property is divided among a few. A great extent of sand, called Berrow flat, is alternately covered and abandoned by the tile: and this forms most of Berrow bay, which is simply an open narrow belt, extending 8 miles northward from the mouths of the Parret and the Brue. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £186.*

Triarage in the diocess of Eath and Wells. Value, £186.*
Parron, the Archlescon of Wells. The church is good.
BERROV, a parish in Upton-on-Severn district, Worcester; 51 miles SW of Upton r. station, and 7 W of Tewkersbury. It has a post-office under Ledbury. Acres, 2,180. Ead property, £3,069. Pop., £53. Houses, 21. The property is much sublivided. The parish is a meet for the Ledbury hounds. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £100. Fatrons, the Dean and Chapter of Worcester. The church is very good. BERRY BROW, a village on the Huddersfield and Steffield railway, 2 miles SSE of Huddersfield, W. R. Yorkshire. It has a station on the railway, a post-office rule of the Huddersfield, and two Methodist charels.

under Huldersfield, and two Methodist chapels.

BERRY-GREEN, a hardware compets.

BERRY-GREEN, a hardware competer of Durham; a mile E of Leadgate, and 5½ WSW of Swalwell.

I has a rest-officed under Gareshead. See Conserv.

BERRY-GREEN, a handet 2 miles W of Bishop.

Stortford, Herts.

BERRY HEAD, a headland at the south side of the entrance of Tor bay, Devon; 6 miles NE of Dartmouth. It is square shared; and consists of hard, smooth, fleshcoloured limestons. Its summit is crowned with traces of a Roman camp, and ruins of two large military stations constructed at the close of last century; and its north front is much quarried, and falls abruytly into deep water, with moorage for vessels, like a quay. See Asu-HOLP.

BERRYMEAD. See Acton, Middlesex.

BERLYNARBOR, a village and a parish in Barn-staple district, Peven. The village stands on an eminance, on the coast, 25 miles E of Ilfracombe, and 9 N name, on the cost, 25 miles E of Hiracombe, and 9 m of Barnstaple r station. It has a post office under Hiracombe; and contains a richly sculptured mansion of the time of Edward IV. The parish comprises 4,958 acres. Real property is divided among a few. Bowden farm-house was the birthplace of Bishop Jewel. A small circular camp occurs about § a mile from the shore. The living it a netwer in the discuss of Exeter. Value, E715.* is a rectory in the discose of Exeter. Value, £715. Patrons, the Bishop of Exeter and others. The church has a Norman arch, an early English chancel, a perpendicular have, and a decorated, high, massive tower; and is in tolerable condition. There is an Independent chapel. EERRY-POMEROY, a village and a parish in Totnes district. Devon. The village stands 13 mile E by N of Totnes r. station. The parish includes also Bridgetown, a suburb of Totaes, on the river Part; and its posttewn is Totres. A.res, 4,525. Real property, £8,996. Pop., 1,065. Houses, 222. The property, with small exception, belongs all to the Duke of Somerset. Berry-Pomeroy Castle, on a rock, in a beautiful dell surrounded with wooded heights, in the neighbourhood. the village, was built by Ralph de Pomeroy, a follower of the Conqueror; inhabited by his descendants till 1549; conveyed then to Protector Semerset; enlarged soon after, with magnificent additions, at a cost of unwards of £20,000; inhabited, for the last time, by Sir Edward Seymour, in the time of James II.; and traditionally said to have been destroyed by lightning. The ivymantled walls of it, the great gateway, a round tower, a Tudor front of Protector Somerset's addition, and part of a Jacobean court of the time of Charles I., are still standing, shattered and unroofed; and form, with the accompaniments of the dell and the woods, a very roman tic object. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £360. Patron, the Duke of Somerset. The church is an ancient structure of nave, chancel, and aisles; and contains a handsome screen and tombs of the Seymours. John Prince, author of the "Worthies of Devon," was vicar for 42 years, and lies interred in the church.

BERSHAM, a township and a chapelry in Wrexham parish, Denbigh. The township lies on the river Clwydeg, near Wat's Dyke, 1 mile W of Wrexham r. station. dog, near wars byke, I little w of wrendam r. station.

Post town, Wrexham.

Acres, 1,901. Real property.

Acres, 1,901. Real property.

Workhouse is here; and iron, lead, and coal works are carried on .- The chapelry bears the name of Bersham-Drelincourt or Berse-Drelincourt; and is a p. curacy in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, £90.* Patron, the Bishop of St. Asaph. There are a Calvinistic Methodist chapel and an endowed school. BERSTED. See BEARSTED

BERSTED (NORTH), a sything in South Bersted

161

BERGILD (NORTH), a spaning of parish, sussex.

BERSTED (SOUTH), a village and a parish in Chichester district, Sussex. The village stands I mile N of Begnor, station, and I from the coast, and has a post-office under Begnor. The parish extends to the shore, and includes Begnor and the tythings of North Bersted 1 String Agree 2008 of which 155 are water. and Shripney. Acres, 3,008, of which 152 are water. Real property, £15,469. Pop., 3,128. Houses, 628. Real property, £15,469. Pop., 3,128. Houses, 628. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £214 * Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church was built in 1405; consists of chancel, nave, and aisles; has a tower with large buttresses, and an obtuse shingled spire; and contains a tomb of Sir R. Hotham, the founder of ognor. The p. curacy of Bognor is a separate benefice. BERT (THE). See BRIT (THE). Borner.

BERTHLWYD, a lamlet in Llangathen parish, Carmarthen; 34 miles W of Llandiofawr.

BERWICK, a district on the river Tweed and on the coast, in the extreme north of Northumberland. All of it, except the parish of Berwick-upon-Tweed, prior to the act of 1844, was a detached part of Durham. It comprehends the sub-district of Berwick-upon-Tweed, containing Berwick-upon-Twee! parish and Tweedmonth parochial chapelry; the sub-district of Norhamshire, conterminate with the parish of Norham; and the subdistrict of Islandshire, containing the parish of Holy Island, and the chapelries of Kyloe and Ancroft. Azres, 57,975. Poor-rates in 1896, 210,513. Pop. in 1861, 21,862. Houses, 3,592. Marriages in 1866, 157; births, 677, - of which 61 were illegitimate; deaths, 491, - of 6.7, -of which of were negatinar; deams, 497, -or which 161 were at ages under 5 years, and 11 at ages above 55 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-69, 873; births, 7,957; deaths, 4,386. The places of worship in 1851 were 10 of the Church of England, with 4,363 sittings; 2 of the Church of Scotland, with 198 s.; 3 of the Presbyterian Church in England, with 1,320 s.; 6 of the United Presbyterian Church, with 3,910 s.; 1 of Independents, with 400 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 350 s.; 1 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 380 s.; 5 of Primitive Methodists, with 764 s.; 2 of Roman Catholics, with 155 s.; and 1 utolefined, with 60 s. The schools were 25 public day schools, with 2,534 scholars; 31 private day schools, with 1,291 s.; 34 Sunday schools, with 2,713 s.; and I evening school for adults, with 21 s. See Ben-WICK-UPON-TWEED.

BERWICK, a hamlet in Llanelly parish, Carmarthen, in the vicinity of Llanelly. Real property, £8,500,—of which £3,545 are in mines. Pop., 1,809. Houses, 346. BERWICK, a village 41 miles SE of Bridport, in Dorset.

BERWICK, a township in Atcham parish, Salop; on the river Severn, 31 miles ESE of Shrewsbury.

BERWICK, a village and a parish in Lewcs district, Sussex. The village stands near the river Cuckmere, I mile S of a station of its own name on the South Coast mile Sof a station of its own name on the South Coast railway, and 7 miles SE of Lewes. The parish comprises 1,097 acres; and its post-town is Alfriston, under Lewes. Real property, £1,591. Pop., 169. Houses, 34. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £362.* Patron, J.

in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £362.* Patron, J. Ellman, Esq. The church is good.

BERWICK-BASSETT, a parish in Marlborough district, Wilts; 6 miles S by E of Wootton-Bassett r. station, and 64 NW of Marlborough. Post-town, Winterbourne-Bassett, under Swindon. Acres, 1,388. Real property, £1,643. Pop., 171. Houses, 33. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicerage, united in 1866 with Winterbourne-Monkton, in the diocess of Science. cese of Salisbury. Value, £300. Patron, the Bishop of S. BERWICK (GREAT and LITTLE), a township in St.

Mary-Shrewsbury parish, Salop; on the river Severn, 2 miles NW of Shrewsbury. Berwick House here is the seat of the Hon. H. W. Powys. Little Berwick is also a chapelry. Pop., 325. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £54. Patrons, the Earl of Tankerville and others. The church was repaired in 1859. BERWICK-HALL. See BARWICK-HALL.

BERWICK-HALL. See BARWICK-HALL.
BERWICK-HILL, a township in Ponteland parish, Northumberland; 6\(\) miles S by W of Morpeth. Acres,
1,604. Pop., 98. Houses, 20.
BERWICK-IN-ELMET. See BARWICK-IN-ELMET.
BERWICK-IN-THE-BRAKES. See BARWICK, Nor-

BERWICK (LITTLE). See BERWICK (GREAT and LITTLE)

BERWICK-PRIOR. See BERRICK-PRIOR.
BERWICK-ST. JAMES, a parish in Wilton district Wilts; on an affluent of the river Wiley, 23 miles NNW of Wishford r. station, and 51 WSW of Amesbury. Post-town, Winterbourne-Stoke, under Salisbury. Acres, 2,487. Real property, with Stapleford, £4,662. Pop., 252. Houses, 53. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £54. Patron, Lord Ashburton. The church is value, 234. Fairon, Lord Ashouron. The church is early English, has a Norman doorway, and is very good. BERWICK-ST. JOHN, a parish in Tisbury district, Wilts; at the source of the Ebell river, under White Witts; at the source of the Local river, under Whits; the sheet hills, near Cranborne Chase, 4‡ miles S of Tisbury r. station, and 5½ E by S of Shaftesbury. It has a post-office under Salisbury. Acres, 3,669. Real property, with Alvediston and Tollard Royal, £7,280. Pop., 499. Honses, 98. The property is divided among a few. Winkelbury camp, or Vespasian's camp, on a lofty ridge in the SW, is an entrenchment of 123 acres, engirt by a single ditch and by a rampart 39 feet high; and commands a very extensive view. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £562. Patron, New College, Oxford. The church is a cruciform structure of the time of Henry VII.; has a low, square, The living is a central, ornamented tower; was restored in 1861-2; and contains two ancient cfligies of crusaders, and monuments of the Grove family and others. There is a Baptist chapel. BERWICK-ST. LEONARD, a parish in Tisbury district, Wilts; I mile E of Hindon, and 23 NNW of Tisbury r. station. Post-town, Hindon, and g. A.N. of In-bury r. station. Post-town, Hindon, under Salisbury. Acres, 970. Real property, with Hindon, Chickladra, and Fonthill-Gillord, £5,111. Pop., 40. Houses, 8. The property is divided among a few. Remains of the old manor-house, the seat of the Howes from 1629 11738 where the Prince of Orange start is 1650 as his to 1735, where the Prince of Orange slept in 1668 on his way to London, are now part of a suite of farm-buildings. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Sedshill, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £374. Sedghill, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £374. Patron, the Marquis of Westminster. The church was Patron, the Board Person of the Bernick Salome.

BERWICK SALOME. See WESTMINSTER.
See WESTMINSTER.

BERWICK-UPON-TWEED, a town, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Berwick, Northumberland. The town stands on the left bank of the Tweed, adjacent to the junction of the Northeastern and the North British railways, 64 miles by road, and 67½ by railway, N by W of Newcastle-upon-Tyne. Its site is a gentle declivity, sloping to the river, about ½ a mile from the sca. A tract of about 8 square miles around it, and including it, was formerly a peculiar jurisdiction, neither in England nor in Scotland; but, by a recent act, was incorporated with Northumberland. The environs are diversified and beautiful; present picturesque views, especially along the Tweed and on the coast; and comprise charming walks and drives.

The town dates from ancient times, but comes obscurely into record, and probably was founded by the Saxon kings of Northumbria. It was taken, in 880, by Saxon kings of Northumbria. It was taken, in 880, by Gregory of Scotland; given, in 1020, by the Cospatricks to Malcolm IV.; and figured, in the early part of next century, as a place of mark, the capital of Lothian, and one of the first four royal boroughs of Scotland. It was taken from the Scots, in 1174, by Henry II.; restored to them by Richard I.; ravaged by King John; taken, in 1272, by Edward I., who crowned Baliol at it in 1292; takea again, in 1295, by Edward and made his capital of Scotland; retaken, in 1297, by the Scots under Walles while its castle remained with the English; made of Scotland; retaken, in 1234, by the Scotland; retaken, in 1234, by the Scotland; head, while its eastle remained with the English; made the scene, in 1305, of the exposure of half of the body of the executed Wallace; the place, in 1310, of the winter residence of Edward II. and his queen; the place, in 1314, of the mustering of the English army before the half of the propositions the second secon battle of Bannockburn; taken again, in 1318, by the Scots under Bruce; retaken, in 1333, by the English after the battle of Haliden Hill; surprised and recaptured, in 1353, by the Scots; recaptured, next year, by the English; surprised again, in 1377, by seven Scotchmen, and held eight days against 7,000 archers and 3,000 cavalry; recovered by the Percys, and used by them, in 1406, against the Crown; taken promptly from them through the astounding effect of cannon shot, the first through the astounding effect of cannen shot, the first ever fired in England; attempted, in 1422, by the Scots; ceded to them, in 1461, by Margaret of Anjou, after the battle of Towton; re-ceded, in 1482, to the English; and declared, in 1551, a neutral territory, independent of both England and Scotland. It was visited, in 1603, by James I. on his way to England; in 1633 and 1639, by James I. on his way to Enganny in 1000 and 1000, by Charles I.; and taken, in 1648, by Cromwell. Many fortifications, at different periods, were raised round the town; and the latest walls, together with small portions of more ancient works, are still standing. The original walls comprehended a circuit of nearly 21 miles, and included the present suburb of Castlegate; and a tower belonging to them, used as a watch-tower, with commanding outlook on the surrounding country, and called the Bell-tower, still exists. The present walls comprehend a circuit of about 1 million in the time of Elizabeth; and consist of a broad rampart, formed of earth, faced with masonry, and defended on the land sides by fire bastions; but they were dismantled in 1822, and are now disposed in a pleasant prouenade. The castle or citadel stood contiguous on the W, on high ground stooping precipitously to the Tweed; it dates from the same remote times as the town; long possessed much military strength; went into disrepair in the time of Elizabeth; contributed much building material for the town in the time of Cromwell; and has now all disappeared except the dilapidated exterior western wall. The Countess of Buchan was shut up in it, in a wicker cage, four years, by Edward I., for putting the crown on the head of Robert Bruce at his coronation.

The town presents a mixed appearance of the ancient and the modern. Two chief lines of street intersect it. the one from N to S, the other from E to W. and divide it into four nearly equal parts. The town-hall, at the foot of High-street, was built about 1755 by Dodd; and has a tetrastyle Doric portico, and a steeple 150 feet high. The juil, on the E side of Wallace-green, was built in 1842, at a cost of £8,000; is in the Tudor style; and has capacity for 16 male and 7 female prisoners. and has capacity for 15 mais and 7 lemms prisoners. The corn exchange was built in 1853, at a cost of about $5,000. The berracks were built in 1719, and enclose a quadrangle of 217 feet by 121. The railway station comples the site of the eastle; is a castellated structure 190 feet long; and has all its offices on the east side. The railway visionet over the Tweed is 216 feet long; has The ranks, triangle over the seach 60 feet in span; is 124 feet high, from foundation to roadway; and commands a superb view. The carriage bridge was built in 1363-1334; is 924 feet long, but only 17 feet wide; and has 15 arches, gradually diminishing in span. The harbour-pier was constructed in 1810, at a cost of £40,000: runs nearly & a mile into the sea; and is crowned at the end by two fixed lights, the upper one bright, 44 feet high, and seen 11 miles off,—the lower one red, and seen when the bar has 10 feet water. The parish church was built in the time of Cromwell, on the site of a previous edifice in which David Bruce was married to the sister of Edward III.; was restored and enlarged in 1835, and is a plain neat structure, without a tower. St. Mary's chirch was built in 1858. A recently erected United Presbyterion church is a handsome edifice. There are eleven other places of worship; a national grammar school, with endowed income of £159; a school, with £156; a freemen's academy; other public schools; a dis-tersary; a workhouse, altered and enlarged; assemblyrooms, in which concerts, &c. are held; and a public subscription Ebrary. A nunnery was founded by David I., a friery in 1270, and a priory at some other period; but all have disappeared.

The town has a head post-office tof the name of Berwick, a telegraph station, four banking-offices, and four chief a telegraph station, four banking-offices, and four chief inx; and it publishes three weekly newspapers. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and a fair on the Lat Friday of May. Inon-working, the trades connected with a seaport, and various kinds of manufacture on a small scale, are carried on. The adjacent fisheries were cone worth £15,000 a-year; but have decreased in value to £4,000. The town is a head port; and has Alumouth, Eudle, and Holy Island as sub-ports. The harbour is bodie, and Holy Island as sub-ports. The narrour is rocky, and suffers much from a shifting bar, but has good anchorage within. The vessels belonging to the port at the commencement of 1888 were 14 small ones, of aggregately 502 tons, and 16 larger ones, of aggregately 1,657 tons. The vessels which entered, in 1867, from the colonies and foreign countries, were 31 British, of aggregately 5,560 tons, and 57 foreign, of aggregately 5,562 tons; and those which entered coastwise were 372 sailing vessels, of aggregately 19,762 tons. The customs, in the same year, amounted to £6,179. The chief imports are timber, iron, bones, hemp, and tallow; and the chief exports, corn, wool, salmon, and provisions. The town held various charters amid its shifting fortunes; to became permanently incorporated by charter of James VI., and now, as a borough, both municipal and parliamentary, includes also the rural parts of its own parish, and the townships of Tweedmouth and Spittal on the right bank of the Tweed. It is governed by a mayor, the fight cancot the tweet. It is governed by a mayor, six aldermen, and dighteen councillors; and it sends two members to parliament. Acres, as a borough, 8,767. Direct tures in 1867, 25,756. Electors, in 1868, 816. Pop., as a borough, in 1841, 12,689; in 1861, 13,265. Houses, 1,833. Stevenson, the writer on commerce,

The parish comprises 5,600 acres of land and 589 of water. Bated property, £33,541. Pop., 5,613. Houses, £1249. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durlam. Value, £383. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Purham. St. Marry's is a separate benefice, a vicarage of the value of £150, also in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter of Durham .- The sub-district comprises all the borough together with Orl township. Acres, 11,335. Pop., 14,027. Houses, 2,635.

BERWYN, a station on the Ruabon and Corwen railway; 3 miles W of Llangollen.

BERWYN MOUNTAINS, a range of mountains in Merioneth and Montgomery. It begins near Lerwyn r. station, and extends 20 miles south-westward to the sources of the rivers Dae and Dyfi. A summit at its north-eastern extremity, Mocl Ferna, has an alvitude of 2,108 feet above the level of the sea; another, 4 miles of the state of the s SW of this, Cader-Ferwyn, has an altitude of 2,563 feet; and two others, 11 mile and 4 miles SW of the road-pass from Bala to Llanfyllin, have altitudes of 2,027 and 2,104 feet.

BERWYN RIVER, a streamlet of Cardigan. It issues from Llyn-Berwyn, the "Verwin's rushie lin" of Dray. ton; and runs about 6 miles west-north-westward, along a romantic mountain vale, to the Teifi, a little below Tre-

BESCABY, an extra-parochial tract in Melton-Mow-bray district, Leicester; 5½ miles NE of Melton-Mow-bray. Pop., 25. Houses, 4. BESCAR LANE, a station on the Southport and Manchester railway, 4 miles ESE of Southport, Lancashire. BESCOT, a station on the South Staffordshire railway, 11 mile S of Walsall. Bescot Hall, in the vicinity, is an old mosted edifice, on the site of an ancient seat of the Hillarys and the Mountforts; and commands a fine view. BESFORD, a township in Shawbury parish, Salop; near the river Roden, 31 miles SE of Wem. Acres, 1,310. Pop., 167.

BESFORD, a chapelry in St. Andrew-Pershore parish, Worcester; on the river Avon and on the Birmingham worcester; on the river Avon and on the Birmingham and Gloucester railway, 2 miles WSW of Persiore. Post-town, Pershore. Acres, 1,300. Real property, £2,025. Pop.,164. Houses, 34. Besford Court here is the seat of Sir T. G. S. Sebright, Bart. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of St. Andrew-Pershore, in the diocese of Worcester. The church is old, shore, in the and has a tower.

See Bescary.

BESKERTHORPE. See BISCATHORPE.
BESSECAR, a hamlet in Cantley parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles SE of Doncaster.

BESSEL'S GREEN, a hamlet in Orpington parish, Here is a Baptist chapel.

Kent. Here is a Baptist chapel.

BESSELSEIGH, a parish in Abingdon district,
Berks; 3½ miles NNW of Abingdon r. station. Posttown, Abingdon. Acres, 893. Real property, 4250, Pop., 92. Houses, 22. The manor belonged anciently to the Leighs; passed by marriage to the Besils or Besto the Leighs; passed by marriage to the Besils or Besels; passed egain by marriage to the Fettiplaces; was purchased by William Lenthall, Esq., speaker of the Long Parliament; and belongs now to his descendants. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £280. Patron, K. J. W. Lenthall, Esq. The church is a small building, with chancel and beltry.

BESSIE'S COVE, a romantic rocky recess, on the S coast of Cornwall; a little E of Cudden point, 7 miles ESE of Penzance. A precipice flanks it pierced with ESE of Penzance. A precipice fishks it pierced with caves, and crowned by an abode of fishermen.

BESSINGBY, a parish in Bridlington district, E. F. Yorkshire; on the Hull and Scarborough railway, 11 mile Norshire; on the Hilliand Scarborough ratiway, 14 mile SWo Bridlington. Post-town, Bridlington, under Hull. Acres, 1,230. Real property, £2,275. Fop., 70. Houses, 12. The manor-house is an old brick building in the form of the letter L. The living is a vicarage in the diocesse of York. Value, £59. Patron, H. Huchson, £84. The church was built in 1766, and has an ancient four.

PESSINGHAM, or BASSINGHAM, a parish in Equing-ham district, Norfolk; 41 miles SW of Cromer, and 15 ham district, Norfolk; 44 miles SW of Uromer, and Lo-east of Walsingham r. station. Fost-town, Cromer, under Norwich. Acres, 514. Real property, 2856. Pop., 153. Houses, 34. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £131. Patron, F. E. Arden, Esq. The church has a round tower, but is bad. The nicat-yard, near it, is a fosse-girt tumulus of about 1 au acre.

BESTHORPE, a parish in Wayland district, Norfolk: on the Roman road and the Norfolk railway, 1 mile E of Attleborough. Post-town, Attleborough. Acres, 2,164.

Real property, £3,966. Pop., 554. Houses, 114. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £250. Patron, the Earl of Winterton. The church is good.

BESTHORPE, a township-chapelry in South Scarle parish, Notts; en an affluent of the river Treut, 21 miles parish, Notis; en an amment of the river Treu, 23 miles E by N of Carlton r. station, and 7 N by E of Newark-upon-Trent. It has a post-office under Newark. Acres, 510. Real property, £2,475. Pop., 338. Houras, 65. The property is subdivided. Besthorpe Hall was built in the time of James I., and has a pointed roof and n tower. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicar-age of South Scarle, in the diocese of Lincoln. The church is good; and there are Independent and Methodist chapels, a free school, and charities £9.

BESTWOOD HALL, a farm-house 41 miles N of Nottingham; on a tract of 3,700 acres, once a royal domain and deer-park, but now under cultivation.

BESWICK, an extra-parochial tract in Manchester borough, Lancashire; 1 mile NE of the Manchester and Sheffield railway depôt. Acres, 60. Real property, £2,280. Pop., 881. Houses, 171. See Bradford and MANCHESTER.

BESWICK, a township-chapelry in Kilnwick parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 14 mile NW of Lockington r. station, and 6½ N by W of Beverley. It includes the hamlet of Witholme; and has a post-office under Beverley. Acres, 1,533. Real property, £2,256. Pop., 252. Houses, 47. The property is divided among a few. The living is a p. curacy in the diocess of York. Value, £65. Patron, the Master of Archbishop Holgate's grammar-school.

The church is good.

BETCHCOTT, a township in Smethcott parish, Salop. BETCHTON, a township in Smetheott partsh, sanop-BETCHTON, a township in Sandbach parish, Che-shire; 2 miles SE of Sandbach. Acres, 2,594. Real property, £6,722. Pop., 798. Houses, 152. There are extensive salt-works and Methodist chapel. BETCHWORTH, a village and a parish in Religate district, Surrey. The village stands on the river Mole, of a mile S of the Reigate and Reading railway, and 21 miles W by S of Reigate; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Reigate. The parish in-cludes also the village of Brockham. Acres, 3,726. Real property. £7,196. Pop., 1,389. Houses, 264. The railway, and a post-office under Leigate. The parish includes also the village of Brockham. Acres, 3,726. Real property, £7,196. Pop., 1,389. Houses, 264. The property is divided among a few. Betchworth Park, with the manor of West Betchworth, belonged to Lord Maltravers, who was made Earl Marshal by Richard II.; passed by marriage, in 1427, to Sir Thomas Brown; went by purchase, in 1690, to Abraham Tucker, author of "the Light of Nature," who lived and died here; and is now united to Deepdene Park, the property of the family of Hope. It contains a noble avenue of chestnuts and limes, nearly 1,000 feet long; contains also some shape-less ruins of Betchworth Castle, which was fortified and embattled by Sir Thomas Brown. Broome House, ndembattied by Sir Thomas Brown. Broome House, adjacent to the milway station, is the seat of Sir Benjamin Brodie. Brockham Lodge, in the neighbourhood of Brockham, is the seat of Mr. W. Bennet; and was the residence of Captain Morris, the song-writer, who preferred the "sweet shady side of Pall Mall" to the woods of Betchworth. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £200.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Windsor. The church was renovated and much altered in 1850; retains some interesting ancient parts, Norman and perpendicular; and has on the chan-cel floer a fine brass of W. Wardysworth, vicar, 1533. Breckham-Green vicarage is a separate benefice. There Brockham-Green vicange is a separate benefice. There are an Independent chapel, and £75 of charities.

BETHANIA, a locality 21 miles from Festiniog, in Merioneth; with a post-office under Carnarvon.

BETHEL, a locality 51 miles W of Llangefni, in An-

BETHELL, a locality of miles W of Langerin, in Anglescy; with a post-office under Bangor.

BETHELKING. See Balking.

BETHERSDEN, a village and a parish in West Ashford district, Kent. The village stands 2 miles S of Pluckley r. station, and 54 WSW of Ashford; and has a post-office under Staplehurst, and a fair on 31 July. parish comprises 6,345 acres. Real property, £5,127. Pop., 1,124. Houses, 237 The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged to the Grensteads; and passed to the Lovelaces. A marble here, now little worked, and consisting almost wholly of minute freshwater shells, was formerly in great request for monumental sculptures and the decoration of cathedrals. living is a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury.
£165.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury. The Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. There church is of Tudor date, and in good condition. are Baptist and Weslevan chapels, a national school, and an education charity.

BETHESDA, a village in Llandwrog parish, Carnarvonshire; on the coast, 5 miles SW of Carnarvon.

BETHESDA, a hamlet in Lianllechid parish, Carnarvon; 44 miles SE of Bangor. It has a post-office‡ under Bangor; and has recently become populous in connexion with the neighbouring slate-quarries.

BETHGELERT. See BEDDGELERT.

BETHGELERT. See Beddelert.

BETHNAL GREEN, n part of Tower-Hamlets borough, London; on the Eastern Counties railway, 2 miles NE by E of St. Paul's. It was formerly a handlet in the parish of Stepney; but was constituted a separate parish in 1743; and is now also a registration district. It lies within the postal town delivery; and has receiving-houses in Green-street and in Bethnal-Green-road, Acres, 760. Real property, £166, 220. Pop. in 1841, 74,083; in 1861, 105,101. Houses, 14,731. Part is densely adjusted; part consists of densely edificed; part consists of airy streets; and part is variously brick-land, market-garden, open field, and a portion of Victoria Park. The whole, as a parish, is cut into four divisions, and as a district into four sub-districts, called Town, Church, Green, and Hackney-Road. inhabitants are chiefly journeymen-silkweavers, who work in their own houses for the master-weavers in Spitalfields. The Columbia Buildings are a fine group Spitalneds. The Columna bundings are a nine group of industrial dwellings and grand quadrangular market, with a massive tower, erected in 1864-9 by Miss Coutts. Bonner's-Fields, in the E, were one of the assembling-places of the Chartist rioters of 1845, took their name from an old mansion removed in 1851, said to have been the palace of Bishop Bonner. Pepys, in his diary, 26th June 1663, records going to Sir W. Rider's house, at Bethnal-Green, and says that the house "was house, at betnmate-treet, and says that the house "was built by the Blind Beggar so much talked of and surg in ballads;" and this "beggar" is said to have been the son of Simoa de Montfort, Earl of Leicester, in the timo of Henry III. Sir T. Gresham resided in Bethnal-Green; and Ainsworth, the lexicographer, kept a school in it. The parish church is a plain brick structure, built in 1766. Another church, a handsome Grecian edifice, with 1746. Another church, a handsome Grecian editice, with a tower, was built in 1229, at a cost of £17,639, another, with traceried window and a good tower, was built in 1846; and then others were built in 1840-50. The parochial living is a rectory, and each of the others is a vicarage in the diocess of London. The patron of all isthe Bishop. Value of the rectory, £500; of $1. James the Great, £400;  of $E. Paul, £200; of each of the others, £300  or £200. The Jews' Episcopal chapel, attached to the London society for promoting Christicarity accounts. 2300 or 2300. The Jews' Episcopal chapel, attached to the London society for pronocting Christianity among the Jews, also is a separate charge. Value, 2300 Patrons, Trustees. An Independent chapel was built in 1896, at a cost of £5,000. The total places of worship in 1851 were 13 of the Church of England, with 1,851 sittings; 14 of Independents, with 1,655 s; 6 of Eaptists, with 1,637 s; 1 of Unitarians, with 250 s; 3 Taylors, with 1,03 s; 1 of Unitarians, with 250 s; 3 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,060 s; 1 of Frimitive Methodists, with 250 s; 1 of Lady Huntingdon's Connexion, with 200 s; and 2 mixed and undefined, with 250 s. The schools were 35 public day schools, with 8,237 scholars; 92 private day schools, with 2,277 s.: 39 Sunday schools, with 9,786's.; and 3 evening schools for nelults, with 48 s. One public school, together with an almshouse, has an endowed income of £30S; and nnother has £157. There are four almshouses and a lunatic asylum, the latter founded before 1570; and the charities altogether have a yearly value of £560. The work-house stood formerly in the Tewn sub-district, but is now in the Green sub-district. Poor-rates in 1866, £33,464. Marriages in 1866, 2,099; births, 4,881,—of which 119 were illegitimate; deaths, 3,840,—of which

1,900 were at ages under 5 years, and 36 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 12,671; births, 27,759; deaths, 21,733.

BETLLY, a village and a parish in Newcastle-under-Lyne district, Stafford. The village stands on the verge of the county, near the Northwestern railway, 3½ railes of the country rear the Formwestern runwy, 52 miles N of Macley station, and 63 kW by W of Newcastle-under-Lyric. It has a post-officer under Crewe, and fairs on 30 April, 31 July, and 29 Oct., and was one a mar-ket-town. It consists of one wide street; and is a pleaker-town. It consists of one water street; and is a plea-sunt, healthy place. The parish comprises 1,435 acres, Real property, 23,894. Pop., 850. Houses, 184. Betley Mere, a fine lake near the village, belongs to the Earl of Mere, a fine lake near the village, belongs to the Earl of Wilton; Betley Court, an elegant mansion, is the seat of Francis Twemlow, Isq.; and Betley Hall, a fine old residence, is the seat of George Tollett, Esq. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfeld. Value, £150.* Patron, 6. Tollett, Esq. The church consists of nave, chancel, and tower,—the nave ancient, the chancel built in 1610, the tower in 1713; and contains neat mural monuments of the Egertons and the Tolletts. There are Washerne of the June and charifus £15. Weslevan chapel, and charities £15. BETSHANGER. See BETTESHANGER.

BETSOME, a hamlet in Southfleet parish, Kent; 31 miles SW of Gravesand. Pop., 188.

BETTERTON, a tything in East Lockinge parish, Berks; near the Berks and Wilts canal, 21 miles SE by E of Wantage. Pop., 17.

E of Wantage. Pop., 17.

BETTESHANGER, or Betshanger, a parish in Eastry district, Kent; 3½ miles SSW of Sandwich r. station, and 4 W of Deal. Pest-town, Northbourne, under Deal. Acres, 397. Real property, £1,700. Pop., 43. Houses, 6. Betteshanger Park belonged formerly to the Bors familty, and belongs now to Sir Walter James, Bart. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Carterbury. Value, £166. Patron, Sir W. C. James, Part. The chorch is Norman, and has been restored.

BETTISCOMBE, a parish in Beaminster district, Dorset, 5 miles W of Beaminster, and 6½ NW of Bridger of the Station. Post-town, Broadwinsor under Bridport a station. Post-town, Broadwissor, under Brid-port a station. Post-town, Broadwissor, under Brid-lort. Acres, 667. Real property, with Piledon, 41,796. Pop. 76. Houses, 12 The living is a rectory in the diocese of Selisbury. Value, 4180. Patron, R. B. Sheridan, Esp. The church was rebuilt in 1862, and in the early perpendicular style.

BETTISFIELD, a township in Hanmer parish, Flint; with a station on the Cambrian railway, 45 miles NE of Ellesmere. It has a post-office under Whitchurch. Acres, 2,234. Real property, £2,961. Pop., 361. Houses, 71. Bettisfield Hall is a seat of Sir John Hanmer, Bart., the descendant of Speaker Hanmer of Queen Anne's time, BETTON, a township and a chapelry in St. Chad parish, Salop; 21 miles SSE of Shrewsbury. The townrish, Salop; 21 miles SSE of Shrewsbury. The township is a conjoint one, hearing the name of Detton and Aikmere. Pop., 48. The chapelry is called Betton-Strange. Acres and pop., returned with the parish. Rated property, £1,080. The property is divided among a few. Estion-Strange House is the seat of G. Soott. Esq.; and Betton Hall, the seat of the Norcops. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield, not reported. Fairon, G. Scott, Esq. The church is good. BETTWS, an ancient British topographical name, signifying variously a station, a subordinate chapel, and a pleasant place between hill and vale.

BETTWS, a parish in Newport district, Monmonth; on the Cruralin canal, near the Avon-Ilwyd railway, 25 miles NW of Newport. Post-town, Newport, Mon-mouth. Acres, 1,102. Real property, £1,236. Pep., 84. Houses, 15. The property is divided among a few. The Living is a p. curray annexed to St. Woollss-Newport, in the discress of Llandaff. The church is bad.

BETTWS, a parish in Bridgend district, Glamorgan; on the river Ogmore, 51 miles N of Bridgend r. station. ca the river ognore, of mises A of Diagonal a scalars. Post-town, Budgend. Acres, 5,086. Real property & 21,357. Pop., 571. Houses, 75. The property is divided among a few. Coal is worked. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Newcastle, in the diocase of Llandaff. The church is good. There is a Unitarian chapel. Dr. Price, the nonconformist divine. was a native

165

BETTWS, a parish in Landilofawr district, Carmarthen; 3 miles SSE of Llandebie r. atation, and 8 S of Llandilofawr.

Post town, Cross Inn, under Llanelly. Real property, £3,644,—of which £760 Pop., 1,547. Houses, 320. The surface Acres, 6,465. are in mines. is hilly, and includes the Bettws mountains, which are The living is a an offset of the Black mountains. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £9S. Patron, the Bishop of St. David's. There is a Calvinistic BETTWS, a township in Llanfawr parish, Merioneth; in the vale of Eidernion, 11 mile NE of Bala. Pop., 232. Fairs are held on 16 March, 22 June, 12 Aug., 16 Sept., and 12 Dec. There is a Calvinistic Methodist chapel.

BETTWS. or Bettws-Cedewen, a village and a parish in Newtown district, Montgomery. The village is in Ucheldre township; and stands on the river Bechan, 21 miles above its indux to the Severn, and 31 N by E of Newtown r. station. The parish includes the townships of newtown r. station. The parish includes the townships of Ucheldre, Dolforwyn, Garthgellin, and Llauitheon; and its post-town is Newtown, Montgomery. Acres, 5,305. Real property, 24,619. Pop., 730. Houses, 146. The property is divided among a few. The surface is undulating and upland; and part of it is pretty fertile. Gregynog was the seat of the Blayneys. A ruined and the surface of the Blayneys. cient castle in Dolforwyn township is conjectured to have been built by the British in the time of the Romans; and the name of it, the latter part of which signifies "a maiden," is said to have suggested to Leland and Milton the tale of "the Maiden Sabrina." Some curiously wrought brazen and earthen vessels have been found wrought brown and earther vessers may be been found near the eastle. A vast hill-camp, called Pen-y-Gaer, is in the neighbourhood of the village. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. Asaph. Velue, £211.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church belonged to a Cistertian nunnery, founded in the 13th century; has a tower built, in 1531, by John of Meredith; and contains a monument to him. There are chapels for Baptists and a monument tollini. There are chapters for chapters and Methodists, and charities 124.

BETTWS, or BETTWS-Y-CRWYS, a parish in the district of Knighton and county of Salory on the river Teme and on Offa's Dyke, adjacent to Wales, 8 miles NW of Knighton r. station, and 10 SE of Newtown. It contains the townships of Rugantine and Trebredier, and contains the townships of Rugantine and Trebredier, and part of the township of Kevencalanog; and its post-town is Knighton. Acres, 8,664. Real property, £3,065. Pop., 520. Houses, 97. The property is divided among a few. The surface is upland, and includes a range called the Bettws hills. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £37. Fatron, Earl Powis.

BETTWS-ABERGELE, or Bertws-yn-Rhos, a hamlet and a parish in St. Asaph district, Denbigh. The hamlet stands 3½ miles SW of Aborgele r. station, and 9 W of St. Asaph; has a post-office, of the name of Bettws. Aborgele, under Khyi; and is occasionably a sent of petty sessions. The parish includes the townships of Beniarth, Bodlyman, Cilcen, Denhenfryn, Maesgwig, Tai, Frellan, and Trofarth. Acres, 6,262. Real property, £3,720. Pop., 838. Houses, 193. The property is divided among a few. The surface lies high; is to a vided among a few. The surface hes mon, great extent uncultivated; and commands, from some points, grand views of the coast and the sea. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, £399. Patron, the Bishop of Llaudaff. The church is good.

There are four dissenting chapels, and an endowed school with £44 a-year.

The church is tolerable,

BETTWS BLEDDRWS, a parish in Lampeter district, BETTWS-BLEDDEWS, a parish in Lampeter district, Cardigan; with a station on the Manchester and Milford railway, 3 miles NNE of Lampeter. Post-town, Lampeter, under Carmarthen. Acres, 2,216. Real property, £1,123. Pop., 222. Houses, 41. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of St. David's. Value, £143.* Patron, the Rish pof St. David's. The church has a tower and spire, and for the control of the property of the church has a tower and spire, and for the church has a tower and spire, and for the church has a tower and spire, and for the church has a tower and spire, and for the church has a tower and spire, and for the church has a tower and spire and Calmieria. good. There are chapels for Eaptists and Calvinistic Methodists. David ap Gwylim, who flourished in the middle of the 14th century, and whose writings were published in 789, and have mainly contributed to fix the modern literary dialect of Wales, was a native.

BETTWS-CEDEWEN. See BETTWS, Montgomery

BETTWS-CEDEWEN. See BETTWS, alongomery.
BETTWS-CLYRO, or CAPEL-BETTWS, a chapelry in Clyro parish, Radnor; on the river Wye, 31 miles N of Hay r. station. Post-town, Hay, under Hereford. Real property, £1,553. Pop., 183. Houses, 33. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Clyro, in the diocese of St. David's.

BETTWS-DISSERTH, a parochial chapelry in the BETTWS-DISSERUH, a parochial chapelry in the district of Builth and county of Radnor; on the river Edwy, 7 niles SW of New Radnor, and 12 W of Kington r. station. Post-town, New Radnor. Acres, 1,855. Real property, £810. Pop., 130. Houses, 19. The property is divided among a few. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Disserth, in the diocese of St. David's. The church is excellent.

BETTWS-EVAN, or BETTWS-JEUVAN, a hamlet and a parish in Newcastle-in-Emlyn district, Cardigan. The hamlet stands on elevated ground, midway between Car-digan bay and the river Teifi, 5 miles N by W of Newcastle-in-Emlyn r. station. The parish includes also the hamlet of Llynnchel; and its pest-town is Newcastle-in-Emlyn, under Carmarthen. Acres, 2,640. Real property, £1,537. Pop., 419. Houses, 101. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Penbryn, in the diocese of St. David's.

The church is good

BETTWS-GARMON, a hamlet and a parish in the district and county of Carnarvon. The hamlet stands on an eminence, adjacent to the rivulet Gwrfai, amid grand an eminence, adjacent to the rivulet Gwrfai, amid grand scenery of crag and lake and monntain, 3 miles ESE of Griffith's Craig r. station, and 5 SE of Carnarvon; and it has fairs on 15 May and 3 Dec. The parish comprises 2,759 acres; and its post-town is Catnarvon. Real property, £749. Pop., 94. Houses, 21. The property divided among a few. The surface is largely mountainous; and lies immediately W of Snowdon. Green pastures below the hamlet contrast finely with bold crags and purged heights above. A spring on the bill-side tures below the namiet contrast unerly with bout crags and rugged heights above. A spring on the hill-side, called St. Garmon's well, about a mile W of the hamlet, has considerable medicinal repute. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £90. Fatron, the Bishop of Llandaff. The church is good.

BETTWS-GWERFIL-GOCH, a hamlet and a parish in Corwen district, Merioneth. The hamlet stands near the river Alwen, 4 miles NW of Corwen r. station; and has a post-office under Corwen. The parish comprises 2,650 acres. Real property, £695. Pop., 242. Houses, 59. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the discose of St. Asaph. Value, £124. Patron, the Bishop of St. Asaph. The church is early English, and tolerable. BETTWS-JEUVAN.

See BETTWS-EVAN.

BETTWS-LEIKI, or BETTWS-LLEUCE, a parochial chapelry in Tregaron district, Cardigan; on the river Ayron, 5 miles WSW of Tregaron r. station, and Ayron, 5 miles WSW of Hegaton, Llandowy-Brevi, Post-town, Llandowy-Brevi, Post-town, Pegal property nucher Carmarthen. Acres, 2,342. Real property, £2,393. Pop., 349. Houses, 72. The property such subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, 250. Patron, the Incumbent of Llandewy-Brevi. The church needs repair.

bent of L'andewy-Erevi. The church needs repair.

BETTWS NEWYDD, a parish in Abergavenny district, Monmouth; near the river Usk, 21 miles E of Nantyderry r. station, and 31 N by W of Usk. It has a post-office under Newport, Monmouth. Aeres, 1,122. Real property, £1,037. Pop., 129. Houses, 27. The property is divided among a few. The hiving is a p. carrier appear of the property is the disease of Linguist. recy, annexed to the vicenage of Linaurit, in the diocese of Linaulat. The church is bad.

BETTWS-Y-COED, a village, a parish, and a subBETTWS-Y-COED, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Llaarwst and county of Car-The viliage stands at the terminus of the Llannarvon. The village stands at the terminus of the Lian-rwst railway, 31 miles S of Llaurwst; has a post-office under Linrwst, a r. station with telegraph, and an inn; and is a resert of anglers and artists. A curious picturesque bridge, called Pont-y-Pain, spans the Llugwy here, over a catanact which is notable as a sulmon-leap. The parish comprises 3,537 acres. Real property, £1,417. Pop., 509. Houses, 103. The property is all in one estate. Some fine scenery, with several good waterfalls, occurs in the vales and on the hills. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £101. Patron, the Bishop of Bangor. The church is ancient and good; and contains a monument of Gryflydd, grandnephew of the last Llewelyn. There are an Independent chapel and a Calvinistic Methodist chapel—The sub-district comprises four parishes and part of another. Acres, 35,113. Pop., 2,735. Houses, 553.

BETTWS-Y-CKWYN. See BETTWS-ABERGELE. BEULAH A locality 9 miles from Builth in Breconhere, over a cataract which is notable as a salmon-leap

BEULAH, a locality 9 miles from Builth in Brecon-

BEULAH SPA, a mineral well 2 miles ENE of Mitcham, in Surrey. Its water somewhat resembles that of Epsom, and was once in high repute; but buildingswhich were raised in connection with it went into decay; and the site was advertised for sale in 1857.

and the site was advertised for sale in 1857.

BEULT (Turb.) See Beale (Turb.).

BEVERCOATES, a parish in East Retford district,

Notts; 23 miles NW of Traxford, and 33 from Tuxford, r station. Fost-town, Tuxford, under Newark. Acres,

790. Real property, £799. Pop., 43. Houses, 7. The living is a vicange, annexed to the vicange of West

Markham, in the diocese of Lincoln. The church is in ruins.

BEVERE, an island in the Severn, 2½ miles N of Worcester. It is supposed to have been a resort of heavers; was a retreat of the inhabitants of Worcester during the plagne of 1637; and is now a good and favourite bathing-place. It contains a mausion; commands a fine view of the Abberley and the Malvern bills; and has a post-office, of the name of Bevere Green, under

Worcester

BEVERLEY, a town, four parishes, a sub-district, and a district in E. R. Yerkshire. The town stands on the Hull and Scarberough railway, at the E foot of the Wolds, about a mile W of Hull river, 8\frac{1}{2} miles NNW of Hull. The country to the E is flat; but the parts adjacent are fertile and well-wooded. All was auciently cent are fertile and well-wooded. All was auciently swampy; then covered with forest; then cleared for fuel and for cultivation. Lakes frequented by beavers, in the swampy epoch, are supposed by many to have given rise to the name Beverley in the form of Bever Lac. The town, however, may possibly have been the Petonaria of Ptolemy, with Roman origin, dating from the second century; and it was known to the Saxons as Beoforlic and Beverloga. John, Archbishop of York, commonly called St. John of Beverley, founded a monastery at it in 700, and died and was buried here in 721. The Danes destroyed the monastery in 867. King Athelstane, after his great victory of Bruoanburgh in 933, found the church of the monastery partly restored; richly endowed and extended it, as a collegiate church or minister; and gave it the right of sanctuary for a mile round the town, marked by four stone crosses, set up at the principal approaches. William the Conqueror, in 1069, encamped in the neighbourhood, and issued strict orders to his army to respect bourhood, and issued strict orders to his army to respect the property of the church. The principal part of the town, together with the church, was destroyed by fire in 1186. Edward I, during his wars against Scotland, in 1299-1216, frequently sisted Beveley, and carried the standard of St. John at the head of his army. Henry IV, visited the town in 1299; Edward IV, marched through it in 1471; and Charles I. alternately took pest in it and was dislodged in 1839 and 1612. The town early acquired a right of prize and toll over the shipping of the Humber; and, in later times, it struggled hard against the transfer of that right to the rising port of Hull. Many a legend exists respecting alleged miracles, in the old times, in the minster; and a monkish pretence runs through old history that the standard of St. John, together with the standards of St. Peter of York and St. Wilfrid of Ripon, had much to do with the vintories of the English arms. An old ballad, speaking of the battle of the "Standard" in 1178, and putting a speech into the mouth of the Scottish king, says,—

"The holy cross,
That shines as bright as day,
Around it hung the sacred banners
Of many a blessed saint;
St. Peter and John of Deverley,
And St. Wilfrid there they paint.
'Oh had I but yon holy rood,
That there so bright doth show,
I would not care for you English bost,
Nor the worst that they could do."

The town consists of several streets, and is well built. The principal street is nearly a mile long, and terminates in an ancient gateway, called the North Bar. The guild hall is a handsome edifice, new-fronted in 1832; and contains apartments for the corporation and for ses-The county house-of-correction was erected at a cost of £42,000, and afterwards enlarged; and contains accommodation for 166 male and 21 female prisoners. The market cross is a modern erection, more curious than useful. There are also a corn-exchange and assemblyrooms. One of Athelstane's crosses still stands on an eminence to the N. There were anciently a monastery of black friars, a monastery of grey friars, and an establishment of knights-hospitallers; and two gateways of the first may still be seen on the NE of the minster. There are a grammar-school with eight scholarships at Cambridge, and a library; a blue-coat school; a mechanics' institution; a dispensary; three hospitals, for 6, channes institution; a dispensive time hospitals, of v. 12, and 32 widows; a work-house, and almshouses. The charities amount annually to £3,825; of which £1,559 are minster estates. The parish churches of St. Martin and St. Nicholas are extinct; and three ser now the jurish churches of St. Mary and St. John, a handsome chupel of ease erected in 1841, eight dissenting chapels, and a Roman Catholic chapel. St. Mary's church is cruciform, with a central tower; was originally North and the control of the c nan and early English, but now exhibits early deco-rated and perpendicular additions; has a very fine seven-light west window, between two beautiful octagonal pierced turrets; and contains an octagonal font of 1559, and some interesting monuments. A resolution was taken in 1859 to restore this edifice, and was carried out in 1865. St. John's church, or the mincarried out in 1960. St. John's church, or the min-ster, as it now stands, is supposed to have been com-pleted in the early part of the reign of Henry III. It consists of nave, choir, presbytery, transpis, central lantern, and two wostern towers; and is altogether 332 feet long. It shows a mixture of styles; yet is considered equal in purity of composition, correctness of detail, and elegance of execution, to any of the great English cathe-drals. Mr. Rickman says: "The north porch of Beverley minster is, as a panelled front, perhaps unequalled. The door has a double canopy, the inner an ogce, and the outer a triangle, with beautiful crockets and tracery, and is flanked by fine buttresses breaking into uiches, and is harker by one outtresses breaking into unities, and the space above the eatingty to the cornice is panelled; the battlement is composed of rich niches, and the buttresses crowned by a group of four pinnacles." Of perpendicular fronts the same author says, "By far the first is that of Beverley minister. What he west front of York is to the decomited style, this is to the perpendefular, with this addition, that in this front nothing but one style is seen; all is harmonious. Like York minster, it consists of a very largo west window to the nave, and two towers for the end of the aisles. This window is of nine lights, and the tower windows of three The windows in the tower correspond in range nearly with those of the aisles and elerestory windows of the nave; the upper windows of the tower are belfry windows. Each tower has four large and eight small pinnacles, and a very becatiful battlement. front is ; melled, and the buttresses, which have a very bold projection, are ornamented with various tiers of miche-work, of another composition, and most delicate execution. The doors are uncommonly rich, and have the hanging feathered ornament; the caucity of the great centre door runs up above the sill of the window, and stands free in the centre light with a very fine effect. The gable has a real tympacum, which is filled with fine tracery. The east front is fine, but mixed with early English." The chief monuments are a magnificent altartomb of Henry Percy, fourth Earl of Northumberland; an altar-tomb of George Percy, grandson of Hotspur; a splendid altar-tomb of two daughters of Earl Puch, called the "Maiden Tomb;" and a monument to Major General Bowes, who fell at the assault of one of the forts of Salamanca.

Beverley has a head post-office, ta telegraph station, four banking-offices, and two chief inns; and publishes two weekly newspapers. A weekly market is held on Saturday; a fortnightly cattle market, on Wednesslay; fairs, four times e-year; and races on the Hunn pastures, in June. Waggons, carts, carriages, agricultural implements, artificial manures, whiting, and leather are manufactured in large establishments. A canal goes to the river Hull. Beverley is a seat of quatter sessions, the place of election for the east riding, and the head-quarters of the east riding millitia. The town sent two members to parliament once in the time of Edward I.; received a charter from Elizabeth; and has sent two members to parliament from her time until now. It is governed by a mayor, six aldermen, and eighteen councillors. The municipal borough consists of the parishes of St. Mary, St. Martin, and St. Nicholas; while the parliamentary borough includes also the greater part of the parish of St. John. Acres of the m. borough, 2,228; of the p. borough in 1841, 5,674. Houses, 2,156. Pop. of the p. borough in 1841, 5,654. Houses, 2,166. Pop. of the p. borough in 1841, 5,654. Houses, 2,166. Pop. of the p. bereley gives the title of Earl to the Percys; and it numbers among its distinguished natives Alfred, the ancient biographer, eight archishops of York, Alcock and Fisher, bishops of Rochester, Green, bishop of Lincoln, Julia Parloe, author of the "City of the Sultan," and Mary Woolstonecrotter of Godwin.

tan," and Mary Woolstoneroft or Godwin.

St. Mary's parish comprises 570 acros. Real property, £12,648. Pup., 3,831. Houses, 331. St. Martin's parish comprises 760 acres. Real property, £10,509. Pop., 4,413. Houses, 9S8. St. Nicholas' parish comprises 898 acres. Real property, £5,526. Pop., 1,410. Houses, 337. St. John's parish includes the townships of Thearne, Weel, Molescroft, Storkhill and Sandholme, Woodmansey-with-Boweley Parks, and Tickton-with-Hull-Bridge within the borough, and the township of Eske and part of the township of Aike, without the borough. Acres, £,250. Real property, £17,903. Pop., 1,315. Houses, 261. St. Mary'a is a vicarage, St. Nicholas' a rectory, and St. Martin's and St. John's vicarages, in the dioceae of York. St. Mary and St. Nicholas' a rectory, and St. Martin's and St. Martin, with Tickton chapely, form also one living, of the value of £429,* in the gift of the Lord Chancellor. St. John and St. Martin, with Tickton chapely, form also one living, of the value of £420,* in the gift of Simeon's Trustees. The sub-district comprises the parishes of St. Mary, St. Martin, St. Nicholas, Bishop-Buton, Cherry-Burton, Walkington, and Skidby, most of the parish of St. John, and part of the parisher Rowley. Acres, 24,639. Pop., 13,007. Houses. 2,554. The district comprehends also the sub-district South Cave, containing the parishes of Nowbald and Brantingham, and parts of the parish of Leven; and the sub-district of Lockington, enton, and Rowley; the sub-district of Lockington, containing the parishes of Lockington, Etton, Swith Dalton, Holm-on-the-Wolds, Lind, Scorberough, and Leckonfield-with-Arram, and parts of the parishes of Kilnwick and St. John. Acres, 78,434. Poor-rates in 1866, £3,621. Pop. in 1861, £10,29. Houses, 4,450. Mariages in 1896, 109; births, 65,67; deaths, 2,581. The places of worship in 1851 were 29 of the Church of England, with 7,475 sittings; 5 of Indepen-Cauren of England, with 7,475 sittings; 5 of Independents, with 1,088 s.; 5 of Baptists, with 1,090 s.; 20 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,655 s.; 11 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,407 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 63 s. The schools were 24 public day schools, with 1,894 scholars; 39 private day schools, with 994 s.; and 36 Sunday schools, with 2,456 s.

BEVERLEY AND BARNSTON CUT, a great drain

along the low flat country of E. R. Yorkshire; from the Hull river, in the vicinity of Hull, north-north-westward to the vicinity of Beverley, and thence northward and north-eastward to the sea at Barnston. Its length, irrespective of branches, is 24 miles.

BEVERLEY PARKS. See Woodmanser.
BEVERSBROOK, a tything in Calne and Hillmarton

BEVERSTONE, a tyling in came and rinning ton parishes, Wilts; 2 miles NE of Caine. BEVERSTONE, a village and a parish in Tetbary district, Gloucester. The village stands 1½ mile WNW district, Gloucester. The village stands 11 mile WNW of Tethury, and 61 SSW of Brimscomb r. station; and of Tethury, and 6.3 SSW of Brimscomb r. station; and has a post-office under Stroud. The parish comprises 2,360 acres. Real property, £2,818. Pop., 1;0. Houses, 34. The property is not much divided. A castle was erected here, in the time of Edward III., by Thomas, Lord Berkeley; was repeatedly besieged, and finally taken and hurned, in the parliamentary wars; and is now a mass of ruin. Roofing-stone is quarried. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Kingscote, in the dioces of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £590.* Patron, the Crown. The church is a small ancient edifice of nave and chancel, and has a stone rulpit. cient edifice of nave and chancel, and has a stone pulpit.

BEVIL'S RIVER, a cut in the fens of the Isle of Ely Cambridge. It commences at the boundary, 6 miles SE of Peterborough; and goes 41 miles north-westward to the Twenty-Foot river.

BEVINGTON, chapelry in Liverpool parish; in the northern part of Liverpool borough. Pop., 14,381. Houses, 2,161. It was constituted in 1845; and is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £300. Patron, alternately the Crown and the Bishop.

BEVOIS, a village in Hants; on the river Itchin, 2 miles N of Soathampton. It stands on the estate of Bevois Mount; and has a post-office of the name of Bevois Hill, under Southampton. Bevois Mount contained the castle and the tomb of Sir Bevis of Hamptamed the easile and the found of sin bests of lamp, ton; was purchased, in the early part of last century, by the great Earl of Peterborough; was, in his time, a resort of Pope and Swift; and became afterwards the residence of the poet Sotheby,—who sang it in the sonact entitled "Farewell to Bevois Mount."

BEWALDETH AND SNITTLEGARTH, a township BEWALDETH AND SNITLEGARIA, a township in Torpenhow parish, Cumberland; near the foot of Bassenthwaite water, 6 miles ENE of Cockermouth. Real property, £1,343. Pop., 95. Houses, 14. BEWBUSH. See BEEDING (LOWER). BEWCASTLE, a township and a parish in Longtown and the control of the control o district, Cumberland. The township lies in an upland tract, between the rivers Line, Kirkbeck, and Irthing, 61 miles NNW of Rosehill r. station, and 10 NE Brampton. Real property, £1,918. Pop., 152. Houses, 27. Here was a Roman station, garrisoned by part of the second Roman legion, to protect the workmen employed in building the Roman wall. Here also was a Norman castle, repaired by Bueth, a Norman baron, lord of the manor, immediately after the Conquest, and called from him Bow-castle. The structure was square, each front about 87 feet long; was occupied by a border garrison in the time of Elizabeth, and demolished by parliamentary forces in 1641; and the min of it, in one part about 40 feet high, is still standing. Many Roman coins and inscriptions have been found. The right of fair and Many Roman coins and inscriptions have been found. The right of rate and market was acquired in the time of Edward I.; but has long been in disuse. The parish includes also the townships of Nixons, Bailey, and Bellbank; and its post town is either Gilsland or Brampton under Carlisle. Acres, 30,000. Rated property, 28,693. Pop., 1,091. Houses, 205. The property is much subdivided. The manor was given, in the time of Charles I., to Sir Richard Graham. and it remains now with his descendant Sir F. U. Gra-ham of Netherby. Large portion of the surface is wild and waste. Coal, limestone, and lead are found. living is a rectory in the diocess of Carlisle. V £120. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Carlisle. Value, church is small and good, on a rising ground within the fossé which surrounds the station. An ancient obelisk, a single block, 14 feet high, with sculptures and inscrip

a single block, 14 feet high, with schipfures and insertions which were but lately deciphered, stands in the churchyard. There is an English Presbyterian chapel. BEWDLEY a town, a borough, and a sub-district in the district of Kidderminster, Worcester. The town stand on a rising-ground, on the right bank of the river Severn, and on the Severn valley railway, 3 miles WSW Severn, and on the Severn valley railway, 3 miles WSW of Kidderminster. It was originally an extra-parochial liberty; but was united, in the time of Henry IV, to the parish of Ribbasford. It lay anciently within the marches of Wales; but was annexed, in the time of Henry VIII., to the county of Worcester. It belonged to the Beauchamps, but became afterwards a royal domain. A palace was erected at it by Henry VII. for his son Arthur, who was married here by proxy; and the palace was occupied by Charles I., suffered much in the war with his parliament, and was subsequently taken down and crased. The surrounding scenery is remarkably fine, and has been supposed by some to have given rise to the name Bewdley, as a corruption of the French Beaulieu. A Roman camp is on the neighbouring hill Basall or Wa-sall; and an isolated mound of red sandstone, called the Devil's Spade-full, the subject of a curious legend, is in The town has wide streets; and, in general, a hollow. is well built. Wribbenhall, on the other bank of the Severn, is a suburb, with some good streets; and is reached by a handsome stone bridge, erected in 1797 The town-hall is a neat edifice of 1818; and the market place behind it has side-arcades and an open arca. Bewdley church is a spacious structure, with a tower; and Ribbesford church is an ancient building, with Nor-man porch and low tower. There are chapels for Baptists, Methodists, Quakers, and Unitarians; a grammar-school with endowed income of £44; a literary institution, with free library; and almshouse and other charities, with income of £234. The town has a railway station, o head post-office, a banking office, and two chief inns. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on 23 April, the Monday before 26 July, and 11 Dec. Largo employment formerly arose from the carrying trade on the Severn; but was severely and permanently damaged by the formation of the Stourport and Stourbridge canal. Manufactures are carried on in combs, leather, and malt. John Tombes, the opponent of Baxter, and Richard Willis, an artizan's son who rose to be Bishop of Winchester, were natives.

The borough was constituted by Edward IV.; reconstituted by James VII.; constituted again, on its original basis, after a long lawsuit, in the time of Anne; and reconstituted, on its present basis, by the reform bill. It now, as a municipal borough, includes most of the parish of Ribbesford; and as a parliamentary borough, includes also the rest of that parish, and the hamlets of Wribbenhall, Hourstone, Elackstone, Netherton, and Lower Mitton, in the parish of Kiddermister. It is governed by a mayor, four eldermen, and twelve councillors; and it sends one member to parliament. Direct travers in 1875, 61,000. cmors, and is sends one memor to parliament. Direct taxes in 1837, £4,009. Real property in 1850, £11,160. Electors in 1888, 361. Pop. of the m. borough in 1811, 3,400; in 1861, 2,905. Houses, 686. Pop. of the p. borough in 1851, 7,318; in 1861, 7,034. Houses, 1,508.—There are five ecclesiastical charges within the borough,—Ewelley, Eibbesford, Far-Forest, Wribbenhall, and Lower Mitton. The Bewelley one is a vicarge in the discose, of Mergford; income not revicarage, in the diocese of Hereford; income, not reported; patron, the Rector of Ribbesford. The other four will be separately noticed.—The sub-district comprises three parishes; one of them electorally in Salop and one electorally in Stafford. Acres, 9,021. Pop., 4,142. Houses, 914. BEWERLEY, a town-slip in Ripon parish, W. R.

Yorkshire; on the river Nidd, adjacent to Pateley-Bridge, 11 miles NW of Ripley. It includes part of the village of Greenhow-Hill. Acres, 5,872. Real property, £4,973; of which £1,051 are in mines. Pop., 1,297. Houses, 238. The inhabitants are chiefly employed in Houses, 238. The inhabitants are oneny employed lead mines. Bewerley House is the seat of the Yorkes. lead mines.

BEWICK, a hamlet in Aldbrough township and parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 7 miles SSE of Hornsea.

BEWICK (New and OLL), two townships in Eglingham parish, Northumberland; on Harehope burn, 74 and 61 miles St. of Wooler. Aeres, 1,125 and 5,487. Pop., 77 and 204. Houses, 16 and 35. Two ancient British camps, and the Cateran's or Robber's hole, are here.

EEWLEW CASTLE, a hamlet in Bolton chapelry, Morland parish, Cumberland; 31 miles NW of Appleby. BEWLEY. See BEAULIEU. BEWORTHY. See BEAUCHEU.

BEWSBOROUGH, a hundred in the lathe of St. Angustine, Kent. It contains Buckland parish, and fourteen other parishes. Acres, 15,857. Pop. in 1851,

654. Houses, 680. BEWSY HALL, the seat of Lord Lilford, on Sankey

BENYSY FIALL, the season Lova Lancashire, canal, I mile NW of Warrington, Lancashire, BEXHILL, a village, a parish, a hundred, and a sub-district, in Sussex. The village stands on a risingdistrict, in Sussex. The village stands on a rising-ground, in the neighbourhood of the sea and of the South Coast railway, 5 miles WSW of Hastings. It has a sta-tion on the railway, a post-office under Hastings, and an inn; end a fair is held at it on 1 July. It contains some good houses; commands some chaly beate springs; enjoys a very salubrious air; is surrounded by charming environs, with fine extensive views; and has, for some time, been coming into favour as a watering-place.-The parish includes also the liberty of Sluie; and extends some distance on the shore. Acres, 8,514; of which 815 are water. Real property, £11,799. Pop., 2,084. Houses, 409. The property is subdivided. The sea is receding from the coast, and has left to view a sub-marine forest. Lignite is found. The living is a rec-tory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £989.* Patory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £989.* Patron, the Bishop of Chichester. The church has a Norman nave and an early English chancel; and is good. A subordinate church, St. Mark's, is a rectory and a sepasupportunities charge, of the value of £286, also in the patronage of the bishop. There are a Wesleyan chapel and two national schools.—The hundred is conterminate with the parish. The sub-district comprises four parishes, and is in Battle district. Pop., 4,512. Houses, 844.

BEXINGTON, a hamlet in Abbotsbury parish, Dorset; 14 mile W by S of Abbotsbury. It was anciently a distinct parish; and the ruin of its church still stands mear the shore.

EENLEY, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Dartford, Kent. The village stands on the Cray river, and on the Lee and Dartford railway, 3 miles We find the free and Dartiote rainway, 5 mines we follow the first telegraph, a post-office under Loudon SE, and a fair on 13 Sept.; and gave the title of Baron to the Vansittarts. The parish includes Lexley-Heath and three hamlets. Acres, 5,025. Real property, 225,284. Pop., 4,944. Houses, 1602. The property is reach subdivided. 1,002. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged, in the Saxon times, to the see of Canterbury; The manor was alleanted, by Crumer, to Henry VIII.; granted, by James I., to Sir John Spielman; sold by Spielman to Camden the antiquary; and bequeathed by Camden to Canaten the antiquary; and bequeathed by Canaden to University college, Gxford, for maintaining a professor-ship of history. The living is a vicange in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £502.* Patron, Viscount Sydney. The church is chiefly early Fuglish, with later windows. The vicange of Berley-Heeth and the p. curacy of Lamorbey are separate benefices. There are a national school, an infant school, alms-bouses with £100 a-year, and other charities £104.—The sub-district comprises tour purishes. Acres, 12,909. Pop., 13,026.

BEXLEY-HEATH, a village and a chapelry in Bexley parish, Kent. The village stands 13 mile NW of Bexley i. station; is modern, plea-ant, large, and rapidly in creasing; and has a post-office under I ondon SE, a market house, a police station, a church with lotty spire, three dissenting chapels, a public library and readingrooms. The chapelry was constituted in 1806. Pop.,

2,989. The living is a vicarage. Value, £160. Patron, Viscount Sydney.

BEXTON, a township in Knutsford parish, Cheshire;

Acres, 621. Real property,

£1,306. Pop., 66. Houses, 13.

BEXWELL, a parish in Downham district, Norfolk; mile E of Dewaham-Market r. station. Post-town. Downham. Acres, 1.177. Real property, £2,075. Pop., 94. Houses, 16. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £375.* Patron, the Bishop of Norwich. The church

E340. I attor, to be signed.

EEYNHURST, a hundred in Berks. It extends 7 miles along the Thames, below Henley; and contains Bisham, and four other parishes. Acres, 12,099. Pop., 2,407. House, 684.

BEYTON, or BEIGHTON, a parish in Stow district, Suffolk; 2 miles SSE of Thurston r. station, and 5 ESE Suifork; 2 miles NSE of Thurston r, station, and 5 ESE of Eury-St. Edmunds. It has a post-office under Bury-St. Edmunds. Acres, 625. Real property, £1,831. Pop., 360. Houses, 84. The property is suidivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Ely. Value, £175. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good. BEYWORTH, a suburb of Petworth, in Sussex. EIBRACTE. See BEAN.

BIBRIDGE, a hamlet in Kirkharle township and parish, Northumberland; 10 miles SE of Otterburn.

BIBURY, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Northleach, Glonecster. The village stands on the river Coine, near Icknield-street, 5½ miles S of Northleach, and 7½ NE of Cireneester r. station; and has a post-office under Swindon.—The parish includes also the tythings of Ablington and Arlington, and the Acts, 6,300. Rated property, £6,893. Pop., 1,050. Houses, 234. The property, £6,893. Pop., 1,050. Houses, 234. The property is divided among a few. Fibury House was built by the Sackyilles; is the seat of Lord Sherborne; and commands a fine view along the Colne. A very interesting old manor-house, built in 1590, and belonging to the family of Coxwell, is at Ablington. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Glonester and Bristol. Value, £1,023.* Patron, Lord Sherborne. The church belonged to the abbey of Osney; shows features of Saxon, Norman, early English, and decorated; and is in very good condition. There are a Baptist chapel, national and British schools, a police station, and charities £10 .- The sub-district a ponce station, and charities £10.—The sub-district comprises ten parishes and the greater part of Bibury parish. Acres, 31,198. Pop., 5,642. Houses, 1,147. BICESTER—popularly BISTER—a town, two townships, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Oxford. The town stands in a rather flat situation, on Akemanstreet, and on the Oxford and Bletchley railway, near tho ancient Alcester, 12 miles NNE of Oxford. It was called by the Saxons Burenceaster or Bernaceaster; was pro-bably built, in the time of Birinus, from the ruins of Alcester; and was a frontier garrison of the West Saxons Alcester; and was a frontier garrison of the west statous against the Mercians. An Augustinian priory, delicated to St. Edburgh, was founded at it, in 1132, by Gilbert Basset, baron of Hedingdon; and given, at the dissolution, to Charles, Duke of Suffolk. Both parties, in the civil war of the time of Charles I., inflicted damage on it; and the royalists, in 1643, were defeated in a skirit; and the royalists, in 1644, were detected in a skir-mish here. A fugment of the priory, now a dwelling-house, still exists; a spring called St. Edburgh's well, formerly held in high repute for medicinal virtue, is in the neighbourhood; and a path, called Edburg balk, a corruption of St. Elburgh's walk, leads from the priory to the well. Numerous ancient coins and other relies have been found. The town is neat; contains many rehave been found. The town is near; contains among cently rebuilt houses; and has, of lite years, been much extended by new streets and buildings. The parish church is spacious; was erected in 1409, on the site of the priory church; has a seemingly Saxon arch, early English and decorated have, and perpendicular tower; was recently restored and adorned, at a cost of £3,500; and has a brass and many tombs. There are three dissenting chapels, a cemetery of 1861, large national schools, a workhouse built at a cost of £4,640, and charities £217. A handsome county court-house was erected in 1864. The town has ahead post-office, in railway station, a banking-office, and two chief inns; is a seat of petty a contemponice, and two cinic inns; is a sear of petty sessions; and publishes two weekly newspapers. A weekly market is held on Friday; and fairs on Easter-Friday, the first Friday of June and of July, 5 Aug, the Friday before and the Friday after 11 Oct., and the search cond Friday after 11 Oct., and the Friday after 11 Dec.

cond rnday after 11 Oct., and the rnday after 11 Dec. Manufactures in clothing, sacking, and pale ale are carried on. Pop., 2,798. Houses, 620.

The two townships are called Bicester-Market-End and Bicester-Rings-End. B. Market-End contains most of the town, and includes Wretchwick hamlet. Acres, 1040. Per 2011 Hance 500. Period Control of the contr 1,040. Pop., 2,711. Houses, 593. B. Kings-End lies to the N; had formerly a market, which was removed to B.-Market-End; and contains Bicester House and the B. Market-End; and contains Bicester House and the site of Bigenhall. Acres, 1,540. Pop., 333. Houses, 64.—The parish consists of the two townships. Acres, 2,580. Real property, £10,498. Pop., 3,049. Houses, 657. The property is not much divided. The hunting establishment of T. T. Drake, Esq., the master of the Bicester hounds, is at Stratton-Audley, 2 miles N of the town. The living is a vicarege in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £270. Patrons, the Trustees of the late Sir G. P. Turner.—The sub-district contains the parishes of P. Turner.—The sub-district contains the parishes of Bicester, Stratton-Andley, Caversfield, Fringford, Newton-Purcell, Shelswell, Hethe, Cottesford, Tusmore, Hardwick, Stoke-Lyne, Launton, Merton, Ambrosden, Fiddington and Eoarstall, the last electorally in Bucks. Acres, 33,949. Pop., 8,115. Houses, 1,749. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Bietchington, containing the parishes of Bietchington, Ardley, Bucknell, Middleton-Stoney, Chesterton, Wendlebury, Weston, and the Green. Charlton-nuon Ortmor. Oddinaton. ton-on-the-Green, Chariton-upon-Otmoor, Oddington, Noke, Islip, Kirtlington, Lower Heyford, Upper Hcy-Noke, Islip, Kirtlington, Lower Heyford, Upper Heyford, Somerton, Fritwell, and Souldern. Acres, 64,127. Poor-rates in 1866, £9,440. Pop. in 1861, 15,555. Houses, 3,378. Marriages in 1866, 80; births, 562,—of which 40 were illegitiuate; deaths, 299,—of which 100 were at ages under 5 years, and 16 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 1,055; births, 5,371; deaths, 3,277. The places of worship in 1851 were 33 of the Church of England, with 7,655 strings, 96 Independents with 73°s 2, 26 Realists sittings; 9 of Independents, with 973 s.; 2 of Baptists, with 150 s.; 14 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,519 s.; with 150 s.; 14 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 11,518 s.; 2 of Primitive Methodists, with 110 s.; and one of Roman Catholics, with 170 s. The schools were 26 public day schools, with 1,073 scholars; 26 private day schools, with 534 s.; 52 Sunday schools, with 2,320 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 15 s. BICKENHALL, a parish in Taunton district, Somerset; near the Chard canat and the Chard and Taunton Stable.

railway, 5 miles SE of Taunton. Post-town, Staple-Fitzpaine, under Taunton. Acres, 1,004. Real property, £1,475. Pop., 229. Houses, 44. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory, united to the rectangle of the control of Science and the contro tory of Staple-Fitzpaine, in the diocese of Bath and Wells. The church is good.

BICKENHILL, a parish in Meriden district, Warwick; on the Northwestern railway and the Warwick canal, 2 miles NW of Hampton-Junction r. station, and 8 SE of Birmingham. 'It comprises Church, Middle, Lynden, and Marston quarters; and has a post-office under Lirmingham. Acres, 3,771. Real property, £6,674. Pop., 744. Houses, 170. The property is divided among n few. The living is a vicaraga in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £222.* Patron, the Earl of Aylesford. The church is old but good. There are a chapel of ease, a national school, and charities £6.

EICKER, a parish in Boston district, Lincoln; 11 mile SW of Swineshead r. station, and 8 WSW of Bos-It includes the hamlets of Frist and Gauntlet, and part of the tract of Copping-Syke; and has a post-office under Spalding. Acres, inclusive of the extra-parochial tract of Ferry-Corner, 3,720. Real property, £8,002. Pop., 832. Houses, 166. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £440. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln. The church was once cruciform; has a transition Norman nave, and a central tower; and contains a Norman font. There are two Methodist chapels, a free school, and charities £116.

BICKERSTAFFE, a township-chapelry and a subdistrict in the district of Ormskirk, Lancashire. The chapelry is in Ormskirk parish; lies on the Ormskirk and St. Helen's railway, near Blague-Gate station, 31 miles SE of Ormskirk; was constituted in 1843; and has and St. Recombility, was constituted in 1843; and nas a post-office under Ormskirk. Acres, 6,353. Real property, £10,733; of which £1,320 are in mines. Pop., 1,637. Houses, 289. The property is divided among a few. The township gives the title of Baron to the Earl of Derby. Many of the inhabitants are colliers. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Chester. Value, £150.* Patron, the Earl of Derby. The church is good. The sub-district includes also two other townships and two other parishes. Acres, 11,335. Pop., 2,826. Houses, 485. BICKERSTONE. See BIXTON.

BIGLERSTON. E See BIXTON.
BIGLERSTON, a township and a chapelry in Malpas parish, Cheshire. The township lies 4 miles S of Beeston r. station, and 5 NE of Malpas; and has a post-office under Whitchurch. Acres, 1,755. Real property, £2,062. Pop., 379. Houses, 82. Bickerton hill commands a fine view, and has yielded some Roman coins. The chapelry is more extensive than the township; and was constituted in 1842. Pop. 1.387. Houses, 275. ano caspery is more extensive than the township; and was constituted in 1843. Pop., 1,357. Houses, 276. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Chester. Value, £120.* Patrons, the Rectors of Malpas.

BICKERTON, a township in Rothbury parish, North-

BICKERTON, a township in Rothbury parish, North-numberland; adjacent to the river Coquet, 4½ miles WSW of Rothbury. Acres, 505. Pop., 22. Houses, 4. BICKERTON, a township in Bilton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 3½ miles NE by E of Wetherby. Acres, 1,080. Real property, £1,405. Pop.,149. Houses, 30. BICKFORD, a village in Penkridge township and parish, Stafford.

BICKINGTON, a parish in Newton-Abhot district, Devon; on the Lemon rivulet, 31 miles NE of Ashburton, and 4 W of Newton-Junction r. station. It has a ton, and 4 W of Newton-Junction r. station. It has a post-office under Newton-Abbot. Acres, 1,375. Real property, £1,876. Pop., 294. Houses, 60. The surface abounds with large limestone rocks. There is a large serge manufactory. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £220. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Exeter. The church is an old edifice, with square tower; and there is a small Wesleyan chapet.
BICKINGTON-ABBOTS. Sce Abbots-BICKINGTON.

BICKINGTON (HIGH), a parish and a sub-district in Torrington district, Devon. The parish lies on the river Taw, and on the North Devon railway, 2 miles NW of the Portsmouth Arms r. station, and 73 E of Torrington. Post-town, Atherington, under Barnstaple. Acres, 4,194. Real property, £3,334. Pop., 738. Houses, 150. The property is subdivided. The manor belongs 150. The property is subdivided. The manor octomes to A. D. Bassett, Esq. A weekly market was held for some time prior to 1725. The parish is a resort of sportsmen. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £475. Patron, the Rev. S. Palmer. The church is an ancient edifice of nave, chancel, north aisle, and south transept. There are chapels for Baptists and Bible Christians, and charities £12 .- The subdistrict comprises five parishes. Acres, 17,455. Pop., Houses, 574. 2,937.

BICKLEIGH, a parish in Tiverton district, Devon; on the river Exe, 4 miles S of Tiverton r. station. Postrown, Tiverton. Acres, 1,835. Real property, £2,141. Pop., 254. Houses, 55. The property is divided among three. The manor belonged anciently to the Bickleighs, and passed to the Courteneys, and then to the Carews. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £420 * Patron, Sir W. P. Carew. The clurch is a neat structure of nave, south aisle, chancel, and western tower; and contains some handsome monuments of the Carews. Charities, £28. Bamfylde Moore Carew, born in 1690, Charities, 228. Earnivide Moore Carew, boin in 1620, the son of a rector of the parish, and popularly known as "King of the Beggars," was a native.

BICKLEIGH, a parish in Plympton-St. Mary district, Devon; on the Cat water, and on the South Devon and Tavistock railway, near Dartmoor forest, 6 niles NNE of Plymouth. It has a station on the railway:

and its post-town is Tamerton, under Plymouth. Acres, 2,323. Real property, £2,070. Pop., 402. Houses, 73. The property is all in one estate. Very beautiful and are property is an in one estate. Very beautiful and romaitie scenery lies along the Cat water. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Sheepstor, in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £253. Patron, Sir M. Lores, Bart. The church, excepting the tower, was rebuilt in 1839; and it contains the tomb of Sir Nicholas Shanita shaded the form the comb of Sir Nicholas. Slanning, whose death forms the catastrophe of Mrs. Bray's novel of "Fitz of Fitzford."

Bray's novel of "Fitz of Fitzoro".

BICKLEY, a township in Malpas parish, Cheshire;
near Cholmondeley Castle, 3\footnote{1} miles NE of Malpas,
Acres. 2,005. Real property, 22,790. Pop., 397.
Houses, 73. About a quarter of an acre of the surface, covered with trees, sank suddenly with a thundering noise, on 18 June 1657, into a deep subterranean flood long since dried up, leaving a chasm, called the Barrel Fall. Two metal tablets, inscribed with a decree of the Emperor Trajan, were found in 1812, and conveyed to the British museum. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

the BICKLEY, a chapelry, with a r. station, in Bromley parish, Kent; 14 mile E of Bromley. Pop., 473. Living, a vicarage. The church was built in 1865, at a cost ing, a vicarage. The church was built in 1865, at a cost of 210,000. There are many fine villas.

BICKMARSH AND LITTLE DORSINGTON, a hamlet in Welford parish, Warwick; on Icknield-street, 6 miles SSE of Alcester. Acres, 1,340. Real property, £1,256. Pop., 50. Houses, 11.
BICKNACRE, a hamlet in Woodbam-Ferris and Danbury parishes, Essex; 51 miles SE of Chelmsford. Real property, £957. Pop., 304. A priory of black canons was founded here, in the time of Henry III., by Maurice Jeffery; and a portion of it, with arches, still stands.

BICKNOLLER, a parish in Williton district, Somerset; adjacent to the Watchet and Taunton railway, near set; adjacent to the Watenet and launton ranway, men Williton station, 4 miles Es of Watenet. It has a post-office under Taunton. Acres, 1,390. Real property, 22,614. Pop., 345. Houses, 67. The property is divided among a few. The surface includes part of the Quantock hills, and contains points which command ex-tensive views. Two Roman camps, called Trendle's and Turk's castles, and a beacon, are near the church; and very many Roman coins and other relics have been found. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £124. Patron, the Vicar of Stogumber. The church is good.

church is good.

BICKNOR,—anciently BYKENOBR—a parish in Hollingbourn district, Kent; 34 miles SSW of Sittingbourner, station, and 7 ENE of Maidstone. Post-town, Stockburr, under Sittingbourne. Acres, 631. Real property, 2553. Pop., 53. Houses, 8. The property is divided. Bircknor Place is the seat of T. Whitehead, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, the Land Chapsellar. The church is living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £115. Petron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is small, and very early Norman.

BICKNOR (ENGLISH), a parish in the district of Monmouth and county of Gloucester; on the verge of the country of two tweets on the verge of the country, at the river Wve, 3g miles N of Coleford, and 6g SW of Mitcheldean Road r. station. It includes two places, called Mailscot and New Weir, formerly extra-parochial; and its post-town is Coleford. Acres, 2.377. Real property, £3,250. Pop., 592. Houses, 125. The property is divided among a few. Bicknor Court, the seat of Col. Woosnam, stands on a cliff overhanging the Wye, and commands a fine view. Much of the land is disposed in cyder-orchards and in meadows. Coal, ironstone, and limestone are worked. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £500.* Patron, Queen's College, Oxford. The church stands within the losse of an ancient fortification; and is good. Charities, £5.

EICKNOR (WELSH), a parish in the district of Monmonth and county of Hereford; within a loop of the river Wye, opposite English Bicknor, 4; miles S by W of Ross r. station. Post-town, Goodrich, under Ross. Acres. 8,502. Real property, £1,572. Pop., 80. Houses, 18. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory in the diorese of Herford. Value, £163.* Patron, Rev. F. Aldrich-Blake. The church was rebuilt in

A recumbent stone figure in the previous church is said to have been monumental of the Countess of Salisbury, who nursed Henry V. at Courtfield, a man-sion about half a mile off.

BICKTON, a tythiog in Fordingbridge parish, Hants; 51 miles N of Ringwood. Real property, £1,097. Pop.,

231.

BICTON, a parish in St. Thomas district, Devon; on the river Otter, near the coast, 4 miles WSW of Sidmouth, and 7½ S by E of Whimple r. station. It includes the hamlet of Yettington; and its post-town is Bulleigh-Salterton, under Exeter, Acres, 1,294. Real preperty, £2,114. Pop., 166. Houses, 34. The property all belongs to the Hon. Mark Rolle, son of Lord Clinton. The manor was given by William the Con-Clinton. The manor was given by William the Con-queror to W. Porto; went through various families to Sir Robert Dennys; and passed, by marriage, to Sir Henry Rolle, the ancestor of Lord Rolle. Bicton House, the family seat, is an elegant mansion, in one of the finest parks in England. The gardens were noted by the late Mr. Loudon as among the best he had ever seen; an arboretum in the park is one of the choicest and largest in the kingdom; and there is a noble avenue of auracaria, oak, and beech. The jail for the county was provided in terms of the tenure of the estate; and stood in the parish till 1518. The living is a rectory in the dis-cess of Exeter. Value, 2220. Patrons, the Heirs of Lord Rolle. The church is a handsome edifice, recently

Lord Rolle. The church is a handsome edifice, recently erected by Lady Rolle. The previous church was a curious old structure; and part of it is now a mansoleum, connected by a cloister with the ancient tower. BICTON, a chapelry in St. Chad and St. Alkmond parishes, Salon; on the river Severn, and on Watlingstreet, near the Shrewsbury and Oswestry railway, 3 miles NW by W of Shrewsbury. It was constituted in 1853; and it has a post-office, of the name of Bicton-Heath, under Shrewsbury. Rated property, 24,650. Pop., 569. Houses, 128. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, 2149. Patron, the Vicar of St. Chad. The church is good.

BICTON, a township and a parochial division in Clap

BICTON, a township and a parochial division in Class BICHON, a township and a parochail division in Claparish, Salop. The township lies 4½ miles SSW of Dishops-Castle. The parochial division bears also the name of Ediclift; and comprises the townships of Eicton, Ediclift, Whitcott-Keyset, and Shadwell.

BIDACOTT, a hamlet in Chittlehampton parish, Deven; 1 a mile from Chittlehampton.

ven; ½ a nile from Chittlehampton.

BIDBOROUGH, a parish in Tunbridge district,
Kent; adjacent to the Southeastern railway, 2½ miles NW by N of Tunbridge-Wells. Post-town, TunbridgeWells. Acres, 1,299. Real property, £1,621. Pop., 210. Houses, 46. The property is divided among a few. There are some mineral springs. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £227.*
Patron, Mrs. Deacon. The church has a Norman porch, and is in good condition. Charities £23. and is in good condition. Charities, £23,

BIDCOMBE, BRINSDON, or COLD-KITCHEN HILL, an eminence of much beauty, with a solitary peak, on the west border of Wilts; 41 miles SW of Warminster. 1t has many turnuli, entrenchments, and other memorals of the ancient inhabitants; is the subject of a poem in imitation of Denham's "Cooper's Hill;" and commands a magnificent view over Wilts and Dorset, and away to the Welsh mountains.

the Welsh mountains.

BIDDENDEN, a village and a parish in Tenterden district, Kent. The village stands 4 miles S of Head-corn r. station, and 54 NE of Cranbrook; and has a post-office under Staplehurst, and fairs on 6 April and S Nov. The parish comprises 7,208 acres. Real property, £6,933. Pop., 1,412. Houses, 281. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged, in the time of Edward III to Sir Walter Manney and passed perty is finited southvisted. The manor belonged, in the time of Edward III., to Sir Walter Manney; and passed to the Hendens. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Canterbury. Value, £426.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church has features from early English to late perpendicular; and was restored in 1857. National schools have £20 a-year from an old endowment; a curious charity, furnishing a distribution of stamped cakes to all comers on Easter Sunday, has £30; and other charities have above £70.

BIDDENHAM, a parish in the district and county of Bedford; on the river Ouse, 2 miles W of Bedford r. station. It has a post-office under Bedford. Acres, 1,760. Real property, 22,752. Pop., 350. Houses, 71. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £100.* Patron, Lord Dynevor. The church is Norman, in good condition.

BIDDESCOTE. See BITTERSCOTE. BIDDESHAM. See BIDDISHAM.

BIDDESHAM. See Biddlesham.
BIDDESTONE, or Biddlesham. a parish—formerly two parishes, St. Peter and St. Nicholas—in Chippenham district, Wilts; 3 miles N by W of Corsham r. station, and 4 W of Chippenham. Post-town, Chippenham. Acres of B. St. Peter, 127; of B. St. Nicholas, returned with Slaughterford. Real property of both, £3,226. Pop. of B. St. P., 34. Houses, 5. Pop, of B. St. N., 407. Houses, 89. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory, united with the vicarage of Slaughterford, in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £102. Patron, Winchester College. The church of St. Peter was perpendicular English, but has been taken down. The church of St. Nicholas is Norman, has a picturesque bell-turret, and was well repaired in has a picturesque bell-turret, and was well repaired in 1850. There is a Baptist chapel. Edmund Smith, the There is a baptist chapel. Edmund Smith, the translator of Longinus, and author of the tragedy of Phædra and Hippolytus, died in the parish; and his tomb is in St. Nicolas church.

BIDDICK (NOFTH), a hamlet in Washington and Whitburn parishes, Durham; 4½ miles SSE cf Gateshead.

Pop., 371.
BIDDICK (South), a township in Houghton-le-Spring parish, Durham; on the Durham Junction railway, 6 miles WSW of Sunderland. Acres, 343. Pop.,

48. Houses, 11.

BIDDISHAM, a parish in Axbridge district, Somerset; on the river Axe, 3 miles W by S of Axbridge, and 5 SE of Weston-super-Mare Junction r. station. Post-town, Axbridge, under Weston-super-Mare. Acres, 574. Real property, £1,740. Pop., 147. Houses, 29. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £152.* Pain the diocese of Bath and Wella. Value, £102." ratron, the Bishop of London. The church is tolerable.

BIDDLESDON, or BITTLESDON, a village and a parish in the district of Brackley, and county of Bucks. The village stands on the verge of the county, 3½ miles NE of Brackley r. station. It was formerly a markettown, but is now a small secluded place. The parish comprises 1,630 acres; and its post-town is Brackley. Real property, £2,718. Pop., 169. Houses, 29. The property is divided emong a few. Biddlesdon House is the seat of G. Morgan, Esq. The manor was held some time by William the Conqueror; passed to Robert de Mappershall, and then to Ernald de Bosco; was given by the latter to the Cistertian Monks of Gerndon, for founding an abbey on it; and went at the dissolution, to Thomas, Lord Wriothesley. Considerable remains of the abbey stood about the year 1700, but have all disappeared. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £69. Patron, G. Morgan, Esq. The church is a modern edifice adjoining Biddlesdon House.

BIDDLESFORD, a hamlet in Arreton parish, Isle of Wight; 2 miles SE of Newport.

BIDDLESTONE, a township in Alwinton parish, BIDDLESTONE, a township in Alwhion partsa, Northinwheiland; in the basin of the Coquet river, under the Southeastern Cheviots, 7½ miles NW of Rothbury. Pop., 198. Houses, 33. The manor belonged anciently to the Vissards; but was given by Edward I. to Sir W. de Selby; and belongs still to his descendants. James I., when on his way to London, in 1603, was entertained here, and knighted five of the Selbys. Here is a Roman Catholic chapel.

BIDDULPH, a parish in the district of Congleton and county of Stafford; on the Stoke and Congleton railand county of Statord; on the Stoke and Congleton Fall-way, around Gillow-Heath statioo, 3 miles SSE of Congleton. It consists of the four hamlets of Over-Biddulph or Overton, Nether-Biddulph, Middle-Biddulph, and Knypersley; and its post-town is Congleton.

Acres, 5,635. Real property, £14,514; of which £4,622 are in mines. Pop., 3,463. Houses, 692. The property is much subdivided. Biddulph Hall, a picturesque Tudor edifice, was anciently the scat of the Biddulph family; but is now mainly a ruin, and partly a farmhouse. Knypersley Hall is the seat of J. Bateman, House. Knypersley Hall is the sear of the land is largely moorish and hilly; and a peak Esq. The land is largely moorish and hill the Esq. The land is largery moorish and may; and a peak of it, called Mow Cop, 1,091 feet high, commands fine prospects, even to the Mersey. A tract, called Biddulph Moor, is inhabited by a sort of gipsey tribe, a people of peculiar habits, said to have descended from a Saracen, who came to England in the train of a Crusaland Collimation and Company of the control of der. Coal, ironstone, and limestone are extensively worked; and several kinds of manufacture are carried on. Remains of a Druidical temple, known as the Bride Stones, and of three curious artificial caves, are on the Norder. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Knypersley, in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £122. Patron, J. Bateman, Esq. The parish church is a substantial edifice, with a tower; and Knypersley church is a structure of 1349, in the early English style. Another church, in the Norman style, was built, in 1863, at Biddulph Moor; and forms a separate charge.

are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £22. BIDEFORD, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Devon. The town stands on the river Torridge, 5 miles above its influx to the sea, and at the terminus of the Bideford extension of the North Devon railway, 9 miles SW of Barnstaple, and 42 miles by road but 43½ by railway NW by W of Exeter. Its site is chiefly a hill-side on the left bank of the river, amid pleasant environs; and commands delightful views of the river's vale. The place was given, soon after the Conquest, to Richard de Granville, a Norman knight; remained with his descendants till 1750; and was then of Bath, to J. Cleveland, Esq. of Tapley. It gave the title of Baron, in the time of Queen Anne, to Lord Lansdown. Forts were erected at it, on both sides of the river, by the parliamentarians, in the civil war; but they were taken for the king by Colonel Digby, in 1643; and one of them, called Chudleigh fort, a small battle-mented structure, is still standing. The plague raged here in 1646 and 1680; and three aged female inhabitants were put to death on a charge of witchcraft, in and were put to death on a charge of whetherm, in 1632. The French privateers, in the time of Queen Anne, captured so many valuable vessels, engaged in the town's commerce, in their crossing the bay off the river's mouth, that they called it the Golden bay. The streets are wide and airy; some new good houses have taken the whole of all wear news and there are a whole whomion place of old mean ones; and there are a noble mansion and a series of rillas in the outskirts. A bridge of 24 arches and 677 feet long, erected in the early part of the 14th century, forms the approach on the NE; was widened in 1863-5, at a cost of about £4,000; and is a favourite promenade. The town-hall is an ornamental edifice of 1850, and serves for courts, town-business, and concerts. The parish church was recently rebuilt; super-seded on early English structure; and is large and handsome. The Independent chapel was rebuilt in 1859, and is a very fine edifice. The Wesleyan chapel is large, and was much improved in 1865. There are also chapels for Baptists and Bible Christians, a free grammar and other public schools, a working-men's club established in 1864, a dispensary, alms-houses, and a workhouse,—the last built in 1836, at a cost of £3,645. The charities amount yearly to £577; but include £435 for keeping the bridge in repair. The quay adjoins the bridge; is upwards of 1,200 feet long; admits vessels of 500 tons at high water; and forms an agreeable walk. The Bideford extension and forms an agreeane war. The below extended the railway joins the North Devon at Fremington Pill, is 6 miles long, and was opened in 1855; and a line from it o Appledore and Westward Ho, 4 miles long, vas authorised in 1866. The town has a head post-office; a railway station with telegraph, two banking-offices, two chief inns, two weekly markets, and two annual fairs; publishes a weekly newspaper; and is a seat of sessions and a polling-place. Ship-building, sail-making, rope-mak-ing, and pottery-work are carried on; and a large saw-mill

The port is a bonding one, was erected in 1865. and formerly had a large foreign commerce; but is now engaged chiefly in the coasting-trade. The vessels and formerly had a large foreign commerce; but is now engaged chiefly in the consting-trade. The vessels belonging to it, at the beginning of 1863, were 56 small ones, of aggregately 1,554 tons, and 75 larger ones, of aggregately 9,104 tons. The vessels entering construe, in 1867, counting repeated voyages, were 710 sailing-vessels, of aggregately 29,878 tons, and 99 steam-vessels, of aggregately 7,230 tons; clearing construes, 100 sailing-vessels, of aggregately 6,715 tons, and 99 steam-vessels, of aggregately 7,230 tons; entering from the British colonies, 6 vessels of aggregately 1,530 tons; entering from foreign countries. 1,850 tons; entering from foreign countries, gately 1,550 tons; entering from foreign confirming or vessels, of aggregately 2,493 tons; clearing for the British colonies, only 1 vessel, of no more than 53 tons; and clearing for foreign countries, 2 vessels, of jointly 807 tons. The customs in 1867 amounted to £3,147. The chief expects are oak-bark, corn, earthenware, tiles, sailcloth, corriage, and lineus; and the chief imports, timber, coal, and lime. A steamer sails regularly to Il-fracombe. Lynmouth, and Bristol. The town sent memfracombe, Lymnouth, and Bristol. The town sent members to parliament in the times of Edward I. and II., but not since; was incorporated by Queen Elizabeth; and is now governed by a mayor, four aldermen, and 12 coun-cillors. Sir P. Greaville, the naval hero, Dr. John Shebbeare, author of the "Adventures of a Guinea," and Abraham and Benjamin Donne, the mathematicians, were natives; Strange, the philanthropist, died here of the plague in 1646; and Hervey, the author of "Meditations," was fix sense time curate, and wrote here part of

The parish is conterminate with the borough. The parish is conferminate with the borough. Acres, 2,10-5. Real property, 2f18,170. Pop. in 1841, 5,211; in 1-64, 5,742. Houses, 1,188. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £633.* Patron, Sir G. S. Stuley, Ext.—The sub-district includes also the parish of Landross. Acres, 3,527. Pop., 5,871. Houses, 1,209.—The district comprehends likewise the sub-district of Northam, containing the parishes of Northam, containing the parishes of Parkham, containing the parishes of Parkham, Monkleigh, Buckland Exec., and Alayington, the sub-district of Realton aiming the parishes of tracham, anothering, but the land Erewer, and Alvaington; the sub-district of Bradworthy, containing the parishes of Bradworthy, West Putfori, East Putford, Bulkworthy, and Newton St. Petrock; and the sub-district of Hartland, containing the parishes of Hartland, Welcombe, Clovelly, and une parisues of Hartiand, Welcombe, Clovelly, and Woo.indisorative and the extra-parochial tract of Lundy Island. Acres, 73,450. Poor-rates in 1866, £9,806. Pop. in 1861, 17.790. Houses, 3,702. Marriages in 1866, 51; births, 607,—of which 46 were illegitimate; deaths, 329,—of which 87 were at ages under 5 years, End 25 at 25% above 55 years. Marriages in the state of and 25 at 25s above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-90, 1,375; births, 5,620; deaths, 3,553. The places of worship in 1851 were 22 of the Church of England, with 6,993 sirtings; 5 of Independents, with 1,235 s.; 5 of Baptists, with 1,150 s.; 18 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,364 s.; 15 of Bible Christians, with 1,655 s; and 1 undefined, with 200 s. The schools were 18 public day schools, with 1,709 scholars; 47 private day schools, with 952 s.; and 45 Sunday schools, with 3,550 s.

BIDFIELD, a tything in Bisley parish, Gloucester;

31 miles E of Stroud.

BIDFORD, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Alcester, Warwick. The village stands on the river Avon, 33 miles SSE of Alcester r. station, and 7 WSW of Stratford-on-Avon; and has a post-office under Bromsgrova. It was once a market town; and it consists chiefly of one long street. One of the houses in it was the old Falcon inn, traditionally said to have been a haunt of Shakspeare, for drinking ale and playing at shorel-board. An absurd story is current that the poet and some of his companions engaged here in a drinking contest with a party of the natives; that he and his comparions lay down after it under a crab-tree in the neigh-boarhood, and slept there from Saturday evening till Mouday morning; and that, being urged on awakening to go back and renew the contest, he exclaimed, "No, I have had enough; I have drinked with

" 'Piping Pehworth, dancing Marston, Haunted Hillbro', hungry Grafton, Dudging Exhall, papish Wicksford, Beggarly Broom, and drunken Bidford."

The parish includes also the hamlets of Barton, Broom, and Marichiff. Acres, 3,240. Real property, £5,267. Pop., 1,555. Houses, 370. The manor was held by William the Conqueror; was given, by the Enpress Maud, to the monks of Eardsley; and passed to the Clarkes, the Danets, and the Skipwiths. Eidford Grango House was a picturesque old edifice, with unequal gables. The scenery, over much of the surface, is richly beautiful; and has fine spots on "the smooth-flowing Avon." flagstone is quarried. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £213. Patron, the Rev. T. The living is a vicarage in the uncess of Worcester. Value, £213. Patron, the Rev. T. Boultbee. The church was mainly rebuilt in 1835; and is in the Norman style, with a tower. There are two Methodist chapels, a working men's institute, a national school, and charities £107.—The sub-district comprises four parishes. Acres, 9,230. Pop., 2,749. Houses, 643. BIDSTON. See BINDESTONE.

173

BIDSTONE. a township and a parish in Wirrall district, Cheshire. The township lies on the Hoylako railway, 3 miles WNW of Birkenhead; and has a railway station. Acres, 1,689. Real property, £3,062. Pop., 282. Houses, 48.—The parish includes also the townships of Moreton-cum-Lingham, Claughton-cum-Grange, and Sanghall-Massey or Sanghan-Massie; and its post-town is Birkenhead. Acres, 4,243. Real property, £20,130. Pop., 2,154. Houses, 323. The property is subdivided. Bidstone Hill commands a fine view of the surrounding country, the Mersey, and the Irish sea. A lighthouse, 50 feet high, stands on the hill, showing a fixed light, elevated 300 feet above high-water, visible at the distance of 23 miles, and leading, when in line with Leasowe light, through the Horse channel at the Mersey's mouth; and a telegraph was adjacent, communicating eastward with Liverpool, and westward, through a chain, with Holyhead. Water-works for Birkenhead, and a cemetery with two chapels, were being formed in Bid-stone in 1862. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, 498. Patron, the Bishop of Chester. The church is excellent. Claughton and Moreton are separate benefices. A school has an endowed income of £15, and other charities £5.

BIELBY, or Bealey, a township in Hayton parish, E. R. Yorkshire; on the Pocklington canal, 3½ miles 8 by W of Pocklington. Acres, 1,220. Real property, £1,944. Pop., 268. Houses, 50. It forms a curacy united to the vicarage of Hayton.

BIERLEY, a chapetry in North Bierley township, Bradford parish, W. R. Yorkshire. Pop. in 1851, about 3,000. Post-town, Bradford. The living is a vicange in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £130. Patron, Mr.

in the diocese of ripon. Walle, 2150. Tatron, Mr. Wilson. The church is good. See Bielley (North). BIERLEY (EAST), a hamlet in Hunsworth township, Bradford parish, W. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the Leeds and Halifax railway, 8 miles SE by S of Bradford. BIERLEY-LANE. See BIERLEY (North).

EIERLEY (NORTH), a township in Bradford parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the Lancashire and Yorkshire railway, 2 miles SE of Bradford. It includes the village of Wibsey, the hamlets of Bierley-Lane, Carr-Lane, Hill-top, Odsall-Moor, Woodhonse-Hill, and Folly-Hall, and top, odsalf-Moor, woodnoise-fill, and rolly-fill, and the populous districts of Low-Moor and Slack. Acres, 3,000. Real property, £35,139; of which £1,137 are in mines, and £13,384 in iron-works. Pop. in 1841, 9,512; in 1861, 12,500. Houses, 2,663. There are numerous good residences, three churches, five dissenting chapels, and three national schools.

and three national schools.

BIERTON-WITH-BROUGHTON, a parish in Ayles bury district, Bucks; on the Aylesbury railway, near the Aylesbury canal, 11 mile NE of Aylesbury. It has a post-office, of the name of Bierton, under Aylesbury.
Acces, 2,470. Real property, £5,312. Pop., 691. Houses, 140. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Quarrendon, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £310. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln. The church is a structure of the 12th century, with tower and spire; was recently well repaired; and contains a piscina, and a curious monument of 1616 to Samuel Pope and his thirteen children. There are chapels for Baptists and Mcthodists, a national school, and charities £40.

BIESTON, a township in Wrexham parish, Denbigh; near Wrexham. Acres, with Gourton, 844. Pop., 104.

Houses, 22. BIGA (THE), a streamlet of Montgomery. It rises on the NE side of Plinlimmon; and runs 5 miles eastward the NE side of Philimmon; and runs 5 miles easiward to the Clewydog at Aher-Biga.

BIGBURY, a village, a parish, and a bay in Kingsbridge district, Devon. The village stands on the right side of the river Avon, 1½ mile from the bay, 3½ S of Molbury, and 8 S of Ivybridge r. station. The parish includes also the hamlet of St. Ann's Chapel; and its includes also the namet of St. Ann's Chapel; and its post-town is Modbury, under Ivybridge. Acres, 3,167; of which 265 are water. Real property, £3,758. Pop., 497. Houses, 103. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £658. Patron, — Livingston, Esq. The church is perpendicular English, with tower and spire; and is good. There are chapels for Baptists and Bible Christians.—The bay extends from Bolt-Tail to Stoke-Point: measures 71 miles across the entrance, and 33 thence to the head; receives the rivers Avon and Ferme; is beset with rocks, and very dangerous in navigation; has several coves in its coast; and presents a variety of picturesque

BIGBY, a parish in Caistor district, January, 22 SSE of Barnethy r. station, and 4 E of Glanford-Brigg. It includes the hamlets of Kettleby and Kettleby-Thorp; Acres, 3,440. Real and has a post-office under Brigg. Acres, 3,440. Real property, £4,916. Pop., 249. Houses, 44. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £703. Patron, V. D. Elwes, Esq. The church is early English, in good condition. There is a free school. Roman coins and condition. There is a free school. Roman coins and fragments of a Roman pavement have been found. BIGGAR, a hamlet in Walney chapelry, Dalton-in-Furness parish, Lancashire.

BIGGEN (NEW), a township in Shotley parish, Northumberland; at the verge of the county, on the river Derweat, 8 miles SE of Corbridge. Pop., 56.

BIGGES QUARTER, or CARLISLES QUARTER, a township in Long Horsley parish, Northumberland; 6 miles NW by N of Morpeth. Acres, 2,869. Pop., 259. Houses, 58.

BIGGIN, a township and a chapelry in Ashberne dis-ict, Derby. The township is in Wirksworth parish; and lies near the Cromford and High Park railway, 71 and lies near the Cromford and High Park railway, 72 station. Acres, 595. Real and the near the Cromord and High late railway, 12 miles SW of Bakewell r. station. Acres, 595. Real property, £1,153. Pop., 133. Houses, 28. The chapelry was constituted in 1848. Post-town, Ashhorne. Pop., 399. Houses, 84. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Lichfield, Value £40.* Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. The church is modern. There are two Primitive Methodist chapels and a national school.

BIGGIN, a township in Kirk-Fenton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; near the North Midland railway, 64 miles WNW of Selhy. Acres, together with Little Fenton, 2,250. Pop., 142. Houses, 28. Teasel, for the use of fullers, was first cultivated here.

BIGGIN, a hamlet in Oundle parish, Northampton; 2 miles WNW of Oundle.

BIGGIN, Warwick. See Newton and Biggin. BIGGIN (Low), a hamlet in Kirkby-Lonsdale township and parish, Westmoreland; 2 miles NW of Kirkby-

BIGGLESWADE, a town, a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a hundred, in Beds. The town stands in a fertile valley on the right bank of the river Ivel, adjaent to the Great Northern railway, 104 miles ESE of Bedford, and 41 NNW of London. It was anciently called Bykleswade. It suffered destruction of 150 houses by fire in 1785; and it now contains many neat modern houses. The town-hall is recent and handsome. The county court-house also is recent. The parish church is early English, with late chancel; was originally collegiate; and contains some very interesting brasses. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, and Methodists; a free school, with endowed income of £51; other charities, with £154; and a workhouse, erected at the cost of £4,850. The town has a head post-office, tarailway station with telegraph, a banking-office, and three chief inns; and is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place. A weekly market is held on Wednesday; and fairs on 14 Feb., Easter-Saturday, Whit-Monday, 2 Aug., and 8 Nov. A good trade exists in corn, timber, and coals, and is aided by the Ivel being navigable hence to the Ouse; and the manufacture of thread-lace and straw-plait in certificate. is carried on. Some Roman relics, several armour-clad human skeletons, and about 300 gold coins of Henry VI. have been found in the neighbourhood. The cnvirons are pleasant, and contain some handsome villas and nansions. Pop. of the town, 4,027. Houses, 838. The parish includes also the hamlets of Holme and Stratmansions.

ton. Acres, 4,310. Real property, £14,741. Pop., 4,631. Houses, 920. The property is not much divided. Stratton Park, about a mile SE of the town, the Cottonian Library was preserved, after being removed from Connington, in the time of the civil war. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £347.* Patron, the Bishop of Ely.—The sub-district contains the parishes of Eiggleswade, Edworth, Astwick, Stotfold, Arlrishes of Biggleswade, Edworth, Astwick, Stotfold, Arisey, Henlow Clifton, Langford, Warden, Southill, Campton, Meppershall, and Upper Stondon, and the extra-parochial tracts of Chicksands Priory and Shefford-Hardwick. Acres, 31,916. Pop., 16,113. Houses, 3,102.—The district includes also the sub-district of Potton, Containing the parishes of Potton, Confangle (Blunham, Northill, Sandy, Everton, Cockayne-Hatley, Wrestlingworth, Sutton, Eyworth, and Dunton. Acres of the district, 53,041. Poor-rates in 1866, £16,506. Pop. in 1861, 25,393. Houses, 5,021. Marriages in 1866, 180; births, 990,—of which 90 were illegitimate; deaths, 641,—of which 231 were at ages under 5 years, and 10 at ages above $5 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,694; births, 9,007; dethis, 5,234. The places of worship in 1851 were 24 of the Church of The places of worship in 1851 were 24 of the Church of England, with $,674 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 506 s.; 10 of Baptists, with 3,504 s.; 11 of Wesleyan Methodiats, with 2,565 s.; 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 110 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 140 s.; 1 of With 110 s.; 1 of Lacter Day Saints, with 110 s.; 1 of Roman Catholics, with 21 s.; and 2 undefined, with 250 s. The schools were 23 public day schools, with 1,753 scholars; 23 private day schools, with 448 s.; 34 Sunday schools, with 3,529 s.; and 6 evening schools for adults, with 168 s.—The hundred contains only thirteen parishes and part of another. Acres, 27,672. Pop. Houses, 2,488. 12,371.

12,3/1. Houses, 2,400.

BIGHTON, a parish in Alresford district, Hants; 2 miles NE of Alresford r. station, and 7½ SW of Alton. Difficult of Alresford r. station, and 74 SW of Auton. It has a post-office under Alresford. Acres, 2,694. Real property, £2,404. Pop., 299. Houses, 65. The property is all in one estate. Remains of a Romon villa have been found at Bighton-Woodshot in the NW. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £310.* Patron, the Rev. J. T. Maine. The church is Norman, small, and good.

BIGLANDS AND GAMBLESBY, a township in Aikton parish, Cumberland; on the river Wampool, 3 miles N of Wigton. Pop., 205. Houses, 42. Here is a mineral spring

BIGNALL-END, a township in Audley parish, Stafford; 3 miles WSW of Kidsgrove r. station, and 4 NW ford; 3 miles WSW of Madsgrove r. station, and a not of Newcastle-under-Lyne. Real property, £2,303; of which £800 are in mines. Pop., 737. Houses, 152. BIGNOR, a parish in Chichester district, Sussex; 44 miles SW of Pulhorough r. station, and 44 S by E of Petworth. It includes the detached hamlet of Buddington, surrounded by the parish of Lasebourne; and its post-town is Bury, under Petworth. Acres, 1,145. Real property, £1,458. Pop., 167. Houses, 33. The property is divided among a few. Bignor Fark is the seat of J. H. Hawkins, Esq.; contains some interesting antiquities and works of art; and commands striking views of the Weald and the South Downs. It was leng annexed to Arundel Castle, and once the property of Nicholas Turher, Esq.; and, in the latter connection, was the residence of Mrs. Charlotte Smith, author of the "Old Manor-House," and Mrs. Dorset, author of the "Peacock Manor-House," and Mrs. Dorset, author of the "Peacock at Home." Three very fine tesselated pavements, believed to have belonged to three apartments of a Roman villa, were discovered, in 1811, in Oldbury hill; and the villa is thought to have stood at the "Ad decimum," or station of the tenth milestone on the Roman road from Chichester. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, ±143. Patron, Lord Leconfield. The church is early English; and has long lancet windows and chancel.

BIKINACRE. See BICKNACRE.

BILBANK. See BELLBANK. BILBOROUGH, a parish in Basford district, Notts; on the Nottingham canal, 3 miles W of Radford r. station, and 4 NW of Nottingham. It includes the hamlet tion, and 4 NW of Nottingham. It includes the hamlet of Broxtow; and its post-town is Wollaton, under Not-tingham. Acres, 1,090. Real property, £1,788. Pop., 232. Houses, 47. The property is divided between two. Coal was formerly worked. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £273. Patron, T. W. Elec. Pop. The hamby its 124-124. T. W. Edge, Esq. The church is tolerable

BILBROOK, a hamlet in Old Cleeve parish, Somerset;

31 miles ESE of Dunster.

BILBROUGH, a parish in Tadcaster district, W. R. Yorkshire; 3 miles WSW of Copmanthorpe r. station, 1 orkshre; 3 miles WSW of Copmanthorpe F. Station, and 4 NE of Tadeaster. It has a post-office under York. Acres, 1,339. Real property, £3,386. Pop., 216. Houses, 49. The property is divided chiefly among three. ADJACK, 45. THE PROPERTY IS UNIVERSE CHICAGO THE HIVING IS A TREATY IN THE HIVING IS A TREATY IN THE CHICAGO THE CHICAGO THE FAITAN, ESQ. The church contains the remains of Thomas, Lord Fairfax, the celebrated parliamentary general. Charities, £14.

BILDURY RING. See BEBURY RING.

BILDERY Abrahet in Barrby-Moor township, Notts; 41 miles WNW of East Retford. Pop., 43. ElLDESTONE, or Bitsron, a village and a parish in Cosford district, Suffolk. The village stands 6 miles NNW of Hadleight, station, and has a post-office; under the control of the control o It was formerly a market-town: and still has Inswich. fairs on Ash-Wednesday and Holy-Thursday. rish comprises 1,420 acres. Real property, £3,769. Pop., 733. Houses, 164. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value 234. lne, £346. Patron, the Rev. J. Cedge. The church is later English, and stands apart from the village. A spired tower was built in the centre of the village in 1864. There are a Paptist chapel and a national school.

BILLIGH. See BEELEIGH.

BILLHAM, a township in Hooton-Paguell parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 61 miles WNW of Doncaster. It includes Eliham-tow hamlet; and yields coal, lime, and fine sand for foundries. Acres, 518. Real property, £1,224. Pop., 68. House, 14. Bilham House here commands an extensive and brilliant view.

BILHAM-ROW. See BILHAM.

BILLERICAY, a small town, a chapelry, and a district in Essex. The town stands on an eminence, near the site of a Roman station, 4½ miles S of Ingatestone r. station, and 9 SSW of Cheliasford. It commands a fine view of the surrounding country, away to Kent and the Nore; and it is of ancient origin, and has been much improved. It has a head post-office t a hanking-office. It has a head post-office, a banking-office, one chief inn, a church, two dissenting chapels, an endowed school, a public reading-room, and a workbonse; and is a seat of petty cessions, and a polling-place. The church is a brick building, partly as old as the time of Elward III.; and has a tower, of previous date, Lunch decayed. A weekly market is held on Tuesday; fairs are held on 2 Aug. and 7 Oct.; and brewing, brick tasking, and country business are carried on. Rate troperty, 26,972. Pop., 1,390. Houses, 248. — The chapelry is conterminate with the town; and is in the Larish of Creat Burstead. The living is a vicarage in the diotas of Rochester. Value, £220. Patron, the Bishop of Rochester.

The district comprehends the sub-district of Erentwood, containing the parishes of East Horndon, West Horndon, Childerditch, Little Warley, Ingrave, South Weald, and Shenfield; the sub-district of Great Burread, and one nearly the sub-district of Great Burstead, containing the parishes of Great Burstead, Little Burstead, Hutton, Mountnessing, Dunton, kamsden-Crays, Ramsden-Bellhouse, the liberty of Lee Chapel, and most of the parish of Laindon; and the sub-district and most of the parish of Landon; and the sun-district of Wickford, containing the parishes of Wickford, Downham, Nevendon, Vange, Pitsea, Bowers-Gillord, and North Benfleet, and the chapelry of Dasildon. Acres, 50,845. Poor-rates in 1866, £7,426. Pop. in 1861, 15,031. Houses, 2,748. Marriages in 1866, 65; births, 440,-of which 22 were illegitimate; deaths, 299,-of which 73 were at ages under 5 years, and 13 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-69, 801; births, 4,192; denths, 2,974. The places of worship in 1851 were 18 of the Church of England, with 2.751 sittings; 6 of Independents, with 1,716 s.; 3 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 140 s.; and 2 of Roman Catholics, with 390 s. The schools were 17 public day schools, with 841 scholars; 24 private day schools, with 358 s.; 18 Sunday schools, with 934 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 9 s.

School for adults, with 9 s.

BILLESDON, a township, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Leicestershire. The township lies 3½ miles NE of the Via Devana, 6 NE of Glen r. station, and 3½ E by S of Leicester. It has a post-officet under Leicester; and fairs on 23 April, 5 July, and the first New States of Cotta As add washer control to the state of Monday of Oct. An old market-cross stands in it; and the making of earthenware and hosiery is carried on. Real the making of earther water and nosterly is carried off. Real property, £4,699. Pop., 909. Houses, 195.—The parish includes also the townships of Goadby and Rolleston. Acres, 4,430. Real property, £8,526. Pop., 1,085. Houses, 233. The property is much subdivided. A camp of 18 acres, with ditch and rampart, occurs at Billesdon-Coplow; was the site of a Roman temple; and commands a fine view. The living is a vicarage, including the p. curacies of Goadby and Rolleston, in the Value, £279.* Patron, H. diocese of Peterborough. Greene, Esq. The church has a steeple, which was rebuilt in 1862. There are chapels for Baptists and Weslevans, a free school, alms houses, other charities £89, Villiers, first Duke of Buckingham, and a workhouse. is said to have received his early education here.

The sub-district and the district are co-extensive; and contain the parishes of Billesdon, Sketlington, Tugby, Alexton, Loddington, Withcote, Ouston, Tilton, Lowesby, Hungerton, Scraptoft, Humberstone, Evington, Thurnby, Houghton-on-the-Hill, Galby, Kings-Norton, Carlton-Curliew, Burten Overy, Glenn-Magna, and Wistow, the parochial chapelry of East Norton, the extra-parothe parocnai chapitry of Last Norton, the extra-paro-chial tracts of Noseley and Launde, and part of the parish of Rothley. Acres, 50,721. Poor-rates in 1856, £7,068. Pop. in 1861, 7,272. Houses, 1,571. Mar-riages in 1866, 47; births, 201,—of which 7 were illegiti-mate; deaths, 82,—of which 18 were at ages under 5 mate; deaths, 82,—of which 18 were at ages under 5 years, and 4 at ages above 55 years. Marrages in the ten years 1851-60, 431; births, 2,035; deaths, 1,136. The places of worship in 1851 were 32 of the Church England, with 5,090 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 160 s.; 1 of Lady Huntingdon's Connexion, with 170 s.; 3 of Baptists, with 600 s.; 9 of Weslevan Methodists, with 1,040 s.; and 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 30 s. The schools were 15 public day schools, with 519 scholars; 20 private day schools, with 207 s.; 25 Sunday schools, with 901 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 14 s.

BILLESLEY, a parish in Stratford-on-Avon district, Warwick; near the Stratford and Birmingham cand, 4 miles WXW of Stratford r. station. Post-town, Strat-ford-on-Avon. Acres, 750. Real property, £786. ford-on-Avon. Acres, 750. Real property, £786. Pop., 35. Houses, 6. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £390. Patrons, M. Miles, Esq., and Rev. T. Higgins. The cluwch is good.

BILLING (GREAT), a parish in the district and county of Northampton; near the river Nen, 11 mile N of Billing Road r. station, and 4 ENE of Northampton. It has a post-office under Northampton. Acres, 1.299. Real property, £2,850. Pop., 425. Houses, 90. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged formerly to the O'Briens, Earls of Thomoud; and benormerly to the O'Briens, Earls of Thomond; and belongs now to the Elwese. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £195.* Patron, Brasenose College, Oxford. The church is very good; and there are a Wesleyan chapel, a parochial school, and charities £39. Sir J. Wake, the diplomatist of James 1., was a native. was a native.

BILLING (LITTLE), a parish in the district and county of Northampton; on the river Nen, adjacent to Billing Road r. station, 3 miles E by N of Northampton. Billing Road r. station, 3 miles E by N of Northampton. Post-town, Great Billiog, under Northampton. Acres, 856. Real property, £1,839. Pop., 76. Houses, 16. The manor belonged to the Longuevilles; and their scat on it is now a farm-house. The living is a rectory in the dioces of Peterborough. Value, £349. Patron, Earl Brownlow. The church has a curious old font.

BILLINGBEAR, the seat of Lord Braybrooke, 31

BILLINGEEAR, the seat of Lord Braybrooke, 3‡ miles NE of Wokingham, Berks.

BILLINGBOROÜGH, a parish in Bourn district, Lincoln; 3 miles E of Folkingham, and 7 S of Heckington r. station. It has a post-office; under Folkingham. Acres, 2,020.

Real property, £6,704. Pop., 1,149. Houses, 261. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £295.* Patron, Earl Fortescue. The church is decentied English: and has a fine towar and strine. There decorated English; and has a fine tower and spire. There are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels, an endowed school are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels, an endowed school with £32 a-year, and charities £41.

BILLINGE, a village, two townships, and a chapelry in Wigan parish, Lancashire. The village stands 2 miles S of Orrel r. station, and 44 SW by W of Wigan; and has a post-office under Wigan. The townships are called Billinge-Chapel-End and Billinge-Higher-End. Acres of B.-Chapel-End and Billinge-Higher-End. Acres of B.-Chapel-End, 1,129. Real property, £11,309; of which £7,580 are in mines. Pop. 2,015. Houses, 389. Acres of B.-Higher-End, 1,549. Real property, £5,616; of which £2,000 are in mines, and £641 in quarties. Pop. 1,051. Honses, 204. Billingo Hill here is €33 feet high; has a beacon on the top; and commands a Pop., 1,051. Honses, 204. Billings Hill here is 633 feet high; has a beacon on the top; and commands a view on one side to Ingleborough, on another to the Welsh mountains. Some of the inhabitants are employed in cotton-mills. The chaptery consists of the two townships; and is a p. curacy in the diocese of Chester. Value, £403. Patron, the Rector of Wigan. The church is good. There are a Roman Catholic chapel, a national school, and charities £117.

BILLINGFORD, a parish in Mitford district, Norfolk; on the river Wensum, 1½ mile ESE of Elmham r. station, and 3½ SSW of Foulsham. It has a post-office station, and 3½ SSW of Foulsham. It has a post-offined under Thetford. Acres, 1,820. Real property, £2,337. Pop., 354. Houses, 74. The manor belongs to the Earl of Leicester. An hospital for poor travellers was founded at Beckhall here, in the time of Heory III., by William Beck. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £360.* Patron, the Earl of Leicester. The Value, £360.* Patron, the Earl of Leicester. The church is good. There are a Primitive Methodist chapel and a national school.

and a national school.

BILINGFORD, or PIRLESTON, a parish in Depwade district, Norfolk; on the river Waveney, 1 mile E of Scole, and 2 SE of Diss r. station. Post-town, Scole. Acres, 1,820. Real property, £1,589. Pop., 199. Houses, 46. The property is not much divided. The manor belonged to Sir S. Burley, the Black Prince's favourite, executed in 1938. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Little Thorne. in the diosess of Norwich. the rectory of Little Thorpe, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £264. Patron, G. Wilson, Esq. The church is good. BILLINGHAM, a township and a parish in Stockton istrict, Durham. The township lies on the Billingham district, Durham. river, and on the Clarence and Hartlepool railway, 3 miles NNE of Stockton-on-Tees; and has a station on mits NAL of Stockton-on-rees; and has a station of the railway, and a post-office under Stockton-on-Tees. Acres, 3,139; of which 369 are water. Real property, £4,963. Pop., 931. Houses, 187. The parish includes also the townships of Cowpen-Bewley, Newton-Bewley, and Wolviston. Acres, 11,691; of which 2,323 are water. Real property, £13,525. Pop., 2,166. Houses, 426. The property is divided among a few. Billingham Grange is a chief residence. Coal is worked. A great battle was fought in the parish, in 900, by Eardulph, king of Northumbria. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £240.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Durham. The church is late Sexon and transitional Norman, has a tower 144 feet high, and contains a chancel-screen and three brasses. Church-land violate £62. Avenue, and other charities £63. Church-land yields £52 a year; and other charities £98. The rectory of Wolviston and the vicarage of Haverton-Hill are separate charges.

There are a Wesleyan chapel and national schools.

and national schools.

BILLINGHAM RIVER, a stream of Durham; rising near Great Stainton; and running 11 miles eastward, past Thorpe and Billingham, to the Tees, 2½ miles below

Stockton

176

Stockton.

BILLINGHAY, a parish in Sleaford and Boston districts, and a sub-district in Sleaford district, Lincoln. The parish lies on Billinghay Skirt, 33 miles WSW of Tattershall r. station, and 84 NE of Sleaford. It includes the township of Dogdyke, and the hamlet of Walcott; and has a post-officet under Sleaford. Acres, 7,630. Real property, £17,794. Pop., 2,247. Houses, 477. The property is much subdivided. Billinghay Skirt is a cut 5 miles long, from the Sleaford canal to the river a cut 5 miles long, from the Sleaford canal to the river Witham. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Walcott, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £280.* Patron, Earl Fitzwilliam. The church has Norman arches, and is good. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists.—The sub-district comprises five parishes, parts of two other parishes, and an extra-parochal tract. Acres, returned with Sleaford sub-district. Pop., 5,423.

returned with Sleaford sub-district. Pop., 5,426. Houses, I,100.

BILLINGLEY, a township in Darfield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the North Midland railway, near Darticle of Parishey. Acres. 661. field station, 61 miles ESE of Barnsley. Acres, 861.

Real property, £1,224. Pop., 192. Houses, 40. BILLING ROAD, a station on the Blisworth and Peterborough railway; adjacent to the river Nen, 4 miles

E of Northampton.

BILLINGSHURST, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in Petworth district, Sussex. The village stands district in Petworth district, Sussex. The viriage stands on the Roman Stane-street, adjacent to the Mid-Sussex railway, near the Arna and Wye canal, 7 miles SW of Horsham; and has a station on the railway, a post-office; under Horsham, and fairs on Whit-Monday and 8 Nov. It probably got its name from being a settlement of the repressibly the first part of the great Saxon tribe of Billing.—The perish is divided into East and West Billingshurst. Acres, 6,758. Real property, £6,234. Pop., 1,495. Houses, 296. The property is much subdivided. Gratwick House is the seat perty is much subdivided. Gradwick thouse I of R. Bascoby, Esq. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £170.* Patron, Sir C. Goring, Bart. The south side of the church is very early the perty chiefly perpendicular English. There Norman; the rest, chiefly perpendicular English. There are two dissenting chapels, a national school, and chariare two assenting chapters, a manonal school, and chart-ties £7.—The sub-district comprises three parishes. Acres, 21,072. Pop., 4,245. Houses, 832. BILLINGSIDE, a township in Lanchester parish, Durham; on a branch of the Tyne and Stanhope railway, 12 miles SW of Gateshead. Acres, 288.

Houses, 2.

BILLINGSLEY, a parish in Bridgnorth district.
Salop; on a small affluent of the Severn, 3½ miles WSW of Hampton-Loade r. station, and 5½ S of Bridgnorth. It has a post-ollice under Bridgoorth. Acres, 1,285. Real property, £1,951. Pop., 144. Houses, 26. The property is all in one estate. Coal and ironstone have heen worked. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £195. Fatron, the Duke of Clevel, land. The church is good. Dr. Thomas Hyde, who co-operated in Walton's Polyglott, was a native.

BILLINGTON, a chapelry in Leighton Buzzard parish, Beds; on the river Ouse, and the Leighton and Luton neury on the five ones, and the household first ruliway, 2 miles SE of Leighton-Buzzard. Post-town, Leighton-Buzzard. Acres, returned with the parish. Real property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the dio. of Ely. Value, £280.* Patrons, the Inhabitants. The cluurch is good. There is a Wesleyan chapel. BILLINGTON, a liberty in Bradley parish, Staffordshire; 2 miles SW of Stafford. Billington Bury here is an ancient British camp, and commands a fine view.

BILLINGTON, a sub-district in Blackburn parish and district, Lancashire. It comprises the township of Billington-Langho and three other townships. Acres,

5,550. Pop. 1,717. Houses, 333.
BILLINGTON-LANGHO, a township-chapelry in Elackburn parish, Lancashire; on the Blackburn and Cltheroe railway, 54 miles NNE of Blackburn. It has a station, of the name of Langho, on the railway; and a station, of the name of Langno, on the rainway; and its post-town is Whalley, under Blackburn. Acres, 2,950. Real property, £4,719. Pop., 1,038. Houses, 205. The inhabitants are chiefly cotton-weavers. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Manchester, Value, £120. Patron, the Vicar of Blackburn. The church is ancient. There are a Roman Catholic chapel, a national school, and charities £38.

BILLISBORROW. See BILSBORROW.

BILLOCKBY, a parish in Flegg district, Norfolk; on the river Bure, 3 miles NE of Aele, and 7 NE of Buckthe fiver Bires, a lines who have a lad viver Norwich.

Acres, 389. Real property, £967. Pop., 46. Honses,

14. Billockby Hal is the seat of the Lucas family. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. £100. Patrons, the Lucas family.

BILLSBOROUGH. See BILSBORROW.

BILLY-QUAY, a village in Heworth chapelry, Durham; on the river Tyne, 31 miles E of Gateshead. Here are works of the Arkendale Mining Company, a shipvard, and several manufactories.

See CROOK and BILLY-ROW. BILLY-ROW.

BILNEY, a railway station in Norfolk; on the Lynn and Dereham railway, 7 miles ESE of Kings-Lynn.

BILNEY (EAST), a parish in Mitford district, Nor-folk; 3 miles WSW of Elmham r. station, and 5 NNW of East Dereham. It has a post-office under Swaffharn.
Acres, 544. Real property, £1,004. Pop., 198. Houses,
43. The property is divided among a few. The living ao. Ine property is unried among a ten. The three is a rectory, united with the rectory of Beetley, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £642. Patron, W. Collison, Esq. The church is good. Bilney, the martyr, burnel at Norwich in 1531, was a native.

BILNEY (West), a parish in Freebridge-Lynn district, Norfelk; on the Lynn and Dereham railway, at Ellney station, 7 miles ESE of Kings-Lynn. Post-town, East Wineh, under Lynn. Acres, 2,750. Real property, £2,430. Pop., 253. Houses, 50. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £60. Patron, J. Dalten, Esq. The church is ancient. Char-Patron, J. Dalton, Esq. The church is ancient.

ities, £6 and a fuel allotment.

BILSBORROW, a township in Garstang parish, Lancashire; 41 miles SE of Garstang. Acres, 842. Real property, £1,455. Pop., 176. Houses, 37. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and an endowed school with £48 a year.

BILSBY, a parish in Spilsby district, Lincoln; adjacent to the East Lineoln railway, 1 mile E of Alford. cent to the East Emeoin rankway, I mine I of Alford.
It includes the hamlets of Asserby and Thurlby; and its post-town is Alford. Aeres, 2,820. Real property, £5,111.
Pop., 572. Houses, 122. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £123. Patron, J. Mason, Esq. The church is good. Charities, £7.

BILSDALE, a mountain-vale, a township, a hamlet, two constablewicks, and a chapelry in Helmsley district, N. R. Yorkshire. The vale begins about 5 miles SE by S of Stokseley; and extends 11 miles southward to Rivaulx, 34 miles NW of Helmsley. Its head is overhung by Whinston and Botton-Head, mountains 2,300 and 1,485 feet high; and its sides are flanked by other heights, and cut by lateral vales. The view at its head is very magnificent; and the scenery in some other parts of it is grand.—The township is called Bilsdale-Midcable; the hamlet, Eilsdale-Kirkham; the constablewicks, Eilsdale-East-side and Eilsdale-High-West-side; and all are in the vale or on its sides.—The chapelry also is called Bilsdac-Midcable; and it includes all the Bilsdales, and likewise the hamlets of Crossett, Chapelgate, Chapgate, and Urra, and the constablewick of Raisdale; and is in the parish of Helmsley. The nearest railway station to it is Stokesley; and the nearest post-towns, Stokesley, under Northallerten, and Helmsley, under York. Acres, 18,971. Real property, £4,013. Pop., 738. Houses, 126. The property is not much divided. The living is 126. The property is not muon divined. The firms a p. curacy in the diocese of York. Value, £130. Patron, the Vicar of Helmsley. The church is good; and there is a Quakers' chapel.

BILSDALE-WEST-SIDE, a township in Hawnby patron.

7:ish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the W side of Blisdale vale, 8 miles NW by N of Helmsley. It includes part of the haralet of Ladhill-Gate, Acres, 4,014. Real property, £2,429. Pop., 162. Houses, 28.

BILSFORD, a hamlet in Buckland Brewers parish,

Devon; 64 miles W of Torrington.

BILSHAM, a tything in Yapton parish, Sussex; 3 miles SW of Arundel.

BILSINGTON, a parish in East Ashford district, Kent; on the Military canal, and partly in Romney marsh, 3 miles ENE of Ham-street r. station, and 6 SSE of Ashford. It has a post-office under Ashford, and a fair on 5 July. Acres, 2,843. Real property, £4,057. Pop., 360. Houses, 75. The property is divided among a few. The manor of Elisington-Inferior was given to the Earls of Arundel, in the time of Edward Ill., on the tenure of serving the king as butler at Whitsunday; and belongs now to the Cosways. A priory of Augustinian canons was founded on Bilsington-Inferior, about 1253, by John Mansell, provost of Beverley; and the manor connected with it was held by a tenure similar to that of Remains of the priory still stand, Bilsington-Inferior. Remains of the priory still stand, partly appropriated into a farm-house, on high ground, The living is Value, £52. commanding a good view over the marsh. a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £52.
Patron, W. Cosway, Esq. The church is good.
BILSTHCRPE, a parish in Southwell district, Notts; in Sherwood forest, 5½ miles NW of Southwell r. station.

Post-town, Kirklington, under Southwell. Aeres, 1,572. Real property, £1,703. Pop., 197. Houses, 44. The property is much subdivided. The manor was given by william the Conqueror to G. de Gaunt; and passed to the Foljambes, the Broughtons, and others. The old manor-house stood near the church; and is said to have given shelter, for a short time, to Charles I. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £360.* l'atron, the Earl of Searborough. The church is small, and contains several interesting monuments.

BILSTON, a town, a township, three chapelries, and a sub-district, in Wolverhampton parish and district, Stafford. The town is within Wolverhampton borough. a sud-district, in Wolverhampton barias and district.

Stafford. The town is within Wolverhampton borough,

23 miles SE of Wolverhampton town, and 23 NW of Wedneshnry. The Birmingham and Fazeley canal passes near; the Stour Valley railway passes within a mile; the London and Northwestern railway also passes. near; the Birmingham and Wolverhampton, and the Oxford and Wolverhampton railways pass through; and all these railways have stations for it at the most convenient points. The place was at one time a royal manor, of little note; it continued, till a modern period, to possess only a few private houses; and it burst into impor-tance, and rapidly acquired bulk, as a centre of the hard-ware trade. The town occupies an elevated position, and is nearly 2 miles long. Few of the houses are handsome; many are substantial; but many also are poor and dismal. Smoke from furnaces and other works continually obscures the air; and incessant noise and bustle banish all repose. Strangers who can admire the blaze of upwards of fifty smelting furnaces will think the environs grand; but those who love a clear atmosphere and quietude will feel appalled. Cholera attacked 3,568 of the inhabitants, and carried off 742, in 1832, and again carried off 723 in 1849; and it so roused attention to sanitary measures as to occasion much improvement. Extensive schools, built in 1832, and known as the Cholera schools, are now a dissenting chapel. Other extensive schools, called St. Leonard's and St. Mary's, the former a tasteful erection of 1858, at a cost of £2,500, have apartments for 1,000 persons, in which lectures are delivered occasionally from ! October till March. A suite of baths and wash-houses, of ornamental character, was built in 1853, at a cost of £2,700. St. Leonard's church, at the northwestern extremity of the town, was robuilt in 1827; is a neat Grecian edifice, with low tower; and contains a splendid altar-piece. St. Mary's church, at the other end of the town, was built in 1829, at a cost of £7,223; and is in the later English style, with a fine tower. St. Lnke's church, in Pinfold street, was built at a cost of £4,825; is in the early English style; and consists of nave, nisles, and chancel, with tower and spire. There are chapels for five denominations of dissenters, and for Roman Catholies. The new Independent chapel is a highly ornamental structure of 1864; and one of the Methodist chapels at a brief distance into the country. The town has a head post-office, a banking-office, and four chief inns; and is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place. Markets are held on Mondays and Saturdays. Great trade is Great trade is searied on in coal, iron, and stone from the neighbourhood; metal-casting, in all its branches, and the manufacture of japanned and fancy iron goods in wast variety, are highly prominent; and brass working, bell-making, nigniy prominent; and brass-working, bell-making, malting, and rope-making also are carried on. The hardware articles produced are too numerous to be mentioned; but include trays, waiters, iron buckets, hurdles, pattens, keys, buckles, locks, bridle-bits, screws, chains, boilers, and weighing machines. Area of the town, 1,730 boilers, and weigning-machines. Area of the town, 1,739 acres. Real property, £139,980; of which £25,253 are in nines, £44,590 in iron-works, and £1,200 in quarries, Pop., in 1841, 20,181; in 1861, 24,364. Houses, 4,634.—The township and the sub-district are conterminate with the town.—The chapelries are St. Leonard, St. Mary, and St. Luke; and were constituted in 1841, 1843, and and St. Luke; and were constituted in 1841, 1843, and 1845. Pop. 7, 457, 9,040, and 4,902. Houses, 1,415, 1,703, and 935. St. Leonard is a p. curacy, and the others are vicarages, in the diocess of Lichfield. Value of St. Leonard, 2635; of St. Mary, £300; * Of St. Luke, £300. * Patrons of St. Leonard, Resident-Householders; of St. Mary, the Bishop of Lichfield; of St. Luke, alternately the Crown and the Bishop. Charities, £38.

BILSTON, Suffolk. See BILDESTONE.

BILSTON, Suffolk. See BILDESTONE.
BILSTONE, a township in Norton-juxta-Twycress parish, Leicester; adjacent to the Ashby-de-la-Zouch-canal, 3 miles NW of Market-Bosworth. Acres, 570. Real property, £1,279. Pop., 116. Honses, 25. BILTON, a village and a parish in Rugby district, Warwick. The village stands adjacent to the Rugby and Leamington railway, 1½ mile SW of Rugby; and has a post-office under Rugby. The parish comprises 2,243 acres. Real property, £6,505. Pop., 1,096. Houses, 225. New Bilton forms a suburb of Rugby; Bilton Hall was purchased by Addison. In I/II. prior to Houses, 225. New Bilton torms a suomer of Bilton Hall was purchased by Addison, in 1711, prior to his marriage with the Countess of Warwick; appears to have been mainly built about the time of James I., but probably received some additions under Addison; retained some pictures and other objects which he placed in it; was bequeathed by his daughter and heiress to the Hon. John Simpson; and remains in possession of that gentle-man's family. Bilton Grange is a magnificent Tudor mansion, erected about 1840, after designs by Pugin; hanson, erecte about 1930, aten acsigns by regar-belonged to Capt. J. Hibbert; and was often announced for sale between 1860 and 1865. The living is a rec-tory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £673.* Pa-tron, the Rev. R. O. Assheton. The church is a next tool, the Rev. R. O. Assneton. The church is a new Cothie structure, with graceful octagonal spire. The vicarage of New Bilton is a separate charge, constituted in 1868. Value, £180. A school has an endowed income of £20, and other charities £71.

BILTON, a hamlet in Lesbury parish, Northumberland; adjacent to the Northeastern railway, at the junction of the branch to Alnwick, 181 miles N of Morpeth. It has a station at the railway junction. Pop., 121.

peth. It has a station at the railway junction. Pop. 121. BILTON, a township, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Tadeaster, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the York and High Harrogate railway, near Hammerton station, 5 miles ENE of Wetherby; and has a post-office under York. Acres, 1,400. Real property, £2,606. Pop., 242. Houses, 44. The parish includes also the townships of Bickerton and Tockwith. Acres, 4,150. Real property, £6,894. Pop., 926. Houses, 201. A Cistertian number was founded here. at Symingthwaite, about 1,160, by Bertram de Haget. as symmonicate, about 1,100, by Bertain de Hager.

The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value.
£300.* Patron, the Prebendary of Bilton. Tockwith was made a separate benefice in 1867. There are two Wesleyan chapels and an endowed school.—The sub-dis-reasyan cnapris and an endower school.—The sub-dis-trict comprises two parishes had two parts. Pop., 1,493. BLITON, or Dirrox-IN-HOLDEINESS, a township-chapelry in Swine parish, E. IX Yorkshire; 8 miles N of Marfleet, station, and 4 NE of Hull. Post-town, Ganstead, under Hull. Acres, 1,120. Real property, £1,784. Pop., 102. Houses, 16. The property is all in one value, £150.* Patron, Viscount Downe. The church is excellent

BILTON-WITH-HARROGATE, a township and two chapelries in Knareshorough parish and district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the North Midland The township lies on the North Midland R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the North Midland railway, 2 miles W of Knaresborough; and contains the post-town of Harrogate. Acres, 4,800. Real property, £29,285. Pop., 4,563. Houses, 905. The two chapties are Bilton and Harrogate. Bilton was constituted in 1823. Pop., 407. Houses, 91. The living is a vicarage in the diecese of Ripon. Value, £154. Patrog, W. Sheepshanks, Esq. A school has an endowed income of £30. Harrogate, town and chapelry, will be vertical in the article Harpogate. noticed in the article HARROGATE.

noticed in the article HARROGATE.
BIMPTON. See BRIMPTON.
BINACRE. See BEXAGRE.
BINBROOK, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Louth, Lincoln. The village s hads on the river Ancholme, at the foot of the Wolds, I miles ENE of Market-Raiserr. station; and has a possibility. under Market-Raisen. It was formerly a me ket-town, and a place of some note; but has considerably decayed. The parish consists of two quondam parishes, Binbrook-St. Gabriel and Binbrook-St. Mary, united by act of parliament; and is held by some to include the hamlet ot Utord, which others regard as extra-parochial. Acres, 6,70. Real property, £8,092. Pop., 1,334. Houses, 277. The property is divided among a few. The manor belongs to C. Turner, Esq. There are extensive rabbit warrens. The hiving is a rectory and a vicarage—St. Mary a rectory, St. Gabriel a vicarage—in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £291. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church of St. M. is bad; and that of St. G. is in ruins. There are three Methodist changle; a tamagene, ball of Orford, which others regard as extra-parochial. Acres, There are three Methodist chapels, a temperance hall, a national school, a reading-room, a police station, and a church estate £83.—The sub-district contains fourteen enuron estate £83.—The sub-district contains fourteen parishes and two extra-parochial tracts. Pop., 4,40S.

BINCHESTER, a township in St. Andrew-Anckland parish, Durham; on the river Wear, adjacent to the Weardale railway, 2 miles N by E of Bishop-Auckland. Acres, 500. Real property, with Newfield, £3,478,—of which £2,294 are in mires. Pop., 33. Honese, 5. The manor has belonged to the Wren family since the time of lower to another the work of the second state of the second state. of James I.; and their mansion on it, a venerable building with wings, appears to have been built about the beginning of that king's reign. A spot on the brew of an eminence, commanding an extensive view, and now enclosed and cultivated, was the Roman station Einovium or Vinovium, and has yielded a great variety of Roman relics. The extent of the station was probably about 30 relics. The Roman Watling-street passed either through it, or close on its western side.

BINCOMBE, a parish in Weymouth district, Derset; on the river Wey, on the Southwestern railway, and on the downs, 44 miles S by W of Dorchester r. station. Post-town, Dorchester. Acres, 977. Real property, £1,035. Pop., 194. Houses, 41. The property is divided be-tween two. Good stone is quarried; and there is a mineral spring. Numerous barrows are on the downs. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Broadway, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £487.* Patron, Caius College, Cambridge. The church is old but good, and has a tower.

BINDERTON, a parish in Westhampoett district, Sussex; 31 miles N by W of Chichester r. station. Posttown, Chichester. Acres, 1,790. Real property,£1,139. Pop., 109. Houses, 16. Binderton House is the seat of the Teasdales. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of West Deau, in the diocese of Chichester. The church is in ruins.

BINDON, a hamlet in Wool parish, and a liberty in Cerne, Wareham, and Wimborne divisions, Dorset. The hamlet lies on the river Frome, and on the Southwestern railway, & a mile E of Wool station, and 5 W by S of Warsham. A Cistertian abbey was founded here, in 1172, by Robert de Newburgh; was given, at the dissoto Thomas, Lord Poynings; descended to the lution, Earl of Suffolk; and was sold to the family of Weld. The remains of it, in foundation walls of the church, have been cleared out, and include part of the tomb of one of the abbots; and some features of the grounds connected with it, in canals, fish ponds, and shedy walks, amid thick wood, have been restored to their original state. The materials of the buildings were carried off for the construction of Lulworth Castle, the seat of Lords Suffolk and the Welds. Bindon Hill, in the vicinity, towards the coast, has sand cliffs, succeeded by snowy precipices.—The liherty includes the parishes of Wool and Chaldon-Herring, and parts of three other parishes; but its limits, in some directions, are not defined.

but its limits, in some directions, are not defined. BINECAR, a parish in Shepton-Mallet district, Somerset; at the eastern end of the Mendip hills, 4 miles N of Shepton-Mallet r. station, and 5 NW of Wells. Posttown, Shepton-Mallet. Acres, 1,216. Rated property, 21,919. Pop., 309. Houses, 70. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Eath. and Wells. Value, not reported. Patron, the Bishop of Eath and Wells. The church was rebuilt in 1859. A fair is held on the Wednesday and Thursday of Whitsun-week.

BINES-GREEN, a locality 31 miles N of Steyning,

Sussex; where a fair is held on 12th June.

IINFIFLD, a small village and a parish in Easthampstead district, Eerks. The village stands in Windsor forest, 2½ miles N of Bracknell r. station, and 3½ NE of Wo'kingham; end bas a post-office under Bracknell. The parish comprises 8,207 acres. Real property, £7,341.
Pop. 1,371. Houses, 270. The property is much subdivided. Binfield House, Binfield Park, and Pope's Wool are chief residences. The last was the early home of the poet Pope; who described it as

"My paternal cell, A little house, with trees a-row, And, like its master, very low."

The present house is mainly reconstruction and enlargemeat; but includes the room which is believed to have meet; but includes the room which is beneved to nave been the poet's study. Here Pope wrote great part of his early poems; and in the adjoining grounds stood a tree, now destroyed, bearing the inscription by Lord Lyttleton, "Hiere Pope sing." The Roman road, called the Devil's highway, passed near the village; and an entrenchment there bears the name of Casar's camp. The Eving is a rectory in the diocese of Oxforl. Value, The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. £623.' Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The ob-Value. The old church £623. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The old church was of the time of Edward III.; had a picturesque square tower, was restored and calarged in 1848, and further enlarged in 1859. The new church was built in 1867, and is a the early English style. There are a national school, and charities £82.

BINFIELD, a hundred in Oxford, in the extreme SE, extending from the Chilterns to the Thames. It contuins seven parishes and part of another. Acres, 21,906.

9,598. Houses, 1,962.

BINFIELD HEATH, a hamlet in Binfield hundred. Oxford; 21 miles N of Sonning, and 3 SSW of Henley-on-Thames. It has a post-office under Henley-on-Thames. Hannes, It has a post-office inder Henley-on-Thannes, BINGFIELD, a township in St. John-Lee parish, Northumberland; on Wathing-street and on the river Erriagburn, 55 miles N by W of Corbridge. Acres, 2,047. Pop., 93. Honnes, 18. Here are a mineral spring and a chipel of ease.

BINGHAM, a small town a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a wapentake in Notts. The town standa near the Fossé way, on the Nottingham and Grantham railway, in the vale of Belvoir, 9 miles E of Nottingham. It consists chiefly of two streets, parallel to each other; and is well built. It has a post-office; under Nottingham, a railway station, two chief inns, a church, two dissenting chapels, a free school, and a workhouse; and is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place. The church is early and decorated English, large, and cruciform; has a square tower, highly sculptured, and a lofty spire; contains a monument to White, the first editor of the "Ephemeris:" and was anciently connected with a small college or guild. A weekly market is held on Thursday; and fairs on the Tuesdey and Wednesday before 13 Feb., on Whit-Thursday, and on 8 and 9 Nov.—The parish is stated in the Census to include likewise part of the is stated in the Census to include likewise part of the hamlet of Newton. Acres, 3,054. Real property, 29,609. Pop., 1,918. Houses, 416. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £1,508. Patron, the Earl of Chesterfield. Archbishop Abbot and Bishops Hammer and Wren were for some time rectors; and Archbishop Cranmer, the astronomer White, Colonel Hutchinson, and Lord Howe were natives of the parish or of its vicinity.

The sub-district contains the parishes of Bingham,

Whatton, Elton, Granby, Langar, Shelton, Sihthorpe, Flintham, Kneeton, East Bridgford, Car-Colston, Screve-ton, Hawksworth, Thoroton, Orston, Scarrington, Barkestone, and Plungar,—the two last electorally in Leicester; and contains also the chapelry of Flawborough. Acres, 31,695. Pop., 7,879. Houses, 1,703. The district comprehends likewise the sub-district of Rateliffeon-Trent, containing the parishes of Ratchiffe-on-Trent, Shelford, Tythby, Cropwell-Bishop, Colston Basset, Owthorpe, Kinoulton, Hickling, Widmerpool, Stanton-on-the-Wolds, Plumtree, Edwalton, Tollerton, Cotgrave, and Holme-Pierrepont, and the extra-parochial tract of and Holme-Pierrepont, and the extra-parochial tract of Lodge-on-the-Wolds. Acres of the district, 68,130. Poor rates in 1866, £8,968. Pop. in 1861, 15,670. Honses, 3,391. Merriages in 1866, 84; births, 444,—of which 46 were illegitimate; deaths, 255,—of which 93 were at ages under 5 years, and 8 at ages above 55 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,000; births, 5,161; deaths, 3,006. The places of worship in 1851 were 36 of the Church of England, with 7,814 sittings; 1 of Independents, with 274 s.; 2 of Baptists, with 100 s.; 22 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,694 s.; 14 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,405 s.; 4 of Independent Methodists, with 330 s.; 1 of Roman Catholics, with 60 s.; and 1 undefined, with 246 s. The schools were 29 public day schools, with 1,573 scholars; 32 private day schools, with 704 s.; 56 Sunday schools, with 3,207 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 38 s.—The wapentake is mainly identical with the district, but less extensive; and it is cut into two divisions, north and south. 24,930 and 23,831. Pop., 13,553. Houses, 2,955. BINGHAM-MELCOMBE, the seat of the Bingham amily in Dorset; on an affluent of the Piddle river, 9 miles NE of Dorchester. It was the birth-place of Sir Richard Bingham, who fought at the siege of St Quintin, and has a monument in Westminster abbey.

BINGHAM TOWN, a suburh of Gosport, in Hants.

It is new, and contains some genteel residences.

BINGLEY, a town, a township, a parish, and a subdistrict in the district of Keighley, W. R. Yorkshire.

The town stands on an entinence, and wooded environs, with picturesque views, adjacent to the river Aire, the North Midland railway, and the Leeds and Liverpool canal, 6 miles NW of Bradford. It is named among the places given by William the Conqueror to his followers; and it had an ancient castle, which has disappeared. It now consists chiefly of one long street, partly brick, and partly stone; and it has undergone much recent improvement, in connection with manufactures. It has a post-office; under Leeds, a railway and telegraph station, two chief inns, a parish church, Independent, Bantist and Methodist chapels, a free grammar school, and a new and handsome mechanics' institute; and is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place. The church is a plain structure of the time of Henry VIII. The is a plain structure of the time of Henry VIII. The grainmar school dates from 1529; was recently rebuilt; and has an estate yielding £250 a-year. A weekly narket was formerly held on Tuesdays; and fairs are now held on 25 Jan., the first Tuesday of April, 25 Ang., and the second Tuesday of Oct. Industry is carried on in the extensive manufacture of worsted yarn, and in iron-founding, tanning, and malting. Pop., 5,238. in iron-founding, tanning, and malting. Pop., 5,238. Houses, 1,153. — The township hears the name of Bingley-with-Micklethwaite; and contains also the hamlets of Beckfoot, Cottingley, Cross-Flatts, Cross-Roads, Cullingworth, Edwick, Fawcather, Gilstead, Hainworth, Harden, Priest-Thorpe, Riddlesden, and Hyshworth. Real property, £35,525. Pop., 18,254. Houses, 2,528. — The parish includes likewise the cownship of Morton. Acres, 13,892. Real property, £44,258. Pop., 15,367. Houses, 3,226. The property is subdivided. Riddlesden Hall was anciently the seat of the Maudes. A large treasure in Roman the seat of the Maudes. A large treasure in Roman coins was found in Morton. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £500.* Patron, the Bishop the diocese of Ripon. Value, £500. Patron, the Bisnop of Ripon. A new chapelry, called Holy Trinity, was constituted in 1868. The vicarages of Cullingworth and Morton also are separate charges.—The sub-district is conterminate with the parish. BING-WESTON, a quarter in Worthen parish, Salop; 2 miles WSW of Worthen.

BINHAM, a village and a parish in Walsingham district, Norfolk. The village stands 4 miles NE of Walsingham t station, and 5 SE of Wells; and has a post-office under Wells, Norfolk, and a fair on 26 July. It is pleasant and picturesque; much visited in summer by parties at the watering places; and retains the shaft of an ancient cross. A Benedictine abbey was founded here, in 1104, by Peter de Valoines; and the church of it still stands, and is used as the parish church. nave has two pure early Norman areades; the west front nave has two pure early Norman areades; the west front is very fine early English, with magnificent window; and the stalls, seats, and font are good perpendicular.—The parish comprises 2,242 aeres. Real property, £3,402. Pop., 512. Houses, 130. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £103. Patron, T. T. Clarke, Esq. Charities, £55. BINHAM, a hamlet in Old Cleeve parish, Somerset; 2 miles W of Watchet.

PINHAMY. See Sequence Council.

BINHAMY. See STRATTON, Cornwall.
BINLEY, a tything in St. Mary-Bourne parish, Hants; 64, miles NYE of Andover. Pop., 13S.
BINLEY, a parish in Foleshill district, Warwick; on the river Sow, adjacent to the Northwestern railway, 24 miles E of Coventry. It includes the liberty of Earns-Rais E of Coventry. It includes the interty of ramsford; and its post-town is Coventry. Acres, 2,470. Real property, £2,356. Pop., 196. Houses, 51. The manor belongs to Earl Craven; and Binley Hall is the seat of the Lloyds. The living is a donative in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £52. Patron, Earl Craven. The church was built by the sixth Lord Craven, and is a frecian structure, with a medallioned roof. Charities, £6. Wagstaffe, the nonjuring bishop, was a native. BINNEL BAY, a wide curve at the western end of the Undercliffe, on the S coast of the Isle of Wight; 34 miles WSW of Ventuor.

BINNINGTON, a township in Willerby parish, E. R. Yorkshire; on the Hartford river, and on the York and Scarborough railway, 8 miles SW by S of Scarborough. Acres, 910. Real property, £1,000. Pop., 90. Houses, 16.

EINOVIUM. See BINGHESTER.

BINSCOE, a village in West Tanfield parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 3\text{\text{miles SE of Masham.}} BINSCOED, a tything in Godalming parish, Surrey;

I mile N of Godalming.

BINSEY, a small village and a parish in the district of Abingdon and county of Oxford. The village stands on the right bank of the Isis, near the West Milland railway, 1½ mile NNW of Oxford. It was originally called Thortory, from a profusion of thorox around it, and it afterwards took the name of Binsey, signifying the Island of Prayer, from its being a retreat of nuns and a great resort of pilgrims. A rude church was con-structed adjacent to it, about the year 730, by St. Frideswide; and this, together with a reputed holy well, drew crowds of pilgrims for ages, insomuch that 24 inns stood in the neighbourhood for their accommodation. The in the neighbourhood for their accommodation. The parish comprises 470 acres; and its post-town is Oxford. Real property, £1,002. Pop., 67. Houses, 15. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £90. Patron, Christ Church College, Oxford. The church is an ancient brick building, without a tower. EINSEY, a hill 3 miles NNE of the foot of Bassen-thwaite water, in Cumberland.

BINSTEAD, a small village and a parish in the Isle BINSTEAD, a small village and a parish in the Isle of Wight. The village stands on the coast of the Solent, amid charming environs, 14 mile W by N of Ryde. The parish comprises 1,140 acres of land and 335 of water; and its post-town is Ryde. Real property, £2,775. Pop., 486. Houses, 105. The manor belonged, at the Conquest, to William Fitz-Stur; and passed to the Bishops of Winchester. Several picturesque villas, one of them belonging to Long Downes stand sour villas, one of them belonging to Lord Downes, stand near the village and on the coast. Quarr Abbey House is the seat of Admiral Sir Thomas J. Cochrane. Remains of a Cistertian abbey, called Quarr abbey, founded in 1132, by Baldwin de Redvers, afterwards Earl of De-von, stand at a farmstad, 5 furlongs west of the village; and, though fragmentary and mutilated, show some interesting features. A siliceous limestone, containing many fossils, and well suited for building, has been exhady losses, and were sometime for building, has been extensively quarried since at least the time of William Rufus. The living is a rectory in the discusse of Winchester. Value, 280. Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The church was rebuilt in 1842; is in the early English style; and embodies some sculptured stones of a previous Norman edifice.

BINSTEAD, or BINSTED, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Alton, Hants. The parish lies 21 miles SSW of Bentley r. station, and 4 NE by E of Almiles SSW of Lecutey r. station, and 4 Ne by E of Anton; contains the haulets of Issington, Week, Westcote, and Wheatley; and has a post-office under Alton. Acres, 6,833. Real property, £7,104. Pop., 1,195. Houses, 231. Binstead Hill is the sent of the Coulthards. The living is a vicange, united with the vicance of Kingley. it had discovered Wingheyers. While arage of Kingsley, in the diocese of Winchester. Value, not reported. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Winchester. The church is ancient, has a low embattled tower and a spire, and contains several monuments. There is a Primitive Methodist chapel. - The sub-district

There is a Primitive Methodist chapet.—The sub-district comprises eight parishes and an extra-parochial tract. Acres, 27,482. Pop., 4,806. Houses, 930.

BINSTED, a parish in Westhampaett district, Sussex; 14 mile N of Yapton r. station, and 2 W by S of Arundel. Post-town, Arundel. Acres, 1,086. Real property, £1,176. Pop., 110. Houses, 19. Binsted property, £1,176. Pop., 110. Houses, 19. Binsted Arundel. Post-town, Arundel. Acres, 1,000. Real property, £1,176. Pop., 110. Houses, 19. Binsted House is a chief residence. The living, is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £150.* Patron, J. Bones, Eag. The church was repaired in 1869. BINTON, a parish in Stratford-on-Avon district, Warwick; on the river Avou, 4 miles W by S of Stratford-on-Avon r. station. Post-town, Stratford-on-Avon. Acoms. 1 240. Beal property, £1607. Pop. 220.

Acres, 1,260. Real property, £1,697. Pop., 230. Houses, 54. The property is divided among a few. Paving-stone is quarried; and needles and fish hooks are made. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £140.* Patron, the Marquis of Hertford. The church is decayed.

BINTREE, or BINTRY, a parish in Mitford district, Norfolk; 3 miles NE of Elinham r. station, and 51 WNW of Reepham. It has a post-office under Thetford. Acres, 1,455. Real property, £2,853. Pop. 406. Houses, 96. The property is divided among a The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Themelthorpe, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £462. Patron, Lord Hastings. The church is good; and there are a laptist chapel, and charities £47.

BIRBECK, a stream of Westmoreland; running from Shap Fells to the river Lune.

BIREECK-FELLS, a township in Orton and Crosby-Ravensworth purishes, Westmoreland; on the Birbeck stream, and on the Lancaster and Carlisle railway, 4 miles SSE of Shap. Real property, £1,054. Pop., 200. Most of the surface is wild moor and mountain.

BIRBURY. See BIRDINGBURY.

BIRCH, a township in Baschurch parish, Salop; 7½ miles NW of Shrewsbury. Pop., 22.
BIRCH, a hamlet in Warrington parish, Lancashire;

in the vicinity of the Runcorn Gap and St. Helen's rail-m are vicinity or the authorit cap and 3c. Trees stati-way, 55 miles W of Warrington.

BIRCH, a parish in Lexden district, Essex; 35 miles SE of Marks-Tey r. station, and 5 SW of Colchester. It comprises two ancient parishes, Great Birch and Little comprises two ancient purshes, Great Bireft and Little Birch; and has a post-odice under Colchester. Acres, 3,089. Real property, £4,218. Pop., 940. Houses, 189. The property is divided among a few. Birch Hall is the stat of C. G. Round, Esq. There are remains of a small castle. The living is a double rectory in the dio-cess of Rochester. Value, £469.* Patron, alternately the Bishop of Rechester and C. G. Round, Esq. The church of Great Birch is good; and that of Little Birch is in ruins.

BIRCH, Hereford. See Birch (Much).

BIRCH, or BIRCH-IN-RUSHOLME, a hamlet and a chapelry in Manchester parish, thoriton district, Lanca-shire. The hamlet stands 14 mile NW of Levenshulme r, station, and 25 Sby E of Manchester. The chapelry includes the hamlet; was constituted, conterminate with Kusholme township, in 1833; and was reconstituted, on a smaller scale, in 1854. Post-town, Levenshulme, Rusholme township, in 1833; and was reconstituted, on a smaller scale, in 1854. Post-town, Levenshulme, nnder Manchester. Pop., 2,043. Houses, 344. The projecty is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £160.* Patron, Sir J. W. H. Anson, Bart. The church is good.

BIRCH, or BIRCH-ST. MARY, a chapelry in Bury and Middleton parishes, Lancashire; near the Lancashire and Yorkshire railway, 2 miles WNW of Middleton. It was constituted in 1842; and its post-town is Middleton, under Manchester. Pop., 3,773. Houses, 747. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £150.* Patron, the Rector of Middleton. The church is a Gothic structure, built in 1828, at a cost of £4,000. There is a large national school.

BIRCHAML. See BIRCHAM (GREAT).

BIRCHAML CLIFFE, a hamletin Lindley-cnm-Quarin-

BIRCHAM-CLIFFE, a hamletin Lindley-cnm-Quarin-by township, Huddersfield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles NW of Huddersfield.

EIRCHAM (GREAT), a parish in Docking district, Norfolk; 3 miles S of Docking, and 94 W by N of Norfolk; 3 miles S of Docking, and My W by N of Fakenham r. station. It has a post-office, of the name of Bircham, under Rougham. Acres, 3,606. Real pro-rerty, £2,433. Pop., 439. Houses, 86. The property mostly belongs to the Marquis of Cholmondeley. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, 2514. Patron, A. Hamond, Esq. The church is good.

2514. Patron, A. Hamond, Esq. The church is good.
BIRCHAM (NEWFOX), a parish in Docking district, Norfolk; 2 miles S of Docking, and 9½ W by N of Fakenham r. station. Post-town, Bircham, under Rougham, Acres, 1,123. Real property, £552. Pop., 118. Houses, 20. The property is divided among a The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Bircham-Tofts, in the discess of Norwich. £434.* Patron, the Marquis of Chelmondeley. church is good.

church is good.

BHCHAM-TOFTS, a parish in Docking district, Nerfolk; 3 miles S by E of Docking, and 9 W by N of Fakenham r. station.
Post-town, Bircham, under Roughain. Acres, 1,13. Real property, £919. Pop., 125. Houses, 25. The living is a rectory annexed to Bircham-Newton

BIRCH AND LYTHE, a township in Ellesmere parish, Salpp; in the neighbourhood of Ellesmere. Pop., 65.

BIRCHANGER, a parish in the district of Bishops-Stortford, and county of Essex; on the Eastern Counties railway, 2 miles NE of Bishops Stortford. Post-town, Eishops-Stortford. Acres, 1,651. Real property, 22,050. Pop., 353. Houses, 89. The property is divided among a few. An hospital was founded here, by Richard de Newport, in the time of King John. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £218.

sa rectory in the choices of nonester. Value, 2215, Patron, New Coilego, Oxford. The church is good.

BIRCHER, a township in Yerpole parish, Hereford;

43 miles NNW of Leominster. Pop., 257.

BIRCHES, a township in Great Budworth parish, Cheshire; 3 miles ESE of Norwich. Pop., 9.

BIRCHES, a locality on the river Severn, in Salop; 3 miles W by N of Madeley. A landslip here, in 1778, channel the course of the spire for great budward warks changed the course of the river for several hundred yards.

BIRCHETTS-GREEN, a village in Wargrave and Hurley parishes, Berks; 4 miles WNW of Mardenhead. BIRCHHELD, a chapelry in Handsworth parish, Stafford; 3 miles N of Eirmingham. It has a post office-under Birmingham. Pop., about 2,000. Living, a vic-Value, £350. The church was built in 1865.

BIRCH (GREAT). See Birch and Birch (Mucu). BIRCHGROVE, a station with telegraph on the Swansea Vale railway; 4½ miles NNE of Swansea.

BIRCHGROVE, a place with a post-office under East. Grinstead, in Sussex.

BIRCHILLS, a station on the South Statford railway.

11 mile NNW of Walsall.

BIRCHINGTON, a village and a parish in Thanet district, Kent. The village stands adjacent to the Kent district, Kent. The village stands augment to the Acute Coast railway, 31 miles Wby So Margate; and has a sta-tion on the r, and a post-office under Margate. It occu-pies a gentle declivity, with extensive prospects by sea-and land; and is about § of a mile long. The parish is within the Cinque-port liberty of Dover; and comprises 1,650 acres of land, and 390 of water. Real property, 1,650 acres of land, and 390 of water. Real property, £8,855. Pop., 813. Houses, 186. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged from the beginning of the 15th century, to the family of Quex; and passed by marriage, in the time of Henry VII., to the Crispes. One of its owners, a distinguished puritan, in 1657, was carried off from it to the Continent, by the royalist captain Golding, and long kept prisoner at Ostend and Bruges. William III. frequently rested at the manor-house on his excursions to Holland. present mansion is modern; bears the name of Great Quex; and is the seat of H. P. Cotton, Esq. towers stand in the park, and are good sea-marks; and one of them contains a fine peal of bells. The living is one of them contains a fine pear of celes. The tring to a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Monkton, in the diocese of Canterbury. The church consists of nave, chancel, and aisles, with tower and spire; and on the north side of it is a chapel of the manor, containing some fine monuments and ancient brasses. There are chapels for Baptists and Wesleyans, and a national school. BIRCHLEY. See BILLINGS.

BIRCH (LITTLE), a parish in the district and county of Hereford; 31 miles ESE of Tram-Inn r. station, and 6 S of Hereford, Post-town, Birch, under Ross. Acres, 967. Real property, £1,943, Fop., 336. Houses, 78.
The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the dio. of Hereford. Value, £160. Patron, the Rev. S. Thackwell. The church was rebuilt in 1869.
BIRCH (LITTLE), Essex. See Birch.

BIRCH (MUCH or GREAT), a parish in the district and county of Hereford; 3 miles SE of Tram-Inn r. station, and 64 S of Hereford. It has a post-office, of the tion, and 63 S of Hereford. It has a post-office, of the name of Birch, nuder Boss. Acres, 1,237. Real property, £2,221. Fop., 496. Houses, 103. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £108. Patron, T. G. Symons, Ea., The church is very good. Charities, £7. BHRCHOLT, or Birchall, a parish and a franchise in Kent. The parish is in East Asthord district, and lies 25 miles N of Sweeth r. station, and 45 E by S of Ashford Post-town. Speeth under Asthord.

ford. Post-town, Smeeth, under Ashford. Aeres, 298. Real property, £470. Pop., 30. Houses, 7. The pro-Real property, £470. Pop., 30. Houses, 7. The property is divided between two. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £50. Patron, E. Knatchbull Hugessen, Esq. The franchise, called also Knatchbull Hugessen, Esq. The franchise, called alass a barony, is in the lathe of Shepway; and contains four parithes and part of another. Acres, 10,482. Pop., 2,271. Houses, 461.

BIRCHOVER, a township in Youlgreave parish, Derby; 1 mile N of Winster. Real property, £1,152. Pop., 51. A rocking stone of about 20 tons is here.

BIRCH VALE, a place with a r. station in Hayfield chapelry, Derby; § mile Wo Hayfield. BIRCHWOOD, a willage in Altreton parish, Derby. BIRDALL. See RAISTHORDE and BIRDALL.

BIRDALL. See MAISTHORFE and BIRDALL.

BIRDBROOK, a parish in the district of Risbridge and county of Essex; on the Halstead railway, 2½ miles SE of Haverhill. It has a station on the railway. SE of Haverhill. It has a station on the Post-town, Bumpstead-Steeple, under Halstead. Acres, 2,386. Real property, £4,047. Pop., 643. Houses, 143. Birdbrook Hall was formerly a seat of Sir W. B. Rush. Baythern House was built in 1663. A Roman camp occurs at Watson Bridge; and a large tumulus at Ford Meadow; and a number of Roman urns, coins, and other relies have been found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £600.* Patron, Clare Hall, Cambridge. The church is a neat substantial edifice; and contains the remains of Martha Blewitt, who was the wife of successively nine husbands, and died in 1681

BIRDENBURY. See BREDENBURY.

BIRDFORTH, a chapelry and a wapentake in N. R. BIRDFORTH, a chapelry and a wapentake in N. Korkshire. The chapelry is in Coxwold parish; and lies 3 miles ENE of Sessay r. station, and 5 NNW of Easingwold. Post-town, Coxwold, under Easingwold. Acres, 604. Real property, £935. Pop., 40. Houses, 8. The property is divided between two. The living is a p. currey in the diocese of York. Vaine, £94. Patron, the Archbishop of York. The church is tolerable. -The wapentake includes seventeen parishes and parts of six others. Acres, 103,177. Pop. in 1851, 14,462; in 1861, 14,072. Houses, 3,042.

BIRDHAM, a parish in Westhampnett district, Sussex; on Chichester harbour, and on the Arundel and Portsmouth canal, 4 miles SW of Chichester r. station. It has a post-office under Chichester. Acres, 1,948; of which 140 are water. Real property, £3,762. Pop., 436. Houses, 99. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £396.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Chichester.

E396. Fatrons, the Dean and Chapter of Unicaester. The church is good; and there is a national school.

BIRDINGBURY, or Birbury, a parish in Rugby district, Warwick; on the river Leam, adjacent to the Leamington and Rugby railway, 7 miles SW by W of Rugby. It has a station on the railway; and its post-Rugby. It has a station on the railway; and its pos-town is Leamington Hastings, under Rugby. Aeres, 1,180. Real property, 21,568. Pop. 184. Houses, 46. The property is divided among a few. The manor be-In properly to the Whelers; and belongs now to Sir T. Biddulph, Bart. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £120. Patron, Sir T. Biddulph, Bart.

art. The church is good. BIRDLIP, a hamlet in Brimpsfield parish, Gloucester-BIBDLIF, a named in Bringsach parish, Mozacsker-shire; near Whitcombe Park, 5½ miles SE by E of Glou-cester. It is a meet for the Cheltenham hounds; and has fairs on 8 May and on the Tuesday before the second Thursday of Sept. Birdlip Hill, in the vicinity, is crossed by Ermine-street; and commands a noble view.

BIRDRIDDING, a hamlot in Coverham parish, N. R.

Yorkshire; 14 mile SW of Moth Grimston r. station, Yorkshire; 14 mile SW of North Grimston r. station, and 5, S by E of New Malton. Post-town, North Grimston, under Malton. Acres, 3,972. Real property, 23,750. Pop., 355. The property is divided among a few. Birdsall Hall, formerly a seat of vided among a few. Birdsall Hall, formerly a seat of Lord Middleton, is the chief residence. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £40. Patron, the Marquis of Hertford. The church is a handsome edifice, built in 1814 by Lord Middleton. Henry Burton, the famous paritan divine who died in 1648, was a native.

BIRDS-GREEN, a hamlet in the parishes of Beau-champ-Roothing and Willingale-Doe, Essex; 9½ miles

SSW of Dunmow

BIRDSMOORGATE, a locality 8 miles from Crewkerne, in Somerset; with a post-office under Crewkerne. BIRDWELL, a hamlet in Worsbrough township, Darfield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; near the Sheffield and Doncaster railway, 4 miles SSE of Barnesley. It has a post-office under Barnesley, and a station, jointly with Hoyland, on the railway.

BIRDWELL-FLAT, a hamlet in Swinton township, Wath-upon-Dearne parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 41 miles

NNE of Rotherham.

BIRKBY, a township in Cross-Canonby parish, Cumberland; on the coast and on the Carlisle railway, I mile NE of Maryport. Acres, 871; of which 143 are water, Real property, 2906. Pop. 157. Houses, 25. BIKRBY, a township in Muncaster parish, Cumber-land; in Eskdale, 2½ miles E of Ravenglass. Real pro-land; in Eskdale, 24 miles E of Rarenglass. Real property, 2906. Pop., 119. See Barnscar.

BIRKBY, a township and a parish in Northalletton district, N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the Creat Northern railway, 14 mile SSE of Cowton station, and 6 NNW of Northallerton. Real property, £1,263.

Pop., 87. Houses, 15. The parish includes also the townships of Hutten-Bowville and Little Smeaton; and its post-town is East Cowton, under Northallerton. Acres, 3,619. Real property, £4,166. Pop., 298. Ilouses, 51. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £233.* Patron, Rev. W. R. Holmes. The church is very good.

BILKDALE, a township-chapelry in North Meels parish, Lancashire; en the coast, and on the Southport railish, Lancashire; on the coast, and on the Southport ran-way, 1½ mile S of Southport. It has a r. station, several streets, good residences, and boarding-houses; and, in 1869, had greatly increased in pop., and was about to have a sewenge-system and public gardens. Pest-town, Southport. Acres, 5,670; of which 3,435 are water. Pop. in 1861, 1286. Houses, 237. The living is a vicence in the disease of Cluster. Value, £380.* Yavicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £350. Patrons, Trustees. The church is recent, and has a spire.

EllkDALE, a hamlet in Dufton parish, Wostmore-land; 9 miles NE of Appleby. Pop., 13. ElkRDALE, a hamlet in Muker chapelry, in the vi-cinity of Muker, N. R. Yorkshire.

EIRKENHEAD, a seaport town, a township, and seven chapelries, in the district of Wirrall, Cheshire. The town stands on the Mersey, opposite Liverpool, about a nile by water W of Liverpool, and 144 by railway NXW of Chester. The place was anciently called Birchevel, Birkete, Birket-wood, and Birkenhedde; and took its name from being engirt by forest. A Benedictine priory was founded at it, about the year 1170, by Hamon de Massey, baron of Dunham-Massey; sent its priors to sit in the parliaments of Chester as nobles of the palatinate; and, in 1282, acquired the right to maintain a ferry, still known as the Monks-ferry, across the Mersey to Lanca-shire. A fine crypt and some interesting ruins of the priory still exist. The greater part of the priory estate was bestowed by Henry VIII. on Ralph Worsley; and passed to successively the Powells, the Clevelands, and the Prices. In 1753, there were three ferry-boat houses, one at Woodside for Birkenhead, one at Seacombe, houses, one at mousage to internate, one at a mock-derry, 11 mile further up; but these were only conveni-ences for the dwellers inland, and the travellers to Chester. Even so late as 1801, Birkenhead had only 110 inhabitants; and 20 years later, only 200. The first move towards a town, was the purchase, in 1324, by Mr. Laird, father of the celebrated shipbuilder, of saveral acres of land on the shore of the Wallase, Pool, an inlet from the Mersey. The pool and the land adjoining it were speedily seen to be excellently suited for docks; and measures were soon adopted for converting the place into a great port. The town, once begun, made astonishingly rapid progress; and, though it has suffered some checks, it now enjoys every prospect of a steady and accelerating increase. Birkenhead is well aligned and well built; and it had the singular advantage of being all planned before the building operations for it were well begun. T. C. Thornburn, Esq., C.E., reported to us in 1865,—"Length of streets laid out, 54 miles; scavenged, 43; adopted, 40. Area of Birkenhead Park, 1904 acres; of which 99 are laid out in ornamental ground, lakes, and grass; 141 occupied [by roads and drives; and 77 laid out in building ground. Cost of land, £61,028; of formation, £78,654." Hamilton-square occupies 6 or 7 acres; is edificed with stone fronts; and presents a very grand appearance. The market house is one of the faest in England; cost £30,000, exclusive of the site; and is 430 feet long, and 131 wide. The post-office is an ornamental editice, in the Corinthian style. The free public library and the theatre were built in 1864; and the former is in the Florentine style. The working man's hall was built in 1865, rennie style. The working-man's had a shift in Young at a cest of from £4,000 to £5,000. A ragged school was then in contemplation; the sum of £7,000 having been given for it by Wm. Jackson, Esq. M.P. St. Mary's church is an elegant structure, in the decorated English style, built in 1819; and the churchyard includes the burial ground and ruins of the ancient priory. Holy Trinity is an edifice in the Norman style. St. Anne's, built of the red sandstone of the district, makes a fine appearance. St. James' is in the early English style, and is built of beautiful white Storeton stone. St. John's, in the deconeanthal white Storecon stone. St. John s, in the deco-rated style, was built in 1845, and has a fine tower and spire. St. Paul's was built in 1863; and St. Peter's partly in 1863. Upwards of thirty non-established places of worship are within the town (including Claughton and or worsing are within the town including changition and Oxton); and some of them are very beautiful and ornamental structures. There are two Roman Catholic churches; the older one, a Grecian edifice; the other, opened in 1862, in the early French Gothic style, from designs by Pugin. There is also a convent, in the Italian table, built in 1882, a tent of $10.000. See Addards style, built in 1863, at a cost of £10,000. St. Aidan's theological college, under the principalship of the Rev. Dr. Baylee, forms a fine pile of Tudor architecture, with good internal arrangements; and furnishes about one in eighteen of the candidates for orders in the Established church. A court-house, two banks, gas-works, waterworks, working-men's houses, an abbatoir, and an extensive new centetery, also draw attention. A handsome infirmary, built at an expense of upwards of £5,000, and presented to the town by Mr. John Laird, M.P., was opened in 1863. A street railway runs from Woodsideferry by the Park to Oxton, a distance of about 3 miles; an outward railway, giving communication with the country, will be noticed in the next article; and other railways, from the docks to the West Cheshire line, from Hooton to Parkgite, and from Hooton to Queensferry, with branches to the Holyhead and to the Buckley, have been projected.

The harbour of Birkenhead is magnificent. The docks were commenced in 1844, on a vast plan which was approaching completion in 1869. The water area of them approaching completion in 1899. The water area of them is 163 acres; the lineal quay space, about 10 miles; and the cost will be inwards of £3,000.000. The west float has a quayage of 2 miles, 210 yards; the east float, 1 mile, 1,506 yards; the Egerton dock, 751 yards; the Morpeth dock, 1,259 yards; the Morpeth basin, a tidal constant of the property of the proper 752 yards; the low water basin, also a tidal one, one, 752 yards; the low water basin, 482 yards. 1,300 yards; and a dock, north of this, 482 yards. side hasins and two large graving docks branch from the west float; a system of railways encompasses the east float; Jassages, ample and well-contrived, communicate among the docks; the passage from the river to the Mor-neth dock is so contrived that it can be used as a graving dock; a system of sluices, for scouring away deposits, is connected with the low water basin; an extensive building contains the machinery for the sluices, and has a tower 200 feet high; and bridges, cranes, coal-hoists, a tower zwo teet nign; and bridges, cranes, coal-noists, shells, warchouses, and other appliances are plentiful and well placed. A landing-stage, at Wood-side ferry, 800 feet long and 80 feet wide, constructed in 1862, rests on pontoons similar to the Liverpool stages, rising and falling with the tide; is connected with the piers by two iron bridges; and gives every accommodation to passenger traffic. Another landing-stage, in the low water besin, 1,000 feet long and 50 feet wide, is of similar con-struction, and serves for vessels at all states of the tide. The cost of the dock-works in 1868 was £220,618.
The commerce of Birkenhead is, in all respects, a branch of that of Liverpool, and chiefly devoted to coal, guano, and grain. The Cunard Company recently obtained accommodation for their steamers in the harbour; and other sea-going steamship companies are expected to follow their example. Very extensive trade is carried on in shipbuilding and engineering. The works of the Messra Laird Brothers employ from 3,000 to 4,000 men; and have paid £720,000 in wages in six years. The Canada works have paid £500,000 in eight. The Britannia works also are extensive; and have acquired their magnitude through the skill and enterprise of their proprietor, James Taylor, Esq., the inventor of the steamilits and the elephant. The town has a head post-office, £ a telegraph station, two banking offices, ar-I fourteen chief inns; publishes three newspapers; and is a sect of petty sessions and a polling-place. Markets are held on Tuesdays and Saturdays; and fairs on the last Tuesday of Feb, and April, and on 3 July and 8 Oct.—Acres of Laird Brothers employ from 3,000 to 4,000 men; and Tuesdays and Naturdays; and fairs on the last Tuesday of Feb. and April, and on 3 July and 8 Oct.—Acres of the township, 1,265; of which 365 are water. Real property in 1860, £235,518; of which £64,601 are in railways. Pop. in 1841, 8,223; in 1861, 36,212. Houses, 4,669. The township, with Claughton, Oxton, Tranmere, and part of higher Bebington, was, in 1861, made a para-and part of higher Bebington, was, in 1991, made fine immentary borough, sending one member to rarliament. Electors in 1866, 4,563. Pop., 51,649. Houses, 7,189. The chapelries are St. Mary, St. James, Trinity, St. Anne, St. John, St. Paul, and St. Peter. The first is the oldest, and was formed out of Elistone parish; the next four were formed out of the first; and St. Paul was formed out of Bebington. Trinity was constituted in 1841; St. Anne, in 1847; St. Paul, in 1858; St. John, in 1841; St. Anne, in 1847; St. Faul, in 1895; St. John, in 1859; St. Peter, in 1867. There is also a Mariners' church. All the livings are p. curacies in the diocese of Chester. Value of St. Mary, £153; of Trinity, £300; of St. Anne, £159;* of St. John, £300;* of St. Peter, £200; of the others, not reported. Patrons of St. John, the Church Patronage Society; of St. Anne, the Rev. A. France, of the others. Trinites.

Knox: of the others, Trustees.
BIRKENHEAD RAILWAY, a ramified railway com necting Birkenhead with Chester and with the NE of Cheshire. It existed prior to August 1859, under the names of the Chester and Birkenhead railway, and the Birkenhead, Lancashire, and Cheshire Junction. consisted then of a main line from Chester to Grange-Lane, a line from Grange-Lane to Monks-ferry, a line from Grange-Lane to Bridgend, all at Birkenhead, and a main line from the station at Chester to the Northwestern railway at Lower Walton, Runcorn; and the aggregate length of it was a little upwards of 33 miles. A branch from Hooton to Helsby, 83 miles long, and a branch to Trannere Pool, 1 mile long, were opened in July, 1863; and a line from Hooton to Parkgate, 5 miles long, was opened in October, 1866.

BIRKENSHAW, a railway station, two hamlets, and a chapelry in Birstall parish, W. R. Yorkshire. station bears the name of Birkenshaw and Tong; and is on the Gildersome branch of the Leeds and Halifax railway, 45 miles SE of Brufford. The hamlets are Birkenshaw and Birkenshaw-Bottom; and stand near the r. station, within Gomersal township; and the former has a post-office under Leeds. The chapelry bears the name of Birkenshaw-cum-Hunsworth; and was constituted in of Birkenshaw eum-Hunsworth; and was consumed 1812. Pop., 3,633. Houses, 756. The inhabitants are chiefly employed in collieries and woollen-mills. The chiefly employed in the diocess of Ripon. Value, coneny employed in conferes and woolner-mins. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £150.* Patron, the Vicar of Birstall. The church was built in 1829. There are a U. Free Methodist chapel, a mechanics' institute, and a national school.

BIRKER AND AUSTHWAITE, a township in Mil-lom parish, Cumberland; in Eskdale, 61 miles ENE of Ravenglass. Real property, £710. Pop., 114. Houses, 19. Pirker Fell here forms part of the S screen of the Esk; and is streaked by a streamlet which makes a sudtesk; and is streamed by a streamer which makes a sub-den romantic fall, over a naked precipice, between cliffs. BHK-FEILL, a hill on the E side of Ulles-water, Westmoreland; immediately N of Place-Fell. A short streamlet descends its N side to the lake; and makes a cascade, called Scales Force.

BIRKIN, a township in Pontefract district, and a parish in Pontefract and Selby districts, W. B. Yorkshire. The township lies on the river Aire and on the Selby canal, 33 miles NE of Knottingley r. station, and 74 SW of Selby. Acres, 2,064. Real property, £3,515. Pop., 163. Houses, 35. The parish contains also the townships of Hurst-Courtney, Temple-Hurst, Chapel-Haddlesey, and West Haddlesey; the last of which has Haddlesey, and West Haddlesey; the last of Which has a post-office under Selby. Acres, 5,509. Real property, £9,433. Pop., 821. Houses, 184. The living is a rectory, with Chapel-Haddlesey chapelry, in the diocese of York. Value, £1,008.* Patron, the Rev. T. Hill. The church is ancient. There are three Wesleyan chapels.

BIRKLE, See BIRTLE, BIRKLEY, See BIRTLE See BIRTLEY, Northumberland.

BIRK-RIGG, a hill in Firness, Lancashire; 14 mile W of Morccambe bay, and 3 E of Dalton. It commands

W of Morceambe bay, and 3 r. of Daton. It commands a very extensive and magnificent panoramic view. BIRK RIGGS, a hamlet in High Abbotside township, Aysgarth parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 1 mile NE of Hawes. BIRKS AND COLSTERDALE, a hamlet in East Witton parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 3½ miles SE of Middleham.

BIRKS-BRIDGE, a one-arched bridge over the river Duddon, at the E base of Birker Fell, in Cumberland. It spans a romantic rocky chasm, supposed to represent the "Fairy Chasm" of Wordsworth. BIRKSCEUGH. See Briscor. BIRNVITH, a hamlet in Horton-in-Ribblesdale parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 74 miles N of Settle.

BIRKWOOD, a hamlet in Crofton parish, W. R.

Yorkshire; 34 miles SE of Wakefield.

BIRLEY, a parish in the district and county of Hereford; on an affinent of the river Lugg, adjacent to Wat-ling-street, 33 miles NW of Dinmore r. station, and 4 ling-street, 3½ miles An of Diffinite I. Station, and a ENE of Weebley. Post-town, Weebley. Acres, 1,004. Real property, £1,482. Pop., 190. Houses, 35. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of King's-Pion, in the dioage, annexed to the vicarage of Iring s-Pion, in the dis-cess of Hereford. The church is very good.

BIRLEY-CARR, a hamlet in Ecclesfield township and parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 4½ miles N of Sheffield.

BIRLING, or BERLING, a township in Warkworth parish, Northumberland; on the river Coquet and on the parisi, Northmentana, on the river coduce and on the coast, 6½ miles SE of Almwick. Acres, 826. Pop., 83. Honses, 14.

BIRLING, or Byrling, a parish in Malling district, Kent; adjacent to the river Medway, 2¾ miles WSW of Snodland r. station, and 6 NW of Maidstone. It has a post-office under Maidstone. Acres, 1,883. Real property, £3,277. Pop. 662. Houses, 111. The property is aubdivided. The manor belonged formerly to the Mainmots, the Says, and the Nevilles; and belongs now to the Earl of Abergavenny. Comfort, now a farm-house, and Birling-place, now represented only by a fragment, were seats of the Nevilles. A range of chalk heights, called Birling Hills, occupies the W. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £158.

Patron, the Earl of Abergavenny. The church is perpendicular English, in good condition; and contains the remains, but no monuments, of some of the Nevilles.

BIRLING GAP, a depression and an artificial cut in the bold high coast of Snssex; 13 mile W of Beachy Head. The cut was made to afford means of escape to shipwrecked mariners; and was, for some time, defended by an arch and portcullis, vestiges of which still exist. BIRLINGHAM, a parish in Pershore district, Worcester; on the river Avon, 11 mile E of Defford r. station, and 2½ SSW of Pershore. It has a pest-office under Pershore. Acres, 1,210. Real property, £3,847. Pop., 353. Honses, 74. The property is divided among a few. Birlingham Court is the seat of the Porter The living is a rectory in the diocese of Wor-Value, £205.* Patron, the Rev. R. E. Landor. cester. The church is mainly modern, but has an old tower, and includes an ancient Saxon arch. Charities, £12.

BIRMINGHAM, a division of Hemlingford hundred, It takes name from the town of Birming lam, but does not include any of that town or borough; adjoins it on the E and NE; and contains five purishes and part of another. Acres, 24,231. Pop., 16,234.

Houses, 3,216.

BIRMINGHAM, a great town, the fourth in point of population in England, at the NW angle of Warwick-shire, adjacent to Worcestershire and Staffordshire, 82 since, agazent to worce-tersine and stanorusine, 82 miles SSE of Manchester, 97 SE by S of Liverpool, and 112 NW of London. It is all, as a borough, in Warwickshire; but, as to its suburbs, it extends into Worce-tershire and Staffordshire. It stands on Icknieldstreet, which gives name to a street, a road, and a square; on the streams Rea, Tame, and Cole; and on an ample system of railways and cauals, which give it community cation with all parts of the kingdom. The main lines of the Northwestern and the Midland railways, together with the South Stafford, the Stour Valley, and other subordinate lines, have a central station in it; and the Great Western, with branches radiating through the west of England and into Wales, has another station. The chief canals are the Staffordshire, the Warwick, and the Worcester; the last of which was, in 1865, about to he converted into a railway.

he converted into a rainway.

History.—An early name of the place was Bromwycham, signifying "house of broom village," and alluding probably to the existence around it of an extensive heath; and the present name grose from that of the lords of the manor after the Conquest; but upwards of one hundred and fifty varieties of the names, or of the spellings of them, have been traced. A Roman station, called Bremenium, was supposed to have been here; but this is now set aside as fabulous. The original village is believed to have existed as part of the Saxon kingdom of Mercia; but was too obscure to be noted on a map. It is conjectured to have begun the working of iron at a very early period; but the earliest authentic mention of it is in the pages of Leland, who describes it as a town of smiths. Birmingham makes very little figure in early history. Some of the inhabitants followed the lords of the manor, in the time of Ilenry III., to the battle of Evesham; and most, in the time of Charles I., were warm partizans in the cause of the parliament. They furnished 15,000 sword-blades to the parliamentarian army; they seized the king's personal effects on occasion of his making a halt at Aston Hall; they confronted and fought a royalist force of 2,000 men sent to punish them; and they suffered then a discomfiture which cost them a good number of lives, and a destruction of property to the value of £30,000. The town was nearly depopulated by the plague in 1665; but it rose to a population of 15,032 at the end of the next 35 years; and it thenceforth became so devoted to industry as to grow rapidly in pros-perity and consequence. No public question, for a long time, disturbed it. In 1791, a politico-religious riot time, disturbed it. In 1721, a pointer-trigions live sand about £50,000 worth of property; in 1831, the famous political union, with Thomas Attwood at its head, assisted greatly to compel the passing of the reform bill; and in 1839, chartist riots broke ont, and were quelled only by a large detachment of London police, and the arrival of a large detachment of London points, and the considerable body of soldiers. Since that time, the town of York publicly visited it in 1765; the Duchess of Kent and the Princess Victoria, in 1839; Frince Albert in 1844, 1849, and 1855; Queen Victoria, in 1849, 1852, and 1858; the Duke of Cambridge, in 1857; and Louis Kossuth, in 1852 and 1857. The British Association held their meetings in it in 1839, 1849, and 1865; and the Social Science Association held their first meeting in it in 1857.

Site and Streets .- Part of the town stands on comparatively low ground; but much stands on a hill, nearly in the form of a crescent. This hill is part of the watershed between the eastern and the western seas; and rises 115 feet in 1,000 yards from the side of the Rea; and one portion of it, nearly in the centre of the borough, occu-pied by St. Philip's church, is 475 feet above low water-mark at London bridge. The town is compact; and, including the suburhs, extends about 4 miles by 6. streets are very numerous, generally short and irregular; and give an aggregate length of nearly 200 miles. street is the most brilliant; High-street and Bull-street are conspicuous; and many others are full of good shops, and have a lively appearance. The houses are in general well-built, chiefly of brick; most of the more recent faced with Roman cement and plaster; but many, especially in the principal streets, are now built of stone. An almost fourfold increase in the total of houses has taken place since the beginning of the century; and this has made a very great change in the general aspect of the town Spots formerly occupied by villas, gardens, orchards, and bare common, are now covered by busy streets: and places formerly distant from the town and altogether rural, are now disposed in pleasant suburbs.

Public Buildings .- The town-hall, at the top of Newstreet, was built in 1832-1850, at a cost of nearly £50,000. The material of it is Anglesey marble; and the style Roman-Corinthian, after the model of a peripteral Grecian temple. The basement of it is 23 feet high; the columns, 36 feet high and 51 feet thick; the capitals, 4 feet high. The chief agartment can accommodate 3,000 persons sitting, or 6,000 standing; is elegantly decorated; and contains a magnificent organ, which cost about £3,500. The exchange, built in 1862-5, on a site adjoining the grammar school, with a frontage of 186 feet toward Stephenson-place, and 63 feet toward New-street, is of Stone, after designs by Mr. E. Holmes, in a very mixed Gothie style, four stories high, with a central entrance tower, 100 feet high. The public offices, in Moor-street, were built in 1800, and greatly extended in 1801 and 1805. New corporate buildings and assize courts were projected in 1809, at a cost of £12,500. A new post-click, with government grant of £21,850, was projected in 1800, at a believe of fire and a glub house were to lists. Two large banking-offices and a club-house were built in 1869. The borough gaol, at Winson-green, was erected in 1845-9, at a cost of £50,000; and has capacity for 391 male and 85 female prisoners. Three sets of public baths are in Kent-street, in Woodcock-street, and phone datus are in Achtsaret, in roomands, in Great Brookstreet, were built in 1793, and possess extensive accommedation. The temperance hall was built in 1860, et a cost of about £2,800; is a neat edifice in the Italian style; and has a room which will accommodate 800 per-The central railway station, in New-street, opened in 1854; presents a handsome front, in the Italian style, 312 feet long; and has a magnificent interior, spanned by a semicircular roof of glass and corrugated iron, resting only on massive side pillars, and L1700 feet long, 212 feet wide, and 80 feet high. A bronze statue of Nelson, by Westmacott, in 1809, a very fine work, is in the Bull Ring; a Sicilian marble statue of Thomas Attwood, by Thomas, is at the top of Stephenson Place; a bronze statue of Sir Robert Peel, by Hollins, is at the top of New-street; a Sicilian marble statue of Joseph top of New-street, a Spenial matter and relations of Sturge, by Thomas, with fountains and emblematical figures, is at the Five Ways, Edgbaston; and a colossal marble bost of Mendelsohn, by Hollins, is in the townhall. Three other statues were completed in 1868; one of James Watt, by Hollins; one of Sir Rowland Hill, by the same artist; and one of the late Prince Consort, by Foley; but the two latter, though intended for the open atr, have been placed within public buildings.

Ecclosistical 4 fairs.—The parish of Birmingham, the parish of Edgasanon, and a populous portion of the parish of Aston, are within the borough. The rectories parish of Aston, are within the borough. The rectories of St. Martin, St. Philip, St. George, St. Thomas, and All Saints, the vicarages of St. Peter, St. Matthias, St. Mary, St. Bartholomew, St. Mark, St. Paul, Christotharch, St. Luke, Bishop-Byders, St. Stephen, St. Judo, Ladywood, St. Barnabas, St. David, and the p. curacy of Immuned are in Eirmingham parish; all in the Giocese of Worcester. Value of St. Martin, 21,048; of St. Philip, 2500 5 of St. George 2550; of St. Thomas, 2400 of St. Woresaler, Value of St. Martin, 21,048; of St. Philip, 25:00, of St. George, 2550, of St. Thomas, 2489; and Saints, 2250; of St. Peter, 43:00; of St. Matthias, 2223; of St. Mary, 25:20; of St. Paul, 275, of Christ, 270; of St. Stephen, 23:00; of St. Jude, 23:09; of St. Jude, 23:09; of Italywood, 23:00; of the others, not reported. Partons of St. Martin, St. George, St. Thomas, All Saints, St. Matthias, St. Mary, St. Mark, St. Luke, Bishop-Rydera, St. David's, Immanuel, and St. Barnales, Trustees; of St. Philip and Christ Church, the bas, Trustees; of St. Philip and Christ Church, the Bishop of Worzester; of St. Stephen and St Jude, the Bishop and the Crown alternately; of St. Paul, the Rev. G. B. P. Latimer; of St. Bartholomew and Ladywood, the Rector of St. Martin; and of St. Peter, the Rector of St. Philip. The other livings within the borough are noted in the articles EDGBASTON and ASTON.

The places of worship, in 1865, were 35 of the Church of England, and about 91 of other denominations; and many of them were recent structures. Those in 1851, according to the Census, were 25 of the Ch. of England according to the Census, were 25 of the Ch. of England, with 30,848 sittings; 1 of Presbyterians, with 70 s.; 12 of Independents, with 6,657 s.; 1 of Lady Huntingdons, with 200 s.; 9 of P. Baptists, with 6,749 s.; 1 of G. Baptists, with 568 s.; 2 of Quakers, with 744 s.; 5 of Unitarians, with 3,054 s.; 13 of W. Methodists, with 7814 s.; 2 of Nave C. Webbodits, with 1238 s.; 3 of Section 1 of Nave C. Webbodits, with 1238 s.; 3 of Nave C. Webbodits, with 1238 s.; 3 of Nave C. Webbodits, with 1238 s.; 3 of Nave C. Webbodits of Nave Officialists, with 656 s.; 1 of the New Church with 1,388 s.; 3 of Prim. Methodists, with 656 s.; 1 of the W. Association, with 600 s.; 2 of W. Reformers, with 70 s.; 1 of Welsh C. Mcthodists, with 132 s.; 1 of the New Church with 5.500 s.; 1 of Brethren, with 100 attendants; 3 of isolated congregations, with 1,800 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 1,600 s.; 2 of the Cath. and Ap. Church, with 600 s; 4 of R. Catholies, with 1,549 s.; and 1 of Jews, with 360 s. According to returns, in 1865, the Church of England provides 36,000 sittings.

St. Martin's church, in the Bull Ring, dates from the 13th century; underwent exterior restoration in 1854, at a cost of about £6,000; has a handsome spire, rebuilt at the Restoration; and contains four curious ancient monuments of the Lords de Birmingham. St. Philip's church, in an elevated open area of about four acres, was built in 1715 by Archer, a pupil of Vanbrugh; is in the Italian style, with tower and cupola; and has a very handsome interior, with about 1,800 sittings. St. George's church, in Tower-street, was built in 1822, by Rickman, at a cost of £12,735; is in the decorated English style; consists of nave, chancel, and side aisles, with pinnacled tower 114 feet high; and contains a fine altar-piece and 1,959 sittings. St. Thomas' church, at Holloway Head, was built in 1829, at a cost of £14,222; is in the lonic style, with an almost semicircular front, and a tower 130 feet high, crowned by cupola and cross; figures conspicuously in distant views of the town; and contains about only in distant vews of the lower, at Birmingham Heath, was built in 1833, at a cost of £3,817. St. Peter's church, in Dale End, was built in 1827, at a cost of £19,000; is in the Doric style, with an octagonal turret, after the model of the choragic monument of Lysicrates; and contains an altar-piece of the Ascension, and 1,903 sittings. St. Matthias church, in Farm-street, was founded in 1855; is in the middle pointed style; consists of nave, aisles, chancel, and north and south chapels; and contains 1,151 sittings. St. Mary's church, in St. Mary's square, was built in 1774; and is an octain St. Mary's square, was built in 1714; and is an otta-gonal brick editice, with small stone spire. St. Eartho-lomew's church, in Masshouse lane, was built in 1749, and is a very plain brick structure, but contains a good altar-piece. St. Mark's church, in King Edward-street, was built in 1841, at a cost of £3,100; and is in the mediæval style. St. Paul's church, in St. Paul's square, was built in 1779; has a very beautiful spire, erected in 1823; and is adorned with a window of stained glass, which cost £440. Christ church, in New-street, was built in 1805-1815, at a cost of about £26,000; is in the Roman Doric style, with lofty portico and spire; and contains a carved mahogany altar piece, and about 1,500 sittings. St. Luke's church, in Bristol-road, was built in 1842, at a cost of £3,700; is in the Norman style, with a tower; and contains about 1,200 sittings. Bishop-Ryder's church, in Gem-street, was built in 1838, at a cost of £4,500; and is a neat structure of brick and stone, with a lofty tower. St. Stephen's church, in Newtown Row, was built in 1814, at a cost of £3,220; and is in the Gothic style. St. Jude's church, in Tonk-street, was built in 1851, at a cost of about £2,500; and is in the early English style. Ladywood church, or St. John's-Ladywood, was built in 1851; is in the decorated geometric style; consists of nave, chancel, and aisles, with north-western tower; and contains 1,250 sittings. St. Barnahas' church, in Ryland-street North, was built in 1860, at a cost of about £3,000; is in the decorated English style; and presents to the street a good wide window of seven lights, and a neat broach spire. St. David's church, Nelson-street, is decorated Gothic, was built in 1864, and cost about £6,000. Selly Oak church was built in 1861, and is in the early decorated English style, with tower and spire, 150 feet high. St. Gabriel's church, in Barn-street, was built in 1869, at a cost of £3,200. Immanuel church, in Broad-street, has superseded the former Magdalou chapel. Other churches are noticed in the articles ASTON, ASHIED, DERITEND, BROMWIGH-CASTLE, BORDESLEY, SALTIEY, LOZELLS, EDGBASTON, and KINGS-NORTON.

The Presbyterian church, in Broad-street, was founded in 1848; and is an elegant edifice, in the Italian style, with tower and belfry. The Independent chapel, in Carr's lane, noted for the ministry of the Rev. Angell James, was rebuilt in 1820; has an imposing front, in the Greeian style; and contains about 2,100 sittings. The Independent chapel, in Steelhouse lane, was built in 1818; and is a fine brick edifice, with neat spacious in-The Independent chapel, in Francis-street, Edgbaston, was built in 1855, at a cost of upwards of Englosson, was built in 1855, at a cost of upwards of 27,000; and is in the decorated geometric style, with nave, transepts, tower, and spire. The Moseley Independent chapel was built in 1862; is in an adaptation of the early English style, after designs by Mr. E. Holmes; consists of red brick, with blue and white brick-work in patterns, and Bath stone-dressings; and contains about 1,000 sittings. The Baptist chapel, in Graham-street, was built in 1824; and is a large massive e-lifice, with Doric portico. The Baptist chapel, in Bradford-street, was originally an amphitheatre, converted to its present use, in 1849, at a cost of £1,200; and is a large edifice of cemented brick. The Baptist chapel, in Heneagestreet, was built in 1840, at a cost of upwards of £4,000; and is very neat and commodious. The Baptist chapel, in Bristol-road, was built in 1861, after designs by Cranston, at a cost of about £7,000; is in the early decorated English style; has a tower and spire 130 feet high; and contains about 900 sittings. The Quakers' meetinghouse, in Bull-street, was rebuilt in 1856; and is in plain Italian style, with massive portico. The Unitarian chapel, in Moor-street, a massive re-crection of 1502, on the site of Dr. Priestley's, was sold in 1861 to the Roman Catholics. A chapel in lien of this, in Broad-street, stands over the canal; is called the church of the Messiah; was built in 1862, after designs by Bateman, at a cost of £15,000; and is in the geometric style, with large windows and a spire about 150 feet high. The Methodist chapel, in Cherry-street, was rebuilt in 1823, and is a spacious structure; and several of the other Methodist chapels are handsome buildings, espe-cially one in Martin-street, in decorated Gothic, designed by Mr. Chamberlain, and one at the Lozells, also Gothic, designed by Mr. Band. The Church of the Saviour, in Edward-street, not connected with any sect, was built in 1847; shows a plain exterior; but has a tastefully decorated and very beautiful interior. The Roman Catholic cathedral, in Bath-street, was built in 1838, afor designs by Pugin, at a cost of about £20,000; is in the Gothic style, with two front towers, each 180 feet high; is interiorly cruciform, and richly embellished; and con tains an elaborately carved Flemish pulpit of the 16th century, and relics of St. Chad. The bishop's house, also designed by Pugin, nearly opposite the cathedral, is a fine specimen of the 15th century domestic Gothic. The Oratory, in Hagley-road, Edgbaston, was built in .1852; is a large edifice in the Italian style; and is the residence of a body of priests and laymen, living under the rule of St. Philip Neri, of Florence. The convent in the rule of St. Finith Acrt, of Florence. The convent in Hunter's lane, within a mile of the centre of the town, is occupied by "sisters of mercy;" and includes a richly ornamented chapel. The Jew's ynagogue, in Blucherstreet, was built in 1856, at a cost of about £10,000; is in the Byzantine style, designed by H. R. Thomason; shows in front a triple-arched portico; and is divided in-teriorly by two arcades, each of seven arches.

Schools and Colleges .- The schools within the borough in 1851 were 66 public day schools, with 13,032 scholars: 388 private day schools, with 9,151 s.; and 63 Sunday schools, with 21,406 s. The free grammar school, in New-street, was erected in 1834, after designs by Barry, at a cost of £67,000; is of Derbyshire stone, and in a mixed style of Gothic and Tudor; and has a quadrangular form, 174 feet in front, 125 feet in the flanks, and 65 feet high. The endowment for it belonged originally to the guild of the Holy Cross, founded in 1383; was conveyed to the school, in 1552, by Edward VI.; and now yields about £13,000 a-year, with a prospect of rapid increase. About 255 boys commonly are taught in the classical department, about 215 in the commercial; and there are ten exhibitions of £50 each, for four years, and there are the exhibitions of 250 each, for four years, at Oxford and Cambridge. The Birningham and Edgbaston proprietory school, in Hagley-road, was founded in 1838; is a handsome edifice, in the Tudor style; and gives a classical and commercial education to the sons and nominees of shareholders. The blue-coat school, in St. Philip's churchyard, was built in 1724, enlarged in 1794; is a noble building; and gives free education to commonly about 140 poor boys and 60 girls. The Protestant Dissenters' charity school, in Graham-street, was established about 1760; is a handsome Tudor edifice; and gives clothing and training to about 35 poor girls. The free industrial school, in Gem-street, was built in 1850; is a neat brick edifice; and has commonly an attendance of about 220 children. There are also a boys' reformatory school at Saltley, a girls' reformatory at Smith-wick, and industrial schools in Penn-street and Vale-street.

The diocesan training college, at Saltley, was built in 1852; is a plain yet tasteful editiee, in the domestic style of the 13th century; and trains schoolmasters for the dioceses of Worcester, Lichfield, and Hercford. Queen's college, in Paradise-street, opposite the town-hall, is an edifice in the Gothic style; was chartered in 1843, 1847, and 1852; affords instruction in medicine and surgery, in arts, in laws, in civil architecture and engineering, and in theology; comprises rooms for 70 resident students, lecture halls, chemical laboratory, engineering workshops, model-room, museums, libraries, and a chapel; and possesses a variety of endowments, scholarships, and prize-funds. Sydenham college, in Summerlane, was established in 1851; gives a complete course of medical and surgical education; and contains libraries, laboratories, museums, and all other requisite appliances. Spring Hill college, a theological seminary of the Independent body, has been removed to Moseley, and will be noticed in our article on Moserey.

Arts and Literature.—The Birmingham and Midland Arts and Increase.—The Bliningian and Shahall Institute was incorporated by act of parliament in 1854, has magnificent buildings, designed by E. M. Barry, contiguous to the town-hall, in the Roman style, founded in 1855; promotes literature and industrial science; possesses museums and reading-rooms; and maintains lectures and periodical meetings. A free public library, and a public gallery of art, are attached to the institute. The school of art dates from 1812; occupies a wing of the institute; and is attended by upwards of 600 students, paying fees to the annual amount of nearly £600. The society of artists have a building in New-street, with elegant Corinthian portico, and a large room surmounted by a cupola; and maintain exhibitions of modern paintings every autumn, besides classes for studying figure drawing. The old library, in Union-street, was erected in 1798, and contains upwards of 40,000 volumes. Other public libraries, of various character, exist in connection with institutions, schools, churches, and chapels; a lending free library is in Constitution Hill; and a new free library was contemplated, in 1865, in Deritend. The botanic garden, in Westbourne-road, Edgbaston, was opened in 1829; is charmingly laid out; and contains a great number of choice plants, both tender and handy. There were, in 1865, four weekly newspapers, one daily, one on five days of the week, and a monthly periodical, a kind of local Punch.

Amusements.—The theatre, in New-street, was rebuilt in 1821, at a cost of about £14,000; is a handsome edifice, in the Ionic style, with medallions of Shakespeare and Garrick; underwent a complete renovation in 1825; and is capable of accommodating 2,000 persons. Another thearre, in Broad-street, is an edifice in the pointed style of the 14th century; and has accommodation for upwards of 2,000 persons. A grand musical festival is hell in the town-hall every third year, for the benefit of the general hospital; and generally attracts crowds of strangers. Concerts of a high order also are often given there: balls, lectures, and other entertainments there are not infrequent; and popular concerts are given there every Monday evening, and organ performances every Thursday. Holder's concert-hall measures 116 feet by 72: gives entertainments in all kinds of music; and is open every evening. Day's concert-hall, created in 1862, is an ornamental edifice in the Italian style, and contains a splendid concert-room 130 feet long, 64 feet wide, and 50 feet high, capable of accommodating 2,000 persons. The Museum concert-hall is also a large and handsome building. Assembly and concert rooms are attached to the Royal botel. Bingley half, in Broad-street, was the Royal hotel. Bingley hall, in Broad-street, was erected in 1850 at a cost of about £6,000; is a plain, huge, brick building, in Roman Doric; and serves both as an amphitheatre, and for exhibitions of cattle, pigs, and poultry. There are three public parks, Addelley park, at Saltley, opened in 1856; Calthorpe park, in Pershore road, opened in 1857; and Aston park, noticed in our article on Aston.

Hospitals and Asylums.—The general hospital, in Summer-lane, is an extensive brick-building, commenced in 1766, opened in 1779, extended in 1830 and in 1857. and about to be remodelled in 1865; contains extensive wards for sick inmates, ranges of offices and apartments for officials, and a committee room, with interesting portraits and busts; ministers in the course of a year, on the average, to nearly 4,000 in-patients, and nearly 20,000 cut-patients; makes an annual expenditure of about £10,000; and is supported partly from endowment, partly from the profits of the triennial musical festivals in the town-hall, and mainly by annual subscriptions and other voluntary contributions. The Queen's hospital, in one: voluntary contributions. The Queen's nospitual, B2th-row, was founded in 1840; is a handsome structure of centre and two wings, with a portico; contains 200 b24s, besides fever wards; ministers annually to about 2,200 in-patients and nearly 7,000 ont-patients; and is supported mainly by voluntary contributions. The dis-resary, in Union-street, was erected in 1808, but dates from 1791; ministers yearly to upwards of 6,000 persons; and is supported by subscriptions. The lying-in hospital, in Broad-street, Islington, was founded in 1812; contains 20 beds; and ministers yearly to about 1,130 midwifery cases. The eve infirmary, in Temple-row, was founded in 1824; has wards for in-door patients; and gives relief yearly to about 3,000 cases. The children's hospital. founded in 1862, is in Steelhouse-lane, and has accommodation for in and out-door patients. There is also a Homoopathic hospital in the Old Square. The lunatic asylum, at Birmingham Heath, was founded in 1847, and opened in 1550; is a neat Tudor edifice, within pleasant grounds of about 20 acres; and has accommodation for nearly 400 patients. The licensed victuallers' asylum, in Bristol road, is a handsome Tudor edifice of 1849; and serves as a home for decayed licensed victuallers and their widows. The institution for the blind at Edgbaston, is a large, fine Tudor edifice, built in 1852, at a cost of upwards of £10,000; stands attached to play-grounds and gardees of about two acres; and has accommodation for upwards of 60 blind boarders. There are also an institation for the deaf and dumb, a magdalen asylum, a number of suites of alms-houses, and a variety of other Lenevolent institutions.

Cometries.—The general conetery, at Key Hill, comprises nearly eleven acres; was, in great part, excavated from rock; is tastefully laid out with walks and shrub-reries; has a chapel in the centre; and contains some fine monuments. The Church of England cornetery, near this, was opened in 1848; comprises about nine acres; and has a beautiful cruciform church, in the later English style, with tower and spire. The borcuch centery.

at Witton, was recently formed at a cost of about £75,000; comprices 105 acres; and has two fine chapels, in the decorated English style, each with lofty tower and spire,—also a smaller one for Roman Catholics.

Districts.—The parish of Bitmingham forms a registration district; divided into the sub-districts of St. Martin, St. Philip, St. George, St. Thomas, All Saints, St. Peter, St. Mary, St. Paul, and Ladywood. The poor-law administration is under a local act. Acres, £2,600. Poor-rates in 1806, £120,694. Pop. in 1841, 183,215; in 1861, 212,621. Houses, £2,359. Marriages in 1866, 2,358; births, 8,980,—of which £41 were illegitimate; deaths, 6,090,—of which 2,830 were at ages under 5 years, and 49 at ages above 53 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 20,172; births, 78,720; deaths, 51,233. The workhouse is on the Dudley road, at Birmingham Heath; was erected in 1852, at a cost of £44,476; is an imposing edifice, in the Tudor style, on grounds of nearly fifteen acres; contains accommodation for 1,666 innactes; and includes an asylum for children and a large chapel. The board-room and offices are at the corner of Paradise-street and Suffolk-street; were built at a cost of £5,100; and are in the Hathan style. Workhouse schools for boys were founded in 1869. Workhouse schools for boys were founded in 1869. The portions of the borough not within the parish of Dirmingham are in the districts of Asrox and Kinos-Norrox; which see. The town is salubriously situated; scapes much disease in consequence of the dryness of its soil and air; and had no cases of indigenous cholera in the terrible visitations of 1832 and 1850.

Markets and Trade .- Markets are held on Monday, Thursday, and Saturday; a hay market on Tuesday; corn and cattle markets on Tuesday and Thursday; and fairs for three days, commencing on Whit-Thursday, and on the Thursday nearest to 29 Sept. The market hall, extending from the Bull Ring to Worcester-street, is open every day; was constructed at a cost of about £67,261; is in the Grecian style of architecture, with arched entrances and Doric supports; measures 365 feet in length, 108 feet in width, and 60 feet in height; has accommodation for 600 stalls; and contains a grand ornate fountain, upwards of 18 feet high, constructed at a cost of fully £400. The corn-exchange, in High-street, was built in 1847, at a cost of £6,000; and is divided interiorly into three compartments by rows of Doric pillars, and covered with a glazed roof. Smithfield market, on the site of the ancient residence of the lord of the manor, was constructed in 1816; covers several acres; and is divided into three departments, for the several kinds of beasts. The general trade of the town, intrinsic, inward, and outward, is connected chiefly with its manufactures, and possesses wast facilities in the ramifications of railway and canal. The post-office ; has, in the town and saburbs, 22 receiving houses and a large number of pillar and wall letter-boxes; and at each of 10 of the receiving-houses are a money-order office and a savings' bank. Telegraph offices are at the railway stations, and at the exchange. The banking-offices are Lloyds & Co.'s (which has absorbed Moilliet and Co.'s), the Birmingham bank, the Birmingham Town and District bank, the Birmingham and Midland bank, the Birmingham Joint Stock bank, and branches of the Bank of England and the National Provincial bank. Chief hotels are Nock's Royal, the Stork, the King's Head, the Union, the Swan, the Hen and Chickens, the Queen's (at the North Western station), and a new hotel at the Great Western station.

Manufactures.—Lebnd, in the time of Henry VIII., said of Birmingham:—"There be many smithes in the towne, that used to make knives, and all manour of cuttinge tooles, and many lorimers that make bittes, and a great many naylors; so that a great part of the towne is maintained by smithes." Canaden, in the time of Elizabeth, described it as "swarming with hinbitants, and echoing with the noise of anvils." It made swords by the thousand in the time of Charles I.; reached great improvement in metal-working in the time of Charles II.; began to make fire-arms after the Revolution; and has gone on thence till the present day improving its of trades and adding new ones with an ingenuity, a force, and a magnitude unrivalled in the world. It has been stimulated much by the abundance of coal and iron ore in its neighbourhood, but stimulated far more by its own genius; and, while attaining the highest excellence and the greatest breadth in the working of metals, it has become prominent also in dealing with other materials. The largest establishments are for iron and brass founding; for the rolling, stamping, plating, and drawing of metals; for iron roofs and girders, steam engines and railway wagfor iron roots and greets, steam engines and rainay wag-gons, lamps and gasometers, galvanized iron and metallic bedsteads; and for glass-blowing, coach-making, and brewing. Trades employing large numbers of workpeople are for tools, machines, steel pens, steel toys, keys, locks, screws, bolts, files, buckles, fire-irons, bridle-bits, iron chains, awl-blades, axle-trees, and nails. Trades of a prominent kind on small objects, either useful or funciful, are very numerous and exceedingly various. The trades in buttons, in buckles, and in locks alone, have each in buttons, in buckles, and in locks alone, have each many different branches. The gun trade is of great extent, and includes many departments. Glass-working, besides crown and sheet window-glass, plate glass, stained glass, chandeliers, candelabra, lustres, and similar objects, produces such things as beads, bugles, buttons, hour-glasses, and many kinds of toys. Gold and silver plating and electro-plating consume annually large supplies of the precious metals. For gold and silver goods there is an assay office in the town. Jewellery of all binds and many acts of silver and gold two accurate. kinds, and many sorts of silver and gold toys, are made. Papier mâché, enamelled and japanned, is a staple trade. Bone, whalebone, ivory, and pearl are largely worked. Chemicals, and articles requiring chemical manipulation, are extensively manufactured. Some of the chief establishments worth visiting are, for iron-foundry, the Soho works and Mr. Clifford's rolling mills; for brass foundry, the show-rooms of the Messrs. Winfield, in Cambridge-street; for steel pens, the works of Mr. Joseph Gillott, in Graham-street; for buttons, the Regent works, in Regent-street; for fire-arms, the establishments of Messrs. Westley, Richards, & Co., in High-street, Messrs. Cooper & Goodman, Woodcock-street, and Messrs. Tip-ping and Lawden, on Constitution hill; for glass, the establishment of the Messrs. Osler, in Broad-street; for electro-Plate and silver, the establishment of Messrs. Elkington & Co., in Newhall-street; and for papier mâché, the show-rooms of Messrs. J. Bettridge & Co., in Barr-street At Small Heath, near the town, is the small-arms factory, built and fitted at a cost of more than £60,000, for making rifles by machinery. The factory is the only one of its kind in England, except the government factory at Enfield, and the works of the London armoury company.

The Borough.—Birmingham was incorporated so late a 1838; and it acquired the right of sending two members to parliament by the reform act of 1832, and the right of sending a third by the bill of 1867. It shornigh boundaries, as already noted, include the parishes of Birwinghum and Edebard and the parishes of Birwinghum and B boundaries, as aready noted, increase the parises of Miningham and Edgbaston, and a populous portion of the parish of Aston; yet they exclude the considerable suburbs of Handsworth and Kings-Norton, as well as some smaller ones. The extreme is 53 miles; the mean breadth, 3 miles; and the area, 7,831 acres. The borough is divided into twelve wards—nine of them conterminous with the sub-districts of Birmingham registration district, the other three Edgbaston, Duddleston-cum-Ne-chells, and Deritend and Bordesley; it is governed by a mayor, fifteen aldermen, and forty-eight conneillors; it has a court of quarter sessions, a recorder, and a stipen-diary magistrate; and it is a polling place for the northern division of the county. There are also a bankruptcy court and a county court. The police force consists of 371 and a county court. The police force consists of offmen, costing £25,289 a-year, of which £5,508 is repaid by the imperial treasury. The number of indictable offences committed in 1863 was 883; of persons apprehended, 600; of known depredators and suspected persons at large, 3.554; of houses of bad character, 939. Direct at large, 3,554; of houses of bad character, 939. taxes in 1864, about £200,000. Electors in 1868, 15, 497. Population in 1801, 73,670; in 1821, 106,722; in 1841, 182,922; in 1861, 296,076; in the middle of 1865 (Registrar General's calculation), 327,834. Houses in 1861, 50,060. Some of the most distinguished names connected with the local history of Birmingham are John Baskerville, James Watt, Dr. Priestley, Hutton, the historian, and Murdoch, the inventor of gas; and two of the most distinguished natives were Bishop Smallbroke and Cary, the translator of Dante.

BIRMINGHAM CANALS, artificial lines of naviga-tion radiating from Birmingham, and giving it water communication with most parts of the kingdom. The communication with most parts of the kingdom. If all diminigham canal was formed in 1768-9; is 223 miles long, with several branches; rises 132 feet, by means of 21 locks; goes through Warwickshire and Staffordshire, through the very heart of the mining district, to the Stafford and Worcester canal near Antherley; and opens a communication through the Severn with Shrewsbury, Cloucester, and Bristol; through the Trent with Gainsborough, Hull, and Loudon; and through canal-junction with the Staffordshire Potteries, Manchester, and Liverpool. The Fazeley canal was formed in 1783; is 201 miles long; rises 248 feet, by means of 44 locks: goes through Warwickshire and Staffordshire to Wyrley goes through was weeksmite and Stanfordsmite in Wyrry and Essington canal near Whittington, and the Coventry near Fazeley; and leads the way to Manchester, Hull, Oxford, and London. These two canals were soon anialgamated under the name of the Birmingham and Fazeley canal; and this was leased, under an act of 1846, to the London and North Western railway. Two other canals from Birmingham, the Warwick and Birmingham canal and the Worcester and Birmingham canal, will be noticed in their proper alphabetical places.

BIRMINGHAM RAILWAYS, lines of railway radiating from Birmingham, and giving it railway commu-nication with most parts of the kingdom. These are nication with most parts of the kingdom. These are nine, the Birmingham and Derby, the Birmingham and Gloucester, the Birmingham and Oxford, the Birmingham and Wolverhampton, the Birmingham, Wolverhampton, and Steur Valley, the North Staffordshire, the South Staffordshire, the London and Birmingham, and the Manchester and Birmingham; but the first and the second have been amalgamated with the Midland, the third and the fourth with the Great Western, and the other five with the London and North Western; and they will be noticed in the articles on these heads.

BIRNSTON. See BARNSTON, Essex.
BIRSTALL, a village in Dewsbury district, and a parish in Dewsbury and Bradford districts, W. R. Yorkshire.
The village stands at the terminus of a branch of the Leeds and Dewsbury railway, 7 miles SW of Leeds; has a post-officet under Leeds; and is a polling-place. The parish includes the townships of Gomersal, Heckmondwike, Liversedge, Wike, Cleckheaton, Hunsworth, monawike, Liversedge, Wise, Cleechieauch, Hunsworth, Drighlington, and Tong. Acres, 13,655. Real property, £132,020.,—of which £25,594 are in mines, and £2,719 in quarries. Pop. in 1841, 29,723; in 1861, 43,555. Houses, 9,237. The property is much subdivided. Many of the inhabitants are employed in numerous factories, or in handicrafts connected with them; and not a few are miners of coal and ironstone. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £480. Patron, the Bishop of Ripon. The church was erected in the time of Henry VIII., and was not long ago enlarged. The chapelries of Birkenshaw, Whitechapel, Cleckheaton, Comersul, Wike, Heckmondwike, Liversedge, Robertown, Drighlington, Tong, and Tong-Street are separate benefices. There are several dissenting charities £119. Dr. Priestley was a native. There are several dissenting chapels, and BIRSTALL, or BURSTALL, a chapelry in Belgrave parish, Leicestershire; on the river Soar, 2 miles NW parisi, Leicestersine; on the river Soar, 2 miles Nw of Silebyr, station, and 34 N by E of Leicester. Post town, Belgrave, under Leicester. Acres, 1,250. Rea-property, 23,512. Pop., 405. Houses, 295. The pro-perty is divided among a few. Birstall Hovse is the seat of the Worswicks. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicange of Belgrave, in the diocese of Peterber-ough. The church is modern. There are Paptist and Weslevan chawle and a rational solution.

ough. The church is modern. There are Paptist and Wesleyan chapels and a national school. BHRSTALL-DRUB, a hamlet in Gomersel township, Birstall parish, W. R. Yorkshire. BHRSTWITH, a township and a chapelry in Hampsthwaite parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the river Nidd, and on the Nidd Valley railway, 3 miles WSW of Ripley. It includes the hamlets of Wreakes, Brigg, and Swareliffe, and has a station on the railway, and a Joes-office under Ripley. Acres, 1,670. Real property, 22,401. Pop., 655. Houses, 146.—The chapelry is not quite so extensive as the township; and was constituted in 1857. Pop., 640. Houses, 142. The living is a vizarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, 2200. Patron, F. Greenwood, Esq. The church was built in 1857. There are two Methodist chapels.

BIRT, or Brit (TRIS), a river of Dorset. It rises a little N of Beaminster; and runs 9 miles southward to the channel at Brildworth harbour.

to the channel at Bridgert harbour.

BIRTHORPE, a hamlet in Semperingham parish, Lincoln; 24 miles E by S of Folkingham. Acres, 390. lteal property, £940. Pop., 65. Houses, 11. BIRTHWAITE, a village in Windermere parish, BIRTHWAITE, a village in Windermere parish, Westmoreland; now absorbed in the village of WINDER-

MERE: which see.

BIRTLE, a township, a chapelry, and a sub-district, in the district of Bury, Lancashire. The township bears the name of Birtle-cum-Bamford; is in Middleton parish; and lies near the Manchester and Rosendale railway, 2½ miles NE of Bury. Acres, 1,388. Real property, £7,909,—of which £300 are in mines. Pep., 2,350. Houses, 404. The inhabitants are employed chiefty in cotton and woollen manufactures, and in calico printing. The chapelry consists of part of this township and part of Eury parish, and was ensitiuted in 1848. Pop., 2,135. Houses, 353. The living is a vic-arage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £180. Pa-tron, the Rector of Middleton. The church was built in 1849. There are three dissenting chapels.—The sub-district comprises parts of two parishes. Pop., 4,758. BIRTLE, a hamlet in Lunedale township, Romald-Kirk parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 54 miles NW of Barnard-Castle. chiefly in cotton and woollen manufactures, and in calico Castl BIRTLE-CUM-BAMFORD. See BIRTLE, Lancashire. BIRTLES, a township-chapelry in Prestbury parish, Cheshire; 23 miles W by N of Macelesfield r. station. Chestify, Alderley, under Congleton. Ares, 460. Real property, £980. Pop. 78. Houses, 11. Birtles Hall is the seat of T. Hibbert, Esq. A Roman urn and some other Roman relies have been found. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Chester. Value, £50.

is a p. curacy in the discourse Patron, T. Hibbert, Esq.
BIFTLEY, a township and a chapelry in Chester-leStreet rarish, Durham. The township lies on the Team BIRTLEY, a township and a chapelry in Chester-le-Street parish, Durham. The township lies on the Team Valley railway, 5 miles S by E of Gateshead; and has a post-off-eet nuder Fence-Houses, and a r. station. Acres, 1392. Real property, £11,539,—60 which £1,530 are in nines, and £6,500 in iron-works. Pop., 2,246. Houses, 383 The property is divided among a few. Coal is worked; and there is a brite spring. The chapelry was constituted in 1850. Pop., 3,838. Houses, 710. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Durham. Value, £300. Patron, the Rector of Chester-le-Street. The church was built in 1848. There are Wesleyan and Roman Catholic chapels, and a literary institute man Catholic chapels, and a literary institute.

BIRTLEY, or RIEKLEY, a parochial chapelry in Bellingham district, Northumberland; on the North Tyne river and on the Border Counties railway, near Wark statior, 5 miles SE of Bellingham. It was disjoined in 1765 from the parish of Chollerton; it includes the town-1763 from the parish of Unditerton; it includes the township of Broomhope and Buteland; and its post-town is Wark, under Hexham. Acres, 6,720. Rated property, £3,123. Pop., 404. Houses, 80. The property is divided among six. Coal and other useful minerals occur. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Durham. Value, £122. Patron, the Duke of Northumberland.

Value, £122. Fatron, the Duke of Northumberland. The church is not good.

BiltTSMORTON, a parish in Upton-on-Severn districe, Worcester; under the Malvern hills, 5½ miles SW of Upton-on-Severn r. station, and 7 WNN of Tewkeshury. Past-town, Berrow, under Sethery. Acres, 1,268. Real property, £2,101. Pop., 250. Houses, 63. The property is much subdivided. The manor was long held by the ancient Cornish family of Naufaus; and the acres them a very surject of different matter round, and manor-house a very uncient of hee, mosted round, and now a farm-house, was the birthplace of the Right Hon. W. Huskisson. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £430. Patron, C. Pilson, Esp. The church contains several carious ancient monuments, and was repaired in 1859. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a parochial school, and charties £20.

BISBROOK, a parish in Uppingham district, Rutland, 1½ mile E of Uppingham, and 2 NW of Seaton r. station. Post-town, Uppingham. Acres, 720. Real property, £2,031. Pop., 266. Houses, 58. The property shivided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £252. Patron, the Duke of Rutland. The church is good.

PISCATHORPE, or BESSERTHORPE, a parish in Louth district, Lincoln; on the river Bane, 8 miles WSW of Louth r. station. Post-town, Donington, under Louth. Acres, 1,650. Real property, £1,370. Pop., 90. Houses, 11. The property is divided among a few. The living is annexed to Gayton-le-Wold.

few. The living is annexed to Gayton-le-Woid.
BISCOTT, a chaplery in Luton parish, Reist; 3 miles NW of Luton. It was formed in 1866. Pop., 781. Living, a p. curney. Value, 2200. Patron, J. S. Crawlev, Esq.
BISCOVAY, or PAR, a chapelry in St. Blazer and Tywardreath parishes. Cornwall; on the coast and on the Cornwall railway, 14 mile S of Par station, and 5 SSW of Lostwithiel. It has a post-office, of the name of Riscovar, under Par station. It was constituted in of Biscovay, under Par station. It was constituted in 1845. Rated property, £3,237. Pop., 2,327. Houses, 483. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £150. Patron, alternately the Crown and the Bishop. The church is good.

189

BISHAM, or BYSHAM-MONTAGUE, -anciently BUS-TLEHAM,—a parish in Cookham district, Berks; on the river Thames, 2 miles W by N of Cookham r. station, and 4 NW of Maidenhead. It has a post-office, of the and 4 N of macrehicad. It has a post-onne, or in mane of Bisham, under Maidenhead. Acres, 2,520. Real property, £5,491. Pep., £65. Houses, 136. The property is divided among a few. Bisham Abbey is the seat of C. Vansittart, Esq. A pointed doorway, an octagonal tower, and a hall are part of an ancient monastic different content of the marginal in the state of the content of the state of the content of the state of the edifice: and the rest of the mansion is of the ancient style of the Tudor architecture. The hall was tastefully restored in 1859; and has at one end a dark oak gallery, at the other, a beautiful ancient lancet window. The scenery of the grounds of the mansion is very fine, and has engaged the pencil of some eminent artists. A preceptory of Knights Templars was carly founded here; passed, in the reign of Stephen, to other knights; was converted into an Augustinian priory, in 1338, by Montacute, Earl of Salisbury; was changed into a Benedictine abbey, a short time before the dissolution, by Henry VIII.; was afterwards given, by that king, to his repudiated wife, Anne of Cleves; was conveyed by her to Sir Philip Hobby, in exchange for his house in Kent; and was for three years the residence, under its owner's guardianship, of the Princess Elizabeth, afterwards Queen Elizabeth. The barn of the priory, the old most Queen Elizabeth. The barn of the priory, the old most round the garden, and the spring which supplied the Princess Elizabeth's bath, still remain. There was an extensive copper factory at Temple-mills; but it was recently converted into a paper factory. The living is a vicarage in the discusse of Oxford. Value, £155.* Parton, G. Vanstitat, Fs. The church shows some traces of Norman architecture; but was destructively modernical wards of the property of the p ized about 1810, and restored in better taste a few years ago; and it contains some grand monuments of the Hobbys. Many persons of high historical note, especially Earls of Salisbury, Neville the king-maker, the famous Marquis of Montague, and Edward the last Plan-famous Marquis of Montague, and Edward the last Plantagenet, were buried in the abbey; but the monuments of all have disappeared. The vicatage of Stubbings is a separate charge. There is a untional achool.

BISHAMPTON, a parish in Pershore district, Worcester; in the vale of Eveslam, 31 miles N by W of Pladbury r. station, and 43 NE of Pershore. Post-town, Pershore. Acres, 2,119. Real property, £2,519. Pop. 469. Houses, 195. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester.

Value, £103.* Patron, the Bishop. The church was about to be rebuilt in 1869. There is a Baptist chapel. BISH-MILLS, a hamlet in Bishops-Nympton parish,

BISHOP AND CLERKS, a group of rocks 2 miles W of Ramsey Island, and 4 SW of St. David's Head, in Pembroke. A lighthouse stands on one of them, built in 1839, with a red revolving light, 144 feet above high-water level, seen every 20 seconds. The Nimrod steamer was wrecked on these rocks in February 1860; when all on board perished.

BISHOP-AUCKLAND, a town, a township, and a sub-district, in the district of Auekland, Durhain. The town stands on an eminence about 140 feet high, between town stands on an eminence about 140 teet high, between the rivers Wear and Gaunless, near their point of conflu-ence, and adjacent to the Weardale railway, 101 miles NNW of Darlington. It took its name from the vicinity of the Bishop of Durham's palace, conjoined with an-cient abundance of oak woods; and it was formerly a cient abundance of oak woods; and it was formerly a borough by prescription. It has pleasant environs; and is well-built and neat. It has a post-officet under Dar-lington, a railway station, two banking-offices, two chief inns, a spacious town-hall, a church, seven non-established chapels, a grammar-school, two other endowed schools, a workhouse, and alms-houses; is a seat of petty sessions and a polling place; and publishes two weekly news-The town-hall stands in the centre of the town, adjoining the church; was built in 1862, at a cost of about £8,500; has a groined principal entrance, surmounted by a neat stone balcony; is crowned by angle-roofs with iron pallisading, and with a spire 100 feet high; and contains a large music hall, and offices for the Board of Health. The church is modern, and ranks as a chapel to the charge of Auckland-St. Andrew. Wesleyan chapel, in nodified Italian style, was built in 1856. The other non-established chapels are for Independents, Presbyterians, Quakers, two Method-ist bodies, and Poman Catholics. The grommar-school was founded by James I., and has £38 from endowment; and one of the other endowed schools was founded by Bishop Barrington, and has £367. The episcopal palace stands on the NE side of the town, in a fine park of 800 acres, on the river Gaunless, with charming views; was built by Bishop Cosins, on the site of a previous one by Bishop Beck; underwent restoration and extension, with fine entrance Gothic gateway and screen, by Bishop Barrington, after designs by Wyatt; and contains several Barrington, after designs by Wyatt; and contains several valuable old pointings, by the Italian masters. Newton-Cap bridge, in the vicinity, over the river Wear, was built in 1390, and has two arches, the one circular and 101 feet in span, the other pointed and 91 feet in span. A weekly market is held in the town on Thursday, and fairs on Holy Thursday and the following day, on 1 June, and on the Thursday before 11 Oct. Pop., 6480 Hauses 1.186.—The fownshin includes most 6,480. Houses, 1,186.—The township includes most of the town, extends into the country, and is in the parish of St. Andrew-Auckland. Aeres, 1,919. Real patish of St. Andrew-Auckland. Acres, 1,919. Real property, £18,061,—of which £2,300 are in mines. Pop., 7,279. Houses, 1,333. Coal and limestone are worked, and cotton manufactures are carried on. Extensive engineering and edge-tool works were established in 1862, Parkhare breaches & Parkhare Theories and 1862, and have branches at Bedburn .- The sub-district comprises twenty-three townships and a parochial chapelry.

Aeres, 23,545. Pop., 34,878. Houses, 6,612.

BISHOP-BURTON, or Lourn-Burton, a parish in Beverley district, E. R. Yorkshire; on the Wolds, 3 miles Wolds of Burley Williams on the Rishop-Burton, or Lourn-Burton, a parish in Beverley district, E. R. Yorkshire; on the Wolds, 3 miles Wolf Burgalay extrain. miles W of Beverley r. station. It has a post-office, of the name of Bishop-Durton, under Beverley. Acres, 3,970. Real property, £7,778. Pop., 499. Houses, 102. The property is divided among a few. A residence of the Archibictors of Vock was formedly less. 102. The property is divided among a few. A residence of the Archbishops of York was formerly here. Bishop-Burton Hall is the seat of the Watts. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £100. Fatrons, the Dean and Chapter of York. The clurch commands a fine view, and is good. There are a Baptist chapel, an archaeogle-shool with £20, and almost assumed to the season with £22. endowed school with £20, and almsheuses with £72.

DISHOPDALE, a township in Aysgarth parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 44 miles SE of Askrigg. Acres, 4,805. Teap property, £1,925. Teap, 87. Houses, 17. The surface is an upland vale, traversed by a rivulet of 8 miles, triangle of the surface is an upland vale. butary to the Ure. The vale is picturesque; and the rivulet makes a fine fall, called Foss Gill.

BISHOPDOWN. See BISHOPSDOWN. BISHOPHILL. See YORK. BISHOPLEY. See NEWLANDSIDE.

BISHOPLEY. BISHOP MIDDLEHAM, a township and a parish in took ton district. Durham. The township lies on the Stockton district, Durham. The township lies on the river Skern. 23 miles SE of Ferryhill r. station, and 81 SSE of Durham; and has a post-office under Ferryhill. Acres, 2,023. Real property, £2,941. Pop., 432. Houses, 100. The parish contains also the townships of Mainsforth, Cornforth, Thrislington, and Garmondswayacanisiorun, cominorun, infrisington, and Garmondsway-moor. Acres, 5,971. Real property, £7,233. Pop., 2,272. Houses, 475. The property is subdivided. The manor was once a seat of the Bishops of Durham. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £285.* Fatron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good; and there are charities £32.

BISHOP-MONKTON, a township-chapelry in Ripon BISHOP-MONATON, a township-chapelry in Ripon parish, W. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the Northeastern railway, 1½ mile NE of Wormald-Green station, and 4 SSE of Ripon. I thas a post-office under Ripon. Acres, 2089. Real property, 23,734. Pop., 444. Houses, 112. The property is subdivided. The living is a peuracy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £100. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Ripon. The church is good. BISHOP-MORCHARD or Moreuren BISHOP-MORCHARD or Moreuren Bishop a wil-

BISHOP-MORCHARD, or Morchard-Bishop, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Crediton district, Devon. The village stands 21 miles ENE of a station on the North Devon railway, called Morchard Road, and of the North Devon I alway, that a post-office; of the designation of Morehard Bishop, North Devon; and a fair is held at it on the Monday after 9 Sept.—The parish tar is need at to it the Monay areas seen.—The patient includes also several small hamlets. Acres, 7,088. Real property, £8,361. Pop., 1,658. Houses, 362. The property is subdivided. The manor formerly belonged to the Dishops of Exeter. Earton House is a fine edifice. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £533.* Patron, Rev. R. Bartholomew. The church consists of nave, chancel, and aisles, with a tower; is a neat structure; was not long ago repaired; and contains several monuments. There are chapels for Independents and Bible Christians. -The sub-district contains ten parishes.

Bible Christians.—Inc sub-distinct contains ten parishes. Acres, 27,659. Pop., 4,569. Houses, 964. BISHOP-MORLEY'S COLLEGE, an extra-parochial tract within Winchester city, Hants. Pop., 25.

Houses, 9.

BISHOP-NORTON, a township and a parish in Caistor district, Lincoln. The township lies on the river tor district, Lincoln. The townshift hes of the first Ancholme, near Ermine-street, 6 miles SSE of Kirton-Lindseyr, station, and 71 WNW of Market-Rasen. Red property, £4,019. Pop., 334. Houses, 82.—The parish includes also the township of Atterby; and its post-town menudes also the township of Atterby; and its post-town is Glentham, under Market-Rasen. Acres, 4,240. Real property, £5,373. Pop., 459. Houses, 104. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £185.* Patron, the Prebendary of Bishop-Norten. The church is good. There are two Methodist chapels.

BISHOP-ROCK, an insulated rock of the Scilly Isles; westward of the main group, and 7 miles distant from Hugh Town. It is nearly covered at high water. A cast-iron light-house was nearly completed on it in 1850, but was then swept away by a gale; and a grantie light-house was then planned, took two years to be founded, and was successfully completed.

BISHOP-RYDER. See BIRMINGHAM. BISHOPSBOURNE, a parish in Bridge district, Kent; adjacent to the Dover and Canterbury railway, near Adisham station, 4 miles SF. by S of Canterbury. It has a rost-office under Canterbury. Acres, 2,002. Real propost-office under Canterbury. Aeres, 2,002. Real property, £2,739. Pop., 416. Houses, 75. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged once to the Archbishops of Canterbury, and afterwards to the Colepeppers and the Auchers. Bourne Park is the seat of M. Bell, Esq. Some Saxon barrows, on the Ligher tround, were opened in 1844. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £700.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church is perpendicular English; was restored in 1843; has a modern east window of five lights, with armorial bearings; and contains the monument of Hooker, exhibiting his bust, in a square cap and gown. Hooker was rector from 1895 till his death in 1600 and the parsonner thouse from the contains the contai his death in 1600; and the parsonage, though greatly modernized, retains parts which probably were in it in Hooker's time.

BISHOPS-BURTON. See BISHOP-BURTON.

BISHOPS-CANNINGS, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Devizes, Wilts. The village district, in the district of Devizes, Wilts. The village stands on the Kent and Avon canal, 1½ mile Sof Wans Dyke, and 3 NE of Devizes r. station, and has a post-office under Devizes.—The parish includes the tythings of Bourton, Easton, Chittoe, Coate, and Horton, and the chapelry of St. James or Southbroom. Aeres, 12,641. Real property, 211,114. Pop., 4,662. Houses, 750. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged, till the time of Henry VII. to the ancient family of Capazza. the time of Henry VII., to the ancient family of Canynge. the time of Henry VII., to the ancient family of Canyage. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £395.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury. The church is early English, with Anglo-Norman interior; is supposed to have been built about the same time as Salisbury cathedral; was interiorly renovated in 1829; and contains an organ which cost £440, the gift of William Baley, a native, who went round the world with Captain Cook. The chapelries of Chittoe and Southbroom are separate charges.—The sub-district contains seven parishes and parts of two others. Acres,

22,892 Pop., 3,812. Houses, 854.
BISHOPS-CASTLE, a small town, a parish, a subdistrict, and a division in Clun district, Salop. district, and a division in Chin district, Salop. The town stands on a declivity, 3 miles W of the river Onny, 4½ E of Offa's Dyke, and 9½ WSW of Church-Stretton. Railways from the Shrewsbury and Hereford line, by way of Eishops-Castle, to the Oswestry and Newtown line, were authorized in 1861; and a branch from the Craven-Arnıs station to Bishops Castle was opened in 1866. A castle of the Bishops of Hereford once stood here, but was long ago destroyed. The town is irregularly built, and presents a poor appearance. It has a head post-office, a banking-office, two chief inns, a townhall, a market-house, a church, two dissenting chapels, a free school with £48, and other charities with £13. The church occupies the site of one burnt in the civil wars; was, with the exception of its old square tower, rebuilt in 1861; is in the early pointed style; and comprises nave, chancel, aisles, transepts, and vestry. A weekly market is held on Friday; and fairs on the second Monday of Jan., the Friday before 13 Feb., 26 March, the Friday after 1 May, the second Monday of June, 5 July, 9 Sept., the second Monday of Oct., and 13 Nov. The town sent two members to parliament till disfranchised by the act of 1832; it possesses a corporation, but not regulated by the municipal corporation act; and it not regulated by the minimipal corporation are, many is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place. Real property, 26,872. Pop. 1,778. Houses, 383. The parish extends beyond the borough liberties; and includes the townships of Broughton, Colebatch, Woodbatch, and Leowith-Oakeley. Acres, 5,619. Real property, £11,512. Pop., 2,083. Houses, 434. The property is divided among a few. The manor belongs to the Earl of Powis. Bishops-Mote, on a high hill, a mile W of the town, is Bisings-store, of a mga min, a mine who it nection, is an ancient entrenchment of nearly an acre. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £350.* Patron, the Earl of Powis.—The sub-district contains The living four parishes and the greater part of two others. Acres, 16,831. Pop., 2,924. Houses, 590.—The division is part of Purslow hundred, and contains eight parishes and part of another. Ares. 36,394. Pop., 4,652. Houses, 908.

BISHOPS-CAUNDLE. See CAUNDLE-BISHOP. BISHOPS CHERITON. See CHERITON-BISHOPS.

BISHOPS-CLEEVE, a township in Wischeombe district, and a parish in Wincheombe and Tewkesbury districts, Gloucester. The township lies 17 mile E of Cleeve r. station, and 3 N by E of Cheltenham; and has a postoffice under Cheltenham. Real property, £3,950. Pop., 703. Houses, 184.—The parish includes also the hamlets of Gotheringtone, Woodmancete, Stoke-Orchard, and Southam and Brockhampton. Acres, 8,150. Real property, £15,107. Pop., 1,970. House, 486. The property in unch subdivided. The Cleeve hills, along the E, perty is much subdivided. The Cleeve hills, along the E, have a crescent-shaped ancient British camp, and the race-ground of the Cheltenham races; and exhibit brilliant scenery of cliff and wood. There are mineral springs. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloncester and Bristol. Value, £2,000.* Patron, the Rev. V. L. Townsend. The church exhibits features from early Norman downward; is cruciform and large; and has a central tower, of modern construction. The parsonage was at one time the residence of the Bishops of Worgestor. There are Judgmendert and Bartist clauses.

sonage was at one time the resulence of the Bishops of Worcester. There are Independent and Baptist chapels and a national school. BISHOPS-CLIST, a locality in Clist-St. Mary parish, Devon; 2½ miles NNE of Topsham, with a post-office nuder Exeter. It was anciently the site of the seat of the Bishops of Exeter, and of an hospital founded by Bishop Stapleton.

DISHOPS-COURT, the seat of the Bishop of Sodor and Man, in Kirkmichael parish, Isle of Man; 81 miles WSW of Ramsey. It is a Gottic edifice, restored by Bishops Wilson and Murray; and stands amidst extensive, ornate, picturesque grounds.

BISHOPSDOWN, a hamlet in Caundle-Bishop parish,

District 44 miles SSE of Sherborne. Pop., 73.
BISHOPS FEE, a liberty in St. Margaret's parish, within the borough of Leicester.

BISHOPS-FONTHILL, a parish in Tisbury district, Wilts; 2 miles ENE of Hindon, and 3 N of Tisbury r. Station. Post-town, Hindon, under Salisbury. Acres, 1,735. Real property, with Chilmark and Rudge, £5,008. Pop., 187. Houses, 43. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £246. Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The Post-town, Hindon, under Salisbury. Acres, church is early English, and in fair condition. Chari-

BISHOPS-FROME, a township and a sub-district in BISHOPS-FROMF, a township and a sub-district in Bromyard district, and a parish in Bromyard and Ledbury districts, Herelond. The township lies on the river Frome, 4 miles S of Bromyard, and 5½ N of Ashperton r. station; and has a post-office under Worcester. Real property, £2,322. The parish includes also the townships of Hailmonds-Frome, Leaden, Walton, Stanford-Regis, and Eggleton. Acres, 4,550. Real property, £11,367. Pop., 1,014. Houses, £15. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the discess of Hereford. Value, £608.° Patron, the Rev. J. Hopton. The church was built in 1862; is in the Norman style; and consists of nave, chancel, north aiske. man style; and consists of nave, chancel, north aisle, and vestry, with a tower. -The sub-district contains seven parishes and the greater part of another. Acres, 22,305. Pop., 4,439. Houses, 941.
BISHOPSGATE, a hamlet on the N border of Surrey; adjacent to the Great Park of Windsor, near Virginia water. It lies amid charming scenery; and was the place where the poet Shelley wrote his "Alaster."

BISHOPS-HAMPTON. See HAMPTON-LUCY. BISHOPS-HATFIELD. See HATFIELD-BISHOPS.

BISHOPS-HULL, a parish in Taunton district, Somerset; adjacent to the Bristol and Exeter railway, 12 mile W of Taunton. It has a post-effec under Taunton. W of Taunton, It has a post-caree mace Taunton, Acres, 1,31. Real property, £10,567. Pop. 1,614. Houses, 221. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £222. Patron, the Rev. W. P. Williams. St. John's is a separate vicarage, formed in 1864. There are an Ina separate visuales, combot from Free are an independent chapel, a national school, and charities £50.

BISHOPSIDE (Hurt and Low), a township in Ripon parish, W. R. Yorkshire: on the river Nield, I miles WSW of Ripon. It includes the town of Pateley-Bridge, and the hamlets of Fell-Beck, Raikes, Smelthouse, Waths, Whitehouses, and Wilsil. Acres, 5,813. Real Waths, Whitehouses, and Wilsil. Acres, 5,813. Real property, 26,180. Pop., 2,952. Houses, 439. BISHOPS:TCHINGTON, a parish in Southam district, Watwick; on the river Itchin and on the Oxford and Rugby railway, 2 miles SSE of Harbury station, and 31 SW of Southam. It has a post-office under Rugby. Acres, with Chapel-Ascote, 3,026. Real preperty, £4,536. Pop., 593. House, 131. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicerage, united with the p. curaies of Chadshunt and Caydon, in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £416.* Patron, the Bishop of Lichfield. The church is good; and there are an 1u dependent chapel, a national school, and charities £92.

BISHOPS-LAYINGTON. See LAYINGTON (WEST).

See LAVINGTON (WEST). BISHOPS LYDEARD, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Taunton, Somerset. The village stands near the Quantock hills, adjacent to the lage stands near the Quantock Inits, adjacent to the Taunton and Watchet railway, 5 miles NAW of Taunton; and has a station on the railway, a post-office; under Taunton, and a fair on 5 April. The parish includes the tythings of Lydeard-Punchardon, Town, Church, East Bagborough, Quantock-Hill, East Coombe, Cames-Ash, Ash-Week, and Free, and the hanlet of Kenley-Bottom. Acres, 4,686. Real property, £9,086. Pop., 1,459. Houses, 292. The property is divided among a 1,459. Houses, 292. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicatage in the dioeese of Eath and Wells. Value, £120. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Wells. The church has a very heartiful tower, in perpendicular English, of the time of Henry VII.; and was repaired in 1860. There are two sculptured crosses in the churchyard, an Independent chapel, a parechial school, a petty sessions court-house, ten alms-houses with £126 a-year, and other charities £40. The Rev. F. Warre, who became vicar in 1836, is known for learned local researches. - The sub-district contains nine parishes.

local researches.—In e sur-usance Pop., 4,030. Houses, 811. BISHOPS-NYMPTON, a village and a parish in South-Molton district, Devon. The village stands 31 initial Molton district, Devon. The village stands 32 initial Road SE of South-Molton, and S ENE of South-Molton Road r. station; and has a rost-office under South-Molton, and fairs on the third Monday of April, and on the Wednesday before 25 Oct. The parish includes also the hamlets of Bish-Mills, Ash-Mills, and Newton. Acres, 9,579. Real property, £8,476. Pop., 1,198. Houses, 248. The property is subdivided. A fine old mansion at the village was formerly the seat of the Bassetts and others, and is now the seat of A. Fisher, Esq. A large mansion, called the Parsonage, is believed to have been a residence of the Bishop of Exeter. Limestone abounds: and there is a large woollen factory. The living is a vicarage in the diocesc of Exeter. Value, £298.* Yatron, the Bishop of Exeter. The church is a fine ancient edifice, of nave, chancel, and south aisle, with a pinnacled tower about 100 feet high; was restored in 1869; and contains an elegant screen and a rich monument of the Pollard family. There are chapels for Wesleyan Methodists and Bible Christians.

Bishops-Offlow, or Bishops-Offley, a town-ship in Adbaston parish, Stafford; 31 miles W of Eccleshall. It includes Outlands hamlet. Real property, 1,519. Pop., 200. Houses, 46. BISHOPS-SPARKFORD, a tything in St. Faith parish, within the city of Winchester, Hants. Real pro-

Pist, while the city of the perty, £502. Pop., 191.

BISHOPS-STORTFORD, or Bishop-Stortford, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Herts. The town stands on the river Stort, and on the Eastern Counties railway, 12 miles ENE of Hertford, and 221 NNE of London. A castle was built here by William the Conqueror, and given to the Bishops of John Bishop Bonner used the ruin as a gad; and burnt a martyr on Goose-green. The town stands partly on the side of a hill; consists principally of tour streets, in the form of a cross; and contains many respectable buildings. It has a head post-office, a railway station with telegraph, three banking-offices, two chief iuns, a market house, two churchos, three dissent-ing chapels, several public schools, alms-houses, and a workhouse. The market-house was built in 1823; a workhouse. The markerhouse was built in 1825; has a handsone Ionie froot; and contains a large public I all. The parish church is later English, spacious and elegant; and has a lefty tower and spire. Newtown church was built in 1859, and is in the early English style. The Independent chapel was built in 1860, and is in the Italian style. The Wesleyan chapel, in the Gothic style, was built in 1867. The diocesau training college for sixty school-mistresses, was erected in 1851, at a cost of £12,000. The grammar-school was founded in 1579; and counts among its pupils Sir II. Channeey, In 1319; and counts among its pupus Sir II. Chainney, the county historian. The workhouse cost £11,555; and can accommodate 400 persons. A church estate yields £107 a-year; and other charities £66. A weekly market is held on Thursday, and fairs on Holy Thursday, tho Thursday after Trimty Sunday, and 11 Oct. Malting is extensively carried on in numerous malt-houses. A railway from the Eastern Counties line at Bishops-Stortford, to the Braintree branch at Braintree, was opened in May 1869; and was to be joined, at Dunnow, by a branch from the Epping. The river Stort has been made navigable from Bishops-Stortford to the Lea at Roydon. Pop. of the town, 4,673. Houses, 953. The parish comprises 3,241 acres. Real property, £25,743. Pop., 5,390. Houses, 1,049. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Houses, 1,049. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Rochester, Value, £419. Patron, the Precentor of St. Paul's. Newtown vicatage is a separate benefice, in the patronage of the Vicar. Value, £300. Hockerill vicatage also is a separate benefice. See Hockerill vicatage also is a separate benefice. See Hockerill vicatage and the sub-district contains the parishes of Bishops-Stortford, Great Hadham, Little Hadham, and Farnham,—the last electorally in Essex. Aeres, 12,385. Pop., 7,982. Houses, 1,598. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Braughin, containing the parishes of Pranchic Albary Europe. Pelham Stocking Palbars braughin, Albury, Furneux-Pelham, Stocking-Pelham, and Brent-Pelham; the sub-district of Sawbridgeworth, containing the parishes of Sawbridgeworth, Thorley, Greet Hallingbury, and Little Hallingbury, -the two latter electorally in Essex; and the sub-district of Stansted, containtorally in Essex; and the sub-district of Stansted, containing the parishes of Stansted Mountlitcht, Birchanger, Elsenham, Henham, Ugley, Berden, and Manuden,—all electorally in Essex. Acres, 53,689. Poor-rates in 1866, 213,855. Pop. in 1861, 20,212. Houses, 4,186. Marriages in 1866, 132; births, 631,—of which 36 were filleritimate; deaths, 382,—of which 114 were at ages under 5 years, and 17 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,115; births, 6,368; deaths, 3,633. The places of worship in 1851 were 22 of the Church of The places of worship in 1851 were 22 of the Church of England, with 7,018 sittings; 11 of Independents, with 3,540 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 199 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 200 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 620 s.; 1 of Frintitive Methodists, with 70 s.; and 1 undefined, with 60 s. The schools were 29 public day schools, with 2,413. scholars; 31 private day schools, with 588 s.; and 26 Sunday schools, with 2,171 s.

BISHOPS SUTTON, a parish and a hundred in Hants. The parish is in Alresford district; lies on the river Arle, 11 mile SE of Alresford r. station, and 81 SW of Alton; and has a post-office under Alresford. Acres, 3,510. Real property, £3,916. Pop., 557. Houses, 114. The property is divided among a few. The manor was early acquired by the Bishops of Winehester, and had a palace of theirs, which is now traccable in nothing but the alleged site of their kennel. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Ropley, in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £350.* Patron, Mrs. Deacese of Windlester. Value, 2000. a Patron, Airs. Dea-con. The church is partly Norman, partly early de-corated; and contains a good brass of the 15th century,— The hundred is in Alten division, and consists of lower The hundred is in Alton division, and consists of lower half, containing Bishops-Sutton and two other parishes, and upper half, containing Bighton and two other parishes. Acres, 10,373 and 6,392. Pop., 1,615 and 1,074. Houses, 320 and 203.

BISHOPS-TACHIBROOK, a parish in the district and country of Warnish or a collection of the principle.

county of Warwick; on an affluent of the river Avon, near the Fossé way, 21 miles SW of Learnington r. station, and 31 SE of Warwick. It includes the hamlet of tion, and 34 SE of Warwies. It includes the maintain Tachbrook-Mallory and a place called the Asps; and its post-town is Whitmash, under Learnington. Acres, 3,416.

Peal paperts: 64 413. Pop., 603. Houses, 140. The post-con is windasin, duder Leathington. Acres, 5,3-10. Real property, £4,413. Pop., 603. Houses, 140. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £543. Patron, the Bishop of Lichfield. The church shows Norman traces, and contains some fine monuments. A school Las an endowed income of £10, and other charities £5.

BISHOPS-TAWTON, a village, a parish, and a subdistrict, in the district of Barnstaple, Devon. The village stands on the river Taw, near the North Devon rage stands on the river raw, near the Aorth Devon railway, 2 miles S by E of Barnstaple; and has a post-cities under Earnstaple. It was the seat of the see of Devonshire, from the division of the see of Sherborne in 905 till the removal of the bishops to Crediton; and in eyo the tree removal of the bishops to treation; and it possesses some remains of the episcopal palace. The parish includes Newport, the suburb of Barnstaple. Acres, 4,263. Real property, Ey,742. Pop. 1,857. Houses, 350. The projecty is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Bishops of Devonshire; but was conveyed, in 1550, to the Russell family; and belongs now to the Duke of Bedford. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £440. Patron, the Dean of Exeter. The church is an ancient edifice of nave, aisle, and chancel, with low square tower; was partially restored in 1849; and contains monuments of the Bouchiers, Earls of Bath. The p. curacy of Newof the Bouchiers, Earls of Path. The p. curacy of New-port isas-sparate benefice.—The sub-district contains eight perishes. Acres, 26,709. Pop., 6,307. Houses, 1,305. BISHOPS-TEIGNTON. a village and a parish in Newton-Abbot district, Devon. The village stands on the river Teign, near the South Devon railway, 2 miles W by S of Teigmouth; and has a post-office under Teigmouth. The parish includes also the hamlets of Coombe and Luton. Acres, 4,748; of which 365 are water. Real property, 27,508. Pop., 974. Houses, 219. The property is divided among three. The manor of Bishops Teignton belongs to the Compus Lamily; that of Lutera to Lord Clifford. A mansion and a sanctuary were built in the parish by Bishop Grandison; and remains of the former exist in a barn at Radaway. The living is a vicarage, united till 1866 in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £ with Luton ch., Value, £215.* Patron, the Rev. W. R. Ogle. The parish church is a neat Gothic editice of nave, chancel, and aisles, with a tower and spire, erected in 1815; and the church of Luton is a Cothic structure of nave and chancel. A school has an endowed income of £40, and other charities £12

BISHOPSTOKE, a village and a parish in Winchester district, Hants. The village stands on the river Itrhen, about a mile E of a station of its own name on the Southwestern railway, whence the branches go off toward Gosport and Salisbury, and 63 miles NNE of Southampton. It is large and well built; includes a Suthampton. It is large and well built; includes a spatious cheese-market, a square enclosure with sheds and stores, constructed in 1852; and has a post-officer under Winchester. A hotel, with posting establishment, a ljoins the rullway station. The parish comprises 3,360 ares. Real property, £3,342. Pop., 1,390. Houses, 2:1. The projectly is divided among a few. The manor was held, in the time of Edward VI., by Bishop Bale. The villa and fine gardens of the Garnier family noticed by Lowloa are here. The living is a rectory in the dio-care of Winehester. Value, 2407.* Patron, the Bishop of Winehester. The church was built in 1825, and has a square tower. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

EISHOPS POKE, Gloucester. See STOKE-BISHOP. BISHOPSIONA, Choncester, See STORE-BISHOP, BISHOPSION, a chaplery in Horfield parish, Glorester, Post-town, Bristol, Statistics, not separately returned. The Eving is a vicarage in the diocese of Glorester and Bristol, Value, £150. Patron, the Bishop, The church is a plain boll ling.

BISHOPSION, or LLAND BIDO VERNALL, a parish in Sy ans, a district, Clamorgan; near Bishopston-Road r. station, and o miles SW by W of Swansea. It includes Killay village; and has a post-office under Swansea. Aritis, 2.287. Real property, £2,101. Pop., 418. History, 92. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged to the Eishops of Llaust II. Interesting former belonger to the follower of handour. Interesting fiveres of line stone rock occur in a wooded glen; and lead ore his Lien worked. The living is a rectory in the discess of St. Divid's, Value, 2:48.* Patron, the Edrop of Llandaff, The church has an embattled tower, and is good. E. Davies, author of the "Celtic Research's," was rector. BISHOPSTONE, a hamlet in Stone parish, Bucks: 2

BISHOPSIONE, a namet in Stone parish, Eucks; 2 miles SSW of Aylesbury. Pop., 274.
BISHOPSTONE, a tything in Montacute parish, Somerset; 34 miles WNW of Yeovil. Pop., 257
BISHOPSTONE, a parish in Woobly district, Hereford, rear the river Wye, and the Hereford and Erccon railway, 7 miles WNW of Hereford. It has a post-office under Hereford. Acres, 776. Real property, 21,518. Pop., 288. Houses, 67. The property is divided among a few. A fine tesselated pavement and other Roman remains have been found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford; and till 1865 was united with Yazor. Value, £180.* Patron, Rev. G. H. Davenport. The chuich is ancient and cruciform; was recently restored; and contains several beautiful monuments. Charities, £40.

BISHOPSTONE, a parish and a hundred in Lewes district, Sussex. The parish lies on the Newhaven railway, 9 miles SSE of Lewes; and has a post-office under way, 9 miles SSE of Lewes; and mis a post-care and the Lewes, and a r. station. Acres, 1,937; of which 108 are water. Real property, £1,995. Pop., 222. Houses, 73. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Varue, £38. is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Vatue, £88. Patron, the Bishop of London. The church is Norman and early English; has a tower of four stages; was re-cently restored; and possesses high interest to artists and antiquaries. The Rev. J. Hurdis, author of the "Village Curate," was a native; and his monument is in the ohnrch.—The hundred is in the rape of Pevensey: and consists of the parishes of Bishopstone and Denton.

and consists of the parishes of Dishops one and Denton.
Acres, 2,945. Fop., 528. Houses, 108.
BISHOPSTONE, a parish in Highworth district, Wills; on the verge of the country, 2] miles 6 of Shrivenham r. station, and 6 E of Swindon. It has a post-office hain r. station, and 6 E of Swindon. 10 mis a post-coace under Shrivenham. Acres, 4,452. Real property, £4,513. Pop., 716. Houses, 147. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £208.* Patron, the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. The church is toler-Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. The church is tolerable. A school has an endowed income of £59, and able.

other charities £69.

BISHOPSTONE, a village, a parish, and a sub-dis-BISHOFSI OF A VINESC A PAIRS, A PAIRS, A PAIRS, A PAIRS, THE CALL THE STATE OF THE STATE OF THE PAIRS AND A PAIRS OF THE PAIRS INCLUDED A PAIRS OF THE PAIRS OF TH Faulston, Hamston, Netten, and Pitts; and its post-town is Bishopstone, under Salisbury. Acres, 4,452. Real property, with Stratford-Toney, ¢6,017. Pep., 685. Houses, 136. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory and a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £806.* Patron, the Earl of Pembroke. The church is cruciform; shows features of many styles and periods, but is mainly of the time of Henry VI.; helonged to the priory of Monkton-Farleigh; and contains two stone coffins, which are supposed to hold the remains of bishops. Charities, £10. -The sub-district contains eleven parishes and an extra-parochial tract. Acres, yeven parisines and an extra-partonial trace. Act, 450. Pop., 4,904. Houses, 1,026 BISHOPSTONE, Monmouth. See Bishors-Scorroud.
BISHOP-STORTFORD. See Bishors-Scorroud. 31,459.

BISHOPSTOW, See Austis Cove.
BISHOPSTROW, a parish in Warminster district,
Wilts; on the Great Western railway, 14 mile SE of Wilts; on the Great Western natiway, F mine Sc. Warninster. Post-town. Warninster. Acres, 1,615. Real property, 22,054. Pep., 268. Houses, 52. The property is divided among a few. Bishopstrow House is the seat of the Temple family. Many Romen coins have been found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, 2220. # Patron, Sir F. D. Astley, Part. The church is good.

BISHOPS-WALTHAM, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a hundred, in Droxford district, Hants. The town stands at the source of the river Hamble, and at the terminus of a branch of the Cosport Junction railway, 31 miles NNE of Botley, and 91 SE of Winchester. It figured at Domesday as a considerable village; was mentioned by Leland as a "praty tonnlet;" and is now a neatly-built market town. It has a post-office; under Southampton, a banking office, two chief inns, a church, a chapel, a free school, and the ruins of an church, a chapel, a free school, and the ruins of an episcopal palace; and is a polling-place. The church is ancient and large; built of brick, stone, and flint; the chancel possibly creeted by William of Wykeham, the rest chiefly in perpendicular English, of the 17th century. The palace was originally built by Bishop Henry de Blois, brother of King Stephen; underwent much alteration by subsequent bishops, particularly by William of Wykeham, who died in it; was a parallelogram of two courts, with square towers at the angeles; and suffered courts, with square towers at the angles; and suffered demolition in the civil war. Henry II. held a great demolition in the civil war. Henry II. held a great council in it in 1182; Richard Cœur de Lion was grandly eutertained in it after his coronation at Winchester; and Bishop Poynet made it over to the Marquis of Winchester in the time of Edward VI. The chief parts of it now standing are a ruined tower of early date, and the front of the great hall, 65 feet long, possibly the work of Wykelam. A large pond lies in front of it, receiving brooks from the neighbourhood, and discharging the Hamble river. A park of 1,000 acres lay around it, dewoted to the chase; but is now under cultivation. Wal-tham-Chase lay to the SE, well stocked with deer till the beginning of the 17th century; infested then by a notorious gang of deer-stealers known as the Waltham-Blacks; and now a rough common of about 2,000 acres. The manor belonged to the Bishops of Winchester from the earliest times; and, though alienated by Bishop Poynet along with the palace, came back to them at the Poynet along with the palace, came back to them at turn Restoration. A terra-cotta pottery was established in 1861. Fairs are held on the second Friday of May, on 30 July, and on the Friday before 18 Oct. The Royal Albert infirmary stands on a neighbouring hill; was founded in 1864; and has, over the entrance, a fine terra-cotta statue of the late Frince Consort.—The parish includes the tythings of Ashten, Curdridge, and West Hoe, and the hamlets of Dean and Dundridge. Acres, 7,388. Real property, £11,099. Pop., 2,267. Houses, 473. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Value, £915.* Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. Winchester. The p. curacy of Curdridge is a separate charge. A free school has £41, and other charities £95. The sub-district contains the parishes of Bishops-Wal-—The stu-district contains the parisnes of histops: who tham, Durley, and Upham. Acres, 12,714. Pop., 3,267. Houses, 689.—The hundred consists of lower half, containing the parishes of Bishops-Waltham and Durley, and upper half, conterminate with the parish of Droxford. Acres, 16,848. Pop., 4,872. Houses, 977. BISHOPS-WICKHAM. See WICKHAM-BISHOPS.

2 B

BISHOPSWOOD, a chapelry in Brewood parish, in the vicinity of Brewood, Stafford. It was constituted in the vicinity of Brewood, Stallord. It was constituted in 1851; and its post-town is Brewood, under Stafford. Rated property, £5,054. Pop., 558. Houses, 139. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £150.* Patron, the Vicar of Brewood. The church is fair.

BISHOPSWOOD, a chapelry in Walford and Ruardean.

parishes, Hereford; on the river Wye, 31 miles SSW of Ross r. station. It was constituted in 1845; and its hoss I station. To was constituted in 1945; and its post-town is Walford under Ross. Acres and property, not reported. Pop., 403. Houses, 100. The property is much subdivided; and there are iron-works. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Hereford. Value, 35. Patron, J. Partridge, Esq. The cliurch is good. BISHOPSWORTH. See BISHPORT. BISHOPS-WYCKS. Sce WYCKS-BISHOPS.

BISHOPS-WIGHS. See WYCKS-DISHOPS.
BISHOP-THORNTON, a township-chapelry in Ripon parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 3½ miles NW of Ripley r. station, and 5½ SW by S of Ripon. Post-town, Ripley, Yorkshire. Acres, 3,027. Real property, £4,211. Pop., 541. Houses, 106. The living is a p. curacy in the diocess of Ripon. Value, £85. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter. There are Weslevan and R. Catholic chapels.

BISHOP-THORPE, or THORPE-UPON-OUSE, a village and a parish in the district and county of York. The village stands on the left bank of the river Ouse, 14 mile E by N of Copmanthorpe r. statiou, and 3½ S by W of York; and has a post-office, of the name of Bishop-Thorpe, under York.—The parish comprises 760 acres. Real property, £3,256. Pop., 452. Houses, 88. The property is subdivided. The manor belongs to the see of York; and Bishop-Thorpe palace on it is the seat of the Archbishops. The palace was erected, in the reign of John, by Archbishop Walter de Grey; was altered or enlarged by Archbishop Sharpe, Dawes, Gilbert, and others; and, as it now stands, was chiefly the work of Archbishop Drummond, who died in 1766. The gateway and the front are in the pointed style, after designs by Atkinson, the former surmounted by a crocketted turet, the latter adorned with a fine entrance-cauopy; the chief apartments are elegant, and have good paintings, engravings, and other works of art; and the chapel, which adjoins the dining-room, has an antiquely carved pulpit, a floor of black and white marble, and windows of stained glass,-one of them embellished with the arms of the Archbishops, from the Reformation to the Revolution. Archbishops, from the Reformation to the Revolution. The grounds include only about six acres, but are tastefully laid out. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £300.* Patron, the Archbishop of York. The church was rebuilt in 1768, and again in 1842; has three painted windows, the mullions of one of which be longed formerly to Cavood Castle; and contains the tomb of Archbishop Drummond.

tonib of Archbisnop Drummond.

BISHOPTON, a township and a parish in Stockton district, Durham. The township lies 2 miles SSW of Stillington r. station, and 5½ WNW of Stockton-upon-Tees; and has a post-office under Stockton. Acres, 2,102. Real property, £3,077. Pop., 342. Houses, 80.—The parish includes also the townships of Little Stainton and East and West Newbiggin. Acres, 4,031. Real property, £4,699. Pop., 448. Houses, 99. The property is subdivided. There are vestiges of an entrenchment, supposed to have surrounded the mansion of Roger de Conyers, who, in the time of King Stephen, re-sisted and overcame William Cumyn, an insurrectionary and devastating pretender to the see of Durham. The hving is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £250.* Patron. not reported. The church is excel-

EISHOPTON, a township in Ripon parish W. R. Yorkshire; 22 miles WNW of Ripon. Acres, 375. Head property, with Sutton and Clotherholme, £3,037. Pop., $1. Houses, 18. Houses, 18.

BISHOPTON, a hamlet and a chapelry in Old Stratford parish, Warwick. The hamlet lies adjacent to the Stratford and Avon canal, 2 miles NW of Stratford-on-Avon. Pop., 51.—The chapelry is a p. curacy in the diocese of Worcester; in the patronage of the Vicur of Stratford; the statistics not reported.

BISHOP-WEARMOUTH, See WEARMOUTH-BISHOP. BISHOP-WEARMOUTH. See WEARMOUTH-JISHOP.
BISHOP-WILTON, a village, a township, and a parish in Pocklington district, E. R. Yorkshire. The village stands on a brook in the Wolds, 3 miles NE of Frangfors.
r. station, and 4½ No f Pocklington; and has a post-office under York. The township includes the village, and is united to Belthorpe, under the name of Bishop-Wiltonwith-Belthorpe. Acres, 4,970. Real property, £4,778. Pop., 658. Houses, 141. The parish includes also the Fop., 958. Houses, 141. The parisa includes also the townships of Bolton and Youthtorpe-with-Gowthorpe. Acres, 7,204. Real property, 27,238. Pop., 910. Houses, 189. The property is divided among a few. The scenery is picture-sque. Remains exist of a moated rie schiefy is picturesque. Remains exist of a moated palace built, in the time of Edward IV., by Bishop Neville. An ancient Beacon, called the Wilton Beacon, crowns an eminence about a mile NE of the village. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £148.* Patron, Sir T. Sykes, Bart. The church consists of nave, aisles, north chapel and chancel, with west tower and octagonal spire; and was repaired in 1859. There are chapels for Wesleyan Methodista and Primitive Methodists the dists.

BISHPORT, or BISHOPSWORTH, a chapelry in Bedminster parish, Somerset; near Wans Dyke and the Bristol and Exeter railway, 3 miles SW of Bristol. It has a post-office of Bishopsworth under Bristol. Pop., 1,606. Houses, 337. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloncester and Bristol. Value, £300.* Patron, the Bishop. The church was built in 1812. There are an Independent chapel and a national school.

BISHTON, a hamlet in Tidenham parish, Gloucester; 1 milo Nh of Chepstow. Pop., 425.
BISHTON, a township in Colwich parish, Stafford; 2 tailes NW of Rugeley. Pop., 173.

BISHTON, or BISHOPSTONE, a parish in Newport district, Monmouth; on the South Wales railway, 14 mile trict, Monmouth; on the South Wales railway, 14 mille F of Llanwern station, and 54 E by S of Newport. Post-town, Magor, under Chepstow. Acres, 1,211. Real property, £1,462. Pop., 188. Houses, 36. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £111. Patron, the Archdeacon of Llandaff. The church is good.

BISLEY, a decayed small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a hundred in Gloucester. The town stands 13 mile N of the Cheltenhan and Great Western Union railway, in the neighbourhood of the Sapperton tunnel, and 31 miles E of Stroud. It has a post-office under Stroud; is a polling-place; and long carried on a consi-lerable manufacture of woollens, which now is nearly extinct. A weekly market used to be held on Thursday, but now is merely nominal. Fairs are held on May 4 but now is merely nominan. Fairs are not on May 4 and 12 Nov.—The parish includes also the tythings of Averniss, Bidfield, Bussage, Chalford, Oakridge, Steanbridge, Througham, and Tunley. Acres, 8,033. Real property, £14,277. Pop., 4,692. Houses, 1,166. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged and the state of the sta ciently to the Mortimers; and was held by Edward Dnke of York, afterwards Edward IV. A common of 1,200 acres was given by Roger Mortimer, Earl of March, to the poor of the parish; but has been much curtailed by enclosure. Roman remains have been found at Custom-Scrubs; and a Roman pavement and vault at Lillythorne. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of France-Lynch, in the diocese of Gloucester and Eristol. Value, £527. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is decorated English, of the time of Edward IV; was recently restored; and contains an ancient Norman font, a monument of a crusader, supposed to be one of the Nottingham family, and a brass of Catherine Sewell. A stone cross, believed to be of the 13th century, octagonal and finely panelled, is in the churchyard. The vicarages of Bussage, Chalford, and Oakridge are separate benefices. There are four dissenting chapels, endowed schools with £56, and other charities with £242.—The sub-district is conterminate with the parish; and is in the district of Stroud.—The hundred contains seven parishes. Acres, 27,003. Pop., 18,483. Houses, BISLEY, a parish in Chertsey district, Surrey; near the Basingstoke canal and the Southwestern railway, 31 miles WNW of Woking station, and 4 SE of Bagshot. Post-town, Chobham, under Farnborough station. Acres, 950. Real property, £1,496. Pop., 313. Houses, 73. The manor belongs to the Sumners. A boys' refuge farmschool, connected with a farm of 88 acres, was built in senon, connected with a larth of 53 acts, was built 1869, at a cost of £5,775. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £188,* Patron, J. Thornton, Est. The church is ancient. Charities, £40. BISPHAM, a township in Croston parish, Lancashire; near the river Douglas, 2 miles E of Rufford r. station, and 6 NE of Ormskirk. Acres, 926. Real property, £1,740. Pop., 277. Houses, 48. A free grammar School here, founded in 1692, has an income of £162.

BISPHAM, a township and a parish in Fylde district,
Laucashire. The township bears the name of Bisphamwith-Norbreck; lies on the coast, and on the Black-pool railway, 1½ mile N of Blackpool; and has a postoffice of Bisphain under Preston, and a r. station. Acres, 2,621; of which 285 are water. Real property, 23,307. Pop., 437. Houses, 88. The parish includes also the township of Layton-with-Warbreek; which contains the town of Blackpool and the village of South-shore. Acres, 5,865; of which 1,825 are water. Real property, £20,553. Pop., 4,334. Houses, 849. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicinge in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £235.* Patron, the Rev. C. Hesketh. The church is modern. The chap-elries of Blackpool and Southshore are separate benefices. There are an Independent chapel and a free school.

BISS (THE), a stream of Wilts. It rises near Edington; and runs 7 miles north-north-westward, through Trowbridge, to the Avon, 12 mile below Bradford.

BISSICK, a locality in Ladock parish, Cornwall; 54 miles NE of Truro. A fair is held on 9 May.

BISTER. See BICESTER. BISTERN. See BARTLEY, Hants.

BISTERN AND CROW, a tything in Ringwood parish, Hants; 1 mile SE of Ringwood. Pop., 98. It forms a curacy, anexed to the vicarage of Ringwood.

BISTERN-CLOSES, an extra-parochial tract in Ringwood district, Hauts; contiguous to Ellingham parish,

2 miles SW of Ringwood.

BISTREE, a township and a chapelry in Mold parish, Flint. The township lies 1 mile N of Llong r. station, and 2 E of Mold. It includes part of Buckley hamlet; and 2 F of Mold. It includes part of Bileckley harmlet; which has a post-office under Fliot. Real property, 23,189. Pop., 1,733. Houses, 372. The chapelry is more extensive than the township; and was constituted in 1844. Pop., 2,347. Houses, 501. The living is a peuracy in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, 2150. * Patron, the Vicar of Mold. The church was built in 1841, sank and became shattered from undermining in coalworks; and was restored in 1861.

BITCHFIELD, a parish in Grantham district. Lin-coln; on the Great Northern railway, 2 miles SE of Corni, On the Great Fortiers and 3 NW of Corby. Post-town, Corby, under Grantham. Acres, 1,344. Real property, 22,017. Pon, 159. Houses, 32. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £174. Patron, the Bishon of Lincoln. The church is good.

BITCHFIELD, a township in Stamfordham parish, Northumberland; near the river Blyth, 9 miles SW of Morpeth.

Iorpeth. Pop., 40. BITTADON, a parish in Barnstaple district, Devon; BITTADON, a parish in Barnstaple district, Devon; 31 miles SSE of Ilfirocombe, and 51 N by W of Barnstaple r. station. Post-town, Ilfracombe. Acres, 1,018. Real property, £597. Pop., 65. Houses, 11. The property is divided among four. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £83. Patron, W. A. Yeo, Esq. The church is small but good; and contains some fine monuments of the Chichester and Acland families.

BITTERING (LUTLE), a parish in Mitford district, Norfolk; 3 miles N by E of Wendling r. station, and 5 NW of East Dereham. Post-town, Litcham, under Swaffham. Acres, 398. Rated property, £384. Pop., 30. Houses, 3. The property is all in one estate. living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich.

l'atron, James Dover, Esq.

2100. Patron, James Dover, Esq.
BITTERLEY, a township and a parish in Ludlow district, Salop. The township lies under the Clee hills, 4 nulles NE of Ludlow; and is connected by railway with Ludlow station. The porish includes also the townships of Cleeton, Hill-upon-Cott, Bildelton, and Snitton, with parts of Henley and Hopton; and its post-town is Ludlow. Acres, 6,591. Real property, £7,872. Top., 972. Houses, 189. The property is divided among a few. The Clee hills here exhibit grand scenery, command noble views and contributed and page for all and improper. views, and contain abundance of coal and ironstone.

The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Middleton, in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £55.5.* Patron, the Rev. C. Walcot. The church contains a carved oak pulpit, a carved oak screen, and an ancient stone font; and is in tolerable condition. A stone cross, with graduated pedestal, and hexagonal shaft, crowned by tabernacled niches, is in the churchyard. A grammar-school has £34, and other charities £26.

BITTERN, a village, a tything, and a chapelry in South Stoneham parish, Hants. The village stands on the left side of the Itchin river, near Bittern-Road r. station, and 2 miles NNE of Southampton; and has a post-office under Southampton. The tract around it was long held by the Bishops of Winchester; and had a residence of theirs.—The tything is united to Pollack, under the name of Bittern and Pollack. Real property, £8,404. Pop., 1,703. Houses, 367. Bittern manor is the sent of Mrs. Smart Hall. Remains of the Roman station Clausentum, including walls of flint and small stones with Roman grouting, are in the grounds. This station was connected by roads with Winchester, Porchester, and the ferry to the Isle of Wight, and probably was intended to defend the approach to them; and it became the head-quarters of Tetricus, one of the British usurpers the head-quarters of Tetricus, one of the British naupers after Gallienus. Numerous ceins and medals, chiefly of Claudius and Constantine, and numerous inscriptions, chiefly relating to Tetricus, have been found; and many of the inscriptions may be seen on the spot. The chapelry is less extensive than the tything, and was constituted in 1853. Pop., 1,603. Houses, 338. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester. Value, 2900.* Patron. the Bishop of Winchester. £200.* Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The church stands on an eminence, at the village; and is a handsome structure, in the decorated style, with a lefty spire. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

There is a westeyan chapter.

BITTERSCOTE, or Biddescore, a liberty in Tamworth parish, Stafford; 1 mile SE of Tamworth. Acres, 350. Pop., 62. Houses, 13.

BITTESWELL, a parish in Lutterworth district, Leicester; near Walling-street, 1 mile NNW of Lutterworth, and 2 ESE of Ullesthorper, station. It has a post-office under Lutterworth. Acres, 2,630. Real property, 24,334. Pop., 438. Houses, 105. The property is subdivided. There is a mineral spring. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, 429.8. Patrons, the Haberdashers' Company and Christ's Hospital, London. The church is good; and there are an endowed school, six alms-houses, and other charities £69. BITTISCOMBE, a hamlet in Upton parish, Somerset; 41 miles ENE of Dulverton.

41 miles ENE of Dulverton.

BITTLESTON. See BIDDLESDON.

BITTON, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Keynsham, and county of Gloncester. The village stands near the confluence of the Boyd and the Avon, adjacent to the Julian way, 2 miles NE of Keyns-Avon, adjacent to the Julian way, 2 miles NE of Keynsham r. station, and 6 SE of Bristol; and it has a post-office under Bristol.—The parish includes also Hanham chapelry and Oldland hamlet, with Kingswood village. Acres, 7,156. Real property, £28,319; of which £1,504 are in mines. Pop., 9,630. Houses, 2,032. The property is much subdivided. Coal and iron ore are worked; and the wedges at these last sections. perty is much subdivided. Coal and from ore are worker, and the workers at them, in last century, were noted for vicious character, and for reclamation by the preaching of Wesley and his associates. Traces of many Roman antiquities have been found. The living is a vicarrage in the diocess of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £390.* the diocess of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £390.*
Patron, the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. The church is partly Norman, partly perpendicular English; and has a good tower. The vicarages of Hanham, Oldland, and Kingswood are separate benefices. There are and, and Lingswood are separate benecies. Increare a Wesleyan chapel, national schools, and charities £26.

—The sub-district comprises three parishes. Acres, 8,267. Pop., 5,071. Houses, 1,063.

BIX, a parish in Henley district, Oxford; under the Chiltern hills, 22 miles NW of Henley-on-Thames retaining. Pagis term Healey and Physics Acres, 2075.

station. Post-town, Henley-on-Thames. Acres, 3,075. Real property, £3,018. Pop., 392. Honses, S3. area comprises two quondam parishes, Bixbrand in the N and Bixgibwen in the S. The living is a rectory in Value, £487. Patron, the Earl - the diocese of Oxford.

of Macclesfield.

BIXLEY, a parish in Henstead district, Norfolk; near the Eastern Union railway, 3 miles SE by S of Nornear the Eastern Union railway, 3 miles St by S of Norwich. Post-town, Norwich. Acres, 760. Real property, £1,814. Pop., 161. Houses, 31. The property is divided among a few. Bixley Hall is a handsome edifice, built, about the middle of last century, by Sir Edward Ward. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Earls-Framingham, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £603. Patron, the Rev. C. D. Brereton. The church is ancient and good; contains monuments of the Wards; and formerly had an image of St. Wandersibus. Wards; and formerly had an image of St. Wandegisilus, to which pilgrimages were made.

BIXTON, or BICKERSTONE, a quondam parish, a rectory, now incorporated with Barnham-Broom, in Norfolk.

BLABY, a village, a parish, and a district in Leicestershire. The village stands on a branch of the river Soar and on the Union Canal, 4½ rules S of Leicester; and has a station on the S. Leicester railway, and a postand has a station on the S. Leicester railway, and a post-office under Leicester. Pop., 1,023. Houses, 244. The parish includes also the chapelry of Countesthorpe. Acres, 3,300. Real property, £7,524. Pop., 1,028. Houses, 463. The property is subdivided. Worsted and stocking manufactures are carried on. The living and stocking manufactures are carried on. The fiving is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Countesthorpe, in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £350.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is very good. There are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels, a fine national school, and a cemetery with two chapels of 1862.—The district comprehends the sub-district of Wigston, containing the parishes of Blaby, Kilby, Foston, Wigston-Magna, and Oadby, and part of the parishes of St. Margaret-Leicester and Aylestone; and the sub-district of Enderby, containing the parishes of Enderby, Whetstone, Cosby, Narborough, Glenfield, Thurlaston, and Croft, the extra-parochial tracts of Kirby-Frith, Glenfield-Frith, Leicester-Forest East, Leicester-Forest West, the Knoll and ter-Forest East, Lencester-Forest West, the Knoll and Bassett House, and parts of the parishes of Aylestone and Barwell. Acres, 34,207. Poor-rates in 1866, 28,122. Pop. in 1861, 14,171. Houses, 3,126: Marriages in 1866, 93; births, 483,—of which 40 were illegitimate; deaths, 262,—of which 128 were at ages under 5 years and 8 at ages being 85 years. years, and 8 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the years, and 8 at ages above 53 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 939; births, 5,193; deaths, 3,046. The places of worship in 1851 were 17 of the Church of England, with 5,181 sittings; 6 of Independents, with 1,834 s.; 6 of Baptists, with 1,498 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 661 s.; 4 of Primitive Methodists, with 501 s.; 4 of Primitive Methodists, wit Methodists, with 501 s.; 4 of Primitive Methodists, with 474 s.; 2 of the Wesleyan Association, with 185 s.; 1 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 60 s.; and 1 undefined, with 230 s. The schools were 14 public day schools, with 922 scholars; 45 private day schools, with 852 s.; 31 Sunday schools, with 2, 825 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 31 s. The workhouse is in Enderby; was built at a cost of £4, 400; and can accommodate 350 persons. BLACKATON, a hill, 5½ rolles WNW of St. Germains, in Cornwall.
BLACKATON, a village a school of the sch

mains, in Corawan.

BLACKAWTON, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Kingsbridge, Devon. The village stands 4 miles W of Dartmonth, and 6 S by W of Tetnes r. station; and has a post-office under Totnes. The parish includes Street chapelry, and extends to the coast. parish includes Street chapelry, and extends to the coast. Acres, 5,646; of which 60 are water. Real property, with East Allington, £11,644. Pop., 1,229. Houses, 252. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Street, in the diocese of Excter. Value, £122.* Patron, Sir H. P. Seale, Bart. The church is perpendicular English; and contains a carved oak pulpit and screen, and several neat monuments. The chapel at Street is an erection of 1836; and there are Wesleyan chanels at the village and at and there are Wesleyan chapels at the village and at Street, and charities £16. The sub-district comprises three parishes. Acres, 12, 403. Pep., 2,571. Honses, three parishes.

BLACK-BANK, a railway station in Cambridgeshire; on the Peterborough and Ely railway, 5 miles NW by N of Elv.

of Fly.

BLACKDERRY. See BLACKDURY.

BLACKDOROUGH, a parish in Tiverton district, Devon; on the W side of Black Down, 44 miles SE of Tiverton Junction r. station, and 6 ENF of Collumpton.

thas a past-office under Collumpton. Acres, 508.

Poly., 76. Houses, 16. The manor belongs to the Earl of Egremont. The living is a rectory in the discose of Exeter. Value, £140. Patron, the Earl of Egremont. The church is modern; consists of mare and chancel, with tower and octagonal spire; and stands conspicuously on an eminence.

BLACKBOURN, a hundred in Snifolk. It lies be-tween Norfolk on the N, Hartismere hundred on the E, and Lackford hundred on the W; and contains Great Ashfield parish, thirty-two other parishes, and part of another. Acres, 63,857. Pop., 15,703. Houses, 3,302. BLACKBOURNE, a hundred in the lathe of Scray, Kent. It contains Appledore parish and four other parishes. Acres, 17,795. Pop., 2,987. Houses, 560. BLACKBOULTON, a parish in Witney district, 0x-brd; 6 miles SW of Witney r. staion. It has a post-color under Faringdon. Acres, 1,300. Real property, chice under Faringdon. Acres, 1,300. Real property, £2,973. Pop., 200. Houses, 61. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £148. Patron, age in the diocese of Oxford. The church is early English; and contains a stone pulpit and monuments of the Hungerfords and Sir A. Hopton. Maria Edgeworth was a native.

BLACKBOYS, a locality 7 miles SW of Mayfield, and 8½ NE of Lewes, in Sussex. It has a post-office under Hurst-Green, and a fair on 6 Oct.

BLACKBROOK, a hamlet in Parr township, near Prescot, Lancashire.

BLACKBROOK, a suburb of Kidderminster.

BLACK BROOK, a stream of Leicestershire; running 9 miles north-eastward to the Soar opposite Barrow.

BLACK BULL, a station with telegraph on the North Staffordshire railway: 6 miles N of Stoke.

BLACKBURN, a town, a township, a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a hundred in Lancashire. The town stands on the river Blackwater, 9 miles E by S of Preston, and 12½ N by W of Bolton. The Leeds and Liverpool canal passes through it; and railways go from it N, S, E, and W. The country around it possesses little scenic interest, yet is sheltered by hills on the NE and NW; and it lay for ages wild and barren, but has been much improved by cultivation. All of it was given by William the Conqueror to Hubert de Lacy; and it was divided among that baron's followers and descendants. The town is large; was very prosperous up to the juncture of the cotton distress in 1862; and has owed most of its importance to modern manufactures. The Clder streets are irregularly built; but extensive improve-ments have been made since 1850; many of the houses now are good and neat; and the suburbs contain a number of villas. The market-place is surrounded by ornate public-buildings, and by other lofty, well-built houses, with good slips. The town-hall faces two sides of the market-place; was built in 1856, at a cost of £30,000; and is in the Italian style, with Doric and Corinthian decorations. The exchange stands opposite the towndecorations. In exchange stands opposite the town-hall; was built in 1802-5; is in the pointed style, with chief entrance under an ornate octagonal tower; and has a principal as arment 140 feet by 53. The county comprises about 50 acres, and is pictures use and tasteful. The water-works were constructed at a cost of more than £70,000. The infirmary was completed in 1865, at a rost of about £25,000; and is in the Italian style. The workhouse was built in 1864, at a cost of nearly £30,000. The mechanics' institute and the free public library are on a large scale. The Reform club and the Conservativo club were built in 1864. St. Mary's church originated in the Saxon times, and belonged to Whalley abbey; was rebuilt in 1824, and re-decorated in 1857; and is in the pointed style of the 14th century. St. John's church was built about 1790, and is in the Grecian style. St. Peter's church is transition-Norman. Trinity church was built in 1845, has a lofty tower of 1855, and is in the decorated English style. The United Presbyterian thurch is a handsome edifice of 1866. Two Independent chapels of 1840 and 1858 also are handsome. Two Cart trapers of 1540 and 1505 are are mandsome. We seem an Catholic chapted of 1526 and 1565 are ornamental; and a convent of 1534 is elegant. The places of worship in 1569 were 12 of the Church of England, 17 of Dissenters, and 3 of Roman Catholics. The ultra-mural consetery was opened in 1857, and has three chapels. There are an endowed grammar-school with £120 a-year, a charity-school for educating and clothing 90 children, 14 national schools, and 15 other public schools.

The manufactures of Blackburn arose about the year 1653. The first of note was "Blackburn cheeks;" the next was "Blackburn greys;" the next, about 1765, was calicoes; and this, after being taken up by the power booms, was followed by lavagaried pushing. Cotton looms, was followed by low-priced muslins. Cottonmills and print-works are numerous, and employ a large proportion of the iuhabitants. The value of cotton goods produced prior to 1862 exceeded £2,000,000 a-year. cotton-spinning was much advanced by an invention of James Hargrave, a native, originally a carpenter; and the cotton-printing was introduced by the family of Sir Robert Peel. Some woollen cloth also is made; considerable industry is carried on in breweries, foundries, and machine-works, particularly in the manufacture of wearing-machinery; and much business is done in connexion with neighbouring factories, corn-mills, paper-mills, and collieries. Weekly markets are held on Wednesday and Saturday; and fairs on the Wednesday before 2 Feb., on every alternate Wednesday thence till Michaelmas, and on Easter Monday, 11 and 12 May, 29 Sept., and 17 Oct. The town has a head post-office, ta telegraph station, four banking-offices, and three chief inns; and publishes four weekly newspapers. It is a seat of courts. and a polling-place; it was constituted, by the act of 1832, a parliamentary borough sending two members to parliament; and it was made municipal in 1851, with government by a mayor, twelve aldermen, and thirty-six councillors. Acres, 3,610. Real property, in 1860, £170,703. Direct taxes, in 1857, £28,354. Electors in 1868, 1,894. Pop. in 1841, 36,629; in 1861, 63,126.

Obs. Robert Bolton, the compiler of the Houses, 11,306. Liturgy, who died in 1631, was a native.

The township and the sub-district are conterminate with the borough. The parish includes also nineteen other townships in the district of Blackburn, and the townships of Walton-le-Dale, Cuerdale, and Samlesbury, in the district of Preston. It was originally part of Whalley parish; and it measures 14 miles in length, 10 miles tey paisal; and it measures 17 mines in reagan, At amore in breadth, and 45,269 acres in area. Real property, £314,105. Charities, £526. Pop. in 1841, 71,711; in 1861, 110,349. Houses, 20,139. Parts of the surface are embellished, and have Witton Park, Woodfold, Feniscowles, and other seats; but much is poor or waste land, with clay soil. A ridge of high ground goes across and culminates, at an altitude of about 630 feet, on it, and culminates, at an altitude of about 630 feet, on Billinge hill. Sandstone abounds; and coal and alumstone occur. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, 4:993.* Patron, the Bishop of Manchester. The separate vicarage of St. Thomas and p. curacies of Christ Church, St. John, St. Paul, St. Michael, Trinity Church, and St. Peter-with-St. Luke are in the town; and the chapelries of Great Harwood, Samlesbury, Walton-le-Dale, Balderston, Lower-Darwen, Samlesbury, Waston-fe-Dale, Balderston, Lower-Darwen, Over-Darwen-St. James, Over-Darwen-Trinity, Over-Darwen-St. John, Langho, Mellor, Salesbury, Tockholes, Witton, Feniscowles, Hoddlesden, Higher Walton, and Bamber-Bridge are in the other parts. Value of St. Thomas, £300; of cach of the others in the town, £300." Patron of St. Thomas, the Bishop of Manchester; of Christ Church, the Bishop and others; of all the rest, the Vicar of Blackburn. The chapelries not in the town are separately noticed.

The district comprehends Blackburn sub-district, conterminate with the borough; Billington sub-district, containing Billington-Langho, Dinkley, Salesbury, and Wilpshire townships in Blackburn parish; Mellor sub. district, containing Mellor, Balderstone, Osbaldeston, Clayton-le-Dale, and Ramsgreave townships in Blackburn parish; Witton sub-district, containing Witton, Pleasparish; Arton sub-district, containing Arton, Fles-ington, Livesey, and Tockholes townships in Blackburn parish; Darwen sub-district, containing Lower-Darwen, Over-Darwen, and Eccleshill townships in Blackburn parish, and Yate-and-Pickupbank township in Whalley parish; Harwood sub-district, containing Great Harparish; Harwood sub-district, containing Great Har-wood, Little Harwood, and Rishton townships in Blackburn parish, and Clayton-le-Moors chapelry in Whalley parish; and Oswaldtwistle sub-district, containing Oswaldtwistle and Church-Kirk townships in Whalley parish, Acres, 43,669. Poor-rates in 1866, 239,712. Pop. in 1841, 75,088; in 1861, 119,942. Houses, 21,833. Pop. in 1841, 75,088; in 1861, 119,942. Houses, 21,883. Marriages in 1866, 1,281; births, 5,171,—of which 27 were illegitimate; deaths, 3,913,—of which 2,063 were at ages under 5 years, and 23 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 10,180; births, 42,610; deaths, 27,750. The places of worship in 1851 were 23 of the Church of England, with 18,988 sittings; of the United Presbyterian church, with 800 s.; 16 of Independents, with 8,163 s.; 7 of Baptists, with 1,109 s.; 2 of Quakers, with 600 s.; 9 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 4,363 s.; 3 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,507 s.; 6 of the Wesleyan Association, with 1,685 s.; 1,507 s.; 6 of the Westeyan Association, with 1,508 s.; 1 of Westeyan Reformers, with 700 s.; 1 of the New Church, with 154 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 100 s.; and 6 of Roman Catholics, with 2,445 s. The schools were 52 public day schools, with 7,000 scholars; 33 private day schools, with 1,341 s.; 76 Sunday schools, with 1,341 s.; 76 Sund 21,375 s.; and 15 evening schools for adults, with 408 s. -The hundred was anciently called Blackburnshire; ex-—The hundred was anciently called Blackburnshire; ex-tends 24 miles along the boundary with Yorkshire; goes westward to the vicinity of Preston, and south-eastward beyond Haslingden; and is cut into two divisions, higher and lower. Acres of the h. division, 87,190. Pop. in 1531, 116,544. Acres of the l. division, 79,773. Pop. in 1531, 57,932. Pop. of both divisions in 1561, Pop. in 1851, 57,931. Pop. of both divisions in 1801, 188,129. Houses, 36,208.

BLACKBURN, a hamlet in Kimberworth township,
W. R. Yorkshire; 1 mile W of Rotherham.

BLACKBURN RAILWAYS, railways in Lancashire connecting Blackburn with places to the N, to the W, to the S, and to the E. They are the Blackburn, Clitheroe, and Northwestern Junction, the Blackburn and Preston, the Blackburn, Darwen, and Bolton, and the Blackburn, Burnley, Accrington, and Colne Extension, but all are incorporated with the LANCASHIRE and YORK-SHIRE, and will be noticed under that head.

BLACKBURN RIVER, a stream of Cumberland; falling into the South Tyne, 2 miles above Alston.

BLACKBURTON, Oxford. See BLACKBURTON.

BLACK-BURTON, Yorkshire. See BURTON See BURTON-IN-LONSDALE.

BLACKBURY, a hamlet in Colyton-Rawleigh parish, Devon; 44 miles WSW of Colyton. A Roman camp is in its neighbourhood.

BLACK-CALLERTON, a township in Newburn parish, Northumberland; 6 miles NW of Newcastle. Acres, 1,377. Pop. 172. Houses, 32.
BLACK-CARTS-WITH-RYEHILL, an extra-parochial tract in Hexham district, Northumberland; near the Roman wall, 81 miles NW of Hexham. Pop., 19.

BLACK-CHAPEL, a chapelry in Great Waltham parish, Essex; on the river Chelmer, 4½ miles N of Chelmsford r. station. Post-town, Great Waltham, under Chelmsford. Statistics with the parish. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £30. Patrons, Trustees.

BLACK-COMBE, a mountain in the S of Cumber-land; between Duddon sands and the sea, 61 miles SSE of Ravenglass. It consists chiefly of clay slate; rises to the altitude of 1,919 feet; and commands a panoramic view to Yorkshire, Scotland, Ireland, the Isle of Man, and Wales.

"This height a ministering angel might select;
For from the summit of Black Combe (dread name, Derived from clouds and storms!) the amplest rauge Of unobstructed prospect may be seen That British ground commands."

BLACK COUNTRY (THE), a tract of mines and ironworks in the S of Stafford, and on the N verge of War-wick. It extends chiefly from Wolverhampton to Birtaingham, south-eastward, 13 miles; and from Dudley to Walsall, north-eastward, 7 miles. "The name is eminently descriptive, for blackness everywhere prevails. The ground is black, the atmosphere is black, and the underground is honey-combed by mining galleries stretching in utter blackness for many a league. The seene is marvellous, and to one who beholds it for the first time by night, terrifie.

BLACKDEN, a township in Sandbach parish, Cheshire; on the Northwestern railway, 64 miles SSE of Knutsford. Acres, 735. Real property, £1,261. Pop.,

157. Houses, 31.

BLACKDOWN, a hamlet in Kidderminster-Foreign.

in the neighbourhood of Kidderminster, Worcester, BLACKDOWN, a village in Broadwinsor parish, Dorset; 54 miles WNW of Beaminster. It forms a curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Broadwinsor.

BLACK DOWN, the highest summit of the Mendip Hills, in Somerset; 3 miles NE of Axbridge. It has an altitude of 1,100 feet above the level of the sea; is errowned by a mark of the Sappers and Miners; and commands a very extensive and brilliant view.

BLACK DOWN, an upland ridge on the mutual border of Somerset and Devon; around the sources of the Axe, the Otter, and the Culme rivers. It is chalky and bleak; and its highest point has an altitude of 1,160 feet above the level of the sea, and is crowned by a column, creeted by the inhabitants in honour of Wellington.

BLACK DOWN, a hill-ridge in the NW of Dorset; continuation enstward of the Somerset and Devon Black Down. It rises to the altitude of 817 feet above the level of the sea; is crowned by a monument to Admiral Sir Thomas Hardy; and has a number of large marl pits, which have sometimes been regarded as Druidical.

BLACK DOWN, a high ridge on the E border of Hants; between Liphook and Petersfield. It commands a picturesque view of the neighbouring parts of Sussex, toward Midhurst and Petworth.

toward Midhurst and Petworth.

BLACK DOWN, a barren eminence in the Isle of Wight; 33 miles NW of Ventnor.

BLACK DOWN, a tything in Crewkerne parish, Somerset; 65 miles SW of Crewkerne.

BLACKENHALL. See BLAKENHALL.

BLACKENHALL, See BLAKENHALL.

BLACKENHURST, a hundred in Worcester; out into two divisions, lower and upper. The lower division contains Abbots-Jucton parish, two other parishes, and part of another. Acres, 6,859. The upper division contains Bulesque weigh and six other parishes. Acres 10 679. part of adoliner. Acres, 0,553. The upper division contains Badsey parish and six other parishes. Acres, 9,673. Pop. of both, 3,643. Houses, 767. BLACKER, a hamlet in Worsbrough township, Darfield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles S of Earnesley. BLACKER, a hamlet in Darton township and parish, W. R. Vacheline, 24, 1018; N. W. G. Bernedler.

W. R. Yorkshire; 34 miles NW of Barnesley.
BLACK FORCE, a cascade on Fell Head, Westmoreland; within the basin of the Lune, 6 miles SSW of Orton. It occurs at the head of a wild chasm, approached from Borrow Bridge; and consists in the fall of a stream-let from such a giddy height as to be all reduced to spray before reaching the bottom.

BLACKFORD, a hardet in Stoke-St. Milborough parish, Salop; 8 miles NE of Ludlow.

BLACKFORD, a chapelry in Wednure parish, Somer-set; between the rivers Axe and Brue, 27 niles N by E of Edington Road r. station, and 4½ S of Axbridge. It of Edington Road r. station, and 4½ 8 of Axbridge. It has a post-office under Weston-super-Mare. Pop., 677. Houses, 147. The chapelry was constituted in 1844 The manor belonged to H. Saxey, and was given by him to Bruton hospital. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £300.* Patron, the Vicar of Westnore. The church is modern.

Yicar of Wednore. The church is modern.

RLACKFORD, a parish in Wincanton district, Somerset; 4½ miles WSW of Wincanton r. station, and 5 N by Wof Milborne-Fort. Post-town, North Cadbury, underBath. Acres, 578. Real property, with Compton and Paunoefoot, £2,839. Pop., 164. Horses, 37. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £177.* Patron, B. H. Hunt, Esq. The church is early English, with a fine Norman entrance-arch. is early English, with a fine Norman entrance-arch. There are a Wesleyan chapel and a national school.

There are a Wesleyan chapel and a national school. BLACKFORD, a manor in Selworthy parish, Somerset; 3; miles W of Minchead. Pop., 13.
BLACKFORDIY, a chapelry in Ashby-de-la-Zouch and Scal parishes, Leicester; 2 miles NW of Ashby-de-la-Zouch Acres, 1,117. Real property, 43,064. Pop., 645. Houses, 129. The church was recently rebuilt. There are a Wesleyan chapel and a national school. BLACK-FRHARS, an extra-parcolaid spot in St. Alphage parish, Canterbury city, Kent.

BLACK-FRIARS, an extra-parochial tract within Leicester borough, Leicestershire. Pop., 1,173. Houses, 257.

BLACKGANG CHINE, a grand chasm on the S coast of the Isle of Wight; down the seaward face of St. Catherine's Hill, 5½ miles W of Ventnor. The crest of the hill above it is 769 feet high; and the precipices on the full above it is 769 feet migh; and the prespices on its flanks are, in some parts, 400 feet deep. It commences in two large, separate, convergent fissures; it then goes down in a deep, declivitous, crumbling gorge; and it terminates by flinging a tiny streamlet over a precipice of 40 feet upon the beach. The shore below it is strewn with massive fragments of fallen rock; the whole chasm is so black, maked, shattered, and profound whole enish is so block, maked, shartered, and probodule as to strike the mind with awe; and it flings back from the vibrations of even a light gale a reverberating sound like thunder. The approach to it is enclosed, and leads through a toy-shop; and there are an hotel and good lodging-houses in the neighbourhood. The Clarendon West-Indiaman was wrecked opposite the chine in October 1836, when all on board, except three seamen, perished.

BLACK-HAMBLETON, a mountain near the northwestern extremity of the river Derwent's basin, N. R. Yorkshire; 9 miles NW of Helmsley. It has an altitude of 1,400 feet; and commands a magnificent view.

BLACK-HEAD, a headland on the SE coast of Cornwall; dividing Mevagissey bay from St. Austell's bay. It is 153 feet high.

BLACK-HEAD, a promontory on the S coast of Cornwall; 6 miles NE of the Lizard. It is bare and sombre; walf 6 miles NE of the Lizard. It is bate and solution, but possesses interest for beautiful serpentine.

BLACKHEATH, a hamlet, five chapelries, and a landerd in Kent.

The hamlet is in the parishes of municieu in Aent. The hamlet is in the parishes of Greenwich, Lewisham, Lee, and Charlton; lies on Watling-street and on the North Kent railway, adjacent to Greenwich Park, 6 miles ESE of Lowlon Bridge; and has a station on the railway, and a post-officet under Greenwich, London, SE. The village is a polling place; and has a public library, public rooms, and an excellent left. The residence is the state of the properties of the properties of the properties. bath. The rural tract is elevated plain, and commands very fine views. Many barrows, seemingly of the British-Roman period, have been opened on it along the line of Watling-street; and a cavern, called the Point, about 150 feet long, with four irregular cham-ters, supposed to have been artificially formed as a re-treat during the struggles between the Saxons and the Danes, occurs on the ascent above Greenwich Park. The vicinity of the tract to London occasioned it to be the scene of some memorable transactions; and its free-dom from damp and smoke has long made it a favourite retreat of London citizens. The Danes encamped here in 1011. Wat Tyler, at the head of 100,000 followers, excamped here in 1381. Henry IV. met the Emperor Paleologus here in 1400. Henry V. was welcomed here, with great pomp, by the London magistrates and chief citizens, in 1415, on his return from Agincourt. The Emperor Sigismund was received here by Henry, in 1416, and conducted hence in state to Lambeth. Jack Cade raised his banner here, on one of the old barrows, in 1450. Henry VI. encamped here in 1452, to oppose the Duke of York. Edward IV, was received here by the Lendon citizers, in 1471, on his coming from France. Lord Audley, with his Cornish troops, took post here in 1407, and was beaten by the Earl of Oxford. Cardinal Campejo, the papal legate, was met here, in 1519, by the Duke of Norfolk. And Henry VIII, met here Anne of Cleves, in 1509, and conducted her hence to Greenwich Slakes Two other famous scenes here are depicted by Slakspeure and Sir Walter Scott. Montagne House, the residence of Queen Caroline, stood here, but has been the residence of Queen Caroline, stood here, but has been demolished. Frumswick House, the "Babiole" of Lord Chesterfield, afterwards occupied by the Duchess of Branswick, and Lord Lyttleton's Villa, the residence of General Wolfe, are adjacent to Greenwich Park. Two houses, called the Bastile and the Minced-Pic House, built by Sir John Vanbrugh, are on Maze hill. Morden college, founded in 1695 by Sir John Morden, for decayed merchants, a brick quadrangle amid considerable grounds, and now supporting upwards of 70 inmates, is on the S side. A grammar-school, founded and endowed in 1652 by the Rev. Abraham Colfe, is within Lewisham. Park Lodge was once the residence of the Princess Sophia of Gloucester, and is now occupied by Prince Arthur.—The chapelries are St. John, All Saints, Eluckheath-Park, St. Germans, and Dartmouth; the last anneath rark, St. dermans, and Dathmour; the last annexed to Lewisham vicarage, the others, separate charges. Value of All Saints, £300; of the others, not reported. Patron of St. John, W. Angerstein, Esq.; of All Saints, the Vicar of Lewisham; of Blackheath-Park, J. Cator, Esq. There are chaptels for Independents and Wesleyans, a large proprietory school, and a natural history society. -The hundred is in the lathe of Sutton-at-Hone; and contains the parishes of Lec, Lewisham, Charlton, and Eltham. Acres, 18,206. Pop. in 1851, 121,753; in Eltham. Acres, 18,206. Pop. in 1851, 121,753; in 1861, 187,696. Houses, 26,559. BLACKHEATH, a hundred in Surrey; ent into two divisions, first and second. The first division contains Alford parish and six other parishes. Acres, 20,910. The second division contains Albury parish and three other parishes. Acres, 23,722. Pop. of both, 19,473.

BLACK HEATH, a wild open track in the centre of Wilts; immediately S of the Ridge way, and in the northern part of Salisbury plain, SE of Market-Lavington.

BLACKHEDDON, a township in Stamfordham parish, Northumberland; on an affluent of the river Blyth, 11 miles SW of Morpeth. Acres, 1,519. Pop., 63.

BLACKHILL, a village in Lanchester parish, Darham, 1 mile W of Shotley-Bridge. It has a post-office ham; I mile W of Shotley-Endige. It has a post-cince under Gateshead, a harge saw-mill; a large forge, two Methodist chapels, and a Roman Catholic chapel. BLACKHOW-TOPPING, an eminence among the castern moors of E. R. Yorkshire; near the Pickering and Whitby railway, 9 miles NE by N of Pickering. Here are numerous tumuli and other ancient works

Here are numerous tumuli and other amesiat works. BLACKLAND, a parish in Calne district. Wilts; near the Roman road, 13 mile SE of Calne r. station, and 7 ESE of Chippenham. Post-town, Calne, under Chippenham. Acres, 537. Real property, £1,004. Fon., 54. Houses, 12. The property is divided among a few. Blackland House was formerly the seat of the a few. Blackland House was formerly the Games. The Maundrells, and is now the seat of the Tanners. The diameter of Salisbury. Value, living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. £160. Patron, the Rev. James Mayo. The church was repaired in 1859.

BLACKLAND, a tything in Calne parish, Wilts; within Calne borough.

BLACK-LANE, a station on the Bolton and Roch-dale railway, Lancashire; 2 miles W by S of Bury. BLACK LEAD MINE MOUNTAIN. See BORROW-

DALE, Cumberland.

BLACKLEY, a village, two chapelries, and a sub-district, in Manchester parish and district, Lancashire. The village stands on the river lrk, near the Manchester and vittage stands on the river Irk, near the Manchester and Leeds railway, 3 miles N of Manchester; and has a postoffice under Manchester, and a police station. The chapelries are B. and B. St. Andrew. Acres, 1,764.
Real property, £10,955. Pop., 4.112. Houses, S.3.
The property is subdivided. Many of the inhabitants are employed in cotton manufactures and in extensive dye-works. The livings are rectories. Value of B., £182.* B. church was rebuilt in 1835; and is in the early English style, with a line tower. St. A. church vas built in 1866. There are two Wesleyan chanels, a Roman Catholic chapel, a mechanics institution, a Church Rolland Carrier and Carrier and a reformatory.—The sub-district includes also Harpurhey township.

BLACKLOW HILL, a small wooled eminence, near Guy's Cliff, 14 mile N of Warwick. A stone cross on it commemorates that Piers Gaveston, Earl of Cornwell, the minion of Edward 11., was beheaded here in 1312. The hill commands a delightful and diversified view.

BLACKMANSTONE, a parish in Rouney-Marsh dis-iriet, Kent; 5 mil-s ESE of Ham-street r. station. Posttown, New Ronney. Acres, 293. Real property, £825. Pop., S. Houses, 2. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £44. Patron, the Archbishop.

BLACKMILL, a village in Glamorgan; 5\text{5} miles WNW of Llantrissant. It has a post-office under Bridgend. BLACKMOOR, a chapelry in Selborne parish, Hants; constituted in 1867. Pop. 448. Living, a p. curacy. Value, £180. Patron, Sir R. Palmer. BLACKMOOR, Herford. See BLAKEMERE. BLACKMOOR, FOOT, a hamlet in Lenthwaite township, Almondbury parish, W. R. Yorkshire; in the vicinity of Huddersheld.

BLACKMOOR-VALE, the valley of the Cale river, on the mutual border of Somerset and Dorset; south-south-eastward from Wincanton toward Sturminster. It is flanked by hill ranges, often 4 miles asunder; and has a rich, tenacious, marshy soil, notable as pasture land, and for the vigorous growth of oaks. It was originally called White Hart forest, from an incident in a hunt by Henry III.

BLACKMORE, a tything in Melksham parish, Wilts;

2 miles NE of Melksham. Pop., 279.

BLACKMORE, a parish in Ongar district, Essex; 31 miles ESE of Chipping Ongar r. station, and 4 NW by W of Ingatestone. It has a post-office under Ingatestone, and a fair on 21 Aug. Acres, 2,576. Real property, £4,802. Pop., 644. Houses, 144. The property is divided among a few. An Augustinian priory was founded on the site of the manor house, by the De was founded on the site of the manor nouse, by the Desampfords, in the time of Henry II.; passed, under Cardinal Wolsey, to his colleges at Oxford and Ipswich, and afterwards to Waltham abbey; and was given, at the dissolution, to John Smith. The hiving is a vicarage in the diocess of Rochester. Value, £83. Patrons, the Representatives of the late C. A. Crickett, Esq. The church belonged to the priory; and is ancient, small, and good. Charities, £54.

BLACK MOUNTAINS, a wild, high mountain ridge

BLACK MOUNTAINS, a wild, high mountain ridge on the Eborder of Brecknock; extending 16 miles southward from the valley of the Wye near Hay to the valley of the Ush below Crickhowel. Its highest point is Peu-Calor-Fawr, 2,545 feet high, 43 miles SE of Talgarth.
BLACK NOTILEY. See Notley (BLACK).
BLACK PARK, a township in Whitchurch parish, Salop; 2 miles NE of Whitchurch. Pop., 97.
BLACKPILL, a locality on the coast of Glamorgan; on the W side of Swansea bay, 2 miles N of Mumbles. It has a nost-office ander Swansea and a r station.

It has a post-office under Swansea, and a r. station.
BLACK PIT. See PWLL DDU.

BLACKPITS, a village 3 miles from Rochdale, in Lancashire. It has a post-office under Rochdale, several large mills, and a national school.

BLACKPOOL, a small village on the coast of Devon; 3 miles SSW of Dartmouth.

BLACKPOOL, a town and a par. chapelry in Bisp-bam parish, Lancashire. The town is in Layton-with-Warbreck township, and stands on the coast, at the termini of two branch railways, from Poulton st. and from Lytham, 18 miles WNW of Preston. It was not long ago an obscure place, but is now a fashionable watering-resort. It stands on a ridge of low clay cliffs; overlooks a fine bathing beach, provided with machines; commands charming views, along the coast and across the sea, to Wales and the Lake district; and consists of well-built houses, ranged in an irregular terrace about two miles long. It has a post-office under Preston, a telegraph, a police station, a number of hotels, a newsroom, a library, an atheneum, a theatre, three churches, five dissenting chapels, and a R. Catholic chapel. The church of the chapelry was built in 1821, and has been twice enlarged. The other two churches are recent ones, for the Southshore and Claremont-Park parts of the town, beyond the chapelry. The R. Catholic chapel is a handsome cottne edilice. The min of a mansion, the seat of Sir Thomas Tyldesley and the retreat of the Pretender in 1715 while the measures were in progress for the rebellion, stood at the measures were in progress for the receival, scool at the west end of the town. A handsome pict, upwards of 500 yards long, was built in 1863. Pop. of the town in 1851, 1,664; in 1801, 3,506. Houses, 684. The chapelry was constituted in 1859. Pop., 1,957. Houses, 387. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £310.* Patrons, Five Trustees. Southshore and Claremont-Park or Christchurch are p. curacies. Value of the former, £200. Patron, Col. Clifton. BLACK PRINCE'S CHANTRY. See CANTERBURY.

BLACKRAKE, a hamlet in Carlton-Highdale township, N. R. Yorkshire; 7 miles SW of Middleham.

BLACKROCK, a ferry station on the river Severn, near Portskewet r. station, 4 miles SW of Chepstow, in Monmouth. There is an inn here; and the width of the ferry, at full tide, is about 21 miles.

BLACKROCK, a reef in the mouth of the Mersey, 3 miles NNW of Liverpool. A lighthouse stands on it, a round white tower, built in 1830, at the cost of £35,000, with a revolving minute light, twice bright and once red, 83 feet high; showing also a fixed light at a lower elevation when there is 12 feet water in the channel.

BLACKROCK, a locality 7 miles from Abergavenny in Monmouth; with a post-office under Abergavenny.

BLACKROD, a village and a township-chapelry in Bolton-le-Moors parish, Lancashire. The village stands on clevated ground near the river Douglas and the Bolton-le-Moors parish, Lancashire. ton and Preston railway, 45 miles SSE of Chorley; and it has a joint station with Horwich on the railway, and a post-office of its own under Chorley. Its site is supposed to have been occupied by the Roman station Coccium, on Watling-street; and many Roman relics have been found. The chapetry comprises 2,367 acres. Real property, £14,264; of which £7,711 are in mines. Pop., 2,911. Houses, 546. The property is not much divided. The inhabitants are chiefly cotton-spinners and colliers. A fire in a colliery here was extinguished by drawing into it the river Douglas. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £400.* Patron, the Vicar of Bolton. The church is good; and there is a Wcsleyan chapel. A free grammar-school has £140 a-year, besides sums for three exhibitions at Pembroke college, Cambridge; and other charities have £104.

BLACK SAIL, a foot-pass from Wastdale-Head, up Mosedale, to the head of Ennerdale, in Cumberland, BLACKSLADE, a hamlet in the parish of Widecombe-in-the-Moor, Devon.

BLACKSOLE. See WROTHAM.

BLACKSTAKES, a roadstead in the river Medway, above Sheerness, in Kent. It has from 3 to 5 fathonis water; and is used by wind-bound ships.

BLACKSTONE, a hamlet in Kidderminster-Foreign, Worcester; on the river Severn, 2 miles below Bewdley. A picturesque range of cliffs, called the Blackstone rocks, here flanks the Severn

BLACKSTONE-EDGE, a range of high hills, along the mutual border of Lancashire and Yorkshire, 6 miles ENE of Rochdale.

BLACKTAIL, a shoal, with a beacon, on the coast of Essex; extending off, from the mouth of the Thames. past Shoeburyness to the Maplin-sand.

BLACKTHORN, a hamlet in Ambrosden parish, Oxford; on Akeman-street, 3 miles SE by E of Bicester. It has a post-office under Bicester. Acres, 2,280. Real

It has a post-office under nicester. Acres, 2,280. Reat property, £3,106. Pop., 376. Houses, 85.

BLACKTOFT, a township and a parish in Howden district, E. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the river Ouse, nearly opposite the influx of the Trent, 3 nules S by E of Staddlethorper, station, and 7 ESE of Howden; and it includes the hamlet of Staddlethorpe, and has a post-office under Howelen. Real property, £3,280. Pop., £20. Houses, 86. The parish contains also the township of Scalby. Acres, 3,313. Real property, £4,733. Pop., 534. Houses, 107. The pro-The living is a vicarage perty is divided among a few. in the diocese of York. Value, £220. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Durham. The church is very good.

BLACK-TOR, a rocky hill in Dartmoor forest, Devon; 61 miles ESE of Tavistock. It has a picture que appcarance; and overhaugs an ancient British town.

BLACK-TORRINGTON. See TORRINGTON (BLACK).

BLACKWALL, a humlet in Poplar parish and Tower-Hamlets borough, Middlesex; on the Thames, at the influx of the Lea 41 miles E of St. Paul's. A railway goes to it from Fenchurch-street; is 4 miles long; runs 4,461 yards on viaduct; has stations at Chadwell, Step-ney, Limehouse, the West India docks, and Poplar; and sends off a junction line, through Bow common, to the sensis on a junction floe, through Bow common, to the Eastern Counties railway. Blackwall coachins the West Iodia docks, opened in 1802, the East India docks, opened in 1803, and the Brunswick wharf for packets, opened in 1819,—all splendid works, replete with interest; and it carries on a vast amount of iron ship-building, amid accompaniments which strike a stranger with astonish-The Blackwall reach of the Thames, extending down the E side of the Isle of Dogs to the mouth of the Lea, has a depth of from 13 to 23 feet; and is encumbered with a shelf in the upper part, with shoals off the West India docks and at Leaness, and with one or two See LONDON. shifting shoals.

shifting shoals. See LONDON.

BLACKWATER (THE), a river of Essex. It rises 3 miles ESE of Saffron-Walden; and runs past Braintree, Coggleshall, Witham, and Maldon, to the North sea at Mersea island. It makes great folds in its course; yet goes prevailingly south-eastward to Braintree, east by southward thence to Coggleshall, southward thence to Maldon. and east by northward thence to the sea. Its length is about 40 miles; and its last reach, below Maldon, to the length of 10 miles, is estuary of the mean width of 13 mile. It hears the name of the Pant for some distance below its source; and it receives the Chelmer at Maldon.

BLACKWATER (THE), a river of Dorset and Hants. It rises near Cranborne, in Dorset, and runs 15 miles south-south-eastward to the Stour, a little above Christchurch, in Hants.

BLACKWATER (THE), a river of Surrey, Hants, and Berks. It rises near Farnham; traces the boundary first between Surrey and Hants, then between Hants and Berks; and goes altogether about 18 miles northward and west-north-westward to the Loddon near Swallow-

BLACKWATER, a village on the SW border of Hants; on the Blackwater river, 2 miles NW of Christ-church. The seat of the Earl of Malmesbury, a fine mansion, possessing valuable paintings, is adjacent.

BLACKWATER, a village in Yateley parish, on the NE oorder of Hants; on the Blackwater river, adjacent to the Reading branch of the South Eastern railway, 32 miles NNW of Farnborough station. It has a station on the railway, a post-office under Farnborough station, and a Paptist chapel. Sandhurst and Wellington colleges are in the vicinity.

BLACKWATER, a hamlet in the Isle of Wight; 2 miles S by E of Newport. It has a post-office under Newport.

BLACKWEIR, a locality 11 mile from Cardiff, in BLACK WELL, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Mansfeld and county of Derby. The parish lies on the rerge of the county, 2½ miles NE of Affreton r. station. Post-town, Normanton, under Affreton. Acres, 2705. 1,700. Real property, £2,705; of which £400 are in mines. Pop., 517. Houses, 101. The property is divided among a few; and coal is worked. The living is a vicarage in the dicesse of Lichfield. Value, £90. Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. The church was built in 1826. There are a P. Methodist chapel and an endowed school.—The sub-dis. comprises four parishes. Pop., 4,552.

BLACKWELL, a township in Bakewell parish, Derby; on the river Wye, 31 miles SW of Tideswell. Acres, 1,071. Real property, £921. Pop., 37. Houses, 7.

BLACKWELL, a township in Darlington parish, Dinkari on the river Tees, near the Crothridge rail-way, 13 mile SW by S of Darlington, Aeres, 1,490, Real property, £3,573. Pop., 336. Houses, 62. Elackwell Grange is the seat of the Allan family; and was the death-place of George Allan, the antiquary. There is a Wesley'un chapel.

BLACKWELL, a hamlet in Tredington parish, Worcester; adjacent to the Moreton and Stratford on Avon railway, 21 miles NW by N of Shipton apon-Stone. Real property, £1,272. Pop., 203. Houses, 51.

BLACKWELL, a station on the Birmingham and Bristol rathway, 2 miles NE of Bromsgrove station.

BLACKWELL (High and Low), two townships in St. Cuthbert parish, Cumberland; near the Carlisle and Lancaster railway, 21 and 2 miles S of Carlisle. Acres, 2,459 and 941. Real property, £2,801 and £2,329. Pop., 341 and 183. Houses, 59 and 34. The manor was given, in the time of Edward III., by the heiress of Sir John de Wigton, to Sir Robert Parvinge.

BLACK WOOD, a village in the W of Monmouth; 16 miles NW of Newport. It. has a post-office | under New-miles NW of Newport. It, has a post-office; under New-port, Momnouth, and a r. station with telegraph. BLACKWOOD AND CROWEOROUGH, a township in Horton parish, Stafford; 4 miles W of Leek. Real property, E2,996. Pop., 590. Houses, 122. BLACKWORTH. See BACKWORTH.

BLACON-CUM-CRABHALL, a township in the parishes of Holy Trinity, St. Oswald, and Backford, Cheshire; near the Ellesmere canal and the Chester and Holyhead railway, 2 miles WSW of Chester. Acres, 115. Real property, £1,927. Pop., 69. Houses, 13. BLACON-HILL, a hill 4! miles SE of Bawtry, in 1,115. Notts. It has vestiges of a Danish camp.

BLADINGTON. See BLEDINGTON.
BLADON, a village and a parish in Woodstock district, Oxford. The village stands adjacent to the S end of Blenheim Park, 11 mile EXE of Handborough r. station, and 2 S of Woodstock; and it has a post-office under Woodstock. Pop., 395. Houses, 87. The parish includes also the hamlet of Hensington. Acres, 1.350. Real property, £2,857. Pop., 666. Houses, 1,350. Real property, £2,857. Pop., 666. Houses, 128. The manor belongs to the Duke of Marlborough. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Woodstock, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £329.* Patron, the Duke of Marlborough. The church was built in 1804; was remodelled and enlarged in 1862; and is in a very early pointed style. There are two Meand is in a very early pointed school, and charities £251. Dr. Griffith, who defended Basing House, was rector.

BLAEN, a prefix of Welsh names, signifying "the npper part," "the end," "the extremity," "the point."

npper part," "the end," "the extremity," "the point."
BLAEN-AERON, a township in Caron-ys-Clawdd parish, Cardigan; 4 miles NE of Tregaron. Real property, £834. Pop., 276. Houses, 54. Here are two dissenting chapels.

BLAENAN, a hamlet in Llaufihangel-Ar-Arth parish, Carmarthen; 10 miles SW of Lampeter.

BLAENAU. See BLAYNEY.
BLAENAVON, a village, a chapelry, and a sub-district in the district of Abergavenny, Monnouth. The village stands on the Avon-Llwyd river, at the terminus of the Eastern Valleys railway, 6 miles NNW of Ponty-pool; and it has a post-office; under Pontypool. Extensive iron-works and iron-mines are adjacent; the former began in 1790, the latter worked by horizontal shafts. The chapelry includes the village; comprises parts of The enapery includes the vinge; comprises parts of the parishes of Lianover, Llanfoist, and Llaowenarth; and was constituted in 1860. Pop., 5,876. Houses, 1,105. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Llandfi; and since 1864 has included Capel-Newydd. Value, £290.* Patron, Thomas Hill, Esp. There are two Baptist chapels. - The sub-district also comprises parts of three parishes. Acres, 7,933. Pop., 7,114. Houses, 1,376. BLAEN-CARON, a township in Caron-ys-Clawdd parish, Cardigan; in the vicinity of Tregaron. Pop., 99.

Houses, 23. BLAENGLESYRCH, a township in Llanwiin parish,

Montgomery; near the river Dovey, 2 miles N of Machynlleth, BLAEN GWENT. See Abertstruth.

BLAENGWRACH, a chapelry in Glyncorrwg parish, Glamorgan; in the Vale of Neath, on the Vale of Neath trainway, at Glyn-Neath station, 9 miles XE of Neath. Po-t-town, Glyn-Neath, under Neath. Acres, 3,031. Real property, £820, Pop., 230, Houses, 58. The scenery is line. Vuislass is a chief residence. Many of the inhabitants are employed in copper and iron mines The living is a p. cursey, annexed to the p. cursey of Glyncorrug, in the diocese of Llandaft. There is an Independent chapel. Dr. A. Rees, the author of the "Cyclopedia," was a native.

BLAENHONDDAN, a bandet in Cadoxten parish,

Glamorgan; in the Vale of Neath, 21 miles NE of Neath. 1t includes the village of Cadoxton. Real property, £11,461; of which £6,550 are in mines, and £200 in iron-works. Pop., 1,661. Houses, 314. The inhabitants are chiefly employed in copper mines.

BLAENLLYNFI, a quendam borough town in Cathedine parish, Brecon; near Llynsaviddan lake, 71 miles NW of Crickhowel. Remains stand here, low broken walls and a deep fossé, of a castle which is thought to have been the residence of Prince Hwgan early in the 10th century, and was afterwards the seat of the Norman lord of Welsh Talgarth, BLAENPENAL, or LLANPENAL, a chapelry in Llanddewy-Brefi parish, Cardigan; on the river Acron, 4 miles NW of Tregaron r. station, and 26 SW of Llauidloes. Post-town, Tregaron, under Carmarthen. Acres, 4,105. Real property, £1,115. Pop., 522. Houses, 107. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £84. Patrons, the Earl of Lisburne and R. Price, Esq. The Cardigan; on the coast, 6 miles NW by N of Newcastle-Emlyn r. station. It includes part of the village of Aberporth, which bas a post-office under Cardigan. Acres, 3,548; of which 30 are water. Real property, £2,017. Pop., of which 30 are water. Real property, £2,017. Pop., 732. Houses, 180. The property is much subdivided. Traces of two ancient camps are on the coast; and a mound represents a castle of great strength, thought to have been built by Gilbert, Earl of Clare, and which was have been blitte by Gibert, East of Chare, and which was besieged and taken in 1116 by Gryffydd-ap-Rbys, and afterwards demolished. There is a mineral spring. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £37. Pation, alternately the Earl of Lisburne and J.

237.* Patron, alternately the Earl of Lisburne and J. V. Lloyd, Esq. The church is very bad.

BLAENSAWTHE, or BLAENSAWDDE, a hamlet in Llanddansaint parish, Carmarthen; under the Black Mountains, 7½ miles S by E of Llandovery. Real property, 2758. Pop., 214.

BLAEN-V-FFOS, a locality 6 miles from Cardigan; with a post-office under Cardigan.

BLAGDON, a tything in Cranborne parish, Dorset; 3½ miles N of Cranborne. Pop., 36.

BLAGDON, a township in Stannington parish, Northumberland; near the river Blyth and the Northeastern railway, 7 miles S of Morpeth. It was held, in the time of Henry III., by John de Plessis; passed, in the time of Henry III., by John de Plessis; passed, in 1567, to the Fenwicks, and afterwards to the Whites; and now contains Blagdon Park, the seat of Sir M, W, Ridley, Bart.

BLAGDON, a hamlet in Paington parish, Devon; 5 miles E by N of Totnes.

BlAGDON, a tything in Pitminster parish, Somerset; 3½ miles S of Taunton. It has a post-office under BLAGDON, a parish and a sub-district in Axbridge district, Somerset. The parish lies under the Mendip hills, 6 miles NE by E of Axbridge, and 7 SE of Yatton r. station; and has a post-office, of the name of Blagdon, Somerset, and a fair on the last Friday of Aug. Acres, 3,535. Real property, £0,649. Pop., 1,083. Houses, 233. The property is subdivided. Some ruins at Reghillbury are said to be remains of an ancient palace. Lapis culaminaris is found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £512.* Patron, W. Fripp, Esq. The church is modern; and there is a Methodist chapel. An endowed school has £18 a year, and other charities £24. Dr. John Langhorne was recwas reduced that the sub-district comprises seven parishes and a ville. Acres, 22,176. Pop., 5,629. Houses, 1,176. BLAGDON-HILL. See BLACK-DOWN, Dorset.

MAGROWS-HILLS. See BLACK-DOWN, Dorset. ELAGRAVE, a tything in Lambourn parish, Berks; in the vicinity of Lambourn. Pop., 196. Houses, 39. BLAGUE GATE, a station on the St. Helen's and Ornskik railway, Lancashire; between Rainford Junction and Ornskirk.

BLAIDES, a hamlet in Melbeeks township, Grinton parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 4½ miles W of Reeth.

BLAINA, a village, with iron-works, in Ebbw-Vale,

Monmouth; on the Western Valleys railway, 2 miles SSE of Nantyglo. It has a station on the railway, and a post-officer under Tredegar. A church, in the Norman style, was built here in 1845. The circumjacent tract of style, was built here in 1845. The circumjacent tract of country is highly picturesque.

BLAINEY-WITH-DUFFRYN, a parcel in Llangunider parish, Brecon; 4½ miles WNW of Crickhowel. Real property, £5,985; of which £1,356 are in quarries. Pop., 3,045. Houses, 635.

BLAISDON, a parish in Westbury-on-Severa district, Gloucester; on the Gloucester and Hereford railway, 2 miles SE of Longhope station, and 4 N of Nevnham. Post-town, Longhope, under Newnham. Acres, 900. Real property, £1,656. Pop., 282. Houses, 585. The property is divided among a few. The biving is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, not reported. Patron, H. Crawshay, Esq. The church tory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. value, not reported.* Patron, H. Crawshay, Esq. The church is early English. There is a national school.

BLAISE CASTLE, the seat of J. S. Harford, Esq., in Henbury parish, Gloucester; in a picturesque limestone ravine, 4 miles NNW of Bristol. The house is modern, and contains a fine collection of pictures. The grounds are beautiful, both naturally and artificially; and have a lofty tower which commands a brilliant view across the Source into Wides or the source.

the Severn into Wales.

the Severn into Wales.

BLAKE-FELL, a lofty broad-based mountain, between Ennerdale lake and Lowes water, in Cumberland.

RLAKEHALL, ar. station 13 mile S of Ougar, in Essex.

BLAKELEY. See BLACKLEY.

BLAKEMERE, or BLACKLEY.

BLAKEMERE, or BLACKLOUR, a parish in Weobley district, Herefordshire; adjacent to the river Wye, and to the Hereford and Erecon railway, 23 miles SW of Moorhampton station, and 10 W by N of Hereford.

Best town. Paterplury Lunder Hereford. Ages 1.127 Post-town, Peterchurch, under Hereford. Acres, 1,127. Real property, £1,450. Pop., 175. Houses, 36. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Preston-on-Wye, in the diocese of Hereford. The church is good.

BLAKEMORE-VALE. See BLACKMOOR-VALE,

BLAKEMORE-VALE. See BLAKMOOR-VALE, BLAKENEY, a chapetry in Awre parish, Gloucester; on the W side of the Severn, and on the South Wales railway, near Gateombe station, and 3½ miles S by W of Newnham. It has a post-office ‡ under Newnham, and fairs on 12 May and 12 Nov. Real property, £4,159. Pop., 1,079. Houses, 211. The living is a vicarage in the dio. of G. and Br. Value, £232. Patrons, the Haber-dashers' Company. The church is modern. There are Independent and Baptist chapels and two public schools.

BLAKENEY, a small scaport and a parish in Wal-singham district, Norfolk. The scaport stands on a na-tural harbour of its own name, 5½ miles NNW of Holt, and 7½ E of Wells r. station; and has a post-office under Thetford. It was anciently called Snitterley; and it got the right to a market in the time of Henry III. A Carmelite monastery was founded at it about 1295; and given, at the dissolution, to William Rede; and some given, at the discontinuity to without access, and remains of the edifice, including several fine arches, are still standing. John de Baconsthorpe, who was styled "the resolute and subtle doctor," held a place in the monastery, and rose to be head of the English Car-melites. The parish church, on an eminence a little S of the town, is a curious flint structure, in early and in later English: has a lofty embattled tower, which serves as a mark to mariners in taking the harbour; and contains a fine ancient font, three sedilia, and remains of a screen and stalls. There are chapels for Baptists and Methodists. The harbour has a dangerous shifting bar, yet serves well both for commerce and for shelter. About 60 vessels, aggregately nearly 4,000 tons, belong to the port. The chief export is corn; the chief imports are coal, timber, iron, hemp, tar, and tallow; and a considerable fishery is carried on.—The parish comprises 1,865 acres; of which 235 are water. Real property, £3,260. Pop. 361. Houses, 254. The property is not much di-vided. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Glandford and the rectory of Cockthorpe, in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £506.* Patron, Lord Calthorpe.

BLAKENHALL, or BLACKENHALL, a township in Wybunbury parish, Cheshire; near the Northwestern railway, 51 miles S by E of Crewe. Acres, 1,541. Real Property, £2,201. Pop., 236. Houses, 32. BLAKENHAM (GREAT), a parish in Bosmere district, Suffolk; on the river Gipping, and on the Eastern Union railway, \(\frac{1}{2} \) a mile NNW of Claydon station, and \(3\frac{1}{2} \) SSE cf Neelham-Market. It has a post-office under Ipswich. Acres, S69. Real property, £1,759. Pop., 291. Houses, 57. The manor belonged to the abbey of Bec in Normandy; and passed, in the time of Henry VI., to Eton college. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £160. Patron, Eton college. The church

Wich value, 2100. Tation, it of congest in control of the control thet, Suffor, 14 mile W.SW of Claydon r. station, and 43 miles S by E of Needham-Market. Post-town, Great Blakenham, under Ipswich. Acres, 1,054. Real property, £1.688. Pop., 146. Houses, 34. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the dicesse of Norwich. Value, £280. Patron, the Rev.

J. Jackson. The church is good.

BLAKESALL, a hamlet in Wolverley parish, Worcester; 31 miles N of Kidderminster.

BLAKESLEY, a village and a parish in Towcester district, Northampton. The village stands 41 miles W by N of Towcester r. station, and 6 S of Weedon; and has a post-office under Towcester. Pop., 523. 123.—The parish includes also the hamlet of Woodend, and part of the hamlet of Foxley. Acres, 2,840. Real property, £7,318. Pop., 777. Houses, 195. The property is much subdivided. Plakesley Hall belonged perty is much subdivided. Biakestey hair belonged anoiently to the Knights of St. John; and is now the seat of J. W. Wight, Esq. The living is a vicerage in the diorese of Peterborough. Value, £176.* Patron, J. W. Wight, Esq. The church contains a brass of 1418, and is good. There are two Baptist chapels, a free 1416, and is good. There are two I school for boys, and charities £242. school for boys, and charities £242. BLAKESTONE. See BLAXTON

BLAKEWELL, a hamlet in Chittlehampton parish, Devon; about a mile from Chittlehampton village. has a chapel for Bible Christians.

BLAKEWELL, a handet in Marwood parish, Deven, BLANAYLLYN, a village io Eithedin parish, Car-marthen; 44 miles S of Newcastle-Emlyn. BLANCHLAND, a village and a township-chapelry in Shotley parish, Northumberland. The village stands in a deep narrow green vale, flanked by heathy hills; on the N side of Derwent river, 6 miles SSW of Riding Mill r, station, and 9 SSE of Hexhau; and has a post-office; under Carlisle, and a fair on 24 Aug. A premon-stratensian abbey was founded here, in 1165, by Walter de Balbeck; raised to the rank of a mitred abbey in the time of Edward 1; given, at the dissolution, to John Bellow and John Bioxholm; passed, by purchase, to Bishop Crewe; and was bequeathed by him, along with other estates, for charitable purposes. The tower of it was formed, in 1752, into a chapel, which continues to be the church of the chapelry; and the gateway and some other parts also are still standing .- The chapelry or township bears also the name of Shotley High Quarter; and comprises 3,728 acres. Rated property, £835. Pop., 474. Houses, 95. Much of the surface is moor and moress. Lead ore occurs in considerable abundance; and moriss. Lead ore occurs in consucration mathematics, and has long been mined. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Durham. Value, £198.* Patron, the Trustees of Bishop Lord Crewe,

BLAND, a hamlet in the township and parish of Sedbergh, W. R. Yorkshire,

BLANDFORD, a sub-district, a district, and a divi-sion in Dorset. The sub-district contains the parishes of Blandford-Forum, Blandford St. Mary, Bryanstone, Longton-Long-Blandford, Tarrant-Crawford, Tarrant-Keynston, Durweston, Stourpaine, Steepleton: Iwerne, Iwerne-Courtnay, Pimperne, Tarrant-Gunville, Tarrant-Hinton, Tarrant-Launceston, Tarrant-Monckton, Tarrant-Rushton, and Tairant-Rushton, and the extra-parochial tract of Hanford. Acres, 21,530. Pop., 8,542. The district includes also the sub-dis-Houses, 1,697. trict of Milton-Abbas, containing the parishes of Milton-Abbas, Turnworth, Hilton, Stickland-Winterborne, Houghton-Winterhorne, Milborne-St. Andrew, Winter-borne-Clenstone, Winterborne-Whitechurch, Winter-borne-Kingston, Winterborne-Thomson, Winterborne-Zelstone, Anderson, Almer, Spetisbury, and Charlton-Marshall, and part of Bere-Regis. Acres of the district, Marshall, and part of Bere-Regis. Acres of the district, 57,731. Poer-rates in 1866, £10,152. Pop. in 1861, 14,827. Honses, 2,878. Marriages in 1866, 91; births, 447,—of which 32 were illegitimate; deaths, 297,—of which 92 were at ages under 5 years, and 13 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 993; births, 4,814; deaths, 2,550. The places of worship in 1851, were 33 of the Church of England, with Note of the Conden of Logistic, with 7,773 sittings; 7 of Independents, with 1,801 s.; 9 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,048 s.; 4 of Primitive Methodists, with 280 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 200 s. The schools were 26 public day schools, with 1.895 scholars; 29 private day schools, with 789 s.: 37 Sunday schools, with 2,361 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 23 s. The work-house is in Blandford-Forum; and was erected at a cost of £1,200. - The division contains the hundreds of Cogdean and Rushmore, Vision contains the influences of objects and russimore, parts of the hundreds of Eere-Regis, Coombs-Ditch, Cranborne, Loosebarrow, Monckton-up-Winborne, Piddetown, Pimperne, and Whiteway, and part of the liberty of Dowlish. Acres, 51,378. Pop., 12,211. liberty of Dewlish. Acres, 51,378. Pop., 12,211. Houses, 2,365. Blandford gives the title of Marquis to the Duke of Marlborough.

BLANDFORD-FORUM, or CHIPPING BLANDFORD, a town and a parish in Blandford district, Dorset. town stands on the river Stour, and on the Derset Central railway, 10 miles NW by W of Wimborne-Minster. It dates from remote times; but was damaged by arms in the civil war, and by fire in 1579, 1677, 1684, 1713, and 1731,-suffering in the last of these years a demolition of all its houses except forty; and it now presents as modern and sprightly an appearance as any town in the county. It comprises two main streets, meeting in a spacious market-place; and consists chiefly of red brick houses, with high roofs and ornamented fronts. The town-hall is a handsome edifice of Pertland stone with Doric columns and entablature. The corn-exchange was built in 1855; and is a commodious structure. chief bridge across the Stour is a substantial structure of six arches. The parish church, built after the fire of 1731, is a handsome Grecian edifice, with a tower. A pump, under a portice, adjacent to the church, was erected in 1760, as a memorial of the fire. The Independent chapel was built in 1868, and is in the early Euglish style. A high-roofed ancient mansion, near the Parish church, is the only existing house which dates prior to 1731. A farm-house, in the outskirts beyond East-street, includes remains of Damorey Court, the seat, in the time of Edward II., of Roger D'Amorie, con-stable of Corfe Castle. Bryanstone Park, the seat of The town Lord Portman, terminates one of the streets. has a head post-office; of the name of Blandford, a rail-way station, two banking-offices, three chief inns, two dissenting chapels, five endowed schools, almshouses, and charities, including the schools and the almshouses. to the yearly amount of £1,085. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on 7 March, 10 July, and 8 Nov. The manufacture of very fine point lace was formerly carried on; and was followed by a manufacture of shirt buttons. The town is a borough by prescription, but sent members to parliament only under Edward I. and Edward III.; it was incorporated by James I., and is now governed by a mayor or builtif, four aldermen, and twelve councillors; and it is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place. Pop. of the borough, 1,521. Houses, 226.—The parish comprises $62 acres. Real property, £5,937. Pop., $,000. Houses, 731. The living is a recommendation of the property of the parish comprises $65 acres. Real property, 25,937. Pop., 3,900. Houses, 731. The living is a rectory and a vicarnge in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, 2300.* Patrors, the Dean and Chapter of Winchester. Archbishop Wake, Archbishop Lindsay, Bishop Lisle, Dean Ryves, Greech, Pitt, and Bastard the poets, Segittary the physician, E. Wake the founder of the corporation of the sons of the clergy, and John A. James the author of the "Anxious Inquirer," were natives. Races were formerly run, but have been discontinued. were formerly run, but have been discontinued.

BLANDFORD PARK, the scat of Lord Churchill in Oxford; adjacent to the Oxford and Worcester railway, 6 miles WNW of Woodstock. It belonged to the first Lord Clarendon, and was then called Cornbury Park. The Earl of Leicester, the favourite of Queen Elizabeth, died at it.

BLANDFORD-ST. MARY, a parish in Blandford district, Dorset; on the river Stour, adjacent to the Dorset trict, Dorset; on the river Stour, adjacent to the Dorset Central railway, § a mile S of Blandford-Forum. It has a post-office under Blandford. Acres, 1,553. Real property, £2,747. Pop., 409. Houses, 77. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £313.* Patron, Worcester College, Oxford. The church was built by Governor Delay. Pitt, grandfather of the great Earl; and contains several monuments of his family. Dr. Brown Willis, the anti-duary, was a native.

BLANKNEY, a parish in Sleaford district, Lincoln;
6 miles SW of Stixwould r. station, and 9 N of Sleaford. It includes the hamlet of Linwood; and has a post-office under Sleaford. Acres, 6,000. Real property, £7,324. Pop., 560. Houses, 90. The property is divided among a few. Blankney Hall is the seat of H. Chaplin, Esq. Much of the surface was formerly a waste, over which travellers were guided by the Dunston pillar; but is now good turnip land. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £321.* Patron, H. Chaplin, Esq. The church is good; and there is a national school.

BLASKENWELL, a tything in Corfe-Castle parish, Dorset; in the vicinity of Corfe-Castle.

BLASTON, two parishes—B.-St. Giles and B.-St. Michael—in the district of Uppingham and county of Leicester; 3 miles N of Medbourne Bridge r. station, and 54 W by S of Uppingham. Post-town, Hallaton, under Uppingham. Acres, 1,267. Real property, £2,404. Pop. of B.-St. Giles, 25. Houses, 6. Pop. of B.-St. Michael, 63. Houses, 15. The property is subdivided. B.-St. Giles is a donative rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £213. Patron, the Rev. G. O. Fenwicke. The church is good. B.-St. Michael is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Hallaton. Charities, £10.

racy, annexed to the rectory of Hallaton. Charities, £10.
BLATOHINGTON, or BLFTCHINGTON (2.87), a parish in Lewes district, Sussex; on the Newhaven branch of the South Coast railway, and on the coast, I mile NNW of Seaford. Post-town, Seaford, under Lewes.
Acres, £21; of which 66 are water. Real property, £1,004. Pop., 123. Houses, 23. The property is divided among a few. A strong battery is here for the defence of the coast. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £200.* Patron, the Rev. N.
E. Dennis. The church is good.

The church is good. R Dennis

BLATCHINGTON, or BLETCHINGTON (WEST), a parish in Steyning district, Sussex; near the South Coast rish in Steyning district, sussex; near the south coast railway, 2½ miles NW of Brighton. Post-town, Brighton. Acres, 876. Real property, £805. Pop., 59. Houses, 10. The living is a rectory, annexed to the vicarage of Brighton, in the diocese of Chichester. BLATCHINWORTH, a township and a sub-district.

in the district of Rochdale, Lancashire. The township bears the name of Blatchinworth-with-Calderbrook; lies on the Manchester and Leeds railway, 5 miles NE of Rochdale; contains seven hamlets and Littleberough village,-the last with a post-office; under Manchester village,—the last with a post-outer duter matchester and a r. station; and has romantic scenery, numerous good residences, a church, five dissenting chapels, an endowed school, eight cotton mills, twelve woollen mills, two collieries, and rich quarries. Real property, £14,551; of which £1,020 are in mines. Pop., 4,860. Houses, 980. - The sub-district is conterminate with the township.

BLATHERWICK, or BLATHERWYCKE, a parish in BLATHERWICK, or ELATHERWICK, a parisa in Oandle district, Northampton; on an affluent of the river Nen, 5 miles ESE of Seaton r. station, and 6 NW by N of Oundle. It comprises the ancient parishes of Holy Trinity and St. Mary Magdalene, united in 1448; and has a post-office under Wansford. Acres, 1,975. Real property, £2,141. Pop., 189. Houses, 41. The property is divided among a few. Blatherwick Hall is the seat of S. O'Brien, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £394. Patron, S.

O'Brien, Esq. The cl of 1548; and is good. The church has a brass of Sir H. Stafford.

BLAUNAN, a township in Nantglyn parish, Denbighshire; 44 miles SW of Denbigh. Pop., 123.

BLAWITH, a township-chapelry in Ulverston parish, Lancashire; on the river Crake, 4 miles NW of Foxfield r. station, and 6 N of Ulverston. Post-town, Newby-Bridge, under Newton-in-Cartmel. Acres, 2,620. Real Bridge, under Newton-in-Cartmel. Acres, 2,620. Real property, £1,052. Pop., 193. Houses, 39. The property is much subdivided. Much of the surface is upland moor. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £63. Patrons, Messrs. Petty and Postlethwaite. The church is an edifice of slatestone and red sandstone, in the pointed style, and was built in Charities, £10.

BLAXHALL, a parish in Plomesgate district, Suffolk; BLAAHALL, a parising Flomesgate district, sunois, on the river Alde, 2 miles NE of Wickham-Market Junction r. station, and 5 SSW of Saxmundham. It has a post-office under Wickham-Market. Acres, 1,975. a post-once numer Wickham-Market. Acres, 1,975. Real property, £2,746. Pop., 589. Houses, 122. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £498.* Patron, the Rev. A. N. Bates. The church was restored in 1868. There are a free school, and charities £18.

BLAXTON, or BLAKESTONE, a township in Finning-ley parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 5 miles NE of Bautry. Acres, 1,640. Real property. £2.702. Page 152

Houses, 32.

BLAYDON, a small town in Winlaton township and parish, Durham; on the river Type, and on the Newcastle and Carlisle railway, 4 miles W of Newcastle-on-Tyne. It was not long ago a small village; but it acquired importance from a large manufacture of articles in fire-clay, and from transit communication, by river and by railway, with neighbouring iron-works and collieries; and it is now a considerable, well-built place, with regular streets running N and S. It has a postoffice; called Blaydon-on-Tyne, a station with telegraph on the railway, two chief inus, a mechanics' institute, a on the ranway, two chief thus, a mechanics institute, a handsome church, much improved in 1869, and three Methodist chapels. Azwell Park, the fine seat of Sir W. A. Clavering, Bart., is in the vicinity. BLAYNE, a hamlet in Llandebic parish, Carmarthen; 41 miles S of Llandilofawr.

41 miles S of Llandilofawr.

BLAYNEY, or BLAENAT, a parcel in LlanfihangelCwmidi parish, Brecon; under the Black Mountains, 54 miles NNw of Crickhowel. Pop., 140.

BLAZEY (Sr.), a small town and a parish in St.

Anstell district, Cornwall. The town stands under amphitheatre of wooded heights, 1 mile NNW of Parr.

station, and 4 ENE of St. Austell. It took its name from Philes Bishon of Sebaste in Armenia, who is said from Blaise, Bishop of Sebaste, in Armenia, who is said to have landed at Par in the third century, and to have suffered martyrdom in 316. It has a post-office; under Par station, and an inn; and is a centre of traffic for the neighbouring mines; and fairs are held at it on 2 Feb. and 4 July. The parish includes also Par-harbour. Acres, 1,797. Real property, £28,514; of which £21,505 are in mines, and £1,065 in canal. Pop., 4,224. Houses, 876. The property is divided among a few. Granite and slate are quarried; tin and iron ores are worked: and there is a large iron foundry. Much scenery within the parish and in the neighbourhood is picturesque and romantic. Prideanx, the seat of Sir Colman Rashleigh, Bart., an ancient edifice, with granite stairs, is on a height above the town; and Prideaux Warren, the remains of an ancient earth-work, is on an adjacent height. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £120.* Patron, — Carlyon, Esq. The church has an £120. Patron, — Carlyon, Esq. The church has au effigies of St. Blaise; and is good. There are Weslevan Methodist, Primitive Methodist, and United Free Methodist chapels. The vicarage of Biscovey or Par is a separate benefice. R. Allen, who brought colite stone into use, was a native.

BLEABERRY-FELL, a mountain ridge on the E side of the upper part of Derweut water, in Cumberland.

BLEABERRY TARN, a lakelet, between High Stile and Red Pike, on the left flank of Buttermere vale, in Cumberland

BLEABERRY-TARN, a lakelet on high ground, between Eskelale and Miterdale, 64 miles NE of Raven-class, in Cumberland.

BLEADON, a parish in Axbridge district, Somerset; BILEADUN, a parish in Axtrage district, Somerste, in the river Axe, and on the Bristol and Exeter railway, 2 miles S of Weston-super-Mare Junction station, and 41 SE of Weston-super-Mare. It includes the hamlets of Olimizon and Shiplet; and has a post-office under Weston-super-Mare. Acres, 2,795. Real property, 65,617. Pop. 623. Hones, 131. The property is subdivided. Remains of an ancient British camp are on Plea lon Hill; and bones, coins, and armour have been found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £469.* Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The church was repaired in 1859. M. Casaubon was for some time rector.

BLEAN, a parish, an ancient forest, and a district, in Kent. The parish is called also Blean-Church, St. Cosmus, and Sr. Damian-in-the-Blean; lies on the Whitstable nuis, and Sr. Danian-in-the-Bieau, lies on the Whitstable railway, 2 miles NW by N of Canterbury; and has a lost-office, of the name of Bleau, under Canterbury. Arrs, 2,250. Real property, £4,414. Pop., 628. Houses, 130. The property is subdivided. Much of the land in the north is under coppiee. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Canterbury. Value, £523. Patron, Exsbridge Hospital. The church is small—The forest belonged anciently to the Crown; extended from the vicinity of Herne to the vicinity of Chatham; was given away piecemeal, both before and after the Conquest, till nearly all was alienated; and lost gradually the character of a forest, till it became known simply as the Blean. Wild boars abounded in portions of it so late as the Reformation; and the yellow pine cf it so late as the Reformation; and the yellow pine marten is still occasionally found.—The district compelends the sub-district of Herne, containing the parishes of Herne, Reculver, and Chislett; the sub-district of Whitstable, containing the parishes of Whitstable, containing the parishes of Whitstable, Swalecliff, and Seasalter; and the sub-district of Sturry, containing the parishes of Sturry, Ilean, Westbene, Hoath, St. Dunstau, and St. Stephen or Hackington, the villes of St. Gregory and Staplegate, and the precincts of Archbishop's Palace and Christ-church. Acres, 32,221. Poor-rates in 1866, 28,099. Pop. in 1861, 16,161. Houses, 3,291. Marriages in 1866, 144; births, 673,—of which 20 were illegitimate; deaths, 345,—of which 20 were alleges under 5 years, and 6 at ages above $5 years. Marriages in the ten years and 6 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years, 1551-60, 1,048; births, 5,245; deaths, 2,820. The places of worship in 1851 were 14 of the Church of Enghard, with 6,324 sittings; 3 of Independents, with 757 s.; 7 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 780 s.; 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 57 s.; and 1 of French Protestants, with 30 s. The schools were 9 public day schools, with 900 scholars; 41 private day schools, with 885 s.; and 16 Sunday schools, with 1,366 s. The workhouse is in BLEANGATE, a hundred in the lathe of St. Augustine. Kint. It contains Herne parish and seven other parishes. Acres, 21,234. Pop., 6,509. Houses, 1,234.

ELEAN (High and Low), two hamlets in Bainbridge township, W. R. Yorishire; I mile SW of Askrige, BLEASBY, a hamlet in Legsby parish, Lincoln; 4 miles No Wragby. It was formerly a parish. Pop., 123. BLEASBY, a parish, with a village and a r. station, in Southwell district, Notts; on the river Trent and on the Midlaud railway, 3 miles SSE of Southwell. It includes the hamlers of Gibsmere, Notovn, and Coverton; and its post-town is Thurgarton, under Southwell. ton; and its post-town is fungation, nater Southwell.

Acres, 1,550. Real property, £2,803. Pop., 332.
Houses, 72. The property is subdivided. Bleachy Hall is the seat of the helliams. The parish is a meet for the Ruffost hounds. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Morten, in the diocess of Lincoln.
Value, 4188. Patron, Southwell College Church. The church is ancient and very good.

ELEASDALE, or ADMARSH, a chapelry in Laneaster parish, Lancashire; among the hills, 5 unles ENE of Gushaug r. station. It has a post-office, of the name of Bleasdale, under Garstang. Acres, 8,490. Real property, £2,418. Pop., 372. Houses, 52. Most of the area was formerly forest, belonging to the Crown. Bleasdale Tower is the seat of W. J. Garnett, Esq. Bleasdale dale Tower is the seat of W. J. Curnett, Esq. Discission Fell is 1,709 feet high. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £80.* Patron, the Vicar of Langester. The church was built in 1837. There are of Enterster:

In Cambridge an endowed school, a reformatory, and charities £44.

BLEA TARN, a lakelet at the head of Watendlath, in Cumberland; 64 miles S by E of Keswick.

BLEA TARN, a hamlet and a lakelet in Warcop pa rish, Westmoreland. The hamlet lies on the E side of Patterdale, 6 miles NNE of Ambleside. The manor was given, in the time of Henry II., by John Tailbois, to Byland abbey in Yorkshire; and a cell to that abbey was built on it. The lakelet lies high, and sends a streamlet, jointly with that from Angle tarn, to the head of Ulles-water.

BLEA TARN, a lakelet in Little Langdale, Westmoreland; in a deep rocky hollow, at a high elevation, 51 miles W of Ambleside. Wordsworth made its basin the home of the Solitary in his "Excursion." and described it as

"Beneath our feet a little lowly vale,A lowly vale, and yet uplifted high Among the mountains; even as if the spot Had been, from earliest time, by wish of theirs So placed to be shut out from all the world."

BLEA WATER, a lakelet in Bampton parish, West-moreland; on high ground on the W side of Mardale. 64 miles SW of Bampton.

BLECHINGDON. See BLETCHINGTON. BLECHINGLEY. See BLETCHINGLEY.

BLECHYNDEN, a coast-guard station on Southampton water, Hants; adjacent to the Southwestern railway.

2 miles WSW of Southampton.

BLEDDFA, or LLETHVAUGH, a parish in Knighton district, Radnor; on the river Lug and in Radnor forest, 5 miles SW of Knighton r, station. Post-town, Knighton. 5 miles SW of Knighton r. station. 5 miles SW of Imgaton. Station. Post-town, langiton, Radnorshire. Acres, 2,740. Real property, £2,473. Pop., 250. Houses, 46. The surface is hilly, and to a considerable extent waste. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £181. Patron, the Eishop of St. David's. The church is tolerable.

ELEDINGTON, or BLADINGTON, a parish in Stow-on-the-Wold district, Gloucester; on the verge of the county and on the Oxford and Worcester railway, 23 county and on the Oxford and Worcester railway, 24 miles Sof Addlestrop station, and 4 SE of Stow-on-the-Wold. Post-town, Stow-on-the-Wold, under Moreton-in-the-Marsh. Acres, 1,110. 'Real property, 22,868. Pop., 396. Houses, 91. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the dio. of C. and Bristol. Value, 288. Patron, Christ Church, Oxford. The church is ancient. There is a Wesleyan chapel. DEFIGEOR.

BLEDISLOE, a tything and a hundred in Gloucester. The tything is in Avre parish, 2 miles SE of Newhlam. The hundred contains the parishes of Awre, Alvington, and Lydney. Acres, 16,741. Pop., 4,781. Houses, 577. BLEDLOW, a village and a parish in Wycombe district, Bucks. The village stands in a romantic raving.

called the Glyde, on the verge of the county, adjacent to the Thame and Maidenhead railway, 2 miles SW of Princes Rishorough; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Tring .- The parish includes also a liberty called Bledlow-Ridge. Acres, 4,130. Real property, £4,891. Pop. 1,189. Houses, 232. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Oxford. Value, £175.* Patron, Lord Cardioces of Oxford. Value, 2115. Tatron, Lord Carrington. The church is early English; has interesting features, injured by white wash; and stands on the brink of the ravine at the village.

BLEDLOW-RIDGE is a separate charge, a p. curacy, constituted in 1868, and in the patronage of trustees. Its church was previously a chapel of ease. There are a Primitive Methodist chapel, a publicschool, and charities £59. BLEINE. See LLAN AND BLEINE.

BLELHAM TARN, a lakelet in the extreme N of Lancashire; near Windermere lake, 31 miles SSW of Amble side. The medicinal leech abounded in it, but has been | exterminated.

BLENCARN, a township in Kirkland parish, Cumberland; 85 miles SE of Kirkoswald. Here are a mineral spring and an endowed school.

BLENCOGO, a township in Bromfield parish, Cumberland; near the Carlisle and Maryport railway, 4½ miles WSW of Wigton. Acres, 1,697. Real property, £2,649. Pop., 218. Houses, 37. Boucher, who supplemented Johnson's Dictionary, was a native.

BLENCOW (GREAT), a township in Dacre parish, Camberland: 41 miles WNW of Penrith. It has a station on the Cockermouth railway, and a post-office under Penrith, both of the name of Elencow. Real property, £674. Pop., 99. Houses, 13. Here is a free-grammar-school, with £191.

BLENCOW (LITTLE), a township in Greystoke parish, Cumherland; 4½ miles WNW of Penrith. It has a post-office, of the name of Blencow, under Penrith. Real property, £674. Pop., 99. Houses, 13. Here is a free grammar-school, founded in 1596, with income of £191, grammar-school, founded in 1996, with income of £194, at which the first Lord Ellenborough was educated. BLENDON, a hamlet in Bexley parish, Kent; 3½ miles E of Dartford. It has a post-office under Bexley-Heath, London S.E. Pop., 122.

BLENDWORTH, a parish in Catherington district, Hants; on the border of Bere forest, 2 miles NW of Hantis; on the border of Bere forest, 2 miles NW of Rowlands-Castle r. station, and 7 SSW of Petersfield. Post-town, Rowlands-Castle, under Havant. Acres, 2,304. Real property, #3,499. Pop., 219. Houses, 45. The property is divided among a few. Blendworth House is the seat of Sir W. W. Knighton, Bart. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Winchester. Value, £226.* Patron, the Rev. M. Ward. The church is a handsome recent edifice, in the decorated style, with lofty tower and spire. A school has £19 from endow-

BLENG (THE), a stream of Cumberland. It rises on Hay Cock, 23 miles NE of Wast water; and runs 6 miles south-westward to the vicinity of Gosforth, then goes 21 miles thence eastward to the Irt.

BLENHELM PARK, an extra-parochial tract, the seat of the Duke of Marlborough, in Woodstock district, Oxford; on the river Glyme and on Akeman-street, immediately W of Woodstock. Acres, 2,940. Real property, £2,400. Pop., 118. Houses, 22. This was a royal demesne, containing the ancient palace of Woodstock; was given to the great Duke of Marlhorough, along with the parliamentary grant of £500,000 for decorating the grounds and building a mansion; and took its present name from his victory of Blenheim on the Danube on 2 Aug. 1704. The park is entered from Woodstock by a Aug. 169. The park is entered from monastors by a triumphal arch; it has much diversity of surface, and was laid out by "Capability Brown;" it abounds with fine old trees, and displays groups of wood so arranged as to represent the battle of Blenheim; and it contains a lake of 260 acres, spanned by a fine three-arched bridge,—a column 134 feet high, surmounted by a colossal statue of the great Duke, -a curious old house, called High Lodge, once inhabited by the profligate Earl of Rochester, as ranger of the park,—a spring, called Rosanund's Well, traditionally said to have supplied the bath of the "Fair Rosamund" during her residence in the "Bower,"—and traces of Akeman-street, together with spots in which remains of Roman buildings have been found. The gardens possess great wealth of plants; and contain the Temple of Health, in memory of George III., -the Cascade, artificially constructed, but looking entirely natural,-the Fountain, modelled after that of the Piazza Navona at Rome, -and some fine specimens of statuary and architecture, modelled after the antique. The mansion was founded in 1705, but not completed till after the great Duke's death. It was designed by Vanbrugh, and is esteemed his master-piece; and it cost about £300,000. It consists of a centre and two wings, connected by colonnales; forms three sides of a square, enclosing a court; measures 381 feet along the front; and is in the Grecian style, faulty and very heavy; yet shows such skilful combination of porticoes, colonnades, and towers as to look highly imposing. The chief apartments are the hall, 6f feet high, with ceiling allegorically representing the battle of Elenheim; the great dining-room, thick with pictures by Rubens and Vandyke; the saloon, with walls and ceiling decorated by La Guerre; the library, 183 feet long, with marble statue of Queen Anne by Rysbrach; and the chapel, with marble monument of the great Duke and his Duchess by Rysbrach, and with a Lombard pulpit in Derbyshire spar. The collection of paintings and of objects of vertu is one of the largest and choicest in Britain; insomuch that Waaggen says,-"If nothing were to be seen in England but Blenheim, with its park and treasures of art, there would Bremienn, with its park and reasures of an, there would be no reason to repent the journey to this country."

RLENKINSOP, a township in Haltwhistle parish, Northumberland; on the Newcastle and Carlisle railway, and on the Roman wall, 3 miles W of Haltwhistle. Acres, 4,919. Pop., 414. Houses, 90. Haltwhistle Castle is the ruin of a strong square tower, the ancient seat of the the ruin of a strong square tower, the ancient seat of the Blenkinsops, noted for their Border feuds; and Blenkinsop Hall is the seat of J. Coulson, Esq., the descendant of the Blenkinsops. A Roman eltar was found in 1720, and an inscription to Ceres in 1816. Coal is worked.

BLENNEHASSET AND KIRKLAND, a township in Torpenhow parish, Cumberland; on the river Ellen, near the Carlisle and Maryport railway, 4 miles WNW of Ireby. Real property, £1,372. Pop., 234. Houses, 46. Here is an Independent chapel.

BLESTIUM. See MOSMOTH.
BLETCHINGLEY, or BLECHINGLEY, a village and a parish in Godstone district, Surrey. The village stands on an eminence, adjacent to one of the sources of the Melway river, near the Roman vicinal way, and near a branch of the Southeastern railway, 3 miles E of Redhill Junction station, and 5 E by N of Reigate; and it has a post-office; under Redhill. It claims to have been a place post-order, index returns. Training to have been a place of ancient importance; is said to have once possessed seven churches; contains some picturesque old houses; and sent members to parliament from the time of Edward I. till disfranchised by the act of 1832. It forward 1. Ill distantances of the act of 1602. It 107-merly had a weekly market; and still has fairs on 19 May, 22 June, and 2 Nov. The parish includes also the hamlet of Ham Farm. Acres, 5,535. Real property, £7,513. Pop., 1,691. Houses, 292. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged at one time to the Clares, and passed to the Mordaunts, the Howards, and others. A castle on it, belonging to Gilbert de Clare, Earl of Gloucester, was destroyed in 1263, by the royal forces; but was afterwards restored; and the foundations of it may still be seen in a field south of the village. Earl Godwin is often said to have retreated to Eletchingley, after the overwhelming of his fine Kentish manors by the sea, and to have lived here in great state; but he does not appear to have had any property here. does not appear to have mad any property nere. Tenu-hill, the seat of C. Manning, Esq., between the villago and neighbouring chalk hills, is thought to have been designed by Inigo Jones. Traces of a Roman villa, undesigned by Inigo Jones. Traces of a Loonan vita, un-der White Hill, were discovered in 1813; and very many Roman coins have been found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £1,200.* Patron, H. Chawner, Esq. The church is early English, with traces of Norman; consists of nave, south aisle, and double chancel, with a tower; had once a wooden spire, 160 feet high; and contains some splendid monuments. There are an Independent chapel, a free grammar-school, a charity school, an orphanage for 100 girls, four almshouses for widows, and a workhouse. The orphanage was built and endowed, by the Duchess of Leeds, in 1866; and, together with one for 100 boys at Hellingly, cost upwards of £70,000. Archbishop Herring and Bishop

Thomas were rectors.

BLETCHINGTON, Sussex. See BLATCHINGTON.

BLETCHINGTON, or BLECCHINGDON, a parish and a BLEICHIAGION, or BEEBINGDON, a parish and a sub-district in the district of Dicrester, Oxford. The parish lies near Akeman-street, the Oxford canal, the river Cherwell, and the Oxford and Rugby railway, 2 miles NE of Woodstock Road station, and 6 SW by W of Bicester; and it has a post-office under Oxford. Acres, 2500. Page property 51621. When 5750. 2,540. Real property, £4,631. Pop., 659. Houses, 142. Bletchington Park is the seat of Viscount Valentia; was partly rebuilt near the end of last century; and occupies the site of a house which was held for the king, occupies say atto of a nonse which was held for the king, and surrendered to the parliament, in the civil war. A striped marble is found here, which has been used in ornamental architecture. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Oxford. Value, 2536. Patron, Queen's College, Oxford. Charities, £55. Dr. Fairclough was a utility. The schildight computer expenses expenses expenses. native. The sub-district comprises seventeen parishes. Acres, 20,178. Pop., 7,440. Houses, 1,629.

BLETCHLEY, a township and a parish in Newport-Parnell district, Bucks. The township lies adjacent to Pagnell district, Bucks. The township hes adjacent to watling-street, and on the Northwestern railway, at the junction of the branches to Bedford, Oxford, and Banbury, 14 miles, by railway, E of Buckingham; and it has a station on the railway, and a head post-office; of the name of Biletchley Station. Acres, 1,180. Fear property, 2,1700. Foy, 426. Houses, 97. The Brail includes also the hamlet of Water-Laton and part of the companion of Fanny-Strafford. Acres 3,150. Eval protownship of Fenny-Stratford. Acres, 3,150. Real property, with the rest of Fenny-Stratford, £8,843. Pop., 1,653. Houses, 361. The property is divided among a 1,653. few. The original head-manor was Water-Eaton; and was given by William the Conqueror to Geoffry, Bishop of Constance in Normandy. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £456.* Patron, Joseph Bennitt, Esq. The church is a handsome Gothic structure, with a tower; and contains the tomb of Lord Grey de Wilton, who died in 1442, and a curious tablet to Dr. Sparke, who was rector in 1616.

BLETCHLEY, a township in Moreton-Sea parish,

BLEIGHTER, a monaging in moreon-cea parish, Salop; 23 miles W of Market Drayton. Pop., 101.
BLETHERISTON, a parish in Narborth district, Penboke; on the South Wales railway, at Clarbeston Road station, 5 miles NW by W of Narborth. Post-town, 101. Wiston, under Narbeith. Acres, 2,366. Real property, £1,900. Pop., 255. Houses, 56. The property is subdivided. The living is a p. enracy, annexed to the vicar-£1,900. divided. age of Llawhaden, in the diocese of St. David's. The church is not good.

BLETHVAUGH. See BLEDDEA.

BLETSOE, a parish in the district and county of Bedford; on the river Ouse, and on the Midlan I railway, 13 mile SSE of Sharnbrook r. station, and 6 NNW of Bedford. It has a post-office under Bedford. Acres, 2,239. Real property, £4,021. Pop., 412. Houses, 80. The property is all in one estate; and belonged once to the Pateshulls and the Beauchamps. An old castle, now a farm-house, was the seat of the ancestors of Lord St. John of Bletsoe. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £316.* Patron, Lord St. John. The church contains tombs of the St. John family and of Frances Countess of Bolingbroke. Charities, £13. BLEWBERRY, a village in Wantage district, and a parish in Wantage and Wallingford districts, Berks. The village stands near the Ridge-way and Icknield-street; 21 miles WSW of Wallingford Road r. station, and 4 NE by N of East Hsley; and it has a post-office under Willingford, and a fair on the Thursday after 29 Sept. Pop., 639. Houses, 152. The parish includes also the hanlet of Upton with Nottinghan-Fee liberty, and the liberty of Aston-Upthorpe. Acres, 6,814. Real property, 28,971. Pop. 1,114. Houses, 251. The property is divided among a few. The ancient manor-house was engirt by most and earthen campart. Blewberry Hill has barrows and an ancient camp. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford, and till 1856 was united with Tyton and Acton-Lythocpe. Value, £16.1. Paton, the Bishop of Oxford. The church is old but good. There are a Wesleyen chapel, a free school for 30 boys and 30 girls, and a large amount of charities.

BLEYNE, a lamlet in Llamon parish, Carmarthen;

$\tilde{\beta}$ \text{ index NNE of Llamely.}

BLICKLING, a parish in Aylsham district, Norfolk; on the river Bure, near the line of the projected railway to Cromer, 11 mile NNW of Aylsham, and 121 E by No Elinhan r. st tion. Post-town, Ayl-han, and 122 E. by No Elinhan r. st tion. Post-town, Ayl-han, and der Norwich. Acres, 2,123. Real property, £2,606. Pop., 392. Houses, £0. The property is chiefly in one estate. The manor belonged anciently to the Crown; was given by the Conqueror to the Bishops of Norwich; and passed to the Dagworths, the Erpinghams, the Falstofs, the Boleyns, the Hobarts, and the Suffields. The mansion on it, in the time of Henry VIII., was the birthplace of Anne Boleyn, whence she married the king; and the present mansion, Blickling Hall, a seat of the Marquis of Lothian, was built in 1628 by Sir Henry Hobart, and is a fine specimen of Tudor architecture. The library measures 127 feet by 21, and contains upwards of 10,000 volumes; and the various rooms are enriched with numerous family portraits and other interesting pictures, and with statues of Queen Anno Boleyn and Queen Elizabeth. The grounds comprise about 1,006 acres; and contain statues from Oxnead Hall, a pyramid on a base of 45 feet square over the remains of John Earl of Buckinghamshire, and a fine lake, in form of a crescent, about a mile loug. Charles II, and his queen visited the hall in 1671; and an old distich says,-

"Blickling two monarchs and two queens has seen;
One king fetched thence, another brought a queen."

The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Erpingham, in the diacese of Norwich. Value, £521. ingham, in the diocese of Norwich. Patron, the Dowager Lady Suffield. The church has a sculptured octagonal font; contains monuments and brasses of the old proprietors of the menor and of others; and is in a fair condition.

BLIDESLOE. See BLEDISLOE.

BLIDWORTH, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, Mansfield district. Notts. The village stands in in Mansfield district, Notts. Sherwood forest, 4 miles E of Kirkby r. station, and 5 SE of Mansfield; and has a post-office under Mansfield. The parish includes also the hamlets of Bottoms, Fishpool, and Rainworth. Acres, together with Haywood-Oaks and Lindhurst extra-parechial tracts, 6,610. Real property, £6,694. Pop., 1,166. Houses, 250. The property is subdivided. The manor belongs to the Archbishop of York. A hollowed block of rock is regarded by some as a Drublical altar. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £283.* Patron, al-ternately the Bishop of Mauchester and the Probendary of Oxton. The church is Norman, and was repaired in 1839. There are a Weslevan chapel and a national school.—The sub-district includes also two extra-paro-chial tracts. Acres 6.610. Pop. 1188 Warmer 929 child tracts. Acres, 6,610. Pop., 1,188. Houses, 253. BLINDBOTHEL, a township in Brigham parish, Cumberland; 2 miles W of Cockermouth. Real property, 21,266. Pop., 116. Houses, 19.

BLINDCRAKE, ISELL, and REDMAIN, a township in Isell parish, Cumberland; 5 miles NNE of Cockermouth. Real property, £3,920. Pop., 335. Houses, 72. Real property, £3,920. Pop., 335. Houses, 72. ELINDLEY-HEATH, a chapelry in Godstone purish, Surrey; near the Southeastern railway, S of Godstone stacurrey; near the southeastern rativay, S of Godstone station, and 53 miles N by W of East Grinstead. It has a post-office under East Grinstead. The statistics are returned with the parish. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester, Value, 2173. Patron, the Vicar of Godstone. There is a national school.

BLIND TARN, a mountain lakelet in Furness, Laucashire; on the S si le of Dow-erag, under Waluey-sear, 3 miles W of Coniscon.

o mucs N of Comisson.

BLISLAND, a parish in Bodmin district, Cornwall; on the border of the moors, 4 miles NNL of Bodmin, and 54 N of Bodmin Road v. station. Post-town, Bodmin. Acres, 6,333. Real property, 23,649. Pop., 553. Houses, 121. The property is divided among a few. Ceruity, achieve streaming and atther wincest. Houses, 121. The property is divided among a rev. Granite, schist, streads in, and other minerals are found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Easter. Value, 2571. Patron, the Rev. F. W. Pye. The church has a fine bruss of 1410; and is good. There is a Wesleyan ehapel. A fair is held on 25 Sept.

BLISWORTH, a village and a parish in Towcester district, Northempton. The village stands on the Grand Junction could, I mile SSW of the Northwestern rulway, at the junction of the line to Northampton and Peterborough, and 53 SSW of Northampton; and it has a station, of its own name, at the railway junction, and a post-office under Northampton. -The parish comprises

1,980 acres. Real property, £4,314. Pop., 1,022. Houses, 199. The property is divided among a few. The Blisworth tunnel on the canal, SSE of the village, is 13 mile long. The Blisworth cutting on the railway goes through hard blue limestone; is 2 miles long, with goes inrough nard thus innestone; is 2 miles long, with a mean depth of 50 feet; and, though not the largest work of its kind on the line, was the most difficult. Building-stone is quarried; and some iron ore is found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £351.* Patron, the Rev. W. Barry. The church Value, 2001. Introduction of the Mary American is ancient, and of mixed architectural character; has a brass of 1503; and was recently restored. There are a Bantist chapel, a free school, and charities £25.

BLITHBURY, a hamlet in Mavesyn-Ridware parish,

Stafford; on the river Blithe, 2 miles NE of Rugeley.

Pop., 144. See Aebots-Bromley.
BLITHE, or BLYTHE (THE), a river of Stafford. It BLITHE, OF DEVINE (THE), A FIVE OF STAINOR, IT rises 3 miles E of Lane-End; and runs about 22 miles south-south-eastward, past Leigh, Chartley, Blithbury, and Kings-Bromley to the Trent, 7 miles above Eurton.

BLITHE, OF BLYTHE (THE), Suffolk. See BLYTHE

BLITHE-BRIDGE, a hamlet in Kingston parish, Stafford; on the river Blithe, 4½ miles SW of Uttoxeter. See also BLYTH-BRIDGE.

BLITHE MARSH, a village in Cheadle district, Stafford; on the river Blythe, 31 miles WSW of Cheadle.

It has a post-office under Stone.

BLITHFIELD, a township and a parish in Uttoxeter district, Stafford. The township lies on the river Blithe, 2 miles W by S of Abbots-Bromley, and 3‡ ENE of Colwich r. station. It includes the hamlet of Admarston; and its post-town is Abbots-Bromley, under Rugeley, Real property, £3,526.—The parish includes also the liberty of Newton. Acres, 3,193. Real property, £5,952. Pop., 333. Houses, 75. The property is divided among a few. Blithfield House is the seat of Lord Bagot; forms a large quadrangle with towers and pinnacles; and con-tains some interesting portraits. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £388.* Patron, Lord Eagot. The church has monuments and brasses of the Bagots, the Bromptons, and others; and is good. An endowed school has £35, and other charities £35.

An endowed school has £35, and other charmes £55.
BLOCKHOUSE, an extra-parochial tract in Worcester city. Acres, 13. Pop., 1,671. Houses, 329.
BLOCKHOUSE-FORT, a regular fortification, commanding the entrance to Portsmouth harbour. It has bastions and moat; is bomb proof and casemated; and is armed with 56 guns of the largest calibre, placed level with the water.

BLOCKLEY, a village and a parish in the district of Shipston-on-Stour, and county of Worcester. The village stands in a south-eastern projection of the county, on the Fossé way, adjacent to the Oxford and Worcester railway, 3½ miles NW of Moreton-in-the-Marsh; and has a station on the railway, a post-office: under Moreton-in-the-Marsh, a church, a Baptist chapel, a Primitive Methodist chapel, and national and British schools. It is thodist chapel, and national and British schools. It is an ancient place; and had once a monastery, founded before 855, and a palace of the Bishops of Worces-ter.—The parish includes also the handets of Aston-Magna, Dorne, Ditchford, Draycott, Northwick, and Paxford. Acres, 7,870. Real property, £16,092. Pop., 2,596. Houses, 580. The property is much subdivided. The manor belongs to the see of Worcester. There are stone quarries, silk-nulls, and corn-mills. Traces of the Posse way exist and near Porgan coins and ether Posse. Fosse way exist, and many Roman coins and other Roman relies have been found. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Worcester. Value, £762.* Patron, the Bishop of Worcester. The church is partly Norman, has a modern tower, and contains two brasses of the 15th century. The vicarage of Aston-Magna is a separate benefice.

BLODWELL, a township in Llanyblodwell parish, Salop; 5½ miles SSW of Oswestry. Pop., 384. Elodwell Hall is the deserted seat of the Tanats, descendants of Einion, a prince of Powys.

BLOFIELD, a village, a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a hundred in Norfolk. The village stands near the Yarmouth railway and the river Yare, I mile NE of Brundall r. station, and 7 E of Norwich; and it As a post-office under Norwich, and it is a seat of petty sessions.—The parish comprises 2,334 acres. Real property, £7,548. Pop., 1,155. Houses, 265. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £896.* Patron, Caius College, Combridge. cese of Norwich. Value, 2500. Patron, Camb Collego. The church is good. An endowed school has £10, and other charities £75.—The sub-district centains the parishes of Blofield, Brundall, Postwick, Great Plumstead, Little Plumstead, Witton, Bradeston, Strumpshaw, Buckenham, Hassingham, Lingwood, Burlingham-St. Edmuud, Burlingham-St. Andrew, Hemblington, and Woodbastwick, and part of the parish of Thorpe-St. Andrew. Acres, 17,816. Pop., 5,787. Houses, 1,144.—The district comprehends also the sub-district Valsham-St. Mary, South Walsham-St. Lawrence, Burlingham-St. Peter, Ranworth, Panxworth, Upton, Fishley, Acle, Beighton, Moulton, Halvergate, Tunstall, Wickhampton, Freethorpe, Southwood, Cantley, Lim-Wicknampton, Freethorpe, Southwood, Cantley, Line-penhoe, and Reedham. Acres of the district, 44,178. Poor-rates in 1869, £6,904. Pop. in 1861, 11,521. Houses, 2,359. Marriages in 1866, 77; births, 354,— Houses, 2,559. Barrages in 1866, 77; births, 354,— of which 36 were illegitimate; deaths, 238,—of which 72 were at ages under 5 years, and 7 at ages above 55 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 811; births, 3,410; deaths, 2,330. The places of worship in 1851 were 33 of the Church of England, with 5,537 sittings, 26 flydwards the with 250. 2 of Independents, with 350 s.; 3 of Baptists, with 370 s.; 2 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 232 s.; and 8 of Primitive Methodists, with 835 s. The schools were 16 rimitive methodists, with 793 scholars; 27 private day public day schools, with 793 scholars; 27 private day schools, with 484 s.; 23 Sunday schools, with 1,009 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 24 s. The work-house is in Lingwood.—The hundred comprises twentyfour parishes and part of another. Acres, 19,594. Pop., four parishes and part of another. Acres, 12,294. Fop., 6,280. Houses, 1,205.

BLO-NOTTON, or NORTON-BELLEAU, a parish in Guilteross district, Norfolk; at the verge of the county, on the river Waveney, 51 miles S by E of Harling Road, r. station, and 91 ESE of Thefford. Post-town, Garbol-7. station, and a 1.52 of Interior. Fost-rown, Carron-disham, under Thetford. Acres, 1,122. Real property, £2,395. Pop., 3.70. Houses, 87. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £336. Patron, the Rev, C. H. Browne. The church is very good. There are Independent and P. Methodick theories and describe. Browne. The church is very good. There are It dent and P. Methodist chapels, and charities £97.

BLOOMFIELD, a village in Tipton parish, Worces-Here is a Wesleyan chapel.

BLOOMSBURY, or St. George-Bloomsbury, a pa-BLOOMSBURN, or St. GEORGE-BLOOMSBURN, a parish, which is also a sub-district, in the district of St. Giles, Middlesex; in Finsbury borough, about 11 mile WXW of St. Paul's, London. Aercs, 122. Real property, with St. Giles-in-the-Fields, £299,540. Pop. in 1811, 16,981; in 1881, 17,392. Houses, 1,990. If was originally part of St. Giles-in-the-Fields parish, and was separately constituted in 1729. It includes Bloomsbury and the statement of the bury square, Russell square, Woburn square, and part of Torrington square, together with intermediate and adjacent streets. Part of it shows the architecture of the time of Queen Anne; and much consists of houses which time of Queen Anne; and much consists of bouses which were fushionable residences till about 1828. It contains the British museum, and the buildings or offices of several metropolitan institutions. A sitting statue of Fox, 9 feet high, by Westmacott, is in Bloomsburr square; and a statue of the Duke of Bedford, also by Westmacott, is in Russell square. St. George's church, adjacent to New Oxford-street, was built in 1731, at a cost of £9,790; is in a mixed style of Doric and Corinthian: and has a steenle, modelled after Pliny's accimitant. inthian; and has a steeple, modelled after Pliny's account of the tomb of Mausolus, crowned by a statue of George II. The French Episcopal chapel, in Bloomsbury street, was built in 1845; and is noted for the use of the Anglican liturgy in French. The Baptist chapel, adjacent to this, was built in 1843; and has a circuman feet in diameter, and towers with spires 117 feet high.

Value, to this, was built in 1843; and has a circular window 13 The living is a rectory in the diocese of London. Value, £780.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. Christ church.

in Woburn square, is a separate benefice, with income of £500, in the patronage of the Rector. Eedford chapel and the French Episcopal chaple also are separate incum-lencies. S. Jenns and T. Hook were natives; and Eichard Baxter, Sir H. Sloone, Dr. Radeliffe, Akenside, Romilly, Lawrence, Lord Mansfield, and Lord-Chan-

Remuly, Lawrence, Lord Mansheld, and Lord-Chan-celler Loughborough were residents. BLOOMSBURY, a subarb of Birmingham; in the NE of the borough. It has a station, jointly with Nechells, or the Biraningham and Derby railway. BLOOKE-WITH-TYRLEY AND HALES, a township in Drayton-Tyrley parish, Stafford; near the Dirming-hum and Liverpool Junction canal, 3 miles E of Market-Drayton. Pop. in 1841, 561. Houses, 103. An action was fought on Bloore Heath, in 1459, between the Lancastrians and the Yorkists; and is commemorated on the spot by a cross.

BLORE, a township and a parish in the district of Ashborne and county of Stafford. The township bears the name of Blore-with-Swinscoe, and lies on the river Pove, 4 miles NW of Ashborner, station. Acres, 1,250. Real property, £2,523. Pop., 248. Houses, 54. The parish includes also the township of Calton-in-Blore, and is sometimes called Blore-Ray. Post-town, Ashborne. Acres. 3.730. Real property, £3,443. Pop., 320. Houses, 71. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, 2130. Patron, C. Shore, Esq. The church is old but The good, and contains some curious monuments of the Bas-Charities, £17.

BLOPENGE, a mountain at the head of the Avon Ilwydvalley, Monmouth; 2½ miles SW of Abergavenny. 1t consists of old red sandstone, capped by carboniferous and millstone grit; Las an altitude of 1,170 feet; and figures mendly in the scenery of north-western Monmouth. BLOWICK, a beautiful small bay in Ulles-water, Westmorelanl; at the foot of Place fell, about a mile N of Patter lale inn.

BLOWICK (HIGHER and Lower), two hamlets in ELOWICK (HIGHER and LOWER, two names in North Meols parish, Lancashire; near the coast, 6½ railes NNW of Ormskirk.

ELOWITY, a township in Llangadfan parish, Montgomery; 64 miles WNW of Llanfair. Pop., 85.

ELOW WELLS, profound pits near Stallingborough in Lincoln; 5½ miles NW of Great Grinsby. They ationd an inexhaustible supply of water, and are popularly regarded as unfathomable.

BLOXIIAM, a village, a parish, a sub-district, and a hundred in Oxford. The village stands 31 miles SW of Banbury r. station; and has a post-office under Banbury. The parish is shown in the Census as including the chapelry of Milcon.be. Acres, 4,240. Real property, £10,962. Pop., 1,607. Houses, 369. Bloxham Grove is occu-For. 1,607. Houses, 309. Bloxnan crove is occupied by the Rev. G. Warriner. The living is a vicange in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £290.* Patron, Etra College. The church is a fine edifice of mixed styles, from Xorman to late English; has a very beautiful accorded spire, 105 feet high; was restored in 1865. at great cost; and contains monuments of the Griffiths and the Thorneycrofts. The vicarage of Milcombe is a segarate benefice. There are a Wesleyan chapel built in 1898, a Baptist chapel, a very large middle class school in the collegiate style, enlarged in 1864, an endowed school with £30 a-year, and charities £390,-The subdistrict contains six parishes; and is in Banbury district. Acres, 18,770. Pop. 6,216. Houses, 1,490.—The hundred contains eleven parishes and parts of two others. Acres, 29,770. Pop., 8,855. Houses, 2,111. BLOXHOLME, or BLOXHWA, a parish in Sleaford district, Lincoln; 54 miles N of Sleaford r. statioo. Postthere, button, of smess of seatour station. Post-town, Dighy, under Sleafort. Acres, 1,298. Real pro-perty, £1,976. Pop. 115. Houses, 23. The property is a l in one estate. The living is a rectory, united with the vicarso of Dighy, in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £245. * Patron, the Right Hon. R. A. C. H. Nisbet.

The church is good.

BLOXWICH, a village, a chapelry, and a sub-district in Walsall district, Stafford. The village stands on the Warley and Essington canal, adjacent to the Walsall and Stafford railway, 24 miles NNW of Walsall; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Walsall. The chapelry is in Walsall parish; and was constituted The chapetry is in Walsail partial; and was constituted in 1842. Rated property, £17,509. Pop. in 1841, 3,801; in 1861, 7,345. Honses, 1,424. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichigeld. Value, £300. Patron, the Inhabitants. The church is very good; and there are chapels for Wesleyans and Roman Catholies. The sub-district includes also Pelsall township in Wolverhampton parish. Pop., 9,237.

Houses, 1,800.

BLOXWORTH, a parish in Wareham district, Dorset; 3 miles ESE of Bere-Regis, and 5 NNW of Wareham r. station. It has a post-office under Blandford. Acres, station. It has a post-office under Litantiorid. Acres, 2,776. Real property, £1,691. Pop., 264. Houses, 50. The property is all in one estate. Part of the surface is heath; and there are vestiges of a Danish camp. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, z200. Patron, the Rev. G. Pickard Cambridge. The church is very good. BLUBERIHOUSES, a township in Fewston parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 73 miles N by W of Otley. 14 has a post-office under Otley. Acres, 3,527. Pop., 57. Houses, 15. Here is a small church, built in 1857.

BLUE ANCHOR, a handet in Old Cleeve parish, Somerset; on Bridgewater bay, 2 miles W of Watchet. It occupies a rising-ground, with a brilliant prespect; and is a small watering-place, with a hotel.

BLUE GILL, a profound ravine on High-street mountain, Westmoreland; adjacent to the ascent of the highest summit from Troutbeck, 7½ miles NNE of Windermere. BLUE JOHN MINE, a chambered cave in the Main Tor, Derby; about a mile WNW of Castleton. It is entered by steeply descending stairs; contains a chamber, 60 feet wide and 150 feet high, called Lord Mulgrave's dining-room; has, further in, another chamber, called the Variegated cavern, and beyond this a profound gulf, overlooked by a rail-guarded ledge; makes a magnificent display of stalactites and crystals; and yields a vast quantity of beautiful spar. It is visited under the direction of guides; and shown with Bengal lights and blasts.

BLUE PITS, a village in Rochdale parish, Lancashire;

24 miles SSW of Rochdale. It has a r. station with telegraph, Castleton-Moor church built in 1862, and a Weslevan chapel also built in 1862.

BLUNDESTON, a parish in Mutford district, Suffolk; near the coast, 21 miles ENE of Somerleyton r. station, and 3½ NW by N of Lowestoft. It has a post-office under Lowestoft. Acres, 1,573. Real property, £23,05. Pop., 664. Houses, 156. The property is much subdivided. The manor belongs to R. H. Reeve, Esq. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Flixton, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £617.* Patrons, Executors of T. Morse, Esq. The church is old. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £87.

BLUNHAM, a village and a pavish in Biggleswade strict, Beds. The village stands on the river Ivel, near district, Beds. the Cambridge and Bedford and the Great Northern railthe Cambridge and Bedford and the Great Assurem ran-ways, 64 miles E of Bedford; and has a station on the former railway, and a post-office und r St. Neot's. It was once a market-town. Pop., 647. Houses, 147. The parish includes also the hamlet of Muggerhauger. Aeres, 3,300. Real property, £7,266. Pop., 1,150. Houses, parish includes also the namics of Aurgennager. Acres, 3,000. Real property, £7,266. Pop., 1,150. Houses, 243. The property is much subdivided. Elunham House and Blunham Park are chief residences; and the former is the sent of Sir C. G. Payne, Bart. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £731. Patron, Countess Cowper. The church is Norman and good. Countess Cowper. The church is Norman and good. The vicarage of Muggerhanger is a separate benefice. There are two dissenting chapels, a national school for boys, and an industrial school for girls.

BLUNSDON (Boon), a chapelry in Highworth parish, Wilts; 3½ miles SE of Cricklade, and 4 N of Swinrish, Wilts; 31 miles SE of Crickiage, and 4 2 of Condon r. station. It includes the tything of Bury-Blansdon; and has a post-office under Swindon. Acres, 2,260. Rated property, £2,194. Pop., 806. Houses, 168. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £300. Patron, the Bishop of G. and B. The church is good.

BLUNSDON-ST. ANDREW, or LITTLE BLUNSDON, a parish in Highworth district, Wilts; 3½ niles SSE of Cricklade, nud 3½ NNW of Swindon r. station. Posttown, Broad-Blunsdon, under Swindon. Aeres, 1,422. town, Broad-Bunston, under Swindon. Acres, 1,422.
Real property, with Broad-Elunsdon and Bury-Blunsdon, £5,858. Pop., 84. Houses, 16. The property is divided among a few. Blunsdon Castle fill has a camp, commonly regarded as Roman. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £305.

Patron, H. Calley, Esq. The church is fair.

BLUNTISHAM, a township and a parish in St. Ives district, Huntingdon. The township lies on the river Ouse, 3 miles SE of Somersham r. station, and 41 NE of Ouse, 3 mites SL of Somersnam r. statton, and 44 Ar. of St. I ves; and has a post-office under St. I ves. Real property, £4,961. The parish includes also the hamlet of Earith. Acres, 3,423. Real property, £9,747. Pop., 1,351. Houses, 314. The property is much subdivided. The manor was given, in 1015, to Ely abbey. Eluntis-ham House is the seat of the Tebbuts. Part of the land is fen. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £1,010.* Patron, the Bishop of Peterborough. The church is early English; terminates, in the east, in a half hexagon; and has a screen, a piscina, and an octa-gonal font. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyan Methodists, Primitive Methodists, and Quakers. An endowed school has £88 a-year; other charities £138. Dr. Knight, author of Lives of Erasmus and Dean Colet, was rector.

BLUETON AND LIGHTWOOD-FOREST, a town-ship-chapelry in Trentham parish, Stafford; on the North Stafford railway, adjacent to the Grand Trunk Norm Stanford ranway, adjacent to the Ordinal Trulication, and 5 SE by E of Newcastle-under-Lyne. Post-town, Trentham, under Stoke-upon-Trent. Acres, 2,210. Real property, 25,985. Pop., 2,857. Houses, 594. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield; and till 1866 was united with Redbank. Va-lue, £400.* Patron, the Duke of Sutherland. The church is good.

church is good

BLYBOROUGH, a parish in Gainsborough district,
Lincolu; 21 miles SSE of Northorpe r. station, and 9
ENE of Gainsborough. It has a post-office under KirtonLindsey. Acres, 2,345. Real property, £2,911. Pop., 209. Houses, 41. The property is divided between two.
Blyborough Hall is the seat of C. Luard, Esq. There are some mineral springs. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £519.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good.

BLYFORD. Sec BLYTHFORD.

BLYMHILL, a parish in the district of Shiffnall, and BLYMHILL, a parish in the district of Shiffnall, and county of Stafford; near Watling-street, 5 miles NW by W of Brewool, and 5½ SE of Newport r. station. It has a post-office under Shiffnall. Acres, 2,925. Real property, £4,519. Pop., 501. Houses, 127. The property is divided among a few. The parish is a meet for the Albrighton hounds. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £450. Patron, Earl Bradford. The church was repaired in 1859.

BLYSOOG (The), a stream of Cardigan. It rises near the coast, WSW of Aberporth; and runs 5 miles south-ward to the Teifi at Llechryd.

BLYTH (THE), a river of Northumberland. It rises 2 miles E of Throckington; and runs about 24 miles eastward, past Bradford, Whalton, Kirkley, Stannington, and Bedlington, to the North sea at South Blyth.

BLYTH, a sub-district in the district of Tynemouth, Northumberland; on the S side of Blyth river, at the coast. It coutains South Blyth township, Newsham lordship, and Horton and Cramlington chapelries.

Acres, 10,222. Pop., 12,959. Houses, 2,579.

ELYTH, a village and a township in Worksop district,

Notts; and a parish in Worksop and Fast Retford district,

Notts, and in Doncaster district, W. R. Yorkshire. The village occupies a gentle ascent on the Ryton rivulet, 23 miles W by S of Ranskill r. station, and 7 NNE of miles W by S of idanskiii r. station, and T MAR of Worksop; and has a post-office under Worksop. It was formerly a market-town; and it still has fairs on Holy Thursday and 20 Oct. The township includes also the Lamlets of Norney and Oldcoates, and part of the hamlet of Ranby. Real property, £4,721. Pop., 698. Houses, 167. The parish includes likewise the lordship Houses, 167. The parish includes inkewise the fortship of Hodsock, and the townships of Styrrup, Barnby-Moor, Ranskill, Torworth, Austerfield, and Bawtry. Acres, 17,110. Real property, £31,057. Pop., 3,486. Houses, 781. Blyth Hall, in Elyth township, belonged formerly to the Mellishes; and is now the seat of H. H. Walker, Ver. S. Stylker and is now the seat of H. H. Walker, Esq. Serlby Hall, 2 miles N of Blyth variage, is the seat of Viscount Galway. The country around these seats, as well without the parks as within, is so rich and ornate as to look all like a garden. An hospital for a warden, three chaplains, and a number of leprous persons, was founded at Blyth-Spittal, to the S of Blyth village, by William de Cressy, Lord of Hodesac; but has all disappeared. A Benedictine priory was founded at Blytin village, in 1088, by Roger de Builly; and given, at the dissolution, to Richard Andrews and William Rausden; and a part of it, called the conventual nave, still stands connected with the nave of the parish church. The liv-ing is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £751.* Patron, Trinity College, Cambridge. The church is a noble edifice in successive characters from Norman to later English; has a very ancient tower; and contains an effigies and armorial bearings of the Mellishes. The p. curacy of Bawtry, with the p. curacy of Austerfield, is a separate benefice. There are four dissenting chapels, two public schools, and two alms-houses.

BLYTH AND TYNE RAILWAY, a ramified railway in the SE of Northumberland. The main part of it, 20 miles long, was authorized in 1852, and comprises a line from South Blyth, through a coal and mineral district, to Hayhole-Tyne, for coal, and to Percy-Main, on the to Hayhole-Tyne, for coal, and to Fercy-Main, on the North Shields railway, for passengers and goods. Another part, opened in October 1860, includes a Tynemouth branch of 1½ mile to Dairy-house, and a branch of 6 miles from South Blyth to the Northeastern near Morpeth. Another part is an extension of 13½ miles to Warkworth; another, opened in 1864, is an extension of 25 miles to Newcastle; and others, anthorised in 1867, are lines and branches of aggregately 24 miles.

BLYTH-BEIDGE, a station on the Stoke and Uttoxeter railway; 5½ miles SE of Stoke.

BLYTHBURGH, a village and a parish in Blything district, Suffolk. The village stands on the river Elythe, 3½ miles NNE of Darsham r. station, and 4½ ESE of Halesworth. It was formerly a market-town, of some note; but it suffered severely from a fire and other events note; but it suffered severely from a line and other events in the 17th century, and went into docay. A fair is still held at it on 5 April. A priory of Black cauons stood here; was given by Henry I. to St. Csyth's abbey in Essex; and passed, at the dissolution, to Sir Arthur Hopeton; and some triding remains of its buildings still exist.-The parish includes also the hamlets of Hinton and Bulcamp; and its post-town is Wenhaston, under Halesworth. Acres, 4,116. Real property, £4,383. Pop., 832. Houses, 128. The manor belongs to Sir J. R. Blois, Bart.; and Henham Hall to the Earl of Stradbroke. A battle between Anna king of East Anglia and Penda king of Mercia, in which the former was slain, was fought at Bulcamp in 654. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £81. Patron, Sir J. R. Blois, Bart. The church is fine early English, very much decayed; and has painted windows, a font, and remains of aucient monuments. There are a Primitive Methodist chapel and the Blything workhouse.

BLYTHE (THE), a river of Warwick. It rises near Chadwick-End; and runs about 12 miles northward, past Packington and Coleshill, to the Tame, 11 mile below Coleshill.

BLYTHE (THE), Northumberland. See BLYTH (THE).

BLYTHE, or BLITHE (THE), a river of Suffolk. rises near Wilby; and runs about 15 miles eastward, past Heveningham, Walpole, Ilalesworth, and Blyth-burgh, to the North sea at Southwold. It is navigable to Halesworth.

BLYTHE, or BLITHE (THE), Stafford. See BLITHE.
BLYTHE HALL, the seat of the Dugdales, in Warwick; on the river Blythe, I mile NE of Coleshill.

Here lived Sir William Dugdale, the antiquary, county historian, and author of the "Monasticou."

BLYTHFORD, or BLYFORD, a parish in Blything dis-DITTIONLY, or BLYFORD, a parish in BigHing dis-rict, Saffolk; on the river Blythe, 2½ miles E by S of Helesworth r. station. Post-town, Halesworth. Acres, 947. Real property, £1,518. Pop., 193. Houses, 41. The living is a donative in the discess of Norwich. Value, not reported. Patron, the Rev. Jeremy Day. The bands by the Norwich Const. The church has two Norman doors and a perpendicular English tower, but is mainly decorated English.

BLYTHING, a district and a hundred in the NE of Suffolk. The district comprehends the sub-district of Westleton, containing the parishes of Carlton, Kelsale, Knedishall, Aldringham, Leiston, Theberton, Middleton, Yoxford, Darsham, Westleton, Dunwich, Walberswick, Islythburgh, Thorington, and Bramfield; the sub-district of Halesworth, containing the parishes of Sibton, Peasenhall. Ubbesten, Heveningham, Huntingfield, Cratfield, Linsteal-Magna, Linstead-Parva, Chediston, Cookley, Walpole, Halesworth, Wissett, Rumburgh, and Spexhall; Walpole, Halesworth, Wissett, Rumburgh, and Spexhalj, and the sub-district of Wenhaston, containing the paishes of Holton, Wenhaston, Blythford, Westhall, Brampton, Stoven, Uggeshall, Sotherton, Wangford, Reydon, Soathwold, Easton-Bavents, South Cove, Frostenden, Wrentham, Corehithe, Benacre, and Henstead, Arcs, 929,097. Poor-rates in 1866, 210,746. Pop. in 1551, 28,848. Houses, 5,915. Marriages in 1866, 17c; births, 841,—of which 30 were illegitimate; deaths, 480,—of which 172 were at ages under 5 years, and 18 at ages above 55 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 1951; births, 9,180; deaths, 5,530. The places of worship in 1851 were 47 of the Church of England, with 1,403 stituses; 9 of Independents, with 2,149 s.; 4 of 14,003 sittings; 9 of Independents, with 2,149 s.; 4 of Baptists, with 4;0 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 200 s.; 11 of Weslevan Metholists, with 2,298 s.; and 16 of Primitive Methodists, with 2,100 s. The schools were 26 public day schools, with 2,313 scholars; 64 private day schools, day schools, with 2,313 scholars; 64 private day schools, with 3,610 s.; and 5 evening schools for adults, with 78 s. The workhouse is in Blythburgh parish.—The hundred is mainly identical with the district, but not so extensive. Acres, 87,941. Pop., 23,343. Houses, 5,050.

ELYTH (Norm), a township in Bedlington parish,

Northumberland; on the river Blyth, at its month, opposite South Blyth. Pop., 123.

BLYTH (SOUTH), a seaport town, a township, and a chapelry in Earsdon parish, Northumberland. The town stands on the S side of the river Blyth, at its mouth, and on the Blyth and Tyne railway, 9 miles SE of Morpeth. It was formerly a disagreeable place, of poor appearance, with narrow, irregular streets; but it has been nuch improved; and it now contains many good houses. It has a post-office, 2 of Blyth, Northumberland, a r. station with telegraph, a bank, a church of 1863, two Presbyterian chapels, a Wesleyan chapel of 1866, a P. Methodist chapel, and national schools. A weekly market is held on Wednesday; a large trade is carried on in coals and e-asting; and much manufacturing industry is a-foot in connexion with shipping. The harbour has undergone great improvement since 1851, and not yet com-144 ed, costing nearly £50,000, and including docks, a quay of 1,400 feet, and a breakwater of about 3,000 yards. The depth of water over the bar, at full tides, was formerly 16 feet; and this has been increased. Two fixed Lgats, jut up in 1788, are 445 feet apart, and 26 and 48 feet high.—The township comprises 1,180 acres. Pop., nec nga.—11e townsine comprises 1,189 acres. Pop., 1,953. Houses, 327. The manor belongs to Sir M. W. Ribliey, Bart.—The chapelry is contemmate with the township; and is a donative in the diocese of Durham. Value, 203. Patron, Sir M. W. Ribliey, Bart. The charch was built in 1751.

BLYTON, a village and a parish in Gainsborough district, Lincoln. The village stands near the Manchester and Lincoln shire railway, 41 miles NE of Gainshorough; an I has a station on the rillway, and a post-office under Gainsborough. The parish includes also the hamlet of Wharton, Acres, 2,830. Perl property, £6,719. Pop., 746 Houses, 171. The property is divided among a 746 few. The living is a vicarage in the discose of Lincoln.

Value, £399.* Patron, the Earl of Scarborough. The church is good; and there are two Methodist chapels, and a school with £20 of endowed income.

and a school with £20 of endowed meome.

BOARDLEY. See HERTON-WITH-BOADDLEY.

BOARHUNT, a parish in Fareham district, Hants, on the N slope of Portsdown Hill, 2 miles NE of Fareham r. station. Post-town, Fareham. Acres, 1,938. Real property, £1,539. Pop., 267. Houses, 51. Portsdown Hill has an altitude of 447 feet; commands brilliant views; and is crowned by an obelisk to the memory of Lord Nelson. The living is a donative, with South-wick, in the diocese of Winchester. Value, not reported. Patron, T. Thystlethwaite, Esq. The church is transi-tion Norman, or possibly Saxon; but has been restored.

BOARSHURST. See SADDLEWORTH. BOARSTALL, or BORSTALL, a parish in the district of Bicester, and county of Bucks; in Bernwood forest, on the verge of the county, 6 miles SSE of Bicester r. station. Post-town, Brill, under Tetsworth. Acres, 3,050. Real property, £2,592. Pop., 255. Houses, 53. The property is divided among a few. The manor was obtained, from Edward the Confessor, by the huntsnau Nigel, for service done in the forest; and is now held by his descendant, Sir T. D. Aubrey, Bart. Boarstall Tower, the old nanor-house, played a conspicuous part in the civil war, and is now a pictnresque ruin. The living is a vicange, annexed to the vicarage of Brill, in the diocese of Oxford. The church was rebuilt in 1818; and contains monuments of the Aubreys.

BOBBERSMILL, a locality 11 mile from Old Basford, and 2 from Nottingham; with a post-office under Nottingham. BOBBING, a parish in Milton district, Acid, 14 Milton, and 2 NW of Sittingbourne r. station. Post-town, Milton, under Sittingbourne. Acres, 27 720. Port., 449. Houses, 71. Real property, £2,720. Pop., 449. Houses, The property is subdivided. The manor belonged 83. The projecty is submiring in the Cliffords. Echton the Savages, and afterwards to the Cliffords. Echton Cliffords the Savages is now a ruin. Echton the Savages is now a ruin. to the Savages, and alternate to the Savages, is now a rain. Bobbing Court, the seat of the Savages, is now a rain. Bobbing Street, about a mile NE of the church, is on a branch of Watlingstreet. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Canterbury. Value, 294. Patrou, the Rev. G. Simpson. The church is ancient and good; has a tower and spire; and contains a piscina and monuments of the Savages and the Tuftons. Titus Octes was vicar.

BOBBINGTON, a parish in the district of Woiverhampton, and counties of Stafford and Salep; 31 miles W of the river Stour and the Stafford and Birmingham canal, 41 miles E by N of Hampton-Loade r. station, and 8 WNW of Stourbridge. It includes the headet of and 8 W.W. of Stourbridge. It includes he heater to Halfpenny-Green; and its post-town is Enville, under Stourbridge. Acres, 2,676. Real property, £4,130. Pop., 431. Houses, 87. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Hereford. Value, £97. Patren, W. Whitmore, £5q. The church is good. An endowed school has £42, and other charities £31.

other charities £31.

BOBBINGWORTH, a parish and a sub-district in Ongor district, Easex. The parish bears also the name of Boringer; and lies 25 miles NW of Ongar r. station, and 5½ SE of Harlow. Post-town, Ongar. Acres, 1,628. Real property, £2,471. Pop., 334. Houses, 67. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bochester. Value, £393.* Patrons, J. A. Houblon and C. Cure, Lays. The church is good.—The sub-district contains filteen parishes. Acres. 47, 465. Pop., 5,465. Houses, 1,145.

BOB'S NOSE, or HOPE Nose, a headland at the N side of the entrance of Tor bay, Devon; 4 miles N of Berry Head. The Orestone, Loadstone, Thatcher, and Shag rocks, with from 5 to 10 fathoms water round them, are near it.

BOCKENFIELD, a township in Felton parish, Northumberland; 8 miles N of Morpeth. Acres, 2,324. Pop., 127. Houses, 23. BOCKHAMPTON. See EASTEURY AND BOCKHAMP-

BOCKHAMPTON (Higher and Lower), two villages in Stinsford parish, Dorset; 2 miles E of Dorchester. They have a post-office, of the name of Bockhampton, under Dorchester.

BOKING, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Braintree district, Essex. The village stands on the left bank of Blackwater river, and on the Fraintree railway, adjacent to Braintree; forms a suburh of that town; consists chiefly of one long street; and is a seat of petty sessions. A trade in baizes, called "bockings," was at one time prominent; and a manufacture of silk and crape is now carried on. The parish includes also Bocking-street and Bocking-Church-street, 3 and 2 miles distant from Braintree, both with post-offices under that town, and the former situated on the branch Roman road from Chelmsford. Acres, 4,607. Real property, £15,156. Pop., 3,555. Houses, 768. The property is much sub-The manor was given by Ethelred to the see divided of Canterbury; and belongs now to the corporation of the sons of the clergy. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £923.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church is early English; had anciently three altars and five chantries; and conladependent chapel, much improved in 1869, a charity school with £50, and other charities with £172. Dr. Dale, the author of "Pharmacologia," was a nature. sub-district contains five parishes. Acres, 11,507. Pop.,

5,281. Houses, 1,171.

BOCKLETON, a parish in the districts of Tenbury and Bromyard, and counties of Worcester and Hereford; and a sub-district in the district of Tenbury. The parish lies 5 miles S of Tenbury r. station, and 6 E by N of Leominster; and it includes the hamlet of Hamptonof Leoninster; and it includes the hamlet of Hampton-Charles, and has a post-office under Tenbury. Acres, 3,229. Real property, £2,588. Pop., 346. Houses, 74. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Hereford. Value, £127.* Patron, the Rev. J. J. Miller. The church is good.—The sub-district contains five parishes and parts of two others. Acres, 17,777. Pop., 3,046. Houses, 648. BOCKLETON, a ville in Stoke-St. Millioorough parish Salow, £2 miles N. F. of Ludlew.

BOCKLETON, a ville in Stoke-St. Alinoorough pa-rish, Salop, 63 miles NF of Ludlow. BOCONNOC, a parish in Liskeard district, Cornwall; on affluents of the river Lerrin, 3 miles SW of Double-bois r. station, and 4 NE of Lostwithiel. Post-town, Lostwithiel. Acres, 2,003. Iteal property, £1,606. Fop., 323. Houses, 57. The manor belonged to the Courtenays, the Carmenowes, and the Mohans; was purcontenays, the Carmenowes, and the Monans; was purchased by Governor Pitt, the grandfather of the great Earl of Chatham; and is now the property of Lady Grenville. The old mansion on it was the headquarters of Prince Maurice, and for a short time the residence of Charles I.,—who narrowly escaped being shot by an assassin on the grounds. The present mansion was assassin on the grounds. built by Governor Pitt, and improved by Lord Camel-ford; was the hirthplace of the Earl of Chatham; is now the residence of the Hon. G. M. Fortescue; and contains a bust of Lord Chatham, some fine paintings by Kneller, Lely, and Reynolds, and two ebony chairs, made out of Queen Elizabeth's cradle. The grounds are the finest in Queen Enzageth scrame. The grounds are the most in Cornwall; and contain an obelisk, 123 feet high, to the memory of Sir Richard Lyttleton. Lead mines were formerly worked, but were not productive. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Broadoak, in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £378.* Patron, Lady Gren-

BOD, or Bone, a prefix to Welsh or ancient British names, signifying an abode or residence.

BODAIOCH, a township in Tref-Eclwys parish, Montgomery; on the river Tarannon, 44 miles N of Llanidloes

BODDINGTON, a parish in Towkestury district, Gloncester; on the river Chilt, 4 miles NW by W of Cheltenham r. station. It includes the township of Barrow; and has a post-office under Cheltenham. Acres, 930. Real property, £1,670. Top., 552. Houses, $1. The manor belongs to Mrs. T. L. Blagdon; and has a curious old moeted manison. King Affiel tought his last battle with the Danes, in $93, "at the barrow."

The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarege of Staverton, in the diocese of Cloucester and Bristol. The church is ancient, and looks to be Norman, but is not BODDINGTON, or Bodington, a parish in the district of Banbury and county of Northampton; near the Oxford canal, 3½ miles E by N of Fenny-Compton r. station, and 9 SW of Daventry. It includes the villages station, and 95W of Daventry. It means have those of Lower and Upper Boddington; and has a post-office, of the name of Boddington, under Daventry. Acres, 3.770. Real property, £6,265. Pop., 724. Houses, 3,770. Real property, £6,265. Pop., 724. Houses 161. The property is subdivided. The living is a rec tory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £757.* Patron, Emmauuel College, Cambridge. The church is handsome. There are a Wesleyan chapel, an endowed school, and charities £47.

BODEDERN, a village and a parish in the district and county of Anglesey. The village stands 3 miles and cotany of Angiesey. The viriage status of mace ENE of Valley r. station, and 65 E by S of Holyhead; and has a post-office under Bangor. It takes its name from Edern or Edeym, a bard of the 7th century, who From Letern of Laceyrn, a bard of the 7th century, who resided at it; and it is a seat of petty sessions, and has fairs on 13 March, 16 April, 5 May, 9 June, Whit-Tuesday, 16 Aug, 14 Sept., and 1 and 29 Oct.—The parish comprises 4,235 acres. Real property, £4,183. Pop., 1,084. Houses, 240. The property is divided among a few. Fresaddled is an old manison, once the residence of Sir John Bulkeley. A well-preserved cromlech is near this mansion. The spinning of yarn is carried on in two mills. The living is a vicarege in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £104.* Patron, Jesus College, Oxford. The church is ancient, and very good; and contains tombs of the Imilies of Presaddfed and Tre-Jorweth. There are chapels for Independents. Baptists, Calvinistic Methodists, and Wesleyans. Charities, £19.

BODEIGAN, a township in St. Asaph parish, Flint.

Pop., 54.
BODELGAR, a township in Llanbedr-Dyffryn-Clwyd parish, Denbigh; 2 miles NE of Ruthin. Pop., 93.

BODELWIDDAN. See BODLLEWYDDAN.

BODENHAM, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Leominster, Hereford. The village stands near the river Lng, 21 miles E of Dinmore r. station, and 61 SSE of Leominster; and it has a post-office under Leominster, and was once a market-town .- The under Leoninster, and was once a market-town.—The parish includes also the townships of Eowley, Bryan-Maund, Whitchereh-Maund, and the Moor. Acres, 5,260. Real property, £7,463. Pop., 1,960. Houses, 231. The property is divided among a faw. Tho living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £686.* Patron, John Arkwright, Esq. The church is ancient and good; and has an incomplete spire. There are a Wesleyan chapel, an endowed school with £30, and other charities with £24.—The sub-district comprises six parishes, parts of two other parishes, and a chapelry. Acres, 24,884. Pop., 4,021. Houses 846 24,884. Pop., 4,021. Houses, 846.

EODENHAM, a village in Nunton parish, Wilts; 3 miles SSE of Salisbury. It has a post-office under Salisbury.

BODEWRYD, an extra-parochial chapelry in the district and county of Anglessy; 27 miles SW of Andweh, r. station, and 124 NE of Holyhead. Post-town, Amlweh, under Burgor. Acres, 526. Real property, £1,657. Pop., 26. Houses, 4. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £70. Patron, Lord Stanley of Allege and the state of the Wynne and Bangor. Value, £70. Patron, Lord Stanley of Alderley. The church has monuments of the Wynnes, and is small.

BODFACH, a tewnship in Llanfyllin parish, Mont-gomery; on the river Cain, § of a mile NW of Llanfy, lin. Pop., 42. Hodfach House is an elegant mansion, the seat of Lord Mostyn, amid fine grounds, with a charming view.
BODFAEN. See BODVEAN.

BODFARY, or Bodvani, a village in St. Asaph district, Plint; and a parish partly in that district and county, and partly in Ruthin district, Denbigh. The willage stands near the confluence of the rivers Clwyd and Wheeler, 23 miles E of Trefnant r. station, and 4

NE of Denbigh: and it has a post-office under Rhyl, and is a good fishing station. It is supposed to be the Roman Varis; and has yielded numerous Roman coins, urns, and other relies. An ancient camp, supposed to be and other reiges. An ancient camp, supposed to British, and called Moel-y-gare, is on a neighbouring bill. The parish includes also the township of Aberwheeler. Acres, 4,795. Real property, £5,874. Pop., 813. Houses, 187. The scenery of vale and bill is fine. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, The fiving is a rectory in the chocess of St. Asapa. Value, 2296. Fatron, the lishop of Liandaff. The church stands on a rising-ground, and has a good tower and a carred oak pulpit. Charities, 26.

BODFEIRIG, a tything in Aberflaw parish, Anglesey.

BODFEILL HALL, a residence near Pwilheli, in Car-narron. It was the birthplace of Mrs. Thrale or Piozzi. BODFERIN, or BODVERN, a parish in Pwllheli district, Carnarvon; on the coast, 44 miles N by W of Aberdaron, and 14 WSW of Pwllheli r. station. Post-town, daron, and 14 wow of rwitten r. station. Fost-town, Aberdaron, under Pwilheli. Acres, 511. Real property, £273. Pop., 50. Houses, 12. The living is a p. curacy, united with Llaniestyn, in the diocese of Bangor. The church has disappeared; but there are ruins of an ancient chapel.

BODFUAN. See BODVEAN.

BODGADFAN, a township in Llangelynin parish, Merioneth; on the coast, 41 miles N of Towyn. Real property, £561. Pop., 211. BODGEDRWYDD, a tything in Aberffraw parish, Auglessy,

BODGONWYCH, a township in Llaugerniew parish,
Denbigh; 9 miles NE of Llanrwst. Pop., 78.
BODGYNFEL, a township in Gwyddelwern parish,
Merion-th; 2 miles N of Corwen.
BODHAM, a parish in Erpingham district, Norfolk;
3 miles E of Holt, 5½ W of the line of the projected railway to Cromer, and 12 E of Walsingham r, station. Post-town, Holt, under Thetford. Acres, 1,688. Real property, £2,007. Pop., 316. Houses, 74. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value not reported. Patron.

To J. Mott, Esq. The church is very good.

BODIAM, or BODIMAM, a village and a parish in Ticehurst district, Sussex. The village stands on the river Rother, 33 miles ESE of Hurst Green, and 4 ENE of Robertsbridge r. station; and it has a post-office under Hurst Green, and a fair on 6 June. The parish comprises 1,596 acres. Real property, £2,495. Pop., 303. Houses, 50. The manor belonged to Sir Edward Dalryngrudge, who fought at Creey and Poictiers; passed to the Lewknors and others; and now belongs to A. E. Fuller, Esq. A grand strong castle on it was built by Dalryngrudge; stood out for the Crown against the parlinnentarians in the civil war; was taken by the latter and dismantied; and is now a picturesque ruin, nearly square, with round towers at the angles, square towers in the middle of the sides, a great machicolated gateway, and remains of ancient defences and approach. A modern mansion, called Bodiam Castle, stands in the vicinity, The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £250.* Patron, T. Cubitt, Esq. The church is early and decorated English. EODICOTT, a chapelry in Adderbury parish, Oxford; near the Oxford canal, the Cherwell river, and the Oxnear the Oxfora canal, the Cherwell river, and the Oxford and Rugby railway, 2 miles S of Banbury. It has a post-office under Banbury. Acres, 1,630. Real property, 24,331. Pop., 626. Houses, 163. The property is much sub-livided. Bodicott House and Bodicott Grange are chief residences. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £150.* Patron, New College, Oxford. The church is good; and there are Buptist and Wesleyan chapels and a national school.

John Kersey, the mathematician, was a native.
BODIDDA, a township in Gyttin parish, Carnarvon;
I mile SW of Counwr. Pop., 157.
BODIDRIS, and BODIDRIS-TRUAM, two townships is Llanarmen parish, Denbigh; 8 miles SE of Rathin, Pop. 105. Thry belonged formerly to the Lloyds, and belong now to the Mostyns. BODIGRE'R-ABBOT and BODIGRE'R-YARLL, two townships in Llanarmon parish, Denbigh; 54 miles ESP of Ruthin. Pop., 93 and 120.

BODINGEN, a township in Ysceifiog parish, Flint; 34 miles 8 of Holywell. Pop., 48.

BODINGTON. See Boddington, Northampton. BODINNOCK, a hamlet in Lanteglos-by-Fowey ra-rish, Cornwall; 5½ miles SSE of Lostwithiel. BODLES, a hamlet in Bentley-with-Arksey parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles N of Doncaster.

BODLE-STREET, a chapelry in four parishes, Sussex; 5 miles NE of Hailsham. It has a post-office under Hurst Green. Pop., 763. Living, a rectory. Value, £140.* BODLITH, a township in Llansilin parish, Denbigh; 7½ miles SE of Chirk.

BODLLEWYDDAN, a chapelry in St. Asaph parish, int. on the verge of the county, 3 miles W of St. Flint; on the verge of the county, 3 miles Asaph r. station. Post-town, St. Asaph, under Rhyl. Pop., 653. The manor belonged at one time to the family of Humphries; and was purchased from them in the time of Charles II., by Speaker Sir William Williams. The present mansion on it, the seat of Sir Hugh Williams, Bart., is a beautiful castellated edifice, amid tasteful grounds. The living is a vicarage in the discess of St. Asaph. Value, £200. Patron, Sir H. Williams, Bart. The church was built in 1856-60, by the Dowager Lady Willoughby de Broke as a memorial of her husband; stands on a conspicuous site; is a richly ornate cruciform structure, in the decorated English style; comprises a nave of 66 feet, a chancel of 421 feet, an octagonal vestry, and a tower and spire 202 feet high; and is said to have cost £60,000.

BODLYN LAKE, a lake 6 miles NNE of Barmouth, in Merioneth. Some cairns, standing-stones, and other antiquities are near it.

BODLYNGHARAD (ISAF and UCHAF), two townships in Llanfwrog parish, Denbigh; in the neighbourhood of Ruthin.

BODMIN, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Cornwall. The town stands in a hollow between two hills, near the centre of the county, 3½ miles WNW of Bodmin-Road r. station, and 22 SW of Launceston. A hermitage of St. Guron stood here about the beginning of the 6th century; and gave place, about 518, to a monastic cell founded by St. Petroc. This is thought by some, but erroneously, to have become the first seat of the bishopric of Cornwall; was occupied by old British or Benedictine monks till 926; and gave place then to a Benedictine priory, founded by King Athelstan. This was destroyed by Danish pirates in 981; yet continued to be a centre of monks till about 1120; and then was succeeded by an Augustinian monastery, founded by one Algar; and this passed, at the dissolution, to Thomas Sternhold, one of the translators of the Psalms. A Grey friary was founded by John of London, a merchant, and augmented by Edmund, Earl of Cornwall; was given, at the dissoyears after, to the corporation. Part of the refectory was afterwards used as the town-hall. A lazar-house was founded, at an early period, in the north-western vicinity; refounded and incorporated by Queen Elizabeth; and endowed with property, yielding £140 a-year; which came to be transferred to the infirmary at Truic; and some remains of the building, including several pointed arches, were not long ago standing. No fewer than arches, were not long ago standing. No fewer than thirteen churches or free chapels were at one time in the town and its environs; and one of these, an ivy-clad structure, called the chapel of St. Thomas, still adjoins the chancel of the parish church; while a tower, which belonged to another, called the chapel of the Holy Cross, stands on a hill about 1 a mile to the N. The town was so populous in 1351 as to lose 1,500 persons in that year by pestilence; and it was one of the places which hal authority to stamp tin, but it lost that privilege in 1347. It owed its consequence mainly to the number and judyence of its ecclesiastics; and it sauk suddenly, at the Reformation, into much decay; but it revived during last century, was then made the seat of the assizes for the county, and has since enjoyed some prosperity as a provincial metropolis. Perkin Warbeck commenced has revinetal metropolis. Perkin Warbert commenced her bellion kere, preparatory to his attack on Exter; the Cornish and Devonshire men also commenced their insurrection here in the time of Edward VI.; and Faithex took the town. Powers were obtained, in 1884 and 1897, to make railways from Bodmin to the Cornwall railway and to Wadebridge.

The town consists chiefly of one long street, running E and W; and a good view of it is got from Bescon-hill to the S. The county-hall contains two handsome courthouses, grand jury-room, indictment-room, and other offices. The mayoralty-house, with judges' lodging, was built in 1838. The county jail was rebuilt in 1859, at a cost of £40,000; and has capacity for 155 male and The county lunatic asylum, as also 42 female prisoners. the jail, stands in the outskirts of the town. The markethouse was opened in 1810, and is commodians. county militia barracks are a recent erection. The parish church measures 151 feet by 63; was, save the tower and part of the chancel, rebuilt, in the perpendicular style, in 1472; has a square tower, formerly surmounted by a lofty spire, which fell by lightning in 1699; and cen-tains a Norman font, some curiously carved old oak sears, and a large sculptured monument of Thomas Vyvyan, a prior who died in 1533. There are chapels for Wesleyans, Bible Christians, and Lady Huntingdon's Connexion. The town has a head post-office, a banking-office, a literary institution, and two chief inns. There used to be annual races and occasional assemblies. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on 25 Jan., the Saturday before Palm Sunday, the Tuesday before Whit-Sunday, 6 July, and 6 Dec Bone-lace was formerly made in considerable quantity; and shoe-making is now carried on. The mines of Restormel, Messer, Carnivian, Eoconnoc, Great Treveddoe, West Fortescue, Wheal Fortescue, and Wheal Maullin are near enough to have some resule, and wheat materini are near changed to have some influence on the trade. The town was incorporated by Edward III.; and it sent two members to parliament from the time of Edward I. till 1867, but was reduced, by the act of that year, to the right of sending only one. Its municipal boundaries comprise only the town, but its parl. boundaries comprise four parishes. It is governed by a mayor, four aldermen, and twelve councillors; and it is the seat of all the assizes and quarter sessions for the county and of county courts. Direct taxes in 1857, £2,481. Electors in 1868, 403. Pop. of the m. borough, 4,466; of the p. borough, 6,381. Honses, 794 and 5,191.

The parish comprises 6,191 acres. Real property, £14,675; of which £11,940 are in the borough. Pop., 4,809. Houses, 864. The property is not much divided. Bodmin priory, on the site of the ancient monastery, passed from Thomas Sternhold to successively the Pescodes, the Rashleighs, the Penningtons, and the Gilberts. A trigonometrical station, 1 mile E of the town, is 645 feet high. A monument to the late General Gilbert, 144 feet high, is on the Beacon to the S. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £350.* 144 feet righ, is on the Baccon to the S. The inving is a vicarage in the diocese of Excher. Value, 4350.* Patron, J. P. Basset, Esq.—The sub-district contains the parishes of Bodmin, Lanhydrock, Lauivet, and Withiel. Acres, 16,317. Pop., 6,524. Houses, 1,222.—The district comprehends also the sub-district of In a district comprehensis and the sub-district of Ladivery, containing the parishes of Ladivery, Luxulion, St. Winnow, and Lo-twithiel; the sub-district of St. Mabyn, containing the parishes of St. Mabyn, St. Tudy, Helland, Cardinham, Warleggon, Temple, and Blisland; and the sub-district of Egloshayle, containing the parishes of Eulevalue St. Mabyn, St. Initianal; and the sub-district of Egioshayic, containing the parishes of Egloshayle, St. Minver, Endellion, and St. Kew. Acres of the district, 88,931. Poor-rates in 1866, 210,710. Pop. in 1861, 19,691. Houses, 4,019. Marriages in 1866, 100; births, 605,—of which 42 were illegitimate; deaths, 365,—of which 93 were at ages under 8 years, and 25 at ages above 8 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 1,493; births, 6,385, deaths 4,095. The places of worship in 1851 ware 94 deaths 4,005. The places of worship in 1851 ware 94 deaths, 4,025. The places of worship in 1851 were 24 deaths, 3,000. The phases of weiship in 1001 weis 27 of the Church of England, with 6,005 sittings; 22 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 3,517 s.; 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 40 attendants; 19 of the Wesleyan Association, with 3,697 sittings; 14 of Bible Christians, with 1,659 s.; 1 of Lady Huntingdon's Connexion, with 364 s.; I undefined, with 30 s.; and 1 of Roman Cathohes, with 250 s. The schools were 25 public day schools, with 1,234 scholars: 50 private day schools, with 893 s.; 41 Sunday schools, with 2,482 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 12 s. The work-house is in 15 min.

BODMIN-ROAD, a station on the Cornwall railway, 263 miles NE of Truro, and 27 W of Plymouth.

BODNEY, a parish in Swaffham district, Norfolk; on both Mark in which the river Wisesy, 55 miles W by 5 of Watton, and 7 S by E of Swaftham r. station. Post-town, Great Cressingham, under Thetford. Acres, 2,605. Real property, £1,364. Pop., 117. Houses, 19. The property is divided among a few. Podney Hall was a retreat of French nuns after the first French revolution. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Great Cressingham, in the diocese of Norwich. The church is

BODNOD, a township in Eglwys-fach parish, Denbigh; 64 miles N of Llanrwst. Pop., 465.

BODORGAN, a station on the Chester and Holyhead railway, 12 miles SE by E of Holyhead. Bodorgan House, the seat of O. A. F. Meyrick, Esq., 21 miles SSW of the station, is an elegant edifice.

BODORLAS, a township in Corwen parish, Merioneth; in the vicinity of Corwen. Pop., 145.

BODORKYN, a township in Abergele parish, Denbigh.

BODORAY N, a township in Abergele parish, Denbigh. Real property, 22,059. Fop., 139.
BODOEX, an ancient seat of the Owens, near Bodorgan House, 23 miles SE of Aberffraw, in Anglesey.
BODRACH, a township in Llangerniew parish, Denbigh; 9 miles NE of Llanryst. Pop., 139.
BODRAN, a township in Llanfyllin parish, Montgonery. Pop., 77.

BODEVDDAN, the seat of the Conways, 11 mile E of Rhuddan, in Flint. It was the residence of Dean Shipley, the father in-law of Bishop Heber.

EODULLTIN, a township in Ruabon parish, Denbigh; 51 miles N of Chirk. Pop., 338.

5) Files A of Chiff. 1cp., 306.
BODVACH. See BODFACH.
BODVARI. See BODFACH.
BODVARI. See BODFACH.
RODVEAN, or BODFACH. a parish in Pwllheli district, Carnaryon; 24 miles SE of Nevin, and 4 WNW of Pwllheli r. station. It has a post-office under Pwllheli. Acres, 2,572. Real property, £1,434. Pop., 382. Houses, 84. The property is divided between two. Bodycau Hall is the scat of Lord Newborough. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £198. rate in the state of the diocese of Eangor. Value, £198. Patron, the lishop of Bangor. The church is modern, and has monuments of the Wynnes. There are a Calvinistic Methodist chapel, and a slightly endowed school.

BODVERN. See BODFERN.

BODWRDDA. See ABERDARON. BODWROG, a parochial chapelry in the district and county of Anglesea; 4 miles S by W of Llanerchymedd, and 4 NNL of Ty-Croes r. station. Post-town, Gwindy, under langer. Acres, 1,513. Real property, £1,653. Pop., 319. Houses, 78. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Llandrygarn, in the diocese of Bangor. The church is good

BODYDDON, a township in Llanfyllin parish, Mont-

Pop., 153. BODYHAM.

See Bodiam.

BODYNWYDAG, a township in Bryn-Eglwys parish,

Donbigh; 51 miles NW of Llangollen.

EODYSCALLEN, an ancient seat of the Wynnes, now the property of the Mostyns, in the north-eastern extremity of Carnarvon; near the Conway river, 24 miles NNE of Conway.

BODYS-GAW and BODYS-GAWEN, two townships in Llannefydd parish, Denbighshire; 51 miles NW of Denbigh.

BODYVOL, a township in Llanfschan parish, Mont-gomery: 4½ miles E of Llanfyllin. LOGNOR, a small town and a township-chapelry in South Hersted parish, Sussex. The town stands on the coast, 3½ miles S of the South Coast railway, and 6½ SE by E of Chickester. It has a governing boly, under a I cal set; a head post-office; a station with telegraph at the terminus of a railway, opened in 1863, to the South Coast line at Eastergate; and a pier, constructed chiefly of iron on the serve principle, 1,000 feet long with a head 40 feet across, opened in 1895. The town was changed from an observe handlet to a fashionable vatering-place, between 1750 and 1799, by Sir Richard Holliam, at a cost of about £60,000; and took, for a time, the name of Holliam ton. It was frequented by Queen Charlotte and her children, in the time of George III.; and it then possessed a sort of exclusive character; but it afterwards became dependent on general public patronage. It comprises rows of brick houses, two squares open on one side to the sea, a crescent, a terrace, and several detached mansions; it possesses good lodginghouses, several lotels, and excellent bathing conveniences; and it has a church of 1821, an Independent mences; and to has a church of 1821, at independent chapel of 1869, a Wesleyan chapel, a public school for 50 guls, a reading-room, a circulating library, a people's institute, a small annual regatta, and occasional ruces. Markets are held thrice a-week; and a fair on 5 July. Markets are little thrice a-week; and a fair on 5 July. The surrounding country is flat; and the Beginer rocks, famed by geologists, and not long ago forming a line of low chilis along the coast, are now visible only at low water.—Pop of the town, 2,523. Houses, 487.—The chapelry was constituted in 1822. The living is a p. cn. racy in the diocess of Chichester. Value, 2107.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. Beginer Lodge, built by Sir R. Hotham, is now the seat of Sir J. E. Harrington, East. rington, Eart.

215

BOGTHORN, a hamlet in Keighley parish, W. R.

BOKERLEV-DITCH, an ancient British earthwork in the S of Wiles; extending from Cranbourne chase, across Grines-Ditch to Tippet. It is thought to have been a terricarial boar lary of the Belgee. Many relies have been to be I, and many barrows still occur around it. BOLAM, chapelry in Gainford parish, Durham; 54 miles S of Bishop-Auckland. It has a post-office under miles 5 of bisa preductions. It may a preconsist unted in 1867. Living, a p. corney. Value, 2159.

BOLAM, a twinship and a parish in Castle Ward district, Northumberland. The township hies between district, Mortumbergana. The boundary the rivers Blyth and Wansbeck, near the Devil's causeway, a branch of Watling-street, and on the Morpeth and Scots Gap railway, near Angerton station, 8 miles WSW of Morneth Acres, 1.119. Pop., 102. Houses, and Scots Gap redway, near Angerion station, 8 mutes WSW of Morpeth. Acres, 1,119. Pop., 102. Houses, 2I.—The parish includes also the townships of Bolam Vicarage, Trewick, G dlow Hill, Shortflatt, Harnhum, Bradford, and Belsay; the last of which has a post-office under Newcastle-on-Tyne. Acres, 7,366. Real property, 27,682. Pop., 635. Houses, 133. The property is divided among a few. Bolam manor belonged anciently to the De Bolams; passed to the Horsleys; and went from them to Lord Decies. Harnham manor belonged, in the time of Charles II., to Colonel Philip Bubbington, governor of Berwick. Bully Castle belonged formerly to the Middletons; and belongs now to the baronet family of Monek. A stone coffin was found in a tuniulus on Bolam moor. Coal and limestone occur. The living on boam mose. Con and innestons occur. The dying is a vicartize in the discess of Durham. Value, £238.5 Latron, the Lord Chancellor. The chirch is ancient, in good condition; and contains the efficies of a Knight Templer, supresed to be Sir Walter de Belom, and a temb of the Middletons.

BOLAM VICARAGE, a township in Bolem parish,

BOLAM VIGARAGE, a township in Edgen parish, Northamberland. A ties, 170. Pop., 16. Houses, 4. BOLAS MAGNA, or Gravit Boraxs, a township and a parish in Wellington district, Salop. The township lies on the river been 24 miles NNE of Civilgington, at thou, and 62 WNW of Newport; and less a post-office, of the none of Great Bolas, under Wellington, Salop. The parish includes al office township of Mosson. Acres, 1,815. Real property, 23,062. Pop., 278. Houses, 61. The property is divided aneng a few. The height is a rectory in the discusse of Lichards. Value, 2304. Patrin, Viscount Hall.

Hodnet parit, S.lop; 61 miles NW of Bolas Magna.

BOLBECK, an extensive tract in Shotley parish. BOLDECK, as: extensive tract in Snottey parish, Northumberland; or the river Darwent, 7 miles SE of Corbridge. It has in commonage till 1765; and an act was then obtained for enclosing it. BOLDEROUGH, a township in blandyssil parish, Montgomeryshire; 2 miles SW of Montgomery. BOLDUKY. See BOLDECKY. BOLDECKY. BOLDECKY. BOLDECKY.

Lancashire. The hamlets are Bold and Bold-Heath; and the former stands adjacent to the Buncon railway, 4 miles ESE of Prescot. The township includes also the 4 miles ESE of Prescot. The township includes also the hamlet of Mayele. Acres, 4,338. Real property, £8,151. Pop., 798. Houses, 137. The family of Bold, row represented by that of Bold Hoghton, were seated here from the Con nest till 1761; and they give name to Bold-street in Liverpool. The ancient mansion is now a farm-house; and the modern one is Pold Hall, Bishop Barnes, who died in 1588, was a native.

BOLD, a hamlet in Aston-Botterell parish, Salop; 65 miles NW of Cleebury-Mortimer.

BOLDERSTONT, a locality 11 mile from Rochdale, in Lancashire; with a post-office under Rochdale, ROLDMERE, a chapelry in Sutton-Coldfield parish, Warwick; near Sutton-Coldfield. It was constituted in 1858; and its yost-town is Sutton-Coldfield, under Birmingham. Pop., 848. Houses, 158. The living is a ningnam. 101, 348. Rollsey, 108. The living is a vicalage in the diocese of Worester. Value, £131.* Patron, the Rector of Sutton-Collideld. BOLDON, two villages and a parish in South Shields district, Durham. The villages are West and East Boldon; and the former stands in the southern vicinity of the Brandling Junction railway, 41 miles NW of Sunder-land, and has a post-office under Gateshead; while the land, and has a pessennee under Gateshead; while the latter is about a nile to the E.—The parish comprises 3,954 acres. Real property, £8,607. Pop., 1,024. Houses, 211. The property is much subdivided. The manor has belonged, from time immemorial, to the sec of Durham; and gives name to the "Boldon Bake," Durham; and gives name to the "Boldon Birke," an ancient survey of the diocese, preserved in the cathedral. Limestone is ebundant. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Durham. Value, 2653. "Patron, the Bishop of Durham. The church is early English, and has several memorial windows put up in 1851. There are chapel of ease, an Independent chapel, built in 1863, a Weslevan Methodist chapel, a national school, and charities £14.

BOLDRE, a village and a parish in Lymington district, Hants. The village stands on the Lymington river, near the Lymington branch railway, 21 miles N of Lymington; and has a post-office under Lymington. of Lymington; and has a post-office under Lymington.
—The parish includes also the tythings of South Baddesley, Battrausley, Filley and Warborne, Sway and Walbampton. Acres, 11,950; of which 1,750 are water.
Real property, exclusive of the parts within Lymington borough, £9,810. Pop. 2,842. Houses, 605. The property is much subdivided. Fully one-half of the surface, comprising 180 acres in Wilberley-walk, 655 in Ehinefield-walk, 1,580 in Whitley-Ridge-walk, and 3,650 in Loly-Conselle is in the New Forest. Baltres. in Lady-Crosswalk, is in the New Forest. Boldre-Wood House is now used as a heaper's cottage; and Walhampton Hous Is longs to the Burract family. Many parts contain the close scenery; and some spots command extensive tribliant views. The parts within a line mand extensive Irilliant views. The parts within a line from Eastend Iridge through Bobbe church, to the west bank of Lymington river, are within Lymington parlia-mentary borough. The living is a vic., united with the cur. of Lymington, and till 1864 to that of Brockenhaust, in the dioc, of Wirchester. Value, £304.* Patren, the Rey, C. Shophs. The church stands on a hillock, onbowered among these, about a mile from the village; is early English, is a haltered by restorations; has a singu-Latly placed to a recontains a well-preserved piscine, a monumental besself Kemp, who represented Lymington to the displayer of $1.50 to $ a separate benefice; was constituted in 1840; and is in a separate benefice; was constituted in 1949; and is in the patronage of the Bishop of Winchester, with income of £100.* The chapelries of Sway and Baddesley also are separate benefices. There is a Baptist chapel, A school, founded and endowed by Gilpin, has £87 a-year.

Gilpin was vicar during thirty years, and died in 1804.

EOLDRON, a township in Startforth parish, N. R.
Yorkshire; 2 miles SW by S of Barnard-Castle. Acres,

Yorkshire; 2 miles SW by S of Barnard-Castle. Acres, 1,232. Pop., 178. Houses, 42
BOLE, a parish in the district of Gainsborough, and county of Nottingham; on the river Trent and on the Manchester and Lincolnshire railway, 21 miles SW of Gainsborough. Post-town, Gainsborough. Acres, 1,250. Real property, £2,101. Pop., 238. Houses, 44. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £130. Patron, the Bishop of Lincoln. The church is old. There are a Bishop of Infection. The charter is old. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £6.

BOLEBROOK, an ancient seat of the Sackvilles, in Hartfield parish, Sussex; 41 miles E of East Grinstead. It was built of brick, in the 15th century; but is now a small ruin. It passed, for a time, to Lord G. Germaine; and gave him the title of Baron.

BOLEHALL AND GLASCOTE, a township in Tamworth parish, Warwick; in the south-eastern outskirts of Tamworth town and borough. Real property, £7,081.

of Lamworth town and borough. Real property, £7,081. Pop., 1,191. Houses, 252.

BOLEY HILL. See ROCHESTER.

BOLINGBROKE, a village, a parish, and a soke or wapentake in Lincoln. The village stands 3\(\frac{1}{2}\) miles W by S of Spilsby r. station, and 7\(\frac{1}{2}\) SE of Horncastle; and has a post-office under Spilsby. A weekly market is held at it on Tuesday; and a fair on 10 July. It gives the title of Viscount to the family of St. John. The parish includes an ulterpart called New Beliefurlysis. parish includes an allotment, called New Bolingbroke, parish menudes an allotment, called Aew Bolinguroke, in the West Fen, and also an allotment in Wildmore Fen; and is in Spilsby district. Acres, 2,570. Real property, 24,594. Pop., 1,018. Houses, 205. The property is much subdivided. A castle was built here by William de Roman. Earl of Lincoln; was enlarged in the time of Queen Elizabeth; and was the focus of several struggles in the civil wars of Charles I.; but was dismantled by the parliamentarians; and only the SW tower of it remains. Henry IV. was born in this eastle; and hence was called Henry of Bolingbroke. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Hareby, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £373. Patron, Sir John J. Smith, Bart. The church is aucient, and suffered much in the civil war; but is now pretty good. There are two Methodist chapels, an endowed national school, and charities £12.—The soke is in the Parts of Lind. sey; contains twenty-seven parishes; and is cut into sey; contains twenty-seven parishes; and is cut into two sections, East and West. Acres, 26,840 and 29,388. Pop., 12,376. Houses, 2,498. BOLINGBROKE (New), a chapelry in Bolingbroke, Mavis-Enderby, Raithby, Asgarby, Miningsby, Revesby, and Frieston parishes, Lincoln; in the fens, 5½ rafles SW of Bolingbroke, and 5\ NE of Langrick r. station. It has a post-office under Boston. Pop., 947. Houses, 183. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £100.* Patrons, Trustees. The church is molern. These are two Methodist chapels.

BOLLAIT, a farm in St. Buryan parish, Cornwall; 41 miles SW of Penzance. Tradition alleges it to have been the battlefield of Athelstan's final victory over the Britons in 936. Two standing stones are on it, called the Pipers, 12 and 16 feet high, about a furlong apart; and may possibly be memorials of the fight. A stone circle, called the Merry Maidens, also is near.

BOLLIN (Tur), a river of Cheshire. It rises near Macclesfield; and rons about 20 miles north-westward, past Wilmslow, Morley, and Hale, to the Mersey, about a mile below Warburton, BOLLIN-FEE, a township in Wilmslow parish, Cheshite; on the Bollin river, § a mile NW of Wilmslow r. station, and 6 SW of Stockport. Acres, 2,604. Real property, £3,520. Pop., 2,143. Houses, 426. The inhabitants are chiefly employed in the silk and cotton manufacture. Bollin Hall is the seat of the Fitton family.

BOLLINGTON, a township in Bowden and Rostherne parishes, Cheshire; on the Bridgewater canal, near the pursues, the survey of the broggewater canal, near the river Bollin, 3 miles SW of Altrincham. It has a post-office under Manchester. Acres, 631. Real property, £1,827. Pop., 277. Houses, 52. It forms a curacy amoved to the vicarage of Rostherne. The church was built in 1854; and a national school, in 1857.

built in 1854; and a national school, in 1857.

BOLLINGTON, a township, a chapelry, and a subdistrict in Prestbury parish, Cheshire. The township lies near the river Bollin, the Macclesfield canal, and the Macclesfield and Manchester railway, 3 miles N by E of Macclesfield; and has a post-office; under Macclesfield. Acres, 1,184. Real property, 216,184; of which £1,373 are in freestone and slate quarries. Pop., 3,439. Houses, 1,108. The property is subdivided. The inhabitants are enultyed chiefly in courses selligation and slate with and the state of the property in the subdivided. are employed chiefly in quarries, collieries, and silk and cotton factories. The chapelry is conterminate with the township; and was constituted in 1835. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Chester. Value, £190.* township, and was constituted in 1863. The fiving is a p. currecy in the diocese of Chester. Value, £190.* Patron, the Vicar of Prestbury. The church was built in 1834, at a cost of £4,000; and is in the early English style. There are an Independent chapel in the early style. There are an Independent chapet in one camps second pointed style, built in 1858, three other dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, and two national schools. The sub-district comprises five townships. Acres, 8,676. Pop. 10,357. Houses, 2,243.

BOLLOM, a handet in Clareborough parish, Notts; 1 mile N of East Retford. Pop., 103.

BOLNEY, a hamlet in Harpsden parish, Oxford; 2 miles S of Henley. It is said to have been formerly a Bolney Court is the seat of the Maynes.

BOLNEY, a village and a parish in Cuckfield district, Sussex. The village stands 31 miles SW by W of Cuckfield, and 5 W of Haywards-Heath r. station; and has a post-office under Cuckfield, and fairs on 17 May and 11 t-office under Cuckfield, and lens on 1, 2007.
The parish comprises 3,546 acres. Real property, is Pan 789. Houses, 157. The property is 24,112. Fop., 789. Houses, 157. The property is much subdivided. The northern portion is covered with wood, and lies within St. Leonard's forest. Bolney common is famed for cherry-trees, and commands noble views. Bolney Place and Colvood House are chief residences. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £186. Patron, the Bishop. The Chichester. Value, £186. Patron, the Dishop. The church was recently restored and callarged.

BOLNHURST, a parish in the district and county of Dedford; 5 miles E by S of Sharmbrook r. station, and 6½ NXE of Bedford. Post-town, Wilden, under Bedford. Acres, 2.160. Real property, £2,083. Pop., 348. Houses, 67. The property is divided among a few. The hving is a rectory in the diocese of Ety. Velue, £159. * Patron, the Rev. F. M. Harvey. The church is read. An explaint scheduler, 51.9.

good. An endowed school has £12.

BOLSOVER, a small town and a sub-district, in the BOLSOVER, a smar town and a snowstray, in the district of Chesterfield, and a parish in the districts of Chesterfield and Mansfield, Derby. The town occupies the summit of a steep hill, 5½ miles E of Chesterfield r. station. It commands a splendid view; retains traces of fortifications which once surrounded it; and was formerly a place of note; but is now straggling and decayed. merry a piace of note; but is now stragging and decayed.
It has a post-office; under Chesterfield, a nominal weekly market, and fairs on the last Friday of April and the first.
Friday of Oct. It formerly carried on a famous manufacture of steel buckles and spurs; and subsequently en-Lature of steel buckles and spins; and subsequently engaged in the making of tobacco-pipes and fire-bricks. Pop., 1,526. Houses, 350.—The parish includes also the hamlets of Ockley, Whaley, Oxerft, Staufree, Shuttlewood, Woodside, Woodhouse, and Glapwell. Acres, 6,050. Real property, £8,079. Pop., 1,629. Houses, 307. The property is divided among many. The manor belonged at the Conquest to Peveril of the Peak; passed to the Earl of Morton, afterwards King John; went, in the time of Henry III., to the Earl of Chester, and afterwards to Lord Abergavenny; was resumed, in 1243, by the Crown; passed to Roger Lovetot, the Pipards, the Sturys, the Earl of Richmond, and the Duke of Norfolk; reverted again to the Crown; went, in the time of Edward VI., to Sir John Byron, and afterwards to Lord Talbot and Sir Charles Cavendish; descended from the last to the Dukes of Newcastle; and passed from them.

by marriage, to the Dukes of Portland. A Norman keep was built on it by the Peverils; and made a mili A Norman tary figure in the troubles of the time of King John. A palatial castle superseded this under Sir Charles Cavendish; was besieged and partly demolished in the civil war; underwent partial reconstruction after the Restora-tion; was unroofed about the middle of last century; and is now a picture-sque min. The Duke of Newcastle three times extertained Charles I, and his court here; and on one of these occasions, which was assisted by the genius of Ben Jonson, spent about £15,000. The riding house is still in good order; and the Tudor restoration of the Norman keep is used as the parsonage. A yellow magnesian limestone is quarried in the parish; and was used in the construction of the new houses of parliament. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £111.* Patron, the Duke of Portland. The church is Norman, with later additions; has a fine early English spire; and contains splendid monuments of the Dukes of Newcastle and Portland, and a number of other monuments. There are chapels for Independents and Methodists, and charities £103. One of the Dukes of Newcastle and his second duchess were noted for their writings; and the lady of the present vicar is known for a history of Etruria and several kindred works. castle contains a fine collection of Etruscan and other castle contains a fine collection of Erruscan and original multiplifies. The sub-district contains three parishes, with the exception of one of the hamlets of Bolsover, Acres, 11,247. Fop., 2,402. Houses, 523.

BOLSTERSTONE, a chapelry in Ecclesfield parish, W. R. Yerkshire; on the river Don, 11 mile SW of Deeparr, station, ar-4 8 NW by N of Sheffield. It has a post-office under shedfield. Real property, £2,596.

Phys. 1,904. There are collicities: coke-works and Deepear r. station, and 8 NW by N of Sheffield. It has a post-office under sheffield. Real property, 22,596. Pep., 1,994. There are collicries, coke-works, and chemical works. Bolsterstone hill is 976 feet high. The living is a p. curacy in the dio. of York. Value, 2119.* Patron, J. R. Wilson, Esp. The church is plain. There are a Reman Catholic chapel and a free school. BOLSTONE. See BOLLSTONE.

BOLTBURY, a hamlet in Malborough parish, Devou; cn the coast, between Bolt-Tail and Sawmill Cove, 45 miles SW of Kingsbridge. Boltbury Down here fall; precipitously to the sea; and a classm, at the highest precipitously to the sea; and a chasm, at the highest part of its sea-cliff, bears the name of Ralph's Hole, and was long the retreat of a noted smuggler.

BOLTBY, a township in Feliskirk parish, N. R. York-stire; f miles NE of Thirsk. Acres, 4,782. Real property, 22,970. Pop. 316. Houses, 68.

EDLT-HEAD and BOLT-TAIL, two headlands on the coast of Devon; the former at the W side of the month ef Salcombe haven, the latter 42 miles NW by W of this, is 400 feet high, wild, desolute, and torn with fissures and caverns. Bolt-Tail is pierced at the shore by Ramillias Cove, which is named from the wrecking of the and caverus.

Fiss Cove, which is named from the wrecking of the Ramillias frig de at it in 1700. See BOLTPURY. BOLTON, a small town, two townships, and a parish in Wigton district. Cumberland. The town stands on the river Ellen, 0 miles SSW of Wigton; consists of two parts, High and Low; and has a dingy appearance. two parts, 11gh and Low; and has a dingy opporatance.
A branch railway to it, from the Maryport and Carlisle line, was opened on 26th December, 1866. The towashirs are frigh Belton and Low Belton or Belton-wood and Quarry-lill. Aeres of H. B., 3,875. Pop., 330.
Houses, 52. Aeres of L. B., 4,570. Pop., 718. Houses, 119. The parish consists of the two townships; and its post-town is Iraby under Wigton. Real property, £8,124; of which 27:10 are in mines. Top., 1,018. Houses, 211. The property is much subdivided. Coal, limestone, and copper are are worked. A copper battle-axe was found in a bog. The living is a rectory in the discess of Carlisle. Value, £512. Patron, the Earl of Lonsdale. The church is ancient, in tolerable condition; and was alled by old superstition to have been built by witcheraft.

EOL ON, a Low-ship in Edingham parish, Northun-berland; on the river Alne, 4 miles XW of Aluwick, Acr. 8, 2043. Pop., 15t. Houses, 3t. The Earl of Surrey muster-d has force there before the battle of Plod-An hospital was founded here, before 1225, by Robert de Roos; and became the property of the Coiling-woods. Some remains of antiquity have been found. The township forms a curacy annexed to the vicarage of Edlingham

BOLTON, a chapelry in Morland parish, Westmoreland; on the river Eden, and on the Eden Valley railway, near Kirkby-Thore r. station, and 4 miles NNW of Appleby. It includes the hamlet of Bewley-Castle, and has a post-office under Penrith. Acres, with Morland township, 5,449. Rated property, £2,228. Pop., 390. Houses, 73. The property is much subdivided. 390. Houses, 73. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocess of Carlisle. Value, £80.* Patron, the Vicar of Morland. The church is good; and there is a Methodist chapel.

BOLTON, a township in Bishop-Wilton parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 3 miles XW of Pocklington. Acres, 994.

Real property, £1,319. Pop., 127. Houses, 24. Bolton Hall is the seat of the Prestons.

ton Hall's the seat of the Frestons.

BOLTON, a township in Calverley parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles NNE of Bradford. It includes the hambets of Hodgson-Fold, Low-Fold, and Out-Lane, and part of the village of Frizinghall. Acres, 736. Real part of the village of Frizinghall. Acres, 736. Real part of the village of Frizinghall. property, £3,604. Pop., 937. Houses, 216. The inhabitants are chiefly employed in the woollen factories.

BOLTON, a town, two townships, three sub-districts, and a district in Lancashire. The town is in the parish of Bolton-le-Moors, and sometimes itself bears that name: it consists of the townships of Little Bolton, Great Bolton, and Haulgh, excepting the higher or detached part on, and range, excepting the higher of detached part of the first; and it stands on the rivulets Croal, Bradshaw, and Tonge, 1½ mile NNW of their joint indux to the Irwell, and 11 NW of Manchester. A canal conto the Irwell, and 11 NW of Manchester. A canal connects it with Manchester and Bury; and railways go from it in six directions toward Manchester, Bury, Blackburn, Chorley, Wigan, and Leigh. It dates from the time of the Saxons; became a market-town, by royal charter, in 1256; and made some figure at several points of history. The manor belonged, in 1067, to Richard do Poicton; passed, in 1100, to Roger de Merchaya; went afterwards to Ranulph de Blundaville, Earl of Chester; belonged, in the time of Edward III., to the Ferrers; passed to the Filkingtons, till forfeited by Sir Thomas for his adherence to the cause of Richard III.; was then given to Lard Stanley, who became Earl of Derby; and is now divided into four parts, one belonging to the Earl of Derby, another to Lord Bradfowl, another to S. Freeman, Est., and another to various parties. The seventh Earl of Derby besieged and stormed the town in 1644, in the eause of Charles I.; and was beheaded in it in 1651, in terms of a military sentence, after the battle of Worcester. His Countess also acted as a heroine; and was the Charlotte de Tremonaille who figures in "Peveril of the l'eak." The town made a start in manu-"Peveril of the Peak." factures in 1337, when a number of immigrant Flemings settled in it; and it displayed such vast enterprise in them during the sixty years preceding 1862 as to have become a great provincial town. No fewer than about 400 dwelling houses and shops, besides warehouses, factories, and other erections, were built in it during the year 1858.

Much of the ground now occupied by the town, and by environing villages, was, not many years ago, all have or rural, without a single dwelling. Part of the site is a hill; and this commands a good view of the valley below, studded with factories and print works. The town presents strongly the aspect of a great seat of manufacture; yet has several long and broad streets, and contains many good private houses, and some fine public buildings. The exchange, with free library, was erected in 1825. The market-hall, a very line structure, was built in 1855, at a cost of about £80,000. The new townhall was in progress in 1866, at a cost of about £30,000. A public park of about 46 acres was opened in 1866, and cost about £50,000. A mechanics' institute, a monument to the Earl of Derby of 1651, and several other public erections also are recent. The water-works were constructed at a cost of £40,000. A spacious ornamental cemetery, at Tonge, was opened in 1856. The grammarschool dates from 1641; presenses £436 a-year from endowneut; and had Ainsworth, the lexicographer, for both pupil and master. The Church of England instiboth pupil and master. The Church of England Institute was built in 1853; and is a fine edifice, with main frentage of 150 feet. Two other schools have endowed incomes of £82, and £21; and charities, additional to the schools have £4,017. There are numerous public schools, a temperance-hall, assembly rooms, a theatre, and public baths. The places of worship, in 1851, were 36, with about 23,000 sittings; and twelve more were built prior to 1869, also two rebuilt and enlarged, giving an addition of about 12,000 sittings. St. Peter's church, the addition of about 12,000 sixtings. St. Feter's entirely, the mother one of Polton-le-Moors, was erected in 1424; was a large structure, with very beautiful east and south windows; and, in March 1865, was about to be taken down and rebuilt. Hely Trinity church, in Bradfordsquare, was built in 1825, at a cost of £13,413; and is a handsome edifice in the later English style, with a tower. St. Panl's church, at end of Deansgate, was built in 1863; St. James' church in 1869; and each has a tower and spire. The Congregational chapel, at the junction of St. George's road and Bath-street, was built also in 1863, at a cost of £7,000; and is in the decorated English style, with a spire 130 feet high. The Wesleyan chapel, in Park-street, was built in 1864, at a cost of £11,000; and is a very beautiful edifice, with fine carvings.

Textile manufactures in Bolton were greatly accelerated by the inventions of Arkwright, who resided here when a barber, and of Crompton, who, when a weaver, lived at Hall-in-the-Wood, an old timbered seat of the Starkies in the neighbourhood, still extant. Cotton velvets and muslins began to be made about 1760; and muslins, cambrics, counterpanes, dimity, and ginghams came to be the chief productions. About 17,667 persons were employed, prior to the juncture of the cottondistress of 1862, in cotton-mills, print-works, and bleach and dye works; and about 5,514 were employed in ironfoundries and engine-works. The number of factories, in 1865, was 70, and that of foundries 33; and one of the machine-works has a brick chimney 363 feet high. Vast quantities of coal are mined in the neighbourhood; and the trade in them contributes to the local traffic. The town has a head post-office, two telegraph offices. three banking-offices, and eight chief inns; is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place; and publishes two weekly newspapers. Markets are held on Monday and Saturday; fairs on 4 and 5 Jan., 30 and 31 July, and 13 and 14 Oct. The tewn was invested with the franchise and 14 Oct. The town was invested with the franchise by the act of 1892, and incorporated in 1818; and it sends two members to parliament, and is governed by a mayor, twelve aldermen, and thirty-six councillors. Direct taxes, in 1857, 231,087. Electors in 1863, 2,293. Pop. in 1841, 50,583; in 1861, 70,395. Houses, 13,129.

Little Bolton township includes a detached part, called Higher End, not within the borough; and contains the Higher End, not within the borough; and contains the villages of Horrocks-Fold and Eagley-Bank. Acres, 1,450. Real property, £78,877. Pop., 25,891. Houses, 5,128. Great Bolton township is wholly within the borough. Acres, 520. Real property, £137,070. Pop., 43,435. Houses, 7,767.—The three sub-districts of Bolton, are Little Bolton, Bolton-Eastern, and Bolton. Western; and the first consists of the portion of Little Bolton township within the borough, while the other two are simply subdivisions of Creat Bolton .- The district comprehends also Sharples sub-district, containing Sharples township and the detached part of Little Bolton township: Edgeworth sub-district, containing Edgeworth, Entwistle, and Quarlton townships; Turten sub-district, containing Turton, Bradshaw, and Longworth townships; Tonge-with-Haulgh sub-district, containing Tonge, Haulgh, Breightmet, and Harwood townships; Horwich sub-district, containing Horwich and Lostock townships; Halliwell sub-district, containing Halliwell and Heaton townships; Westhoughton sub-district, con-terminate with Westhoughton township; Hulton sub-district, containing Little Hulton, Middle Hulton, Over Hulton, and Rumworth townships; Farnworth sub-district, containing Farnworth and Kersley town:hips; and Lover sub-district, containing Great Lever and Darcy Lever townships and Little Lever chapelry. Acres, 43,896. Poor rates in 1866, £39,825. Pop. in 1361, 130,269. Houses, 24,944. Marriages in 1866, 1,314; 130,269. Houses, 24,941. Marriages in 1866, 1,311; births, 5,640,—of which 408 were illegitimate; deaths, 4,122,-of which 1,914 were at ages under 5 years, and 4,122,—of which 1,914 were at ages under 5 years, and 39 at ages above 55 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 11,232; births, 50,712; deaths, 23,242. The places of worship in 1851 were 26 of the Church of Engand, with 19,611 sittings; 2 of the Presbyterian Church in England, with 850 s.; 14 of Independents, with 5,971 s.; 2 of Isquitss, with 540 s.; 2 of Quakers, with 652 s.; 2 of Unitarians, with 1,014 s.; 22 of Wesleyan Methodists, with $8,150 s.; 2 of New Connexion Methodists, with 609 s.; 2 of The Wesleyan Association, with 500 s.; 1 of Calvinstic Methodists, with 150 s.; 1 of the Wesleyan Association, with 500 s.; 1 of Calvinstic Methodists, stiffings not reported; 5 of the New Church, with 786 s.; 1 of Brethren, with 70 s.; 1 of Later Day Saints, with 140 s.; 2 undefined, with 700 s.; 2 of Moman Catholics, with 600 s.; and 1 of Jews. s.; 2 of Roman Catholics, with 600 s.; and 1 of Jews, with 14 attendants. The schools were 53 public day schools, with 7,956 scholars; 92 private day schools, with 3,682 s.; 103 Sunday schools, with 25,729 s.; and 18 evening schools for adults, with 522 s. The new workhouse stands at Fishpool, and is a large ornamental edifice, with excellent arrangements.

cuthec, with exectient arrangements.

BOLTON-ABIEY, or EAST BOLTON, a township-chapelry in Skipton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Wharfe, 6 miles ENE of Skipton r. station. It includes the hamlet of Bolton-Dividge; which has a post-office under Skipton. Acres, 3,995. Real property, £1,816. Pop., 112. Houses, 23. The property is not reach statistical. much divided. The manor belongs to the Duke of Devonshire; and came to him from the Burlingtons. The scenery is picturesque; and includes soft reaches of valley, undulating slopes, precipitons cliffs, hanging-woods, and the wild chasm of the Strid, overhung by the mountains of Simon's Seat and Barden Fell. An Augustinian priory was founded at Embary, in 1121, by William de Meschincs; and removed, 33 years afterwards, to the banks of the Whatfe here, by his lady, to wards, to the tanks of the Wharfe here, by his lady, to commemorate the loss of their heir at the Strid. The story of its refounding is sung by Wordsworth in his "Force of Prayer" and "White Doe of Rystone," and by Rogers in the "Boy of Egremond." The priory was given, at the dissolution, to Henry Chifford, Earl of Cumberland; and passed from his family in 1635, to the Burlingtons, Much of the original building, together with additions, in decorated and perpendicular English, is standing in a state of ruin; and the nave serves as the present church, contains monuments of Lady Margaret Neville, Lord Chifford, and Prior Marsden, and was repaired in 1859.

> " In the shattered fabric's heart, Remainsth one protected part, A rural chapel neatly dressed In covert like a little nest."

Bolton Park, originally a gate-house of the priory, is an occasional scat of the Duke of Devenshire. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £111.* Patron, the Dake of Devonshire. There is a school with endowed income of £104. See STRID (THE).
BOLTON AND LEIGH RAILWAY. See NORTH-

WESTERN RAILWAY.

BOLTON-BRIDGE. See BOLTON-ADBEY.

BOLTON-BROW, a hamlet in Skircaat township, W. R. Yorkshire; 1 mile S of Halifux. BOLTON-BY-BOWLAND, or WEST PLOTON, a parish in the district of Clitherne and W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Ribble, at the verge of the county, 4 miles on the river above, at the verge of the county, 4 miles NNE of Chatburn r. Station, and 6 NE by N of Ciltheree. It includes the hamlet of Forest-Beck; and has a post-office, of the name of Belton-by-Bowland, under Blackburn. Acres, 5,782. Real property, 26,242. Pop., 759. Houses, 152. Part of the surface lay within the ancient Bowland forest. Bolton Itall was formerly the seat of Sir R. Pudsey; gave shelter to Henry VI. after the battle of Hexham; and is now the property of Mrs. A. Littledde. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £335. Patron, Mrs. A. Little019 dale. The church is later English, was restored in 1850, and contains a tomb of Sir R. Pudsey and his three wives and twenty-five children. There are an Independent chapel, a sessions court-house, an endowed school with $234 a-year, charities £20, and a workhouse.

Chancellor Scrope, built by him in the reign of Richard Chancellor Scrope, but to min in the reign of Atlanda, has a cost of £12,000; forms a hollow quadrangle, with towers at the corners; was the prison of Mary Queen of Scots for two years before her removal to Tutbury; and sustained a siege by the parliament-rians near the end of the civil war. The living is a p. curacy, united with the p. curacy of Redmire, in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £115. Patron, the Rector of Wensley.

The church is ancient.

BOLTON (EAST). See BOLTON-ABBEY.
BOLTON-FASTERN. See BOLTON, Lanca hire.
BOLTON-FELL-END, a locality on the E border of Cumberland; 6! miles from Brampton. It has a post-office under Carlisle.

BOLTON (GREAT). See Bolton, Lancashire. BOLTON-HALL. See Bolton-BY-Bowland and BOLTON-CASTLE.

BOLTON (High). See Bolton, Cumberland. BOLTON-IN-COPELAND, a hamlet in Gosforth parish, Cumberland; 5 miles N of Ravenglass.

BOLTON-LE-MOORS, a parish in the districts of Bolton, Wigan, and Chorley, Lancashire. It centres in the post-town of Bolton; and contains the townships of Great Bolton, Little Bolton, Sharples, Quarlton, Edgeworth, Entwistle, Longworth, Turton, Bradshaw, Haulgh, Tonge, Breightmet, Harwood, Lostock, Darcy-Lever, Blackrod, Anglezarke, and Rivington, and the chapelry of Little Lever. Acres, 30,062. Real property, £32,547; of which £29,356 are in mines, and £1,969 in quarries. Pop. in 1841, 73,905; in 1861, 97,215. Houses, 18,385. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £350.* Patron, the Bishop of Manchester. The Value, £359.* Fatron, the Bishop of Manchester. The vicarages of Holy Trinity, St. George, Christ Church, and St. John, and the p. curacies of All Saints, Emmanuel, St. Mark, and St. Paul, within the borough of Bolton, are separate benefices. Value of Holy Trinity, St. George, Christ Church, and St. John, each £300; of Emmanuel, 300; of St. Mark, £160; of St. Paul, £150; of All Saints, £123. Patron of H. T., the Bishop of Manchester; of St. 2.123. Fatron of H. T., the Bishop of Manchester; of A. G. and E., the Vicar of Bolton; of C. and St. J., afterntlely the Crown and the Bishop; of A. S., T. Tipping, L. S., t. of St. M. and St. P., Tratsees. The vicarages of Astley-Bridge, Belmont, Blackrod, Bradslaw, Little Lever, and Lever Bridge, and the p. curacies of Harwood, Rivington, Tonge, Turron, and Walmsley also are separate BOLTON-LE-SANDS, a township and a parish in Language district, Language to the Language district, Language the township is on the Language district, Language and, and on the Language the Lancaster and Kould cand, and on the Lancaster and Culish railway, configuous to the sands of More-camba bay, 4 miles X by E of Lancaster; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Lancaster. Acres, 1,571. Real property, £4,920. Pop., 692. Homes, 146.—The paried contains also the townships of Over-Kellet, Nether Kellet, and Syme-with-Hest. Acres, 7,905. Real property, £13,562. Pop., 1,713. Houses, 347. The property is much subdivided. The living is vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £187.* Lation, the Bickep of Manchester. The church is modern and very good. The vicarage of Over-Kellet is a separate benefice. An engl-wed school his £35; other separate benefice. An endowed school has £35; other charities £101.

Contines (10).

ROLTON (Lettler). See Bolton, Lancashire.

BOLTON (Low). See Bolton, Cun betland.

POLTON-PERCY, a town-ship and a parish in Tadcaster district, W. R. Yorkishire. The town-ship lies on the river Wharfe, and on the York and No.th Midland railway, 31 miles ESE of Tadeaster; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Tadeaster. Acres, 2,170. Real property, £5,516. Pop., 292. Houses, 51.—The parish contains also the townships of Appleton-Roebuck, Colton, and Steeton. Acres, 7,148. Real property, £13,492. Pop., 1,118. Houses, 237. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged property is divined among a rew. The manor belonged to the Percys of Topellife, and afterwards to the Beaumouts. The living is a rectory in the diocess of York, Value, £1,540.* Patron the Archbishop of York. The church is perpendicular English; was erected in 1423; consists of nave, aisles, chancel, and north chapel, with a handsome tower; and contains three beautiful stalls, a well-preserved piscina, a monument to Lord Fairfax, the well-preserved piscina, a moniment to Lord Fautax, the famous parliamentary general, and a menorial window of 1860 to Sir W. M. Milner, Bart. There are a Wes-leyan chapel, three public schools, and charities £31. BOLTON-PRIOIX. See BOLTON ABBIX. BOLTON-DEARINE, a village and a parish in Doneaster district, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands on the river Dearne, near the North Midland milway, 15 mile NE of Wath and Bolton station, and 7 N by E of Rotherham; and has a post-office under Rotherham.

The parish includes also the hamlet of Goldthoype.

Post presents: £1,443. Pop., 479. ane parish metudes also the hamlet of Goldthorpe. Acres, 2,213. Real property, £4,443. Pop., 479. Houses, 112. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £88. Patron, Mrs. Hirst. The church is good; and there are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £19. BOLTON-UPON-SWALE, a chapelry in Catteriek parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the river Swale, 23 miles Sw. of Contras restriction and 53. MSE of Wesleyand.

SW of Cowton r. station, and 51 ESE of Richmond. Sw of Cowton, Catterick. Aeres, 578. Real property, £1,578. Pop., 105. Houses, 23. The property is not much divided. The living is a p. curacy in the dioces of Fipon. Value, £100.° Patron, the Vicar of Catterick. The church is good, and contains a monument of Henry Jenkins, a native of Ellerton in the neighbourhood, who died in 1870 at the age of 169. An endowed school at Scorton has £231; and other charities £18.

BOLTON (West), a village in Alnwick district, Northumberland; on the river Alne, 55 miles W of Aluwick. It has a post-office under Alnwick.

DOLTON (WEST), Yorkshire. See BOLTON-BY-BOWLAND.

BOLTON (WESTERN). See BOLTON, Lancashire.
BOLTON-WOOD. See BOLTON, Cumberland.
BOLYENTOR, a chapelry in Alternon and St. Neot parishes, Cornwall; 7 miles N of Lishcard r. station, and 9 SW of Launceston. Post-town, Alternon, under Launceston. Pop., 344. Houses, 67. It was constituted in 1849. The living is a p. cutacy in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £75.* Patron, Francis Rold, Esq.

The church is very good.

BOMBY, a hamlet in Bampton parish, Westmoreland; on the river Lowther, 34 miles NW of Shap.

on the fiver Lowdier, 35 miles NW 64 Shap.
BOMOR-HEATH, a locality 5 miles from Strewsbury, in Salop; with a post-office; under Shrewsbury.
BONBUSK, a k-milet in Cuckney townskip, NortunCuckney parish, Notis; 5½ miles SW of Worksop, BONBU, or BONLEY, a parish in Glanford-Brigg district, Lincoln; on the river Ancholme, 4½ index NNW of Barnetby r. station, and 6 N of Brigg. Post-town, Worlaby, under Brigg. Acres, 2,410. Beal property. Worlaby, under Brigg. Acres, 2440. Beal property, £3,742. Pop., 471. Houses, 101. The property is divided among a few. An effen priory was founded here in the time of King John; and given to the Christens House at Beauval in Notts, in the time of Henry IV. The Bright Archivers in the Christens and the Christian Property of the C living is a vicarage in the dio. of Lincoln. Value, 2283.*
Patron, the Earl of Yarborough. The church is old but good. There are two Methodist chapels.

good. There are two Methodist chapets.

BONCHURCH, a villags and a parish in the SL of the 1-le of Wight. The village stands on the coast, at the eastern part of the Under-lift, I mile E of Ventior; and has a post-of-ic under Ventior; and an excellent hotel. It is closuringly situated, among picturesque scenery; and includes a number of fine, scattered, private residences. The parish contains part of Nettle-combe tything. Acres, 613; of which 70 are water.

Real property, £3,452. Pop., 564. Houses, 80. The property is much subdivided. The name Bonchurch is a corruption of Boniface-Church; and arose from a legend respecting St. Beniface, the apostle of Central Germany. St. Boniface Down rises behind the village to an altitude of 783 feet above the level of the sca; and commands a grand prospect. Parts of the acclivities and of the coast are highly romantic. The living is a rectory in the dio-cese of Winehester. Value, £140.* Patron, H. B. Leeceso of Winchester. Value, £140.* Patron, H. B. Leeson, Esq., M. D. The church was built in 1848; and is son, r-si, an D. The church was out in 1949; and is a plain edifice in the Norman style. The previous church, now disused, still stands. The Rev. William Adams, author of the "Shadow of the Cross," and John Sterling, whose life was written by Hare and Carlyle, Seeing, whose me was written by hare and Carlyle, lie interred in the churchyard; Miss Elizabeth Sewell, Author of "Amy Herbert," the Rev. James White, author of the "Eighteen Christian centuries," and Edmund Peel, author of the "Fair Island," are residents in the parish; and Admiral Hobson was a native.

BONDARY, or BARTON-ROAD, an extra-parochial tract in the district of Ashby-de-la-Zouch and county of Derby; 2 miles N of Ashby-de-la-Zouch. Pop., 52. Houses, 9.

OUSES, 9.
BONDEBY. See BONBY.
BONDGATE. See AISMUNDERBY.
BONDINGTON, a hamlet in Dunster parish, Somer-

BONDIAGIOS, a namet in Dunser parish, Somer-set. Pop., 16.
BONDLEIGH, or Bundley, a parish in Okehampton district, Devon; on the river Taw, 2 miles NNW of North Tawton, and 4½ WSW of Morchard-Road r. sta-tion. Post-town, North Tawton, North Devon. Acres, 1734 Feat presents, 61.668 pp. 270 Houses 1,784. Real property, £1,666. Pon., 279. Houses, 58. The manor belongs to the Earl of Egremont. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £232. * Patron, Heirs of E. of Egremont. The church is ancient, partly Norman, with a lofty square tower. There are chapels for Baptists and Bible Christians.

BONDS. See BARNACRE-WITH-BONDS.
BONE-END, a village on the southern verge of Bucks; on the river Thames, 3 miles E of Great Marlow. It has a post-office under Maidenhead.

BONEIIILL, a liberty in Tamworth parish, Stafford; adjacent to the Coventry canal, 13 mile SW of Tamworth. Pop., 299. Houses, 66. Bonchill House is a seat of the Peels.

BONGATE. See APPLEBY, Westmercland.

BONIFACE (St.). See BONCHURCH.
BONINGALE, or BONINGHALL, a parish in Shiffnall district, Salop; on the verge of the county, 11 mile S by W of Albrighton r. station, and 51 SE of Shiffaall. Post-town, Albrighton, under Wolverhampton. Acres, 1,003. Real property, £2,198. Pop., 187. Houses, 38. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diecese of Lichfield. Value, £260: Patron, C. T. Whitmore, Esq. BONNEN-CATE, a village in Strickland-Kettle town-

BONNEN-GAIL, a vinage in Stricksand-Nettle temship, Westmoreland; 31 miles NW of Kendal.
BONNE-NUIT-BAY, a bay on the N side of Jersey; 2 miles E by S of Rondnez point, and 41 SW of the Dironilles. It has a horse-sine form, of about 3 of a mile in diameter; and the cliffs above it command a fear view.

fine view.

BONNINGTON, a parish in East Ashford district, Kent; on the military canal, in Romney Marsh, 3 miles SSW of Smeeth r. station, and 61 SE by S of Ashford. Post-town, Bilsington, under Ashford. Acres, 1,100. Real property, £1,900. Pop., 157. Houses, 39. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in real property, 21,900. Pop., 187. Houses, 39. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £225. Patron, T. Papillon, Esq. The church is good. Papillon, Esq. The church is good.
BONNINGTON, the old seat of the Boys family, in Kent; near Goodnestone, 71 miles ESE of Canterbury. Two distinguished members of the family were Sir John Boys, of military celebrity, and Lieutenant Governor Boys of Greenwich hospital, notable for escape in the "Luxemburgh."

BONNINGTON-SUTTON. See SUTTON-BONNING-

BONOVER. See BEAUMARIS.

EONRON, a township in Gwyddelwern parish.

Merioneth; 2 miles N of Corwen.

BONSALL, or BONTESHALL, a village and a parish in Ashborne district, Derby. The village stands near the Mathock Bath r. station, and 2 SW of Mathock; and it has a post-office under Mathock Bath, and an ancient market cross.—The parish includes also the hamlet of Slaley. Acres, 2,464. Real property, £5,490. Pop. 1,290. Houses, 305. The scenery is picturesque; and the rocks include much limestone and some valuable ores. The inhabitants are employed chiefly in stocking-making, comb-making, and the mining of zine and lead. Traces exist of the Roman road to Manchester. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £220.* tron, the Bishop of Lichfield. The church is ancient tron, the bishop of Lienned. The enurch is ancient has a tower and fine spire; and was beautifully restored in 1863. There are chapels for Baptists, Wesleyan Methodists, and Primitive Methodists. An endowed school, founded in 1704, has £99.

BONSTEAD HILL, a township in Burgh-by-Sands parish, Cumberland; on the Carlisle and Silloth railway, 2 miles W by N of Burgh Page 24. miles W by N of Burgh. Pop., 74. Honses, 14.

BONT, a Welsh word used in topographical nomen-clature, and signifying "a bridge." It is the same as BONT, a village in Llanwrtyd parish, Brecon; 12 miles W of Builth.

BONT, a township in Llanfairtalhaiarn parish, Denbigh; 31 miles SE of Ruthin. Pop., 86. BONTESHALL. See BONSALL.

BONTEYEN, a village in Llangeitho parish, Cardigan; St miles NW of Llanbedr.

digan; $$ miles NW of Llanbedr.

BONTIORPE, a hamlet in Willoughby parish, Lincoln; 3$ miles S of Alford. Pop., 14.

BONT-NEWYDD, a village in Llanbeblig parish, Carnarvonshire; in the eastern vicinity of Carnarvon.

BONT-NEWYDD, a village in Llanwada parish, Carnarvonshire; adjacent to the Nantile railway, 2$ miles It has a station on the railway, and a S of Carnarvon. post-office under Carnarvon.

BONTRHYDYFERE, a village in Llanwrtyd parish, Brecon; 11½ miles W of Builth.

BONT UCHEL, a hamlet in Trepark township, Gyffylliog parish, Denbigh; 53 miles W of Ruthin.

BONYLLE-COURT, the old seat of the Bonville family, now the property of J. Longbourne, Est., near taminy, now the property of o'. Longbourne, 1841, near Tenby, in Pembreke.

BONVILSTON, or Tree-Simwn, a parish in Cacilifi district, Glamorgan; 24 miles SW by W of St. Fagans r. station, and 8 WSW of Cardiff. It has a post-oflice, of the name of Bonvilston, under Cardiff. Acres, 1,178. of the name of Bonvilston, under Cardiff. Acres, 1,178. Real property, 21,588. Pop., 291. Houses, 55. The property is divided among a few. Bonvilston Park is the seat of J. J. Bassett, Esq. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £83. Patron, J. J. Bassett, Esq. The church is good. Charities, £12. BONWEN. See RHUCGAT AND BONWEN. BONWICK, a township in Skipsea parish, E. R. Yorkshire; near the coast, 4½ miles NNW of Hornsea. Acres, 745. Real property, £837. Pop., 31. Houses, 2. BONWYSON, a township in Gwyddelwern parish, Merioneth; 2½ miles N of Corven.

Merioneth; 2½ miles No fCorwen.
HOODE, a hamlet in Eraunton parish, Devon.
BOOHAY, a hamlet in Brixham parish, Devon; 4½ miles NE of Dartmouth. Pop., 28.

BOOKHAM (GREAT), a village and a parish in Epsom district, Surrey. The village stands 21 miles SW of Leatherhead r. station, and 4 NW of Dorking; has a post-office under Leatherhead; and formerly had a fuir. post-order duce: Destauring and content had a rin.
The parish comprises 3, 240 acres. Real property, £6,615.
Pop., 1,106. Houses, 211. The property is much subdivided. Bookham Crove is the seat of the Dawnays; Eastwick House was formerly the seat of the Howards; Eastwick House was formerly the sear of the Alowards; and Polesden, now the property of Sir Walter R. Farquhar, Bart., belonged to Sheridan. The living is a vicatago in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £340.* Patron, in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £340. Patron, Viscount Downe. The church has a monument to Sheriff Slyfield, of the time of Queen Elizabeth; and is good Charities, £55. The rectory of Ranmore is a f ser state benefice

BOOKHAM (LATTLE), a parish in Epsom district Surrey; 3 miles SW of Leatherhead r. station, and 33 NW by N of Dorking. Post-town, Great Bookham, NW by N of Dorking. Post-town, Great Bookman, under Lossin-head. Acres, 950. Red property, £2,187. Pop., 219. Houses, 40. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, 2156.* Patrons, the Representatives of the Rev. G. P. B. Pollen. The church is Norman, has a brass of 1590, and is good. Charities, £65. EOOLEY, a township in Stanton-upon-Hine-Heath with S. J. M. puble SV of Wen. Ven. 117.

1 irish, Salop; 41 miles SE of Wern. Pop., 117.

BOON-WOOD, a hamlet in Gosforth parish, Cumberhoods wood, a namet in costoria parish, Cumber-land; 54 miles N of Ravenglass. HOOSELLY (UPPER and NETHER), two villages on the north-astern border of Stafford-shire; 2 miles SW of BOOTH, a hamlet in Knedlington township, E. R. Yorkshire; near the ferry over the river Ouse, 11 mile

SW of Howden. Pop., 36.
EOOTH, Lancashire. See Laund, Roughlee, Goldshaw, Earley, and Higham.

BOOTHAM, a sub-district in the district of York. It comprises 12 parishes, parts of 'hree other parishes, and two extra-parochial tracts within the borough of York, and Huntingdon parish beyond. Acres, 9,447. Pop., 11,425. Houses, 2,548.

EOOTHBY, a hamlet in Welton-in-the-Marsh parish,

Lincoln; 55 miles ENE of Spilsby. Pop., 30.
EOOTHBY, or Boorner-Graffo, a parish in the district and county of Lincoln; on the Wolds, 55 miles SE Casing Country of Satisfaction, and 9 Sof Lincoln. Post-town, Naveuloy, under Grantham. Acres, 2,550. Real property, 23,091. Pop., 218. Honese, 38. The property is divided among a few. Here are remains of Somerton Castle, built in 1305 by Bishop Bec, and used as the prison of John of France after the battle of Poictiers. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, 2032. Patron, J. Fullerton, Esq. The church was rebuilt in 1812. There is a national school.

built in 1842. There is a national school.

BOOTHBY-GRAFFO, a wapentake in the parts of Kesteven, Lincoln. It contains Boothly perish, twentyfive other parishes, and part of another. Acres, 56,601. Pop. in 1851, 19,857; in 1861, 11,797. Houses, 2,313. BOOTHBY-PAGNELL, a parish in Grantham district, Lincoln: adjacent to the Great Northern railway, 19.

mile LSE of Great Ponton station, and 5 SE of Grantham. It has a post-office, of the name of Boothby, under Grant-Lam. Acres, 1,794. Real property, £2,431. Pop., 112.Ilouses, 22. The property is divided among a few. Lothly House is a chief residence. The parish is a the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £376. Patron, T. Fardell, Esq. The church is good. The crudite Bishop Sanderson was rector here for forty years.
BOOTHEN, a township in Stoke-upon-Trent parish,

Statford; I mile from Stoke. Pop., 253. Houses, 52. BOOTHROYD, a hamlet in Dewsbury township, W.

R. Yorkshire: 53 miles W of Wakefield.

BOOTHS (HISTER), a township in Whalley parish, Lancashie; on the Manchester and Accrington railway, near the Baxenden station, 5 miles SSW of Burnley. Acres, 2,000. Real property, £21,097; of which £6,189 are in mines. Pop., 5,131. Houses, 968. The inhabitants are chiefly employed in cotton factories and in

BOOTHS (Lowen), a township in Whalley parish, Lancashire; 17 mile ENE of Paxenden r. station, and 4 SSW of Burnley. Acres, 639. Real property, £12,192. Pop., 1,655. Houses, 933. The inhabitants are chiefly rope, 1,000. Houses, so. The immunities are entry complyed in cotton factories.

EOOTHSTOWN, a hander in Worsley township, Lancashire; 7 miles WSW of Munchester. It has a post-offi - nader Manchester.

BOOTH-TOWN, a hamlet in Northowram township, 'N. R. Yorkshire; I mile NE of Halifax. It has a postoffice under H difax.

BOOTLE, a village, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Cumberland. The village stands on a rivulet, not far from the Whitchaven and Funness railway, about 13 mile from the shore, and 64 S by E of Ravenglass; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Whitehaven. It consists chiefly of a single street; yet possesses interest for tourists in some charming enyet possesses interest for tourists in some charming en-virons; and is a polling-place. A market was formerly held; and there are fairs on 5 April and 24 Sept. The parish comprises 6.652 acres of hard and 494 of water. Ical property, £4,748. Pop., 901. Houses, 160. The property is much subdivided. Part of the surface is bootle Fell; and part is the nordhern skirt and ascent of the Black Combe mountain. Remains of a Roman camp are on Esk-Meals common; and vestiges of a Benedictine nunnery, founded by a daughter of Henry de Boyvill, nunnery, founded by a daughter of Henry do Logista fourth lord of Millom, are at Seaton. The living is a Carliela Value £460.* Parectory in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £460.* tron, the Earl of Lonsdale. The church is partly ancient, of early English date, with Saxon vestiges; underwent repair in 1837; has a pinnacled tower, 90 feet high, built in 1862; and contains an octagonal font of red syndstone, and a brass of Sir Hugh Assew, who was knighted at the battle of Pinkie. There are an Independent chapel, a free school, and a work-house. -The sub-district contains the parishes of Bootle, Corney, Whitbeek, and Whicham, and part of the parish of Millom. Acres, 62,382. Pop., 3,598. Houses, 680. The district conquehends also the sub-district of Muncaster, containing the parishes of Muncaster, Drigg, Irton, and Waberthwaite, and parts of the parishes of Millom, and St. Bees. Acres of the district, 100,066. Millon, and St. Dees. Acres of the clistics, 10-3,000. Poor-rates in 1866, £2,419. Pop. in 1861, 5,880. Houses, 1,093. Marriages in 1866, 48; births, 214,—of which 21 were illegitimate; deaths, 131,—cf which 35 were at 21 were Higgitimate; deaths, 134,—ct which so were at ages under 5 years, and 5 at ages above 55 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-80, 401; births, 1,739; deaths, 968. The places of worship in 1851 were 13 of the Church of England, with 3,179 sittings; 1 of Independents, with 200s.; 2 of Baptists, with 100s.; and 4 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 497 s. The schools were 10 and 1970 of the pendents with 201s. The schools were 10 and 1970 of the pendents with 201s. public day schools, with 631 scholars; 8 private day schools, with 154 s.; and 12 Sunday schools, with 507 s. BOOTLE-CUM-LINACRE, a township and three chapelries in Walton-on-the-Hill parish, Laucashire.

The township lies on the Mersey, the Liverpool and Southport railway, and the L. and Leeds canal, 34 miles
N by W of Liverpool; was, till lately, a much-frequented watering-place, but is now occupied, on all its river front, by Liverpool docks; and has a post-office; under Liverpool, and four railway stations. Acres, 1,781; of which pool, and four railway stations. Acres, 1,781; of which 610 are water. Real property in 1860, 225,153. Pop. in 1851, 6,414. Houses, 1,018. Pop. in 1869, about 15,200.—The chapelries are St. Mary, St. John, and Christchurch; the two former p. curacies, the latter a vicatage, in the diocess of Chester. Value of St. M., 2300; of C., £300. Patron of St. M., W. S. Millar, Eq.; of St. J. and C., Trustees. St. M. s clurch was built in 1826; St. J. s in 1864, at a cost of £5,000; C. church in 1866; at a cost of £5,000; C. church, in 1866, at a cost of #8,800; and all are hand-A Weslevan chapol, in French first-pointed style, was built in 1864. A Roman Catholic chapel was built in 1868. There are also United Presbyterian, Baptist, and Welsh Methodist chapels, a national school, and a Christian Association's reading and lecture rooms.

BOOTON, a parish in St. Faith district, Norfolk; 5 miles SW of Aylsham, and 9 E of Elmham r. station. miles SW of Aylshan, and 9 f. of Elmhau r. station. It has a post-office under Norwich. Acres, 1,040. Real property, £1,921. Pop., 246. Houses, 55. Booton Hall is the seat of F. Parmeter, Esq. The living is a rectory in the discover of Norwich. Value, £228. Patron. H. Elwin, Fsq. The church is ancient.

BOOYE, a handet in Arkengarth-bale parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 3! miles NW of Reeth.

BORASTON, a town-hip-chapelry in Burford parish, Solany at the rerys of the county, on the river Tome.

Salop; at the verge of the county, on the river Teme, the Kington canal, and the Tenlary railway, 1 mile W of Tenbury. Post-town, Tenbury. Kated property, £1,141. Pop., 235. Houses, 39. The property is divided among a few. The living is a p. curacy annexed to the rectory of Burford, in the diocese of Hereford. The church is tolerable.

The church is tolerable.

BORDALE. See BOREDALE.

BORDEAN, a tything in East Meon parish, Hants;

34 miles W of Petersfield. Pop., 109.

BORDEN, a parish in Milton district, Kent; on the Chatham and Dover railway, 14 mile W of Sittingbourne.

Chatham and Dover railway, 14 mile W of Sittingbourne. thas a post-office under Sittingbourne. Real property, £5,886. Pop., 1,023. The property is divided among a few. Acres, 2,132 Houses, 204. Many Roman coins, and foundations of two Roman buildings, were discoins, and foundations of two Roman buildings, were discovered at Sutton-Barn here in 1846. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Canterbury. Value, £290.*
Patron, Rev. F. E. Tuke. The cluurch has a Norman west door and a Norman tower, and includes some Roman bricks in its walls. A charity for the poor, for man directs in its waits. A charity in the poor, the word widows, and for other purposes, has £1,227 a-year; and other charities have £17. Dr. Plot, the author of the county histories of Oxford and Stafford, was born at Station-Barn; and a neural monument to him is in the church.

BORDER COUNTIES RAILWAY, a railway in Northumberland. It starts from the Newcastle and Carlisle thumberland. It starts from the Newcastle and Carnsie railway immediately above Hexhaus; crosses the river Tyne; goes up the valley of the North Tyne, past Wark and Bellingham, to Keilder; and becomes united thence with the Border Union railway at Riccarton in Scotland, and through that with the North British railway at Hawick. It was authorized in 1854, and completed in Hawick. It was authorized in 1854, and completed in 1862. The length of it, from Hexham to Keilder, is 333 miles; and thence to Riccarton 81 miles.

BORDER UNION RAILWAY, a railway from Carlisle in Cumberland to Hawick in Scotland. It starts from the Citadel station at Carlisle; goes northward to Longtown; sends off a branch thence south-westward to Gretna; proceeds north-north-eastward to Newcastleton, sending off branches to Canobie and Langholm; and goes northward from Newcastleton, up the Liddel, past Riccarton, and down the Slitrig, into junction with the Hawick branch of the North British railway at Hawick. Its main line is 44 miles long; its branches aggregately 104 miles. It was authorized in 1859, and completed in 1862.

BORDESLEY, a hamlet in Aston parish, Warwick; within the south-eastern part of the town and borough of Birmingham. It contains the Birmingham stations of the Birmingham and Oxford and the Birmingham and Wolverhampton railways; and is traversed by those railways and by the Birmingham and Warwick canal. ways and by the Dirmingham and warves calmal. Acres, with Deritend, 1,690. Real property, £90,544. Pop. in 1851, 13,857; in 1861, 21,339. Houses, 4,418. Camp Hill here, contiguous to the canal and the Gloncester railway, was the scene of Prince Rupert's battle with the townsmen of Birmingham; and Bordesley Hall, near this, was burnt by the rioters in 1791. Streets and other thoroughfares are contiguous; and share in the general character and business of the town. Two chageneral character and business of the town. Two charbelries, Holy Trinity and St. Andrew, are in B.; the former ap. curacy, the later a vicarage, in the dio. of Worcester. Value of Holy Trinity, £300, of St. Andrew, £320. Patron of Holy Trinity, the Vicar of Aston; of St. Andrew, alternately the Bishop and five trustees. Holy Trinity the Work was the Market was built in $200 and five trustees. Trinity church was built in 1822, at a cost of £14,235; is a fine Gothic edifice, faced with stone; and has a grand eastern window and a beautiful altar-piece, St. drew's church was built in 1841, at a cost of upwards of £1,000; is in the early decorated style; and consists of nave, spacious chancel, and north aisle, with tower and BORDESLEY, a hamlet in Tardebigg parish, Worcester; near the Worcester and Birmingham canal, 5 miles by S of Bromegrove. A Cistertian abby was founded here, in 1138, by the Empress Maud; and given, at the dissolution, to Lord Windsor; and the chapel attached to it is still standing. Bordesley Park is the seat of the Dugdales.

FORDWOOD FOREST, an ancient forest in the castern part of the lale of Wight; on the S side of Main river, 13 mile W of Sandown. It was given by Henry V. to Philippa Duchess of York; and was long a noble hunting-ground, well stocked with deer and other game. The last "Lady" of the Island, Isabella de Fortibus, had a hunting seat in it on a knoll, which still retains the name of Queen's Bower. The best timber in the island was obtained from it; but now scarcely one large tree of it exists.

BOREATTON, or BRAITON, a township in Baschurch parish, Salop; on the river Perry, 9 miles NW of Shrews-bury. Real property, $1,558. Pop. 32. Boreatton Hall and Boreatton Park are chief residences.

BOREDALE, a glen 21 miles long, in Westmoreland; descending northward to the lower end of Martindale, and separated by Place Fell and Birk Fell from Ulleswater

BOREHAM, a village and a parish in Chelmsford district, Essex. The village stands on the river Chelmer, near the Eastern Counties railway, 3½ miles NE of Chelmsford; and it has a post-office under Chelmsford, and was once a market-town.-The parish comprises and was once a market-town.—The parish comprises, 3,739 acres. Real property, £7,002. Pop., 989. Houses, 186. The property is divided among a few. Boreham House is the seat of Sir J. T. Tyrell, Bart. Newhall belonged to Waltham abbey; and passed to the Shardclowes, the Butlers, the Boleyns, Henry VIII., the Ratcliffes, the Villerses, Cromwell, Monk, the Cavendishes, and Olmius Lord Waltham. A mansion on it was built by the Butlers in the time of Henry VII.; it was fillt by the Princess Mary, the Duke of Bucking-inhabited by the Princess Mary, the Duke of Bucking-ham, Cromwell, and Monk; and demolished, all except the great hall, by Lord Waltham. The hall is now a chapel, 96 feet by 50, retaining the arms of Henry VIII. and Elizabeth; and a convent is connected with it, first occupied by nuns who fled from Liege at the first French revolution, and used as a seminary for Roman Catholic ladies. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £432.* Patron, the Bishop of Rochester. The church has a square Norman tower; contains tombs of the Ratcliffes, Earls of Sussex; and is good. tomos of the fractines, rairs of Sussex; and is good. The churchyard contains a mansoleum of the Walthams, after the model of the Tomple of the Winds. There are national schools, Butler's charity school with £156 a-year, and other charities with £13.

BOKEHAM, a hamlet 1 mile SE of Warminster, in Wilts. A church was creeted here in 1865. Boreham Honse here is the property of Sir F. D. Astley, Bart. An earthwork in the vicinity, called the Berries, is a vestige of a Roman station on the road from Old Sarum to Bath; and has yielded Roman pottery and many coins.
BOREHAM-STREET, or BOREHAM-MANOR, a hamlet in Wartling parish, Sussex; on the river Ashburn, 45 miles E of Hailsham. It has a post-office, of the name of Boreham-Street, under Hurst-Green; and a fair is held at it on 21 Sept.

BORE PLACE, the seat of the Streatfields in Chiddingstone parish, Kent; 61 miles SSW of Sovenoaks. It was formerly the seat of the Willoughbys, and of Chief Justice Read.

BORESFORD AND PEDWARDINE, a township in Brampton-Bryan parish, Hereford; 2 miles E by S of Knighton. Pop., 110. Houses, 20.

Rainhon. Pop., 110. Houses, 20.
EORESHE, a locality 2 miles from Tenterden, in Kent: with a post-office under Staplelurst.
BORNGDON, the ancient scat of the Porkers, Earls of Morley, in Devon; on the Catwater, 51 miles N of Plymouth. The mansion was built about the middle of the 14th century; but is now reduced to a fragment, used as a farm-house. The grounds contain a Roman camp, and command most brilliant views. The Earls of Morley take from Boringdon the titles of Viscount and Baron.

BORINGER. See EOBBINGWORTH.

BORLEY, a parish in the district of Sudbury and county of Essex; on the verge of the county, at the river Stour, 24 miles NW of Sudbury r. station. Post-town, Sudbury. Acres, 776. Real property, £1,694. Pop., secoury. Acres, 40. Real property, £1,694. Pop., 1900. Houses, 40. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester, Value, £240.* Patron, the Rev. Edward Bull. The church stands on a rising-ground; contains a monument to Sir Edward Waldegrave, master of the wardrobe | to Queen Mary; and is very good.

EORLEY, a hunlet in Ombersley parish, Woreester; on the river Severn, 53 miles WNW of Droitwich.

DOROUGHIBRIDGE, a small town, a township-chapelry, and a sub-district in the district of Knuresborough, W. R. Yorkshire. The town stands on the river Ure, and on a branch of the Northeastern railway, 65 miles ESE of Ripon. It was formerly called Newborough, in contradistinction to the neighbouring small town of Aldborough; and it takes the latter part of its present name from a bridge built over the Ure at it soon after the Conquest, and now superseded by a modern bridge. A battle was fought in its vicinity, in 1322, between the forces of Edward II. and those of the Earl of Lancaster. Three rude monumental pillars, called the Devil's Arrows, somewhat obeliskal, and respectively 18, 22, and 31 feet high, stand about & a mile to the south; and have been the subject of much discussion among antiquaries. A neat, fluted, Dorie column, son among an inquares. A near, inted, Done column, seemingly of the 14th century, stood in the market place; and a quondam mansion of the Tangrels is now an inn. The town has a post-office; under York, a railwestation, two banking-offices, and two chief inns; and carries on some trade in hardware. It formerly had much business from traffic on the great North road; but has declined since the era of railways. A weekly market has declined silect the erd of railways. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on 27 April, 22 June, 16 Aug., 23 Oct., and 13 Dec. The town was made a borough in the time of Mary, sending two members to pullament; but was disfranchised by the act of 1832. The township or chapelry includes the town, is in the parish of Aldborough, and comprises 85 acres. Real Troperty, £2,302. Pop., 909. Houses, 215. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £300.* Patron, the Vicar of Aldborough. The clurch is a substantial modern building, with a tower; and there are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels, a temperance hall, national schools, and charities £5.—The sub-district comprises three parishes and part of a fourth. Pop., 5,061. Houses, 1,152. part of a fourth. ut of a fourth. Pop., 5,061. Houses, 1,152. BOROUGHBRIDGE, a hamlet in the parishes of Ling, Othory, and Westen-Zoyland, Somerset; at the confluence of the rivers Tone and Parret, 5 miles NW of Langport. It has a post-office under Bridgewater. Pop., 93. A ruined chapel here crowns a seemingly artificial mound, and belonged to Athelney abbey.

BOROUGH-FEN (VILLE), an extra-parachial tract in Peterborough district, Northampton; 5 miles N by E of Peterborough. Acres, 3,130. Real property, £6,086. Houses, 31.

BOROUGH CREEN, a hamlet in 1ghtham and Wro-tham parishes, Kent; 6 miles ENE of Sevenoaks. It has a post-office under Sevenoaks, and a Baptist chapel. BOROUGH-GREEN, Cambridge. See Burrough-

BOROUGH-IIILL, an eminence in the vicinity of Daventry, Northampton. It was the seene of the Danish victory over the Saxons in 1000, and the place of Charles L's encampment before the battle of Naseby; and it has vestiges of a large ancient camp, and commands a fine view.

BOROUGH ISLAND, an islet in Bigbury bay, at the mouth of the river Avon, in Devon.

BOROUGH-ROAD, a sub-district in the district of St. George-Southwark; extending northward from the Borough road to Mint street, in Southwark. Acres, 65. Pop., 19,668. House, 2,002.

BOROUGH-STREET, a brunlet 2½ miles SE of Epsom, in Surrey; on the Roman road to Chichester. BORRAS-HOVAII, a township in Wrexham parish, Denbigh; near the river Dee, 3 miles NE of Wrexham. Acres, 154. Pop., 49. Houses, 9.

BORRAS-RIFFER, a township in Gresford parish, D. nbigh; adjugant to the Chaster and Shrewsbury railway, 5 miles N of Wrexham. Acres, 352. Pop., 20.

BORROW (Tur), a stream of Westmoreland. rises on Harron Pilie; and runs 8 miles south-eastward to the Lune, 11 mile below Orton r. station. It takes its name from a Roman eamp at Castle-Dykes, which commanded a wild pass through Shap fell.

223

BORROWASH, a village in Ockbrook parish, Derbyshire; on the Midland railway, near the Derby canal and the Derwent river, 4½ miles ESE of Derby. It has a station on the railway, a post-office under Derby, a Wesleyan chapel, a cotton and lace factory, and flourmills. Elvaston Castle, the seat of the Earl of Harrington, is near it.

BORROW-BRIDGE (HIGH and Low), two localities on the Borrow river in Westmoreland : the former on the road from Shap to Kendal, the latter on that from Orton to Kirkby-Lonsdale. Both have inns; and Low Borrow-Bridge has also a village, amid romantie scenery, adjacent to a deep cutting on the Lancaster and Carlisle jaeent to a deep eutting on the Lancaster and Carlisio railway, and is a noted resort of anglers for trout-fishing. LORROWBY, a township in Leake parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 5 miles N of Thirsk. It has a post-office under Thirsk. Acres, 1,230. Real property, 22,098. Pop., 345. Houses, 83. There is a Wesleyan chapel. BORROWBY a township in Lythe parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 10 miles NW by W of Whitby. Acres, 710. Real property, 2756. Pop., 98. Houses, 19. BORROWDALE, the glen of the Borrow river, alse the village at Low-Borrow-Bridge, in Westmoreland. BORROWDALE, a chapelry and a vale in Cross-

BORIOWDALE, a chapelry and a vale in Crosthwaite parish, Cumberland. The chapelry lies 7 miles S by W of Keswick r. station, and 14 NW of Windermere: and contains the hamlet of Rosthwaite, which has a post-office under Windermere. Real property, £2,600. a post-office under Windermere. Real property, 22, acr. Pop., 422. Houses, 85. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £90.* Patron, the Vicar of Crosthwaite. The church stands near Rosthwaite, and was rebuilt in 1824. Another church, of recent erection, stands at Grange, and is served by a p. curate with salary of £30, appointed by Miss Heatheote. There are dissenting chapels at Rosthwaite and Grange.—The vale commences in three heads, Stonethwaite, Seathwaite, and Berrowdale-Haws, coming down from the mountain passes out of Langdale, Wastdale, and Buttermere; is everhang, at the convergence of these, by the massive mountain range of Glaramara; and descends thence, between lofty fanks, northward to the head of Derwent water. The low grounds or bottoms of it have much diversity of width and contour, but comprise about 2,000 acres of good land, chiefly disposed in pas-ture. "The mountains and hills around it have many outlines of base, form, and summit, but generally are so bold in character, so cloven with ravines, and so strikingly grouped together, as to form a series of imposing pietures. The depressions among them vary from gorge to glen, and from rocky mountain dealt any noise green cultivated valley; and the lower parts, both bottom and slope, show much diversity of breadth and colour, rock and wood, wild nature and ornate culture." The draining stream is called sometimes Borrowdale beck, sometimes Derwent river; and is the chief feeder of Derwent water. Castle-Crag, a lofty, wooded, and clinest isolated crainence adjoining the stream near the foot, commands a glorious view of all the vale; was the site of successions. sively a Roman camp, a Saxon fortalice, and a monastic castle, to command the pass toward the mountains; and has yielded Roman relies, which are preserved in Kes-wick museum. The Bowder stone, at the foot of a preciwick museum. He hower stone, at the non or a pres-pice, opposite Castlo-Crag, is a mass of fallen rock, 62 feet long, 36 feet high, and 83 feet in circumference, with outline resembling that of a ship upon its keel, and sung by Wordsworth. The Black Lead Mine mountain, or a flank of the Scathwaite head-vale, rises to the height of about 2,000 feet, and is famous for a plumbago mine and a group of yew trees. The mine occurs about midway a group of yew trees. The failed occurs about minway up its ascent; cosed recently to be worked, after having been worked for upwards of two centuries; is the only plumbage mine in Lingland; and sent all its produce to London. The yew trees are lower than the wing. four in number, very old, amid a sheet of conservood. Wordsworth, after noting a fumous yew in Lotton,

" Worthier still of note Are those fraternal four of Borrowdale, Joined in one solemn and capacious grove. Huge trunks !- beneath whose sable roof Tage trains:—neneath whose save roof of boughs, ast if for festal purpose, deck d With unrejoicing berries, ghostly shapes May meet at noontide,—Fear and trembling Hope, Silence and Foresight, Death the skeleton, And Time the shadow,—there to celebrate, As in a natural temple, scatter'd o'er With altars undisturbed of mossy stone,
United worship; or in mute repose
To lie and listen to the mountain flood Murmuring from Glaramara's inmost caves."

EORROWDON, or BURRADON, a township in Alwinton parish, Northumberland; near the river Coquet, 61 miles NW of Rothbury. Acres, 1,538. Pop., 144. Houses, 31.

BORSTALL. See BOARSTALL.

BORTH, a village, a small watering-place, in Cyfoeth-y-Brenin township, Cardigan; adjacent to the Newtown and Aberystwith railway, 8 miles NNE of Aberystwith. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Shrewsbury. It stands close to the sea; and consists of a street of mean white houses. Sandy beaches, called Borth sands, extend 4 miles from its vicinity northward borth sands, excell a mines from its vicinity flotting to the estuary of the Dovey; and are overlooked by cliffs, commanding splendid sea-views.

BORTHIN, a hamlet in Llandyssit parish, Cardigan; 8 miles E of Newcastle-Emlyn. Pop., 263.

BORWA. See BURFA.
BORWICK, a township, with a r. station, in Warton parish, Laucashire; on the Furness and Midland railway, near the Northwestern, 3 miles NNE of Carnforth. Acre 836. Real property, £1,765. Pop., 194. Houses, 35. Borwick Hall, the seat of the Standishes, gave lodging to Charles II. on his way to Worcester.

BOSBURY, a village and a parish in Ledbury district, Hereford. The village stands on the river Leddon, under Hereford. The village stands on the river Leddon, under the Malvern hills, 3 miles WNW of Colwall r. station, and 4 N by W of Ledbury; and has a post-office under Ledbury. The parish includes the parochial divisions of Upleadon and Catley. Acres, 4,769. Real property, £3,499. Pop., 1,090. Houses, 234. The property is much subdivided. An old building, now used as a farmhouse, was once a seat of the Bishops of Hereford. parish is a meet for the Ledbury hounds. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £337. Patron, the Bishop of Hereford. The church is ancient and good. A grammar-school has £90 from endowment;

other charities £33.

BOSCASTLE, a village and a sub-district in Camelford district, Cornwall. The village is in the parishes of Minster and Forrabury; stands & a mile from the coast, 54 miles N of Camelford; occupies a romantic site on the 54 miles N of Camellord; occupies a romanic site on the sides of hills, overhanging two deep vales; and has a post-officet under Camellord, a ruined ancient chapel, and a Methodist chapel. It was once a market-town, and still has fairs on the first Thursday of May. 5 Aug., and 27 Nov. Its name is a corruption of Bottreaux-Castle; and was taken from a haronial mansion, the seat of the Norman family of De Bottreaux, which stood on what is now a green mound. The manor went, in the time of Henry VI., by marriage, to Lord Hungerford; descended to the Earls of Huntingdon; passed to the Marquis of Hastings, who takes from it the title of Baron Bottreaux; and was purchased by the late T. R. Avery, Esq. Boscastle Port, at the nearest part of the coast, is the harbour of the village; lies in the debouch of a narrow high-flinked vale; has a small pier and breakwater; and carries on an export coasting trade in corn, slates, and ranganese. The scenery around the village is strikingly picturesque; and that on the coast, very grand. The sub-district comprises seven parishes. Acres, 17,368. Pop., 2,429. Houses, 530.

BOSCAWEN, a manor in St. Buryan parish, Cornwall. It has belonged, since the time of King John, to the Boscawens, who became Viscounts Falmouth in 1720; and gives them the title of Baron. A famous Druidical circle of 16 stones, called the Nine Maidens, occurs on the farm of Boscawen-Un.

BOSCOBEL, an extra-parochial tract in Shiffnall dis-FOSCOBEL, an extra-paraental tract in Shifman district, Salop; on the verge of the county, in Brewood forest, 6 miles E by N of Shiffmall. Acres, 600. Pop., 22. Houses, 3. Boscobel House, then a seat of the Giffords, was the hiding-place of Charles II., on 3 Sept., 1651, after the battle of Worcester. The chince was of timber, and is much altered; but still retains some of its original features, together with reminiscences of the king's retreat; and is shown to strangers. An oak tree near it is said to be a scion of the oak in which the king sat concealed while his pursuers passed sound and under it.

BOSCOMBE, a parish in Amesbury district, Wilts; on an affluent of the river Avon, and on the Basingstoke and Salisbury railway, 1½ mile NE of Porton station, and 4 SE of Amesbury.

It has a post-office under Marlborough. Acres, 1,692.

Real property, with Gomeldon, Idmiston, Porton, and Winterbourne-Gunner, £7,630.
Pop., 143. Houses, 34. The property is divided among The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salis-Value, £330.* Patron, the Dishop of Salisbury. The church is old but good; and there are almshouses, with endowed income of £24. Richard Hooker was rector from 1591 till 1595, and wrote here the first four for from Lord that 1989, and wrote here the first four books of his "Laws of Ecclesiastical Polity." BOSCOMBE CHINE, a narrow water-worn ravine on the coast of Dorset; 2 miles E of Bournemouth. Bos-combe Lodge, the seat of Sir Percy Shelley, Bart., is adjacent.

BOSDEN. See HANDFORTH.

BOSHAM, a village, a parish, and a hundred in the W of Sussex. The village stands on Chichester har-SW of Sussex. I mile S of the South Coast railway, and 31 W by S of Chichester; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office, of the name of Bosham-Pound, under Chichester. It was known to the Saxons as Bosenham; and it possessed importance for ages as a landing-place; but is now inhabited chiefly by fishermen. A monastic establishment was founded at it, in the 7th century, by a Scot named Dicul; and a collegiate church, in 1129, by Bishop Warlwast. It belonged early to the see of Cauterbury; was obtained, through guile, by Farl Godwin; had a scat of Harold, whence he sailed on his fatal visit to Duke William in Normandy; was given, at the Conquest, to the Anchors; and passed, first to Bishop Warlwast, then to the Dean and Chapter of Chichester. wast, then to the Dean and Chapter of Chichester. The parish includes the tythings of Broadbridge, Crecql, Old Fishbourne, Gosport, and Walton; and is in the district of Westbourne. Acres, 3,839; of which 645 are water. Real property, £8,136. Pop., 1,158. Housez, 236. The property is divided among a few. The present manor house has an ancient moat, and probably occupies the site of the stat of Harold. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £20.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Chichester. The church possesses much interest for activities also acres to the control of the state of of the stat much interest for artists and antiquaries; is partly Saxon or Norman, and partly early English; contains a Norman font and a monument to a daughter of Canute; and was restored in 1862. A colossal head, supposed by some to be for Weden or Jupiter, was found in the churchyard, and is preserved in the palme garden at Chichester. There are an Independent chapel, and charities £21. Herbert de Bosham, secretary to Thomas à Becket, and afterwards a cardinal, was a native. - The hundred comprises five parishes, and is in the rape of Chichester. Acres, 13,544. Pop., 2.722. Houses, 544. BOSHESTON, a parish in the district and county of Pembroke; on the coast, 5 miles S by W of Pembroke, and 74 S of New Milford r. station. It has a post-office under Pembroke. Acros, 1,506. Real property, £1,001. Pop., 254. Houses, 54. Limestone chills on the coast are pierced with caverns, and show very striking forms. The largest cavern, called Bosheston-nacre, runs inland more than 4 of a mile; terminates in a narrow vertical aperture; is lashed by the waves, in a storm, with unultuous noise; and sometimes ejects, from its terminal aperture, a column of foun 40 feet high, resembling the lecland goysers. The hermitage and well of St. Goyan, the Sir Gawaine of fable, the nephew of King Arthur, are in the vicinity of the mere. The living is a rectory ere in the vicinity of the mere. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. Davids. Value, not reported. Patron, the Earl of Cawdor.

BOSKEDNAN, a locality 4 miles NNW of Penzance in Cornwall. It commands an extensive view of wild country and of the ocean; and has a Druidical circle, 66 feet in diameter, with eight stones erect and three pros-

BOSKENNA, a locality in St. Buryan parish, Cornwall; 5 miles SW of Panzance. It has a cromlech; is near the Boscawen Druidical circle; and is thought to have been the seat of an archdruid.

BOSLEY, a township-chapelry in Prestbury parish, Cheshire; adjacent to the Macclesfield canal and the North Stafford railway, 6; miles S by W of Macclesfield. Acris Sathori ranway, C. imiss S of w of Maccessuch. It has a station on the rullway, and a post-office under Congleton. Acros, 3,150. Real property, 23,351. Pop., 461. Houses, 94. There is a large reservoir connected with the Macclessiell canal. The living is a p. curacy in the discusse of Chester. Value, 2110.* Fatron, the Vicar of Prestbury. The church was recently rebuilt.

BOSMERE, a hundred in Fareham division, Hauts. It contains the parishes of North and South Hayling and

Warklington, Acres, 14,510, Pop., 3,235, Houses, 692, BOSMERF, a lake, a district, and a hundred in Suf-The lake lies I mile SE of Needham-Market; is an expansion of the river Gipping; covers about 30 acres; and abounds with fish Bosnere Hall, the seat of the Hall family, is adjacent.—The district comprehends the sub-district of Newdham-Market, containing the parishes of Great Blakenham, Baylham, Barking, Creeting-St. Mary, Creeting-All-Saints, Creeting-St. Olave, Little Stonham, Earl Stonham, Balley, Battisford, Ringshall, Stonnam, Fart Stonnam, Beney, Bactesiora, Pingeman, Grant Bricett, Willisham, Offton, Nettlestead, Somersham, Little Blakenham, Bramford, and Flowton; and ham, Luttle Hill-chaim, Drantore, and Frowton; acest the sub-district of Coddennian, containing the burishes of Coddennian, Containing the burishes of Coddennian, Gosbeck, Henningstone, Ash-Licking, Swill and Hunley, Akenham, Claydon, Barham, Ash-field-with-Thorpe, Framsden, Helmingham, Petraugh, Winston, Debenham, Mickfield, and Stonham-Aspall, and the proceeded the acceptance of Concilid. Acres 57, 809. and the percential chapelry of Crowfield. Acres, 57, 899. Poor-rates in 1866, £3,876. Pop. in 1861, 16,174. Houses, 3,547. Marriages in 1866, 124; births, 481,—of which 16 were illegitimate; deaths, 209, -- of which 91 were at ages under 5 years, and 11 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-69, 1,084; births, 5,281; deaths, 3,131. The places of worship in 1851 were 39 of the Church of England, with 6,823 sittings; 8 of Independents, with 3,065 s.; 7 of Baptists, with 1,171 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 200 s.; 1 of Weslevan Methodists, with 84 s.; and 2 of Primitive Methodists, The schools were 21 public day schools, with 114 s. with 1,169 schools were at parameter, with 0,169 s.; with 0,169 schools, with 2,169 s.; and 2 evening schools for edule, with 6,169 s. The workhouse is in Farham. The hundred bears the name of Bosmere and Claydon; and is mainly identical with the district, but of less exand to mainly identifical with the district, but of less ex-tent. Acc., 49,331. Pop., 13,123. Houses, 2,818. BOSSAML, a township and a parish in the district of York and N. R. Volk-hite. The township lies on the river Derwent, 3 miles 8 of Barton-Hill r. station, and 10 NE of York. Acces, 1,050. Pop., 188. Houses, 31. —The parish extends beyond the York and Scarborough rail cay; has there the head post-office of Flaxton Station; and in in hes the townships of Flaxton on the Moor, Harton, Claxton, Sand-Hutton, and But'er-Crambe. 9,117. Real property, £10,657. Pop., 1,075. Houses, 215. The property is not ranch divided. The living is 215. The property is not much covered. The round of a vicatage, united with the p. curacy of Butter-Crambo, in the discrete of York. Value, $445.* Patrons, the De mand Chapter of Darham. The church is a handsome cruciform clibbe, with a central tower. The rectory of Flaxton and the vilurage of San Burton are sepa-

Late benefores.

RUSSENTEN, a wood 39 miles WNW of Canterbury, in Kent. Here John Nahols 5 to of Trino, whom crowls from the neighborroug villags followed as a amperhamman deliverer, under the many of "Sir William Courtenay, the knight of Malta," was shot in 1838, with eight of his followers.

BOSSINEY, a village in Tintagel parish, Cornwall, in a bleak tract, 4½ miles NNW of Cunelford. Pop., 87. It was once e market-town; and it sent two members to parliament from the time of Heury III. till disfranchised by the act of 1832. It consists of mean cuttages; and stands round a large barrow, on which the writ of election used to be read. Sir Francis Druke. Sir Francis Cottington, and other distinguished men represented it in parliament. A singular cove, small, and murky, called Bossiney Hole, is under the cliffs on the adjacent coast BOSSINGHAM, a hamlet in Upper Hardres parish, ent; 54 miles S of Canterbury. Pop., 149.

Kent; 5\[\) miles S of Canterbury. Pop., 149.
BOSSINGTON, a tything in Porlock parish, Somerset; on the E side of Porlock bay. Bossington hamlet, about a mile inland, is strikingly picturesque. Bossington beacon, flanking the bay, is a ridge 801 feet high; con occommands brilliant views; and has been alormed with paths and tasteful words by its proprietor, Sir Thomas D. Acland, Burt. BOSSINGTON, a parish in Stockbridge district, Hants; on the river Anton, and on the Roman road from Hallis, on the river Anion, and on the Robinan road from Winchester to Sarum, adjacent to the Andover railway, 2½ miles SSW of Stockbridge. Post-town, Broughton, under Winchester. Acres, 615. Real property, 2722. Pop., 45. Houses, 9. The property is all in one estate. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Broughton, in the discuss of Winchester. The church was rebuilt in 1839; and is a handsome edifice, of stone and ilint, in the early English style.

BOSTOCK, a township in Davenham parish, Cheshire; on the Chester canal, near the Grand Junction railway, 2½ miles NW of Middlewich. Acres, 1,111. Real property, £2,411. Pop., 154. Houses, 30. Bostock Hall is the seat of the France family.

BOSTON, a town, a purish, a sub-district, and a district in Lincoln. The town stands on the river Witham, 5 miles from the Wash, and 31 SE by E of Lincoln. The Witham is navigable up to it, making it a scaport; canals, communicating with the Trent, give it inland canas, communicating with the Trent, give it manus mavigation to almost every part of England; and rail ways diverging from a central station, go north-eastward, north-westward, westward, and southward. The Romans are supposed to have held a ferry a short distance b low it, and a fort at the mouth of the Witham; and are even thought, from some relics discovered in 1716, to have had buildings on the spot. A monastery was built at it. in 651, by the Saxon, St. Botolph, and destroyed by the Danes in 870; and this is believed to have given rise to the name Boston, written first Botolph's-town, afterwards Bostonstow. The monastery was rebuilt soon after 870: four priories, Augustinian, Dominican, Franciscan, and Carmelite, together with three colleges or hospitals, also were built; a castle of Ranulph, Earl of Richmond, like-wise was erected; and, though these dated from only the 13th and following centuries, they indicate a large amount of early prosperity. A tax levied in 1204 produced £780 of early prosperity. A tax levied in 1204 produced £780 from Boston and £836 from London. The town suffered greatly from a fire in the time of Edward L, and from an inundation in 1285; it was made a staple port for tin, lead, wool, leather, and other commedities in the time of Edward III.; and it sout sixteen ships to the siege of Calais in the time of Lilward III. It afterwards suffered much decline from the silting up of its harbour; and it continued, till recently, to suffer embarrassment from the same cause, in spite of modern improvements; but it has experienced revival from the enclosure of the neighbouring fens, and firm the influence of the railways. portion of its inhabit arts were leaders in the great Paritim emigration, about 1630, to America; and they gave its name to what is now the capital of New England.

The fown is cut in to two parts, east and west, by the Witham; and is well built. A long street, called Ear gate, and a specious non-deplace, are on the E side of the river; and and a long street, called High-street, the fiver, and another long street, cannot ringuisticet, nearly putallel with the river, is on the W side. An elogant iron bridge of one arch, of 56 feet, after a designby Rennie, spans the river; and was erected in 1804-7, at a cost of £22,000. Water-works were formed in 1850. There are a guild-hall, a market-house and assemblyrooms, a corn-exchange, a theatre, and a freemasons-hall, -the last in the Egyptian style, built in 1863. ancient monasteries and castle have disappeared; but Hussey-tower, built by William Lord Hussey, who was beheaded at Lincoln in the time of Henry VIII., is near St. John's-row. The parish church is decorated English. with grand interior; and, had it been cruciform, would have rivalled most of the lesser cathedrals. It measures 2821 feet by 99; has a south porch and a south-west chapel; contains an altar-piece after Rubens, an ancient font, and monuments of the Tilneys; and has recently undergone complete restoration. The steeple of it is undergone complete restoration. The steeple of it is 2623 feet high; was built after the model of the north-west steeple of Antwerp cathedral; is a master-piece of skill; and terminates in an octagonal lantern, which formerly was lighted up at night to guide seamen to the port. A white marble statue of the late Herbert Ingram port. Awhite marble statue of the late Herbert logical is in the church yard, and was set up in 1862. The chapel of ease, in High-street, was built in 1822. The Independent chapel in Red Lion street was rebuilt in 1800. The Wesleyau Centenary chapel is a spacious structure, and has an organ with 2,490 pipes and 49 stops. There are two chapels for Independents, three for Eaptists, and one each for Unitarians, P. Methodists, New C. Methodists, Free Methodists, and Roman Catholics; a free grammar school, founded in 1554; two other endowed schools, with £130 and £65 a-year; a mechanics' institute, two subscription libraries and news rooms, a dispensary, a drinking-fountain, and a work-house.

The navigation up to the town has been improved by deepening the river, forming a canal, and enlarging the harbonr; and it brings hither vessels of 300 tons. craft belonging to the port at the beginning of 1868, were 83 sailing-vessels under 50 tons, 57 sailing-vessels above 50 tons, and 2 steam-vessels of 106 tons. The various 50 tons, and 2 securivessers of 100 tons. The various vessels which entered during 1857 were, coastwis, 563 of aggregately 27,070 tons, and from foreign countries, 30 of aggregately 4,074 tons. The chief export is corn; and the chief imports coals, timber, heart, iron, and tar. Ship-building, iron-founding, rope-making, sail-making and the making of agricultural implements are carried on. Weekly markets are held on Wednesday and Saturday; and fairs on 4 and 5 May, 5 Aug., 15 Sept., 18 Nov., and 11 Dec. The town has a head post-office, ‡ a telegraph station, 4 banking offices, and three chief inus; and publishes two newspapers. It is a seat of quarter sessions, and a polling-place; was made a borough by Edward 1V.; is governed by a mayor, six aldermen, and eighteen councillors; and sends two members to par-liament. Its municipal boundaries are conterminate with Boston parish, excepting the fen allotments; and its parliamentary boundaries comprise Boston and Skir-Its parameters continues confine solutions in the best parishes, excepting Skirheck fen allotment. Direct taxes in 1857, £10,306. Electors in 1868, 1,093. Pop. of the m. borough in 1851, 14,733; in 1861, 14,712. Houses, 3,210. Pop. of the p. borough in 1851, 17,518; in 1861, 17,803. Houses, 3,901. Boston the bibliographer, Fox the martyrologist, and Diamond the blind calculator, were natives. The town gives the title of Baron to the Irby family.

The parish includes two allotments in respectively the East and West Fen. Acres, 5,220. Real property, 259,622. Pop., 15,078. Houses, 3,273. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of St. James, in the diocese of Lin-roln. Value, 2560. *Patrons, the trustees of H. Ingran, Est. The chaple of case is a separate charge, with income of £100, in the patronage of the Trustees of the Rev. P. Alpe. - The sub-district comprises the parishes of Boston and Skirheck, excepting the fen allotments of both. Acres, 7,850. Pop., 17,527. Houses, 3,838.—The district comprehends also the sub-district of Kirton-in-Holland, containing the parishes of Frampton and Wyberton, and parts of the parishes of Kirton, Sutterton, Algar-kirk, and Fosdyke; the sub-district of Bennington, containing the parishes of Bennington, Butterwick, Wrangle, and Leake, parts of the parishes of Fishtoft, Frieston, and Leverton, and the East fen allotment of Boston; the sub-district of Sibsey, containing the parish of Sibsey, the parochial townships of Carrington, West Ville, Thornton-le-Fen, Langrick Ville, and Frith Ville, the extra-parochial tracts of Silt Pits and Rowland's Marsh, and the West and Wildmore fen allotments of Boston. Skirbeck, Fishtoft, Frieston, and Leverton; and the subdistricts of Swineshead, containing the parishes of Swineshead, Bicker, and Wigtoft, parts of the parishes of Kirton and Billinghay, the extra-parochial tracts of North-Forty-Foot-Bank, Drainage Marsh, Forty-Foot-Bridge, Gibbet-Hills, Rakes-Farm, Forry-Corner, Pelhams-Lands, and Harts-Grounds, and the fen allotments numerical and an artist-oronness, and the lear around the of Sutterton, Algarkirk, and Fostyke. Acres, 125,547. Poor-rates in 1866, £21,334. Pop. in 1861, 37,969. Houses, 8,069. Marriages in 1856, £25; births, 1,118,—of which 96 were illegitimate; deaths, 603,—of which 170 were at ages under 5 years, and 24 at ages above 85 years. Maringes in the ten years 1851-60, 2,954; births, 12,042; deaths, 7,440. The places of worship in 1851 were 29 of the Church of England, with 12,691 in 1831 were 29 of the Church of England, with 12,00 sittings; 30 f Independents, with 1,355 s.; 7 of Baptists, with 2,044 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 230 s.; 29 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 5,684 s.; 1 of New Connexion Methodists, with 729 s.; 11 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,285 s.; 1 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 50 attendants; 1 of Latter-day Saints, with 103 at; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 310 sittings. The schools were 33 millio day schools with 310 sittings. 33 public day schools, with 3,111 scholars; 63 private day schools, with 1,423 s.; 53 Sunday schools, with 4,606 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 20 s.

BOSTON, Lancashire. See ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE. BOSTON-DEEPS, the NW side of the Wash, leading up to the mouth of the Witham river, in Lincoln. It is divided on the landward side, from the shore, by Wainfleet and Fiskney flats; and on the other side, from Lynn-Deeps, by the Long Sand, Dog's Head, Roger, and Lynn-Knock shouls. The part of it called the South Channel gives the best seaway, and has in some parts four fathoms of water; but is encumbered by a shifting

BOSTON, SLEAFORD, AND MIDLAND COUNTIES RAILWAY, a railway in Lincolnshire; eastward from tho Great Northern loop at Boston, to the Great Northern main at Barkstone, N of Grantham Junction. Its length is 28 miles. It was authorized in August 1853, and was opened from Sleaford to Grantham in June 1856, and from Boston to Sleaford in April 1859. A bill was lodged for the session of 1863 to obtain powers for connecting this railway with Frieston shore by means of railways and pier. See FRIESTON.

BOSTON-SPA, a village and a chapelry in Bramham parish, W. I. Yorkshire. The village stands on the river Wharfe, to da mile SW of Thorpe-Arch r. station, and 33 NW by W of Tadeaster; and has a post-officetunder Tadeaster. It consists of a single well-built street; and has a fine bridge over the Wharfe, three hotels, a good church with a tower, built in 1814, and a Weslevan chapel. A saline spring here was brought into notice in 1744; has been recommended by distinguished physicians; and draws invalids and other visitors to the village as a watering place. A pump-room, hot and cold baths, and other kindred appliances are in operation; and a number of handsome residences are in the neighand a number of handsome residences are in the neighbourhood.—The chapelry includes the village, and was constituted in 1852. Rated property, £5,010. Pop., 1,123. Houses, 251. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £18.0.* Patron, Christ Church, Oxford.

BOSWIDDY, a humbet in St. Erth parish, Cornwalt, 3, miles NE of Marazion.

BOSWOITH (HYRANDS) a village and a parish in POSWOITH (HYRANDS) a village and a parish in BOSWORTH (HUSBANDS), a village and a parish in Market-Harborough district, Leicester. The village stands adjacent to the rivers Welland and Avon, the stands adjacent to the frees we had and Avon, the Union canal, and the Northwestern railway, I mile ENE of Welford station, and 6 WSW of Market-Harborough; and has a post-office; under Rugby, and a fair on 16 Oct. —The parish comprises 3.570 acres. Real property, 27,830. Pop., 931. Houses, 211. The property is unch subdivided. Bosworth Hall is an ancient mansion, the seat of the Turvilles. The Union canal passes through a tannel in the parish, 13.70 yands long. The Riving is a rectory in the dioces of Peterborough, Value, 2005. Patron, J. W. Land, Esq. The church is early Fallish, with tower and soirs; was reach by Richtigus to Faglish, with tower and spire; was rent by lightning to the extent of 36 feet, in 1755; but is now good. There are chapels for Baytists, Wesleyans, and Roman Catholics, and another declared by $15, with a factor of 25 the endowed scale by $15.5 with a factor of 25 the endowed scale by $15.5 with a factor of 25 the endowed scale by $15.5 with a factor of 25 the content of 25 the scale of 25 the content of Les. An endowed school has £15; other charities £77. Spencer, lishop of Norwich in the time of Richard II., was rector.

BOSWORTH (MARKET), a village, a township, a r ROSWOLTH (MARKET, a THINGE, a township, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Leicester. The village stands on an eminence \(\frac{3}{2} \) of a mile E of the Ash-brade-la-Zench canal, \(\frac{3}{2} \) miles W of Desford r. station, \(\frac{5}{2} \) NE of Westing-street, and \(11 \) W by S of Leicester. It has a past-office, and an absolute by a branch of the constant. in a church, Independent, Baptist, and Primitive Mithodist chapels, a grammar-school, almshouses, and a weekhouse; and is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-The church is early English; was recently restored; has a lofty handsome spire; and contains monuments of the Dixies. The grammar-school was founded in 1593, at I rebuilt in 1827; has an endowed income of 2556, with four selidarships at the universities; and had as a master, the Rev. Authony Hackwall, author of "Introduction to the Classics,"—as an uslor, Dr. Samuel Johnson,—and as pupils, Dawes, author of "Miscellanea Johnson,—and es pupils, Dawes, author of "Miscellance Critica," and Thomas Simpson, the celebrated mathematician. A weekly market is held on Wednesday, and first on 8 M., and 10 July.—The township includes also the hander of Coton. Real property, £7,603. Pop., 1997. Houses, 191.—The parish contains likewise the chapteries of Sutton-Chency, Shonton, Carlton, and Farlastone. Acres, 7,449. Real property, £17,670. Pop., 2,576. Houses, 514. The property is much subsyched. The monor belonged once to the Hastings with a serious property of the property is much subsyched. Simily; and belongs now to Sir Alexander Dixie, Bart. Rosworth-Field, now a meadow, adjacent to the canal, 2 :: the S of the village, was the scene of Richard III.'s defect, in 1485, by the Earl of Richmond, who mounted the throne as Henry VII.; and a spring on it, at which the king is said to have drunk during the battle, and are king is said to have draing during the batth, and called kitchard's well, was covered over in 1812 by R. Smith, Esq. of Sutton House, and bears an inscription by Dr. Patr. This field was also the scene of the skir-plish, in 1914, between the parliamentary and the royal forces. The living is a rectory, united with the p. cura-ies of Sutton-Cheney, Shenton, and Barlestone, in the dio-iese of Peterborough. Value, £903.* Patron, Sir A. Dixie,

But. The vicarage of Carlton is a separate benefice.

The sub-district contains the parishes of Peckleton, Desfert, Newbold-Verdon, Cadeby, Sibson, Twycross, Orton-on-the-Hill, Norton-juxta-Twycross, and Congersion, the extra-parochial tract of Copsall-Hall, most of the parishes of Market-Losworth and Shackerstone, and the particles of Market-bosovern and Communication, and part of the particles of Kirkby-Mallory, Barwell, and Hirekley. Agres, 35,137. Pop. 7,185. Houses, 1,541. —The district hedudes also the sub-district of Hotock, containing the parishes of Thornton, Ratby, and Mark-field, and parts of the parishes of Market-Bosworth, Ib-stock, Shicker-tone, and Nailstone. Acres of the district, 5°,526. Peor-rates, £8,709. Pop. in 1341, 13,600; in 1891, 13,428. Houses, 2,911. Marriages, 97; births, 441,-of which 47 were illegitimate; deaths, 212,-of 244.—of which 37 were illegitimate; deaths, 212.—of which 65 were at ages under 5 years, and 13 at ages where 85 years. Marriages in the tru years 1851-60, 167; birthe, 4,317; deaths, 2,551. The places of worship in 1-81 were 26 of the Church of England, with 7,155 setings; 1 of Independents, with 184 s.; 5 of Ea; tiets, with 2,051 s.; 9 of Wedey in Methodists, with 1,116 s.; each 7 of Primitive Methodists, with 8,87 s. 75 a set. 4s were 31 public day schools, with 1,801—chelats; 22 private day schools, with 288 s.; 33 Marriags schools, with 2,059 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 18 s.

BOTALLACK, a tin and copper mine in the western peninsula of Cornwall; 2 miles N of St. Just, and 6 NNE of Land's End. It is partly worked on the face of high cliffs; descends to a depth of 425 feet; runs out, in one level, 510 feet, under the sea; goes twice as far, in other levels, into the land; and is altogether as wonderful a work as the great pyramid of Egypt. Queen Victoria visited it in 1846; and the sons of Louis Philippe in 1851. The scenery above it is romantically grand; and the cliffs consist of hornblende and clay slate, and contain a great variety of curious minerals.

BOTANY-BAY, a barnlet in Enfield parish, Middle-sex; 3½ miles NE of Barnet.

BOTCHERBY, a township in St. Cuthbert parish, Cumberland; within the city of Carlisle. Acres, 495.

Cumberland; within the city of Carlisle. Acres, 490. Pop., 176. Houses, 37. BOTCHERGATE, a township in St. Cuthbert parish, Cumberland; within the city of Carlisle. Acres, 346. Pop., 9,122. Houses, 1,690.
BOTCHESTON, a hamlet in Rathy parish, Leicester; 6 miles E.ly N of Market-Bosworth. Pop., with Newtown-Unthank, 113. Houses, 20. BOTEGWEL, a township in Abergele parish, Den-BOTTEWELL, a township in Abergeie parish, Penligh. Pop., 113.

BOTTESDALE, a village, a chapelry, and a sub-district, in Hartismere district, Suffolk. The village stands 3 miles WNW of Mellis r. station, and 7 WNW of Eye; consists chiefly of one long street; has a post-office; under Scole, a benking office, an inn, a church, and a free grammar-school; and is a polling-place. The church is later English, restored; and contains the remains and monuments of Sir Nicholas Bacon and Lord Chief Justice Holt. The grammar-school was founded in 1576, by Sir N. Bacon; and has six exhibitions at Corpus Christicollege, Cambridge. A weekly market is held on Satuday; and a fair on Holy Thursday. The name Bottsdals is a corruption of Botolph's Dale. Pop., 580. Houses, 139 .- The charelry includes the village; lies in Redgrave parish, and is a p. curacy, annexed to Redgrave rectory, in the diocese of Norwich.—The sub-district comprises seven parishes. Acres, 15,081. Pop., 5,288.

Houses, 1,135.

BOTHAL, a township and a parish in Morpeth district, Northumberland. The township is called Bothal Demesne; and lies on the Wansleck river, near the Northeastern railway, 3 miles E of Morpeth. Acres, 3,027. Real property, £6,895. Pop., 642. Houses, 122. The patish includes also the townships of Oldmoor, Pegsworth, Longhirst, and Ashington and Sheepwasn; and its post-town is Morpeth. Acres, 7,593, leal property, £5,510; of which £903 are in mines. Pop., 1,233. Houses, 241. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged, in the time of Henry II., to the Bertrams: passed by promise from the property is divided among a few. The manor belonged, in the time of Henry II., to the Bertrams: passed by promise from the property is the contract of the property in the property is property in the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property is the property in the property is the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property in the property is the property in the property Henry II., to the Bertrams; passed by marriage first to the Ogles, then to the Cavendishes; and belongs now to the Duke of Portland. Remains of a castle of the Bertrams, and of an ancient chapel of the Virgin, still exist. Coal is worked. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Sheepwash, and the p. curacy of Webburn, in the diocese of Durham. Value, £1,357. Patron, the Duke of Portland. The church contains tombs of the Ogles. A school is endowed with £25 a-rear. BOTHAMSALL, a parish in East Reford district, Notts; on the river Medan, 54 miles NNE of Ollerton, and 6 WNW of Tuxford r. station. Post-town, Walesand o wave of fuxord r. station. Prest-fown, Wales-by, under Newark. Acres, 1,439. Real property, £2,275. Pop., 296. Houses, 57. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £52. Patron, the Duke of New-castle. The church is good.

BOTHEL AND THREAPLAND, a township in Torpenhow parish. Cumberland; near the fiver Ellen, 43 miles W of Ireby. Real property, £3,182. Pep., 430. Houses, 94. Linestone abounds, and is worked.

LOTHENHAMPTON, a parish in Bridport district, Dorset; adjacent to the river Brit and the Southwestern railway, ? of a nulle SE of Bridpert. Post-town, Brid-port. Acres, 823. Real property, £2,992. Pop., 546. Houses, 119. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Solisbury.

Value, £95.* Patrou, Sir H. M. Nepean, Bart. The | shurch is good.

BOTH-HERGESTS, a township in Kington parish, Hereford; 2½ miles SW of Kington. Pop., 163. Houses, BOTLEY, a tything in Commor and North Hinksey parishes, Berks; 2 miles W of Oxford. It has a postparisies, Berks; 2 miles W of Oxford. It has a post-office under Oxford. Pop., 64.

BOTLEY, a hamlet in Chesham parish, Bucks; 14 mile E of Chesham. Real property, £3,2°8. Pop., 499. BOTLEY, a hamlet in Ullenhall chapelry, Warwick; 14 mile NNW of Henley-in-Arden.

BOTLEY, a village and a parish in South Stoneham district, Hauts. The village stands on the river Hautble, & a mile S of the Salisbury and Gosport railway, and 41 SW of Bishop's-Waltham; and has a station on the rallway, a post-office; under Southampton, and a recently erected market house. A considerable trade is done in flour and timber; a fortnightly market is held on Tuesday; and fairs are held on the Tuesday before Shrove-Tuesday, the Tuesday before Whit-Monday, 23 July, the Tuesday before 24th Aug., and 13 Nov. A mock trial at a public house here, followed by the hanging of a man in jest, with the effect of hanging him to death, gave rise to the proverbial phrase of "Botley Assizes." An act was obtained in 1862 for constructing a railway, 3½ miles long, in connexion with the Southwestern, from Botley to Bishops-Waltham; the works to be completed within three years. The parish comprises 1,817 acres of land and 70 of water. Real property, £4,562. Pop. 860. Houses, 181. The property is subdivided. Botley Grange and Botley Hill are chief residences. A farm here was held by the political writer William Cobbett. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £310. Patron, Rev. J. M. Lee. The church was built in 1835, and enlarged in 1859. There is an Independent chapel.

pendent chapel.

BOTLEYS AND LYNE, a chapelry in Chertsey parish, Surrey; near the Chertsey branch of the Southwestern railway, 2 miles SW of Chertsey. Post-town, Chertsey. Rated property, £6,211. Pop., 194. Houses, 110. The property is divided among a few. Botleys Park is the srat of R. Gosling, Esq., and has richly-wooled grounds, The chapelry was constituted in 1849. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £100.* Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The church is good. BOTLOE, a hundred in the NW of Gloucester. It addions Worcester and Hereford; is 12 miles long, and 8 adjoins Woreester and Hereford; is 12 miles long, and 8 broad; and contains eight parishes and part of another.

Acres, 26,811. Pop., 7,204. Houses, 1,536.

BOTOLPH, or BUTTOLPHS, a parish in Steyning district, Sussex; on the river Adur, 11 mile SSE of Steyning, and 1 S by E of Bramber r. station. Post-town, Steyning under Hurstperpoint. Acres, 910. Real property, £932. Pop., 54. Houses, 10. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Bramber, in the diocese of Chichester.

The church is very good.

BOTOLPH-BRIDGE, or BOTTLE-BRIDGE, a parish in the district of Peterborough and county of Huntingdon; near the river Nen and the Great Northern railway, 2 miles SW of l'eterborough. Post-town, Peterborough. statistics are returned with Orton-Longville. The manor belonged to the Draytons, the Lovells, and the Shirlevs. neongest to the Draytons, the Lovells, and the Shirleys. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Octon-Longville, in the diocese of Ely. The church is in ruins. BOTOLPH-CLAYDON, a hundted in East Claydon parish, Bucks; 34 miles SW of Winslow.

BOTOLPH (ST.) See LONDON, CAMBRIDGE, COLCHESTER, and LINCOLN.

BOTOLPH'S-DALE. See BOTESDA BOTOLPH'S-TOWN. See BOSTON. See BOTESDALE.

BOTRUAL, a township in Llanfairtalhaiann parish, Denbigh: 4\ miles S of Abergele. Pop., 106. BOTSWORTH. See BOTTESFORD, Leicester.

BOTTEGIR-BACH, an extra-parochial tract in Llanrwat district, Merioneth; 7 miles NW of Corwen.

BOTTESFORD, a township and a parish in Glanford-Brigg district, Lincoln. The township lies 4 miles E of the river Trent, 3 S of Fredlingham r. station, and 7 W of Brigg. Real property, £3,300. Pop., 157. Houses, 33. The parish contains also the townships of Ashby, Burringham, Yaddlethorpe, Holme, and part of East Butterwick; and its post-town is Ashby under Brigg. Acres, 7,470. Real property, with the rest of East But-terwick, £11,371. Fop. 1,616. Houses, 361. The pro-perty is much subdivided. The living is a vicange, an-nexed to Messingham, in the diocese of Lincoln. The parish church is good; and there are a recent chapel of ease, two Methodist chapels, and a national school. BOTTESFORD, or BOTSWORTH, a village and a parish in the district of Grantham and county of Leicester. village stands in the vale of Belvoir, near the Grantham canal and the Nottingham and Grantham railway, 7 miles canal and the Nottingham and Grantham railway, 7 miles WNW of Grantham; and it has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Nottingham. The parish includes also the hamlets of Easthorpe and Normanton. Acres, 5,010. Real property, £9,353. Pop., 1,115. Houses, 317. The property is much subdivided. The manor was given at the Conquest to R. de Todeni, and belongs now to the Dake of Rutland. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Peterborough. Value, £693, *Patron, the Duke of Rutland. The church is large, cure form, and very root, with a tower at the west end and form, and very good, with a tower at the west end; and contains monuments to many of the Earls and Dukes of Rutland. There are four dissenting chapels, two cudowed hospitals for poor men and poor widows, with £479 and £133 a-year, and a school with £36.

BOTTESLOW, a township in Stoke-upon-Trent parish.

Stafford; 2 miles E of Newcastlo-nnder-Lyne. Pop., 167. Houses, 31.

Houses, 61.

BOTTISHAM, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Nowmarket district, Cambridge. The village stands on an affluent of the river Cam, 23, miles NNE of Fulbourn r. station, and 64 ENE of Cambridge; and it has a post-office under Newmarket, and is a seat of petty sessions. The parish includes also the hamlets of Lode sessions. The portsh includes also the names of Louis and Longmeadow. Acres, 4,700. Real property, £8,800. Pop., 1,508. Houses, 332. The property is much subdi-vided. Bottisham Hall is the scat of the Jenyns family. Traces exist at Anglesey of an Augustinian priory, founded in the time of Henry I. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £268. Patron, Trinity College. diocese of Ely. Value, £268. Patron, 1 mm, conditional Cambridge. The church is early English, good, and Cambridge. The church is early English, good, and beautiful. The vicarage of Lode is a separate benefice. There are chapels for Independents and Explicts, and There are enapers of interpenents and Empirist, and two national schools.—The sub-district contains two parishes and most of another. Acres, with Newmarket sub-district, 23,323. Pop., 3,373. Houses, 754. BOTTLE-BRIDGE. See Hotoleht-Beinge. BOTTOM-HEAD. See Botton-Head.

BOTTOMS, a hamlet in Blidworth parish, Notts; 54 miles SE of Mansfield. Pop., 250.

BOTTON, See WRAY-WITH-BOTTON, BOTTON-FELL and BOTTON-HEAD, eminences on the eastern verge of Lancashire; part of the backbone of England, 12 miles E of Lancaster, England, 12 miles It of Padecaster.

BOTTON-IIEAD, or GREENIOE, a mountain at the head of Bilsdale, N. R. Yorkshire; 6½ miles SE of Stokesley. It has an altitude of 1,485 feet.

BOTTOR-ROCK, a fissured trap hill adjacent to Hennock village, and 3 miles W by N of Chudleigh, in Devon. It towers conspicuously over a large tract of coantry, and commands a magnificent view.

BOTTREAUX. See BOSCASTLE.

BOTTERAUX. See BOSCASTLE.
BOTTWNOG, a parish in I'wilheli district, Carnarvon; 5½ miles SSW of Nevin, and 8 WSW of I'williedi r. station. It has a post-office under Pwilheli. Acres, 487.
Feb. 1 Pon. 138. Houses, 63. The Real property, £701. Pop., 138. Houses, 38. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curaev, annexed to the rectory of Myliteyra, in the diocese of Bangor. The church is very good; and there is a Ca' vinistic Methodist chapel. An endowed school has £200 a-year; and other charities have £6. BOTUS-FLEMING, a parish in St. Germans district, Cornwall; near the Hamouze, 2 miles NW of Salash r. station. Post-fown, Saltash, Cornwall. Acres, 1,128. Real property, £1,329. Pop., 237. Houses, 49. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Flemings of Stoke-Fleming. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £230.* Patron, not reported. The church is good.

BOTWELL, a humlet in Hayes parish, Middlesex;
41 miles SE of Uxbridge. Pop., 373.

44 Indies SE of Ukbridge. Pop., 573.
BOUGHIROOD, or BACHERUP, a parish in the district of Hry and county of Radner; on the river Wye, with a station on the Built rulway, 7 miles WSW of Hay. Postatown, Llyswen, under Hereford. Acres, 1,633. Peal property, £1,986. Pop., 292. Houses, 57. The property is all in one estate. Boughrood Castle, on the site of an ancient baronial fortalice, of which slight vestisite of an ancient barontal fortunes, or which stages remain, is the seat of W. de Winton, Esq. The ges remain, is the seat of W. de Winton, Esq. The livscenery is wooded, rounntie, and picturesque, ing is a vicanage in the diocese of St. David's. Value. ≈213. Patrou, the Bishop of St. David's. The church is good. R. Powell, a native, was vicar; and founded, at Brecon, a charity which has £262 a-year.

BOUGHTON, a hamlet in Diddington and Southoe purishes, Hunting lon; 31 miles N of St. Neot's. Pop. 51. BOUGHTON, a hamlet in Asgarby parish, Slcaford district, Lincoln; 2 miles E of Sleaford. Pop., 22.

BOUGHTON, a village in St. John-Bedwardine parish, orcestershire: 2 miles SW of Worcester. Boughton-Wordestershire;

House here is the seat of the Isaacs.

BOUGHTON, a hamlet in Weekley parish, Northampton; 31 miles NE of Kettering. Boughton Park here belonged formerly to the Montagues; and belongs now to the Duke of Enceleuch; and the mansion on it contains two cartoons of Raphael and other rare paintings.

BOUGHTON, a parish in Brixworth district, Northamptonshire; on an afluent of the river Nen, and on the Northampton and Market-Harborough railway, 3 miles N of Northampton. It contains Boughton Green, where a large fair is held on 24, 25, and 26 June; and where a large late is held on 28, 20, and 20 offine; after has a post-office under Northampton. Acres, 1,850. Real property, £3,207. Pop., 372. Houses, 91. The property is divided among a few. Boughton House is the seat of Col. R. H. H. Vyse. The living is a rectory in the discose of Peterborough. Value, £296. Patron, Col. R. H. H. Vyse. The church is modern; and there are a Weslevan chapel and a charity of 48 acres.
BOUGHTON, a parish in Downham district, Norfolk;

BOUGHTON, a parish in Downham district, Nortolk; I) mile Nof Soke-Ferry, and 6 E by Sc I Downham r. station. Post-town, Stoke-Ferry, under Brandon. Aeres, 1,323. Real property, 22,103. Pop. 238. Houses, 45. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £400.* Hatron, Sir W. J. H. B. Folkes, Bat.

BOUGHTON, a parish in Southwell district, Notts;

2 miles NE of Ollerton, and 6 SW by W of Tuxford r. station. Post-town, Ollerton, under Newark. Acres, 1,372. Real property, £1,976. Pop., 390. Houses, 91. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarige in the diocese of Lincoln; and till 1866 was annexed to Kneesall. Value, £250. Patron, Southwell church. There are two dissenting chapels.

nexed to Knessill. Value, 2.200. (across, sections. Church. There are two dissenting chapels.

BOUGHTON, Kent. See BOUGHTON-UNDER-BLEAY. BOUGHTON-ALUPH, a parish in East Ashford district, Kent; a dipsent to the river Stour and the Canterbery trailway, 11 mile WNW of Wye station, and 4 NNE of Ashford. It countains Boughton-Less, which has a op-t-effice under Avinfort. Acres, 2,418. Real property, 23,238. Pop. 475. Houses, 80. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged, in the time of Union Lean to Adultin de Boughton. The living is a of King John, to Adulph de Boughton. The living is a thermogen in the discover of Canterbury. Value, 2016. Petrons, the Trustees of Dr. Breton. The church is . a feat and ora iform, with a central tower; and contains a picinitar i mamments of the Moyles. Charities, ES. BOUGHTON - BLEAN. See BOUGHTON-TABER-

BOUGHTON (GREAT), a township and a district in Christine. The town Jip is in St. Oswald parish, and the mea. The cownsup is in Sc. Swam paren, and partly within Chesler city; and lies on the Chester and Carwera Iway, I mile 1, of Chester. Acres, 760. Red 1; query, C5,458. Por, 1,337. Houses, 281.—The destrict comprises Great Boughton proclay union, and

Chester city; the latter being regulated, in poor-law matters, by a local act. It comprehends the sub-district of Tattenhall, containing the parishes of Tattenhall, Handley, Waverton, Aldford, Harthill, Cod-lington, Handley, Waverten, Aldford, Harthill, Cod-lington, Farndon, and Tilston, the extra parochial tracts of Willington and Kingenarsh, and parts of the parishes of Malpas, Shocklach, Tarvin, and St. Oswali; the sub-district of Hawarden, containing the parishes of Hawarden, electorally in Flint, Doddleston, partly in Flint, Pulford, and Eccleston, the extra-parochial tract of Shotwick-Park, and parts of the parishes of Shotwick and St. Mary-on-the-Hill; the sub-district of Chester-Castle, containing the parishes of Barrow, Suston-Guilden, Christleton, St. John Laptist, St. Olave, and St. Michael, the extra-parochial tracts of Claverton, Priors-Hay, Spittle-Boughton, and Chester Gaol and Barracks, and parts of the parishes of Tarvin, St. Oswald, and St. Mary-on-the-Hill; and the sub-district of Chesand St. Mary-on-the-lint; and the sub-district of Cher-certer-Cathedral, containing the parishes of Backford, Ple-monstall, Thornton-le-Moors, Ince, St. Peter, St. Brid-get, St. Martin, and Holy Trinity, the extra-parochial tracts of Stanlow, Little St. John, and Cathedral Fre-cincts, and parts of the parishes of Stoke, Shotwick, St. cinets, and parts of the parents of close, showers, set. Oswald, and St. Mary-on-the-Hill. Acres, 100,793. Poor-rates, including Chester, £23,104. Pop. in 1841, 49,097; in 1861, 53,501. Houses, 11,232. Marriages, 633; bitths, 1,674,—of which 141 were illegitimate; deaths, 1,238,—of which 876 were at ages under 5 years, add 30 at ages above 55. Marriages in the tarm years and 30 at ages above 55. Marriages in the tarm years. and 30 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years, and 30 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 5,423; births, 16,820; deaths, 12,374. The places of worship in 1851 were 47 of the Church of Engplaces of worship in 1881 were 47 of the Church of England, with 18,120 sittings; 1 of the Presbyterian church in England, with 180 s.; 6 of Independents, with 160 s.; 2 of Baptists, with 325 s.; 2 of Quakers, with 090 s.; 2 of Unitarians, with 250 s.; 21 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,46 s.; 12 of New Connexion Methodists, with 2,862 s.; 20 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,288 s.; 1 of the Wesleyan Association, with 75 s.; 8 of Calvinisti: Methodists, with 1,163 s.; 3 undefined, with 310 s.; 1 of Roman Catbolies, with 138 s.; and 1 of Latterday Saints, with 250 attendants. The schools were 66 published. lie day schools, with 5,208 scholars; 91 private day schools, with 2,143 s.; and 76 Sunday schools, with 5,928 s. The work-house is in Holy Trinity parish.

BOUGHTON-GREEN. See BOUGHTON, Brixworth,

Northampton.

BOUGHTON-HILL See BOUGHTON-UNDER BLEAN. BOUGHTON-KETTERING. See BOUGHTON, Weekley, Northampton

BOUGHTON-LEES. See BOUGHTON-ALUPH. BOUGHTON - MALHERBE, a parish in Holling-bourne district, Kent; on the verge of the Weald, 5 miles NNW of Pluckley r. station, and 10 ESE of Maidstone. Post-town, Lenham, under Maidstone. Acres, 2,699. Real property, £2,945. Pop., 408. Houses, 79. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged, in the time of Henry III., to the Malherbe family; passed to the Wottons, of whom was Sir Henry Wotton, whose life was written by Isaac Walton; passed again to Sir Horace Mann, the correspondent of Wal-pole; and belongs now to the heirs of Ford Co.nw.dis. The manor-house bears the name of Bouditon Place; was built by Sir Edward Wotton in the time of Henry VIII., and visited by Queen Elimbeth; and is now a farm-house, retaining some of the ancient rooms. The materials of it are said to have been Collarde Castle. the baronial fortables of the Peyferers, some traces of the baronial Dramos of the church. Chilstone Park is the seat of J. S. Danglas, E.q. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £176.* Patrons, the seat of 3. 8. Dazzis, req. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Cinterbury. Value, £176. Pations, the Heirs of Earl Cornwallis. The church is decoursed Energiesh, in good condition. There are a Bapti t chapel, a Irsh, in good condition. There are a Bapti t chapel, a national school, and charities 48.

BOUGHFOON MONCHELSEA, a purish in Maidstene district, Kenth rear the Weald, 4 unit a S by E of Maidstone, and 44 NW of Staplehurst r. station. It has a post-office unit r Staplehurst. Acres, 2,206. Real property, 26,106. Pop., 1,190. Houses, 231. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged an identity to the Monchelseas of Swanscombe. Kentish rag is extensively worked. Remains of a hymna were found here, in a fissure, by the late Dr. Buckland. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £395.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Rochester. The church is very good. There are a n. school, and charities £9.

BOUGHTON-PLACE. See BOUGHTON-MALHERBE.

BOUGHTON (SPITTLE), an extra-parochial tract, in Great Boughton district, Cheshire; contiguous to St.

Great Boughton district, Cheshire; contiguous to St. John Baptist parish within Chester city.

BOUGHTON-UNDER-BLEAN, a village, a parish, and a hundred in Faversham district, Kent. The village stands on the edge of Blean forest, 3½ miles SE of Faversham r. station; and has a post-office, ‡ of the name of Broughton, under Faversham, and a fair on the Monday of the control of the after 29 June.—The parish comprises 2,353 acres. Real property, £8,904. Pop., 1,624. Honses, 323. The property is subdivided. Nash Court, then held by the property is subdivided. Nash Court, then held by the Hawkinses, who were Roman Catholics, was demolished by a mob in 1715, and rebuilt in 1766. Boughton House is the seat of the Laggs. Boughton Hill, adjacent to the village, commands an extensive and brilliant view. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £300.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church comprises nave, aisle, three chancels, and a tower. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £74,-The hundred is in the lathe of Scrav; and comprises four parishes. Acres, 11,354. Pop., 2,930. 581. Houses.

BOULBY, a hamlet in Easington parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 9 miles E of Guisborough. Extensive alum-works have been in operation here since 1615. An old edifice, now a farm-house, was the seat of the Converses.

BOULDON, a township in Hollgate parish, Salop; 74 miles NNE of Ludlow. Pop., 64. Honses, 13 BOULEY BAY, a bay on the NE side of Jersey; immediately W of Rozel tower, and 34 miles SSW of the Dironilles. It has a half-moon outline; and measures 11 mile across the entrance.

13 mile across the entrance.

BOULGF, a parish in Woodbridge district, Suffolk; 3 miles NNW of Woodbridge r. station. Post-town, Bredfield, under Woodbridge. Acres, 545. Real property, £962. Pop., 231. Houses, 48. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory, united with the statement of Debach, in the disease of Newton When. the rectory of Debach, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £300.* Patron, H. W. Field, Esq. The church is very

BOULMER AND SEATON-HOUSE, a township in Long Houghton parish, Northumberland; on the coast, 51 miles E of Alnwick. Acres, 391. Pop., 156. Houses, 27. The coast is diversified with Boulmer point and Boulmer bay; and the inhabitants are chiefly fisher-

BOULSDON AND KILLCOTT, a tything in Newent parish, Gloucestershire; 9 miles NW of Gloucester. Real property, £2,341. Pop., 634. Houses, 137. BOULSTON, or BULSTON, a parish in Haverfordwest district, Pembroke; on the river Cleddau, 4 miles SE by Sef Haverfordwest, a tythick Part town Busyford.

S of Haverfordwest r. station. Post-town, Haverfordwest. Acres, 1,822; of which 160 are water. Real pronest. Acres, 1,022; of which 100 are water. Real property, £948. Pop., £91. Houses, 54. The property is divided among a few. The manor belongs to R. J. Ackland, Esq. The living is a donative in the diocese of St. Davids. Value, £25. Patron, R. J. Ackland, Esq. The church contains monuments of the Wogans; and is need. and is good.

BOULSTONE, or BOLSTONE, a parish in the district and county of Hereford; adjacent to the Monmouth and Hereford railway, and to the river Wye, 14 mile S by W of Holme-Lacy r. station, and 55 SSE of Hereford. of Holme-Lacy r. station, and 55 SSE of Hereford.
Post-town, Holme-Lacy, under Hereford. Acres, 657.
Real property, £812. Pop., 61. Houses, 13. The property is not much divided. The manner belongs Sir E. F. Stanhope, Brit. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicatage of Holme-Lacy, in the diocess of Hereford. The church has a square tower, and is good.

BOULSWORTH, a mountain on the mutual border of Lancashire and Yorkshire; part of the backbone of England, 51 miles ENE of Burnley. Its altitude is 1,689 feet

BOULTHAM, a parish in the district and county of Lincoln; on the river Witham, the Roman road, and the Midland railway, 2 miles SSW of Lincoln. Postthe Andland railway, 2 miles SSW of Lincoln. Postown, Lincoln. Acres, 1,210. Real property, £2,348. Pop., 95. Houses, 20. The property is divided among a few. Boutham Hall is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £126. Patron, R. Ellison, Esq. The church is good.

BOULTON, a township-chapelry in St. Peter parish,

Derbyshire; on the Decoy.

Post-town, Derby. Acres, 1,210. Ratea post11,500. Pop., 224. Houses, 45. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £120. Patrons, the Landholders.

Norman, and in good condition. The church is partly Normau, and in good condition.
BOUNDS-GREEN, a locality in Middlesex; adjacent to the New river and to the Great Northern railway, 1 mile SE of Colney Hatch r. station. It has a post-office under Colney Hatch, London, N.

BOUNTISBOROUGH, a hundred in Winchester division, Hants. It contains Godsfield, Itchin-Abbas, and Itchin - Stoke parishes. Acres, 5,181. Pop., 518. Houses, 107.

BOURG (I.E), a village in St. Clement parish, Jersey.

BOURIDGE. See BOVERIDGE.

BOURINGE. See EOVERINGE.
BOURN, a parish in Caxton district, Cambridge; on an affluent of the river Cara, 2 miles SSE of Caxton, and 34 WNW of Lord's Fridger, station. It has a post-office under Royston. Acres, 4,055. Real property, £4,981. Pop., $83. Houses, 187. The property is divided among a few. Bonn Hall is the seat of Earl Delawarr. The manor belonged to Morcar, the Saxon; and passed to the Picots; and a castle on it was destroyed in the civil wars of the time of Henry III. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Cly. Value, £161.* l'atron. civil wars of the time of Henry 111. The hving is a vicerage in the diocess of Uly. Value, £161.* Patron, Christ's College, Cambridge. Charities, £42. BOURN, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Lincoln. The town stands on a flat tract, adjacent to the feus, at the terminus of the Bourn and Essendine railway, 81 miles S by E of Falkingham. A large spring, the source of a rivulet, adjoins it; and two canal cuts for barges go from it to Boston and the river A Roman pavement and other remains have been found, and are thought to indicate that the place was edificed by the Romans. A strong castle was built in the Saxon times; made long and vigorous resistance to William the Conqueror; and was given by William Rufus to Walter Fitzgilbert; but has disappeared. Augustinian abbey was founded in 1138 by Baldwin Fitzgilbert; but is known now only by its site. The town suffered severely by fire in 1605 and 1637; and now consists chiefly of one street about 11 mile long. Bull Inn is an edifice said to have been built by William, Lord Burleigh. The Red Hall is a brick structure, engirt partly by a moras, partly by a deep most; long held by the Digby family; and latterly used as a ladies boarding-school. The town-hall, in the market-place, is a fine cliffee of 1821, built at a cost of £3,600; and includes court-rooms. The parish church is partly Norman; consists of nave, side aisles, a short south transept, and a lofty chancel; had formerly two large west are Independent and Wesleyan chapels, a free school, two almshouses, other charities, and a workhouse. The charities have an annual value of £813; and the work-house was errected at a cost of £6,700. The town has a head post-office twobanking offices, and two chief inns; and is a seat of quarter and petty sessions, and a polling place. A weekly market is held on Thursday; and fairs on 7 March, 10 May, 30 Sept., and 29 Oct. Wool-stapling, tanning, and malting are carried on. The great Lord Eurleigh and the notorious Dr. Dodd, consider for for executed for forgery, were natives. Pop., 3,066. Houses, 616.

The parish includes also the hamlets of Dyke, Cawthorpe, Dyke-Fen, Tongue-End, and Bourn North and South Fens. Acres, 9,352. Real property, £24,221. Pop., 3,720. Houses, 761. The property is not much divided. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £320.* Patrons, the Executors of the late I. I. Oster, Esq.—The sub-district comprises the particles of Bourn, Hacconby, Morton, Edenham, Withamonttee-Hill, Carlby, and Thurlby. Acres, 33,106. Php. 7,355. Houses, 1,509.—The district comprehends also the sub-district of Deeping, containing the parishes of Beston, Langtoft, Market-Deeping, and Deeping-St. Jumes, and the extra-parochial tract of Deeping-Feu: the sub-district of Corby, containing the parishes of Corby, Irnham, Careby, Little Bytham, Castle-Bytham, Creeton, Swayfield, and Swinstead; and the sub-district Creeron, Swayfield, and Swinstead; and the sub-district flathckly, containing the parishes of Aslackly, Kirk-br-Underwood, Falkingham, Laughton, Horbling, Billingborough, Semperingham, Dowsby, Rippingale, and Dunsby. Acres of the district, 106,934. Poor-rates in 1866, 29,700. Pop. in 1861, 21,293. Houses, 4,400 Marriages in 1865, 145; births, 614,—of which 49 were illegimate; deaths, 318,—of which 95 were at ages under 5 years and 15 at ages have 85 years. Marriages in the 5 years, and 15 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,540; births, 7,149; deaths, 4,049. The places of worship in 1851 were 29 of the Church of England, with 9,510 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 450 s.: 6 of Bartists, with 1,034 s.; 16 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,506 s.; 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 100 s.; 2 of Weslevan Reformers, with 208 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 70 s.; 1 undefined, with 150 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 400 s. The schools were 26 1 While day schools, with 1,443 scholars; 50 private day schools, with 1,071 s.; 52 Sunday schools, with 3,249 s.; schools, with 1,0/1 s., 52 Sunday schools, with 3,249 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 24 s.

EOURN AND ESSENDINE RAILWAY, a railway in Lincoln; 64 miles long, east-north-eastward from the Essendine station of the Great Northern railway to the town of Bourn. It was opened in May 1869. A new local nurselens it to Scalling.

brench now prolongs it to Spalding. BOURNE, a hamlet in Piddletown parish, Dorset; 51 miles NE of Dorchester. Sail-cloth is manufactured.

FIGS N. 67 DETERMINENT SAMPLING AS A STATE OF THE STATE O 2 miles ESE of Berkhampstead. It has a church, an Independent chapel, and an industrial school. BOURNEMOUTH, a watering-place in Christchurch patish, and two chapeleies in Christehnreh and Holdenhurst parishes, Hants. The watering-place stands at the mouth of the Bourne rivulet, on Poole-bay, 4 miles WSW of Christchurch r. station, and 5 E of Poole. It has a head post-office; and public conveyances run to it from Poole and Christchurch. It is of recent origin; has no street; and includes villas, lodging-houses, fine hotels, a sanatorium, baths, a small infirmary of 1869, two churches, three dissenting chapels, and a library and reading-room. The sanatorium is an Italian edifice, with accommodation for 40 patients. St. Peter's church was built in 1814; is in the early decorated style; and was altered and greatly enlarged in 1864. The churchyard contains the remains of Godwin, the novelist, Mrs. Godwin, better known as Mary Wolstonecraft, author of "A Vindication of the Rights of Woman,"-and Mary Wolstonecraft Shelley, widow of the poet Shelley. leach is one of the best in England; the environs comfrise chires, woods, open heaths, and veriety of walks and drives; and the views, inland, and to Purbeck and the like of Wight, are very fine. A local newspaper is published every Saturday. The chapelries were constitated in 1845 and 1867. Pop., 1,940 and 350. The Evings are vicarages in the diocese of Winchester. Value, 260° and 4150. Patrons, Sir G. Gervis, Bart., and BOURNE (RIVER), a stream of Dorset and Hants. It rises 2 notes SW of Kingston; and runs 4 notes south-eastward to Poole bay at Dournemouth.

HOUTINE (Riven), a stream of Warvick. It rises 2 miles SW of Atherstone; and runs 8 miles west-south-westward to the Blythe, in the vicinity of Coleshill.

BOURNE (RIVER), a stream of Hauts and Wilts.

rises near Easten in Wilts; goes 10 miles southward, past Collingbourn, and through the border of Wills, to Park House then proceeds 10 miles south-westward, past Boscombe, Porton, and the Winterbournes, to the Avon below Salisbury.

BOURNE-ST. MARY, a tything and a parish in Whitchurch district, Hants. The tything lies near the Southwestern railway, 3 miles NW of Whitchurch; and has a post-office under Andover. Pop., 384. The parish nns a post-onne under Andover. Pop., 553. The patish includes also the tythings of Binley, Egbury, Stoke, Swampton, Jamaica, and Week. Acres, 7,678. Real property, £5,380. Pop., 1,188. Houses, 282. The property in nucl. subdivi led. The living is a p. euracy, annexed to the vicarage of Hurstbonrne-Priors, in the diocese of The church is good. Winchester.

Winchester. Inchments good.
BOURNE (WEST). See WESTBOURNE.
BOURN-MOOR, a township in Houghton-le-Spring, parish, Durham; 2 miles N of Houghton-le-Spring, Acres, 500. Pop., 973. Houses, 193. Ilcre are some brine springs

BOURN NORTH AND SOUTH FENS. See BOURN. Lincoln.

BOURNS (THE), a tract in the valley of the Avon, S of Amesbury, in Wilts.

BOURTON, a tything in Shrivenham parish, Berks; on the Wilts and Berks canal, and on the Great Western railway, about a mile from Shrivenham station. Real property, £2,545. Pop., 328. Houses, 72. A church was built here in 1861, in the geometric style. There are also a Baptist chapel, a neat free school, and six alms-houses.

BOURTON, a hamlet in Buckingham parish, within Buckingham borough, I mile E of the town. Acres, 1,360. Real property, £2,157. Pop., 44. Houses, 9. BOURTON, a chapelry in Gillingham parish, Dorset; on the verge of the county, £2 miles SW of Mere, and 3.

NNW of Gillingham r. station. It has a post-office under Eath. Acres, 828. Real property, with Silton, £5,415. Pop., 921. Houses, 210. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocess of Salisbury. Value, £90. Patrons, Trustees. The church is good.

BOULTON, a township in Much-Wenlock parish, Salop; 34 miles SSW of Wenlock. Pop., 181.

BOURTON, a tything in Bishops-Canning parish, Wilts; 31 miles NE of Devizes. Real property, with BOURTON, a railway station in Somerset; on the Bristol and Exeter railway, at Flaxbourton, 5½ miles WSW of Bristol.

BOURTON, Warwick. 'See Bourton-upon-Duns-

BOURTON (BLACK). See BLACKBOURTON. BOURTON (FLAX). See FLAXBOURTON. BOURTON (GREAT and LITTLE), a chapelry in Cropredy parish, Oxford, 3 miles N of Banbury, Acres, 1,380. Real property, £4,655. For., 560. Houses, 124. The living is annexed to Cropredy. The church was built in 1863. There are two dissenting chapels.

ROURTONHOLD, a hamlet in the parish and borough of Buckingham. Real property, £1,228. Pop., 568.

Houses, 136,

BOURTON-ON-THE-HILL, a village and a parish in Shipston-on-Stour district, Gloucester. The village stands on the side of a hill, commanding a delightful prospect, 2½ miles W of Moreton r. station, and 4½ X by W of Stow-on-the-Wold; and has a post-office under Moretonin-the-Marsh.-The parish comprises 2,960 acres. Real ni-the-sharsh.—The parish comprises 2,900 acres. Reproperty, £3,673. Pop., 506. Houses, 123. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Moreton-in-the-Marsh, in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £675.* Padioces of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £675.* Padioces of Gloucester and Bristol. tron, Lord Redeshile. The church is good; and there are school charities £112.

BOURTON-ON-THE-WATER, a village and a parish in Stow-on-the-Wold district, Gloucester. The village stude on the free Windrush, and on the Fosse way, at the terminus of the Bourton-on-the-Water railway, 4 miles SSW of Stow-on-the-Wold; and has a post-office!

under Moreton-in-the-Marsh. The parish comprises 2,282 acres. Real property, £6,188. Pop., 1,011. Houses, 234. The property is much subdivided. Many Roman antiquities, one of them a curious gold signer, Many have been found in the vicinity of the village; and there was formerly a paved aqueduct. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacies of Clapton and Lower Slaughter, in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £475.* Patron, Wadham College, Oxford. The church is Grecian, and has a lofty tower, surmounted by a cupola. There are a Buptist chapel and two public schools.
BOURTON-ON-THE-WATER RAILWAY, a railway in Oxford and Gloucester; 64 miles long, westward, from the Chipping Norton junction of the West Midland rail-way to the village of Bourton-on-the-Water. It was authorized in June 1860, and opened in March 1862. BOURTON-UPON-DUNSMOOR, a parish in Rugby district, Warwick; on the river Leam, and on the Leamington and Rugby railway, I mile SSE of Birdingbury station, and 5½ SW by W of Rugby. It includes the hamlet of Draycott; and has a post-office, of the name of Bourton, under Rugby. Acres, 2,520. Real property, 23,186. Pop., 382. Houses, 77. The property is divided among a few. Bourton Hall is the seat of B. Shuckburgh, Esq. The parish is a meet for the North War-wick hounds. The living is a rectory in the diagonal wick hounds. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £350. Patron, B. Shuckburgh, Esq.

Woreester. Value, £350. Patron, B. Snuckburgh, Esq. The church was repaired in 1859. Charities, £19. BOUT, a village in Eskdale, Cumberland; 7 miles ENE of Ravenglass. It has an inn, and is in the vicinity of waterfalls and other attractions on the way up Eskdale to the mountain passes into Wastdale-Head, Langdale, and Duddon vale.

BOUTHROP. Sec LEACH-MARTIN (EAST)

BOVENEY, a chapelry in Burnham parish, Bucks; on the River Thames, near the Great Western railway, 2 miles W of Eton. Post-town, Dorney, under Windsor. Acres, 450. Each property, 2657. Pup., 152. Houses, 31. The property is divided among a few. The hring is a p. curracy, annexed to the vicarage of Burnham, in the diocese of Oxford. The church is good.

BOVENHILL, a haulet in Tettenhall parish, Staf-ford; 1 mile NW of Wolvenhampton. Pop., 17. BOVERIDGE, or BOURIDGE, a tything in Cranborne parish, Dorset; 14 mile NE by N of Cranborne. Pop., 174. It has a chapel-of-case, and an almshouse; and is a curacy with Cranborne. Boveridge House is the sent of the Brounckers.

BOVERTON, a hamlet in Lantwit-Major parish, Glamorgan; on the Julian way, 4½ miles S of Cowbridge. It has a post-office under Cowbridge. It disputes with other places the claim of being the Roman Bovium; and it has traces of a baronial fortalice which belonged first to the lords of Cardiff, then to the family of Seys

BOVEY BROOK, or WREY RIVER, a stream of Devon. It rises in Dartmoor forest, 6 miles SW of Moreton-Hampstead; and runs about 18 miles, first north-east-ward to the vicinity of Moreton, next south-eastward to the Teign, 4 miles SW of Chudleigh. It traverses much romantic scenery; and is notable for trouting.

BOVEY-HEATHFIELD. See BOVEY (SOUTH). BOVEY (Norvin), a parish in Newton-Abbot district, Devon; on the Bovey brook, on the E Border of Dart-moon, near the Moreton-Hampsteal railway, 1½ mile SW of Moreton-Hampstead. Post-town, Moreton-Hampstead, under Exeter. Acres, 5,654. Beal property, 22,904. Pop., 513. Houses, 103. The property is subdivided. The ancient lords of the manor had the power of inflicting capital punishment. Most of the surface is thickly strewn with fragments of rock. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £263.* Patron, the Earl of Devon. The church is very old, but good. BOVEY (South), or Bovey-Tracer, a village and a parish in Newton-Abbot district, Devon. The village stands on Bovey brook, and on the Moreton-Hampstead railway, 5½ miles NW of Newton; and has a post-office2 under Newton-Abbot, and a r. station with telegraph. It was formerly a market-town; and still has fairs on Easter Monday, Holy Thursday, and the first Thursday of July and Nov. Part of an ancient cross stands in an open space in it; and an aucient wayside mo-nument is built into one of its houses. Cromwell made a night attack on a part of Lord Wentworth's brigade here, in 1646; and captured 400 troopers and 7 standards. The parish comprises 7,262 acres. Real property, £8,229. Pop., 2,080. Houses, 413. The property is much sub-divided. The manor belonged anciently to the Traceys. one of whom, Sir William Traccy, was the leader in the assassination of Thomas à Becket; and belongs now to the Earl of Devon. A reach of valley adjacent to the village bears the name of Bovey-Heathfield; has a low flat bottom, seeming to have been once a lake; and contains deposits of porcelain elay, and beds of lignite, called Bovey coal. The clay is worked in an interesting nottery close to the village; and the lignite is used as fuel at the pottery, in hune-kilns, and by the poor. A great ridge of hills flanks the valley, and culminate picturesquely in the Bottor rock. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £450.* Patron, the Crown. The church is perpendicular English, with a square tower; and was renovated in 1859. A chapelof-ease, a beautiful structure, stands adjacent to the pot-tery. There are chapels for Baptists and Wesleyans, and a free school. The Devou house of mercy was erected here in 1868; includes a lofty chapel, in the first pointed style; and has accommodation for seventy-two inmates and eight sisters

BOVEY-TRACEY. See BOVEY (SOUTH).

BOVINGDON, a parish in Hemel-Hempstead district. Herts; on the verge of the county, near the Northwestern railway and the Grand Junction canal, 21 miles SW of Boxmoor r. station, and 31 SSE of Berkhampstead. SW of Boxmoor r. station, and of Solid Boxmoor R. Acres, It has a post-office under Hemel-Hempstead. Acres, 63 087 Pon. 1.155. Houses, 3,958. Real property, £6,087. Pop. 1,155. Houses, 241. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, not reported. Patron, the Hou. G. D. Ryder. The church is good; and there are a chapel-of-case, two Independent chapels, a Wesleyan chapel, three industrial schools, and charities £14.

BOVISAND, a small bay in Devon; on the E side of Plymouth sound, opposite the Breakwater, 3 miles SSE of Plymouth. Here is a coast-guard station, a granite battery, and a great water-reservoir for ships BOVIUM. See BANGOR-IS-Y-COED and BOVERTON. BOW, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Crediton, Devon. The village stands on the slope of a hill, near the Okchampton railway, 71 miles W by N of Crediton; and has a post-office; of Bow, North Devon, of Crediton; and has a post-onice; or row, North Devon, and a r. station. It was formerly a market-town; and it still has fairs on Holy Thursday and 22 Nov. The parish is called also Nymet-Tracey. Acres, 2,740. Real property, £3,466. Fop., 904. Houses, 205. The manor belonged anciently to the Traceys. Collation House and Gratton House, now the seats of the Sanderses and the Wrefards, are fine modern mansions. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Broad-Nymet, in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £533. Patron, F. Vandermeulen, Esq. The church stands about a mile from the village, and has a low square tower. There are an In-dependent chapel and a free school. The sub-district comprises eight parishes. Acres, 19,402. Pop., 3,516.

comprises eight passess.

Houses, 736.

EOW, a parish and a sub-district in Poplar district,
Middlesex. The parish is called also Stratford-le-liver, Middlesex. North Lond on and lies on the river Lea, and on the North London and Eastern Counties milways, within Tower Hamlets borough, in the castern suburbs of London, 4 miles ENE of St. Pauls; includes the village of Stratford, the bumlet of Old Ford, and part of Victoria Park; and has a station of Old Ford, and part of Audoria Park; and has a station of Bow on the North London railway, a station of Stratferd on the Eastern Counties railway, and post-odiess of Bow; Bow-Road; and Old Ford, under London E. Acres, 809. Read property, £78,400. Pop., in 1841, 4,626; in 1861, 14,569. Houses, 1,848. The name Bow alludes to a bow-shaped, three-arched bridge arous 1861, 11,124 for Weight shaped and flammed and a large and the state of the stat the Lea, built by Matilda, the queen of Henry L. and not taken down till 1834; and the name Stratford alludes to a ford in the Lea, on the line of the Roman road or "stratum" to Layton. A new bridge, in lieu of the sucient one, with one oblique arch of 70 feet, was creeted in 1539, at a cost of £11,000. Bow was once famous for tream and cakes; it also carried on an extensive manufacture of porcelain; and it had a notable annual fair which became so great a nuisance, that it was suppressed by parliament. It now has dye-houses, large breweries, and the East London waterworks; and takes a character from the proximity of the India docks. The parish was formerly a chapelry to Stepney, and became parcellal in 1717. The living is a rectory in the diocese of London. Value, £349.* Patron, the Bishop of London. The church was built in the time of Henry II; presents a curious mixture of Norman and early English; and has a low tower and an eight-sided corner turret. arage of Old Ford is a separate benefice. A Baptist chapel, in the Byzantine style, at a cost of nearly £7,000, was built in 1867. There are other dissenting chapels, two endowed schools with £27 and £254, and charities £170. -The sub-district contains also the parish of Broinley-St. Leonard. Pop., 35,667.

BOW AND ARROW CASTLE, a rude pentagonal tower on the coast of Dorset; on a sca-girt crag 300 feet high, 15 mile NNE of Portland-Bill. It is said to have been built by William Rufus; and it was taken, in 1142, by the Earl of Gloucester for the Empress Matilda. bridge connects it with the mainland, and gives force to a charming local view.

BOWBANK, a hamlet in Lunedale township, Romald-Kirk parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 10 miles WNW of Barnard Castle.

BOW-BEECH, a locality 4 miles from Eden-Bridge, on the W border of Kent; with a post-office under Eden-

BOW-BRICKHILL. See BRICKHILL (Bow).

BOWBRIDGE, a hamlet in Low Abbotside township, N. R. Yorkshire; 1 mile W of Askrigg.

BOWBRIDGE, a hamlet in Strond parish, Gloncester; on the Thames and Severn canal, I mile from Stroud. It Has a post-office under Stroud.

BOW-BROOK, an affluent of the river Cale, tracing part of the boundary between Dorset and Somerset.

BOWCOMBE, a hamlet in Carisbrooke parish, Isle of Wight; 2½ miles SW of Newport. Pop., 93. Bowcombo vale, around it, formerly displayed much beauty, but has suffered by destruction of its wood. Bowcomba down on the W, shows traces of a Roman road; commands a rich and extensive view; and was ascended in 1618, for sake of its prospect, by Charles I, when Prince of Wales

BOW-COMMON, a chapelry in the parishes of Limehouse, Stepney, Bromley-St. Leonard, and All-Saints-Poplar, Middlesex; on the Blackwall Extension raily by Poplar, Middlesex; on the Blackwall Extension raily ay, within Tower Hamlets berough, in the castern sub_abs of London, 3 miles E by N of St. Pauls. It was constituted in 1858. Fon, 2,977. Houses, 272. The living is a vicatage in the dioces of London. Value, £150.*
Perron, the Rev. A. B. Cotton.
ROWDEN, Cheshire. See Bowdon.
HOWDEN, Cheshire. See Bowdon.
HOWDEN, Devon. See Berrynamor.
BOWDEN, EDGE, a bownship in Chapel-Le-Frith pa114h, Deeby; I mile NE of Chapel. Real property, 24,2390. Fon, 1,297. Houses, 241. Bowden Hall an tish, Deeley; I mile NE of Chapel. Real property, 24,299. Pop., 1,297. Houses, 241. Bowden Hall, an 29,230. Top, 1,257. Houses, 241. Howen man, an old seat here, is now a fram-house. BOWDEN (GENT), or BOWDEN-MAGNA, a village and a parish in Mark-el-Hathorough district, Leicester. The village stands on the Union canal, the river Welland, The village stands on the Union canal, the river Welland, and the Northwestern railway, I mile NE of Market-Barborough; and bas a post-acilier, of the name of Great Bowden, nather Rugby. "The parish includes al. a the team and chapetry of Market-Harbarough, Aeres, 5, 120. Real property; $25,63. Pep. 3, 697. Russes, 777. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicaruse in the director subdivided. The living is a vicaruse in the director of Peterborough. Value, £85. ration, Christ's Chim the College, Oxfont. The church is good; and there are charities £47. The p. curacy of Macket Harbarough is a semante benefic. Market Harborough is a separate benefice.

BOWDEN-IIILL, a chapelry in Laycock purish, Wilts; 34 miles SSE of Chippenhrum. It was constituted in 1863. Pop., about 490. Living, a vicarage.

BOWDEN (LITTLE), or Bowden-Pauva, a parish in Market-Harborough district and county of Northampton; I mile S of Market-Harborough. It includes the hamlet of Little Oxenden; and its post-town is Market-Harborough, under Lugdy, Acres, 1,670. Real property, 25,492. Pop., 483. Houses, 105. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, 2490.* Fetron, the Rev. T. W. Barlow. The church is good; and there are chatities £76

BOWDEN-MAGNA. See Bowden (Great).
BOWDEN-PARVA. See Bowden (Little).
BOWDER-STONE. See Borrowdale, Cumberland. BOWDON, or Lowden, a village, a township, and a parish in Altrincham district, Cheshire. The village stands on the Roman road from Kinderton, adjacent to the Manchester, Knutsford, and Northwich railway, near the river Bollin, I of a mile SW of Altrincham; and it has a station on the railway, with refreshment rooms and telegraph, and a post-office under Manchester. It enjoys fine air and charming environs; and is a favourite resort of nuralizing parties from Manchester.—The township includes the village, and comprises 828 acres. Real property, £14,322. Pop., 1,827. Houses, 301.— Heat property, 214,522. Pop. 1,827. Houses, 301.—
The parish contains also the townships of Altrincham, Baguley, Timperley, Hale, Ashley, Dunham Massey, Carrington, Partington, and Bollington. Acres, 17,971.
Real property, 259,900. Pop. 11,822. Houses, 2,779.
The property is not much divided. The manor bebroad to the pricers, Eighentees. longed to the priory of Birkenhead; and was given, by Henry VIII., to the see of Chester. Dunham Park is Henry VIII., to the see of Chester. Dunham Park is the seat of the Earl of Stamford, and has fine grounds. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Chester. Value, £460.* Patron, the Bishop of Chester. The church stands on elevated ground; was rebuilt after the model of the previous one, in the later English style, in 1850, at a cost of about £12,000; and comprises nave, chancel, aisles, transepts, chapel, and vestry, with a tower. The p. curacy of St. John is a separate charge, constituted in 1866. Patron, the Bishop of C. The church was completed in 1867, at a cost of £5,350; and is in the early English style, and craciform. The and is in the early English style, and Craculoria. The chapelries of Altrincham, Carrington, Danham-Massey, Ringway, and Timperley, are septrate bouchies. There are numerous dissenting-chapels, numerous public schools, and charities £114.

BOWENT RIVER, or COLLEGE BURN, a stream of Northumberland. It rises among the Central Cheviots, adjacent to the boundary with Scotland; and inns 7 miles northward to the river Glen, in the vicinity of Kirk-Newton. It is rich in trout and pebbles.

BOWER-ASHTON, a bamlet in Long Ashton parish, Somerset; 24 miles SW of Bristol. It has a post-office

under Bristol

BOWER-CHALK, a parish in Wilton district, Wilts; near Crauborne Chase, 5 miles S of Dinton r. station, and 71 SW of Wilton. Post-town, Broad-Chalk, under and 7.8 W of Millor. Posteron, please har, under Salisbury. Acres, 2,956. Real property, with Broad-Chalk, £9,812. Pop., 496. Howes, 104. The pro-perty is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, perty is divisor among a text. The titing is a vibringe, annexed to the vicence of Broad-Chalk, in the discoss of Salishery. The church is tol-rable.

BOWEIDALE, a gloen 2 miles long, descending to the middle of the W sale of West-water in Cumberland.

BOWER (East and West), two haulets in Bridgewater parish, Somerset.

BOWER-HINTON-WITH-HURST, a Lambet in Marteck parish, Some:set; 2 miles NE of South Pether-

n. Pop., 688. BOWLEMAN'S NOSE, an isolated rock 31 miles SW of Moreton-Han p-tead, in Devia. It rises fully 50 feet high, and looks like a colossal statue of a man.

BOWELIS diffoling a parish in Eillericay district, Essex; on the Tilbury and Southend railway, 14 mile E of Fitsea station, and 7 SE of Eillericay. It includes part of Canvey island; and has a post-office under Chelinsford. Acres, 2,603. Real property, £3,768.

Pop., 259. Houses, 48. The property is divided among a few. Bowers Hall is the seat of Mrs. Curtis. Much of the land is marshy. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £564.* Patron, the Rev. Horaco Roberts. The church is tolerable.

BOWES, a village, a township, and a parish in the district of Teesdale, and N. R. Yorkshire. The village stands on the river Greta, and on the Roman road to Brough, adjacent to the South Durham and Lancashire Union railway, 4 miles SW of Barnard-Castle; and has a station on the railway, a post-office under Darlington. and an inn. It consists chiefly of one long street; and formerly was a market-town. The Roman station of Lavatra occupied its site; and many Roman inscriptions have been found here, one of them narrating the repara-tion of a bath for the first Thracian cohort.—The township includes also the hamlets of Bowes-Cross, Gallow-Hill, Low-Field, Mellwater, Sleightholme, Stoney-Keld, Applegarth-Forest, and part of Tan-Hill. Acres, 16,090. Real property, £7,405. Pop., 769. Houses, 154.—The parish contains also the township of Gillmonby. Acres, 18,334. Real property, £8,899. Pop. 849. Houses Real property, £8,590. Pop., 849. Houses, 169. The property is much subdivided. Eowes House is the seat of T. Harrison, Esp. A quadrangular tower, 75 feet by 60, and about 53 feet high, part of a castle, built by Allan Niger, first Norman Earl of kielmond, stands on the crown of a hill, defended by a deep ditch; and is supposed to have been constructed of materials taken from the Roman station. A Roman aqueduct, formed for bringing water nearly 2 miles to the Roman baths at the station, was recently discovered. A natural bridge in limestone rock 16 feet in span, crosses the Greta bears the name of God's bridge, and is occasionally used as carriage road. Much of the parish consists of the dreary mountainous tract of Stanemoor. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £90. Patron, T. Harrison, Esq. The church is an humble ancient building, partly Norman; and the churchyard contains the grave and monument of the two lovers commemorated in Mallet's pathetic ballad of "Edwin and Emma." A cheap boarding school at Bowes, now extinct, is said to have been the Dothaboys Hall of Dickens' "Nicholas Nickleby." A grammar school, founded in 1693, has an endowed income of £261; other charities. £5.

BOWES CROSS, a hamlet in Bowes parish, 13 mile E of Bowes village, N. R. Yorkshire.

BOW-FELL, a mountain on the mutual border of Cumberland and Westinoreland; at the head of Borrowdale, Eskdale, and Langdale, 8 miles WNW of Ambleside. It has an altitude of 2,914 feet above the level of the sea; and figures grandly in the background views from Windermere and Esthwaite water.

BOW-HILL, a hill 5 miles NNW of Chichester, in Sussex. It has a height of 702 feet, and commands a fine view

BOWLAND-BRIDGE, a locality at the boundary between Westmoreland and Lancashire; on the Winster river, 62 miles WNW of Kendal.

BOWLAND-FOREST, an ancient forest on the mutual border of Lancashire and W. R. Yorkshire. It included the parishes of Mitton and Slaidburn, and part of the parish of Whalley; and belonged to the honour of Clitheroe. It contained wild deer so late as 1812; but is now enclosed and cultivated. The family of Parker, of Brownsholme Hall, have long held the office of hereditary forester.

BOWLAND-FOREST (HIGH), a township in Slaidburn parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Hodder, 10 miles NW of Clitheroe. It includes the hamlets of Dunsap and Battrix. Acres, with Low Bowland-Forest,

Durisap and Laurix. Acres, with Low bownand-corest, 19,058. Real property, £3,520. Popp., 169. Houses, 25. BOWLAND-FORLST (Low), or Whitewell, a township in Whalley parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Ho-ldvr, 7 miles WNW of Clitheree. A portion of it, including Harroy-Fold hamlet, lies detacled from the rs, meaning rantogerous names, nes octables from the rest. Real property, £3,715. Pop., 319. Houses, 59. BOWLAND (Little), a township in Whalley parish, Laneashire; under Bleasdale, 7 miles NW of Clitheroe.

Acres, with Leagram township, 7,600. Real property, with Leagram, £3,296. Pop., 123. Houses, 19.

BOWLD, a hamlet in Idbury parish, Oxford: 5! miles NNW of Burford. Pop., 59.

ROWLEES BURN, a stream of Durham; running 5 miles southward to the Tees, 21 miles above Middlet min-Teesdale.

BOWLEY, a township in Bodenham parish, Hereford:

LOWLEY, a township in Bodeniam parish, Hereford, 4\[\) miles SE of Leominster. Pop., 206.

BOWLING, a village, a township, two chapelries, and a sub-district, in the parish and district of Bradford, W. I. Yorkshire. The village stands adjacent to the Bradford and Halifax railway, 1\(\) mile SSW of Bradford, and has a station on the railway. The Bowling Iron-Works, which furnished many supplies to Government during the war in the Crimea, are adjacent. The township includes also the village of Dudley-Hill. Acres 1,545. Real property, £36,691; of which £250 are in 1,345. Real property, 250,581; or which 250 fit on mines, and 25,300 in 1001-works. Pop. in 1341, 8,918; in 1861, 14,494. Houses, 3,160. The property is divided among a few. Bowling Hall is the seat of the Sturge family; and was the head-quarters of the Earl of Newcastle, in 1642, on occasion of his victory over Fairfax on Adwalton-Moor. The inhabitants are employed variously in the iron-works, in the cloth trade, in stone quarries, and in coal and iron mines. The chapelries are Bowling-St. John, constituted in 1843, chapleries are Bowling-St. John, constituted in 1945, and Bowling-St. Stephen, constituted in 1890. Poly., 3,488 and 1,297. The living of St. J. is a vicarage, that of St. S. a p. curacy in the dio. of Ripon. Value of St. John, £175; of St. Stephen, £120.* Patron of St. J., the Vicar of Bradford; of St. S., C. Hardy, Esq. The church of St. J. is good; and that of St. S. was built in 1861, and is in the early decorated style, with tower and spire. An Independent chapel, in the Romanesque style, was built in 1865; and there are other dissenting chapels.

The sub-district is conterminate with the township. BOWLING-BANK, a locality 6 miles from Wrexham. in Denbigh; with a post-office under Wrexham.

BOWLING-GREEN, an extra-parochial tract in Guild-ford borough, Surrey

BOWLING-GRILEN HOUSE, a seat on the N side of Putney Heath, about a mile S of Putney, in Surrey. It was for some years the residence, then the death-place, of William Pitt.

BOWMONT-WATER, a stream of Northumberland. It rises among the Cheviots, within Scotland; and runs about 14 miles chiefly among the Cheviots, and about one-half in Northumberland, to a confluence with the College Burn in the vicinity of Kirk-Newton; and there forms the Glen. It is rich in landscape and in fine trout.

BOWNESS, a small peninsula adjacent to Bassen-thwaite village, on the E side of Bassenthwaite water, in Cumberland.

BOWNESS, a hamlet and a crag near the middle of the N side of Ennerdale water, in Cumberland, BOWNESS, a village, a township, and a parish in Wigton district, Cumberland. The village stands on the Solway frith, adjacent to the Port-Carlisle terminus of the Carlisle and Silloth railway, 113 miles WNW of Carlisle; and has a post-office under Carlisle. Its site was occupied by the Roman station Tunnocelum, at the western termination of Severus' wall; many of the houses are believed to have been built of materials of the wall and the station; some vestiges of the wall can still be traced; and a Roman road went hence to Maryport. The township includes also Port-Carlisle. Real property, £3,146. Pop., 484. Houses, 107. The parish contains also the townships of Fingland, Drumburgh, and Anthorn. and the covasing of ringuan, Drumourga, and Anthora. Acres, 17,947; of which 8,653 are water. Red property, £9,705. Pop., 1,321. Houses, 254. The property is nuch subdivided. The living is a rectory in the discess of Carlisle. Value, £393.* Patron, the Farl of Lous-The church is tolerable. Charities, £24.

BOWNESS, a small town in Undertailbeck township, Windermers parish, Westmoreland; on a small bay of Windormere lake, opposite Belle Isle, 13 mile SSW of Windormere village. It has a post-office; under Windor-Windermere village. It has a post-office, under Windermere, three fine hotels, a handsome grammar school built in 1836, and the parish church of Windermere,-a long, low, ancient edifice with a square tower. It has been much improved and extended since the opening of the Windermere railway in 1817; contains many new neat houses; and is a grand centre of tourists visiting the lakes. A good quay and small pier are at it; two steamers ply from it on the lake; and some trade is carried on in the expecting of slate. Pop., about 1,100.

BOWOOD, a tything in Netherbury parish, Dorset; 2 miles SW of Beaminster.

BOWOOD, a hunlet in Harpford parish, Devon.

BOWOOD, an extra-parochial liberty in Calne district, Wilts; in Powisham forest, 2 miles SW of Calne. Acres, 969. Real property, £1,013. Pcp., 106. Houses, 18. Bowood House here, the seat of the Marquis of Lansdowne, is an edifice in the Italian style, with Dorle portice, partly designed by Adams; and contains a rich collection of pictures. The grounds show much beauty, both natural and artificial; and have splendid gardens, a tine lake, and a mausoleum.

BOWSCALE, a township in Greystoke parish, Cumberland; on the river Caldew, under Souter fell, 9 miles NE of Keswick. Acres, 2,560. Pop., 32. Houses, 7. Part of the surface is mountainous, and bears the mane of Bowscale fell. An elevated lakelet here, called Bow-Wordsworth, in his "Feast of Brougham Castle," re-presents these as waiting on the "shepherd" Lord Clifford.

" Both the undying fish that swim In Bowscale tarn did wait on him; The pair were servants of his eye In their immortality.

EOW-STREET, a village in Tir-y-Mynach township, Cardigan; 4 miles N of Aberystwith. It has a station on Cardigan; 4 miles N of Aberystwith. It has a station on the A railway, and a post-office under Shrowsbury.

BOWTHORPE, a parish in Forchoe district, Norfoliz, on the river Yare, 35 miles W of Norwich. Post-town, Chiney, under Norwich. Aeres, 645. Pop., 21. Houses, 4. The living is a donative, annoxed to the vicatage of Erdham, in the discess of Norwich. The clutch was descrated in the 17th century.

POWTHORPE Veckshire. See MEXTHORPE.

BOWTHWAITE, a handet in Fountains-Earth township, Kirkby-Malzeard parish, W. R. Yorkshire; in the vicinity of Ripon.

BOW-TOR, a hill in Dartmoor, Devon; 61 miles S of Cakhampton.

BOX, a hamlet in Minchinhoupton parish, Gloucester;

La mile W of Minchinhampton.

BOX, a village and a parish in Chippenham district, ifts. The village stands on the Box river, adjacent to the Great Western rulway, 5 miles NW by W of Bath; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Chippenham. It contains numerous old houses, and an nt market cross; and is supposed to occupy the site of Roman boths. Numerous Roman relies have been found in the vicinity; and a Roman pavement and other remains are in the paisonago garden.—The perish in-cludes also the hamlets of Wadswick, Box-Quarries, A bley, Kingsdown, Walswell, and Middle-Hill, and A hiety, Kingselbury, Walsawen, and amantering, and The remor of Handbury. Acres, 4,217. Real property, 2,10,000; of which £1,425 are in quirries. Pop., 2,051. Houses, 403. The property is subdivided. The surface Houses, 403. The property is subdivided. This a picture sque assemblage of hill and dale. Box Hill has three entious quarries of bathstone, one of them subterranean. Box tunnel, in the course of the railway, is 5,195 yards long, and in some parts 800 feet below the safter parts rough and in some parts and not nellow the surface; and was formed at a cost of £500,000. The Privat is a vicinty in the discost of Gloucoster and Britoh. Value, £435. Patron, the Roy, H. D. C. S. Frotbock, The church is variously early English, do orand a superior of the standard natic asylam

BOX AND STOCKBRIDGE, a hundred in the rape of Challester, Sussex. It contains Aldingbourne parish and twelve other parishes. Acres, 21,565. Pop., 4,710.

Houses, 915.

BOXFORD, a village and e parish in Newbury dis-ict, Berks. The village stands on the river Lambourn, trict, Berks. 4] miles NW of Newbury r. station; and has a post-office under Newbury.—The parish includes Westbrook tything. Acres, 2,769. Real property, £4,841. Pop., 636. Houses, 143. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diorese of Oxford. Value, £761.* Patron, the Rev. Mr. Wells. The church is good. There are two Methodist chapels and a parochial school.

BOXFORD, a village and a parish in Gosford district, Suffolk. The village stands on an affluent of the river Stour, 41 miles WSW of Halleigh r. station, and 6 LSE of Sudbury; and has a post-office t under Colchester, and fairs on Easter Monday and 21 Dec. -The parish includes also the hamlet of Hadleigh. Acres, 1,820. Real property, £4,174. Pop., 986. Houses, 286. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £710.* Patron, the Crown. The church is good; and there are an Independent chapel, an endowed grammar-school, and charities £58. BOXGROVE, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in Westhampnett district, Sussex. The village stands 2 miles NNE of Drayton r. station, and 31 NE by E of Chichester.-The parish includes also the hamlets of Crocker-Hill and East Hampnett, the tythings of Hal-Crocker-Hill and East Hampnett, the typinings of Sca-naker and Strellington, and part of the hamlet of Sca-beach; and has a post-office under Chichester. Acre, 2 CER. Paul property. £5,249. Pop., 666. Houses, beach; and has a post-office under Chichester. Acte., 3,676. Real property, £5,249. Pop., 666. Houses, 158. The property is divided among a few. The manor was given by Henry I. to Robert de Hay, passed to the Poynings, the Delayarrs, and the Mor beys; and belongs now to the Derivats, and the another leys; and belongs now to the Duke of Richmond. Halmaker House, built by Sir Thomas West, Lord Delawar, in the time of Henry VIII., is now a mass of rain. Goodwood, the seat of the Duke of Richmond, is a great feature. See Goodwood. A priory was founded at Boxgrove by Robert de Hay; made a cell to the Bone-dictine abbey of Lessay, in Normandy; and allowed to retain its endowments at the suppression of alien monasteam its endowments at the suppression of after moura-teries. The living is a vicarrige in the diocese of Chi-chester. Value, 2687.* Furon, the Duke of Rich-mond. The church consists of the chancel, assles, transepts, and central tower of the ancient priory; is all rich early English, except the tower, which is Norman; and comains tombs of the Poynings, the Delawarrs, and the Morleys,—also three others probably of Henry I.'s queen Adeliza and her two daughters. An endowed school has £56; almshouses, £115; and other charities £13.—The sub-district comprises seven parishes. Acres, Pop., 3,632. Houses, 761.

19,792, 70p., 9,992. Houses, 701.

BOX-HULL, a railway station and a hill in Surrey.
The station is on the Red Hill and Reading branch of the Southeastern railway, 4 a mile SE of Bankon-Bridge, and 1½ ENE of Dorking. The hill adjoins the station; rises over the Mole river; has an altitude of 445 feet above the river's level; and commands a noble view from the south downs of Sussex to the N of London. Its N side is murally steep, and all verlarous; its W sile, to the extent of about 220 acres, is covered with lox; its ascent, from the main road, is provided with seats; and its summit is crowned with a cottage of its pact rictor,

H. T. Hope, Esq.

BOX-HILL, Wilts. See Box. BOX-LANE. See Box-Moos.

BOX-LANE, See Boy, 1000.
BOX-LEY, a village and a parish in Hollingbourn district, Kent. The village stands at the foot of a learner range of chalk hills, 2 miles NE by N of Maidstone; has a post-affice under Maidstone; and was once a market-town. The parish includes a part of Penenden Heath; and comprises 5,745 a.m.s. End property, 241,677. Hown. The parent measure 1 and property, £11,677. Lop., 1,470. Houses, 250. The property is much subdivided. The manor was given by Bedoord I. to Boxley albey; passed, at the slive in Sir Thomas Wyatt; and belongs now to the Earl of Benney. The abley was founded, in 1194, by William 4Vyres, Earl of Kent; stool 11 mile WSW of the village; was Coertim. mitred, and well endowed; had at image of St. Rarabald and an automaton cruciffix, which attracted crowds of pilgrins, and were publicly burnt at the Reformation; and is now all effectle except the foundations. Boxley Abbey mansion, adjacent, is the seat of Major M. G. Pest; Boxley House is the seat of Mrs. Mercer; and Boxley Park is the seat of E. Lushington, Esq. A deep thick vein of fuller's eath occurs at Grove; and was worked so early as 1630. Fulling-mills stood on the neighbouring rivulets; and have been succeeded by paper-A Roman urn and several other Roman relies have been found in the neighbourhood of Grove. living is a vicarage in the diocese of Canterbury. £831.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Rochester. The church is decorated English; and contains the remains of the poet Sandys, and tombs of the Wyatts and others. There is a national school.

BOX-MOOR, a chapelry in Hemel-Hampstead parish, Herts; on the Grand Junction canal and the North Western railway, 2½ miles NW by N of Kings-Langley. It has a station on the railway, from which compibuses run to Hemel-Hampstead; and a post-office; of the name of Box-Moor, Bertfordshire. It was constituted in 1844. Rated property, with Hemel-Hampstead, £25,772. 3,813. Houses, 787. The property is much subdivided. The scenery in the neighbourhood of the r. station is very rich and beautiful; and the moor, whence the name is taken, is at some distance. The railway, northward from the station, passes over an embankment, with ward from the station, passes over an embanation, and fine views; crosses the Box-Lane viaduct; and runs parallel with the canal. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £150. Patron, the Vicar of Heinel-Hampstead. The church is good.
BOX-QUARRIES. See Box, Wilts.

BOX RIVER, a stream of the NW of Wilts. It rises on the border of Gloucester, N of Marshfield; runs 44 miles eastward, past West Keynton, and across Akemanstreet, to Castle-Combe; then goes 6 miles southward, past Slanghterford and Ewridge, to Box village; then goes 3 miles south westward, somewhat parallel with the Western railway, to the river Avon at Bathford.

BOXTED, a parish in Lexden district, Essex; on the river Stour, 2 miles ESE of Neyland, and 51 N of Colchester r. station. It has a post-office under Colchester. Acres, 3,082. Real property, £5,019. Pop., 935. Houses, 219. Boxted Hall is the seat of the Poleys. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £110.* Patron, the Bishop of Rochester. The church has a curious monument of Sir J. Poley; and is very good. Charities, £10.

BOXTED, a parish in Sudbury district, Suffolk; on the river Stour, 8 miles NNW of Sudbury r. station. Post-town, Hartest, under Bury-St. Edinund. Acres, I,367. Real property, £1,898. Pop., 192. Houses, 35. Boxted Hall is a chief residence. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Hartest, in the diocese of Ely, There are charities £11, and a fair is held on Whit-Tuesday

BOX-TREE, a quarter in Tamworth parish, Warwick.

Pop., 558. BOX TUNNEL. See Box, Wilts.

BOXWELL-WITH-LEIGHTERTON, a parish in Tetbury district, Gloucester; on the Cotswolds, 4½ miles ESE of Wotton-under-Edge, and 6½ E of Charfield r. station. It has a post-office, of the name of Leighterton, under Wotton-under-Edge, Aeres, 2766. Red property, 22,693. Pop., 255. Houses, 56. The property is divided among a few. Boxwell Court is the seat of the Rev. R. W. Huntley. About 45 acres are covered with box-trees. An ancient numbery stood at Boxwell; and is said to have been destroyed by the Danes. The living is a rectory in the discess of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, 2350. * Tatron, the Rev. R. W. Huntley. The church is ancient, and has a very ancient font. There is also a very ancient chapel at Leighterton BOXWORTH, a parish in the district of St. Ives and county of Cambridge; 3 miles WSW of Long-Stanton r. tation, and 5 SSE of St. Ives. Post-town, Long-Stauton, under Cambridge. Acres, 2,521. Real property, 42,946. Pop., 347. Houses, 64. The property is divided among a f.w. The living is a rectory in the dio-Value, £459.* Patron, G. Thornhill, Esq. The church has a monument of Sanderson, the blind professor of mathematics; and is good.

lessor of mathematics; and is good.
BOYATT, a tything in Otterbourne parish, Hants;
45 miles S of Winchester. Pop., 160.
BOYCE COURT, the seat of the Drammond family, once the property of the Earls of Essex, in Glouester; on the Hereford canal, 2 miles NNW of Newent.

BOYCOTT, a handet in Stowe parish, Bucks; 2 miles NW of Buckingham. Acres, 310. Pop., 20. Honses, 5. BOYCOTT, a township in Pontesbury parish, Salop; 8 miles SW of Shrewsbury. Pop. 33.

BOYDEN. See BAYDEN.

BOYDEN. See DAYBEN.
BOYLSTONE, a parish in the district of Uttoxeter, and county of Derby; on an affluent of the river Dove, 3\(^3\) miles \(^N\) by W of Scropton r. station, and 7 S of Asli-33 miles N by W of Scropton r. station, and 7 S of Asicorne. Post-town, Cubley, under Derly. Acres, 1,350. Real property, 42,660. Pop., 268. Houses, 61. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, 2260. Patron, the Rev. Tendey Hall. The church is very good.

EOVNE-HILL, a clapperty, with a railway station, in the control of the property of the control of t

Bray parish, Berks; on the Great Western railway, in the southern vicinity of Maidenhead. Post-town, Maidenhead. Pop., 1,071. The living in a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £120.* Patron, the Bishop of Oxford. The church was built in 1857, and is in the Gothic style and ornate. There are national schools.

BOYNTON, a parish in Eridlington district, E. R. Yorkshire; on the Bridlington river, near the Bridlington railway, 3 miles WNW of Bridlington. It has a post-office under Hull. Acres, 2,580. Real property, 23,325. Pop., 125. Houses, 21. The property all belongs to Sir G. Strickland, Bart. Boynton Hall is the baronet's seat; and a pavilion above it commands most baroners seat; and a paymon above it commands most beautiful views. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £141. Patron, Sir G. Strickhaud, Bart. The church is modern, but has an old tower.

BOYTHORPE. See FOXHOLES.

BOYTON, a parish chiefly in Launceston district. Corn-BOY 10 N, a parsa chieffy in Launceston district, Corn-wall, and partly in Bolsworthy district, Devoza; on the Bude caned and the river Tamar, 5 miles N by W of Laun-ceston r, station, and 17 NNW of Tavistock. It includes Northeott hamlet; and has a past-office under Launces-ton, and a fair on the third Monday of Aug. Aeres, 4,950. Real property, 22,651. Pep. 476. Houses, 92. The property is divided among a few. Bradridge, the old seat of the Hoblyns, and Beardon, also an old seat, are now farm-houses. Manganese mines were worked, are now farm-Houses. Dianganese mine vice with the but have been discontinued. The living is a vicungo in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £120,* Patron, the Pow J. G. Dangar. The church is good. Agnes Rest, a martyr of the time of Mary, resided at Northcott.

BOYTON, a parish in Woodbridge district, Suffolk; on the river Alde, near Hollesley bay, 4 miles WSW of on the river Adde, near Hollesley Bay, 4 miles WSW of Orford, and 7 SE of Melton r. station. Post-town, Hollesley, under Woodbridge. Acres, 1,533. Real property, £1,963. Pop., 254. Houses, 75. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £365.* Patrons, Mrs. Warner's Trustees. The church is very good; and there are almshouses for eight men and eight women.

BOYTON, a parish in Warminster district, Wilts; on the river Willy, adjacent to the Great Western railway, 11 mile NW of Codford station, and 24 SE of Heytesbury. It includes Corton township; and its posttown is Upton-Lovel, under Bath. Acres, 3,956. Real property, 23,235. Pop., 410. Houses, 91. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged, in the time of Henry II., to the Giffreds; and passed to the Lamberts. The manison on it was built, in 1618, by Thomas Lambert; was occupied, in the present century, by Bourke Lambert, who collected here upwards tiry, by Bourke Lambert, who concrete mere upwards of 30,000 species of plants; and is now the seat of the Rev. Arthur Fane. A pit in the neighbourhood of the grounds, called Chipel Hole, is popularly believed to have swallowed up church. The living is a rectory in the control of the contro the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £519.# Patron, Magdal or College, O Seed. The church dates from the latter part of the 12th century; was restored in 1860, at a cost of upwards of £2,000; and contains grand monuresults of the Giffer 1s, and several new memorial windows.
BOYTON, Norfals. See Browners.

BOZAID, a Limbt in Stockbury parish, Kent; 75 miles SE of Rachester.

BOZEAT, a palish in Wellingborough district, Northampton; on the verge of the county, 4 mil- : SE by E of Castle-Ashby r. station, and 64 S of Wellingborough. Castle Ashby r. Station, and 04 S. or Ostanova. Acres, Post-town, Le ton-Mamblit, under Northampton. Acres, 22 274 Pon., 955. Houses, Post-town, Letton Mainti, urger normalition. Aeres, 24.0. Red property, 23,374. Phys. 95. Houses, 211. The property is subdivided. The living is a vication with the rectory of Strivton, in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, 2275. A. Patron, Earl Spencer.

The church is good. Charities, £22.

ane aguical is good. Chartnes, 2022.

BRABOURNE, two villages, a parish, and a sub-district in East Ashford district, Kent. The villages are East Brabourne and Brabourne-Lees. East Brabourne strols 3 miles NNE of Smeather, station, and 6 E of Ashford; has a post-office under Ashford; and was once a market-town. Brabourne-Lecs is a mile to the west; and also has a post-office under Ashford.—The parish comprises 3,499 acres. Real property, £4,697. Pop., 74%. Houses, 165. The property is much subdivided. The master belonged to Aymer de Valence; and passed to the Scotts and the Honeywoods. Much of the land is Cold wit clay. Large barracks stood near Brabourne-I see, but have been removed. The living is a vicatage, maited with the restory of Manks-Horton, in the diocess of Carterbury. Value, 2020. Patron, the Archbishop of Carterbury. The church is early English; contains of Cartabury. of the turbury. The church is early English; contains the accounts of the Scotts; and is in good condition. A yew stood in the church-yard in Evelyn's time, 50 feet in girth. There are two Baptist chapels, and charities £5. The sab di trict contains seven parishes. Acres, LOUS, Pop., 4.032, Houses, 794. BRADOURNE LEES. See BRABOURNE.

BILLEOUTHY ELEES. See BRANSHAE.
BILLOUTHY See BAINSHAE.
BILLOUTHY See BAINSHAE.
BILLOUTHY SEE BAINSHAE.
BILLOUTHY SEE BAINSHAE.
BILLOUTH a system, or the name of Braceborough Spa, on the radius of the desired is post-town in Thulby, nuclei lourne. Acres, 2.290. Real property, 22,528. Pop., 220. Houses, 55. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £160.* Paten, the Leal Chinnellor. The church is good. There is a private lunatic explan.

BPACEERIDGE, a parish in the district and county of Lincoln: on the river Witham, 2 miles S of Lincoln r. of theodiff of the Tyer or train, 2 lines as of theodiff is their. Post-town, Lincolm. Area, 1, 182. Real property, £0,279. Pop., 836. Houses, 87. The property is made h subdivided. The biring is a vicarage in the dis-cessed him olm. Value, £293 * Patron, Mes. Browthead. The county has the asylum is here; and a new chapel for

The county hard consystem is here; and a new chapet for five which in 1809.

Interpolation 1809.

Interpolation of Folking Jun, and 6 SE of Homington, and 10 Memory of Folking Jun, and 6 SE of Homington, which is Problem, Ropeley, under Grantham, Acres, too reading two £1,379. Pop., 168. If uses, 37, The Longton we have an interpolation of Lincoln. Value and here, a notice that a period in Shrewsburg district, School and Problems and Proposition of the Constant of the Street House, and the large of the Street House, and the street hard a diversity of the Problems and the street hard a diversity of the problems of the street hard and the street hard the street ha

BRACE-MEOLL, a perils in Shrewsbury district, SJapp on the Science Jarva at Herbrid radiusy, I take S or Shrewsbury. It is rartly within Slarewsbury bored he is half a the townships of Newton, and Edd-Jold, Nebell, and part of Palley; and contains the Sing share we shouse and the King-Jord Imatic scales a feat-own Shrewsbury. Pep. 1,215. Houses, 240. The highly is a vice tight the discussed Hereford, New 1,225. Patrion, J. Bather, Pop. The church was bound in 1889, at resist of 0.1,200. [33,501.501.] The contribution of the War.

Bal VII. VELL, a reish ju Shipton de trict, W. R. You have religion to the Lavergood and Locks count, for hea WNW of Follog restation and rewards of Skip for Fost town, Thombse, under Skipton, Aeros, Locks, Red project, 25,5522. Pop., 100. Homes, 20. The property is divided among a few. An old house here was a retreat of Henry VI. Linestone is worked. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon Value, £123. Patron, J. T. Hopwood, Esq. The church is very good.

BRACKBRIDGE, a hamlet in Meon-Stoke parish, Hante

BRACKEN, a township in Kilnwick parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 6 miles SW by S of Great Drillield. Acres, Real property, £1,068. Pop., 34. Houses, 3.
 BRACKENBER, a hamlet in Steep parish, Westmore-

BRACKENBOROUGH, a parish in Louth district. Lincoln; on the East Lincoln railway, 2 miles N of Louth. Post-town, Louth. Acres, 890. Real property, £934. Pop., 59. Houses, 11. It is a meet for the Louth. Post-town, £934. Pop., 59. I South Woll hounds.

BRACKENFIELD, a township-chapelry in Morton parish, Derby; 2 miles SW of Stretten r. station, and 1 NW of Alfreton. Post-town, Alfreton. Real property, AW of Alfreton. Post-town, Alfreton. Real property, 22, 493. Pop., 317. Houses, 77. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, 280. Patron, G. Tumbur, Esq. The church was built in 1855. There are a Primitive Methodist chapel and a national school.

BRACKENFOOT, a hamlet in Rigton township, W.

BRACKENFOOT, a namet in region rowsing, w. R. Yorkshire; 55 miles W. of Weatherby, BRACKEN-HILL, a bandet in Roos parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 55 miles N of Patrington.
BRACKENHILL, Cumberland. See Bricconhills.
BRACKENHOLM-WITH-WOODILALL, a township. Oraches MOLM-WITH-WOUTHALL, a rownship in Hemingbrough parish, E. R. Yorkshire; on the river Derwent, adjacent to the Selby and Huil railway, 4 miles NW of Howden. Acres, 1,500. Read property, 21,956. Pop., 102. Houses, 19.

BRACKENTHWAITE, a township in Lorton chapelry, Cumberland; between Grisedale-Pike and Lowes to This Section of the Computer of the Section of the Computer of water, 5 miles S of Cockermouth r. station. Acres, 2, 478. Real property, £1,172. Pop., 115. Houses, 25. BRACKENTHWAITE, Yorkshire. See BRACKEN-

FOOT

BRACKLESHAM-BAY, a small bay on the coast of Sussex; 3 miles XW of Selsey-Bill, and 6½ SSW of Uni-chester. Very rate fossil shells are found here in masses of clay on the sands.

BRACKLEY, a small town, two parishes, a sub-district, and a district, in Northampton. The town stands on a descent at the confluence of two head-streams of the river Ouse, adjacent to the Banbury and Blatchley railway, 93 miles ESE of Banbury. It was a place of note in the times of the Sexons; was nearly destroyed by the Panes; rose again to importance; and was walled and Tournaments were held in its vicinity, at had a castle. Bayard's Green, in 1249 and subsequent years; and the barons met at it, in 1204, to treat with King John. The town consists mainly of a single street, nearly a mile long; and contains some good houses, chiefly built of An ancient cross, 28 feet high, or ate and curions, stood in its centre, and was taken down in 1706. The town-hall, an edifice resting on arches, occupies the site of the cross; and was erected, in 170%, by the Delac of Bridgewater, at a cost of £2,000. St. John's hopital, now a min, was founded, in the time of Henry I. by Robert le Bossu, Earl of Leicester, for a master and six fellows; passed to Magdalene Cellege, Oxford; and was a refreat of the members of that codege during the conflicts between King John and his barens. The chapel of it still shows interesting architectural features, and once had total's of several reblemen; and the hall has been rebuilt, and contains 105 blaconed shields of produces and distinguished laymen. Another hispital, dedicated to St. Leonard, stood in the town, but has disappeared. St. Peter's church is chiefly early English; and less a lofty tower, and a Norman font. St. James church gave place, some years ago, to a cometery-charel chiner gave peac, some years ago, or a convergence of a connexion with its burying-ground. There are three dissenting chapely, a free grammars of a clims-looped, and a work-house—the last ere ted at a stof 26,000. The town has a load post-office, tarribacy station with telegraph, two banking-offices, and two chief inns. A weekly market is held on Wednesday; and fairs on the Wednesday after 25 Feb., 19 April, the Wednesday after 22 June, the Wednesday after 11 Oct., and 11 Dec. great wool trade flourished in the reign of Edward III., and for some time before and after; but the chiel trade and for some time before and after; for the that man now is in lace and shoes. The town claims to have been incorporated by Henry III.; it sent two members to parliament from the time of Edward VI. till disfranchised by the act of 1832; and it still has nominally a corporation, but is not regulated by the Corporation act. a polling place; has a building of 1851 for police-station and petty sessions; and it gives the title of Viscount to the Earl of Ellesmere. Samuel Clarke, the famous orientalist, a contributor to Walton's "Polyglot," was a

The two parishes are St. Peter and St. James; and they jointly include all the town. Acres of St. Peter, 3,717; of St. James, 420. Real property of St. Peter, 54.713; of St. James, £2,581. Pop. of St. Peter, 1,615. Houses, 354. Pop. of St. James, 768. Houses, 154. The property is subdivided. The livings are conjoint— St. Peter a vicarage, St. James a p. curacy—in the diocese of Peterborough, Value, £359. Patron, the Earl of Ellesmere. -The sub-district contains also the parishes of Kings-Sutton, Newbottle, Aynho, Croughton, Hinton-in-the-Hedges, Steen, Evenly, Whitfield, Mixbury, Finmere, Westbury, and Turweston,—the two last electorally in Bucks, the previous two electorally in Oxford, Acres, 31,630. Pop., 7,656. Houses, 1,687.—The district includes also the sub-district of Sulgrave, containtrict includes also the sub-district of Sugarve, containing the parishes of Sulgrave, Helmdon, Morton-Pinkney, Eydon, Culworth, Thorpe-Mandeville, Statchbury, Greatworth, Marston-St. Lawrence, Thenford, Farthinghoe, Radstone, Syresham, and Biddlesdon,—the last electorally in Eneks,—and part of Wappenham. Acres of the district, 58, 769. Poor rates in 1866, £2,303. Fop. in 1861, 13,471. Houses, 3,010. Marriages in 1866, 101; births, 435,—of which 29 were illegitimate; deaths, 250,-of which 90 were at ages under 5 years, and 230, and the state of the state strongs, 2 of morperagents, with 492 s.; 5 of Laplasts, with 1,116 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 107 s.; 6 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,192 s.; 1 of Weslevan Reformers, with 100 s.; and 2 of Moravians, with 200 s. The schools were 24 public day schools, with 1,238 scholars; 19 private day schools, with 388 s.; and 32 Sunday schools, with 2,138 s.

BRACKNELL, a village, a chapelry, and a sub-district, in the district of Easthampstead, Berks. The village stands adjacent to the Southwestern railway, 3 miles W of Ascot race-course, and 4 E of Wokingham. miles Wer Ascot race-course, and a post-office, of the name of Bracknell, Berkshire; and is a polling place. Lairs are held at it on 25 April, 22 Aug., and I Oct. I consists of one fine, long, open street; and there are several large mansions in its neighbourhood. The chapelry includes the village; is in the parishes of Warfield perfy includes the village; is in the parishes of narmed and Winkfield; and was constituted in 1851. Pop., 1,007. Houses, 202. The living is a p. curacy in the dioces of Oxford. Value, £65. Patron, the lishen of Oxford. The church is a graceful structure of 1851, in the early English style. There are an Independent chaqel, a literary institute, and national schools.—The sub-district contains five parishes. Acres, 20,614. Pop., 6.185. Unexp. 1,909.

6,165. Hoase, 1,203.
Bl:ACON-ASH, a parish in Henstead district, Nor-folk; 24 miles WSW of Swainsthorpe r. station, and 7 SW of Norwich. It has a post-office under Norwich. SW of Norwich. It has a post-office timer forwich.

Acres, 974. Heal property, £1,895. Pop., 271. Houses,

43. The property is divided among ten. Bracon Hall is the seat of the Rev. T. Berney. The living is a retry in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £245. Parrea, the Rev. T. Berney. The church is very good; and there the Rev. T. Berney. is a national school.

BRACONDALE, a hamlet in Trowse parish, Norfolk; within the county of the city of Norwich.

BRACTON. See BRATTON-CLOVELLY.

BRADBOURNE, a township in Ashborne district, and a parish in Ashborne and Bakewell districts, Derby. The township lies on an affluent of the river Dove. miles NNE of Ashborne r. station. Real property, £2,733. Pop., 144. Houses, 28.—The parish contains also the townships of Brassington, Pallidon, and All-wark, the hamlet of Lea-Hall, and the chapelry of Atlow; and its post-town is Brassington, under worth. Acres, 6,232. Real property, £13,600. Pop., 1,187. Houses, 248. The property is subdivided. Bradbourne Hall is a chief residence. Tissington Hall is the seat of Sir William Fitzherbert, Bart. Limestone is nbundant. Roman coins have been found. The living is a vicarege, united with the p. curacy of Ballidon, in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £119. Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. The church has a Norman tower, and is good. The chapelries of Brassington and Atlow are separate benefices. Charities, £21. BIADBOURNE PARK, the seat of the Twisden family in East Malling parish, Kent; 23 miles WNW of Maidstone. A younger brother of the learned Sir Roger Twisden settled here in the time of Charles II.; and was himself made a baronet. Paper-mills are on a stream which runs through the grounds.

BRADBURY, a township in Sedgefield parish, Durham; on the Northeastern railway, 10 miles N of Darlington. It has a station on the railway; and commands fine views. Acres, 2,043. Real property, £2,100. Pop., Honses, 32.

BRADBY, or BREIBY, a chapelry in Repton parish, Derby; near the river Trent and the Birmingham and Derby; near the twer Trent and the Birmingham and berby rilway, 5 miles E by N of Burton-upon-Trent. Post-town, liepton, under Burton-upon-Trent. Real property, £2,712. Fop., 524. Houses, 56. The manu-belonged formerly to the Mowbrays and the Berkeleys; and belongs now to the Earl of Chesterfield. Bradby Park is the Earl's seat; and the grounds of it centain the sites of a castle of the Mowbrays, and a strong num-sion which was garrisoned for Charles 1, and taken down sion which was garrisoned for Charles I, and taken down in 1789. The living is a donative in the dicease of Lichfield, Value, £80. Extron, the Earl of Chesterfield, BRADDEN, See Kirk-Bradden, BRADDEN, a parish in Towcester district, Northumpton; on the river Tove, 3 miles W of Towcester r. stiton, and 7 SW by W of Elisworth Post-town, Towcester, Acres, 1,000. Real property, £1,569. Pop., 140. Houses, 39. The property is divided monog a few. Bradden House is the seat of the Rev. C. Ives. The parish is a resort of sportsmen. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, 2227. Patron, the Rev. C. Ives. The church was rebuilt in 1850. Bishop Yan Mildert was for some time rector. Charities, £55.

BRADDONS, a range of heights sheltering the north side of Torquay, in Devon. It is crusted, toward the town, with a series of beautiful villas.

BRADEL. See Bradle. BRADEN, an ancient forest around Dradenstoke in BRADENFORD. See BRADFORD, Wilts. BRADENHAM, a parish in Wycombe district, Bucks; on the Chilterns, 31 miles NW by N of High Wycombe the station. Post-town, High Wycombe. Acres, 1,001. Real property. 21,438. Pop., 185. Houses, 35. The property is divided among a few. Bradenham House belonged formerly to Lord Windsor, and was visited by Oneen Elizabeth in 1506; was the death-place, in 1848, of D'Israeli, the author of "Curiosities of Literature;"

of Pf-stack, the author of "Curlosities of Literature;" and is now the seat of the Rev. John Gruves. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, 2224. Patron, the Rev. John Graves. The church is good.

BRADENHAM (EAST), a parish in Swaffham district, Norfolk; on the river Wissey, 2! miles 8 of Wealling r. station, and 5 Sw of East Darcham. Post-town, West Bradenham, under Thetford. Acres, 2,349. Real accounts 22 246. Pan. 399. Houses, 86. The proproperty, £3,246. Pop., 399. Houses, 86. The property is divided among a few. The manor belongs to Henry S. Adlington, Esq. The living is a rectory in the ich. Value, £278. Patron, H. S. The church is of flint. Charities, £11. ancese of Norwich. Adlington, Adlington, Esp. The church is of flint. Charitiss, 211.

BRADENHAM (West), a parish in Swaffhan district. Nofelk; on the river Wissay, 31 rades 8 by W of Wending r. station, and 54 SW by W of Fast Derelact. It less a post-office under Thetiord. Acres, 168: Licel presently, 20,019. Pop., 387. Houses, 83. The meaner of West Bradenham belongs to W. Haggard, Esp. Example 4 West Brademann belongs to W. Inggatu, 1881; tlat of P. Kenhan Hall to B. Girling, Esp. The living is a vicarrage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £290, * Patron, the Bishop of Nr. The church is ancient, and was restored in 1857. There are a national school, and charities £24. ERADENSTOKE, a hill in Lyncham parish, Wilts; Character the Wiltz and Backs, angal and to the Great

An Augustinian abbey was founded here, in 1142, by Walter D'Everenx; given, at the dissolution, to Richard Pexel; and sold by his heirs to the Methnens of Cors-Remains of it still stand, showing features of de-from Remains of the State States, Showing reactives of accounted Fordlish, and are used as a farm-house.

FRADESTON, a parish in Blofield district, Norfolk; on the Yarmouth railway and the river Yars, ½ a mile E of Brundall r. station, and 4 WSW of Acle. Post-town, Ebfield, under Norwich. Acres, 516. Real property, £1,183. Pop., 133. Houses, 31. The living is a rec-tory, annexed to the rectory of Strumpshaw, in the dio-

BRADFIELD, a village, a parish, and a district in Berks. The village stands on an affluent of the river Thomes, 3 miles NW by W of Thealer, station, and 7½ W of Reading; and has a post-office; under Reading. The parish comprises 1,334 acres. Real property, £6,558.
Pop., 1,167. Houses, 200. The property is divided arring a few. Bradfield Hall is a chief residence. The surface contains tich close scenes, and commands fine where the living is a rectory, united with the p. curry of Finity, in the diocess of Oxfort. Value, 4788. Firsor, the Rev. T. Stevens. The church was restored and enlarged in 1818. There are two chaples of cesse and al. Methodist chapet. St. Andrews college is a handsome cliftie of 1850; and was endowed in 1859, and some childe of 1809, and was endowed in 700, and chartered in 1862, as a foundation-school for 16 founder's boys and 183 commoners. An abbey was founded lore, before the close of the 7th century, by King Ina. Ushop Lloyd was sometime rector.-The district comprehends the sub-district of Bucklebury, containing the parishes of Bradfield, Bucklebury, Frilsham, Yattendon, stanford-Dingley, Basildon, Ashampstead, Streatley, and Gering .- the last electorally in Oxford; the sub-district of Mortimer, containing the parishes of Stratfield-Mortimar, Beenham-Vallence, Aldermaston, Padworth, Ufton, Sull. inpstead - Daunister, Sulhampstead - Abbots, and Burghfield; and the sub-district of Tilchurst, containing the perishes of Tilehurst, Englefield, Tidmarsh, Sulham, Purley, Pangbourn, Whitehurch, and Maple-Durham, -the two last electorally in Oxford. Acres, 62,166. Poor-rates in 1866, £11,902. Pop. in 1801, 15,771. Houses, 3,323. Marriages in 1866, 88; births, 478, of which 30 were illegitimate; deaths, 266,—of which 72 were at ages under 5 years, and 13 at ages above 85 years. Merriages in the ten years 1851-00, 874; births, 5,015; deaths, 2,035. The phase of worship in 1851 were 27 of the C leach of England, with 1,651 sittings; 5 of Independent d ats, with $25 s.; 2 of Daptists, with 124 s.; 3 of Weslevan Mathedists, with 344 s.; 5 of Primitive Methodists, with 772 s.; and 3 of Lady Huntingdon's Con-1.338, WC4 1728; 2004 of they frightness con-nion, with 550 s. The schools were 23 public day is holds, with 1.075 scholurs; 25 private day schools, with 550 s.; and 18 Snody schools, with 860 s. The work-thouse is in Bradfield, and rost 47, 450.

BRADFIFI.D. a perish in Tembring district, Essex; of the a toary of the stour, and on the Harwich branch of the Liestern Union railway, 3 miles E by S of Minchurch is good. Speaker Grimston, of the time of Charles 11., was a native.

11., was a native.

BRADFIELD, a parish in Tunstead district, Norfolk; here the line of telegraph from Norwich to Cromer, 2½ units NNW of North Walshum r. station, and 17 N by E of Norwich. Post-town, North Walsham, under Norwich, Arres, 757. Real property, £1,220. Pop., 226. Houses, 46. The property is all in one estate. 226. Houses, 46. The property is all in one estate. The living is one part a rectory, and one part a domative, in the diocess of Norwich. Value of the rectory, £165.* Patron, Lord Suffield. The donative is americal to the rectory of Antispham-St. Mary. The church was repaired in 1859. There is an Independent BRADFIELD, a village, two hamlets, a township, a chapelry, and a sub-district, in Ecclesheld parish, W. I. Vorkshire. The village stands on a affinent of the river bon, 4 miles W by S of Oughty-Bridge r. station, and 7 NW by W of Sheffield; and it has a post-office under Sheffield, and fairs on 17 June and 9 Dec. The bankts are Nether-Rendfield and Fairs for Dec. The hamlets are Nether-Budfield and Bradfield-Dale. The township includes also the bamlets or divisions of Boltownship includes also the bamlets or divisions of Bolserstone, Brightholmlee, Dungworth, Fairost-Green, Hollsworth, Midhope, Moorwood, Onescere, Oughty-Bridge-with-Gate, Smallfield, Stannington, Stoves, Vishil, Wigtwizzle, and Worral. Acres, 33,750. Real property, £16,451. Pop., 9,089. Houses, 1,696. Much of the surface is moor, hill, and mountain: and one summit, called Bradfield-Point, has an altitude of 1,246 feet above the level of the sea. Traces of a Saxon camp exist: and Bougan remains have been found. The characterist and Roman remains have been found. exist; and Roman remains have been found .- The cha exist; and forman remains have been found.—The chaperly comprises only part of the township; and is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £200. Patron, the vicar of Ecclesheld. The church is early English. There are two dissenting chapels and an endowed school .- The sub-district is conterminate with the township.

BRADFIELD, a handet in Uffuline parish, Dovon; 3½ miles NE of Collumpton. The manor has belonged to the family of Walrond since the time of King John. The mansion dates from the reign of Elizabeth, and was recently restored.

BRADFIELD-COMBUST, or BURNT-BRADFIELD, a parish in Thingon district, Suffolk; 51 miles SSW of Thurston r. station, and 51 SSE of Bury-St. Edmunds. Post-town, Bury-St. Edmunds. Acres, 518. Real property, C1,424. Pop., 173. Houses, 38. The property is subdivided. Bradfield Hall was the sect of Arthur Young, the writer on agriculture. An editice belonging Found the Writer of agriculture. An entire belonging to Bury abbey, stood in the parish, and was burned in 1827. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lly, Value, £180. Patron, the Rev. H. Hasted. The church was restored in 1869.

was restored in 1869.

BRADFIELD-ST. CLARE, a parish in Thingoe district, Suffolk; 5 miles S by W of Thurston r. station, and 5½ SE by S of Taury-St. Edmunds. Post-town, and 5½ SE by S of Paury-St. Edmunds. Post-town, Enry-St. Edmunds. Acres, 1,428. Real property, £1,788. Pep., 233. Houses, 51. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Ely. Value, £275. Patrons, W. R. and G. J. Bevan, Esqs. The church is good.

BRADEFILD-ST. GEORGE a parish in Thingoe

BRADFIELD-ST. GEORGE, a parish in Thingoe district, Suffolk: 37 miles SSW of Thurston r. station, and 47 SE of Bury-St. Fdmunds. Post-town, Bury-St. and 4, 81 of the project, runnings, loss town, buryest, Edmands, Arres, 1,984. Red property, 25,228. Pop., 427. Houses, 110. The property is much divided. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Rush-trock, in the diocese of Ely. Value, 2550. Patroc, the Marquis of Bristol. The church has a spire, seen over a wide extent of country

BEADFORD, a puish in Holsworthy district, Devou; on the river Terridge, 54 miles NE of Holsworthy, and 13 S by W of Bil-ford r. station. Post-town, Ear-th Torrington, under Highampton, North Devon. Aer-s, 3,038. Beal property, 22,130. Pop., 444. Houses, ci fi. Stelerii Umon railway, 3 males E by 8 of Mandriatree. It has a station on the railway, and a post-nitrative. It has a station on the railway, and a post-cille under Manningtree. Acros. 2.719; of which does any water. Each property, 25,027. Top., 914. Honese, 212. The property is subdivided. Bruffeld Lodge is third residence. The living is a vicatege, amoved to the residence. The living is a vicatege, amoved to the residence of Mildley, in the discusse of Railwayer. The bave been formed by the famous Hengist. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £308.* Patrons, the Rectors of East Down, Bratton-Fleming, and Goodleigh. The church is cruciform, and has a tower and some monuments; but is, or recently was, in very Ead condition. Charities, £14.

Eart Condition. Charmes, 2.14.
BRADFORD, a township and a chapelry in Manchester parish, Lancashire. The township lies adjacent to the Manchester and Sheffield railway, 4 miles E of Manchester; and has a post-office under Manchester. Acres, 2012, 1975, 2012, 1975, 2012, 1975, 2012, 1975, 2012, chester; and mas a post-once timer managerer. Acres, 279. Pop., 3,523. Houses, 707. The chapelry extends into Beswick township; bears the name of Bradford-cum-Beswick; and was constituted very recently. The statistics are not reported. The living is a retory in the diocese of Manchester, with a parsonage, and in the patronage of the Bishop.

The church was built in the parronage of the 1980p. The church was built in 1862, at a cost of £6,000; and is in the early English style, and cruciform. There are Wesleyan and Free Methodist chapels, large schools built in 1864, at a cost of £3,000, and a police station.

DRADFORD, a township in Bolam parish, Northumberland; on the river Blyth, 10 miles WSW of Morpetla.

ochional, on the first Blytin 10 mines when of morpetin Acres, 1,053. Pop., 18. Houses, 5. BRADFORD, a township in Bambrough parish, Northumberland; in the vicinity of the Northeastern railway, 31 miles ESE of Belford. Acres, 528. Pop.,

49. Houses, S.
BRADFORD, a village and a parish in Wellington district, Somerset. The village stands on the river Tone. 24 miles NE of Wellington r. station, and 34 WSW of Taunton; and has a post-office under Taunton.—The parish comprises 1,782 acres. Real property, £4,488. Pop., 552. Houses, 110. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Eath and Wells. Value, £120.* Patron, A. Adair, Esq. The church was repaired in 1858. There are an Independent chapel and a national school.

BRADFORD, a town, a parish, two sub-districts, a district, and a hundred in Wilts.

The town stands on the river Avon, on the Kennet and Avon canal, and on the Great Western railway, 31 miles NW by N of Trowbridge. It was known to the Saxons as Bradenford; and it is now sometimes called Bradford-on-Avon. A and it is now sometimes called Bradford-on-Avon. A battle was fought at it, in 652, between Cenwalf and Cuthred; and St. Dunstan, in 951, was elected here to the see of Worcester. Its site is partly a hollow, partly slopes and acclivities, encompassed by hills. The older portion is on the N side of the river; and rises in a series of icraces, to a crowning point with an extensive view. Many curious old houses are in it; and one called the Duke's House, an edifice full of windows, formerly a residence of the Pierreponts, Dukes of Kingston, is in the near vicinity. Two bridges span the river; the upper one a very ancient structure, with 9 arches; the lower, a more modern structure, with 4. An ancient square edifice with a pyramidal roof, supposed variously to have been a chapel, an almonry, and an ecclesiastical tollhouse, and now used as a lock-up prison, stands on one of the piers of the upper bridge. Structures of the 14th century, arising out of a monastery founded in 705 by St. Adhelin, and given in 1001 by King Ethelred to the great numery at Shaftesbury, and now used as offices of a farm-stead, are at the skirt of Jew's Harp-hill. The parish church is Norman and early English; consists of maye, north aisle, chancel, and chapel, with western tower and small spire; contains many curious toulus and a fine altar-piece; and has been partly modernized. Christ Church was built in 1810; is in the perpendicular style; and has a tower and lofty spire. There are chapels for Independents, Eaplists, Wesleyan Methodists, Primitive Methodists, and Lady Huntingdon's Connexion; a free school, with £55 a-year; another school, in a very handsome edifice of 1850; and two almshouses and other charities, with jointly £168 a-year. The town has a head post-office; of the name of Bradford-on-Avon: a railway station with telegraph; a banking-office; and three chief inns. A weekly market is held on Monday; and a fair on Trinity-Monday. An important woollen manufacture was long carried on, but has greatly declined.

The town never was incorporated; but it sent members to parliament in the time of Edward 1.; and it thence is called a borough. Pep., 4,291. Houses, 1,036.

The parish includes also the chapelries of Holt, At-Winsley, South Wraxall, and Leigh and Woolley; and it is sometimes called Bra-Hord-on-Avon and Great Brad-8,032. Houses, 1,904. The property is subdivided. Much of the surface consists of fine chalk hills. The living is a vicarage, united with the rectory of Westwood, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £602.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Bristol. Christ Church is a the Pean and Compact of Dissol. Const Course Course is a separate benefice, a p. curacy, of the value of £150,* in the patronage of the Vicar. The p. curacies of Holt, Atworth-with-Seath Wryxall, and Winsley with Limpley-Stoke also are separate benefices.—The two sub-districts are Bradford Northwestern and Bradford Southeastern. They divide Bradford parish between them; and the former contains also the parish of Monkton Farleigh, while the latter contains the extra-parochial tract of the Chalfield and Cottles, and the parabes of Great Chalfield, Broughton-Gifford, Winkfield-with-Rowley, Westwood-with-Iford, and Freshford,—the last elector-Westwood-with-hord, and resident,—the last electorally in Somerset.—The district consists of these two sub-districts. Acres, 18,800. Poor-rates in 1866, £6,165. Pop. in 1881, 10,475. Houses, 2,411. Marriages in 1866, 78; births, 307, -of which 17 were illegitimate; deaths, 190, -of which 40 were at ages under 5 timate; deaths, 100,—or which were at ages under yyears, and 8 at ages above 55. Marriages in the ten years, 1851-60, 750; borths, 3,218; deaths, 9,388. The places of worship in 1851 were 14 of the Church of England, with 4,852 sittings; 4 of Independents, with 1,132 s.; 5 of Daptists, with 1,072 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Methodists, 5 of Lagrasts, with 1,04.2.5.; sof weseryan methodses, with 1,064.8.; 3 of Primitive Methodists, with 286.s.; and one of Lady Hunting-lon's Connexion, with 200 s. The schools were 16 public day schools, with 1,178 scholars; 25 private day schools, with 337 s.; 22 Sunday schools, with 2,255 s.; and 2 evening schools for adults, with 54 s. The work-house is in Westwood.—The hundred includes only Bradford and four other purishes Acres, 17,426. Pop., 9,422. Houses, 2,205.

Acres, 17,320. 1019, 3,722. Houses, 2,200. BRADFORD, a town, a township, a parish, two sub-districts, and a district in W. It. Yorkshire. The town stands at the junction of three fine valleys, amid a diversity of the stands at the function of three fine valleys, amid a diversity of the stands at the function of three fine valleys, amid a diversity of the stands at the function of the stands are the stands at the stands are the stands at the stands are stands as the junction of three nine vaneys, aim to diversified, picturesque, hilly country, within the basin of the river Aire, 11 miles W by S of Leeds. It is at similar distance from Keighley, Halifax, Huddersfield, Dewsbury, and Wakefield, and at shorter distances from a number of populous villages; and it maintains crowded intercourse with them all. A canal goes from its centre to the Leeds and Liverpool canal; a railway to Idle, 31 to the Liceds and Liverpool canat; a railway to Idie, as miles, was authorised in 1866; and branch railways go northward, easeward, and southward, passing speedily into lines which ramify toward all parts of the kingdom. The town is mentioned in some old records, but does not seem to have made any figure in ancient times. seem to have made any negare in ancient times. It was described by Leland, in the reign of Henry VIII., as a "pretty quick market town," with a parish church and a chapel, and "standing natch by clothing." It took part with the parliament against Charles L; twice repaired to the parliament against Charles L; twice respectively. pulsed a large body of the king's troops; and was stormed and taken by the Earl of Newcastle. Serious riots took place in it, in 1812, resulting in the execution of 17 men; and a strike of its operatives occurred in 1825, continu-and a strike of its operatives occurred in 1626, continu-ing ten months, and probleming much misery.

The town is chiefly built of fine freestone; and con-tains many very handsome edifices, both private and public. It includes narrow, ill-constructed streets, but has recently undergone great improvement. It is exhas recently manageme great improvement. At it can trending in all directions; and it possesses such suburbs, or goes so nearly into adjacent villages, as to be practi-cally a town for miles. It looks, from the neighbour-hood, to be full of factories; it contains some of the finest warehouses in the kingdom; and it may be prohines batchauses in the stagment, and it has be pro-nounced to show an aggregate of architectural character equal to that of any n unfacturing town of its size. Very great improvements were made up to 1865; and other great ones were then in progress. St. George's Hall is the centre of the town, covers an area of 1,600 yards; see at a fronts to three several streets; has a western I vation 75 feet high, with rusticated basement, surand developing win ristiated paseinen, sur-inand by Corinthian columns and pilasters; contains a hit, 152 het long 76 het bird, and 54 feet high, 1 to 4 by 46 arched windows; and was creeted in 1 the day 16 arched windows; and was creeted in Sel 3, at accepted 13,000. The new exchange is in the Venetian Gothic style; has a chief entrance under a ower and spine 156 feet bight; contains a great hall, in Fran of mave and alle, 80 feet by 50; and was built in 1831-7, at a cost of about 50,000. The court-house, at Hull-fars, is a next and convenient structure, with lock-Hall-A.78, is a next and convenient structure, with fock-res in the basement; and was built in 1834, at a cost of £0,250. The debtor's prison, a well-contrived and well-r anged suite of buildings and yards, was superseded, there the passing of the County Court act, by one in Philiax. The county court-house, in Manor-row, was Hillian. The county court-house, in Manor-row, no. 1954 in 1861, at a cost of nearly 25,000; and is in the Linn style, with a frontage of 70 feet in length. The of about 13 acre; were erected in 1861; and comprise a drill-room of 57 feet by 60, and several other spacious as a timen's. The theatre and opera-house was creeded in 1865, and is an ornamental edifice. Peel's moun-reset, in l'eel-place, shows a fine settie of Sir Robert Peel, by Behnes. The office of the Old Bank, creeted in 1563, is a liandsome edifice in the Gothic style. Several to a sof war-houses, of recent crection, are spl mild on extensive. One of these, that of Messrs. Milligan, Letters, and Co., adjoins St. George's hall, and is not inferior to that pile in magnificence; another, of Messrs. John Foster and Son, called Foster. all lings, is equally beautiful and imposing; another, that of Mr. Hastings, in Swain-street, is in a style which that of Mt. Hastings, in Swain-street, is in a style when his beat termed the celestic Gothic; another, that of Mr. Absteronolio, built in 1862, has a height of four or five strike, with 15 windows in the length; and others, d in 1003-5, are similarly splendid.

The town and its suburb, till a recent period, were entity provided with Established places of worship. Or by three were here in 1840; but several were soon wards e- ted; and a plan was subsequently formed the Church Building Society, to erect ten more within e years, and was well advanced, in 1863, toward com-letion. The perish church, or St. Feter's, is perpen-cular English, of the time of Henry VI.; has a square tower, of a later date, buttressed to the top, and crowned with pinnacles; underwent recent, online, interior renovation, including the construction of a fine oaken roof; and contains a beautiful, canopied, sculptured font, a conument to the mathematician Sharpe, who died in 17:2, a rich sculptural monument by Flaxman to a - atteman of the name of Balme, and many other monu-1. dats. Christ church was built in 1814; and is a plain ti chie structure, with low pinnacled tower. St. James hards was built in 1839, and is a handsome edifice. St. Loke's church, at Broomfields, the fourth of the ten of the Church Budding Soulty, was erected in 1862; is in the decorated English style; has a south transcut and a roth eleter tower; and contains 700 sittings. St Leaves' church, your Cropper lane, West-gate, the fifth the ten we but in the came year; is also in the de-cide ten was built in the came year; is also in the de-cide in the case year; is also in the de-cidence of the case of the case of the case of the decidence of the case of the case of the case of the decidence of the case of the case of the case of the case of the decidence of the case o of phot 10 for high. All Saints charge, at horso-on, another of the ten was opened in the only partial 15th; stands on ground which required solid under-tranger and cost upon lost (10,000). St. Michael and "Angels church was built in 1505, ond is late first to the The Independent Carel, in Hortondam, was at a 1803, is in orbate renaissince, tyle, and cost above (b) A.1888, Is no offence relates the edge, and cost above 20% (b) two Exparts chaptes, in Manningham-line and the constance were built about the same time, at cost 100% (c) at 1,000% (s), ether dissenting chaptle, were 200% (c). it is 1866-9; and cone others are recent and good. pl softworking in 1851, view 12 of the Church of Jond, with 15,026 sittings; I of the United Presbyton circula, with 2020 sittings; I of the United Presbyton circula, with 2020 s; 6 of Budpandents, with 2,575 s; 10 of Perticular Papt 15, with 2,825 s; 2 of General Baptists, with 600 s; 1 of Quakers, with 1,000 s; 1 of Fluitatians, with 400 s; 1 of Monovius, with 254 s; 1 g; 1 of Weel-yan Methodists, with 7,70 s; 1 of New Connexion Methodists, with 7,70 s; 5 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,90 s; 3 of the Weeleyan Association, with 1,40 s; 3 of Weeleyan Reformers, with $10 s; 1 of Batter Day Satus, with 400 s; 1 and 1 of Bounn Cathodies, with 30 s; 1 and 1 of Bounn Cathodies, with 30 s.

The free grammar-school dates from the time of VL, wand VL; was rebuilt in 1830; is a spacious and digent structure, containing a good library, has an endowed income of £431; and entitles its schedars to be cachidates for the Hastings exhibitions in Queen's £6162, Orford. New schools, in connexion with 8t James £6162, Orford. New schools, in connexion with 8t James £6162, Vere built in 1850. There were, within the boough, in 1851, 27 public day schools, with 5,943 s.; and 195 Sunday schools, with 2,633 s.; and 45 Sunday schools, with 16,077 s. There are an Arts' exhibition, a mechanics' institute, a public library, a phibosophical society, a traperance-hall; and, in the neighbourhool, the degical training-schools, for Independents, Baptist, and Wedyans. There are also cavely barancks, an infirmary, a fever hospital of 1869, a dispensary, a workhouse, two

The town has a head post-office, two telegraph starl as, two banking-offices, and six chief ims. Maskets are held on Moneby and Thurs lay, and fairs on 3 March, 17 June, and 9 Dec. Manufactures of worsted yarn and wersted staffs have long been carried on; manufactures of damask, moreon, and mixed worsted and silk goods are now extensive; manufactures of cotton fabrics engage attention; alpace manufacture was introduced, and scarried on, at 8 Itaire, 4 miles distant; and extensive iron-works, together with abundant supplies of iron can and cal, exist at Bowling and Low Moor, in the neighbourhood. The town is a seat of sessions, and a pelling-place; and publishes three weekly newspapers. If wis incorporated in 1847, under a mayor, function allorated in 1847, under a magnificant between the start of the manufactures of the mathematician, were natives; and Arraham Shorp, the mathematician, were natives; and Dr. Scorcely, the arrive marginer and scientific writer, was for some time view.

The township consists of the central parts of the borrough. Acres, 1,680. Real property, 2280,518; of which 229 are in mines, 21,631 in quarries, 211,667 in trilly and 212,888 in gas works. Pop. in 1841, 34,500; in 1861, 48,648. Houses, 10,288. The parish is 15 mides long, and 4 in mean breadth; and comprises the townships of Bradford, Bowling, Horton, Manningham, North Bierley, Thornton, Clayton, Allerton, Wilsien, Shipley, Heaton, Eeeleshill, and Hawerth—the last in the district of Keighley, the rest in that of Bradford. Acres, 31,146. Real property, 2580,877, of which 210,450 are in mines, 25,881 in quarries, and 218,634 in iron-words. Pop. in 1841, 105,257; in 1891, 155,053. Hopewords, Pop. in 1844, 105,250; in 1891, 155,053. Hopewords, Pop. in 1850, 155,050, 155

the Bishop; of St. Stephen, C. Hardy, Esq. The rectory of Haworth, the vicarages of Bierley, Butterslaw, Oxenhope, Shipley, Denholme, and Wilsden, and the p. curacies of New Leeds, Horton, Bankfoot, Girlington, Wibsey, Low Moor, Clayton, Eccleshill, Laister-Dyke, Meston, and Thornton, also are separate benefices.

The two sub-districts are Bradford-East-End and Bradford-West-End; and the fotner comprises the part of Bradford township enstward of Broad-Stones, Church-Bridge, and Market-street; while the latter consists of the rest of the township.—The district comprehends also the sub-district of Bowling, conterminate with the township of Bowling; the sub-district of Horton, containing the townships of Horton and Manningham; the subdistrict of Thornton, containing the townships of Thornton and Clayton; the sub-district of Wilsden, containing the townships of Wilsden and Allerton; the subing the townships or wissen and american the sub-district of Shipley, containing the townships of Shipley and Heaton; the sub-district of North Bierley, conten-minate with the township of North Bierley; the sub-district of EUe, containing the townships of Eccleshill, Idle, and Bolton; the sub-district of Pudsey, conterminate with the township of Pudsey; the sub-district of Calverley, conterminate with the township of Calverley-with Farsley; the sub-district of Drighlington, containing the townships of Drighlington and Tong; and the sub-district of Cleckheaton, containing the townships of Cleckheaton, Wike, and Hunsworth. Aeres, 40,334. Cleekheaton, Wike, and Hunsworth. Aeres, 40,331, Poor-rates in 1863, £37,168. Pop. in 1841, 132,161; in 1861, 196,475. Houses, 41,822. Marriages in 1866, 2,294; births, 8,417,—of which 611 were illegitimate; deaths, 5,951,—of which 2,871 were at ages under 5 years, and 57 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60. 18,143; births, 74,843; deaths, 48,609. The places of worship in 1851, were 32 of the Church of England, with 23,426 sittings; 1 of the United Presbyterian church, with 639 s.; 17 of Independents, with 10,615 s.; 15 of Baptists, with 7,760 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 1,000 s.; 2 of Unitarians, with 490 s.; 3 of Moravians, with 1,131 s.; 43 of Wes-Methodists, with 1,197 s.; 18 of Printitive Methodists, with 1,197 s.; 18 of Printitive Methodists, with 1,197 s.; 18 of Printitive Methodists, with 4,122 s.; 5 of the Wesleyan Association, with 1,827 s; 10 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 1,184 s; 5 modefined, with 698 s; 3 of Latter day Saints, with 590 s; and 1 of Roman Catholies, with 380 s. The schools were 66 public day schools with 10,798 scholars; 188 private day schools, with 7,427 s.; 181 Sunday schools, with 32,645 s.; and 52 evening schools for adults, with 1,479 s. Workhouses are in Bradford and Idle townships.

BRADFORD, LEEDS, AND HALIPAX RAILWAY.
See LEEDS, DRADFORD, and HALIFAX RAILWAY.
BRADFORD, WAREFIELD, AND LEEDS RAILWAY.
AT Allway connecting the three towns from which it takes its name, by junctions with the Leeds, Bradford, and Halifax at Leeds and Ardsley, and with the Lancashire and Yorkshire. It is 10 miles long; and was authorized in 1854, and opened in 1857. It is the shortest line between Leeds, Bradford, and Wakefield; affords the most direct route from Leeds and Bradford, by way of the Great Northern, to London; and accommodates an extensive eoal district.

BRADFORD-ABBAS, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Sherborne district, Dorset. The village stands on the river Yeo, adjacent to the Southwestern railway, 21 miles ESE of Yeovil station, and 3! SW by W of Sheborne; and has a post-office under Sherborne. The parish comprises 1,139 acres. Real property, £3,055. Houses, 1943. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicarage, united with the rectory of Clifton-Maybank, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £479.* Patron, Winchester college. The church is good. An endowed school has £24; and other charities £23. The sub-district comprises thirteen parishes. Acres, 12,836. Pop., 3,72. Hot-se, 73. BRADFORD-CUM-BESWICK. See FRADFORD. An endowed school has £24; and other charities

Maneluster

BRADFORD-DOWN, a range of hill in Dorset; immediately W of Derchester. The summit of it, 3 miles from the town, commands an extensive view.

BRADFORD-EAST-END. See B. (DFORD, York) shire

BRADFORD (GREAT). See BRADFORD, Wilts. BRADFORD (NORTH), a hundred in Salop. It is ent into the three divisions,—Drayton, containing eight parishes and parts of two others; Wem, containing three parishes and part of another; and Whitchurch, also containing three parishes and part of another. Acres, 120,003. Pop., 27,270. Houses, 5,718.

BRADFORD-NORTHWESTERN. See BRADFORD.

Wilts.

BRADFORD-ON-AVON. See BRADFORD, Wilts. BRADFORD-PEVERELL, a village and a parish in orchester district, Dorset. The village stands on the Dorchester district, Dorset. The village stands on the river Frome, under Bra-hord-Down, near the Roman road to lichester, and near the Dorchester and Yeovil railway, 3 miles XW by W of Dorchester.—The parish includes also the hamlet of Muckleford; and its postthermost are names of intersector; and its post-town is Stratton, under Dorchester. Acres, 2,700. Real property, £2,658. Pop., 361. Honses, 75. The property is divided among a few. Roman entipuities property is divined among a rew. Roman enterprise have been found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £220, a Patron, Winchester cese of Salisbury. Value, £222.* Patron, V. College. The church is good. Charities, £5.

BRADFORD ROAD, a chapelry in Manchester parish, Lancashire; in the eastern suburbs of Manchester. 1t was constituted in 1837, and reconstituted in 1859. Pop., 10,540. Houses, 2,043. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Manchester; of the value of £300, in the patronage of trustees.

BRADFORD (SOUTH), a hundred in Salop. It is cut into the two divisions of Newport, containing eight parishes and part of another; and Wellington, containing ing eighteen parishes. Acres, 80,818. Pop., 48,820. Houses, 9,384.

BRADFORD-SOUTHEASTERN. See BRADFORD,

BRADFORD (WEST), a township in Mitton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Ribble, 2 miles N of Clitheroe. Acres, 1,700. Real property, £2,157. Pop., 289. Houses, 73.
BRADFORD-WEST-END. See Bradford, York-

BRADGATE, a hamlet in Kimberworth parish, W. R. Yorkshire; I mile W of Rotherham.

BRADGATE-PARK. See BROADGATE-PARK.

BRADHOLME, a hamlet in Thorne parish, W. E.

Yorkshire.

BRADIFORD, a village in Pilton parish, Devon. BRADING—anciently Berenix, or Berenyrver—a small town and a parish in the Isle of Wight. The town stands on the I. of W. railway, at the head of Brading haven, 34 miles S by E of Ryde; and has a r, station, a post-office under Southampton, and an inn. ancient, but decayed place; and consists chiefly of one long street, dejected and half-ruinous. It was long a market-town. It formerly sent members to parliament; it still is governed by a small corporation; and it pos-sesses a common soal, with the words, 'The King's town of Brading." The town-hall and market-house is a half-timbered structure, given up to neglect. A masa ham-timbered structure, given up a negative is a relie of the barbarons sport of bull-builting. The york; is, to a considerable extent, transition Norman; and contains an elligies of Governor Cherowin who died in 1441, and two ancient monuments of the Oglanders. In 1941, and two ancient monthments of the Ogtanders. The churchyard has the grave of Leigh Richmond's "little Jane," and the tomb of Mrs. Berry, with the inscription beginning, "Forgive, blast shade, the tributary tear," set to music by Dr. Calcott. There is an Independent chapel. Some business is done in corn and fishing, small vessels consense this base, it was the small vessels consense this base of the corn and fishing, small vessels consense this base, it was the consense that the consense the consense pentent chaper. Some business is done in command fishing; small vessels come up at high water to the quay, and fairs are held on 12 May and 2 Oct.—The parish contains also the villages of Beinbridge and Sandown, and the hamlet of Alverstone. Acres, 10,107; of which Honses, 706. The property is much subdivided. Numbel, NW of the town, amid richly wooded grounds, is the seat of Sir II. Oglander, Bart, the descendant of Bichard Okelandro, who came from Normandy with the Conquisor. Brading-down, S and W of Nunwell, comreands a brilli art view. Brading-Loven, is only partly in the parish; goes out to the sea by a nurrow mouth, at Bendridge-point; novers about 600 acres; looks like a fine lake at high vater, and like a muldy swamp at low; yilds proligious quantities of excellent cockles; and was formerly noted for an oyster bed. Several strenmens attempts have been made to reclaim it from the tide, by m and of an embankment across its mouth : but without m ans of an embankment across its mouth; but without streess. The living is a vicanage in the dicese of Win-chester. Value, £250.4 Patron, Tunity College, Cam-brilge. The p. curacies of Bembridge and Sundown are separate buefors. Leigh Richmond was for some time curacte and wrot the Ris "Young Cott ger," "Dury-man's Daughter," and "Negro Servant."

BRADLE, a tything in Church-Enowle parish, Dorset; I mile W of Corfe-Castle. Pop., 480. Houses, 90.

Set; Iraile W of coffee-assite. Fq., seo. Houses, co. BRADLEY, Goincester. See Broadwill.
BRADI EY, a tything in Cunnor parish, Berks; 4½ milles XYW of Ablugdon. Pq., S. House, 1.
BRADLEY, c hamlet in Fredsham Ludship and pre-BiADLEY, a familet in Protsham Disamp and prish, Cheshire; I mille SEE of Fredsham. Fop. 77.

BRADLEY, a township in Malpas perish, Cheshire;
2 mills SE of Malpas. Acres, 857. Real property,
21,037. Pop., 110. Houses, 22.
BRADLEY, a perish in Ashbourne district. Derby;
24 milks E by S of Ashbourne r. station. Post-town, Ash-

23 mass Johns of Astronomics Protection, Science Acres, 2,874. Real property, 28,144. Pop. 253. House, 49. The property is divided among a few. The purish is a restor of sportsmen. The living is a rectory in the divises of Lichfield. Usine, 4250. Partin, the Bishep of Lichfield. The church is ancient and decayed. Gisborne's charities for Bradley and many other places in the county yield £687 a-year.
ERADLEY, a hundred in Gloury-ter. It lies in the blandshi, a kindred in Glourester. It has in the sestent part of the country; and contains Aston-Rack purish, sixt-en other parishes, and parts of two others. A 1 8, 26,769. Pop., 5,943. Hour-s; 1,225. BRADLEY, a parish in Basingsroke district, Hants; 6 reless WNW of Alton a station, and 65 8 of Insing-

6 Priles WAW of Auton r. Station, and 69 8 of resemptives, Possition, Person Candever, under Micheldeversiation, Aeres, 969. Real property, 4869. Pop., 160. Houses, 25. The property is divided armong a few. The living is a rectory in the discress of Winderson Value, 2290. Patron, C. E. Rumbold, Esp. The chart his goal and them are desiring form.

Valley 2299. Fairon, C. R. Reimong, Esq. The chin h is good; and there are charities 220. BRADLEY, a builde in Holt chapelry, Leicester; 23 miles NW of Rockingham. A small Augustinian priory was founded here, in the time of King John, by Robert de Bindy: and given, at the dissolution, to Thomas Nevell.

Bindy; and given, at the dissolution, to Thomes Nevell, BRADLEY, a parish in Calstor district, Lincoln; 22 miles SW of Great Grimsby r. station. Post-town, Grimsby. Acres, 1,523. Ped property, 21,200. Prost-town, 198. House, 19. The manor belongs to Sir J. Neltherpe, Bart. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, 4151. Patron, Sir J. Nelthorpe, Bart. BRADLEY, achapelry in Wolverhampton parish. Staffel; castituted in 1895. Pop., about 4,600. Living, a viology. Volue, 2150. The church was completed in 2805, a no est of $6,000; and is in the early English style. BRADLEY, a Landt tin Burstenn parish. Staffeli in

BRADLEY, a Lambet in Burslem purish, Stafford; in the Meinstry of Bertsen. It is rich in unincular, BMADLEY, a parish in the district and county of Spiffelt; 2 railes SSE of Haughton r. stytion, and 5 SW of Stadout. It includes the liberties of Billington 58 m of Sonord. Te mercues are more less of sonorge of red Wood ston; and its post-town is Church-Earon, it let Straight. Acres, 3,376. Real property, 48,752. Pop., 507. House, 125. The property is much sub-Pop., 507. House, 125. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicency in the discase of Polantik Value, 275. Perion, the Pulse of Surface, Lat. The thruch is very good. A free school L., 202; wei other chanties £10.

BRADEN, achapelry in Fle Bony parish, Worrester, 55 miles ESE of Drothwich. Pop., 310. Hones, 62, Two Lving is a rectory. Value, 2770. Extron the Bishap of Worcester. The church was bells in 1865.

Lat APLEY, a hamlet or Had i refield township, W.

R. Yorkshire; on the Manchester and Leeds railway, 3 miles ME by E of Huldersfield. It has a station on the railway, a church of 1861, and a large cotton factory.

BRADLEY, Salop. See WYKE and Bradley. BRADLEY, West Gloncester. See Linwell and BEABLEY

BRADLEY AND MOXLEY, a railway station in Staffordshire; on the Birmingham and Wolverhampton railway, 11 mile SE of Bilston.

BRADLEY-FIELD. See Underbarrow.

BRADLEY-FOLD, a station on the Bolton and Rochdale railway, Lancashire; 27 miles E by N of Bolton.

dale ralway, Lenceshure; 2; nutles E by N of Bollon, BRADLEY (Genera), a parish in Risbridge district, Suffolk; on the verge of the county, 5 miles SE of Dillughum r. staticn, and 6 N of Haversill. It has a post-office under Newmarket. Acres, 2,289. Rel. property, £3,369. For, 499. Houses, 90. The property is divided among a faw. The living is a rectory in the 18 divided amont a 15W. Talen, E407. Patients the Trustees of the Rev. W. S. P. Wilder. The church is substantial BRADLEY-GREEN, a village in Bildfulph parish, Stafford, 5% miles N of Burslem.

BRADLEY-IJAVERSTOE, a wapentake in the parts of Lindsey, Lincoln. It contains Bradley pairs of Lindsey, Lincoln.

parts of Lindsey, Lincoln. It contains measure process and thirty-two other parishes. Acres, 81,839. Pop., 10,771. Houses, 2,209.
BEADLEY-IN-THE-MOORS, a purish in Cheedle district, Stafforl; near the Uttoxeter canal, 11, mile-wayer of Moore station, and 4 ESE of Cheadle. Pograms of Moore station, and 4 ESE of Cheadle. with of Atton r. system, and 4 r.S.L of Cheadle. Peck town, Alton r. system, all of the property, 21,014. Pop., 43. Houses, 11. The property is all in one extret. The living is a vicarage in the dio-cese of Lichfield. Value, £58. Patron, the Earl of Shrewsbury. The clurch is good. BRADLEY (Litrarch, a parish in Risburdee district,

Suffolk; on the verge of the county, 5 miles N of Haverhill, and 6 SE by S of Dullingham r. station. Post-town, Great and 0.84 by 8.64 Palmignant, station, 108-town, Great Bradley, inder Newmarket, A-1es, 9.57. Real property, 21,201. Pop. 28. Houses, 7. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory in the descen-of Ely. Value, £250. Patrons, E. B. and C. F. Foster. The church has a brass of Day the printer who died in 1584, and four other brasses

BRADLEY (LOWER and UPPER). See BRADLEY-

BRADLEY (MAIDEN). See MAIDEN-BRADLEY. BRADLEY-MANOR, a hamlet in Bilston township, Stafford; 11 mile from Bilston. It has a post-office, of the name of Bradley, under Bilston. BRADLEY-WILLS, a hambet in Dalton township. Kirkheaton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles NZ:

Huddersfield

BRADLEY (NORTH), a tything, a parish, and a substrict in Westbury district, Wilts. The tything lies district in Westbury district, Wilts. The tything lies on an affluent of the river Avon, adjacent to the Great on in attends to the river Avon, aquaemt to the Great Western railway, 2 miles S of Trowbridge; and has a post-office under Trowbridge. Real property, £3,917. Pop., 955. Houses, 231.—The parish includes also the tything of Southwick. Acres, 4,656. Ecal property, £3,628. Pop., 2,193. Houses, 510. The living is a vicarage in the discress of Salisbury, Value, 2,538.5 Patron, Winchester College. The clurted was built in the 12th century, and went resently into decay; and a new one, to be in the cody transition style, with chapel and tower in the perpendicular style, was founded in 1822. Real-Hill vicanage is a separate charge. The re is a Baptist chapel. An asylom for poor, founded by Archdeacon Daubeny, and a school have £150.—The sub-district includes also put of Steeple-Asiton parish. Acres, 6,076. Pop., 2,510. Houses, 577.

BRADLEVS-BOTH, or Protective of the North Arithmetical theods and Liverped senal, and on the North Arithmetical through the property, £1,571. Pop., 442. Houses, 190.

BRADLEV (Wirst), a parish in Wells district, Somerset; on the Somerset and Dorset rullway, n. a. West Peneral Carlon, A miles E. by S. of Glastonbury. It includes the headlet of Parbrook; and its postowards. new one, to be in the early transition style, with charel cludes the handet of Parbrook; and its post-town is

East Pennard, and, r.S., pton-Mallet. Acres, 625. Peal property, £1,183. Pop., 136. Houses, 31. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of East Pennard, in the diocese of Bath and Wells.

BRADMERE-POOL, a pond in the NE of Dartmoor, Devon; 5 miles NW of Moreton-Hampstead. It occupies about 3 acres; is said to be unfathomable; continues full to the lip in the greatest droughts; and is thought by some to have been artificial and Druidical. An ellipical mound contiguous to it is also thought to have been Druidical; and a cromlech, called the Spinsters with three supporting stones 7 feet high, and an incurabent stone 15 feet long and 10 feet broad, is about 100 yards distant.

BRADMORE, a parish in Basford district, Notts; 51 miles SE of Beeston r. station, and 7 S of Nottingham. Post-town, Bruny, under Nottingham. Acres, 1,560. Real property, £2,556. Pop., 296. Houses, 71. Many of the inhabitants are stocking-makers. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Bunny, in the dio-cese of Lincoln. The church was long ago burnt, and has not been rebuilt.

BRADMORE, Middlesex. Sec Hammersmith. BRADNEY, a township in Worfield parish, Salop; 31 miles NE of Bridgmorth.

BRADNINCH, a precinct in Exeter city, Devon; contiguous to the parish of St. Paul. Honses 10

BEADNINCH, a small town and a parish in Tiverton district, Devon. The town stands on an eminence, 1 mile N of Hele r. station, and 2 SW of Collumpton. It was anciently called Braines; and it gives the title of Baron, under that name, to the Pakes of Cornwall. It dates from the Saxon times; and is thought by some to be older than Exeter. It was the head-quarters of King Charles and his army, on two occasions in 1644; and the head-quarters of Fairfax's army in October 1645. almost entirely destroyed by fire in 1665; and it is now a poor place, consisting chiefly of one street. It sent members to parliament from the time of Edward II, till that of Henry VII.; and was long a market-town. has a post-office under Collumpton; and fairs are held at it on the first Wednesday of April and the third Wednesday of Sept. The town-hall was built in the time of Henry V1., and repaired in 1858. An old jail, with capacity for two male and two femole prisoners, was restored in 1835, and is still in use. The parish church stored in 1835, and is still in use. The parish coura-is later perpendicular English; was recently restored; and contains a fine series of 1528, and an old paint-ing of the crucifixion. There are Baptist and Wes-leyan chaptels, and charties 270.—The parish includes the hamlet of Hele. Acres, 4,351. [seal property, also the hamlet of Hele. Acres, 4,351. Real property, 29,762. Pop., 1,796. Houses, 383. The property is much subdivided. The manor belongs to the Duchy of Cornwall. Bradninch House is an interesting old mansion, formerly the seat of the Sainthill family, now the seat of G. Pearse, Esq. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter, Value, £185." Patrons, the Dean and Canons of Windsor.

BRADOR, a township in Leek parish, Stafford; 2 miles SE by E of Leek. Real property, £4,513. Pop., 451. Houses, 85. The inhabitants are chiefly employed in copper-mines, BRADNOR,

See Barron, Bradner, and Rushock.

BRADOCK. See BROADOAK, Cornwall.

BRADON, a parish in Langport district, Somerset; near the Chard canal, 3 miles N by E of Hainster, and 5 SW of Laurgout r. station. It includes the tythings 5.8% of Languitt, station. It memors the tyrongs of North and South Braden; and its post-town is Isle-Abbott, under Tannton. Acres, 330. Real property, returned with Isle-Brewers and Puckington. Pop., 38. Houses, 11. The living is a sinceure rectory in the diocese of Eath and Wells. Value, £133. Patron, the Earl of Exergence. The church is in mins.

Earl of Egremont. The church is in runs.
BRADON-FOREST, an ancient forest, once occupying the greater part of the N of Wilts. It was known to the Saxons as Braselone or Briadun; overrun by Uthelweld in 965; and hel?, in the time of Henry IV., by Edmond of York. Badon-Pond in it, 4 miles E of Malmsbury, measures 3 of a mile by 1; and is the largest sheat of water in the county.

BiADPOLE, a parish in Bridport district, Dorset; on the Bridport railway, I mile NE of Bridport. Poston the Gradport railway, I mile ME of Bradport. Post-town, Bridport. Acros. 966. Real property, £5,324. Pop., 1,449. Houses, 270. The property is divelod among a few. The living is a vicarge, united with the p. curacy of St. Andrews, in the ducers of Salisbury. Value, £265.* Patron, the Lord Chanceller. The church was built in 1869; is in the early English style; and consists of nave, chancel, and vestry, with bell-and consists of nave, chanced, and vestry, was con-turned. The Bridport workhouse is in Bradpole. BRADSHAW, a township and a chapelry in Bolton-le-Moors purish, Lancashire. The township lies on the Bolton and Blykburn railway, adjacent to the Oaks station, 3 miles NE of Bolton; and has a post-office under Holton, Acres, 1,380. Real property, ±3,754. Pop., 792. Houses, 146. Bradshaw Hall was the sent of John Fradshaw, who presided at the trial of Charles I.; and is now the seat of T. Hardcastle, Esq. There are two cotton mills, a bleaching mill, and quarries. - The ch. is more extensive than the township, and was constituted in 1853. Pop., 1,968. Houses, 378. The hving is a vicerage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £150.* Patron, the Vicar of Bolton. The church is tolerable.

Patron, the Vicar of Botton. The church is toperane, BRADSHAW, a village and a chapelry in Ovenden township, Halifax parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands 1 mile NW of Halifax.—The chapelry was constitnted in 1842; and its post-town is Halifax. Pop., 2,17t. Houses, 457. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Houses, 457. The hyung is a p. cutacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, 2450. Patron, the Vicar of Halifax. The church was built in 1839.

BRADSHAW-EBGE, a township in Chapel-en-le-Frith parish, Derby; 1 mile W of Chapel-en-le-Frith, Real property, 27,259. Pop., 2,518. Houses, 455.

BRADSHAW-LEACH, a station on the Bolton and Wigan railway, Lancashire; 8! miles WSW of Bolton. Perklayer Hell, in the vicinity is the vect of 7. Real. Bradshaw Hall, in the vicinity, is the scat of T. Bradshaw, Esq. BRADSOLE, or St. Radigund, a ruiped Premonstra-BRADSOLE, or 8T. RADIGYND, a runed Fremonstra-tensian abbey in Polion putish, Kent; on high ground, commanding a good view, 3 miles NW of Dover. It was founded, in 1191, by Jeffrey, Earl of Petth, and given, at the dissolution, to the Auchbishop of Canter-bury. The principal gateway nearly all remains, much covered with ivy; and the chapel and some other parts are now used as a farm-house.

BRADSTONE, a parish in Tavistock district, Devou; on the river Tamer, 44 miles SSE of Launceston r. 813-tion, and S. NW by N of Tavistock. Post-town, Launces-ton. Acres, 1,257. Real property, £1,535. Pop., 142. Houses, 23. The property is divided between the Bradshaws and the Kellys. The manor-house, an old Tudor edifice, belongs to the former; and is now tenanted by a The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exctor. farmer. Tarmer. The fiving is a rectory in the diocese of Exet F. Value, £201.* Patron, the Bishop of Exeter. The church is perpendicular English; consists of nave, aisles, and chancel, with a tower; and is in tolerable condition.

BRADWALL, a township in Sandbach parish, Cheshire; on the Manchester and Birmingham railway, 2 miles NNW of Sandbach. Acres, 2,063. Real property, ±3,784. Pop., 437. Houses, 66. Bradwall Hall is the seat of the Lathams.

BRADWELL, a parish in Newport-Pagnell district, Ducks; on the Newport-Pagnell railway, 3 miles ESE of Stony-Stratford. It has a post-office under Stony-Stratford, and a railway station. Acres, 892. Real property, £3,452. Pop., 1,058. Houses, 233. The living is a vicarage in the discess of Oxford. Value, £191. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The purchial church is early English; and New Bradwell church, annexed to Stantonbury, is recent. Charities, £20.

RRADWELL, a township in Hope purish, Derby; under the Peak, 2 miles SE of Castleton. It has: post-edite under Shefield. Each property, 25 622. Pep., 1,304. Hensey, 297. Some of the inhabitants are corton-workers; but more are could yed in lead and calamine mines. A stalactific cavera includes numerous

Traces clambers, and extends upwards of 400 yards. clambers, and extends upwards of 400 yands. Traces of a Roman camp occur at Brough castle; and Roman tiles, coins, and other relies have been found there. The township has a school-claurch, Weslevan, Printitive Methodist, and Uniterian chapels, and charities £8. ELADWELL, a parish in Mutford district, Suffolk; on the East Suffolk railway, near Belton station, 2 miles on the East Suifolk railway, near Belton station, 3 miles SW by 8 of Great Yarmouth. Post-town, Varmouth. Acres. 2,333. Real property, £4,482. Pop., 387. Houses, 80. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £622.* Petron, J. Walker, Esq. The church has a curious ancient fourt; and is good. The church has a curious ancient fourt; and is good. The district of Maldon, Essex. The village stands was the wait of the neutral neutral relativest the Edwards.

mer the district of station, 1888. The transpositions near the point of the peniusula between the Blackwater estimay and the sea, 51 miles by water, but 12 by 1004, E of Mabban 1, station; and has a post-office mader Maldon, and a fair on 24 June. It is thought by Camden to don, and a har on 2) dune. It is thought by camben to occupy the site of the Roman Othona and the Saxon It ancestre. The puish is sometimes called Bradwellnext-the-Sea; and comprises 4,734 acres of land, and next-the-sea; and comprises 4,754 acres of and, and 5.331 of water. Real property, £8,151. Pop, 1,991. Houses, 217. The property is divided among a few. Bridwell Lodge is a chief residence. There are decoys for wild fewls. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Euchester. Value, £1,624.* Patron, W. M. Warner, Esg. The church is good; and there are charities 2103. -The sub-district contains five parishes. Acres, 25,887.

P. 1, 2,833. Horses, 579.
FEADWELL, Oxford. See Broadwrtt.
FEADWELL-ABBEY, an extra-parochial tract in Newport-Pagnell district, bucks; on the Northwestern rullway, configuous to Bradwell parish, 25 miles SE by Privace, configuous to Previous parish, a mines of a P ? Scony-Stratford, Aeres, 650. Real property, 2550. Pep. 14. Houses, 3. A small black priory was founded here, in the time of Stephen, by a bound of Wolverton; and given, at the dissolution, to Arthur Longfield; and an i gwee, at the dissolution to Arthur Longalen; and is now a fara-house.

BRADW.LL-NEXT-COCCESHALL, a parish in Braintee district, Essex; on the river Eladwater, 2 miles W of Coggeshall, and 4 E by S of Braintee r, station. Post-town, Coggeshall, under Kelvedon. Acres, 1,161. Heal property, 2,268. Pop. 273. Houses, 67. The property is divided among a few. The court before it Graymeth to the Wester. Houses, 67. The property is divided among a law. The maner belonged formerly to the Maxeys. The parish is a resort of sportsmen. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rechester. Value, £258.* Patron, M. P. C. Mayeys; and is good. Charities, 225.

BEADWELL-NEXT-THE-SEA. See Bradwest,

Maldon, Essex.
BRADWORTHY, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in Bideford district, Devon. The village stands near the Bude caual, 7 miles NNW of Holsworthy, and 12 SW of Boleford, ranging and it has a post-office witter Holswortley, North Devon, and fairs on 10 June, and 9 Sept. The parish include: also the handets of All's del aworthy. Denwerthy, Kinescorthy, and Youl-ster. Across 9,556. Real property, 25,025. Pop., 981. Horses, 185. A considerable portion of the surface is ne or and common. Many traces of Roman settlements have I sen observed. The living is a discourage method The living is a vicarage, united with the p currey of Paneras-Wyke, in the diocse of Fix ter. Volue, $244.7 Patron, the Crown. The church h can other roof and a lofty tower. The sub-district contains five parishes. Acres, 17,257. Pop., 611.

BLATFLETON, a township in Great Ayeliffe parch, Del ang on the river Skerne, and on the Neitheastern following 21 miles North Jahardon, Aeros, 2, 109. Real poperty, cr. 158. Pop., 254. Hences, 43. There is a HEAPI EETON, a village and a township in Hasing-wold destrict, and a perish in hasing-old land Report dis-tricts, N. E. Vock, here. The village stands on the river tries, N. E. Veek in it. The video stands on the river stands of t which has a post-office under York. The township comprises 1,920 sers. Real property, £1,600. Fep. 199. Houses, 42. The purish includes also the townships of Helperby and Thornton-Bridge, Acres, 4,893. Real property, £7,582. Pop., 904. Houses, 214. The proproperty, $2,502. Pop., 991. Houses, 214. The property is subdivided. The living is a victage in the dioces of York. Value, £307.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good; and there are charities £27. BRAFFORDS, a village in Swinland township, E. R. Yorkshire; 7 miles W of Hull.

Yorkshire; 7 miles W of Hull.
BRAFIELD, a parish, and a sub-district in Hardingstone district, Northampton. The parish is called also brafield-on-the-Green; and lies 1½ mile 8 by E of Billing Bond r, station, and 5 F by 8 of Northampton.
Post-town, Little Haugiston, under Northampton. Acres, 1280. Real present, 42,442. Phys. 494. Houses, 108. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, amend to the vicarage of Little Hoghton, in the discess of Peterborough. The church was restored in 1858. There are a Baptist chapel, a national school, and charities £16.—The sub-district contains school, and chantes 119.—The sub-district centaris seven parishes. Fop. 3,411.

BRAICH-MELYN, a hamlet in Llaudlechid parish, Caractron; 24 miles 8P of Bengor.

BRAICH-V-DINAS, or DINAS-PENMAIN, an ancient British fort on the NE coast of Carnatyon; on the sun-British fort on the NE coast of Carnarvon; on the sumit of Pennaen-many, 4 miles WSW of Conyay. It had capacity for 20,000 men; possessed more strength thun any other British post in Snowlonia; and was the station of the reduced Welsh army during the negotiation between Primes Llewellyn and Edward I.

BRAICH-Y-PWLL, a headland at the southwestern extremity of Carnaryon; 21 miles N of Bardsey island. It is the Cancani Promontorium of Ptolemy, and commands a very grand view.

BRAIDLEY, a hamlet in Carlton-Highdale township,

N. R. Yorkshire: 2 miles SW of Middleham.

N. R. Yorkshire; 9 index SW of Middleham.

BRAILES, two handlets, a parish, and a division in Warwick. The handlets are Upper and Lower Brailes; they lie 3 and 4 miles ESE of Shipston-on-Stour, and about 6 NE by E of Moreton r. station; they have a post-office, of the name of Brailes, under Shipston-on-Stour; and one of them was formerly a market-fouri, and has still a fair on Easter Thursday - The parish includes has still a fair on Easter Thursday has still a far on Easter Thursday—The parish includes also the handers of Chelmicott and Winderton; and is also the handers of Chemiscon and ormacism, in the district of Shipston-on-Stour. Acres, 5,220. Real property, 270,548. Pop., 1,347. Houses, 305. The monerty is divided among a few. _The major be-The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged, before the Conquest, to Edwin Faul of Mercia; was given, by the Conqueror, to Henry de Newburgh; and passed to the Beauchamps. Brailes House is now the seat of the Sheldons. Brailes Cover is a meet of the sear of the sheards. Drain's Cover is a five of the Warwick bounds. Some parts of the surface are hilly and have fine views. The living is a vietney in the diocese of Worsester. Value, 2343. Patron, J. Jetan, Esq. The church is partly early English, partly perpendicular, but is in good condition. There are a Quakers? chapel, a Roy in Catholic chapel and school, an erdowed school with £61 a-year, a national school, a life my and reading-room, and charities £68.—The division contains from prisines; and is in Kingon handed. Acres, 35,942. Pap., 7,559. Houses, 4,575.

BRAILSEORD, a parish and a sub-district in Ash-borne district. Berly. The parish has on an affinent of the river Days, 6 miles We Duffield r. station, and 6; 10 miles we have been affined to the river Days, 6 miles We Duffield r. station, and 6; 10 miles we have been affined to the river Days, 6 miles we be under the river Days, 6 miles we have been affined to the river between the results of the results of the river between the river betwe Sil of Ashbertas and it includes the handet of Edvas Si of A Abbrase and it includes the hander of Libras for, and has a post office under Dady. Acres 4,296 Real property, 27,331. Pop., 773. Horees, 156. The property is abeliable. The living is an etal with the rece of Libribell. Value, 2573. The church is good; and those are two Meth. 354 drupels and a ratio at 85 doc. The sub-district contains three purpose, and parts of three others. Pop., 3,65.

EPALYPS. See Branchten, Davier.

BRAINTFIELD, BRANTPHED, OF BRANEFICE, a pa-

a few. Braintfield Place is the seat of the Brasseys. Tho living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £267.* Patron, Abel Smith, Esq. The church is good. Thomas à Becket was rector.

BRAINTREE, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Essex. The town stands on the river Blackwater, on the Roman road to Colchaster, and on the Blackwater-Valley and Bishops-Stortford railway, 6} miles north-north-westward from the Witham June tion of the Eastern Counties railway, and 12 miles NNE of Chelmsford. It arose, in the Roman Catholic times, from thoroughfare of pilgrims into Suffolk and Norfolk; fell fast into decay after the Reformation; and revived under the influence of trade. The manor was known, at the Conquest, as Great Rayne or Branchetren; and belonged, till the time of Edward VI., to the Bishops of London. The town is straggling; occupies a rising-ground; and connects on the N with locking. The streets, for the most purt, are narrow; and many of the houses are old and timbered. A corn exchange was built in 1839. The parish church stands on a high mound, thought to have been the site of an ancient camp; is later English and spacious, with a tall spire; was enlarged, prior to the Reformation, with the proceeds of three plays acted in it; and contains the tomb of Dr. Collins, physician to Peter the Great. The site of the former church, and some vestiges of a palace of the Bishops of London, are 1 a mile distant. The town has a head post-office, t a railway station with telegraph, two banking-offices, two chief inns, four dissenting chapels, a mechanics' institute, a free school, and some charities a mechanics instance, a free school, and some charities; and it is a seat of petty sessions and a polling-place, and publishes a weekly newspaper. The Independent chapel is a large and handsome edifice, built in 1832; and the free school has £18 a-year from endowment, and educated Ray the naturalist. A weekly market is held on Wedmesday; and fairs on 8 May and 2 Oct. A considerable woollen trade sprang up in the time of Elizabeth, but went into decay; and a trade in silk and crape is now carried on. Dawes, the archbishop, and Tusser, the agricultural poet, were born in the neighbourhood. Pop., 4,305. Houses, 980.

The parish comprises 2,212 acres, of which 58 lie de-The parish comprises 2,212 acres, of when 5 are tached within Stisted. Real property, 216,324. Pop., 4,620. Honses, 1,051. The property is much sub-divided. The living is a vicerage in the diocess of Receiver. Yalue, £300. *Patron, Rev. C. J. Cartwright. The sub-district contains the parish of Braintree, Rayne, Black Notley, White Notley, and Cressing. Acres, 10,403. Pop., 6,600. Houses, 1,500. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Bocking, containing the parishes of Bocking, Panfield, Stisted, Pattiswick, and Bradwell-next-Coggeshall; and the sub-district of Finchingfield, containing the parishes of Tinchingfield, Wethersfield, Shalford, and Great Saling. Acres, 33,652.

Poor-rates in 1866, £10,187. Pop. in 1861, 17,170. Houses, 3,839. Marriages in 1866, 138; births, 578,—of which 34 were illegitimate; deaths, 339,—of which of which 34 were Hightmate; deaths, 503,—or which 165 were at ages under 5 years, and 13 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years [851-60, 1,233; births, 5,591; deaths, 3,603. The places of worship in 1851 were 14 of the Church of England, with 5,921 sittings; 8 of Independents, with 4,745 s.; 2 of Exptists, with 819 s.; 1 of Qualers, with 210 s.; and 1 of Weslevan Methodists, with 259 s. The schools were 19 public day schools, with 1,500 scholars; 50 private day schools, with 1,174 s.; 22 Sunday schools, with 2,455 s.; and 2 evening schools for Studdy schools, with 2,455 s.; and 2 evening schools in-dulls, with 45 s. The workhouse is in Bocking. ERAISEWORTH, or Britisworth, a purish in Hattis-mere district, Suffolk; 2 miles SSW of Eyer, station, and 2] SE of Mellis. Post-town, Eye. Acres, 720. Real property, £1,317. Pep., 164. Houses, 30. Britiseworth Hall it is disjut residence. The living is a restrey in the Hall is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diccess of Norwich. Value, £149. Patron, Sir E. Ker-The church was built in 1857. rison, Bart.

BRAISHFIELD, or BRASHFIELD, a chapelry in the parishes of Mitchelmersh, Romsey, and Hursley, Hants; on the Anton river, and the Andover railway, 34 miles N of Rousey r. station. It was constituted in 1855; and it has a post-office under Romsey. Pop., 452. Houses, 100. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Win-chester. Value, 250. Patron, the Rector of Mitchel mersh.

BRAISTY-WOOD, a handet in Hartwith-Winsley township, W. R. Yorkshire; 42 miles W of Ripley.
BRAITHWAITE, a township in Crosthwaite parish, Cumberland; on the Cockermouth and Penrith railway, 3 miles W of Keswick. It has a railway station, a nost-office under Windermere, and an inn. Pop., 326. post-office under Winderpiere, and an inn. Pop., 326. The inhabitants are employed chiefly in lead mines and woollen manufactures wooten manuacures.

PRAITH WAITE, a hamlet in Keighley parish, W. R.

Yorkshire; in the vicinity of Keighley.

BRAITHWAITE, a hamlet in Kirk-Bramwith parish,

R. Vorkshire; 44 miles W of Thome.
BRAITHWAITE, Mid Cumberland. See MIDDLE-

SCRUGH-WITH-DRAIDHWAITE.

BRAITHWELL, a village and a town-hip in Doneaster district; and a purish in Doneaster and Rotherham districts, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands 21 miles SSE of Conisbrough r. station, and 4\forall W by N of Tick hill: and has a post-office under Rotherham. The township includes also the hamlet of Micklebring. Acres, 1,920. Real property, £2,734. Pop., 422. Houses, 99. The parish contains also the township of Bramley. Acres, 2,904. Real property, £4,581. Pop., 757. llouses, 177. The property is much subdivided. Roman coins and urns have been found. The living is a rectory in the dio. of York. Value, £330.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is early English. There are two Wesleyan chapels, and charities £21.

BRAKES, a township in Leintwardine parish, Hereford; 4½ miles W of Ludlow. Pop., 179. Houses, 23. BRAMALL. See Bramhall.

BRAMBER, a village, a parish, and a rape in Sussex. The village stands on the river Adur, and on the Roman road from Dover to Winchester, adjacent to the Horsham and Shoreham railway, & a mile SE of Steyning; and has a station on the railway. It consists now of only a few cottages; but it was long a place of importance, and a market-town. It was known to the Saxons as Brymmburgh, signifying "a fortified hill;" and it was a borough by prescription, and sent two members to purliament till disfranchised by the act of 1832. One of its representatives, for a time, was the famous Wilber-force.—The parish includes the village; and is in the district of Steyning; and its post-town is Steyning, under Hurstperpoint. Acres, 854. Real property, 21,129. Pop., 119. Houses, 26. The manor belonged, before the Conquest, to the Saxon kings; was given, by the Conqueror, to William de Braose; passed to the Howards; and belongs now to the Duke of Norfolk. Roman castellum seems to have been here; and remains of a Roman bridge have been observed. A Saxon royal fort succeeded the castellum; a Norman keep was added to the fort, and a great haronial eastle arose out of these. a moated, irregular parallelogram, 560 feet by 280; and was held by the parliamentarian troops during the civil war, and went soon afterwards into decay. Little of it now remains except a fragment of a lofty barbican tower, and a mound representing the keep. The tower has a Norman window; and the mound commands an extensive and very striking view. The living is a rectory, united with the vicarage of Botolph, in the discess of Chichester. Value, £169. Patron, Magdalene College, Oxford. The charch stands close to the eastle; shows some Norman features; and seems once to have been cruciform, with a central tower .- The rape extends quite across the county, from Surrey to the channel; is bi sected, in the southern part, by the Adur; measures 21 miles by 9; and contains the hundreds of Brightford, Indeed, East Faswirth, Fishergate, Patching, Single-cross, Steyning, Tarring, Tipnoak, West Grinstead, and Windham and Ewburst. Acres, 117,413. Pop. in 1851, 35,90s; in 1801, 35,97. Houses, 6,586.

BRAMBLE CHINE, a small ravine on the NW coast of the bld of Wickers Collection.

of the Isle of Wight; at Colwell bay, 2 miles SW of Yar-

A fillik bed of oyster shells, in a fossil state, is

12. A CLAR bod of cycler shells, in a fossil state, is the shell be in the same position as in life, but one for the charge position as in life, but one for the charge position.

BEAMBLETYE HOUSE, a min 21 miles SE of East consists, in Sussex. It possesses little intinise interact, but has some notoriety through Herace Smith's more track. The Losse was built, in the time of James L., It she Heavy Completing and belonged, in 1683, to still have Completing and belonged, in 1683, to still have the first time of a charge of BUANCOTE, a village and a parish in the district of She Port, and county of Nottingham. The village tun. near the verge of the county and near the Notto given cound at I the Riewash river, II mile ENE of Son Juers and Startleford r. station, and 5 WSW of Net-S. A. Harry and S. Agostott, Sauton, and J. W. St. of Net-t (Living, the super-collection for that town.—The pa-vist congriss 1,676 acros. Heal property, 23,700. Pop., vol. Monses, 147. The property is divided among a time Francote House is the sext of the Sherwins. The He di sono, a Dunidical monument 50 feet high, studisca a bere knell. Much of the surface is hull and mach. Cod is found. A number of the inhabitants work in the lare and hosiery trades. The living is a p. chisey, annex. I to the vicarage of Attenborough, diames of Line in. The church was built in 1802; is in the decorated English style; and consists of nave, olsh, chang I and vestry, with a tower and spire 130 fact high. The previous church contained o'cle, abase L and vestry, with a tower and spire 130 for high. The previous chinch contained monuments of the Handleys. There are a Wesleyan chape I, a national chied, and charities £40.

HRAMCOTT, a handlet in Bulkington and Wolvey wrishes, Warwick; in the vicinity of the Ashby-dashallor, Variable SE of Nuncaton. Pop., 73.

The Mark No. 2016 in the Second Second

DRAMDEAN, a parish in Alresford district, Hants; 4 DAMPEAN, a parish in Afreshold distinct, flatter, 4 wild is SE for New Afresford it station, and SI E by S of Wingleston. It has a post-office under Afresford, Acres, 1994. Red property, 21,825. Pop., 282. Hours of the Top property is sublivided. The parish wave are of spoilsmen. A Roman payment was found large and in court of Ch. Midnei 1995. of Winchester. It has a post-omer united Airestond. Acres, 1794. Heat property, 21,825. Pop., 282. Hours, 55. The projectly is subdivided. The parish extre at dispersion. A Roman payment was found been, and is covered. The living is a rectory in the discover of Winchester. Value, 2201. Patron, the Lord Chanceller. The church is Norman, with an early Finglish chancel; and has been restored.

121 (MEPRON a register in Hausterd district, Nor-

Hish char ed; end has been restored.

BRAMERTON, a parish in Henstead district, Nor-tick; mar the river Yare, 21 miles SSW of Brandall r. Serien, and 5 SE of Norwich. It has a post-office under Norwich. Acres, 72-8. Real property, 21,516.

Prop., 300. Houses, 60. The property is divided aroung a few. Branerton Hall is the sear of R. Fellowse, Esq. The hying is a re-tray in the directe of Norwick. Value, the church of the Patrick, II. R. Fellowse, I. a. The church not reported. Pation, R. Fellowes, Fig. The church is very good. There are an endowed school, and other

BRAMFIELD, a parish in Blything district, Suffolk; the East Suffolk railway, near the river Blythe, 2 12.3 8 of Halloworth. It has a post-office under Sax-ticular A. Halloworth. It has a post-office under Sax-ticular A. Acres, 2,546. Real property, 25,160. Fig. 644. Herses, 154. The property is much studi-tated. Brunfield Hell is the soft of Col. Robinson. The Ling is a violating in the discose of Norwich. Value, 24.2. Putron, the Lord Chamedor. The church is 211.2. Petron, the Lord Chanceflor. The convolu-city discreted English, without aisles; and has a rich and tower stands detuched. There are help about and P. Methodist chapels, as I am and wed school with £29 ayear. An ancient collaboration by help fill in 1845, is mentioned in the balled relating to Heigh Bigod's flight in 1174;—

" Wilen the Baily had ridden to Bransfield cak, Sir II) the established blower;
Length Bally had ridd u to Halesworth cross,
He was single give I may blower.

BPAMFIELD, Hosts. See BRAINTERLED. LPAMFOPD, a parish in Resumere district, Suffore; be river Cipping, and on the Eastern Union railway, is rule. NW of thewick. It has a station on the railway, at la post-office under hysylch. Acres, 3,226. It als reporty, 16,705. Pop., 1,619. Houses, 216. The reporty of the challength and extensive manure and cement works. The living is a vicatege, united with the p. curacy of Burstall, in the diocese of Norwich. Va-lue, £79.* Patrons, the Doan and Chapter of Canterbury. The church was restored in 1866. There are an Independent chapel, a national school, and charities £25.
BRAMFORD-SPEKE. See BRAMFORD-SPEKE.

BRAMIJALL, or Bramall, a township in Stockport parish, Cheshira; on the Manchester and Macclesfield railway, 2½ miles S of Stockport. It has a station on the milway. Acres, 2,250. Real property, £7,819. Pop., 1,615. Houses, 331. Brandall House, now the seat of the Davenports, belonged formerly to the Bramhales; is a fine timbered edifice of the 16th century, partly modernized; and contains portraits of Sir A. Legh, and many ancient interesting objects. There are Logh, and many ancient interesting objects. There are a cotton raill, a silk mill, a police-station, and hudependent and Wesleyan chapels.

BRAMHAM, a town-hip, a parish, and a sub-district, in Tadeaster district, W. R. Yorkshire. The town-hip bears the natio of Bramham-cum-Oglethore, line 21 miles SW of Newton-Kyme r. station, and 4 W of Tadmines on the action represents the name of Branham, under Taleaster. Acres, 3,971. Real property, £6,007. Pop., 1,331. Houses, £65.—The parish contains also 2 op., 1,001. Houses, 200.—The parish contains also the township of Clifford-cum-Boston. Acres, 5,162. Real property, £15,152. Pop., 3.48f. Houses, 721. The property is much subdivided. Brambam Park, now the property of G. Lane Fox, Esq., belonged formerly to the Lords Birgley; was built in the time of Queen Anne; consists of centre and wings, in the Greco-Italian style; contained till recently a portrait of Queen Anne, given by her in acknowledgment of her being entertained; and was visited by George IV. The proprietor of it has abandoned it as a residence, but maintains the grounds around it in good order, and resides in a handsome neighbouring mansion. Brancham moor has large remains of Watling-street; and is a resort of sportsmen. Excellent limestone is quarried; and coal is found, Sir Thomas Rokeby, in 1408, on the part of Henry IV., fought and defeated the Earl of Northunberland at Brancham. The living is a vicenage in the diocese of York. Value, 2300.* Patron, Christ Church, Oxford. The church consists of nave, aisles, and chancel, with tower and short spine; and has a tine pointed doorway. The vicarages of Boston Spa and Clifford are separate benefices. Branchum college, a fine building amid ornate tenences. Brandian college, a fine cuiding annel crimite grounds, is an educational institution for young gentlemen. There are two Methodist chapels, an endowed school, and charities £28.—The sub-district contains three parishen, parts of three others, and an extra-parechial tract. Acres, 17,659. Pop., 4,950. Houses, 1,038. BEAMHOPE, a township-chaptry in Other patish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the Leeds and Thirsk pollway, 2 miles S of Arthington station, and 3! SE by E of Otley. mucs 8 of Attinugton station, and 31 SE by F e C Otley. Post-town, Otley. Acres, 1,290. Real property, £2,655. Pop., 312. Houses, 83. The manor belongs to J. Dyneley, Esq. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £18. Patrens, Trustees. The church is plain. There are a Wesleyan charpel, and a Church school. BEAMINGHAM (GREAT and LITTLE), two hamlets in hatton people Bally, 21, 225 C. M.

BRAMINGHAM (GREAT and LITTLE, two hatmets in Luton parish, Bells; 3½ miles N of Latton.

PRAMILEY, a parish and a sub-district in Prsingstoke district, Hauts. The parish less on the Reading and Basingstoke radway, 4½ miles N by E of Basingstoke; and has a post-other under Estingstoke.

Acres, 925. 2,255. He property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the discess of Winchester. Value, 4,385. Patron, Queen's College, Oxford. The church is ancient; has a brass of 1508, and a monument to Dr. Show, the oriental traveller; and is in good condition.— The sub-district contains eight parishes.—Acres, 21,501. 5.008 op., 5,006. Houses, 1,621. BRAMLEY, a parish in Hambledon district, Surrey; on the Guildford and Horsham railway, 3 miles S by E of Guil bord. It has a post office under Guildford, and or our road, a r. station. Acres, 4,008. Red property, £5,203. Pop., 1,129. Houses, 219. The property is much subdivided. The nation-house is an old edifice, with pleturesque gables, now occupied by a furmer. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £160. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is partly Norman; and has a good early English chancel.

man; and has a good early English chancel.

BRAMLEY, a village and a township-chapelry in Leeds parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands adjacent to the Leeds, Bradford, and Halifax railway, near the Leeds and Liverpool canal, 4 miles NW by W of Leeds; and it has a station on the railway, and a postoffice; under Leeds. - The chapelry comprises 2,331 acres. Real property, £27,824. Pop., 8,690. Houses, 1,957. The property is much subdivided. Cloth manufacture is carried on; and excellent stone is quarried. The living carrier of ; and exceeds some is quarried. The living is a p. curacy in the dioces of lipon. Value, £239,* Patron, the Vicar of Leeds. The church was rebuilt in 1563, at a cost of £5,000. There are four dissenting chapels, a Roman Catholic chapel, an endowed school with £28 a-year, and charities £73.

BRAMLEY, a township in Braithwell parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 4 miles 8 by W of Conisbrough r. station, and 53 W by S of Tickhill. Real property, £1,817. Pop., 535. Houses, 78. Bramley Grange belouged to Roche Abbey; and passed to the family of Spenser.

BRAMEVITEE, I have passed to the family of spenser.

BRAMEVITEAD, a hamlet in Thruscross township, Fewston parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 9 miles W of Ripley, BRAMEPOID-SPEKE, a village and a parish in St.
Thomas district, Deron. The village stands on the river Exe, near the Bristol and Exeter railway, 4 miles N of Exeter; and has a post-office under Exeter. The parish includes also the lamlet of Cowley-Bridge. Acres, 1,642. Real property, £3,200. Pop., 494. Houses, 87. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged auciently to the family of Espek or Speke; and belongs now to Sir S. II. Northcote, Bart. The living is a vicarage, united with the rectory of Cowley, in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £216.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is very ancient; consists of nave, north aisle, chancel, and south chapel, with western square asse, chance, and south chapet, with restern square tower; and hus been completely restored. Charities, £15. BRAMPTON, a small town, a township, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Camberland. The town stands in a deep narrow vale, near the confluence of the rivers Irthing and Gelt, 12 mile N of Milton r. station, 2 S of the Roman wall, and 9 ENE of Carlisle. thought by Camden to occupy the site of the Roman station Brementuracum; it rose early to some importance, as a seat of population, and a centre of strength; it sustained much damage during the wars in the time of Edward II.; it was occupied, in 1715, by the troops of the Pretender, and in 1745 by those of Prince Charles Edward. It is long, and irregularly built; and has few modern houses. The town hall is an octagonal structure, resting on piazzas; and was erected in 1817. The parish church is a spacious edifice, of 1788, built in lieu of an ancient one about a mile distant. The grammar school, near the church, occupies the site of an hospital, founded in 1688. The workhouse was erected at a cost of £1,250. There are chapels for Presbyterians, Independents, and Methodist. The town has a post-office; under Carlisle, and two chief inns; and is a seat of petty sessions, and a polling-place. A weekly market is held on Wednesday, and fairs on 20 April, Trinity Wednesday, the se-cond Wednesday of Sept., and 23 Oct. Some cotton manufacture and extensive brewing are carried on. A mineral railway goes to Tindal fell; and a reilway to Longtown was authorised in 1856, Pop., 2,379. Houses, 514. The township extends into the country. Real property, ±19,742. Pop., 2,933. Houses, 619. The parish contains also the townships of Easby and Naworth. Acres, 16,970. Real property, £16,871. Pop., 3,585. Houses, 733. The property is much subdivided. The manor belongs to the Earl of Carlisle. Naworth Castle is the Earl of Carlisle's seat; and was formerly that of the Dacre family. Freestons is quarriel. A famous Roman inscription, noticed by Camuen, is still visible on a rock overbanging the Gelt. An ancient camp occurs on Castle-hill, with very extensive views. The living is a vicarage in the discusse of Carlide. Value, £166.* Patron, the Earl of Carlide. - The sub-district contains the parishes of Brampton, Farlam, Nether Deuton, and Upper Denton, the extra parochial tract of Midgeholm. and part of the parish of Lancrost, Pop. 5,501. Houses, 1,097. The district comprehends also the subdistrict of Walton, containing the parishes of Walton and Irthington, and part of the parish of Lancrost; and the sub-district of Hayton, containing the parishes of Hayton, Charlew, Cumwhitton, and Castle-Carrock, the extra parochial tract of Carlatton, and part of the parish extra parocular trace of carmoton, and part of the parocular of Wetherlel. Acres, 95,473. Poor-rates in 1866, £4,188. Pop. in 1861, 19,866. Houses, 2,170. Mariages in 1896, 55; births, 307,—of which 53 were illegitimate; deaths, 195,—of which 42 were at ages under 5 timac; decuis, tea—of which 42 were at agos much years, and 12 at agos above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 443; birth, 3,211; deaths, 1,836. The places of worship in 1551, were 12 of the Church of England, with 2,987 sittings; 1 of the Presbyterian church and, with 2,505 stunigs; 1 of the Fresoyterian enincer in England, with 200 s.; 1 of Independents, with 250 s.; and 12 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,250 s. The schools were 11 public day schools, with 532 scholars; 7 private day schools, with 392 s.; and 15 Sunday schools, with 1,102 s.

BRAMPTON, a parish in Chesterfield district, Derby; 3½ miles W by N of Chesterfield r. station. It includes the village of Culthorpe; and has two post-offices, of the names of Old Brampton and New Brampton, under names of our frampion and New brampion, under Chesterlield. Acres, 8,820. Real property, £10,141. Pop., 4,927. Houses, 1,051. The property is much subdivided. Brampion Hall is the seat of the Dickson: snodivided. Brampion from is the sear of the Dicksons, Coal and into ore are found; and pottery-ware, Leve, and stockings are manufactured. The living is a vicency of it he diocese of Lichfield. Value, 2300. Patron, the Dishop of Lichfield. The parish church is tolerable. St. Thomas's church is a Gothic structure with a tower. was erected in 1832, at a cost of £2,930; and is served by a rector, with income of £300, appointed by the bishop. There are chapels for Independents, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists, an endowed school, two national schools, and charities 271.

BRAMPTON, a parish in the district and county of Distance of the distinct and country of Hunting-long, on the river Ouse, near the Great Northern Eulway, 1½ mile WSW of Hunting-don. It has a post-office under Hunting-don. Acress, 2,411. Real property, £7,417. Pop., 1,270. Houses, 277. The property is divided among a few. Brampton Park belong, 1 to Sir John Barnard, who sat in the parliament which restored John Barnard, who sat in the parmanear whole, some Charles 11.; was the birthplace of Samuel Popys, some tarry to the admirally under Charles 11, and Janus 11; you can be sent of Lady O. B. Spatrow. The manand became the seat of Lady O. B. Sparrow. The man-sion was mostly rebuilt in 1820; and contains some fine family paintings. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Ely. Value, £160.* Patron, the Bishop of Ely. The church is later English, in very good condition; and has a monument to Sir John Barnard. Charities, £16.

BRAMPTON, a township in Torksey parish, Lincolar on the river Trent, 7 miles S by E of Gainsborough, Acres, 790. Red property, 21,576. Pop., 92. Houses, 18. BRAMPTON, a parish in Aylsham district, Norfolk; on the river Bure, and on the line of the projected scalway from Norwich to Cromer, 2 miles SE of Aylsham, and 11 N of Norwich. Post-town, Aylsham, under Norwich. Actes, 521. Real property, £1,260. Pop., 105. Houses, 46. The property is divided among a 105. Houses, 40. And property and other antiquities few. Some Roman coins, urns, and other antiquities have been found. The living is a rectory in the dion of Norwich. Value, £160. Patron, the Rev. H. P. Marsham. The church has a round tower, surmeunted by an octagonal lanthern; and is very good. BEAMPTON, a parish in Blything district, Sub-4k; on the East Sufiolk railway, 42 noise NE by N of Hales worth. It has a station on the railway; and its no t town is Great Redisham, under Halesworth. Acres, 2,002. Real property, £3,316. Pop., 310. Hases, 66. Brampton Hall is the scat of the Bev. G. O. Lethan, The living is he restored in the diocese of Norvich, Value, £434.* Patron, the Rev. G. O. Leman, The church is good, and there are town lands £43.

BRAMPTON, a township in Long Marton paish. Westmorehand; 2 miles N of Appleby. Real property.

£3,672. Pop., 201. The manor belonged to the Veteriponts, the Greystocks, the Laneasters, and the Imrtons. BRAMPTON, a station on the Northeampton and Market-Harbertough railway, 4% miles N of Northampton.

BRAMPTON, or BRAMPTON-ASE, a puish in the district of Market-Harborough and county of Northampton; near the Market-Harborough and Belford railway, 4 mear the Market-Harborough and Dedord ranway, 4 miles E by S of Market-Harborough. Post-town, Wilbbarston, under Rugby. Acres, 2,259. Real property, £3,259. Pop., 107. Houses, 21. The property is di-23,20. Pop., 107. Houses, 21. The property is di-vided among a few. The hrving is a rectory in the dio-cess of Peterborough. Value, £100. Patron, Earl Spencer. The church has two brasses, and is good. Charities #6. Bishop Cumberlan I was some time rector.

BRAMPTON-APROTS, a parish in Ross district, ERAMPTON-ABBOTS, a parish in loss distinct, Hereford; on the river Wye, and on the Hereford and Chriffster ratiway, 1½ ratie N of Ross. Post-town, Ross. Aeros, 1,452. Real property, £2,961. Pop., 267. Houses, 42. The property is divided among a few. Brampton-Abbots House is the seat of the Garrolls. The living is Abbuts House is the seat of the Garrolls. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £245.* Petron, the Bishop of Hereford. The church is very good.

BRAMPTON-ASH. See BRAMPTON, Northampton. BRAMPTON-BIERLOW, a village, a township, and a chapelry in Wath-upon-Dearne parish, W. R. Yorkshite. The village stands adjacent to the South Yorkshire railway and to the Dove and Dearne canal, 22 miles WNW of Wath r. station, and 5 N of Rotherham. The township includes also the hamlets of Coley-Lane, Cartwood, Hoober, New-Mill, and West Melton, and Cartwood, Hoober, New-Mill, and West Metton, and part of the handlet of Elsect, which has a post-office under-Eithenham. Acres, 3,074. Real property, 25,921; of which 22,700 are in mines. Pop., 1,838. Houses, 374. The property is divided among a few. There are iron foundries.—The chapelry was constituted in 1856, and is 188 extensive than the township. Pop., 1,733. F. mes, 344. The living is a vicarage in the discusse of New York, Value, 2150. Parton the Vicared Walt. The 1, mas, 541. The inving is a vicarage in the discusse of York. Value, £150. Patron, the Vieur of Wath. The church is very good. There are an Independent chapel, a well-endowed national school, and charities £50. BRANPTON-BRYAN, a village and a township in the district of Knighton and county of Herefor I; and a parish partly also in the county of Radnor. The village stands on the river Teme, 3 miles ESE of Bucknell r. station, and 10 W by S of Ludlow; and has a post-office, of the name of Brampton-Bryan, Herefordshipe, and a fair on 21 and 22 June. It dates from remote times; and had a castle built by the Norman Bryan de Brumpton, hold long by the Harleys, and Lesiege Land destroyed by the royalists in the civil war .- The township includes the village. Pop., 158. Houses, 29. -The parish contains also the townships of Borestor Land Pedwardine, and the lord ship of Stanage. Acres, 5,314. Real property, with Burkton and Coxall, £6,148. Pop., 430. Houses, 83. The property is divided among a few. Prampton Park is ti - seat of the Earl of Oxford. Coxwell Knoll has rest to a camp which was occupied by Chaethens pri r to his defeat by O. Scapula. The living is a rectively in the dioces of Hereford, Value, 2300,* Patton, Lady Laughale. The church was injured in the cavil war, and had long a mined tower, but was beautified in 1850 by the erection of a neat empola; and it contains the monoments of Lord Tressurer Harley, the found a of the Harleian Library. Charities, £19.

BRAMPTON-CHAPEL, a parish to Brixworth distriet, Northamptonshire; on an account of the river Non, and on the Northampton and Market-Harborough rolly y, adjacent to Dampton station, 41 miles N by W of Northampton. It has a post office moder Northamp-of Neithaunton. It has a post off a neder Northrong-te. Acros. 1,230. Red property, 22,115. I p. 476, He is 28. The church was longued demonstrated. BLAMPTON-CHITECH, or Bayon cose-Manna, a path in Brixworth district, Northermton dure, on an addicated of the river Nong a chest distance W by 8 of Bempton r station, and I ruibs. New Ornerhampton, Foot town, Brampton-Chapel, under Northempton, Acros. 4,160. Red property, a,1757. Pop. 178. Henry 3, 35. The property is not now helivided. Bump-ton Lodge is a chief residence. The living is a rectory ton Lodge is a center retrieval. This only is a vector in the diocess of Peterborough. Value, 2346. Patron, Cornes Christi College, Oxford. The church is decorated English, and in good condition. Caritics, 225. BRAMPTON CROFT'S END, a village in Long Mar-ton township and parish, Westmoreland; 3 miles N of Appleby. ERAMPTON-EN-LE-MORTHEN, a township in Trecton parish, W. R. York-hire; near the North Mulland railway, 5 miles SE of Rotherham. Acres, 1,000.

man ramway, 5 mies St. of rotherman. Actes, 1,600 Real property, 21,511. Pop., 116. Houses, 29. BRAMFTON (LITTIAL), a township in Hopesay parish, Salop; 52 miles SE of Dishops Costle. It has a post-office of the name of Little Brampton, Shropshire.

Pop., 44. BRAMPTON (Little), Hereford. See Rodd, Nash, and Little Brampton.

BRAMPTON-MAGNA. See Brampton-Church. BRAMPTON (New and Olt). See BRAMPTON, Deroy.

BRAMSHALL, a parish in Uttoxeter district, Stafford; on the North Stafford railwry, 2 miles W of Uttoxeter. It has a station on the railway, and includes the hamlet of Dugdale; and its post-town is Uttoxeter, under Derby. Acres, 1,276. Real property, 21,855 Pop., 199. Houses, 35. The property is divided because of the Uttoxeter in the distance. among a few. The living is a rectory in the discress of Lichheld. Value, £200. * Patron, the Dowager Lalv Willoughby de Broke. The church is good; and there are church lands yielding £16 a-year.

BRAMSHALL (LITTLE), a hamlet in Uttoxeter parish, Stafford; contiguous to Bramshall parish.

BRAMSHAW, a parish in the district of New Forest, BRAMSHAW, a parish in the district of New Lorest, and counties of Hants and Wilte; 5 miles SSW of Lunbridge r. station, and 64 NNW of Lyndhurst. It includes the hamlets of Fritham and Furzley; and leas a post-office under Lyndhurst. Acres, 3,500. Real property, with West Wellew, 23,194. Pop., 746. It uses, 167. The property is sub-livid d. Bramshaw House is a dief residence. The Hants portion, amounting to 1,900 acres, is all in the New Forest. The living is a vicence in the discress of Salisiary. Value, 2401. Value, £161 vicange in the discress of Salisbury. Value, El Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury. church is a neat, ancient, modernized structure, said to have been built by the Computer; and has a square, beick, ivv-elol tower.

BRAMSHILL (Greet and Little), two tythicgs in Eversley parish, Hants; 34 miles N by E of Winch-field, Real property, £1,428, Pop. 151 Houses, 32. Bramshill House was bailt by the eleventh Lord Zouch. us a residence for Prince Lienry, son of James I.; is now the seat of Sir William Cope; and exhibits interesting features, both external and internal, of the age in which it was creeted. The grounds around it are extensive and picture-que. Albot, archbishop of Canterbury, accidentally killed a man while shooting in the park; and the Duke of Wellington often came lather on vi-its from BRAMSHOTT, a village and a period in the district of Farnborough, and county of Hints. The village stands near the verge of the county, I' mile NW of Liphook r. station, and I W of Hademere; and has a post-office under Lighook. The parish is intersected by the Guildford and New Perts-nooth railway; and includes the hamlet of Liphook, which has a head post-office. the hamlet of Lipbook, which has a head pest-office.

Acres, 6,676. Real property, 25,542. Pop., 1,667.

Houses, 250. The property is divided among a few.
Foley House is the sent of h. Greig, f.ep. Meny hundrals of Roma coins were found, in 1744, in the bed of Woolmer pond, 14 mile W of Lipbook. The Fixing is a rectory in the dio see of Winchester. Value, 2785.

Patron, Queen's College, Oxford. The church is crucitorm and early lippfish; have central tower, partly Nerwork and out the two histories for the second and control towers.

form an Carry Anglian has a courts tower, parry Norman, and portains two intensiting brases.

BRAMWITH (Kinn), a parly in Done tendicitied,
W. R. Vochschier on the Stainfirth and Realby canal, and on the Done for and Realby railway, 6) railes NII by Nof Doneaster. It has a station, of the rains of Brunwith, on the milway; it includes the Lamlets of Braithwaite and Hawkhouse-Green, and part of the hamlet of Kirkhouse-Green; and its post-town is Stainforth, under Rotherham. Acres, 1,260. Real property, £2,561. Pop., 226. Houses, 54. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £517.* Patron, the Duchy of Laucaster. The church is good.

BRAMWITH (SAND), a hamlet in Stainforth township, Hatfield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; contiguous to Kirk-Bramwith parish.

BRAN (The), a stream of Carmarthen. It rises on the mountains at the boundary with Brecon; and runs about 11 miles south-south-castward, past Talgarth, to the Towy, below Llandovery.

BRANAR. See MARCHALAD and BRANAR.

BRANAB. See MARCHALD BRIG DRAAB.
BRANCASTER, or BRANCHESTER, a village and a parish in Docking district, Norfolk. The village stands on a small bay of its own name, 4 miles NNW of Stanhoe r. station, and 6 E by N of Hunstanton; and has a post-office, of the name of Brancaster, under Lyun. It occupies the site of the Roman station Branodunum, held by Dalmatian horse for repelling Saxon invaders; and it has furnished coins, urns, knives, and other Roman relies. It possesses a quay for vessels, and is a man tenes. I possesses a quay for vessels, and is a coast-guard station; and there is a malt-house adjacent to it, 512 feet long. The parish comprises 3,672 acres of land, and 2,105 of water. Real property, £4,893. Pop. land, and 2,105 of water. Real property, 24,893. Fup., 1,002. Houses, 243. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the ducese of Norwich. Value, 2821. Fatron, the liev. C. Birch. The church is good, and there are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities 294. BRANCEPETII, a township in Durham district, and conditions to be considered to the control of the condition of the control of a parish in Durham and Auckland districts, Durham. The township lies on the river Wear and on the Durham and Bishop-Auckland railway, 4 miles SW of Durhum; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Durham. Acres, 4,515. Real property, £7,180; of which £3,597 arc in mines. Pop., 1,496. Houses, The parish contains also the townships of Stockley, Willington, Brandon and Byshottles, Tudhoc, Hedley-Hope, Hemlington-Row, and Crook and Billy Row. Acres, 22,525. Real property, with Cornsay township, Acres, 22,525. Real property, with Cornsay township, £75,151; of which £42,784 are in mines. Pop., 15,712. Houses, 2,893. The property is not much divided, Brancepeth Castle was erected, in the reign of Stephen, by the family of Bulmer; passed to the Nevills and the Russells; and belongs now, in right of his wife, to Vis-count Boyne. It was rebuilt in 1821; but retains much of its prior appearance; and is a massive and splendid edifice. A suite of rich armour, said to have been taken from David Druce of Scotland at Nevill's Cross, is in the entrance hall; and a fine collection of antiquities and paintings is in the rooms. The grounds and the adjacent country are picturesque. Coal beds and sulphur springs occur; and coal and stone are worked. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Durham. Value, #$11.* Patron, R. E. D. Shafto, Esq. The church is ancient and cruciform; has an early English tower and later English chancel and clerestory; and contains ancient stall-work and chancel-screen, an ancient carved chest, and a fine compiled font. The rectories of Wil-lington and Crock, and the vicatage of Tudhoe, are sepa-Ingon and Croos, and me treatage or trumor, are separate benefites. There are three dissenting chapels, a R. Catholic Gothic one, and charities £!2.

BIANCH AND DOLE, a handred in the S of Wilts.

It contains Berwick parish, fourteen other parishes, and part of another. Acres, 36,765. Pop., 7,748. Houses, BRANCHESTER. See BRANCASTER.

BRANCHETREN. See BRANCASTER.
BRANCHETREN. See BRANCHEE.
BRANDENBURG HOUSE, a quondam mansion in Middleser; on the Thames, adjacent to Hammersmith,
It was built, in the time of Charles L., by Sir Nicholus Crique, at a cost of 233,000; sold by Crispe's heir to Prince Rupert; passed to Mrs. Margaret Hughes, Bubb-Do lington, and the Mugrave of Bradenburg-Anspach; became the residence and death-place of the queen of George IV.; and was, not long after, razed to the ground. BRANDESBURTON, or ERANDSBURTON, a village, a township, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Skirlangh, E. R. Yorkshire. The village stands 6 miles E of Lockington r. station, and 8 NE of Beverley, and has a post-odice under Beverley. It is a seat of perty sessions; and has a fair on 14 May.—The township comprises 4,502 arcs. Real property, 62,798. Pop., 781. Houses, 155. The parish includes also the township of Moor Town. Acres, 5,000. Real property, 27,275.

Pop., 811. Houses, 159. The property is divided among a few. This manor was bequeathed in 1691, by Lady Dacres, to Emmanuel hospital, Westminster. Brandesburton moor is a meet for the Holderness hounds, £895.* Patron, St. John's College, Cambridge. The £895.* Patron, St. John's College, Cambridge. The are an Independent chapel and an endowed school; and the latter has £25, other charities £16.—The sub-district contains three parishes and parts of four others. Pop., 1,616. Houses, 306. Acres, 12,886.

Acres, 12,886. Fop., 4,619. Honses, 500. ERANDLSTON, a parish in Plannesgate district, Suifolk; on the river Deben, 3; miles SW of Fruulingham r. station, and 5 NW by N of Wickham-Market. It has a post-office under Wickham-Market. It has a post-omee under wicknam-matrice. Arres, 1,224. Real property, 22,690. Pop., 460. Houses, 67. The property is divided among a few. Brande-ton Ilall is a chief residence. The living is a vicarage in the dio. of Norwich. Value, £100. Fution, C. Austin, Esq.

dio, of Norwich. Value, £100.8 Fatron, C. Austin, Esq. The church is cool. There is an Independent chaped. BRANDESTONE, or BRANDESTONE, a parish in St. Faith district, Norfolk; 3 miles SE of Reepham, 6 W of the projectel railway from Norwich to Cromer, and 11 NW by N of Norwich. Post-town, Booton, under Normich. Vacc. 524, Page 1861, 1862. wich. Acres, 764. Real property, 21, 466. Pop., 181. Houses, 35. The property is divided among five. Branchston Hall belonged formerly to the Atthills. The living is a rectory in the discoss of Norwich. Value, 2180. ing is a revery in the mores of A servich. Value, £180.*
Fatron, Mugdalene College, Oxford. The church is good; and there are a national school, and charities £23.
BIGADDISTONE, Northampton. See BIGAUSTONE, BIGADDIANG BALLWAY, a raflway in the N of Durham. It connects the towns of Gateshead, South Shields, and Sunderland, and makes a junction with the Newcastle and Carlisle railway; was opened in September 1839; took its name from the projector, Robert W. Brandling, Esq. of Low Gosforth; and is now incorporated with the Northeastern railway.

BRANDON, a hamlet in Hough-on-the-Hill parish,

Braak Dots, a manife in Trongard of Translation, 75 miles N of Grantham. Pop., 145.
BRAN 100N, a township in Eglingham parish, North-umberland; on the river Breamish, 8 miles SSE of Wooler. Pop., 134. Houses, 22.

ooler. Pop., 134. Houses, 22. BRANDON, a small town and a parish in the district of Thetford, and partly in the county of Norfolk, but chiefly in the county of Suffolk. The town stands on the Little Ouse river, adjacent to the Norfolk railway, 6 miles by road, and 74 by railway, NW by W of Thefford. It has a head post-office, a railway station with telegraph, a banking-office, three chief inns, a parish church, four dissenting chapels, a free grammar school, and nine almshouses. The church stands about tof a mile distant; is an ancient quadrangular edifice, of flint and tant is an ancient quadrangular context, of finit and stone; and has a Norman porely, a fine tower, and two empolas. A weelsly market is held on Thursdry; and fairs on 14 Feb., 11 June, and 24 Nov. A good grain trade is curried on; and a manufactory of gui fluits formed the sole source for the supply of those to government. prior to the v c of percussion-caps. The town gave name to the Dukes of Suffolk, and the file of Baron to the Earls of Mac lesfeld; and it gives the title of Duke to the Dukes of Hamilton. Lord Mayor Eyre of Loudon, who built Leadenhall market, was a native. don, who balls be defined market, was a native. 1945, 2,203. Houses, 512. The patish comprises 6,759 acres. Real property, 27,081. Pop., 2,218. Houses, 519. The property is sub-livided. Ermelon Park is the seat of H. Bliss, Esq. About 2,490 peres are fen; and there are Catensive and productive rabbit warrens. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Wangtord, in the diverse of Ely. Value, 2599.8 Patron, T. E. Cartwright, Esq.

BRANDON AND BRETFORD, a township in Welston rarish, Werwick; on the river Avon, and on the Birminglana and Rugby failway, 5 miles ESE of Coventry, It leas a station, of the name of Brandon, on the railway. B. I property, 24,044. Pop., $14. Houses, 104. Houses and were anciently a castle, built soon after the Conquest: a small convent of black mans, founded by L filey de Clinton, and given to Kenilworth priory; and a chapel or hospital of St. Edmond, founded by the Turvilles, lords of Wols' a. Some traces of the castle still exist.

of Worst in. Some traces of the Reeb family.

BRANDON AND BYSHOTTLES, a township in Bransepeth purish, Durhava; near the Durham and Eishop-Art-kleind rathwey, 3 miles SW by W of Durham. It has a side station, of the mane of Brandon. Acres. It has a side station, of the name of brandon. Acres, 6,726. Real property, £11,230; of which £5,812 are in sines. Pop., 1,486. Houses, 270. Brindon hill here has an altitude of $75 feet; is growned with a tunally, 199 years in circuit and 24 feet high; and commands an extensive view.

PRANCON HILL. See BRISTOL.

BRANDON (LITTLE), or BRANDON-PARVA, a parish in Forebar listrict, Norfolk; on the river Yare, 2 miles NNE of Harlingham r. station, and 5 NW by N of Wymon lham. Post-town, Wymondham. Acres, 979. Real property, £1,886. Pop., 208. Houses, 44. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the discount of Notwich. Value, £281. Patron, Isaac Preston, Eq. The church was restored in 1861. An endowed school bus $12; and other charities, £13.

BRANDSBURTON. See BRANDESBURTON.

BRANDSBY-WITH-STEARSBY, or Bransey-WITH-STRABSET, a parish in Easingwold district, N. R. York-Stranson, a parish in Easingwold district, N. R. Yorkshire; 21 miles S of Ampletorth r. station, and 4 ENE of Easingwold. It has a post-office of the name of Brundsby, under York. Acres, 3,018. Real property, 23,671. Pop., 284. Hours, 51. The property is divided among four. Brandsby Hall is the seat of F. Chedneby, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, 2628. Patron, 1. Cholmedoy, Esq. The church is good; and there are a Roman Catholic change of Leisnities C. chepel, at I charities £7.
BLANDSFEE, a liberty in the parishes of Hitchenden,

Great Missenden, and Little Missenden, Bucks; 35 miles

NVE of Wycombe. ERANDWOOD-HIGHER-ENDANDBRANDWOOD-BRANDWOOD-HIGHER-EXDANDBRANDWOOD-LOWER-EXD, two hamlets in Spotland township, Lancashire; is paides N of Fockelale.

BRANDV-STREET, a handet in Solworthy parish, some st; 35 miles W of Mincheal. Pep., 29.

BRANKEL See BRANKFILLD.

BRANKEA. See BRANKFILLD.

BRANKEA. See BRANKFOX.

BRANOCKSTOWN. See BRAUNTON, BRANODUNUM. See BRANCASTER.

BRANGBURY, a tything in Barton-Stacy parish, BransBurry, a tything in Barton-Stacy parish, Barty, 44 tails SE of Andover. Pop., 84. BransBry, a hunder in Stow parish, Lincolnshire; 8 Bit V. Sto.), a numer in Stow paren, Linconsino, pomilies N. With Lincoln. Acres, 290. Real property, £872. Pep., with Starton, 638. Honses, 138. PRAYESBY-WITH-STEARSBY. See BRANDSIA-

See BRANDSBA.

within-Strainsber

BEANSCOMBE, a village and a paid in Houiton district, Devon. The village stands on the coast 44 mans E-4 Sidmonth, and 8 S by For Heniton r. station; and has a post-office under Si huouth. It is a straggling but v. : pleasant place; and carries on a reunificture of pull welce. The parish comprises 5.422 acres of land and 165 of water. Real property, 20,218. Pop., 966. Hit is 190. The property is stellin led. The transit below it he bear and Chapter Is here the being the Courge s, to the Dean and Chapter of Energy. Let's or large, in a valley N of the village, so a the residence, in the time of Edward III., it the Earth also have the here the being of the Wall-large, the last of whom found d. Wallam tellings in Onesh. Three valleys, each trave of legarities in, diverge toon the vicinity of the village, and are flanked by pleasure the name of University and the last the name of University much is former or calcedonics. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Exiter. Value, £100.* Patrons, the Dan and Chapter of Exeter. The church is crucitorm, and partly Norman, partly English; has a central tower in disrepair; and contains an ancient monument with two kneeling elligies.

BRANSDALE, a mountain vale in N. R. Yorkshire. It commences at the S side of Bottom-Head mountain, 7 miles SE by S of Stokesley; and extends 12 miles south-south-eastward to the southern vicinity of Kirkly-Moorside

BRANSDALE-EAST-SIDE, a Lumlet in Kirkby-Mootside parish, N. R. Yorkshire; in Bransdale, 9 miles N by E of Helmsley. Acres, 2,750. Pop., 134. BRANSDALE-WEST-SIDE, a township in Kirkdale

arish, N. R. Yorkshire; in Bransdale, S miles N of clusley. Actes, 4,965. Pop., 73. Manses, 14. BRANSFORD, a chapelry in Leigh parish, Worcestershire; on the river Teme, adjacent to the Malvern railway, 4½ miles SW by W of Worcester. It has a station, of the name of Bransford-Road, on the rankway; and its post-town is Powiek, under Worcester. Acres, 1,1,00. Real property, £2,118. Pop., 270. Houses, 59. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester; impropriate in Earl Some.s. The church is good.

BRANSCORE, a chapelry in Christchurch parish, Hants; neartheriver Avon, and the Christchurch branch railway, 3½ miles NNE of Christchurch. Post-town, Christehurch. Statistics returned with the parish. Diving is a p. curacy in the choices of Winchester. Value, £73. Patron, T. Jesson, Esq.

BRANSIL-CASTLE, a rain on the eastern verge of Brandshie; under the Malvern hills, in the vicinity of Ledbury. The castle was doubly trunched, and he has tower at each angle; and the ruin commands a fine view.

tower at each angle; and the ruin commands a fine view.
BRANSON. See Branston, Lincoln, and Branston, BRANSTON, By UNGONE, or Branston, a parish in Melton Mowbraydstrier, Leicester; ruiles Nof Frishy r, station, and S. NNE of Melton-Mowbra. It has a post-office under Grantham. Aeres, 960. Heal property, £2,662. Pop., 297. Houses, 57. The property is divided among a few. The Bring is a rectory in the discess of Petarborough. Value, £350. Tatron, the Daka at Buthout. The church is very son. of Rutland. The church is very good.

BRANSTON, or BRANSON, a parish in the district and county of Lincoln; 4 miles SE of Lincoln r. station. It includes a fen allotment, and has a post-other un ier Iancoln. Acres, 5,389. Real property, £9,269. Peg.,1,439. Houses, 283. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the discess of Lincoln. Value, #577.* Patron, the Rev. B. Curtois. The church is pretty good; and there are two Methodist chapels, a Church school, and charities 225. BRANSTONE, or BRANSON, a township in Eurton-upon-Trent parish, Stationd; on Icknield-street, the Grand Trunk count, and the Midland rulwey, 2 miles SW of Burton apon-Trent. It has a post-off e and r SW 01 Entrol upon-front. Acres, 1,190.

24,291. Fep., 542. Houses, 111.
BRAYSTRIE FELL, a mount in 2½ miles S of the head of Hawes water, it Westmort-land.
BRAYSTRIE, See Braywa warn.

BRANT (THE), a stream of Lincolnshire. It is a little SW of Normanton: and runs about 10 mile - northward to the river Winnen, and runs around to mine shorting ward to the river Winnen, a miles SSW of Lincoln. BRANT FULL, an emiscate § a mile E of Book as, in Westmarel and. It count and some of the mobilest and most comportensive views of Windonsone.

BRANTFIELD. So BRADGEROLD.

BRANTHAM, a perish in Salafor I district, Suffett; on the river Stour, and on the Lastern Counties rulway, 2 miles NNL of Manufacture station, and 71 SSW of 2 mines ANA, or a straining real station, and 71 88.5 or provided. It has a per to the characteristic Analysis, 2,482; of which loop ray water. If all peoperty, 2,3,554, Pop., 415. Hours, 518. The property is divided han on a few. The His backs are deay in the discress of Korwich, Value, not repeated, * Parron, Emmanuel College, Cata-lendge. The cheech is good.

BRANTHWAITE, a township, with a r station, in Dean parish, Cumberland; on the Cleator railway, 5 miles SE of Workington. Real property, £2,529. Pop., 281. Houses, 58. Stone is quarried; and there are paper and woollen mills, and a Methodist chapel.

woothen mitts, and a methodist chaper.

BEANTINGHAM, a township and a parish in Beverley district, E. R. Yorkshire. The township lies to be to be be been districted by the best of the state of the best of the Hull. Real property, £2,720. Pop., 231. Houses, 55.

The parish contains also the townships of Ellerker and Thorpe-Brantingham; the latter of which has a postoffice under Brough. Acres, 3,632; of which 592 are water. Bated property, 26,749. Pop., 572. Houses, 124. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarege, united with the p. cancey of Ellerler, in the diocese of York. Value, 2555. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Durlaw. The absorbal is triving the Dean and Chapter of Durlaw. and Chapter of Durham. The church is fair.
BRANTINGTHORPE. See BRUNTINGTHORPE.

BRANTINO a township in Fglingham parish, Northumberland; 91 miles SSE of Wooler, Acres, 1,147. Pop., 106. Houses, 19. Here is a dissenting BRANTON, a hamlet in Cantley parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles SE of Doncaster.

BRANTON-GREEN. See DUNSFORTH (UPPER).

BRANTWOOD, a villa, with charming grounds, on the E side of Coniston water, in Lancashire. A seat in the ground, was the poet Wordsworth's favourite point for viewing the lake; and hears the name of Words-

worth's seat

BRANKTON, a parish in Glendale district, Northumberland; on the skirts of the Teviots and the river Till. 3 miles ESb of Cornhill r. station, and 9 NW by N of Wooler. Post-town, Etd., under Coldstream, Acres, 1,457. Real property, £2,392. Pop., 255. Houses, 44. The property is divided between two. Here is the field of the battle of Flodden, fatal to James IV. of Scot-Land, fought in 1513. See Flodden, The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £234. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Durham. The church is ood. Stockdale, the poet, was a native.
BRASCOTE, a hamlet in Newbold-Verdon parish,

Leieester; 2 miles ESE of Market-Bosworth. Pop., 40.

Houses, 10.

BRASHFIELD. See BRAISHFIELD.

BRASIL BANK, a sea-bank off the mouth of the Mersey, in Lancashire; on the N side of the Rock channel, I mile W of the lighthouse.

BRASSACOTT, a hamlet in North Petherwin parish, Devon; 5½ miles NW of Launceston. BRASSINGTON, a township-chapelry and a sub-district, in the district of Ashborne, Derby. The chapelry is in Bradbourne parish; lies 4 miles W by N of Wirksworth, and 7 WSW of Cromford r. station; and wirsworth, and 7 WSW of Cromford r. station; and has a post-office under Wirksworth. Real property; £6,5:2. Pop., 718. Houses, 163. The property is subdivided. Brassington Hall is a chief residence. Slate tiles, from a peculiar kind of grey clay, are name factured. The living is a vicatage in the diocess of Lichfield. Value, £505.* Patron, the liev. J. B. Littler. The always is restly. field. Value, £508. Patron, the Rev. J. B. Littler. The clourch is partly Norman; and was required in 1858. The cancer is party storman, our was reprired in Association There are three discenting chapels, and a free school.—
The schodistrict contains three parishes, parts of three others, and an extra-parcolaid tract. Pop., 4,470.
BKASS-KNOCKER, a locality 21 miles from Bath; with a post-office under Bath.

BRASTED, a village and a parish in Sevenousks dis-iet, Kent. The village stands on the river Tarent, 4 triet, Kent. The village stands on the river Tarent, a miles WNW of Sevenoaks, and 55 N of Edenbridge r. miles WNW of Sevenoaks, and 55 number Sevenoaks, and fairs on Aveension day and 25 Sept.—The parish comprises 4, 456 acres. Real property, 25,877. Pop., 1, 182. prises 4, 456 acres. Real property, £5,877. Pop., 1,182. Houses, 212. Brastel Park is the seat of William Tipping. Eq.; and was once the retreat of Louis Napobon. The land lies on the edge of the Weald; and has fine views. Fayer wills are on the Tarent. The living is a rectory in the draws of Canterbury. Value, 2673.*
Patron, the Architechop of Cinterbury. The church, interiorly, is charly early English,—exteriorly, of various characters. There are a Calvinist chapel, a national school, and charities £31.

BRATHAY (THE), a stream of Westmoreland and Lancashire. It rises on the Stake mountain; and runs 9 miles east-south-eastward to the head of Windermere. It traverses Great Langdale; expands into Elter-water; makes a fall of about 20 feet, a little below that lake; and is joined by the Rothay, a few yards from Windermere. Char and trout enter its mouth from Windermere; and all the char go up the Brathay, while all the mere, and all the char go up the bottom, trout go up the Rothay, BRATHAY, a chapelry in Hawkshead parish, Lancashire; on Brathay river and Windermere lake, 2 miles SW of Ambleside, and 7½ by road from Windermere r. station. Post-town, Ambleside, under Windermere, station. Post-town, Ambleside, under Windermere, Station. Post-town, Ambleside, under Windermere, 125, 125, 200, 212 Houses, 10. It was constituted in 1853. It was constituted in 1853. Pop., 212. Houses, to. Brathay Hall is the seat of G. Redmayne, Esq. The scenery around Erathay-Bridge, taken in connexion with its perspectives, is surpassingly rich. The living is a vicas perspectives, is surpassingly ren. The average is a vicatage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £142. Patron, G. Redmayne, Esq. The church is a recent erection, on a wooded knoll, in the neighbourhood of Brathay.

BRATOFT, or BRAYTOFT, a parish in Spilsby district, Lincoln; on the East Lincoln railway, 1 mile SW of Burgh station, and 41 E by o of Spiisby. Post-town, Burgh and 44 E by o of Spilsby. Fost-inwn, Burgh ander Boston. Acres, 1,814. Real property, £3,073. Pop., 280. Houses, 55. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £25.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church comprises have and aides, with clerestory; contains an ancient font; and has, over the chancel arch, a contemporary painting of the defeat of the Armada

the Armada.

BRATTLEBY, a parish in the district and county of Lincolu; on the Wolds, 4½ miles NE of Saxilby 1, station, and 7 NNW of Lincoln. Post-town, Hackthorn, under Lincoln. Acres, 1,220. Real property, 61,926. Pop., 152. Houses, 28. The property is all in one cotate. The living is a rectory in the dioces of Lincoln. Value, £250. Patron, Balliol College, Oxford. The chunch is more property in the control of the contr

church is good.

church is good.

BRATTON, a chapelity in Westbury parish, Wilts; I miles EXE of Westbury r. station. It has a post-office under Westbury. Bated property, £3,199. Pop., 744. Houses, 170. The property is much subdivided. Bratton Castle, on the crown of a hill, is an ancient camp of a constant of the control 23 acres, partly defended by a double rampart, in some parts 36 feet high, and said to have been constructed by The White Horse, on the S slope below the the Danes. camp, is a colossal figure similar to the White Horse of but remodelled in 1778. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Yalue, £300. Patron, the Vicar diocese of Salisbury. Value, £300.* Patron, the Vicar of Westbury. Charities, £36.

BRATTON, a township in Wrockwardine parish, Salon; 2 miles W of Wellington.

BRATTON, North Salon. See Bonearron.

BRATTON-CLOVELLY, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Okeleanpton, Devon. The village stands 8 miles WSw of Okeleanpton, r station, and 12 N by W of Tavistock; is large and scattered; and has a post-office under Lew-Down, North Devon. The ranish comprises 8.316 mers. Beal property, £5,681. The parish comprises 8,316 acres. Real property, £3,681. Pop., 705. Houses, 147. The property is much subdivided. The manor bore anciently the name of Bracton; and was the birthplace of Henry de Bracton, an eminent Fiwyer of the time of Edward I. An ancient carthwork, called Broadbury Castle, defended by vallum and fess.; is an eminence about 3 miles N of the village. About 2,000 acres of the land are moor. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £412.* Patron, the Bishop of Exeter. The church is a fine edifice of the 15th century, with a lot y tower; and has a handsome font.—The sub-district contains five parishes. Acres, 23,663. Pop., 2,333. Houses, 460. BRATTON-FLEMING, a parish in Paristanle district, Devon; on an affinent of the river Taw, 6 miles NI of Barnstaple r. station. Post-town, Sherwell, under Barnstaple. Acres, 5,845. Real property, £5,542. Pop., £86. Houses, 194. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged anciently to the Fleming family; passed to the Dillons; and belongs now to Sir Arthur Chichester. Part of the surface is hilly. Six standingchester. Fart of the suitace is miny. Six standing-stones occur at Nightascott, and are supposed to have been part of a Druidical circle. The parish is consect for the North Devon hounds. The living is a rectory in the choices of Expert. Value, £561. Patron, Cains Col-lege, Cambridge. The church is perpendicular English; consists of have, chancel, and north aisle, with a tower; and was restored in 1861. There is a small Daptist chapel.

BRATTON - SEYMOUR, or BRATTON-ST.-MAUR, BIATTON - SELMOUR, or BEATTON SELMAUE, a parish in Wincenton district, Semenaet, 21 miles XW of Wincenton r. station, and 24 SE of Castle Cary. Post-town, Wincenton, under Bath. Acres, 1,093. Pop., 89. Houses, 21. The Eving is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, 2161. Lations, Sir M. Lepes and J. Hodges, Esp., alternately. The church statels on a group copy has constanting. stands on a green connence overhanging a dell.

BRAUGHIN, a village, a purish, a sub-district, an la hundred in Herts. The village stands on the river Quie, a liacent to Ermine-street, and to the Buntingford railway, 31, miles SE by S of Buntingford; and has a station on the reilway, and a post-office under Ware. It was a domain of the Saxon kings; was known to the Sexous as Brooking, and to the Normans as Brackinges; and was long a place of considerable importance, and a market-town. It has now a fair on Whit-Monday. market-town. It has now a fair or Whit-Monday. Vestiges of the Roman Ad-Fines are at Campwood in its veriges of the forman Ad-Fines me at Campwood in its neighborrhood. The parish includes also part of the hamlet of Puckeridga. Acres, 4,300. Real property, 27,609. Pop., 1,189. Houses, 249. The property is divided among a few. The Iving is a vicinage in the discuss of Rochester. Value, £250. Patrons, the brits of the lark boy. W. Tower. The church contains monuof the mac fow. A fower. The charm contains mona-leasts of the Brograves; and is good. There are an In-dependent chapel, an abus-house, and chaities £28.— The sub-district is in Bishop-Sterfford district, and con-tains free parishes. Acres, £2,246. Fop., £,912. Houses, The hundred contains thirteen parishes. Acres, 99. The attactor coronas interest paragraph, 29,605 Pop. 20,431. House, 41,121. Bit VINCEWELL-WITH-PUNSPY, or Beanswell-Bit VINCEWELL-WITH-PUNSPY, Decktown, Stockhow, Ford. Acres, 3,470. Real property, £4,852. Pop., 112.

Houses, 13. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectery, united with the vicarge of Anwick, in the disease of Lincoln. Value, £715.

‡ Patron., alternately the Marquis of Bristol and Mrs. H. Robinson,

The church is good

BRAUNSTON, Loicester. See Branston. BRAUNSTON, or Brandustone, two villages and a parish in Daventry district, Northampton. Brownston parish in Daventry district, Northampton. Breaustor village stands at the junction of the Oxford and the Canal Junction canals, 21 miles NW of Daventry, and 4 SSW of Crick r. station; and has a post-officer under Engly. Little Braunston village stands I a mile to the R. Eraunston parish comprises 3,930 agres. Beal property, 4,83,800. Pop., 1,228. Houses, 233. The property is much subdished. The Grand Marcha can here passes through a turned 11 mile long. The living is a nategy in the diocess of Peterboungh. Value, 2,837. Patron, Jesus' Collect, Oxford. The clutted was rebuilt in 1849. There are Espisis and West-yau chap 4,800 and collaborations of School, and charities x250. Bishop av. end cool national school, and charities £206. Bishop end c of national school and charmes zize. Discop Reynolds was sometime rector.

 FRALINSTON, or PRANSION, a parsh in Oakham Biogret, Butland; on the river Gwash, 22 miles SW of Olli, iri slation. It has a post-ellio under Oakham. Acres, 3,550. Real property, £2,716. Pop., 308. Il mass, 104. Brounston Ledge is a chi f residence. The living is a p. carney, anneaed to the vicinge of 11 cabb ton, in the die ese of Beecherough. There are to Easter clapel, and charities ante.

BRAU SSTONE, a chapelry in Glenfiell parish, Leisee him; on the river Wreak and the Union cand, adjusted to the Midlan Land Swatchington railways, 2.

miles SW of Leicester. Pest-town, I de ter. Acres. 1,610. Real property, 22,018. Pop., 197. Houses, 37. Braunstene Prith every-parechial liberty adjoins on the NE; is included in the returns; and contains Braunstone Hall, formerly belonging to the Hastings family, and now the seat of C. Winstanley, Esq. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Glenfield, in the diocese of Peterborough.

BRAUNSTON (LITTLE). See BRAUNSTON, Northarouton

BRAUNTON, a village, a parish, a sub-district, and a hundred in Devon. The village stands near the month of the river Taw, 5 miles WNW of Earnstaple r. station; is a considerable place, with several streets and many shops; and less a post-off of under Barn-tople. It was originally called Brane, below, and took that name from St. Brancek, a prince of Calabria, who came hither from St. Brancek, a prince of Calabria, who came hither in the year 300 as a mission, iv.—The parish comprises 10,473 acres of land, and 1,756 of water. Red property, £11,236. Pep., 2,168. Here, 472. The property in much subdivided. There are several manors; and one of them belonged, in Edward the Confessor's time, to the Crown, and was afterwards given to St. Peler's, Eveter. St. Branck's House, at the upper end of the village, Franklin's Cottage, at a short distance thence, and a number of other places come and magnificent views. An extensive tract between the village and the sea, celled Braunton Field, is noted for fertility. A tract of drift sind on the coast, called Braunton Burrows, has witnessed many shipwrecks; and possesses two lightiouses 933 feet apart, erected in 1824, with fixed lights 86 and 40 feet high, for directing vessels over Bideford bar. An ancient chapel, called St. Ann's, is embedded in the burrows; and remains of another, ascribed to St. Branourrows; and remains of enother, assumed to St. Blan-ock, crown a neighbouring, bill. The living is a vicenage in the discusse of Exeter. Value, £450. Patron, the Bishop of Exeter. The church is carly English, in a jambled excultion; and was proposed to be restored in 1869. There are chap is fe. Independents and Metho-dists. A school has 275 from or downent; and other charities £23. Richard Kuill, the missionary, was a native. - The sub-district is in the district of Bounstaple, mativa.—The sub-district is in the district of Reinstagle, and centains seven parishes. Acres, 31,462. Pop., 6,957. Houses, 14,76.—The hundred contains twenty panishes. Acres, 71,452. Pop., 14,756. Houses, 3,108. BRAWBY, a tousship in Salton prish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the river leve, 6 miles NXW of New Melten. A fair is held on the Monday after H July. Acres, 1,680. Real property, 21,773. Pop., 215. Houses, 32. BRAWBY, a parish in Haverfordwest district, Pembers on the coast 6, pulse E of St Divide 2nd 9 broke; on the coast, 6 miles E of St. David's, and 9 NW by W of Haverfordwest r. station. Post-town, Penyewm, under Haverfordwest. Acres, 5,401; of tenyewn, under Havertorikest. Acres, 5,491; of which 60 are water. Each property, 23,403. For, 613. Houses, 193. The preperty is much subdivided. The living is a vicarge, a utied with the vicarge of Hays-Castle, in the diodes of St. David's. Value, 2415. Patron, the Bishop of St. David's. With a preperty of the Company of the Company

BRAXTED (GREAT), a parish in Without district, Passer; on the river Blackwater, adjacent to the Pastern Pseck; on the river Blackwater, adjacent to the Pastern Counties railway, 2 ml? s END of Withom. Post-town, Withom. Acres 2,620; H. d. property, a 1,677. Pop., 384. House, 86. The property is all in one out to Bayted Park, a limb, one moniton, amid of tomize grounds, is the seat of C. Da Cine, Esp. A block property and was founded about the time of Filward L. The living, is a recopy in the discoss of Receivester. Value, 2544.7 Pet on Corpus Christi College, Combridge. The Johnships some Norman portions, and is good. Clarines, a 19.

BLANTED christ 5. a parish in Withom district, Essex; on the river by law it, a planch to the 1. Sem. Com. a railway, 1 n. b. Flay Nof Withom. Post-town, Withom. Acres, 563. R. d perceptive, 2,177. Pop., Withom.

With co. Actes, Folk, R. d. property, 21,773. Pep., 111. Houses, 23. Tis property is divided an e.g. a few. The living is not a vivin the diocess of Roderster, Value, 2418. Petro, Trackes of Sir W. R. Eash. The church is good. Chadres, 27.

BRAY, a village, a parish, a sub-district and a hundred in Cookham district, Berks. The village stands on the Thames, near the Great Western railway, 11 mile S by E of Maidenhead; and has a post-office under Maiden-head. It occupies the site of the Roman station Bibracte; and is now within the liberty of Windsor forest.

The parish consists of the four divisions of Bray, — The parish confests of the nor divisions of Pray, Maidenhead, Touchen, and Water-Oakley; and contains part of the borough of Maidenhead. Aeres, 9,102. Ital property, £26,694. Pop., 4,801. Houses, 953. The property is much subdivided. Bray-Wick-Lodge and Bray Grove are chief residences; Ockwells is an old seat; and Cresswells, formerly Filborts, was the place of Xell Gwynne's residence. Jesus' Hospital, founded in 1627 by William Coddrarl, for 44 persons, is a picturesque brick quadrangle, with an old chapel. Monkey Island, about a mile SE of the village, contains a decayed fishing-house, built by the third Duke of Marlborough, the drawing-room of which was grotesquely decorated with paintings of monkeys. The living is a vicarage, united panuangs of monkeys. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Touchen-End, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £500.* Patron, the Bishop of Oxford. The church is early English and decorated; has a much later square tower; and was repaired and altered in 1862. Boyne-Hill vicarage is a separate benefice. There are a chapel-of-case built in 1861, a Wesleyan chapel, two national schools, an endowed hospital, forming a square of 40 honses with a chapel, and other charities 43. Archbishop Laud had a farm in the parish; and Simon Aleyn, notable for having repeatedly changed his creed from popery to protestantism, and from protestan-tism to popery, was vicar in four reigns, and died in 1588. An old ballad represents him as saying,—

> " And this is law, I will maintain Until my dying day, sir, That, whatsoever king shall reign, I'll be the vicar of Bray, sir.

The sub-district contains four parishes. Acres, 16,462. Pop., 6,714. Houses, 1,820.—The hundred is of less extent than Bury parish. Pop., 2,933. Houses, 886.
BRAYBROOKE, a village and a parish in the district of Market-landbough, and county of Northampton. The village stands near the Leicester and Bedford railway, 3 miles SSE of Market-Harborough; and has a post-office under Market-Harborough. It gives the title of Baron to the family of Neville-Griffin.—The parish comprises 3,060 acres. Real property, £4,923. Pop., 458. Houses, 99. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Griffins, ancestors of Lord Braybrooke, and had a castle. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £600. Patron, the Rev. J. W. Field. The church contains Patron, the Rev. J. W. Field. The church contains effigies of Sir T. Latimer and Sir N. Griffin; and is good. There are a Baptist chapel, and charities £21. Robert de Braybrooke, Lord Chancellor at the Leginning of the 15th century, was a native. BRAYDON, a hamlet i BRAYDON, a hamlet in Purton parish, Wilts; 42 miles S by W of Cricklada. Acres, 1,478. Pop., 49.

Houses, 11. BRAYE. See Alderney and Eaton-Bray.

BRAYFIELD (COLD), a parish in Newport-Pagnell district, Bucks; on the river Ouse, 31 miles E of Olney, district, lincks; on the river oldes, of mines is of Omey, and 7 W by 8 of Oakley r. station. Post-town, Turvey, under Bedford. Acres, 530. Real property, 21,230. Pop., 95. Houses, 18. The property is divided among a few. The lying is a p, carracy, annexed to the rectory of Lavendon, in the diocese of Oxford. The church

ERAYPORD, a hamlet in Charles parish, Deven; 9 miles WNW of Barnstaple. It has a Baptist dup. I.

BRAY (High). See Higherax.
BRAYSTONES, a bamlet in Lowside-Quarter township, St. Bees parish, Cambeiland; on the Whitelawen and Enthesial Way, 3 miles S of Egremont. It has a station on the railway.

BRAYTHORNE, a hamlet in Stainburn township, Kirkby-Overblow parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 31 miles NE of Otley.

BRAYTOFT. See BRATOFT.

BRAYTON, a village in Aspatria parish, Camberland; adjacent to the Carlisle and Maryport railway, 2 miles E by N of Aspatria. It has a station on the railway. Brayton Hall, in the vicinity, is the seat of Sir W. Lawson, Bart.

BRAYTON, a township and a parish in Selby district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the Selby canal, between the rivers Ouse and Airc, and on the Leeds and Selby railway, 1½ mile W-SW of Selby. Acres, 1700. West Selby and Selby railway. 1,790. Real property, £2,976. Pep., 367. Houses, 80. The parish contains also the townships of Gateforth, Hambleton, Thorpe-Willoughby, Burn, and Barlow; and its post-town is Selby. Acres, 10,820. Real property, £15,983. Pop. 1,764. Houses, £76. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicanace in the diocese of York. Value, £355.* Patron, the Architecture. bishop of Yerk. The church is of various dates and character, from Norman downward; consists of nave, aisles, factor, from Nomain downward; conserves of nave, across and chancel, with lofty west steeple; shows much beautiful Norman work; is in very good condition; and contains a fine sculptured font of 1861. The chapelries of Cateforth and Barlow are separate benefices. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £11.

BREADSALL, a perisk in Shardlow district, Derlowshire; on the Little Faton could and the Midhard rail-since; on the lattice bound count and the latting many, 23 miles NNE of Derby. It has a post-office under Derby. Acres, 2,416. Real projecty, 24,111. Pop. 502. Houses, 135. The property is divided among a few. A fine building stone is quarried. A small priory was founded by the Dethicks, in the time of Heary III.; was given, at the dissolution, to the Duke of Suffolk; passed to Sir John Bentley, to Erasmus Darwin, and to passet to Ser Joint Lenney, to Lossinas Parvin, and to Sir Francis Darwin; was purchased, in the present em-tury by Francis Morley, E.-q.; underwent, in 1861, cr-tensive restoration; and is now a beautiful specimen of pointed architecture, with a tower 70 feet high, commanding a view to Lielifield cathedral. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lielifield. Value, 25°4.* Patory in the diocese of memoria, Value, 25 % 12-tron, Sir J. H. Crewe, Eart. The church is decerated English, in good condition. There are a Wesleyan chapel, an endowed national school, and charities 270. Hierom, the abridger of Poole's "Synopsis," was rector; and Dr.

Darwin, the naturalist, was a resident.

BREADSTONE, a tything in Berkeley parish, Gloucester; 2 miles NE of Berkeley. Pop., 120. Ricuses, 20. BREAGE, or Sr. Breage, pronounced Brage - a village, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Helston, Cornwall. The village stands on the coast, 2 miles W of Helston, and 61 S by E of Gwincar Road r. station; and has a post-office under Helston, and a fair on 19 June. It is said to have been founded by the reason. The parish comprises 7,056 acros of land St. Breaca. The parish comprises 7,056 acros of land and 105 of water. Real property, £12,212; of which £4,883 are in mines. Pop. 5,172. Houses, 1,037. Much of the property belonged formarly to the Godolphin. family; and belongs now to the Duke of Leeds. Godolphin mansion is now used as a farm-house. Godolphin hill and Tregonning hill rise to altitudes of 495 and 596 feet; consist of granite; and are rich in minerals. China clay is worked out of part of Godolphin hill, and scut to neighbouring ports for shipment. Huel-Vor or Wheal-Vor tin mine is in the same hill; has been worked in lodes 30 feet wide; extends upwards of 11 mile under ground; and has yielded, at times, a clear profit of £10,000 in three months. The living is a vicange with Germoe in the discose of Exeter. Value, £769. Patron, the Crown. The church centains the remains of Mrs. Godolphin. The viernege of Geleightir and that of Cury and Gouwalbe are separate benefits a. Chairba, £S. Lord Treasurer Godolphin was a native.—The sale-

25. Lord Treasurer Gotopania was a native,— rac sandistrict in Jades also the perish of Germee. Acres, 8,448. Pep., 6,488. Houses, 1,253. BREAKSLA POINT. Sey Arrian (Sr.). BREAM, or Britan, a tything in Newland parishes, and a chapelry in Newland and West Dean parishes. Chapacter. The tething less in Deep formst Justin. and a diapetry in Newtone and test Pear patients, Glomester. The tything lies in Dean forest, 3 niles NW of Lydney r. station, and 33 88E of Coledord. Pop., 824. Houses, 154. The chapelry was constituted in 4554; and its post-town is Lydney. Pop., 2,083. Houses, 404. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarge in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Yang, 2508. Patron, the lishop. The clurch was partly rebuilt in 1861. There are two Methodist chapels. Nature 1862. There are two Methodist chapels.

tional schools were built in 1862.

BRAMONE, or BROMONE, a patish and a liberty in For ingleridge district, Hants; on the river Avon, and on the S. lisbury and Dorset railway, 7 miles S of Salisbury. It includes Outwick; and has a post-office under Silsbury, and a r. station. Acres, 2,651. Real property, £4,081. Pop., 565. Houses, 118. The namor belongs to Sir Charles Hulse, Bart. Breamore House, the baronet's seat, was burnt down in 1856. A priory of black canons was founded, in the time of A priory of black canons was founded, in the time of Heavy I. by Ed lwin, Earl of Dovon; and given, at the dissolution, to the Macquis of Exeter. The liv-ing is a domative in the discess of Winchester, Va-lte, 2549. Petron, the Rev. J. N. Palmer. The church a racient and good. Charities, £11.—The liberty is in Eingwood division, and conterminate with the parish.

BRLANE, a parish in Axbridge district, Somerset; on the river Axe and on the coast, 4 miles SW by S of Weston-super-Marc Juntion r. station, and 8 W of Axwer-on-saper mare 5 m (non r, station, and 8 w of Ax-bridge, Post-torn, Uphill, under Weston-super-Mare, Acres, 3,167; of which 2,000 are water. Real property, 22,239. Pop., 145. Houses, 27. The property is di-vided among a few. Breams-Down is 300 feet high; and projects into a promon ory 14 mile long, westward from the mouth of the river Axe. Cliffs, with abundance of samplifie, are on the coast; and a great extent of sandy sampuint, are on the coast; and a great extent of saidy bach lies below. An act was passed in 1892 for the construction of harkam, piers or jettles, at Breane-Down, and for the formation of a railway them, to the Dristo and Exster railway. The living is a rectory in the dis-cess of Bath and Wells, Value, 2216, Patron, W. Wille, For. The diving is read. and a vector rangery. The riving is a rectory in the discress of Bath and Wells, Value, £216.* Patron, W. Willes, Esq. The church is good.

BREARLY, a handet in Addle parish, W. R. York-

BREARLY, a handet in Addle parish, w. t. avec-slare; 45 miles ISR of Otley.
BREARLAY. See Britisher.
BRITARTON, a chapelry in Knaresborough perish.
W. E. Verkshire; 5 miles NW of Knaresborough. It became a separate charge in 1896. Pop., 275. Living, a visiting. Value, 22-6. The clurch was built in 1899. BREAKTON, a chapelry in Wilne parish, Debyshire, on the Depty cand and the Milland railway, I a mile NW of Sawley station, and a ESE of Derby. Post-town, of the Perby cana and the administration, NW of Sawkey station, and SEE of Derly. Post-town, Statey, under Derby. Real property, 23,553. Post. 70. Hours, 160. The property is much subdivided. The Eving is a rectory, united with the rectory of Risky, in the dier of of Lichfield, Value 2330, Patron, the Bishop of Lichfield, The church is cool; and there are two Method Bishop of Lichfield, The church is cool; and there are two Method Bish charles, and churit 116, EREATHER-HILLS, a bamber Darrowby patish, Lincoln; 2 miles W of Grantham.

Harden 2 miles wed Gramman.

Liffed HFA, a parish in the distant county of Caparthera on the river Cotley, 8 m. 1 s XW by W of Liandilo r. station, and 11 NE of Camarthen. Post-Liandilo r. station, and 11 Mf et Camarthen. Post-town, Ulan inle, under Carnarthen. Avres, 509. Real property, 6310. Pop., 122. Houses, 26. The property is abdivided. The fixing is a restery in the diocess of St. Devil's. Value, 572. Patrony, the femilies of Tre-gib and Absorbly alternately. The church is good, Lairs are hold on the Tuesday after 13 May, and on 3 an 1 25 O d an LSS Oct.

BRIGGENDEOUGH See Newman.

BRIGGENDEOUGH See Newman.

BRIGGENLES, a parish in Weyber district, Norfock;

the mass N by Wed Herford Result retains, and 5 S. H.

ct. Varton. Post boar, the klare, under Tractford.

A reg. 1,800. Real property, 24,700. Pop., 128

House, 36. The property is all in meetable. The liveling is a vicarrage in the Hermonian tendent was restricted.

Listed, These cite androna to be districted was restricted.

BRIGGEN S (Bernin and to do in Saroph in period.

BRIGGEN S (Bernin and to do in Saroph in period.

BRIGGEN S (Green and Welfern Hermoniant).

Norfdk; 61; iles SSn of Wetten. If was accidently a separate park.

BRECKNOCK, or But was, a town, two parishes, a sub-district, and a district in Brecknockshire. The town stands at the centurner of the Benddu and the Usk, 18 miles E by S of Llandovety, and 191 WNW of Abergavenny. A canal connects it with Abergavenny Tydvil, was opened in 1803; another railway, to connect it with Merchy-Tydvil, was opened in 1803; another railway, to connect it with Hereford, and with junction lines N and S, was it with Hercford, and with praction lines N and S, was opened in 1855; and mother, to connect it with Nexth and with the Central Wales, was opened to Decymneck in 1869. It was anciently called Erycholiniog; and is now sometimes celled Aberhandhu. The encient Britons had a post or town on its site; the Ropisms built estation at Cher-Bannan, on the Via Julia Montana, in its western neighbourhood; and the native princes long contimed to make it a centre of strength, and were called from it Princes of Brycheiniog. Bornard de Newtrarch, a Norman barrou, obtain of from the English crown, in 1662, a grant of a large tract around it; took possession of this by force of arms: and built at the town, in 1994, a strong castle to maintain his power. The eastle passed to the Braoses and the Belons, and was eventually resumed by the Crown; and, together with strong walls and other fortifications which were erected around the town, it was used for ages to repress the turbulence of the native tribes; and both it and the town walls were dismantled by the towns-people, in the civil war of the 17th century, by the towns-people, in the civil war of the 17th century, to aver the horror of the siege. The keep of the castle was made the prison of Morton, Bishop of Ely, under charge of the crafty Duke of Buckingham, and by a rethe scene of the intrigue of these two dignitaries for defining in the base of the base two dignitaries for defining in the base of the tive for joining in the intrigue is alleged to have been resentment of what he thought too small reward from Richard; and therefore is he represented as saying.—

"And is it thus? Repays he my deep service With such contempt? Made I him king for this? O let me think on Hastings and begone To Breckhock while my fearful beat is on."

The town lies in the Least of the granues: proceedings. The tract around it is on assemblege of volcations by nature and embellished and mountains, pictures sue by nature and canhellished by art, with the twin alpue peaks, called the Brocknock beacons, calminating 6 miles to the SSW. The term consists chiefly of three streets on the laft Lank of the Wsk, and the flat suburb of Llanfacs on the right lank; and is altogether about a mile long. The remains of the ancient castle, consisting of two square towers in the garden of the castle Lotel, not older than the virue of Edward III., and of a lotty mound on which the keep stood, are on an criticence in an angle between the Honddu and the Ush. The original structure is believed to have been built of materials from the Renew station of Caer-Bannan; and the completed castle forme lon oblong of about 300 feet by 240. Remains of an aprient Bet long of about 300 feet by 240. Remains of an are for the collective priory, comparising an embetted gateway, the reflectory, and part of the cloisters, are on a height a little N of the co-the. The pulsey was found by he Pennard be Newment, he compared from for his breist of violace; and was rands subject to Battle alloy. A mannion, now colls I be showed pulsey, a sect of the Manpins of Carella, stands adjungate to the mins, and was built out of the characteristic properties. Set these 'C brice, whose som Bi hard was Shahapeare's "Sir Bugh Basis." Chaines I was subjected here by Sir II. Price dier the lattle of Nassby; and George IV, spent a mint hard in 1811, ofter his return from Ireland. The price yells, connect dwith the mathematic packages. v. lks, connect divide the man ion, treextension, nowled, values connection of the first roughly experience of the configuration and picture septe, or here occur to the public; or bothly fine walls here at or the finishes of the Usk, and or the old from walls. The election span the Houdding at least or the picture Use. and is were old, carrow, and inconvenient; it, and the annual policy of the content of the conformerly left. The of the and supported and and earlier with a weally think plan in the centre; the lower one way widened in 1794. The Unit builty connects the main body of the town with the

256

Llurfaes suburb; has seven arches, and commands a fine view. The county hall was built in 1843, at a cost of £12,000; has a tetrastyle Dorie portice; and contains an lonic crown court, of feet long, 45 feet wide, and 35 feet high. The county jul was enlarged in 1858; and a new one was projected in 1869, to cost £6,300. There are a borough ball, a market-house, extensive barracks, a theatre, an infirmary, and a workhouse. A statue of the Duke of Wellington, 8 feet high, on a pedestal of 10 feet, was placed, in 1854, on the Bulwark. St. John's chutch was originally the church of the Benedictine priory, extensively rebuilt in the 13th century, and much altered afterwards; is cruciform, with a massive tower; shows the characters of early English in the chancel and transepts, of decorated English in the nave, and of decorated and perpendicular in the tower; measures 62 feet by 29 along the chancel, and 1364 by 284 along the mave; has a wooden screen, dividing the chancel from the transept, and a fine circular Norman fant, with intersecting arches; and contains numerous monuments, some of them remarkable. St. Mary's church was originally Norman; has a tower in good perpendicular English; and was enlarged in 1558. St. David's church fell down in 1852; was rebuilt in 1860; is in the early decorated style; and consists of nave and chancel, with tower and Christ's college was originally the chapel of a Dominican friary; was changed, in 1531, into a sent of learning, under a deen and nineteen prebendaries; is now attached to the diocesan college of Lampeter; has an autique stone cross, and monuments of several bishops; and includes buildings in the monastic style, of imposing are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Calvinistic Methodists, and Roman Catholics; a grammar school, at which Jones, the county historian, was educated; a theological academy for Independents; and an endowed day school, alms-houses, and an hospital, possessing jointly, with other charities, an income of £517.

The town has a head post-office, four banking-offices, and three chief inns; is the seat of assizes and of quarter sessions for the county; and publishes a weekly newspaper. Markets are held on Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday; and fairs on the first Wednesday of March, 4 May, 5 July, 9 Sept., and 17 Nov. Races are run in September. The chief trade has connexion with agriculture, and with the manufacture of iron, and the smelting of copper and tin. The town has sent a member to parliament since the time of Henry VIII.; was chartered, in 1556, by Mary; and is governed by a mayor, a re-corder, four aldermen, and twelve councillors. The corter, 1901 and the parliamentary boroughs differ in extent; and the one measures 32 miles by two, exclusive of a portion, ebent 10 miles distant, in the parish of Llywell. Direct taxes in 1857, £3,621. Real property in 1869, £26,413. Electors in 1868, 293. Pop. of the m. Loraugh, 5,639. Houses, 1,123. Pop. of the phorough, 5,639. Houses, 1,227. The motorious Dr. Dodd was at one time prehendary of St. Mary's; and Market Schlams and Charles Kemble were natives. The Two extra-pared tracts, called Christ's College and Castle-Inn, are included in the town.

St. John's parish consists of the lower division, or chapelry of St. Mary, and the upper division, which includes the hamlet of Venny-Vach. St. David's also consists of a lower division, or Llandes, and an upper division. Acres of 8t. John, 6,637; of 8t. David, 2,789. Poth are vicarages in the diocese of 8t. David's; and the former has united to it the p. curvey of St. Mary. Value of St. John, £160; of St. David, £141. Patrons of St. John, 2100; of St. David, 2111. Pattons of St. John, not reported; of St. David, the Bishop and P sa mel Chapter of St. David's.—The sub-district contains also the parishes of Llanspyddyd, Aberyscir, Battle, Lianthow, and Control, and port of the parish of Liande-felliograch. Acres, 42,018. Pop., 7,054. Houses, 1,564.—The district comprehends also the sub-district of Merihyr-Cynog, containing the parishes of Merthyr-Cynog, Garthlacogur, and blanfilang-l-neut-bran, and the chapelry of Lanfilang-l-techan; the sub-district of Dovynnock, containing the parishes of Dovynnock, Llandilovane, Llywell, and Trallwig; the sub district of Penkelly, containing the patishes of Llanvigan, Llanviynach, and Lianthetty; and the sub-district of Lingors, ach, and Lianthetty; and the sub-district of Idangors, containing the parish of Liangors, Liangar-Tal-y-Byn, Cathedin, Llan-antfraid, Lianthanhach, Llan-wern, Tabachelin, Llan-antfraid, Lianthanhach, Llan-wern, Tabachelin, Llan-disfiller, Llan-willo, Llan-disfiller, Tabachelin, Llan-wern, 196, 197, and part of the parish of Gwenn-diver. Acres, 196, 193. Poor-rates in 1865, 219, 582. Pop. in 1861, 17, 279. Houses, 3,605. Marriages in 1894, 151; births, 526,—of which 14 were allegitimate; deaths, 25,—of which 84 were at ages under 5 years, and 18 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851—60, 1,324; births, 5,182; deaths, 3,769. The places of worship in 1851 were 11 of the Church of England, with 6,299 stitings; 14 of Indethe Church of England, with 6,290 sittings; 14 of Independents, with 3,112 s.; 12 of Baptists, with 2,329 s.; 18 of Calvinistic Methodists, with 2,619 s.; 5 of Wesh yan Methodists, with 815 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 150 s. The schools were 20 public day schools, with 1,198 scholars; 21 private day schools, with 511 s.; 62 Sunday schools, with 3,545 s.; and 1 evening school for day schools, adults, with 12 s.

BRECKNOCK BEACONS. See ARTHUR'S CHAIR.

BRECKNOCK CANAL AND RAILWAYS. BRECON CANAL and RAILWAYS.

BRECON CANAL BAR IAMWAYS.

BRECKNOCKSHIRF, BRECONSHIRE, or BRECON, an inland county of South Wales. It is bounded on the NW by Cardigan; on the N and NE by Badnor; on the E by Horeford and Mormouth; on the S by Mormouth and Glauporgan; and on the W by Carmartha. Its outline is not far from being roughly triangular, with the sides toward the NE, the S, and the W. Its length, from N to S, is 35 miles; its greatest breadth, from E to W, 32 miles; its circumference, about 108 miles; and its area, 460,158 acres. The greater part of the surface is mountainous and wild. A region of hills, coming in from Cardigan, occupies most of the NW and the N, to the vicinity of the Irvon river; culminating in Drygan, 2,071 feet high, and many of them well clothed with wood and heather. A barren chain, called Mynydd-Epynt, commences at the western boundary, 3 miles above Treastle, and extends north-eastward, across the county, to Builth: presenting abrupt acclivities to the NW, and gradual ones to the SE. A series of mountain masses and relges, intersected by narrow valleys, orenmasses and reges, intersected by harrow valinys, oven-pies all the southern half of the county; culminating successively, from W to E, in the Talsarn mountain, the Capellante mountain, the Breeknock beacons, and Peny-earler-fawr, respectively 2,596, 2,391, 2,862, and 2,545 feet high; and exhibiting a great variety of form and character. The valleys are larger and more level than in some other parts of Wales; and, together with the slopes of the hills and the skirts of the mountains, give a great aggregate of ground to decoration and the plough.

The chief rivers are the Usk, the Wye, and the Irvon; and the miner ones, the Tawe, the Taf, the Cilieri, the Brem, the Yskir, the Hopste, the Honddit, the Cray, the brein, the Tarrell, the two Grwyneys, the Prydain, the Semi, the Tarrell, the two Grwyneys, the Prydain, the Llech, the Dulas, the Comaick, and the Wevesry. Pis-turesque falls even; on the Heyste, the Prydain, and the Llesh. The chief lake is the Llyn-Savaddan, the largest Heeh. The chect layers the Lipro-bavastan, the rangest in South Wales; and the chief others Llyny-Pan-fiver and Llyney-Carw. Mineral springs are at Builth and Danwryd. A large tract in all the NW, to within 5 miles of Builth, casels of lower silurian rocks. A tract in the N, around Builth, together with two narrow belts thence to the 88W, are upper silurian. A very great truet scress all the control of the county, and filling more than half of its area, is old red sandstone. A narrow belt along all the southern border of this tract, is carboniferous limest me and shale; and some parts intermixed with that belt, and S of it to the boundary, belong to the coal measures, which extend thence into the great coal-field of Monmouth and Glamorgan. Limestone is singularly scarce in the silarian regions. Excellent fricelay is worked at Penderyn. Chert is quarried for hearths and millstones; and pennant stone for rooting.

Limestone, cod, and iron are worked in the S. Some Limestone, end, and non are worked in the S. Some Pel, copper, and tripol are found.

The soils are enceedingly various; and range in fertility from the pootest to the richest. That in the best parts of the N is stiff thy learn; that of the vale of Usk, a samily learn; that of the vale of Wye, a good, brown, and the parts of the gravely lear. About 210,000 acres are in cultivation; and about 190,000 are waste. Great improvements have been effected through the exertions of the Brecon Agri-About 210,000 acres are in cultivation; calcural Society. Field crops are raised in sufficient quantity for home consumption; butter, cheese, timber, wood, an leastly are exported; and some hops and orchard troduce are grown. The leases are various; and the produce are grown. The leases are various; and the The Revelo, I cattle have generally superseded the old Welsh black breed in the lowlands; and a hardy race of small mount in sheep depositive the uplanels. Leather and course we diens are manufactured, to a small extent, for the English market; and the iran-works, in the SE, do a large business. The Brecon card assists traffic eastwand from the contre of the county. One railway goes from Breen to Merthyr-Tydvil; another goes from Brecon towards Hereford; another goes from the latter at for a Breeon toward Neath; and two others were in course of formation in 1869 from the last at Devynnock toward Llandovery and toward Garth. The county contains sixty-five parishes, part of another wish, and three chapelries; and is divided into the six rotish, and three chapelries; and is divided into the six header to 6 Poilta, Crickhowdl, Devyaneck, Merthyr, Penxelly, and Talgotth. The registration county in-cludes part of Hereford and Radmar, but gives of larger parts to Indee, Crimanthen, and Garriagan; amounts to 443,123 agar; and is divided into the districts of Paith, Breckmak, Crickhovell, and Hay. The market turns are Bright, Dackmeck, Crickhowell, and Hay; and the chief scats are Breckmock Princy, Dimas, Buck-lad, Thomas and Theodocking Covenified Cartell. and the chief soils are Brekhock Phrey, Dinas, Buck-Lud, Llwynia (og. Llangood Castle, Gweinyfed, Castell-Madeg, Ynyscelwyn, Pen-bont, Pennoyre, and Abercan-Liu. Real-property in 1815, 2146, 539; in 1843, 2198, 472; in 1890, 2261, 350. The county is governed by a lord-leytenant, a high sheriff, and about forty-five magis-It is in the Home military district, and the South Wales judicial circuit; and it forms an archdea-Sorth Water justicular errorit; and it founds an architectury in the choices of St. David's. The assizes are held at birecknock in Leat and summer; and quarter sessions on Lan., 9 Ayril, 2 July, and L50-st. The police force consists of 33 men for the county at large, and four for Broknock burgh. The number of crimes committed in 1861 was 65; and of persons apprehended, 64; of known depredators or suspected persons although 140; of hours of helpelanter, 50. The only prison is the county juil at Brecknock. One member is sent to pur-h ament for Beccon borough, and one for the rest of the cenety, and the number of county electors in 1868 was 2.500. Pop in 1801, 32,325; in 1821, 43,826; in 1841, 55,653; in 1881, 61,627. Inhabited houses, 12,913; aninhabited, 531; building, 55.

The Romans gaine Lposse but of Brecknockshire after the defect of Caractonis; and mode it part of the pro-vince of Britanta Semuda. It was once called Carlin Madryn; and it took its present name from a Welsh piace called Brythan, who lived in the 5th century. Met part of it came under the power of the Normans etter the overthrow of Bleddyn, prince of Brycheining, in agreet battle in 1088) but Jacks of it among the mounters maintained resistance, two centuries longer, till the 17th of Elevation Most of it was long swayed by the farmes of the Elevation and All of it, more or less, was hims of the Elevation of the Interest of the Most of the Resistance of the Elevation of Congression and the Elevation of the a good battle in 1088; but parts of it among the moun-

BRECON. See BRECKNOCK and BRECKNOCKSHIRE. BRECON AND HEREFORD RAILWAY. See HERE-

FOLD, HAY, and BRECON RAILWAY.
BRECON AND MERTHYR-TYPVIL RAILWAY. system of railway between Brecon and Merthyr-Tydvil, in South Wales. It was anthorized in 1859; and opened in 1863. It includes a line of 123 miles from the Brecon canal in Lianthetty parish to Merthyr-Tydyil; and a line of 13 mile, continuous with the former, from Merthyr-Tydvil, into junction with Dowlais railway, which communicates with the Taf Vale; and it includes also communicates with the Tail Vale; and It includes also an extension from Tail y-bont to Brecknock. BRECON CANAL, a canal south-castward from the centre of Brecknockshire and Brecknock to the Monmouth canal near Pont-y-Pool in Monmouth. It was formed in 1811, at a cost of £170,000; is 33 miles long; has capacity for larges of 25 tors; falls 65 feet, with eight locks, in the first 181 miles to Clydach; and goes thence, on a level, past Abergavenny, to the Monmouth Cause.

BEFCONGILL, a hamlet in Coverham parish, N. E.
Vota life; 2 miles SW of Middleh.m.
BRECONHILL, or Brackenhill, a township in Arthuret paish, Cumberland; on the river Line, 45 miles E by N of Longtovu. Acres, 4,525. Real property, 22,761. Pop., 310. Houses, 54. BRFDBURY, a township-chapelry in Stockport parish, Cheshire; adjacent to the Peak Forest canal, 2 miles rish, Cheshree; adjacent to the Feor Forest cama, a mare ENE of Stockport r. station. Post-town, Stockport. Acres, 2,521. Beal property, £15,075; of which £1,308 are in mines. Pop., 3,408. Houses, 676. The living is a vicarage in the dio. of Chester, Value, £460.° Patron, alt, the Crown and the Bishop. The church is good; and there are an Independent chapel, and charities £16.

BREDE (Thu), a stream of Sussex. It rises 2 miles

E of Penhurst; and rans 12 miles castward to the Ry-

EREDE, a parish in Rye district, Sussex; on the river EREDE, a parish in Kyedistint, Sassex; on the river brede, 4 rulles W by N cf Winchelsen 1, station, and 5 ENE of Battle. It has a post-office, of the mano of Broele Bill, under Staplehurst; and a fair is Iedl in it on Easter Tuesday. Aeres, 4,840. Real property, £6,782. Pop. 1,082. Houses, 214. The property is sub-divided. The manor belonged anciently to the Attefords, and passed, in the time of Henry IV., to the Oxtorus, and passen, in the time of them yet, to the Ox-cubridges. The manor-house, called Erede-Place, show, interesting amount features, commands a fine view, and is now occupied by a farmer. There is an iron foundry The living is a reet y in the diocese of Chichester, Value, £1,023.* Patron T. Frewen, Esq. The courch was enlarged in the early part of the loth century, by Sir Goldard Oxenbridge; contains a monumental effigies of him, and flamboyant traceries introduced by him; and is in good condition. There is a Wesleyan chapel, gues of hin, and namount netwerns introduced by Jim, and is in good condition. There is a Wesleyau chapel, BELDE-HILL. See Birde.

BREDERBUERY, or Bridgerick a parish in Broreyand district, Her food; 3 miles WXW of Bromyand, and 7 E by N of Dinmore r. station. Post-town, Bromyand under Worcester. Acres, 545. Real property, 2726. Pop., 52. Houses, 11. Bridgericking House is the chief residence; and there is an ancient comp. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Herdord. Value, 2115. Patron, E. Higginson, Est.

BRYDFILLD, a part h in Woodbridge district, Suffolk; near the Est Salfolk railway, 3 miles N of Woodbridge. It has a post-office under Woodbridge. Acres, 1,967. Real property is a bilivided. Bredfield Hall is the chief residence. The lasting is a rectory in the diocese of Norwick. Value, 22/55. Patron, the Lord Chamellor. The clumb is old but good. There are an independent chapel, a net and shead, and charities 28. REEDGAL, a parish in Milton district, Keat; among the chalk kills, 3 miles 88W of Sittingbourner, station.

the chall, hills, 5 miles 88W of Sitting bourner, station, It has a post office und. Sittingbourner, Acres, 1,797. Read property, 20,876, Pop., 547. Houses, 117. The property is under subdivided. Bredgar Horse is a chafproperty is the execution. The leving is a vicinize in the dioces of Canterbury. Valv., 2.180° Eatron, Sir E. Dering, Bart. The charch is perpolicular English, with a carious Norman doorway under the tower; has Roman bricks in its walls; contains a brass of 1508; and is in good condition. A chantry or small college was founded in it, in the time of Richard II., by Robert de Bredgar. There are a Wesleyan chapel, built in 1869, and chari-

BREDHURST, a parish in Hollinghourn district, Kent; 3 miles SSW of Rainham r. station, and 45 SE of Chatham. Fost-town, Rainham, under Sitting-bourne. Acres, 600. Real property, 2709. Pop., 117. Houses, 22. The property is divided among a few. The Biving is a vicarage in the discoss of Canterbury. Value, Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church is old but good.

church is old but good.
BREDIOCOT, a parish in Pershore district, Worcestershire; on the Birmingham and Gloucester railway, 33 miles B of Worcester.
Worcester. Aeres, 397.
Real property, with Churchill,
£1,570.
Pop., 53.
Houses, 13. The property is all in Worcester. Acres, 397. Real property, with Churchill, £1,570. Pop., 53. Houses, 13. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory, united with the vicarage of Tilberton, in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £260.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Wor-

The church is good.

BREDON, a village in the district of Tewkesbury, and a parish in the districts of Tewkesbury and Winchcombe, and county of Worcester. The village stands on the river Avon, adjacent to the Birmingham and Gloucester radway, 31 miles NE of Tewkesbury; and has a station ratiway, 35 miles NE of Tewkesbury; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Tewkesbury. Eanulf, grandfather of King Offa, got a grant of it from Ethelbald, King of Merica; and founded at it a monastery, which was transferred, before the Conquest, to the see of Worester. The parish includes also the hamlets of Norton-by-Bredon, Hardwick-with-Mitten, Kinsham, and Westmancote, and the chapelry of Cutsdean. Acres, 5,818. Real property, £11,608. Pop., 1,555. Houses, 366. Bredon hill separates the yales of Cotswold and Eyesham; has an altitude of 990 feet; commands an ex-Evesiman, has all artifule of 190 feet; commands an ex-tensive prospect; has truces of a Roman camp with a double treuch; and is a meet for the Worcester bounds. Wollashill Hall is the ancient seat of the Hanfords. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacies of Norton and Cutsdean, in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £2,300.* Patron, the Duke of Portland. The church occupies the site of the ancient monustery; is an old and interesting edifice of different periods, chiefly early Euglish; has a central tower, surmounted by a graceful spire; and was restored in 1845. The remains of Dr. Prideaux, bishop of Worcester in the time of Charles I., lie in the chancel; a rich monument of Giles Reed, of date 1611, is in a south chapel; and several ancient monastic tombs are in the churchyard. There are a Baptist chapel, a free school with £130 a-year, and charities £350.
BREDON-ON-THE-HILL. See BREEDON-ON-THE-

HILL.

HILL.

BREDWARDINE, a village and a parish in the district of Hay, and county of Hereford. The village stands on the river Wye, adjacent to the line of the Hereford and Brecon railway, 7½ miles E by N of Hay; and has a post-office under Hereford. The parish comprises 2,245 acres. Real property, 23,147. Top., 420. Houses, 93. The property is divided among a few. Bredwardine of the Levidadice. Castle, now a ruin, was the seat of the Bredwardine castle, now a run, was the sear of the Dredwardine family; one of whom was Archbishop of Canterbury in 1349. The living is a vicatage, writed with the rectory of Brobury, in the diocess of Hereford. Value, £370.* Patron, the Rev. N. D. H. Newton. The church is an old structure, of nave and chancel, with a tower; and is in good condition. A charity to the poor, bequeathed by George Jarvis, Esq., who died in 1793, yields £1,253 a-year.

BREDV (Tur.), a stream of Doiset. 'It rises on the downs in Little Bredy parish; and runs 8 miles westward to the sea at Bridport.

EREDY (LITTLE), a parish in Dorchester district, Derset; on the downs, at the source of the Eredy stream, 5 miles SSW of Grimstone and Frampton r. station, and 63 W by S of Dorchester. It has a post-office under Derchester. Acres, 1,636. Real property, with Kingston-Russell, £2,198. Pop., 199. Houses, 41. property is all in one estate. Stone is quarried. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Long Bredy, in the diocese of Salisbury. The church is good,

BREDY (Long), a parish in Dorchester district, Dorset; on the downs, near the source of the Bredy stream, set; on the downs, near the source of the Bredy stream, 4\(\frac{1}{2}\) nulles SW of Crimstone and Frampton r. station, and 8 W of Dorchester. It includes the Lamlet of Upper Kingston; and its post-town is Little Bredy under Porchester. Acres, 2,117. Real property, 25,067. Pop., 250. Houses, 55. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Little Bredy, in the diocese of Salishury. Value, £625.* Patron, R. Williams, Esq. The church is good. Churities £68. ties, £8

BREEDON-ON-THE-HILL, a village and a township in the district of Shardlow, and county of Loicester, and a parish in the districts of Shardlow and Ashby-de-la-Zouch, and counties of Leicester and Derby. The vil-Zouch, and commes of Legester and Derry. The virging stands at the base of a high limestone rock, near the verge of the county, 4 miles N of Swannington r. station, and 5 NE by N of Ashby-de-la-Zouch; and has a post-office, of the name of Breedon, under Ashby-de-la-Zouch. A small monastery of black canons, subject to the priory of St. Oswald in Yorkshire, was founded here in 1144 by Ferrers, Earl of Notwas founded here in 1144 by Ferrers, Earl of Nottingham; and given, at the dissolution, to the Shinleys.

The township includes also the hemilets of Wilson and Tonge. Acres, 3,010. Real property, £3,199. Pop., $93. Houses, 222.—The parish centains also the townships of Staunton-Harrold and Worthington, and the liberty of Newbold. Acres, £410. Real property, £11,797. Pop., 2,417. Houses, 542. The property is divided among a few. The manor belongs to the Earl of Stamford. Linestone is worked. The living is a vicasage in the dicesse of Peterberough. Value, £205. Patron, the Earl of Stamford. The church surmounts the limestone rock at the village; contains tombs of the Shirleys; and is good. The peuracy of Worthington is a separate benefice. There are two Wesleyan chapels, an endowed school with £41 a-year, and a vicasage augmentation charity £234. year, and a vicarage augmentation charity £241.
BREEM. See BLEAM.

BREEM. See Beeam.
BREHAR, or Bayung, one of the Seilly islands; in the NW of the group, 2½ miles NW of Hugh-Town. It is 2 miles long, rogged, wild, and high; and inhabited chiefly by fishermen. It contains some Drudical remains. Pop., 119.
BREHOM, an islet, ¾ of a mile long, separated by a narrow strait from the W side of Sark, in the Channel Islands.

BREIDDON-HILL, or CRAIG-Y-GWREIDDYN, attiplecrested eminence on the E border of Montgomery; over-hanging the river Severn, 61 miles NNE of Welshpool. It is crowned with an ancient camp, and with a pillar to Rodney; and has been thought by some to be the place where O. Scapula finally overthrew Caractacus.

place where O. Scapula finally overthrew Caractacus. BREIGHTMET, a township in Belton-le-Moors parish, Lancashire; 2\text{?} miles E of Lelton. Acres, 970. Read property, 26,627; of While 21,504 are in mines, Pop., 1,502. Houses, 295. Cotton manufacture is carried on; and there are a church of 1855, a Wesleyan chapel, and an endowed school with 226 a-year. BRIGHTON-CUM-GUMBY, a township in Bubwith Scalable. E. Vanishire on the river Derwant, near the

BRITATITE AND ACTOR OF THE ACTOR OF T

BREINTON, a parish in the district and county of Hereford; on the river Wye, and on the Hereford and Brecon railway, 2! miles W by S of Hereford. It includes the hamlet of Wareham and a pendicle of Herefor l city; and its post-town is Hereford. Acres, 1,629. for I city; and its jost-town is hereford. Acres, 1,940. Real property, £3,221. Pop., 393. Houses, 85. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £250. Patron, the Bishop of Hereford. The church is tolerable; and there are charities £17

BREISWORTH. See BRAISEWORTH,

LEELADE (Sr.), a parish in the SW of Jersey. It] mins the town of St. Aubin, which has a post-office many; and includes also the village of Connerie. Houses, 38d. The scenery is beautiful; Proc. 2,054. Houses, 386. The scenery is beautiful to Intherent as your landsome villus. St. Brelade Lay, 1 miles We of St. Aubin, has a horse-shoc cutline, and selection of the mile wide; and shows channing features. rest of a mile wide; and shows charming features, i.e. living is a rectory in the discose of Windhester. Value, £10.0 = Lation, the Governor of Jersey. The cloth histories on the W side of the bay; and is a small Y line while of the 12th century. A little chapel in the Charles and possesses some tade retagins of frescoes; but as both experiency moderated, and is used as an artil-St. Aubin's chapel is a separate charge.

TERMENE S. Adminstraction is a separate energy.
LHEMBLE, See Brimminham.
LHEMENTURACUM—See Brimminham.
LHEMENTURACUM—See Brimminham. LHEMENTURACUM See Brampton, Cumberlun I. C. Ires district, or Bremann, a village and r parish in C. Ires district, Wiles. The village stands on the Roman r late Typh, repr the Wiles and Berks canal, 27 miles 8% of the Great Western railway, and 4 E by N of Chippenham, and has a post-office, of the name of Brenhill, in let Chippenham.—The parish includes also the tything of Fart Tytheton, Studley, Spitchill, Charlestr, and Towham. Acres, 5,950. Real property, 27,781. Poisses, 282. The property is divided aming a few. Studiey House belonged formerly to the Integration, and is now compiled by a farme. A change and pilor, surnounted by a female figure, in · connected pulsar, surnounted by a female figure, in and some other points, comis it for views. The living is a vicanage in the discrete of Selfsbury. Value, 2500. Patron, the Bishop of Selfsbury. The church is an invested edifice, in very 2 dec. 1750; base timely carved recellent; and con-. z., . coments of the Bayntons and the Hungerfords. The consumers of the Daymtons and the Hungerfords.

I at leaf crosses are adjacent; and several epitaphs.

I be incleved are from the pen of the poet Bowles, the left of a vicarage, and died here in 1850. There are Coleyan and Primitive Methodist chapels; a Moravian He th has £167.

BREMILHAM, or Cowage, a parish in Malmesbury hatEMILHAM, or Cowaca, a parish in Malmesbury, district, Whits, or the river Avon, mar Akemansstreet, while SW by W of Malmesbury, and 9 WSW of Malmesbury and 9 WSW of Malmesbury and 9 WSW of Malmesbury, under Chipenlan Acres, 430. Real property, with Westerland Forley, 20,385. Pop., 29. Houses, 5. The property is all none estate. The living is a rectory in the first of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, 4121. Force, the Hon, and Rev. R. Bowles. The church is all no markets and the second control of the country in the Hon, and Rev. R. Bowles. The church is a significant to the church is BUENCHLEY, a village, a parish, a sub-district, and Fig. 1. A vinige, a pairs, a stronger a pairs, a substance of the vining stronger of the vi igh ze and near it, figures conspicuously over many - The perish includes also the hamlets of Metheld-11. 7 — The perish includes also the handlets of Methods, in Collis 40°, Massells-Found, Henlys, Persons-Circus, in Festilize. Acres, 7,780. Real property, 271,518. For 2834. Houses, 560. The property is reconstituted by the control of the con and True of Lee. The living is a vicanage in the dioif a form wither the living is a vienage in the discount of Contentury, Value, 779.9. Extent, G.C. Charlet, E. E., The church is obl. cruefform, and a limitable a beforehower. Paddeds Wood vienage is a spiral with the contentual and a liquid chaped, a Wilsyan et al., and the Fire A17.—The subdistinct countries was a their published and is in the district countries was a their published and is in the district countries. Acres, 15,778. Pop. 5,486. Houses, 5,566.—In hand of howether macel founding and part of L. Accharlet, and it is the published and part of L. Accharlet, a list in the Pale of Aylesford. Acres, 15,577. Pop. 5,450. Hugs, 815.

1. Separates p. 148 in air rice to Aytonom. Actes 128-37. Pop. 1470. If use, $15. Signature of the County of the Prior Streetly of the county, of seen to the county of the County of the Aytonomy of the Aytonomy of the County of the County of the Aytonomy of County of the County Burnstaple, Ac.es, 6,732. Red property, 41,579. Pop., 201. Houses, 57. The manor belonged, in the time of Edward the Confessor, to Allward Technetone; was given by William the Conquerer to Ralph de Lomerois; passed to the Beaples and the Chichesters; and Lelongs passed to the looples and the Chichesters, and belongs now to F. W. Knight, Esq. Much of the surface is sheep-walk and deer preserve. The vale of Brendon is narrow, deep, and picturesque. The parish is a meet for the North Deven hounds. Major Wade, a leader in the insurrection under the Duke of Monmouth, was made prisoner at Farley farm. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter, Value, £200. Patron, F. W.

In the diocese reserved.

Knight, Fey. The church is a structure partly of 1733, nainly of 1328.

BRENDON HILLS, a range of hills in Somerset; 7 miles SSW of Watchet. It is several miles long, and 1,210 feet high; consists of loose, shally limestone; and was recently discovered to contain a valuable vein of carbonate of iron. The Ebbw vale company are working can centure of from the EDOW vale company are working the vein; and have constructed a railway to it from Watchet. A British camp, chied Ellworthy Farrows, is on the W point of the range; and British usus have BRENKLEY, a township in Dinnington patish, Northumberland; 2½ miles W of the Northeastern railway, and 7½ N by W of Newcastle-upon-Tyne. Acres, 885. Pep., 51. Houses, 10.

BRENNICH (Tur.), the part of the river Till above

Wooler, in Northumberland. It gave name to the Saxon kingdom of Bernicia.

BRENNING (THE), a stream of Cardigae, falling into BREANTAG (1916), a stream of Catagon, airing and the Telli near Tregaron.

BREASON, or Breaston, a hamlet in Newchurch patish, Isle of Wight; 1½ mile S of New burch. The Dairyman's Cottage, immortalized by Leigh Richmond, is adjucent.

BRENT, See BRENT (SOUTH), Devon.
BRENT (THE), a stream of Herts and Middlesex. It rises near Barnet; and runs 16 miles south-south-westward, past Handon and Hanwell, to the Thames at Brentford.

BRENT, or BRAINT (THE), a stream of Anglescy. It rises near Liandidaniel; and runs 6 miles south-southwestward to the Mened strait, below Abermenal valley.

BRENT (East), a village and a parish in Axbridge district, Somerset. The village stands near the Bristol and Lacter radway, 4 miles X by E of Highbridge station, and 6 WSW of Axbridge; and has a post-office un-Weston-super-Marc. The parish includes also the hamlets of Rooksbridge and Edingworth. Acres, 3,037. Real property, £10, 350. Pop., 797. Houses, 176. The property is much subdivided. Brent-knoll, on the southern border, is a conical hill SS3 feet high; commands an extensive view; and is crowned with vestiges of a doubly entrenched Roman camp. Roman coins and other relies have been found here; and King Alfred is other refus have been found here; and King Affred 8 said to have fought with the Danes at Eattleborough, at the foot of the hell. The living is a vicange in the discover of Bath and Wells. Value, 2002." Patron, the Bishop of Bath and Walls. The church is an interesting chilice, with a spire 140 toet high; and los several windows of aucient pointed glass. There are a Methodist chiquel and a national school; and there was anciently a chaped and a rational school; and there was accounty a cell to Glactombury abb 9; N. BEENT LLEIGH, or BEENT LLEIGH, or BEENT LLEIGH, or BEENT End, per inles NE by N of Sudbury restrict. Post-town, Lavenham, under Sudbury. Acres 1,617. Real property 22,549. Pop., Sudonry, Acres 1,647. Acra property 22,549. Pop., 228. Huss, 60. The property is divided among a few. Brent Hall belonged case to the Sheltons, and passed to the Azirs. The living is a rectory in the discose of Ely. Calue, 2009. Patrun, Mrs. Brown. The church shows Norman 1 atmos, has a later English tower, and is good; and there are charities, 290. A market was fortundy held in the parish.

BRENTFORD, atom, three chapelries, a sub-district, and a district in Mrbllesex. The town stands at the inflax of the river Brut to the Thanes, 71 miles W by S of Lordon. The Grand Junction canal unites here with the Brent, and accompanies it to the Thances. The Southwestern, the Great Western, and the Metropolitan railways communicate with the town in various ways, and have stations for it with telegraph; and the Great Western connects here likewise with large docks for heavy traffic by water to London. The town is ancient; and took its name from a ford, on the line of a great thoroughfure, across the Brent. It was the scene, in 1016, of a destructive overthrow of the Danes, by Edmund Ironside; and, in 1642, of a still more important overthrow of the parliamentarians by the royalportain overtimes of the parter was held at it in 1415; and six martyrs were burnt in it in 1558. The "Iwo Kings of Brentford" have done great service with all sorts of poets and poetasiers, from William Cowper to Tom D'Urfey. John Lowin, the landlord of the "Three Pigeons" here, in the time of Ben Johnson, was a famous actor, and performed in Shakspeare's own company. Before, and periorinear in Shakspeares own company. The town is described by the poet Gay as a "tedious town, for dirty streets and white legged chickens known;" and by the poet Thomson as "Prentford town—a town of much." It now comprises one long principal street; and contains some good houses. A bridge connects the lower end of the town, across the Thames, with Kew; and another bridge, creefed in 1825 on the site of a very ancient one, crosses the Brent. The town-hall and market house is a handsome brick and stone edifice. St. Lawrence' church is at the end of the town, near the bridge. St. George's church was rebuilt, excepting the tower, in 1761; has been several times renovated; presents a light and pleasing appearance; and contains a splendid altar-piece, a large font, and monuments of the Clitherows, Dr. W. II. Ewin, Sarah Howell, and the father of John Horne Tooke, St. Paul's church was built in 1863; and is in the decorated English style, and highly ornate. There are two Independent chapels, two Eaptist chapels, a Wesleyan chapel, a Poman Catholic chapel, literary club and reading-rooms, British schools built at a cost of about £3,000, three national schools, a dispensary, a workhouse built at a cost of £9,000, the Grand Junction waterworks, with a chimney 150 feet high, extensive foundries, nurseries, brickfields, tile and potexcensive roundines, interestic, or research, the and pot-tery works, saw mills, maltings, a brewery, a soan manu-factory, a weekly market on Tuesday, and fairs of three days in May and three days in Sept. The town has post-offices of Brentford; and Old Brentford, under London W., a banking-office, two chief inns, and a policestation; is a seat of sessions and county courts, and the place of election for Middlesex; and comprises part of Isleworth parish, and all its own three chapelries. Sion House, a seat of the Duke of Northumberland, Osterley Park, the sent of the Earl of Jersey, Boston House, the scat of Col. Clitherow, and many handsome villas are in the neighbourhood. Pop. of the town in 1861, 9,521. Houses, 1,902.

The chapelries are St. Lawrence or New Brentford, a township of Hanwell parish, St. George-Old Brentford, in Ealing parish, and St. Paul-Old Brentford, also in Ealing. Lating partsh, and St. Faut-Old Brentford, also in Eating, Pop. of St. L., 11,995; of St. C., 2,591; of St. P., 4,409. The livings are vicarages in the diocese of Loudon. Value of St. L., £283, * of St. G., £300; * of St. P., £300. Fatron of St. L., the Rector of Hanwell; of St. G., the Vicar of Ealing; of St. P., alternately the Crown and the Bishop. John Horne Tooke was incumbent of St. George.—The sub-district includes also the rest of Faling parish. Acres, 4,034. Pop., 13,258. Houses, 2,725.—The dis-trict comprehends likewise the sub-district of Twicken. ham, conterminate with Twickenham parish; the subham, conterminate with Twickenham perish; the sub-district of Chiswick, conterminate with Chiswick parish, the sub-district of Isleworth, containing the parishes of Isleworth and Heston; and the sub-dis-rict of Acton, containing the parishes of Acton, Hanwell, Perivale, and Great Greenford. Acres, 20, 405. Poor-rarbs in 1806, 29,895. Pop. in 1801, 50,516. Houses, 9,402. Marriages in 1866, 453; births, 2,030,— of which 101 were illegitimate; deaths, 1,245,—of which 483 were at acces under 5 years, and 31 at ages above $5. 483 were at ages under 5 years, and 31 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,925; births, 14,307; deaths, 9,909. The places of worship in 1 s51 were 17 of the Church of England, with 11,737 sitting3; 10 of Independents, with 2,927 s.; 3 of Baptiats, with 610 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 160 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Methodists, with Quakers, with 100 S., or received authorists, with 178 1,200 s.; 2 of Frimitive Methodists, with 178 s.; 1 of latter-Pay Saints, with 80 s.; 1 undefined, with 40 s.; and 2 of Ronan Catholies, with 250 s. The schools were 33 public day schools, with 4,252 scholars; 116 private 35 public day schools, with 4,252 scholars; 116 privated any schools, with 2,509 s.; 27 Sunday schools, with 3,155 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 8 s. BRENTFORD END, a hambet in 15beworth parish, Midblesex; 1 mile WSW of Brentford. A chapel, with friary or fraternity of All Angels, was founded here by Somersate databasis of them. Somerset, chaplain of Henry VI.; and given, in the time of Edward VI., to the Duke of Somerset.

BREATFORD (New and Old). See BREATFORD. BREATFORD (All and Old). See BREATFORD, BREATFORD, a chapelry in Wyfordby parish, Leicester; on the river Wreak, the Oakhain canal, and the Midland railway, 2 miles E of Melton-Mowbray. Posttown, Melton-Mowbray. Pop., 54. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Thorpe-Arnold, in the diocese of l'eterborough.

BRENT-KNOLL. See BRENT (EAST). BRENT-MILL, a handet in South Brent parish, Devon

BRENTOR. See BRENT-TOR.

ERENT-PELIIAM, a parish in Bishop-Stortford district, Hers; on the verge of the county, 5 miles E of Buntingford r. station. It has a post-office under Bunt-ingford. Acres, 1,601. Real property, £2,120. Pop., 286. Houses, 60. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicaruge, united with Furneus-Pelham, in the dip of Boghesty. Who, 220, 67, 184 in the dio. of Rochester. Value, £320. * Patron, the Treas, of St. Paul's. The church was recently restore l.

BRENTSIDE, a handet in Middlesex; on the river Brent, 3 miles N by W of Brentford. It has a postoffice under Ealing, London W.

BRENT (South), a village and a parish in Totacs district, Devon. The village stands on the river Avon, adjacent to the Sonth Devon railway, 6 miles W of Totangaent to the santh Devou rainary, o mace not raines; and has a station, of the name of Brent, on the rilway, and a post-office, of the same name, under Ivy Bridge. It was formerly a nauket-town; and it still has large fairs on the last Tuesday of April and Sept.—The parish comprises 9,371 acres. Real property, 28,415. Pop. 1,205. Houses, 219. The property is much di-vided. The manor once belonged to the abbot of Buckfastleigh; but has been dismembered. The surface is Instegn; but has been dishembered. The Sufface is diversified; and includes the striking uninence of South Brent-Tor. Micaceous iron-ore, used for the studing of manuscript, is found. The living is a vicarrage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £822.* Patron, the Rev. N. Cole. The church is old and large; consists of navel beared with the Cole. chancel, and aisles; and has a Norman tower. are chapels for Independents and Baptists; parish lands, yielding £114 a-year; and other charities £25.

BRENT (South), a village and a parish in Axbridge BRENT (SOUTH), a vines parish, Somerset. The village stands under Brent-Kuoll, adjacent to the Bristol and Exeter reliway, 3 miles N by E of Highbridge station, and 7½ SW of Ax-bridge; and has a post-office under Weston-super-Mare.—The parish includes also the hamlet of Week. Acres, 1988. Peal requesty, £10,594. Pop., 905. Houses, 3,426. Real property, £10,594. Pop., 905. Houses, 200. The property is much subdivided. The manor 200. The property is much supervised. The amount belonged formerly to the abbots of Glastonbury. The living is a vicinity of the diocese of Eath and Wells. Value, 4548.* Patron, the Archdeacon of Wells. The Value, 1918. Fatron, the Arendeacon or wens, the church is partly Norman; and contains a large monument to a Somerset of 1663. There are a Bible Christian chapel, a nutional school, and churities 28.

BRENT-TOR, or BRENTOR, a parish in Tavistock district, Devon; on the river Lid, 4 miles N by W of Tavistock r. station. Post-town, Tavistock. Acres, 1,212.
Real property, £892. Pep., £23. Houses, 28. The manor belonged formerly to the abbey of Tavistock; and belongs now to the Duke of Bedforl. A remarkable eminence here, bearing the same name as the parish. starts abruptly from an cl. vate i down; has an altitude of 1,100 feet; is seen at a great distance; and server as a mark for vessels entering Plymouth harbour. I's form is conical; its surface, rocky; and its mineral structure, a subject of much discussion among geologists. A mine of manganese was long worked; but has been Value, £60. Patron, the Dake of Bedford. The church surmounts a precipice on the crown of the Tor; is a carious weather worn structure, 37 feet by 142; and is said to have been built by a merchant who, overtaken by a storm at sea, vowed to erect a church on the first point of land he saw.

BRENT-TOWN, a village in Preston parish, Kent:

in the vicinity of Faversham

BRENT-WITH-WRINGTON, a hundred in Somerset. It contains the parishes of East Frent, South Brent, Wrington, and three others. Acres, 22,787. Pop.,

Wrington, and three others. Acres, 2-,131. 10p., 4,781. Houses, 1,015.

BRENTWOOD, a small town, a chapelry, and a subdistrict in Billeticay district, Essex. The town stands adjacent to the Eastern Counties railway, near Wattingstreet, 51 miles NE by E of Romford. Its name is a corruption of Buant-Wood; and was derived from the burning, long ago, of a circumjacent forest. Some Ronean antiquities have been found in it. The town was, at one time, a seat of assizes; and has of late been extended and improved. The town-hall was built in 1864, and is in the Italian style, with Corinthian portico. The county lunatic asylam is an editice in the Tudor The grammar school was founded in 1557, by Sir Inthony Browne; and Las an endowed income of 21,502. The old church is early English; was built in 1221; and is now used for a national school. The new thurch is a Gothie structure, with a handsome square tower; and was built in 1835. The Roman Catholic chard was built in 1861; is formed of Kentish rag, with Eath stone facings; consists of nive, aisles, and chancel, with a tower and spire 110 feet high; and was a gift of Lord Petre, whose sect that Ingreve is about 2 may to the S. There are chapels for Independents and We byons. The town has a head post-office, a railwaystation with telegraph, a bunking office, and two chief station with telegraph, a funking-office, and two clinics, and is a seat of petry sessions. The weekly mathed Les cased; but fairs are held on 18 July and 15 Oct. Pero, 2, 211. Houses, 532.—The chaptery includes the town; and is in South Wood parish. Ares, 730. Bed property, £9,610. Pero, 3,605. Houses, 553. The property is much subdivided. The living is a pecuracy in the diocess of Rochester. Value, £124. Particle Conference of the period of the conference of the conference of the period of the conference of t tron, G.

currey in the diocese of Rochester, Value, £124. *Paren, C. T. Tower, Fesp.—The sub-district contains six particle. Acres, 14,403. Pop., 8,167. Houses, 1,378. HullNZETT, a parish in Ronney-Marsh district, Kent.; 2 Dides SR by E of Appledore r. station, and 4; WNW of New Rouncy. Post-town, Appledore, nucler Staple inst. Acres, 1,802. Real property, £5,153. Pop., 279. Houses, 55. The property is divide I among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Canternary, Value, 201. Paren, the New W. Berchman. a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of bury. Value, £94. Patron, the Rev. W. Brockman. The church belonged anciently to Guisnes abbey in Artois; has some Norman portions; and is in good condition. There is a Wesl-van chapel.

BRTOCK (Sr.), a perish in St. Columb district, Cornwall; on the river Cauch, including part of the town of wall, of the river Came, including part of the rown of Wisdocidge, and 10 miles NW of Idelmin-Road r. sta-tion. Post-town, W. debrilze, Comwali. Acres, 8,287; of which 210 me order. Real property, £6,852. Pup., 1,503. Heraes, 402. The property is divided among a few. The river belonged one to the Morieses; and pas I to the Mole worths. An enthence called the Be seen is crowned by a crosalech, and commands a fine A mineral traffic is carried on, by railway, with view. Peter in and Camelland. The living is a nectory in the discrept of Exeter. Value, 1850. Patron, the Rev. G. S. diese of Eveler, Value, Color, Fratton, the research Prist. The charch contribute question greater contributes as some of I menuments and two has equal to its good condition. There are charged for independents, Bible Charlians, and Wesheyans. The perish here the name Cond. Tally and thapps. For finds Obs. thans, and Weshayans. The perish of Preform at the Damasday survey.
BUURDING. See Branchoto.
Brackfill [BF]. S.S Barnayana r.

adjacent to the Trent Valley railway, 1 mile SE of Rugeley. It was constituted in 1843; and it has a post-office under Rugeley. Fep., 1,529. Houses, 281. Coal is worked. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Yang 204.* Patron the Vicar of Rug-ley. The church is in the early English style, and has a fine spire. There is a Western chapter.

BREINEFON-CUM-SMETHWICK, a parish in Conjecton district, Cheshier, on the river Croke, 2 miles SE of Holmes-Chapel r. station, and 3 NE by N of Sandbach. It has a post-office, of the name of Brereton, under Congleton; and is a seat of petty sessions. Acres, 4,501. Real property, £7,801. Pop., 592. Houses, 4,501. Real property, £7,801. Pop., 592. Houses, 104. The property is subdivided. Breteton Hall was built by Sir W. Brereton, the parliamentary leader; and is now the seat of the Howards. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chester. Value, £681.* Parton, Mrs. E. Royds. The charch is later English, and good; and there are three disserting chapels. A school has £8; and other charities £10.

BRESSINGIIAM, or Brissingham, a parish in Guilt-cress district, Norfolk; on the verge of the county, 23 miles W of Diss, and 4 from Diss r. station. Pest-town, Diss. Acres, 3,354. Real property, £5,164. Fop., 596. Houses, 137. The property is much sub-divided. The manor belonged formerly to the Fillingdivided. The manor ectorged formerly to the Finance tons. There are remains of a large conduit, constructed by Sir Richard de Boyland. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £455. Patron, C. Bidwell, Esq. The church is old but good, and has a lofty tower. A school has £13 and other charities £22.

BRET, or BERTON (THE), a river of Suffolk. It rises near Bradfield-Combust; and rans 17 miles south-southcastward, past Lavenham and Hadleigh, to the Stour, 37 miles E of Nayland.

BRETBY, Derby, See Bradry, BRETBY, Yorkshire, See Brerry, BRETFORD, See Brandon and Brettord.

BRETFORD, See HEANDON and DELLIONE.
BRETFORTON, a parish in Esessum district,
Worcester; on the West Midland rulway, 2 miles
WNW of Honeyboarne station, and 34 E et Evesham. Worcester; on the west section, and 34 E et Evesham. WNW of Honeyboarne station, and 34 E et Evesham. Post-town, Evesham. Access, 1,683. Real property, 23,161. Pop., 565. Howes, 123. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicatage in the diverse of Worcester. Value, 4182.* Patton, the Rev. O. Morris. The church is good. There is a national school. BEETHERDALE, a township in Orton parish, Westmoreland; 4 miles SW et Orton. Pop. 82.

BRETHERDALE, a township-chapelry in Croston parish, Lancashire; on the Dougles river, I mile E of Croston r. station, and 9 SSW of Preston. It has a post-office under Churky. Acres, 2,465. Real property, other under Chorley. Acres, 2,405. Real property, £4,485. Pop., 775. Houses, 149. The property is consoled Manchester. Value, £150.* Fatton, the discrete of Groston. The clauch is a recent structure, in the core of Manchester. Value, £150.* Fatton, the Rector of Croston. The clauch is a recent structure, in the carly English, etcla. The group and hydroglastic acre. early English style. There are an Independent closed, a Wesleyan chapel, and an endowed school; the last founded in 1654, and having £112 a-year.

BIFTON (THE). See BERT.

DRETTEL-LANE, a hamlet in the SW of Stafford; adjacent to the West Midland railway. 12 mile NNE of Stourbridge. It has a station on the railway, a postofficet under Brierley-Hill, several petteries, and some glass-works.

BRITTENHAM, a parish in Theford district, Nor-folk, on the Roman Peddar-way and the Little One-river, 11 mile S of the Norfolk milway, and 3 ½ K of Thet-ford. Post-town, Thefford. Acres, 1,681. Real pro-perty, aSSI. Pop. 72. If uses, 11. The property is all in one estate, blooding to Sir W. B. Proctor, Eart. The highest statement of the Process of Norvich, Value, C200. Extractive in the discover of Norvich, Value, £200. Fatron, the in app of Liv. The amoient church was burnt in 1693; and is now an ivy covered ruin. The present church is a small quell angular structure, with squire tower BUTEDING. See Branden.

BEGELLUEST. S.s Bringwurg r.
PELBUTON, a chapelry in Regelsy parish, Stafford; ctom, and 7 8W by W. cf. Stowmarks t. r. station. Posts town, Bildestone, under Ipswich. Acres, 1,558. Real property, £3,001. Pop., 426. Houses, 88. The property is divided among a few. Brettenham Hall belonged formerly to the Wenyoves; and passed to the Beales. Some vestiges in the parish are supposed to mark the site of the Roman station of Combuctonium. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £377.* Patron, a recory in the discuss of Egy. Yange, 251. Fatron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good.

RIETTON, a township in Hawarden parish, Plint; near Saltney marsh, 3 miles SE by E of Hawarden. Real property, £1,669. Pop., 258. Acres, 733

Houses, 40.
BRETTON, a sub-district in Wakefield district, W.
R. Yorkshire. It contains West Bretton township, two

1. Torkshile. It contains west Diction township, two other townships, and a chapelry. Acres, 9,829. Pop., 5,057. Houses, 1,064. BRETTON (Mosk), a township and a chapelry in Roystone parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The township is Roystone parts, N. E. Torksine. Inc township is also called Purtou, lies on the Barnesley cand, I mile from Cudworth r. station, and 2 NE of Larnesley, includes the vill-uses of Burton-Grauge, Cliff-Bridge, Littleworth, Old Mill, and Smithies; and has a post-office, of worth, our atth, and smittnes; and has a post-onice, of the name of Monk-Direction, under Barnesley. Acres, 2,050. Real property, 26,923. Pop., 1,918. Houses, 407. A Clunian monastery was bounded at Burton-Grange, in the time of Henry II., by Adam Fitz-Swain. The chapelry is more extensive than the township. Pop., 2,439. Houses, 526. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of York. Value, £150.* Patron, the Vicar of Royston. The church was built in 1839. There are a school-church, three Methodist chapels, a national school.

six alms honese, and other charities £36.

BRETTON (W.s.r.), a township-chapeley in Sandal-Magna and Silkstone parishes, W. R. Vorkshire, 3 miles of Crigglestone r. station, and 6 SW by S of Wake-Field. Post-town, Bretton, under Wakefield. Acres of the Sandal-Magna portion, 876. Fup., 132. Houses, 32. Acres of the Silkstone portion, 980. Pop., 372. Houses, 74. Real property, £1,783. Bretton Hall is the seat of W. B. Beaumont, Esq. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, not reported.

Patron, W. B. Beaumont, Esq. BRETT-SAMPFORD. See Sampford-Brett.

BREWARD (St.), or SIMONWARD, a parish in Camelford district, Cornwall; on the river Lank, under Brown Willey mountain, 7 miles N by E of Bodmin, and 81 N by W of Podmin Road r. station. Post-town, 5t. Tudy, under Bodmin. Acres, 9,237. Real property, £2,860. Pop., 705. Houses, 143. The property is subdivided. The surface is prevailingly moorish, upland, and rugged; but encloses fine seenes, and commands fine prospects. Brown Willey and Rough Tor mountains figure conspicuously in the landscape. Hauter-Gantick, 1 mile S of specionsty in the landscape. Industrict and the church down, is a deep romantic valley, sometimes called the Cornish Valley of rocks. Granite is quarried; and slate is found. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £300.* I atrons, the Dean and Chapter of Exeter. The church is partly Norman, and in fair condition. BREWERY-FIELD, a chapelry in Leeds parish, W.

R. Yorkshire; in the part of the parish within Hunslet district. It was constituted in 1851. Post-town, Leeds. Rated property, about £10,000. Pop., 6,899. Houses, 1,560. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £300.* Patron, alternately the Crown and the Bishop. BREWHAM-LODGE, an extra-parochial tract in Value, £300.

BREWHAM-LODGE, an extre-percental tract in Wincanton district, Somerset; on the ext border of the county, 41 miles ENE of Bruton. It was a hunting-sear of King John; and belongs now to the Hoares. Pop. 8. BRIWHAM (Nowth, a parish in Wincanton district, Somerset; adjacent to the Wills and Somerset railway, 2 miles NE of Bruton. Post-town, South Brewham. under Bath. Acres, 2,026. Real property, returned with South Browham. Pop., 321. Houses, 73. The living is annexed to South Brewham; and the church is used as a bain

BREWHAM (South), a parish in Winconton district, Somerset; on the Wilts and Somerset railway, 21 miles

NE by N of Bruton. It has a post-office under Bath. Acres, 2,671. R. d property, with North Browbarn and Easting, 26,394. Pop., 519. Houses, 121. The property is addivided. The living is a vicuoge, with North Browham, in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, 1999. Rottin brewham, is the diocess of hadrand wells. Yank, 2102, Petron, Sir H. Hoare, Baat. The clutted is good; and there are a West van chapel and a national school.

BREWHOUSE YARD, an extra parochial tract in Rafford district, Notts; contiguous to Nottingham. Beal property, 2455. Pop., 108. Houses, 22.

BREWHOUSE State Property and a good bright and a gold district.

Radiord district, Notes; contiguous to Rottingnam. Real property, £465. Pop., 108. Houses, 22. BifeWOolb, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district, in Penkridge district, Stafford. The town stands near Watling-street, the river Penk, and the Birmingham and Liverpool canal, 2 miles WNW of Four Ashes r. station, and 11 SW by S of Penkridge; and has a post-office; under Stafford. It formerly had a weekly market; and stillhas fairs on the third Thursday of March, May, and Nov. and on 19 Sept. Some trade is carried on in malting and and on 19 Sept. Some trates a current on in inducing a lock-making. The parish includes also the liberties of Chillington, Somethod, Fugleton, Horsebrook, Coven, Kiddermere-Green, and Huttons and Gunston. Acres, 11,859. Real property, £21,634. Pop., 3,399. Houses, 723. The property is divided among a few. Chilling. ton Hall, a fine mansion, is the seat of the Cliffords. numerics, Cistertian and Benedictine, were founded in the parish, the fermer in the reign of Richard L, or of John: and came to be known as the White Ladies and sount; and came to be known as the white Laures and the Black Ladies; and they figure under these names in the narrative of Charles II, is concealment in the neigh-bouring locality of Bescobel, after the battle of Worcesrouring meanity or isoscopel, after the north of Worces-ter. The living is a vicange in the dioces of Lichfield Value, £670.* Patron, the Bishop of Lichfield. The church is later English, with a handsome spire; and was removated in 1833. The vicanges of Bishopswood and Coven are separate benetices. There are chapters for Independents, Methodists, and Roman Catholics. A grainmar school, founded by Dr. Knightley in the time of Queen Elizabeth, and at which Bishop Hard and Sir E. Littleton were educated, has £412 a-year from endowment; and other clarities have £47.—The sub-district contains two parishes and parts of three others. Acres, 0,782. Pop., 5,629. Houses, 1,177. BREWOOD FOREST, an ancient forest on the mutual border of Stafford and Salop; around Brewood.

See BRADON-FOREST. BRIADUN.

BRIAN'S-BELL, a hamlet in Belbroughton parish, Worcester; 41, miles S of Stourbridge. BRIAN'S-PUDDLE. See Aff-Puddle.

BRIANSTON. See BRYANSTONE.
BRIAVELS (ST.), a village, a parish, and a hundred, in Gloucester. The village stands near Offa's Dyke and the river Wye, ½ miles SSW of Coleford, and 5 NW of Woolaston r. station; and has a post-office; under Coleford. It formerly was a market-town; and it long made a figure as a defence-post against the Welsh. A castle was built at it, in the time of Henry I., by Fitzwalter, Earl of Hereford; enlarged and strengthened at several periods; and governed by distinguished peers from the reign of King John till that of George III. The enteign of King John tin that of coding the framee-gateway, two demi-rounders flanking the gateway, a long pile of building behind, and some interesting features in the interior still remain. Tradition says that King John was either a guest or a prisoner in the eastle, and that he wrote on it,-

"St. Priavel's water and Whyrul's wheat Are the best broad and water King John ever cat."

The parish includes also the places called the Fence, the Bearse, Mawkins-Hayells, and part of Hudnolls, some-times desired extra-parochial; and is in the district of Chepstow. Acres, 5, 104. Real property, £6,183. Pop., 1,261. Houses, 276. The manor belongs to the Duko of Beaufort. Roman coins have been found at Clemwell. The living is a vicange in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, 2189. Parons, the Dean and Chapter of Hereford. The church was recently restored. There are an Independ at chapel and a national school.—The hundred cont has ten other purishes, and purt of another. Acres, 49, 412. Pop., 28, 215. Houses, 5,768.

BRICETP (Gue ve), a parish in Boom er district, Saf-f [kaj 2] miles I by N of Bildeston, and P. SW of Need-turn r. station. Postdown, Bildeston, under Ljawich. Acres, 915. Real property, £1,436. Pop., 207. Houses, 53. The property is divided among a few. An Augusthian pelory was foun is I here, in 1110, by Ralph Fitzb., ca; anaexed to the monastery of Nobline in France; In the state of the monastry of known in Figure 2 and toneyed, in the time of Henry VI, to King's Gollege, Combinings. The living is a vicerage in the diocese of Norwich, Value, 21. Patron, King's College, Cambridge. The church is very good. A fair is held on 5 Jely.

BRICETT (Liter 1), a broulet in Ofton parish, Satiolk; 43 miles ESE of Bild ston.

a thick and a rectory; but has no church. BRICEDEN. See BRINGTON.

BRICKDEN. So BRINGTON.
PRICKENDON, a Bishuty in All Saints parish, Herta;
2 mBy S of H. "fords Acres, 1,520. Real property,
24 333. Pep., 541. Houses, 164. Erickendon-Eury
1- aged formedly to Waltham abbey; and is now the s .t of R. Ellice, Est.

BRICKET-WOOD, a railway station in Herts; on the Watford and St. Alben's railway, 2 miles NN Rof Watford.

BRICKIIILI, a hamter in con-icales NW of Fordingbridge, BRICKIIILI (Bow), a village and a parish in New-BRICKIIILI (Bow), a village and a parish in New-BRICKIIILI (Bow), a village and a parish in New-don'd Junetica ert-Pagnell district, Bucks. The Pagnell district, Duess the viring sound con-walling street, the river Ouzel, the Grand Junction and, and the Bletchley and Bedford railway, 2 miles L of Lenny-Starford station. The parish comprises 1.59 arres; and its pact-town is Fean, Statisfor, under Ellichicy station. Red property, 22,805. Pop., 536. House, 127. The property is divided among a few. The surface includes Bow-Brickhill emirance, 583 feet

The suffice includes flow-Brickfill uninence, 583 feet high; and is partly common. Some of the inhalitants are lare and straw-pl-ti makers. The living is a rectory in the discusse of Oxford. Value, 2370. Patron, Queen's Cellegy, Cambridge. The church stands compensative as top emining above the village. Charities, 532. BRICKHIBL. (Ginzr), a village and a parish in Newport-Pagnell district, Bucks. The village stands near Watting-street, the river Ouzel, and the Grand Junction cand, 3 miles SSE of Fenny-Strafford, and 4 SE of Bletchley r. station; and has a post-office under Bletch-Lystation. The parish comprises 2-350 corres. Real by station. The parish comprises 2,370 cores. Real property, 23,920. Pop., 590. Houses, 147. The property is divided among a few. The manor, with Great perty is divided among a few. The manor, with Great Brickhill House, belongs to Sir P. D. P. Duncombe, Bart. The living is a rectory in the discusse of Oxford. Value, £125. Patron, Sir P. D. P. Duncombe, Bart. The church contains monuments of the Duncombes, the Panneclosts, and others. There are a Baptist chapel, a Pannersons, and Orders. There are a Daplies chapet, a Weslevan chapel, a free school, and charities .655.

BRICKHILL (LITTLE), a village and a parish in Newport-Fagnell district, Bucks. The village stands near Watling-street and the Bletchley and Bedford railway, 2 miles SE of Fenny-Stratford station. It formerly had a weakly market; and was, at one time, a seat of assizes. The parish comprises 1,360 acres; and its post-town is the period compress 1,360 acres; and its post-town is frient Brickhill, under Bletchley station. Real pro-perty, 22,455. Pop., 423. Houses, 83. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicanace in the discress of Oxford. Value, £119. Patren, the Bishop of Oxford. The clauch was restored in 1865. There are a national school, and charities £77. A popular phymic says, respecting the three Brickhill villages,

"There stand these Brickhills all in a tow. Grant Brickhill, Little Brickhill, and Brickhill of the Bow."

BUICKLIHAMPTON, a chapeley in St. Andrew-Personer parish, Worcester; near the river Avon, 34 railer SSW of Fludbury r. station, and 31 SE of Pershare. Prostrom, Product Acros, 810. Real property, 21,783.
Pay, 187. Hosse, 40. The property is divided among at the The bring in a produce amount to the vicinge of Product, in the diox wet Works for. The chirch s very good.

IRICELETON, a tything in Burchbourn, Tarrant and b, Hunts; F., will-S N of Andover. Pop., 115, BRICELETO's, Barks. See burchin-Waltham.

BRICKWALL-PARK, the sent of the Frewen family near Northiam, in Sussex. The mansion has a threegabled timber front, of the time of Queen Elizabeth; was visited by that monarch, in 1573, on her way to Rye; was the birthplace of Accepted Frewen, the hot opponent of Cromwell, and afterwards Archbishop of York; and on cromwer, an activating pictures and old curiosities.

BRICKWORTH, on old modernized mansion, 6 miles SE of Salsbarr in Wilts; long the seat of the Eyres, and now belonging to the Earl of Helester.

BRIDE, or Enir (THE), a river of Dorset. It rises in the northern vicinity of Beaminster; and runs 8 miles southward to the Channel at Bridgert harbour.

BRIDE, Isle of Man. See KIRK-BRIDE

-BRIDEKIRK, a township and a parish in Cocker-mouth district, Cumberland. The township lies near the river Derwent and the Cockermouth railway, 2 miles NNW of Cockermouth. Acres, 916. Real property, £1,608. Pop., 125. Houses, 26. The parish contains also the townships of Papeastle, Little Broughton, Great Broughton, Elbton, Dovenly, and Tallentire; and its post-town is Cochermouth. Acres, 9,270. Real property, £19,683. Pop. 2,876. Henses, 603. The property is subdivibed. The manny belonged to Gishurn perty is subdivided. The manor belonged to Gisburn abbey; and was given, at the dissolution, to the Telsons. Bridekirk-Hall is the seat of the Dykes family-Freestone and limestone are quarried. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Callisle. Value, 2240.* Parton, F. L. B. Dykes, Esq. The church is ancient and good; has a Norman doorway; and contains a curious, carved square font, about 2 feet high, supposed to have carved square four, about 2 reet fligh, supposed to have been Roman. Great Foughton Chaplery, now a vicar-age, was made a separate charge in 1863. Charities, £122. Sir Joseph Williamson, secretary of state to Charles II., and Thomas Tickell, the poet, were natives. BRIDELLA, a parish in the district of Cardigan and county of Pembroke; near the river Teiñ and the Car-marthen and Cardigan railway, 3 miles S by E of Cardigan. Post-town, Cardinan. Aeres, 2,179. Real property, £1,659. Pop., 526. Houses, 75. The property gai. Fost-low, Canadan. Acres, 37, 16, 163 property, 21,659. Pop., 526. Houses, 75. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the dioces of St. Davids. Value, 2110. Patron, the Freeholders of the parish. The church is ancient, in tolerable condition; and a St. Catherine's cross is in the churchvard. There is a dissenting chapel.

BRIDENBURY. See BREDENBURY.

BRIDE (St.). See DEEDENBURY.
BRIDE (St.). See DONDON.
BRIDES (St.). a parish in Haverfordwest district, Pembroke; on the S side of St. Brides Bay, 7½ miles WNW of Milford, and 9 W of Johnston r. station. Posttown, St. Ishmael's under Milford. Acres, 1,683. Real property, E2,006. Pop., 151. Houses, 30. Gold-Toproad or Little Haven, near the church, has archorage for small eraft. The living it is rectory in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £183. Putrons, alternately Sir W. P. L. Phillips and Mary B. Allen.

BRIDES (Sr.), Glomorgan. See Buides-supen-Ely

BRIDES BAY (Sr.), a large bay in Pembroke. faces the W; is flanked on the N side of the entrance by Ramsey island, on the S side by Skomar island; gots 10½ miles inland; and is 9½ miles wide at the widest part, and 6% near the head. It is replate with dangers from westerly winds, and has in one part a reef; but is otherwise sate, and gives anchorage for small craft in Solvach creek near St. David's, and in Gold-Top road near St. Brides.

BRIDES MAJOR (Sr.), a hamlet and a parish in Bridgend district, Glamorgan. The hamlet stands between Ogmore river and the Bristol channel, 33 miles S by W of Bridgend r. station; and has a post-office under Bridgend. Real property, $1,523. Pop., 351. Houses, 74. The put h contains also the hamlets of Lampha and Southern lown. A res. 6,402; of which 600 are water. Real prop 11v, £5,135. Pap. 526. Houses, 138. The property is divided among a few. The Williable cavern and other caves are on the cost. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarge of Wick, in the diocess of Llandaff. Value, £176.* Patron, B. Turberville, Esq. The church is ancient and good; and contains monuments of the Butlers and the Wichaus, There is a Calvinistic Methodist chapel. See DUNEAVEN CASITE

BRIDES-MINOR (St.), a township and a parish in Bridgend district, Glamorgan. The township has on the river Ogmore, and on the South Wales railway, 21 miles N by W of Bridgend, Acres, 1,829. Real property, N by W of Bridgend, Acres, 1922. The aproperty, 21,035. Pop., 534. Houses, 110. The parish includes also the hamlet of Ynysawdre; and its post town is Bidgend. Acres, 2,215. Ecal property, 21,283. Pop., 579. Houses, 176. The property is divided among a few. Remains of Ogmore Castle, which belonged to the duchy of Lancaster, are in Ynysawdre. Coal is worked.

duchy of Lancaster, are in Ynysawdie. Coal is worked. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Llandaff. Value, 2176.* Patron, the Earl of Dunraven. BRIDES.NETHERWENT (Sr.), a parish in Chepstow and Newport districts, Monnouth; on the Julian way, 2 miles N by E of Magor r. station, and 64 E by S of Caerleon. It includes the hamlet of Llandevenny; and its post-town is Magor, under Chepstow. Acres, 1,032. Real property, £1,399. Pop., 171. Houses, 37. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Llanduff. Value, £178. Patron, rectory in the diverse of Lemman. Value, LTD. Tation, T. Perry, Esq. The clurch is good.

BRIDESTOW, a village and a parish in Okehampton district, Dovon. The village lies in a pleasant valley, near Dartmoor, 6 miles SW of Okehampton, and 11 N by E of Tavistock r. station; was formerly called Bridgetto the National Residual was formerly earlier or regions stow; and has a post-office of the name of Bridestow, North Devon, and fairs on the first Wednesday of June and 29 July. The parish comprises 5,661 acres. Real property, £3,995. Pop., 832. Houses, 176. The property is divided among a few. Millaton House is the perty is divided among a few. Millaton House is the scat of J. G. Newton, Esq., and contains a collection of natural history objects from Dartmoor; and Leawood was long the seat of the Calmady family, and is now the seat of S. C. Hamlyn, Esq. There are extensive limeworks. The living is a rectory, united with the p. en-racy of Sourton, in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £424.* Patron, the Bishop of Exeter. The church is very old; has a curious Norman gateway; and was restored in 1866. There are chapels for Independents, Wesleyans, and Bible Christians, and a fine school of 1863.

ERIDES-SUPER-ELY (Sr.), a parish in Cardiff district, Glamorgan; on the river Ely and the South Wales railway, 2 miles WNW of St. Fagans station, and 6 W by N of Cardiff. It has a post-office, of the name of St. by N of Cardin. It has a post-conce, of the name of St. Brides, under Cardiff. Acres, 676. Real property, £935. Pop., 122. Houses, 28. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Michaelstone-super-Ely, in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £195.* Patron, Mrs. Taherne. The church is good.

BRIDES-WENTLLOOGE (Sr.), a parish in Newport district, Monmouth; on the coast and on the South Wales railway, adjacent to the mouth of the river Usk, 1, mile E by N of Marshfield station, and 4 SSW of Newport. Post-town, Newport, Monmouth. Acres, 3,594; of which 1,690 are water. Real property, £2,073. Pop., 241. Houses, 47. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Coelkernew, in the diocese of Llandaff. Valne, £120.* Patron, the Bishop of Llandaff. The church is good;

Patron, the Dishop of Imanum. The cantral is good, and there is an Independent chapel.
BitHDFORD, or Bithofffend, a parish in St. Thomas district, Devon; on the river Teign, 4 miles E by N of Moreton-Hampstead r. station, and 9 SW of Exeter. Post-town, Moreton-Hampstead, under Exeter. Acres, 4,114 Real property, £2,946. Pop., 576. Houses, 112. Lead mines were not long ago worked, but have been relinquished. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, 2305.* Patron, Sir L. V. Palk, Bart. The church is a small old structure, with turreted tower; and has a fine screen.

BRIDGE, a village, a parish, a district, and a hundred in Kent. The village stands on Watling-street, and on the Little Stour river, near the Beaksbourne station of the Canterbury and Dover railway, 3 miles SE of Canterbury; and has a post-office under Canterbury. The purish comprises 1,161 acres. Red property, £3,239. Pop., 89% Houses, 149. The manor belonged to an ancient abbey, on the ground now occupied by the church; and passed to the Dutch family of Bracams. Bridge-Hill House was the seat and death-place of the Baron de Montesquien, grandson of the famous president. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Patrixbourne, in the diocese of Canterbury. The church is Norman and early Fuglish; and contains a remarkable monumental effigier, supposed to be of a steward of the ancient abbey, and some singular carvings, representing the creation and fall of man. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a literary institute, and a national school. The artist Jansen resided much in Bridge; and painted here his portrait of the lady popularly called the "Star in the East."
The district comprehends the sub-district of Barham.

The district complements the sub-district of Dannam, containing the parishes of Barham, Bridge, Patrisbourne, Besbourne, Bishopsbourne, Kingstone, Womenswould, Adisham, Jekham, Wickhambrenx, Stodmarsh, Littlebourne, and Fordwich; and the sub-district of Chartham, containing the parishes of Chartham, Waltham, Petham, Upper Hardres, Lower Hardres, Nackington, Thanington, Milton Chapel, and Harbledown, the extra-parochial tracts of Mint and St. Nicholas Hospital, and part of the tracts of Milk and St. Nicholas 1108pital, and part of the parish of Holy-Cross-Westgate. Acres, 41,894. Poorrates in 1866, 28,219. Pop. in 1801, 11,316. Houses, 2,308. Marriages in 1866, 55; births, 344,—of which 9 were illegithmate; deaths, 200,—of which 54 were at ages under 5 years, and 7 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 690; births, 3,530; deaths, Marriages 2,041. The places of worship in 1851, were 23 of the Church of England, with 5,059 sittings; 1 of Independents, with 160s.; 7 of Weslevan Methodists, with 690 s.; and 2 of Primitive Methodists, with 50 s. The schools were 20 public day schools, with 1,054 scholars; 17 private day schools, with 277 s.; and 18 Sunday schools, with 530 s. The workhouse is in Bridge, and cost £5,000.-The hundred bears the name of Bridge and Petham; is in the lathe of St. Augustine; and contains eight parishes. Acres, 13,369. Pop., 3,009. BRIDGE-CASTERTON. See Casterton (Great).

BRIDGE-CASTERION. See CASTERIOR (GEAT).
BRIDGE-END. See Bridgesin.
BRIDGEFOOT, a station on the Cleator railway, in Cumberland; 4 miles ESE of Workington.
BRIDGEFORD. See Bridgeon.
BRIDGEFORD. EAST and WEST). See Bridgeon.

BRIDGEFORD (GREAT and LITTLE), two hamlets in Seighford parish, Staffordshire; 31 and 4 miles NW by N of Stafford. Pop., 154 and 83. BRIDGEGATE, a village in Abson parish, Gloucester;

9 miles E of Bristol.

BRIDGE (Great), a locality on the Walsall and Dudley railway, in Stafford; 2 miles NNE of Dudley. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Tipton.

BRIDGEHAM. See BRIDGHAM.

BRIDGEHAMPTON. See BRIDGHAMPTON.

BRIDGE-HEWICK, a township in Ripon parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles E of Ripon. Acres, 857. Pop., 89. Houses, 18.

BRIDGE-IIILL, a chapelry, with a village, in Duffield parish, Derby; near the river Derwent and the Midland railway, and included in Belper. It was constituted in 1845. Post-town, Belper. Pop. 2,830. Houses, 563. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £150. Patron, alternately the Crown and the

BRIDGEHOUSES, a village, suburban to Sheffield,

W. R. Yorkshire

W. R. Yorkshire.
BRIDGEMERF, a township in Wybutchury parish, Cheshire; on the verge of the county, near the Northwestern railway, 65 miles SSE of Nantwich. It has a post-office under Nantwich. Aeres, 1,097. Real property, £1,393. Pop., 187. Houses, 77. perty, £1,393. Pop., 187. Houses, 37.
BRIDGEND, a handet in Bexley pari h, Kent; 31 miles W of Dartford. Pop., 138.

BRIDGEND, a hamlet in Horbling parish, Lincoln; 43 miles ENE of Folkingham. Pop., 46. A Gilbertine priory was founded here, in the time of King

John, by a London citizen of the name of Godwin; and given, at the dissolution, to Edward Lord Clinton.

BRIDGEND, a Lamlet in St. Dogmells parish, Pem-

Loke; in the vicinity of Cardigan. ERID (END, a haulet on the Yealm estuary, in Devon; Part to Newton Ferrers, 6½ miles SE of Plymonth. trict in Glamorgan. The town is in the parishes of Coyty First in Glamorgan. The town is to the precious, and on and Newcastle; and stands on the river Ogmore, and on the river Ogmore, and on the South William of Newcastle William of the South Water railway, you miss who carmin. It is a struggliar, place; and consists of three parts,—Bridgend-proper, Oldeastle, and Newcaule. The latter two are on opposite sides of the river; and took their name from another fortalities. The Oldeastle fortalities has divagrated; but remains of the Newcaulte one, consisting of out r walls and a Norman doorway, still exist. The town-hall is a recent han Isome structure. A parish charch, on a conspicuous site, is in the Newcastle section; and a clapel of case is in Oldeastle. There are and four disserting chapels, a dispensary, and a work-Lytse,—the last erected at a cost of £4,400. A railway gres northward up the river; and a branch goes to Portheawl harbour. The town has a head nost-office, ta railcan harbour. The town has a heat post-onice, a ran-thur station with telegraph, a banking-office, and three clief inns; is a seat of perty sessions and a polling place; and publishes a weekly newspaper. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on 25 Feb., 1 April, Holy Thorsday, 6 June, and 17 Nov. Woollen manufacture and a corn trade are carried on; and iron-works, coal mines, and stone quarries are in the neighbourhood. Dr. Urice and his nephew Mr. Morgan, men of science, were ratives. The population of the town is not returned; but that of the two parishes in which it lies is.

The sub-district contains the parishes of Coyty, Newcastle, Laleston, Merthyr-Mawr, Tythegston, Xewton-Nettage, Pyle, Kenfgg, Ewenry, Wick, St. Brides-Major, and Sr. Andrew-Minor. Acres, 33,498. Pep., 11,417. Houses, 2,279. The district comprehends also the scholistrict of Maesteg, containing the parishes of B-tres, Llangeford, Llandyfodog, Llandaron, Llandid, Cychurch, St. Brides-Winor, and part of Llancowed. Pictiws, Llangeiner, Llandyfodog, Llanharan, Llandid, Covehurch, St. Brides-Minor, and part of Llangymwyd; A the sub-district of Cowbridge, containing the parishes of Cowbridge, Llangan, St. Mary-Hill, Llanhary, Vstrad-cyan, Llansanner, Penllin, St. Hilary, St. Mary-Church, Hi mingston, Eglwys-Brewis, St. Athan, Gileston, Llanmaes, Lantwit-Major, Llandow, St. Donats, Marcross, Monknash, Llanmihangel, L's bugh, Llanblethian. L'ysworney, and Colwinstone, the extra-parochial treets of Nash and Stembridge. A ces, 109,511. Poor-rees in 1865, £17,492. Pop. in 1-31, 26,465. Houses, 5,002. Marriages in 1866, 227; buth, 1,031,-of which of were illegizinate; deaths, 691,-of which 249 were at res under 5 years, and 31 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,153; births, 8,001; deaths, 4,596. The places of worship in 1851 were 40 of the Charch of England, with 4,895 sittings; 17 of Inde pendents, with 4,656 s.; 14 of Baptists, with 2,478 s.; 15 of Celvini die Methodists, with 4,619 s.; 11 of Wesl vin Melielists, with 1,820 s.; and 1 of Unitarians, vit 40 s. The schools were 20 public day schools with The schools were 20 public day schools, with 1,519 scholars; 25 private day schools, with 779 s.; 70 Sunday schools, with 4,940 s.; and 2 evening schools

fr. Jelts, with 41 s.
BRIDGENORTH. See Buildenorth.

BRIDGERULE, a puish in Holsworthy district, Deven; on the river Tamar and the Bude canal, 4) miles E by S of Holsworthy, and 16 SW by S of Bideford r. Station. It has a post-office under Holsworthy. Aeres, 8,219. Red property, 22,325. Pop., 449. Houses, 87. A part coupersing 1,400 a res, is on the right side of the Tamur, and two townerly in Commall. The manor was given, by Willeam the Conqueror, to Reginald Adobed, observicedly Rual I or Rule Adobed; and it is named idutly from him and from a bridge over the Tamar. The leving is a vicerage in the diorest of Exeter. Value, 2150.* Petron, the Rev. S. N. Kingdon. The church is variously early English and debased; and is in a very dilightated state, but has a good porch. There is a chapel for Bude Christian. BRIDGE-SOLLARS, a parish in Weekly district, Herefordshire; on Offa's dyke, the river Wys, and the Hereford and Brecon railway, 13 mile WNW of Credenbill statics, and 6 WNW of Bereford. Pest-town, Eishepstone, under Hereford. Acres, 768. Real property, 21,529. Pop., 62. Houses, 10. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, 2100. Patron, the Lord Grangeller. The showing is the Grangeller. Chancellor. The church is carly decorated English, and good.

BRIDGET (St.). See CHESTER. BRIDGET-BECKERMET (St.). See BECKERMET

(St. Bridger).

BRIDGETOWN. See Beery-Pomeroy.

BRIDGE-TRAFFORD, a township in Plemonstall curish, Cheshire; 4½ miles NE of Chester. Acres, 401.

puish, Cheshire; 41 miles Nr. of Chesici.
Real property, 2719. Pop., 59. Houses, 10.
BRIPGEWATER, or Bindowater, a town, a parish, a back in Somerset. The town a sub-district, and a district in Somerset. stands in a level, well-wooled country, on the river l'arret, contiguous to the Bristol and Exeter railway, 6 miles SSE of Bridgewater Lay, and 321 SSW of Bristol. It dates from remote times; and was anciently called Burgh-Walter. It took that name from Walter de Dony, a Norman baron, to whom the Conqueror gave the manor; and it may have obtained its present name either by corruption of the ancient one, or from a bridge across the Parret. William de Briwere or Bruer became owner of it in the time of Henry II.; and founded at it a stone bridge, instituted an hospital, and built a strong, large, moated castle. The last gave the place military conse quence, and drew on it the scourge of the civil wars. The barons seized it in the revolt against Henry III.; the royalists garrisoned it in support of Charles I.; and the parliamentarians, under Fairfax, besieged it, captured it, and laid it desolate. The castle mounted 40 gans against Fairfax; and, soon after being taken by him, was demolished. The Duke of Monmouth took special post in the town; was received and proclaimed as king; mustered his forces on the Castle field; and marched innatered has forces on the Castle meat and married hence to his fate at Sedgemoor. Many of his partisans, who fell into the hands of the victors, were afterwards treated cruelly or put to death here by Judge Jeffries and his minion Kirke.

The town stands chicily on the right bank of the Parret; was almost entirely icluilt after the damage done to it by Fairfax; is now a near place, principally of rel brick houses; and contains some good streets. The part of it on the right bank is suburban and inferior; and bears the name of Eastover. An iron bridge of one arch, on the site of the ancient stone one, connects the main body with the suburb; and a bridge, with an arch of 100 feet in span, takes across the railway. The castle stood in King-square; and a fragment of it exists in the Mater-gate. The ancient hostital stood on the ground now occupied by 81 John's clurch; and was upheld for a community of Augustinian monks, and for the entertainment of pilgrims. An ancient menastery of Grey friars, probably originating with the same founder as the hospital, stood in Silver-street; and an ar-hed doorway of it still exists. A house in Mill-street, of Tudor architecture, was the birthplace of Admiral Blake. The townhall has a great distern over it for supplying the town with water; and could us three pieces of tapestry, which were formerly at Ennore Castle. The market-house is a handsome molern structure, with an lonic portico; and is surmounted by a dome. St. Mary's clouch is a large edifice of red stone, partly of the 14th century, but principally of the 15th; has a slender spire, using 120 feet from the tower, and 174 from the ground; and contains an altar-piece after Guido, and a menument, of 1620, to Sir Francis King will. Trinity church is a modern Gothic structure, built at a cost of £3,254. St. John's church, in Eastover, is a hand-some edifies of Buth stone, built in 1849, at reast of £10,000. The tomb of Oldmixon, the historica, who was a notice of the town, is in the churchyarl of St. Mary, and a memorial stone over victums of the cholera, is in that of St. John. A new Independent chap-I was built in 1965, at a cost of

£5,000. There are also chapels for Paptick, Quakers, Unitarians, Wesleyans, P. Methodists, Free Methodists, Brethren, and R. Catholies; two endowed schools, six other public schools, a school of art, a literary and scientille institution; a workhouse, built at a cost of £9,000; an infirmary, alms-houses, and other charities

The town has a head post-office, + a railway station with telegraph, three banking-offices, and three chief inns: is a seat of assizes and sessions, a polling-place, a bonding port, and a coast-guard station; and publishes three weekly newspapers. Weekly markets are held on Tuesday and Saturday; and fairs on the second Thursday in Lent, 24 Saturday; and faus on the second Thursday in Lent, 24 June, 2, 3, and 4 Oct., and 28 Dec. The chief manufactures are Bath-bricks, red bricks, coarse pottery, and iron-ware. The Bath-brickworks are the only ones in the world, and produce bricks to the value of about £13,000 a-year. The Parret is navigable up to the town £13,000 a year. The Parret is navigable up to the town for vessels of 200 tons; rises, at the mouth, in spring tides, to 36 feet; and, like other rivers in the Bristol channel and the Solway frith, flows in a sudden upright wave of great velocity. This is usually 5 or 6 feet high, but sometimes, after a westerly gale, 9 feet high; and is liable to do great damage to shipping. A canal 121 miles long, cut in 1811, goes from the town to Taunton, and is continued thence to Chard; and a project has long been entertained of forming a railway from it down to Stolford on Bridgewater bay. The vessels registered at Bridge-water port, at the beginning of 1863, were 72 small sail-ing vessels, of aggregately 2,803 tons; 57 larger sailing-vessels of 10,046 tons; and 5 steam-vessels of 204 tons. The vessels that entered in 1867, counting repeated voyages, were 14 British vessels from foreign ports, of 2,330 tons; 33 foreign vessels from foreign ports, of 4,021 tons; 10 British vessels, and 2 foreign, from British colonies, of 3,993 tons; 3,823 sailing vessels, coastwise, of 172,896 tons; and 447 steam-vessels, coastwise, of 48,321 172,909 (1018) and 111 Second 1128 (1018) to 118. The amount of customs, in the same year, was 26,273. Chief exports are Bath-bricks; and chief imports, timber, tallow, henp, wine, and coal. The town was constituted a borough by King John; is governed to the constituted a borough by King John; is governed to the constituted a borough by King John; is governed to the constituted as a c by a mayor, six aldermen, and eighteen councillors; and sends two members to parliament. The borough is of the same extent parliamentarily as municipally; and consists chiefly of part of Bridgewater parish, but includes small portions, with two houses, in Durleigh and Wembdon parishes. Direct taxes in 1857, £5,868. Real property in 1860, £34,551; of which £2,378 were in the canal. Electors in 1868, 679. Pop. in 1861, 11,320. Houses, 2,123. The town gave the titles of Earl, Marquis, and Duke to the Egertons.

The parish includes also the hamlets of East Bower, The parts il meanes as the names of Loss Borney, West Bower, Dunwear, Hersey, Hamp, and Haygrove. Acres, 4,315; of which 190 are water. Real property, exclusive of the borneyh, 215,903. Pop. in 181, 10,450; in 1861, 12,120. Houses, 2,274. The living is a vicarage, united with the rectory of Chilton, in the dioceso of Bath and Wells. Value, £325." Patron the Lord Chancellor. Trinity and St. John are separate benefices, vicarages, of the value of £200 and £300;" the former in the patronage of the Vicar; the latter in that of the Bishop.

The sub-district contains the parishes of Dutleigh, Weinbdon, Chelzoy, Chilton-Trinity, and the greater part of Bridgewater. Pop., 13,604. Horses, 2,689.— The district comprehends also the sub-district of Mid Hezov, containing the parishes of Middlezoy, Othery, Lyng, We ton-Zoyland, and parts of Bridgewater and North Petherton; the sub-district of Huntspill, containing the parishes of Huntspill, Pawlett, Puriton, Bawdrip, Woolavington, Cossington, and purt of Shupwick; the sub-district of Polden-Hill, containing the parish s of Moordistrict of Polder-Hill, containing the parish s of Moor-linch, Greinton, Asheott, and the greater part of Shap-wisk; the sub-district of North Petherton, containing the parishes of Lumore, Goathurst, Incomfield, Thurlos-ton, St. Michael-Churict, and pert of North Petherton; and the sub-district of Stowey, containing the parishes of Over-Stowey, Nether Stowey, Aisholt, Fiddington, Stockland-Bristel, Otterhampton, Cursington, Char-linch, and Spaxton. Acres, 92, 273. Poor-rates in 1896, £21,638. Pop. in 1803, 34,420. Houses, 7,619. Marriages in 1866, 253; births, 1,673,—of which 56 were illegitimate; deaths, 662,—of which 212 were at ages under 5 years, and 27 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,570; births, 11,413; deaths, 6,481. The places of worship in 1851 were 45 of the Church of The places of worship in 1851 were 45 of the Church of England, with 13,501 sittings; 1 150 Independents, with 3,929 s.; 7 of Baptiris, with 853 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 330 s.; 1 of Unitarins, with 250 s.; 1 of Publishins, with 1955 s.; 1 of Frimitivo Methodists, with 1950 s.; 1 of Frimitivo Methodists, with 234 s.; 1 of Bibbe Christians, with 138 s.; 1 of Brathers with 63 s. 1 of Little Methodists. With 294 S.; 1 of blobe Christans, wan 105 S.; ton Prethern, with 96 S.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 35 S.; and 2 of Roman Catholics, with 370 s. The schools were 35 public day schools, with 2,680 scholars; 65 private day schools with 1,302 s.; and 58 Sunday pervate day senoors, with 1,502 s.; and so summy schools, with 4,407 s. BRIDGEWATER BAY, an expansion of the SE side of Bristol channel. It is the Vexaia Æstuarium of the Romans. It commences between Horsedown point and Brean down, which are 221 miles apart; and goes inward Brean down, which are 22 miles apart; and goes inward 9 miles to the mouth of the Parriet river. Most of it has a depth of from 10 to 3 fathoms at high water; and great part of it is day at low water. The dote and the Culver smals are part of its bottom; Stert island lies at its head, in the mouth of the Parriet estuary; and lights the Parriet states and the state of the particular than the particular t at Burnham, NE of that island, guide the fair-way into the estuary

BRIDGEWATER CANAL, a canal in Lancashire and Cheshire. It was cut by Brindley, for the first Duke of Bridgewater, in 1758-65. It goes from Manchester west-Bringewater, in 1703-00. In goes four mannerester west-south-westward, past Stretford, Altrincham, and Preston-Brook, to Runcoun-Gap, on the Mersey; sends off a brauch from Stretford, west-north-westward to Barton, Worsley, and Leigh; and mates a junction, at Preston-Brook, with the Grand Trunk canal. It measures 27 miles from Manchester to Runcorn-Gap; and goes all the way on a level, but fulls to the Mersey 821 feet by ten locks. The branch to Leigh is 11 miles; goes on a higher level; and crosses the Irwell on a lafty viaduet. An embankment, 2,700 feet long, 17 feet high, and 112 feet wide at the base, is on the main line near Bollin.

BRIDGFORID (EAST), a village and a parish in Bing-ham district, Notis. The village stands on the Fossi-way and on the river Trent, 25 miles N of Bingham a station, and 9 ENE of Nottingham; and has a post-office under Nottingham. It occupies the site of the Roman Margidunum; and is sometimes called Bridgford-on-the-Margidamum; and is sometimes called Bridgford-on-the-Hill. The parish comprises 1,910 acres. Real property, 26,430. Pop., 1,678. Houses, 238. The property is subdivided. A ferry is on the Trent at the village. Gypsum is found. Roman coins and other Roman relies have been got on Castle-hill. The hiving is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £752." Patron, Magdalene College, Oxford. The church is of various date and character, from early English onward; and was restored in 1892. There are three dissenting chapels, a fine retired selected of 1861 and charities, £13. national school of 1864, and charities £13.

national school of 1863, and charities £13.
BRIOEFOID (WEST), a township and a perish in Basford district, Notts. The township has on the Granthan canal, must be Midland railway, 2 miles EL of Nottinghum, Pop., 29. Houses, 58. The parish contains also the township of Granton; and includes part of the village of Bassingheld, which has a post-office under Nottingham. Aeres, 1,720. Real property, 23,560.
Pop., 390. Houses, 75. The property is divided between two. The layer is a racher in the Linds. tween two. The livin Lincoln, Value, £588. The living is a rectory in the diocess of alue, 2588. Patron, J. Musters, Esq. The church is good; and there is an endowed school, with BRIDGHAM, a parish in Guilteress district, Norfolk on the Little Orse river, near the Norfolk railway, 21 miles SW of Hailing-Road station, and 6 E by N of Therford. It has a post-office under Therford. Acros, Thethord. It has a post-office under inchord. Acr s, 2,692. Red preperty, 21,690. For, 328. Houses, 72. The property is divided among three. The manor belongs to Sir J. G. Sebright, But. The living is a rectory in the discress of Norwich. Value, 2388. Patton, the Lord Chamellor. The church has a Norman porch, and is good. There is a Wesleyan chapel. HEIDCHAMPTON, a splids; in Yeavilton parish, Somerset; 2 miles B by N c II haster. Real property, 21,497. Pop., 112. Houses, 25. BRIDGING, a locality near Bendey in Kent; with a Post-office under Baxley-Heath, London, S. E.

Fost-office under Erxley-Heath, London, S. E. BEIDONORPH, a town, two parishes, a sub-district, a district, and a division in Subp. The town stands on the river Severn, adjacent to the Severn Valley railway, 13) miles SW by W of Wolverhampton; and a railway from it to Wolverhampton and other places in Staffordshite was authorised in 1866. The town was founded Shire was authorised in 1800. The fown was founled by the Princess Ethelhed, and was anciently edded Briggs or Briggs. A castle is thought to have been built at it by the Saxons; and either this was removated or a new one erected, of great strength, in 1102, by Robert de Edesme, Earl of Shrewslauy. Huny L. Speedily took the castle, and made it a royal fortress. Then, H. was at it, and narrowly escaped death beneath its walls. Thomas a Becket ladged in it. John made it a visit. Edward I. came to it, fresh from his fields of twictry. Elward II. took refuge in it from the alarms of musuit. Henry IV, renelzzonsel his forces at it. of pursuit. Henry IV. rendezvoused his forces at it. Charles I, came to it at the commencement of the great disacters of his reign; and pronounced the prometade connected with it the firest walk in his kingdom. The commercia with it the mess want in his kingdom. The parliament urians, in 1045, laid steps to it; obtained possision of it, at the end of three weeks, by capitulation; and then dismantial it, and blow up its fortifications. A large portion of the town was burned to the ground during the siege. Henry IV. is represented as saying, in reference to i is rendezvous,-

"On Wedneslay next, Harry, thou shift set forward; On Thursday, we carry these will march: Our meeting is in Bridgnorth: and Harry, you Small march through Glostershire; by which account, Our business valued, some twelve days hence Our general forces at Bridgmorth shall meet."

The town is divided by the Severa into two portions, called the Upper and the Lover. The Upper portion is on the right bank, on the siles and summit of a red sand-stone rock, rising 180 feet above the level of the river; and presents a remarkably picture-que appearance. and passents a remarkably picture-spie appearance. The houses rest on the live rock, and, in son, in tenes, have callars bewn out of it; a hallow way, half her deep, goes down the slope of the relation to the mar; and a railed terrace, out along the forch all of the blaff, we disably gridens and around the castle's site, and commends a splendid view. The high-street is spicious; and once had "rows," as at Cluster. Extensive street-improvement at have been made since 15d. A large fragment of the advantagement of the street size of the size of the street size the castle still exists, inclining seventern de cos from the perpendicular, in consequence of underwaning at the e ge preceding its demolition. A handsome bridge, with rigg preceding its demonstron. A manasome mage with seven arches, crosses the Severn. The torn-hall, in the middle of High-street, was built in 1646. The agri-cultural hall is in the Gothic style, and was built in The market-hall is a next elifer of coloured brick, 1897. The market-dark is a last content of the recent of the forestern in 1855. A decaying timber hose in Cartway was the birth-place of Bishop Percy. St. Mary's church was originally founded at Quarford, in the time of William Pufus, by Roger, Eurl of Shrewshany; but was soon re-moved to the castle at Bridgeorth, made collegiate for a dean and six prefereduces, exempted by King John from the desired judy in then, and one titude to prochial The results of a size of principal and constituted percental in the time of Librard III. The persent edition level is the Lonic style, but at twee and empore and was erroted in 1702. St. Leonord's charlet is carly decorated Liggidary was a toward in 1802; conducted and control and a child sides, with a resolution were than a handsome new caved as come of themselves so on and a carved och public and commonly retreated for being the place where Richard Entert beam his ministry. There are the pels for in by a bent, hepting and Methodistry a five granter a school, with the sewhern in an Oxford; able et a school, with the sewhern has been end, as the five the school and have been proposed and a public beauty for the big Dan Starkhou ey and a public Library, for the big Dan Starkhou ey and a public Library, for the big Dan Starkhou ey and a public Library, for the big Dan Starkhou ey and a public Library, for the big Dan Starkhou ey and a public Library, for the big Dan Starkhou ey and a public Library, for the six of the control o

The town has a head post-office, to railway station with telegraph, two lanking-offices, and two chief inns; is a of sessions and a polling-place; and publishes a weekly newspaper. A market is held on Saturday; and fairs on the third Mcaday of Jam, Feb, March, Aug, and Sep.; on the second Monday of June, July, and Dec, and on I May and 20 Oct. Much business is done Prec., and on I Julyana 25 Oct. Amon tonsiness at done in agricultural produce; rand manufactures are carried on in carpets, rugs, and worsteds. The town was chartered by Henry II, sent two members to parliament from the time of I dward L till 1807; was reduced, in that year, to the right of sending only one; and is governed by a mayor, four aldermen, and twelve councillors. The of Quatt, and most of Quatford. The purlimentary borough includes also the parishes of Astley-Allusts, borough includes also the parisites of Asiley-Attents, Tasley, and Oddaury, the rest of Quantiord parish, and Romsley liberty in Alveley parish. Direct taxes in 1857, £4,666. Electors in 1898, 658. Pop., in 1861, of the m. borough, 6,249. Houses, 1,270. Pop., of the of the m. borough, 6,240. Houses, 1,270. of the m. borough, 5,249. Houses, 1,570. Fop., of the p. borough, 7,699. Houses, 1,570. Francis Moore, the physician, and Stefman, the divine, were natives.

The two parishes are St. Mary or Low parish and St.

The two parishes are St. Mary or Low parish and St. Leonard or High pair h. Aeres of St. Mary, 531. Real property, £3,189. Pep., 2,683. Houses, 567. Aeres of St. Leonard, 590. Real property, £7,557. Pop., 3,614. Houses, 621. St. M. isa rectory, St. La wicarage, in the dio. of Herefort. Patron of both, T. Whitmore, 120 and 120 are strong than the dio. of Herefort. Patron of St. Leonard, £208.* Value of St. Mary, £250; * of St. Leonard, £308. The sub-district includes also the parishes of Tasley and Oldbury, and the gratier part of Quatford. Acres, 3,382. Pop., 6,240. Houses, 1,294. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Worfield, containing the purishes of Worfield, Quart, Alveley, and Claverley; and the subdistrict of Chetton, containing the parishes of Chelmush, district of Checton, containing the parishes of Chelmans, Clazeley, Deuxhill, Billingsley, Sidburry, Middleton-Scriven, Needon, North Cleobury, Barwarton, Long Stanton, Ditton-Prins, Monkhapton, Acton-Bound, Urbar-tor-Cleosett, Morrill, and Asthy-Albots, part of Quat-ford, and the greater part of Chetton. Acres, 69,896, Poorsettes in 1866, 22,732. Pop. in 1861, 14,920. Houses, 3,239. Marriages in 1866, 85; births, 454,—of which 50 were illegitimate; deaths, 243,—of which 53 were at accounted 5 years, and 12 et ages players 5. Marriages at ages under 5 years, and 13 at ages above 85. Matriages in theten years 1851-60, 915; births, 4,517; deaths, 2,904. The places of worship in 1851 were 20 of the Church of England, with 8,142 sittings; 1 of Independents, with 495 s.; 2 of Bayti-is, with 530 s.; 5 of Wesb yar Methodists, with 382 s.; 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 28 thodists, with 390 s.; 1 of Frinative Arctionists, with 28 s.; 1 Catholic and Arcistolic, with 200 s.; and 3 of Reman Catholics, with 278 s. The schools were 18 public day schools, with 1,146 scholars; 16 private day schools, with 317 s.; 19 Sanday schools, with 1,202 s.; and 1 evening school for a lults, with 12 s. The workhouse is in St. Leonard. —The division is in Branstree Fundr 4; and contains World 1 and Claverley parishes, and part of Bobbington. Acres, 18,978. Pop., 2,393. Hourss, 713. Bobbilagton, Acres, 18,978, Pop., 2,393, Houses, 743, BRIDGWATER, See Buidgewagen, BRIDGEWATER, — two BRIDGEON — pronounced BURINGTON — two smell towns, a township, a paish, a sub-district, and a district in P. R. Yorkshite. The towns are Bridlington rul Buillington-Q cy Brillingt or start; on a gentle declivity, at the Grey-Race river, advaget to the Hull and Scarborough redway, about 1 of a mile from the sea, 6 miles WSW of Front crough bead, and 501 NNE of Hall. A Roman * alice probably accapied its site; and a Roman 1 ml can be trued in a less from it, across from a konan i in that it is there in a new from it, across free Wolds, toward Vork. An August histon privity was found. I at it, in the time of Henry I, by Wulter de Ghenri; and fortuled, in the time of Kiehard H., to resist investon by see. The seer on ling matter he longed to it; and, at bothine, in the service ling manor belonged to it; and, at the dividation, we panel used by the inhabitants. The town is sived by an ital Maria, query of Cherris I, with stores is only by a ray the neighbouring boy from Hol-ler I; and it there is shown in the play from the large and it is the result of the sight of the parliamentarion floot under Adam 1 E.B. and II how consists chiefly of how consists shipped for the one long nurson i et; but possesses introst for the boarty of its ere iss, and for its priory charch, row the parish church. This was originally 360 feet long, with an early English choir of seven bays, an early English transept, a magnificent revolus, and five chapels in one range; but now consists chiefly of the nave, 185 feet long, 68 feet wide, and 89 feet high, in the best geometrical decorated English; contains a hexagonal stone pulpit, and a tur-lunated madreporite font; and has an east window, constructed in 1861. A gatchouse of the priory is used as the town-hall; and some cells have been used as a prison and a school. A market-house, with a corn-exchange, was There are here or at B. Quay chapels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyan Methodists, Primitive Methodists, and U. Free Methodists; a grammar-school, founded in 1637; an endowed school for girls; charities, including the two schools, to the amount of £402 a-year; a workhouse, two subscription libraries, a small mu-seum, and five chief inns. The town has a post-office a workhouse, two short inns. The town has a post-office seum, and five chief inns. The town has a post-office under Hull, a railway station with telegraph, and two banking offices; and is a scat of county courts, and a polling-place. A weekly market is held on Saturday, polling-place. a fortnightly cattle-market on Tuesday; and fairs on the Monday before Whitsunday and 21 Oct. Bridlington is the scene of three of Montgomery's sonnets.

Bridlington-Quay stands on the shore, on a fine bay, a mile from Bridlington; is a seaport, a sea-bathing resort, and a coast-guard station; and has a post-office. neder Itali. It comprises a spacious principal street, descending to the harbour, and some other streets; and is well built, and lively. The Victoria public rooms are a Tudor editice, with embattled tower, built at a cost of £3,000; and include promenade, exhibition, billiard. and news rooms. The church is a structure in the early English style, built in 1840. There are hot and cold sea-water baths; and races are run in October. bithing accommodation on the beach is very good; the sands firm; and the views and walks delightful spring within high water-mark gives a copious supply of the purest water; intermittent springs are in the neighhourhood; and a chalybeate spring, of similar quality to the springs of Scarborough, is about I of a mile distant. The harbour has two piers, extending fir into the sea, and is defended by a cross battery; and the bay is a commodious anchoring-place, sheltered by Flamborough-Head and the Smithic sand. The port is under Hull, Head and the Smithic sand. The port is under Hull, and has a considerable trade in corn, malt, and manures. The seats of Boynton, Thorpe-Hall, Bessingly, Sewerby, and Sledmere Park, and some beautiful filles are in the neighbourhood. An improvement at Bridlington-Quay was projected in 1864, to comprise the erection of a seawas projected in 1005, to compute the election of a season wall from the North pier to the explande, and the making of a promenade, with terraced-walks, and a flight of stone steps to the beach, and estimated to cost 235,000. A seafight between three American vessels under Paul Jones ngitt between three american vessers under the authorisand two Eritish ones took place in the vicinity in 1779. The township includes the two towns; and comprises 3,060 acres of land and 67 of water. Real property, 221,738. Pop., 5,775. Houses, 1,363. The parish includes also the townships of Buckton, Hilderthorpewith-Wilsthorpe, Sewerby-with-Marton, Specton, and Grindall, and the hamlet of Easton. Acres, 13,236. Real property, 255,655. Pop., 6,832. Houses, 1,551. The property is much sub-livided. The hiving is a vierage in the dioces of York. Value, £2,88. Patrons, Simeon's Trustees. Bridlington Qua, Specton, and Sewerby-with-Marton and Grindall are separate benefices; the first a vicanage of value £150, "in the patronage of the vicar of Bridlington. William de Newburgh, the monkish historian, Thomas Newman, commencented by a tablet in the clurchyard, and Kent, the landscape gridener, were natives; and several men of note were connected with the priory. The sub-district contains the parishes of Bessingby, Carnaby, Boynton, Flamborough, Benyton, the greater part of Bridlington, and part of Fridschorp. Pop., 8,518. Houses, 1,941. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Skipsea, containing the parishes of Burton-Agues, Barmston, and part of Hunnandby, Argam, Radston, Thwing, Wold-Newton, Burnaby, Argam, Radston, Thwing, Wold-Newton, Burnaby, Argam, Radston, Thwing, Wold-Newton, Barnaton-Flening, Reighton, and part of Bridlington, and part of Bridlington, and part of Bridlington, and part of Bridlington, Acres, 67,831. Poor-rates in 1566, £4,623. Population in 1861, 11,371. Houses, 3,679. Marriages in 1866, 93; births, 456,—61 which 15 were illegitimate; doaths, 222,—of which 124 were at ages under 5 years, and 5 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1850-60, 1,653; births, 4,718; deaths, 2,915. The places of worship in 1851 were 24 of the Church of England, with 4,790 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 610 s.; 2 of Eaghists, with 360 s.; 25 of Weel-wan Methodists, with 4,472 s.; and 14 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,509 s. The schools were 17 public day schools, with 1,259 schoolars, with 242 private day schools, with 8,81 s.; 28 Sunday schools, with 1,702 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 7.8. BRIDPORT, a town, a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a division in Porset. The town stands on a gentle eminence, between the rivers Bride and Asker, gentic chimenes, between the rivers here and a lattle above their confinence, and at the terminus of a branch railway, surrounded by hills, II, mile N of the Bride's month, 91 by reilway WSW by Maiden-Newton, and 15 by road W of Dorchester. It had a mint and 120 houses at the time of the Conquest; was occupied by both the royalists and the parliamentarians, but not contested by either, during the civil war: made a riotous outburst at the time of the Duke of Monmouth's landoutdoms at the time of the Duke of adominant's amor-ing at Lyme; and had an ancient priory, dedicated to St. John the Baptist. It consists of three spacious, any streets; contains many hand some houses; and commands, from its summit-ground, many fine vista-views. The town-hall occupies the site of an ancient chapel; was built in 1786; and is a handsome edifice of brick and Portland stone. The parish church is cruciform, chiefly later English; has a central, square, pinnacled tower; was restored in 1860, at a cost of upwards of £3,000; and contained a monument to a kinsman of Queen Philippa, and some other interesting monuments. St. Andrew church, near the northern entrance to the town, is a new, clurch, near the northern entrance to the town, is a new, small, beautiful elitie. There are chapels for Independents, (a new cn.) Baptists, Quakers, Unitarians, Methodists, and Roman Catholies; a free school, with £80 a-year; alms-houses, with £73; other charities, with £80; and a mechanical institute. Bridport Harbour is a few parts of the Paris, 11 will advent the house of the Paris. at the mouth of the Bride, 11 mile distant; has a post-office of its own under Bridport, some cottages, and an inn; and takes its name from a basin enclosed by a init; and taxes its name from a casin enclosed by a double wooden pier, fanked by picturesque (diffs, and capable of admitting vessels of 250 tons.

Brilport has a head pest-office, 2 milway station with telegraph, two banking-offices, and two chief inns; is a seat in sessions, a coast-guard station, and a bonding port; and publishes a weekly newspaper. Markets are held on Wednesday and Saturday; and fairs on 6 April, Holy Thursday, and 11 October. Manufactures are carried on in shoe-thread, twine, cordage, sailcloth, and fishing-nets. The cordage was at one time a great staple; supplied nearly all the royal navy in the time of Henry VIII.; and became so identified with the work of the langman as to be popularly called "the Bridport dagger." The vessels registered at the port at the beginning of 1838 were 9 of 1,430 tons; and those which extend in 1857, counting repeated voyages, were 3 of 185 tons from British colonies, 15 British of 2,747 tons and 5 foreign of 640 tons from foreign constries, and 60 sailing-vessels of 640 tons from foreign constries, and 60 sailing-vessels of 16,427 tons constvise. The customs in 1857 were £2,803. The chief exports are cheese, butter, and the local manufactures; and the chief in-ports henry, flax, tallow, timber; wines, spirits, end, and slate. The tonn was chartened by Henry III.; sent two members to pullament from the time of Edward I. till 1857; was reduced, in 1807, to the right of sending only one; and is governed, under the new act, by a mayer, six ablemen, and eighteen concillors. The borough includes all Bildpot partish, Allington, Eralpude, and Symondshary parishes. Acres, 659. Taxes in 1857, 23,530. Electors in 1863, 603. Top, in 1891, 7,719. Houses, 1,581.

The parish comprises 62 acres. Real property, £14,102. Pop., 4,645. Houses, 922. The property is much sal livided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £250.* Patron, the Earl of Echesof Salisbury. Value, £250.* Patron, the Earl of Echeston and Eralpole. Acres, 1,622. Pop., 8,609. Houses, 1,635. The ditta comprehends also the sub-district of Wieltchurch Canonicorum, containing the parishes of Whit dr roh - Canonicorum, Chideock, Symondsbury, Wootton-Fitquine and Catherston-Lewston, and the parochial chap by of Stanton-St. Gabriel; and the sub-district of Burton-Bradstock, containing the parishes district at Parton-Braisrock, containing the pairwork Briton-Braisrock, Loders, Askerswell, Chilcombe, Lit-ton-Genzy, Puncknowly, Swyre, Bothenhampton, and Wablitch, and the parochial chapelry of Shipton-George, Acres, 22,187. Poor-rates in 1866, 28,658. Pop. in 1864, 10,828. Houses, 3,520. Marriages in 1866, 123; births, 5,11.—of which 31 were illegitimate; deaths, 357,—of which 123 were at ages under 5 years, and 16 at ages above 55. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1361; 2500 s. 3. Martings in the care the years 1537-6, 1945 fooths, 5,524; deaths, 3,522. The places of worship in 1551 were 2° of the Church of England, with 6,922 sittings; 5 of Ind. pendents, with 2,150 s.; 1 of England, with 350 s.; 1 of Unitarions, with 474 s.; 8 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,489 s.; and 1 of Letter Day Saints, with 140 attendants. The schools were 23 public day schools, with 1,504 scholars; 34 private day schools, with 696 s.; 32 Sunday schools, with 2,830 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 22 s. The workhouse is in Bradpole. The division contains the hundreds or liberties of Beaminster, Beaminster-Forem and Redhone, Broadwinsor, Godderthorne, Heistock, Lothers and Pothenhampton, Poorstock, and Whitchar h-Canonicorum, and parts of the hundreds or Theories of Egy rion, Framiton, Uggsconbe, and Cerne, Totomba, and Moderny, Assessing and Moderny, Asses, 87,194. Pop. in 1851, 23,4673; in 1851, 23,48. Houses, 5,651.

BRIDPORT HARBOUR. See Bendrough

DRIDPORT RAILWAY, a railway in Dorset; from the Great We term system at Maiden-Newton, westsouth-westward, to Bridport. It was opened in November 1:57; is 94 miles long; and has a station at Powerstock.

BRIDSTOW, a parish in Ross district, Hereford; on the Rive: Wye, adjacent to the Monmouth and Hereford railway, I mile W by N of Ross. Post-town, Poss. Acres, 2,169. Real property, £5,506. Pop., 717. Hers.s. 143. Wilton Castle here is an old seat of the Heus.s. 143. It als Grey de Wilten, burnt in the civil wars, and now on iverela l ruin. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Heref rd. Value, £276.* Patron, the Bishop of an ivy-clal ruin. H. reford

See BREDY. BEHDY

BRIERCLIFFE, a township and a chapeley in Whalley parish, Lancishire. The township bears the name of Drigollife-with-Extwistle; and lies near the East Lonea-Stire relway, 3 miles NE by E of Bumbey. Post-town, Burmley, Acres, 4,180. Real property, £5,222. Pop., 1,332. Houses, 263. There are quarries and cotton Definey, 1992, 1993. There are quarries and coccon-nills. The chapelry was constituted in 1842. Pop. 2024. Henres, 393. The living is a vicarage in the discress of Marchester. Value, £250,  Patrons, Hulme's Tresters. The church was built in 1840. There are two Thesters. The church was built in 184 Bardist chapels and a national school.

ERIGIDEAN, or BURNADON, a township in Eursden ptr. Jr. Northunderland; on the Blyth rathway, 5 miles ANW of North Shields. Acres, 695. Eqn., 597. Houses, 50. Coal and stone are worked. A fearful colliery disester occurred here in Match, 1860.

BRIERFILLD, a station on the East Lancashire toil-way; 21 m les NE of burnley. ERIEMLEY, a town hip in Felkick parish, W. R. Yorkstire; capacent to the Barnesley canal and the North Malland railway, 51 miles NE of Barnesley. It includes the hardest of Geimethorper and has a post-office under borne by Aves, 2,610. Bed property, 43,635. Pon, 4-1. Hars, 106. Most of the inhabitants are clock

ETTERLEY, a vill ge in Sedgby puish, Stafford; 31 miles NII of Dudley.

BRIERLEY, Hereford. See Broadward and Burra-

BRIEBLEY HILL, a town and a chapelry in Kineswinford parish, Stafford. The town stands on the river Stour, the Dudle, and Stourbridge canal, and the West Midland railway, 21 miles NNE of Stourbridge; and has a station on the railway and a head post-office ? It lies in a hilly tract of great mineral wealth; forms a street about a mile long; carries on industry in coll miles, clay fields, brick-works, potteries, glass-works, iron-rolling-mills, boiler-works, chain and spade factories, and malting establishments; and publishes a weekly newspaper. The church at it is a cruel construc-ture, built in 1765, and enlarged in 1823 and 1837, with a tower which commands an extensive view; and these are chapels for Independents, Boptists, Wesleyan Mothodists, and Primitive Methodists. The chapelry in cludes the town; and was constituted in 1842. Pop., 10,755. Houses, 2,060. The living is a rectory, united 10,755. Houses, 2,660. The hying is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Hatts Hill, in the dicesse of Lichfield. Value, 2300. Latron, the Rector of Kingswinford, BRIER'S, or St. ANNE'S-IN-HIP-GROVE, a chapelry, with a village, in Halifax Parish, W. R. Yorkshire; near the Manchester and Leeds tailway, 34 miles, USE of Halifax. Pote, 6,570. The property is sub-livitled. The living Patron, the Vicar of Halifax. The church is tolerable.

BRIERTON, or BREARTON, a township in Stranton parish, Durham; near the Hartlepool railway, 31 miles purish, Durhan; near the Hartlepool railway, 3½ miles SW by S of Hartlepool. Acres, 748. Real property, £512. Pop., 30. Houses, 4.

BRIERY-COTTAGES. See Gerla-Mills.
BRIERY-HURST, or Breenhurst, a township in Wolstanton parish, Stafford; adjrect to the Northwestern railway, 2 miles NNE of Newcastle-under-Lyne. Real property, £5,157; of which £400 are in mines. Pop., 4,072. Houses, 798. The working of coal and improper is carried on. iron-ore is carried on.

non-ore is carried on BRIESTFIELD, or BriESTWHISLE, a hamlet in Lower Whitley township, Thornhill parish, W. E. Yorkshire; 51 miles L of Huddersfield.

BRIGG. See GLANFORD-BRIGG. BRIGGE. See BRIDGNORTH. See Bridgenorth.

BRIGHAM, a fownship and a parish in Cockermonth district, Cumberland. The township lies on the river Derwent, and on the Cockermonth and Werkington rails way, 2 miles W of Cockermouth; and has a station on the railway. Real property, £4,365. Pop., 504. Houses, 122. The parish contains also the fown and Houses, 122. chapelry of Cockermouth, and the townships of Blindbothel, Graysouthen, Setmurthy, Eaglestield, Mossar, bothed, Graysouthen, Schmitthy, Englisheld, Mossar, Butternere, Whinfell, and Endledton; and its post-town is Cockermonth. Acres, 22,580. Real property, 246,142. Pop., 7,574. Houses, 1,659. The property is much subdivided. The surface is greatly diversited, ranging from soft valley to bold high mountain; and contains much bailliant scenery. Linestone, freestone, slate, and cod are worked. The living is a victage in the dioces of Carlide, Value, 4199. Patron, the Eul of Lonsdale. The church is decorated English, in good of Lonsdale. The church is decorated Lughish, in good condition. The chapelries of Cockermouth, Lorten, Mossar, Setmenthy, Wythop, Limbleton, and Buttermore are separate benefices. There are a number of dissent-ing chapels, and charities 2142.

BRIGHAM, a town-hip in Fostor-on-the-Wolds parish, E. R. Vorkshire; near the Hull and Scarborough railway, 41 miles Sh of Great Driffield. Acres, 1,470.

FRIWAY, 45 miles St. of the Collection of the Co notine-cum-targeouse townsimp, Hillian parish, and in sub-district in Halfar Alstrict, W. L. Yorkshiro. The village stands on the river Cabler, adjacent to the Mon-chester and Leel's raflway, 3\\(\frac{1}{2}\) in SEC of Halffray, and has a station with telegraph on the railway, a post-officed, under Normation, and fairs on 13 May and 12 Oct. Trade is carried on in cutton, woothen, and worsted mannfactures, in multimaking and card-making, and in the working and experting of building-stone. Fixby Hull, the sout of the Thornhills, is in the vicinity. The chapelry includes the village; and was constituted in 1842. Rated property, £11,669. Pop., 4,562. Honses, $47. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Eipon. Value, £250.* Patron, the Vicar of Halifax. The church is a modern Gothie edifice, built at a cost of £3,515. There are a chapel of case, two Methodist chaples, and an endowed grammar-school with £119 a-year.—The sub-district consists of parts of the parishes of Halifax and Dewsbury. Acres, £,514. Pop., 9,992. Houses, 2,165. BRIGGISTONE. See BRIXTON, 1ste of Wight.

BRIGGISTONE. See BRIXTON, 1ste of Wight.

BRIGHTFORD, a hundred in the rape of Branber, Sussex. It contains the town of Worthing and seven parishes. Acres, 16,319. Pop., 8,578. Houses, 1,603. BRIGHTHAMPTON, a hamlet in Bampton parish, Oxford; 4 miles E of Bampton. Acres, 410. Real property, £1,033. Pop., $9. Houses, 21.

PRIGHTHELMSTONE. See BRIGHTON.

BRIGHTHOLMLEE, a hamlet in Bradfield chapelry,

Yorkshire; 61 miles NW of Sheffield. BRIGHTLEY, a hamlet in Okehampton parish, Devon: near Okchampton.

von; near Okchampton.
BRIGHTLEY, a handet in Chittlehampton parish,
D.von; 2½ miles from Chittlehampton.
BRIGHTLING, a parish in Battle district, Sussex; in the Weald, 4 miles WSW of Robertsbridge r. station, and 6½ NW of Dattle. It has a post-office under HurstGreen. Acres, 4,613. Real property, £3,794. Pop.
661. Houses, 132. The property is subdivided. Brightling Down is 646 feet high; commands an extensive ling Down is 640 teet night, commands an extension panoramic view; and is crowned by an observatory. Rosehill Park is the seat of O. Meyrick, Esq.; and Socknersh, the seat of John Hallaway, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, 4563.* Patron, the Rev. B. Hayley. The church is tolerable. A school has £22 from endowment; and other charities £15.

BRIGHTLINGSEA, a village and a parish in Lexden district, Essex. The village stands on the estuary of the Colne, opposite Mersea island, at a terminus of the Tendcone, oppose a desea island, at a terminal of the rena-ring Hundred railway, 8 miles SL by S of Colchester; is a sul-port to Colchester, and a member of the cinque port of Sandwich; and has a post-office; under Colchester, and a recently erected temperance hall. Fairs are held on the first Thursday of June and 15 Oct.; and a large trade is carried on in the fishing of sprats and oysters. is carried on in the Issuing of sprats and dysters. The parish comprises 3,560 acres; of which 470 are water. Real property, £7,081. Pop., 2,585. Houses, 589. The property is sub-divided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £213.* Patron, the Bishop of Peterborough. The church has a tower hearly 100 feet high, serving as a sea-mark; and contains brasses of a merchant, a nun, and W. Beriffe, 1579. chapel of case in Gothic architecture, and chapels for Independents, Wesleyans, and Swedenborgians.

BRIGHTON, a town, a parish, and a district on the coast of Sussex. The town stands on swell, slope, and cliff, nuder the South Downs, 18 miles W by N of and cm, indeer the south Downs, 15 miles why X of Beachy-Head, 27 E by X of Selsea Bill, 8 8W by W of Lewis, 25 F of Chiefester, and 50! S of London. The s.a before it forms a great slender bay, bounded by Beachy-Head and Selsea Bill, and gives an open view, past the latter, to the Isla of Wight. One railway goes direct to London; another goes to Lewes, and thence to Kent; and a third goes to Chichester and Portsmouth, and thence to the west.

Name and History .- The name popularly is alway: Brighton; but anciently was Brighthelmstone; and continues so in all legal and parochial documents; and was derived from some person of the name of Paighthelie, supposed probably to have been an Anglo-Saxon bishop of Selsea. The place is thought to have been a scene of Drui heal worship; and, from the discovery at it of Rorean coins and other Roman relies, is concluded to have been a cupied by a Roman station. The manor belonged, in the time of Edward the Confessor, to Earl Godwin descended to his son Harobl, who fell in the battle of Hastings; was given, by the Conquerir, to William de Warrene; and transferred, soon afterwards, to the priory A town on it was so considerable at the end of the 13th century, as to become then the seat of a market; and consisted of two parts,—one on the beach, inhabited by fishermen,—the other on the cliffs, inhabited by landsmen. The Flemings, the Grench, and the Spaniards made attacks on the town, or descents in its neighbourhool, through a period of three centuries; and continually checked its prosperity. A block-house for arms and aumunition, and encompassing strong walls, with four gates, were erected for its defence, in the times of Henry VIII. and Elizabeth; but were gradually destroyed by the sea. Even the lower part of the town itself underwent assaults from the billows, and eventually disappeared. Charles U. fled hither from his overthrow at Worcester; spent a night in a small inn, still existing, in West-street; and embarked in the neighbourhood for Feramp in Normandy. The town declined till about 1750; and had then only about 800 inhabitants, chiefly poor fishermen. Dr. Russell, a distinguished physician, drew attention to it, at that time, as a desirable bathing-place; and some persons of influence and fashion soon began to visit it from London. Dr. Johnson, with Mrs. Thrale and Fanny Burney, was here in 1770; and the Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV., first came in 1782, and then founded a permanent summer residence in 1781. Brighton suddenly underwent a change of fortune; and it has gone on increasing, steadily and of fortune; and it has gone on increasing, security and rapidly, from that time till the present, so as to be now the greatest watering-place in the world.

Sixeds and Places.—The town extends three miles, from Hove on the W to Kemp-Town on the E; and pro sents such an imposing frontage to the sea as cannot be rivalled by any other town. All of it, with small exception, is modern; and much is handsome, elegant, or Some parts stand on slopes, descending from the skirts of the South Downs; some on low flat grounds. at the bottom; and some on clits, immediately over larging the sea. The central potion includes the Steyne, named from the "stane" or rock on which the fisher-men of the old times used to dry their nets; and comtains some houses of the last century, the pavilion or palace built by Goorge IV., and two large enclosures thickly planted with shrules. The western portion includes the early fashionable extensions; exhibits a prevailing character of comparative stillness or uniformity; valing engracter of comparative stimues or amorancy; and contains the fine localities of Regency-square, Bruns-wick-sq., Brunswick-terrace, and Adelaide-crescent. The eastern portion includes the later extensions; displays a richer style; and contains streets, squares, crescents, and terraces, edificed with as splendid houses as almost any terraces, edificed with as splendid houses as almost any in the kingdom. Kemp-Town here surmounts a cliff in the kingdom. Kemp-Fown nere surmouns a time nearly 200 feet high; was commenced in 1831, on the estate of Thomas Read Kemp, Esq.; and includes a cres-cent 500 feet across, with wings 250 feet each. The streets, for the most part, are spacious, and intersect one another at right angles; the higher places have reliefs for the most part, and command fine views; and of garden or shubbary, and command fine views; and the prevailing aspect of at once residences, shops, and the roughfare, is similar to that of the best parts of London.

Partic Buildings.—A sen-wall, for resisting farther encroachment by the sea, extends nearly a mile westward from Kemp-Town; was I wilt at a cost of about £100,000; and diminish s upwards from a thickness of fully fourtren fest to a thickness of about two feet. A chain-pier, situated at the west cod of the sea-wall, extends 1,614 feet into the sea; was constructed in 1822, by Captain Brown, at a cost of £30,000; suffered much injury from storms, in 1824 and 1830, but has since been repaired and strengthened; is divided, by iron towers, into four spans, of 225 fe t each; measures 13 feet in wilth along the roadway; organds at the less linto a platform 80 feet square; and is used as a public promenade. A west pier, on iron supports, vas opened in 1866; is 1,115 feet long; and less prometta ling spreas for fully 2,000 per ons. The Pavilion or pal ze of George IV, underwint a lditions and changes till 1817; assumed a funtatio character, with dones, minereds, cupolas, and spires, alleged to re-scrible the Kremlin at Moscow; was occasionally visited by William IV, and Victoria; was sold, in 1850, to the Leaf authorities of Erighton, for 250,000; and is now used, on all sorts of occasions for public entertainment,

The entrance-hall is magnificent; the banquetic, room mer ares 60 feet by 42; the music-room is of similar see; the rotunda is 55 feet in diameter; and the Chinesa ry is 162 feet long. The stables connected with the gath-wis 162 feet long. The stables connected with the pavilion are in the Moorish style, with a wast glazed done lighting a circle of about 250 feet; and was formed, in 1807, into a connect hall and rooms. The house in which Mrs. Fitzherbed resided is adjacent. A bronze statue of George IV., by Chautry, creet di in 1825 and a fountain called the Victoria. at a cot of £3,000, and a fountain, called the Victoria, are in the Seyne. The town-hall is a hand-some modern costion, 141 feet long and 113 feet broad, with three double portiones, raised at a cost of 230,000; and contains a principal apartment 85 feet by 35, and various committee, magistrates, and assistants rooms. much t-house stands on the site of the old town-hall, was built in 1830; and is in the form of a T. Countycourt offices, in Gothic style, were built in 1869. The amply rooms are at the Old Ship hotel. The theatre v. cularged and remodelled in 1866, and now accommod tes an audience of about 1,900. The railway terminus is an el cant and commodious structure; and has a Roman portico, surmounted by an illuminated clock. The water works are supplied from wells in the thalk, pumped by powerful engines, sending the water to reservoirs at levels which command the highest houses; they are maniged on a capital of £250,000; and considerable additions to them were in progress in 1865 A great had we creeted in 1864, nine storeys high, at a c st of £150,000). The cavalry barracks can accommodate 625 men; the infantry barracks, about 400. sewage of the town was earried further out to sea in 1867;

seeage of the two was carried further out to sea ru 1867, and was decided, it 1899, to be diverted by leaved.

Character,—The places of worship within the parliationary beneagh, in 1805, vere 24 of the Church of England, and 35 of other dominations; and of the latter, 6 belonged to lad peadent, 5 to Laptists 1 to Quakers, 1 to Preshyterians, 2 to Weslevan Methodists, 1 to Trimitive Methodists, 1 to Trimitive Methodists, 1 to Tribed Free Methodists, 1 to Bible Christians, 1 to L. by Huntingden's Connexion, 2 to Weslevan Rest by Peade 19 to P to French Protestants, 1 to Germon Protestants, 1 to the Catholic Apostolic Church, 2 to Roman Catholics, 1 to Jews, 2 to mission congregations, and 7 of somewhat isolited character; but several of the 35 were only rooms or halfs. St. Nicholas' church, on an eminence, in the NW of the town, dates from the time of Edward III.; has always served as a landmark for fishermen; was rebuilt, in 1854, as a memorial of the Duke of Welling 100, v loo habitually attended it while a pupil of the vicar; is in the perpendicular English style, with pictur-Your 18 in the papear and raginal styr, was poun-especial parameter, retains the original perpendicular serion, and en accient, rincular Norman font; and has, in the chantry, a richly deconted cross, about 18 feet high, dedicated to the Duke of Wellington, and inscribed round the shaft with the names of his chief victories. The churchyard contains monumental stones of Captain Tettersell, the preserver of Charles II.; Phothe Hoss II, who lought at Fontenoy; and Mrs. Crouch, the actress. who bought at Fentenoy; and Mrs. Crouch, the actress 5:. Peter's chutch, at the end of the Stern, was built in 1850, after a design by six charles Barry, at a cost of 220,700; is in the best pointed etyle, with windows of tanish to very record is more askers, and semicon-ternal temephysical has a next tower, our monitor with pinness it. St. Paul's chutch, in West-street, on the day of the Down, near the shope, is a very beau-tical structure, belief in 2847, by Mr. Carp after [Fass porte with a differ beschedes for a the life of St. Paul'; and is often call of the "Treath Church." St. James' Crutch, in Conducing to the was butter in 1850, after a Crutch in Conducing to the was butter in Stone after a Cauch, in Countible rath was built in 1860, after a Cerch, in Contribute v. t. vas built in 1850, after a design by H. E. Kurtull, all a cost of 25,500; is in the Carlin at J. God is right; and control is of all boll any a cetral two designs, and a large, at ledge time I, with vestion square to your columnital by an octagonal har form. The Covel atomity a surface adjusted sold it the profiles. So, field I of an lower built in tsure; in the description of the transfer of the covel atomity and the specific relative interior. St. Many Mag Inducts was built in 1863, and is a relation characteristic state of the coverage of Die georgetrie style; and cost . 6,670. Lee . mg Ts vers built also in 1869; is in the only decorated style; and cost 43,550. Ohr Ushalbished lumehes are All Sculz, Christ Church, St. Lahn's, St. Stephen's, St. Mary's, St. George's, All Sainte, Trinky, St. Marguret's, St. Mary's, St. Mark's, Some of the discenting places of worship are spacious and Emel-one. The Roman Catholic church, in Upper Nutherrect, was built in 1862; consists of mave, misles, chancel, Lady church, and side-chapels; and has a tower and spire 144 feet high.

Chapels; and has a tower and spire 141 feet high.

Schools and Institutions.—There were within the beiough, in 1851, 32 public day schools, with 5,024 scholars; 210 private day schools, with 4,346 s.; and 25 Sunday schools, with 3,932 s. Brighton college, in 25 Sunday schools, with 3,932 s. Brighton college, in the east, was found it in 1848, and forms a quadrangie, with chapel and closters. The proprietary granumar school was creeful in 1859. The military school is largely attended. Grimmer's blue-cost school has 278 from colowment; and Promer's girls school has 2506. The county hospital, in he mp-Town, was funched in 1825; has since acquired two wings, colled the Adelaide and the Victoria; and contains accommodation for 150 patients. The asylum for the blind, close by the county hospital, was built in 1861; is in the Venetian Gothic style; and forms nearly a square edilice, in red and black brick. The town naiseum was opened in November, 1841; occupies a syvious suite of rooms in the X wing of the Pavilion; and contains collections of antiquities, natural history, good gry, and miscellaneous curi sities. There are a Disserver's proprietary college; a training school for female to there; a literary and scientific institution; a natural history society; an art society; a young men's literary union; numerous readle, z-rooms and libraries; and a vail ty of benevolent and miscell meons institutions. Two lew compteries he to the N of the town; the one open i in 1851, and belonging to a private company; the other open I in 1859, on ground given to the town by the Marquis of Bristol, and called the parochial centery.

Mouss of Hould. "As conclusts.—The climate differs, we warmth, in the lighter and lower puts, and in the L and W; but, or the whole, is of comparatively brisk day character, excellent for children and healthy adults, and suitable for in: Blood well-toned constitution. One scarce, for sea-bothing, a runs from July to October; and another, for repose, trong October fill April. The bothing boach is pudly-sloud; and steep, partly smooth hus sand; and is plentifully provided with machines, divided into groups for resp., tively belies and gout from. Bothing establishments, with every variety of boths, and also a large public swir ming both, are in the form. A charming park, with what is called the German Spa, furnishing artificial trineral waters similar to those of the most celebrated continental spa, is in a narrow valley running up the hill for an the East fill. A long public promenade lies along the cliffs; a lower promenade, for the inhabition of Kep. Prown, is reached by a turned through the rock; pleasured that and to know a reached that all other serts of entertainments are frequent; the theather is maintained in brisk service; he rice funds and for hims are made almost daily over the role, though and only by the various directions, to imany & "sould please of interest many & "sould please affine three; to induce the process of entertainments are frequent; the theather is maintained in brisk service; he rice funds and for hums are made almost daily over the role, though and over it made, the rest interest.

almost daily over the heal monthing downs; nears are run in August; and ex measure can be in why, in various directions, to many electrons can be in why, in various directions, to many electrons the property of the control of the fill Christman; a ready and places of interest.

Trades—A hearing at heap short, from May till July; and a general fishers, for the supply of the local market, by about an lun 11 beats, every day. Manufacture, and commerce are lathe more than normal. The relation till trade is extended to A weekly malder is the lot on Thursday; and I are all thelf harsbay and 4 8, pt. The read head place if the in Ship-street; preclying-sides sin Horved, Hodioubert, 1,1 Victoria road, P. Kump-Town,  and Westernaro da? to handling offices, on the of a charge and at the rolling selection; four banking-offices; and nearly hold, market by 10,000 visitions. A thire-effection and the global policions. A third-effection of these day, Weshusslay, Linday, and Saturday, and Saturday, and Saturday, and Saturday. Onadous and an expense of the large day, Weshusslay, I accept a part is and our fines day, Weshusslay, I accept a play, and Saturday, an nibuses run from the railway station to Hove and Kemp-Town; and an omnibus runs to Shoreham.

The Borough .- The town is governed, under a charter of 1854, by a mayor, a recorder, 12 aldermen, and 36 councillors; and, under the act of 1832, sends two members to parliament. The municipal borough is conterminate with the parish of Brighton. The parliamentary borough consists of the parishes of Brighton and Hove; and comprises 3,192 acres. A police force is maintained, consisting of 101 men, and costing annually about £7.255. The number of crimes committed, in 1864, was $11; of persons apprehended, 1,043; of known depredators and suspected persons at large, 1,013; of houses autors and suspected persons at args, 4,045; of noises of bad character, 263. Direct taxes in 1857, 274,297. Real property in 1860, 2552,877. Borouch income in 1861, 259,494; Edetors in 1868, 6,352. Pop. in 1831, 41,994; in 1861, 87,317. Houses, 13,983. Eishop Kidder was a native.

The Parish.—The parish comprises 1,980 acres of land The Parish.—The parish comprises 1,999 acres of fand and 310 of water. Real property, £161,217. Pop., 77,603. Houses, 12,727. The property is much subdivided. Fully one-half of the land is rural, chiefly down-pasture. The living is a vicarage, united with the rectory of West Blatchington, in the dioces of Chichester. Value, not reported. *Fatron, the Bishop of Chichester. The parish church is St. Nicholas; and the other bindron churches are all sequential charges. Value other mineteen churches are all separate charges. of St. John's, £90; of the Chapel-Royal, £95; of All Souls and St. Mary's, £100; of St. James', £180; of All Saints, £200; of Christ Church, £420; of St. Stephen's, £425; of 2200; of Christ Church, £120; of St. Stephen's, £425; of the others, not reported. Patron of St. Peter's, All Souls', Christ Church, St. John's, St. Paul's, St. Stephen's, All Suints', St. Michael's, St. Mary Magdalene's, and the Chapel-Royal, the Vicar; of St. James', the Trustees of the late N. Kemp, Esq.; of St. Mary's, the Rev. H. V. Elliott; of St. George's, L. Peel, Esq.; of Trinity. V. Ernstees of the late Rev. R. Anderson; of St. Margare's, Mrs. W. M. Du Pré; of St. Mark's, the Trustees of St. Marc's Usil. Mary's Hall.

The District.-The district is conterminate with the parish; forms a poor-law union under a local act; and is divided into the Palace, St. Peter, and Kemp-Town. Peor-rates in 1866, £37,050. Marriages in 1866, 902; births, 2,754,-of which 174 were illegitimate; deaths, 1,886, -of which 650 were at ages under 5 years, and 43 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 6,481; births, 22,433; deaths, 15,757. Of the places of worship and the schools returned in 1851 as in the borough, all the places of worship, 29 public day schools, 189 private day schools, and 23 Sunday schools, were in BRIGHTON (New), a village and a chapebry in Walla-y parish, Cheshire. The village stands within Liscard sey parish, Cheshire. township, on the coast, at the mouth of the Mersey, near the Lighthouse, 3½ miles N by W of Birkenhead. It enjoys a salubrious climate, communds fine hathing grounds, and is much frequented as a summer watering-place. It has a post-office; under Birkenhead, three good hotels, numerous lodging-houses, a marine establishment for convolvements roughing-nonses, a marine establishment for convolvements, the boat station, reading-nons, as-sembly-noons, a church, and a Wesleyan chapel. The church was built in 1856, at a cost of about £3,000; and is in the early English style, with a tower and spire. The chapelry includes the village, and was constituted in 1861. Pop., 2,404. Houses, 307. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £600. Patron, the Bishop.

BRIGHTON-PLACE, a farm-house, 4 miles E of Sut-ton-Valence, in Kent; long the seat of the Wottons, the birthplace of Sir Henry Wotton, afterwards the residence of Horsee Mann.

BRIGHTON RAILWAY. See LONDON, BRIGHTON, and South Coast Raidway.

BRIGHTON, UCKFIELD, AND TUNBRIDGE-WELLS RAILWAY. See UCKFIELD and TUNERIDGE-WELLS.

BRIGHTSIDE, a village, a chapelry, a township, and a sub-district, in Sheffield parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands adjacent to the Sheffield and Rotherham railway, 21 miles NE of Sheffield; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Rotherban. The chapelry was constituted in 1854. Pop. 10,101. Houses, 2,101. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of York. Value, £300. * Patron, altern, the Crown and the Archbishop. One church was built in 1851; and another, at bishop. One enurch was outly in 1991; and another, as a cost of nearly 212,000, in 1869. The township beats the name of Brightside-Pierlow; and includes Bridgehouses, Nursery, and Wicker, which are suburbs of Sheffield, -as also the villages of Crabtree, Grimesthorpe, and field,—as also the villages of Cratatree, trimessimper, and Keepscul. Acres, 2,699. Real property, £85,768; of which £1,636 are in mines and quarries. Pop., 29,818. Houses, 6,243. There are entlery-works, rolling-mills, a chapel of ease, two Methodist chapels, a library, na-tional schools, and charities £41.—The sub district is conterminate with the township.

Contemmate with the townsque.

BRIGHT-WALTHAM, BRIGHTWALTON, or BRICKLETON, a parish in Wantage district, Berks; near the downs, 7 miles S of Wantage, and $\frac{1}{2}$ NW of Newbury r.

downs, 7 iniles S of Wantage, and §§ NW of Nevbary r. station. It has a post-office under Wantage. Acres, 2,038. Read property, 23,312. Pop., 450. Houses, 91. The living is a vectory in the dio, of Oxford. Value, 2700. Patron, T. R. Harman, Esq. The church and a school are recent; and there is a Wisleyan chapel. BRIGHTWELL, a parish in Wallingford district, Berks; near the river Thames and the Great Western railway, 24 miles WNW of Wallingford r. station. and 3½ E of Dideot. It has a post-office under Wallingford. Acres, 2,024. Real property, £4,503. Pop., 703. Houses, 158. The property is divided among a few. The manor belongs to the Bishop of Winchester. An ancient castle stood here; and was destroyed about the time of Henry II. The hiving is a rectory in the the time of Henry II. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, 674.* Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The church was repaired in 1858; and there are a national school, and charities £25. Godwin, author of a work on Jewish and Roman antiquities, Bernard, the astronomer, and Wintle, the orientalist. were rectors.

BRIGHTWELL, a parish in Woodbridge district, Suffelk; 3 miles S by E of Bealings r. station, and 5½ E Stillor, 3 linkes 8 by 1 of bearings 1, station, and 35 E. by S of Ipswich. Post-town, Bucklesham, under Ipswich. Acres, 965. Real property, £831. Pop., $1. Houses, 14. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage united with the p. curacy of Kesgrave, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £112. Patron, Sir J. Shaw, Bart. The church is good.

BRIGHTWELL-BALLDWIN, or Bettweell-Ballowin, a parish in Henley district, Oxford: 21 miles W by N of Watlington, and 8 NNE of Wallingford-Road by N of Watlington, and 8 NNE of Watlingford-Read r. station. It includes the liberty of Cadwell; and its post-town is Cuxham, under Tetsworth. Acress, 1,660. Real property, £2,181. Fop., 277. Houses, 55. Brightwell house is the seat of F. L. Austen, Esy. The parish is a resort of sportsmen. The living is a rectory in the dioces of Oxford. Value, £380.* Patron, Mrs. L. S. Norton. The church is fine decorated English, with rich reasonable toward and contain towards under content towards. perpendicular tower; and contains tombs of the Carletons. There are a national school, and charities £28.

Eishops Westfaling and Paul were rectors.

BRIGHTWELL-PRIOR, or BRITWELL-PRIOR, a cha-BRIGHT WELL-PICTOR, or BRITWELL-PIRIOR, a enablery in Newington parish, Oxford; under the Chilterns, 14 mile 8W of Watlington, and 7½ NW by N of Wallingford-Road r, station. Post-fown, Britwell Salonus under Wallingford, "Keal property, 2806. Pop., 43, Houses, 6. The namor belonged formerly to the Welds; and Brightwell House is now the seat of II. Reeves, Esq. An ancient priory stood here; and a numery of St. Clars was set up for some time by French Nums who fled from the first revolution. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Newington, in the diocese of Oxford. The church is Norman in the nave, and early English in the chancel; and has a decorated fout.

BRIGHTWELL-SALOME, or BRITWELL-SALOME, a parish in Henley district, Oxford; on leknield-street; nation to the Chilterns, 15 mile SW of Wathington, and 3 NW by N of Wallingford-Road r. station. It has a post-cilie, of the name of Entwell-Salome, under Wallingford. Acres, 871. Real property, £1,342. Pop., 217. Houses, 48. The south-eastern part, toward the Chilterns, rises into Brightwell downs and lors at ancient terns, fies into Inightwell downs and low on ancient camp. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford Video, 2240. Thron, the Marquis of Lausdowne. The church is partly Normae; and has two brasses. BRIGHTW ELLS-BAIROW, a bander di fit he E of Gracester. It of sins Oxford and Berks; is 9½ miles long, and contains it lifed parish, the other parishes, and part of smother. According to Pop., 8,020. Houses, 1,708. DRIGMED'S ON, a hamlet in Mili ton parish, White on the liver at a. 9, 3 miles N of Ameslauy. Pop., 33. It bloogs to C.E. Randall, Esq.; and forms a curvey with Mileton.

with Milston.

BRIGNALL, a parish in Teesdale district and N. R. Yorkshire; near the Tees, on an adduct of that river, 3! miles SE of Barnard Castle 1 statiod. It contains of mins set or beaman cases; search. It contains 1 of Great-Bridge, which has a pot-office vulner DarLegton, Area, 5,037. Red property, 22,152. Pop.
123. Heres, 38. The property is all in one estate.
A Forman comprise adjacent to Greta-Bridge; and a Reman road went thence to the Tees at Pierse-Bridge, and to the Swale at Cate rick-Bridge. The scenery is picturesque; and runs up to Scargill cliff and woods, sung by Seat in his "Rokeby." Brignall banks themselves are thus sang in that poem :-

"O Deignall banks are wild and fair. And Grata woods are green; And you may gather garlands there World grave a summer queen.

The living is a vicetage in the discess of Ripon. Value 2380. Patron, the Lord Chamelior. The church is old and tolerable.

and tolerable.

BRIOSLEY, a perish in Caistor district, Lincoln; 3 n.ll a WSW of Halton-be-Clap n. station, and 5.8 by W of Gra, 1 Grinsby. Post-town, Waltham, under Griwsby. Arres, 5 of Red property, 21,647. Pop., 152. Houses, 25. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectar in the discess of Lincoln. Value, 200. Patron, S. Thoell Callegarte Church. The church is good.

Figure Congress cauch. The that is good. Inflest ERLs, a lamber in the townships of Levens and Rel-Suction, Westmoreland; 33 miles SSW of Kendal. BIROSTOCK, a village and a parish in Threpston district, Northampton. The village stands on an affluent of the control of the village stands on the control of the village stands of the village. of the tive Non, near Rockingham forest, forthles NNW of Thrapston: station, and I/I/NF of Keterling. It has post-officed under Thrapston, and I fairs on 25 April, 4 S_{1,7} and 22 Nov.; and was one a market-town. The s 15, and 22 Sov.; and was since a market-town. The parish comprises 5,900 acres. Real property, £8,114. Pop., 1,159. Horses, 266. The property is divided among a few. Brigstock Park belonged formerly to the Montagnes. the Montagues. The living is a vicate of united with the p. Catagy of Stanion, in the diocese of Peterborough.

Value, 220. Patron, the Dake of Cleveland. The Value, A226. Fatton, the Dane of Crevenam. Too cause his partially Norman, and good; and there are Independent and primitive Methodist chapels, an endowed s.h. d with £26 a-year, and charities £65.

ERILL, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Thance and county of Bucks. The village stands on an eminence, within the ancient Bernwood Fores, 31 miles Softhe Julian way, and 7 NNW of Thane, and List at the List at post-office; under Thane, and Lists at the first Wolnesday of May and the Wednesday after old M. Jackman day; and was formerly a markettown. Its encient name was Brechullar Brithely. Edwar I the Confessor had a hunting-bodge adjacent to it; H ary 11, hept his court here in 1160, attended by Hocket, and again in 1162; King John spent his Christ-1 to here in 1205; Henry III, heli his court here in 1 to here in 1290; Henry III, field his court here in 1224; and 1837 G. Genard, under Charles J., placed a force basin 1632, and repelled an attack by Hampten. The parameter 250 days at R 43 property, 25,873. Pep. 1,450. Hen es, 224. The property is much subdivided. The hampten was river by the Computor to Note 13, a language, and has descended from him to S. T. D. Anhey, East. Stone (squarried) yellow other is found; and clay has been worked into rottery here show it in the other processor. A chalyiegte spring in the inner line meight if who, i of the village has some molicinal repute; and a hotel stands adjacent to it for the accommodation of visitors. A grove near the village is probably a relie of Bernwood forest. Muswell or Muzzle hill is crowned by an ancient camp and a hermitage, and commands a line view. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Boarstall, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £101.* Patron, C. S. Ricketts, Esq. The church is partly Norinen, and good; and there are two Independent chapels, a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, four alms houses poors' lands £120 a-year, and some other charities .- The sub-district contains eleven parishes. Acres, 20,720.

Pop., 5,646. Honoes, 1,237.
BRILLEY, a parish in the district of Presteigne and county of Hereford; and a sub-district partly also in the county of Badnor. The parish lies on the verge of the county of Eastnor. The parish has on the verge of the county near the river Wye and the Hereford and Brecon railway, 54 miles NNE of Phy. Post-town, Whitney, muler Hereford. Acres, 7,792. Real property, 24,182. Pop., 517. Houses, 104. The living is a vicance, united with the rectory of Michael church, in the discess of Hereford. Yahng, 2350, 8. Patrop, the Bishop of Worlester. A school has £50 from cudowment; and of Wolfester. A school has 2.0 from chelowment; and other charities £6.—The sub-district contains seven parishes. Acres, 15,515. Pop., 2,637. Houses, 509.

BRIMFIELD, a village and a parish in the district of Tenbury and county of Hereford. The village stands near the river Teme and the Leoninster canal, 13 mile E of Wooferton r. station and 5 S by E of Ludlow; and has a post-office under Ludlow .- The parish includes also the hamlet of Wyson. Acres, 1,842. Real property, 23,681. Pop., 665. Houses, 131. The property is much sublivibled. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £160.* Patron, the Bishop of Hereford. The church is a plain good edifice, with of Referent. The current is a parmy good edition, with at modern fower; and there is a dissenting chapel. BEIMHAM, a hamlet in Hartwith-with-Winsley Brindham Rocks are a group of shattered crass, of remaintic character and antiquatian interest. Two of the rocks, called the Cannons, are perforated; another, cylich the Rock Idel, is supposed to have been Druidical; and several others are great rocking-stones; two of them comsoveral others are great rooting-scores; two of them com-puted to weigh 100 tons each, and moveable by hand. BRIMINGTON, a chapelry or parish, with a village of its own name, in Chesterfield district, Derby; near the Chesterfield canal and the North Midland railway, 2 miles NE of Chesterfield. The village is modern and well-built, and has a post-office under Chesterfield. Real properly in the purish, 23,778. Pop., 1,808. Houses, 270. The property is divided among a few. Erimington Hall is a thir residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, 2300. Patron, the Vicar of Chesterfield. The church was built in 1808, and rebuilt, all except the tower, in 1817. There are three Methodist chapels, a mechanics' institute, a na-

ERIMPSFIELD, a parish in Circucester district, Gloucester; on Ermine-street, 64 miles S of Cheltenham r station. It includes the handets of Birdlip and Candlestation. It includes the nanners of Acres, 2,611, Green; and has a post-office under Stroud. Acres, 2,611, 12,020 Pun 1,201, Houses, 276. Breal property, £3,232. Pop., 1,261. Houses, 276.
The property is divided among a few. A castle belonging to the Giffards stood here, and was destroy 4 by Edward 11. A Benedictine priory also was late, a cell to Fontensy abbey in Normandy; and was given by Hemy VI. to Eton college. The living is a restory, unifed with Cardham, in the discuss of G. and Bristol. Value, 210.* Petron, J. Goodrich, Esp. The church is very good. There are a Eq.(4) thapel and a national school.

BRIMPTON, a parish in Newbury district, Berks; on BHIMPTON, a parish in Newbary district, Berris; on the rivers Finderne and Kentot, 1, 1 mile SW of Worl-hempton r. station, and 6 ESR of Newbary. It has a post-office under Reading. Acres, 1,692. Real pro-tery, 23,799. Pop., 462. Houses, 101. The property i, divided among a few. A preceptory of the Knights Templar, sufferented of the Knights I beyind less, was have. The Bring is a vicarage in the disorce of Oxford. Value 253 b Fatron, the Ery, G. R. Caffin, The church Value, £351. \ Patron, the Rev. G. B. Caffan. The church is good; and there are charities £81.

BRIMPTON, a parish in Yeavil district, Somewet: BREATTON, a parish in Yoovil dist; ct, Somerset; adjacent to the Yoovil and Eveter railway, 2 miles W by S of Yeovil. It includes the hamlets of Alvington red Houndstone; and its post-town is Yoovil. Acres, 465, Real property, with Hostcombe, 23,014. Pop., 135. Houses, 24. The property is much subdivided. The manor once belonged to the Sydenhams; and Brimpton House now belongs to the Eurl of Westmoreland. The British is a vectory in the discover of 12th and Wells. living is a rectory in the diocese of Path and Wells. Value, £170.* Patron, Mrs. E. Morris. The church is good.

BRIMSCOMBE, a hamlet in Minchinhampton parish and a chapelry in Minchinhampton and Rodborough pa-Thanes and Severn canal, and to the Great Western Union railway, 3 miles ESE of Stroud; and has a station on the railway, a post-office under Strond, and a hotel. The chapelry includes Chalford and other hamlets; and was constituted in 1840. Rated property, £4,869. 1,430. Houses, 322. The property state subdivided. The living is a vicerage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £300.* Patron, D. Ricardo, Esq. The church was built in 1839. There are two Methodist chapels and a national school.

chappels and a national section.

BRIMSLADE. See Saveenare (South).

BRIMSTAGE, a township in Bromberrow parish, Cheshing; 2 miles W of Spital r. station, and 4 NE of Great Nesten. Acres, 1,012. Real property, £1,422. Pop., 185. Houses, 31.
BRIMSTONE, a village in Hays-Castle parish, Pembroke; 64 miles N of Hayerfordwest.

BRIMSTREE, a hundred in Salon. It adjoins Staf-DRIMSTIGET, a findred in Salop. It adjoins Staff-fordshire; and is cut into the three divisions of Bridg-north, Burford, and Shiffnal. Acres, 62,354. Pop., 13,125. Houses, 2,646. BRINCAMSHR, a township in Berriew perish, Mont-gonacyshire; 31 miles NW of Montgomery. Pop., 50. BRINCAMSHR, a bownship in Berriew perish, Mont-gonacyshire; 31 miles NW of Montgomery. Pop., 50.

gonacysmic; 34 mints NW of Montgomery. Pop., 90.
BRINCHIL. See BRYNUCHEL.
BRINCHILE See BRYNUCHEL.
BRINCHIPFE-EDGE, a haralet in Ecclesall-Bierdow town-ship, W. B. Vortskine; 44 miles SW of Sheffield.
BRIND, a hamlet in Wressell parish, E. R. Yockshine; on the Selby and Hall railway, 2 miles NXW of Howden.
BRINDLE, a parish and a sub-district in Chorley disvisit. Lavachine.

trict, Lancashire. The parish lies on the Leeds and Liverpool canal, and on the Preston and Blackburn rail-Exterpool cana, and of the Freston and Plackburn entry way, near Bamber-Bridge station, 5 miles N by E of Chorley; and has a post-office under Cherley. Acres, 2,935. Real property, £6,401. Pop., 501. Houses, 2,555. The manor belongs to Lord Chesham. There are a cotton factory, print-works, chemical-works, brick-reals, and the state of the chemical-works, brickworks, and quarries. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Manchester. Value, 2515.* Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. The church is good; and there are a chapel at B.-Heath, built in 1861, a Roman Catholic chapel, a large boarding-school, a workhouse, and charities £31.—The sub-district includes also part of Leyland parish. Acres 10,388. Pop. 6,021. Houses, 1,112. BRINDLEY, a township in Acton parish, Cheshire; 4\text{ mise SWW of Nantwich. Acres, 1,090. Real property, 21,774. Pop. 227. Houses, 41.

BRINDLEY-FORD, a locality, with recently creeted ironworks, on the north border of Staffordshire; in the Biddulph-valley, 4 miles N of Burslein. A chapel was erected here in 1861, in plain Gothic style, with about 300 sittings.

BRINDLEYS, an extra-parochial trust in Howlen district, E. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles N of Hondon.
ERINGHURST, a township and a parish in the district of Uppingham and county of Leicester. The township lies on the river Welland, for a mile SW of Great Lasten and 2 W of Wellindsham is spirition. Pure 1109 ton, and 2 W of Hockingham r. station. Pop., 109. Houses, 25. The parish contains also the townships of Drayton and Creat Laston; the latter of which has a post-Drayton article at Laston; the latter of the hats a post-olico under Uppingham. Acres, 5, 550. Real property, 27,504. Pop., 825. Houses, 189. The living is a vio-range united with the p. urray of Great Feston, in the diones of Peterborough Value, 224. Patrons, the Dean and Chepter of P. Both E. church and G. E. church are good; and there are three dissenting chapels.

BRINGTON, or BRICKBEN, a parish in the district of FRIATION, OF IMBRIDES, a pairs in the district of Thrapston and country of Huntingclon; on as affinent of the river Oc. c. 6 mile. N by W of Kimbel. a, and 6; ESE of Theyston, station. Post-town, Convently, an-der Thrapston. Acres, 1,100. Real property, £1,200. Pop., 191. Houses, 44. The property is much subdivided. The living it a rectory, united with the p. cu-divided. The living r: a rectory, united with the p. cir-racies of Bythorn and Old Weston, in the diocess of Ely. Value, £192.* Patron, Clare College, Cambridge. BRINGTON, or Barron, two villages and a parish in Brixworth district, Northampton. The villages are Great Brington and Little Brington; and the former stands I mile N of the latter, in the western vicinity of Althorp Tark, 4 miles NNE of Weedon r. station, and 7 NW of Northernoles and Little Brington. of Northampton, and has a post-office under Northampton. The parish includes also the hamlet of Nobottle, Acres, 3,761. Real property, 26,452. Pop., 809. Houses, 176. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £134. Patron, Farl Spencer. The church contains some fine monuments of the Spencer family; has a fine set of open benches of the 15th century; and is good. There are lapitst and Wesleyen chapels, an endowed school, and a poors' estate £225 ayear. Archbishop Chicheley was rector.

Series Alemonson Calenders was rector.

BRINHIYFEDD, a towar-hip in Ulaubadarn-fawr parish, Radmorshire; 9 miles WNW of Radmor. Pop., 254, BRININGHAM, a parish in Walsingham district, Norfolk; 4 miles SW of Holt, and 7 ESL of Walsingham Noticis: 4 muses 8W of Holt, and 7 18% of Walsingham, r. station. It has a post-office under Thetford. Acres, 1,041. Heal property, 22,443. Pop., 266. Houses, 51. The property is subdivided. The living is a vice-rage in the diocess of Norwich. Value, not reported. Patron, the Rev. S. Brereton. The church is tolerable. BRINKBULN, a parcolaid chapetry, consisting of the townships of B. Southeside, B. Highward, and B. Loward. in Exchlure divided Northernships of the Statistical Northernships o ward, in Bothbury district, Northumberland: on the river Coquet, 41 miles SE by E of Rothbury, and 7 WSW river Coquet, 4; miles SUDy E of Rothbury, and 7 WSW of Aekhington, station. Post-town, Long Frandington, under Morpeth. Acres, 5,378. Real preperty, 22,151, of which 2500 are in iron-works. Pop., 220. Houser, 43. The mnor belonged to a pricery of Black canons, founded here, in the time of Henry 1, by W. de Bertam, Lord of Mifferd, was given, at the dissolution of monasteries, to the Earl of Warwick; and passed to the Cadegons. Ruins of the priory, including most of the walls of the chunch, still exist. The clurch is transitional Narman considerar with Lore surgest town as wans of the church, still exist. The church is transi-tional-Norman; cruciform, with low square tower; nar-row, plau, and gloomy; an interesting relic of the ago in which it was built. A branch of Watling-street intersected the chapelry; and traces of a Roman station and bridge can still be seen. Some persons suppose Brink-burn to be the Brunanburch where Athelytane, in 938, defeated the Danes. Coal and lime abound.

BRINKELY. See Build.

BRINKELY, See Brill.
BRINKIBID, a perish in Spilsby district, Lincoln;
3 miles WSW of Alford r. station, and 5½ NNW of Spilsby. Post-town, Ulcoln, Acres, 789. Real property, £1,333. Pop., 175. Houses, 37. The living is a rectory in the discusse of Lincoln. Value, £137. Pation [5,1] Changle. This about his work and for the real retron, Col. Cracroft. The church is good; and there are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities 23.

Bill N.K.LEY, a parish in Newmarket district, Cambridge 3 miles F of Six-Mile-Bottom r. station, and 54. bridge; 3 miles E of Six-Mile-Bottom r. station, and 52 S by W of Newmarket. It has a post-office moler Newmarket. Acres, 1,500. Real property, e2,257. Pop., 347. Houses, 66. The property is divided among a few. Berinkley Hall is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the dioces of Hy. Value, 2241. Patron, St. John's College, Cambridge. The church is old but good. There is an endowed school with 655 acyen.

BINNKLOW, willings and a perish in Engly district, Warwick. The willings atom to most way and the Oxford cand. 14 mile SW of Stretton r. station, and 54

Oxford cand, 11 mile SW of Stretton r. station, and 51 NW of Kuthy. It has a post-office, under Coventry; is a seat of petry sessions; and we formerly a market-town. a sear or perty so somes; an 1 w s to dearly a managerown. The parish comprise, 1, 110 acrost. Real property is may have divided. The manor belonged ancitally to the Mowdivided. brays, and had a castle of theirs; but passed to the cosys, and mar a cistic of theirs; but passed to the Statewilles and the Segraves. Traces of a Roman comp-exist; and some Roman relies have been found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Wordester. Value, £225. Patron, the Lord Charcellor. The church is uniously early and decorated Figlish; was restored in 1862; and comprises maye, aisles, and chancel, with a tower. There are chapels for 1. pendents and Primitive Metholists. A school has :17 from endowment; and other charities have £31. The family of Rous, the antiquary, were residents.

BRINKWORTH, a village and a praish in Malmosbury district, Wilts. The village stands on a head-stream of the Avon, 31 miles WNW of Wootton-Passet r. station, and 5! ESE of Malmesbury; and it has a post-£308.* Patren, Pembroke College, Oxford. The church is early English, with a square tower; and there are an Independent chapel, and charities #26. Crisp, the antinomian, was rector, BRINNINGHAM. See BRININGHAM.

BRINNINGTON, a township in Slockport parish, Ch. birg adjac at to the Pade Forest canal, 2 unless NE of S. Spott. Acres, 783. Bud property, 218,101. For, 5,309. House, 1,139. Many of the inhabitants are suddered in I bries.

BRINNIONIES, a hander in Wears parish, Somersed.

BRINSLEY, or Barksley, a handet and a chapelry in Greadey parish, Notes, The handle lies on the river Drewich, 15 Nottinglem could, and the Midland railway, near High-Lurk, 7 rails SE by S of Alireton; and has a postedling of the name of Limble, under Alfreton. Pop., 1,130; closely stocking makers and colliers Pop., [15-9] the my stoking maters and reduct. A chapel's till over recently was an ext to the visuage of the st ye, but is new a separate 1 notice. The living is a vicating in the discess of Lincoln. Value, £133. Patron, the Date of Newyestly. The church was built The are two Wesleyan chapels BRUNSOP, . parish in Woobly district, Herefordshire; on Warlegestreet, et don an affluent of the river Wye, 2 miles N of Croder, ill r. station, and 5½ NW of Rerotord Protetown, Eashopstone, under Heroford. Acres, 1993 Todatown, Isomopreme, under Dericht. ACCS, 1993. Real property, 24,1992. Pop., 115. Houses, 22. The property is divided among a few. The living 15 a vicus 2 in the discress of Rereford. Value, 2268. Patron, the lishop of Hereford. The church is old but good; and continus two monuments of the Danseys.

good; and cosmop to determin. The cuttle is ofted our good; and cosmop to determine the of the Danseys.

BRINSWOGETH, a township in Rotherham parish, W. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the North Midhad railway, 2 mins SW by 8 of Rotherham. Acres, 1,650.

Red property, 24,407. Pop. 777. House, 150.

BRINSWOGETH, a high in Engingland detrict, Norfolk; 24 n. 28 s SW by W of Holt, and 52. E by 8 of Walsingsham, et dish. It has a post-officer under Thetford, Acres, 125. Red property, 24,545. Pop. 177. House, 17. The property of Graded among a few. The living is a 12 deg, and well to the ractory of Thorne 25, in the disc on Norral h. The church is good.

If a SOL, a Feed t in L, the town bip and parish, N. R. Yorkshire, 32 holds. N.W. of Vilidly.

First ODE, a handet in C then at a township, Romeld Kild, parish. N. R. Vorkshur, 32 railes N.W. et Barnad. C.

C. 1977.

BETSCONE, C. Brint orders, a town hip in S. Cuthline partly, Candy chandred to river a Pett adl, risd on the Carl lie and Lance during heavy, family 88% of Carleshe, Act, 11994. Evan per p. 2000. Pept, first, 11988. Act, 11994. Beth per proximal formal burden, opposition Branch 11, and proposition Branch 11, and proposition Branch 12, Blassiff PlACNA. So Branch 1995 or proving Market DWIN. All and Bella additional or property, Glarcotten, on the site of Landaug 32 and 8 MNR of Carlot Checker. Pop., 1997.

Bella CRN, a 1 and time Landaug 42 and 8 MNR of Carlotten (and Section Branch 1995). Pop., 1997.

BRISLEY, a parish in Mitford district, Norfolk; 3 miles W by S of Elinham 1, station, and 5½ NNW of East Dereham. Poststown, East Bilney, under Swatham. Acres, 1,201. Real property, £2,760. Pop., 362. Houses, 86. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory, united with the vicarrage of Gately, in the discess of Norwich. Value, £456.* Patron, Christ's College, Cambridge. The church is good.

BRISLINGTON, a parish in Keynsham district, Somerset; on the river Avon and the Great Western railway, 21 miles SE of Bristol. It has a post-office under way, 22 miles St. of Dristot. It may a post-order themself bristol. Acres, 2,303. Real projects is divided among a few. Brislington House is a large and well-arranged limite asylum. Brislington tunnel, on the line of the railway, goes through the shale and sandstone of the coal-Landary, goes unrough the shale and spotstone of the con-me sures: is 3.148 fc. I long; and has four certilating shafts. The living is a vicatege in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £170. Patton, F. L. Pephang, Esp. The church is good; and was not be, ago enlarged. There are a national school and electrics £42. ERISONS on Strong 2000.

PRISONS, or Streas (Thr), two danger us rocks, between 60 and 70 feet in height, about a mile off Cape Cornwall, 42 miles N of Land's End, in Cornwall. The brig New Commercial was wrecked here, in a remarkable bug Acw Commercial was wreath rete, in a Trimination war, in January 1851 BRISSINGHAM. See Burssixonam.

BRISTOL, a city, with special jurisdiction, on the mutual border of tdgs, astr; and Som rect. It includes eighteen town patishes, and an extreperachial tract, forming the district of Bristol; the parishes of Cliton and St. Philip and St. Jacob-Cut, part of the patish of St. James and St. Paul-Out, and part of the tything of Stoke-Bishop, in the district of Chiton; and part of the parish of Beliainster, in the district of be bainster. It parish of B. huinster, in the district or recommendations the river Avon, at the hubs, of the Fronce, 6 miles in direct distance from the Avon's motth, 114 miles in direct distance from the Avon's motth, 114 miles in direct distance from the Avon's motth, 114 miles in direct distance from the Avon's motth, 114 miles in direct distance from the Avon's miles in the first direct distance from the Avon's miles in the first direct distance from the Avon's miles in the first direct distance from the Avon's miles in the first direct distance from the Avon's miles in the first direct distance from the Avon's motth. Avon has a right rise at it of nearly 30 fact; was partly diverted past it in a deep new cut in 1804-9, with fordiverted pair it. in a deep next that in 1702-1, within madion of a great I carried harbour; and gives it, for large sea-home, vessels, all the cheracters of a sequent. A mavigation likewise-lies up the river to the Kennet and Aven canal at Bath; an I railways so toward resp. dively Dyeter, London, Wides, and Gloncester.

13x:er, London, W.des, and Gomester.

History. Blisted is supposed to have been founded by linemas, the alleged '.rst king of the Britons; and was called by these people Carr-Olor, the "city of Odor," or polynes the "city of the Chasar," in allusion to a going through which the Avon flows at Clifton. It may also have been adopted and improved by the Romans; and is thought, by some antiquaries, to be the Roman Abona, on the Julian way. It is mentioned by a writer of the sixth century, and again by one of the seventh, as a feetified town; and is thought to have he is a meeting-place, in 603, of St. Augustine with the history of the primitive church; ruel it was known to the Saxons as brit staw or Brightslowe, signifying "the pleasant city." Harold set soil from it, in 1003, to incade Wales; and coins were struck of it 1s th in his reion and that of the Conqueror. A strong cost of then steed in it; and this was excellent 1005, and prod the inhead pointers, by the noise's under Obs. The capies Matida is ild seme time at Bristol during her contest for the crown some time at Bristol during her contest on the grown. Stepl, in was brought has one prisoner, and kept here, after his defeat and Primer Heavy, attendants Hany H., was placed at the Boder Her Primer Heavy, attendants Heny H., was placed been, defined bur y angles of steps and the right of the Libert Her Landine, the trappersist builder, and I the city, not to the caustle, found the abbey of St. Aromstic, and to the defendent of the MacManner of St. Aromstic, and to the defendent of the MacManner of the Hery of the Control of the Control of the Control of the Hery of the Control of the Hery of the Hery of the Hery of the Hery of the Architecture of the Linds President of the London of the Hery of the Architecture of the Linds President of the Linds of the Hery of the Architecture of the Linds of the Control of the Hery of the Architecture of the Linds of the Control of the Linds of the Linds of the Control of the Linds of the Linds of the Control of the Linds of the to Bristol, and gave the citizens a charter. The Earl of Kent, acting for Queen Isabella, in 1826, captured the city, and put its governor to death. Edward III, constituted it a county within itself, made it a centre of traffic for wool, and sent twenty-two ships from it to the siege of Calais. Henry, Duke of Laucaster, while acquiring the mastery against Richard II., as-ailed Bristol, captured the castle, and put its governor, the Larl of Wilts, and two of his knightly assistants to death. The citiand two or his kingnity assistants to death. The citizens, in the reign of flenty V, acted warraly in his cause. Henry VI, visited the city in 1446; his queen Margaret, in 1452; Edward VV, in 1461; and Henry VII. in 1457. Philord, the subject of Chatterton's "Bristowe Tragedy," was executed on occasion of Edward 1V.'s visit; and the citizens made a costly display of dress on cecasion of Henry VII. s visit, and were fined for it by the king. Schastian Cabot sailed from Bristol in 1497. in the remarkable voyage which took him to Labrador about a year before Columbus saw the American mainland. Henry VIII. made Dristol the seat of a bishopric; and gave his own sword to the mayor as a symbol of authority; and the sword is still preserved. Elizabeth visited the city in 1574; and she was received with great pomp, and lodged on St. Augustine's back. Four ships went from Bristol, in 1588, against the Armada. parliamentarians, in 1642, garrisoned the city, strengthened the castle, and erected batteries on Prior's and St. Michael's hills,-the last of which is still called "the Fort." Prince Rupert, next year, carried the place by storm : entering it through a breach near Berkeley-square. Charles I then visited it, and lodged in Small-street. Fairfax, in 1645, stormed Prior's Hill fort; compelled Rupert to surrender; and afterwards destroyed the castle. Charles II. visited the city in 1663; and Queen Anne, in 1702 and 1710. Elmund Burke sat for Bristol; and made here some of his grandest speeches. A riot, of three days' continuance, occurred in 1831, in resentinent of the recorder, Sir C. Wetherell, having voted against the Reform bill; involved a destruction of property to the value of about £70,000; and occasioned wounds or death to several hundred individuals.

Site, Streets, and Environs .- The site of Bristol is diversified in both form and elevation. Some of it consists of eminences, rising high above the level of the neighbouring streets; and much is a variety of slope, declining chiefly to the Avon. The city-proper, or ancient city, is on the right bank of the river, intersected by long and ramified reaches of the floating harbour; the Clifton suburb, itself almost a city, is on the same bank, further down, but almost conjoined with the city-proper by recent buildings; and the Bedminster suburb is the left bank, separated from the ancient city only by the river. Brandon Hill, between the ancient city and Clifton, rises to the height of 250 feet; is laid out as a public park; has two guns from Schastopol on its summit; and commands a fine view of Bristol and to the south. The ground to the north-west is naturally romantic; has been richly embellished by architecture and other acts; and includes brilliant scenes and charming walks; but will be noticed separately in our account of The country to the south, behind Bedminster, CLIFION. rises gradually, in a series of swells and eminences, till it attains, in Dandry Hill, at a distance of 4 miles, an elevation of about 700 feet. Interesting points to the north-west, on or near the river, are, on the left bank, Nightingale Valley, Ashton Court, and Leigh-Court, and on the right bank, Henbury cottages, Blaise Castle, Kingsweston Park, and Penpole Point. The ancient city shows more resemblance than perhaps any other place in Britain to some of the old towns of Belgium and Germany. Some of the streets here are very narrow; lanes, courts, and alleys are numerous; and many of the houses are curious ancient structures, with overlanging upper stories, numerous windows, and front galbas; but these interesting relies are fast disappearing under modern improvements. The central point is at the intersection of High-street from the south-east, Broad-street from the north-west, Corn-street from the south-west, and Wine-treet from the north-east; and one of the most striking of the picturesque old thoroughlares is Mary-pert-street, opening into High-street. The more modern parts of the city, on all sides of the ancient one, contain spacious streets, many of them well aligned; and some parts are distinguished by elegant houses.

Public Buildings.—The eastle stood on the isthmus between the Avon and the Frome, commanding the entrance to the town from the cast; occupied about an acro of ground; and is commemorated in the name of Castlestreet, now partly on its site; but has left scarcely a vestige except a crypt, which was converted into a forge. Two of the city gateways, and part of the walls of the 17th century, are still standing; and one of the gateways, adjoining St. John's church, has two ancient statues, said to be those of Brennus, the supposed founder of the city, and his brother Belinus. The ancient High cross had figures of eight kings, with other decorations, and is now at Stourhead; and a partial restoration of it, cletced in 1851, is now to be seen at the cuttance of College-green. Colston's house, in Small-street, where Charles I, lodged, has a hall in perpendicular architecture, with a fine timber roof. Canynge's house, once the masonic hall, in Redeliffe-street, has also a perpendicular hall, and rich, light, wooden roof. Hed-lodge, near Park-street, long occupied by the learned br. Pritchard, is a curious old edifice with interior porch, carved staircase, and elegant ceilings. The Bishop's palace, adjoining the cloisters of the cathedral, was burnt in the riots of 1831; and some remains of it are yet The Bishop's standing. The college gate, a little west of the eathedral, compaises an elaborate Norman archway and a fine perpendicular superstructure, in excellent preservation; and is probably part of the original edifice of Fitzhardinge's abbey. Ancient crypts under the houses in Highstreet forming the store-houses of the merchants in the middle ages; the Back hall, built in the 15th century; Bartholomew's gateway, in Christmas-street; and the perpendicular door of the Guard-house, also are intereststructures.

The Guild-hall, in Broad-street, was originally built in the time and style of Richard II.; was rebuilt, in 1813, in the same style; is 117 feet long and 45 and 73 feet high; has statues of Edward III., Queen Victoria, and others, between the windows; and contains apartments for the several law-courts. Colston's Hall was inaugurated in 1867; cost till then about £25,000, and would cost about £15,000 more for completion; and includes a very splendid music hall, with accommodation for about 3,000 persons. The Council-house, in Corn-street, was built in 1827, at a cost of upwards of £14,000; and is a chiste pedimented structure. The Exchange, also in Corn-street, was built in 1781, at a cost of £50,000; is an edifice of the Corinthian order, 100 feet long and 148 feet wide; includes a peristyle, capable of containing 1,440 persons; and is used chiefly by the corn merchants. The commercial rooms, in the same street, nearly opposite the Exchange, were built in 1911; are surmounted by statues representing Bristol, Commerce, and Navigation; serve as the general exchange; and contain a read-The Custom-house, in Queen-square, was ing-room. burnt in the riots of 1831, but re-creeted on the same site; and is a neat and appropriate structure. The Excise office was burnt at the same time; and has been succeeded by a new Inland Revenue office. The Postoffice a ljoins the Exchange; and has receiving-offices; in North-street, West-street, Redeliffe, Redland, Hotwells, and Clifton.

The Railway-station occupies an eminence, rising from Temple-mends, adjacent to the Avon; serves for at once the Great Western, the Exeter, and the Gloucester railways; and is a handsome structure in the Tudor style. A proposal was raised unsuccessfully in 1861 to extend A proposal was raised masuces billy in 1801 to extend the railway lines to the centre of the city; and it was received in 1801 with every prospect of success. The Bank of Ingland's office, adjoining the Guild-hall, is modern clinice, adorned with lonic columns. The West of England and South Wales bank, built in 1858, is on the model of the Library of St. Mark in Venice; the lower story Poric, with five-arched arcade and emblo-rectic descriptions; the upper story loads, with ornate rapitule and ten emble early female figures; the entabli-ture a larged with a righly-sculptured frieze. The Nat. mal Provincial bank, in Corn-street, was founded in 1861, on a design to be an ornamental edifice, with sculp-1304, on a design to be an ornamental either, with soulp-trail with. The Poylo Insurance other, in the same street, was found in the same year, and is in the Corin-tium style. The City Hold, in Browl-street, was built in 1804, and measures 110 feet by 130 feet. The jull was built in 1809; partially buint in the riots of 1831, after-tion of the street of the street of the street of the street. wards rebuilt; and his capacity for 165 male and 42 female paisoners. The bridewell was entirely destroyed in the field, and afterwards rebuilt, in larger and better form, on the same site; and has capacity for 56 male and Form, on the same sate; and has capacity for 30 male and 29 firride prison as. A some bridge of three arches, the cuttre one clipated, with a span of 55 feet, connects the cuttre part of the city with Redelffe; and, in terms of a reliation taken in 1801, was widened and much altered. An iron swired bridge, opened in 1827, connects the analogical particle of the Stephen and St. Augustine, and leads to Clifton; and two iron bridges, each with and arch of 160 feet in span, connect the city with Le limitation. The elegant suspension bridge formerly De admisser. The designs assignment bringer between over the Thames at Hangerford-market in London, and created there in 1845 by Brunel et a cost of £110,000, was recreal to Ciffon in 1862. A bronze equestrian statue of William III., by Rysbrach, at a cost of £1,800, is in Chaccatte of Q : en sequence. A large market-place is behind the Explange; another, of less extent, is in Unle street; and another is in Nicholas-street. The the affects and another is in Audiolassitect. The Flar mans, the Venturess, and the Cooper's hulls, are fine six the S. The theatre, in Kingsstreet, was creeked in 17% in Alliest see, that and commodious. A new theatre was both in 1997, is convenient and degrant, and has a staffed 1750 persons. The Assembly-room, in Princes-street, has be authian decorations, and is spactous. The Vilitain parties, near the head of Park-street, have a Corlathian parties; are intended for public assemblies

Consistent a pricely are intended for pathic assemblines and mentals of all kinds; and include a grand hall 117 det long, 35; to wide, and 47 feet high.

Estimated Africa — The see of Bristol was erected in 1542, and and we with property from the dissolved measurables. Its territory was taken from the discover of Substagrand Westerburg and the hall pricely from the discovery and the first ry and included Bristol, great part of Divised, and part of Glouce tershire. Thut Bushe, provine d of the Bons-Hommer, was the first bishop; and Trelawary, Bonter, Batter, Secker, Concelheare, Newton, and Aher unineath men followed. The see was united, in 1856, to that of Glomester; and the two now form one discuss, under the name of Gloucester and Bristol. The chapter of each remains distinct; and that of Br.st d comprises a dean, an archdeacon, a chancellor, four can as, thateen honorary canons, and three minor four cannas, an oen novolary canons, and three minor canons. The income of the archden in is £200; and that of each of the infloor canons, £150. The divisions and livings of Bristol archdensomy will be noticed in the acti le CLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL.

atti for COUCESTER AND DRISTOR.

The brings within Prist I district are the rectories of Clei to have have the St. Ewen's, St. John Baptist with St. Ewen's, St. John Baptist with St. isweet, St. Maryele-Port, St. Michael, St. Peter, St. Stephen, and St. Werlee ght the vicanares of St. Albardine, St. Maryele blair, All Saints, St. George Bran, In Hall, St. Nicholas with St. Leonard, St. Pidlip and St. Jacob, St. Thomas, Temple, St. Andrew-Montpolar, St. Barrelass, St. Chement, St. James, St. Lude, St. Patal, St. St. Dement, St. James, St. Jude, St. Lude, St. Patal, St. Simon, Trinity, Emmonnel, St. Bartelass, St. Bartelass, St. Chement, St. James, St. Jude, St. Lude, St. Patal, St. Simon, Trinity, Lumnounel, St. Bartelass, St. St. Matthivity and the p. carneles of St. Matth vanil St. Simon, Thinty, and the p. carneles of St. Matthivity, and the p. carneles of St. Matthivity, and St. Matthivity, The hvings within Prist of district are the rectories of See to other, where it is a constant, 2003; of St. Phillip at 187, Ja. 197, Temple, 2103; of St. Chemest, 2004; of St. James, 685; J. of Et to, 87, Met., and St. Silas not reported; of St. Paul, 2007; of St. Paulholomew, 2103;

Patron of Christ-Chu, I, the Bey, James Robertson; of St. John Baptist, St. Mary-le-Port, St. Michael, St. Pe-ter, St. Philip and St. Jacob, Temple, St. Clement, St. and St. Andrew, the Essiop of Georgesia and Orace, St. Jude, St. Simon, and St. Matthias, alternately the Crown and the Bishop; of St. Luke, the vicar of St. Philip and St. Jacob. The livings within the city but ning and of Jacob. The fivings within the city but not within the district will be found noticed in the articles Bedantsten, Chipton, Philip and Jacob Out (Sts.), and James and Paul Out (Sts.).

The places of worship within the city, in 1864, wero the cathedral, 22 parish churches, 25 other places of worship belonging to the Established church, 1 of Presbyterians, 13 of Independents, 9 of Baptists, 4 of Brethren, 1 of Moravians or United Brethren, 1 of Friends, 1 of Welsh Calvinistic Methodists, 1 of the New Christian church or Swedenborgians, 9 of Weslevan Methodists, 9 of the Methodist Free church, 2 of Bible Christians, 1 of the Methodist New Connexion, 3 of Primitive Methodists, 2 of Unitarians, 6 of Roman Catholics, 1 of Jews, the Seamen's floating chapel, and 11 places of the Bristol

City Mission. There were also 4 convents.

The Cathedral stands on the south side of College-The Cathedral stands on the south side of College-geen; and was the church of the Augustinian abbey, founded by Robert Fitch urdinge. The nave was taken down in the 18th century, and measured 118 feet in length and 70 feet in breadth; but a new nave, 117 feet by 80, with ornate W front, and with two towers 120 feet high, was being built in 1868-9. The pile, besides the nave, consists of an aisled, four-buyed choir, 175 feet long, 73 feet wide, and 43 feet high; a transport, 128 feet long and 43 feet high; an ambulatory and Lady-chand coarsing into the choirs, and a countril wanter. chapel, opening into the choir; and a central, two-story, primaced tower, 133 feet high. It was built mostly in the former half of the 14th century; is chiefly late and the decorated English, passing into perpendicular; and underwent extensive restoration in 1560 and 1561. It abounds in monuments, both ancient and modern; many of the ancient ones with stellated Spanish canopies, and many of the modern ones highly interesting, either in themselves or for their associations. The chief are those themselves or for their associations. The chief are those of Abbot Lawid, 1234; Thomas Lord Berkeley, 1243; Maurice Lord Berkeley, 1281; Thomas Lord Berkeley, 1321; Abbot Knowle, 1322; Maurice, Lord Berkeley, 1321; Abbot Kwidhad, 1515; Abbot Gwilym, 1557; Bishop Bushe, 1555; Sir Henry N. wton and his lady, 1599; Sir John Young, 1693; Sir R. Codrington, 1618; Sir C. Vanghan, 1639; Sir John Newton, 1606; Sir R. N. Cadock, the judge, who, however, with his lady, was paried in Vatton chunch. Mrs. Masan with cultural law buried in Yatton church; Mrs. Mison, with epitaph by her husband and Gray; Mrs. Draper, Sterne's Eliza, by Bacon; Powell, the tragedim, with epitaph by Coleman; Bishop Butler, with epitaph by Southey; Dr. Foster, editor of the Hebrew Bible; Catherine Vernon, by bacuttor of the Hebrew Rithe; Catherine Verilon, Oy becom; Emina Crawfud, by Chaitrey; Mrs. Middleton, by Baily; Elizabeth Stanbope, by Westmacet; Maris Elwyn, by Chaitrey; and Robert Southey, by Eaily. The chapter-home has a Norman vestil ale; is a leantiful vanied, groined, late Norman apartment, 43 feet long, 25 feet wide, and 26 feet high; and way, not long ago, tastefully renovated and improve L.

The church of St. Mary-Redeliffs crowns a knoll of red sandstone a short distance west of the railway station; t kes the name of Redebile from it's site; and is a far finer edities than the Cathedral, one of the grandest parish churches in England, "the pride of Bristowe and the Western Lude." The date of its foundation is contro-Western Finds.—The case of its removation is conserverted. It has, since 1504, in. ber the direction of George Godwin, becau undergoing restrictions which are estimated to a set $40,000.—It is English of all periods, with man to the expense of the most grand and deficate description; consists of new, transpt, and choir, all aided, south porch, priest's home, and leady-chapel; and has a rich western tower, with the stump of a spire which was noter finished. The nave is 128 feet long, 52 wide, and 54 | Ligh; the choir, 60 feet long, 52 wide, and 53 high; the transept, 1174 feet long, and 47 wide; the Lady-chapel, 38 feet long and 23 wide; and the tower, 200 feet high. A muniment room, above the north engrance, contains fragments of the coffer in which Chatterton pretended to find the Rowley manuscripts. The church contains effigies of William Canyuge, John Lamington, and John Jay; canopied monuments of the brothers Mede of the 15th century; altar-tombs of Robert Lord Berkeley and Sir John Duyns; and the armour of Admiral Sir William Penn, faciler of the founder of Pennsylvania.

073

Christ-Church occupies the site of a previous church dating from 1003; and is a modern Greeian structure. with handsome tower and spire. The church of St. John the Baptist is in a line with the city wall; was hull, traditionally, in 1297, by Walter Frampton; and contains efficies of its founder, an altar-tomb of a Bristol merchant of Henry VII.'s reign, and a well-preserved ancient hour-glass. The church of St. Mary-le-Post is perpendicular English. St. Peter's church was built in 1130, has been much altered, and contains a brass of 1461; and its churchyard contains the remains of the poet Savage, who was sent to the city prison for debt after writing his "London and Bristol delineated," and died there in 1743. St. Stephen's church was built, in 1472, by John Shipward; is perpendicular English, with an clegant square tower, 133 feet high; has a richly ornate porch; contains a recessed canopied tomb and two fine effigies; and has a chantry, founded by Edward Blanket, who invented the article of bed-farniture which bears his name. St. Werburgh's church was rebuilt in 1761; has a tower of 1385; is in the later English style; and contains a brass of 1546, and a monument of Robert Thorne, the founder of the grammar-school. All Saints elimeh is an ancient strincture in Norman and perpendi-cular English; has a tower of 1716; and contains a mom-ment, by Rysbrach, of Edward Colston, a merchant of the city, who spent about £70,000 in local benefactions. St. Nicholas church is a modern edifice with tower and spire; but has a crypt of 1503, with a stone coffin of 1311. The church of St. Philip and St. Jacob is in a mixed style, in both body and tower; but presents carious features, interesting to an architect; was recently repaired; and contains an ancient figure erroncously ascribed to the eldest son of the Conqueror, and a Norman font. Temple church belonged originally to the Knights Templars; presents a mixture of Norman and early English; has a tower 114 feet high, leaning 27 feet out of the perpendicular; and contains two brasses of 1395. St Thomas church, excepting the tower, was rebuilt in 1703. St. Silas' church and the Penitentiary church were built in Silas church and the remembray charter were outed in 1867, at a cost of £5,000 and £2,200.

St. Ambrew's church, Montpeller, was built in 1845; and is in the style of the 13th century. St. James' church was originally the church of a Benedictine priory, founded by Robert, Earl of Glowester, son of Henry I.; was made parochial in 1347: is a very curious specimen of Norman, with a tower added in 1374; was recently restored; and contains an ancient monument, said to be that of its founder. St. Bartholomew's church, in Unionstreet, was built in 1861; and is a structure of Pennant stone, with freestone dressings, in the early decorated Emmanuel church, near the goods station of the Style. Immanuel thatten, near ting governments station of the Great Western railway, was built in 1863, at a cost of .63,190; and is an elifice in plain early decorated English. St. Paul's church, Portland-quare, is a consulenous edifice; and contains a monument to Col. Vassal. The Mayor's chapel, St. Mark's church, or the chapel of the Gaunts, was founded in 1230 in connexion Gaunts' hospital of Bon-Hommes; has a tower of 1487; was at one time collegiate, but became the chapel of the Mayor; is a gem of pointed architesture, -the reredos perpendicular, the rest early English or decorated; and perpendicular, the rest carry Luginsia of accounting foat very fine sedilia, and monuments of Sir Maurico de Caunt, Sir Henry de Gaunt, Sir Robert de Gommant, Sir Maurice Berkeley, Dishop Salley of Llandaff, John Carr, and Sir J. K. Haberfield. The Poyntz chapel, a small chantry, now used as a vestry, adjacent 1 to the Blaver's Chapel, is tich papendicular English; has a fan-tracery root, with some Spanish encaustic en-amelled tiles of the age of Charles V.; and contains tho remains of Captair Bedloe, the associate of Titus Oates in the Rychol. se plot. An edifice in Merchant-street. once a Domini an priory, now used as a day school, includes the ancient dormitory, 86 feet by 23, with a nof of the 14th century, and the lesser hall, 49 feet by 24]. Several of the distanting places of worship are handsome ellifiers; and one of the latest, a Brethren's chapel, on the Batch, containing about 1,000 sittings, was founded and completed in the short space of three months in 1561. An act of porliament for an ultra-mural general 1991. An act of pernament for an intermining section connectery was present in 1887; and the area of all the churchwards of the city, at that time, including the sites of the churches, was only 14 acres. The new counterry, of the churches, was only 11 acres. The new cemetery, on the Eristol re d, was opened in the beginning of 1856 and was enlarged in 1862; is highly ornamental; and and was charged in 1902; is figure ornamenta; and has two functal craciform chapels, with belt turret about 100 feet high, to the Episoopal chapel. Education.—The ro were, in 1851, within the city, 77

Lausenton.—In the were, in 1881, within the city, it public schools, with 11,881 schools; 269 private day schools, with 6,345 s.; and 91 Sunday schools were supported by endowments, 45 by religious badies, and 19 by subscription. Five of the endowed ones were collegions. ate and grammar schools; 8 of the next class were National. & British, and 5 Roman Catholie; and 5 of the subscription class were ragged schools, 2 orphau schools, 1 for the blind, and 1 for the deaf and dumb. The city grammar school was founded, in 1532, by Bobert Thorney has been removed and in 1532, by Robert Thorney has been removed an immanagement, under authority of the Court the Court of Chancery; possesses five exhibitions and two scholarships at Oxford; and is attended by about 309 pupils. Heavy VIII,'s college grammar school is near the Cathedral. Colston's hospital, for the education and maintenance of 120 boys, was founded in 1708; has an income of upwards of £2,500; had Chatterton as a scholar for seven years; and is now located in the quenchan episcopal palace at Stapleton. Colaton's free quemain episcopai panace al staphenon. Consums nec schools, in Temple parish and in File-street, each for 40 boys, were found 1 at the same time as the hospital. Queen Elizabeth's or Carr's hospital was founded in 15%; for the elucation of poor loys after the manner of Christ's hospital in London; has an income of £6,000; and is an edifice in the eastellated Tuder style, 400 feet long, at Brandon Hill, rebuilt in 1817, by Fosters. Red Maids' school, for educating, maintaining, and clothing 44 girls, was founded in 1627 by Alderman Whiston; has now an inceme of about £600, and now admits 120 and now are not accorded to accorded to the control of the Tullor style, with a tower, erected in 1837. The Bristof Fine Arts' Academy, in Queen's road, was built by sub-

The arts reason, in queen sensor, was once of some scription in 1857; is in the Italian style; and contains sta-tues of Flavman and Reynolds. The Prectical School of Art, held in the same building, is attended by upwards of 2,000 pupils. The Esptist college, at Stoke's Croft, for training young men for the ministry, was founded in 1770, has some income from endowment, is associated with the memory of Hall and Foster and other distinguished men, and contains a collection of heathen idols, the only complete copy in existence of Tyr lale's New Testament published in 1525, and an original miniature portrait of Oliver Cromwell. Science and Liberature.-The British Association and the Royal Agricultural Society have visited Bristol. The Philosophical and Scientific institute, in Park-street, was opened in 1823; is a handsome Corinthian editice, with circular portico, en del by Cockerell, at a cost of £11,000; and contains a theatre for lectures, a library, and an excellent museum. The Athenseum, in Cornestiect, was erected in 1854; has a library of 7,000 volumes; and contains a locture-hall, reading-rooms, refreshment-rooms, and other spacious apartments. The City library, in Kingstreet, was founded in 1613; is a handsome building, with emblematic figures in front; and has about 8,000 volumes. The Bristel Library Society, founded in 1772, and possessing some 10,000 volumes, is now located in a portion of the late Bishop's College, Queen's-road

The reason also a law library and a medical library. the next he reighbourhood likewise contain some Leaves long s lead the server lon.

The General Hospital, at the side of Pethyst. San, was erected in 1858, after a design by Charling a cost of about 215,000; has a varietonic be ment or ling its income; includes tower day-rooms. f. - convainsents, and colonnades for excreise; and con-1. convalsed in the coloniades for exterior; and con-ingly and the colonial for 170 patients. The Royal infir-tory in Market eighstreet, was built in 1785; is a contact with a commodition for 200 patients; at 1 is superior by subscription. Muller's orphan 2/100 pat Ashley Down, which provides for and edu-cinal 1.150 crystals, was exceed at internals from 1885 a ... of cromain, was eracted at intervals from 1895 to 1895, or an array do cost of 225,000. The orphical cost of a shey Hill, has about to ... may was instituted in 1795, and is supported by a lastificial. White's Temple Lospital has an income s has not the white's temple hospital has an income of $1,102; Tribity hospital, $1,500; Stephens' almshouses, $631; to ston's almshouses, $345; Fosters' almshouses, $600; and there are a seamon's hospital, t vo dest susaries, an eye influency, and a number of other benevolent institutions. The endowe! charities are esti-: tatel at 223,000 c-year; and the subscription charities,

Trade and Mar contures .- A muri for the sale of English slows mist in a Bristol in the 11th century; a great trade at wood or enemos I in the time of Edward III.; trade a wood or carned I in the time of Edward HL; which a paral time, both inland and commercial, of very not element character, has long been flourishing. Medicus the held on Wednesday, Priday, and fairs, on I March, the Thur-dry before 25 July, and I pet To the estapors are published daily; and four veiling in Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday. Manufacture of the carried on in glass, song, starch, refined signs, the content peters lather, brusher, to baccopipes, there is a faire, the mirals processing to baccopipes, there is a faire, the mirals group of the prices, the with a way alam, chemicals, cocoa, copper, buss, tin, Lautzer, ren, ellin cables, auchors, engines, machin-ey, a blig-hallding. A sugar factory in Temple-street type blip-building. A sugar factory in Temple-screen to of our sugard pellups the best-booking structure of its solid in the blingdom. The Great Western cottonwork, stabilished about 1840, are conspicuous; but were Got I in consequency of "the cotton famine." There

Cost in Collegione's C. The cotton famine. There is no in Sankingsoff over and one of them is the head office of the West of England and South Wales bank. The is are numerous, and of all grades.

Cost street The hardour consists of floating docks, Cost street The hardour consists of floating docks, Cost of the 1994-9, by changing the course of the Avon, and photon it cks in the old channel, at a cost of 2609,000; present a cost in the old change, at a cost of 200,000; cost is a cost a length of 2% miles; has undergone impressed as since its original formation; and includes a guerral graving-docks. times. It is at Rownham; and the berth's of the The off-mosel of it at Rowmham; and the berths of the local testing, the tituler ship, the saling smacks, and the local are respectively at the Grove, Scallunks, Well of the art hear the Swing-bridge. A light is at the roots in a tilt much a polostation at Pill. The very regist what the post, on 31 December, 1867, where let small willing roots do of aggregately 4.712 tones, 154 hear t salling-vessely, of aggregately 55,391 tones, 20 at 154 curves selected aggregately 563 tons; and 27 large register of aggregately 5702 tones. The vestical heartened in 1867, including repeated voyages, very 375 tensible of 15,000 tons, from abroad 444 for or 505 Berrich, of 149,150 tons, from abroad; 441 fover Ph. Perren, of Lil, 150 tons, from abreau; 441 horizon plant, 151,44 for a, hosa also all, and 6,055 coorders, of Lil, and the which cleared on the 141 British, 673,551 tons, 107 tongen, of Lil, 177 in and 1,447 coasters, of 161,833 tons. The process in 1828 for 150,555; and in 1857, 441, 153,77. To other foreign and old might process in 1828 for 152, 153, 153, 154. duce, provisious, cattle, and brish linens; and the chief exports, groceries, wines, spirits, and the articles of heal manufacture. Steamers ply to all the chief ports of Monmoath, South Wales, and Devon, and Connwall: 15 Liverpool and London; to Dublin, Wexford, Waterford, and Cork; and to Cadiz, Charente, Bordeaux, and Rottodam. The "Great Western" steam-ship, the first steamer which crossed the Atlantic, and the still larger steam ship, the "Great Britain," were built at Bristol

The Beomagh.—The city, as defined by its becough boundaries, compaises $4.674 geres, and measures 4 miles by 3. It was first chartered by Henry III.; has sent two members to parliament since the time of Edward I.; and is governed by a mayor, sixteen aldermen, and fortycight councillors. Assives are held in spring and summer. The police force considered in spring and summer than a cost of about 217,500. The number of indictable offences committed in 1863, was 331; persons approhended, 291; convicted summarily, 2,006; of de-protators and suspected persons at large, 774; of houses of bad character, 172. The water supply comes from the Mendip hills, a distance of 15 miles; amounts, at the reservoir, to nearly a million of gallons a-day; and is conveyed in pipes which cross the Avon through a tubnconveyed in pages which cross the Avon Harough a turn-ber arch. Manicipal revenue, £45,433. Property and assessed takes, in 1857, £132,952. Real property in 1860, £003,072. Electors in 1868, 14,624. Pop. in 1841, 122,138; in 1861, 154,093. Houses, 23,590. Thoinent Citizens—William Botoner, who wrote en Binerary of the city in the reign of Henry VI.; Norton, the alchemist, who died in 1477; Grocyne, Greek professor at Oxford, and friend of Erosums; Sebastian Cabot, who discovered Labrador; T. White, the founder of Sion College; Elliott, who discovered Newfoundland; rowner, the painter, who died in 1579; Archbishop Matthew, 1625; Bishop Thomas, 1889; Child, the composer, 1697; Admiral Sir W. Penn, 1570; Lewis, the author of a "Life of Wickhille," 1721; Chatterton, 1770; Sir W. Verbishop, "1860; The "Linglish Sappho," 1860; Draper: Mrs. Robinson, the "English Sappho," 1840; Wrayall, author of "Merroirs," 1831; Sir Thomas Law-rence; the poet Southey; the sculptor Bailey; and a reunber of other persons known to fanc, were either na-tives or residents of Bristol. Si. II. Davy made his first scientific appearance here, under Dr. Beddors; tha poets Coleridge and Wordsworth resided here for a time, and found their first petron in the native publisher, Joseph Cottle; Hannah Mote keyl a school with her sister in Tark-street, and died in Cliftor; and Robert Hall spent in Bristol both his early and his closing years. The city gave the title of Marquis to the family of Hervey.

The District.—Bristel poor-law district excludes Cliften, Bedminster, and some other parts of the borough; is alministered under a local act; and is divided into five sub-districts. These are St. James sub-district, conterminate with St. James-In parish; St. Augustine subdistrict, containing St. Augustine and St. Michael parishes; St. Paul sub-district, containing St. Paul-In and St. Philip and St. Jacob-In parishes; St. Mary Redeliffe sub-district, containing St. Mary-Redeliffe, Temple, and St. Thomas parishes; and Castle-Precincts sub-district, containing Castle-Precincts extra parochial tract and St. Nicholas, St. Stephen, St. Leonard, St. Werburgh, All Saints, St. Ewin, St. John, St. Peter, Christ Church, and St. Maryle-Port parishe. Acres of the district 1,549.
Poortaits in 1866, £55,516. Top. in 1811, 61,269; in 1831, 66,277. Hone. 9, 1962. Marriages in 1866, 1,550; births, 2,219.—of which 100 were illegitimate; deaths, 1,550; and 100 were illegitimate; deaths. 1,500, -0f which 707 were at ages under 5 years, and 12 at 1908 above 85. Marria as in the ten years 1851-60, 12, 156; births, 21,860; deaths, 17,594. The Bristol workhouse is a new structure, on the site of the old Franch pr'on, at Stableton, about 2! miles from the city. The Porough burntic asylum stands near the workboung and is a hand-some whitee, in the Tudor style, bailt in 1801, at a cost of upwards of a 19,000, and contailing ground action for 200 patients.

BRISTOL AND EXETER RAILWAY, a failway from for 1900 south-south-westward, through Somers a and part and a grant are und, ron, tin, all, actical and pro- of Devon, to Exeter. It was actionised in 1836; and opened partially in 1841, and totally in 1841. It has a length of 107 miles, but includes in this a branch of 4 miles to Clevedon, one of 11 mile to Weston-super-Mare, one of 201 miles to Yeavil, and one of 5; miles to Tiverton. It commences in a junction with the Great Western at Bristol; goes south-westward to the deflection of its branch to Weston; proceeds southward to a point some miles past Bridgewater; goes thence south-westward to mines past Diagramer; goes thence south-westward to Exeter; and forms there a junction with the South De-von. It is on the broad gauge; has $1 embaukments and 127 heldges; and passes, near Beam-Bridge, through a tunnel 3,300 feet long. The cost of constructing the main line was £23,676 per mile.

BRISTOL AND GLOUCESTER RAILWAY, a railway in Gloucestershire, north-north-eastward, from Bristo Gloucester; now incorporated with the MIDLAND

RAILWAY: which see

BRISTOL AND PORTISHEAD RAILWAY, a railway from the Bristol and Exeter at Bedminster, westnorth-westward to Portishead, with works at Portishead. It comprises railway lines, 10 miles long, opened in 1867, and a pier at Portishead, and other works there, required to be completed in 1870.

BRISTOL AND SOUTH WALES UNION RAIL-WAY, a railway from Bristol, north-north-westward, through Gloucestershire, to the Severn at the New Passage ferry, and connected by a junction, in Monmouth-shire, on the other side of the ferry, with the South Wales railway. It was authorised in July 1857, and opened to the South Wales junction, in 1953. It forms one line of 11 miles on the Gloucestershire side of the Severn; and one line about three quarters of a mile, on the Monmouthshire side. It is on the broad gange; and was estimated to cost £300,000.

BRISTOL CHANNEL, the outer part of the estuary of the Severn. It is bounded, on the left, by Somerset and Devon; on the right, by Monmouth, Glamorgan, Carmauthen, and Pembroke. It commences in King Road, at the mouth of the Avon; goes south-westward, to the E side of Bridgewater bay; and proceeds thence westward to the ocean. Its width, at King Boad, is about 5 miles; at other parts, throughout its central reaches, from 8 to 22 miles; and at its mouth, between Hartland Point, through Sundy Island, to St. Govan's Head, about 40 miles. Its length, from King Road to Sundy Island, is nearly 80 miles. Its depth in the upper part, between extensive shoals, called the English Grounds and the Welsh Grounds, is from 5 to 16 fathoms; in the part at Cardiff, between the islands called the Steep and Flat Holms, from 5 to 8 fathems; in the part opposite Noss Point, from 13 to 15 fatherns; and in the open part between Bideford and Carmarthen bays, from 30 to 40 fathoms. The tidal rise is greater than anywhere else on the British coasts; and runs into the mouth of the rivers with a high, upright, rapid wave, locally called a hore, often dangerous to shipping; but is considerably modified by the strength and direction of the

BRISTOL PORT AND PIER RAHLWAY, a railway from the port of Bristol, 53 miles, to the Old Chann lat the mouth of the Avon. It was authorised in July 1882, and opened in March 1865. A dock, 1, 40 feet long and 85 feet wide, was in course of formation at its terminus in 1869; and is for the accommodation of such large vessels as cannot readily go up the Avon to Bristol. See

BRISTOL ROAD. See BIRMINGHAM.

BRISTON, or Burston, a village and a parish in Enpingham district, Norfolk. The village stands on the river Bure, 4 miles SSW of Holt, and 9 ENE of Ryburgh r. station; and has a post-office under Thetford, a fort-I station; and mas a post-office under Lostford, a forti-nightly stack in other, and a cattle fair on 28 May. The parish comprises 2,751 acres. Pop., 231. Houses, 232. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicange in the discress of Norwich. Value, £417. Patron, Lord Hastings. The church is described and perpendicular Fuelish, and by I formulate several term. Hastings. The chart is accounted any proposal court English, and had formerly a round tower. There are chapels for Independents, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists, a national school, and charities 29. BRIT (THE). See BIRT and Bride (THE). BRITAIN. See SUMMARY.

BRITAIN (LITILE), a hamlet in Exhall parish, Alcester district, Warwick; 2 miles SE of Alcester. BRITANNIA. See INTRODUCTION,

BRITANNIA BEIDGE, a tubular viaduet over the Menai strait, between Carnaryon and Anglesey; on the line of the Chester and Holyhead railway, 1 mile SW of the Menai bridge, and 2 W by S of Bangor station. It the Menai bridge, and 2 w by 8 of Rangor station. 11 was designed by Mr. Robert Stephenson; was commenced in 1846, and opened in 1850; and cost £621,865. The channel, at its site, is 1,100 feet wide; is swept by a very rapid tibe, ordinarily nising 20 feet; and is beset, in the middle, by a rock, called the Britannia rock, which is bare to the height of 10 feet at low water, and covered to the same height by full tide. This rock gave name to the bridge, and afforded a main facility for constructing it. The bridge consists of two abutments at the ends; two towers, 230 feet distant from the abutments; a central tower on the Britannia rock, 160 feet distant from the other towers; and two vast wrought iron tubes, or tunnels, placed side by side, and resting on the abutments and the towers. Each abutment is 176 feet long; each of the nearer towers, 32 feet broad, the central tower, 45½ feet broad; and the total roadway, 1,841 feet long. The approaches are ornamented by two colossal Egyptian statues of lions couchant, each 251 feet long, and 12 feet 8 inches high; the two nearer towers measure 62 feet by 521 at the base, taper to 55 feet by 32 at the top, and rise 190 feet above high-water level; the central lower has similar measurements of base and taper, and rises 230 feet from its foundation on the rock; and the bottom of the roadway is clevated 101 feet above the level of high water. The two tubes or tunnels consist of plates, rivets, and angle-irons; are flat in the bottom, and arched in the top; have an exterior height increasing from 223 feet at the ends to 30 feet in the centre; are four feet lower in the interior than in the extre; are four rect power in the fact wide; and possess a total com-terior, and each 14 feet wide; and possess a total com-tend weight of about 10,000 tons. The trains going W invariably pass through one line of tube; and those going E invariably pass through the other. The bridge, as seen from a distance, looks very tune; and even as seen close at hand, possesses none of the picturesqueness of its beautiful neighbour the suspension bridge; yet, on close inspection, impresses the mind with a sense of vastpower.

BRITFORD, or BURFORD, a village, a parish, and a snb-district in Alderbury district, Wilts. The village stands adjacent to the Salisbury and Southampton canal, near the Bishopstoke and Salisbury railway, 11 mile SE of Salisbury; and has a fair on 12 Aug. The parish includes also the tything of East Harnham, and the hamlet of Longlord; and its post-town is Salisbury. Acres, 3,148. Real property, £6,980. Pop., 872. Houses, 157. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged anciently to King Harold; and belongs now to the Earl of Radner. Longford Castle, the scat of the Earl, occupied by Viscount Folkestone, was built about 1591 by Sir Thomas Gorges; is a curiously constructed edifice, of triangular form, with inner court; and possesses a very fine picture gallery. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £281. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury. The church is cruciform; and contains a massleum of the Bouveries, and a curious, sculptured altar-tomb, usually, but crroneously, said to be that of the Duke of Bu kingham who was beheaded by Richard III. East Harnham vivange is a separate benefice. The parish contains Alderbury workhouse.

benefice. The partial contains Alderbury workhouse. The sub-district comprises five problems, a tything, a liberty, and an extra-parochal tract. Acres, 9,005. Pop., 5,623. Houses, 985.
BRITHDIR, a hamlet in Gilligaer parish, Glamorgan; on the river Runney, at the verge of the county, 8 miles SE of Merthyr-Tydell. Real property, 237,232; of which £11,394 are in mines, and £8,844 in iron-works. Pop. 3,879. Houses, 6.3. The inhabitants are em-Pop., 3,379. Hours, 683. The inhabitants are employed chiefly in the iron-works and in collicries. The hamlet forms a curacy with Gilligaer.

BRUTHDUP, a township in Berriew parish, Montgomcryshire; th miles NW of Montgomery. Pop., 155. BRITHD'R, a township in Llaurhaindeyn-Mochnant parish, Mestzemery; 44 miles Not Llaufyllin. Pop., 252. BRITHORR, a township in Llauddless parish, Monterv: n ir Llanidloes.

genery; i. r. Lambiuss.
BRITHDIR-ISAF AND BRITHDIR-UCHAF, two townships in Dolgelby parish, Merionath; near Dolgelley. Top., 327 and 149.
BRITHBICKSTOW. See BRIDESTOW.

BRITISH CHANNEL. See CHANNEL (THE). BRITON. See BRINGTON, Northampton.

BESTON, FERRY, a village and a parish in Neath district, Glamorgan. The village stands at the routh of the Neath canal, and the terraines of a short branch of the South Wales railway, 21 miles SSE of Neuth; and has a head post-office. Large docks were formed here in 1861 and previous years, aided by £20,000 from the Vale of Neath Railway Company; they comprise a tidal and floating area of 27 acres, and are provided with Armstrong's hy-draulic machinery; and they will afford shipping accommodation to the mineral districts of Aberdare and Meethyr-Tydvil, nearer than that at Cardiff. The village is likewise the port of Neath; has undergone much reis likewise the port of Acath; has undergone much re-cent increasy; and pounises soon to be an important town. The parish bears also the name of Llansawel; and comprises 1,593 acres. Real property, £3,649; of which £2,400 are in increworks. Forn, 3,781. Houses, £27. The manor belonged formerly to the Mansells; and belongs move to the Furl of Jersey. The local securery and the distant views are very fine. The view from a hill includes great part of the basin and screens of Bris d nin merians great part of the basin and screens of Bits of hinds; and that from the churchyard is celebrated by Massan. The living is a vicerage in the diocess of Llandar. Value, £124. Patrop, the Earl of Jersey. The charch is zeed, quaint, and pretty.

BRITON-IERRY-ROAD, a railway station in South Wales; on the Aberdare and Swansea railway, between

North Abbey and Swansea

BRITTENTON, a bandet in Standlake parish, Oxford; 44 rolles SE of Witney. Pop., 162.

BRITTON. See BREITON.

BRITWELL, a liberty in Burnham parish, Bucks; 31 miles NE of Maid whend. Pop., 94.
BLITWELL, O. ford. See Brightwell.

BELLVAL'S (ST.). See BEIAVELL'S (St.).

BRIVIAM, a town, a parish, and a sub-district, in Toines district, Devon. The town stands at the south-ern point of Torbay, 21 miles L of a station on the Der Sassath railway called Brixbass Road, and 4 NE of Delinorth. It is a scaport under Dartmouth, a coastgain les dien, and a seat of petry sessions; and has a need peate theo, plesignated Brixham, South Devon, a banking-office, and three chief inns. It consists of two para lower and upper; and extends fully 11 miles from the quay up a valley. It is irregularly built, but from the quay-up a variety. It is informatly built, but focusives a picture que sively and, had it been well edificed, would have been one of the most charming place in this country. The parish chunch, in its upper part, is an oblive of the 11th century, repaired in 1852, at a cpt of wheat 2700; and contains several community, one of from to Judge Paller. Another transments, one of them to Julya Buller. Another charles, the lower term, is a plain but common lons structure, built in 1814, and enlarged in 1850. Independent Experies and Weslevan chapted and respectively 10 term, Middle, and Fore streets. A free school that CTS separation on bomentary and other charities have with A manket than earlier hand the brillowed dates yield the contraction. ab at $7.0 asyear Marks to see held on Tues Ly and $5.00 kg, and a plastic fair on White Tues Ly. Constitution of the control Section and a plane fair on White Tasaley, Con-ing the dependent of the work of the work of the making; about 120 stock of between 30 and 40 ten-ral energy of in transfer for a galaxy 100 that is book for a great and about 100 selection as and lang, of a creek by about 18,000 ten, certy on common with 10 certure but purify for an The exports are distill steep, one one, and multipland the imports, God, ciden, and fruit coastwise, and cattle from the Channel Islands and France. The appearance of the figh-merkst on every week-day evening is very striking; and a peculiar mode of selling at it is the subject of a funous picture by Collins. The piet was built in 1893; the liar mode of setting a pieture by Collins. The piet was built in 1805; and harbour is a refuge for vessels in stormy weather; and a breakwater was recently formed to increase the security of the anchorage. The Prince of Orange landed here in 1688; and the Duke of Clarence visited the place in 1833. A pillar, comme morative of the Prince of Orange's Inding and enclosing part of the stone on which he first stepped, is on the pier; and a tablet, com-men arting the Duke of Clarence's visit, is inserted in the pier-wall. A spring on the outskirts of the upper town was long celebrated for ebbing and flowing; but, in consequence of changes on the ground near it, has lost its intermittent property. Pop. of the town, 4,200. Houses, 923.

The parish includes also the hundets of Booliny and The parts mented also the infinites of Lobary and Woodhish, Aeres, 5,740; of which 145 are water. Real property, £16,473. Pop., 5,935. Houses, 1,245. The property is much subshide!. A fourth of the manor was purchased many years ago by twelve of the filtermen, and the shares of this were afferwards divided. A magnificent vi.w of Torbay is obtained from Turzham. Traces of an ancient camp are at Buryhead. A large bone cave was recently discovered, containing bone and flint objects of a kind involved in recent geological dis-cussions, and noticed in Sir Charles Lyell's new work on cussions, and noticed in Sir Charles Lyell's new work on the Authquity of Man. The living is a vianage, united with the vicarage of Charston Ferrers, in the diocess of Exiter. Value, £191.* Patron, the Crown. Lower Brixton is served by a vicar, with solary of £297,7 ap-pointed by the Crown. The sub-district consists of the arishes of Brixton and Churston-Ferrers. Acres, 8,517. Pup., 6,750. Houses, 1,390.

BRIXHAM-ROAD. See BRIXHAM.

BRIXTON, a village and a parish in Plympt on-St.-Mary district, Devon. The village stands near the river Yealm, 5 miles SSW of Plympton r. station, and 4! ESR of Plymouth; and it has a post-office under Plympton, and is a seat of potty a sions. Acres, 2,914 of land, and is a seat of puty a sons. Acros, 3,914 Ct land, and 85 of water. Real property, E5,162. Pop. 691. Houses, 129. The property is divided among a few. The manor was long held by a family of its own name; and belongs now to T. W. Farrett, Esp. Remains of a mansion of the time of Henry VII. are at Harestone. The living is a vicarage in the diocesa of Exeter. Va £107. Patrons, the Dean and Canons of Windsor. The church is decorated English, with a lofty tower, and in good condition. Charities, £50. BRIXTON, a metropolitan suburb, five chapelries, a sub-district, and a hundred, in Surgey. The submb is in Lambeth purish, 2 miles SSW of St. Paul's, London; extends about 2 miles southward from the vicinity of Kennington; is partly well cliffied in contiguity with Remnington; is jearly went timeer at consequence other submiss; has a r. station with t legraph on the London, Chatham, and Dover rillway, and a station of the line from Ludgate Hill; has also post-offices of B., & B.-Risk; B.-Hill, B.-Bo, I. North B., and Tubse-Hill under London S.; and centains Pronet's establishm and for panys children, Bailey's estimation egolf males, and the county house of correction. The chep hires are B.-St. Matthew, constituted in 1-24, and a theoprimes are B.-St. Matthew, constituted in 1-25, and by the price of E.-St. Matthew, constituted in 1-25, and by the price of E.-St. Matthew, constituted in 1-25, and by the London Cherch, and the second control of B.-St. John, constituted in 1-25, Br. Matthews, in 1-53. Top, of R.-St. Math, in 1-55, and B.-St. John, 4,967; of B. C., 3,776. The Inviary of St. M., Lim, and C. are victurely and that of St. Jube, a p. curacy, in the discess of Lemdon. Value of St. M., 2760)* of St. Jube, and the profit of C., to P.-C., of St. Jube, not reported. Patton of St. M., the Archibidater of St. John, W. H. Strog, E. p. of C., the Br. M. M. Chussey; of St. Jube, and the potential of the state tree, with period, of sec. and spiter and con C15, 192. St. Jube, with period, cover and spiter and con C15, 192. St. Jube, with period, cover in the second spiter and con C15, 192. St. Jube, with period, cover in the second section of the second section of the second second section of the second s other suburbs; has a r. stitlen with telegraph on the and car $15,192. St Julie church is a cre l'and che files, in mixel pointed styles, poenly mand showly it. As a positions and a tower, and was built in 1863. There are chap-th for thelipendon's Lody Huntingdon's Connex-2 x ion, and Methodists. The sub-district is in Lambeth district, and conterminate with the chapelry of Brixton-St. Matthew as it was originally constituted. Acres, 1,445. Pop., 20,007. Houses, 3,223. The hundred is cut into two divisions, Eastern and Western. The E. division comprises Lambeth parish, seven other parishes, and part of two others. Acres, 22,186. Pop. in 1851, 314,815. The W. division comprises Wandsworth parish. six other purishes, and part of another. Acres, 7,699. Pop. in 1851, 9,552. Pop. of the entire hundred in 1861, 409,504. Houses, 62,763.

BRIXTON, or Intensition, a village and a parish on the SW coast of the Isle of Wight. The village stands the SW coast of the Isle of Wight. The village stands on a brook, 4 of a mile NNE of Grange chine, and 6 SW of Newport; and has a post-effectuated Newport and an inn. The purish includes also the hamlet of Limerston, and part of the broadet of Chilton. Acres, 3,251; of which 100 are water. Real property, £3,866. Pop., 659. Houses, 123. The property is divided among faw. The land was formerly part of the manor of Swainston. The Hon. A Court Holmes' re-idence of Westoure adjoins the village. A slight adjoint measurement of the adjoins the village. A slight adjacent encurvature of the sea bears the name of Brixton bay; the coast is cut with sate lears the name of briven lay; the coast is cut what a series of chines, presenting picturesque features; and the interior, at the distance of I, mile, is a range of hill, called Mottestone, Brixton, and Limerston downs. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Winchester. View. £515. Tatron, the Bishop of Winchester. The chinch was about the or the living by the control of the coast of Winchester. was rebuilt on the site of an ancient previous one in 1852; and is variously of Norman, early English, decorated, and perpendicular character. The parsonage is a picturesque edifice; and was the home of Bishop Ken two years as rector, and the asylum of the old age of William Wilber-

BRIXTON-DEVURILL, a parish in Warminster district, Wilts; on a headstream of the river Wiley, and on the Roman road to Salisbury, 5 miles S of Warminster r. station. Post-town, Longbridge-Deverill, under Warr. station. Post-town, Longbridge-Deverill, under War-misster. Acres. 2,436. Real property, £2,676. Ptp., 225. Honses, 47. The property is divided among a few. Alfred halted here a night on his march against the Dance. The living is a tectory in the diocese of Salis-bury. Value, £450.* Patron, the Bishop of Salisbury. The church was repaired in 1862. BRIXTON DOWN. See BRIXTON, Isle of Wight. BRIXTON HILL, BRIXTON RISE, AND DRIXTON FOAD. See BRIXTON STEEP.

ROAD. See Brixton, Sarrey.
BUIXWORTH, a village, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Northamptonshire. The village stands adjacent to the Northampton and Market-Harboreugh railway, 7 miles N of Northampton; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office; under Northampton. It was formerly a market-town, under the Fitz-Simons; and it still has a fair on Whit-Monday. Here are a workhouse, built at a cost of £5,800, and the kennels of the nouse, our as a cost of 25,500, and the kennels of the Pitchley hounds. The parish comprises 3,410 acres. Real property, £7,636. Pop. 1,253. Houses, 260. The property is subdivided. Brixworth Hall belonged The property is subdivided. Draworth Ant ceological formerly to the Nicholsest and passed to the Woods. Some of the inhabitents are kee-makers, and some quartiers. The living in a vicatrage in the diocess of Peterborough. Value, 4300. Platron, the Bishop of Peterborough. The church shows fine features of very early Norm at, with additions of later character; has a curious staircase leading to the tower; is supposed to have been built on the foundations of a Reman basilien; and was restored in 1865. There are a Wesleyan chapel, an en-restored in 1865. There are a Wesleyan chapel, an endowed school with £50 ayear, and charifies £508. The sub-district contains the parishes of Brizworth, Holost, Seal lwell, Lamport, Haselbeech, Maidwell, Praughton, facton, Old er Well, Walgerve, and Hammington. Acres, 19, 135. Pap., 4, 556. Houses, 995.—The district compenious also the sub-district of Spratton, containing the prishes of Spratton, Rawasthorpe, Hollenby, East Haddon, Cold J. ing. Naceby, Thornby, Chrisborough, Cottesbook, and Great Creaton; and the sub-district of Warlfan containing the perishes of Spratton, and the sub-district of Warlfan containing the perishes of Moul. sub-district of Moulton, containing the parishes of Moulton, Occasione, Benghton, Pitsford, Brington, Harlestone, Church-Drumpton, and Chapel-Brampton, and the extra-parochial tract of Althorp. Acres, 59,923. Poor-Tabes in 1866, £14,667. Pop. in 1861, 15,359. Houses, 3,360. Marriages in 1860, 76; bitths, 474,—of which 34 were illegitimate; deaths, 252,—of whi h 97 were of of were negutinate; deaths, 2-2, -6 win a 97 were set ages under 5 years, and 7 at ages above 85. Maringes in the ten years 1851-60, 1,055; bittle, 4,710; deaths, 2,078. The places of worship in 1851 were 90 of the Church of 7 gbrad, with 6,967 sittings; 6 of the deeth deaths, with 1,250 s.; 10 of Equities, with 2,150 s.; 7 of Western Marings. Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,309 s.; and 2 undefined, with 260 s. The schools were 25 public day schools, with 1,573 scholars; 34 private day schools, with 477 s.; and 42 Sunday schools, with 2,315 s. BRIZE-NORTON. See Noaton-Brize.

BROAD-BLUNSDON. See BLUNSDON (PROAD). BROAD-BLUNSDON. See BLUNSDON (PROAD). BROADBOTTOM, a suburth of Mottram, in Mottram puish, Cheshire; 3 miles W of Glossop. It has Mottram r. station and a post-office under Manchester.

BROADBRIDGE, a tything in Boshum parish, Sussex; 3! miles W of Chichester. Broadbridge Heath here is a meet for the Horsham hounds.

BROADBURY CASTLE. See BRATTON-CROWELLY. BROAD-CAMPDEN. See CAMPDEN (BROAD).

BROADCAR, a hamlet in Shrophana Parish, Norfolk; 31 miles N of East Harling. It was anciently a parish.
BROADCARR, a hamlet in Nether-Hoyland township, Wath-upon-Dearne parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 4: miles

S of Barnesley

BROAD-CHALK, a village and a parish in Wilton district, Wilts. The village stands in the vale of Chalk, district, Wilts. The village stands in the vale of Chalk, near Cranborne Class. A miles S by E of District, and 32 SW of Wilron; and has a posterior and triun, and 32 SW of Wilron; and has a posterior of John Aubrey, the antiquary. The parish includes also the hamlets of Knighton and Stoke-Farthing. Acres, 6,904. Real property, with Bower-Chalk, 29,512. Pop. 795. Houses, 161. The property is divided among a few. The maner belonged tone to the Gawens; and was given to Wilton Abbey. An ancient camp, of 5 ceres, occurs, is near the camp. The living is a vicarage, unit I with the vicarage of Bower-Chalk, in the discess of $2.5 kery. Value, £505.* Patton, King's College, Cambridge. The church belongs to the time of Henry VIII., with a Norman doarway on the west; and is in good condition. Norman doorway on the west; and is in good condition. There is an Independent chapel; and the four litims stone of a new one, to be in the Gothic style, was hald in 1862.

BROAD CLIST, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in St. Thomas' district, Devon. The village stands on the river Clist, adjacent to the Bristol and Exeter reilway, 5 miles NNE of Exeter; and his a station on the railway, a post-office; under Exeter, and fairs on the first Monday of April and Sept. It was burnt, in 1601, by the Dares. The parish includes also the headers of Doy the Danes. The parish incircus area the manners of roog and Westwood. Acres 9,188. Beal property 24,680. Pop., 2,318. Houses, 4d8. The property is divided among a few. The intrior belonged, at Dames 10, 100 the Crown, was given by Henry I. to the Novan funding passed to the Cradleighs, the Armdelis, and charater of TD Ashard Paris Killenger. passed to the Chattergus, the Armeens, and course, and belongs now to Sir T. D. Acland, Burt. Killerton, on which is Killerton House, the seat of Sir T. D. Acland, belonged once to a family of its own name; passed through several hands; and was purchased, about the middle of the 17th century, by the Aclands. Columb-john, now also the property of Sir T. D. Acland, belonged john, now also the property of Sir T. D. Achart, by lenged at one time to the Earls of Deven, and passed through several familia. A mansion on it, built by the Earls of Deven, and afterwards supplanted by a new of a was parrisoned, daring the circle way, for Chail s. L. and became the lead-equatiers of Fairfac, when his acroy was stationed at Silverton. The Bridge is a tion go in the diviews of Earlet. Value, $407. Pattern, Sir T. D. Achard. The church is lat a English; has a lofter tower and not weatherd in 1823. There is a dispersible during and was repaired in 1833. There is a domestic chapel in the park of Killerton House. A suite of almostories has £24a-year; and other charities £15.—The ub-d-wict contains four parishes. Acres, 14,502. Pop., 5,507. Houses, 713.

Bir ADPUCD, an extra parochial treet, i.e. ray of particle in Physics and Physics and Instruction of Property 2502. Page 19. House, 6.1. It still ranks as a reserve annexed to the rectory of Cottend, in the discuss of Pro-4 hors thest r. BROADFHELD, a tything in Wrington parish. Somers c; S miles SW of Bristol. P.p., 575. Islandfield Down here pressess fine semeny neutrants electronic view, and has, on its XW shoulder, an ignores vent, noticed by Dr. Rackland.

BROADGATE, or BRADG OR PARK, DE extra-pare-IMMOADMATE, OF BRADGETH PARK, OF CYMAGARD-Lid tree'in Berrowanpon-Sode district, Edges-teshire; 5 miles NW of Leicester. Acres, Lindy. Real property, 21,627. Pop., f. Home, h. The land is chi fly forest. This was part of the manor of Groby; belong of to succeed the Embs of before, the Embs of Versia, and the Lordy Grey of Groby; and was the birth-place of Labe Lordy (1997). that Jane the . A buge and splendid non-doar stood on it; and some picture-que ruins of the child a still re-main, along with a chapel containing a line monument

BEOADGREEN, a lamlet in Broadwas paids, Wor-certesslain; 5) miles W.NW of Worcester. Pop., 113. BLOADGREEN, a village on the Liverpool and St.

Helm's railway, Lanc shire; 41 miles E by N of Liverpool. It has a station on the railway, and a rest-office under Liverpool. It is wholly modern, and includes several villas BROADHAVEN, a village on the coast of Pembroke; on St. Bride's bay, 6 miles WSW of Haverfordwest. It is frequented for sea-bathing; presents a pleasant appearance; hes a the, firm, sanly beach; and commands specific cost views.

PROAD-HAVEN, a small bay on the south coast of Pembroke-like, between Stackpole and St. Govan's heads, 41 rolles S by W of 1 embroke.

42 Priors 8 by W of Femoure. PROADHEATH, a hamlet in Hallow patish, Worces-tershier, I mile NW of Worcester. Pop., 482. BROADHEATH, a station on the Manchester and Warrit gton railway, 9 miles SW of Manchester. It serves for Altringham.

BROADHEMBURY, a village and a parish in Honiton obstrict, Devon. The village stands in a fertile valby, 5 miles FSE of Collumpton r. station, and 6 NW of Howiton; and has a post-office under Houlton. It was However, and has a pass-other mater from the first and market-town; and it still has a fet on the second Monday of Dec. The purish includes also the heard is of Collaton, Luton, Diffical, and Kerswell. Acres, 4,700. Real property, 25,902. Pep., 817. It as a fel. The property is sub-livided. The manor belonged anciently to the Toyington family; any given to Tundeswell abbey; and passed, in the time of Eliza-Left, to the family of Drave. A Cluniae abby steed at Keiswell; and was subordinate to Montacute priory in Son stact. An anglent entrenchment, called Hembury fort, crowns a bold spur of high land; commands an ex tensive prospect; comprises an oval area, engin by three well-preserved, lofty rain; n.ts; seems to have been formed by the Britons, but was occupied by the Pontans; and is the Fat, by some antiquaries, to have been the Roman state of Merchanta. The living is a view in the Point of the Charles, Made, 2250, Flavors, the Point and Chapter of Lyder. The church is a fine an intercluses considered mayo, chancel, and south aide, with, pareta led w stern tower; and contains a next vik screen, a Second first, and modulments of several families. There are an Independent enopel, and charities $30. Toplady BLOADHEMPSTON, a village and a parish in Newten Abbot di triet, Devon. The village stands 2 miles by Mess at tree, Pevon. The varies sames 2 mass has the Dart river, 2 from the 8 sull Decount rilway, as 15 N of Totales; and host a potodine under Totales. The polish recognises 2,047 across Red property, 64,773 clausing $1.50. The property of duried and significant of the Confeding of the Totaleng now to U. P.29. Floy. The living is a vice-age in the otherwise of Expert. Valle, 2311. Eston, to the way. The clausing channel, and aisles; and has an amient oal; sercen. There are chapels for Independents and Wesle, aus.

for interpendents and Wesseystes.

BEOAD-HINTON, a parish in Marlborough district,
Wilts; 4; will a SE of Wooton-Based r. station, and 6
SSW of Swindon. It less a post-office under Swindon. Acres, 3,659. Real preprix, 22.265. Pop., 657. Houses, 141. The property is divided among about sixten. The living is a vicatage in the discress of Shebary, V.Ing. 2302. * Patron, St. Nicholas Hospital, Salisbury, The church is 401 but good; and has a square embattled the conference of Shebary. The vicatings of Broad-Town is a separate benefice. A school has £42 from endowment; and other charities have ±32. Sit John Charville, the eminent lawyer, was a resident.

EROAD-HINTON, a liberty in Husst parish, Berks; 1 miles N by W of Wokingham. Acres, 1,710. Pop.,

531. Hous

II. Hous.s, 105. BROADHOLME, a township in Tho. ney parish, Notis; on the verge of the county, adjacent to the Lincoln rad-way, 7 miles W of Lincoln. Acres, 559. Beat property, 21,037. Pop., 410. Bouse, 22. A small numery was founded here, in the reign of Stephen, by Agues do Cantville; and given, in the time of Elizabeth, to John Coniers and William Haber.

BROADLAEY, a handet in St. Ishmael parish, Carmathen; on the river Towy, 31 miles NW of Kelwelly.

Pop., 921.

BROADLANDS, the scat of Viscount Palmerston in Harts; on the river Anton, I mile S of Romey. The hone is of white Irick, with stone dressings; was designed by "Capability Brown," and contains a good collection of pictures and some antique statuary. The park is small and has lettle veriety.

is small and has little veriety.

BROADLANDS, a seat of lace manufacture in the vicinity of Newport, Isle of Wight. The marri, gerobes a positive season where assumbation of home. of Alexandra, Princess of Wales, were manufactor

BROADLANE, a township in Hawarden parish, Plint; BROADLANK, a township in thawaten parish, Thirty Judi's Soft Hawarden, Aeres, 537, Pop., 57.
Hore's the stat of St S. R. Glyane, Bart.
BROADLANE, a hordet in North Curry parish, Somerset, Tudies I of Tamiton.
BROAD-MARSTON, a hamlet in Peleworth parish,

Glorcester; 44 miles N of Chipping Campden. Pop., 289. BROADMAYNE, or Broadmonden, a parish in Dor-

BROADMAYNE, or Braatmantana, parish in Don-chester distria, Donset; 2 miles 8 of the Southwestern railway, and 181 or Dotchester. It has a post-office un-der Dorchester. A.r.s., 2,549. Be I property, ct, 992, 7 p., 566. Horsey, 97. The property is much sub-divided. The living is a rectory, and well to the rectory of West Knighton, in the diocese of Salisbary. The church is not room BROAD-NYMET, a chapeley in North Taxt in parish. Devon; 1 mile W of Bow, and 6 W of Yesfood r. stotion. Acres, 151. Pop., returned with the parish. The living is a singeup a ctory in the diocese of Exeter. The church is only English, and has interesting features;

but has gone to rula

BROADOAK, or Branoux, a parish in Lobrard district, Conwall; a rilles SSW of Doubletois, a station, and IANE by E. of Lostwithiel. It includes West Taphorne hould; and 2's post-flown is Lostwithiel. Are also parise, 24, 461. Phys. 274. Houses, 54. The property is divided among a low. The narmor was bold, at Dome Lay, by Robert, Lard Montaigne. Broad-cakedown west "1. s. no of the defe c, in 1649, of the pulman natures under Ruthwen 19 the negative understander Ruthwen 19 the negative under Hopton. The Archard Sur test of Exeter. The Arrest good, and heavest of Exeter. The Arrest good, and heavest of Exeter. The Arrest (BEDADOACK, the bit theyber of Matthew Henry, in Thintshare are a losses, 34 miles SSW of Malayes.

BROADOACK (JUSEEN, a Lumb t in Sheff 5d parish, W. R. Yei 'A bigs 3) index SSW of Shelisch. BROADOAK, or Brabook, a puish in Lakend dis-

BROCADOAK ORBETA, a handet in Sheffi id pansin, W. R. Yey' d'ine; d'i miles SW of Siesfillell.
BROADOCK, a place in Symmedidency parish, Perset; near Barboot. A chanch was built here in 1856.
BROADOCKA Advanch was built here in 1856.
BROADOCKA SIAM, a headet in Parlisan parish, Devon, 7 mile 8 & cf Beleford.
BROADOCO HEAD, a handet in Dut is town-drip and parish, W. C. Yorkshire; 32 mile 8 W of Barn, Jey.

BEOADSIDE, a grieveship in Allendale parish, North-understand. Pop., 123.

BROAD-SOUND, a belt of sea among the Seilly Isles;
NW of St. Agnes. It is obstructed by the Crim shoal; and is dangerous to vessels from its tidal currents, BROADSTAIRS, a village and a chapelry in St. Peter parish, Thanet, Kent. The village stands on the coast, whence to the Kent Coast railway, 2½ miles N by E of Bainsgite; and has a station on the railway, a post-office; under lamsgate, and two hotels. It is an ancient place; was the scene of a fierce battle, in 853, between the was the scene of a herce patter, in 853, between the Saxons and the Danes; had extensive fortifications, pierced by a sea-gate, with a portal arch, some part of which remains; took its name from the "broad stairs" which led up from the sea-gate; possessed, a little above the fortifications, a Lady chapel, of so high repute that ships lowered their top sails in going past it; and sent, about the middle of last century, a number of vessels to the cod fisheries of Iceland and the Northern seas. Its old pier was swept away by a storm in 1808; and its present pier is a rough, picturesque, timber structure. The village is now frequented as a bathing-place; has good accommodations and a firm sandy beach; and commands splendid views. It is also a coast-guard station. The chaptery includes the village, extends into the country, and was constituted in 1850. Rated property, 24,628, Pop., 1,378. Houses, 300. The property is much subdivided. Old coins have been found in the cliffs; and a spermaceti whale, 61 feet long, came ashore in 1762. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Can-terbury. Value, £250. Patron, the Vicar of St. Peter. The church was built in 1828; and has a tower added in 1852. A Baptist chapel includes a portion of the old Lady chapel. There is also a Wesleyan chapel.

BROADSTONE, a township in Munslow parish, Salop; 61 miles SE of Church-Stretton. Pop., 210. It forms a curacy with Munslow.

CHEACY WITH ADDISON.

BROAD-TOWN, a hamlet in Broad-Hinton parish, and a chapelry in Broad-Hinton and Cliffe-Pypard parishes, Wilts. The hamlet lies 1J mile NW of Broad-Hinton village, and 3 SE of Wootton-Basset r. station. This chaptery includes the hamlet; and was constituted in 1816. Post-town, Broad-Hinton, under Swindon. Pop. 473. Houses, 98. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £100.* Patrons, the Vicars of cese of Saitsbury. Value, £100.* Patrons, the Vicars of Broad-Hinton and Clifeb-Pypard alternately.

BROADWARD, a township in Clungumford parish, Salop; 8 miles W of Lucliew. Pop., 18.

BROADWARD AND BRIERLEY, a township in Leominsterout-parish, Hereford; 11 mile S of Leominster.

BROADWARD AND BRIERLEY, a township in Leominsterout-parish, Hereford; 11 mile S of Leominster. BROADWAS, a parish in Martley district, Worcestershire; on the river Teme, 1½ mile WXW of Bransford-Road r. station and 6 W of Worcester. It includes the 163a f. station and 6 w or workster. It includes the hamlet of Broadgreen; and has a post-office under Wercester. Acres, 1,160. Real property, £2,347. Pop., 311. Houses, 63. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £253.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Worcester. The church is partly Norman.

BROAD-WATER, the lake of Bassenthwaite, in Cumberland. See Bassenthwaite.

BROADWATER, a hundred in Herts. It lies around Bennington and Dutchworth; and contains twenty-two parishes. Acres, 50,511. Pop., 18,800. Houses, 3,777. BROADWATER, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Worthing district, Sussex. The village stands near the South Coast railway, I mile N of Worthing; and has a post-office under Worthing. It was formerly a market-town, under the Camois family, who had a castle adjacent to it; and it still has fairs on 22 June The parish includes also the township and and 29 Oct. and 29 Oct. The parise mentales also the rownship and bown of Worthing. Acres, 2,500; of which 320 are water. Real property, 234,453. Pop., 6,466. Houses, 1,188. The property is much subdivided. Offington, anchently the sect of the Lords Delewarr, now that of anciently the sect of the Lordy Derivation, now had a J. P. Drudony, Eag., is about 1 a mile W of the village. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £000.* Patron, the Rev. E. K. E'jett. The church is crue flore, and was restored in 1.54. The vicarage of Christelauch and the p. curacies of Worthing and St. George are separate ben fices. Charities, £25. The sub-district contains five parishes. Top., 8,887.

BROADWATER, a chipelry in Frant parish, Sussex; near Tunbridge-Wells. Pop., 577. Living, a p. curacy. Patron, Lord Abergavenny. The church was built in 1866, and is in the French late first pointed style.

1996, and is in the French rate first pointed style.

BROADWAX, a village and a parish in Weymouth district, Dorset. The village stands on the river Wey, near the Weymouth railway, 3½ miles N by W of Weymouth; and has a fir on the Welmeshy before 18 Sept. The parish includes also Little Moor hamlet, and part of Nottington hamlet; and its post-town is Radipole, un-Actuageon manet; and its post-town is manper, inder Weymouth. Acres, 1020. Real property, 25,072. Pop., 614. Houses, 133. The property is much subdivided. Stone is quartied. The living is a rectory, an unxed to the rectory of Bincombe, in the diocese of Salishame. The church is good; and there are charities £9.

BROADWAY, a village and a parish in Chard dis-ict, Somersot. The village stands near the Chard canal, rict, Somerset. The village stands near the Chard coul, and near the Chard, Ilminster, and Taunton railway, 2 miles NW of Ilminster r. station; took its name from a nules NW of Hminster r. station; took its name from a Roman way across its site, and through Ncrocho forest; and has a fair on 14 Sept. The parish includes also the tythings of Capland and Rapps; and its post-town is Ilmiuster. Acres, 2,072. Real property, e2,861. Pop., 431. Houses, 89. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £167. Patron, the Rev. Dr. W. Palmer. The church is ancient and cruciform. There are an Independent charged and the property is much subdivided. pendent chapel; and charities #23.

BROADWAY, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Evesham district, Worcester. The village stands 3! miles W of Camben, restation, and 5, SE by S of Evesham; and has a head post-office, ‡ The parish comprises 4,800 acres. Real property, £10,343. Pop., 1,555. Houses, 351. The property is much subdivided. Tho Broadway hills were the quarters of the royalists after the battle of Evesham; and command a fine view. Stone Worcester. Value, £240. Tatrons, Trustees. The church was built in 1859; and there are chapels for L. dependents, Wesleyans, and Roman Catholics. A school has £74 from endowment; and other charities, £27. The sub-district contains sixteen parishes; seven of them electorally in Gloucester. Acres, 28,570. Pop., them efectorary in Goucester. Acres, 25,570. Pop., 6,870. Houses, 1,511.

BROADWELL, a hamlet in Leamington-Hastings parish, Warwick; 3½ miles NE of Southaro. Pop., 220.

BROADWELL, or BRADLE, a parish in Stow-on-the Wold district, Gloucester; on the Fosse way, 1½ mile NNE of Stow-on-the-Wold, and 2 miles WAW of Adultostrop r, station. It has a post-office under Moreton-in-the-Marsh. Acres, 1,600. Real property, £3,713. Pop., 393. Houses, 92. The property is much subdivided. Broadwell House is the seat of Lord Leigh. The living Is a rectory, united with the rectory of Addlestrop, in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £643." Patron, Lord Leigh. The church is good; and there are Patron, Lord Leigh. The church i a national school and charities £16.

BROADWELL, or BRADWELL, a village in the district of Witney, and a parish in the districts of Witney and Faringdon, and a pairsh in the unstitute of in timey and Faringdon, and country of Oxford. The village stands on Akeman-street, I miles NNE of Lechlade, and 8½ SW on Akeman-street, 1 miles NAE of Leeniade, and $\frac{8}{2}\) So of Witney r. station. The parish includes also the hande of Filkins, the chapelry of Holvell, and the township of Kelmscott; and its post-town is Clanfield, under Feringdon. Acres, 5,871. Real property is divided among a few. Filkins is the scat of the Colstons; and Breadwell Grove belonged formerly to the Thomonds, and belongs now to the Herveys. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Kelmscott, in the diocess of Oxford. Value, 2207. Fatron, the Rev. F. T. Woodman. The church is cruciform and good; has a fine spire; and contains monuments of the Colstons. There are a tree school and charities £3. The vicarages of Holwell and Filkins are asparate benefices.

EROADWINSOR, a village and a parish in Beaminster district, Dorset. The village stands 3 miles WNW of Bearninster, and 5 S of Crewkerner, station; and has a bost-office; under Bridport, and a fair on Trinity Monday. The parish includes also the tythings of Childhay, Dibberford, Drimpton, and Little Winsor. Acres, 6,214. Beal property, £11,810. Pop. 1,538. Houses, 341. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Elab-Johown, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £558. Patron, the Bishop of Salisbury. The clurch is ancient, and has a tower. Their are an Index adent chapel; an endowed school, with £23; and of the charties, with £18. Thomas Fuller author of the fallicing. Beaminster, and 5 S of Crewkerne r. station; and his a ties, with £18. Thomas Fuller, author of the "History of the Holy War," was vicar.

of the Holy War," was vicar.

REOADWOOD-KELLY, a parish in Okeharo; ton district, Devon; 51 nules. By N of Hatherleigh, and 6 WSW of Lapford r. station. Post-town, Windleigh, North Devan Acres, 2,653. Real property, 22,062. The property is much divided. The numer belongs to B. Clare, Eq. The hiving is a rectory in the diverse of Exeter. Value, 2283. r. Lation, the Rev. Mr. Hole. The church stands on elevated ground; consists of new, chancet, and ables; and was repaired in 1836.

DROADWOOD-WIDGER, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in the district of Holsworthy, Devon. The village stands on the acclivity of a hill, 6 miles NE by E village stands on the acclivity of a hill, 6 miles NE by E of Launceston r. station, and 11 NNW of Tavistock. The parish comprises $,789 acres; and its post-town is Launceston. Real property, £4,343. Pop., $15. Houses, 15. The property is divided among a few. About 1,500 acres are open moorland. The living is a victage, united with the p. curacy of Week-St. Germany, in the discuss of Excter. Value, £148. Fatrons, the Pean and Chapter of Bristol. The church is an old cilifice, taked highly deed; and there are charels for Westerons. much dilapid ded; and there are chapels for Wesleyans and Bible Christians .- The sub-district contains four parishes, and part of another. Acres, 22,487. Pop. in 1831, 2,461. Houses, 438. BROBUKA, a parish in Weebly district, Hereford;

Pol. 2,900. Houses, 405. BROBELLA, a parish in Weebly district, Hereford; 6: the river Wye, adjacent to the Hereford and Boson Lullway, 1 or Kinnersley station, 81 miles E by N of Hay. Post-town, Bredwarding, under Hereford. Acres, 503. Real property, 2819. Pop., 76. Houses, 17. The property is divided among a few. Brobury sear is a bold gread object, and the fine scenery of the Wye. The living is a rectory, annexed to the vicarage of Bredwardine, in the diocese of Hereford. The church is small and plain.

BROCARD'S, or Brockhurst Castle, an ancient coup on ground commanding a pass of Watling-street, about a mile SSW of Church Stretton, in Salop.

BROCK, a station on the Lancaster and Preston railway, 2 miles S by E of Garstang in Lancashite. Claughton Hall, a munsion of the time of Charles L, new a ton Hall, a munison of the time of Charles 1., 1.c.w. a turn-house, and stone quarties are in the neighbourhood. BROCKAMIN, a hamlet in Leigh parish, Woresterskire; 2) miles W of Worcester. Pop. 262.

BROCKDISH, a parish in Depwade district. Norfolk; on the river Waveney, 3 miles SW by W of Harlesten T. station, and 6 E of Diss. It has a post-office under Scale. Acres, 1,069. Real property, 22,534. Pop. 244. House, 117. The non-set is nucleicalistical.

r station, and 6 E of Diss. It has a post-office under Scole. Acres, 1,069. Real property, £2,354. Pop. 541. Houses, 117. The property is much subdivided. The livin (i) a rectory in fluctioness of Norwich. Value, 2727. Patron, Wr. France. The church is ancient, and has a tow w. There are a We leven chapel, cut have it is £17. Elemefiel, the county historien, was ractor. BROCKI NHURST, a village and a parish in hymington district, Hents. The village stands, en-intonited in voo-b, in the New Yorst, on the tive Boller, edjacent to the Southwestern tollway, 49 miles X by W of Lymington. It has a station on the radiway, and a post-office under Lymington. The part hier wholly in the New Yorst, 29.50 a test. Beat property, £3,178. Pop., 1,083. Hence, 205. The property it divided among a few. Rice kendeur! Park, J. Morant, 4,84, has channing force! seemery, and some very fine divided aboung a 19W. The sentence (Tails, a. anormal, 18), has channing front security, and some very fine old calls; and is a meet for the New Forest Lariers. Fine kendurst Lodge, or Waterinke Horse, was for three year, the red done of Howard the philinthropist. Sway content, in the vicinity, has several tune it. The living is a vicarage in the discess of Winchester. Value, £100." Patron, J. Morant, E.a. The church crowns a knoll about \(\) a noile S of the village; is variously Saxon, very early Norman, late Norman, and early English, but I is been much remodelled; and contains an ancient square Norman much remodelier; and contains an ancient square Aorman font of Purheck rearble. An enormous yew-tree, and a grandivy-elad ook are in the churchyard. Charities, 224. BROCKET HALL, the seat and death-place of the late Viscount Melbourne and the late Viscount Palmerston, in Hatfield parish, Herts; on the river Lea, 3 nules

N of Hatfield.

BROCKFORD, a hanlet in Wetheringsett parish, Suffolk; 3½ miles NW of Debenham. Pep., 277. It forms a curvey with Wetheringsett.

forms a curvey with Wetheringsett.

BROCKHALL, a pairth in Dacentry district, Northamyton; on Wathingstreet, the Grand Junction cand, and the Northwestern railway, 2½ miles N of Weedon station, and 4½ for Daventry. Post-town, Weedon, Acres, 841. Real property, 22, 427. Pop., 54. Houses,
2. The property is divided among a few. Brockhall Park belonged form by to the Extons and the Tyra hitts, and belongs now to T. R. Thornton, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocs of Peterborough. Value, £238.* Tatron, T. R. Thornton, Esq. The church is partly Norman, and in good condition.

BROCKHAM, or BROCKHAM GREEN, a village and a chapelry in Betchworth parish, Surrey. The village stands on the river Mole, 11 mile SW of Betchworth r. stands on the river Mole, 14 mile SW of Bet-hworth r. station, and 2 It of Dorking; and has a post-office, of the name of Brockham Green, under Reigate. The chaplery was constituted in 1818. Pop., 761. Horses, 147. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vienge in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £100.* Patron, Col. Goulburn. The church is a neat cyline in the tron, Col. Goulburn. The clurch is a neat cline in the Norman style, with a spire; and there are a Bajdist chapel end a girls' orphanage. See Betterworth. BROCKHAMPTON, a tything in Havant parish, Mants; near Havant. Pop., 109.

BROCKHAMPTON, a parish in Ross district, Hereford; on the river Wye, 2§ miles ENE of Fawly x. station, and 5 N of Ross. To-t-town, How Cayle, under Ross. Acres, 785. Bell property, 21,566. Pop., 140. Houses, 28. The property is divided among a few. A Comparison of courts of the state of the stat Roman camp occurs about a mile north of the church. The living is a vicasing in the diocese of Hereford. Value, 474. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Hereford. The church is good. BROCKHAMPTON, a township or a perch, and a sub-district, in Bromyard district, Hereford. The town-ship lies 2 miles NE of Bromyard, and a NNW of Malship has 2 mins 3 A b of Bromyard, and 9 N W of Mal-vern Link r, station; is sometimes called Northon-with Browkhampton; and hos b on regarded variantly, rea-township-cluseder of Bromyard; prish and a riself a separate parish. Post-team, Bromyard, under Weresster Acres, T.410. Pop. 683. Houses, 123. The place contains several good varidences subarban to Bromyard. Contains severe good readences singuan to bromyond. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicanage of Bromyard, in the diocese of Hereford,—The sub-district contains part of two part bles, cleven entire pacishes, two of them the goodly if Worcester, and an extra-perochial tract. Acres, 21,812, Pop., 3,716. House, 761.

ECCKHAMPTON, Oxford. See Biocompanymon.

BROCKH AMPTON, Glouvester. See Southam and BROCKHAMPTON.

BROCKHAMPION AND KNOWLE, a tything in BROKELAMPTON AND KNOWLE, a tything in Buckland-Newton parish, Dorset; 3½ miles NE of Cerne-Abbos. Frog., 182. Houses, 44. BROCKHOLES, a place in Honley chandry, W. R. Vockshire; at a ribbary junction, 4½ miles NE by 80 Huddershell. Hilliss at station with the graph, and a chaptl of ose

BROUGHOLLS, Lancashire. See GRIMSARGH AND Ввоскиот в

PROCERTORS

RICCERTORS

RICCERTORS

As village in Monka-Kirly perish, Warniel, i 51 miles NNW of Engley,
EllouKHI LST, a namor in fact Grinst 1 perish,
Sussen; near Fact Grinstent, EllouKHI EST CASTLE. See Biograph's Castle, Village Control of Castle, and Long in Westperish Castle.

BROCKLEBANK, a township in Westward parish,

Cumberland; 43 miles S by E of Wigton. Real property, £2,100. Pop., 148. Houses, 27. Browklebank fell here is a frontier mass of the uplands which extend southward in the Caldbeck fells and Skidden

BROCKLESBY, a parish in Caister district, Lincoln; adjacent to the Great Grinsby and Sheffield railway, 9 miles WNW of Great Grinsby. It has a station on the railway, and includes the hands' of Little Limber; and its post-town is Limber, under (Leby. Acres inclusive of Newsham extra-pare-hial tract, 3,860. Real property, 23,469. Pop., 292. Houses, 47. Brocklesby Park is the scat of the Earl of Varborough; and was visited by Prince Albert, in 1849, at the opening of Grimsby docks. Prince Albert, in 1849, at the opening of Crimsty docks. The mansion has a fine picture gallery; and the grounds have a mansolemn by Wyatt and a kennel. The living is a rectory, united with the vicange of Kimmigton, in the dioceas of Lincoln. Value, $279.* Patron, Lord Yarborough. The clurch is handsome.

BROCKLEY, a parish in Pelminster district, Somerset; on the Bristol and Exeter railway, near Nailsea station, 8 miles 8W of Bristol. It has a post-office under wast Fewer Sources C. Acres. 692. Real property.

West Fown, Somerset. Acres, 692. Real property, £1,729. Pop., 93. Houses, 19. The property is divided among three. Brockley Hall is the seat of the Piggotts. Prockley Combe is a rocky wooded hollow, about 300 feet, flanked by hills; and was a favourite resort of the poet Coleridge. Lead ore is found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Eath and Wells. Value, ng is a rectory in the diocese of fath and wers. yame, £128.* Tatrons, the Trustees of the late lev. W. Piggott. The church is pretty good; and there are charities £9. BROCKLEY, a parish in Thingee district, Suffolk; on an affluent of the river Stonr, 61 titles SSW of Darry St. Edmunds r. station. Post-town, Lawshall, under St. Rallminds, across, 1,685 Read property, 22,231, Pup., 310. Houses, 74. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Edy. Value, 6540.* Patron, the Bey. Mr. Cartwright. The church is an ancient structure, with a small tower; and contains a handom renorment of the Sprigges, and contains a handsome monument of the Sprigges. There are a haptist chapel, and charities £62.

BROCK LEY, a hands on the NW border of Kent; adjacent to the Croydon railway, 1 mile WSW of Lewissian. It has a post-office; under Lewislam, London, S. E.; and had arciently a Premonstratensian monaster.

BROCKLEY HILL, an eminence on the northern rerge of Middlesex; in the line of Watling-street, 2 miles NNW of Edgeware. Many relies have been found here. BROCKLEY-HDLK, kent. See SPIPKHAM. BROCKLEY WHINS, a railway station in the N of

Durham; on the Pontop and Shields railway, 6 miles W of Gateshead.

BROCKMANTON, a township in Puddlestone parish, Hereford; 45 miles E of Leominster. Real property, £516. BROCKMOOR, a chapelry in Kingswhiond parish, Stafford; adjacent to the West Midland railway, 4 a mile NW of Briefley Hill. I twas constituted in 1844; and its post-town is Epiceley Hill. Pop., 3,544. Houses, his post-town is numbered in the high cost-town representation of the inhabitants are employed in coal and iron-works. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Lichfi I.d. Valloy, £150.* Patron, alternately the Crown and the Rishep. The church is a neat structure; and and the Rishop. The chu there is a Wesl wan chapel.

BROCKSFIELD. See BROCKTHORP, a parish in Wheatenharst district, Gloucestershire; under the worlds, adjacent to the Gloucester and Bristol railway, 1½ mile NNE of Haresfield station, and 4 S of Gloucester. 1+ NNE of Haresheld station, and 4 8 of Glomester. It is a past-office, of the norm of Broeltherpe, under Glomester. Acre., 1,009. Real property, £2,516. Pop., 150. House, 40. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vice ange, united with the viarage of Whaddon, in the discrete of Glomester and Bristal. Value, £186.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Glomester, two furts, and Sir J. Neeld, Butt, one turn. The church is early English, in telerable condition; and has an the regulac of the north, a curious inscription. has, on the cornice of the porch, a curious inscription relating to the execution of Charles !.

PROCKTON, a township in Baswick parish, Stufford-BROCKTON, a township in Hawwick parish, Strifford-shire; adjacent to the Stafford and Worcester canal, 4 miles SE of Stafford. Aeres, 1,960. Brad property, 21,760. Pop., 278. Houses, 51. Brockton House and Brockton Lodge helonged to the Chetwynds. BROCKTON, a township in Longford parish, Salop; 2 miles SW of Newyort. Pop., 123. BROCKTON, a township in North Lydbury parish, Salon; 2 miles SW of Newyort. Pop., 123.

Salop; 2 miles S of Bishops-Castle. Pop., 137

BROCKTON, a township in Worthen parish, Salop; on the verge of the county, 9 miles N of Bishops-Castle. Pop., 303

Pop., 505

BROCKWEAR, et Brooks-Weir, a village, on extra-parechial groun I, contiguous to Havelsfield carrish, in Gloucestershine; on the river Wye, 6 miles N of Chep-stow. Pop., 212. Here are a Moravian chapel, built in 1832; and remains of an ancient camp.

BROCKWELL, a locality about a mile W of Dulwich, on the NE border of Surrey; with a post-office; under Dul-

wich, London, S

BROCKWORTH, a parish in the district and county of Gloncester; on Emine-street, in the value of Gloncester, 4 miles ESE of Gloncester. It has a post-office under Gloncester. Acres, 1.847. Heal property, £4,305. Pop., 475. Houses, 97. The property is divided among a few. The grounds called the Court were the site of a few. The grounds called the Court were the sate of a Koman station, and have yielded Roman remains. Cooper's Hill, a steep projection from neighbouring hills, commands a brilliant view. The parish is a most for the Cotwold bounds. The living is a vicaruge in the Company of diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £150. Patron, E. G. Davis, Esq. The church is perpendicular English, with Norman arches under the tower. John Theyer thu antiquary, who died in 1673, was a native. There are a antiquary, who died in 1673, was a native. There are a national school, and charities 25.

BRODSWORTH, a township and a parish in Doneaster district, W. E. Yockshire. The township lies 45 miles W by N. of Arksey r. station, and 55 NW by N. of Doneaster; a. I has a p.55-66.ee under Doneaster. The Doneaster; a. I has a p.55-66.ee under Doneaster. The parish includes also the handets of Figham and Scansley.

Acres, 3,170. Keal projective, 23,380. Pop., 412. Houses, $7. The property is in ideal among a few. Brodeworth Park belowed by the Tests of Kinnon's present by each Park belonged to the Earls of Kinnoul; passed by sale to Peter Thellusson, Esq., who died in 1798, bequeathing it to be under trustees for three generations; but, through it to be under trustees for three generations; but, through judgment of the Lord Chamedlor, was inherited by his son, Lord Rendlesham. Limestone is quartied. The living is a vicarage in the dicesse of York. Value, £472.* Patron, the Archbishop. The church is old. There are a Wesleyan chapet, a free school, and charities £15. BROGIEN.WITH-ADMORGILL, a township in Barnoldswick parish, W. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the Leeds and Liverpool canal, and near the Midland railway, 9 miles SW by W of Skipton. Acres, 1,670. Pop., 128. Hones. 25.

Houses, 25,

BROKEHAMPTON. See BROCKHAMPTON.

BROKEHAMITION, SEE BROKHAMION, BROKE HOUSE, the old seat of the Willoughlys de Broke, 2 miles W of Westbury, in Wilts. It belonged previously to the Cheyneys.

BROKENBOROUGH, a parish in Malmesbury discounting the second of the Wilmes.

brother for over the press in Mannesmury and rist Wilst on Akenan-street, 2 miles XW of Malnesbury, and 74 W by S of Minety r. station. It has a post-office under Chipper barn. Acres, 2,552. Real property, 22,782. Pop., 503. Houses, 63. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Savon kings; and passed to the Molines. Some Roman remains have been found. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Westport, in the diocese of Glouester and Bristol. The church is good. BROKEN-END. See UNDERGLIFF.

BROKENHAUGH, a quarter in Haydon perochial chapelry, Northamberland; adjacent to the Newcastle and Carlisle railway, 6 miles WNW of Heyham. Pop., 250, BROMBIL. See Broomerit. BROMBLOW. See Broomer.

BROMED ON. See Incompose.
BROMED GOLDEN, a town-slip and a parish in Wirrall district, Cheshire. The town-slip lies on the Mersey, and on the Birkenhead and Chester railway, 44 miles S by E of Birkenbad; and has a station on the railway, and a personnel reflection. It had formerly a well-dynamics type of the Mercy. Acres, 2,600; of which 1,680 or wiser. Bed James, 4,8210. Pop., 1,694. Houses, 138. The parish metales also the township of brimstage. Acres, 2,642. Ref. property, 25,652. Pop., 1,379. Houses, 2,42. The nature felouge to 8. Mailwaring, Esq. Boot beroeg's Hall it the set of R. Rankin, Esq. Bronborgugh Pool, a creek of the Morsey, is occupied by the Lie of the direct numerical magazines; and here by the Livery ool floating gunpowder magazines; and has or, its shore the establishment of Price's Fauent Canad Coraj any. A small priory was founded at Biorabor-cub, about 902, by Libelibela. The living is a rocto y in the closess of Chester. Value, £230.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of C. The church was rebuilt, in the on its shore the establishment of Price's Patent Candle Dean and Chapter of C. The church was require, in the early English style, in 1905, at a cost of £5,000. There are two chaptsh of case, a large national school built in 1-9a at a cost of £2,009, and charities £5. BROMBY, or BROMBY, or browning in Prodings on Parish, Lincolay 7 miles WXW of Clauford-Brigg. Red parisi, tanceta / rintes waw of Gauterd-Erigg. Real property, £1,65°. Pop., 204. Houses, 38. BROME, or Broome, a parish in Hartismere distric', Sariotk; 2 rathes N of Eye r. station, and 3½ ENE of Mell's, 1t has a past-citie under Scole. Acres, 892. Real property, £2,003. Pop., 201. Houses, 68. The property is divided among a few. Bronne Hall belonged property is the Bustines, usual test Community. anciently to the Buctons; passed to the Cornwallis family; and is now the seat of Sir E. Kerrison, Part. The old mansion, built about the middle of the 16th century, was recently taken down, and a new one erected on its was recently tiken down, and a new one erected on its site. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Oakley, in the discess of Norwich. Value, £561.* There are a national school and charities £78. BROME, Norrick. See Broome. BROMESHERROW. See Broome. BROME (Sevin). See SOUTHEROOM. BROME (Sevin). See SOUTHEROOM.

BROME (Sectial). See SOUTHBROOM.

FROM ISWELL, a parish in Woodbridge district, Suffice, or the river Deben, adjacent to the East Suffolk 1 Swey. 1 ar Melton station, 23 mile. NE of Woodbridge. Pest-rown, Melton, under Woodbridge. Acres, 18th Property, £1,654. Pop., 210. Houses, 1 Byag, 1 at Melton somen, as more delived, Acres, 1,514. Rial property, 21,654. Pop., 210. Houses, 52. The property is divided among a few. The living fair return in the fidence of Norwich. Value, 2150. Patten, the Marquis of Bristol. The church is good. There are a free scheel, and charities 25. BROMFILED, a township and a parish in Wigton destrict, Cumberland. The township has on an afficient of the river Waver, 22, miles NW of Leegate 1, station, and 6 W by 8 of Wigton. It includes the lambets of and 6 W by 8 of Wigton. It mediates the namiters of Crookel de and Scales. Real property, 23,164. Pop., 411. Houses, 65. The parish contains also the town-ships of blueogy, Langrigg and Medrigg, Dandraw and Kelsick, and West Newton and Allomby; and has post-edited for Langrigg under Carlisle and Allomby under Margorit. Access 14,644; of which 573 are water. Real producty, £10,160. Pop., 2,260. Houses, 482. The property is much subdivided. The surface extends 95 miles south-westward to the coast; and horrows character from the near perspective of the Caldbeck and Skiddaw its a the hear perspective of the Calibects and Shiddaw meantains. Some remains exist of Mungo Castle. The liver, is a virtuage in the discose of Carlisle. Value, 22%, Ranco, the B. App of Carlisle. The church was textuck in 1862. The characters of Alfondy and West Newton not separate benefics. A grammar school, founded in 1962, he can endowed income of 241. Boacher, 1 to tique tim, was a native.

1.20 MFTELD, a immired in Denbigh. It Kes around

LEOMFIELD, a handred in Danhigh. It lies around Wied, carried by the Library and Chroshire; and contains three prints of an I ports of four others. Acres, 53,616.

Leaf Syll, 53,666; in 1961, 33,484. House, 7,162, 1670014 (1960, a close) ship, and a parish in It llow direct, Salope. The villege stands near the cut bear of the Onny and the Tenes, of jugart to the cut bear of the Onny and the Tenes, of jugart to the statement of the Onny and the Tenes, of jugart to the statement of the County and the statement of the County and the statement of the County and the statement of the part of the statement of the county of the statement of the stateme

115. The parish contains likewise the chapelry of Halford. Acres, 7, 174. Real property, £9, 457. Pop., 762. Houses, 138. The property is divided among a few. Oakley Park, contiguous to the village, is a fine feature. A small college of secular canons was founded, in the A small college of securar canons was follow, in the time of Henry I., on the brink of the Teme, below the influx of the Onny; became, in 1130, a Penedictine priory, subject to St. Peter's Abbey at Glonester; and was given, in the time of Mary, to Charles Fox. The living is a vicarage in the discoss of Hereford. Value, £331.* Patton, R. C. W. Clive, Esq. The church ad-joins some remains of the ancient priory; is an ancient structure of various dates, with a tower; and was repaired in 1850.

BROMFLEET. See BROOMFLEET.

BROMFORD LASSE, a joint station with Ol-Bury, on the Birmingham and Wolverhampton radiway, 52 miles NW of Birmingham.

BROMHALL, a handet in Sunninghill parish, Berks. Here was a small Penedictine manery, founded before the time of King John; and given, at the dissolution, to St. John's college, Cambridge. Here also was the residence of Richard II.'s queen, Isabella.

BROMHALL. See BROOMHALL, Cheshire. BROMHAM, a parish, with a village, in the district and county of Bedford, on the river Case, 2 and is set of Cakley r. station, and 4 WNW of Bedford. Postown, Bedford. Acres, 1,788. Real property, 25,288. Pop., 361. Houses, 67. The property is divided among a few. Bromban Hall is the seat of the Trevors. A believe of Standard Standard Case, and the Case of the Case o bridge of 25 arches crosses the Ouse at the village. living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Oarley, in the diocese of Ely. Value, £336.* Patron, Iton College. The church is very ancient but good; has a square tower; and contains monuments of the Trevors square tower; and contains monuments of the Prevos and the Dyves. There is a free school. BROMHAM, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Devizes district, Wilts. The village stands 1½ mile N of the Kennet and Avon canal, 13 8 of the Benu read to Dath, 2 miles N by U of Securd r. station, and 3½ NW of Devices; and less a post-office under Chippend, and an hostelry. The parish comprises 2,593 acros. 16-4 property, 26,894. Pop., 1,402. Howes, 314. The property is divided among a few. The many was beld, in the time of Edward the Confessor, by Lard Harold; belonged, in the time of Henry VI., to Lord St. Anomel; and posed from him to the Bayatous. Brogham House was destroyed in 1645. Spy Park house was bailt in 1650 by the Bayatous; is an interesting embattled edifice, on the verge of a fine hill; was occasionally visited, in the time of Charles IL, by the witty but proflig " in the time of Charles II., by the wirty and pringing Earl of Rochester; and is now the seat of J. Baymon Starky, Esq. Sloperton Cettage, in the north, near Bowood Park, was long the residence and eventually the death-place of the poet Moore. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £698.* Patron, the Rev. E. Edgell. The church is decorated English, richly sculptured; has a han Isome spire; was restored in 1869; and contains tembs of the Bayntons, an all-daster temb of a Beauchamp, and a monumental table to Dr. Sersen, or a nearmonamp, and a monumental table for Pr. Sersen, who wrote "Sesson on the Seasons." The church and contains the grave of the poet Moore. There are a Baytist chapel, a Wesleyan chapel, and this choice 5 the latter with 420 a-year. Takhop Wesh, the Somerset county historian Collinson, and Dr. Season were natives. councy integrals, collision, and 19th Season were matter.

The sub-district e setting four parishes and pert of another.
Acres, 13,993. Pop., 4,884. Houses, 1,103.
BROMHILL. See But more arrow and baccommits.
BROMHOLM, a bradet in Bacton parish, Norfolk;
4½ miles NE of North Walsham. It once had a market

44 miles NE of North Waistan. If there may a mather and a priory. See Bertow.
BROMLEY, a small town, a parish, a sub district, and a hundred, in Kent. The town stards on high ground, rishin from the Ravensbonne five, adjacent to the Ferebergah radvay, 10 miles SU of SU.

10.118. Journal of a properly equil view to be V. Paul's, London. It extremals good views to the W., SW, and S; sends in a boundful country, with rapid inerense of fine residence; is a seat of party cost to and a polling-place; and has a railway station, a post-order cur-der Lendon, SE, a new town hall, good inns, a church, three discerting chapels, a college for clergy men's widows, a National school, and a literary institute. The church is chiefly perpendicular English, mainly rebuilt in 1829, and consisting of nave, chancel, and tibles; has, at the west end, an ancient embattled tower, surmounted by a empola; and contains a Norman font, a brass of 1856, "Adventurer," and the graves of Bishop Pearce, Eishop Tonge, and the wife of Pr. Johnson. The college is a large brick structure, founded in 1606, by Bishop Warner, and repaired in 1705; gives residences and support to 40 widows; and has an income of £1,993. A drainage-system for the town was projected in 1869.

Grainage-system for the town was projected in 1899. The parish comprises 4,646 acres. Real property in 1800, £28,695. Rental in 1805, £36,771. Rateable value in 1861, £28,565; in 1865, £37,810. Pop. in 1861, 5,505; in 1865, 8,023. Houses in 1801, 1,000; in 1866, 1,338. The manor was given, in the 8th century, by Ethelhert, King of Kent, to the bishops of Rochester; continued, with some slight interruptions, to be held by them till a few years ago; and belongs now to Colys Child, Esq. A palace was built on it, by one of the bishops, soon after the Conquest; underwent improvements by successive bishops; was visited by Walpole and Pope; and gave place, in 1776, to a new palace, a plain brick mansion, now the residence of the present lord of the manor. The parish deace of the present on a time manner. The parish ceased, at the recent re-arrangement of sees, to be in the dioces of Rochester; and the residence of the bishops was then fixed at Danbury in Essex. A chalybeate spring is in the palace-grounds; and another spring was there till lately, called St. Blaize's well, which had anciently a small oratory, and was a resort of pilgrims, in the Romish times, at Whitsuntide. An old mouted mansion, at the southern extremity of the town, belonged successively to the Bangards, the Clarks, and the Simpsons; and some remains of it exist under the name of Simpsons place. Printing Index, Bickley Park, and Sundridge, see in the neighbourhood. The living is a p. curacy in the dio-cess of Canterbury. Value, 2160. Patron, the Eishop of Wencester. The vicatages of Platstow, Bickley, and Bromley-Common are separate benefices

The sub-district contains the parishes of Bromley, Beckenham, Haps, West Wickham, Keston, Down, Cudham, and Knockholt. Acres, 23,118. Pop., 11,755. Houses, 2,257. The district comprehends also the sub-Houses, 3,291. The district comprehends also the subdistrict of Chislehurst, containing the parishes of Chislehurst, Tarnborough, Chislehd, Orpington, St. Mary-Cray, St. Paul-Cray, Foots-Cray, and North-Cray, Acres, 39,927. Poor-rates in 1866, 211,191. Pop. in 1831, 29,368. Houses, 3,851. Marriages in 1866, 162; births, 871,—of which 25 were illegitimate; deaths, 464,—of which 163 were at ages under 5 years, and 15 at ages above Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 967; births 5,414; deaths, 3,078. The places of worship in 1851 were 17 of the Church of England, with 5,489 sittings; 5 of Independents, with 1,010 s.; 4 of Baptists, with 630 s.; 10 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,230 s.; and I of the Wesleyan Methodist Association, with 16 s. The schools were 20 public day schools, with 1,717 scholars; 21 private day schools, with 395 s.; 17 Sunday schools, with 1,179 s.; and I evening school for adults, with 19 s. The workhouse is in Farnborough.-The hundred is in the lathe of Sutton-at-Hone; bears the name of Bromley and Beckenbarn; and contains only the parishes of Bromley and Beckenbarn. Acres, 8,521. Pop., 7,629. Houses,

1, 452.

BROMLEY, a township in Worfeld parish, Salop; 1 mile NNE of Bridgmorth

mite NNL of Bridgnorth BROMLEY, a township in Ecclerhall parish, Staffordshire; 5 miles NW of Stafford. Acres, 1,080. Real property, 2791. Pop., 41. Houses, 4.
BROMLEY, a handlet in Wortby township, Tankersley pu'sl., W. R. Yorkshire; 7 miles SW of Parnesley, BROMLEY-ALSOPES. See Autors-Brootley.
BROMLEY-ALSOPES. See Autors-Brootley.
BROMLEY-BROOTS. See Broots-Brootley.
BROMLEY-BROOTS. See Broots-Brootley.
BROMLEY-BROOTS.

BROMLEY-COMMON, a chapelry in Bromley parish,

Keat; 3 miles from Bromley town and r. station. It was condituded in 1813; and has a post-office under Brondey. Pop., 1,163. Houses, 257. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Canterbary. Value, 2,152.* Patron, the Bishop of Worcester. The church was built in 1841, and is a handsome offfice in the Gothic style.

BROMLEY-CROSS, a station on the Bolton and Blackbradelity Cross, a station of the bottom and black-burn railway, Luncashire; 2 miles N of Bolton. BROMLEY (Grazza), a village and a parish in Tend-ring district, E-sex. The village stands 3 miles SSE of Ardleigh r. station, and 51 E of Colchester; has a post-ATMERGE T. Station, and 54 k. of Colinester; has a post-cilice under Manningfree; and is a srat of petty sessions. The parish comprises 2,956 acres. Real property, 25,504. Pop., 758. Houses, 175. The property is subdivided. The hiving is a rectory in the diocess of Rochester. Value, £698. Patron, W. Graham, Esp. The church has a brass of 1422, and is good. Chartities, £34. BROMEEY-IUCIST. See ADDOTS-BROWNEY, BROWLEY UNDERS OF BROWNEY, BROWNEY, BROMLEY (King's), or BROMLEY-BEGIS, a parish in BROMLEY (KING'S), or BROMLEY-REOLS, a pairs in in lichifield district, Stafford; on the fiver Trent; 25 miles E of Armitage r. station, and 5 N of Lichifield. It has a post-office, of the name of King's Bromley, under Lichifield. Acres, inclusive of King's Bromley Hays, sometimes deemed extra-parochial, 3,370. Real property, 27,381. Pop. 638. Houses, 148. The manor belonged, in the Saxon times, to Earl Leofric; after the Conquest, the Constant of the Saxon times, to Earl Leofric; after the Conquest, in the Saxon times, to Last Leother, are the compact, to the Grown; and passed to the Agards and the Newtons. Bromley Hall is the seat of the Lone family. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Lichfield. Value, £210. Patron, the Bishop of Lichfield. The clumb is later English, and has monuments of the Agards and the Newtons. A school has £105 from endowment; and other charities, £74.

BROMLEY (LITTLE), a parish in Tendring district, Essex; 21 miles SE of Ardleigh r. station, and 6 E by N 1.85ex; 23 mites St of Ardrega r. station, and 6 L by N of Colchester. Post-town, Great Bromley, under Manningtree. Acres, 1,841. Real property, £3,739. Pop., 371. Honses, 90. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £493. Patron, Wadham College, Oxford. Charities, £10. BROMLEY-REGIS. See BROMLEY (KING'S).

BROMLEY-ST.-LEONARD, a parish in Poplar district, Middlesex; on the river Lea, the Limbouse cut, and the North London and Eastern Counties railways, and the North London and Eastern Conditions minus, near flow and Stratifond strtions, 2] miles ENL of St. Paul's, London. It has a post-office, 1 of the name of Brombey, under Bow, London, E. Aerrs, 612. Real property, LSI,313. Pop., 24,077. Houses, 3,407. Part of the land is disposed in market gardens. Many of the inhality of the state of t bitants are employed in calico print-works, mills, a perhash factory, a brewery, a distillery, and the East and West India docks. The limits include part of the city of London workhouse, and part of Tower Hamlets cometery. A Benedictine numbery, dedicated to St. Leonard, was founded at Bromley, in the time of the Conqueror, by founded at Bromley, in the time of the Conqueror, by William Bishop of London; and given, at the dissolution, to Sir Rulph Sadler. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of London. Value, 4390. Patron, J. Walter, Esq. The church belonged to the number, and has Norman traces. The vicanage of St. Michael and the p. curacies of St. Leonard's chaple, St. Gabriel, and St. Andrew are repaired benefices. Value of St. M., 290.3; of St. G. and St. A. each, 4200. St. M.'s church was built so that the control of the cont in 1866-8; and is in the early English style. St. A.'s and St. G.'s were built in 1869. There are a Weslevan chapel, public schools, almshonses, and some charities.

BROMLOW, a township in Worthin parish, Salop; 9 miles N of Bishops-Castle. Pop., 468.

BROMORE. See BREAMORE.
BROMPTON, a town and two chapelries in Chatham and Gillingham parishes, Kent. The town consists of two parts, New and Old; the former, adjacent to the London and Dover railway, 11 mile E of Chatham, with a staand Dover radway, 14 into E of Chatham, with a sta-tion on the ridway, the latter on the brow of a hill, overlooking the Medway, I mile NE of Chatham, with a post-office tunder Chatham. A grand must hospital, burneks for the Poyal marines light infantry, barracks, and hospital for the infantry of the line, and baracks, with stables, for the Royal engineers are here, all within extensive for a class which defend the dockyard a rewlant of Chathan. The barracks include a the stensive f rt'. anssum, containing models and relies. A large military gymnasium was creeted in 1863, at a co. of upwards of £6,000. The new convict prison is here; and, at the gyanasum was elected in 1805, at a cert of appears of a 4,020. The new consist prison is here; and, at the Cres is of 1801, h. 41,269 inmates. A fair is held of 22 May. The slop hies are Old R. and New B. Pop., $119 and 4,90. The livings are vicarries in the discovery of Riochester, Value £150° and £166. Old B. cost of noemester. Yame acro' and 2100. Cd B. church is a neat e liftee in the pointed style, with a spite. New B. church was built in 1806, at a cost of £5,800; and is in the early decorated style. There are chapels and is in the early decorated style. There are chapter for Weslevan, and Recam Catholics. BROMPTON, a submb of London, a sub-district, in the parist; and district of Kensington, Middlews; be-tween Kuljatshridge and Chelsea, 34 miles SW by W of twen km₃distinge and Carlest, 3) inters with year St. Paul's. It his post-offices, under London, S. W., and a large reliway station of West Brounton. Acres, 628. Pop. in 1831, 9,955; in 1861, 1,468. House, 2,572. The north-castern part is called fold Brounton: and the reath of the remainder. New Brounton. Large part and the so fill o deem part, New Brompton. Large pair of the a order of the rest of the consist of the rest of the rest of the sound to the state of commodation for 230 patients; and includes a beautiful cheed, built in 1850. A caucer hospital was established thopol, bailt in 1850. A caucer hospital was established in 1851; and a new building for it, with a principal front Trinity cauch was built in 1859, at a cast of $7,000. Trinity cauch was exceted in 1828; and the larrying ground compact I with it was forced out of a flewer garden, -a fact true of to high poetical account by Miss Landon. Three other churches are in Obl Brompton, We t Brompton and Onslow-squarer and all are vicar-eges in the diocese of London. Value of Trinity vicatage, nees in the discrete ct London. Value of Francy voldage, 2630; of Vest Broupton, £300; of the others, not re-ported. Patron of Trinity, the Bishop of London; of West Broupton, the Incorporation of Brompton; of Oll Broag ton chapel, the Victr of K.; of St. Paul's Onslow-s pure, C. J. Freake, Esq. There are several dissenting chapels; and there is a Roman Catholic establishment, with a species chapel. Henry Cromwell, William Penn Ford, Count Burnford, A. Murphy, John Philipet Curran, Sir Pichard Philipes, the Rev. W. Belee, Charles Incledon. George Coleren, and John Reeve, were residents. BUOMPTON, a township in Church-Stoke parish, Salap, 6 miles NW by W of Bishop-Castle. Pop., 119.

Satop, 6 milet SW by we of bishop "clisht", 101, 113.

Ric MPTON, a chap-bry in Northalleston puish, K.
R. Ye 'schire; adjucent to the Northestern railway, 12 mile N of Northalleston. 11 has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Northallerton. Acres, 3,801. Real property, 20,670. Pop., 1,328. Houses, 316. The property is much subdivided. Here is Standard The projecty is each submided. Here is Standard bell, the sense of the victory over the Sects in 118. The inhabitants are else by weavers. The living is a p. currey is the diocess of York. Yalne, £120. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Fathern. The church is good; and there bre We levan and Primitive Methodist chapels.

BROMPTON, a township and a parish in Sauborough 6:4m; N. R. Voskshire. The township lies near to 7m; Beaucht, thinks N by Wo 6 Gauton r. striken, rm 5 SW by Worf Souborough; and it has a port office rad S SW by Wed Sorbavongly, and it has a ported for where York, and is a state of petity a sing. Pop. 103, Proc., 117. The purk beomains also the townships of Scientific, Trout of the and Sawdon. Acres, 10,180, Keal property is divided among a few. The manor was a read depoint of the Nordambrian kings, had a sect of the deposity is divided among a few. The manor was a a gal de mein of "the Nordambartu Lings; had a sect of their on an emiting of edbel Cadeballi; and passed to the CDP pleand "the thay by. The living it a vietness, matter with their can, yet Swol four, in the discover of York, Anthon et 9.2. Futuron, Sin C. Cayley, Bart. Tha chiral, and charitic edge of Them are a Web syon ethod, and charitic edge, I John de Demonton, the Circles, and charitic edge. tere in mont, who wrote a history of Lagland, was a

BLOMPTON BURLOW. See Barrier's Burnow

BROMPTON-BUYAN. See BRAMPTON-BUYAN. BROMPTON (New and Old). See Blompton, Kent and APRICES.

BROMFTON-PATRICK, a township and a parish in Leybona district, N. R. Yorksbire. The township lies on the first of of the river Swide, near the Northalleston. a cue inversivace, near the Notthalferbin a railway, 4 miles NW by W of Bedsley.
 Real property, £2,311. Pop., 205. The parish contains also the townships of erd Lev Acres, 1. Houses, 43. The parish contains also the townships of Newton-ba-Willbows, Hunton, and Arrahorne; the first of which has a station to the railway, and the second a post-office under Catterick. Acres, 5,757. Real property, 210,635. Pup., 1,216. Houses, 265. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicinity united with the vicinize of Hunton, in the discuss of Ripon. Value, £296. Patron, the Bi hop of Ripon 171, then it is not because of the property of Inpot. Valle, 2000. Fatron, the black of Riped The church is good; and there are charities 272. BROMITON-POTTER, a township is Ganton parish, E. R. Pottshire; on the York and Semberough railway, 3 miles E of Shadam. Pop., 124.

3 miles I of Shot burn. Pop., 124. BROMPTON-RALPH, a parish in Williton district, Somerset; 33 miles WSW of Crewcombe-Heathfield re-station, and 4 N of Wiveliscombe. Post-town, Wiveles-combe, nuder Wellington, Somerset. Acres, 2,600. Real property, 23,495. Pop., 436. Houses, 94. The property is divided among a few. There are traces of a Roman. The living is a rectory in the diccese of Bath and camp.

camp. The hiving is a rectory in the discess of reat and Wells. Value, £347.* Patrons, J. Blommart, Lsq., and Miss Escott. The church is old, and was enlarged in 1817. There is an Independent chapel.

HROMPION:HEGHS, a village and a patish in the district of Tiverton, and county of Somerset. The willage was the rest the wire Esc., 3 to the NE of Duberton and stands near the river Fxc, 31 miles NE of Dulverton, and 10 N by W of Tiverton r. station; and has a partodice under Tiverton. It was once a market-town; and fairs are still hold at it on 1 Aug. and the second Thursday after 10 Oct. The parish comprises $,810 acres. Real property, £6,718. Pop., 929. Houses, 182. The property is much subdivided. A priory of 19ack canons was founded at Barlinel, in the time of Heavy H., by William de Lay. Building stone abounds. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £100. * Patron, Emmanuel College, Combridge. church was restored in 1853. There are Indicated cauren was restored in 1853. There are thre problem and Bible Christian chaptels, and charities 418.

BROMTTON-UTON-SWALL, a town-big in Early parish, N. B. Yorkshite; on the river Swale and the Riedmond railway, 34 miles F of Eichmond. I tincludes the handlet of Citallita; and has a postofice under Richmond. Acres, L/10. Real property, 43,418. Pop., 1850 and 18

Bremannd, Acres, L. 10. Real property, 25, 418. Top., 406. Houses, 98. It forms a canage with Easly. BROMSBORROW, a parish in Newert district, Gouester; on flow verge of the county, f miles SE of Sollary r. station. Post-town, Seibary. Acres, 1,803. Real property, 25,206. Pop., 305. House, 51. The property is divided among a few. Bromsborrow Piece Laborated to the Vitames and tessed to the Eigenber. belonged to the Yateses, and passed to the Ricardos. Bromsborrow Heath is a neet for the Ledbury hounds. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Glowes et and Bristol. Value, £339. Patron, Earl Peauchamp. The church is ancient and excellent; and has monumen's of Charities, £5, the Yateses.

BROMSGROVE, or BROOMSGROVE, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district, in Worester. The town stands on the river Salwap, under the Littay Life, it is used finished to the Middand railway, near the Worester and Einmingham can d. 12 miles XL by X or Weep setter. It was unciently called Brent grave; sout two to be stop, allowed in the table of Euver 1.1; and held roug the estates of a corporate town, with build, recorder, abdermen, and other objects. It consists the dy of one street, about a mile long; and contains many good in deri relati a bine long; and co-tains many good in-termones, with some very unifort one, curious and pictureages. If has a head po todice, a milway station with telegraph, two binking offices, four chief irus, a rest toward all of 1832, a parish thurth, a Laptist chief of 1857, other discenting chapels, a Roman Carbolle chapels, a grammar school, a free school as school as school as school as the school as free s 400 hou e; and it is a sent of per a second a polling-place, and publish sea with message for. The church thous same is since per left should be a trace per left spine 19 bets high a west to a fail to be at a cest of £5,600; and contains so and he observe memorate of the first per left should be shaped we should be 15 by 15 bets and be observed by 15 nr 1893; i. in the decorated Lingit Letyle of architecture; and forms a conspictions object to travellers entering the teach. The grammer school of testrom the time of Edward VI.; has an endowed income of edward VI.; has an endowed income of editional and holds as followship and send using at Work or college, Oxford. A weekly nearbest in help on Tuesday; a monthly market, toll-free, on the first Theslay after 6 Jan., 21 done, the second Theslay of Dec., and the last The salay of the other month of and the on 21 June and 1 Oct. A considerable linen and papent button manu-1 Oct. A considerable linen and payort fattor, mann-fecture was formedly carried on, but his cassed, said the chief manetacture now in eith. Real property, (15,624, Pept, 5,292. Houses, 1,143. The pairst in "theselve the head of Chul vick and tha charging of Cas. Hall. Acres, 10,968. Real property is much subdivided. The Liebzy hills, a little north of the form, are on the water-hall belowes the Second and the Teast was now been shed between the Severn and the Trent; were not long ago reclaimed from wildness to cultivation; and command delightful views. A chalybente spring is at Barnet-green, and a petrifying spring at Holmwood. A Pre-monstratension priory was founded, in the time of Hemy I., at Dolsworth; and part of it is included in a fain-1., at Postsorial; and part of it is manded in dumbouse.

The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £1,005. Parrons, the Dean and Chapter of Worcester. The vicarages of Lickey and Cats-Hill are separate benefices.

The sub-district contains the parishes of Brom-grove and Stol. Prior. Acres, 14,788. Pop., 12,444. Houses, 2,634.—The district comprehends also by a thelistrict of 2.331.—The district comprehends aborine a dedictrict of Belbon han, containing the parishes of Belbo auchton, Clent, Har-ley, Pedmore, and Prankley, and part of the parish of 11 deswen; and the sub-district of Tardebly; containing the parishes of Tardebly; Archiver, and Coston-Huckett. Acres, 47.371. Programme in 1856, 190; births, 1,621,—of which 87 were illustrationally deaths, 558,—of which 235 were at ages under 5 years, and 16 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-69, 1.483; births, 8,690; deaths, 5,200. The place of v orship in 1851 were 15 of the Church of The places of v orship in 1551 were 15 of the Church of ane pages of vorsup in 1851 were 15 of the Church of England, with 6,747 sittings; 3 of In lependers, with 900 s.; 4 of Baptists, with 310 s.; 2 of Wesleyen Metho-dists, with 1,731 s.; 9 of Plinnitve Mcthodists, with 1,144 s.; and 1 of the Wesleyan Association, with 300 s. The schools were 16 public day schools, with 1,531 scholars; 43 private day schools, with 925 s.; 25 Sunday schools, with 3,511 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, BROMSHALL. See BRAMSHALL. BROMSTON, a limblet in St. Peter parish, Kent;

near Broadstai

BROMWICH (CASTER), a chapeley in Aston parish, Warrick; on the Birmingham and Deaby railway, adju-cent to the Birmingham and Faceley cand, 54 miles ENE of Birmingham. It less a station on the railway, ENE of Branigham. It res a statem on the Process, and a post-office under Diraningham. Pop., 613. Hourse, 129. Casth Process h Hall is an old sett, and belongs to the Earl of Budford. An ancient castle is supposed to have stool on an eminence, still call I Cotle-hill. Those of Roam entrembuerts exist; and ancient with shave been festad. The living is a vistage in the living is Alvertical Workston, Volte, Ed.S. Pattern, the Fed on to alterd. There is a free school.

DECOMMICAL (LATTER), a bundlet in Astern parish, Whendish; configuous to Castle-Branavich. Pop., 405.

House, S. BROMWICH (Wisst), a firm, a p. Ch, for sub-dis-BROMWICH (Wisst), a firm, a p. Ch, for sub-dis-fricts, and a district in Staffard. The foreign for the oracle Brain Januaria I Welvechier for and Johnson, and Yalley and Corth Stafford (diways, 44 miles NW b). W of Birmin cham. It was, at the close of last of the y, a hard village unid a barron both; but it now a lown hand village until a barro 1) after but it not a own ups sets of this is loss, of the even index agree of pra-gue (e.e. q., %). The Highester transmotthe of sur-and is 14 mily even may bands one streets, if stand-west, and pathic buildings, denotely factor—act from private residences, show a genul aggreet of striking feature, S. G. G., S. 14 hi is Pandy's stress operating frating. St. G. a., 's.1 (d), in Paradic sets. . organity a Wesleyan chapel, is a tastoffal chiller, it commodities about 768 person, and serves for contexts, bettered, and public meetings. The methet place, at the south and of High star, its criticity supplied. The pelicosaction, control in 1.71, in the residence of officers with a strong body of men. All Shards church, on an emission at the morth-cast side of the perich, is an ancient structure, of many, chemical, and aides with a tower; and contains enrious Notice to tot, two very ancient efficies, and a memorial window of 1854 to the line Earl of Butmouth. menorial window of 1834 to the Lat left Dattmonth. Christ-Chu, h. in High-to-c, v. v. built in 1823, at a cost of £15, 195; and is a store office, in the later Ung-bish style, with a pure cont whet tower, £1, for high Trinity change, in Winterpread, was built in £84; at a cost of meally $25,600; and is a being state (w. in the early English style, with a nurrent of tower. St. Jone Church, at Bill-Top, was built on £81; a discrete brick structure, without a tower. St. Peter's cheach, in Ollharezhue, was built in £85; and is a contribution what had it in $150 and is contributed by the first of $150 and is contributed by the first of $150 and is contributed by the $150 and is contributed by $150 and brick structure, without a tower. St. Peter's charch, in Oldbury-lune, was built in 1859; and is a neit stouchline, with a small tower. An Independent charpel is a pleasing Datie structure; a Wesleyan Chap, I is a square brick, builting of 1835, roised at a cost of 13, ful; or I the Roman Catholic clopel is an edifice in the early English style, with a turret at each angle. There are line keemal counter copie is an estime in the earlier benglish style, with a trutel at each angle. There are likewise, within the perion, two other Ind. endoate bayels, five other Wesley in, two logifish, six Primitive Methodist, and cook N w Connexion Methodist. All Saints shot, both and form though one print The Temperature and Educational religion, in High street, contains popular lineary and real largerous, and has bettees during winter. The worldown, in Holman-treet, was ere fed in 1855, of the cost of death 25% of its in the Gottine style, and has equivalent entry on the cost of the near the old darrah, was opened in 1855; contaprises chout 8 reas; and has two Gottin style, and has equipment for the cost of death of the cost of death of the cost of the cost hardward also in man, man begins, when the Burshs, comercy, and paper. A grain gasword, antionized in 1825, and constituted it a cost of 2172,000, he arrays greenic of nearly 150 miles of plays, and supplies, it a blitton to West Broundich itself, parts of Brinningh m, Wednesbury, Dudley, Walsull, Dudeston, Tipton, and Greet Bridge. Two rathens of the Liminghum and Wolverhampton raitway, of the names of West Pronawick and Swam village, each with telegraph, are at the town and four stations of the Stour Valley and South Stational and constitutions it the scent valvey was solar scales in railway are within a nole of the partial charles. Xis-merous level we of courts also give go at facility for treffer. A worldy in that is both on Satisday; and a 1b some fair on I Nov. There is also alphystolatically two bankings flices, and there chart mas. Pop., 17, 60%.

Houses, 50, 10,

Houses, 0.5 (3).

The parish council > 5.710 a test. Red proposes, 2128,050 of which < 5.891 ar. is, minut, so be about in inservation of which < 5.891 ar. is, minut, so be about in inservation. It is no 1881, 25 (21) in 1841, 24.73 and some of it is no a state of 1. In entire the inference helped, in 120, to the 19 are of 5.04 v. in 1200, to Web et al. (5) to the 19 are of 5.04 v. in 1200, to Web et al. (5) to the 8 (above of 180) to Web et al. (5) to partial 1688 to 16 handly of 180 (above of the 180) to the 180 (above of 180) and the above the substitution of the present that A face of the priory was founded 1..., in the time of He p. 11, and Solution, to Calculate Web et al. (5) to be solution to Calculate Web et al. (5) and the priory point of the p. Web et al. (5) and the priory plant of the plant of the priory plant of the prior plant of the prior plant of the prior plant of the priory plant of the prior pla

111

I def Mestres with Bornes, 1844 Westyers of the Web (1984) for the New Come than Methods of the with More 1984 for Mestres of the April 1984 for the the April 1984 fo one a clutch three descring this distance is the distalis a the Sacon and Normony consists of many clutis a the Sacon and Normony consists of many clutich sides, and produce which toward was conflicted, sides, and notice that tends of a Backery regional, which is a mander plantened of a Backery while a monutrous of the Bow R. Rockery, and a matter of oil a monor, also and was majority oilleader to show production. A washington that he does not tree by a month of the matter of his to the first forther of replacement and labour fits. Let Mondy which the Trumber one 25 Judy, and the Truck to a first the trumber of the Word fit Truck to a first the Anthony of the Word fits I have the street of the trumber of the Word fits I have a first the first of the Word fits I have the distribution of the Body of the Course of the first of the first of the Word fits I have the Hard the Land of Body to the Street of the street of the first of the Word fits I have the Hard first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the street of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the second of the first of the transfer of the first of the first of the first of the transfer of the first of the first of the first of the transfer of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first
of the first of the first
of the first of the first
of the first of the first
of the first of the first
of the first of the first
of the first of the first
of the first of the first of the first
of the first of the first
of the first of the first of the first
of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first
of the first of the first
of the first of the first of the first
of the first of the first of the first of the first of the first of the firs

A. Committee and M. Committee and M.

Process of the grant is now to the form of the peak of the peak of the peak of the form of the peak of the form of the peak of the peak of the form of the peak of the peak of the form of the peak of IMC 28 (34), a Consistent in Mode partos, Harry 1 mill from Mod. I contribute the adverte overlay any mill. Pop. 163. Heavil, 84.

ERONDE BURY, a closelty in Willedon parish, abblides y, notice the 1896. Pop., 400. Living a rectory, 160 (NOWYX), a Bayraway, a parish in the decreased contribute of Carlog ap. 1 or the Tech. 12 mill. NW cf. Nowass. (Ender r. datum. It has a postedion of the contribute of the

NW C New case (Epile) E. tation. It has a personal conduct Commuter. Proceedings, the property of with Lamong a few. The traject is with Lamong a few. The hydroxis a Y or, per name volume the vicinity of the lamong of Pendaru, in the down on the Proceedings of Control of the Procedings of Galifettial partia, Proceedings of Proceedings of Galifettial partia, Proceedings of Proceedings of Galifettial partia, Proceedings of the NW of Wellings of the Proceedings of the NW of Wellings of the Proceedings of Acade. Value, 1800. Barren, Sir J. Hene et leit. The classed kin by set.

BROSELEVS. The askide in Libertic or pareta, Riebman, 111, actors askide in Libertic or pareta, Riebman, 111, actors and country of large in Libertic Structure. The parist in Libertic and country of large in Libertic Structure in Libertic Structure. In Libertic Structure in Libertic Structure. In Libertic Structure in Libertic Structure. In Libertic Structure.

to d who long the abodes of his relative, the plot Mr. | Mill | D. | of Buching bong T. Helpen and H. Helpen and H

In the new Eddy No. 2013 H., a township in St. Namin the h. Schot, "P. neille, NY, Edd O. Awskry. It has a proceed at the familian Pop., "P.4. "RIGN NYSOWEN," on ancient camp in Lianshidy 1 of "Commuta, adding on the monitor of learning of the new York and New York Carmathen. A cost of bonding, of the year St., and some other early Room or cams were BROOK a period of the state of to the Bowermans; and belongs now to C. Szely, I.a. The manor house was built toward the close of last century; and acceptes the site of a previous one in which Heav VIII, was entertained. The coast includes Brook Chine and Brook Point; at the latter of which are remains of a very curious mass of pitrilled thes. The living is a nectory in the discuss of Winelester. Value, £250. Patron, Mrs. Gaze. The Church is a very life uninteresting structure, picture squely situated; and was gutted by fire in December, 1862.

BROOK, a hander in Banchew perish, Houts; 7 EROOK, a tything in Kings-Sembourn parish, Hauts; 7 miles SW of Romsey. Pop., 347. EROOK, a tything in Kings-Sembourn parish, Hauts; 7 miles N of Romsey. Pop., 86. EROOK, a locality, with a strong mineral spring, near Tavistock, in Devon.

Pavistens, in Devol. BROOK, a pari-b in East Ashford district, Kent; 27 miles SE of Wye r. station, and 4 NE of Ashford. Post-town, Wyo, under Ashford. Acres, 592 Red property, 61,671. Pop., 120. Honser, 51. The property symbolyubold. The Hying it worst eye in the discuss of Cantallary. Volum, 2472. Latrong, the December and Chapter of Canter buy. The church tower is dilapi-

BROOK, Wilt: See Brown-House

BROOK, Wift See Broats Hotse.
BROOK, or Gasaria, a hambet in Stouten paish, Somerset; 24 miles W of Merc. Pop., 295. Houses, 70.
BROOKE, a parish in Loddon district, Norfels; on an affluent of the rive Yare, 12 miles V.NW of Loddon, and 6 E of Florden r., station. It has a post-office under Norwich, Acres, 2,135. Real property, £4,415. Pop., 746. Houses, 108. The property is divided between two. Brooke Hall and Brooke House are the chief residences; and the former is an edifice in the Grecian style, deners), and the normer is an connect in the erection style, built in 1820. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £216, * Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good; r.d. there is a Baptist chapel Chanitics, £156, Sir Asthey Cooper was a native. BLOOKE, a parish in Oshham district, Rutlend; on the crives Good.

the river Gwash, near the Syston and Petarborough wilway, 2½ miles 88W of Oakham. Post-town, Oakham. Acres, 1,550. Real property, £2,174. Pop., 112. Houses, 22. A small Augustinian palecy was founded here, in the time of Richard L, by Hugh Ferrers; made sub-adjuste to the monetery of Kenilworth; and given, sub-animals to the animal by a Kentiword, and given, at the dissolution, to Anthony Coope. The living is a vicinge, numered to the vicinges of Ozkham, in the dice so of Pet the rough. Chailies, Cf. .

BROOKEND, a locality 2 miles X of Beckeley, in DROOMEND, a beenly 2 rates A of betweey, in Clear ester, with a post-office under Lydney. PROOMEND, a had let in Shenley port M. Pochs; near the Northeestern rollway, 33 miles WNW of Francischaft of Acres, 1,620, 190, 200. Honces, 48, BROOMEND, Bels. S.e Thouscorr-with-Brook-

BROOKESBY, a puish in Melion-Mowhay district, BROOTERS 33, a perish in Betton Govern with the Left estay of the three Wreak, and on the Syst a and Peterborough radius at 2 miles E of the Pesse way, and k_1^2 WSW of Mede in Codony. It has a station on the milway, and its performing the a station on the milway, and its perform to the period of the Left Aeres, $41. Period page tw, with Holey, 22,70%. Popport. 4. Hense, 7. The obesty Hall was formerly the sort of the Villaguest and was the birthphase of the first aving is a sectory of this live of names of softh a Valler of BEOOKTIELD, or Highway, Just, a chapity is St. Paneras parish, MBH Bosey, mar Highest of Tour constituted in 10.3. Programm, MBL of A days, of the disease of London, Value, above Patron, the disease of London, Value, above Patron, the the discuss of London. Variety 2000. Patron con Bishop of London. Bishop of London. Bishop of London. Patron of the Con-sexy adia on rotus Weet London rule application of the side of Housmots ith. It has applied the Patron mersuith, London, We, a Roman Catholic Co., I, a I Ishis's almadiana BROOKHAMPTON, a towns bein Hellgate peris', Sudop', 8 miles SW of Mach-Weills'th Pop., 40, Houses, 10.

BROOKHAMPTON, a tything in Newlington parish, Oxford; on the diversity, ag, z males N of Present Pep., 113.

BROOKHAMPTON, a township in Onder Perg. b.

Winterston

BEOOKHILL as somether estable of the moth of Durtinouth hardour, I say let in a visibil cover, about I by hills, I by mile SE of Duramouth. It belongs a formally by hills, 13 mile SL of Datanouth. If help go of councily to A. H. Heldsworth, Esq. and I blongs in word, I, Davenport, I sq. The I base contains someonic of Sir Walter Religib, and a liberoises of historical containable ments; and the grounds show free securic for the sound contain the foundations of an architecturing case.

BROOKHOUSE, a bander in Longition of oMorthen parish, W. R. Y. Schine; El miles SW of tickhill. BROOKHOUSE, of KINGSHOUS, an old sear of the BROOKING SL, OF RINGSHOPE, an Gio scal of the Farls of Warwick, and of the Pintstons, afficient a limite asching in H. Schwypatish, Mildly englighted to Horserton, 34 mil 8 NE of St. Plan's, London, BROOKING S. Planytorius, PROOKISTONE, a hards the Charle paids, Sufferd; near Cheadle.

near Chardie.

BEROOKLAND, a patish in Rome en March bishi sekut; adjusat to the Ashford and Bosin is sullewy, and mear the Board Military cand 21 miles 8 by E of Appliables in station, and 54 bish No. 7 leve 15 dampy. If has a past office under folk-sizes, and a fair on I align Actes, 1,832. Red property is read satisfaction. The Brings So. The property is much satisfaction. The Bring is a victure in the diverse of transitury. Value, 293. Barrons, the Deen and Chapter of Carbothy. The church is early English, and has a bade master of the church is early English, and has a bade master of technical for the BROOKLANDS, a rallway station on the near in bodes of Cheshire; on the Altrin head and Manchester rallway, 21 miles NB by N of Altrinchem.

BROOK (Noturn), a Pleadity 11 mile from Toe ter, in

2] miles NE by N of Alivinches.
BROOK (Norm), a beating 1, mile from Parter, in Decon; with a potential seem let PN = .
BROOK (Normand Sourn), two sydings in Mitcheldever peaks. He are near the Southwatern radiusly, 7 miles NNE of Wine), ster. Pere, 826.
BROOKIOYD, a health in Bubby it wishin and parish, W. R. Yorkelere; 6! miles W of Wakefiel.
BROOKISTREET a haudet in South Wall perish.
Fesser, co Wather stret and the 1 melement in Port the Eastern Counties milway, 1! m.C. WSW : Brook word - Aleperish of it do with dipply as founded by a factor that time of Eiler dipply as Francisco.

Lifter the thre of E4 and L, by the Bruyers,
BROOKSWEEL See Brooksweets,
BROOKSWEEL See Brooksweets, BROOKWOOO, a nicropulse with a color reflecty to thook Wolting in Streets See Workson, BROOM, a high the Scattliff you'll, hely 2 riel's Swe of Brooksweel. E1 is a particle on bridged seader. Pope, 287. House, and http://doi.org/10.1006/10.1

Brown.

N. B. U. T. d. that, We say the say the say the say that, and bl. Soft Steen Property of the say that and bl. Soft Steen Property of the say that the say the say that the say th with, the Processic a named in Margan particle fields Shield what me Marken is reading to particle Salong (NH), when he will be Cardington particle Salong (NH), when he will be traditional district, which will be the minimal of the Wawe eyes to the Marken Reading of the Salong Salo Mythol 85. So Beranyanan.

Mythol LD, ar eish in Chelmaford di trief, Pisexi for T. In a, roar the East in Counties railing to the Last and Counties railing. A ct O dan for L. H. has a possedite of November 2, Nov. 2, 1916. For property is much subtraction of the County of the Artist in the loces of Rochester. The Carolin and County and East-op of Rochester. The Carolin and Carolina and C any with a large round tower. Cher-

100 HUD, a pair a Hollagiona district, on the West of a files ISE of the Medwer, 6 miles ISE of the Arts I, 3 a. P. I property, 91-331. Population and The Property of the Arts I, 4 a. P. I property of the Medwer of the Property of the Arts I, 5 a. Arts haras la servición el hamas lette Maya

E. Con 19th May.

Mil. 1.0. a pairsh in thill a sater district, parce N. L. C., a mile N of The result of the Section of the S command extensive views may see proceed that extended views. The fit is not the fit of the co Will, LD, Could that. So Bromsmin, co Will, LD, Could that. So Bromsmin, a township and a could be for push, LR, Yolkship. The collection of the row Harbert Wei high collection with a result of the row Harbert Wei high. the first range, the Maractwelling of the List By Richery, 3 males ISE over that the List polymer 18. It is the Sof Howden as the Artist Polymer Rich List and Richard West and the Control of the Maractwelling of the Control of the Maractwelling in the Control of the Maractwelling in the Maractwelling of the Maractwelling in the Maractwelling i

"at PoHHS) a porish in the G = q = Px = red come and Kent and Susser, you the coars, ne = rl. Ad-ford = f Hastings railly, g = tuiles L = rS of L = Px -toun, he v = Verse, SpSq of which 765 are water. Po = 102 = House, f 2. R is a mee f = of the charges and of N = Roune, red began so to the charges For the House, 5,880; of which 77 Pop, 102 House, 22. It is a new 2 port of Northernoy; and his no cluster pode of November and have the other Blace Mattella, a tempor in Beline action parish, Worster, the note at Estimate the Mattella at the Modernain terror BROOMHOPE, AND BUTELAND, a township in Brilly proceeding despite, Northmoderland; 21 voles EST of Bellimbara. Pep. 145.

BROOMHOPE AND BUTELAND, a township, Modernain and M

wick. P.p., 19.
BERGOMEEY, or Brostron, a township in Bywell-St.
Peter parkle, Northunderisind; or the loss of cont.
Calliderallow, 4! miles Lof Corbidge. Acres, 8,459

Cartister allowy, 44 page (SEed Colladage), Arles, 8,898 Peps, 478. Houses, 85. Ellisotal-LOffritt. See Broomy-Wark. Vincola PARK, a rosm Jup in Utbingh to public Northunderland; 54 miles W by 8 of Mawick. A res, 960. Pap., 77. Houses, 11. EROOM-PARK, the 8 st of Sig H. any C. Owen Lee, User in Paping with Egent, 7 (1996) 81. Of Control

BEROOM-PARS, the set of Sig Heary C. Own Log. But join Earling parish, Kentr. 7½ miles SL of Courte bury. The hore was built, about 1620, by a mounter of the Dixwell Family; and has marked an hire-trust flatters. The park contains some fine built, Nechamberheid; of miles N by W of Wesley. This place in common with Build-bein, is thought to be the Burnshard where Arthothers, in 1933, defined the Section I the Pars y and I forwall sweins of miles have the seeme of Hot Bothwall define, in 1856, by Sir Horey Park.

R. Renew Pea v. BROOM (So. ca). See Southbroom BROOMS(1010BPE, a handet in that the thought be 163 0.0185 Parkers, a harmer in that an a respect of Netfolks [5] Index World February - A weighter. Page 16. Hones, 2. Trissonavimes described that is that Lilyon IV-Walk, as extraposolided that is that hidge and Ellingham parishes, thous; in the New Forest, on the rivar Aven, 25 miles N of Ringy soft. It includes Broom or Broomy Lodge; and comprises 6,500 aco's.

— Isto SAETHYDD, a town hip in Gwyd telwern pri-indoxality of a lown up in Coya cowen prich, Medioneth: I miles Nof Cornen.

BEOSULEY, as mall town, a public and a saledistic.
in Modelby distinct, Salop. The town stands on the river Secon, and on the Severn Yalley rulway, objects to Coolport station, 7; miles SSE of Weblington. It exto conject statist, it miss seek of verying on the beads are given the river a distance of 2 miles, in earlier plantly-built street, crossed at intervals by small large. It is surrounded by a mining district, in which could not ironestome are worked; it curves on manufactured in the condensation of the co has a strength and by a mining artist, in dimensions of fire-brick, and tobacco piper; and it has a post-office funder Wellington, Subpard & Megod's etwo due finns, a fowneb II, a parish church, near dissecting chapels, and endow dechrifts (20). The elen Listic Sochot English styles and was built in 18.5, if a rost of repton but has dimensioned were wonst church a weekly much to 1.10 on Welling elevant for our 25 Jan. 20 May, and is O. L. A. p. fradman spirig is with a neighborhood and the first our 25 Jan. 20 May, and is O. L. A. p. fradman spirig is with a neighborhood and the first our 25 Jan. 20 May, and is O. L. A. p. fradman spirig is with a neighborhood and the first our 25 Jan. 20 May, and is O. L. A. p. fradman spirig is a first an including with or such a neighborhood and a first trained and the star in the first of the part by such and retained which is the colory of Edd. v, in the occors of first and with the actory of Edd. v, in the occors of first and v. The part by and with the actory of Edd. v, in the occors of first and v. The part by and with the actory of Edd. v, in the occors of first and v. The part by and with the actory of Edd. v, in the occors of first and v. The part by and with the actory of Edd. v, in the occors of first and v. The part by a first part by a first

Like PHD PCROSS, a ban be Uin Norfolis. Prince of the configurated Burnlans-Weit perford for and that impublies Amer, 22,842. Top , 4,604. Houses

Blo Whate W. S. Baotamawest.

Broffe SewAtER, a lake at the hood date, in V. SewatER, a lake at the hood date, in V. SewatER, a lake at the hood for the late long, the mile broad, and 72 for deep grad it lies and large, of misses of rock and moreonic, and hoo

a 1 met productor

EROTHERTO C, a chopelry in Kirton patch, Lincoln; L miles SSW of Longick r, statico, and F WNW

The rest of the product of the pro-colar Lankes Sew of Fenerick r. station, and F. V.N.W. of Boton. Foot fown, Boton. Artis, i.e., F. d. phopatry, edges, P. Pep, edges, 218. Homes, 238. The bare given donative in the diagram of kinedin. Value, 2100. Patron, T. Gos, Fep. Charities, 243.

BROTHERTON, a town-hip and a perich in Ponteficial district, W. R. Yorkshire. The true him Ries on the river Ania, and on the York and North Mike of wall-way, 3 miles NNE of Pontefred; and has a post-office under South Milford. Acres, 798. End property, 23,671. Pep., 1,379. Houses, 206. The prich contains also the town-hips of Suff on and Payone. Acres, 2490. Red property, 25,283. Pop., 1,470. Houses, 206. The property is much subdivided. A plot of ground near the church was the site of a hous. in which Thomes of Europe 21, 220. South of the size in which Thomes of Europe 21, 220. Thomas de Draherton, son of Edward Lord at stor of the Dukes of Norfolk, was here while his model was with a bunting party. Limestone of superior quality is found. The living is a vicatage in the discussion of York. Value, £192  Pittons, the Deni and Chapter of York. The church is very good; and there are three dissenting

The character every good; and there are three assenting chapels, a mational school, and charities 212.

BFOTHERWICK, & township in Warkworth Julbe, Northensberland; on the river Coquet, adjacent to the Northensbern railway, 6 miles SSE of Almyrkk. Acres,

184. Pop. 7. Houses, 2.
BEOTTON, a township and a paris, in Guide and district, X. E. Yorkship. The township is 1, is on the coast, adjacent to Salthurn r. station, 6 miles NE by E. of Guisbrough; and less a post-affice unity Red a. Acres, 9,291; of which 319 are water. Bed property, Ag. 34. Phys. 530, 100 s. 34 at ward. Feel per 18, 22, 342. Phys. 530, 100 s. 5, 1 fire per she tentains also the lownships of Hilten and Skineingrove. Acres, 4, 105. Real property, C. 1324. Pop., 569, Houses, 105. The property is divided among a few. The lyring is a vie mage in the diores of York. Value, 2300, Patron, the trains have the stable have 20, acres of York.

the Archlishop. The church commands a phessant view. BROUGH, a small old town, a township, and a patish in Last Ward district, Westmorehard. The town stands on Watling-street and on the rivulet Hilback, in the valley of the Eden, 2 miles NNW of Burns r. station, and 5 NNE of Kirkby-Stephen. It on apies the site of the Roman station Vetere; was very early a place of insportance; and now consists chiefly of one long street. It has a post-officet under Penrith, an inc, remales of an If his a post-officed under Penrith, an iso, r sinds of an ancient east ya perish church, three rt's rylates of worship, and a five school on the foundation of an hospital founded in 1506. The end of date prior to the Compast, was sacked, in 1175, by William the Lien of S. Charly belonged for a time to the Viteripone, and ya. A to the Chifferds, anthered secret injury, in 1521, by weed antal fire; and was repetical, in 1666, by the colorant consideration was Anne Chief. The parish church is an under Chiffic, with a tower of 1516 or cuffer and to define a Chifferd with the result of the condition of the constant of the condition of the condition of the chiffs. Chang, with a tower of roto or Creat, and con-tendidities store unlight, and some odd in catalogue, a fact are held on the Thin day before Whitsu, and of 20 Oct, —The township includes the town; and is divided by the 10 hours and a fact in 10 Moderation. () I Chargh

The bounding includes the town; and is divided, by the Hilbock revulet, into Market-Bre. 1 and Cheral-Breught. Acres, 1953. Read property, with Hilbock formship, 23,961. Pop., 846. House, 1877.—The princh contains also the town ships of H.B. & Stating regard to the result of the form of Sammone. Acres, 23,947. Rec. pag. ray, with Riber Leve has be clubber 88 pears. It has 212,773. Hop., 1,728. Hor. s. 355. This proper visit related divided. Hiller S. Hall, ence the left of the 18-11, he dispersively divided. Hiller S. Hall, ence the left of the 18-11, he dispersived of the 12-rabbay S. Aman, or respect to 18-by William the Computer and W. amed Southell, for research shifted the the state of the Sammone 1 sets. The related Scottant Sammone 1 sets. The related beate spring is not the change, and some florant coins.

e vi — P — modif barel, efemd, To hvingfr e vi — in the die — of Cellida, Valo, £62.7 Pat — Quents Coll., Oxford, The premay of Stelmann is a separate bracker. Cheritic, £90. Lord May on Burdle was the stive.
BROCOM, thanks in Elloughton parish, U. R. York-

BROCKER, Thank's in thioughton parish, U. K. Yoft-shier on Userineerie, I. and on the S. Ly and thall rad-way, Ph. 19 (1994). Hunder, 101 (1994). Why S. of Hull, It has essertion on the Filtery, and a head posseother grand have rade as well of Broughet edge from the Franker. It compless the site of the Romon Ad-

Petur riam.

Petin 1993.

BEOUCH, a transbip in Catterick parish, N. R. Voll Piner on the river Swal, 5 in Rev ESG of Bichmond, Acres, 1.682. Bed graparty, 21,950. Prin, 128.

Houses, 15. An exclusive hospital small bright in search of the Lawsers. The first Perin Catalida Condition search the Lawsers. The first Perin Catalida Chapt.

BEOUCH, Stape et J. R. Yorkshine. See Denormory, Proceedings of the Perin Cataline.

BUOUGH, Supers, L. R. Volkshine, See Demoillow, Urrion, And Brito Gil.
BEOVGH, B. (by. 8). Browell AND SHATPON, BROUGHAMA, is very hip in Whitehnuch part h, S. hap; 2 mile; E. of Wille, Lar in Pope, 20ml.
BEOUGHAMA, a See Il village and a parish in West Word district, Westmeat and J. The village state of the niver Lowell engaging in the disconfinement with the Pamor by more the Langester and Carillet in rivery, 17 mile 80 of Pennith. Howeverly with of the Bournest state, and the state of the Bournest states Brownian and Carillet in the West States and Pennith. Penrith. It is only is the different the Roman station, browning may not a pass it, a the Saxon town of Brigham, a place of note now exit. It. The purish includes also the hands to of Hornby, Mochouws, and Whodside, and its post-town is Penrith. Aeres, 5(9). Bed pengety, 29,146. Penge 299. Houses, 57. The property it distributed are up a few. Brougher Castle dates from the Sanon time at the Chifferent suffered deselation in the wars with it. Source we are reliable to the Admentage and passed to the Chifferent suffered deselation in the current of the Chifferent suffered deselation in the wars with it. Source we are built of the control of all the control of a walls, embedge at large court, and extensive many of it, grand and striking, stiffered as the control of walls, embedge at large suffered as one is casion of his last return from Engl side and the post Woodsworth unders it the scene of the groot festival at the is somation of the "good Lord Chiffee." the restoration of the "good Load Chillage " From town to town, from tower to tower, The red rose is a pholsome flower; Behold her, how hit smiles tool . Behold her, how this smiles tool to disgreat through this bright array! Knight, squire, and you not, possion I won, We have them at the feast of Breaghin.

Paint trans of Region works are so a in the vicinity: Edit froms of Bernan works are soon in the visinity, and several Economic Press, mas, and coins have been found. A next, beiny stone obelisk, cauled the Controlss? Fillar, standard effect of tonce to the south created by the Controls Anne Chili red, to commence to her parting from harmoster, and sourgely Wordsworth. Pourts, Mrs. Harmons, of lother parting the global Hall, the sear of Lead Breigham, over he are enhance adjacent to the Lord Breigham, over he are enhance adjacent to the Lord Breigham, and he are enhanced adjacent to the Lord Breigham, and he are enhanced adjacent to the Lord Breigham, and he are enhanced adjacent to the Lord Breigham and the control was the date. Lowther 1.6 or covered by a brillion when the treations by all blleswater; and has alten been Children Windson of the north. The rice of connected with it belot of electric tells in the last of connected with it belot of electric tells in the last of the properties of the soft in the rate by a fire of history 1 miles, by distributed by the descent result of the last of the arginal context. The time is an estery in the decree of Children Noting 2200. Person, Sci P. Thate, Levi. The Garch was result in 1600, by the counter Arms Children.

BROUGH AND HATTON, a non-rich in Hope parish, Determined the Children Children and the Richard State of the 15 to Act, 1937. Red pages 23, 182. Proceeding the Last of the cite of Act, 1937. Red pages 24, 183. Conference of the rich of the 15 to Act, 1937. Red pages 25, 183. Conference of the rich of the 15 to Act, 1937. Red pages 25, 183. Conference of the rich school of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The red of the rich school of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 183. The rich of the 150 to 1937 and 1837 and 183

The control of the co A school 1 (£0) from endowment rink [14]. On owe of college, a large esta[15]. A culture wining, is in the neighbour[15]. A culture wining, is in the neighbour[15]. A culture extrains may paished, most of [16]. P. College, Thomas, 750.
[17]. ON, a period in St. box district, Hantings [17]. A culture with the first New, 44 miles W of [18]. A culture and 5 NE of Hanting a Pact[18]. A culture of the first New of the state of t

5.8. there are a M. C. Houting, A. 1888, 1984, 1985, 1984, 1985

Community of results restored.

[1] Community of results and a substitute of the following ships. The chapelry is or or tri t. Loweshit. The clapelry as the last to the Proton and Longister York by Proton; and Front station 1 N by We Fredom and Le astation and the distance in the first of the control of

Berl purpoley, £65, (a). Pop., 9.8 5. Her., 1,789, Broughout tall inlonged formerly to be Cherbains and the Stanleys; was partly bound in 1-47; and belongs now to Col. Clowes. Higher Boundroom and Lower Boundroom are at higher handation and the conjoint. The cl. sy was constituted in 1-10. The Program of the Cherbain of the Program of Program of BEOCHTON, a village and a public in Glamford-Brigg district, Lincoln. The village stands on Emine-street, probably on the site of a Bonan station, near the river Aucholme, and the Grimsby radivay, 5 miles NW of Glunford-Brigg; and has a potential winder Brigg. river Au holine, and the Grimsby railway, 5 miles NW of Gluinferl-Brigg; and his a per scalie a refer Brigg. The parish inches a day the town-sip of C. 2d thorps, a at the heads to of Manby and Golica R. Actes, 6,918. Bed property is much subdivided. A numery was founded how, in 1185, by William de Aber Rya. The Bring is a restory in the discoss of Lincoln. Value, Eggl., 2d a transport of the Brigg. A new church was built in 1808; and there are two M. the dist chapels and a national a lood. a national school.

a national school.

BLOUGHTON, a parish in Ketteri — district, Nochampton; on an affacut of the river N m, near the 1 cest r and Bedford railway, 5 mil - SW of Kette.
It has a postuface under Wellingheauch. A rec. 25c a.
Bed property, 73,791. Pop., 738. Houses, 175. Most of the property is divided among three. The living is a clony in the discess of Peterborough. Value, 2393, 1.50 a, the Pulke . Buccleuch. The church is partly Nectual, and Norther add in 1854. There are a Methodist clem', a valued school, and charitis a 213. R.
Boffon, the purities, was a native and reform.

BROUGHTON, willbee and a r wish in Berdour, dis-

BROI GITTON, a village and a pairs in Dosbur, dis-prict, Oxford. The village stants on an other tof the river Charriell, 21 miles SW by Wolf Daubery, is station. The part h includes at a the township of North N wington: which has a post-office under Danbury. Acres, 1,950. ton; which has a post-office under bandury. Acres, 1,905. Ead prayerly, 23,905. Pop., 641. Horozo, 137. The proporty is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the De Brough out; pass I to the Wekk dams ar-litho Firmses; and belongs now to Level Saye and Sele. Broughton thathe, the maniform of the nature, stands on less ground, engirt by a wide most, and defended by a tower; courties structures of the 14th, the 15th, and the 10th contains, built by respectively the De Breghton, the Wybelson, and the Fiem equipments within during the ciril wars inch by apartree at sylvine surfained during the ciril wars inch by apartree at sylvine the d ath of Chades L was be ided on, and where Cromwell's officers were quarreed before the burbs of Edgebill; and contains some interesting pictures, old arms, and contines some interesting pictures, for arms, and curious works of art. The living is a rectory in the disc so of Oxford. Value, 2539. Patron, the Eger, C. P. Wyett. The church is of des 1th tectures, with tower and epice; and contains so every fine mountment. There are an Independent dayed, an enlowed school with the a year, and charities 4188, 1994 (THEORY).

selocd with the a war, and charities (1885). IROUGHTON, a parish in Wear destrict, Schapt or the Cases and Streatheny raisway, at Yorker (1965), pulse SaW of Wear. It melad is the family of the control of the second of the control of the control to a 18 of the disposition of the filling of the fi puis' J. R. You', New; 3 miles SE of Streed y Acres 1982; B. Sproperty, 24,423; Pop., 57; Hones, 129; A. Cairn, on the sammit of a meantain here, is affect to the meanment of a Panish chief. BEOUCHITON, a four ship in April 1994; Street pa-risin, N. R. You', hire, 2 miles Nw of New Malton, Acres, 855. Beal property, 24,397. Pop., 123. Hones, 27. An hospital was founded here, in the reign of Sto-plem, by Errit e St. John. There is a Wesleyan chapel, BEOUCHITON, a hunder in Mondarish parish, Gla-morgan; 54 miles SW of Cowbide.

BROUGHTON, a numer in Acousta can pariso, commorgan; 5] mil s SW of Cowb.id, c.
BROUGHTON, a township in Bishops-Castle parish, Salop; 1 mile NW of Bishops-Castle. Pop., 70.

Salon; I unite AW of Bishops-Cavin. Peg., 70.
BROUGHTON, a township in Clavelley Frizh, Salon;
44 miles E of Enisjanoth. Pop., 86.
BROUGHTON, a hamlet in Stoke-St. Mary parish, Somerset; 34 miles SE of Taunton. Pop., 26.
BROUGHTON, a hamlet in White-hurch parish, Werwick; 45 miles Se of Stationdon-Avon. Pop., 136.
BROUGHTON, W. R. Yorkshite. See BROUGHTON-

IN-AIREDALE.

BROUGHTON, Aylesbury, Buchs. See Biencon-

WITH BROWGHOS.

EROUGHTON-ASTLEY, a township and a parish in Lutterworth di trict, Leicester. The township lies on the Midland milway, near the Posse way, 5½ miles N by W of Latterworth; and has a station on the railway. Pop., 554. Houses, 77. The patish contains also the townships of Primethorpe and Sutton-in-the-Elms; and its post-town is Co-by, under Latterworth. Acres, 1,939. Red property, 25,544. Pop., 735. Houses, 182. The property is real subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Peterloonigh. Value, 2674. Patron, H. Rafford, Esp. The church is old. There Patron, B. Radiost, F.-p. The church is 41. There are a Bights circle A mational school, and charities 210.

BROUGHTON-BRANT, a parish in the district of Newark and county of Lincoln; on the river Brant, 13 unles NE of Chap older, is attoin, and 8.1 by 8.0 K, wark. It has a post-office, of the name of Brant-Broughton, 10 has a pest-effice, of the name of Ermit-Roughlon, under Newark. Acres, 2,932. Real property, 26,453. Pop., 755. House, 156. The living is a rectory in the dioces of fine In. Value, 2,550. Pattern, 87 R. Sutton, Bart. The church is decorated English. There are Oudler and Wesleyan chapels, and a Church school. BROUGHTON CASCIE. See BROUGHON, Oxford, 1970 USBON CHURCH.

BROUGHTON-CHURCH, a parish in the district of Burton-upon-Trent and county of Derby; 23 mile NNE of Scropton r. station, and 10 W by S of D by It includes the hamlets of Sapporton and Harchill; and If includes the maniers of supperior and incremit; also a post-office, of the name of Church-Broughton, under body. Acres, 2,272. Real property, 23,664. Pop., 651. Houses, 154. The living i a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, 2228. Latron, William Hopkins, Eq. The church is ancient, and was recently repaired. There are a Frimitive Metholist chapel, an Telement There are a training exacts in caper, an endowed school with £30 a-year, and charities £22.

BROUGHTON-CROSS, a station on the Cockermouth and Workington railway, £1 miles W of Cockermouth, in Cumberlan I.

BROUGHTON-CUM-FILKINS. See BEOUGHTON-Poggs.

BROUGHTON (EAST), or BROUGHTON-FIRED, a town ship-chapelry in Cartinel paish, Lengusidae; 4 miles N of Cartinel r. station, and 7 NE of Ulverstone. Postof Cartine I.r. station, and 7. AE of Directstein. P.-C. town, Cantined, under Newtonin Cartined, Acres, 9,830. Beal property, 24,672. Pop. 531. Houses, 107. The property is subdivided. Broughton Grove, Broughton Haff, and Broughton Lodge are chief to adoness. The third is a property in the disease of Carh le. Value, 2077. Patron, the Duke of Deyonshite. The church is good.

BROUGHTON-GIFFORD, a puide in Bradford dis-Avor, n. r th. Kenrel and Avor cond, Pythle river Avor, n. r th. Kenrel and Avor cond, Pythle SW of Mckel on r. station, and 4 ENE of Briefford. It have post-office under Melk-faun. Arts. 1,677. Real property, 23,77. Pop. 621. Hours, 115. The property is divided alone of a few. Brought of 660-04 House is the seat of the Singles landly. The living is a rectory in the diorese of Salisbary, Value, 2005. Patron, the Lord Chameellor. The charded of the time of Henry VII.; was recently restored; and has a brass of 1600. There are a Reptist chapel, a school with £20, and other c' not a girl al?

BEOUGHTON (Ganve), a township and a chaptry in Bridelink parith, Cumberland. The fewer hip lies on the river Derwent, adjacent to the Cockermonth on the fiver between, acqueen to the Coccentional and Workington railway at Broaghton-Crossest tion, 2 and s. W of Coelermonth. It has a post-offuse under Culida. Acres, inclusive of Little Broughton, 2,743. Cutiles. Acres, inclusive of Little Broughton, 2,743. Real prop. sty, 25,773; of which 22,822 are in mines. Pop., 836. House, 180. The choodry is more extensive than the towarding includes little Inception; and was very too tally exactivated. Pop., 1,498. The living is a victure in the discuss of Callade. Value, £100. Patron, the Vicur of Bridelift. The church is new. There are chapter for Brightist, Carkers, and Wesleyans. A school and alue-houses have £39 from cadox ment. BROUGHTON (General Lance) Prop. 1, 1990 (1991).

BROUGHTON (Gunve and Lerren), divisions of Broughton township, Emby in Cleveland perish, N. R.

DROUGHTON-HACKETT, a parish in Perslane district, Worce der; on the Midland tailway, I mile N by E of Spetchley station, and 6 NNW of Perslane. Post-Let Splichtey station, and 6 NNW of Pershone. Post-town, Speichby, under Worcester, Arras, 369. Real property, 2782. Pop., 154. Houses, 39. The property is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, 79.— Parron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is very good, BROUGHTON-HALL. See Brought is very good. BROUGHTON (ILIGHTH and LOWER). See Brough

TON, Saltord, Lancashine

BROUGIFION-IN-AIREDALE, a village, at a religion BROUGHTON-4-N-AMEDALE, wills positive states and a parish it statiston district, W. R. Vorischier. The vallege standy over the river Aire, the Locals at Liverspool cenal, and the North Midland railway, in the desiry of IEEE also as a transfer of the name of Brought on under and thesa post-order, of the name of Brought on under the state of the state of the name of Brought on the state of the comprises 2, 100 acres. Pop., 162. Houses, 36. The parish includes also the hamlet of Elslack. Acres, 3, 371. parish includes also the hander of Elslack. Acres, 3,371. Real property, 25,202. Pop., 274. House, 700. The property is divided between two. Broughton Hair is the seat of the Tempest family. The parish is not blor a fens bread of cattle. The living is a vie range in "to diocese of Ripon. Value, 2100. Patron. Christ Church College, Oxford. The church has a Norman a seway; contains monuments of the Peopests; and is good.

BROUGHTON-IN-FUNESS, or Wast Broughton in the property of small property of small property of small property.

a small town, a township-chapelry, and a sub district in the district of Ulverstone, Lancashire. The town stands on the river Duddon, adjacent to the Furness rulway, at the junction of the branch-line to Coniston, 9 miles, by road, NW by X of Ulverston; It occupies a hill slope; is ediliced with stone houses, nearly in a regular stope; is enneed with some nonces, nearly in a regular squire; and lets, of lete years, undergone great im-provement. It has a post-office, under Elverstone, a rollway station with telegraph, two chief inns, and a grammar school. A weekly market is held on Wedness day; and fairs on 27 April, 1 Aug., and 6 Oct. A manufacture of weether year used to be carried on; and an Leture of we often year used to be carried (n) and an export of the introducts and in from and copper one, from a righteening mines, is now considerable. The chip dry induced the town; is in Kirthy-Irolah patish; and comprise (7.69) area. Read payedy, 26,677. Pop., 1,155. There is, 200. The paper of the much subdivided. The nature belanged for social contains to the broachton family and was for the final 1877, by Sr. Thems. Broughton, who placed readert simuch, and fill in the battle (18.60). Becapitan tower, now the ract of J. D. S. wey, Eq., cowers an early need must be amily N of the town; believed put of the neighbor and of the Broughtons; and colorantals a (tillinat and some of the board, buttone put of me, amendments as difficult and extensive view. The living is a p. ettacy in the day set of Carlists. Value, 2403.8. Extroy, I. q. The clurch is tobuild; and there are two discarding

The sub-district condition of he all am extra pares blad time. On LANF, a station on the Sheffi dd and parties of the ANP, a statem on the Snellicki and the Snellicki of the Sne

The office of Section 22 miles Not Breaghton in the post of the court of the word of the court, and the court of the Black 6.1 - UNDAR - STAINMORE. See BROUGH,

A SON TO BE THE SEE BURGHAM.

Brown A. T.M. See Breveriam.

Brown A. M.K. 185 and the North Sea; midway

Note and P. R. 19

Brown A. M. 185 and the North Sea; midway

Note and P. R. 185

K. A. Sea I. H. Last a perform under the analysis of the Health of the property

College and the season of the season of the college the analysis of the season of the college the analysis of the door, mutody the tree of the college

The college and the college of Vanches

The property is all

H. L. L. Season of the door, coff Vanches

The college of the college of the college

The college of the

2 1 1 1 2 1 1 1 1 1 Norther in the Moods of the Committee best of all Phromedical Committee of the Committee Houses, P.L. The property Luncil 12. The Lying is a victorize in the discrete of 1 to 1 Velocity 2. 255. Patron, the Bishop of Lichield. Cherchine a is £155.

BROWNESTONE, a chareley, with a village, be Mai-BROWNISTONIA, a chieffrity with a vitage, "Claim-bury parish, Devoir, near the South Devoir vitage, a miles N of Modbury. Statistics, with the parish. Tra-hving is a p. emarcy, anno. 1 to the vicency, of M-bury, in the dioress of No. 7. The church case see tol-by the late Rev. Publichelay Ovenhaur; at t is a 1-1 by the late lave. Predicting Sections, as specimen of modern Coth's.

BROWN-GILLY, a bill, all miles NW of Listered, in Cornwell. It is 1,100 feet high.

Councell. It is 1,100 for high.

BEOWNHILL, a builded in Earloy fowndary and parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 61 miles XW of Websheld.

BROWNHILL, a builde in less south of Stankelshire; on the Binninghous set I budy in Julian, nor Carne & Ches, 51 miles X budy for Webshill. It has a stacker out he railway, and a set in of websheld. It has a stacker out he railway, and a set in of websheld Walshill.

BROWNLOW: ALL Set Layrences.

BROWNLOW: ALL Set Layrences.

BROWNLOW: ALL Set Layrences.

. R. Yorkshire. BROWNSEA, or BLANESUA, an island and a clay-lay in Sauthard parish, Priset. The island lies in Pring by rhour, 2 miles SSE of Probe; massures about 6 role. in cleuit; and files a romantic group of plass and hillocks, with about 100 a res recently red fined from the sea. It was long used as a decepatk; but less now Introces, with about 100 acts feeting park; but 1 c. new a village, a pier, a 1 increased, and 1 ky pies work 1 for 1 the Staffordshire peteries. A castle on it was build, in 1 of this efficiency of the hobour; strongly ritil 1, in the time of Elizabeth, for the way a mile, in 1 output y ritil 1, in the time of Charles I, for the way and 1 recently ritil way and build of the form of the most office of the state of the Wangh, and underso it is improving the last of the Wangh, and underso it is improving the last of the way and the last of the last of the way of the last of the

Houses, 536.

BROWN SHOLME, the sent of the Pathers, on the W lorder of W. R. Yorkshire; 4 miles NNW of Cleberton The house is in the Tuller style; and contains the calginal seal of the Commenwealth, and some introdica Pointings on Lantiquities.

BROWNSIDE. See CHINERY, BUGSWORTE, AND BROWNSIDE.

BROWNSOVER, a township chapeley in Clifton on Dinamor: parish, Warvick; on the Oxford canal, al-journt to the Molland and the Northwest on follows, 2 Demander petish, Wetwork on the Ome I chad, objected to the Mallurd and the Neurlhorstein ratherapy, 2 miles N by B of Bugby. Poster va. Bugby. Across 572. Real property, 22.7 of Proc. 71. House, 14. Be one wer House is the set of the Volce. The invinigation of the Composition of the State of Clyffone - Dunsmore, in the dises of Wordster Lam ac. Shatiff, the form let of Rudy selectly visit a network. BROWNSTONE, a visit grant a chapter in Moditive parish, Devon. The village state 3 and self-petic in Moditive parish, but a composite in the convention of Lamber Mallury. The chapter is the cut yin the disess of Laten, and self-petic in Could be parish. Modification of the Village State in The Blogger and St. Lindownswith the State Council in The Blogger and St. Emerica connected as a constitution. The Blogger and St. Emerica connected as a constitution. The Blogger and St. Emerica connected as a constitution of the victor before NF Council II, I will self of the victor before the victor of the victor before the victor of the victor before the victor of part of the victor of the late of the late

All a come to bottin, of its or to the critical

PROWSTON, a hamlet in Belton parish, Suffell: ; !!

miles SSW of Yermouth. Pop., 64.
1990 M., a town-hip in Hackness part h. N. R. York-

BEONA, a township in Hackness part h, N. R. Yorkshing, 42 miles N.V. of Scarborough. Acte, 159. Keal property, (2010). Epo, 51. House, H. BRONASH, a hundred in Heréo, J. H. extentsorth ambiewaters, I from the morth estera boundary to the granding as a contains Bromyand parish, and twenty-seven other parishes, and parts of two others. Acres, 58,995. Peps, H.S.S. House, 2,453. BRONBOURNE, or BROXBOURNE, or BROXBOURNE, or browned a parish in W., or district, Herts. The village standers the verge of the county, on the New river, I of a mile W of the Test on Counties redway, and 43 N by W of Wallama, Albert 1, add it has a station with tell graph on Waldenn-Abbey; and it has a station with tel graph on Waldenn-Abbey; and it has a station with 1-1 graph on the railway, apart-office under Hoddendon, and two inns. The loweship includes the village, and comprises 1,523 acres. Real property, 25,498. Pop., 705. Houses, 152. The purish includes also part of the village and chap dry of Hold; then, Acres, 4,505. Real property, with the real of Hoddenshop, 211,623. Pop., 2,664. Houses, 541. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged to the Knights of St. John; and passed to the Code. The Mayrane, and others. Browkames flow is recongest to the Kingats of St. John; and passed to the Coch, the Montana, and others. Brooksome-liny is now the stat of the Besaugutts. And here Sir H. Cock entertained James I. The living is a vicinage in the dio-cese of Kochester. Value, £331. Patron, H. J. Smith, Est. The church is later English, of the time of Henry VIII.; consists of nave, church, aish, and two small chapel, with a plant steeple are beasen-turret; contains as add villaged fact, the reconstitution of contains an old pillared font, and many interesting brasses and monuscents; and was restored in 1557. The p currey of Hod lesion is a separate benefice. A school has $20 from on lowment; alars-houses £165; and other BROXFILLD, a township in Embleten parish, Northumberland; 2 miles NNE of Alawick. Acres, 315. Pop., 27. House, 5.

BROXHOLME, a parish in the district and county of Lincoln, adjacent to the Gred Northern reilway, 12 mile N of S celly station, and 6 NW of Lincoln. Postmme A of Solerny station, and 6 AW of Lincoln. Prost-town, Savelby, under Lincoln. Acres, 1,288. Hed-property, £2,593. Pop., 125. Houses, 19. The living is a revtory in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £273.8 Patron, J. Robinson, Esp. The church is ancient. LICOXTED, a parish in Dunnow district, Essex; on the river Chelmer, I miles E of Elsenham r. station, and 5 NW of Dunnov. Post-town, Great Faston, under Dunnow. Acres, 3,149. Real property, 24,131. Pop., 955. Houses, 219. The living is a vicarage in the dia-cese of Rochester. Value, £170.* Pairon, R. B. de Beauvoir.

DEMOTON, a township and a hundred in Cheshire. The township is in Melpra parish; and lies 44 miles N of Melpas town, and about the same distance 8 of Tated Majora town, and about the same distance S of Tattenhill r. station. Average, 2123. Real property, 25,250. Pep., 516. House, 115. Brocken Hall here was the seat of the Dods, by Tomastic, and by Epstlerey is known on upled as a form-house; and commissed him processes. The hundred H is around the town-blay pronches with Hint and Doshigh; and is cut into two divisions. East. and West. The E. division contains six particles and parts of eight of a particle and parts of eight of a particle and parts of fire other parilles. Acres, 22,315. The W. parilles. Acres, 42,435. Pop. of both, 18,499. Honer, billion of the control of the contro BROXTOW, a hatalet and a hundred in Notts. The hander is in Bellineigh parish, 21 miles NV of Notting-han; and we some a parish. The hundred has are and the bar I t; ext ads 23 miles northward from the Treat, Note: in Sas-x. I extends a continuous distance Notal W; and is thought to indice the Raman station Regnan; but has not been fully investigated.

LiftOYNLLIS. See Brownias, Evecon.
BRUCKEN-HILL, w hamlet in Fock field parish,
W. R. York, been 12 miles Nor Shouelt.
BRUE The miles of Shouelt.
BRUE The miles of Shouelt.
From the examboring minimal about 30 miles water all, past Booton Cashot my, and Grantontary, to Bridgewater bay, man the estimate of the Pariot.
BRUETAN SEAPLEFORD, at wardipin Tan in perish.
Chebridge of males Coefficients were 744. Red ma-

Che i er d ond's F of Chester. Acres, 744. Real property, 24,505. Pop., 173. House, 26.
BRUERA, er Curaton Hrarm, a chapelry in St. Os-BIGUERA, or Cabricos Hearm, a chapelry in St. Oswald per la, C. Jirey, or the layer Dee, 4 null St. Py Nof Rose et r. Son, and P. Sof Coester. Produced, Althou, and C. C. C. Acces, E. P. Real proc 23, 2217. Pop., 41. However, 8. The Hiring is a rest range gallon. The Church has Norman frames, and lag, 5d. BIGUERN, an extra gire disaltment in Chapping Norton divite, Ostond, 5 mals, No of Burfoot, Acces, 25, 310. Real property, 21, 508. Pop., 51. Hours, 9. A Cistertian althoy was found. I here, in 1117, by Nichella Lasset, and given in the time of chances by our Arrange.

termin anthey was found 1 here, in 1117, by Nicholas Bassel; and given in the time of dames L, be Six Anthony Cope. The buildings were closed at interaction as sleries; and were destroyed by fire in last country, Old Faliponds connected with them still exist. The tract is a merit for the Heydrop bounds.

BRUGGI. See BERNESCHI.

BRUGHAM, or Burgham (Thr.), a streem of Mont-

BRUGHAM, or BURMAM (The), a streem of Montgomery; felling into the Severa near Lemidle. "BRI ISYARD, a perial in Pronespeed distrat, Sofiolk; on the ricer A., 3 and s NU of Translangham r. stein, and I WA N of Symmodian. Post-town, Cransford, and "Walking-Market. Access, 1,126. Red property, 31,793. Pop., 222. House, 61. The property is divided among r. tw. The master belongs to the Earl of Siradles &c. A that by or collage was recovered between 1 and from Campsey; changed afterthe ray of Stradys & A Chattry of collage was re-moved littler, in 1834, fram Campsey, changed after-wards into a manarry; and give o, at the dissolution, to Nicholas Hare. The living is a view ray in the dissolution, to of Noavi h. Value, 4225. Patron, the Earl of Strad-broke. The characteristic browns. S. BRUMBY. See BROWEY.

BRUMHILL See Brownell and Broomhill.
BRUMHTON. See Browners.

BRUMSTEAD, or LILINGHAM, e-paish in Tunstead district, Norfolk; 1 mile N of Stulliam, 3 SW of the ceast, 6 SE of North Walsham r. static 2, and 16 NE of coat, 6 SE of North Waishau r. state c., and 16 ME of Norwich. Post-town, Stullann nucler Norwich. Acres, 759. Real property, 24,469. Pep., 99. Houses, 22. The property is divided among a few. The manort clongs to Cubit Durrant, Esp. The living is a rectory in the dioces of Norwich. Volte, 2100. Patron, the Larl of Abert we may. The church is set 1, 12 (1.1.2.8.3.11) 11. S. S. S. METHER.

BLUNANBURTH. SE BRINKBURN and PROOM-

BRUNDALL, a paish in 120% ld didti. Nordely, on the river Vace and the Yurrouth railway, by noise E of Norwich. It has a station on the mine gry rad life property, vide. Pop. 101. House, 18. The property is a station of the life in the state of E. J. H. Harvey, E. F. The living is a rectory, answer of E. J. H. Harvey, E. F. The living is a rectory, answer to the restry of Witten, in the discose of Norwich. The church is televable of the P. Sufference of the state of th

- Fransic vo. Formship in Cr. dy upon Pilen pri-Signi (NNE of Curlsin) Pape, 84.

No. 1. Triff the Physic bend thin Morley parties to the triff the Workship of the triff the trif

N.N. M. Hodi, Ph. C. Branco of more a parish port of the last of t

The care of a work Tent.

IN AN Chart was Lowy a township in Embled and the Section of the North-section of the North-section of the Section of the Section of the section of the

3. In S. S.W. Le W. of Pankewell. Real property, 2013. Phys. J. Wilson S. L. Wishell, Harth. See Brussure 10. Le 1914. Dr. north in Creffton district, Decory 2014. West Notington for Streen, and S. See W. of Streen, Charles and J. S. See W. of Streen, 2014. Phys. Rev. Bern. 1922. Henry 2014. Phys. Rev. Lett. 1939. And S. See Levine and S. See Streen, the true of the dealers of the reaction of the large in the discussion in the discussion of the discus

1. (17-117) (O), a rapid in the district of Tixerton

US-HO 10), a variet in the district of Tiverton in some et earth a five Lee, II mile 8 of 12 NW by No Tiverton in statem. Perform 18 10 no. 18 no. 18

The bower, on a their tens, as the first tens, as the first because of the tree.

I self-of-Sar March Backs as the first tens of the continuous arms as the first tens of the continuous arms as the first tens of the first tens of for 10 m 10 s, by Hu, b S vey, and to large be marked; in a firm of the town; has an involve of 21,503 from calowing it; gives up at toog larger; alwamen; act is a band-one quadre-gular Tudor stotanto. A workly peatled is held on setuday; and (ii) on 23 April at 1.17 Sept. Drawing and actual times of silk Dampier, the nocipator, vies a notive. caniel on.

are carried on. Dampier, the margator, was a non-ver-TL, perish finducts also the triblings of Discovers 1 Redryach, and the chapel your Wyles Chample of the chapel your will be a Point 2, 2,279. Religiola, and the chipely of Wyler-Casumflorer. Area, 2,631. 3t. d property, 211,1 f. Pop., 2,12; Herrs, 138. To property is able in led. The memor befores to Sir H. R. Herr, Bert. Rellynch Park its sea of the Lerd of behavior. A Religion ment was found, in 1711, 5; Director. The living is a vicarrage in the discusse of Eath and Webs. Value, 2168. Patton, 8t. H. A. Hoane, Bert. The properties of Rellynch and Wyke Champlance via Specific Leedices—The subdestries a habit site various and two care natedial sub-district intains five parishes and two corresponded satellistic and its in the costrae of Windowski Acres 11,602. Pop., 3,908. Plane, 822. The handred of tous eight panishes. Acres 12,64% Pop., 4,209. tions eight parishes. House 832.

BLVAN-ASKHAM, S. Asidi, & Beyan,

BRYAN-MAUND, a town big in Belenham parich, Hersholshice; Smiles NNE of Hershols Pop., 154. Herdardshive; 8 mills NNR, of Harford Top, 150, BRYANSTONE, or BRANDSORD (FUXAN), a parist in Earthord district, Dorsel; on the river Seep, adjacate to the Central Dorsel rationary, P. 101; N.W. Ly W. G. Plantord Forum. Postroon a Blandwal, Acto, 1,512. L. dipaperty, £1,284. Pop., 206. Horses, 56. Biyansteen House have is the sect of Lord Portunery is a Large marks in, after adorsing by Wyatti, basan octagonal stances. Of forting limit cut, ad security of the section c. v. 9) for in Japan bert and study in a peck upwarfs of n no low. The litting is a rector, namework to the rect v of Darweston, in the ducer of S. Issbary.
Bit XANUS-PUDD. C., a rything in Aff-Poldie parisl, Doc. v; on the river Inddl., 7½ miles XW or Wardelen. If d property with Ad-Pt ble, 2,028. Pop., Lo2. BIT HER. See Barney.
Bit X MDO, a townshap and a C.-p Fy in Wreshap.

1917 M19), a township and a Cop by he Wreydom path, Doshejh. The township this see 10 first Bylog, 32 isides X Wort Wreydom; and boss a post officed industry Wreydom. Acres, 2,450. Bed property, 222,600; of which a 17,500 are in mines. Prop. 2,422. However, 500. The objective verses stituted in 1850. Prop. 5, 175, 160. The property is much subdivided. Byundo Miller with the first set of extensive insulved in 1850. There are cell fairs and extensive insulved in. The Integral is a permay in the droness of St. Acaph. Value, 22,650. The charge in a permay in the droness of St. Acaph. Value, 22,650. The charge in the contraction of the c trop, the Vicor of Wrexlora. There are several discutgerlap I. Bir YMBU liGH. See Bir yar s

BRYMBURGH. See Brayros.
BRYMPTOA. See Brayros.
BRYN, Fee Brayros.
ERYN, retownhip in Llangar parish, M rieneth; Y miles W of Conzent Pop. 128.
BRYN, a township in Llangar parish, Schopt bly nil. SW of Osenetty. Pop., 260.
BRYNSAVIMAN, a rading Lecardy in Santh Wales; on the latency A learned Garant radicays, 18], mires NNR of Sweet St. Lecard, a relation with telegraph, and representations of the latency and the latency of the latency of HINACO CHANA a toxic by an Bintachu puish, The later than the property of the Phenomeron Pop. 91.

LEY TOX LA toxic at bown high in Playviya parish, Declid pattern Vol Berlin.

HINACO HINACO STRUCTURE.

HINACO HINACO LA LA STRUCTURE BEING AND TOXIC CONTROL OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPER

ran, Aldre, 2107 - Platton, C. W. G. Wyter, Roy The char benearly quality There is a Calvania i Metho-di colory by C. Chiefers, 218. BRYN WAR a township in Dianelidan pheish, Den-

BRYY WM9 a township in Llandidan parish, Denbight, 51 sailes sor Ruthm. Pepe, 200.
BRYN-RUT VN, a prish in the defrict of Corwen, and county of Deshigh; 6 miles NE of Corwen r. strong and II WNN of Rashon. It is divide into the townships of Bodynwydag, Brynt ogor, Envyle day Bywrthara, and Llaur, and it Lais post-office made Gorwen. Acce, 3,253. Red property, C.,737. Pop., 414. Houses, 89. The property is divided among a few. Much of the surface is upland. There is a mineral spring. The living is a vicarage in the discrete of St. Asaph. Value, 200.— Entrop. Siv. W. Wynes, Bart. The church is rather bad. To re are Calvinistic Methodist and Wesheam of pages. As shool has 212 from onedist and Wesleyan chapels. A school has £12 from endowment; and oth r charities £3.

BRYNTLEN, a township in Lleufair-Carreinion pa-

BRYNTLEN, a township in Lleufair-Carreinion pa-tilsh, Montgon, ry; near Illantin; Pop., 50. BRYNELLTYN, a township in Llanfyllin parish, Montgonery; near Islanfyllin. Pop., 90. BRYNTLAINGLE, a township in Abergele parish, Denlight; near Abongele. Pop., 15. BRYNTPYNON, a village in Lleufaireis-Gaer parish, Cararyon; 2 miles NE of Cararyon. BRYNTPORD, a township in Holywell parish, and a chapelry in Holywell and Ys-celling parishes, Flint. The town slop lies near the town and r. station of Holy-well. Road property, 22,901; of which $7.90 are in The texandup lies near the town and r. station of Hoty-well. Real property, 22,010; of which 1700 are in mines. The chapelry was constituted in 1854. Post-town, Holywell. Pops, 200. House, 190. The living is a rectory in the discuss of St. Asaph. Value, net repeated.* Patron, the Eichop of St. Asaph.

reported.* Patten, the Richop of St. Asph.
BRYNGLAS, a township in L11ntin-Carrelation parish, Montgenery; I mile SW of R. milit Pop., 72.
BRYN-GWAEDDAN, a beauthip in L1 argottan parish, Montgenery; 7 miles W.W. of Lianfair. Pop., 71.
BRYNGWHAM, a handet and a subdistrict in the district and comany of Anglescy. The bonder stands 2] mile N by W of Valley r. slation, and S ESE of Holyhead; and bus a post-sifier's under Holyhead; and fores on Exister Monday, Holy Thutsday, 11 Oct., and 2 New 2 West and the backets and 24 Nov. The sub-district lies around the baralet; and contains three perioles, nine parochial chapelries, an extra-parochial has the aville. Acres, 25,003. Pop., extra-paro-dual tra *; and a ville. Acres, 25,000. Pop., 5,746. Houses, 1,250. BRYNGWYN, a town-hip in Dymeirchion parish, Flint; 3} miles E of St. Asaph. Real property, £1,500.

Pop., 88.

BRYNGWYN, a parish in Abergavenny district, Monauth: 21 miles WNW of High in r. station, and 7 8E by E of Abergavenny. Postrown, Highm, under New port Mormouth. Acres, 1,184. Real property, 42,131. Pop., 315. Houses, 72. The property is divided among a few. Brongwyn Bouse is the stat of Arthologous Craw-

a tex. Berngwyn House is the cat of Ar Indexeou Cray-by. The hiving is a rectory in the discose of Landaff, Value, 2290. Parton, the Farl of Abergavenny. The chur n is good. Charities, 210. BRYNGWYN, a parish in the district of Hey ord-county of Endner; on the river Arroy, 41 mile WNW of the Hareford and Lacour rafte vy, and 6 NNW of Hay, of the Hryford and Rosson railly ay, and 6 NNW of Hay. Prot-town, Hay, under Hereford. Acres, 4,538. Real property, 22,442. Pop., 394. Howes, 65. The property is much substituted. The Bring is a rectory in the diagon of 8t. David's. The draught is a rectory in the diagon of 8t. David's. The church is bid. Charties, 9t. BRYNGWYN at 8x and Unit, two townships in Carows partial, 11hr year the receiving of the county, 6 mills ESE (18t. Asyla, Real property, £1,702. Pop., 750 at 4.75.

16) a d 79. BRYNGWYND, a honder in L2 officing observed by the poist, Colorett by near Lian Blotown. BRYNDAFOD, a bundler in L4 manthen perish, Carmette and 2 as test NW of L5 and officer. BRYSHERG DP, active, hip in Rhoddler parish, Francisca that the L5 as L5

Knida i parid, Loca Lie; 2 miles 8W of Kirkhana

Ac., 1,0 Bully operty, $1.715. Pop., 116. Horses,

BRYNKINALT, a township in Chirk pari h, Den-BRY MAINAIT, a town-stop in thirk pointly, Density and bight on the river Density and placent to the Scham bury and Che terr through mile MF of Chirk. Expain it, House here, the mile the density and was the seem of much of the carly like or the mother of the hist Duke of Wellington.

BRY MKIR, estation on the Commission white railway; II wiles 8 of Common.

Hardles S of Controll.

BRYN-LLANFAHL, a locality in Liantain is Gerparish. Carmaryon being on the Model streit, edges at no the Carmaryon being a miles NNL of Carmaryon. It has a post-office under Pangar.

BRYN-LLYWARCH, a toxaskip in Kenti panks. Montromery, 2 miles F of Newton. Pop., 111.

BRYN-LLYS. See Brion-Llys.

BRYNLLYS. See Browning.
BRYNMAWR, a village in Llumint a kind Llucielly patishes, Breony 1 in the NV of critishaw H.
BRYNMAWR, a lung that of honey dky, on the northern bother of Money atthe on the Marthyrool. Alsergacemy railway, in the vicinity of Noneydes, I, has a post-officed under Tredegra, as a read on seming a death, and several chapels. A railway from it to Blackwom was authorised in 1958.
BRYNOLINY, a townel join St. Asoph parish, Elint, mar St. Asoph. Bod property, 48,676. Pop., 742.
BRYNOLIND BLER, a kinding 2 miles from 1 buttissate, in Glorone 1 y with a personal 5. under Cardin.

BRYNEMDULER, a Leidity 2 m. stream Partris-sad, in Ghanga at with a pastodic and re-Gastin, BRYNSHENKIN, or BRYNSHNOTN, a village in Handam parich, langlessy; 34 miles NW of Carnatton, It has a postodice under Ranger, or la fail on 120 c. BRYNTALCH, a township in Handy-diparish, Mont-gomeryshine; 2 miles SW of Montgomery, BRYNTALCH, a township in Branch glowys parish, Braddish; 54 miles NW of Liber office, Lift NTACOR, a township in Branch glowys parish, Braddish; 54 miles NW of Liber office,

Deutschi, 5) mins NW of Livergreet is BRYNCCHEL WIPH-TAPOLOUS, a township in Cennus purish, Monrachery, 8 mil s XE of the Le yilleth, Rud peq ray, 4,13:5, Pop. (27) Heaves, BRYN V-BEHEDD, a Landet in Lindchoffer position

Catmorthen; mar Llandile fast. Real property, 2021. Pop., 386.

I VYX VORKIN, a seat adjoint to Castgwile, in It belongs to the Yenger, describints of Tador and is a quadrangular start u of 1610, after a by Inigo Jones.

By Y NYORUG, a village in Toxyn parish, Merker eth; near Towyn

BRYNYWALL, a township in ' si illan paris', Limt; near Rhaddlan. Pop., 63.

BUBB-DOWN, a wooded eminer, in Dors.; a liacent to the Weymouth and Yeavil railway, 2 mil., X by E of Evershot. It forms a constituency 2 mins X is a constituency of the command; a very extensive and builtient view. BUBBENHALL, or HORENBULL, a parish in the district and country of Wanwick; on the tiver Avon, Fueller SW by S of Brandon r. station, and 5 SSE of Coven-It has a post-office under Kenile outh. Aeres, try. It has a posterior under Kennicetti. Aere, 1200. Redipportry (22.55. Pep., 23.4. Herost 70. The property is divided among a fee. The living is a factory in the divise of Workster. Valex, 2710.00 Patien, the Bishop of Workster. The charch is good.

BULNFILE. See Passow.

St. of St. 1. St. 1 Mage of allow, 5 miles SW CC of the Religion of the Pool of T. House, 11. It is an expectation of the Market Pool of T. House, 12. It is an expectation of the Market Pool of the Marke

BUCKENBAM PARVA. See BUCKESHAM NIAR-

Toris

BECKENHILL, a township in Weathing parish, Riceleck Clarifies Northess. Pop., 187.

Blue Frail II, a path in Heation didn'd, Devon on John Clarifies of the great didner. By or on John Clarifies, a path in Messi, John Richard, Softwarfor to be yellow Well Heation. Ref. is of discourse, by Reidian Acres, 1,550. Religion of the 18 John Lorent Lodge and Heating For a color on John Clarifies and extraction at noticed in to original to the Clarifies of the property is not original to the discourse of the property is not fine long. The Stant extraction in Institute in to original to the discourse of the stant of the discours of Fresher, Value, 8129. Patrons, the bear and Clapter of Nation. The characteristic contribution of twelve. Eveter, Value, 2129. Patrons, He Dean and Chapter of Eveter. The chords is cruciform; I is a richly critical of exercit; and is in evellent condition. EUCKFAST ABBEY. See BOCA STOTER.

I then, I for almoshouses, and offer the transportation of the control of the transportation of the transporta tures of proper limits and delived Tudor and v. , not 1 long ago, restored. The churchyord constrainty chaltena dir of an ancient chantry or haptist my, many black remains of an american analysis reportedly, many breek profile 1 embetones, belother grave of Admiral Thomas What. There are chapels for Independents, Equists, and Wesleyans; and charities 257. The sub-1-stret Contains four parishes. Acres, 19,646. Pop., 4,263.

BUCKHOLT (Easy and Wist), an extraparadial trut in Sto kloudge of triet, Bants; on the verge of the county, on the Bonan road from Winehoster, 4 miles NNW of Dean r. station, and 5; SW by W of Stock-bridge. Act; 1,224. Pop., 118. Houses, 5. Queen-wood college in here.

wood college is here.
BUCKHORN-WESTON, a panish in the district of V is auton and country of Derset; on the verse of the sty, and on the Salishary and Yeavit tool and 3, 33, WSW of Gillit 2 on r. station, and 4 8 E of Winstanton. Post-town, Ullimpham, under Eath. Acres, 1632. Real property, with Kington-Magan, 27,920. Pop., 509. Houses, 197. The living is a rectory in the Civese of Salishary. Value, 2369.* Parron, Lady Standard. Standeton

BUCKHOW-BANK. So BUCKABANK.

BUCKHUTST, a chapelry in Chigwell and Loughton parishes, Frank; on the Eastern Counties railway, a lparishes, Fesca; on the Liestern Countries rathway, al-jacent to Loping forces, 6] unless Mc of Bishop-gate, London. It has a station, of the name of Buckhurst-hill, on the railway, and a pust-solite, of the name of Buckhurst, under Wesdford, London, N. F. Haws con-citated in 1838. Pop., 902. Houses, 147. The living is a realony in the disease of Rechester. Value, 2500. Patron, the Vicur of Chigwell. The clorch is modern and next; and there is an Independ at the pel.

BUCKHURST PARK, the sect of Lord Deliwarr, in

RUCKHURST PARRY, the sect of Lord Pet warr, in Sussex; cf | miles ISE of IE+4 Grinstead. The gate tower of the spherel, ancient, extinct mandon of the Sackviller, is adjacent. BUCKINGHAM, a town, a parich, a sub-district, a district, and a hundred, in Backs. The town stands on a bend of the river 0.5cm, \(\frac{1}{2}\) of a mile. We of the Bucking-bantshire railway, 15 miles NW of Aylesbany. The Backinglamshire railway gives it communication in five directions, toward Braberry, Oxford, Aylerbary, Bedford, and London; and a branch could, of 10 miles, formed in 1801, gots from it, north-ex-tward, down the valley of the Ouse, to the Grand Junction canal and Stony-Strat-The town dates from encient times. Remains of a Roman ville were discovered within 2 miles of it in 1857. The I: can general Aulus Plautius, on some spot near it, surprised such routed the Britons, under the command of the sons of Canobelin. The Saxon saint, termind of the subject of wondrous legacts, was buried in it; and a shine being creeted over his grave, and afterwards 1-novate, attracted for ages crowds of pilgrims. Edward the Elder resided a short time in it in 918; and raised two forts for its defence. The Dones rary; and magent two lones for an accenter. The follows having of it in $11, and again in 1010. A castle was built on an eminence, w. i in it, so on after the Conquest; but does not make any fearer in history, and he a disappeared. A great fire, in 1725, hid waste 138 dwelling-houses, and A great me, in 1720, the wase 135 eventing-forces, and destroyed properly to the amount of 235,000. The town had previously been the capital of the county that it then last all it character; and has never since acquired any great prosperity.

Bu dinglem is cut of the most uninteresting towns in the bingdom. It consists whichly of one bong irregular street; and its difficult mainly with inferior brick bonses. street; and it o lift, all middly with inferior brief bolias. Two and in bridges and a modern one give it paysing over the river. The toward all its large briefs structure of 1955. The juli is bridding of 1758; calanged in 1839; call has early if for 36 mids and 3 fm de prisoners. The church stands on the mount of the encient castle; but sail; it by the set of about 27,600; un blass by 18 do not be 1876, and it is by 18 for being the calve length style. The range of all and is in the calve length style. The range of all the two types are the primitive Methods of charles. The control of the style of the calve length of the calve length of the primitive Methods of charles the calve length of the cal chard of a chartay, founded in 1255, by Arel denon 8 ration; have Neir an dearway, and fine covered early and is energed by ancient walls. Another school has 454 from endow, and, hespitals, $22; and other charties, $32.5. The world loss cost $2,500; and have early for known present Pullent's break occupies the after of a man ion which was inhabited sometime by Cat, who of Arragon, the first queen of Henry VIII.; was built in 1611; occupied next year, by Prince Report; and gave quarters, for a night in 1645, to Chules I. Another house, still extint, was visited by Queen Liliabeth. The house, still ext and west sixted by Queen Llimbeth. The prebendry-house, of the same date as Lambard's, is a curious cella, with a crooked chimney.

The town has a Ural pest office, an allway station with telegraph, three banking-offices, and two chief inus; is a seat of perty as Jone, and a polling-place; and publishes a world young and Larkest are held on Monday of Jan., 7 March, the second Monday of April, 6 May, White Haurshey, 10 July, the second Wednesday of Avg., 4 Sept., 2 Oct., the Saturday after 11 Oct., 8 Nov., and 13 Dec. The chief manufacture is keeneding with boldings but strow-plain making was recently introduced; and maditing atomic, and wood softly are ing will boldens; the strategical making take it continued one I and madding, training, and wood sortfor an earlied on. The town was reade a borough by to by III.; is governed by a builting or myor, four ables, and tracks councillois; sort two members to putiful the till 1867; and now sends only one. Its in limits are conterminate with the parish; and its p. limits in be least the perishes of Mads-Moreton, Thombrough, 194-bury, Hilleslen, Preston-Bisset, Tingevick, and Rall bury, Billesten, Preston-Bisset, Tingevick, and Rad-chicecum-Chackmore. Real property in 1860, 243,267. Direct taxes in 1877, £5,436. Theeters in 1868, 467. Pep, of the m. berengh, 3,849. Houses, $18. Pep, of the p. barengh, 7,626. Houses, 1,760. Elishop John of Buchin ham, Cosh, the matry, and Goode the translator of the Fadras, were nitives. The town has given the table of Duke to the families of successively Stafford Villers, Suc. 3,11 and Granville. Villiers, Shellb 11, and Grenville.

Millers, Signata, and trenvino.
The pairsh includes the precinct of Probend-End, the chapeley of General, and the handlist of Lemborough, harding and Routenhold. Acres, 4,777. Rated properly, 218,347. Pep. 3,849. House, 813. The property is much subdivided. Enclaining no manor belonged annichally to the Giff acls, Ends of Buckinghous placed to successively the Clares, the Breeses, and the Statlands: suffered forfeiture, and was given to Richard Foy br, in 1460; was restored to the Staffords in 1455, and forfeited again in 1521; passed to successively Lord Morney, the Careys, and the Bruss Landly; and was lease 1, 15.1, for 999 years, to the corporation. Lemborou, a maner lay annexed to Buckingham manor till 1521; a sheld thence for nearly a century by the Crown; possed then to the Dormers; was purchased, in 1718, by Edward Gibbon, Esq., the grandfather of the historian; and passed afterwards to the Goodriches. Stowe, the quonder on gatterwards to the constraints. Stowe, the quantity in in-nificent real of the Dule of Backingham, is in the neighbouring parist of Skove. The Bring is a vicanage in the disce, of Oxford, Value, 4455. * Patron, the Inshop of Oxford. The vicanage of Gawooth is a separate

The sub-district contains the parisbes of Buckingham, Parberry, Adstock, Adhington, Steeple-Chaydon, and Middle Chaydon. Acros, 14,983. Pop., 6,987. Honce, 1,394. The district compelends also the sub-district of Tingawick, e attaining the parishes of Tingawick, Burton Hatthern, Chetro C. Preston-Bisset, Hills den, Tyrical, Edg. 22, and Harsh-Gibbon, and the sub-district of Leckhamy-tend, cattining the parishes of Leckler estad, Fessel mapter, Harston, Theradormal, Mods-Mordon, Forcott, Medayemu-Stockhoft, Leffic eston-Levell, Lefficest on David, Starking Stockhoft, Scholme-with Gill, Wach, Waster-Steekford, and Radelive, and the extra-problid to stock 11,235 depths, 25,2449. Postats in 1856, 216,678. Pop. in 1864, 15,756. Host., 3,650. Muritiges in 1896, 5g; birth, 394,—of sh. in 23 were illegatine etc. Beatle, 241,—etc., where The sub-district contains the parishes of Buckingham, 23 were like, time ter deaths, 24, man, 50, 50, 60 which 18 were at ages under 5 year, and 8 at ages above 85. Merings in the ten years 1-54-60, 1,080; births, 4,190; deaths, Col. They then of we ship in 1931 were 28 C.C. 1972 to the with Cherlotting 1 floof Index of the color in the color of the color in the color of the zer na pentschoth recombies. Its greatest length of miles; its growest brooking 27 miles; its mean this, but 18 miles; its call independ, 128 miles; I had so that broading 27 malest its meetable, it at 18 miles; its call indicates 188 miles; it at 18 miles; it at 18 miles; it is remarked in the meth, is situated in the limite centre, comprises the the wide layled-vary, water of by the Hama ; and in the south, but it of the Chileren falls, about 16 miles broad, and the miles proof, and the miles are considered. The chief such that is a 683 feet to 994 bett right. The charts a set to Thomes, the Thame, the Once, the College of the Wield. Less rocks occupy a small control NW coder, adjacent to Brackley, solites, by Mower holding and apper, occupy west of yillows, well-the much apper, occupy west of yillows. Committeen boundary to lines a Extletic Section Momentum Lord Ayl Strip, jet speccess. his Second man and med Ayd shary, en processing the solution of the control of th

At the lines are followed on most of the at big of the constructions and followed on most of the at big of the construction of the at big of the construction of the c

Stoke. The objectation county tokes in tracts from a ljoining over by hely like of the them larger in vote; con prises by faith consequents, that is divided but the districts of Amen them. Agle sharp, Buckinghous, Blook, New prince, Lee, Agle sharp, Buckinghous, Blook, New prince, Lee, Agle sharp, Buckinghous, Blook, New prince, Papella, Win Low, and Wycombe. The bounghs are Amerikana, Christopher, Buckinghous, Great Marlow, and Hang, Aylesdar ; Rose ons by H. Buckinghous, Christopher, Shangh, Stery Str. (Christopher, Prince-Photonogh, Stery Str. (Christopher, Prince-Photonogher, Prince), Witchen (Christopher, Prince-Photonogher, Prince), Str. (Christopher, Prince-Photonogher, Photonogher, Ph joining a way had the off to them larger moust com-prises for ann acres; and is divided into the districts of Ayisbury; and the first boungh gift in 160 800 fm; and The number of climes committed, in 1805, and 263; of persons upper bonded, 184; of depredictors of a special persons of large, 831; of houses of lad the service of the large, and five by the four bounghs. County depression of the persons of the large, and five by the four bounghs. large; and free by the four borongles. County Gr ters in 1888, 6, 1923. The county is in the discase of Oxford; and Constitutes and Ladencory. The answer of Post-rates for the registration county, in 1880, v. s. 320, 100. The number of near loop, in 1880, was 1, 01.8.—of visit b. 180 were not according to the rites of the Latal list of Chanch; of births, 5, tyre,—of with 12.85 were illigation, or of the disk, 2, 920.—of with 12.85 were linguisticated of the disk, 2, 1924.—of which 1, 100 were at ages under 5. Yours, and 2.14 ages, lower 55. The places of weedship in of deaths, 2.917.— O wind 1,100 years at ages motor 5 years, and $1 at ages above $5. The places of worship, in 1.531, within the county proper, who 225 of the Charletten and, with 64,221 yithings; 56 of Indep relates, with England, with 04.231 viltings: 56 of Indep whene, with 14.00 s.; 72 of Replists, with 16.70 s.; 8 of Onekoes, with 4.50 s.; 8 of Principle Methodists, with 4.50 s.; 3 of West, 16 of Principle Methodists, with 4.50 s.; 3 of West, 16 of Principle Methodists, with 4.50 s.; 3 of West, 16 of Principle Methodists, with 4.50 s.; 3 of West, 16 of Principle Methodists, with 4.50 s.; 3 of West, 16 of Principle Methodists, with 16 s. s.; 4 of Indep Methodists, with 16 s. s.; 4 of Roman Catholics, with 27 s. The shock with 18 public day schools, with 13,743 cholar; 23 s.; 5 of day schools, with 13,743 cholar; 23 s.; 5 of day schools, with 5,505 s.; 352 Sunday schools, with 15,505 s.; astic colleges at A libility and Etop, and of a r as the colleges at A. Lio, Joe and Elor, and Cl. S. r. hospital at New port Farge 49; but all roan due or 14 other mone deal s and 9 other hospitals, which on C exit of, are extract. Eight churches show anch in Nonem La-tures; and two others are good specimens of an item Eng-lish. The country less the title of Eul to the fixedly of Head.

Hampden-Hobari

DECKINGHASSHEE BAILWAY, a relivey of Euckinghamshine on I Onfordshire. It common in a junction with the Northwestern at Eletchley; goes west-south-westward to Bicester, and thence south-westward to Oxford: sends off two lines in the vicinity of Winslow and Clay-lon, the one south-eastward to Aylasbury, the other north-westward and west-north-westward, past Buckingham and English, to Embury; and Jones junetions at Oxford and Embury with the Oxford and Hugby Twenty on tables of it are single line; and the railway. rest double. then an analgamation of two previous schools, the Oxford and blatchley incorporated in 1845, and the line k-ingham and Brackley incorporated in 1846; while the line to Aylesbury was not incorporated till 1890.

BUCKISH-MILLS, a Lambet in Parkhau, at I Woolof Bideford. It has a Wesleyan chapel; and a glen at it is a pleasing teature amid a range of clisis and woods woods.

BUCKLAND, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Faringdon disti, t, terks. The village stants 11 mule S of the niver treates, 4 NE by E of Tatingdon r. station, and 133 SW by W of Oxford; and have jost-office under Latingdon. The parish includes about handled cardinary of Carswell Actes, 4,344. Real pulpatry, 25,720. Fup., 912. Hourses, 171. The property is divided among a few. Backhand House is the seat of Sir R. Threckmorton, Part.; was to lift in 1757, after designs by Wood of Bath; and contains relies of Mary Queen of Sixts and Charles I., some other cuniosities, and some fare pictures. The living is a vicer period the discrete of Oxford. Value, 2300.  Patron, th. Bishop of Glouesster and Feishel. The charle is old but good. There are Rappits and Reman. The church is old but good. There are Baptist and Roman Catholic chapels, an endowed school with $32 a-year, and charities £40. - The sub-district contains five to dishes and charities £40.—The schedistrict contains fiver a false and four parts. Acres 25,355. Fop. 4,945. Houses, 1,403. BUCKLAND, a parish in Aylesbury distirt, Lencks, between the Aylesbury and the Wendover catal, 21 miles Sof Marston-Gater estroin, and 3 WNW of Firing. Posttown, Tring. Acr s, 1,544. Real property, £2,614. Pop., 732. Houses, 149. The property is divided among a few. The living is a pouracy, amenced to the vicatage of Stoke-Mundeville, in the diocess of Oxford. The church is ancient. There are a chapel of case, Baptist and Mc hodis chap by and a national school.

BUCKLAND, a parish in Windemple district, Glorestur, under the Corswolds, 11 mile SW of Er adway, and 64 VSW of Campdon r, station. It includes the lambte of Leverton; and its post-town is Break-ay.

and 64 WSW of Campdon r. station. It includes the hamlet of Laverton; and its postetown is like clear. Acres, 2,270. Real property, 23,283. Uop, 655. Houses, 77. The meaner belonged formerly to the Gresshams; and belongs now to Sir T. Phillips, But "The living is a rectory in the discuss of Clone sternal British. Value, 2222. Parion, Sir T. Phillips, But. The brich is later English; has a line point of window of the time of Edward IV.; and it is in good condition. They made such advantage of the statement of th school has £50 from endowment.

school has 250 from substruct.

BUCKLAND, a pelsish in Royston all tills, Hertsynear Emnines frost and the sources of the P.2.—I from rivers, 2 subsex N of Buntinefood in station. It includes the Allege of Chitypergrand has a periodic mater Buncingford. Actos, 1,552. Real property, 22,104. Phys., 78. A. Honsey, or. The property is chief, industry a few. The living is a restory in the discover of Helder at the Charles of the P.2. The church is good.

The church is good.

Th. Church (1966).
BUCKLAND, a point in Favordrom the rist, Kontymeer the river Swale and the Chathaman I Lowert. Bodynomials NW by Wor Favordrom. Protocol, Lowelliam. Acres, 576. Keel property, 2886. Peps, 18. Hepses, 3. The Eving is a sin, one rectory in the discovered.

case of Canterlary, Yaba, 21-7. Patron, S. J. T. Tyrell, Sart. The chur 't has long ben in rule.

BUCKLAND, a parish in Dover du 'tiet, Erist. on the BUCKLAND, a parish in Daver du viet, Ernt. on the river Dong, and on the Canterlang and Dover railway, 1½ mile NW of Daver. Post town, Dover. Acres, 873, Real property, 25,831. Pop., 211cc. However, 373, The property is subinished. The stateweight was founded about 1150. The bring is a vicency in the direct about 1450. The bring is a vicency in the direct Canterbary. Value, 2130. Patron, the Archbi long of Canterbary. The Church is good; and there are a Wes-leyan chapel and a national school.

leyan chaped and a national school.

BHCK LAND, a parish in Reigade district, Surrey, on the Reading and Beigee railway, I a mile RSL of Betchworth station, and T. W. of Reigade. It has a post office under Reigade. Acres, 1,744. Read property, 22,710.
Pup., 369. House, 61. The property is divided among a few. Backland House is a chief residence. The birms is a reofory in the diocess of Winchester. Value, 2017.
Patron, All-Scale College, Oxford. The church we are Lift in 150. Scanner the biographer of Academics. built in 1860. Spencer, the biographer of Archbishop Chicheley, was rector.

BUCK LAND, a village in Therfield parish, Horts; 2 miles SW of Loyston.

BUCKLAND, a hamlet in Thurlstone parish, Devon; 3} miles W of Kings bridge.

BUCKLAND, a mansion nuder a very real cartie mecratain in Brecon; on the river Usla, 6 miles NW by W of Crickhowell. It is the seat of J. P. Gwynne Holland, Esq

BUCKLAND - ABBEY. See BUGGLAND - MONA-CHORUM

BUCKLAND - BEACON. See BUCKLAND - IN - CHE-

BUCHLAND-BREWER, a village and a perith in Bidford district, Devon. The village stands 8 miles from the cost, and 41 SSW of Bid-load r. station; and has a post-offer under Bid-ford. I type-formedy a merhas a post-off-ce under Belt-ford. It was beamenty a mer-ket town; and it will be fairs on WhiteTures by no 12 Nov. The part-broading also the heads to 6 Tytha sat, Billsford, and Gallsworthy. Acres, 6,157. Wed projectry, 24,663. Peps, 1922. House, 145. The property is divided uniong three. The namer belong d, in the time divided among three. The matter serion of a more more thenry III., to the En wers; and belongs now to the Rolle family. The living is a vientage, united with the p. curacies of East Putford and Ballowordsy, in the decrease of Exeter. Value, 2234.5 Patron, the Crosm, [2012, 1234] and another has a Norman door and cess of Exercity Vanie, 2531. Tarron, the Grown, The church is large and anciently base a Norman door and a lefty tower; and contains many ancient monuments. There are cheptly for Exprises and Bible Cinistians. BUCKLAND-DENHAM, a village and a port hope BUCKLAND-DENHAM, a village and a port h in Frana distrit. Somerst. The village statels in a the Prome river, 21 miles NNW of France r. station; and has a post-clico under Franz. It formerly was a made, it town; and still has a fair on 40 Oct. The parish comprises 1,399 acres. Real property, 42,441. Top., 455, Houses, 103. The property is divided among a few. The hving is a vicange in the dione and Back and Wells. The church was recently restored. The reare a Wesley in the diarrel was recently restored. The reare a Wesley in the diarrel was recently restored.

Value, al S.1.* Letter, the Bishap of Bath and Webs, The church was recently restored. The cauca Wesley or clopel, a nation's shoot, and charities (14). BUCKLAND (Exsh), a parish in South Mellon dis-trict, Decong on an adheat of the river Town 5 miles NW by N of Seath Molten, and 7 NNE of Gold of the r. station. Post-town, South Molton, North D. a. Acres 1,385. Real paperby, 31,100. Peps, 171. House, 23. The under belongs to Tell Vert Tabellichnick as they will a wind with the constant of this House, 23. The nuclei belongs to Unit Unit. The living is no tory, united with the receivest Physics, in the discovery fitted with the receivest Physics, i.e., Fortisens. The church is a need and an inequation of the receive Physics of the shaded discovery. The received week week of the discovery and the received physics of the Physic petty, A. A. 196.

RUCKI, N. M. H. H. L. P. G. H., e. p. ai. h. ia. Torch gates d'thirt, Devoy pet alle . N. W. et. H. ch. at. [1, 5], and 10.8 so. Rad-ford r. starfen. Posterens, Station. Ruder Highensplon, North P. ven. Ar. S. 3,607. Real property, 21.87: Page, 238. Horrey, 16. The page typis divided an ong a few. The resure belongs to Lod Ashburt and Lod Lod Lod. Backfull How to each first Ashburton. The diving is a rectory in the discover HEA with Vol. A 1218. Letter the Belondoff Each. The other hands as he had been a been been been divided by the Company of th the contents are cosen to parketing from Pipe han, some small a life of and contains around this of the Laberds and the Portsones.

1.4% oscard the Fortescus.

BU ALAND INTHILLMOOR, a parish in Nexton-Adom fairer, beyong on the river Darr, adjusted to Batta a, alpath NW of AS betton and 9.4% of Nexton r, at ton. Pest town, Ashburton, meler Nexton-Abbert, Asset, 1,558. Realph perty, 2986. Pop., 113. Physics, 24. The page ray is divided funcing a few. The arrange, vib. he khould flower, belongs to the handly of first of 1. B. Therd I ago it is needly entired to their grant and real avery hellfurth promotion lower. The third grant and a very hellfurth promotion lower. The third grant and a consequence of Capta. The third slower is small, and two specially report of Capta. The third slower is small, and two specially report of Capta. republic Charities, 2007 BUCKLAND - MINCHIN, See BURKLAND - Soro-http://klanbedonachebill.avilleg.aprish.aml.belistrict in the district of Taylstock, Deven. They have some study near the river Taylstock, and near the Hornthilps of in the Taylstock, adverse the taylstock of the taylstock.

the states of anchor. Acres 86,500. Pop. 8,608. The fiving is an try in the discount for states 1.150. States 1.15 al sine girms at ; and probably was British.

ad? — al Sim g car and g and probably was British.

O ! — Chally in we want the trench.

L CKLAND-BEIERS, a part bit in Weymouth district, Dot at a more the Weymouth milway, 2 inde. New by N of Side side Regis.—It includes part of Nortington Laciety politics.—It includes part of Nortington Laciety politics.—It includes part of Weymouth.

At eas, 1,237.—Rated property, 24,189.—Pop., 113.

Regis 2, 7.—The property is divided moning a two. The living is a ratery in the disease of Salisbury. Value, 2176.—Patton, Q H. Struck Fag.—The church signed.

BUCKLAND-ST, MARY, a village and a parish in Cherd district, Son with. The village study 12, mile from the verge of the roomey, P, miles NW of Chard 1, station, and 6 V. by S of Hininstern and it has a post office under Cr. vid, and a fair at the Towards made a Well of lay after 20 S. pt.—The perish compales 3,494 arts.—Rad property is mile and livided.—Traces of a Poment fort but the range of Netsolie Costb.; and relies of confirst Acceptant the Sexicus and the Parish respectively. fliet between the Saxons and the Danes have been found fift's between the Saxons and the Prints in the normal The living is a rectory in the discose of Eath and Wells. Value, 4:33. Patron, F. L. Pephana, Esp. The church was rebuilt in the nine years prior to 1864; cost about was retaint in the time y are prior to 1997; they, then 22 (1993) all defined by the netter, the Rev. J. E. Lewer, is in the do orded by flish their consists of may with risks, there is with size charles, a count post h, and a messive western tower; and has origine of closes of markles, jobych oncy, statury, and pointed which as, Remains of an anches see the core are in the churchyard. There is a Baptist char-

BUCKLAND-SORORUM, or B. Mixenix, a leading BUCKLAND-SOR-OLUM, or B. Miscuits, a le, they in Dursten publish, Sense set, 41, miles W of Transion. A house of receler amons was founded here, in 11-7, by William de Enleight, but somewhere as. The proporty of it was given, in 11-8, but the languast Hospitalists. A main say and a part play succeeded the non-selectly and the framer consistent at 15-1 file sistence of the Knigles H opticides, but offer and reasonable from the and became A are for lan. The property we sixen at the dissolution, to Alena the Poph, an end William.

at the dissortion, to Arch, the Topic in each Window, BUCKLAND TOUT SAINTS, apair 3 in King, it Leadstriet, become 20 in the Nil. of King, ridge, and 0.881, of King Juddyc Rocht, state in Posteroom, King, ridge, Arres, with Lood with 3,598. Bead property, with Challeson and Discoberk 5,7351. Popp, 30. Horses, 8
The property is divided by tracent two. By killen in Rockette, which was not the Chark family. The being is a py, many, named to the Chark family. The being is a py, many, named to the view good bed besself, in the solvener.
Extrem. The charge base mostly relative (777), the BUCKLAND (Wisch, a parish in South Meltin distributed, Devon 6 only N.W of 8 after Melen, at 177 for the LUCKLAND (Wisch, a parish in South Meltin distributed), South Down. Acres, 1,778. Red 1 p. 73, 1,538. Pep, 1621. Bussey 56. The p. p. type of viol I have p. a few and great portion by an in Land Fortener. The living is no to try in the discontinuation of Exiter. Value, 2404. Future, J. F. Bress, J. P. Breach, and State which we said the state of preference of preference and for each beginning to the law of preference and for each beginning the course of preference and for each beginning to the law of preference and for each beginning the law of preference and for each beginning the law of preference and for each beginning the law of the forter and for each was the form the law of preference and for each beginning the law of preference and for each was the law of the law

The first beinged to Reading all the security and the distribution, to John Winches and a concurrency called Jack of Newberry; passed, by marriage, to the famous Lord Edingles be; reverted to the decondary of Winch-Least tengers as a recent of the second of another least to the first tenth of the H.H.H. Hartbey, Esp. A fine Tudor normalion was built on it by Jack of Newbary, and visited, in Load B Jingbrobe's time, by Switt; but has been destroyed. Buchickury common is an el vated undulating tract, commanding comment is an e. vacet unmaning trace, somewhatering fine views. The Bring is a vicatage, united with the peturacy of Markst 15, in the drove of Oxford. Value, £163,* Patron, W. H. H. Hartley, Isq. The church is Norman, with low square fower and small spire; and contains mount outs of the Winchcombes. There are an Independent chapel, and an endowed pehool with £37. The sub-district contains nine parishes. Acre., 23,949.

Prop. 5.5 m. Houses, 1.178.

BUCKLEPSHARD, a village in Beaubou parish, Hanty on Be ell u creck, 6 miles ENE of Lymington. It was designed by the second Dake of Monogue to be a town, with sugar refineries in connection with his West In lia est, tes; and laid, for some than, several Ship-yards;

but is new of little importance.

out is new of little injectione.

BUCKLESHAM, a parish in Wesdbridge district, Suffolk; 23 miles 8 of Beelings a station, and 55 PSE of Tyswich. It has a post-office under previous. Acres, 1.822. Redpendingly 23,231. Pop., 342. House, 70.
Many curious parifications are found. The living is a rectoryingly observed Norwich. Value, 4595, 2 Tatton, the Roy. D. Walford. The church is of brick, and was repured in 1342. There is a national school.

Figure 19 1842. There is a narrowal scape.

RUCKLEY, a chaptery in Hawarden parish, Flint; 2 mile N by W of Hope r station, and 4 ft of Mold. It has a passionified in the Nobl. The statistic are no funced with the parish. The living is a pocure y, anneyed to the rectory of H. warden. A railway from Buckley to Counth's Quay, 5 miles long, was formed under an act of 1500; and was at first for minerals only, but was authorized in 1800 for passengers also.

BUCKLOW, a hundred in Cheshire; separated by the river Mersey from Lancashire. It extends southward to Northwich; we award a little past Runcoin; and eastward 3 miles past Altrincham; contains eight parishes and parts of two others; and is cut into two divisions, and parts of two courts; and as one mo two unvisions; East and West. Acres of the E. div., 58,638. Pop. in 1851, 26,233. Acres of the W. div., 45,983. Pop. in 1851, 28,582. Pop. of both in 1861, 60,639. Hortes, 11,543 BUCKMILL, a hamlet in Idle township, Calverley parish, W. E. Vorkshire; 34 miles NE of Bradford.

BUCEMILLS, a chapelry in Woolf adisworthy parish, Devon; near the town and r. station of Bilder ed. Post-town, Bildford. Top., 239. The living is a p. entory in the dioace of E.; ter. Value, not reported.* Petron, Mrs. Liwes. The church is recent Mis. Liwes. The educions recent BUCKMINSTER, a village and a parish in McDon-Mowbay district, Leicester. The village stands on the verge of the county, 44, indies NAW of Brood, sky), sta-tion, and 9 \(\) NI of McDon Mowbray. The parish inthen, and 9.1 M. of Astron Mowbray. The parten includes also the chaptaly of Sewstern; and its position is Colsterworth, under Granthein. Acres, 0.653. Read property, 32,858. Pap., 655. Honard, 144. Buck, uninster Park, with a fine Greekin sensition of 1728, in the scat of the Lad of Dysait. The living is a vicinity. united with the p. cursey of Sewstern, in the disease of Feterborough. Value, Clot.* Patron, the Larl of Dy-Feterrorough. Value, Cart. Tallon, in. S. it. The church is anount, of various dates; and less a tower and spin. There are a Wesleyen chep. I, a ma-

a lower and spite. There are a wave year chap t₁ a matrice 4.2 ke₁, and charities 2.18.

BUCKNALL, a parish in Horners the district. Lines Ingonomer 2.2, and of the Witham fiver, 2.3 miles FNE of Senting year region and 6.1 West Horners Proceedings of the Witham and the Across 2.471. Real content of the 2.2 key for the many fiver the content of the process of the senting senting the content of the process of the senting senting senting the senting sentin property, 22.84; Pops, 499; Houses, 83; The property (edge Ld) cong a few. The Property (edge Ld) cong a few. The Pving is a rackery in the rice case at Lin edn. Value, 2301; Farron, Lond Monson. The chard it is good; and there are two Mathodi (edge by the school), and charifies 218.

BUCKNALL, to stownships and a parochial chapelry in Stole oper Trait parch, Stuffard. The toschipa are Buckmall at Buckmall Flows. Buckmall has been studied by Buckmall at Buckmall Flows. Buckmall has a the little studies XT of Stellempon Trait; has a restained and includes the hander of Chileby. Page, 1,498, 15 owns, 289. Buckmall Bucket has a mile further XE. Pop., 248. Hallers, 50. The percellial chapelry bears the name of the knull-cum-liagnedly includes at a the town hip of Pognall; and was constituted in 1507. Posttown (ap of Pryndf); and was one-fibric in 1807. Fost-toe in Hardey, inder Stobenpoelfront. Red property, 28,621; of which 20,035 are in mines. Prop. 2,140. House, 468. The property is much subdivided. The king is a retry, united with the penarcy of Equall, in the discuss of Haldfeld. Value, 2200. Patron, the Proceedings of the property is a property of the prope in the discuss of Li block. Volue, 2200. Tation, the Bey, T. Powys. The church is good.

BUCKNILL, a perich in The clared is good,
BuckNILL, a perich in The clared guides N to of Resester. Post town, Busister, verse, 1,670. Bod property, 22,634. Pop., 326. Hones, 58. The property is divided among a few. Bucknell House is the cost of the Dickes. The living is a nectory in the discuss of Oxford. Volume, not repution, Fation, New College, Oxford. The clared is only Lingdish, with a Norman tower; and has a bross of 1038. Chariffes, 241.

BUCKNLLL, a township and a parish in the Gi trict of Knighton; the former in the county of Salay: the latter partly of a in the county of thereford. The toxisship lies on the river Tome, adjacent to the Knigaton railway, 4 teils ENE of Knighton. It has a station railway, 41 miles ENE of Knighton. It has a shiften on the relibrary, and a post-effice under Leintwardine. Actes, 2,750. Red property, £5,514. Pep, 622. Horses, 198. The parish includes also the fownship of Buckton and Coxali. Actes, 4,459. It all property, with Brange as laim and Pedemsline, 210,250. Pep-790. Horses, 139. The property divided ration; a few. The hying is a vicange, united with the pecuacy of Buckton, in the discusse of Heraford. Veloc. 2502.28 Parron, the Grass S Cempany, Lordon. The church is od. Charles, A.E. BUCKROSE, a wapentalie in E. R. Yorksbire.

is bounded on the N and the W, above and I dow New Molton, by the river Derwent; and contain, twenty-Jacobson, by the fiver freeworth; and centant, twemps-eight janishes. Aeres, 102,453. Pop. in 1 %i, 13,852; in 1801, 15,353. Hounts, 2,977. ECCKS. Ste Puckinghamshing.

BUCKS-GREEN, a bandet in Rudgwick part h,

BUCKSHAW, a handet in Holwell patish, Dorset;

42 miles SL of Sherborne. Pop., 16.

BUCKSTONE (Tim), a famous rocking-store i.; Glouerstership; rear the Kyrain, Unite N of Cole ord. If lies on a to spicuous cummence; consists of old red conglutamate; and no asures about 50 feet in circonfigonce. It probably was detached, by ratural casses, from the subjected to e subjected to .k. BUCKTHORPT. See Brownowe.

BUCKTON, a town-hip in the parochiel chapshy of Kylor, Northean berhand; 3; miles NNW of Belford.

Kytos, Ademian.
Pop., 183.
BUCKTON, a township in Bridlington parish, E. R. will on the Bridlington railway.

HUCKTON, a nowaship in Briedington parish, R. R. Yorkshirer on the coast and on the Briddington adhway. 2] rathes Not Briddington. Acres, 2,047; of which 124 are water. Red property, 22,721. Pop., 181. Hose [3,1]. BUCKTON AND COXAID, a team hip in B. Incill noish, Herdord on the river Time, 72 miles U.E. of Englaton. Acres, 1,230. Pop., 183. Herses, 9. Herdord on the river Time, 73 miles U.E. of Puntingdon; 54 with a terminal to the Cityled and country of Puntingdon; 54 with & Wet the Great North on radianges and 7 NW of Ramingdon. Per count. Meanhany, under Hunte, Jon. Acres, 1,95c., Red poperty is of the most state. The Riving is a rectory in the disease of Lip. Value, 2,530. Patton, R. E. D. Shatte, U.J. The cherched at Sci.

BUBLIDOOKE, a perish and a subolistrict in the des-trict and county of Warvick. The parish lies on the Birning lan said Wanwick. Land, and on the Birnings Lam and Oxford railway, 12 mile NW of Warwick. It or Harry aroustles HTR, and Lower outh, and its post-town is Warwie 12. Let paperty, 25,28%. Top., 492.

112. Cov. Paul Loc is the seat of Lee Donie Lee Levy Lee, Steing in the discrete of Wordshift Cov. Paul Loc, is the seat of Lee Donie Lee Levy Lee, 25,07. Petron, Rev. H. B. Founder, L. Lee Lee, 25,07. Petron, Rev. H. B. Founder, L. Lee, 25,07. Petron, Rev. H. B. Founder, 15,07. Lee, 15,07. Source, 15,07. Lee Lee, 15,07. Lee Lee, 15,07. Lee Lee, 17,07. Let property, 26,288. Top., 492. Cro. Park here is the reat of Lord Dor-

if it is a contraction of the first upper hell. The trace is left to be the first of Compton, Hursley, and the trace A ray, 14,100. Pag. in 1871, 2,403. Here were A ray for helf contains Ashley parish, the upper helf contains Ashley parish, and the contract of two others. Acre, 1888 1995. The upper half contains Ashley parish, the other years of parts of two others. Acres, 1897 1995.

 1897 1997 1997 1997. Houses, 641.
 1897 2, or Bersanyevs, a will go and a chopelay in a rearch. Cornwall. The village stands on a year of seal channel, at the month of the Budle of the Woods for the Woods of th in the critical North Lowen, and a bodel; is for the many analysis, and contacts a great free lead party in crishelbourd not not the A fair is the leading of the many many in includes the different cost, building view-point; and Mr. Greney, the recontrol of the Bude for the circumstance is the view of the such that the circumstance is the control of the Bude for the circumstance is the view, and was con-27. See Ally Graney, the inventor of the Bube "not be when held a the village; and was con-lingle of League, 70%. Poisson, 100. The living report for disease of Unity. Value, 2120. See T. D. Achard, Bart.
38. FAUX, or Burgorn (Sr.), a village and a poish

Sir T. in Aland, Hatt.

FMEN, on Eurona (Sr.), a village and a puish yer donest. Many district, Devon. The village stands:

Handon's surely, near the Albert beidge and the state of the Coeuwill reflace, 4 roll six NW of the Thep rish includes also Hendocknowle, and the region of the Coeuwill reflace, 4 roll six NW of the Thep rish includes also Hendocknowle, and the region of the Section is Satia h. Comwall.

Source, depending on Satia h. Comwall, and the region of the old reported and group a tenter of the old reported in 1857, at the region of the old reported in 1857, at the classifier and dume hyand were strengly in the region and damp day, and remode and the proposition of the strength of the strength of the strength of the strength of the strength
of the strength of the strength of the strength
of the strength of the strength of the strength
of the strength of the strength of the strength
of the strength of the strength of the strength
of the strength of the strength of the strength
of the strength of the strength of the strength
of the strength of the strength of the strength
of the strength of the strength of the strength
of the strength of the strength of the strength
of the strength of the strength of the strength of the strength of the strength

1. If need tool sensor we seed Case Magazined of Conveyl and Doyon, the American Wildren. The AVI, a curif of Coursell and Deven. It could little tract rate of the Alpha Madeun, Parallel and Pale of the offine to Whombury red code a wind of the artist of the Alpha and the A

The state of the control of the period. North non-tractive of the control of the control of the con-trol of the control of t rails, and a pier. Cookles are plentifully or it; set to ke of different kinds the mate rapolly on its cook. A Roman read went from it to Almyi k. Budle House beto its of different thirds (the mate rapidly on fixe each. A Roman road went from it to Almai k. Bodie Bouss belonged to the Forsters, and passed to the Smiths. BUID LIGHT (Ever), a vid. 25, a parish, a subsidiritie; and a hundred in Deven. The village stants on the river Ofte, also it 2 miles from the coast, 3] miles for two Ofte, also it 2 miles from the coast, 3] miles for two five miles and subsidies on the coast, 3, and a fixed probability of the coast, 4, including contest chiefly of other coast, and was once a market-town. The parish in holes also the village of builded to an of the coast of the coast of the coast of the coast of the coast. town. The parise includes also the village of Polacellan-Salierion, and the hales of Great and Eithe Rhowle. Acres, 3,277; of which 40 are vater. But property, 29,400. Pop., 2,400. Houses, 502. The property is divided coming a few. For Black so to Dake Salience Lo-longed successively to the Formand the Duke families; bound successively to the Four-road the Burke fairalles; and Hayes-Bacton, a Tardar chieffer the Research belonging to Lady Rodd, was it in the pare with the producer of Sale things in the part of Sir Walter Echiefe. The Bring is a victority mutted with the producer of Sale thou, in the disease of Exeter. Value, 4315. Latron, the Hon. Mark Roll. The church is preparadicular English; consists of news, asiles, and changed, and contains the Robella's proposal many monuteralts. The victories of Withground Enwhalt is a separate benefice. There are a chapel of other and Burkist and Wedgeran chipels at the Leight Chantins, 231.—The sub-district contains also these others are have appropriate tract; and is in the district of St. Thomas, Acres, 12,021. Peo., 4,679. district of St. Thomas, Aeros, 12,621. Pop. 4,649. Houses, 1,602. The harded contains twenty-one prides. Aeros, 12,621. Pop. in 1851, 23,178; in 18C, 22,77. Houses, 4,-21.

BUDLEMGIASALTHETON, a village for East Polyh pride, because the control of the cutter of the routh of the Cutter, 21 mHz S of East Eastle gin. It is a not effect trade in the control of the cutter, 21 mHz S of Eastle gin. It is a not effect trade in taken, holds, and heart refreshed.

the ricetth of the Cyber, 23 mile 8 of La - Backer ga, 14 Lova produced by the tradest holdes, radius proposed by a bolging-housen visual hang ago, an obscure following bolging-housen visual hang ago, an obscure following-bolgingreighbourhood,

· Mine eves I never shut avoid the sunny ray.

Put streight vich all their tints thy wife saise: For virigin van all their that thy we be the?
The cossing plant, thy marge with widows gray,
And helbed, and that, win all with various dyes,
Gisand through thy bright transparence."

BUDLE(GH (W) sr', a hundred in Devon. It cortains forgition by an e-parks, and six other paishes. Acros. 17,307. For 2021. Houses, 119. 30 DNN, a b., i by in Whitehurch parish, 8d p. 1 mile XV of Whiteh and.

nite WW of Whitch and,

If TOUR, a parish in Palwouth Citriet, Conwell.
If adjoins Fediment, in the SW, entends there to I'dnorth lay, includes Proteinis Castly, and I is not y contamination with Termontin, raying a dispertive is Edmonth. A test 4,214; of which is to asworker. Independent, 2004,711. Pop. 2,251. House, 411. The property is divided more as few Gustiadounds, and requested is divided more as few Gustiadounds, in 1270, at the carry, by Bish by Remonday,
The Pring of the Section of Energy I is a first on the castle in authority of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in authority of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in authority of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in authority of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in authority of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in authority of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in authority of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in authority of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in a termony of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in a termony of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in a termony of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in a termony of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in a termony of the Hillippessy and is good. The results in a termony of the Hillippessy and the good of the Hillipp 12 15 2.

12 A.S., Bi DOCK (Se.V. S. & Brigarium (Se.).
Bi DOM. S. Primos,
Bi DOM. S. Primos,
Bi DOWNETH, when district in Pracorn district, Chalite. It controls flow Induserth fore lapened cigh, other taxand in of Great Bodyerth parson. Acro., Chesia. Pop. 19 (H. Brusser, etc.).
Pi DWCTTH other with a township in Rumorn discalculate and a pario in Remorn, North Che, and Atherically, of the township in scattle Great.
The classical in a pario in the complique scattle Great.
The classical in the river Waray great research. Security Line is a facility of Atmincham railway, p. 1, a dex Northland I function bear of Armincham railway, p. 1, a dex Northland I function bear of Armincham railway, p. 1, a dex North-Nerthers, he are being a stoffice under Northwich, and fairs on 15 Feb., 5 April, and 2 Oct. Acres, 872. Real property, £3,050. Pop. 613. Houses, 118. The paris's contains also the townships of Seven Oales, Autrolous, Crandey, Whithey-Superior, Whithey-Inferior, Britington, Stretton, Appleton, Dritton, A standay-Bodworth, Proverchafting, Tabley-Inferior, Plumbley, Pack new Little Levis, Panton, Bratton, Busting, Winnierton. Bolwooth, Piever-Inferio, Tabley-Inferior, Plumbley, Packmere, Littie-Leigh, Bantlon, Buttford, Winnington, Comberheit, Merlarry, Measton, Winelein, Northwich, Castle-Northwich, Lostock-Graham, Nether-Poover, Al-losteck, Hubse, Birches, Anderton, and Lad-Dennis, and the clopelry of Witton-cam-Twambooks. Aeres, 35,000. Feed property, $155,204. Pop. in 1334, 17,105; in 164; 18,752. Houses, 3,834. The pro-perty is much subdivided. Marbury Holl, Adley Holl, well belongest these are chief residences. and Behavort House, are chief residences. Bedworthmere and lick-mere are small lakes. Many of the in-habitants are employed in salt-works. The hving is a national are employed in Safeworks. The fiving is a vicerage in the dioacse of Chester. Value, £626. Patren, Christ Church College, Oxford. The church is ancient; has an embattled t wer; and contains monuments of the Pooles, the Warburtons, and the Leyce-ters. The chapelries of Antrobus, Barnton, Hartford, Lattle Leigh, Lossiek, Lower Prover, Stratton, Tabley, Lower Whitley, Wiblerspool, Witton, and Northwish, 122, separate benefices. Witton gatumar-school has £270 from endownent; and other charities £172.

BUDWORTH (LITTLE), a parish in Northwich district, Cheshire; on an affluent of the river Weaver, near Delamers forest, 4 miles NE by E of Tarporley, and 45 Delamere torest, 4 miles N.E. by E. 61 Estporrey, and 43; S.W. by W. of Hartford r. station. It has a post-office under Tarperley. Acres, 2,752. Real property, £2,626, Pop., 582. Houses, 1,22. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the discuss of Ches-ter. Value, 85. Patron, the lishep of the ster. The ancient church belonged to St. Mary's immurey in Ches-ter; and the present one was built in 1798. Dodd's alm-houses have 2130 from endowment; and other chari-

ties £62

BUERSHA, a bondet in Castleton township, Eochdale pari 4. Lancashire; 2 miles SE of Rochdale

BUERTON, a township in Audlem parish, Cheshire:

EUERT DN, a rownship in Andhan panish, Cheshica adjacent to the Eigeningham and Liverpool cand, 7 miles S by E of Nantwich. Acres, 2,953. Real property, 24,410. Pop., 464. Houses, 93. There are two Methodist chargeds, and charities 250.

BUERTON, Addiond parish, Cheshic. See BRUERA. EUGBBPOOKE, a parish and a sub-district in the district and county of Northampton. The parish lies on Warlingsstree, the Craud Junction casel, and the Northwestern tailway, 3 miles SE of Weeder station, and 5½ WSW of Northampton; and has a post-office in let Wredon. Acres, 2,450. Real property, 45,594. Pep. 955. Houses, 213. The parperty is much subdivided. 935. Houses, 213. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value £7:1. " Patron, the Rev. J. H. Harrison, sen

Value v741.8 Patron, the Rev. J. H. Harrison, sen. The church is mobint; and have recea and an octoponal fout. There are Claptist chapel, a national school, and charatter 22. This calculative contains six parishes. Acres, 9,545. Pop., 3,459. Horses, 765.

BUGLAWTON, a township-chaptity in Astlemy purish, the direct of the river Dane and the North Stadiesh rollway, 2 mile v N1 of Coughton. Post-town, Congleton. Acres, 2,458. Pod. pop. ray, 28,427. Pop., 2014. Horses, 444. 6. Hold is the river to the Pensons. There are several alternally and a cotton-mill. The living is a cause of the the constraint of the Classic. the Rector of Astbury. The charch is good. There are two Meth list chapels and a rational school.

BUGLLA, a ban let in Gilinghem parish, Dor et; 5) tables WNW of Shaft sbury.

BR GSUAS MARSHA, a boulty on the Thames, Physika 1 how Green'd by Ira Rent - It has a post-office under Green'dely, London, S. E. Bugshys-Roch is a bend of the Thruss record mass to it, about a mile long.

EUCSWOIT II, a Laulet, with a restriction, in Glossop parish. Deally, on the New Mills and Bux; or rule way a milles NNW of Chapelen-bell iith

EUGTHORPS, or Breistmann, . prish in Petlington district, E. R. Yerkchire; on an authent of the river Perwent, 32 miles 188 of Ga e-Helmstern station, and 6 N by Wel Pocklington. Post-town, 8 repended, under York, Acres, 1990. Red property, 19,284. Pop., 245. Houses, 50. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicange in the discose of York. Value, 2500. Extron. the Archivid up of York. The Church was repaired in 1859.

BULDIWAS, a real is in Markton 21 calculus 23.

BUILDWAS, a perish in Madeley district, Schop; on the river Severa, and on the Severi Valley reflexey, at the junction of the branch to Much-Weilledk, 3½ miles SE of the Wrekin, and 4 XE of Much-Wenness. A sastation on the nailway, at the junction; and its post-town is Iron-Bridge, under Wellington, Saley Asses, Saley Rose, 276, Houses, cown is non-terings, mater weitington, Sact Actes, 2,128. Real property, e2.679. Pop., 276. Hourses, 55. The property is divided among a few. Buildwas Park is the scat of W. Moseley, Foq. A Cidentian abley was founded in the panish, in 1135, by Bager, I-bloop of Cluster; and given, at the dissolution, to Levil Powis [91]. The side aisles and the chapels of the abbey church have perished; but the nave, the treasept, the tower-acches, persisted but the layer in trusterly, the tower-accines, and the chapter-house mostly around, are trust-dion Norman, and form a noble ruin. The living is a deal-five in the diocess of Lichaichle, Value, 220. Patern, W. Masseley, Esq. The dunch was built in 1720.

BULLTII, a small town, a parish, a set a district, a district, and a hundred in Brecon. The r wn stends on the river Wye, and on the thanklors and I Brecon rails way, 12 miles SW of New Radmor. It is congeting scalled Llaufair-in-Buellt. It occupies the sit of the Roman station Bullanm; it had a castle in the 13th century, said to have been built by Bernard Newmorch; and it was the favourite residence and the final retreat of the last Llewelyn. That prince was betrayed by the inhabitants, who continue to be represented as "to traitors of Builth;" and he was slain in a dingle 3 mile of the nearly, since called Cwm-Llewelvn. The tor a consists Clark of two piraled streets, which form inegular ter accs on the side of a steep declivity. The easile and the greater part of the town very destroyed by fire in 1929. The part of the town with observed by me in 1999. The foundations of the keep, interacting about 1,000 for the cir-cuit, can still be traced. A bridge of six at besispores the Wye, and connect the town with Robin 1, 20. The parish church is a next modern editor, with an old parish chinich is a text tabulent entropy who are one tower; and contains an ancient montan at or a Lloyd, removed from a previous clench. There are for dis-senting chapters and no obtained clearity, the latt evide 4.60. The Park Wells, three reineral springs, evenally saline, chalybeate, and sulphureous, are about 1 mile; the NW, and draw visitors from a distance, who le leg in time X v, and may visions in a discription, when right is town. The environs generally are picturesque, the elimate salubrious, and the sport for angless good. The town enjoys ready communication with all parces of Wales and England from the intersection near it of the line of railway from Llanidioes to Brecon with the line from Knighton to Llundovery; and it has a restation at the r. junction, and another station at the Wells, a Level pestr punction, and another station at the weeks in these p station differ, it wo which times a weekly market on Monday of a fairs on the third Monday of Feb., the Friday before 12 May, 27 June, 20ct., and 6 Dec.; and is no act of petry sessions. The parish includes the town, end congresses sessions.—The porish includes the town, and comprises 712 acres. Red property, 22,900. Pop., 1, (10). Houses, 226. The living is a visuage in the discrete (4.8). Davids. Value, (204.* Patron, Y. Thoures, Lag. The subdistric contains the problem of funding Linguiston, Linguiston, Marse Myris, Canddown'r wen, Altinewe, Llunguiston, and Crick of crip, a softia and but and parts of Llunguiston and Linguiston of the problem of the problem of the problem of the contains and parts of Llunguiston of the adversion which is of static in the large and the contains and parts of the problem of the problem of the contains and patron of the problem of ally in Rodner. Acres, $1,786. Pep., 5,483. There, 641. The district comprehends also the schedistrict of Colway, our fining the prishes (Plaserth, III.a leine): Linesin fined in the color prishes (Plaserth, III.a leine): Linesin fined in the color proceeds, relating prochid that bries of Better Disarth, Englen, 11 no personal chap tries of better pleasing highlen, it havened, in I halueboathe, Gor z all electron fyin it adnot; rud the enbedistrict of Abserve sein, containing the purisher of Lhandbewi-Alegrossin, bland one hall be gleaber gwessin, than come hall be gleaber and part of the parish sof Lhandburger and the after and part of the parish sof Lhandburger and the after the parish soft Lhandburger and the after the gel-Lyn-Lduan. Acres, 102,059. Portrate in 1866, 25,518. Pop. in 1861, 8,305. Houses, 1,553. Marriages in 1866, 61; birdas, 202,—of which 40 were illegitiriogs in 1866, 61; birth, 262,—of which to wave illegition by deaths, 170,—of which 28 were at a vounder 5 yet, and 6 at ages above $5. Marria, sin the temperar 1871-180, 577; births, 2,545; d. 25. 1,5 2. The places of vorship in 1801, were 20 of the Church of Lagland, with 2,650 sittings; 12 of 1.1 by adents, with 1,101 s. 5 of Calvinistic Methodists, with 1,282 s.; 5 of Daptist, with 850 s.; and 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 20 attendats. The schools were 9 public daysechools, with 200 set days, 8 privat daysechools, with 250 set, arxiv, 8 privat daysechools, with 174 s.; 30 Sunday schools, with 4,756 s.; and 1 evening a bool facture, with 5 s.—The hunched contains twenty parishes. Acres, 97,697. Pop. 6,492. House, 1,268.

ECLEOTEN, a rivulet falling into the river Galvar Composition of the silver Galvar Composition of the silver Galvar Composition in Heist.

ZETHOURNE

rear Poximor in Hells.

GULDRINGE, at bing in Wilton parish, Wilts; near Wilton. Pop., 58. It formerly was a parish; and it rules as a rectory, sunexed to the rectory of Wilton in the diocese of Salishury.

ECLBY. See HAWTHORPE-WICH-BULBY.

BULCAMP, a handet in Brythburgh parish, Lincoln;

" miles SE of H desworth.

77 miles St. of P. desworth.
BULCOTE, a chapt by in Barton-Joyce parish, Notter on the river Trent and the Mi Lieud railway, 1 mile NE of Barton-Loyce r. station, and P. NW of Bingham. Leave, barton-Joyce, under Nottingham. Acres, 976.
Be by property, 21,139 Pop., 136. Bronses, 24. They per party is divised among a few. The living is a p. on-new, annexed to the vicange of Banton-Joyce, in the discussion of the Note. diecese of Lincoln.

discose of line and EULEY CASTLI, a ruined castle on the river Eden, 34 miles XW of Appl by, in Westnereland. He was built by John de Builly; and passed to the Veteripouts and the bishops of Callis and the beshops of Carrido.

BULUORD, a post-of-in Amesbury district, Wiltsq on the river Avon, 2 miles XNE of Amesberg, and 42 N by M of Porten r station. Post-town, Amesbury, under Stibleny. Acr. 3, 3,475. Real property, with Durrington and Milston, 47,535. Popp. 333. Houses, 78. Kull-real Manufaction circles on science. Some Dunibled ston. Fort House is a chief residence. Some Draidical stores over ; and an earthwork, supposed to represent to recent Bir. Wilage, is adjacent within Duralagton. The living let a screening in the diocess of Salasburg. Valer, 475. Patron, Dr. Sont'dy. The chareh is pituresque; and there is an Independent chapel.

Rel K, a township in Lancaster parish, Lancashire, adjacent to the Kendul cane? In the Carlisle tailway, 2 miles NE of Lancaster. A. 1,147. Real property, 22,500. Pop., 100. https://doi.org/10.100/10.100.

S of a 140 lateriers.

BULKI LEY, a township in Malpes parl h, Cheshire; 54 miles NE of Malpas. A res, 948. If all property, 24,333; Pep., 196. Houses, 38.

EULKING 1008, a xill age and a period in Numeaton district, Wars 188. The xill goestmals near the Coventry curl and the front Velley rillway, 4 miles SE by S of American cod has a tation on the railway, and a post-obes under Eagler. The parish incl. Is also the form 1 to f Mar to a Cobert, Byton, Westornia-Ardon, Wel vield, and parts of Bernacle and Bramoott. Acres, we bill, and posts of fermicle and Bramosti. Acros. (4.7) a. Real progress (2.55). For p. 1858. Houses, the "Terping of the error as subdivided. Many of the house instance of town war is. The living is a vicenage in the quasic of the way is, the Living is a vicenage in the quasic Chanceller. The clutch is good; and there are time discreting clurch, the Chirch is good; and there are time discreting clurch, the Chirch is good; and there are time discriming clausely, has Cherch school, built in 1849, and character (S. 2).

1849, and character (S. 2).

1840, E. 1867, a 1870, c in Keell park by Whist et also, E. et Thu builder. Arrest (13). Pape, 2 for Barrest (13). The release Wesleymanney is 1872, CAUCHOUTHY, a particulated desirabilities, P. yang et al. The Tray (13). The Whole of the Tray et al. The relativity of the Pertoduction and for Section for the character of the Pertoduction and the Section for the Lagrangian Computer (13). The paperity of the character of the character of the character of the Communication of the Com arage of Buckland Prewer, in the doorse of Lycter. The chand was built by Lord Chief Justice Hanklord.

BULLAN M. See Bunnu.

BULLIARROW, a clock down I miles 2 % of Mil-ton-Abbas, in Poisel. It has an altitude of 927 reet above the sen; and is cowned by Ruellia v camp, a circular work with dealls numbers, con v toling a very extensive view.

BULL-BAY, a small bay on the A coast of Anglesey; I rifle W of Amlweb. It has anchorage in five failers; but lies open to northerly winds.

BELLER'S GREEN, a township in the parish and within the borough of M speth, Northumberland, Act 5, Pop., 289. Heises, 45.

 BULLEY, a parish in Westbury-on-Sev ru district, loucestershire; 2 mil s NW of Oklestreet r. station, GOLLEA, a parsal in westniry-on-sey in distinct, Clemestarshing 2 m.d.s. NW of Observet r. station, and 5 WXW of Glowester. Post-town, Huntley under Clowester. Acres, 64. Feel property, 242.55. Pen, 426. House, 47. The property is subdivided. The ring is a p. cm by sunched to the vicange of Charolina, in the discess of Glomester and Bristel. The charch has Norman parts.

has Norman parts.
BULLI'A, a willage in Genth parcel, Ystradgyulais parish, Breson; 11 (14) S Nof N ath.
BULLGHLL, a start in on the Maryport and Carlisle railway, in Carabethach: 4] miles NE of Maryport.

BULLINGDON, a is united in Oxfordshire. It adjoins Barks below Oxford; even is 15 miles with-north-ovetward to Do ks; and contains twenty-three parishes and parts of two others. Acres, 44,305. Pop., 12,185.

Houses, 2.5° L.
BULLIT (HAM, * brad ton the west boid r of H be-fordshine; C. miles for . Kington.
BULLITY(HAM) (Lowers), a town-dip in St. Mostin porter North An (Lowing, a township in St. Accomparist, therefortshine) 13 mile 8 of Herefold. Accomparist, 22,300. Pop. 155. Houses, 53. BULLINGHAM (Creen), or Burnardianous, aparish in the country and district of Hurth Agreement and December 15 miles S. of Herefold. Post-town, Hereford.

Acres, 698. Iteal progress, 21,361. February, 167,000, Acres, 698. Iteal progress, 210. The property is Thirtine estate. The purish is exclesionationly united with Lower Hallmechain and Grafton townships. The living is a vicance in the discrete Characteristic Management of the Characteristic Characteristics. of thereford. Value, 2, 90. P Patron, the Bishop of H je-

BULLINGTON, a parish in Andover district, Hants; on an affluent of the river feet, 4 miles WAW of Mitcheldever's station, and 14 S of Whitchurch. Postscown. Forton-Stacey, under Winchester. Acres, 1,628. Red property, with Tuffen. 43,184. Pop., 171. Hot.sep., 57. ploy atty with further restrict. For 17. Hot see on. The property of wid a compared w. Bullmeton Hause is an old mans on. A Pomon compared Till ary Hill; and Roman antiquities have been four others. The living is a vicange to read with the vicange of Tabon, in the discusse of Windhester. Value, 2000. Patron, in the discesse of Wir dester. Value, 1990. Tarron, W. Loromoger, F.q., The church is good.

RULINGTON, Inpelry in Gollho per sl., Lie dug 2 miles W of Wragley and 3 ft by N of Langwith retains. Profetom, Wireley, Acres, 700. Red property, 2002. Pop. 91. However, 700. Red property, 2002. Pop. 92. However, 700. Red property, 2002. Pop. 93. However, 700. Red property, 2002. Pop. 94. However, 700. Red property in Leonard West, 177. The large in the stand of Starley. It is pulled from the distribution of the distribution of downwe with disease of the can.

BULLOCK'S HAY L, et was ship in Warker et particle.

No thumber have a rest for the Aorth date in and-way, 7 miles (SE et Aleweck, Acts, Leb., 1 op., 1).

of 4,2. BULLOCK-SMPTHY, tvilled in Stockpoor to delt. Che bie; "Anile, SE of Stockport. It is the more in Haza grove: hit to se

BULL POINT. Budontle NW cars of Decour

BOLL-SAND. Yeshshire Villa Jon von

" win Posttypi', " Mb.

border of Dors A and Somerset; 2 miles E of Milborne-port. It commands extensive views both E and W.

BULLSLAUGHTER - BAY, a small log near St.

Goven's lead, on the south coast of Peribrole.

BULLSI, WIGHTAR, BAY, a smitt roy in at St. Goven's heal, on the south cost of Perchande.

BULLSTON. See Pollation.

BULLSTON. See Pollation.

BULLMELL. See Belavill.

BULMELL. See Belavill.

BULMELL. See Belavill.

BULMER, a purk a and a sub-district in the district of Sudbury and againty of Essex. The parish lies on the verge of the county, near the river Stour and the Sudbery rathway, 2 miles WSW of Sudbury; and lake a post-office under Sudbary. Actes, 2,779. Read property is divided among a few. The living is a vicentage, united with the vicerage of Belehomp-Walter, in the discress of Roelnester. Value, 2415. Patron, S. M. Raymond, Esp. The church is good. The sub-district contains nine parishes and an extra-parcelulal tract. Acres, 17,501. Pop., 4,552. BULMER, a township, a parish, a sub-district, and a wapentake in N. B. Vorkshire. The township lies on an affluent of the river Derweat, 3 miles WSW of Barton-Hill r. stading, and 63 Sw by W of New Malton. Acres, 1,439. Real property, 22,115. Pop., 345. Houses, 70.

1,430. Real property, £2,115. Pop., 345. Houses, 79. The parish cont dus also the town-hips of Henderskelf and Welburn; the latter of which has a post-office under York. Areas, 3,800. Real property, $4,803. Pop., 1,077. Houses, 227. The property is divided among a few. The living is a nestory in the dioces of York. Value, $395.* Patron, Earl Fitzwilliam. The church is good. The sub-district is in the district of Malton, and contains four parishes and parts of two others. A res, 21,222. Pop., 4,074. Hores, 332. The wapentake contains thirry-three parishes and parts of seven others. Acres, 107,723. Pop. in 1851, 21,252; in 1861, 24,257. Houses, 4,855.
BULMERSHE COURT, a seat in the costern vicinity of Reading, Berks. It was the residence of the prime minister Viscount Sidmouth, often visited by Pitt and Windham; and belongs now to E. J. Wheble, Esq.

BULPHAN, a parish in Orsett district, Essex; miles NW of Stanford-le-Hope r. station, and 61 SSE of Brentwood. Post-town, Otsett, under Romfold, London, E. Acres, 1,667. Real property, £2,212. Pop., 268. Houses, 57. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Rochester. Value, £342. Patron, J. S. Hand, Esq. The church is telerable. BULSTON. See BOULSTON.

BULSTRODE-PARK, a sent of the Duke of Somerset, 21 miles ESE of Beaconsteld, in Bucks. It belonged anciently to the Bulstrodes; pased to the Bulstrodes; was sold, about the end of the 17th century, to the Earl of Portland; and result, in 1807, to the Duke of Som reset. A mansion was built on it by Judge Jeffreys; and is described in Mrs. Wontagu's letters. The present mansion was founded by the Dake of Sometset; stood long in an incompleted state; and was began to be reconstructed in 1550, on a new design, by Ferrey. A circu-Lar entrenchment, enclosing 21 acres, is in the park.

BULVERHITHE, a manor within Bustings borough, Sussex; on the coast and on the Brighton railway, 2 cussex; on the coast and on the regardon latiwary, miles west for Hastings, Pop., os. Houses, 1; BULWELL, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Bacford district, Notes. The village stands in Shewwood forest, adjacent to the Midland rulway, Junies NNW forest, adjacent to the Midhed rulway, fuiles NNW of Nottingham; and hear station on the rulway, and a post-office an her Nottingham. The parish includes also the hardest of Hempshill. Ares, 1,210. Beal property is sphiivided. Balwell Hall is the sext of the flow. C. Padley. Limestona is worked. Calcoo painting, beautifully, at carried on. The living is a rectory in the discose of Limedon. Value, 5,23,8. Patron, the flow, C. Padley. Limedon is new, and has a square tower. There are BULLS HEAD HILL, an uninease in Lassele, 22 chipels for Repeirs, Wesley, et al. 1256 cays. You miles WSW of Alford. It cayes as a hadranck.

BULLS-ALEE-HILL, an eminence on the mutual border of Borsel and Scinersel; 2 miles E of Allbornes.
5,22,4 Houses, 1,671.
7,823. Houses, 1,671.

7,822. House, 1,671.

BILLWICK, a poils in Outsile district, Neuthranton; on an adment of the river Neut. 1) while LSU of Section restation, a 1.7 NW by V of Outsile. It less a post-office under Wan ford. A tree, in histories follows & Shouteless, 1,910. Each property, 27,941. Pop., 193, 1940. Section 1, 1940. For the property 27,941. Pop., 193, which had its the sect of The, Tiron, Eq. (T. e hving) a rectory in the discusse of Detailer sign. Veloc. 2193. Patron, T. Tryon, Eq. (The church is decented and later English, and has an elegant ever and spite. Capititis, 235.

rities, 235.
BULWICK SHORT-LLYS, an extraspercedial traction Oundle district, Northampton contiguous to Rolwick. Pop., 69. House, 12.
BUMPSPEAD H-LUON, a parish in the district of Risbridge, and country of Process on the New year of the country, and on the Halstood and Hawritid rail, e.g. near Birdhook station, 8 tolks NNE of Tours do I thus a post-office under Newmarket. Across 3,191. End properly 44,210. Pop., 887. Houses, 191. The deposity of Videla among a few. The purish is a mar for the East Essex hounds. The living is a vicange of the district of the Cast Test Countries. The characteristic politics of Risbridge. The characteristic politics. BuMPSTEAD-STEEPLE, a parish in the district of Risbridge and country of Lessay, on the Halstal and BUMPSTEAD-STIEPLE, a parish in the district of Rishridge and country of Essea, on the Harvard cal Haverhall railway, near Bindbrock statler, 42 miles NI by E of Theated. It has a post of a mader Makera Actors, 3,206. Real property, 250-57. For A.158, Houses, 265. The living is a wigarge in the base of Bookester. Value, 2,200. * Patrony the foot of ored-lar. The church is good. There are an Indian distriction of the church is good.

Let. The church is good. There are an half and at charled and national and British who ds.

HUNBURY, at woulding a poist, and a set observer in the district of Nantwich, Cheshian, The township has on the Chester are do in the Chester are do i burys. A college for a master and six the lains was founded here, in 1986, by Sir Hagh de Calvelly; and ourys. A conego tor a master and six the latins we sounded here, in 1885, by Sir Hagid ab Colvel by and was purchased from the Crown, in the fine of Plazdorth, by Thomas Abbrasy of London, who give the income for christable reset. The living is a vicarra, a united with the permeters of Peckforton and Cabbery in the diocess of Christian. Value, 2417. Tatrons, the Hamiltonian Company. The church is later English; has saide chapt I and a give whell to were was injured by the noy dists in 1955; and contain a removed to Cabreley, the Coshire here of the 1975 counterts of Cabreley, the Coshire here of the 1975 and a contain a comment of Cabreley, the Coshire here of the 1975 and the Cabreley to a contain a contain a comment of Cabreley, the Coshire here of the 1975 and the Cabreley to a contain a comment of the 1975 and the Spanish arms, by Them. shire hero of the 14th Callury, and Boolon, the emission and engine the Spanish arms In. The points for first fine and Harra arbiby are separated in our There are seven dissenting chapter, we matthew I book, and charities £16.—The subdistrate artifact lack, and charities £16.—The subdistrate artifact lack and part of another. Pop., 7,600.

BUNCKTON, a bander in Admits at pair by Sec. vi. 21 miles NW of Stephing. Pop., 72. If forms a current visit Admits to.

33 miles a W of Stepheng. Top, 12. If forms a curvey with Ashington.
BUNDLEY. See Resistance.
BUNDLEY. a two, two parables, and a radiofferd by in Wanneford district. Suffolk. The form stands on the verges of the country, within a fell of the river. W recovery, on the Waveney Valley (1819), 3 miles. W of Bush a on the baryon of it is add to be a corruption of L. Bur key. "The mane of it is add to be a corruption of L. Bur key. "The beautiful island." A castic ad it was the contain a stronghold of the Bigods, Far's of Norfally, was gazzisoned by one of them for Stephen, and thought to be intrue: It is because in the firms. Elasted Lies on 29 June 11 Nov. The hopeley includes the Lies of wards are true to the most in the second will be now in the second will be not a firm of the limit through the firm of the firm of the firm of the firm of the power Anneld discount for the limit of the limit in soft the power Anneld discount firm of Each step. to the power in the transform and the conflict of the power in the limit thews, but in compared to both in the transform and the larger matter and the larged owner on the cartle, the transform as saying, but his retreation from the power in the cartle, the transform as an examination of the front power in the cartle, the transformation of the front power in the cartle, the front power is the front power in the cartle, the front power is the first power in the cartle power in the ca

"We: Thinmy strong castle of Bungay, U, in the scatter of Waveney, Thin the scatter of the King of Cockayne, North his bravery."

A Benedictinent, innery was founded on a spot between the two purish churches, in 1160, by Robert de Glanville and his wife in Contres Condending and given, at the discipation, to the 1 tike of Noviolin. The town, excepting on site 1, we desired by fire in 1988; and not it inner is nested, and consists of speciass will leaf the texts. The furth whomes is obtagonal. The market class is a constant in formedly at two. The own excellent has a constant in formedly at two. The own excellence was forcedly a thearth. St. Mary's church here and randy has a bodiet in 1600; and has a free last of the part of the contribution of the part of part A Detaileties a marry was founded on a spot between the two parish clarates, in 1160, by linger the Glanville

S. Hous, 1,417.
10 NNY, parish in Bashed district, Notice 5 miles (Bessen without and MS of Nottinghum, Post(Bussen without Noticedam, Actas, 2,70).
(Bussen without Noticedam, Actas, 2,70).

FUNNY, a paid in Rashed district, Noting 5 miles in Roses in a section, and off 8 off Nottinghum. But the Plantine market in Plantine and Plantine, Actes, 9,700, a project of the Plantine and Plantine, Actes, 9,700, a project of the Plantine and Planti dimensi of Rochester,—The subdivite contains afteon-pails, and two extra-arochial tracts. Acres, 2,353. P.p., C.SS. House, 1,055.

BUNWELL, a parish in Depuade district, Norf the 24 rules of the New E. Lenham, and 44 WSW of Unreater is station. It has a post-office under Art shoringh, Acres, 2,470. Head property, 25,556. 1991, 997. House, 212. The property is divided unough from The living is a rectory in the diocess of Norwich Value, 2,643. Fatron, Sir R. J. Favton, Bur. The church is good. There are a P. Methodist chaped and a n. School, BUBASTON. See Barastox. BUBASTON. See Barastox.

BURBAGE, a village and a puish in Peasey district, Wilts. The village stands near the Netmet and Aron cund, and near the Reading and Devizes failwar, in the reighbourhood of Savernake r. station, 64 miles SSE of beighbourhood of Savernake it, statica, 65 miles SSL or Marthorough; is a strugding picture-spine place; and has a post-office under Marthorough. The parish com-plies 3,283 acrs. Red property, £5,818, Pop. 1,493, Houses, 523. The property is divided among a few, The living is a vicange in the diocese of Salisbury. Velac, £503,7. Patron, the Bishop of Salisbury. The clair h is in edifice of 1854, with an old tover; and has two memorial windows, the one to Bishop Denison, the other to four natives wit fill in the Crim in war. There are a Westgeven chand, well thin the Crim in war. There are a Westgeven chand, well thorough a triple EUEBAGE, a chapelry an Hartington carish, Derby: 1 mile S of Buston. It was I med in Issit. It has a jus mile S of Buaton. It was i med hi 1881. It has a jost-cline under Burkon. Living, a p. unney. Value, at 100.

BURBACE, or Burbace, a cleap dry and a sub-district in Hinchley district, Lebessie. The chap-dry in Association Plannible y eight lies on the verge of the county, at Wetthersatiest, I | mile SE of Hinchley as station; and has a post-office under Hinchley. Association and his solvent for the Hinchley at 100.

3,170. Real property, 27,725. Pop. 1,835. Houses, 3,170. The preparity is some subdivided. Many of the inhabituats are stocking makers. The Rving is a p. curacy, annexed to the pretory of Aston-Francisch, in the characteristic definition of the technique of the technique of the restory of Aston-Francisch, in the characteristic definition of the technique of the technique of the restory of Aston-Francisch and the technique of technique of the technique of the technique of the restory of the technique of the restory of the technique o a h. Childy, analysis to restrict a resonable as wille, in the discose of Peterberough. The church is old, but goed, and hera at ower on I spire. There are chapted for Independents, Wesleyons, and Primitive Methodists, and a national set of "The sub-district contains five pulshes. Acros, 11,210 Pep., 5,127. Houses, 1,158. EUE/EEACH, a lundred in the type of Branker, Cosse, It contains Beeding and Hield parishes, and put of Edburton. A res, 17,638. Pop in 1851, 2,862.

BUTHECK, a streamlet felling into the river Lone, near Whinfell, in Westmoreland.

BUIBO-FLATS, a sand-bank off the poorth of the Morsey and the Dee, Laurenshire and Cheshire. It is i miles long, and from 3 to 5 broad; and is partly bare at ledgifile. The main channels to the Mersey are to the N of h; can the Hose and Rock channels to the S. haldsta. Prove in all it. limits ell round; and the Fleating and Ro it liebte show the channels.

ROLLING COMMERCAMENT FAILURE INTO THE TWEE DESIGNATION OF STREET OF THE WORLD FOR THE WAR AND THE STREET OF THE ST an although a pairen in whom matter, vol. 100 an although to the river Avon, allocent to the Salidany and Yeo, It rilleave of Wilton. It in hales the tything of North Bursonibe, and is itself, gractimes and Yeord railway, its masses of the strain of the thing of North Burrounder, and its its if a martine, called Santh Burrounder and its post-town is Writner, wedger Salisbury. According to Bardy property, 42,857, Pep., 374. House, 58. The property, is divided in a meaning the Writner of Salisbury. A the 252-2 Patron, 84 John's Hopfard Writner. Therefore the root distributions Therefore the root distributions of Salisbury, and with a first state of Salisbury and with a first state of Salisbury and the salisbury

1.500. Bed property, 21,204. Pop., 172. Herses, 40. It has sometimes been regarded as a parish. Barrott II shacks the ellific-fidence.

BITTO OTT, a har let in Wing parish, Bucks; 31 miles (

BUTE OUT, a has let in Wing purish, Bocks; 31 miles SW of bed, bron-lib zard. Pop., 170, BURCOUT, a township in Worffeld parish, Sabep; on an affinent of the Severa, 2 miles NE of Bridgmorth. BUE-SUT, a tything in St. Cutthern-Out, within Wellscay, Somerset; I mile W of Wells. Beal pro-perty, 23,170. Pop., 100. BURDALE, a station on the Matter and Driffield rail-way, E. R. Vorkshire; 9 miles SE of New Matten. BURDENS-BALL, a tything in South Newton parish, Without Scales No (William).

Wilts; 2 miles N of Wilton.

BURDON, a handet in Highhampton parish, Devou; 4! miles W of Hutherleigh. Burdon House here is the seat of C. Burdon, Esq.

RURDON, a township in Bishop-Wearmouth parish, Durham; mear the Durham and Sunderland railway, 4 politis 8 by W of Sanderland, Acres, 1,000. Real property, £1,448. Pop., 95. Houses, 18.

BURDON (Great), a township in Haughton-le-

Skerne parish, Durham; near the Stockton railway, 2½ miles NE of Darlington. Acros, 588. Real property, httes KL of Paringgon. Acres, 588. Real projectly, £1,231. Fon., 104. Houses, 17.

BUHDOSWALD, a locality in Lancroost parish, Cumlerland; on the Roman wall, 4½ miles KE by E of The Roman station Amboglanna was here; and many Roman inscriptions have been found.

BURE (THE), a river of Norfolk. It rises near Hindolveston, and runs about 42 miles, south-eastward, past Aylsham and Acle, to the Yare at Yarmouth. It re-ceives the Ant and the Thone in the marshes above and at Acle; and is navigable to Aylsham.

as Acter and is navigative to Ayisnam.

BURE, a tything in Christchurch perish, Hants; on the Lay, 1 mile E of Christchurch. Real property, 24,327. Pop., 786.

LURES, a hundet and a sub-district in the district of Sudbury. The hamlet is in the Essex pert of Eures-St. Mary parish; lies on the river Stour, adjacent to the the Sudbury railway, 5 miles SSE of Sudbury; and has a station on the milway, a post-office t under Col-chester, and a fair on Holy Thursday. Acres, 1,450. Real property, £3,920. Pop., £23. Houses, 140. The sub-district contains, besides Bures-St. Many parish, two mishes in Essex and four in Suffolk. Acres, 17,622. op., 5,642. Houses, 1,281. BULES-MOUNT, a parish in Lexden district, Essex;

BORES-MOUNT, a pansh in Lexden district, Essending railway, near Bures station, 6 miles S by E of Sudbury railway, near Bures station, 6 miles S by E of Sudbury. Post-town, Bures, under Colchester. Acres, 1,404. Real property, 22,479. Pop., 201. Houses, 57. An ancient artificial mound here, about 80 feet high, and of unknown origin, has a base of nearly 1, acre. The living is a rectory in has a base of nearly 1; acre. The living is a rectory in the dioce of Rochester. Value, £400. Patron, the BURES-ST MARY, a parish in the district of Sudbury and counties of Essex and Suffelk; on the river Stour and on the Sudbury railway, at Bures station, 5 miles SSE of Sudbury. It contains the hamlet of Bures, The property is much subdivided. Idmund, king of East Anglia, is said to have been crowned here. The Patron, C. Hambury, Esq. The church is ancient, and was restored in 1865. There are a Baptist chapel, a national school, and charities £10. BURFA. See EVENJOEE. BURFIELD. See BURGHFIELD.

Brett

BURFORD, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district in Witney district, Oxford. The town stands on the rever Vindage, near Wychfoel I trees, 62 miles SSW of Assett r. station, and IS W by N of Oxford. It is a I be of Ligh antiquity. A synod was held at it, in 705, in pressure of the kings Ethelred and Perthwald. to correct equations respecting Paster. A battle was tenglit in its civility, at Battle-Edge, in 752, between A battle was Libelield, king of Mercia, and Cultred of the West Saxons, who was tilburary to him, when Cutified got the riccory, and three off the Mercian volve. A stone-collin, of great the and weight, was found, a number of years ago, a little below the surface on the scene of a tions and is supposed to have been deposited there after the lattle. As action was fought in the vicinity also, in 1649, by tween Cairfax and the royalists; when the latter were defeated, and some of their imprisoned in the church in the ed, and some of their impression in the Chirch. The town contains many old houses; and is ill built, decayed, and dull. It has a post-office, two close frequency, a becking-office, two chief ime, a town-hall, a parist, church, Baptist, quaker, and Wesleyan chapels, a free scheed, and almost-source. The church is large, crucificare, and interesting; has a Norman central tower, other Norman in testing; has a Norman central tower, other Norma man portious, and some early English work, but is mainly perpendicular, of various dates; includes several large chapels, and a very rich south porch; and contains grand or curious monuments of Sir Lawrence Tanfield, Edmund Harman, and other persons. The charities, neithing school and alushorters, emount annually to £349. A veckly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on the last Saturday of April, 5 July, 25 Sept, and the first Saturday of Dec. A considered to trade in saddlery, rugs, and other articles was formerly carried on; but has rigs, and other articles was reinterly carried on; ton our greatly declined. Heylin, the author of "Mercenius Bittannius," Needham, the author of "Mercenius Bittannius," and Beselvey, the painter, were notives. The town gives the title of Earl to the Duke of St. Albans. Pop., 1,435. Houses, 337.

1,435. Houses, 337.

The parith includes also the humlets of Upton and Signett. Acres, 2,179. Real property, £6,885. Pop., 1,649. Houses, 356. A small priory, a cell to Kynesham abbey in Somewski, anciently stocal near the town; and was given, at the dissolution, to Edmond Harman, and conveyed, by the Long Parliament, to the Jamors Speaker Lenthall. A manusion, in the Tudor style, and the Albert Berker Delays may necessible it site. and is the Speaker Lenthall. A mansion, in the Tudor style, and called Enriched Priory, now occupies its site; and is the seat of Charles Gr. maway. Esq. Quarries of fine building stone are in St. Kitt's; and supplied the material for St. Paul's eatherbol. The living is a vierarge, united with the p. enney of Fulbrook, in the diocese of Oxford. When, £294.* Patron, the Bishop of Oxford.—The sub-district contains ten parishes, part of another, and an extra-paro-chial tract. Acres, 17,845. Pop., 4,816. Houses, L103.

Houses, 1,103.

BURTORD, a township and a parish in the district of Tabury and county of Salep. The township Les on the iver Teme and the Knighton cand, adjacent to the Ten-bury rativacy, I mile W of Tenbury; and had femerally a market. Pop., 387. Houses, SS. The parish contains bury rativary, I mile W of tenoury; and trud termenty a market. Pop., 387. Houses, 88. The parish centains also the townships of Boraston, Greet, Nash, Stobe, Tilsop, Weston, Whatmore, and Whitton. Post-town, Tenbury. Acres, 6,672. Real property, 210,380. Pop., 1,121. Houses, 240. The preperty is subdivised. The living is a rectory, of three portions, in the diore-c of Hereford; the first portion united with the p. coracies of Boraston and Nash, the second portion united with the p. currey of Whitton, and all trace in the patronness of Lord Northwick. Value of the first, £4 : ; * of the second, £286; * of the third, £335. * The mother church was anciently collegiste; and has a brass of the 14th century. There are churches also in Boraston and Nasn. Charities, £10.

BURFORD, Wilts. See BRITFORD.

BURG. See Bunga.

BURGAGE, a part of Southwell parish, Norte.

BURGAGE, a part of Southwell parish, Notes, BURGAGE, a parish in thertismere distric, Suffellt; I] mile NE of Mellis r. station, and 44 WNW of Lyc. Post-town, Mellis r. station, and 44 WNW of Lyc. Post-town, Mellis, under Scole. Acres, 2,076. Evapoperty is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, 2550, Patron, the Bishep of Norwich. The church has a double-compiled brass of 1499; and is in fair condition.

BURGAGE, April 1997, April 1998, and South three

BURGATE (Mirrie, Norm, and South), three tythings in Ponlingbridge perish, Hants, on the river Aven, from 1 to 2, miles N of Fondingbridge, Led property, £1,964, £2,619, and £1,475. Pop., 659, 129, and 609. Burgate House belongs to the Innily of BITROTPIN, a township in Guilsfield parish, Montgomery; 2 miles N at Welshpool. Pop., 491.

7.15-Fig. a be dry in the S + Su x; ad-

Proceedings of Southampton.

1 a. 85 all Lander Southampton.

2 a. 85 all Lander Southampton.

3 all Lander Southampton.

4 all Lander Southampton.

5 all Lander Southampton.

5 all Lander Southampton.

6 all Lander Southampton.

6 all Lander Southampton.

6 all Lander Southampton.

7 all Lander Southampton.

8 all Lander Southampton.

9 all Lander Southampton.

9 all Lander Southampton.

1 all Lander Sou r of Boren urus, alters, and in cubod in the Horsan unix, alters, and in mind that the first that the second in the first that the way ment there are the first to strength and councilitied, in 1255, to the first that the strength of the first that the strength of the first that the twinkings of Londaugh, Bondald that the other twinkings of Londaugh, Bondald the first the other twinkings of Londaugh, Bondald the first the first that the first tha 16 and 1520, Charge engang-[2] to [136] and Hall, ettinous employment in and the Scotty and a sport in Scott in Hall, was a nechality-hall a sport in Scott in Hall, was a nechality-hall as a materiary weight for eventy as a first in Hall, in 1803, by the Polline Lord Control of the Proposition of the Proposition of the Proposition of the Proposition of the Analysis of the John Material Landscore of the John Material Control of the Proposition of the P district, Suffilk. The village strolls on the river Wadistrib. Smithly. The villence steed continuous problem is a surface where, at the best of the Yane, now Breydon such 12 mile WNW or Letten 1, station, and 4 8W by W of Yananuth. It is an ion and romaning and have a particle under Yananuth. The partial connects 1, the runs. Red property 22,119. Pop., 453. House, 7.: The property is divided among a law. The runs 1 longed to the kings of Fat Angliar and part of meaning the the being of Fat Angliar and part of meaning the the founding of a nona deriv. A Bonan compile to the founding of a nona deriv. A Bonan compile to examping fully 51 acres, and showing fathers of short construction with fine 1 cd bulkes part Hos been identically many authorities, with the Bonan Garingman. by many anti-puries, with the Roman Garianonours. The living is a regtory in the diocese of Neuwich. Value, ε 400.* Patron, the Lord Chancellot. The church is encient; was recently restored; has an embattled tower; enciselt; was recently a stored; has an emisatrical tower; includes fragments of Bone a bricks; and is thought to have been built with materials from the Roman fort. The area new nation dischool, and charities 228. PTRGHCLERE, a village and a partial in Kinassleve district, Henta. The village stands on high ground, by vall a S of Newbony a station, and 61 N of Whitelenschip.

and has a post-office under Newbury. A Poram station was here; hat has not left any times. The period includes also the tything of Earlston. Acres, 5,689. Real cludes also for tytining of Larlston. Acres, 5,032. Real property, 45,250. Pop., 812. Hours, 164. The pr-party is discled among a few. Two conspicuous claffs bills are her., Si lon Hill and Beacon Hill, (40 and 959 ruis are let 1, 8700 thin and beacon Bull, 400 and 200 for high; and command extensive views. Suban Hill is within the park of Bigl, dere, the set of the Unit of Camaryon; and is covered with wood. Decrea Hill is close to the park; and has on its summit an are encomp, of irregular outline, with a very deep traiting. These hills, and others in the vicinity, appear to have These fifts, and others in the vicinity, appear to have been the seconds of Borle struggle's among the neight Britons, the Romand of Bartons, and the Sax and The Sving is a rectory, miled with the personnel of Newton, in the drocess of Windowster, Value, 4820. I betten the Feel of Common. The church is a modern cruci-form structure, in the early English style; and has a tower. A school has £20 from endowment; and other

BURGHI PSH. See Brigwash.

BURGHFIELD, or BURFIELD, a puish in Bacheld BURGHITHM, or BURGHIM, a pulsa in thather district, Realist, on the first Kenner, and on the Kering and Bestnestoka milway, 21 miles N of M rither station, and 5 8 W of Radio. It has a posterior under Reading Acres, 4,237. Real property is much fine district. A land of said district. Land of the Land is common. A bad of said and coelde shells a foot thick, under soft stone, wes found and coche sherts a foot track, under soft sions, we steam to at Hosschill. The holing is a rectory in the dressed Oxford, Value, 270 at Patron, the Earl of States, buy. The charch was a built in 1842. There are two Methodist chapels, a national school, and charges £21.

Methedist chapels, a national school, and charters (22).
BURGHILL, a will ree, a parish, and a substacker, in the district and county of Hereford. The will gestands in at the river leng, 14 mile SW of Moreon istation, and 5% NW of Hereford; and has a prised under Hereford. The pursh includes also the township of Tillington. Acres, 6,704. Reel property (1,704). Force, 634. Henses, 197. The property is divided once after a graph of Central Physics, 198. An encient superior components in the parish, i.e., the Declary to Kennels step, the land of the parish, i.e., the Declary to Kennels step. The land of the first discount the parish in section of the doubt his Nerman, with a principled tower via settingly method in 1854; and count in a pinceled tower via settingly method in 1854; and count in a pinceled tower via settingly method in 1854; and count in a pinceled tower. v is entirely restored in 1951; and contrins a trace visconing recover in 1994, and consider 170 h. Serven, a figured beef, and a monument of Sird lim VIII true, Bath. A velocal his 28 from endown artification their decities (12)—(the sub-lifeteentairs two log one reputies the conservation of tentary on expending the pentiles, most of so there and an extrapoprobled tree. Averag 23,850. Pept. 5,757. Romes, 1 195. BURGH-IN-THE MARSH, a small town, a parich.

to a constant constitution of the end of the market is hel on Thursday; and fairs on the cond Thursday of May and Aug., and on 26 Sept. A Roman station was here; and remains of a Roman estimated from still Carly, on high ground, party natural, party artificial.

Roman coins also have been found; and there are two tunnili, one of them very high, called Co khill. There were formerly two churches, but one of them vary long, i.e., i.e., the control of demolished. The other, now the parish church, is later English; consists of nave, aisles, and chancel; has a fine In dish; con ists of nave, aides, and chancel; his a fine culatified, introfted, vestern tower, the battlements arbitred with quatre-foils; and contains a timp carred caken pulpit and as octagonal fort. The raise chapts for Baptists and Methodists, a free school, with 250, and other charities, with 271. The parish comprises 4,833 acres. Read property, 210,071. Pop., 1,223. Houses, 251. The living is a vicatage, united with the vicatage of Winthorps, in the discess of Lincoln. Value, 2129. Patron, the Eishop of Lincoln. The substitute contains twolve parishes. Acres, 25,232. Pop., 4,071. Houses, 1,024. 1,024.

BURGHLEY HOUSE, the sent of the Marquis of Ex-eter, on the NE border of North imploration; adjacent to the river Welland, and to the Syston and Peterborough railway, in the southern vicinity of Stanford. The mension was founded in 1575, by Sir William Cecil; is a great hollow Tudor qualrangle; and contains a fine collection of pictures. The park is large; and was laid collection of pictures.

out by Brown

BURGH (LITTLE). See BURGH-PARVA

BURGH-MATTISHALL, or BERGH-MATTISHALL, a parish in Mitford district, Norfolk; on an alluent of the parish in Mitterd district, Norloik; on an althent of the obver Wensum, 2½ inflex north of Thuxton r. station, and 5½ E by S of East Dereham. Post-town, Matrishall, under Thetford. Acres, 604. Real property, 21,528. Pop., 191. Houses, 58. The living is a rectory, an-noxed to the rectory of Hockering, in the discuss of Nor-nexed to the recory of froezering, in the discrete of Sec-wich. Charities, £19.

BURGH-NEXT-AYLSHAM, or Buron-Sr.-Paren, a parish in Aylsham district, Norfolk; on the river Bure, pairst in Aylstom district, Norfolk; on the river Bure, 2 miles 8E of Aylstan, near the line of the projected railway from Nerwich to Cromer, and 11½ N of Nor-wich. Pest-town, Aylstan, under Norwich. A res, 789. Real property, £1,857. Pop., 227. Houses, 54. The property is divided between three. The living is a rectory in the discuss of Norwich. Yalue, not reported. Patron, J. H. Holly, Esq. The church is good. BURGH-PARVA, a hamlet in Melton-Constable parish, Norfolk; 4! miles SW of Holt. It was formerly a parish; and it ranks as a rectory, annexed to Melton-

Constable; but its church is in ruins.

Constante; but its curren is in runs.
BURGH-ST. MARGARET AND ST. MARY, a parish in Flegg district, Norfolk; near the river Bure, 4; railes NE of Ade, and 7½. NW of Varmouth r. station. It has a post-office of the name of Burgh, under Norwich; at mes a post-source of the name of Buight, under Norwich; and had formerly a market. Acres 1,655 Hed property, 23,110. Pop., 554. Howes, 125. The property is much divided. The heigh is a double review in the diocese of Norwich. Value, 2124. Parica, the Hew. W. Luces. The church of St. Marguer is good; and that of St. Mary is in ruins. There are a discenting can be call many is in thins. There are a discenting chapel, a national school, and charities £79.

BIRGHLST, PITER. See BERGH-NEXI-AVISHAM.

BURGHLST, PETER, or WHEAT VERI-BURGH, a partial in Locklon district, Norfolk; on the river Wasseney and on the Lamestotic with an interval Verient. rish in Loblon district, Norfolkt, on the river Wosenby and on the Low-stoft rathery, near Mutton! Sation, 6 miles &NE of Beeche. Post-flown, Mutton! Sation, 6 miles &NE of Beeche. Post-flown, Mutton! Sation, 8 pp. 198. House, 75, 75. The property is much subdivided. The Iving is a retroy in the discount of the wight. Value, 2230.8 Patron, the Rey, W. Byoatt. The clouch is good; and those is a Wesl yet cloud! The Court of Satisfaction of the Satisfaction of the Mileson and C. WSW of Hardin the constant of Hinghest, and C. WSW of Hardin the constant of the Post-flown, But C. WSW of Hardin the constant of the Post-flown, But C. WSW of Hardin the constant of the Post-flown, But C. WSW of Hardin the constant of the Court of the Post-town, Hingham, ander Mileborough. Aures, 1.216. Real property, 20,229. Pop., 317. Hours 62. The property is divided by two-cutwo. The living is a ratory property is divise a received two. The invincts a factory in the allorese of North his Value, 2019. Patron, B. Gurdin, Esq. The cheep his fair.

BURGH UPON-BAIN, or BROUGH ON-BAIN, a parish BORGH CPOADANA, or BROOMH ONDAMA, a parch in Louth district, Lincolar on the Gree Baby, among the Welds, 64 miles W of Louch r. station. It includes the bonder of Girsby; and have postenice under bouth. Acres, 1,509. Real property, 22,305. Pep. 303, Houses, 32. The South Wold hounds meet here. The Houses, 32. The South Wold hounds much here. The living is a vicarage in the docese of Lincoln. Value, £F53.* Patron, J. W. Fox, Esp. The dutch is good. BURGH - UPON - THE - BANDS. See Burgh - By-SANDS.

SANDS, BURGH-WALL'S, a township and a parish in Domenster district, W. E. Yorkshire. The town hip $E \circ content from a road to York, adjacent to the Dutch rives, <math>\Gamma_1^a$ mile SW of Asherne r. station, and 7 NNW of Domenster R. Sands, and R. R. Sands, caster; and it includes parts of the hamlets of Robin Hood's Well and Haywood, Pope, 226. Houses, 39. The parish includes also part of the bownship of Sutton; and its post-town is Askerne, under Deneaster. Acres, and its pest-fown is Assemb, namer Ponciser. Acros, 1,700. Real property, exclusive of the part of Sutton, 22,555. Pop., 237. Houses, 42. The property is divided among a few. Bargh-Wallis House h longed formerly to the Jams; but belongs now to M. Tasburgh, Esq.; and the ancient mansion has given place to a modern one. The living is a rectory in the discuss of York. Value, £275.* Patron, M. Tasburgh, Lee. The church contains some old monuments, and i.

BURGH-WALTER. See Bringewathr. BURGODONUM. See Apple.

BURHAM, a parish in Malling district, Kent: on the river Medway, adjacent to the Maid-tone rathway, near Smollband station, 44 miles NNW of Maid-tone. It has a post office under Hochester. Acres, 1,787. Real property, £3,968; of which £659 are in quarries. Fop., 775. Houses, 137. The property is divided emeng a few. A quarry here, belonging to W. H. Kenste, h. Eq., forms a fine study of the lower chalk rocks, and is rich in fossils. Lime-works here send large supplies to Lonth losses. There works need safet range suppress to remain don; and there are extensive pottery and coment works. The living is a vicanon in the discress of Eache (ex. Yalue, 2191. Patrons, Many Anne Cubitt and others. The church is partly early English. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charitie: £23.

BURLAN (ST.) See BURLAN (ST.). BURLANGTON. See BERRINGTON.

BURINGTON. See Educational Section Buritans and a parish in Petersfield district, Hants. The tything lies on the Verge of the county, near the Guildford and New Portsmonth railway, 2 railes SSW of Petersfield; and has a post-office under Petersfield. The paish includes also the tythings of Nurstead and Weston. Acres, 6,305. Real property, £8,630. Pop., 1,050. Houses, 196. The property is subdivided. Pop. 1,050. Houses, 196. The property is aubilivided. Mapleduhant here belonged to Gibbon, the historian; was sold by him to Lord Stowell; and belongs now to J. Bonham Carter, Esq. Grey Innestons is quartical. The living is a rectory, united with the viscouge of Petersfield, in the discusse of Winchester. Value, 22,131 Fatron, the Bishop of Winchester. The Cauch'is partly facilities in the discusse of American and candidates in Norman; has an ivy-chal square tower; and contains an ancient serein, a mod in altar-piece, and very numerous monuments. There are a Primitive Methodist chapel, Hung alms-houses, and charities 650.

BURLAND, a twa-ship in Acton parish. Clo-shire; on the Elbessiere cand, adjacent to the North Western railway, 34 m.bs. NW by W of Nantwick. Acres, 1,520. Real property, 23,122. Pep., 672. Houses, 160. BURLEUGH-ARCHES, a lamded in the rape of Pevensey, Seesex, conteminate with Lindfold parish. BURLEGH-HOUSE. See Brantas House. BURLEGH-HOUSE.

ton and county of Devon; under Blackdown, or the Roman Port way from Somerset to Ecoter, and on the Great Western conal and the Bristol at I Expert allway, Great Western and and the Bristol is T.E.s for Fullway, Smiles SW of Wellington. It has as stdion on the rail-way, and it he lades the training of Appl shore and the hard-let of Westle (dg. the form r of which has a post-office, of the num of Appledorg, North Bervon. Acres, 3,793 Real property, 56,225) of which £700 are in quartes, Pop., 856. He es, 170. The property is saldwided, The manor belongs to E. A. Sandford, Esp.—An August tinian Severy v.a. 6 on led at Cononsheight in the time of ! If any IL, by William do Chrysller conveyed, in 1284, to Mark Count is, of Glouester, and changed by her interaction, erg; passed, after the dissolution, through a painter of lands; and belongs now to the finity of a becomes to manuscram belongs now to the runny of Bowner. Some small remains of it, including a merity Telory decay, still edish. Intuest we of superior quality observes; and great quantities of it are sent off by cand and village. The hybry is a vicatage in the dioress of Exter. Value, 2555. Fatron, Rev. T. C. Tanner, The church is chiefly of the time of Henry VII.; was renewat, I in 1843; and contours a beautiful ancient s then, and has in adments of the Ayshfords. An anciest chapel stands on the Ayshford estate; and was rechat'v rest ned Cat's test and It ILLESTONE, a puish in Dorchester district, Dorsey, on the river 15 ble, 4 miles XXW of Moreton Estina, and 7 EXE of Dorchester. Post-town, Publishing in her Don bester. Acres, 274. Beat property, 2011. Top. 45. Houses, 7. The living is a rectory, excel to the rectory of Albelampstone, in the discovery

BURLEY, a hand t in Mischindanapton parish, Glocastri, neur Minchindanapton.
BURLEY, a to sing and a chapeley in Ringwood discourse of the property of the pro BURLEY, a totaling and a classedry in Ringwood district, Hauts. The rything is in Ringwood perish, at the SW or har "ex Ferext, 2 miles NW of Hobosley r. states, and is to by S of Ringwood; and I wa not-office moder Elia, of L. Red property, 21,000. Pep., 77. The classes includes the tyribing, but consists notify the hardy side and a rate of Eurley-Walk; and was constituted in 1890. Acres, 2,000. Pep. 602. House, 112. Burley House is the seat of C. Edmile, Esq. The Driver a lab currey in the disease of Windbacker. Iving 1 a p curvey in the discuss of Windhester, Volue, £100. Patron, the bishop of Windhester, An Value, £100. Volume, 2100. Patron, the Ushop of Winche to. An are but cherch here is supposed to have be suffamiliable by the Compa row v¹ or a relative time for New Percel. The present chare by the supposed to harden in modern, Gothie, Theoretical description of the supposed by the RELET, a township of the supposed patricles, New Jordan, 1997, 1998, York shire; on the Leeds and Hkley tailway, I was a W recommend on the beside and likely battway, 2 and 1 My Nof Other. It includes a willing, a with a well-bailt street about 1 of a nebe long and has a post-off refuse to the Othey, and a restation. Acres, 4,047. Boal 1 are station. Acres, 4,047. Boal 2 are 9.00 (Ed.), Peop. 2,126. House, 117. Burley Ore Hall, Barrley New Hall, and Barrley Lodge are principle in the Company of the letter two were bailt, in the Litter part of lest century, by Movie, the boal description are Many of the inhalt rates are considered. Litter pitt of rist criticity, by success the local account into port. Many of the inhabitants are chapleyed in c thou and weasted mills. The living is a vicanage, with Menston, in the diocess of Ripon. Value, $137.7 Fa tron, T. Horsfill, Esq. The church is modern; and there we three describing chapels.

no three describing chapels.

BURLES, a village and a chapelry in Leeds parish,
W. R. Yorkshine. The village stands near Headingley
1, station, 21 miles NNW of Leeds; and have post-office vider L. Es. The chapelry was constitued in 1849, 1966, 3,579. Herres, 719. The living beat vicinage in the discussed Ripon. Value, 4230.7 Entrons, Trustee,
The chapely was coloubt in 1857.

BURGEN, or in nancoverna direct a parish in Our Leeds to a the large vicinal direct and colours. 2 miles

The charen was consist in 1800.

BURDANN or Restriction High, a perisk in Ourshood state 4, 180 and 5 in the value of Cataras 2, 2 miles have distinct a factor in the value of Cataras 2, 2 miles have distinct a factor in the value of Cataras 2, 2 miles have a factor. Per tenant to the many of the factor in the value of Cataras 2, 2 miles have a factor in the value of Cataras 2, 2 miles have a factor in the value of Cataras 2, 2 miles have a factor in the value of the v traits and some in "step or pictures. The living is a vientage in the discover of Peterboungh. Value, 2010, Patron, G. Thuch, Log. The clutch is plea antly sur-nounded with trees. There is a free school.

nounded with trees. There is a free school.

BURLEY-DAM, a chaptly in Acton parish, Chedice; on the verge of the county, 21 miles SSE of Wrentary 2, station, and 42 E by N of Whitchurch. It have a post-office under Whitchurch. The statistics are returned with Acton. The Lying is a pecuricy in the discover Claster, Value, 2 flow, Patra, W. cuntil indicates and BURLEY LODGE AND BURLEY RATES. See BURLEY LODGE AND BURLEY RATES.

BURLEY V VILLE-WITH-BISTERN CLOSES, au eva-parochial tract in Ringwood district, Hants; in the New Forest, within Burley chapelry, contiguous to King-kew Forest, within Burrey chapeiry, configurates to Lie-wood parish. Aer. a. with the extra-parocleal part of Burley Walls, 7.17a. Pop., 545. Houses, 16s. EURLEY WALK, a tract in Ringwood district, Houte; in the New Forest, parily in Ringwood parish, and parity extraparables. Acres, 7,740. The extra-panophel part includes Burley LeLes, Burley Rails, Burey New enclosure Corrage, and Old House, Pop., 62.

BURLINGHAN-ST. ANDREW, a parish in Blotlett district, Norfolk; 21 miles W by S of Acle, and 3 NE by district, Norfolk; 24 milks Why S of Mele, and I ME by E of Brandell r. station. It has a post office, of the mans of Perlingham, under Norwich. Ages, 759. Real per perty, 22,048. Pop. 186. Henses, 55. The moperty is divided among a few. Bunlingham House Is the seat of H. Burroughes, Fen. The Riving is a re-tory, united with the rectory of Bullingham St. Edman, the in the diocess of Norwich. V. ing. 2559. Patron, H. Burroughes, Esq. The church has a painted roods are of the little gentury. of the 16th century Batteringer, 1999. The scale Market is a parish in Bloft by district, Norfelk; cost innors to Burdinghame-St. Archov. Post-town. Burlinghame, under Norwich. Acres, 601. Boal property, 24,250. Pop., 85. Houses, 17. The property is distributed and a few The bring is a rectice, annexed to the record of Burdinel under Archevilla the choices of Norwich. The chancle is old but youl. BURGHNGHAM-ST. PLTER, a parish in Bloftel district, Norfelk, 91 mile. We was of Arch., and 17.5 NE of Branchl in station. Post-town, Burlincham, in he Norwich. Acres, 200. Real property, 24,081. Logs, 80. Houses, 18. The post-orty is add in our create.

The living is a neet by in the days so of Norwich. Value, 1145. Patron, R. N. Burroughes, 189. The charch L. a figured stone pulpit; and is good. Tallot, the

1. a figured store purpay one is given a tomory in intigrate, we see that BURLINGJOBE. See RADDER (Otto). BURLINGTON. See BEADDER FOR. BURLINGTON. See BEADDER FOR. BURLING CASTILE. See A. S. SONE, Susse. BURLING, a resembly in Leppington patch, S long 42 miles SW by Wolf Ween. It has a post-off, a viriler

Shiewalory, Pop., 172.
BURMANTOFFS, a chapelry in 1, eds public, W. b., Cond. to 1850; and 51s p. 2. Yurkshire. It was constituted in 1864; and its past town is leads. For a food. However, 1,182. The his piece is a Variage of the discool (Eppin, Value, vito. Entrone, Five Treates. The charmon resident a constitution of the co of about 23,000.

BURMARSH, a period in Rounny Mush district, entrougher costs, with a factor of the Military good, 3

of Worcester. The church we so utly |

in the data of Warrester. The church we would rebuilt. There is a free school, BUBN, a two-ship in Brayton parish, W. R. Yorkship on the Solly cand, adjacent to the tiver Aire, 3 miles SW of Solly. Acres, 2,572. Red property, £2,943. Pop., 520. Honses, 63.

EURN (Turn), a stream of Norfolk; running 6 miles northward to the sea, 3 miles NNE of Burnham-West-

HURY, or Day ; (THE), a stream of Lansachire; running past Duraley to the river Calder.

BURNAGE, a township in Munchester parish, Lancashire; on the river Mersey, adjacent to the Manchester and Shelli Id railway, 4 miles S of Manchester.

and Sheall of ranway, a mass S of bankineseer. Acres, 658. Head proporty, 23,744. Pop., 624. Houses, 120. BURNASTON, a town-hip in Etwall parish, Derby; adjacent to the Bunningham and Derby adjacent to the Bunningham and Derby adjacent. SSW of Derby. Easl property, £1,689. Pop., 188.

How es

BURNBY, a parish in Pocklington district, E. R. Yookshire; on an affluent of the river Derwent and on the York and Market-Weighton railway, 21 miles ESE of Pocklington. It has a station on the rallway; and its post-town is Hayton, under York. Acres, 1,667. Real ps st-town is Hayton, under York. Acres, 1,667. Real property, 2,2515. Pop, 126. Houses, 24. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £318.* Patron, Lord Louis-shorough. The church is fair.

EURNCROSS, a handet in Ecclesfield township and parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 54 miles N of Sheffield.

LURNESIDE, or BYENESHEAD, a chapelry in Kendal parish, Westmoreland; on the river Kent and the Windermere railway, 2 miles NNW of Kendal. It has a station on the railway, and includes the townships of Strickland-Kettle, Strickland-Roger, and part of Skel-mergh; isnut-excite, Struckland-Roger, and part of Skel-mergu; and its pet-t-town is Kendel. Rated property, 265,772. Pop., exclusive of the part of Skel-mergh, 905. Houses, 175. The property is much subdivided. The manor lettings to the lead of Lonsdale. Burneside Hall was formerly the seat of the Braithwaites, one of whom wrote "I ranken Bare thy's Lounnel," and is now the seat of the Gales. Golmond Hall belonged formerly to the Gales of the color the Gales. Godmond Hall belonged formerly to the Godmonds, and was fortified. There is a "boly well." Paper-making is carried on. The living is a p. curacy in the discuss of Carlisle. Value, 2120. Petrons, Trustees The chunch was ne-built in 1825.

BURNESS. See BYENESS.
BURNESS. See BYENESS.
BURNESS, The Common and a parish in Bedale district, N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies near the river Swale, 4 rails - SE of Bedale, and 3 W of Sind-orby relation. Acro. A 185. Real monature 22 282. Dec.

river Swale, 4 railes SE of Benale, and 3 W of Sinderby restation. Acres, 1,185. Real property, 22,368. Pop., 230. Houses, 70. The parish contains also the townships of Gatcaby, Theakstone, Carthorpe, and Exclby, Leening, and Newton; and its post-town is Bedale, Acres, 7,411. Real property, £13,261. Pop., 1,554. Houses, 555. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicance in the discose of Ripor. Value, £546. Patroc, the Puke of Cleveland. The church was restored in 1851; and has a splendid custem merusnial window to the late Duke of Cleveland. The p. cu-lacy of Leeming is a separate charge. There are a Wesbyan chapel, and electives £29.

BURNITT, a parish in Keynsham district, Somerset; on the river Clew, adjacent to the Great Western railway, 2 miles SE of Keynsham. Post-town, Keynsham, under Beisfel, Acres, 60s. Real property, Cl.339. Pop., 9s. Heast, 16. The property is subdivided. The heing is a rectory in the discover of Bath and Wells. Value, 2005. Parson, the Rev. J. B. Daveton. The church has a bases of 1575, and in good.

BURING LILOW, a station on the Cornwall railway, in Cornwall: 2] miles SW of Sr. Austell.
LIER HALL, abscality 2] miles S by W of Duthum, the soat of the Salving and the vice of a Roman Catholic

Competer BUHNELAM, a village, a portill, a subedistrict, and a lamated, in Re. k... The village stands adjacent to the Creat Western ridle, y, new the river 11 mes. 24 ridles F. by X. of Maidenfach; and has a past fleet, under Maidenhead. It was tomortly a market-tow and still has fire son 25 Feb., 1 May, and 2 Oct. The parish inhas rees on 25 feet, 1520, 380, 2 Oct. 11; persy manded also the liberties of Bove of Reveney I per Side, Britwell, East Burnham, Chopessham, and Wood, Acres 6,750. Red preprix 243,605. Pop. 9,203, Houses, 563. The property is divided aneong a few Barnham Grove is rivers, of Sir W. Johnson, Bart. An Augustinian abbey was founded about a mile from the village, in 1205, by Fichard, king of the Rom us; and given, at the dissolution, to William Tyldrsley; and some small remains of it still exist. A fragment of en aucient small remains of it still exist. A fragment of rules, leads forest beaus the man of flarink in Bacches; consists of venerable beach trees; all pollarded; and here is a sketched by namy artists. The living is a vicerage, utility of with the permay of Boxene, in the diones of Oxford. Value, £805.# Petrop, if a College, The church is early and do out-of English. The permay of Dropmore is a separate benefit of Their in an Interpretation, three schools, and baritis £172. Bishop Aldrich, who didn'd a 1556 v. a victor and the branch Local. who died in 1556, was a pative; and the learned Jacob Bryant was a resident.—The sub-district contains five parishes, and the greater part of two others; and is in parishes, and the generic part of two others; and I sin the district of Eton. Acres. 16,559. Pop., e.,133. Houses, 1,195.—The bundled contains thirteen parishes. Acres. 85,371. Pop., 20,534. Houses, 4,247. BURMIAM, a village and apart is in Maldon Catrict, Essex. The village starts on the river Crotch, opposite Wallassa Island, e.g. miles NNE of Southen it, station, and 10 SE of Maldon. It Les a port-office, moder Mal-don; dates from old times; includes a good street; is a scaport and a coart-guard station; and has two chief incr. a custom-lense a convenient our, and a force Village. a custom-house, a convenient query, and a ferry. Fairs are held at it on 25 April and 24 Sept.; and oyster-fishing, boat-building, and call-making are carried on. The parish includes also the hamlet of Ostend. Acres, 7,550a. That includes also the fainted of Ostand. Acres, 5,500, Real property, 2H,52B, of which 22,072 are in fell-cries. Pop., 1,870. Houses, 5%. The property is divided among a few. The hard is marshy. The living is a vicarege in the disc see of Books stor. Value, 2,558, Patron, not reported. The church is good; and its sistanted as to serve as a land-math. There is a Wedge-stanted as to serve as a land-math.

BURNHAM, a handet in Thouston-Curtis parish, Vin-Coln; 34 inhies SE of Farton-Upon-Humber, Pen, Le. BURNHAM, a harder in Havey parish, Livelin; 2 miles S of Epworth, Pep., 190, 1t has a post-other

under Pawtr

BURNHAM, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Aybridge, Someter. The village states on the coast, at the mouth of the rivers Urne and Part, on the costs, at the month of the invers time and Plats, at the terminus of a short branch railway, in come stion with the central Somerset and the Bristol and Eveter Lilways, 2 miles NW of the Highbridge Junction, and 9 SW by W of M bridge. It has a post-office, under Bridgewafer, and an hotel, and is frequented assu watering place. The beach at it is a five sand, that is left large, to the breadth of 4 miles, at low water. A project was subjectively in August 1 with the first place of the proposition in August 1 with the first place of the proposition in August 1 with the first place. was authorized in August 1860 for consumting a titlal harbour in connection with the branch railway, with the view of traffic by so onevereds, to the various ports of the Bristol Channel and of South Weles. There is a large monthly market. Two mineral springs, sever thy sa-line and salphureous, are close to the beach; and contwo lights, for guilling ver els into the rient lauret, 91 and 23 feet high, 1,500 f et asmaler, the higher one inter-231 leet high. I have the absurant real argument manifility, the lower case fixed, are in the neighbourhood. The parish includes who the tytifing of Hindulphen Highbridge, the headers of Edinian of and Highbridge. Highleidge, the levelets of Edilies of an Hughleidge, and part of the tybing of Aston-2d arts. Access to the of which 430 are weren. Real paperty, 219,557. Proc. 2,552. Houses, 430. The property is much divided. The living is a vication in the diese, soff fath and Weds. Value, 2559. Proc. of the chart of the proc. I though a fixed by the chart is an excised building. 19 for in longith, with a lofty tower, a riving as a leader by was recently well restored; and of that a megalize of discipance designed by Infgo Joses. The vicating of High-alidge is a separate business. The reason a principle school and chartes 3.77. Bishop Uling was clear. The 80 Turner seven parishes A symbolic at the first Description of the A symbolic at the district of Desking No. 7 to 100 on the twelve parishes and an extrapation.

(9) CNM1 to a solo listifict in the district of Docking, No. 7 to the on this twelve parisher and an extrapolate of the parameters of the formal parameters of the paramete 20. ... a few. Much of the surface is naturally ... int Lis been partially redigined. Brick A leaf has been partially restaured. Druck of the light of Norwich Value, 2257. Patterns, the leaf of Norwich Value, 2257. Patterns, the Tennes of H. Blyth, Ley. The charch is Norman, the leaf with a round tower, had be meetly a four the leaf of the Saxon months, the leaf of the Saxon months and the leaf of the Saxon months.

LARSHALL-FLAYER, a series of sands off the NW (1) to New Milk. It is clades the Pocking, the Blakeney, and the Stale y overfalls, the Woodbock, the Middle, and the Stale y overfalls, the Woodbock, the Middle, and the Stale is also after costs, and chart the cast side of the tendent of the same distance seaward; flanks the cast side of the stale of the search of the stale of the same distance.

Soft the sime distance seaward; flanks the cost side of a lorin de psi and is partly dry at low water, but the ken I to 5 fallions.

II PINIAM NORTON, a parish in Docking district, radia I i rail. N of Baraham Westgate r. station, 15 Woof Wells. Post-town, Baraham meter Lynn.

Soft of white 670 are water. Real property, 15 feet in 1244, by Sie R dph de Hampond Sr Villar de Chienes, 42. A Carmellie pricey for 14 here in 1244, by Sie R dph de Hampond Sr Villar de Chienes, at the deep at the dissorbidate of the foot pand to keep at the dissorbidate. It is colored to dissorbidate with the season of Nortich.

PUNIAM SOVITY, a parish in Docking district, the 14 had Nortice and the most district to the dissorbidate of the South I had Sie of Baraham Westgate in station, 15 Woof Wells. Poststown, Bernham, under Lynn. To Woof Wells. Poststown, Bernham, under Lynn.

2 res 2.54;; of which 250 are where Real price by $24.17; by 16, 650. Hores, 157. The property, $4.17; by 6.50. Hores, 157. The property is $1.50. are $1.50. are the property in the property of the property is 1.6sl is an englid on. Limest mile workel, and blocker as nather. The living is a viceoegy, a mexed to

121's as tar by The Iving is a wisage, a movel by a recy of Baral meshation in the diocess of Norwallia The chards is old but good; and has a square tem, a casembel by a turn; BURNHAM-PURI, a polyment by district, Norfolding of a mile S of the new colors, a strong and 6 W by S of Wells, Bosses van Loundenn, molyclynn. Acros. 1, 452. Real try to C. Leit, Pope, 250. Houses, S5. The process of the colors of the colors of the colors of the colors. The process of the colors of the colors. The living of Burnham to a visit the visit of Burnham to a visit the visit of Generated and the visit of Generated and State of Burnham to a visit burnham to the visit of the visit of Burnham Living 250.7 Fig. 1a. the Land Chanellon, The characteristic burnham that the visit of the a visit of Burnham that the visit of William Wedgeter. The visit of the v

Two council of the Colombia Co and took from the place the title of Picon. There are an Independent chapel and a free school; and the latter Las E44 from et los ment.

BURNHAM ULPH. See BURNHAM-SUTION.

IN IRAMAN WESTGALE, willings and a perily in Docking district, 25% of the willage and a perily in Locking district, 25% of the willage star is element to the rivulet Bu , and on the Heschum and Wells railway, SJ mdex NW of Pokepiana. It has a perilogic of the name of Burnl. on, under Lynn, and or ilvay staof the mana of Barah an under Lyan, and but flavy sta-tion; was formedly a mulab board; and s in box fairs on Unster Theoday and t and 2 Aug. The parish com-pairs 3,047 across. Heal property, 26,249. The parish thouses, 255. The property is divided amorgan bew. Hollham Park is a sat of the Earl of Loise ter. There are two iron-founds, and an egricultural implement manufactory. The body is are tory, united with Laff of the rectoiles of Boxaham Notice and Baraham-Uph, in the Janasa of Nowich. When 1775 these of the rectol, even rotananic sources and commence qua-in the discusse of Nerwich. Value, 2.758.* Patron, Christ's College, Cambridge. The clautch is a real build-ing of finit and free-tone, with a square towar. There ing of multiple treestone, with a square tower. There are an Independent chapel, a Primitive Methodist Chapel, leage national schools, and charities 2.98.
EURN HILL, a station on the Wombale Extension railways, in Dutham, 16 miles NW of Bishop-Ax kland.

BURNHOPE (Thr.), a load-stream of the river West on the western booker of Durbrun; joining the main stream 14 miles W of Wolsingham. EUBNING CLIFF, a voltanic resinence on the coast of Datset; 44 miles EMB of Wymanch. It emitted clouds of hot vapour between 1824 and 1827; but its volcanto character was due, not to any deep ignous ac-tion, but to the effect of prolonged rain upon from parites ar d bitaminous sled.

and bitaminous skelt.

BURNINGHAM. See BurNingtam.

JURNINGHAM. See BurNingtam.

JURNINGTON, a township in S. "we parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the loost, 32 miles N.N. on Scarborough, Access, 1,523; of which 123 are water. "A property, 22,558. Prop., 359. Houses, 80.

JURNILLY, a town, a township, from the pelices, a subod, and a district in L. mashire. The town stands on the trior Burn, immediately above its influx to the West Calder, 22 mills, N. J. Houset, The Teeks and Liverpool cand is adjacent and railway go in three directions forward Schulen. Telhout in and I fall, binary directions forward Schulen. Telhout in a not I fall, binary directions, toward Skipton, Tollmorton, and Ida Klann. A Roman station is supposed to I we been here; a Roman root passed through, from It is bester to Sac Roman mans, coins, and other redes have been found. An adjacent spot, called Saxifield, as traditionally here. to have been the scene of a battle in the time of the hapturchy. The town itself is almost vholly modern; has undergone vast increase since the latter part of last one tury; and owes its character to the rese and enterprise of manufactures. It is built chiefly of fire stone; and pre-sents a fair appearance. The town-half teaching for 1868. The exchange is commollions. So, Precis church is an ancient structure, only lingle-band line. church is an ancient structure, early linglesh and line, altered by removations. St. James Church is a structure of 1835, in the lancet style. St. Paul's church is a structure of 1845. St. Andrea's church is in the decorated lingle hot style, and was further to be added lingle hot style, and was four in 1856. The lander and the land in the state of the lander of l ediace load chief index a mechanism in the gar, and regards to adding room is as and optify so in analogomy sector, and application is a considered wheely even and application is bell on Monday, and furness of Monda, has been been a load in a mondation of the constant in the stage. The sector is the stop of the stage of the stage is a factor when the stage of the sta corn n. H., from founding, but foundres, are largerynotics, rope-wall is tau voiles, and brower's. Much tra le is carried on likewise from neighbouring collieries and freestone quarries. Townley Hall, the seat of the Townley family, where the late Charles Townley collected the marbles which were sold at his death to the British Museum, also Ormerod Hall, General Scarlett, and Gaw-Auseum, also Ormered Hall, Gheraf Scarlett, and Gave-bonpe, Sir J. P. Kay Shuftleworth, Batt, as in the Mchuity. The town was cufranchised by the reform of cf 1897, and sends one member to parliame t. Pop. in 1894, 20,828, in 1861, 28,760. Houses, 5, 85. The township is of less extent than the town, which

The township is 0 less extent than the teem, which extends into the formship of Haberglaun-Eaves. Acres, 1,839. Real property, £71,779; of which £10,129 are in mines. Pop., 19,971. Houses, 3,515.—The chapedries are St. Peter, a rectory, St. James and St. Peul, vicarages, and St. Andrew, a p. curacy, in the dice reof Manchester; and they are jointly conterminate with B. formship, or exclusive of Habergham. Value of St. Peter, £1,400; of St. James and St. Paul, each (150; of St. A., not reported. Patron of St. Peter, R. T. Parker, Esq.; A, not reported. Fatron of St. Feter, R. F. Fatser, r. sq.; of St. James and St. Paul, alternately the Crown and the Eishop; of St. A., the Bishop.—The sub-district contins the townships of Burnley, Habergham-Eaves, Epitechill-Park, Damoedshaw, Chrigor, Worshornewith-Hurstwood, Briereliff-with-Extwistle, and Reed. by-Hallows, Filley-Close, and New-Laund-Rotth. Acres, Fry-Hallows, Fiftey-times, and New-Laund-Lectin. Acres, 21,448. Pop., 42,702. Houses, 7,805.—The district lies entirely within the parish of Whalley, all compre-hends, in addition to Burnley sub-district, the sub-district of Padiham, containing the townships of Padiham, Huncoat, Hapton, Althani, Read, Simonstone, Hey-houses, and Higham-with-West-Close Booth; the subdistrict of Colne, containing the townships of Colne, district of Collie, containing the townships of Collie, Earlowford, Foulridge, Transden, and Little and Great Marsden; and the sub-district of Pendle, containing the Marsden; and the sub-distret of Pendle, containing the townships of Wheatlev-Coir, Ohl-Laund-Boeth, Boegh-lec-Booth, Gold-Law-Booth, and Barley-with-Wheatlev-Booth. Acres, 51,126. Poorrates in 1883, 422,636, Pep. in 1861, 75,635. Houses, 14,500. Martines in 1865, 756; births, 2,833,—of which 238 were illegiff. mate; deaths, 2,151, -of which 1,037 were at ages under mate; deaths, 2,151,—of which 1,037 were at ages under 5 years, and 19 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ruyears 1851-60, 6,673; births, 25,629; deaths, 16,481. The places of worship in 1851 were 23 of the Church of England, with 14,446 sittings; 6 of Independ at 8, with 2,684 s.; 10 of Paptists, with 2,382 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 296 s.; 1 of Pinitarians, with 201 s.; 25 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 7,968 s.; 11 of Pinitive M thodists, with 2,984 s.; 6 of the Wesleyan Association, with 1,176 s.; 1 of the New Church, with 18 s.; 3 of Englandites, with 4,686 s.; 2 undefined, with 400 s.; and z of Roman with 1,086 s.; 2 undefined, with 400 s.; and 2 of Roman Catholics, with 566 s. The schools were 42 public day schools, with 5,309 scholars; 59 private day schools, schools, with 5,809 scholars; or provide with 16,50 s.; 85 Sunday schools, with 16,50 s.; 85 Sunday schools, with 600 s. The walk-20 evening schools for adults, with 600 s. house is in Paddham.

Bottsei et in Facciani.
BURNMOOR, a chape by in Penshaw parich, Lordrau.
Post-forch, Fencehouses. Pop., 1,151. Eving., p. curacy. Value, 2506.
The church was built in Eving.
BURNMOOR TARN, a mountain Lekelet in Cural craft.

Last; 9 miles NE of Ravenglass, BURNOP AND HAMSTIELS, a township in Lan-

BURNOPHIELD, a locality 75 miles from 6 Jeshual, in Durham: with a part-office under Cateshoa?

BURNSALL, a fown-ship and a parish in S. trice, W. R. York hire. The town-ship is use of Barnsell-with-Thomps sub-Monton; lies on . 10000 V barfs, 10 miles W by S of Pateley-Rollge, with 10 E of Skipton is station; and is near Liston and the description, which have post office, and r Skipton. Acc. 3, 1908. The property, 41,972. Pop., 200. House, 13. The perish include salso the town dips of Conistons (15. Khaperish include salso the town dips of Conistons (15. Khaperish include salso the town dips of the foundation). reg. Bettonwith Bondiley, Appletracials, It after, Relating and Case see the two last of which late possibles and Skipton, Acc., 31,741. Bed property, 116,757. Pop., 1,175. Houses, 258. The Printy Printy of the Computation Odivided. A number of the inhabitants are enologed is cotton and weedlen manufactures. The living is a record of two portions, united with the p. curacies of Ribdon and Conisson, in the diocess of Ripon. Value of the first portion, 2015; of the second, 2016. Pattern of the first portion, the Rev. J. Graham; of the second, Earl Craven. The cherch was rebuilt in 1858. The chapels of lillston and Coniston are good; and a chapel at Skyrcholme was built in 1837. There is an endowed grammer school with £12 a-year.

BURNESS See BURNESSEE, two localists BURNESSE and BURNESSE AND SERVED SERVED. ties in the W of Kent; about 11 and 2 miles SSE of Lewisham. Parntash Green has a post-office under Lewisham, London S. E.

BURNT-BEADFIELD. See BEADFIELD-COMBUST. BURNT-FEN, a quandum marsh, now reclaimed, on the mutual bor for a Cambridge and Suffolk; between the rivers Ouse and Lark, between Mildenhall and Little-

BURNT-MILL, a station on the Fastern Counties railway; on the vestern verge of Essex, adjacent to the tiver Stort, 2; miles E by N of Roydon.

BURNT-MILL, a locality on leknield-street, in Herts; 1 mile NE of Hitchin. It has remains of an ancient sta-

BURNT-WALLS, the supposed site of the ancient Benavenna in Northunptonshire; under Borangh bill, 2 a-mile S of Daventry. It comprises about 6 acros; and has yielded fragments of ancient buildings and other relies.

BURNTWOOD, a has 'et and a township-chapshy in St. Michrel-Lichfield parish, Stafford. The hamlet lies 2 miles NNW of Hamm wich restation and 3 W of Valuable, and has a rest-office under Lichfield. The Lichfield; and has a post-office under Lichfield. The chapelry includes also the hunder of Philad and Woodcompary ment is also the fermlet; of Find and Wood-houses, and was constitued in 1515. Rited property, 2.85,757. Pop., 1,624. Houses, 350. The property is divided among a few. New coal mines were recently opened. The Iringia a viorange in the chooses of Lich-field. Value, 2300.2 Patron, the View of St. Many's. The church is good.

The chanch is good.

BURNTWOOD, Es-yr. See Ensaymon.

BURNT-YATES, a landet in Clint town-lip, Kipley parish, W. R. Yorkshine; I mile W et Ripley. BURNWOOD, a division of Walton-on-Thames parish, BURNWORTHY, a division of Church-Stanton panels, Devou.

BUPPIAM, a parish in Worthing district, Sussex, on the river Arian, 2 miles NE by E of Arandel 1, station, and 4 NNW of Angusering. Post-town, Arandel, Active, 3,722. Real property, 22,223. Pop. 256. Hours, 52. The property is divided among a few. The living is a viscous win the discusse of Chichester. Value, 2155.

is a vicanage in the discuss of Chrishister. Value, 2715, Patrons, the Boar and Chapter of Chichester. The chirch is purely Norman. There is a national school. BUBL, an is such an their control the Avon, in Davon; of niles W of Kingsheige. It has an area of about 10 acres; and is connected with the mainland at low water. It once had a chapel; and it is a station for the pilchard

BURRADON. See P. Sowbias and Britandays. BURRALS, a township in Applehy-St. Lawreince particle Westmodeland; on a branch of the river Eden, 11

(4)), Westmoreland; on a brough of the river Eden, [1] miles W of Applicy. Acres, 689. Pop., 56. Romes, 10; BURELL, CUMSOWLING, a fewer-size in Bolateral by N. R. York hine; 14; miles W of Bedate. B. L. a post-off w. of the many of Family SW of Bedate. B. L. a post-off w. of the many of Family SW of Bedate. B. L. a post-off w. of the many of Family Dop, 111. However, 25. B. forms convey, can not be the review of Bedate. BURELNINGHAM, a transfer in Battesiand parish, Limedia; on the river Theory, just public NI of Epo orth. B. have a post-off winder Engage. A res. A res. 2, 120. Fed. Browner, L. 1502. Front. 122. Howes 1444. Bread. Product.

Hand a postoric candid Bawty. A 198 2,120. Feat property, 4,562. From 52. Hornes, 144. Bernhelt foundly as a chapely under the vice go of Entroped; and it has a resultyen that church, and two Methodest chapels. Briefer, dam is carried on.

BURRINGTON, a path in South Melton district,

Dever; or the rivers Made and T. C. miles WNW of Port month Arms r. station, and 4 NW of Chundeigh. Postaroam, Chund igh, North Devon. Acros. 5, 230. Real property, £1, 16. Pop., 936. Hone., £88. The property is stabilized. The major belong Lanciously to instate the abeliands, and belong is most to be hard of Postaroam. Norther to belong I cover to the Hendrichat; 1. I to the Polands; and belong so now to the Breking. In the Telescope Cover to the Polands, and belongs now to the Breking. In the Polands, and belongs now to the Breking. In the State the part his diversible, now shows some romantic sources. The breking to part of Patton, W. Buckings han, Esq.. The clumb is an edition of different dates from about 1150 to 1550; consists of maye, chessel, and south aids, with an embattle I tower; and has a handsouth aids, with my cubattle I tower; and has a handsore - areas. There are chapels for Plymonth Brethren and Eable Christians.

BURRINGTON, a parish in the district of Ludlow and county of Herelool; on the river Tene, 41 miles NW of Wooferton r. steel at and 5 WSW of Ludlow. Post-town, Leintwardins, Herefords Cac. Acres, 2,580. Tosteown, 15 measuring, regressive Acres, 2,880. Red property, with Aston and Downton, 63,750. Pop., 231. Horses, 42. The property is divided general allow. The living is a victage in the diagons of Hereford.

The fiving is a vertage in the quesses of Herbord, V.13, 196. Pathan the Lord Chancellor. The church was repeated in 1852 to be very bol. BUSBINGTON, a villegt and a parish in Axbridge Clathat, Semeraet. The vallage stands and romantic Was repetited in 1500 to be very loca.

REGELVATON, a will-or and a parish in Axbridge distint, Schooler. The vallage stands smill romantic second, at the nothing skin of the highest part of the Montip hills, 5 mile (NE by N of Axbrid), and 5) SE of Yathour, station; and have post of as, of the name of 18 mingle m, Somet, t. The parish comprises 2,600 tens. Real property, 22,455. Pep. 477. Houses, 184. The paper by isolarly distribution as low. A romentic ricky hollow holds from the village up the Mendius; in the flood, by hilbed rates of mountain lime tone. A descendible, rate ray if the above this about 4 of a mile from the village up the Mendius; in the flood by hilbed rates of mountain lime tone, and the rate that plane at the best of the school fill should be of mile from the village in the selection of the sum of the parish the contains the critical hours of hours, sheep, and other animals, supercent to have them refige in it after it can drobe be a place of separates. An earthwark, added hours, then Ram, occurs on a hill further up and is thought to have been a scene of Drubled rites. The thought to have been a scene of Druidical ribs. live is a vi arge in the discose of Buth and Wells, Value, 2147.7 Pairons, the I bitants. The church i. ber English, and was a stored in 1856. There are a Leve al school and chairles £18.

BI BRIUM. See USE. PURROUGH. See Bon at.

BULROUGH, or Barrowson-run-Hutt, a parish in At the Market of the Market of the Market of the Mel-cate Market of the Market of the Market of the market of Patrocket of the Market V for Movbray. Acres. Cristiana for 1-1111, many v Per Moviery. Acres, 1795. If I property, 2.7.54. For pry VS. Horses 28. The property is subdiver. I. Burrough H59. Called Associated course, on most a fine view. The heigh is a ready in the discusse of Peterls rough. Value, $133.* For one, the Rey G. Burnaldy. The church has a fegred of a let for the course of the color of a Stee Iden, and

A construction of the following a substantial many Carlo (1914) and the following A carbon of the first of the following a carbon of the following a

USE of Derby. It is a station on the railway, and carries on a manufacture of hodery.

BURROW-Hitlies La chaperry in Stokes St. Ground, Bridgewater, Lyng, Middlesoy, North Petherten, Othery, bringswater, Lyng, Middlesoy, North Fetherfen, Charty, and Weston-Zoyland parishes, Somerset; on the river Perret, 2 miles XW of South Petherton, and 6 S of Langport r. socion. Poststown, South Pathetten, un-Laugnert r. s., 100. For drown, Son h Priheire, and der Hminster. Dop, den. Houses, 144. The chycley was constituted in 180. The hving is a pocket, y in the diocese of Berti, a LWells. Velle, 470a. Patron, the Lichop of Berti, a LWells. The church is good.

HURROWDEN, S. Bonnowiers.

ECRROW-WITH-FUURROW, a powieslep in The dall

h, Lancashner on the river Lune, 2 mil s SE of kby-Lonsdalo. Acres, 2,200. Real property, 2,757. p. b, Lancadurer on the river Lane, 2 may 8 50 to Kukhy-Lousdal. Acts, 2,200. Real property, 2,737. Pop., 225. Hours, 4; S. The Borban various Remos-tonacum is thought to have I-sen here; Roman pave-ments, altars, inself-tons, unis, and colors have been found; and a levice hand stone is on the rad. Entrew Hall is the sort of the Parts. BURNOWGAYE. S. & PENERTH, BURNOWGAYE. S. & PENERTH, BURNOWGAYE. S. & PENERTH,

BURROWARE SCIENTIFICATION BURROWS (Notice M. See PERRITE) BURROWS (Notice M. See Notice A.M.
BURRY PORT. See PERRITEY
BURRY PORT. See PERRITEY
BURRY PRIVER, the estuay of the Llongler on I Actual rives, off the est side of Constantion to the natural border of Carry athen and Glory organ. Its length mind of border of Case in their and Grissongia. Its length downward is 12 infels; and its whith, at their with, is 4½ miles. The depth, over the bor, at low water or spring table, is 6 fels; and the rive of the tide thate in merge is about 16 feet, and in springs feat 20. The chief channel may be not more than § of a ride, but is well blooked. The depth hardon, with hide, is on the morth side; Lloughor, with account, adds on for year-also of 200 tens, is of the 1, at; and furny-th-der, with rains of a cell to Llungenni h pe say, is on the s other side.

BURSCOUGH, a swinship chap by in Oneskits pas

rish, Lancashie; e. the beels and Liverpo Leanl, and on the Southport and Ormskirk railway, 4 miles NNE of Ormskirk. It in but «Burscongo Bude evi angepend has two stations, of the comes of function and Bur cough-bridge, on the railway, and a post-chier, of four-congressingles, on the railway, and a post-scaling, of the name of Burse explisibilities, under 0 to which. Acros. 4,950. Real property 212,115. Prop. 2,461. House, 478. Many of the rubabitants are employed in the 478. Many of the inhabitants are coupled of in the certon manifolius. A princy of Block on as was founded here, in the time of Richead L, by Robert Fredhenry, load of Charlena, and was the breind pleas of the Stanleys, previous to their adoption of corniskity and some remains of the priory stiff exist. The chaptly bears the name of burseough Bidger, and was constituted in 1817. The Language in the discussion Chaster. Value, Cheb. Patria, the Visus of Graskith. The charge of the discussion of the standard of the Visus of Graskith. The church was balls at a cost of £3,246. There are a Weslevan church of 1596, and a actional selection

BURSLEDON, a village and a pairle in South Steneham district, Hants - The village stands on the Hamble-creek, 41 miles 88W of Bothey and Bishop's Velidian to Station, and I, USL of Southampton; and has a post : typon. A small quavis leter and construction of the probability of the property of the control of the control of the perish control of the per and hamlets of England in improvements in pottery; it was the birth; lace of Wedgwood, and the scene of lus many achievements till his removal to Etraria; and it has been called, both on account of its history and on account of its occupying a central spot in the great Stafaccount of as oznapying a central spat in the great star-bridshire pottery tract, the "Mother of the Potteries." It is irregularly, though substantially ballt; it consists of streets and theroughlares so confusedly aligned as to be perplexing to strangers; it has grown into junction with Longport, so as to be practically one place with that town; and it displays everywhere the murky and grotown, and is depairs everywhere the marky and gro-tesque features of its staple manufacture. The town-holl, built is 1855, is a redeeming object. The structure is an oblong, of 100 feet by 60, in the Palian style, with pilastered Corinthian arcade, large end portico, and surmounting beliry; consists of three stories; and contains municipal offices, news-room, lecture-rooms, and a spa-cious main hall. The Wedgwood Memorial Institute, opened in 1869, near the town-hall, and near the place where Wedgwood's manufactory stood, comprehends a school of art, a maseum, and a free library, and presents an ornamental façade decorated with terra-cotta mouldings, tile mosaics, Della Robbia panels, and other products of the ceramic art. St. John's church is a brick edifice. with a massive stone Norman tower. St. Paul's church in Lyngport, is a handsome stone structure of 1923, built with aid of £8,000 from the church-commissioners. Christ church, in Cobridge, is an edifice of brick, with stone pinnacles, built in 1843. Suevid church, in Sneyd Euralet, is a fine stone structure of 1852. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyan Methodists, and other dissenters; and there is a school with £27 from endowment. About forty pottery establishments are in the town and its neighbourhood, producing every variety of porcelain and enthonware; and those, together with glass-works, colour-mills, smelting-furnaces, and various works connected with the potteries and the mines, em-ploy nearly all the intribitants. The town has a postoffice under Sok spon-Trent, a failway station with telegraph, two banking-offices, and four chief inus; and recregispin, two one-sing-onners, and four cinet inns; and is a seat of sessions and a polling-place. Markets are held on Monday and Saturday; and fairs on the Saturday before Shrove Tuesday, the Saturday on or after 24 June, the Saturday before Umber-week, and 26 Dec le Saturday before Umber-weck, and 20 120.

The town-hip includes Longbort and Dale-Hall. Real

The town-hip includes Longbort and Dale-Hall. Real property, £51,264; of which £1,380 are in mines. 17,821. Houses, 3,510.—The parish includes also the hamlet of Sneyd, the ville of Rushton-Grange, and the name of energy, the vine of hashion-orange, and the ludship of Abbey-Hulton. Acres, 2,940. Real pro-perty, 205,249; of which 28,226 are in mines. Pop. in 1841, 16,001; in 1861, 22,327. Houses, 4,990. The property is much subdivided. Potror's clay forms a bed from 2 to 10 feet thick; fixeday lies below to considerable depth; and coal lies below the fire clay. The living is a rectory in the dioc-se of Lichfield. Value, 2525, * Patron, J. Morris, Esq. St. Paul, Claristchurch, and Sneyd are separate clorges, with p. curates. Value of St. Paul. £300; of Sneyd, £150; of Christchurch, Patron of St. Paul and Christchurch, the Rector of Burslein; of Speed, alternately the Crown and the bishop. - The subdistrict is conterminate with the parish.

busiop.—The subdistinct is conferminate with the parish, BURSTAL6, a parish in Samferd district, Suffolk; on an affluent of the river Orwell, 2\(^a\) miles WSW of Framford r. station, and 2\(^a\) W of Ipswifel. Post-town, Framford, under Tyswigh. Acres, 766. Real property, \(^a\)1,414, Pop. 222. Houses, 49. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Bramford, in the dis-

BURSTALL, Leleester. See Birstall. BURSTALL-GARTH, a manor in Skelling parish, E. R. Verkshire; 42 miles SE of Patrington. A cell to a B-medictine abbey near Albernarle in Normandy, was founded here, in the 12th century, by Stephyn, Larl of Albemarle; passed to the monastery of Kirstall; and was eventually swent away by the sea-

BURSTFAD (Genty), a parish and a sub-district in Billericary district, Essex. The parish has around, and contains, the town of Billericary, which is near the Lastern Contains (allway, and has a head postoffice. Acres, 3,502. Real property, 28,131. Pope, 2,005. Houses, 325. The poperty is much satisficated. The living is a vicingge in the discoss of the chester. Value, 2188. Patron, the Rev. L. Evins. The vicings of Billerieav is a second benefice. A school has £60 from endowment; and other charities £44.—The sub-district contains seven perioles, the greater part of another, and a livery. Acres, 20,307.

greater part or anomers.

Pop., 4,803. Houses, 960.

BURSTEAD (LITTED, a parish in Billeticay district.

ESSEX; 21 miles SSW of Billeticay, and 4½ E by S of Brentwood r. station. Post-town, Billeticay. Acres,
1,829. Real property is 21,655. Pop., 185. Houses, 77. The property is much subdividud. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Richards. Value, 2556.8

Patron, the Bishop of Rochester. The claurch is good; and those are charities 244.

BURSTOCK, a parish in Beaminster district, Dorset; on the verge of the county, 44 miles WNW of Beaminster, on the verge of the county, 25 miles in 150 of December 21, and 5 SSW of Crewkerner, station. Post-town, I Constitution, under Bridport. Acres, 213. Real property, 24, 811. Pop., 220. Houses, 49. The hiving is a vicatage in the discose of Salisbury. Value, £155. Pa-change in the draces of carriers, 214.

BURSTON, a parish in Depwade district, Norfolk; on a fillnent of the river Waveney, adjacent to the Esstera Counties railway, 21 miles NNE of Diss. It has a sta-Counter ratiway, 23 miles AAL of Diss. It has a station on the railway; and its postrown is Diss. Aeres, 1,449. Real property, £2,751. Pop., 419. Horses, 87. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the discess of Norwich V. ther, £418. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is a first structure, by good condition, with round tower and octagonal turret.

There is a Wesleyan chapel.

BURSTON, a township in Stone parish, Stafford; on the river Trent, 4 miles SE of Stone. It forms a coracy with Aston.

BURSTON, an old sent in Hunton parish, Kent: 42 miles SW of Maidstone. It was the serv of the Farry, but is now a farm-house; and it is notable for communications. ing a fine view over the Wealt.

BURSTON, Erpingham, Norfolk, See Sanston, BURSTONE, a hamlet in Zeal-Manachovum parish, Devon.

Devon.

BURSTOW, a parish in Reigate divriet, Surrey, 24 miles SE of Horley r. station, and 7½ SE by 8 of Reigate. It has a post-office nuder Crawley. A res, 4,717. Real property, 24,295. Pep. 927. Houses, 151. The property is subdivided. Burstow Lodge, formerly call of Coultings, and how a farm-house, was the seat of the Burstows, and passed to the Payies. The Bring is a rectory in the diocess of Winchester. Value, 2511.72 Patron. the Lond Chancellor. The church is cuty Line. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is carly Lug-lish and good. There is a Baptist chapel. Flamsteal, the first astronomer-royal, was rector.

BURSTWICK, a township and a parish in Patrington district, E. R. Yorkshire. The township is joined with Skeckling; includes part of Ridgment; lies on the Holl and Holderness railway, near the Hunder, 7; miles ESE and Holderness raiway, and the realway, 7, mass lists of Hull; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Huil. Real property, 25,847. Pap. 285. Houses, 96. The parish contains also the township of Rybill and the hamlet of Camerton. Acres, 5,72% Real property, 28,872. Pop., 728. Houses, 119. The property is sublivided. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of York. Value, £280. Patron, Sir T. A. C. Constable. The clumch is later English, and was restored in 1853.

BURTERSETT, a hamlet in Hawes township, Ays-garth parish, N. R. Verkshire; I mile E of Hawes, BURTHOLME, a township in Lancroost parish, Cuta-berland; on the river Irthing, 3 rates NE by N of Brampberlauf; on the river rithing, States Note N of Evampon. Real property, El, 802. Pop., 65; Houses, 66. BURTHORPE. See EASTLYACH-MARTIN.

BUNTLE, a chapelry in Moorlinch porish, Sonce serial miles SSW of Edington-Road r. Sation, and 53 ENE of Bridgewater. Post-town, Chilton, under Eridgewater. Pop., 248. Houses, 47. It was constituted in 1850. The living is a p. emacy in the diocese of Bath and Wells, V" . at A. Patron, Miss hold. The church is very got.

L'ATONT, a naglet in Wigteff qurish, Lincoln; 2

Bullion a harder in angion quissi, taleon, 2 Lastlet Strings of the Lipp. RS. Bullion is a large cost of the from "burgh-fown" or the whole, "an argued to a place where there was BURNON, a me cost of led from "burgh-town" or obserbeen, in one of it is a place where there was an activate and in the appearance by a first market. In the cost of the less grow, Fig. 19, is worked in a run, running for he-nesh the estricty of the Dec. An hospital was founded at 1-mail by Dishop Savensby, and given to the church of Su John in Licoffeld. The living is a weatage in the directe of Crester. Villa, 254. Patron, W. W. Con-greye, E.o. The church is to be able. There are a Roman different of Chester. Volta, 254. Parton, W. W. Congress, E. D. Charles is tokenable. There are a Roman Unified in the Late of the County of the County of the County of the County of miles NNE of Wirecham. Either T. Wilson was a native.

20 NUON. a technicip in Geschord partial, Denbigh; on the verse of the county, 25 miles NNE of Wirecham. Across 2,008. But Seed for the County, 25 miles NNE of Wirecham. The County of Pomerous of the County of the County of the County of Pomerous of the County of Pomerous of the County of the Co Produced Acres of Notes and the Arthurson and Aspectional is a property 20201. Pp., 1,629. Howes, 1.6. The project of additional and a few. Heather Asile is a property of the view. The living is a nestery in the flower of S. Partilia. Vida, 292. Patton, the flower of S. Partilia. Vida, 292. Patton, the flower of S. Partilia. Vida 292. Patton, the flower of S. Partilia. Vida 292. Patton, the flower of S. Partilia 22. EUFTON, a hamlet in Segmesty perish, Somerset; Spinles NW of Bridgeware. Prop. 75. EUFTON, a charely in Mach Weblock parish, Salve, Sunjes SW by S. of Much Weblock parish, Salve, Sunjes SW by S. of Much Weblock restation. It is a perish flower of the flower of the salver of the sal

The Proof of Carlinal Lain Files. Lead or is mined.

EUR ON, a pure on the NW burder of Wilts, 8

what NW of Chippenham; with a post-office under

. dealton. DUBTON, 1800.5 WIER. See BARTON. BUBLOW, W. E. V rishbe. See Bretton (Monk). BUBLOW, E. I. Vorbelbe. See Hornst aswitte-

Brutton, W. (1998). We obtain So. Brutton at Tarvin, 1973, and J. So. director and Investor, 1973, and J. So. director and Investor of a price of the Society of Lower Coher and the Armal Journal of the Society of Lower Coher and the Armal Journal of M. Fellow, and the Armal Journal of M. Fellow, and the SSW of Petrontin, agreem J. Lower B. A. So., 200. Pedictor of Education (1998). But a Park in the result of the

Biddulphs. The living is a cytory, united with the pen my of Coates, in the dim of Chichester. Value, £113. Eaton, George Wyrell at Early, BURTON AND HOLMID, a living on the Lancester

BURTON AND HOLAIL. Author on the Lances or and Carlisle milway, toj miles New Koof Loncaster. BURTON ARMOTS. See to respectively. BURTON AGNES, a township and a part him Brid-lington district, L. R. York-hire. The township lies on the Hull and Scarborough railway, 5] miles SW of Bridlington; and has a station on the railway, and a postoffice under Hull. Acres, 2,499. Real property, £4,035. Pop., 344. Houses, 61. The parish contains also the townships of Haisthorpe, Thermholme, and Gransmoor. Acres. 6,409. Beal property, 22,098. Pop., 723. Pouses, 11). The property is divided between two. Button-Agnes Hall is the seat of Sir H. Boynton, Bait. was built by Inigo Jones; and stands on a fine slope of the Wolds, forming a striking object from the railway. The living is a visually, united with the p. curacy of Harpham, in the diocese of York. Valve, $897.* Patron, the Hon, and Rev. A. Duncombe. The church has a nave of three boys, and a good western tower; con tains a Norman font, an alta-tomb of 1336, and a torah with efficies of 14s1; and was restored by Archden on Robert Wilberforce. There are a Wosleyan charel, an Robert Wilberforce. There are a Wesleyan chape endowed school with £21 ayear, and charities £40. EURTON (BLACK). See BERTON-IN-LOS-DALE.

BURTON (BLANK). See BURTON STATES AND BURTON-BRADSTOCK, a parish and a sub-district in Bridport district, Derset. The parish lies on the river Brody, and on the coast, 3 miles SSE of Bridport r. station; includes the tything of Starthill; and has a post-office under bridgert. Acres, 2.680, - of which 155 are water. Real property, with Shipton-George and Sturthill, £6,436. Pep. 1,010. Houses, 223. Cliffs are water. Leaf property, with Supplies orge and Sturthill, 26,436. Pep., 1,010. Houses, 223. Cliffs on the coast consist of fuller's earth. The vale of the Briedy here is beautiful. Then are flux-milly and a twinefactory. The living is a rectory, unifed with the p. curracy of Shipton-George, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, 2336. Patron, Lord Rivers. Charities, £4.— The sub-district contains nine parishes relaparochial

The sub-instruct contains much partisons at a panof mac chapeler. Ares, 16,306. Pop. 4,724. Honey, 950. EUEFON-BY-LINCOLN, patish in the district and county of Lincoln; near the Great Northern railway, 2 miles NNW of Lincoln. Post-town, Lincoln. Acres. 2,325. Rul property, £3,548. Pop., 171. Houses, 36. The manor and Burton House belong to Lord Monson. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £419.7 Patron, Lord Monson. The Limoh, Valia, £419.° Patron, Lord Monson. The church is modern. Charities, £43.

 BURTON-BY-TARVIN, a township in Tarvin parish. Cheshine; 23 miles NW of Tarporley. Acres, 524. Real property, £754. Pop. 77. Houses, 14.
 BURTON-CHERRY, a parish in Beverley district, E. R. Vorkshire: near the Rall and Bridlington railway a miles NW by W of Beverley. It has a post-office, of the name of Cherry-Burton, under Reverley. Aures, 2661. Real propagate, 25 642. Page, 502. Houses 3,661. Real property, £5,642. Pop., 502. Houses, 106. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diccese of York. Value, £87.* tron, C. Bramwell, Esq. The church is recent, in the early decorated English style; and consists of rare, north aisle, and chancel, with a tower.

BURTON-COGGLES, a parish in Gruntham district, Lincoln; on an affluent of the river Glen, and on the Great Northern rail vay, 2 miles NW of Corby. Post-Great Northern Fail vay, 2 miles AW of Corry, Yes-town, Corby, under Grandbam. A res, 2,678. Real pro-porty, 23,862. Pop., 258. Houses, 54. The property is divided among a few. The Eving is a rectory in the discose of Lincoln. Value, 2664. Patton, the Lord Chancellor. The chird h is tolerable. A school has 225 n on endowment; and other charities 210.
BURTON-CONSTABLE, a randet in Swine parish, E.

R. York thire; with a station on the Horasea railway, 10} of the Cliffords, row the sect of Sir T. A. C. Constable, Part, is a day and at the cost of Sir T. A. C. Constable, 191 feet, and a tower at each corner; and contains theree offection of he dimanuscript history, and many family portraits. Races are run in April, over a course of 13 mile, in the park.

BURTON-CONSTABLE, a township in Finghall parish, N. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the Leyburn railway, 3; miles E of Leyburn. It includes the hamlet of Studdow. Acres, 2,572. Real property, £3,008. Pop., 224.

BURTON-CUM-WALDEN, or WEST BURTON, a township in Aysgorth parish, N. R. Yorkshire; at the junction of Bishopdale and Wensleydale, 3 miles SW of Ays-It has a post-office, of the name of West Burton. garth. It mas a post-omec, or one mane or west borrow, under Bedale; and fairs are held in it on 10 March, 6 May, 30 Augs, 26 Sept., and 3 Nov. Acres, 6,790. Real property, £4,038. Pop., 478. Houses, 110. There is a Wesley an elapel.

BURTON-DASSETT, a village and a parish in Southam The village stands 23 miles W by S of Fenny-Compton r. station, and 4 E of Kington; and was once a market-The parish includes also the hamlets of Little Dassett, North End, and Knightcote; and its post-town Dassett, Sorth Lud, and Amgracove; and as post-town is Fenny-Compton, under Rugby. Acres, 5,400. Real property, £7,451. Pop., 655. Houses, 153. The manor belonged anciently to the Southleys; and passed to the Belkmaps, the Wottons, the Stanhopes, and the Temples. The surface is hilly, and continued long to be a haunt of wild beasts. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £167.* Patrons, Lord Willenghby de Broke and R. W. Blencowe, Esq. Charities, £73.— The division contains ten parishes and part of another. Acres, 18,953. Pop., 3,815. Houses, 809.

BURTON-EXTRA, a township in Burton-upon-Trent parish, Stanford; forming part of the town of Burton-parish, Stafford; forming part of the town of Eurton-pon-Trent. Real property, £6,941. Pop., 2,839, Houses, 527. Here is a Espitst chapel.

BERTON-FLEMING, or NORTH BURTON, a parish in Bridlington district, E. R. Yorkshire; on the Gipsy-Race river, 31 miles W by S of Specton L. station, and 7 NW of Brillington. It has a post-office, of the name of Burton-Hening, under York. Acres, 3,590. Real property, £4,557. Pop., 525. Honses, 110. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Value, £234. Patron, Admiral Mitford. The church has a timber roof of 1576, and a circular Noman There are two Methodist chapels.

BURTON-GATE, a parish in Gainsborough district, Lincoln; on the river Trent and on the Lincoln and Gainsborough railway, 11 mile NNW of Marton station, and 5 SE of Gainsborough. Post-town, Marton, under Gainsborough. Acres, 1,108. Real property, 22,030. Pop., 115. Houses, 24. Burton Hall is the seat of W. Tolh. 113. Houses, 34. Durton Hail is the seat of W. Hitton, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £58.* Patron, W. Hutton, Esq. BURTON-GIAMGE, a village in Monk-Bretton rownship, Roystone parish, W. R. Yorkshire; I mile NE of

Barnesley

BURTON-HASTINGS, a parish in the district of Hinckley and county of Warwick; on Watling-street and Ashby-de-la-Zouch canal, adjacent to the Trent Valley railway, 2 miles N of Bulkington r. station, and 34 ESE of Nuncaton. Post-rown, Bulkington, under Rugby, Acres, 1,910. Real property, £2,856. Pop., 199. Houses, 48. The manor belonged, in the time of Edward IV., to William Lord Hastings; and passed, by marriage, to the Cetton family. The living is a vacatage in the diocess of Worcester. Value, £87. Patron, W. Bucknill, Esq. The church is good; and there are charities £28.

BURTON (HIGH), a village in Kirk-Burton parish,

BUTTON-INI-DISHOPDALE. See FURTON-UNI-WALDEN

BURTON-IN-KENDAL, a small town and a township in Kirkby-Lonsdale district, Westmoreland; and a purish in the same district, but partly in Lancashire. The town stands adjacent to the Kendal canal, 14 mile E of Burton and Holme r. station, near Farlton-Knot, 10 miles NNE of Lancaster. It is well built; contains a market-place, with handsome stone cross; has a head post-office, #(designated Burton, Westmorel and.) two chief post-office, #(designated purion, or estimated magreeous inus, a parish church, three other places of worship and a groupper school, and is a seat of petty sessions. The a grammar school; and is a seat of party sessions. To church is an ancient edifier, with side chapels and square tower; and was recently restored. 'A weekly market is held on Tuesday; and fairs on Easter Monday and 10 Oct. The township includes also the hamlet of Clawthorpe. Acres, 1,437. Real property, 25,807. Pop., 751. Houses, 152. The parish contains likewise the townships of Holme. Preston Patrick, and Dalton, and townships of frome. Presion-Latrice, and Earlon, and part of the hamlet of Holmescales. Acres, 8,758. Beal property, £12,835. Pop., 2,118. Henses, 396. The property is much subdivided. Preston-Patrick Hall, once the seat of the Prestons, is now a farm house. Considerable part of the land is reclaimed bog. Sulphate of strontium is found. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £100 * Patrons, Simeon's Trustees. The chapelries of Holme and Preston-Patrick are separate benefices. The grammar school has an endowed income of £27, and other charities have £140. Dr. L. Dawes, Dr. G. Langbaine, Dr. W. Lancaster, and several other literary men of the time of Charles 1., were natives; and William Cockin, the arithmetician and poet, was interred in the churchyard.

burton - IN - Lonsdale, or Black - Burton, a Burton, a superformance of the parish, W. township-chapelry in Thornton-m-Lonsdale parisn, R. Yorkshire; on the river Greta, adjacent to the anti-land railway, 3 miles WNW of High Lenthau r. station, and 12 XW by W of Settle. It has a post-chice, of the name of Euron-in-Lonsdale, under Lancaster. Acres, Real property, 23,153. Pop., 597. Reuges, 1,380. Real property, £3,153. Pop., 597. Houses, 134. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Pipor. Value, 291. Patron, the Vicar of Thornton. The church is old. There are a Wesleyan chapel and endowed schools. is old.

18 old. There are a westevan enaperance entower sensors. BURTON-JOYCE, a village in Basford district, and a parish in Bastord and Southwell districts, Notts, The village stands on the river Trent, adjacent to the Mil-land railway. 5 miles NE by E of Northighams, and has a station of the railway, and a post-office under Notting-ham. The parish includes also the chaptery of Buicote. ham. The parish includes also the carpeny of ourcole. Acres, 1,940. Real property, 23,470. Pop., 834. Houses, 177. The property is divided ancag a few. The manor belonged to the families of successively Forz, Joaz, and Stapleton. A number of the inhabitants are stocking-makers. The living is a vicanage, united with Jozz, and Stapuson.

The living is a vicatage, united with the p. curacy of Bulcote, in the diocess of Lincoln. Yalue, £145. Patron, the Earl of Christoffield. The clurch is ancient but good: has a tower and spire; and clurch is ancient but good: has a tower and spire; and results of monuments. There are an Independent of monuments. pendent chapel of 1869, and a Wesleyan chapel. BURTON-KIRK. See KIRK-BURTON.

BURTON-KIRK. See Kirk-Burton.
BURTON-LATIMER, a parish in Kettering district.
Northampton; adjacent to the Leicoster and Bedford railway, 31 miles SE of Kettering. It has a station, ranway, 55 mires on a factoring pointly with Isham, on the railway, and a post-officed under Wellingborough. Aeres, 2,690. Real property is 45,563. Pop., 1,153. Houses, 255. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged one to the Lattiners. The living is a rectory in the dio. of Peterborough. Value, £1,000.* Patron, the Rev. F. B. Newman. The church was restored in 1869. There are Baptist and Wesbuyan chapels, a national school, and charities £200.

BURTON-LAZARS, a chapetry in Melton-Mowbray parish, Leicester; adjacent to the Melton-Mowbray and Oakham canal, and to the Syston and Peterborough railway, 14 mile St. by S of Melton-Mowbray. Post-town, Melton-Mowbray, Acres 2,060. Real property, 24,505.
Pop., 233. Houses, 52. The property is divided among a few. A lepers' hoppital was founded bere in the time a low. A Repers he-statal was founded to re-in the time of Stephen, partly by a general collection throughout England, but chiefly by the Mowbing of and was the chief hazar-house in England. The Hying is a perm, y, annexed to the vicaning of Melton-Mowlerry, in the dio-cess of Peterforming. The church is good. BURTON-LEONARD, a parish in Riba district, W. Varkebing on the Lock bead Washington.

R. Yorkshire; on the Leeds and Northall rton railway, near Wormald Green station, 4 miles SSE of Ripon. It has a post-office under Ripon. Acres, 1,739. Real property, £2,405. Pop., 507. Houses, 121. The property perty, 22,405. Fop., 501. Houses, 121. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £140. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of York. The church is tolerable; and there are two Methodist chapels, a n. school, and charities £31.

BURTON (Long.) See Lorsofterrox.
BURTON (North). See Burtox-Piesnino.
BURTON (North). See Burtox-Piesnino.
BURTON (North). de township in Prestwold parish, Leicester; 4½ miles ENE of Loughtorough. norm satism, Lenester; #2 mars EAR of Longhororough, Acres, 1,690. Real property, £3,812. Pop., 441. Houses, 97. Burton Hall here is the seat of the Mundys. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

BURTON-OVERY, a parish in Billesdon district, Leicestershire; near the Union canal, 6 miles E by S of Wigston r. station, and 7 SE by E of Leicester. wigston r. station, and 75 ares, 1,650. Real property, 24,110. Pop., 465. Houses, 110. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Peterborough. Value, £497. Patron, Captain W. Thorpe. The church is decorated and later English; and was recently repaired. There are an independent chapel, a national school, and charities £23. [LETON-PEDWARDINE, a parish in Sleeford district, Lincoln; 2 miles SW of Heckington r. station, and ther, inform; Julies of Meckington, under Stationard Hag St of Steaford. Post-town, Heckington, under Steaford. Acres, 2,550. Real property, £2,427. Pop., 135. Houses, 25. The property is divided among a few. The manur was given by the Conqueror to Alan de Craon; many was given by the conjugate to Anal ac Gaza-and passed to the Pedwardines. The living is a vicerage in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £339.* Patron, H. Handley, Esq. The church is partly ancient, partly of the year 1892. There is a national school of 1850.

EFETON-PIDSEA, a village and a parish in Patrington district, E. R. Yorkshire. The village stands on an emineme, with an extensive view, 3½ miles NNE of Burstwick'r station, and 7½ NW by N of Patrington; and has a post-office under Hull. The parish comprises 1,330 acres. Real property, £5,188. Pop., 408. Houses, 1,334 ders. Itea property, 25,138. Fop., 40c. Houses, 84. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicating in the diocese of York. Value, 242. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of York. The church is good. BURTON-FYNSENT, a tything in Drayton, Curry-Rivell, and Fivehead parishes. Somerset; on the downs, 2 miles SW of Langport. Pop., 43. The estate belonger to the Pynsents; but was bequeathed to William Pitt, afterwards Earl of Chatham; and belongs now to Colonel Pinney. The Earl of Chatham occasionally resided here; and he erected a column 140 feet high, popularly called the Burton steeple, to the memory of Sir William Pyssent. This crowns an eminence, with a fine view; and a funeral urn, to his own memory, erected by his Countess, stands in the grounds of the monsion.

PURTON-ROAD. See BONDARY. BURTON-SALMON, a township in Monk-Frystone parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the Normanton and York railway, 2 miles NE of Pontefract. It has a station on the railway. Acres, 913. Real property, £1,290. Pop.,

247. Houses, 52. BURTON-UPON-STATHER, a village and a parish in Clanford Brigg district, Lincoln. The village stands on a "staith" or creek of the river Trent, near that river's mouth, 3 miles NNE of Keadby r. station, and 111 NW of Glanford-Brigg. It has a post-office, of the name of Burton, under Brigg; it figured formerly as a considerable market town; it serves now as a depôt station for the Hall and Gainsborough steam-vessels; and it curries on a considerable trade in meal. The parish induces also the hamlets of Normanby, Thealby, and in that's also the hamfets of Kormanoy, Thealby, and port of Col. by. Acres, 3,860. Real property, £3,038. Pop., 983. Houses, 222. The property is subdivided. The living is a vice type, annexed to the rectory of Flixbecough, a the diacese of Lincoln. The church is of There are two the 13th century, and in good condition. Northedist (hapels and a national school, OURTON-LPON-TRENT, a township, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district on the E border of Sudfordshine. The township is included in the town, Read property, C7 396. Pop., 9,534. Hones, 1,825.

The town lies on the river Trent, and on the Midland milway, adjacent to the Grand Trunk canal, 11 miles SW of Derby. A branch canal connects the river with the Grand Trunk; and branch railways go off to lines communicating with all parts of the kingdom. The town was known to the Saxons as Byreton or Buryton. A religious establishment was founded at it, in the 5th century, by the Irish lady Modwena, who had the reputation of a saint and of a great mediciner. A Bene-dictine abbey succeeded this establishment in 1004, founded by Wulfric Spot, Earl of Mercia; was changed by Henry VIII. into a collegiate church; and given, soon afterwards, to Sir William Paget. Edward II., in 1322, obtained a decisive victory here, over the Earl of Lancaster; and both parties in the civil war, in the time of Charles I., were here, at several periods, both vanquished and victors. The town occupies low level ground, for-merly liable to inundation by the Trent, and overlooked by the precipitous thickiy wooded hill of Scalpley. It does not look well, yet is substantially built; and it consists mainly of two chief streets, one of them running stats manny of two times streets, one of their rainting parallel with the Trent. An edifice, to include a new town-hall, municipal offices, assembly-rooms, library, nuseum, bath-rooms, and other apartments, was projected in 1865. The bridge across the Trent dates from about the time of the Conquest; is 1,545 feet long; and has 36 arches. A chapel stood at one end of it, built by Edward II., to commemorate his victory over Lancaster; but has disappeared. Some scanty remains of the ancient abbey exist in the churchyard, and opposite the end of New-street. The present parish church was built in 1720; stands on the east side of the market-place; is a fine large edifice, in the Italian style, with western square tower; and contains a beautiful altar-piece of white marble. Christ church, near the end of New-street is a neat recent structure, in the early English style, with tower and spire 150 feet high. Holy Trinity church was built in 1824, at a cost of about £7,000; and is a large and handsome edifice in florid Gothic. The Independent chapel, in High-street, occupies the site of a previous chapel of 1662; and is an elegant structure in the Gothic style. There are chapels also for Paptists, Wesleyan Methodists, Primitive Methodists, and Roman Catholics. The gramumr-school, near the parish church, was founded in 1520 by Abbot Beane, and has an endowed income of £461; and other schools and charities have £674. A building in High-street is occupied partly by a noiseum, established in 1842, and partly by the reading room of a literary society, established in 1844. The workhouse, in Horninglow, was erected at a cost of £5,400. The town has a head post-office, a railway station, with telegraph, a banking-office, and three chief inns; is a seat of sessions and a polling-place; and publishes two weekly newspapers. A weekly market is held on Thursday; and fairs on Candlemas-day, 5 April, Holy Thursday, 6 July, 1 Sept., and 29 Oct. The chief cuployment, from July, 1 Sept., and 29 Oct. remote times, has been the brewing of ale; and this is now carried on to a greater extent than anywhere else in the kingdom. Alleopp's brewery cost $40,000, and was designed to be more than twice larger than it is; Bass's occupies fully 20 acres; and there are no mt eighteen others. Cotton manufacture, hat-making, and iron-working also are carried en. The town possesses certain privileges, and is semetimes called a borough, but is not governed by the municipal act. It comprises the townships of Burton-upon-Trent, Burton-Extra, and part of Herninglaw. Pop. in 1551, 7,934; in 1861, 13,671. Houses, 2,595. Isaac Hawkins Browns, who died in 1760, was a native.

The parish contains all the town, all ilerainglow township, and the townships of Stretton, Branstone, and ship, and the townships of Strutten, transfere, and Wirshill,—the last electronilly in Derby. Acres. 7,730. Restproperty, 602,045. Population of the whole, 16,524. The money of the Transferre is much subdivided. The Real property, 603,049. Population of mewhole, 10, 424. He uses, 3,258. The property is much subdivided. The manor belongs to the Manquis of Anglescy. The parodual living, and the livings of Christ church and Holy Trinity, are vicarages in the dio, of Lichfold. Value, £102, £300, and £307. " Patien of C., the Vicar of B.; of the others, Is rd Anglesey. Strutton p. curacy is annexed to Trimty; and Horninglow and Winshill are separate benefices. The sub-district contains also the parish of Tatenhill.

Acres, 17,123. Pop., 18,745. Houses, 3,655. The district comprehends likewise the sub-district of Gresley, containing the parishes of Lullington, Rosliston, Walton-upon-Trent, Stapenhill, and parts of Church-Gresley and Cowell. Croxall, -all electorally in Derby; the sub-district of Repton, containing the parishes of Repton, Newton-Solney, Foremark, Radbourne, Dalbury-with-Lees, Trusley, Et-wall, Willington, and parts of Sutton-on-the-hill, Mickle-over, and Barrow-upon-Trent,—all electorally in Derby; and the sub-district of Tutbury, containing the parishes of Tuthury, Rolleston, and parts of Hanbury and Scropton, electorally in Stafford, and the parishes of Egginton, Church-Broughton, Barton-Blount, Marston-upon-Dove, and parts of Sution-on-the-Hill and Scropton,electorally in Derby. Acres, 90,652. Poor-rates in 1866, £13,316. Pop. in 1861, 41,065. Houses, 8,217. Marriages in 1866, 401; births, 1,963,—of which 95 were ille-gitimate; deaths, 1,004,—of which 426 were at ages under gittimate; deaths, 1,003,—or which 120 were at ages under 5 years, and 21 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1831-60, 2,642; births, 12,462; deaths, 7,501. The places of worship in 1851 were 39 of the Church of England, with 12,403 sittings; 4 of Independents, with 1,357 s.; 5 of Baptists, with 1,061 s.; 1 of Unitarians, with 74 s.; 33 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 4,433 s.; 15 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,009 s.; 1 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 200 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 80 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 180 s. The schools were 37 public day schools, with 3,479 scholars; 50 private day schools, with 1,084 s.; 51 Sunday schools. with 4,475 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 96 s.
BURTON-UPON-URE, a township in Maskam parish,
N. R. Yorkshire; 5 miles SW by S of Bedale. Acres,

2,920. Real property, 23,291. Pop., 120. Houses, 18.
BURTON (Wesr), a parish in the district of Gainsborough and county of Nottingham; on the river Trent, 2 miles E of Sturton r. station, and 34 SSW of Gains-2 intes E of Sarton I station, and of Son of Cambborough. Post-town, Sturton, under Retiord. Acres, 710. Real property, £2,059. Pop., 67. Houses, 7. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, 265. Patron, John Barrow, Esq. The clurch is old.

BURTON (West), a tything in Bury perish, Sussex; 4½ miles N of Arundel. Pop., 201.
BURTON (West), N. R. Yorkshire. See BURTON-

CUM-WALDEN

BURTON-WOOD, a township-chapelry in Warrington parish, Lancashire; adjacent to the Sankey canal and the Liverpool and Manchester railway, 1 mile S of Collins-Green r. station, and 4 NW by N of Warrington. Posttown, Warrington. Ares, 4,144. Real property, £6,545. Pop., 990. Houses, 188. The property is subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Chester. Value, £96. Patron, the Rector of Warrington. The church is fair; and there is a school with £12 from endowment BURWARDSLEY, a township-chapelry in Bunbury parish, Cheshire; 2 miles SW by S of Beeston r. station, parisi, Chesine; 2 littles Sw 0/8 of beston F. Studio, and 4 § SSW of Tapporley. Post-town, Tattenhall, under Chester. Acres, 1,039. Real property, £1,513. Pop. 500. Houses, 106. The living is a p. curacy in the diocess of Chester. Value, £50. Patrons, Trustees.

The church was built in the former part of last century. There are a P. Methodist chapel, and charities £41. BURWARTON, a parish in Bridgmorth district, Salop; on the river Rea, 94 miles SW of Bridgmorth. station, thas a post-office under Bridgmorth. Acres, 1,239. Real property, 23,113. Pop., 156. Houses, 23. Bur-Real property, 23,113. Pop., 156. Houses, 23. Burwarton Hall is the seat of Viscount Boyne. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £123.*

Patron, the Rev. J. Churton. The church is very good; and contains tombs of the Boynes.

BURWASH, or BURGHERSH, a village and a parish in The hurt district, Sussex. The village stands on an addition of the river Rother, 2] miles WSW of Etchington un r. station, and 8 NW of Battle; and has a post-office, 2 of the name of Burwash, under Hurst Green. It was formerly a market town, and still has fairs on 12 May and 4 Oct.; and it is a seat of petty sessions. The parish comprises 7,321 acres. Real property, £8,817. Pop. 2,143. Homes, 422. The property is much sub-divided. There is a chalybeate spuns. The living is a rectory and vicanage in the looses of Chichester. Value, £699. Patron, the Rev. J. Gould. The church is early and later English, and was restored in 1856. A chapel of case, in the early English style, was built at Eurwash-Common in 1867. There are an Independent chapel, a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and charities £40. Burwash gives the title of Viscount to the Earl of Westmoreland.

BURWELL, a village and a parish in Newmarket district, Cambridge. The village stands 4 miles ESE of the river Cam, and the same distance NW of Newmarket :: station; consists chiefly of one irregular street; has a post-office, under Cambridge; and was once a market-town. Traces of a castle are here, built before the Conquest, and besieged in the war between Stephen and the Empress Matilda. Seventy-eight persons were accidentally burnt to death in a barn here in 1727. The parish includes also part of the hamlet of Reach. Acres, 7,232. Real property, £15,227; of which £1,142 are in quarries. Pop., 1,957. Houses, 403. About one half of the land Pop. 1,957. Houses, 403. About one half of the land is fen. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £335. Patron, the University of Cambridge. The church is fine decorated English; was partly restored in 1861; and has a pinnacled tower. There are a mission church of 1863, Independent, Baptist, and Wesleyan chapels, an endowed school, two national school, a British school, and charities £152.

BURWELL, a parish in Louth district, Lincoln; 2 miles W by S of Authorpe r. stanon, and 51 SSE of Louth. It has a post-office under Louth; and fairs are held in it on 14 May and Obl Michaelmas day. Acres, 2,190. Real property, £2,471. Pop., 159. Houses, £3. Burwell Park is the seat of H. Lister, Esq.; and was the birthplace of Sarah Jennings, the famous Duchess of Marlborough. A Benedictine priory was founded in the parish, by John de Hay, ancestor of the Unifravilles; made a cell to St. Mary's abbey, Bordeaux; and passed eventually to the Duke of Suffolk. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curary of Walmsgate, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £54. Patron, H. Lister, The church has a Norman chancel arch.

Esq. The church has a Norman enancer area.

BURWOOD PARK, the seat of Sir Richard Frederick,

Walton of the South Bart., in Surrey; near the Walton station of the South-Western railway, 2g miles SE of Chertaey. The manusion was built towards the end of last century, and contains a fine collection of pictures. The orangery is notable.

BURY, a name of the same meaning as burgh or burg,

BURY, a name of the same meaning as ourge or ourgand applied to a place which had anciently a fort.
BURY, a village 4½ miles SW of Buntingford, in Herts.
BURY, a village 1 mile NE of Stovenage, in Herts.
BURY, a seat near Hemel-Hempstead, in Herts. It belonged once to the Waterhouses, and passed to tho Wigginess. The house is chiefly modern, but includes part of a previous one in which Henry VIII. visited J. Waterhouse.

BURY, a hamlet in Brompton-Rogis parish, Somerset; 2 miles E of Dulverton. Bury Castle here was a Roman camp.

BURY, a parish in St. Ives district, Huntingdon: a an affluent of the river Nen, 4 of a mile S of Hamsey r. station, and 8 miles N by W of St. Ives. It has a post-office under Huntingdon. Acres, 1,615. Real property, 23,765. Pop., 362. Houses, 75. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to Ransey abbey; and passed to successively the Williamses, the Bain-ridges, and the Barmards. The living is a virange in the diocese of Ely. Value, £167. Patron, the Duks of Manchester. The church is partly Norman and early English, and is good. There is a free school.

BURY, a purish and a hundred in Sassex. The parish is in Chichester district; lies on the river Aun, I Junie XW.

is in Chichester district; lies on the river Avan, 11 mile NW of Amberley r. station, and 5 SSE of P-tworth; includes the tything of West Burton; and has a post-office under Petworth. Acres, 3,349. Real property, 54,916. Pop. 500. Houses, 105. Bury fill here is crowned with a large barrow. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £200.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Gloucester. The church was recently restored. There are national schools, and charities £40.—The Lundred is in the rape of Arundel; and contains eight par shes and part of another. Pop., 4,125. Houses, 803.

BURY, a township, a town a parish, two sub-districts, and a district in Lancishire. The township lies all within the town's assigned boundaries. Acres, 2,370. property, £263,333,-of which £171,785 are in railways, £1,640 in mines, and £80 in quarries. Pop., in 1841, 20,710; in 1861, 30,397. Houses, 5,971. The town lies on the river Irwell, 2 miles above its confluence with the Roach, and S NNW of Manchester. A branch canal goes south-we-tward to the Manchester and Bolton canal; and railways go westward, northward, castward, and sonthward. A Roman station is thought by some to have been on the town's site; a Saxon fort seems cer-tainly to have been here; and a baronial castle, of early date, stood in Castle Croft, in the town's vicinity, and was demolished, in 1644, by the troops of Cromwell. The manor belonged, in the time of Henry II., to John de Lucy; and passed to successively the Burys, the Pilkingtons, and the Stanleys. A muster of 20,000 men, in the royalist cause, was made in 1642, on a heath in the neighbourhood, by Lord Strange, afterwards Earl of

The town was described in 1738 as "a little market-town;" but it must then have been only a village; and it has risen rapidly to magnitude under manufacturing enterprise. It, not long ago, contained old dilapidated buildings, and had a dingy appearance; but it has undergone great improvement, at once by re-edification of houses, by formation of new streets, and by construction of drainage-works; and it now presents a well-built and cleanly appearance, and is plentifully supplied with water. The new market-place was constructed in 1840; has a triangular outline, with open centre; is surrounded in the old market-place in 1852, at a cost of £2,500. The town-hall is a handsome edifice, in the Italian style; contains an assembly-room, 54 feet by 36; and includes court-houses and police-office. The atheneum adjoins the town-hall; was elected in 1851; is a handsome building; and contains a lecture-half 85 feet by 43, a museum 43 feet by 30, class-rooms, and reading-rooms. The banking-offices, the savings' bank, the railway station, the public baths, and the grammar school are good buildings. St. Mary's church was rebuilt in 1780; and has a tower and spire, rebuilt in 1844. St. John's church tower and spire, remain in 1844. So, somms cannon was built in 1770; St. Paul's, in 1841; Holy Trinity, in 1865; St. Thomas', in 1867; and the last is a highly encate structure in the first pointed style, with tower and spire. A Wesleyan chapel and a Roman Catholic chapel are handsome edifices; the latter in the pointed style, and built in 1841. There are three Independent chapels, two Baptist, 6 Methodist, a Unitarian, a Swedenborgian, and two Roman Catholic; a new cemetery, opened in 1869, comprising 35 acres, with two ornate chapels; In 1805, compassing so acres, with two charte chapters, a grantian school, founded in 1726, and with an endowed income of £442, and three exhibitions at the universities; a choristers' school; ten national and six denominational schools; a dispensary; and a variety of other local institutions. The town has a lead post-office, two railway stations with telegraph, two ounking-offices, several chief inns, a weekly market on Saturday, and three sonnial fairs; is a sent of petty sessions and county courts, and a polling-place; and publishes four weekly newspapers. Woollen manufacprinting ton weekly newspapers. Wooden manufac-tate was formerly the main industry; and is still car-ried on in several large factories. Cotton manufacture, in various departments, is now the staple; received a great impulse from inventions by two natives, John and liboter Kay, and from the enterprise of the late Sit Robert Peel's father; and maintains at present upwarls of twelve factories for spinning and wearing, two for printing and bleaching, and two for dyeing. There are also three large from foundries, several smaller ones, machine-making works, hat-making houses, and other manufacturing establishments. The town was made a partiamentary borough by the act of 1532; and is go-verned by a body of commissioners under a local act of 1846; and sends one member to parliament. Its boundaries, in addition to all Bury township, include most of the township of Elton. Direct taxes, £27,513. Electors in 1868, 1,366. Pop. in 1851, 31,262; in 1861, 37,563. Houses, 7.257.

The parish is chiefly in Bury district, but partly also The panish is chiefly in Bury district, but partly elso in the district of Hashingien; and it includes the townships of Bury, Elton, Heap, Walmersley-cum-Shuttleworth, Tottington-Lower-End, Tottington-Higher-End, Musbury, and Cowpe-Lenches, Newhalthey, and Hall-Carr. Acres, 24,320. Read property, £424,274; of which 23,544 are in mines, and £982 in quarries. Poli 1811, 62,125; in 1861, 69,553. Houses, 15,754. The property is much subdivided. The surface is hilly; and property is much successful. The states is any, and the strata yield coal and building stone. Clamber-Hall, now the seat of Thomas Price, Esq., in the vicinity of the town, was the birthplace of the late Sir Robert Peel. St. Mary's is a rectory, St. John's, St. Paul's, and Holy Trinity are vicarages, and St. Thomas' is a p. curacy, in the dioces of Manchester. Value of St. M., £1,937; of St. J., £240; of St. P., £303; of II. T. not reported; of St. T., £159. Paron of St. M., the Earl of Derby; of St. J., H. T., and St. T., the Rector; of St. P., Trustees. The rectories of Holcombe and Heywood, the vicarages of Edenfield, Elton, Mushury, Ramsbottom, Shuttleworth, Tottington, and Waterfoot, and the p. curacies of Heap and Walmersley are separate benefices.

The two sub-districts are North Bury and South Bury. Pop. of the former, 15,375; of the latter, 15,726. The district comprehends the sub-district of North Bury, containing part of the township of Bury; the sub-district of South Bury, containing parts of the townships of Bury, Elton, Heap, Pilsworth, and Pilkington, and part of the parish of Radcliffe; the sub-district of Elton, containing parts of the townships of Elton, Ainsworth, and Walmerslev-cum-Shuttleworth, and part of the parish of Radeliffe; the sub-district of Pilkington, containing part of the township of Pilkington; the sub-district of Radeliffe, containing parts of the townships of Bury. Elton, Ainsworth, and Pilkington, and part of the parish of Radeliffe; the sub-district of Holcornbe, containing parts of the town-shins of Tottington-Lower-End and Walmersley-cum-Shuttleworth; the sub-district of Tottington-Lower-End, containing part of the township of Tottington-Lower-End; the sub-district of Walmersley, containing parts of the townships of Elton, Walmersley-cum-Shuttleworth, Tottington-Lower-end, and Birtle-cum-Bamford; the subdistrict of Butle, containing the township of Ashworth, and parts of the townships of Heap and Birtle-cum-Bamford; and the sub-district of Heywood, containing the tewnship of Hopwood, and parts of the townships of Bury. Heap, and Pilsworth. The intersections of of Bury, Heap, and Pilsworth. Radeliffe parish and of the several townships, throwing them into different sub-districts, are made chiefly by the them and universal substitutes, are in-extended in the district, 22,200. Poor-rates in 1866, 234,113. Pop. in 1861, 101,123. Houses, 19,331. Marriages in 1856, 974; births, 3,579, —of which 222 were illegitimate; deaths, 2,560,—of which 1,021 were at ages under 5 years, and 31 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years, 1851 60, 7,817; births, 34,325; deaths, 21,936. The places of vership in 1851 were 20 of the Church of England, with 16,421 sittings: 1 of the Presbyterian Church in England, with 609 s.; 13 of Independents, with 5,192 s.; 4 of Baptists, with 1,680 s.; 3 of Unitarians, with 1,463 s.; 17 of Weswith 1,680 s.; 3 of Unitarians, with 1,465;; 17 of Wes-leyan Methodists, with 6,998 s.; 3 of New Connexion Methodists, with 1,205 s.; 6 of Primitive Methodists, with 1,276 s.; 3 of the Wesleyan Association, with 1,508 s.; 4 of the New Church, with 850 s.; 2 of Roman Catholics, with 550 s.; 2 of Latter Day Saints, with 400 attendants; and 1 of Jews, with 14 at. The schools othermants; and 16 Javes, vita 14 m. 140 states were 54 jublic day actionly, with 6,528 scholars; 97 private day schools, with 3,363 s.; 92 Sunday schools, with 20,716 s.; and 14 evening schools for adults, with 650 s. The workbase is in Eury township.

BURY, Suffolk. See BURY-Sr. EDMUNDS.

BURYAN (Sr.), a parish and a sub-district in Penzaoce district, Cornwall. The parish lies 4½ miles E by N of Lands-End, and 43 SW of Penzauce r. station; and has a post-office under Penzance. Acres, 6,961. Real property, £8,359. Pop., 1,428. Houses, 290. The property is divided among a few. The surface consists property is divided among a few. largely of black granite hills. A small town, of ancient note, was here; but is now represented by only a few cottages. An oratory was founded at it, at an early period, by St. Buriena, a holy woman from Ireland. secular college also was founded here in 909, by Athelstane; changed afterwards into an exempt deanery; and destroyed, in the time of the Commonwealth, by Shrubshall, governor of Pendennis Castle. A number of Druidical remains, including the Merry Madens, the Boscawen-Un, and the Rosmodrevy circles, occur among the hills. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter; and till 1864 was united with Levan and Sennen. Value, £570.* Patron, the Crown. The church stands on a wild open eminence, 415 feet high; has a lofty tower, commanding a view to the Scilly Islands; is an ancient edifice, greatly altered by modern renovations; and contains a fine carved screen, and a curious coffinshaped monument with a Norman-French inscription. shaped monument with a Norman return hasengaca. An ancient chapel, called the Sanctuary, stands about a mile to the SE. Attorney-general Nov, of the time of Charles I., was a native. The sub-district contains three Charles I., was a native. The sub-district contains three parishes. Acres, 11,592. Pop., 2,483. Houses, 502. BURY-BLUNSDON, a tything in Highworth parish, Wilts; 2 miles W of Highworth. Pop., 17.

BURY-DITCHES, an ancient British camp, in Salop; on Tougley Hill, 31 miles S of Bishops-Castle. It commands a fine view.

BURY-HILL, the seat of C. Barclay, Esq., 1 mile SSE of Dorking, in Surrey. The grounds are ornate and interesting, and are open to the public.

BURY-HILL, Hants. See Andover. BURY-LANE, a chapelry, with a r. station, in Newchurch-Kenyon parish, Lancashire; on the Liverpool and Manchester railway, 11 miles W by S of Manchester. The living is annexed to Newchurch-Kenyon.

BURY MEAD. See Acrox, Middlesex.
BURY (New), a chapelry in Deane parish, Lancashiro; 4 miles SE of Bolton. Pop., about £4,000. Living, a vicarage. The church was built in 1866. See Kersley.

BURY (NORTH). See BURY, Lancashire.

BURY-ST. EDMUNDS, a town, two parishes, and a district, in Suffolk. The town stands on the river Larke, at a meeting of railways from the E, the N, and the W, 144 miles E of Newmarket. The Larke is navigable to within about a mile of it; and the railway from the N is the Bury and Thetford line, authorised in 1865, but not commenced at the beginning of 1868. The town is thought to have been the Villa Fanstina of the Romans. It was made a seat of royalty soon after the settlement of the Saxons, and named Beodericsworth, signifying "the dwelling of Beoderic," after a person who had possessed it. Sigbright, the fifth king of East Auglia, on embracing Christianity about 633, founded at it a monastic church. Edmund, who succeeded to the throne of East Anglia in 855, was crowned either here or at Bures; and, upon his being slain by the Danes, and acquiring the reputation of a martyr, his body, after having lain some time elsewhere, was solemnly deposited here, and occasioned the place to be called Bury-St. Edmunds. Miracles were alleged to be wrought; and great reputed sauctity was attained. A new church, over the royal remains, was founded, in 925, by Athelstane; and a splendid enlargement of this, with the character of a Benedictine abbey, was commenced in 1020, by Camite, and consecrated in 1022. gorgeous shrine, for Edmund's body, was constructed in it; and Canate came hither in person, and offered his A further enlargement of the edifics was begun soon afterwards, and completed in 1095. Edward the Confessor frequently dismounted within a mile of the comessor requestly assume within a fine of the abbey, and entered it on foot. Heavy I, did homage in it, for his safe return to his dominions. Eustace plundered it in 1152. Heavy II, was crowned in it; and he carried the banner of St. Edmund in front of his troops at the battle of Fornham, and ascribed to its influence the victory he obtained. Richard I. made a visit to the shrine before going to Palestine. King John was here in 1201 and 1203; and a meeting of barons here shared with that of Runymede the honour of wresting from him the Magna Charta. The Dauphin Louis plundered the abbey in 1216, and took away Edmund's body. Henry III. was several times here; held a parliament here in 1272; and contracted here the disease which terminated in his death. Edward I. and his queen visited the shrine five times in the course of his reign; and he held a parliament in the town in 1226. Edward H. kept his Christmas here in 1326; and his oncen Isabella marched hither with the troops from the Prince of Hainmatten miner with the troops from the 1 may at make Mary had ault, and made Bury her rollying point. An assault, with great damage, was made on the abbey, in 1827, by the townspeople, and suppressed by military force. Edward III. and Richard II. made visits to the shrine. The insurgents under Jack Straw, in 1331, beheaded Lord Chief Justice Cavendish at Bury, attacked the abboy, and slew the abbot. Henry VI. spent his Christmas here in 1433, and held a parliament here in 1446; and Shakspeare lays a scene here in that monarch's reign. Henry VII. was here in 1486. The Dukes of Sunfolk Henry VII. was here in 1486. The Dukes of Suifolk and Norfolk, in 1526, assembled their troops here to quell the insurrection at Lavenham, Sn.bury, and the adjacent country. The Duke of Northumberland, on proclaiming Lady Jane Grey to be successor of Edward VI. made Bury the rendezvous of his troops in support of her cause. Twelve persons were burnt at the stake here. on account of religious tenets, in the reign of Mary. A on account of rengious tenets, in the reign of Mary. A visit was made to Eury, in 1578, by Elizabeth. A great fire broke out in 1608, destroyed 160 dwelling-houses, and destroyed property to the value of £69,000. The plague made such havoe in 1633 that the grass graw in the streets. Forty persons, in the reign of James I., two of them tried before Sir Matthew Hale, were put to death in Bury for the imaginary crime of witcheraft.

The town occupies a gentle descent, on a sandy soil, mid pleasant environs. It measures about 11 mile by amid pleasant environs. It measures about 11 mile by 11; and is well built. The shire-hall is a modern ercotion, incorporating part of the ancient church of St. Margaret; and contains two convenient courts, for criminal and civil causes. The Guild-hall gives name to a street; is a handsome edifice, with an old reach; and contains some interesting old portraits. The county fail cost £30,000, and has capacity for 176 male and 21 female prisoners. The bridewell, now used as a police office, outside the prison walls, was once a synagogue, and is a very old Norman building. The corn exchange and is a very old Norman building. The corn exchange was built in 1862; has a frontage of 82 feet and a depth of 119 feet; consists of nave and aisles; and has an elliptical iron roof, glazed for about 20 feet on each side of the arch. The athenœum was built in 1854; is a spacious the arch. The attendentum was outher it 503 is a spacious structure; and contains apartments for a public clab, a reading-room, a museum, a library of about 5,000 volumes, and a large hall. The botanic garden was established in 1820. The theatre was built in 1810. Moyses hall is a late Norman house, with a vaulted lower story. Mediæval vaults are under the Angel inn. Five gates were in the town walls, but have disappeared. A Franciscan priory, a college, five hospitals, and at least twenty-eight churches or chapels, besides the existing parish churches and the abboy chapels, were in the town at the Reformation; but most are known now only by their sites, or even only by their names. The college was founded by Edward IV., and is now a workhouse; St. Saviour's hospital was founded in 1184, appears to have been of great extent, and has all perished except a gateway; St. Nicholas' hospital was converted into a farm-house; tha stone chapel became a small inn; and two or three other chapels are represented by fragmentary ruins. The abbey church was cruciform, 506 feet from end to end, 241 feet along the transept; had a nave of thirteen bays, a choir of five bays, a circular apse, containing the shripe, several chapels, a central lanthern, and two octagonal western towers; and was built of flint and boulder, cased with Barnack stone. The cloisters and other buildings connected with it were of corresponding magnitude. The chapter-house is now used as a stable; three arches of the west from are incorporated with modern houses; the central tower, 36 feet wide and 86 feet high, still stands, was restored in 1847, forms now the grand entrance to the churchyard of the two parish churches, and is a fine Specimen of Norman architecture; and the abbey jute-house, 50 feet by 40, and 62 feet high, also still stands, and is righ decorated English; but all the other parts have perished. The revenues were equivalent to about 250,000 of the present day; and passed, at the dissolution, chiefly to the Ayres and the Bacons. St. Mary's charen was built in 1005, and rebuilt in 1424-1480; has a west Norman tower; is 213 feet long; and contains altar-tomics of Mary Tudor, Queen of France, and five persons of the 15th century. St. James' church was built in 1240, rebuilt in 1500, and repaired in 1820; and the chancel was rebuilt, very ornately, in 1969. St. John's church was ouilt in 1841, at a cost of £0,000; and is a handsome structure. St. Peter's church is a recent erection, at a cost of £3,000. The dissenting chapels are two Laderendent, two Laptist, one Quaker, one Unitarian, Independent, two Laptist, one Quaker, one Uniturial, Two Methodist, and one Erstheen. The R. Cutholic charges was built in 1837. The grammar-school was founded by Edward VI.; educates 110 boys; and has an endowed income of £1,529, with six exhibitions at the universities. Three feoffment schools educate 450 boys and 150 girls, ance teorment sensors entrate 400 boys and 100 grids, and were modified in 1855 to receive orphans. There are two national schools. The Suffolk general hospital was rebuilt in 1834 at a cost of 413,000. Claptons as plum and school is an edifice in the Tudor style, built in 1842; and his are adorred income of 4750. The total and lateral descriptions. en lowed charities within the borough amount to #3,923. There are likewise a mechanics' institute, a concert-room, and subscription rooms.

The town has a head post-office, t a railway station with telegraph, four banking-offices, and four chief inns; is a seat of assizes and sessions, and a polling-place; and publishes two weekly newscapers. Weekly markets are I on Weinestay and Saturday; and fairs on Easter-Tuesday, 2 (bet., and 1 Dec. Little manufacture exists; but a large trade stises from the markets, and from the lemands of numerous wealthy neighbouring families. The town has sent two members to padisument since the time of James I.; and is governed by a mayor, six aldermen, and eighteen councillors. Its borough boundaries, both purliamentarily and manicipally, are the same as those of the two parisles and of the district. Acres, 2,934. These of the two perishes and of the district. Acres, 2,50-8, head property, 252,741. Direct taxes, 210,187. Electers in 1535, 697. Pop. in 1541, 12,585; in 1561, 13,218. Houses, 2,552. Lord Chamcellor Aurgervile, Bishop Garlier, Battey, the auriquery, Sir J. Cullum. Capel Lord. Eishop Tomline, Bashop Blomfield, and Repton, and Capelland Capell the landscape gardener, were natives; Norwold, the au-nalist, Eversden, the historian, and Lydgate, the poet, were connected with the abbey; Archbishop Sancroft, Lord Keeper North, Anstey, Cumberland, the Bunburys, Romilly, and a number of other distinguished men were sincated at the grammar-school; and Madame de Gerlis, Defoc, and Wolldston, were residents. The town gives the title of Viscount to Earl Albemarle.

The two parishes are St. Mary and St. James; the later includes the chapeler of St. John; and all three are vicanges in the diocese of Ely. The value of St. John, £113.* Panel St. James, het reportel; of St. John, £113.* Panel St. James, het reportel; of St. John, £113.* mons of St. Mary, Trusses; of St. James, H. Wilson, Faq.; of St. John, the Bishop of Ely. The district is not divided. Poor rates in 1866, £6,634. Marriages in 1376, 106; births, 465, -of which 61 were illegitimate; deaths, 317,-of which 60 were at ages under 5 years, and 15 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years and Ib at egs toove co. Jarrages in the ten years 1851-50, 1905; births, 4,955; deaths, 3,415. BURY (SOUTH). See BURY, Lancishire. bURY-STREET, a warf of Education parish, Middeek; Lear the New Giver and the Great Notthern ridwar, Statics of St. Paul's, London. Pop., 1,472. Biry Holl here with a sent of Pr sident Brodshow. BURYTHORPE, a perish in the district of Malton and fig R. Yorkshine; hear the river Derwent, 31 miles

E by S of Kirkham r. station, and 5 S of New Malton. It includes the hamlet of Thornthorpe; and its posttown is Kirkham, under York. Acres, 1,225. Red property, £1,561. Pop., 255. Houses, 52. The property is divided among ten. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £270. Patron, the Lord Chandra cellor. The church was built in 1858; is a handsome edifice in the early English style; and contains an ancient Norman font, which belonged to a previous church. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

BURYTON. See BURTON-UPON-TRENT. BURY-WALLS. See HAWKSTONE.

BURY-WALLS. See HAWKSTONE.
BURY-WOOD, a place, with a large and strong Da-nish camp, near Slaughterford, in Wilts.
BUSHBRIDGE, a chapelry in Godalming parish, Sur-rey; 11 mile Sof Godalming. Pop., 550. Living, a vic-Value, £300. The church was built in 1867.

arage. Value, £300.° The church was built in 1867. BUSBY (Green and Little), two townships in Stokesley parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 2\footnote{1} miles S of Stokesley. Acres, 1,563 and 675. Real property, £2,428. Pop., 117 and 38. Houses, 21 and 4. BUSCOT, a parish in Faringdon district, Eerks; on the river Thames, 43 miles WNW of Paringdon statice, Derks; on the river Thames, 43 miles WNW of Paringdon r. station, and 14 SSE of Lechlade. It has a post-office under Swindon. Acres, 2,546. Real property, £4,556. Pop., 467. Houses, 91. The property is subdivided. Buscot Park belonged formerly to the Lovedons and the Stoners; and passed to the family of Campbell. The parish is a meet for the Old Berks hounds. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £457.* Patron, R. Campbell, Esq. The church is old but good; and contains monuments of the Lovedens. Charities, £37.

BUSHBURY, a village and a parish in Penkridge district, Stafford. The village stands adjacent to the Birmingham and Stafford railway, near the Stafford and Worcester canal, 23 miles N by E of Wolverhampton; and has a station on the railway. The parish includes also the hamlet of Moseley and the township of Essington; and its post-town is Wolverhampton. Acres, 6,377. Real property, £13,101. Pop., 2,651. Houses, 393. The property is subdivided. Bushbury Itali is a chief residence. Coal is worked. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £159.* Patrons, Mr. Horden and others. The church was built in 1400; and is good. Charities, £35.

BUSHBY, a hamlet in Thurnby parish, Leicestershire; 4 miles E by S of Leicester. Acts, 760. Real property,

#1,229. Pop., 60. Houses, 15.

BUSHEY, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Watford district, Herts. The village stands \(^3_4\) of a mile E of the North Western railway, near the river Colne. 14 mile SE of Watford; has a station on the railway and a post-office under Watford; and was once a markettown. The parish includes also Bushey-Heath, which likewise has a post-office under Watford, and is 3 miles from that town. Acres, 3,183. Real property, £15,556. Pop. 3,159. Houses, 650. The property is much subdivided. The manor was given by William the Conqueror to Geoffrey de Mandeville; and passed after wards to the Crown. Bushey-Manor-House, Bushey-Manor-House, Bushey-Manor-House, Grove, and Bushey-Grange are chief residences. The high grounds of Bushey-Heath command an extensive and beautiful view. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of St. Peter, in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £765.* Patron, Exeter College, Oxford. The Value, £755.* Patron, Exeter College, Oxford. The parish eburch is tolerable; and St. P-ter's church is modern and very good. There are three dissenting chapels and three public schools. The sub-district contains modern and very good. There are infres dus-pels and three public schools. The sub-distr two purishes. Pop., 4,923. Houses, 1,052. BUSHEY-HEATH. See BUSHEY. BUSHEY-PAIR. See BUSHY-PARK.

BUSH-HILL, a village in the north of Middlesex; on the New River, 11 mile S of Enfield. It has a post-office under Edmonton, London, N. Bush-Hill Park, adjacent to it, belonged to the Mellishes and the Sambroke; has grounds laid out by Le Notre; and contains some of Gibbon's carvings, BUSHLEY, a parish in Upton-on-Severn district, Worcester; on the river Seve.n, near the Bristol au 1 Birmingham railway, 13 mile NNW of Tewsesoni). Post-town, Tewkesbury. Aeres, 1,740. Real property, 23,227. Pop., 282. Houses, 63. Poil Court here is the seat of J. E. Dowdeswell, Esq. The living is a pricesses in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £353. Paris Vicarage in the diocese of Worccster. Value, £353. Patton, J. E. Dowdeswell, Esq. The church is good.

BUSHMEAD, a seat on the north border of Beds; 5 miles W of St. Neots. A priory of Elack canons was founded here, in the time of Henry II., by the Beauchamps; came, at the dissolution, to Sir W. Gascoigne; and passed to the Gerys.

BUSHWOOD, a hamlet in Old Stratford parish, Warwick: near Stratford-on-Avon.

BUSHY-PARK, a royal park in Teddington parish, Middlesex; on the Thames, adjacent to Hampton. It comprises 1,110 acres; and includes all the enclosures belonging to Hampton Court, except the Home Park. Nine avenues are in it, of chestnuts and limes, noted for beauty and magnificence. A right of passage through it having been withheld from the public, was recovered by the exertions of an humble resident at Hamptonwick. The house in it is a square brick structure, erected by the Earl of Halifax, and much improved by William IV.; and was occupied occasionally by George IV., and much by William IV. and his dowager Queen. There is a by William IV. and his dowager Queen. There is a post-office of Bushy-Park under Hampton, London, SW. There is also, on the London and Kingston railway, a station of Teddington and Bushy-Park.

BUSLINGTHIGHPE, a parish in Caistor district, Lincoln; adjacent to the Lincoln and Glanford railway, 2 miles NNW of Wickenby station, and 3 SW of Market Rasen. Post-town, Market Rasen. Acres, 1,096. Real property, £1,103. Pop., 55. Houses, 8. The hiving is a rectory in the diocess of Lincoln. Valne, £244. Patron, the Charter-house, London. The church is very old, and has a brass of 1310.

old, and has a brass of 1310.

BUSLINGTHORPE, a chapelry in Leeds parish, W. R. Yorkshire; constituted in 1849. Pop., 4,548. Houses, 908. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £300.* Patrons, Five Trustees.

BUSSAGE, a chapelry in Bisley parish, Gloucester; adjacent to the Cheltenham and Western Union railway, 3 miles E of Stroud. Post-town, Chalford, under Stroud Pop., 312. Houses, 73. The chapelry was constituted in 1848. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £30.* Patron, the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol.

BUSSEX, a hamlet in Weston-Zoyland parish, Somerset; near Sedgemoor, 31 miles SE of Bridgewater.

BUSTABECK-BOUND, a township in Castle-Sowerby parish, Cumberland; 3 miles SE of Hesket-Newmarket. Pop., 221. Houses, 49. BUSTLEHAM. See BISHAM.

BUSTON (High and Low), two townships in Wark-worth parish, Northumberland; on the Northeastern railway, between the Alne and the Coquet rivers, 41 and 51 miles SE of Alnwick. Acres, 706 and 870. Pop., 120 and 129. Houses, 21 and 20.

BUSY-GAP, a pass through the hills on the SW border of Northumberland; adjacent to the Roman wall, 3 miles NW of Haltwhistle. It used to be infested by moss-troopers.

BUTCOMBE, a parish in Axbridge district, Somerset; BUTOMBE, a parish in Axonge district, Somersey, nar the river Yeo, 5 miles SE of Nailsea r. station, and 8 NE of Axbridge. Post-town, Chew Stoke, under Bristol. Acres, 983. Real property, £1,582. Pop., 223. Honses, 52. The property is much subdivided. Butombe Court is a clief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £218. Patrou, the Rev. W. H. Cartwright. The church is very ancient, and in fit readilities. and in fair condition.

BUTE DOCKS, a harbour in Glamorgan; at the mouth of the river Taff, 11 mile S of Cardiff. It has a post-officet under Cardiff. Docks here were constructed by the Marquis of Bute. See Carpier.

BUTELAND. See Encommore.
BUTLEIGH, a parish in Wells district, Somerset; on the river Brue, I miles SSE of Glastonbury r. station.

It includes the hamlet of Butleigh-Wootton; and has a post-office under Glastonbury. Acres, 4,467. Real property, £8,139. Pop., 1,038. Houses, 212. The property, 25,169. Fop., 1,005. Houses, 212. The property is divided among a few. Butleigh Court is the seat of R. Neville Grenville, Esq.; was recently rebuilt in part, from dezigns by Buckler; has a saloon 45 feet in part, from dengms by Buckler; ms a saioon 40 next by 25; and contains some fine portraits. Butleigh Hill is prominent; and blue lias is found. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Baltonsborough, in the diocess of Bath and Wells. Value, £380.* Patron, R. Neville Granville, Esq. The church is decorated English; and was restored in 1851, and enlarged in 1859. There are an Independent chapel, a national school, and charities £20. school, and charities £25.

BUTLEIGH-WOOTTON, a hamlet in Butleigh parish, Somerset; 3 miles NE of Somerton. Pop., 212. ton House here is the seat of the Hon. A. Wood.

BUTLER'S COURT, or GREGORIES, a scat ! a mile N of Beaconsfield in Bucks. It was the residence and deathplace of Burke; was given to him by the Marquis of Rockingham; and contains some paintings by Reynolds. BUTLER'S CROSS, a locality 24 miles SW of Wendover, in Bucks; among the Chiltern hills, 7 miles SW of Tring. It has a post-office under Tring.

BUTLERS-MARSTON, a parish in Shipston-on-Stour district, Warwick; on an affinent of the river Avon, 1½ mile SW of Kineton, and 71 W by S of Fenny-Compton nine SW of Kineton, and 14 w by S of Fenny-Compton r, station. Post-town, Kineton, under Warwick. Acres, 1,620. Real property, £2,630. Pop., 271. Houses, 63. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the dioces of Worcester. Velle, £169. Patron, Christ Church, Oxford. The church is Norman. There is a Wellieurg character. is a Weslevan chapel.

BUTLEY, a township in Prestbury parish, Cheshire; on the Manchester and Pirmingham railway, adjacent to Prestbury station, 3 miles N of Maccleidd. Acres, 1,500. Real property, £3,980. Pop., 674. Houses, 139. Some of the inhabitants are silk weavers. Roman remains have been found. There is a Wesleyan chapel. Newton, the historian of the Saracens, was a native.

Newton, the historian of the Saracens, was a nauve.
BUTLEY, a parish in Plomesgate district, Suifolk; cn a sea-creek of its own name, 3 miles W of Orford, and 4½ ESE of Wickham-Market Junction r. station. Postown, Orford, under Wickham-Market, Acres. 1,941. Real property, £1,764. Pop., 385. Houses, $1. The property is divided among a few. A priory of Black canons was founded here, in 1171, by Ranulph de Glanville; and given, at the dissolution, to the Duke of Nor-folk and William Forth. Ruins and fragments of the abby occupy nearly 12 cores; and part of the gateway has been fitted up as a house. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Capel, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £135. Patron, Lord Rendlesham. The church is good. There is a national school.

BUTSASH, a hamlet in Fawley parish, Hants; 54 miles W of Fareham.

BUTSER HILL, a hill 3 miles SW of Petersfield, in Hants. It forms the western termination of the South Downs; has an altitude of 917 feet; and commands a magnificent view.

BUTSFIELD, a township in Lunchester parish, Dur-BUTFIFED, a township in Linchester parisi, Duffham; on Walting street, adjacent to the Weardale Extension railway, 54 miles NNE of Wolsingham. Acres, 1,422. Real proporty, £1,324. Pop., 319. Houses, 64. BUTTFIE, BUMP, a hamlet in Willoughby parisi, Lincoln; 34 miles S of Alford.

BUTTERBY, a locality on the river Wear, 3 miles S by E of Durham. It was formerly called Beantrove; and belonged then to the Lumleys and the Chaytors. It has salt springs BUTTEE-CRAMBE, a township in Bossell parish, N. R. Yorksbire; on the river Derment, under Aldby-Park camp, 3 miles E of Sand-Hutton. Acres, 1,559. Real property, £3,011. Pop., 126. Houses, 21. It forms a curacy with Bossall.

BUTTERHOUSE-GREEN, a locality 3 miles from Stockport in Cheshire; with a post-office under Stock-

BUTTERLAW, a township in Newburn parish, Northumberland; 5 miles W by N of Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

Acres, 250.

cres, 250. Pop., 10. Houses, 3. BUTTERLEIGH, a parish in Tiverton district, Devon on the river Exe, 21 miles S by E of Tiverton, and 3 W by N of Collumpton r station. It has a post-office under Collumpton . Acres, 479. Real property, 2022. Prp., 153. Houses, 31. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged to the Courtenays and others; but has been dismembered. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £170.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is small, plain, and ancient, with a small tower.

BUTTERLEY, a seat of iron-works, 21 miles S of Alfreton, in Derbyshire. The works were begun in 1792; they lie amid a rich tract of coal and lime; they soon began to employ about 1,500 men, and to make magnificent castings; and they possess ready means of transport by railway and canal.

BUTTERLEY, a hamlet in Edwin-Ralph parish, Hereford; 3 miles NE by N of Bromvard.

BUTTERLIP-HOWE, a round green hill at the head of Grasmere lake, in Westmoreland. It commands a charming view.

BUTTERMERE, a village, a township-chapelry, and a lake, in Brigham parish, Cumberland. The village stands about midway between Buttermere lake and Crummock water, 81 miles SW of Keswick r. station, and 10 SSE of Cockermouth; and consists of only a church two inns, and a few scattered houses. The church is new and neat, on the site of a previous one which was said to be the smallest in England; and one of the inns supplies boats for the neighbouring lakes, and is notable supplies boats for the neighbouring lakes, and is notative for the pathetic story of "Mary of Buttermer." The chapelry includes the village; and its post-town is Loweswater, under Cockermouth. Acres, 4,395. Real property, £1,129. Pop., 101. Houses, 13. The property is divided among a few. Hassness, the seat of General Benson, is on the NE side of the lake. The general surface is a grand vale, engirt with mountains, and much occupied with the lakes. A steep mountain-pass, called Buttermere-Haws, goes from the village, to an elevation of about 1,600 feet, on the road to Keswick. Blue slate is quarried. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £56. Patron, the Earl of Lonsdale. The lake extends from the head of the vale to within a mile of Crummock water; is 11 mile long, of a mile broad, and 90 feet deep; and has a surface elevation of 247 feet above the level of the sea. Its face looks gloomy; but its skirts are magnificent, being immediately overhung by Honister Crag, with a precipitous front, about 1,500 feet high, and by the Hay-Stacks, High-Crag, High-Stile, Red-Pike, Buttermere-Moss, and Great-Robinson mountains.

BUTTERMERE, a parish in the district of Hunger-ford, and county of Wilts; 4; miles S of Hungerford r. station. Post-town, Shalbourn, under Hungerford. Acres, 1,502. Real property, £006. Pop., 128. Houses, 26. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £229. Patron, the Bishop of Winchester.

EUTTERSHAW, a chapelry in Bradford parish, W. R. Yorkshire, near Bradford; constituted in 1842. Posttown, Bradford. Rated property, £4,234. Pop., 2,247. Houses, 505. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Ripon. Value, £200. The living Patron, C. Hardy, Esq. The church was built in 1838; and a handsome Independent chapel was built in 1868.
BUTTERTHWAITE, a hamlet in Ecclesield townsstip and parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 35 miles N of Sheffeld.
BUTTERTON, a township-chapetry in Mayfield parish,

Stafford; 54 miles ENE of Cheldleton r. station, and 6 F. of Leek. Post-town, Warslow, under Ashbourne. Acres, 1,940. Red property, £3,513. Pop., 325. Houses. 83. The property is divided among a f.w. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lichfield Value, 290. Patron, the Vicar of Mayfield Tho church has a tower, and is good. There are a Weslevan chapel, and charities and

BUTTERTON, a township in Treath on parish, and a chapelry in Trentham, Swingerton, and Stoke-upon-

Trent parishes, Stafford. The township lies adjacent to the Grand Trunk canal and the Manchester and Birmingham railway, 2 miles S of Newcastle-under-Lyne; and includes the hamlet of Millstone-Green. Acres, 470. Pop., 57. Houses, 8. Butterton Hall is the seat of the Pilkingtons. The chapelry was constituted in 1845; and its post-town is Newcastie-under-Lyne. Pop., 379. Houses, 74. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, not reported. Patrons, Sir W. and Lady Pilkington.

BUTTERTON-HILL, a hill between South-Brent and Ivy-Bridge, in Devon. Its altitude is 1,203 feet. BUTTERWICK, a township in Sedgofield parish, Durham; near the river Skern, 2 miles E by N of Sedgefield. Acres, 1,495. Real property, £924. Pop., 48. Houses, 10.

BUTTERWICK, a parish in Boston district, Lincoln; on the coast, near Boston Deeps, 44 miles E of Boston r. station. It includes an allotment in the East Fen; and has a post-office under Boston. Acres, 4,420; of which 3,050 are water. Real property, 24,680. Pop., 605. Houses, 120. A large poud, which medical men declared to be highly pestiferous, was recently filled up and planted with regetables. The living is a vicarage analysis of the property of the pro nexed to the vicarage of Friesten, in the diocese of Lincoln. The church has an early English octagonal font, and a rood turret. There are a Wesleyan chapel, an endowed school with £289 a-year, and charities £160.
BUTTERWICK, a hamlet in Bampton parish, Westmoreland; 71 miles S of Penrith.

BUTTERWICK, a township-chapelry in Foxholes pa-BUTTERINTER, a township-chapelry in Foxholes parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 5] miles SSE of Sherburn r. station, and 10 N of Great Driffield. Post-town, Wcaverthorpe, under York. Acres. 1,540. Real property, £1,613. Yop., 109. Houses, 16. The living is a vicerage in the diocese of York. Value, £47. Patron, the Rector of Foxholes. The church has an elligies of a knight.

BUTTERWICK, a township in Barton-le-Street parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the river Rye, 4½ miles NW of New Malton. Acres, 640. Real property, £975. Pop., 79. Houses, 16. It forms a curacy with Barton. le-Street.

BUTTERWICK (EAST), a township in Bottesford and Messingham parishes, Lincoln; on the river Trent, 3½ miles S by E of Keadby. Real property, £2,397. Pop.,

420. There are three dissenting chapels, Edwards BUTTERWICK (West), with Kelffeld, a township-chapelry in Owston parish. Lincoln; on the river Trent, 31 miles S of Keadby r. station. It has a post-office, of the name of West Butterwick, under Bawtry. Real property, 24,995. Pop., 907. Houses, 203. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicatage in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £300.* Patron, the Vicar of Owston. The church was built in 1841. There are Owston. The entired was built in 1847. There are three dissenting chapels and a national school.

BUTTERWORTH, a township and two sub-districts in Rochdule parish, Lancashire. The township lies on in Rochdale purish, Lancashire. The township lies on the verge of the county, near the Manchester and Leeds railway, 3 miles E of Rochdale. It includes the hamlets of Clegg, Wildhouse, Belfield, Butterworth H.dl, Lowhouse, Haughs, and Bleaked-gate-cum-Roughlank. Real property, £26,906; of which £6,355 are in mines. Pop., 6,704. Houses, 1,332. There are cotton and woollen factories, a church of 1798, dissenting chapels, two endowed schools, and charities £32. The sub-districts are B. Freehold-side and B. Lordship-side; and are jointly conterminate with the township.

BUTTINGHILL, a hundred in the rape of Lewes,

Sussex. It lies round Cuckfield and Hurstperpoint; and contains twelve parishes. Acres, 60, 456. Pop. in 1851,

15,123. Houses, 2,547.
BUTTINGTON, a parish in the district and county of Montgomery; on Offa's Dyke, the river Severn, and the Oswestry and Newtown railway, 2 miles NE of Welshpool. It has a station on the railway; and includes the town-hips of Cletterwood, Hope, and Trewern; and its post-town is Welshpool. Acres, 5,099. Heal property, 26,106. Pep., 955. House, 173. The property is 2т divided among a few. A sharp victory was obtained here, in $94, by the Saxons over the Danes; and nearly the last of the sanguinary struggles of the Welsh for national independence was made here. Several ancient entrenchments are on the hills; and a vast quantity of human bones was found, not many years ago, in digging for a foundation. The living is a vicarage in the dio-cese of St. Asaph. Value, £127.* Patron, the Vicar of Welshpool. The church is ear BUTTOLPHS. See BOTOLPH. The church is early English, and good.

BUTTON-HILL, a hamlet in Ecclesall-Bierlow township, Sheffield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 41 miles SW of BUTTSBURY, a parish in Chelmsford district, Essex; on the river Wid and on the Eastern Counties railway, 14 nulle SE of Ingatestone r. station, and 64 SSW of The Good anguestons is station, and 93 Solv of Chelmsford. Post-town, Ingutestone, Acres, 2,116. Rated property, £2,079. Pop., 531. Houses, 109. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicaruge, annexed to the rectory of Ingatestone, in the diocese of Rochester. The church is good.

BUXBURY, an eminence projecting from the Downs,

11 miles SW of Salisbury, in Wilts.

BUXEY-SAND, a shoal at the mouth of the river

Crouch, in Essex.

BUXHALL, a purish in Stow district, Suffolk; on the rivers Ged and Orwell, near the Eastern Union railway, 33 miles WSW of Stowmarket. It has a post-office under Stowmarket. Acres, 2,120. Real property, £4,374. Pop., 536. Houses, 121. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, Patron, the Rev. Copinger Hill. The church is £578 *

BUXLOW, a hamlet in Knodishall parish, Suifolk; 21 miles SE of Saxmundham. It forms a curacy with BUXTED, a village and a parish in Uckfield district, Sussex. The village adjoins the Brighton and Tunbridge-Wells rail, 11 mile NE of Uckfield; and has a post-office under Uckfield, a r. station, and a fair on 31 July. The parish comprises 8,943 acres. Real property, £7,324. Pop., 1,624. Houses, 326. The property is much sub-divided. Buxted Place is the seat of Colonel Harcourt; and has a picturesque park. Hendall is an ancient house, long the seat of the family of rope. The structure of 1581; and was the seat of the Hogges. One family Rainh Hogge, in 1543, made the first long the seat of the family of Pope. Hog House is a cast-iron cannon over made in England; and his name, altered into Huggett, is still common among the Sussex blacksmiths. A relic of the old iron manufacture, in obacksamin. At tensor to the form of a harmor-post, is at Howbourne. An hospital was founded in Buxted, in 1404, by William Hown. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £403.* Fatron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church is chiefly early English, in good condition; has a low shingled spire; and contains a brass of 1375. The vicarage of Hadlow-Down is a separate benefice. Wotton, the linguist, and the two Clarkes, grandfather and father of Clarke the traveller, were rectors. There are a Calvinist chapel, a national school, and charities £144.

BUXTON, a small town, a chapelry, and a sub-district in Chapel-en-le-Frith district, Derby. The town stands in the bottom of a small valley, at an elevation of nearly 1,000 feet above the level of the sea, almost engirt by lofty hills, near the source of the river Wye, and at the terminus of a branch-line from the Manchester and Macclesfield railway, also at the terminus of the Ambergate-Junction branch of the Midland railway, 10 miles E of Macclesfield, and 11 WNW of Bakewell. It was formerly called Badestanes, Bawkestanes, and Buckstones. It possesses great medicinal springs, and has long been famed for them. It is thought by some to have been known to the Druids; and it certainly was known to the Romans. Cromlechs and Druidical circles occur on the heights in its neighbourhood; three Roman roads, with branches, went from it; Roman coins and tiles have been found at it; a Roman station, with baths, is believed by most antiquaries to have been on its site; Saxon barrows, in which interesting relies have been found, are near it; and shrines, with baths, images, and offerings made by devoters resorting to it for health, were at it for ages preceding the Reformation. The shrines and baths were destroyed by an emissary of Henry VIII.; but the baths were speedily restored. Mary, Queen of Scots, while in the custody of the Earl of Shrewsbury, came hither four times for health; Lord Burleigh and the Duke of Sussex came in 1577 and 1580; and other personages of note soon followed, giving the place a permanent celebrity. The third Earl of Devonshire, in 1670, pulled down a house which had been built for Queen Mary, and replaced it by a larger struc-ture, now known as the Old Hall Hotel. Buxton was then a mere hamlet; but it thence grew steadily to be first a village and then a town. A pile of buildings, called the crescent, was erected by the Duke of Devonshire, in 1780, at a cost of £120,000. This has a frontage of 316 feet, consisting of two wings 58 feet each, and an intermediate curve of 200 feet; is three stories high; and includes two hotels, an assembly room, news-room, library, baths, and private residences. The basement story forms an arcade, and is used as a promenade; the npper part is adorned with Deric pilasters, entablature, and halustrade; and the ground in front is laid out in beautiful terraces. A suit of stables, said to be about the finest in Europe, is behind the crescent; encloses a covered circular ride, 180 feet in diameter, used for excreise in bad weather; and includes an upper story, let oil as residences. The Square, Hall Bank, and Scarsdale Place also consist of good buildings. The chief street is wide, but is edificed mainly with small houses. The old town stands distinct from the new; is an ordinary village; and has remains of an ancient cross.

The waters of Buxton have been much recommended by eminent physicians, and warmly sung by several poets. They rise in springs both tepid and cold, within 12 inches They rise in springs own tepid and con, within to means of each other; and are pellucid and mild. An analysis of them, in 1852, by Dr. Lyon Playfair, shows, per gallon, 0.656 grains of silica, 0.24 of exide of iron and alumina, 7.773 of carbonate of lime, 2.323 of sulphate of lime, 4:543 of carbonate of magnesia, 0:114 of chleride of magnesium, 2:42 of chloride of sodium, 2:5 of chloride of potassium, a trace of fluorine, and a trace of phosphoric acid. Two elegant recent buildings, covered and lighted with roofs of glass, adjoin the ends of the Crescent, the one for hot baths, the other for natural baths; and a new erection, in room of an old one, called St. Anne's well, is over the springs, for the use of drinkers. town can accommodate about 2,000 visitors at a time; and usually has from 12,000 to 14,000 in the course of the season, which lasts from May till October. It has a head post-office, a railway station with telegraph, a handsome and extensive hotel of 1868, seven other good and spacious hotels, a town-hall, a police station, many good shops, and five annual fairs; is a seat of petty sessions and a polling place; and publishes two weekly newspapers. A trade is carried on in the manufacture and sale of ornaments in alabaster, spar, and other minerals. There are two churches, the one old, the other a structure of 1812, in the Tuscan style, with a neat tower; three chapels for Independents, Wesleyans, and Unitarians; a free school, with £94 a-year from endowment; and a bath charity, for invalids, maintained by subscription. Walks, rides, and natural curiosities, of most interesting character, are in the neighbourhood. The serpentine walks go along the margin of the Wye; and are variegated with lakelets, mimic cascades, and rustic seats. The Duke's drive is a circuit of about four miles, through Ashwood-dale, and over Wye-dale. A splendid walk goes by Topley-Pike, along and across the Wye, and over chiffs to Chee-Tor. This is a mass of rocks, 300 feet high, covered lightly with foilage and commanding a delightful view. Poole's Hole, about a mile from the town, is a cavern, with stalactites and stalagmites in grotesque forms, and of fantastic names, one of them traditionally a seciated with a visit of Mary Queen of Scots. Diamond Hill, not far from Poole's Hole, affords beautiful specimens of quartz crystal; and is crowned by a tower commanding a brilliant view, Other caverus, vales, and mountains of fuscinating character, in fact all the attractions of the Derby Peak and of some tracts beyond, are within easy distance. Some of the railway works also, on the lines leading to the town and near it-tunnels, viaducts, and cuttings-are very

The chapelry includes the town; is in Bakewell parish; ani comprises 1,827 acres. Real property, £10,539. Pop., 1,877. Houses, 343. The property is not much divided; and the manor belongs to the Duke of Devonshire. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lich-field. Value, £105.* Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. - The sub-district contains parts of three parishes.

Agres, 5.741. Pop., 4,142. Houses, 776.

BUXTON, a villag, a parish, and a sub-district, in Aylsham district, Norfolk. The village stands on the river Bare, near the line of the projected railway from Norwich to Cromar, 4 niles SSE of Aylsham, and 8 N Nowwen to Cromar, 4 miles SSE of Ayisham, and 8 N of Norwich has a post-office under Norwich; and was a seriol jetry sessions. A Roman station is supposed to have been here, and Roman urns and other Roman relies have been found. The parish comprises 1,974 acres. Eval property, 23,516. Pop. 640. Houses, 134. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicange, united with the rectories of Oxnead and Skeyton, in the diocese Value, £646.* Patron, Sir H. Stracey, Bart. The church is ancient, has a square tower, and was recently restored. There are a Baptist chapel, a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £168. The sub-district contains twenty-three tarishes. Acres, 28,024. Pop., 10,002. Houses, 2,271.

BUXTON, Hereford, See BUCKTON. BWA-MAEN, a very precipitous rock, of remarkable character, near Ystradvelitey, on the S burder of Brecon. It consists of stratified marble; has the form of the segment of a circle; and is about 90 feet high and 70 feet broad Its name m-ans "the stone bow;" and it is somerimes called also the Chair of the Witch.

EWLCH, a Celtic name signifying a pass, defile, gap, or hadow.

EWLLH, a pass in the E of Breconshire; 3 miles NW of Crickhovell, on the road to Brecon. It commands a fine view.

EWLCH-AGRICLA, a pass in Denbigh; near Llan-armon, 3 miles E of Rathin. It is supposed to have been traversed by Agricola on his way to Anglesey.

EWLCHAN, or BYLCHAN, a chapelry in Henllan and Liansannan parishes, Denbighshire; 6 miles W of Dertigar, station. It was constituted in 1855; and its post form is Denbigh. Pop., 537. Houses, 124. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, alternately the Crown and the Bishon. Patron, BWLCH-COEDEG, a hamlet 1 mile ENE of Dinas-Mowilly, in Merioneta. BWLCH-OERDDRWS, a grand mountain-pass on the road ir in Dolrelly to Dinas-Mowddy, in Merioneth.

EWLCH-RHIWGUR, a pass near Carsygedol, in Microscation on the read from Dolgelly to Llandedt.

BWECH-TREWYN, a handler in Comyoy parish, Monomouth; on the river Monnow, 51 miles N of Abergareamy. It has a post-office, of the name of Bwlch, ander Crickhowell. Acres, 635. Real property, 2654.

Pop., 95. Houses, 17.

BWLCH-TYDDIAD, a pass near Rhinog in Merioneth; on the road from Harlech to Llaubedr.

BWLCH-Y-CERNAN, a hamlet on the NW border of Rednor; 64 miles NNE of Rhayader.

BWLCH-Y-CLATT, a hamlet in Montgomery; under Plindimman, 3½ miles NW of Llauidloes, LWLCH-Y-CLBAU, a chapelry in Meifod parish, fatrimay. The church was built in 1864, and is in M with many the church was ourse in 1903, and is in the early Enclish style. See Mirror. PWLCH-Y-FEDWEN, 2 mountain-pass on the mu-tual locier of Merioneth and Montgomery; 41 miles E of lunes-M wldwy, on the road to Llanfair,

BWECH-V-FRYDD, a hamlet in Montgomery; 31 miles NW of Newtown.
BWECH-Y-GROES, a mountain-pass on the mutual border of Merioneth and Montgomery; 8 miles S of Bala. on the road to Dinas-Mowddwy. The ascent of it is singular, grand, and stupendous, and used to be reckoned dangerous; and the name, which signifies "the pass of the cross," was given to it on account of a rude crucifix having been placed on its summit to stimulate the faith and courage of travellers.

BWLCH-Y-GYFNYNG, a hamlet in Merioneth; 61

miles NE of Towyn.

BYALL-FEN, an extra-parochial tract 75 miles NW of Elv, in Cambridge.

BYCHTON, a township in Whitford parish, Flint; 2 miles NW of Holywell. Real property, £2,023; of which £917 are in mines. Pop., 676.

BYERS-GREEN, a township and a chapelry in Auckland-St. Andrew parish, Durham. The township lies on the river Wear, and on the Clarence and Hartlepool railway, 31 miles NNE of Bishop-Auckland; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Ferry Hill. Acres, 997. Real property, £11,030; of which £3,975 are in mines. Pop. 1,634. Houses, 330. The chapelry was constituted in 1845. Pop., 2,691. Houses, 512. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the dio. of Durham. Value, £300. Patron, the Bishop of D. The church is good. There are two Metho-

BYFIELD, a parish in Daventry district, Northampton; 6 miles E of Fenny-Compton r. station, and 71 SW coi; o nuies & of renny-Compton r. station, and 74 SW by S of Daventry. It has a post-office; under Daven-try. Acres, 2,760. Real property, £6,683. Pop., 901. Houses, 224. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £917.* Patron, Cains College, Oxford. The church is £917.* Patron, Caius College, Oxford. The church is ancient. There are Independent and Primitive Methodist chapels, and charities £79.

dist chapels and a national school.

BYFLEET, a village and a parish in Chertsey district, Surrey. The village stands near the river Wey, the Junction canal, and the Southwestern railway, 2 miles SSW of Weybridge r. station, and 2½ WNW of Cobham; and has a post-office under Weybridge station. It is a curious picturesque place; and includes several old man-sions. The parish comprises 2,068 acres. Real property, £3,991. Pop., 770. Houses, 153. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged anciently to the Crown; was given by Edward II. to Piers Gaveston; came again to the Crown; and was settled by James 1. on Anne of Denmark. Byfleet Park, now a farm-house, is said to have been built by the Black Prince, and both it and Dorney House in the village are alleged to have been the nursing place of Henry VIII. A mansion was founded on the manor by Anne of Denmark, and completed by Sir James Fullerton. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £295.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is good; and there are a national school, and charities £23. Stephen Duck, the poetical protegé of Queen Caroline, and Joseph Spence, the author of "Polymetis," were rectors.

BYFORD, a parish in Weobly district, Herefordshire; on the river Wey, and the Hereford and Brecon railway, near Moorhampton station, 71 miles WNW of Hereford. Post-town, Bishopstone, under Hereford. Acres, 903. Real property, £1,787. Pop., 201. Houses, 42. The property is not much divided; and belongs chiefly to property is not much driving a property is not much driving is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £195.* Patron, Sir II. C. Cotterell, Bart. The church is old, but very good.

BYGRAVE, a parish in Hitchin district, Herrs; on the Hitchin and Royston railway, near Icknield-street and Metley Hill, 21 miles NE of Baldock. Post-town, Baldock, Acres, 1,809. Real property, 22,592. Pop., 195. Houses, 40. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, 2377. Patron, the Marquis of Salisbary. The church is good.

BYKESORE. See Broknon.

BYKER, a township, two chapelries, and a sub-district in Newcastle-upon-Tyne district, Northumberland. The township lies on the river Tyne, near the line of the Roman wall, 14 mile E of Newcastle-upon-Tyne; and it has a post-office, of the name of Byker Hill, under Newcastle.npoi. Tyne. Acres, 687; of which 55 are water. Pop., 7,663. Houses, 1,046. The inhabitants are employed variously in potteries, glass-works, quarries, collieries, and other manufactories and works. chapelries are B., constituted in 1844, and B.-St. Anthony, constituted in 1868; and are in the parish of All Saints.

Pop., 10,388. Houses, 1,359. The livings are vicarages in the diocess of Durham. Value, 2300 and £170. Patron of B., alternately the Crown and the Bishop; of B. St. A., Lady James. B. church was built in 1862, at a cost of £2,500; and is in the decorated English style. There is a Wesleyan chapel.—The sub-district contains three townships and two parishes. Pop., 12,994. Houses, 1,817

BYKLESWADE. See BIGGLESWADE.
BYLAND-ABBEY, a township in Coxwold parish,
N. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the Malton and Driffield railway, at Coxwold station, 81 miles ESE of Thirsk. Acres, 3,130. Real property, £3,392. Pop., 104. Houses, 21. A Cistertian abbey was removed hither, in Houses, 21. A distertion above was removed hither, in 1147, from Old Byland; and given, at the dissolution, to Sir William Pykering. The west front, one end of the transept, part of the aisles, and a fragment of the central tower, still stand; and are in transitional Norman. Edward 11., while dining here with a small retinue, in 1323, was surprised by a body of Scots, and made a narrow escape BYLAND (OLD), a parish in Helmsley district, N. R. Yorkshire; on the river Rye, 41 miles NW of Helmsley, and 51 NNE of Coxwold r. station. Post-town, Helmsley, under York. Acres, 2,733. Real property, £1,942. Pop., 157. Houses, 30. A Cistertian abbey, an offshoot from Furness, was founded here, in 1143, by Roger de Mowbray; but was removed, four years afterwards, to Byland-Abbey. The living is a donative in the diocese of York. Value, £35. Patron, G. Wombwell, Esq. The church is old.

BYLAUGH, a parish in Mitford district, Norfolk; on the river Wensum, 31 miles ESE of Elmham r. staon the river vicusini, of nines Lost of Linnam r. saction, and 41 S of Foulislam. Post-town, Bawdeswell, under Thetford. Acres, 1,546. Real property, £1,701. Pop., 82. Houses, 17. The property is divided between two. The living is a vicatage in the diocese of Norwich.

two, The Irving is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich.

Yalue, 275. Patron, the Rev. H. Lombe. The church is old but good.

BYLCHAN. See BWLCHAN.

BYLEY, a township in Middlewich parish, and a chapelry in Middlewich, Devenham, and Sandbach parishes, Cheshire. The township bears the name of Byleycum Yatehouse; and lies near the Trunk canal, 2 miles N of Middlewich, and 31 NE of Winsford r station. N of Middlewich, and Carlotte, £1,724. Pop., 124. Houses, 21. The chapelry bears the name of Bylewith-Lees, or St. John Byley; and was constituted in 1847. Post-town, Middlewich. Pop., 460. Houses, 90. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chester.

BYNEA, a railway station in Carmarthen; on the Llunelly and Vale of Towy railway, 31 miles NE of Llanelly.

BYNWESTON, a township in Worthen parish, Salop; 73 miles NE of Montgomery. Pop., 91.
BYRAM-WITH-POOL. See BYROME-WITH-POOL.

DYRETON. See BURTON-UPON-TRENT. BYRKEHEVED. See BIRKENHEAD.

BYRLING. See BIRLING, Kent. BYRNESHEAD. See BURNESIDE.

BYRNESS, or BURNESS, a chapelry in Elsdon parish, Northumberland; on the river Reed, among the Cheviots, 10 miles XW of Otterburn, and 121 N of Forset r. station. Post-town, Elsdon, under Newcastle-on-Tyne. Statistics returned with the parish. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Durham. Value, 275. Patron, the Rector of Elsdon. The church was built in 1793.

BYROME-WITH-POOL, a township in Brotherton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Aire, adjacent to the York and Derby railway, 13 mile NNW of Ferry-Bridge. Acres, 795. Real property, £1,020. Pop., 65. Houses, 9. Byrome Hall is the seat of Sir J. W. Rams.

BYRON, a sub-district in the district and borough of Nottingham; consisting of part of the parish of St. Mary. Pop., 14,673. Houses, 3,104.

BYSHAM-MONTAGUE. See BISHAM.

BYSHOTTLES. See BRANDON and BYSHOTTLES.

BYSIOCH, a parcel in Llanbedt parish, Brecon; 2 miles NE of Crickhowell. Pop., 150. BYSTOCK, a hamlet in Colyton-Rawleigh parish, Devon; 2 miles W of Sidmouth. Bystock House is the Devon; 2 miles w of Statmouth. Dystock House is the seat of E. Dirett, Esq.

BYTHAM-CASTLE, a village and a parish in Bourn district, Lincoln. The village stands on the river Glen, 11 mile W by N of Little Bytham r. station, and 5 S of Casha and has a read-offer while Stanford The pre-Corby; and has a post-office under Stamford. The parish includes also the hamlet of Cownthorpe, and the rish includes also the namet of Countnorpe, and the chapelry of Holywell-with-Aunby. Acres, 7,760. Real property, £7,969. Pop., 1,024. Houses, 190. The manor was given by William the Conqueror to his brother manor was given by william the conqueror to his brocher in-law, Odo, Earl of Albemarle; and passed to the Col-villes. An ancient castle stood on it; and was burned by Edward III., and afterwards rebuilt. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £480. Patron, the Bishop of Lincoln. There is a Wesleyan chapel. A school has £40 from endowment.

BYTHAM (LITTLE), a parish in Bourn district, Lincoln; on the river Glen and the Great Northern railway, 5 miles S by F of Corby. It has a station on the railway; and its post-town is Castle-Bytham, under Stamford. Acres, 1,010. Real property, 21,643. Pop., 382. Houses, 64. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, 2829. Patron, alternately the Bishop of Lincoln and the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln.

The church is good. Charities, £16.

BYTHORN, a parish in the district of Thrapston and country of Huntingdon; on the verge of the country, 4 miles ESE of Thrapston r. station, and 64 NW by N of miles ESE of Thrapston r. station, and og Kin by Lo. Kimbolton. Post-town, Thrapston. Acres, 1,503. Real 140. Pop., 292. Houses, 59. The living Rundouten. Fost-town, Imagistan. Actes, 59. The living property, 22,140. Pop., 292. Houses, 59. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Brington, in the dio, of Ely. The church is early English. There are a Baptist chapel, and charities £1d.

Baptist chapel, and charities 21d.

BYTON, a parish in the district of Presteigne and county of Hereford; on the river Lug, near Shobden-hill-wood, 4 miles NNW of Pembridge r. station, and 4 E of Presteigne. Post-town, Shobden, Hereford-shire. Acres, 946. Real property, 21,044. Pop., 214. Houses, 40. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, 2104. Paton, the Lord Chancellor. The clurch was built in 1860, and is a cruciform structure, in the early built in 1860; and is a cruciform structure, in the early English style. The previous church was burned. Cha-

BYWELL, a village and a sub-district in Hexham district, Northumberland. The village stands in the parishes of Bywell-St. Andrew and Bywell-St. Peter, on rishes of Dywell-St. Andrew and Dywell-St. Peter, on the river Tyne, adjacent to Stocksfield r. station, 71 miles E of Hexham; and contains the two parish clurreles, and dissenting chapels. A wear, with a fall of about 10 feet, goes across the river below; a bridge, of record can then built at the cast of 415 000 sugs the of recent erection, built at the cost of £15,000, spans the river adjacent; and a seat of W. B. Beaumont, Esq., and the ruins of an ancient eastle, are in the vicinity. The surrounding manor 1-clonged to the Baliols; passed The surrounding manor 1-conged to the Banois; passed to the Nevilles and the Ferwicks; and belongs now to W. B. Beaumont, Esq.—The sub district contains three parishes, large part of another, and an extra parochial tract. Acres, 47,859, Por., 8,128. Houses, 1,512, BYWELL-ST. ANDREW, a township and a parish in Hexham district, Northamberland. The township includes part of Bywell village. Fop., 15. Houses, 7. The parish includes also the townships of Stocksfield Hall, Riding, Bearl, Styford, and Broomhaugh; bes along the river Tyne and the Newcastle and Carlisle railway; and contains the r. stations of Stocksfield and Riding-Mill, and the post-offices of Stocksfield, Northumber-land, and Riding-Mill, Northumberland. Acres, 3,512, Real property, 25,400. Pop., 508. Houses, 90. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £159. Patron, W. B. Beaumont, Esq. The church has a lofty steeple, and is very

BYWELL-ST. PETER, a township and a parish in Hexham district, Northumberland. The township in-cludes part of Bywell village. Pop., 94. Honses, 29. The parish includes also the townships of Whittonstall, Newlands, Espershields, Healy, High Fortherley, Droom-ley, Apperley, Stelling, Newton, and Newton Hall; ex-tends southward to the river Derwent at the boundary with Durham; and is nearly 8 miles long and 5 miles broad. Post-town, Stocksfield, Northumberland. Acres. 17.784. Real property, 29,295. Pop., 1,574. Houses, 238. The property is divided among a tew. Much of the land in the south is high and poor. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, £300. Yatrons, the Dean and Chapter of Durham. The church has a square tower, and is good. The p. curacy of Whittenth III is converted to the second of the control of tonstali is a separate charge.

BYWORTH, a hamlet in Petworth parish, Sussex; 13 mile E of Petworth. It has a post-office under Petworth.

See CABUS.

CABILLO, a village in Ystradgunlais parish, Brecon;

CABILLO, a vining in Tstratgulats partsin, Dictory, 9 miles N of Neath.

CABOURN, a parish in Caistor district, Lincoln, 2 miles ENE of Caistor, and 4½ ENE of Moortown r. station. Post-town, Caistor. Acres, 2.889. Deal property, £3,572. Pop., 171. Houses, 29. The property is divided to the control of the zo, or z rop., iri. Houses, zo. Ine property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, not reported. Patron, the Earl of Yarbororgh, The church is tolerable. CABUKY-MOUNT, an eminence 2 miles ESE of Lewes, in Sussex; isolated by a pass from the South Downs, overlyinging the railway, commanding a fine view, and overlanding in antient round camp.

CABUS, or CABAS, a township in Garstang parish, Lancashire; on the Lancaster canal, adjacent to the Lancaster and Preston railway, 2 miles N of Garstang. Acres, 1,220. Real property, £2,266. Pop., 200, Houses, 39.
CACCA-DUTTON. See DUTTON-CACCA.

CAD (THE), a stream of Devon; rising in the centre of Dartmoor forest, and running 10 miles south-southwestward to the Plym at Shaugh village, 3½ miles NNE of Plymouth. It is properly the Plym, being longer than the headstream bearing that name. Its vale is a wild glen, replete with character, overhung by cliffs and rocky hills, and flanked in parts with torrents of fallen masses of granite. CADBURY, a parish in Tiverton district, Devon; on the Rumansleigh ridge-way, 53 miles W by N of Hele r. station, and 63 ENE of Crediton. Post-town, Cherir station, and of rays of Cention. To section, the form of the function of the form of the function of the fun ous of Faither's army on a day in 1945; and has yielded a quantity of antique ornaments. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Exeter. Value, 2163,* Patron, Hev. F. J. Coloridge. The church is a substantial structure of the 15th century.

CADBURY (NORTH), a village and a parish in Win-CADBURY (North), a village and a parish in Wincenton district, Somerset. The village studies on an entrence, 2 miles NE of Sparkford r. station, and 5 WSW of Wincenton; and has a post-office under Eath. The parish includes also the humlets of Gallampton and Woolston. Acres, 2,810. Real property, 27,229. Pop., 297. Houses, 236. The manor belonged to the Newmarshes, the Botreauxes, and the Hungerfords; and passed to the Bennetts. The manor-house was built in 1831, by the third Earl of Hungington. The living is a passed to the pannets. In additional was our in 1531, by the third Farl of Huntingdon. The living is a rectory in the diecese of Bath and Wells. Value, £700.* Patron, Enemannel College, Cambridge. The church was built, in the time of Henry VI., by the Botroanxes; and contains several ancient monuments. There are a Wesleyan chapel and a national school. Ralph Cudworth was rector.

CADBURY (SOUTH), a parish in Wincanton district, Somerset; adjacent to the Frome and Yeovil railway, 14 mile E of Sparkford r. station, and 6 WSW of Wincanton. Post-town, North Cadbury, under Eath. Acres, 300. Real property, with Satton-Monks, Weston, and Bampfylde, £4,663. Pop., 257. House, 55. The property is divided among a few. Calbury House is the seat of J. Bennett, Esq. Cadbury fort, situated on the northern extremity of a ridge of hills, and anciently called Camelet, is thought to have been a Roman station, and probably was the Cathbrigion where Arthur routed the Saxons in a great battle; has yielded weapons, articles of camp equipage, a silver horse-shoe, and many Roman coins; comprises four concentric deep ditches, and as many massive ramparts, enclosing an area of about 20 acres; and has in the centre a moated mound, called King Arthur's Palace, and in the fourth ditch, a spring called King Arthur's Well. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, not reported.* Patron, J. Bennett, Esq. The church is good. CADDINGTON, a parish in the district of Luton and counties of Bedford and Hertford; near the Hertford and Dunstable railway, 2 miles WSW of Luton. It includes the Humbershoe portion of Market-street village; and its post-town is Luton. Acres, 4,500. Real property, 26,785. Pop. 1,831. Houses, 359. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of Ely. Value, 2875. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's. The church is ancient, and has two brasses of the 16th century. The vicarage of Market-street is a separate charge. There are two dissenting chapels, an endowed school with £138 a-year, and charities £16.

CADEBY, a township and a parish in Market-Bosworth district, Leicester. The township has 1; mile SE by S of Market-Bosworth, and 5 WSW of Desford r. station. Acres, 900. Real property, £1,662. Pop., 194. Houses, 43. The parish contains also the township of Osbaston; and its post-town is Market-Bosworth, under Hinckley. Acres, 2,130. Real property, £4,623. Pop., 422. Houses, 88. The property is divided among a few. The parish is a meet for the Atherstone hounds. living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value. £223. Patron, Sir Alex. Dixie, Bart. The church is very good. Charities, £21. CADEBY, a hamlet in Wybam parish, Lincoln; 51 miles NNW of Louth. It forms a curecy with Wyham. CADEBY, a township in Sprotbrough parish, W. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the river Don, near the South Yorkshire railway, 44 miles SW by S of Doncaster. Acres, 1,100. Real property, £1,536. Pop., 165. Houses, 26. It contains time and building-stone; and forms a curacy with Sprotbrough.

CADELEIGH, or CADLEIGH, a parish in Tiverton district, Devon; 41 miles SW of Tiverton r. station. Posttown, Tiverton. Acres, 2,191. Real property, £2,160. Pop., 258. Houses, 74. The property is much subdivided. The surface rises into bold romantic hills, with brilliant views. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Exeter. Value, £193.* Patron, Mrs. Moore. The church is old; consists of nave, chancel, north aisle, and western tower; contains a canopied monument to Sir Simon Leach; and stands on high ground, forming a conspicuous landmark. An Independent chapel is at Little Silver; and there are charities £16.

CADENHAM, a village 3 miles N of Lyndburst, in Hants. An oak-tree here is remarkable for budding in the depth of winter.

CADER, a township in Llanrhaidr-in-Kinmerch parish, Denbighshire; 31 miles S by W of Denbigh. Pop., 133. Cader-Gwladus here is an eminence rich in curious minerals, and commanding a fine view.

CADER-ARTHUR. See ARTHUR'S CHAIR.

CADER-FERWIN. See BERWIN MOUNTAINS. CADER-GWLADUS. See CADER.

CADER-IDRIS, a mountain-ridge in the SW of Merioneth; culminating 4½ miles SW by S of Dolgelly, and 6½ ESE of the sea at Barmouth. It extends south-west-ward from a point about 1½ mile SE of Dolgelly; is 6 miles long as the crow flies, but nearly 10 by the curvathree of its summit-line; and varies in breadth from less than ½ a mile to about 3 miles. Its highest points are Pen-y-Gador and Mynydd-Moel, 2,914 and 2,817 feet high. Its acclivities are generally steep, yet present every variety of gradation; and its breaks, hollows, and other features of contour give it more richness of scenic character than is possessed by almost any other mountain mass in Wales. The views from it are of vast extent, and exhibit striking contrasts. Its rocks are eruptive, variously basalt, greenstone, clinkstone, and porphyry.

CADGEWITH, a village on the coast of Cornwall; in a romantic valley, 2½ miles NNE of the Lizard. It is inhabited chiefly by fishermen; is a coast-guard station; and has an inn. A pit or amphitheatre is near it, called the Devil's Frying-pan, nearly 2 acres in area, with sides 200 feet high, and receiving some water of flood tides through an arch which opens to the shore; and here hornblende slate and serpentime occur in junction, and iron pyrites, amianthus, and other minerals are found.

CADHAY, a seat, 14 mile NNW of Ottery St. Mary, in Devon. It is a Tudor mansion; belonged formerly to the Haydons; and belongs now to Sir Thomas Hare, CADISHEAD, a hamlet in Barton-upon-Irwell township, Eccles parish, Lancashire; 42 miles W of Manchester. It has a post-office under Warrington. Pop., 961.

CADLANDS, a hamlet in Fawley parish, Hants; on Southampton water, 5½ miles W of Fareham. Real property, 2,567. Cadlands Park is the seat of the Drummonds; and has rich grounds, laid out by Brown. CADLEIGH. See CADELEIGH.

CADLEY. See SAVERNAKE (SOUTH). CADMORE-END. See ASHAMPSTEAD, Oxford.

CADMORE-END. See ASHAMISTEAD, OADDA.

CADNAM, a tything in Minstead parish, Hants; 61 miles SW of Romsey. Pop., 154.

CADNEY-CUM-HOUSHAM, a parish in GlanfordBrigg district, Lincoln; on the Lincoln and Hull railmathematical collapsed Price. It has a station, way, 24 miles SSE of Glanford-Brigg. It has a station, of the name of Housham, on the railway; and its post-town is Brigg. Acres, with Newstead, 4,800. Real property, 46,33. Pop., 570. Houses, 111. The living is a vicarage in the dio, of Lincoln. Value, £230.* Fatton, Lord Yarborough. The church is old. There are a chapel of case, four dissenting chapels, and a British school.

CADOXTON, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in Neath district, Glanorgan. The village stands on the Sarn-Helen Roman way and the river Neath, adjacent to the Neath canal and the Vale of Neath railway, ½ a mile N of Neath; and is within Neath borough. The parish includes the hamlets of Blachhonddan, Dyffryn-Clydach, Coedfrank, Ynis-y-mond, Upper Dylais, Lower Dylais, Lower Neath, Middle Neath, and Upper Neath; and extends about 15 miles from Eriton-Ferry to Pont-Neath-

Vaughan. Post-town, Neath. Acres, 32,060; of which 905 are water. Real property, £49,268; of which £22,891 905 are water. Real property, 213, 203, of Prop. in 1841, 5.794; in 1861, 8,203. Houses, 1,600. The property 5,794; in 1861, 8,209. Houses, 1,600. The property is subdivided. The surface is hilly, and displays much fine scenery. Aberpergwm, the seat of the Williams family, is remarkably picturesque. Ynis-las, Cadoxton Lodge, and Caloxton Place also are chief residences. Coal and ores abound; and the Neath Abbey iron-works, the Crown and Mines Royal copper-works, and many other large mineral or manufacturing establishments are other large numerat or manufacturing estatorismments and within the parish. The living is a vicatage, united with the p. curacy of Crynant, in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £240.* Patron, R. H. Miers, Esq. The church is good; and contains the pedigree of the Williams family, agranual on sheets of corner. The vicatages of Skewen is good; and contains the pedigree of the williams industry, engraved on sheers of copper. The vicarages of Skewen and Aberpergwu, are separate benefices. There is a chapel of ease at Crymant. There are also chapels for Baptists, Wesleyans, and Calvinistic Methodists. The parish, under a modified form of its name, gives title to Earl Calvinia Chaptists, and the Calvinia contains are of Calvinia and Calvinia contains and the Calvinia Calvinia contains are of Calvinia. Cadogan. The sub-district contains part of Cadoxton parish and the whole of another. Acres, 27, 304. Pop., 7,522. Houses, 1,452. CADOXTON-JUXTA-BARRY, a parish in Cardiff district, Glamorgan; on the coast, 43 miles S of St. Fagans r. station, and 64 SW of Cardiff. Post-town, Sully, gans r. station, and 64 SW of Cardin. Post-town, oncar, under Cardiff. Acres, 1,025; of which 80 are water. Real property, £1,009. Pop., 279. Houses, 64. There are remains of a castle; and lime is worked. The living are remains of a castle; and lime is worked. The living are remains of a castle; and lime is worked. The living are remains of a castle; and lime is worked. The living are remains of a castle; and lime is worked. The living are remains of a castle; and lime is worked. Patron, R. F. Jenner, Esq., and others.

CADWELL, a hamlet in Tathwell parish, Lincoln; 2 miles S of Louth.

CADWELL, a liberty in Brightwell-Baldwin parish, Oxford; 31 miles WNW of Watlington. CADWORTH. See CAWDEN.

CAE-COCH, a spa on the E border of Carnarvon; in the vale of the Conway, in the vicinity of Trefriw, adjacent to the Conway and Llaurwst railway, 3 miles N of Llaurwst.

It is called also the Vale of Conway spa. A neat hotel and other houses for visitors have been built; and a great number of invalids have recently come hither.

CAE-GORLAN, a township in Llaugelynin parish, Carnaryon; 2 miles S of Conway.
CAE-GORWAIN. See CAERGWEWAIN.
CAEGURWAIN. See CAERGWEWAIN.
CAELWYNGRYDD, a hamlet in Llanllechid parish,

CAELWYNGRYDD, a hamlet in Llanllechid parish, Carmarvon; 3¼ miles NE of Bangor.
CAENBY, a parish in the district and county of Lincoln; 6½ miles NW of Wickenby r. station, and 7 W of Market-Rasen. Post-town, Clentham, under Market-Rasen. Acres, 1,430. Real property, 22,413. Pop., 125. Houses, 25. The manor and property belong to Sir C. M. L. Monck, Bart. The bring is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Valne, £304. * Patron, Sir C. M. L. Monck, Bart. The church is good.
CAENWOOD a seat adiagont to the west side of CAEN-WOOD, a seat adjacent to the west side of Highgate, in Middlesex. It belonged formerly to Lord Bute; and belongs now to the Earl of Mansfield, house is in the Jonic style, after a design by Adams; and contains valuable paintings and portraits. The Fifth monarchy men, in 1661, took refuge in the grounds, and were attacked here by the guards.

CAENYNION, a township in Oswestry parish, Salop; near Oswestry. Pop., 142.

CAER., CAR., or GAR., a Celtic or old British prefix, signifying a fort or any other artificial military strength, CAERALLWCH. See CAER-FALLWCH.

CAERARIANRHOD, a submerged town in Carnaryon bay; about 2 miles from the shore, off the mouth of the river Llifon, 74 miles SW by S of Carnaryon. The ruins of it are visible at low water.

CAERAU, an old seat of the Lloyds, adjacent to an ancient camp, near Llanganimarch, in Brecon. CAERAU, Glainorgan. See Caira.

CAER-BANNAU, the site of the Roman Bannium, in Breconshire; on the Julian way, 31 miles W of Brecon. The Roman works here are still traceable, around an area of 624 feet by 456; and Roman inscriptions and coins have been found. A town sprang up in connexion with the military defences; and was the capital of a large circumjacent trade till after the Norman conquest.

CAER-BRAN, an ancient fort in the south-western peninsila of Cornwall; 44 miles WSW of Penzance. It engiris and crowns a hill; comprises outer ditch, outer val'um, inner d.tch, inner wall, and central circle; and is 99 races in diameter.

CARR-CARADOC, or CRADOCK-HILL, a hill on the SW bonier of Salon; at the river Clun, near Offa's Dyke, 3 miles NE of Knighton. It was the place of Caractacus' last stand against O. Scapula; and it retains some traces of his defensive works.

CAER-CORL See CIRENCESTER. CAER-CRWYN, an audient British camp on a hill 54 miles SW of Corwen, in Merioneth. The hill is crowned also by a rillar receied in honour of Sir W. W. Wynn, Burn and commands one of the grandest views in Wales.

CAFR-CUSTEINT. See CARNARYON.

CAERDDEN. See GARTHEN.

CAERDIFF. See CARDIPP.

AER-DREWYN, an ancient British fort near Corwin, in Merioneth; marked now by only a circle of loose stones, nearly is mile in circumference. Owen Gwynedd read post here to repel the invasion of Henry II.; and Owen Glendower retreated hither, from the menace of Henry IV

CAER-EGARRY. See Caistor. CAERLINION-FECHAN, a township in Mallwyd pariso. Monagomery; on the verge of the county, on the river Dover, 2 miles S of Dinas-Mowddwy. Acres, 1,894.

Real trayerty, 2707. Fop., 111. Houses, 22. CALRYAGAN, a locality of miles ESE of Rhayader, in Radnor. It is trayersed by a Roman road; and is surprised by many antiquaries to be the site of the Roman station Magos. Numerous Roman relies have been found in its neighbourhood.

CAER-FALLWCH, or CAERALLWCH, a township in Northop perish, Flintshire; 34 miles S by E of Flint. It as property, £9,581; of which £6,646 are in mines. Pop., 925. Houses, 195. Some of the inhabitants are employed in lead mines. An ancient British camp here, raiei Meel-Gaer, encloses a circular area of 196 yards in diameter: has an artificial mound in the centre; comnames a very extensive view; is one of the most perfect ambett strengths in North Wales; and is thought to have seen an outpost of the Ordivices for defence against the Romans.

TAERFEDWIN, a township in Llandyrnog parish,

Denbighshire: 41 miles E of Denbigh. LAER-FRYDDYN. See CARMARTHEN.

AERGAER, an ancient camp on the Julian way, near St. Nickelas, in Glamorgan.

CAELGELIOG, a township in Llandderfel parish, Mirioneth: 3] miles E of Bala.

Microbella: 35 miles L of Data.

(AEROWELE, a township in Hope parish, Flint; on Watt's Dyke, the river Alan, and the Wrexham and Mold relieve, 5 miles NNW of Wrexham. It has a post-office under Wresham, and a restrion. It was a Roman station, an outpest of Dava. Tiles inscribed with the name of the 20th legion, a hypocaust or vapour-bath, and other Roman relies have been found at it; and traces of Heran smeeting-works and of two Roman roads are in the neighbourhood. A castle stood at it, on a lofty hill, Trier to the time of Henry II.; was visited by Edward I. and his queen; was soon afterwards burned down by ac-Cleat; and seems to have been rebuilt in 1307. A mutilated circular tower of the castle, and some fragments the walls, still remain. Fairs are held on Shrove-resiav. 17 M v. 12 Aug., and 27 Oct. Caergwrle is a ar agh, under charter from the Black Prince, with government by a mayor and two bailiffs; and unites with glunt and seven other places in sending a member to parliament; but, as a borough, includes Estyn or Hope i working and part of Rhap berfeld. Pop., 844. Houses, CAERGURWAIN, or CAEGWRWAIN, a hamlet in Lingui krasish, Clan. 2 nn; on the verge of the county, at the river Tween, 10 miles N of Neath. Real property, 24,507; of which #22,387 are in mines. Pop., $43.

CAERHUN, or CAER-RHUN, a village and a parish in Conway district, Carnarvon. The village stands on the Conway river, near the Conway and I languest railway, 5 miles S of Conway. It occupies the site of the Roman Conorium; has yielded many Roman relies; and is a pretty place. The parish includes also the townships of pretty place. The parish includes also the townships of Isar-afon, Macn-y-Bardd, Penho, and Rhwng-y-Ddwy-afon; and its post-town is Llaurwst. Acres, 13,402. Real property, £4,687. Pop., 1,314. Honses, 313. The property is divided among a few. The surface comprises mountains, giens, and chasms; and is highly picturesque. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Llanbedr, in the diocesa of Bangor. The church is good; and there are dissenting chapels.

CAERLEON, a small town and a sub-district in New port district, Monnouth. The town is in the parish of Llangattock; and stands on the river Usk, 12 mile N of the South Wales railway, and 24 NE of Newport. It was the Roman Isca Silurum and Isca Colonia, and the capital of Britannia Secunda. Akeman-street went from it to Caerwent and Bath; the maritime Julian way, to Neath and St. Davids; and the mountain Julian way, to Abergavenny, with a branch to Monmonth. The Roman city included a great fortress; and is said to have been superbly built, and about 9 miles in circuit. British city succeeded the Roman one; and was the capital of the Welsh princes who styled themselves kings of Gwent and lords of Caerleon. The court of King Arthur was held here; and a castle was built at the Conquest, and captured by Edward I. Christianity also made a figure here, both in pristine struggles with paganism, and in erecting establishments. Martyrs were slain; a monastery was founded at an early period, and succeeded by an abbey before the time of King John; and a bishop's see was constituted by Dubricius, the opponent of the Arians, and removed by his successor David to Meneira, which then took the name of St. Davids.

The ruins of Caerleon were long very grand. Giraldus Cambrensis, writing more than seven centuries after the Romans left it, says:—"Many remains of its former nagnificence are still visible; splendid palaces which once emulated with their gilded roofs the grandeur of Rome, for it was originally built by the Romau princes, and adorned with stately edifices; a gigantic tower, numerous baths, ruins of temples, and a theatre, the walls of which are partly standing. Here we still see, within and without the walls, subterraneous buildings, aqueducts, and vaulted caverns; and what appeared to me most remarkable, stoves so excellently contrived as to difhise their heat through secret and imperceptible pores.' The buildings have now nearly all perished; but very numerous small relies have been preserved, and some great substructions and mounds remain. A work published by Mr. John E. Lee in 1815 tigures the antiquities in twenty-seven engravings; and a local museum, erected by the Caerleon Antiquarian Association, has a rich collection of the relics. The chief large remaining works are fragments of the walls of the Bonau fortress, 12 feet thick and 1,800 yards in circuit; an oval bank of earth, the vestige of the Roman amphithcatre, 16 feet high and 222 feet by 192: an artificial mound, of doubtful character: 90 feet high and 300 yards round at the base; remains of the castle overhanging the Usk; ruins near the bridge; and a round tower near the old-fashioued inn, the Hanbury Arms. An old tradition regards the amphithcatre as the festival scene of King Arthur and his knights; popular nomenclature calls it King Arthur's Round Table; and the Welsh bards have sung-

"How he first ordain'd the circled board. The knights whose martial dee Is fur-famed that table round Which truest in their loves, which most in arms renowned: The hows which long upheld that Order, they report: The Pentecosts prepard at Caerleon in her court; That table's ancient seat; her temples and her groves, Her palaces, her walls, baths, theatres, and stoves."

The town now consists chiefly of two streets. of the houses are old; and many of them are partly constructed with Roman bricks. The bridge is a handsome modern structure, in room of a curious old wooden one. The market-house is an ancient weather-worn edifice, with four gigantic Tuscan pillars. The church is a hand-some Norman edifice; and there are chapels for Indesome Norman ethice; and there are chaples for Independents, Earthists, and Weslevans, and a free school. The town has a post-ollice; under Newport, Monmoutt, and is a seat of petty sessions. Markets are held on Thursdays; and fairs on the third Wednesday of Feh., 1 May, 20 July, and 21 Sept. There are extensive third works. Fop., 1,263. Houses, 254. The sub-district contains sixteen parishes and part of another. Acres, 51,398. Pop., 7,615. Houses, 1,548. CAERLEON-ULTRA-PONTEM, a hamlet in Christ-

Church parish, Monmonth; on the river Usk, opposite

Caerleon, and suburban to that town.

CAER-LLEON-VAWR. See CHESTER.

CAERMARTHEN. See CARMARTHEN. CAERMARVON. See CARMARTHEN. CAER-ODER. See BRISTOL.

CAER-PALLADWR. See SHAFTESBURY.

CAERPHILLY, a village, a chapelry, a sub-district, and a hundred in Glamorgan. The village is in the hand a numera in Grannogan. The sange is in the handlet tract of Energylyn, in the parish of Egynysilan; and stands on a plain, surrounded by barren mountains, adjacent to the Runner railway, near the Runner river, 7½ miles by road, and 9½ by railway. N by W of Cardiff. It most prohably was founded by the ancient Britons. A monastery early stood at it, dedicated to St. Cnydd; and was burnt, in 831, by the Saxons. A fortalice seems to have been built at it soon after the Conquest; was dismantled, in 1219, by Rhys Vychan; rebuilt in 1221, by John de Brasse; enlarged and strengthened by Ralph Mortimer and Hugh de Spencer; used as a fastness, by the Spencers, for plundering the circumjacent country; made the refuge of Edward II., in his flight from his rebellious barons; sustained then a very vigorous and obstinate siege; was held, in 1400, by Owen Gleadower, but then was "a fortress great in ruins;" and ceased thereafter to be much noticed in history. The ruins of it, now extant, cover an area of 30 zeres; display remarkable magnificence; and include outworks, gateways, towers, a grand hall 7 feet by 30, and a ponderous leaning tower, 80 feet high, much shattered, 10 feet out of the perpendicular, and sapposed to have sustained its injuries from a steam-explosion at the time of the great siege. Tennyson resided sometime in the vicinity; lays the scene of his "Idylls of the King" in the immediate neighbourhood; and seems to refer to the castle in the following lines :-

"All was ruinous: Here stood a shattered archway, plumed with fern; And here has fallen a great part of a tower, Whole, like a crag that tumbles from the cliff, And, like a crag, was gay with wilding flowers."

The village is an irregular assemblage of small houses, contiguous to the eastle. It was formerly a borough; it contiguous to the easter. It was formerly a borongh; it has a post-office‡ under Cardiff, a railway station, and an inn; and it is a seat of petty sessions. Markets are held on Thersdays; and fairs on 5 April, Trinity Thursday, 19 July, 25 Ang., 3 Oct., 16 Nov., and the Thursday before Christmas. Some blanketing and woollen shawls are made; and numerous collieries and iron-works are in the neighbourhood. Pop., with Energlyn, 1,047. Houses, 237.—The chapelry includes all Energlyn and part of Bedwas, and was constituted in 1850. Pop., 1,193. Houses, 264. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Liandad. Value, £300. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Llaudaff. The church is in the later English style; and there are chapels for Baptists, Calvinistic Methodists, and Wesleyans.—The sub-district contains six parishes, and part of another; and is in the district of Cardiff. and part of another; and is in the district of Cardin.
Acres, 27,164. Pop. 10,012. Houses, 2,059.—The hundred contains four parishes, and parts of three others.
Acres, 62,964. Pop., 67,612. Houses, 13,353.
CAERA. See Carra.

CAERRA. See CAIRA. CAER-RHUN. See CAERHUN.

CAERSEDDFAN, a township in Darowen parish.

Montgomery; 6 miles E by N of Machynlleth. Real property, £2,057. Fop., 547. Houses, 108. CAEE-SEGONT. See SILCHLETER. CAEE-SEIONT. See CAINARYON.

CAERSWS, a hamlet in Llanwnog parish, Montgomery; on the Sara-Sws Roman way, the Machynlleth railway, and the river Severn, 5½ miles WNW of Newtown. It has a r. station, a post-office under Shrews bury, and three dissenting chapels. Pop., 342. A Reman station was here, commanding the neighbouring passes; and a camp still exists, enclosing about 4 acres. A farm-house is within the enclosure, and many Roman remains have been found.

CAERVORRAN, a locality on the SW border of Northumberland; on the Roman wall, the Maiden way, and the river Tippal, near Thirlwall eastle and the New-eastle and Carlisle railway, 44 miles WN W of Haltwhistle. It was the Roman Magna on the Wall, -the place of the second Dalmatian cohort; and altars, inscriptions, and other Roman relics have been found.

CAERWENT, a village and a parish in Chepstow district, Monmouth. The village stands on Akeman-street or the Vulian way, 21 miles NW of Portskewet r. station, and 5 WSW of Chepstow; and has a post-office under Chepstow. It was the Venta Silurum of the Romans; and it retains considerable fragments of the fortress walls, 505 yards by 390, and in parts from 9 to 12 feet thick and 20 feet high. Two tesselated pavements, portions of columns and statues, coins of Severus and Gordian III., and other Roman relies have been found. The parish includes also the hamlet of Crick. Acres, 1,952. property, £2,907. Pop., 445. Houses, 83. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Llanvair Discoed, in the diocese of Llandair. Value, £258.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Llandaff. The church has a rich porch, and striking early English areades; was probably built of materials of the Roman city; and is in good condition. There is a Baptist chapel.

There is a naprist caaper.

CAERWYS, a small town and a parish in Holywell district, Flint. The town stands 5 miles SW by W of Holywell r. station, and 6 E of St. Asaph; and has a post-office under Holywell. It is thought to occupy the site of a Roman station; it was the scene of the court of the last Prince Llewellyn; it witnessed Eisteddfodan, or congresses of bards and minstrels, at various periods till 1798; it was the seat of the county assizes till 1672; and it unites with Flint, and other places, in sending a member to parliament; but, as a borough, includes the town-ships of Tre'dre and Tref Edwyn. It comprises four streets, crossing each other in the centre; and has a townhall, a clurch, and three discenting chapels. Markets are held on Tucsdays; and fairs on the 2d Tucsday of Jan., 5 March, the last Tucsday of April, Trinity Thursday, the Tuesday after 7 July, 29 Aug., and 5 Nov. Pop., 637. Houses, 150.—The parish includes also the Foly, oof. Houses, 105.—The parish includes any the townships of Bryngwyn-Usha. Acres, 2,603. Real property, £2,952. Pop., 853. Houses, 208. The manor belongs to Lord Mostyn. Maes-Mynam, the site of the residence of Prince Llewellyn, is SW of the town. A tumnlus is about a mile NE of the town; other tumuli are on the hills to the W; and an ancient camp is on a summit to the N. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, £425. Ba rectory in the enoces of ot. Asspir. I date, 2723.

Patron, the Bishop of St. Asspir. Lloyd, the friend of Pennant, was viear; and Bishop Wynne was a native.

CAER-YN-ARFON. Sec CARNAFON.

CAERYNWOII, the seat of the Richards family, in Merioneth; under Cader-Idris, in the south-eastern viciuity of Dolgelly. The grounds are romantic; and include a series of rapids and cascades about a mile long, accompanied by a declivitous path called the Torrent Walk.

CASAREA. See JERSEY.

CÆSAR'S CAMP, an ancient fortification in Windsor forest, Berks; on an eminence, 3 miles SE of Woking-ham. It has an irregular outline and a double ditch. A Roman road went southward from it across Bagshot CÆSAR'S CAMP, an ancient entrenchment on the confines of Hants and Surrey; on a hill at the western extremity of the North downs, 3 miles W of Aldershot. It has an irregular outline and a triple vallum; was probably formed by the ancient Britons; and may have been occupied by Alfred the Creat in 893.

CAETHYLYD, an old seat of the Morgans in Glamorgan; in Cwm-Clydach, near Neath. It is now a farm-house.

CAINHAM, a parish and a sub-district in Ludlow district, Salop. The parish lies on an affluent of the river Tenne, near the Shrewsbury and Hereford railway, 34 miles ESE of Ludlow. It includes the township of Bennets-End; and its post-town is Luddow. Acres, 2,529. Real property, £3,635. Pop.; 755. Houses, 161. Cainham Court is the seat of the Calcots. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £338.* tron, C. K. Mainwaring, Esq. The p. curacy of Know-bury is a separate benefice. The sub-district contains bury is a separate benefice. The sub-district contains six parishes. Acres, 12, 195. Pop., 2, 227. Houses, 452.

CAINSCROSS, a chaptery in Stonehouse, Stroud, and Randwick parishes, Gloucester; on the Western Union railway, 1 mile W of Stroud. It has a post-office under Stroud. It was constituted in 1837. Pop., 1,916. Houses, 425. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of G. and Eristol. Value, not reported. Patron, Mrs. Croome Thechurch is modern. There is a national school.

CAIRA, CAIRAU, or CAERAU, a parish in Cardiff district, Glamorgan; on the Julian way and the South Wales railway, near St. Fagans station, 31 miles W of Cardiff. Post-town, St. Fagans, under Cardiff. Acres, 746. Real property, £901. Pop., 131. Houses, 26. The property is divided among a few. An ancient camp of about 12 acres is here, and seems to have been British, though often regarded as Roman. The living is a vicarue in the dioces of Llandalf. Zhue, 500, Patron, the Eishop of Llandalf. The church stands within the camp, and is good.

CAISTOR, or CASTOR, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Lincolu. The town stands on the side of a hill, on the Wolds, 4 miles ENE of Moortown r. station, and 7½ SE of Glanford Erigg. It was called by the ancient Britons Caer-Egarry; and by the Saxons Thong-Ceastre. A Roman station was on its site; and a castle was built at it by the Saxon Hengist, Rowand a castle was built at it by the Saxon Hengist. Fowers, the daughter of Hengist, was married here to Vortigern; and Egbert, in S27, here subdued Wiglof, king of Mercia. The town presents a pleasant appearance; is well watered by four springs, called the Cypher-well, the Pigeon-syring, Stot's-well, and the Spa; and has a head post-office, t two banking-offices, two chief inns, a church, the stige when the space state of the special series of the special se three dissenting chapels, a grammar school, a mechanics institute, and a workhouse. The church stands on the site of the ancient castle; is Norman and early English; has a fine tower; contains a brass of 1460; and was re-paired in 1863. The grammar school was founded in 1630; and has £183 a-year from endowment, with an exhibition at Jesus' college, Cambridge. A weekly market is hell on Saturday; fairs for black cattle and horses on the Saturdays before Palm-Sunday, before Whitsunday, before 18 Sept., and after 11 Oct.; and fairs for sheep and horses, on the day before each of these fairs. Pop. 2,141. Houses, 418.—The parish includes the namlets of Audleby, Fonaby, and Hindon, and the chapairies of Clixby and Hoiton-le-Moor. Acres, 6,490. Real property, ±10,388. Pop., 2,348. Houses, 460. The property is divided among a lew. Numerous traces of Roman antiquities exist; and remains of a monastery occur a little east of the town. The living is a vicatage, united with the p. caracies of Clixby and Holton-le-Moor, ir the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £215.* Patron, the Bishop of Lincoln.

The sub-district contains the parishes of Caistor, South Kelsey, North Kelsey, Brocklesby, Keelby, Riby, Limber Magna, Bigby, Somerby, Scarby-with-Ownby, Grisby, Nettleon, Cabeurn, Swallow, Cuxwoll, Bothwell, Croxby, Thorganby, Swinhope, Thorsewoll, Croxby, Thorganby, Swinhope, Thorsewoll, Croxby, Thoracter, Carlotte, Ca way, Claxby, and Normanby-on-the-Wolds, and the extra-parechial tract of Newshim. Acres, 63,811. Pop.,

Houses, 1.811. The district comprehends 9.005. also the sub-district of Great Grimsby, containing the parishes of Great Grimsby, Humberstone, Clee, Scartho, Waltham, Drigsley, Ashby-with-Fenby, Hawerby-with-Beesby, Newton-le-Wold, East Ravendale, Hateliffe, Beelsby, Bardley, Little Coates, Great Coates, Healing, Stallingborough, Immingham, and Habrough; and the sub-district of Market-Rasen, containing the parishes of Market-Rasen, Indidle-Rasen, West-Rasen, Usselby, Walesby, Stainton-le-Vale, Kirmond-le-Mire, Tealby, North Willingham, Sixhills, East Torrington, Legsby, Lissington, Linwood, Buslingthorpe, Newton-by-Toft, Toft-next-Newton, Kirkby-cum-Osgodby, South Owersby, North Owersby, Thornton-le-Moor, Kingerby, Glentham, Bishop-Norton, Smitterby, and Waddingham. Acres, 183,164. Poor-rates in 1866, 213,416. Pop. in 1861, 37,517. Honses, 7,786. Marriages in 1866, 374, births, 1,474,—of which 71 were illegitimate; deaths, 782,—of which 320 were at ages under 5 years, also the sub-district of Great Grimsby, containing the 374; births, 1,474,—of which 71 were illegitimate; deaths, 752,—of which 320 were at ages under 5 years, and 23 at ages above 85 years. Marriages in the ten places of worship in 1851 were 74 of the Cluuch of England, with 11,969 sittings; 3 of Independents, with 566 s.; 2 of Baptists, with 800 s.; 47 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 8,109 s.; 31 of Primitive Methodists, with 3,455 s.; and 3 of Roman Catholics, with 359 s. The schools were 38 public day schools, with 2,260 scholars; of private day schools, with 2,260 scholars; and 10 from 10 92 private day schools, with 1,955 s.; 74 Sunday schools, with 4,407 s.; and I evening school for adults, with 4 s.
CAISTOR CANAL, a cut, 4 miles long, in Lincoln;
eastward from the river Ancholme to Moortown, in South

Relsey parish, 3½ miles SW of Caiston.

CAISTOR-NEXT-YARMOUTH, a village and a parish in Flegg district, Norfolk. The village stands on the coast, near the river Eure, 2½ miles N of Yarmouth; is supposed, by some antiquaries, to occupy the site of is supposed, by some anadatries, to occupy the site of the Romau Garianonum; has a post-office, of the name of Caistor, under Yarmouth; and is a coast-guard station. The parish comprises 2,822 acres of land and 215 of water. The parish comprises 2,852 acres of north and 215 of water. Real property, £7,200. Pop., 1,203. Houses, 298. The property is much subdivided. A strong meated castle was built, about a mile from the village, in the 15th century, by Sir John Fastoll, a native, the capturer of John II. of France, sometimes mistaken for the Fall of the capturer of John II. staff of Shakspeare; and a lofty round tower and part of the north and west walls are still standing. An ancient free chapel stood on the manor as early as the time of Edward I.; and was erected into a college for seven monks or priests, either by Sir John Fastolt or by one of his successors; and some remains of it exist near the castle rains. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £942. Patron, the Rev. G. W. Steward. The church is decorated and later English, and and the church is deformed and later English, and has a lofty square tower. There was formerly another church, with parochial jurisdiction, called St. Edmunds; but only a part of the tower remains. There are a chapel of case, three Methodist chapels, a reading-room, a national school, and charities £97.

CAISTOR-ST. EDMUNDS, a small village and a parish in Henstead district, Norfolk. The village stands on the river Tees, near the Eastern Union railway, 3 miles south of Norwich. The Venta-leenorum of the Romans, their principal station in the country of the Iceni, was here; and Roman roads went hence to Brancaster, Cromer, Burgh-Castle, Dunwich, Bury, Cambridge, Colchester, and London. Substructions or traces of Roman buildings occur over an area of 30 acres; and Roman urns, bronzes, numerous coins, and other relies have been found. Ancient Norwich is believed to have been built of materials from the Roman structures here; and hence the old rhyme, -

"Chistor was a city when Norwich was none, And Norwich was built of Caistor stone."

The perish comprises 1,014 acres; and its post-town is The property is divided among a fw. Caistor Hall is the seat of Mrs. H. Dashwood. The living is. rectory, united with the sinecure rectory of Markshall, in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £447.* Patron, Mrs. H. Dashwood. The church stands within the old Roman enclosure, and has a few Roman bricks in its masonry. Charities, £42

CAISTRON, a township in Rothonry parish, Northumberland; on the river Coquet, 41 miles W of Rothbury.

Acres, 400. Pop., 41. Houses, 9.
CAIUS COLLEGE. See CAMBRIDGE.

CAKEHAM, a manor in West Wittering parish, Sussex; on the east side of Chichester harbour, 6} miles SW of Chichester. A palace of the Bishops of Chichester formerly stood here; and a lefty brick hexagonal tower connected with it, and built in the early part of the 16th century by Bishop Sherborne, still stands.

CAKEMORE, a township in Halesowen parish, Worgester; on the verge of the county, 4 miles E of Stour-

CALBECK. See CALDBECK. CALBOURNE, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in the Isle of Wight. The village stands 5 miles WSW of Newport; and has a post-office under Newport. parish includes also Newtown borough; and extends from Brixton Down to the Selent. Acres, 6,397; of which 265 are water. Real property, £4,471. Pop., 723. Heuses, 145. The property is divided among a few. Westover manor belonged to the Esturs; passed to the Lisles and the Holmeses; and belongs now to the eldest Lisles and the Holmeses; and belongs now to the chaeses on of Lord Heytesbury, in right of his wife, the daughter of the late Sir Leonard W. Holmes. The house on it is modern; and the grounds are tasteful. Calbourne Bottom, 1 in ESSW of the village, is a depression between Brixton and Moltestone down. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Newtown, in the discoses of Winchester. Value, £675.* Patron, the Bishop of Winchester. The church is early English, much modernized; and has a brass of 1480.—The sub-district contains eight parishes. Acres, 25,050. Pop., 5,417. Houses, 1,071.

CALCARIA. See TADCASTER.

CALCEBY, a parish in Spilsby district, Lincoln; 42 miles W of Alford r. station. Post-town, Alford. Acres, 618. Real property, £933. Pop., 66. Houses, 12. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of South Ormsby, in the diocess of Lincoln. The church is in ruins.

CALCETHORPE, a parish in Louth district, Lincoln; 6 miles W by N of Louth r. station. Post-town, Louth. Acres, 1,088. Real property, £1,463. Pop., 84. Houses, The living is a sinecure rectory in the diocese of Value, not reported. Patron, the Lord Chan-

The church is in ruins.

CALCEWORTH, a hundred or wapentake in the parts of Lindsey, Lincoln; cut into the divisions of marsh and weld. The marsh division contains Aby parish and twenty-three other parishes. Acres, 37,812. The wold division contains Alfred parish, and fitteen other parishes. Acres, 26,248. Pop. of both, 13,972. Houses, 2,921. CALCOT, a township in Holywell parish, Flint, 2 miles S of Holywell. Pop., 170.

CALCOTT. See BIOTON, Salop. CALCOTT-PARK, a seat in Berks; on Holybrook, 3 miles WSW of Reading. It belonged to John Kendrick, who begueathed £7,500 to build the Oracle at Reading; was the scene of the romantic marriage of his descendant, "the Berkshire lady," to Benjamin Child; and belongs now to Colonel Plagrave.

CALCUTT, a hamlet in Lower Heyford parish, Oxford; 51 miles WNW of Bicester. Pop., 146.

CALDBECK, a village, three townships, a parish, a sub-district, a range of fells, and a river, in Cumberland. The village stands on the river, at the foot of the fells, 61 miles S by W of Curthwaite r. station, and 73 SSE of Wigton; and has a post-office under Wigton. It was founded, along with an hospital, soon after the Koman conquest, by D'Eugaine, forester of Inglewood, for the protection of travellers. It has a scattered character, along a rambling vale; yet looks pleasing and even pic-turesque. A number of its inhabitants are employed in different kinds of manufactures .- The three townships are Low Caldbeck, High Caldbeck, and Caldbeck-Halrcliff; and they meet at the village, and are in the district cm; and they meet at the vinage, and are in the district of Wigton. Real property of Low C, £2,645; of High C, £2,852; of C. Haltcliff, £2,662. Pop. of Low C, 675; of High C, 213; of C. Haltcliff, 521. Houses, in Low C, 159; in High C, 57; in C. Haltcliff, 151.—The parish includes also the township of Moscdale, in the district of Penrith. Acres, 24,230. Pop., 1,560. Houses, 342. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged to the Lucys, the Percys, the Dalstons, and the Whartons; and belongs now to the representatives of the late Earl of Egremont. Caldbeck House was the seat of the Backhouse family; and Woodhall was the seat of George Fox, the founder of Quakerism. About 13,000 acres are on the fells, and available only for sheep pasture. The living is a rectory in the dioceso of Carlisle. Value, £600.* Patron, the Bishop of Carlisle. The church dates from 1112, but has been modernized, and is good. There are a Quaker meeting-house, a Wesleyan chapel, and a free school -The sub-district contains the three Caldbeck townships, and five parishes in Wigton district. Acres, 60,767. Pop., 5,197. Houses, 1,067. -The fells are a north-eastern off-hoot of the Skiddaw They culminate on High Pike, at an altitude of 2,101 feet above the level of the sea; have a bleak, wild, moorish character; and afford limestone, copper, lead, bismuth, melybdena, and tungsten.—The river rises on the fells, and runs 7 miles north-eastward to the Caldaw, of a mile north of Hesket-Newmarket. Both this stream and the Caldew, at places near the village. make great descents, and are everlung by remantic scenery. A deep fall called the Howk, occurs beneath a scenery. A deep fall called the Howk, occurs beneath a natural bridge of limestone rock; another fall goes 60 feet over a precipice into a deep rocky hollow, called the Kettle; and a dark, shaggy ravine at one of the falls con-

Rectify and a carty snaggy raving at one of the rairs contains a wild cavern, 18 yards long, called the Fairy Kink.
CALDBRIDGE, or CALDBERGH, a township in Coverham parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 3 miles SW of Middleham. It contains the hamlet of East Scrafton. Acres, 2,734.

Real property, £827. Pop., 97. Houses, 19. CALDECOT, a parish in Swaitham district, Norfolk; Calibreto 1, a parish in Swan and district, Softwar, 4 miles NE of Stoke-Ferry, and of Sw of Swaffhan r. station. Post-town, Stoke-Ferry, under Brandon. Acres, 930. Real property, £357. Pop., 39. Honses, 6. The living is a sinecure rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £6. Patron, Sir H. R. P. Bedingfield, Bart.

CALDECOTE, a parish in Caxton district, Cambridge; on an alluent of the river Cam, 31 miles ESE of Caxton, on an allinent of the river cem, of naises Edge of Cancon, and 63 SW of Histon r, station. Post-town, Canton, under Royston. Acres, 833. Real property, 21,026. Pop., 93. Houses, 22. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Toft, in the diocese of Elv. The church is good.

a few. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Toft, in the diocese of Ely. The church is good. CALDECOTE, a narish in the district of Peterborough, and county of Huntingdon; 1½ mile WSW of Stilton, and 4 W of Holmer, station. Post-town, Stilton, under the county of the Peterborough. Acres, 778. Real property, £1,104. Pop., 70. Honses, 14. The property is divided among rob., 70. Houses, 14. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged, in the 13th century, to the Hallidays. The living is a remory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £156. Patron, W. Wells, Esq. The church is good.

CALDECOTE, a hamlet in Towcester parish, North-ampton; 2 miles N of Towcester. Pon., 98. CALDECOTE, a parish in Nuneaton district, Warwick;

CALDECOTE, a parish in Nuseaton district, Warwick; on the Coventry canal and the Trent Valley railway, 24 miles NNW of Nuseaton. Post-town, Nuseaton. Acres, 686. Real property, £1,788. Fop., 130. Honses, 21. The property is divided among a few. Caldecote Itall was defended by the Abbots against Primes Rupert; and passed to the Lemmings. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £155. Patron, K. Fenton, Esq. The church is good.

CALDECOTT. a township in Shocklach parish. Che-CALDECOTT. a township in Shocklach parish.

ton, Leaf, The cunter is good.

CALDECOTT, a township in Shocklach parish, Cheshire; near the river Dee, 5] miles NW of Malpas, Acres, 430. Real property, 51,043. Pop, 66. Houses, 11.

CALDECOTT, a parish in Hitchin district, Herts: on the verge of the county, near lcknield-street, 31 miles N

by W of Baldock r. station. Post-town, Newnham, under Baldock Acres, 318. Real property, £484. Pop., Ander Bandock Acres, 515. Real property, 2752. 10p., 42. Houses, 11. The property is all in one estate. Roman urns have been found. The living is a rectory in the dicesse of Rochester. Value, 275. Patron, C. C. Hale, Esq. The church was reported in 1859 to need CALDECOTT, a hamlet in Chelveston parish, North-amoton: 2 miles E of Higham-Ferrars. Pop., 101.

CALDECOTT, a parish in Uppingham district, Rut-land; on the rivers Eye and Welland, and on the Syston and Paterborough railway, adjacent to Rockingham station, 41 miles S of Uppingham. Post-town, Rockingham. under Leicester. Acres, 1,440. Real property, £2,540. Pop., 346. Houses, 73. The living is a vicarage annexed to the rectory of Liddington, in the diocese of The church is good. Peterborough.

CALDECOTT, Monmouth and Beds. See CALDICOTT. CALDER (THE), a stream of Cumberland. It rises in Coreland forest, near Ennerdale water; and runs 9 miles south-south-westward, between Cold fell and Ponsonby fell, and past Calder Abbey and Calder Bridge, to the sea near Sellafield r. station.

CALDER (THE), a stream of Lancashire. It rises on the eastern border of the county, E of Burnley; and runs 15 miles west-north-westward, through the north-eastern part of Blackburn district, to the river Ribble, a little telow Whallev.

CALDER (THE), a stream of Lancashire. It rises on Calder fell, on the east border of the county, and runs 6 miles south-westward to the Wyre, near Garstang.

CALDER (THE), a river of Lancashire and W. R. Yorkshire. - It rises at Cliviger dean, among the backbone mountains, not far from Burnley; and runs about 45 miles eastward, exclusive of numerous windings, past Tolinorien, Sowerby, Rastrick, and Wakefield, to the Aire at Castleford. It first traverses a moorish region, and then flows through picturesque and populous tracts, and increasing ornarure and industry. It is followed, down much of its descent, by the Manchester and Leeds rellway: and is connected with various canals, which give water communication between the eastern and the western seas, from Liverpool to Hull.

CALDER-BRIDGE, a village and a chapelry in Ponsorby parish, Cumberland. The village stands on the Soloy parish, Cumberiand. The vinage stands on the Caller river, 14 mile NNE of Sellafield r. station, and 4 SE by Sol Egremont; and has a post-office under White-haven, and two inns. The chapelry includes the village; and is a p. curacy, annexed to Beckermet-St. Bridget, in the direcese of Carlisle. The church was built in 1842. and is a cruciform structure, in the early English style, with a rinnacled tower. Ponson'ry Hall, the seat of J. E. Stanley, Esq., is in the southern vicinity of the village; and Caller Abbey, the seat of Captain Irwin, adjoins abbey-rains, on the left bank of the river, about a mile arore. The abbey was founded, in 1134, by Ranulph, sexual Earl of Chester, for Cistertian monts; became a dependency of the abbey of Furness; and was given, at the dissolution, to Thomas Leigh. A large portion of its church, in mingle! Norman and early English, with the central tower, and richly robel in parasitic plants, still Vestiges of a Roman camp are on the opposite side of the river.

CALDERBROOK. See BLATCHINWOLTH.

CALDERVALE, a chapelry in Churchtown or Garstang parish, Lancashire; near the Lancaster and Preston railway, 4 miles NW of Garstang. It has a post-office The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester.

Value not reported. Patrons, the Vicar of Churchtown value not reported.

and H. Gernet, Eq., The church was built in 1862.

CALDEW (THE), a river of Cumberland. It rises on the fast brow of Skiddaw: receives headstreams from Lar east from of Skindray, receives newstreams from Sellllerack and the Caldock fells; and runs about 25 miles, northen ortheastward, past Heskett-Newmarket, Sebergham, Houghton-Head, Rose Castle, Dalston, and Commercials, to the Elen at Carlisle. It receives the Callibrak river mar Hesket-Newmarket; makes the Hockfall in the vicinity of the influx of that stream; and runs under ground, about 4 miles, from Holt Close Bridge to Spout's Dub. See CALDBECK.

CALDEWGATE, a township in St. Mary-Carlisle parish, Cumberland; on the Caldew river, within Carlisle city. Acres, 1,564. Pop., 9,732. Houses, 1,563. See CARLISLE.

CALDEY. See CALDY.

CALDICOTT, a village, a parish, a stream, a level, and a hundred in Monmouth. The village stands on the stream, near the South Wales railway and the estuary of the Severn, 1½ mile W of Portskewet r. station, and 5 SW of Chepstow; and has a post-office under Chepstow. The parish is in Chepstow district; and comprises 1,938 acres of land, and 1,220 of water. Real property, £3,171. Pop., 579. Houses, 136. The property is subdivided. The land is part of the low flat tract of Caldicott level. A stately castle-ruin, with round towers, remarkable for the excellence of its masonry, partly Norman, but mostly late decorated English, stands adjacent to the village. The castle belonged to the Bohuns; passed to the Duke of Gloucester; and was annexed, by Henry VIII., to the duchy of Lancaster. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £240. Patron, M. H. Noel, Esq. The church is ancient and good: consists of nave, chancel, and aisles, with a bold tower; and has decorated cinquefoils in the chancel. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £17. The stream bears the name of Caldicott Pill; rises in Wentwood chase, within 21 miles of the Usk; and runs 7 miles south-south-eastward to the estuary of the Severn at Portskewet. The level lies along the Severn estuary and the Bristol channel; extends about 11 miles to the month of the Usk; was at one time subject to continual inundation; was drained and brought into cultivation, by the monks of Goldcliff; and is now a rich-grazing tract. The hundred is cut into two divisions, Higher and Lower. The Higher div. contains Caldicott parish, twelve other parishes, and part of another. Acres, 27,950. The Lower div. contains Gold-cliff parish, and sixteen other parishes. Acres, 53,000.

Pop. of both, 13,624. Houses, 2,741.
CALDICOTT, Huntingdon, &c. See CALDICOTE, Carbon and Upresh, two hamlets in Northill parish, Beds., 1½ mile NW of Biggleswade.

Pop., 591. Houses, 127. CALDON CANAL, a canal in the NW of Staffordshire. It commences near Apedall Hall; goes south-south-eastward, past Newcastle-under-Lyne, to Handford; and deflects thence to the Grand Trunk canal, at Stoke-upon-Trent.

CALDRON SNOUT, a remarkable waterfall on the river Tees, a few miles below its source, near the meeting-point of Westmoreland, Durham, and Yorkshire.

CALDWELL, a township in St. John-Stanwick parish, CALDWELL, a town-sinp in St. John-Stanwick parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on an affilient of the river Tess, 8 miles N of Richmond. Acres, 2,000. Real property, £2,102. Pop., 162. Houses, 34.

CALDWELL, Leicester. See Caudowell.
CALDWELL, Derrey. See Caudowell.
CALDY, a township in West Kirby parish, Cheshire; on the estuary of the Dee, 63 miles NW of Great Neston.

Acres, 2,102; of which 1,355 are water. Real property, i.160. Pop., 147. Houses, 22. CALDY ISLAND, or lars-Pyr, an extra-parochial island in the district and county of Pembroke; near Giltar-head, on the SW side of Carmarthen bay, 2½ miles S of Tenby. Its length is about a mile; and its area, 462 acres. Pop., with St. Margaret's Island, 73. Houses, 16. Upwards of one-third is in good cultivation; and limestone is found. A priory was founded here, in the time of Henry I., by Robert de Tours, and made a cell to Dogmaels abbey; and some remains of it, including the church tower, still exist. The residence of C. Kynaston, Esq., the proprietor of the island, adjoins the ruins. Several islets and shoals are adjacent to the coast; a lighthouse, built in 1829, showing a fixed light, partly bright and partly red, at a height of 210 feet, is on the south side; and there is good anchorage on the north.

CALE (THE), a stream of Somerset and Derset. It rises near Wincanton; and runs about 12 miles southward, along the vale of Blackmoor, to the river Stour, near Sturminster.

CALEDONIAN RAILWAY, a railway in Cumberland; commencing in a junction with the Carlisle and Lancaster, the Carlisle and Newcastle, the Carlisle and Maryport, and the Carlisle and Silloth railways at Carlisle, and going north-north-westward to the boundary with Scotland at Gretna. It proceeds, in Scotland, to a central point, at Carstairs junction; sends off thence main lines to Edinburgh and Glasgow; and ramifies to Biggar, Lanark, towards Stirling, and in other directions.

CALEDONIAN ROAD, a street in the NW of London, leading out from King's Cross and Pentonville to the model prison and the new cattle market, and crossed by the North London railway. It has a station on the railway

CALEHILL, a seat, a sub-district, and a hundred in ent. The seat is in Little Chart parish, 5 miles WNW Kent. of Ashford; and has belonged to the Darell family since the time of Henry IV. The sub-district is in West Ashford district; and contains Little Chart parish, and five other parishes. Acres, 22,535. Pop., 5,311. Houses, 1,007. The hundred is in the lathe of Shepway, and conterminate with the sub-district.

CALF-FELL, a mountain on the confines of Yorkshire and Westmoreland; in the neighbourhood of Sedbergh. A fine waterfall, called Cantley Spout, occurs on its skirt.

See CAUTLEY.

CALF OF MAN, an islaud in Rushen parish, Isle of Man; near the south-western extremity of the main island. 6 miles SW by W of Castletown. It is about 4 island, 6 miles SW by W of Castletown. miles in circuit; has cliffs upwards of 400 feet high; swarms with sea fowls and rabbits; is partly under good culture; and belongs to the Careys. Pop., 25. Two lighthouses are on ut, erected in 1818, 560 feet apart, with revolving lights 305 and 396 feet high.

CALGARTH, a seat on the east side of Windermere, 31 miles SSE of Ambreside, in Westmoreland. It was built and occupied by Bishop Watson of Llandaff.

CALIFORNIA, a station on the Epsom Downs railway, in Surrey; between Sutton and Banstead. CALKE, or CAULK, a parish in the district of Ashby-CALKL, or CALK, a parisn in the district of Ashby-de-la-Zouch and county of Derby; on the SE verge of the county, 4 miles N of Ashby-de-la-Zouch r. station. Post-town, Ticknall, under Derby. Acres, 850. Real property, £957. Pop., 78. Houses, 14. An Angustinan priory was founded here, in 1160, by the Countess of Chester; a mansion on the site of the priory, and all statistics of the priory and country of the priory of the prior of the prior of the priory of the prior called Calke-Abbey, was erected, in the early part of last century, by Sir John Harpur; and this is now the seat of Sir J. H. Crewe, Bart. The living is a donative in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £34. Patron, Sir J. H. Crewe, Bart. The church was built in 1826; is a handsome Gothic edifice, with a square tower; and contains a fine monument to the Harpurs.

CALKERTON, a tything in Rodmarton parish, Gloucester; 31 miles NE of Tetoury. Pop. 145.

CALLALEY AND YETHINGTON, a township in Whittingham parish, Northumberland; 5 miles N by W of Rothbury. Acres, 3,970. Pop., 261. Houses, 51. Callaler Hall is the seat of the Caverings; and includes some portions of an old castle. Callaley crag is crowned with remains of a Roman entrenchment.

CALLAUGHTON, a township in Much Wenlock parish, Salop; 2 miles S of Much Wenlock. Pop., 149.

CALLERTON (BLACK.) See BLACK CALLERTON. CALLERTON (HIGH), a township in Ponteland and Newborn parishes, Northumberland; 7 miles NW by N of Newcastle-upon-Tyne. Acres, 798. Pop., 97. Houses, 23. CALLERTON (LITTLE), a township in Ponteland parish, Northumberland; near High Callerton. Acres, 573. Pop., 20. Houses, 5.

CALLESTICK, a locality 5 miles from Truro, in Cornwall; with a post-office under Truro.

CALLEVA. See Silchester.

CALLINGTON, formerly Kellington, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district in Liskeard district, Cornwall. The town stands on a gentle acclivity, near the river Lynner, 6 miles N of St. Germans r. station, and 11 S of Launceston. It consists chiefly of one broad street, of Launceston. It consists chiefly of one broad street, irregularly built; is a seat of petty sessions, and a polling-place; and has a head post-office, $\frac{1}{2}$ (designated Callington, Conrwall.) two banking-offices, a hotel, a church, two dissenting chapels, a literary institution, and a free school. The church was built, on the site of a previous one, in 1400; is perpendicular English; was restored in 1859; and contains a very curious old Norman font, and an elaborate monument to Lord Willoughby de Broke. A fine gabled sculptured cross is in the church-yard. Many of the inhabitants are minors. A weekly market is held on Wednesday; and fairs on the second Thursday of March and Nov., and on the first Thursday of May and after 19 Sept. The town was made a borough in the time of Elizabeth; and sent two members to parliament, till disfranchised by the act of 1832.-The parish comprises 2,492 acres. Real property, £6,962; of which £700 are in mines. Pop. 2,202. Houses, 347. The manor belonged to successively the Champernounes, the Ferrers, the Dennises, the Brokes, and others. thill, about 2 miles N of the town, consists of granite, is 1,067 feet high; and commands an extensive view. Stream tin and copper ore are worked. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Southill, in the dioceso of Exeter .- The sub-district contains six parishes. Acres, 8,984. Pop., 8,899. Houses, 1,595. CALLIS-COURT and CALLIS-GRANGE, a hamlet and a tything in St. Peter parish, Thanet, Kent; 2 miles

N of Ramsgate.

CALLIVER, BERRACH, AND BRYNGWYNE, a conjoint hamlet in Llanfihangel-Aberbythych parish, Carmarthen, near Llandeilofawr. Pop., 267.

CALLOES. See KELLAWAYS.

CALLOES. See Kellaways.
CALLOW, a township in Wirksworth parish, Derby;
2 miles SW of Wirksworth. Real property, £1,801.
Pop., 91. Houses, 16.
CALLOW, a parish in the district and county of Hereford; 2 miles E of Tram Inn r. station, and 4 S by W of Hereford. Post-town, Hereford. Acres, 621. Real property, £486. Pop., 137. Houses, 30. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Dewsall, in the diocese of Hereford. The church is tolerable.

CALLOW . DOWN, an eminence 2 miles SW of Princes Rishorough, in Bucks. -

CALLOW-HILL, an eminence, 5 miles SE of Bromsgrove, in Worcester.

CALLWEN, or GLYNTAWE, a chapelry in DevynLock parish, Brecon. Pop., 99. Living, a p. ciracy. Value, £80. CALMSDEN, a tything in North Cerney parish, Gloucester; 44 miles NNE of Cirencester. Pop., 65.

CALNE, a town, a parish, a sub-district, a district, and a hundred in Wilts. The town stands on the rivulet Marlan, at the end of a branch railway from the Great Wostern, and of a branch canal from the Wilts and Berks, 51 miles E by S of Chippenham. Its environs are a fine mixture of dale and hill; and adjoin, on the SW, the Marquis of Lansdowne's seat of Bowood. It rose originally from the ruins of a Roman station; dates from the Saxon times; and was the scene of the synod, in 977, at which St. Dunstan presided, for settling the disputes respecting the celibacy of the clergy: when all present, except the president, went down by the falling in of the floor. is a quaint old place, with small stone houses, either weather-worn or white-washed; and consists of one long chief street, and a few minor ones, all narrow, and paved with peobles. It had an hospital se early as the time of Henry 111.; and has now a post-office; under Chippentwo banking-offices, three chief inns, a town-hall, a parish church, a chapel of ease, five dissenting clapels, a free school, and a workhouse. The church is a parsa cauren, a chapter of class, it.

pels, a free school, and a workhouse. The church is early Leglish, with traces of Norman; has a pinnacled
early Leglish, with traces of Norman; has a pinnacled that higher and was recently restored. The tower, is feet high; and was recently restored. The chapel of the Free Christians was creeted in 1868, and is a structure of some chegance. The free school was founded in 1660, by John Lentley; and has an endowed income of £51, with two scholarships at Queen's college, Oxford. The workhouse is at Northfield, and cost about £5,000. A large cloth trade was formerly carried on, but has become nearly extinct. There are now flour-mills, flax-mills, and paper-mills. A weekly market is held on Wednesday; and fairs on 6 May and 29 Sept. The town is a borough by prescription; is governed by a mayor, four aldermen, and twelve councillors; sent two members to parliament, from the time of Richard II. till the act of 1832; and now sends one. Its municipal limits comprise only 800 acres; while its purliamentary limits comprise all Calne parish, and parts of Blackland and Calstone-Wellington parishes. Direct taxes, £3,038. Electors in 1868, 175. Pop. of the m. borough, 2,494; of the p. borough, 5,179. Houses in the m. borough, 501; in the p. borough, 1,105.

The parish comprises, in addition to the m. borough, the tythings of Blackland, Calstone, Eastmeal-street, Quemerford, Stock, Stockley, Studley, Whetham, Whitley, and part of Beversbrook. Acres, 8,079. Real property, exclusive of the part of Beversbrook, £25,074. Pop., 5,098. Houses, 1,087. The manor was given by Edward L to the Cantilupes; and passed to the Zouches. The living is a vicerage united with the clearly of The living is a vicarage, united with the chapelry of Trinity, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £709.* Patron, the Bishop of Salisbury. The vicarage of Christchurch at Derryhill, is a separate benefice.-The sub-district and the district are co-extensive; and contain sub-district and the district are co-extensive; and contain the parishes of Calne, Blackland, Calstone-Wellington, Bremhill, Heddington, Cherhill, Compton-Basset, Hill-marton, Highway, and Yatesbury, and the liberty of Bowood. Acres, 28,610. Poor-rates in 1866, 28,028. Pop. in 1881, 8,385. Houses, 1,929. Marriages in 1866, 72; births, 278,—of which 9 were llegitimate; deaths, 142,-of which 36 were at ages under 5 years, and 5 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 642; births, 2,651; deaths, 1,788. The places of worship in 1851 were 11 of the Church of England, with 2,186 sittings; 1 of Independents, with 150 s.; 5 of Baptists, with 825 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 160 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 633 s.; 3 of Primitive Methodists, with 418 s.; 1 of Moravians, with 200 s.; and I of Brethren, with 100 s. The schools were 14 public day schools, with 1,270 scholars; 12 private day schools, with 251 s.; 13 Sunday schools, with 1,282 s.; and I evening school for adults, with 40 s.—The hundred contains eight parishes and a liberty. Acres, 19,083. Pop., 4,297.

Houses, 972.
CALNE RAILWAY, a railway in Wilts; 51 miles long, eastward from the Great Western at Chippenham, to Calne. It was authorized in May 1860; and opened in November 1863.

CALOW, a township in Chesterfield qurish, Derby; 2 miles E of Chesterfield. Real property, £1,844. Pop., 375. Coal is worked. There are a chapel of case of 1867, CALSHOT-CASTLE, and a national school.

CALSHOT-CASTLE, an extra-parochial tract in New Forest district, Hants; at the W side of the mouth of Southampton water, 7 miles SSE of Southampton. Pop., Houses, 6. A castle here was one of the numerous small forts built by Henry VIII., for protecting the south coast; and is now a dwelling house. A lighthouse is here, with a fixed light, bright and red; and a light-vessel, called the Calshot-Spit light, is in the neighbourhood; with a minute revolving light. Calshot-Castle is also a coast-guard station.

CALSTOCK, a village and a parish in Liskeard district, Cornwall. The village stands on the river Tamar, near the Taristock cand, 54 miles WNW of Horrabridge r. station, and 6 SW of Tavistock; is a sub-port to Plymouth; and has a post-officer under Tavistock, and an inn. The parish comprises 6, 133 acres. Real property, 214.233; of which £4,173 are in mines, £30 in quarries, and £50 in fisheries. Pop., 7,090. Houses, 1,277. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged to the duchy of Cornwall; Calstock House is an old mansion, the sect of the Earl of Mount-Edgeunthe; and Harrywood House is the seat of Sir W. Trelawny, Bart. Porphyritic elvan, called Roborough stone, is quarried; granite abounds; and tin, copper, manganese, and leaf ores have been mined. The living is a rectory in the dioness of Exeter. Value, 2510. Patron, the Prince of Wales.

The church is a granite structure, with a lofty pinnacled tower; and contains the vault of the Edgeumbes, and monuments to Pearse Edgcumbe and the Countess of Sandwich. There is a Baptist chapel. Blackburn, Archbishop of York, was rector.

341

CALSTONE, a tything in Calne parish, Wilts; near Calne. Pop., 219.
CALSTONE WELLINGTON, or CALSTONE WILLINGTON, a parish in Calne district, Wilts; on the Roman road from Bath, near Wans Dyke, 24 miles SE of Calne It has a post-office under Chippenham. Real property, £1,945. Pop., 36. Houses, r. station. Acres, 308. 9. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to the Centilupes and the Zouches; and passed to the Lords Willington. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £192.* Patron, the Mardiocese of Salisbury. Value, £192. Patron, the Marquis of Lansdowne. The church was reported in 1859 to need repair.

CALTEGEA, a township in Llanfwrog parish, Denbigh; near Ruthin.
CALTHORPE, a parish in Aylsham district, Norfolk; on an affluent of the river Bure, 23 miles W of the line of an annuent of the river bure, 23 mines w of the most of the projected railway to Cromer, 33 N of Aysham, and 15 EN E of Elmham r. station. Post-town, Aylsham, under Norwich. Acres, 1,048. Real property, 25,323. Pop., 187. Houses, 44. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £143.* Patron, Sir W. Foster, Eart. The church is good; and there are charities £43.

CALTHORPE, a hamlet in Neithrop township, Ban-bury parish, Oxford; in the north-western vicinity of Banbury.

CALTHORPE, Leicester. See CATTHORPE.

CALTHWAITE, a township in Hesket-in-the-Forest parish, Cumberland; on the river Petterill, and the Lanparisi, cumoriand; on the river Fetterili, and the Lancaster and Carlisle railway, 71 miles NNW of Penrith. It has a station on the railway. Acres, 1,876. Real property, £1,790. Pop., 269. Houses, 48: CALTON, three townships, a chapelry, and a subdistrict, in the district of Ashborne and county of Stational Park Stationary Calzenia Nacidal Conference on the Calzenia Nacidal Conference (Stationary Nacidal Conference Calzenia Nacidal Conference Calzenia Nacidal Conference (Stationary Nacidal Conference Calzenia Nacidal Conference Calzenia Nacidal Conference Calzenia Nacidal Conference (Stationary Nacidal Conference Calzenia Nacida Calzenia Naci

Stafford. The townships are Calton-in-Mayfield, Calton-in-Blore, and Calton-in Waterfall; they lie in three several parishes, designated in their respective names; and they are contiguous to one another, at a point 21 miles W of the river Dove, 41 ENE of Froghall r. station, and w of the river Dove, 44 ENE of Froghall r. station, and 54 NW by Wof Ashborne. Acres of the three, 2,450. Real property, £1,911. Pop. of C.-in-M., 70; of C.-in-E., 72; of C.-in-W., 65. Houses of C.-in-M., 17; of C.-in-B., 11; of C.-in-W., 13. The chaplety includes also a detached part of Crowlen parish; and its post-town is Ashborne. The higher than Advantage in the 23-in-Control of No. tached part of Croxden parish; and its post-town is Ash-borne. The living is a donative in the diocese of Lich-field. Value, £85. * Patron, the Vicar of Mayfiell. Fairs are held on 15 Aug. and 20 Sept.—The sub-district contains eight parishes, parts of three other parishes, such an extra-parochial tract. Acres, 17,689. Pop., 3,036.

Houses, 618.
CALTON, a township in Kirkby-in-Malham-Dale parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on an affluent of the river Aire, near the Midland railway, 7 miles SE by E of Settle. Acres, 1,730. Real property, £1,286. Pop., 56. Houses, 12. General Lambert, one of the parliamentarian leaders in the civil wars, was a native.

CALVELEY, a township in Bunbury parish, Cheshire; on the Chester canal, adjacent to the Chester and Crewe railway, 8 miles W by N of Crewe. It has a station on the railway: and it forms a currey with Bunbury. Acres, 1,517. Real property, $2,502. Pop., 285. Houses, 48. The manor belonged to Sir Hugh Calveley, the "glory of Cheshire;" and belongs now to the Davenports.

"glory of Cheshrie;" and belongs how to the Pavenpors. CALVER, a township in Bakewell parish, Derby; on the river Derwent, 4 miles N by E of Bakewell. It has a post-office under Sheffield. Real property, 21,510. Pop., 617. Houses, 120. The inhabitants are chiefly lime-burners and cotton-spinners; and there are extensive cutton-mills.

CALVERHALL, or Corra, a chapelry in Press parish, Salop: 31 miles ENE of Press r. station, and 44 SE of Wintchurch. Post-town, Press, under Shrewsburg. Rated property, £2,518. Pop., 279. Houses, 51. The property is divided among a few. The chapelry was constituted in 1858. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £83.* Patron, John W.

The church is recent and Gothic.

CALVERLEIGH, a parish in Tiverton district, Devon; in the vicinity of the Western canal, 21 miles NW von; in the vicinity of the Western canal, 24 miles N w of Tiverton r. station. Post-town, Tiverton. Acres, 501. Real property, £374. Pep., 86. Houses, 17. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged, from the time of King John till that of Henry VIII., to the Calwoedleys; and belongs now to J. C. Nagle, Esq. The living is a rectory in the dieces of Exeter. Value, £161. Patren, G. W. Owen, Esq. The church is the deep cond with a law twenty that the control of the conditions of the Value, 2101. Tatron, G. W. Owen, Esq. The church is old and good, with a low turreted tower.

CALVERLEY, a village, a township, a sub-district, and a parish, in Bradford district, W. R. Yerkshire. The village stands adjacent to the river Aire and to the Leeds and Bradford railway, 4½ miles NE of Bradford; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Leeds. The township includes also the hamlets of Woodhall-Hill, Womersley-Row, and Bagley, and parts of the villages of Apperley-Bridge, Rodley, and Stanningley; and bears the name of Calverley-with-Farsley. Acres, 3,500. Real property, £15,857; of which £300 are in mines, and £330 in quarries. Pop., 5,559. Houses, 1,231. The sub-district is conterminate with the ship. The parish includes also the townships of Pudship. Rated property, sey, Belton, and Idle. Acres, 8,993. Rated property, £52,195. Pop: in 1841, 21,039; in 1861, 28,563. Houses, 6,354. The property is much subdivided. Calverley Hall was the seat of the ancient family of Calverley, and the scene, in 1604, of the subject of the "Yorkshire Tragedy," erroneously ascribed to Shakspeare; and was converted, early in the present century, into separate tenements for manufacturers. Many of the inhabitants are employed in woollen and worsted mills. living is a vicatage, united with the p. curacy of Bolton, in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £230.* Patron, the Bishop of Ripon. The church is good. The chapelries of Farsley, Pudsey, St. Paul's, and Idle are separate benefices. 10) I duesy, Sc. I am s, and the are separate benefities. There are four dissenting chaples, a mechanics' institute, four public schools, and charities £54.

CALVERLEY, Sussex. See Tonbridge Wells, CALVERT-FENTON. See FENTON-CULTERT.

CALVELT-HOUSE, a haulet in Muker chapelry, Grinton parish, N. R. Yorkshire; near Muker. CALVERTON, a parish in the district of Potterspury and county of Buckingham; on Watling-street and the and county of Buckingham; on Watting-street and the river Ouse, adjacent to the Buckingham canal, I mile S of Stony-Stratford, and 23 WSW of Wolverton r. sta-tion. Post-town, Stony-Stratford. Aeres, 1,980. Real property, E. 3,372. Pop., 595. Honses, 112. The pro-perty is divided among a few. A Roman camp lay around the site of the church; and Roman relies have been found there. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value £346.* Patron, the Earl of Egmont. The church was built in 1818. Charities, £30.

CALVERTON, a village and a parish in Basford dis-CALVERTON, a village and a parish in Basford district, Notts. The village stands nor an affluent of the river Trent, 4½ miles NNW of Burton-Joyce r. station, and 6½ NNE of Nottingham; and has a post-office under Nottingham. The parish includes Satterford manor. Acres, 3,329. Real property, £4,724. Pop., 1,372. Housse, 238. The property is much subdivided. Roofing-stone is quarried. Many of the inhabitants are lace and stocking makers. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £127.* Patron, alternately the Bish of Satternately and the Satternate of the Perhaps and Satternately. the Bishop of Manchester and the Prebendary of Oxton. The church is good; and there are chapels for Baptists, Weslevans, and Primitive Methodists. A school has £12 from endowment; and other charities £12. Lee, the inventor of the stocking-frame, was a native.

CALVERTON (LOWER). See CALVERTON, Bucks. CALWYERTO, LOWER, See CREVERTON, BIERS, CALWYERTON, LOWER, CALWYERTON, The strength on the river Dove, 3½ miles SW of Ashborne. Pop., 85. Houses, 22. A black priory was founded here, in the 12th century, by Fitz-Nigell; and given, at the dissolution, to John Fleetwood. Calwick Hallis the seat of the Granvilles; and has a fine collection of pictures.

CAM (THE), a stream of Cloucester. It rises on the Cotswolds, 4 miles W of Nailsworth; and runs 7 miles north-westward to the Severn, near Frampton.

CAM (THE), a river of Cambridge. It rises at Ashwell, near the boundary with Beds; runs 14 miles north-eastward, past Barrington, to Granchester; receives there the Granta coming 12 miles from the west, and becomes navigable; proceeds thence 27 miles north by eastward to Cambridge; and goes thence 13 miles north-north-north-eastward, past Chesterton, Waterbeach, and Upware, to a confluence with the Ouse, 3½ miles above Ely. It was widened and otherwise improved, in its course past Cambridge, in 1869, at a cost of about £6,000. CAM, a parish in Dursley district, Gloucester; on the Cam rivulet and the Dursley railway, under the Cotswolds, 1 mile N of Dursley. It has a station on the railway; and its post-town is Dursley. Acres, 2,946. property, £9,079. Pop., 1,500. Houses, 373. property is divided among a few. Excellent cheese is produced. Cloth manufacture is carried on in a large establishment. A battle was fought here, in the time of Edward the El·ler, between the Daoes and the Saxons. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Low Cam, in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £150.* Patron, the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. The church is early English. There are endowed and national schools and large charities.

, ¢

CAMALET. See CADBURY (SOUTH).

CAMALODUNUM. See COLCHESTER.

CAMARON (THE), an affluent of the river Ithon, in Radnor.

CAMBECK-FORT. See Castlesteads. CAMBECK (THE), an affluent of the river Irthing, in Cumberland.

CAMBER-CASTLE, a ruined fortalice on the coast of Sussex; nearly midway between Winchelsea and Rye. It was one of the strengths built by Henry VIII., for defence of the coast; was dismantled in 1642; and has a central tower, surmounted by smaller ones, with connecting curtains. The sea once washed its walls; but has considerably receded.

CAMBERFORD. See COMBERFORD.

CAMBERWELL, a district in the NE corner of Surrey. It lies within the horough of Lambeth; is partly a suburb of London, partly rural, with considerable extent of open field; and includes the suburbs of Dulwich and Peckham. The suburban part of it is 14 mile SSW of the terminus of the Bricklayers Arms Extension railway; has two railway stations, called Camberwell Gate and Camberwell New Road; is 1½ mile ESE of the Yauxhall Camberweil New Roaq; is 12 mile LSL of the Naukans station of the Southwestern railway, and 23 miles S of St. Paul's; lies across the terminal part of the Grand Surrey canal; and consists chiefly of streets, places, and outskirts with modern houses. Ermine-street, coming np from Lambeth ferry, passed through south-eastward, going into Kent at Oak of Honour Hil; and traces of it were found at the cutting of the canal. Oak of Honour Hills and traces of its were found to the control of the canal. Hill is said to have acquired its name from Queen Elizabeth's dining on it under an oak. St. Thomas' Watering, near this, was a resting-place of the Canterbury pilgrims; and a marble head of Janns was found there. Camberwell Grove, in the suburb, now occupied by a handsome range of modern houses, was the place where George Barnwell murdered his uncle. Camberwell manor-house, near Denmark Hill, was a curious ancient mansion, converted latterly into a school. Camberwell Green is notorious as the scene of a crowded pleasure-fair on three days in Angust; but was recently surrounded by iron railings, and laid out in gravel-walks, flower-plots, and shrubbery. The district is a polling-place; and has a post-office; under London S., with seven reand has a post-omeet miner London 5., with seven receiving-houses and five pillar-boxes. Acres, 4,312. Real property, £127,823. Toor-rates in 1866, £32,584. Pop. in 1861, 71,439. Houses, 12,093. Marriages in 1866, £66; births, 3,343,—of which 158 were allegitimate; deaths, £0,656,—of which 888 were at ages under 5 years, and 21 at area shows $5. Marriages in the transfer. and 31 at ages above $5. Marriages in the ten years, 1851-60, 4,410; births, 19,973; deaths, 13,631. There are four sub-districts, -Camberwell, Dulwich, Peckhain, and St. George. Acres of C., 1,339; of D., 1,423; of F., 1,42; of St. G., 404. Pop. of C., 21,207; of D., 1,723; of P., 2,3,135; of St. G., 20,333. Houses of C., 2,444; of D., 204; of P., 4,948; of St. G., 3,421.

The district is conterminate with one ancient parish, which is still a single parish for civil purposes; but is now divided ecclesiastically into thirteen parishes and two separate chapelries, and also includes two annexed chapelries, all in the diorese of Winchester. Six of the divisions, Christchurch, St. Mary Magdalene, Camden, St. Andrew, St. Michael, and St. Chrysostem, are noticed in our article on Peckham: four, Dulwich College, East Dulwich, St. Stephen, and St. Peter, are noticed in that on Dulwich; Stephen, and St. Frest, are motived in that on Danson, and care, partly in Lamboth, is noticed in that on Herne-Hall. The others are St. Giles, around the mother church; St. George, constituted in 1824; Emmanuel, constituted in 1842; and St. Philip, constituted in 1866. The living of St Giles is a vicarage, united with the chapelry of Forest-Hill; the livings of St George and Emmanuel are the Dishop of Winchester. St. Giles' church was built in 1842-4, on the site of an old one burnt in 1841; and is a large, elegant, cruciform edifice, in the later English 13 a 1878, elegant, crucitoria edince, in the first Engins style, with a lofty spire. St. George's church was built in 1524; and is a Doric edifice, with hexastyle portico. The total places of worship in 1851 were 13 of the Church of England, with 11,212 sittings; 6 of Independents, with 4,356 s.; 1 of Eaptists, with 550 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 4,356 s.; 1 of Eaptists, with 550 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 4,356 s.; 2 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 630 s.; 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 30 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 250 s.; and 1 undefined, with 150 s. The schools were 27 public day schools, with 3,730 scholars; 151 rivate day schools, with 3,091 s.; 20 Sunday schools, with 3,017 s.; and 4 evening schools for adults, with 93's. One of the public schools is Dulwich college; another is a grammar-school; six others are endowed; and six are National. Tyrrell, the historian, was eduand chaplain of Archbishop Usher, was thirty-eight years vicas. The charries amount to nearly £300.

CAMBLESFORTH, a township in Drax parish, W. R. York-hire; between the rivers Ouse and Aire, 21 miles Nof Snaith. It has a post-office under Selby. Acres, 1.495. Real property, £2,017. Pop., 322. Houses, 72. Camblesforth Hall belongs to Sir C. Blois, Bart.

CAMBOS, a township and a chapelry in Hartburn parish, Northunberland. The township hies near an affluent of the river Wansbeck, and near the Wansbeck Valley railway, in the vicinity of Scot's Gap station, 11 miles SE by S of Otterburn; and has a pest-office; under Newcastle-upon-Tyne. Acres, 630. Pop., 111. Houses, 25. The charelry is much more extensive than the township; and was constituted in 1844. Rated property, 27, 237. Pop., 730. Houses, 151. The property is divided between two. The living is a vicarage in the The living is a vicarage in the Value, £113. Patron, the Vicar dicesse of Durham. of Hartburn. The church is good.

Cambols, or Chambols, a township and a chapelry in Beilington parish, Northumberland. The township lies on the coast, at the month of the river Wansbeck, near North-Seaton r. station, 2] miles N by W of Blythe. The chapelry was constituted in 1863. Post-town, Bedlington, Northumberlind. Pop., about 3,000. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Durham. Value, $3.0.* Parrons, the Dean and Chapter of Durham. Br. wn, the landscape gardener, was a native. CAMBORICUM. See CAMBRIDGE.

CAMBORNE, a town, a parish, and a sub-district, in Restrict district, Cornwall. The town stands adjacent to the West Cornwall railway, in the centre of a rich mining tract, 14) miles WSW of Truro. It is a thriving It is a thriving 1 4.4, a seem of considerable trailing and a sent of petty sessions; and have a lead post-office; an a station with telegraph, a banking-office, a hotel, a mark thouse of 1866, a church, four dissenting chapels, and charities 470.

The church is perpendicular English, in granite, large, but very low; was restored in 1862; contains a carved wooden pulpit, a new granite font, and monuments of the family of Feudarves; and has, on the outside, an ancient inscribed stone, placed in its present position by the late Lord de Dunstanville, and believed to have been originally an altar-cover. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on 7 March, Whit-Tuesday, 29 June, and 11 Nov. Pop., 7,208. Houses, 1,415.—The parish includes also the villages of Tucking-mill, Penponds, Berippa, Trewithan, and others. Acres, 6,744. Real property, £39,102; of which £26,315 are in mines. Pop., 14,056. Houses, 2,737. Pendarves, about a mile Sof the town, the seat of the late E. W. W. Pendarves, Esq., is a modern granite edifice; contains some good pictures and a rich mineral cabinet; and stands in a fine park, formed entirely out of a moor. Tehidy, the seat of J. formed entirely out of a moor. Tennoy, the scar of J. F. Basset, Esq., has a good collection of pictures, and stands in a park of upwards of 700 acres. Cambrea, a rocky eminence 740 feet high, is regarded by Borlase as having been the chief seat of the Druids in the west of England; and Carwinnen, a wild moorish hill confronting Pendarves, has at its foot a cromlech, called the Pendarves Quoit. Extensive mines are worked, and employ most of the inhabitants. Dolcoath mine, about 3 miles W of Carnbrea, has been sunk to the depth of niles W of Carnbrea, has been sum to the land 1,080 feet, and extends under ground fully a mile. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £600.* Patron, J. F. Basset, Esq. The vicarages of Tucking-mill, Penponds, and Treslothan are separate charges. A modern chapel, in the Norman style, is at Tacking-mill; and a handsome one, built in 1842, is on an eminence in Pendarves park. An ancient chapel stood on the latter's site; another stood at Trewin, adjacent to a medicinal well; and four or five more stood in other places. The sub-district is conterminate with the parish. CAMBRIA.

See WALES.

CAMBRIDGE, a university town, the capital of Cambridgeshire. It stands on the Via Devana, the river Cam, and the Eastern Counties railway, 51 miles by cam, and the Zastern Contines railway, 51 mines by read, and 57½ by railway, N by E of London. The Cam is navigable to it; and railways go from it in six directions, toward London, Hitchin, Bedford, Huntingdon, Ely, and lpswich, ramifying toward all parts of the kingdon.

History.—Cambridge is the Granta, perhaps also the Camboricum of the Romans, and most probably the Grantaceaster of the Saxons. It was burnt by the Danes in 870 and 1010. A military station seems to have been at it in the times of the Saxons, certainly in those of the Romans; and a castle was built at it, probably on the site of the previons station, by William the Conqueror, to overawe the Islo of Ely. In the castle was received Sir Osborn, whose legendary conflict with a demon-knight on Gogmagog hill was used by Sir Walter Scott for an episode in "Marmion." The town was injured by both parties in the wars of the Barons and the Roses, especially in 1216 and 1267; suf-fered from insurrections of the townsmen against the University, in 1249, 1322, and 1381; was occupied on behalf of Queen Mary, after the attempt to place Lady Jane Grey on the throne; and was seized and occupied under Cromwell, for the parliamentarians. Royal visits were made to weit, for the partamentarians. Royal visits were made to it by Stephen, in 113°; by John, in 1200 and 1210; by Henry III., in 1265 and 1270; by Edward I., in 1293; by Edward II., in 1325; by Edward III., in 1328; by Richard in 1396; by Edward IV., in 1463; by Richard III., in 1483 and 1485; by Henry VII., in 1486, 1487, 1491, 1498, and 1506; by Queen Catherine, in 1520; by Henry VIII., in 1522; by Elizabeth, in 1564; by James 1., in 1614, 1615. 1623, and 1624; by Charles I., in 1628, 1632, and 1641; by Charles H., in 1671 and 1681; by William III., in 1689; by Anne in 1705; by George I., in 1717; by George II., in 1728; and by Victoria, in 1847.

Site and Streets.—The town stands amid a great flat tract; is not clearly seen on any approach to it, ill near; and appears relieved, even then, by only the tower of St. Mary, the spire of Trinity, and the four turnets of Eing's, over a line of trees. Tradition alleges it to have anciently extended 3 miles along the Cam, from Gran-chester to Chesterton; but this is not to be believed. The present borough limits indeed include a space about 3} miles long, with a mean breadth of 11 mile, comprising 3,470 acres; but the town itself, exclusive of the suburb of Chesterton, which is not in the borough, covers only about one-fifth of the space. Regent-street is a fine street; Trumpington and St. Andrew's streets also are broad, airy, and pleasant; and many new streets of small houses have recently been formed; but the other streets, generally, are narrow, winding, and irregularly edificed. The town has, of late years, been much inproved by extension or renovation of public buildings, by removal of old private houses, and by erection of new ones; and, as the seat of a great university, it necessarily research to the processor whether the processor was the processor and a second to the processor was the processor and a second to the processor was the processor and a processor was the processor was the processor and a processor was the processor was the processor and a processor was the processor was the processor was the processor and the processor was the processo new ours; and, as the seat of a great university, it he-cessarily possesses great wealth of structure and orna-ment; yet it falls to impress a stranger with a fair idea of either beauty or dignity. It suffers severely from dearth of stone, and has betaken itself largely to brick and stuceo; and, owing to the recent rebuilding of some of its colleges, and to the Grecian or Italian character of large portions of others, its university looks almost modern.

Antiquities .- Dr. Stukeley notes that the site of the Roman Granta is very traceable on the side of Cambridge towards the castle; that the Roman agger is identical with a fine terrace-walk in the garden of Magdalene college; that the gateway of the castle, and the churches of St. Giles and St. Peter are marked antiquities; that many Reman bricks have been found in the latter church's walls, and many small Roman relics in the adjoining fields; and that remains exist of three bastions, raised by Cromwell. Other antiquities will be noticed in connexion with the churches and the colleges.

Public Buildings .- An elegant suite of buildings, to comprise guild-hall, public rooms, and municipal offices, was commenced in 1860, on an immediate scale to cost - about £6,000, but on a plan to be ultimately extended, at a cost of nearly £40,000. The new county courts occupy the site of the castle, contiguous to the ancient gateway; and are commodious. The county jail has capacity for 72 male prisoners, but has no cells for females. The berough male prisoners, but has no cells for tennales. The borough jail was built subsequent to 1827, at a cost of £15,735; has capacity for 62 males and 26 females; and, by arrangement of the authorities, serves also for county female prisoners. The spiuning-house was founded in 1628; and is used as a place of confinement for lewd and disorderly females. The market-place was originally spacious; was recently enlarged and improved; and has a handsome restored conduit, originally erected in 1614, and a statue of Jonas Webb, erected in 1866. The corn exchange is a recent and ugly structure. The theatre is small but neat. The Union Buildings were creeted in 1867, at a cost of £10,000; are in the pointed style of the 13th century; and include a debating room 60 feet by 45.

Parishes.—Downing college is in the parish of St.

Benedict; the new buildings of St. John's, and the grove beneuer; the new diffusions of St. John's, and the grove of Catherine's also are within parishes; but all the other colleges are extra-parochial. The parishes are All Saints, St. Andrew the Great, St. Andrew the Less or Barnwell, St. Benediet, St. Botolph, St. Clement, St. Edward, St. Gles, St. Peter, St. Mary the Great, St. North R. Less, St. Michael, St. Sayulohas, and H. Jie Mary the Less, St. Michael, St. Sepulchre, and Holy Trinity. Only St. Andrew the Less and St. Giles extend much beyond the limits of the town. St. Paul's chapelry also is ecclesiastically a parish. The living of St. Botolph is a rectory; that of St. Edward is a donative; the others are vicarages; that of St. Peter is annexed to that of St. Gles; and all are in the diocese of Ely. Value of All Saints, £130; of St. Andrew the Great, £120; of St. Band, £120; of St. Andrew the Lass, £18; of St. Beneliet, £151; of St. Botolph, £122; of St. Clement, £56; of St. Edward, £63; of St. Gless, £184; of St. Gless, £184; of St. Gless, £184; of St. Clement, £56; of St. Edward, £63; of St. Gless, £184; of St. Gless, £18 of St. Alement, 256; of St. Endward, 250; of St. Chery with St. Peter, 2170; of St. Mary the Great, 2104; of St. Mary the Less and St. Michael, each 295; of St. Sepulchre, 2123; of Holy Trinity, 296. Patron of All Santts and St. Clement, Jesus' College; of St. Andrew the Great, the Dean and Chapter of Ely; of St. Andrew the Less and St. Paul, Trustees; of St. Benedict, Corpus Christi College; of St. Botolph, Queen's College; of St. Edward, Trinity Hall; of Holy Trinity, not reported; of St. Giles, the Bishop of Ely; of St. Mary the Great and St. Michael, Trinity College; of St. Mary the Less,

St. Peter's College; of St. Sepulchre, the parishioners.

Ancient Monasteries.—An Augustinjan priory was founded, on the left bank of the river, in 1992, by Picot, a Norman lord of Bourne; removed to Barnwell, in 1112 by Payne Peverell, standard-bearer in Palestine to the Duke of Normandy; and given, after the dissolution, to Lord Clinton. Some portions of the building still exist. A Gilbertine priory was founded at the old chapel of St. Edmund, in 1291, by Bishop Fitzwalter; and given, at the dissolution, to Edward Elrington and Humphrey Metcalf. A Benedictine priory was founded on the site of Trinity hall, at the beginning of the reign of Edward 11I., by John de Crauden; but was granted, in a few years, to the Bishop of Norwich, and gave place to Trinity hall. A Benedictine numery was founded on the site of Jesus' college, in 1130; and part of it is included in the college chapel. A Bethlehemite friary, the only one in England, was founded at Trumpington-street in 1257. A friary de Sacco was founded in 1258; a friary of St. Mary, in 1273; a grey friary, on the site of Sidney-Sussex college, in 1225; an Augustinian friary, by Pitch-ford, in 1259; a white friary, at King's college garden, in 1316; and a black friary, on the site of Emmanuel college, in 1275.

Churches. - The church of All Saints was reconstructed

. 4

Churches.—The church of All Saints was reconstructed on a new site in 1864; is an ornamental edifice; and contains a menument, by Chantrey, to Henry Kirko White. The church of St. Andrew the Great was re built in 1643, and again in 1845; and contains a cenotaph to Cook, the navigator. The church of St. Andrew the Less, or Barnwell, was partly built out of Barnwell priory, and was recently restored. The church Barnwell priory, and was recently restored. The church of St. Benedict has a Saxon tower; was recently repaired and enlarged; contains some interesting monuments; and was some time served by Thomas Fuller. The church of St. Botolph was recently restored, and has many monuments. The church of St. Clement has an early English door, and a fine tower and spire of 1821, was restored in 1855; and coutains an octagonal font, and a monument of 1929. The church of St. Edward is and a monument of 1522. The chart of St. Edward is early English; was recently restored; has a good font; and was served by Latimer. The church of St. Giles is partly as old as 1100, and was recently restored. The church of St. Peter, new disused, includes Roman bricks, and has a Norman door. The church of St. Mary the Great is the University church; was built in 1478-1519; has a conspicuous tower of 1593-1608, surmounted by octagonal turrets; shows the architectural features of the age in which it was recently restored and beautified at large feet by 68; was recently restored and beautified at large expense; and contains the grave of Martin Bucer. The church of St. Mary the Less is later English; was recently restored; has a rich east window; and centains a Norman font. The church of St. Michael was built in 1337, and restored in 1849; is pure decorated English; possesses the old stalls of Trinity college chapel; and had the grave of Fagius. The church of St. Sepulchre was built by the Templars in 1101, and restored by the Camden Society in 1843; is a round Norman edifice, with short massive piers; and includes restored windows, south aisle, domical ribbed vault, and campanile. The church of Holy Trinity was built in the 15th century, and recently repaired; has good tower and spire; contains an altar-tomb to Sir Robert Taber, the physician, and a monument to Henry Martyn, the missionary; and was served by Charles Simeon. The church of St. Paul, and another called Christ church, are recent erections; and the church of St. Barnabas was founded in 1869. The total places St. Darmons was founded in 1863. The total places of worship within the borough, in 1851, were 16 of the Church of England, with 9,384 sittings; 1 of Independents, with 680 s.; 3 of Baptists, with 2,170 s.; 1 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,000 s.; 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 280 s.; 1 of Latter-Day Saints, with 150 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholies, with 230 s. The new cemetery was laid out by London; and contains a chapel by G. G. Soott. Schools, &c.—A grammar school was founded in 1615 by bequest of Dr. Perse; was recently rebuilt; and gives its pupils, of 3 years standing, a preference to the Perse fellowships and scholarships at Caius college. Whiston's charity schools for boys and girls were instituted in 1703. and have an endowed income of £64; but have long been united with the National schools. The total schools united with the National schools. within the borough in 1851, were 18 public day schools, with 2,734 scholars; 54 private day schools, with 1,121 s.; and 22 Sunday schools, with 3,477 s. Eleven of the public schools were National; and one was a ragged school. There are a Union Society: a Philo-Union Society; a Philosophical Society; several students' clubs and associations; a free library, founded in 1855; a lending library, founded in 1858, and largely aided by the late Prince Consort; and a working-men's college and reading-room. Addenbrooke's hospital or infirmary was founded in 1766, by bequest of Dr. John Addenbrooke, and enlaged in 1813, by bequest of John Bowtell; has upwards of £1,500 from endowment, and a large income from subscription; and was undergoing enlargement and improvement in 1864, at a cost of about £10,000. Storev's alms-houses, for clergymen's widows, have £813; Wray's have £215; Knight's, £94, and the Spital, £25. The Victoria and Royal Albert asylums are modern in-stitutions, munificently maintained by donation and subscription. The total endowed charities of the borough amount to £5,000.

Trade, dc.—The town is maintained chiedly by supplying the wants of the nuiversity; yet conducts a large trade in land produce, and carries on some manufactures in leather, ropes, baskets, pattens, mustaul, rinegar, inon-ware, braiss-ware, and other articles. Markets are held daily; chief markets, on Wednesdays and Saturdays; and fairs on 24 June and 25 Sept. The town has a head post-office, 2 a railway station with telegraph, two other telegraph stations, four banking-offices, and six chienins; is a seat of assizes and sessions, a place of election, and the head of an excise district; and publishes two weekly newspapers. Races are run on Midsummer Common; and bout-races, among the University men, from the vicinity of Ditton church. A fine public park, called Parker's Piece, contains about 20 acres, and is almost square.

The Borough.—Cambridge is a borough by prescription; was incorporated by Henry I.; has sent two members to parliament since the time of Edward I.; and is governed by a mayor, ten alderinen, and thirty councillors. Real property of the town, £117, 307: of the corporation, £2,400; of the university, £33,753. Corporation-evenue, £17,253. Direct taxes, £21,559. Electors, in 1868, 1,226. Pop. in 1841, 24,433; in 1881, 25,374. Houses, 5,383. The borough forms a registration district.—Poor-rates, in 1866, £19,935. Marriages, 197; births, 529,—of which 27 were at ages under 5 years, and 15 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 1,555; births, 7,709; deaths, 5,504. The town gives the title of Duke to a prince of the blood royal. Sir J. Cheke, tutor of Edward VI.; Gibbons, the organist; Bishops Thiriby, Goldsborough, Rust, Townson, and Muscrave; Bennet, the marryer, Dean Duport; Jeremy Taylor; Lad JD. Masham; Essex, the antiquary Drake, the translator of Herodotus; and Camberland the dramatist, were natives.

The University.—Cambridge university is an incorporated society of students in all the liberal arts and sciences. It originated with or was restored by Sigebert, king of East Anglia; and was revived by Edward the Edder; but first acquired consequence about 1209, under the abbot of Croyland. The students lived, for some time, in inns and hostels, built for their reception; but were diterwards provided with seventeen colleges. The colleges possess equal privileges; form an aggregate body under one supreme authority; and at the same time are ruled separately, each by its own statutes. The supreme authority comprises legislative and executive. The legislative is a senate, composed of all the masters of arts, and doctors in divinity, civil law, and physic, whose names are on the boards,—divided till recently into two houses, of regents and non-regents, or white-hoods and black-hoods, but now voting as one body, -and controlled by a council, consisting of the chancellor, the vicechancellor, four heads of colleges, four professors, and eight other members of senate chosen annually from the roll, who must approve all business before it can be offered to the senate. The executive includes a chancellor, generally a person of rank and non-resident; a vice-chancellor or acting governor; a high steward, or judge in cases of felony; a commissary or assessor; a public orator, who acts also as official secretary: and several other officials. The members of the university are variously heads of colleges, professors, fellows, noblemen, graduates, doctors in the several faculties, bachelors in divinity, graduates, bachelors in civil law and in physie, bachelors of arts, fellow commoners, pensioners, scholars, and sizers; and all, in their several ranks, and also in their several colleges, are distinguished by differences of costume. There are 27 professorships, 416 fellowships, about 900 scholarships or exhibitions, and about 1,800 residents. Two-thirds, or nearly se, of the residents, live in the colleges; and the rest live in lodgings. The doctors and regent masters of arts in convocation send two members to parliament; and amounted, in 1868, to 5.184. The income of all the colleges is £184,994.

University Buildings .- The senate-house stands on the north side of a spacious square, near the centre of the town; was built in 1722-30, after a design by Burrough, at a cost of £20,000; is exteriorly Corinthian, and interiorly Doric; measures 101 feet by 42, with a height of 32 feet; has galleries of Norway oak; and contains statues of George I. and the Duke of Somerset by Rysbrack, George II, by Wilton, and W. Pitt by Nollekens. The public schools stand on the west side of the same square: were first founded in 1443; form three sides of a small court; and contain apartments for the philosophy, divinity, law, and physic schools, and for disputations, exercises, and lectures. The old library is over the schools; was rebuilt in 1775; and contains a colossal Ceres from Eleusis, 100,000 volumes, and 2,000 manuscripts. The new library was built in 1837, after designs by Cockerell; is an elegant edifice, 167 feet by 45, with a new wing begun in 1864; and contains, on the base, Dr. Woodward's geological specimens. The Fitzwilliam museum, in Trumpington-street, originated in 1816, in a begnest of £100,000, a library, and a collection of works of art from Viscount Fitzwilliam; was built in 1837 and following years, after a design by Basevi; covers an area of 160 feet by 162; has a noble octastyle Corinthian portice, 76 feet high; and contains 144 paintings of the Italian, Dutch; and Flemish schools, statuary, books, and a valuable mannscript collection of music. New museums and lecture-rooms, in the Gothic style, estimated to cost about £30,000, on the site of the old Botanie garden, were built in 1862-4. The observatory, on a rising-ground, on the Madingley road, about a mile from the college-walks, was built in 1822-5, by Mead, at a cost of £19,000; is 120 feet long; and has a domed house for a 20 feet telescope, presented by the Duke of Northnor a 20 leet telescope, presented by the Puke of North-umberland. The university printing-office, in Trump-ington-street, was built in 1831-3 by Blore; is in the perpendicular English style, with a lofty central tower; and looks like a church. The botanical gardens formerly lay around the site of the ancient Augustinian priory, and occupied upwards of three acres; but were recently removed to a new site between Trumpington-road and Hills-road; and they occupy there an area of about twentyone acres, and are both rich in specimens and ornately laid out. The college-walks have avenues of limes. elms, and horse-chestuats, and are overlooked by the backs of most of the larger colleges.

St. Peter's College, or Peterhouss.—This is the oldest of the colleges; and was founded, in 1284, by Hughelo Elasham, Elishop of Fly. It stands in Trumpingstons street, on ground previously occupied by two hostels; a compress two old courts, the larger 144 feet by 84, akm a now court built in 1826. Its charget was erected; 35

2 x

1632; has a fine east window, with rainted glass re-representing the erucifixion; and got all its side windows filled, in 1858-64, with painted glass from Munich. The college has 14 fellowships, 59 scholarships, 2 exhibitions, 11 livings, and an income of £7,311. Eminent men educated at it were Cardinal Beaufort, Archbishop Whitgift, Bishops Cosin, Law, and Walton, Dean Sherlock, the poets Crashaw, Gray, and Garth, Jer. Markland, Col. Hutchinson, the Duke of Grafton, and Lord Ellenborough.

Clare College. - This was founded, in 1326, by Dr. Richard Badew, under the name of University Hall; was burned to the ground about 1342; was rebuilt by the sister and co-heiress of Gilbert Earl of Clare, and took then the name of Clare Hall; and was begun to be rebuilt again in 1638. It stands on the east bank of the Cam; again in 1633. It stands on the east bank of the Cam; has, over the river, a fine old stone bridge; and comprises a noble quadrangle, 150 feet by 111. Its chapel was rebuilt in 1769, at a cost of £7,000; and has a picture of the Salutation, by Cipriani. The college has 17 fellowships, 24 scholarships, and 18 livings. Eminent meaducated at it were Archbishops Heath and Tillotson, Bishop Gunning, Chaucer, Cudworth, Whiston, W. Whitchead, Parkhurst, Nicholas Ferur, Hervey, Dr. Dodd, and the Duke of Newcastle.

Pembrok College* — This was founded in 12(7, but he Pembrok College — This was founded in 12(7, but he Pembroke College .- This was founded, in 1347, by the Countess of Pembroke. It stands in Trumpington-street, nearly opposite St. Peters; and consists of two courts. 95 feet by 55, with intermediate hall. Its chapel was built by Bishop Wren, after a design by his nephew, Sir Christopher Wren; and has a picture of the entombment by Baroccio. A large and curious orrery, made by Dr. Long in 1730, is in the inner court; and water-works are in the gardens. The college has 14 fellowships, 2 bye-fellowships, 20 scholarships, 10 livings, and an income of £12,013. Eminent men educated at it were Archbishops Grindall and Whitgift, Bishops Lyndwood, Ridley, Andrews, Wren, Tomlin, and Middleton, the and Mason, E. Calamy, W. Pitt, and Dr. Long.

Gonville and Caius College.—This was founded, in 1348, by Sir Nicholas Gonville; and enlarged in 1557, by Dr. John Caius. It stands at the corner of Trumpington and Trinity streets; comprises three courts, with a picturesque new one in progress in 1869; and includes three gates by John of Padua. Its chapel is small but beautiful; and contains a brass of 1500, a monument of Dr. Cains, and a picture of the Annunciation by Retz. college has 30 fellowships, 36 scholarships, and 22 livings. Eminent men educated at it were Dr. Harvey and many other distinguished physicians, Jeremy Taylor, Sir T. Gresham, Shadwell, Henry Wharton, Lord Thurlow, Dr. Shuckford, Jeremy Collier, Dr. S. Clarke, and the antiquaries Grater, Chauncey, and Blomefield.

Trinity Hall.—This was founded, in 1350, by Bateman, bishop of Norwich. It stands near Clare College, on ground previously occupied by a hostel for the monks of Ely; and comprises two courts, one of which is modern. Its library is rich in law-works; and its chapel contains three brasses, and a painting of the Presentation by Stella. A range of students' residences, in strictly collegiate style, but of carlier character than the rest of the college buildings, with a plain oriel over the entrance doorway, and an octagonal oriel turret at the angle, erowned with a short spire, was built in 1561, at a cost of about £10,000, and replaced previous buildings burnt down in 1851. Trinity Hall has 13 fellowships, 19 down in 1851. Trinity Hall has 13 fellowships, 19 scholarships, 8 livings, and an iocome of £3,917. Emischolarships, Gardiner and nent men educated at it were Bishops Gardiner and Horsley, the martyr Bilney, Corbet, Tusser, Dr. An-drews, Sir R. Naunton, Lord Chestertield, Earl Fitzwilliam, Sir Bulwer Lytton, and Lord-Chief-Justice Cockburn.

Corpus Christi, or Benc! College. This was founded, in 359, by the two Guilds of Corpus Christi and the Sin Mary. It stands in Trumpington-street; and t prises an old court of the 14th century, and a new built in 1823. The new court measures 158 feet by); and has a frontage of 222 feet, with grand gateway and four massive towers. The library measures 87 feet by 22; and contains many valuable manuscripts, bequeathed by Archbishop Parker. The chapel was built in 1827; is in the Gothic style; and has windows filled with stained glass from a previous chapel of 1570, built by Lord-Keeper Bacon. The college has 12 fellowships, 6 scholarships, and 11 livings. Eminent men educated at it were Archbishops Parker and Tenison, the martyr Wishart, Bishop Latimer, the poet Fletcher, Sir Nicholas Bacon, Lord-Keeper Bacon, and the antiquaries Gough, Salmon, and Stukeley.

King's College.—This was founded, in 1441, by Henry VI. It occupies a central situation, consists of two vi. It occupies a central situation, consists of two courts, partly Italian, partly later English; and forms the finest group of buildings in the town. The hall measures 102 feet by 36; the library, 93 feet by 27; the chapel, 316 feet by 45½. The last is esteemed the best specimen of later English in the kingdom; was mainly built in 1441-1330, partly built in last century, and partly restored by Wilkins in 1826; has eleven pinnedes on each side and four external towars at the conand party restored by Wikins in 1620; has reven pun-nacles on each side, and four octagonal towers at the cor-ners; and commands, from the leads, an extensive par-oramic view, reaching on one side to Ely cathedral. The pinnacles are 101 feet high, and rise from buttresses including a range of chantries between their projections; the towers are 1461 feet high, and capped with cupolas; the side windows, twenty-four in number, are nearly 50 feet high, and filled with scripture subjects in stained glass of the time of Henry VIII.; the doors are very fine; the roof is stone, groined, with fan-tracery, in twelve compartments, without the support of a single pillar, the largest and richest of its kind in England; the stalls and screen are of the 17th century; and the altar-piece is the Descent from the Cross by Volterra. The college enjoys special privileges; and has 46 fellowships, 48 scholarships from Eton, 39 livings, and an income of £26,857. Eminent men educated at it were Archbishop Rotherham, Bishops nen educated at it were Archotshop nomernam, desaugs Aldrich, Close, and Pearson, the martyr Frith, the chronicler Hall, the poets Waller, P. Fletcher, and Anstey, the mathematician Oughtred, the historian Cose, the antiquary Cole, Jacob Bryant, A. Collins, Sir John Cheke, Sir F. Walsingham, Sir W. Temple, Sir R. Walles, Sir W. Denger Henry Wilde, and Leaf Condenses.

Cheke, Sir F. Walsingham, Sir W. Temple, Sir K. Wai-pole, Sir W. Draper, Horace Walpole, and Lord Camden. Queen's College.—This was founded, in 1446, by Mar-garet of Anjou; and chlarged, in 1465, by the queen of Edward IV. Its grounds lie on both sides of the Cam, and are connected by a rustic bridge, rebuilt in 1746, Its buildings couprise three ancient-looking courts, with gateway, tower and cloisters; and were reconstructed about 1833. The gateway is of noble design, perpendicular, with a lierne vault. The inner court has three alleys, each 80 feet long; and contains the room of Eras-nus. The hall has a fine open roof; the library, about 30,000 volumes; and the chapel, four brasses. The college has 14 fellowships, 14 scholarships, 10 livings, and an income of £5,347. Eminent men educated at it were Erasmus, Bishops Fisher and Patrick, the antiquary Wallis, the poets Beaumont and Pomfret, T. Fuller, S.

Wants, the poets recument and connec, 1. Finer, 5. Ockley, Milner, Weever, Iymer, Shaw, and Manning. Catherine's Ucliege.—This was founded, in 1473, by Chancellor Woodlark. It stands in Trutopington-street; and forms a court, 180 feet by 120, rebuilt in 1700, of plain appearance, but undergoing ornamental change in 1869. The hall measures 42 feet by 24; the chapel, 75 by 30. The college has 9 fellowships, 32 scholarships, and 4 livings. Eminent men educated at it were Archhishops Sands and Dawes, Bishops Headley, Sherlock, Blackall, and Overall, Dr. Lightfoot, Strype, and Sparrow. Jesus' College.—This was founded, in 1496, by Bishop Alcock It stands in Jesus' lane, on the site of the Benedictine nunnery; and comprises three courts, one of them 140 feet by 120. The frontage extends 180 feet; the gateway is fine perpendicular; the second court has an ancient cloister; the itall has a peculiarly elegant oriel, and a fine wooden roof; and the chapel was the church of the nunnery, is cruciform, belonged to the 12th century, includes recent restorations, and has an altar-piece of the Presentation by Jouvenet. The college has 16 fellowships, 1 honorary fellowship, 34 scholarships, end

347

16 livings. Eminent men educated at it were Archbishops Cramer, Baneert, and Sterne, Bishops Good-rich, Beadon, Bale, and Pearson, the poets Fenton, Fanshaw, and Coleridge, the metaphysician Hartley, the traveller Clarke, Flamstead, Venn, Sterne, Jortin, Wakefield, and R. North.

Christ's College. - This was founded, in 1456, under the name of God's house, by Henry VI.; and refounded, in 1505, under its present name, by the mother of Henry VII. It stands in St. Andrew's street; and forms two courts, partly built by Inigo Jones, one of them 140 fect by 120. The chapel is 84 feet long, and has paintings of Heary VII. and others, and the gravestone of Cud-worth; and the gardens contain a mulberry-tree planted worth; and the gardens contain a minority-tree planted by Milton. The college has 15 fellowships, 29 scholar-ships, 18 livings, and an income of £9,179. Eminent snips, is livings, and include 25,173.

men educated at it were Archbishops Sharp and Cornwallis, Bishops Latimer, Law, and Porteous, the poets Milton, Cleland, and Quarles, the platonist More, the blind professor Saunderson, Leland, Mede, Cudworth, T. Burnet, L. Echard, Harrington, and Paley.

St. John's College.—This was founded, in 1511, by the will of the mother of Henry VII. It stands in St. John's street, on ground previously occupied by a canons' hospital; and comprises three old courts and a new one. The entrance-gate is of brick, with four large turrets: the first court is the oldest, built in 1510-14, and measuring 223 feet by 216; the second court is of the same century, and measures 270 feet by 240; the third court is smaller than either of the former; and the fourth court as smaller than elucer of the former; and the fourth court was built in 1830 by Rickman and Hutchinson, measures 430 feet by 180, is in the perpendicular English and the Tuder styles, and has a tower 120 feet high. The hall is 60 feet by 33; the library is spacious, and contains a very extensive and valuable collection of books; and the chapel measures 120 feet by 27, and has excellent stall-work, and a painting of St. John by Sir R. K. Porter. A covered bridge of three arches crosses the Cam within the grounds; and is nicknamed "the Bridge of Sighs." A spacious new court, a new Master's ledge, and a magnificent new chapel, after designs by G. G. Scott, was founded in 1864. These buildings cost an immense sum; they occupy the site of a large number of houses, which were removed to make way for them; the new chapel abuts upon St. John-street, was opened in May 1869, alone cost about £57,000, and is a chief ornament of the town; and the other new buildings stand between the previously-existing body of the college and the river on the Bridge-street side. The college has 60 fellow-ships, about 60 scholarships, 9 sizarships, 54 livings, ships, about 60 scholarships, 9 sizarships, 54 irrings, and an income of £26, 617. Eminent men educated at it were Bishops fisher, Stillingfleet, Watson, Beveridge, and Morgan, the poets Sackville, Wyat, Ren Jonson, Herrick, Hammond, Prior, Brome, Otway, A. Phillips, Browne, Kirke White, and Wordsworth, the historian Cave, the antiquary Baker, Sir J. Cheke, R. Ascham, Sir J. Wyatt, Sir K. Digby, Lord Burleigh, Lord-Chancellor Egerton, Lord Falkland, the Earl of Strafford, Lord-Keeper Guildford, Fairfax, Cartwright, Stackhouse, Wilstelaw Dr. Rendley, Bowyor, Peege, S. Jenyns. Whittaker, Dr. Beutley, Bowyer, Pegge, S. Jenyns, Briggs, Horne Tooke, the Marquis of Rockingham, and Wilberforce.

Magdalene College.-This was begun, in 1500, by the Duke of Buckingham; and completed, in 1542, by Lord-Chancellor Audley. It stands in Bridge-street, on the site of the original Augustinian priory; and comprises two courts, one of their 110 feet by 78. The library contains the collection of Scoretary Pepys. The college has 13 fellowships, 25 scholarships and exhibitions, 7 livings, and an income of £4,130. Eminent men educated at it were Archbishop Grindall, Bishops Cumberland and Walton, Lord-Keeper Bridgman, the mathematician Waring, Penys, Duport, and Waterland. Trinity College.—This was founded, in 1546, by Henry

VIII. It stands in Trinity street, on ground pre-viously occupied by seven bostels and two colleges. One of the colleges boro the name of Michael house, and was founded, in 1324, by Hervey de Stanton; the other boro the name of King's hall, and was founded, in 1337, by Edward III.; and both were suppressed by Henry VIII. The present college comprises three courts, called the great court, Nevile's court, and King's court. The great court is entered by a fine old gateway; measures 1,202 feet in circuit; and has an octagonal conduit in the centre. Nevile's court was built in 1609, by D. Nevile; and measures 228 feet by 148. King's court was built in 1823-6, after designs by Wilkins, at a cost of £40,000; displays much elegance; and was named in honour of displays intended the subscription for it with a donation of £1,000. The half, in the great court, is 100 feet long, 40 feet wide, and 50 feet high; and is in the Tudor style. The master's lodge, in the same court, is large and lofty; and has since the time of Elizabeth, been the residence of the sovereigns visiting the university. The library, in Nevile's court, was designed by Wren; is 190 feet long, 40 feet wide, and 38 feet high; Wren' is 130 feet long, 40 feet wide, and 35 feet fight, and contains the manuscript of Paradise Lost, a statue of Lord Byron by Thorwaldsen, and busts of eminent members of the college by Roubiliac. The chapel, in the great court, is late perpendicular, 201 feet long, 34 feet wide, and 44 feet high, and has an altar-piece by West; and the ante-chapel contains Roubiliac's statue of Newton. The college has 60 fellowships, 72 scholarships, 16 sizarships, 3 professorships, 74 livings, and an income of £34,522. Eminent men educated at it were nncome of £34,522. Emment men equeated at it were bishops Tunstal and Watson, the poets Cowley, Dryden, Donne, Herbert, G. Fletcher, Marvel, V. Bonrne, Lee, Hayley, Byron, and Cribbe, the astrologer Dee, Robert Earl of Essex, Whitegir, Sir Edward Coke, Lord Bacon, Fulke Lord Brooke, Sir R. Cotten, Sir H. Spelman, P. Hol-Jand, Hacket, Wilkins, Pearson, Barrow, Willoughly, Bentley, Gale, Ray, Cotes, Kobert Nelson, C. Middleton, Le Neve, Maskeline, Sir Isaac Newton, Villiers, Gov-ernor Pownall, Sir R. Filmer, Sp. Perceval, Lord Lausdowne, Lord Macaulay, Dr. Whewell, and Professor Sedgek. A statue of Macaulay was prepared in 1866.

Emmanuel College. -- This was founded, in 1584, by Sir W. Miklmay. It stands in St. Andrews-street, on the sire of the Dominican priory; and comprises two courts, one of them 123 feet by 107. The chapel was finished, in 1677, by Archbishop Sancroft, after designs by Wren; and has an altar-piece of the Prodigal Son by Amiconi. The college has 13 fellowships, about 22 scholarships, 25 livings, and an income of £6,517. Eminent men educated at it were Archbishops Sancroft and Manners-Sutton, Bishops Hall, Bedell, Hurd, and Percy, the commentator Poole, the bible translator Chaderton, the mathematician Wallis, the orientalist Castell, the antiquaries Twysden and Morton, Sir W. Temple, Joshua Barnes, Blackwall, Farmer, Martyn, Parr, Temple, and Akenside.

Sidney-Sussex College. - This was founded, in 1596, by the will of Frances Sidney, Countess of Sussex. stands in Sidney-street, on the site of the Greyfriars' monastery; and comprises two courts, restored by Wyatville. The hall measures 60 feet by 27; and the chapel has an altar-piece of the Repose of the Holy Family by Pittoni. The college has 10 fellowships, 20 scholarships, 8 livings, and an income of £5.393. Eminent men edu-8 livings, and an income of £5,393. Eminent men clu-cated at it were Archbishop Bramhall, Bishops Reynolds, Seth Ward, and Wilson of Soder. O. Cromwell, Chief Baron Atkyns, the historian May, Fuller, Comber, L'Estrange, and Twining.

Downing College. - This was chartered in 1800, and founded in 1807, by will of Sir George Downing, Bart. The buildings stand between Trumpington-street and Regent-street; were erected after designs by Wilkins, at a cost of £60,000; and form a quadrangle in the Grecian style. The college has 8 fellowships, 10 scholarships, 2 professorships, 2 livings, and an income of £7,240.

CAMBRIDGE, a hamlet in Shinbridge parish, Gloucester; on the river Cam, 4 miles NNW of Dursley. It has a post-office under Stonehouse. It was known to the Saxons as Cwarbriege; and was the scene of a battle, in the time of Edward the Elder, between the Saxons

CAMBRIDGE HEATH, a locality in the north-eastern outskirts of London; on the Regent's canal, near Hackney. It has a post-office; under Hackney, Lendon, N.E.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE, an inland county; bounded, on the NW, by Northampton; on the X by Lincoln; on the E, by Norfolk and Suifolk; out he S, by Essex and Herts; and on the W, by Beds and Huntingdon. Its greatest length, from north to south is about 50 miles; its greatest breadth, about 30 miles; its circumference, about 133 miles; and its area, 523,831 acres. The surface throughout the N, is mostly low, level, fen land, intersected by canals and ditches, and even elsewhere consists mainly of low flat tracts, diversified only by billocks, Orwell-bill about 300 feet high, and the bleak bare range of the Gogmagog hills. The chief rivers are the Ouse, the Cau, the Lark, and the Nen. Alluvial and diluvial deposits form the fen-tracts throughout the S; and middle oolite, lower greensaud, and upper greensand rocks form small tracts along the Cam. Clunch appears about Burwell, and is the material of Ely cathedral; blue elay or gault abounds about Ely, and is used there for white bricks and earthenware; and Portland oolite appears in parts farther N.

The soil is very diversified, and generally fertile. That of much of the fens is a very rich vegetable mould; that of the feus about Wisheach is a good loam; that of other parts of the fens is a strong black earth, incumbent on gravel; that of the chalk tracts is variously clay, loam, chalk, and gravel; and that of the highest and poorest parts of these tracts is so thin and incohesive as to be unsuitable for tiliage. About one-third of the entire area is fenny; and the rest is variously arable, meadow, and pasture. The farms, for the most part, are small. The fens, in their several parts and different conditions, yield variously turf-fuel, hay, green crops, hemp, flax, and rich crops of corn. Other arable tracts yield excellent wheat, heans, turnips, and sainfoin. Dairy lands, about the centre, are famous for butter; and about Cottenham and Soham, for cream cheese. The heathlands are depastured by short-wooled sheep; the fen-pastures, by long-wooled sheep; and the tracts of different kinds maintain great numbers of cattle, draught horses, pigeons, and wild-fowl. Much produce, of various kinds, is sent to London. The only manufactures, of any note, are white bricks, course pottery, baskets, and reed-matting. Numerous canals intersect the fen-tracts, all out originally for the purpose of drainage, but a number of them serving also for navigation; and a canal, called the London and Cambridge Junction, connects the Cam with the Stort, and through that with the Lea and the Thanes. Railways, belonging to the Eastern Counties, the East Auglian, and the Great Northern systems, intersect all parts of the county. One comes in near Linton, and goes north-north-eastward, past Brinkley and Newmarket, toward Bury-St. Edmund; another deflecting from the former at Great Chesterford on the north border of Essex, goes northward to Cambridge, and thence north-north-eastward, past Ely, toward Lynn; another comes in at Royston, and goes north-north-eastward to Cambridge; another comes in from Bedford, and goes north-eastward to Cambridge; another goes from Cambridge, eastward, to the first at Brinkley; another goes from Cambridge, north-westward, toward St. Ives and Huntingdon; another, connecting with the last at St. Ives, goes east-north-eastward, past Ely, toward Brandon; another, also connecting at St. Ives, and going north-north-eastward, passes March, and proceeds to Wisbeach; and another goes from Ely north-westward to March, and thence westward toward Peterborough.

The county contains 152 parishes, part of another parish, and 3 extra-parochial tracts, besiles the parishy and extra-parochial tracts, besiles the parishy and extra-parochial colleges of Cambridge. It is divided not the hundre is of Armingford, Chesterton, Cheveley, Chilford, Fiendish, Longstow, Northstow, Papworth, Radfield, Staine, Staploe, Triplow, Wetherley, Whitlesford, Ely, Wisbeach, North Witchford, and South Witchford, the liberty of Whittlesey and Thorney, and the boroughs of Cambridge and Wisbeach. The northern section of it forms the like of Ely; and contains the hundreds of Ely, Wisheach, and Witchford, the liberty of Whittlesey and Thorney, and the borough of Wisheach. The registration county is more extensive than the electoral county; includes 114,755 acres from adjoing counties; excludes 11,590 acres; contains 571,758 acres; and is divided into the districts of Caxton, Chesterton, Cambridge, Linton, Newmarket, Ely, North Witchford, Whittlesey, and Wisbeach. The market towns are Cambridge, Ely, Linton, March, Thorney, Wisbeach, and parts of Newmarket and Royston; and the towns next in note are Caxton, Chesterton, Whittlesey, and Soham. The chief seats are Cheveley Park, Wimpole Hall, Bourne House, Waresley Park, Madingley Park, Gogmagog Hill, Abington Hall, Wratting Park, Branches Park, Croxton Park, Chippenham Park, Babraham, Papworth, Fordham Abbey, Hadley Park, Fulbourne House, Horseheath Lodge, Stetchworth House, Shudy-Camps Park, Sawston Hall, Milton, and Swafiham. Real property in 1815, £705,372; in 1843, £1,102,415; in 1851, £1,138,314; in 1860, £1,234,465.

The county is governed by a lord-lieutenant, a deputy, a high sheriff, and about 48 magistrates. It is in the Home military district, and in the Norfelk judicial circuit. The assizes are held at Cambridge; and quarter sessions at Cambridge, Ely, and Wisbeach. The police force, in 1864, comprised 11 men in the borough of Wisheach, 52 in the rest of the Isle of Ely, 34 in the borough of Cambridge, and 70 in the rest of the county; the crimes committed were 14 in the borough of Wisbeach, 49 in the rest of the Isle of Ely, 41 in the borough of Cambridge, and 56 in the rest of the county; the known depredators and suspected persons at large were 137 in the borough of Wisbeach, 499 in the rest of the Isle of the borough of Wisceau, 439 in the rest of the isse of Ely, 303 in the borough of Cambridge, and 305 in the rest of the county; and the houses of bad character wero 51 in the borough of Wisbeach, 56 in the rest of the Isle of Ely, 54 in the borough of Cambridge, and 26 in the rest of the county. The prisons are houses of correction in Wisheach and Ely, and borough jail and county jail at Cambridge. Two members of parliament are rejan at Camorings. Two memors of parnament are re-turned by the borough of Cambridge, two by the univer-sity, and three by the county. The county electors in 1868 were 7,060. The county is in the diocese of Ely, 1868 were 7,000. The county is in the diocese of Liy, and the deancry of Fordham in the archdeaconry of Ely, and the deancry of Fordham in the archdeaconry of Sudbury. The poorrates, for the registration county in 1863, 1222 were not according to the rites of the Established church; births, 6,067, of which 460 were illegitimate; deaths, 3,582, - of which —of which 360 were Hiegitimate; deaths, 3,582,—of which 1,260 were at ages under 5 years, and 126 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-80, 13,398; births, 62,065; deaths, 33,447. The places of worship, in 1851, in the county-proper, were 176 of the Church of England, with 52,917 sittings; 38 of Independents, with 12,195 s.; 72 of Baptists, with 17,897 s.; 3 of Onakers, with 410, 152, 52 of Unitarians, with 330 s.; 57 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 11,764 s.; 39 of Primitive Methodists, with 5,105 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Bordon and the second section of the second s s.; 5 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 1,430 s.; 1 of Lady Huntingdon's Connexion, with 550 s.; 5 of isolated congregations, with 1,298 s.; 2 of Latter Day Saints, with 270s.; 3 of Romau Catholics, with 350 s.; and 1 of Jews. The schools were 188 public day schools, with 16,559 scholars; 398 private day schools, with 7,770 s.; 230 Sunday schools, with 24,006 s.; and 11 evening schools for adults, with 156 s. Pop. in 1801, 89,346; in 1821, tor adutes, with 100 s. A op. in 100 t. 35,540; in 102t, 122,387; in 1841, 16t,459; in 1861, 176,016. Inhabited houses, 37,634; uninhabited, 1,883; building, 74.

The territory new forming Cambridgeshire belonged

The territory now forming Cambridgeshire belonged first to the Iberians, and afterwards to the Teemi. It became part of the Roman province of Flavia Casariensis; and subsequently was included mainly in East Anglia, and partly in Mercia. The Danes overram it in $70; held it in subjection during 50 years; were driven from it in $21, by Edward the Ebber; and again overram it in 1010. The Isle of Ely was a separate jurisdiction, under the name of South Girwa; and the rest of the county took the name of Grentebrigskire or Granthridgeshire. The Isle of Ely made resistance to William the Conqueror; and held out against him till 1074. The county in general, and the Isle of Ety in particular. suffered severely during the civil wars in the times of Stephen, John, and Henry III.; and they stood strongly for the parliament in the wars of Charles I .- lcknieldstreet went along the southern border, past Royston and Hixton, toward Newmarket. Ermine-street went across the south-west, north-north-westward, from Royston, to-ward Godmanchester. The Via Devana went across the sonth centre, north-westward from the vicinity of Linton, past Cambridge toward Godmanchester. The Devil's Ditch goes across the south-east, a little west of Burwell. Traces of British earthworks occur at the Devil's Ditch and at Fleam Dyke. Roman coins, urns, and other remains, have been found at Cambridge, Ely, March, So-ham, Chatteris, Wilney, the Gogmagog hills, and other places. Remains of abbeys and priories occur at Therney, Denny, Cambridge, Isleham, and Barham. or Norman bits of architecture occur in Ely cathedral and in Duxford, Stuntney, Ickleton, and other churches. Nine castles of note stood at different places; but all, except the gateway of one at Cambridge, have disappeared.

CAMDDWR (The), a stream of Cardigan; rising under Tregaron mountain, and running 7 miles south-eastward to the Town, 3 miles above Capel-Ystrad-fin.

CAMDEN-PLACE, a seat of the Marquis of Camden in the north-west of Kent; 2 miles ENE of Bromley. It was the residence and death-place of Camden the anti-quary; and, passing to Lord Chancellor Pratt, who was raised to the peerage in 1765, gave to him his title of Baron Camden of Camden-Place.

CAMDEN-TOWN, a subarb of London, a sub-district, and three chapelries in St. Pancras parish and district, Middlesex. The suburb adjoins the north-east side of Regent's Park, 31 miles NW of St. Paul's; is inregent's Fark, 54 lines IVW of St. Tadis, 18 in-tersected by the licgent's canal and by the North Lon-don and Northwestern railways; and has a railway station of Camden with telegraph, a railway station of Camilen-Road, and three post-offices, Camden-Town-High-street, Camden-Town-Park-street, and Camden-Road, + all under London N. W. It was founded in 1791; it took its name from the first Marquis of Camden, the lessee of the manor; and it contains good streets, crescents, and places. Here are a veterinary college, St. Martin's alms-house, St. Pancras' workhouse, a cemetery, with the graves of C. Dibdin and Sir J. Barrow, and the depôt of the Northwestern railway, with the stationary engines for drawing the trains up an inclined plane.— The sub-district is bounded by fines along High-street, the Regent's canal, Glouester-place, Pencras-road, Brewer-street, Skinner-street, and New-road. Acres, 171. Fop., 23,266. Houses, 2,550. The chapefries are Canden Town, St. Paul-Canden-New Town, and St. Thomas-Canden-New Town, Pop., 15,832, 5,145, and 5,000. The livings are vicarages in the diocese of London. don. Value of C.-T., £300; of St. P., £350; of St. T., £420.* Patron of C.-T., the Vicar of St. Pancras; of St. P., the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's; of St. T., alter-Pr., the Dean and Chapter of St. Faints; of St. 1., anceinately the Crown and the Bishop. C. T. church stands in Camden-street; was built in 1823; and has an lonic portico. St. Paul's church stands in Canden-square, and is recent and elegant. St. Thomas, church stands in Wrotham-road: was built in 1863; has a well-proportioned tower, with a spire roof; and presents a picturesque but foreign appearance. There are several dissenting chapels. Extensive public baths were erected in 1867; and a memorial statue of Richard Cobden, in 1868. CAMEL (THE). See ALAN (THE).

CAMELEY, a parish in Clutton district, Somerset; 51 miles WNW of Radstock r. station. It contains Temple-Cloud village, with post-office under Bristol. Acres, presciour singe, with post-once under firstol. Acres, 1,633. Real property, 23,808. Pop., 526. Houses, 102. Bath stone is quarried. The living is a rectory in the diorese of Bath and Wells. Value, £256.* Patron, J. Hippisley, Esq. The church is ancient. There are a national school and charities £21.

CAMELFORD, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Cornwali. The town stands on the river Camel, on the skirt of a moorish upland tract, 12 miles N by E of Bodmin, and 14 N of Bodmin-road r. station. It is an ancient place; was incorporated by one of the Cornish Earls; sent two members to parliament, till disfranchised by the act of 1832; and has still a corporation. Two battles were fought near it; the one in 543, between King Arthur and his nephew Mordred, fatal to both; the other in $23, between Egbert and the Cornishmen. "Ossian" Macpherson represented the borough in parliament; and Captain Wallis, the discoverer of Tahiti, was born in its vicinity. The town has recently undergone considerable improvement; and it contains a town-hall, with market-house, a free school, used as an evening chapel-of-ease, and places of worship for Wesleyans, Un. Free Methodists, and Bible Christians. It has a head post-office, two banking-offices, and two chief inns; and is a seat of petty sessions, and a polling-place. A weekly market is held on Friday; and fairs on the Friday after 10 March, and on 26 May, 17 and 18 July, 6 Sept., and the second Wednesday of Nov. The town gave the title of Baron to the Pitts of Boconnoc, and the Smiths.—The parish hears also the name of Lanteglos: or is called properly Lanteglos-by-Camelford. Lanteglos; or is called property Lanteglos-oy-tametora. Acres, 3,951. Real property, £5,329. Pop., 1,620. Houses, 328. The property is much subdivided. The manor belongs to the Duchy of Cornwall. A deer park, attached to the manor, was disparked by Henry VIII. Slate and stone are worked. Traces of an ancient camp are seen on St. Siths Beacon. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Advent, in the diocese of Exeter. Value. #700. * Patron, the Prince of Wales. The church stands 14 mile west of the town: was restored in 1866; and contains a fine font, and monuments of several old Cornish families. A chantry chapel of the 14th ceutury stood in the town; but was shut up at the Reformation, and has disappeared.

The sub-district contains the parishes of Camelford, Advent, Davidstow, St. Clether, Michaelstow, St. Teath, and St. Breward. Acres, 34,479. Pop., 5,955. Houses, 1,083. The district comprehends also the sub-district of Boscastle, containing the parishes of Minster, For-The parts of the p 140,-of which 47 were at ages under 5 years, and 3 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 560; births, 2,781; deaths, 1,532. The places of worthin in 1851 were 14 of the Clurch of England, with 3,850 sittings; 9 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 798 s.; 15 of the Wesleyan Association, with 2,130 s.; and 16 of Bible Christians, with 1,778 s. The schools were 7 public day schools, with 275 scholars; 18 private day schools, with 413 s.; 25 Sunday schools, with 1,253 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 48 s.

CAMEL (QUEEN), a village and a parish in Wincanton district, Somerset. The village stands near the river Yeo, on an affluent of that river, 1 mile SW of Sparkford r. station, and 6 ENE of Hehester; and has a post-office; under Taunton. Fairs are held at it on 11 June and 25 Oct.; and a sulphurous spring, of some note, is a mile to the west. The parish comprises 2,498 acres. Real prothe west. The parsar computes 2,453.e. The property et.4,975. Pop. 734. Houses, 152. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £22.* Patron, P. S. J. Mildmay, Es. The church is very good; and S. J. Mildmay, Esq. The church is very go there are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £11.

there are a Westyan chapet, and channes 211.

CAMEL (Wrst), a parish in Yeovil district, Somerset; on the river Ye, 2 miles NW of Marston r. station, and 4 ENE of 11.hester. It includes the hamlets of Downhead, Scerthill, and I rgashay; and its post-town is Oncen-Camel under Taunton. Acres, 1,953. Real pro-Queen-Camer Interest Families Acres, 17255. Real property, 23, 443. Pop., 335. Houses, 72. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, 2275. " Patron, the Bishop of Bath and Wells. The church is good.

CAMELY. See CAMELEY.

CAMERIAN See CAMBERT GRAM. See CAMBERTON, a perish in Clutton district, Somerset; on the Fosse way and the Radford canal, 5½ miles SSW of Twerton r. station and 61 SW of Bath. An act was passed in 1863 to construct a railway from the Great Western at Bristol to Radstock, with a branch to Camerton. The parish includes part of Carlingcott hamlet; and its post-town is Timsbury, under Bath. Acres, 1,748. Real property, £6,532. Pop., 1,368. Houses, 279. The property is divided among a few. Camerton Park is the seat of John Jarrett, Esq. Coal is worked. Roman pottery, glass, and other relies, and remains of Roman villas, have been found. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £481.* Patron, John Jarrett, Esq. The church is good; and contains several very fine tombs of the Carews. There are chapels for Baptists and Wesleyans.

CAMERTON, a hamlet in Burstwick parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 3½ miles SE of Hedon. Pop., 29. Houses, 4.

CAMERTON, Cumberland. See CAMMERTON. CAMES-ASH, a tything in Bishops-Lydeard parish, Somerset; 43 miles NE of Milverton.

CAM-FELL, a mountain 4 miles SSW of Hawes, N. R. Vorkshire. Its height is 1,925 feet.

CAM-HOUSES, a hamlet in High-Abbotside township, Aysgarth parish, N. R. Yorkshire; under Cam-Fell, 5 miles NW of Hawes.

CAMLAN, a township in Mallwyd parish, Merioneth; on the river Dovey, 2 miles S of Dinas-Mowddwy. Real property, £573. Pop., 180. CAMLAS (THE), an athluent of the river Usk, in Brecon. CAMLET (THE), an affluent of the river Severn, in

Salop

CAM (Low). See CAM. CAMLYN, a bay on the N coast of Anglesey; 7 miles

W of Amlweh.

CAMMERINGHAM, a parish in the district and CABLEGISTATIANI, a parish in the district and county of Lincoln; on the wolds, 52 miles E of Marton r. station, and 7 NNW of Lincoln. Post-town, Stow, under Gainsborough. Acres, 1,506. Real property, 2162. Pop., 137. Houses, 27. The property is divided among three. Limestone occurs. The living is a principle of the discovery of Lincoln. Value 6125. vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £152. Patron, Lord Monson. The church is modern.

CAMMERTON, a township and a parish in Cockermouth district, Cumberland. The township lies on the mouth district, Cumberland. The township lies on the river Derwent, and on the Workington and Cockermouth railway, 3 miles E by N of Workington, and has a sta-tion on the railway. Acres, 788. Real property, £1,022. Pop., 224. Houses, 41. The parish includes also the township of Seaton; and extends down the Derwent to the sea. Post-town, Workington. Acres, 3,727; of which $47 are water. Real property, £8,344; of which £3,000 are in mines, and £350 in iron-works. Pop., 1,326. Houses, 277. The property is subdivided. Cammerton Hall is a chief residence. Coal is largely worked; brickmaking is carried on; and there are tin-plate and iron works. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £300. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Carlisle. The church is very good; and contains the tomb of Black Tom of the north.

CAMMON, a township in Llaufyllin parish, Mont-omery; near Llaufyllin. Pop., 44.

gomery; near Llanfyllin.

CAMP, a hamlet iu Miserden parish, Gloucester; 55 miles NE of Stroud.

CAMPDEN, a sub-district in the district of Shipstonon-Stour, and county of Gloucester. It lies around Chipping-Campden; and contains four parishes in Gloucester. and one partly in Gloucester and partly in Warwick. Acres, 20,186. Pop., 4,845. Houses, 1.114.

Acres, 29,186. Pop., 4,845. Houses, 1.114. CAMPDEN (EROAD), a hamlet in Chipping-Campden parish, Cloucester; I mile SE of Chipping-Campden. Real property, £2,744. CAMPDEN (Guirping-Campden. CAMPDEN (Guirping-Campden. the district of Shipston-on-Stour, and county of Glou-The town stands in a fertile valley, surrounded by cultivated hills and hanging woods, adjacent to the West Midland railway, 6 miles NNW of Morton-in-the-Marsh, It consists chiefly of one street, nearly a mile long; and has, about the centre, a court-house and a market-house, the former a structure of the beginning of the 15th century or earlier, the latter creeted, in 1624, by Sir Baptist Hickes. It was the meeting-place of the Saxon Kings, in 657, for consulting in the war against the Britons; and it became, in the 14th century, a principal mart for wool, and the residence of many opulent merchants; but it has lost nearly all of its manufacturing consequence. A large extant mansion, of nearly the same age as the court-house, is believed to have been the dwelling of one of the wool merchants. The town has a post-office; under Moreton-in-the-Marsh; a station, with telegraph, on the railway; a grammar-school, with endowed income of £170, and an exhibition at Pembroke college, Oxford; two endowed schools, with £130 and £26; suites of alms-houses, founded by Sir Baptist Hickes, with income of £140; and a chief inn, called the Noel Arms. A weekly market is held on Wednesday; and fairs on Ash-Wednesday, 23 April, 5 Aug., and 1i Dec. The Cotswold games, instituted in the time of James I., and sung by Ben Jonson, Drayton, and other poets, were held on Dovers-hill, about 1 a mile from the town. Dr. Harris, the famous preacher, born in 1658, and George Ballard, author of "Memoirs of British Ladies," were natives.

The parish includes also the hamlets of Berrington, Broad-Campden, and Westington-with-Combe. Acres. 474. The property is not much divided. The manor belonged at Domesday to Hugh Lnpus, Earl of Chester; was purchased, in the time of James I., by Sir Baptist Hickes, who was created Viscount Campden; passed to the family of Noel, Earls of Cainsborough; and was bequeathed, in 1798, by the sixth Earl, to his nephew G. Noel Edwards, Esq., who assumed the name of Noel. A magnificent mausion was built on the manor by Str. Baptist Hickes, at a cost of £29,000; and was destroyed by Lord Noel, grandson of Sir Baptist, but has left some remains. Campden House, now the seat of Viscount Campden, is a large modern mansion. A greet battle was fought between the Mercians and the West Saxons at Bernington; and the "barrows" over the bodies of the slain are supposed to have given rise to its name. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £640.* Patron, the Earl of Gainsborough. The church is fine decorated English. A memorial chapel, in the early English style, was built in 1868. A chapel of ease is at Westington. There are three dissenting chapels, and charities £489.

CAMPDEN-HILL, a chapelry in Kensington parish, CAMPLIA, and the state of the s

CAMP (NORTH), a station on the Reading branch of the Southeastern railway, at Aldershot, in Hants. It has a post-office under Farmborough station. See ALDER-CAMPODUNUM. See ALMONDSURY.

CAMPS. See CASTLE-CAMPS.

CAMPS.ALL, a township, a parish, and a sub-district in Doncaster district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township adjoins the Doncaster and Wakefield railway, 14 mile W of Askern station, and 74 N by W of Doncaster: and includes the hamlet of Farnsdale. Acres, 1,470. Real property, £2,480. Pop., 349. Houses, 64. The parish contains also the townships of Askern, Norton, Fenwick, contains also the townships of Askern, Norton, renwice, Moss, and part of Sutton; and its post-town is Askern under Doncaster. Acres, 9,360. Real property, with the rest of Sutton, £14,816. Pop., 1,918. House, 427. The property is not much divided. Campsall Hall is the seat of P. B. Frack, Eq. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £140.* Fatton, G. C. Yarange, and the season of the seaso borough, Esq. The church is ancient. The vicarage of Askern is a separate benefice. There are three Methodist chapels, an endowed school for girls, a national school, and some charities. The sub-districts contain six parishes, and parts of two others. Acres, 25,671. Pop., 4,549. Houses, 1.003.

CAMPSEY-ASH, a parish in Plonesgate district, Suffolk; on the river Deben and the East Suffolk railway, near Wickham-Market-Junction station, 21 miles E by N of Wickham-Market. It has a post-office under Wicklam-Market Acres. 1,513. Real property, £2,982. Pop., 372. Honses, so. The property is divided among a few. Ash Honse is the seat of the Sheppards. A numery of St. Chee was founded here, in the time of King John, by Theobald de Valoines; and some remains of it exist. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich Valve, £350. Patron, Lord Rendlesham. The church has an ancient tower; contains a brass of a priest; and is fair.

CLMPTON, a village and a parish in Biggleswade district, Beis. The village stands on the river lvel, 17 raile W of Shefforf r. station, and 6 SW of Biggleswade; and has a post-office under Biggleswade. The parish includes also the township of Shefford, Acres, 1,120. Real property, £4,405. Fop. 1,544. Houses, 327. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Shefford, in the diocese of Ey. Value, £374.* Patron, Sir C. R. Osborn, Part. Doth churches are good; and the mother one has a brass of 1459. E. Elomnid, the p.ex, was buried here in 1823. There are a national school and churties £144.

CAMROSE, or CAMRHOS, a village and a parish in Havrifordwest district, Pentroke. The village stands on a adhent of the river Cleddy, 31 miles NNW of Haver-fordwest x, station; and has a post-office under Haver-fordwest and fairs on 13 Feb, and 12 Nov. The parish includes also the villages of Keston, Wolfsdale, and Pei-comb. Acres, 8,1:29. Real property, 26,343. Pop., 1,123. Honses, 241. The property is much subdivided. Campose House is the seat of H. W. Bowen, Esq. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. Davids. Value, 250. Patron, fi. W. Bowen, Esq. The church is not good. There are two dissenting chapels.

CAMSCOTT, a hamlet in Hifmcombe parish, Somerset, CAMS-HILL, an eminence near Malmesbury, in Wilts, It was the seine of a battle between Stephen and the Emoress Marillar, and it has three ancient camps, two of them British, the other supposed to be Saxon.

CAMVELIN, a village in Llangan parish, Carmarthen; 53 miles NE of Parberth.

CAN CHEN, an affluent of the river Chelmer, at a point near Chelmsford, in Essex.

CANEURY, a manor adjacent to Kingston, in Surrey. It belonged to Melton priory; and has remains of a curious monastic barn, about 99 feet square.

CANCANI PROMONTORIUM. See Braich-y-

CANDA (TRE), a stream of Comberland; running 9 miles south-westward to the Eden, in the vicinity of CANDLESBY, a perish in Spilsby district, Lincoln; 2 miles WNW of Burghr: station, and 3 ENE of Spilsby. It has a post-office nucles Spilsby. Acres, 850. Real property, 21,852. Pop., 240. Houses, 66. The property is much subdivided. Candlesby Hall is a chief residence. Several pieces of old armour and weapons have been found. The living is a rectory in the diorese of Lincoln. Value, 2200.* Patron, Magdalene College, Out 51. The church is good.

CANDLESHOD, a wapentake in the parts of Lindsey, Hir win; certure two divisions, Marsh and Wold. The Marsh div. contains Addictherne, Burgh, and nine other parishes. Acres, 43,850. The Wold div. contains Asilov, Candlesby, and twelve other parishes. Acres, 17,262. Pop. of both div. 10,062. Houses, 2,237. CANDOVER-BROWN. See Brown-Campower.

CANDOVER BROWN See Brown-Carbover, CANDOVER-CHILTON, a parish in Alresford district, Hants; on the river Itelen, 5 miles N of New Alresford r. station, and 23 NE of Winchester. Posttown, Erown-Cunlover, under Mitcheldever station. Pers. 1, 472. Real property, 6301. Pop., 142. Houses, 21. The property all belongs to Lord Ashburton. The British is a rectory, unnexed to the rectory of Brown-Caniover, in the diocess of Winchester. The church is autient, smill, and good.

actions, small and gover.
CANDOVER-PRESTON, a parish in Basingstake district, Hunts, on the river Itchen, 6 miles N by E of New Alresford r. station, and 10½ NE of Winchester.

It has a post-office under Mitcheldever station. Acres, 3,413. Real property, £2,793. Pop., 476. Houses, 95. The property is divided among a few. Preston House is the seat of E. C. Rumbolt, Esq. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Nutley, in the diocess of Winchester. Value, £223. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Winchester. The church is ancient and very good; and contains a handsome monument, surmounted by a brass.

CANEWDON, a village and a parish in Rochford district, Essex. The village stands on the river Crouch, 34 miles NNE of Rochford, and 64 N of Southend r. station; and has a post-office under Chelmsford, and a fair on 24 June. Canute, the Dane, held his court here; and the name Canewdon is a corruption of Canute's Town. A Roman station also was here; and several Roman urns and a torso have been found. The parish includes part of Wallisea island. Acres, 4,071; of which 100 are water. Real property, £7,853. Pop., 664. Houses, 140. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £495. Patron, the Bishop of Peterborongh. The church is later English, has a massive tower, and is very good. There are an Independent chapel, and charities £132.

CANFIELD (Grear), a parish in Dummow district, Essex; on the river Roding, 2 miles S of the Lishop-Stortford, Dummow, and Braintree railway, and 33 SW of Dummow. It has a post-office under Chelmsford. Acres, 2,472. Real property, £3,575. Pop., 468. Houses, 115. The property is subdivided. Canfield House is the seat of the Barnards. There are remains of a moated castle, built by the De Veres. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Rochester. Value, £140.* Patron, J. M. Wilson, Esq. The church is tolerable; and has two brasses of the 16th century.

CANFIELD (LITTLE), a parish in Dunmow district, Essex; on the river Roding, and on the Bishop-Stortford, Dunmow, and Braintree railway, 3 miles W by S of Dunmow. It has a post-office under Chelmsford. Acres, 1,479. Real property, 22,315. Pop., 314. Houses, 74. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £327.* Patron, Christ's College, Cambridge. The church is partly ancient, partly a renovation of 1817, partly a reconstruction of 1859; shows Norman, perpendicular, and decorated characters in fine blending; has a tower and spire of 1317; and contains a richly sculptured monument, erected by the present rector to the memory of his mother.

CANFORD, a sub-district in Poole district, Dorset. It comprises part of Great Canford parish; excluding Longfleet and Parkstone tythings. Acres, 12,768.

Pop., 2,326. Houses, 468. CANFORD (GREAT), a village and a parish in Poole near the Southwestern railway, 2 miles E of Wimborne-Minster; and has a post-office under Wimborns, and an iron-foundry. The parish contains also the village of Little Canford, and the tythings of Kiuson, Longileet, and Parkstone; extends southward to Poole harbour; and includes part of Poole borough. Acres, 17,759; of which 1,740 are water. Rated property, exclusive of the parts within Poole borough, £6,401. Pop., 4,877. Houses, 976. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged once to John of Gaunt; belongs now to Sir J. B. Guest, Bart; and is of great extent. The mansion on it, Canford Hall, occupies the site of an Ursuline convent; is an edifice in the Tudor style, built, in 1823, for Lord de Minly; includes remains of the conventkitchen, with two huge fireplaces; and has a very fine hall. A gallery, connected by a cloister with the mansion. hall. A gainery, connected of Action Nineveh; and drives go contains Assyrian sculptures from Nineveh; and drives go through fir woods to the vicinity of Poole. Merly House, through fir woods to the vicinity of 1001c. Sq., contains to the west, the seat of Willett L. Adve, Esq., contains the Hearth and the sketches of his "Marriage paintings by Hogarth, and the sketches of his "Marringe a la Mode." The living is a vicarage in the dio. of Salisbury; and till 1865 included Kinson chapelry. Value, £450.* Patron, Sir J. B. Guest, Bart. The church has Norman features, particularly in the tower; and contains monuments, by E.con, to the Willetts of Merly. The chapelries of Kinson, Longfleet, and Parkstone are separate benefices. Charities, £22.

CANFORD (LITTLE), a village in Great Canford parish, Dorset; 2 miles NE of Great Canford. It has a post-office under Wimborne. CANKLOW, a hamlet in Whiston parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles SSE of Rotherham.

CANLEY, a hamlet in Stoneleigh parish, Warwick; 2 miles SW of Coventry.

CANN, or SHASTON-Sr. RUMBOLD, a parish in Shaftes-bury district, Dorset; on the verge of the county, 14 mile SE of Shaftesbury, and 44 SSE of Semley r. station. Post-town, Shaftesbury, under Salisbury. Acres, 930. Pop., 547. Houses, 126. The area is all included in the borough of Shaftesbury. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Salisbury. Value, £195.* Patron, the Earl of Shaftesbury.

CANNA-MILL, a hamlet in West Newton township, Kirknewton parish, Northumberland; 61 miles WNW of Wooler.

CANN-HALL, a locality adjacent to Epping forest, Essex; \(\frac{1}{2}\) a mile N by W of Forest Gate r. station, and \(\frac{5}{2}\) NE of St. Paul's, London. It has a post-office under 51 NE of St. Paul s, London. Leytonstone, London N. E.

CANNINGS (ALL). See ALL-CANNINGS. CANNINGS-BISHOPS. See BISHOPS-CANNINGS, CANNINGTON, a village, a parish, and a hundred, in Somerset. The village stands 2 miles SSW of a bend of the river Parret, and 33 NW by W of Bridgewater r. station; and has a post-office; under Bridgewater. It dates from ancient times; was known to the Saxons as Caninganmacrsees; had a Benedictine nunnery, founded in the time of King Stephen, by Robert de Courcy; and is supposed to have been the birth-place of the Fair Rosamoud, of ballad notoriety. The parish includes also the hamlets of Edstock and Beer; impinges some distance on the Parret; and is in the district of Bridgewater. Acres, 5,015; of which 380 are water. Real property, £4.850. Pop., 1,419. Houses, 320. The manor be-£4,850. Pop., 1,419. Houses, 320. The manor belongs to Lord Clifford. Cannington Park, the seat of Lord Clifford's ancestors, is now occupied as a grazing farm. Brymere House is the seat of the Hon. P. Plcydell Bouverie. Kithill, in the vicinity, has an altitude of 1,067 feet. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £371.* Patron, Lord Clitford. The church was part of the Benedictine nunnery; is later English, and fine; and contains tombs of the Cliffords. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a Roman Catholic chapel, a national school, a charity for alms-houses and for the poor amounting to £330 a-year, and other charities £34.

The hundred contains ten parishes. Acres, 23,411.
Pop., 5,700. Houses, 1,252.
CANNING-TOWN, a chapelry in West Ham parish,
Essex; adjacent to the Victoria docks and North Woolwich railway, 5½ miles E of London Bridge. It was constituted in 1866; and it has a post-office; under London

Living, a p. curacy.

CANNOCK, a village, a parish, a snb-district, an ancient forest, and two railways in Staffordshire. The village stands adjacent to the Walsall and Stafford railway, near Watling-street, 72 miles NNW of Walsall; and has a station on the railway, a post-office; under Stafford, public rooms, a banking-office, an I fairs on S May, 21 public rooms, a banking-office, and Latz on 8 May, 21 Aug., and 18 Oct. The public rooms were creeded in 1862; and include a large hall for lectures or concerts, a room for magistrates' meetings, and a reading-room. The making of edge-tools is carried on. The parish includes also the townships of Cannock-Wood, Hedincludes also the townships of Cannock Wood, Hed-nesford, Learneft, Huntington, and Great Wyrley, Acres, 10,775. Real property, £12,153. Pop., 3,964. Houses, 749. The property is much subdivibled. Much of the surface is part of the ancient forest; and par-takes its character of moor and mineral. The living is a vicange in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £185.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Lichfield. The church was repaired in 1859. Dr. Sacheverell was for some time incumbent. The vicange of Great Wyr-ley is a separate benefice. There are an Independent charel, a Weslevan charle, and charties £20.—The subchapel, a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £30. - The sub-district contains also two other parishes, parts of two more, and an extra-parochial tract; and is in the district of Penkridge. Acres, 22,583. Pop., 8,773. Houses, 1,674.—The ancient forest hears the name of Cannock Chase; extends to the vicinity of Bednal, Lichfield, and the Trent, with an area of about 25,000 acres; and was anciently a hunting-ground of the Mercian and the Norman kings. It long was covered with wood; but is now bleak, moorish, and wild; yet is so rich in coal and ironstone as to have been much encreached upon both for mining and for cultivation. Largo portions of it present the attractions of a hill country; and some spots have ancient standing-stones, supposed to be Druidical. Castle Hill in it is crowned by an ancient, British, double-trenched camp of 8 or 10 acres; and commands good view. A place, called the Old Nunnery, at Radmore, near Castle Hill, was the site of a Cistertian abbey, founded in the time of Stephen, and soon transferred to Stoneleigh in Warwickshire. - The two railways are called the Canuock Mineral and the Cannock Chase railways. The former was opened in 1859, and goes from the Walsall and Stafford at Cannock to the Treut Valley at Rugesalt and Salhot at Calmock to the Frent Valley at Ruge-ley. The latter is in four parts, authorised in 1860, 1862, 1864, and 1866; is aggregately 212 miles long; and goes to Wolverhampton and Hednesford.

goes to Wolverhampton and Hednestord.

CANNOCK CHASE. See CANNOCK.

CANNOCK WOOD, a township in Cannock parish,
Stafford; near Cannock. Pop., 275.

CANN-OFFICE, a village in Llangadfan parish, Montgomery; 6½ miles WNW of Llanfair. It occupies the site of a camp; has a post-office under Welshpool, and a good inn; and is a resort of anglers. A shooting-hox good hit; and is a result of angiers. A shooting-nox of Lord Powis is near it.

CANNONBY (CROSS). See CANONBY (CROSS).

CANNON-FEE, a tything in Crediton parish, Devon.

Pop., 1,411.
CANNONHOLD, a tything in Melksham parish, Wilts; near Melksham. Pop., 321.
CANN QUAltky, an excavation in dark blue shate, 44 miles NNE of Plymouth, in Devon. It is finely overlung by foliage; and has workings of the slate by water machinery.
CANNON PROPERTY SECRET

CANN-ST. RUMBOLD. See CANN.

CANOLE, a village in Trefeirig township, Llanbadarnfawr parish, Cardigan; near Aberystwith. CANONBURY, an ancient manor in Islington, 2 fawr parish, Carnegan; near acceptanta.

CANONBURY, an ancient manor in Islington, 2 miles N of St. Panl's, London. It belonged, at the Conquest, to Ralph de Berners; was given by him to the priory of St. Bartholomew; went, at the dissolution, to Lord Cromwell, afterwards Earl of Essex; and passed to successively the Earl of Warwick, Sir John Spencer, and Lord Compton, ancestor of the Marquis of Northampton. Canonbury House on it was built about 1362. as a mansion of the priors of St. Bartholomew; and Canas a mansion or the process of the transformer, and combury Tower, 17 feet square and 55 feet high, was added to the house either by Bolton the last prior, or by Sir John Spencer. Newberry, the bookseller, C. Suart, the poet, Chambers, the cyclopedist, and Gliver Goldsmith had apartments in the tower; and the last is said to have written here his." Vicar of Wakefield." Much of the manor is now built upon; and two suites of buildings on it are called Canonbury-square and Canonbury-grove.

CANONEY (Choose), a township and a parish in Cockermouth district, Cumberland. The township lies on the river Ellen, the Mayport and Carlisle railway, and the Solway frith, 2 miles NE of Maryport. Acres, 1,093; of which 425 are water. Real property, £4,571; of which £650 are in mines. Pop., 57. Houses, 17. The parish includes also the townships of Crosby and Birkby, parisi measures are commissing of costs, and its post-town is Mary-port. Acres, 3,911; of which 993 are water. Rated property, £14,111. Pop., 6,900. Houses, 1,492. The property; 214,111. Fob., 9,300. Houses, 1,372. The property is rauch subdivided. Coal and stone are worked. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £300.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Carlisle. The church is parrly Norman, and very good. The p. curacy of Maryport is a separate benefice.

CANON-FROME, a parish in Ledbury district, Hereford; on the river Frome, 2 miles N of Ashperton r. station, and 6 NW by N of Ledbury. Post-town, Bosoury, nader Ledbury. Acres, 1,023. Real property, £1,278. Pop., 115. Heuses, 18. The property is divided among a few. Canon-Frome Court is the seat of the Rev. John Hopton. The living is a vicarage in the dioces of Here-ford. Value, £220. Patron, the Rev. John Hopton. The church was built in 1861; is in the early English style, with ornate chancel and alabaster reredos; and retains the tower of a previous church.

tains the tower of a previous entirch.

CANONOATE, a township in Alnwick parish, Northumberland; near Alnwick. Pop., 536. Houses, 76.

CANON-PYON, a parish in Weebly district, Hereford;
4 miles SE of Weebly, and 44 W.W of Moreton r. station. It has a post-office under Hereford. Acres, 3, 706. tion. It has a post-office under Hereford. Acres, 5, 72. The Property £5,630. Pop., 763. Houses, 172. The property is much subdivided. Canon-Pyon House is a chief residence. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, not reported. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Hereford. The church is early English, in tolerable condition; and has a large old font and a screen

CANONS, a property in Little Staumore parish, Middlesex; 11 mile NW of Edgeware. It belonged to Andresex; 14 mile NW of Edgeware. It beringed to the priory of St. Bartholomew; went, at the dissolution, to the Losses; and passed to the Lakes, and to the first Duke of Chandos, the "Timon" of Pope. A palace was built on it by the Duke of Chandos; and pulled down in 1747. Canons Park here was the residence of the sportsman, O'Kelly; and figured in connexion with his famous horse "Eclipse."

CANONS-ASHBY. See ASHBY-CANONS.
CANONS-LEIGH. See BURLESCOMBE.
CANONTEIGN, the seat of Viscount Exmouth, in Devon; on the river Teign, 8 miles SW of Exeter. The mansion is an elegant edifice, erected by the late Viscount. The previous mansion was built in the time of Elizabeth: Inc previous massion was outer in the time of Enzagent, was garrisoned for Charles I., and taken by Fairfax; and is now used as a farm-house. The remains of the hero of Algiers were interred in the neighbouring church of CANSFIELD. See CANTFIELD. CANTELOFF, au ancient parish, now incorporated with Hethersett parish, in Norfolk; but still ranking as a distinct rectory, annexed to the rectory of Hethersett.

CANTERBURY, a city in Kent, and a diocese in Kent and Surrey. The city partly forms a district of itself, and is partly in the districts of Bridge and Blean. It stands on Watling-street, the river Stour, and the London and Dover railway, 6 miles S by E of Whitstable, and 55 by read, but 65 by railway, ESE of London. Railways go from it in five directions, toward Whitstable, London, Ashford, Dover, and Ramsgate; and give it communication with all the principal towns in the kingdom. Its site is a valley, surrounded by hills; its appearance, as seen from any point, is highly picturesque; and its environs are diversified, and very pleasant,

History. - Canterbury rose prior to the era of anthentic history; and comes into view as a British town under the name of Dwrhwern. 'The Remans made it one of their principal stations; rebuilt and strengthened it, over nearly the whole area occupied by the modern town; and called it Durovernum. The Saxons made it the capital of the kingdom of Eent; and called it Cantwardyrig. "the stronghold of the men of Kent." The arrival of Augustine in 597, followed by the conversion of Ethelbert, gave it consequence as the source of Christianity to England, and as the cradle of the metropolitical see. The Danes took it in $43, $52, 918, and 1,011; but were repelled by successively Elfield and Canute. It had a castle lefore the Conquest; and was called Civitas Cantuarie at Domesday. It had begun, at the full of the hegtarchy. to be eclipsed by Winchester and London; and it continued, for ages, to decrease in comparative importance; but, at the nurder of Thomas à Becket in its cathedral in 1170, it burst into celebrity as one of the most notable towns in Europe. Pilgrims of all runks, from all parts of Christoniom, crowded to its gates; and the romancers placed it side by side with Cologne and Competella, Henry II, visited it in 1172, 1179, and 1184; Richard L.

in 1194; Richard H., in 1389; and Henry VIII., the emperor Charles V., and the Queen of France, in 1519. Elizabeth also visited in 1573; Chorles I., in 1625; and Charles II., in 1660. Other historical notices will occur in our accounts of the ancient buildings.

Walls and Streets:- Walls most probably were built around the town by the Romans; walls certainly stood around it in the time of the Saxons; new walls and a ditch were formed in the time of Richard I.; and these were renovated, in 1374-S1, by Archbishop Simon of Sudbury. The area within them has been found to contain many Roman bricks, pavements, vascs, lachrymatories, and personal ornaments, at about 6 or 9 feet beneath the surface; and therefore was occupied by Roman houses. The walls were 6 feet thick, composed of large masses of chalk, cemented with a strong mortar, and lined and faced with flint; were surmounted by twentyone turrets, at equal distances; and had six gates. Portions of the walls, with two or three of the turrets, still stand in Broad-street. The west gate also still stands, contiguous to the river; and is a noble embattled structure, flanked by two lofty round towers. The ditch around the walls was originally 150 feet wide; but most of it is now built upon, or converted into gardens. Part of the present town is without the walls, and much is modern. present town is without the varis, and much is modern, handsome, and substantial; but most of it within the walls is ancient. The High-street presents gabled ends and projecting fronts. Alleys and lanes toward the cathedral and its precincts look antiquely picturesque. Mercery-lane, leading off the High-street, was named from the mercery-stalls at which pilgrims bought memorials of their visit, and contains some window arches of the "Checquers of the Hope," noted by the lively and laughter-loving Chaueer; and the first opening west of this lane shows part of the court into which the pilgrims rode. An inn still standing, called the Red Lion, enter-tained the ambassadors of Charles V. in 1520; and another ancient but modernized inn, called the Star, in the suburb of St. Dunstan, on the way from the railway station to the centre of the city, was a hostel for pilgrims who arrived after the shutting of the gates at night-fall. The city within the walls extends about 1 a mile from east to west, and somewhat more from north to south; and has an oval outline. "No city," remarks Mr. Walcott, "can shew a greater number of churches, monuments, and sites of interest; and no city has done less to preserve them. Till within a hundred years, townwalls, gates, towers, and old buildings, stood as in centuries since; but happily, a better feeling is now preva-lent, and the good work of restoration and repair has been begun.

Public Buildings .- The guild-hall, at the corner of High-street and Guild-Irall-street, was built in 1439, and rebuilt in 1697; has been exteriorly modernized; and contains pieces of aucient armour, and some eurious portraits. The court or sessions-house is a modern structure, in the suburb of St. Augustine. The city jail is partly the upper portion of the west gate, partly a contiguous erection of 1826; and has capacity for 21 male and 4 female prisoners; but is fit only to be used as a lock-up, and for debtors. The county jail adjoins the court-house, in the suburb of St. Augustine; is an receion of 1508, on the radiating plan, with the keeper's hours and chapel in the centre; and has capacity for male and 30 female prisoners. The music-hall is in St. Margaret-street. The theatre is in Guild-hall-St. Margaret-street. The theatre is in Guild-hall-street; and was built in 1861. The royal cavalry barracks were built in 1794, form three sides of a square, and present a striking appearance. The old infantry barracks were built in 1793, with accommodation for 2,000 men; formed, for some time, a station for the horse and foot artillery; and are now to be used for depots of cavalry. The new infantry barracks were built in 1811. The keep of the ancient castle stands in Castle-street, adjacent to the site of one of the city gates; measures 88 feet by 80; and is now used as a gas-work. The castle was taken, without resistance, in the time of King John, by Louis of France; because afterwards a prison; and was notable for the incarceration of Jews. The mound on which the donjon stood, now called the Dane John, has, along with part of the city walls, been converted into a city-mall, 1,130 feet long, laid out in spiral walks and shrubberies, and commanding a grand view of the cathedral. An adjacent field, outside the walls, was the scene of the martyrdoms in the reign of Mary, and bears the name of the Martyrs' field. The Archibishop's palace, founded in the time of the Saxons, rehulit by Lanfranc and extended by Hubert Walter and Stephen Langton, stood in Palace-street; but is now represented by little else than an arched doorway. This was the scene of the death of the Black Prince; of the prelude of the murder of Thomas à Becket; of the bridal feast of Edward I.; and of banquets to Henry VIII., Charles V., and Elizabeth. Otter public buildings will be noticed in subsequent paragraphs.

The Cathedral.—A church was built, by St. Augustine, on the site of the cathedral; greatly injured by the Danes in 933; restored by Archbishop Ido, in 940-60; damaged again by the Danes in 1011, and almost destroyed by fire in 1067; and contained the bodies of St. Blaize, St. Wilfred, St. Dunstan, St. Alphege, and St. Andoen, the heads of St. Swithin and St. Furseus, and the arm of St. Bartholomew. The present edifice was commenced in 1070-36 by Archbishop Lanfranc; extended, altered, the heads of St. Swithin and St. Furseus, and the arm of St. Bartholomew. The present edifice was commenced in 1070-86 by Archbishop Lanfrauc; extended, aftered, and restored by successive prelates till 1495; and has undergone great, costly, recent renovations. It exhibits, in its yarious parts, all the styles of architecture, from early Norman to perpendicular; makes grand displays of them, both in their respective features, and in their junctions with one another; and is especially rich and large in transition-Norman and perpendicular English. It has a crypt, with vaulted roof 14 feet high, supported on massive pillars; and it stands aloft on a height of base and with a force of character unsurpassed in any other cathedral, dominating over the city around it like an abrupt, isolated, spiry hill over some miles of plain. It consists of a south perch; a nave of nine bays, with aisles; a central transept, with two chapels; a choir of six bays, with aisles; a choir-transept, with two apsidal chapels in each wing; a presbytery of two bays, with aisles, and with northern and southern apsidal chapels; an eastern ambulatory, with aisles; a main apsidal chapel of four bays, with magnificent procession-path and aisles; and a circular structure to the east of this, called A' Becket's Crown; and it has a central tower and two western towers. The nave is 178 feet long, 71 feet wide, Becket's cloves, the nave is 178 feet long, 71 feet wide, and 80 feet high; the choir, 180 feet long, 40 feet wide, and 71 feet high; the central transept, 194 feet long; the choir transept, 154 feet long; the central towers, 35 feet square and 235 feet high; and the western towers, 130 feet high. The nave has no triforium; the main transept has no aisles; the choir is approached by noble flights of stairs, and offers the earliest instance of the pointed arch in England; the screen is of the 15th century, with niched imagery of founders and saints, and was recently restored; the throne was carved by Flemish workmen, and cost £1,200; the pulpit is of stone, by Butterfield of London, and was put up in 1846; the main apsidal chapel is approached by broad flights of stairs, contained the gorgeous shrine of St. Thomas à Becket, and has a curious mosaic pavement, with the signs of the zodiac; the central tower is of two stages, with octagonal turrets at the angles, and has been called "the glory of all towers;" and the western towers are each of six stages and much beauty, one of them rebuilt in 1840, at a cost of £25,000. Effigies, altar-tombs, and other monuments, in great variety, are dispersed and other monuments, in great variety, are dispersed through the various parts of the pile to the memory of the archishops and other notable persons, including Henry IV., Queen Joan of Navarre, Edward the Black Prince, a Lady Mohun, a Countess of Athole, Admird Sir G. Rooke, Sir John Boys, Hadrian Sarwia, Orlando Gibbons, W. Shuckford, Odo Coligny, a Marquis of Dorset, and a Duke of Clarence.

The edifice served, throughout the Romish times, both as a cathedral and as a conventual clurch. A Benedictine priory stood connected with it; and was known atte convent of Clrist's Church. A massive wall surrounded the precincts, and served at once for defence and for seclusion. The passage from the priory led to-the choir-transept through a circular chamber, now used as a baptistery. The library is to the north of this; and as a baptistery. The library is to the north of this; and occupies the site of the prior's chapel. The chapterhouse stands parallel with the north side of the north-west transept; and is 87 feet long, 35 feet wide, and 52 feet high. The cloisters are on the north side of the nave; measure 144 feet by 144; and have eight bays on every "The space southward of the choir formed the cemetery, or God's acre, sown with the seed of the resurrection. 'The Oaks' was the convent garden; the Norman doorway is in the precinct gate eastward of the choir. The ancient stone house on the left side turning round the Becket's Crown formed the Honours, the guesthall (a nave and sisles 150 feet by 40 feet), for the reception of visitors. Considerable remains of the infirmary are observable; the chapel and common-hall, of flint, with three tall pointed windows, built in 1342. was St. Thomas' well. At this point occurs 'the Dark entry, a Norman cloister built by Prior Wibert about 1167, with a curious bell-shaped tower, which served as the monks' conduit; above it is now the baptistery. On one side is the gate of the great cloisters. The arch and ruins towards the Green Court are those of La Gloriette, the prior's rooms built by Prior Hathbrand, 1379. ing the chapter, once the prior's chapel library, the Prior's or Court Gate, leads into the Green Court. On the east side is the deanery, built by Dean Godwin, 1570, after a fire on the site of the Prior's lodgings. In it Hooper welcomed Queen Mary. At the north-east corner a large gateway opens into the follings or foreigns, the space beyond the conventual jurisdiction. On the north side. beyond the contential jurisdiction. On the horizontal were the ancient dean's great hall, water-house, granary, refectory, frater-house, brew-house, bake-house, and domestic buildings, among which great part of the dormitory remains, with a gateway and steps. At the northwest augle is the Norman precinct gate of the priory. which stood on the south side of the court; the back entrance to it, or Larder Gate, still remains. At the south-west angle is the arched door which led to the At the palace. The strangers' hall was on the west side. In the north-west angle is likewise the Norman staircase, with an open areade which led into the north hall, 150 feet by 40 feet, allotted to the stewards of the prior court; the arches on which it was supported alone remain; above them the King's school has been built by Mr. Austen. 1855. They form a passage into the Mint yard. It is the only staircase of the period known to be in existence. In the King's school were educated Harvey, the physician Lord Thurlow and Lord Tenterdon. Within the cian, Lord Thurlow, and Lord Tenterden. Within the ancient almonry, on the north-west of the Green Court, stood the chantry of St. Thomas à Becket, which Henry VIII. converted into a miut, and Cardinal Pole made the King's school. In the high wall, probably a portion of Lanfranc's building, leading to the north-west entrance of the cathedral, are the remains of the covered way to the cloisters, by which the primates entered, but their ordinary approach was through a large gateway with a square tower of flint and ashlar.

Ancient Monasteries.—An abbey was founded by St. Augustine, outside the walls, in the eastern suburb of Longport. It was designed by him mainly as a mausoleum for bishops and kings; it became the burial-place of himself and his successors; and of Ethelbert and his successors; it possessed much grandeur as an edifice, and great wealth and consequence as a monastery; it was always regarded as more sacred and important than the cathedral, till the latter outshone it by means of the glory of A' Becket's chrine; and it competed to the last with the convent of Christ Church in the spleudours and fetse of its guest-hall. The buildings of it were greatly injured at the Reformation; were, some time after, partly converted into a royal palace; were subsequently given to Lord Woton; were several times damaged by fire and by flood; were eventually degraded to the uses of a brewery; and were purchased, in 134, by A. J. Beresford Hope, Esq., to give place to a Missionary college. Richard II. and his queen were guests in them; in their original condition; and Elizabeth, Charles I., Henrietta, and Charles II. were in them when a palace. Their guest-hall seems to be preserved in the refectory of the Missionary college; but the only other portions of them which remain are some wall fragments of late Norman character, the cemetery gate built in the time of Richard II., and a superb great gate way built in 1287, flanked by two turrets and embattled. A ruined chapel, 31 feet by 21, at the north-east angle of the cemetery, was originally Ethelbert's heathen place of worship; was changed, at Pancras; and was rebuilt in 1387. A Dominican friary, in St. Peter's-street, was founded in the time of Henry III. ; and has left considerable remains. Part of it was formed into private dwellings end a wool-house; part became a anto private questings and a wool-noise; part became a Baptist meeting-house; and the refectory, with windows high in the wall, is now a Unitarian chapel, and was noted for the preaching of Defoe. A Franciscan friary, in the same vicinity, was founded in 1220; but has dis-appeared. Lord Badlesmere, steward of the household appeared. Lord Badlesmere, steward of the household to Edward II., and many other men were buried in it. A priory of St. Gregory, for Augustinian black canons, in Northgate-street, was founded by Lanfranc; but also has disappeared. A house of the Knights-Templars stood near the Dominican friary; and, after the suppression of the Templars, was used by the priests of the Black Prince's chantry. A Benedictine number, in the eastern suburb, contiguous to Watling-street, about \(\frac{1}{2}\) of a mile feast the circumber by Arghbishop a harder. suburt, contiguous to Watting-street, about $0 is a nine from the city walls, was founded by Archbishop Anselm; had, for one of its nuns, Elizabeth Barton, the "Maid of Kent," after her removal from Aldington; and has left some small remains.

Churches. - The livings within the city are the rectory of All Saints, with the rectories of St. Mary-in-the-Casile and St. Mildred; the rectory of St. Alphage, with the vicarege of St. Mary-Northgate; the rectory of St. Andrew, with the rectory of St. Mary-Bredman; the vicarage of St. Dunstan; the rectory of St. George-the-Martyr, with the rectory of St. Mary-Magdalene; the vicarage of St. Gregory-the-Great; the rectory of St. Margaret; the rectory of St. Martin, with the vicarage of St. Paul; the rectory of St. Martin, with the vicarage of St. Pauri, the vicarage of St. Mary. Bredlin; and the rectory of St. Peter, with the vicarage of Holy Cross; and all are in the diocese of Canterbury. Value of All Saints. £150; of St. Alphage, £150; of St. Andrew, £203;* of St. Dunstan, £120; of St. Peter, £120;* of St. George-the-Martr, £140,* of St. Gregory-the-Great, not reported; of St. Margaret, £120,* of St. Martin, £200; of St. Mary Brelin, £149,* Tatron of All Saints, the Lord Chan-cellor; of St. Alphege, St. Dunstan, and St. Gregory-the-Great, the Archbishop of Canterbury; of St. Andrew, the Archbishop for two turns, and the Dean and Chapter for one; of St. George-the-Martyr, the Dean and Chapter; of St. Margaret, the Archdeacon; of St. Martin and St. Peter, the Archbishop and the Dean and Chapter alternately; of St. Mary-Bredin, the Rev. H. Lee Warner. St. Mildred's church occupies the site of a previous church; is partly later English; consists of three aisles and three chancels, with a square tower; includes Roman bricks in its walls; and contains monuments of the Attwoods, the Cranners, and others. St. Alphage's church, in Palace-street, is of considerable antiquity; consists of two aisles and two chancels, with a square tower; and has some curious epitaplis. St. Andrew's church superseded a previous one about 1763; is a brick structure; and consists of two aisles and a chancel, with a steeple. St. Mary-Bredman's church shows Norman features: and has a monument of Herne, the historian of Reculver. St. Dunstan's church, without the walls, is a modernized ancient structure, with Norman features; consists of two aisles, a small western chancel, and two large eastern ones, with western tower and contiguous half-circular tower; and centains a piscina, a font, an ancient chantry, and the burial vault of the Ropers, with the head of Sir and the ourial value of the Ropers, with the head of S.r. Thomas More. A brick gittway nearly opposite, now part of a brewery, is a remnant of the Ropers' manorhouse, where Margaret, the learned daughter of Sir Thomas More, spent her married life. St. George's church is a modernized, ancient Norman structure; consists of two chancels and two aisles, with a square tower and a narrow turret; and contains an ancient octagonal font and a brass of 1531. St. Mary-Magdalene's church, in Burgate-street, shows Norman features, of the earliest Norman time; has a tower, added in 1503; and contains a fine, old, octangular, Norman font. St. Gregory's church, without the walls, beyond Broad-street, is a modern ediwithout the waity English style, by Scott. St. Margaret's church, in St. Margaret's street, has suffered much from mutilation; was partially restored in 1831; consists of three chancels and three aisles, with a square tower; and contains a monument of Somner, the city historian. St. Martin's church, without the walls, on a hill, with a fine view, about & a mile from the cathedral, was originally the oratory of Queen Bertha; became the first church or cathedral of St. Augustine, and afterwards the church of a resident suffragan bishop; is a small rough-cast edifice, rebuilt at a remote date on the site of the original church, and including portions of that church's walls, with Roman bricks and fragments of Roman mortar; was recently well restored, at the expense of the Hon. Daniel Finch, auditor of the cathedral; has modern stained glass windows, with subjects of its early history; and contains a large Norman font, traditionally alleged to have been that in which Ethelbert was baptized. Byzantine and Merovingian looped coins have been found in the church-yard. St. Paul's church is early English; comprises two San Jaure states in series and two asistes, with a rudely-formed square tower; and contains a very curious pillared font, and a tomb of Admiral Rooke. St. May-Bredin's church was originally Norman; was rebuilt in 1867, at a cost of £4,000; and is in the early English style, of flint with dressings of Bath stone. St. Peter's church, at the corner of St. Peter's lane, has very thick walls, curious square columns, and an old square font. Holy Cross church, close to Westgare, was rebuilt about 1351; and consists of three aisles, and a chancel, with a square tower. A suite of Carmelite conventual buildings, comprising church, convent, and farm-offices, after designs by Fugin, on a site of thirty acres, within a high brick-wall enclosure, to cost £34,354 for the buildings alone, was contracted for in 1863 by Miss Hales, proprietress of Hales Place estate, (on which the Royal Agri-cultural Society of Eugland held their show in 1860,) to be creeted on her own grounds and at her own expense.

Schools, &c.—The King's school, already incidentally mentioned, was founded by Henry VIII., for the education of 50 scholars from all parts of the kingdom; and has about 24 scholarships or exhibitions in Cambridge university. A portion of its old buildings which still stood was taken down in 1863, to give place to new ercc-tions. The blue-coat school was founded by the city corporation out of a gift by Queen Elizabeth of an hoscorporation out of a fit by Queen Entragent or an now pital and its lands; clothes, maintains, and educates 16 boys; and has an income of £475. The grey-coat school educates 30 boys and 30 girls; and is supported chiefly by the dean and chapter. St. Augustine's missionary college, at St. Augustine's abbey, was incorporated in 1849; consists of warden, sub-warden, and six fellows; trains young men for the service of the Church of England in the distant dependencies of the empire; possesses nama in the distant dependences of the empire; possesses endowments and exhibitions from a number of different benefactors; and forms a quadrangle, including hall, chapel, library, cloisters, and corridor, in the monastic chapes, norary, cloisters, and corridor, in the monastic style, by Butterfield. The philosophical institution, in Guild-hall-street, was built by subscription, in 1826; is an ornamental edifice, with lonic portico; and contains a museum with some interesting collections. Eastbridge hospital was founded either by Lanfranc or by A' Becket, originally to receive "wayfaring and hurt men;" maintains impates, and gives out-door relief; is connected with a school for 20 children, founded by Whitgift; and has an income of £512. St. John's hos pital was founded by Lanfranc; was recently restored; includes an ancient, arched, wooden gateway; and has an income of £155. Harbledown hospital also was founded by Lanfrance; possesses still its original chapel; and has an income of £250. Jesus' hospital was founded in 1505, by Sir John Boys, for persons above 55 years of age; and has an income of £618. Maynard's hospital was founded in the time of Henry II.; and has an income of £244. Cogan's hospital, for clergymen's widows, was founded in 1657; and has an income of £248. Hackington hospital has £26; Smith's alms-houses, £260; Harris's, £68. The Kent and Canterbury infirmary contains accommodation for about 200 patients; and is liberally supported by annual subscriptions. The total amount of endowed charities is £4.899.

Trade, do.—Relic-making and the supplying of the wants of pilgrims were the only trade in the Romish times. Silk-weaving was introduced by refugee Walloons and French protestants after the Reformation. This illourished for a period, but gave place to the manufacture of cotton and silk; and that also has ceased. Some trade in wool is now carried on; but the chief source of industry is the export of agricultural produce, especially hops. Markets are held on Wednesday and Saturday; and a fair on 11 Oct. The city has a head-post-odice, two railway stations with telegraph, two banking-offices, and several good inns; and publishes seven weekly newspapers. Races are run in April and Angust, over an uneven course of two miles on Barnham downs.

even course of two miles, on Barnham downs.

'The District.—The registration district contains the parishes of All Saints, St. Mildréd, St. Alphage, St. Mary-Northgate, St. Andrew, and St. Mary-Bredman, St. George-the-Martyr, St. Mary-Magdalene, St. Mary-Redman, St. George-the-Martyr, St. Mary-Magdalene, St. Martin, St. Paul, St. Mary-Bredman, and St. Peter, part of the parish of Holy Cross, and the extra-arcchial places of St. John's Hospital precincts, Old Castle precincts, Eastbridge Hospital precincts, Black Prince's Chantry precincts, and Whitefriars' Honse. The return for St. Paul's parish includes Longport, which is a borough under the old common law division of the county, and St. Augustine's abbey precinct, the precise limits of which are not known. Acres of the district, 3,121. Poor-rates in 1866, 26,956. Pop. in 1861, 16,643. Houses, 2,919. Marriages in 1866, 164; births, 3,121. Poor-rate in 1866, 26,956. Pop. in 1861, 16,643. Houses, 2,919. Marriages in 1856, 164; births, 5,100 which 25 were illegitumate; deaths, 390,—of which 118 were at ages under 5 years, and 11 at ages and 11 at ages and 12 and 12 and 13 and 14 and 15 and 16 and 16 and 16 such 16 and 16 and public day schools, with 1,292 scholars; 44 private day schools, with 667 s.; and 10 Sunday schools, with 1,044 s. The Borongh.—The city includes all the registration district, also parts of Holy Cross, Nackington, Thanington, Patrixbourne, Littlebourne, and Fordwich parishes in the district of Bridge; also Archbishop's Palace and Christchurch precincts, Staplegate and St. Gregory villes and parts of St. Dunstan and Hackington parishes in the district of Blean. It is a seat of sessions, a place of elections, the head of an excess collection, and a head quarters of militia. It received municipal privileges from Henry II., and an incorporation charter from Henry VI.; is governed by a mayor, a sheriff, six aldermen, and eighteen councillors; and sends two members to parliament. Real property, £51,500. Direct taxes, £11,498. Electors in 1861, 1,837. Pop., in 1841, 15,435; in 1861, 21,324. Honses, 3,908. The city gives the title of Viscount to the Manners-Suttons. Costling and Somner, the antiquaries, Dean Nevile, Dr. Linacre, Aphra Behn, Marlowe, Richard the great Earl of Cork, and Lord Marlowe, Richard the great Earl of Cork, and Lord

Tenterden were natives.

The Diocess.—Canterbury, at once as a bishopric, as an archbishopric, and as the metropolitan see of England, dates from St. Augustine. Among its prelates were Dunstan, Theodore, Landrane, Anselm, Pascal II. A' Becket, Langton, Bradwardine, Langham, Chichele, Warham, Cranmer, Pole, Parker, Whitgift, Land, Saneroft, Wake, Tillotson, Tenison, Seeker, Sutton, and Howley. The archbishop ranks as first peer of the realm, next to the royal family; and places the crown on the soveraging's head, at a coronation. His stats are Lambeth palace and Addington park; and his income is £15,000. His archiepiscopal jurisdiction extends over twenty suffragan bishops; and includes all Wales, and all England except the six northern counties.

The diocess includes all Kent, except the parishes of Charlton, Lee, Lewisham, Greenwich, Woolwich, Eltham, Plumstead, Deptford-St. Nicholas, part of Deptford-St. Paul, and the city and deanery of Rochester. It includes likewise the part of Surrey comprising the parishes of Addington and Croydon, and the district of Lambeth Palace. Its pop., in 1861, was 474,693, inhabiting $8,073 houses. It is divided into the archdeaconries of Canterbury and Madistone. The chapter includes a dean with £2,000 a year, two archdeacons, six cunons, and six minor canons. Eight deaneries are comprised in each of the two archdeaconries; and from eleven to thirty-one livings are in each deanery. Some of the livings have recently been raised in status, chiefly p. curacies raised to be vicanges, and are named as they now rank in the separate articles on them in our work; lint all will be named here as they ranked in 1861.

The deanery of Canterbury includes the livings within Canterbury city; the rectories of Fordwich, Harbledown, Lower-Hardres, and Milton-next-Canterbury; the vicarages of Hackington, and Sturry; and the p. curacies of Nackington and Thannington. The deanery of Bridge Nackington and Thannington. The deanery of Bridge includes the rectories of Adisham, Bishopsbourne, Brock, Chartham, Chillenden, Crundall, Elmstone, Kingstone, Stourmouth, Ulpper Hardres, Ickham, and Wickham-berux; the vicarages of Ash, Boughton-Aluph, Chilharn, Godmersham, Weld, Littlebourne, Patrixbourne, Bridge, Preston-next-Wingham, Waltham, and Petham; the pouracies of Staple, Trinity-Ash, Barham, Moldash, Challock, Goodnestone-next-Wingham, Stelling, Nunington, Wingham, Wangsangud, and Way, and the departs of Wingham, Womenswold, and Wye; and the donative of Stodmarsh. The deanery of Dover includes the rectories of St. James-Dover, Charlton-near-Dover, Cheriton, Ewell-Temple, and Hawkinge; the vicarages of Alkham, Newington, Folkstone, Hougham, Lydden, St. Margarets-at-Cliffe, River, and Westellie; and the p. curacies of Capel-le-Fern, Beauxfield, Buckland, near-Dover, St. Mary-Dover, Trinity-Dover, Christ-church-Felkstone. Christ-church-Hougham, Guston, Sandgate, and Swingfield. The deanery of Elham includes the rectories of Acrise, Monks-Horton, Denton, Hastingleigh, Lyminge, Saltwood, St. Mary-Stowting, and Wootton; the vicarages of Elham, Brabourne, Elmsted, and Postling; and the p. curacies of Horton, Standford, Paddlesworth, and Hythe. The deaneries of North and South Lyapure include the rectories of Aldington, Bonnington, Burmarsh, Dynichurch, Hinxhill, Ivy-Church, Ken-Ardington, Kingsnorth, Mersham, Orlestone, Old Romney, St. Mary-Romney-Marsh, Newchurch-Romney-Marsh, Ruckinge, Sevington, Shadoxhurst, Snargate, Snave, Watchorne, Wittrisham, and Woodchurch; the vicarages of Appledore, Brenzett, Brooktand, Lyda, Lympac, Stone, and Willesborough; and the p. curacies Schule, Distincton Ebony, and Fairfield. The deandore, Brenzett, Brookland, Lydd, Lympne, St. Maryof Smeeth, Bilsington, Ebony, and Fairfield. The dean-ery of Ospringe includes the rectoires of Badlesnere, Leaveland, Eastling, Hever, Luddenham, Norton, and Otterden: the vicarages of Boughton-under-Blean, Doddington, Faversham, Goodnestone, Graveney, Hernkill, Linstead, Nownham, Ospringe, Preston-by-Faversham, Selling, Sheldwick, Stalesfield, Teynham, and Throwley; the p. curacies of Isle of Harty, and Oure; and the donative of Davington. The deanery of Sandwich includes the rectories of Barfrestone, Betshanger, Deal, Eythorne, Ham, Knowlton, East Langdon, Great Mongeham, Little Hain, Anowhon, East Lington, Great Mongenam, Incine Mongeham, English Mongeham, Ringwould, Ripple, and St. Poer-Sandwich; the vicanages of Eastry, Northbourne, St. Clement-Sandwich, St. Mary-Sandwich, Sibbertswold, Coldred, Tilman-stone, Waldershare, and Woodnesbrough; and the p. curacies of St. Andrew-Deal, St. George-Deal West Langdon, Shoulden, Kingsdown, Sutton-next-Dover, Walmer, and Worth. The deanery of Westbere includes the rectories of Westbere and Swalechile; the vicarages of Chislet, Herne, St. Laurence in Thanet, St. John-Margate, Minster-Thanet, Monkton, St. Nicholas-at-Wade, St. Peter-in-Thanet, Ramsgate, Reculver, and Seasalter; and the p. curacies of Herne Bay, Trinity in Thanet, Trinity in Margate, Birchington, Acol, Broadstairs, Christchurch Ramsgate, Hoath, and Whitstable.

357

The deanery of Dartford includes the rectories of Beckenham, Chelsfiell, Chiselhurst, Crayford, Footscray, North Cray, St. Paul's Cray, and Keston; the vicarages of Addington, Bexley, Croydon, Cudham, Dartford, Erith. Adunggon, Dexiey, Croydon, Cadhain, Dartford, Erith, Hayes, Horton-Kirby, Orpington, Suttor-at-Home, West-Wickham, and Wilmington; and the p. curacies of Bexley-Heath, Bromley, Trinity-Bromley, Sideup, St. Mary-Cray, Crocken-Hill, Southend-Croyden, Broadgreen-Croyden, Croyden-Common, Norwood-Croyden, green-Croyden, Croyden-Common, Norwood-Croyden, South Norwood-Croyden, Shirley-Croyden, Downe, Farnborough, and Lamorbey. The deanery of North Malling includes the rectories of Addington, Allington, Barming, Ditton, Hunton, Leybourne, Mereworth, Nettlestead, West Barming, Olfham, West Peckham, and Trotterscliffe; the vicarages of Birling, East Farleigh, West Farleigh, Hadlow, East Malling, West Malling, East Peckham, Ryursh, Teston, Wateringbury, and Yalding; the p. curacies of New Hythe, Trinity-Peckham, and St. Margaret-Yalding, and the donative of Shipbourne. The deanery of South Malling includes the rectories of Ashurst. Bidhorough. Childingstone, Cowden, Hever, Ashurst, Bidborough, Chiddingstone, Cowden, Hever, Horsemonden, Penshurst, and Speldhurst; the vicarages of Brenchley, Lamberhurst, Leigh, Pembury, Tudeley, and Tunbridge; and the p. curacies of Mark-Beech, Fordcomb, Groombridge, Rusthall, Capel, St. Stephen-Tunbridge, Hildenborough, Southborough, Tunbridge-Wells, Trinity-Tunbridge-Wells, and Christchurch-Tun-The deanery of East Charing includes the bridge-Wells. The deanery of East Charing includes the rectories of Bonghton-Malherbe, Great Chart, Little Chart, Eastwell, Pluckley, and Pevington; the vicarages of Ashford, Charing, Hothfield, Kennington, and Westwell; and the p. curacy of Egerton. West Charing includes the rectories of Biddenden, Frittenden, Newenden, Sandhurst, and Smarden; the vicalages of Benenden, Bethersden, Cranbrook, Headcorn, Rolvenden, and Tentorden; the p. curacies of Trinity-Cranbrook and Hawkhurst; and the donative of Smallhythe. The deauery of Shoreham includes the rectories of Brasted, Chevening, Halstead, Ightham, Lullingstone, Sevenoaks, Stanstead, Sundridge, and Wrotham; the vicarages of Eynesford, Farningham, Kemsing, Shoreham, and Westerham; and the p. curacies of Edenbridge, ham, and Westerham; and the p. curacies of Edenbridge, Seal, Knockhoit, Otford, Riverhead, Weald, 16e-Hill, Grockham-Hill, Woodlands, Platt, and Plaxtol. The deanery of Sittingbourne includes the rectories of East-church, Bicknor, Elmly, Kingsdown, Milkstoad, Murston, Tunstall, Warden, and Witchling; the vieranges of Bap-child, Bobbing, Borden, Bredgar, Lower Halstow, Hart-lip, Leysdown, Milton-next-Sittingbourne, Newingtonnp, heysdown, another control of the chiles the rectories of Frinstead, Harrietsham, Langley, Otham, Staplehurst, Ablington, Ulcombe, and Worms-bill; the vicarages of Bearsted, Boughton-Monchelsea, Boyley, Chart-by-Sutton, Debtling, Goudhurst, Holling-borne, Lenham, Linton, Marden, Sutton-Valence, and borne, Lenham, Linton, Marden, Sutton-Varence, and Thornham; and the p. curacies of Bradhurst, Kiln-lown, Hucking, Leeds, Bromfield, Loose, All Saints-Maidstone, Trinity-Maidstone, St. Peter-Maidstone, Tovil, and East Satton.

CANTERTON, a tything in Minstead parish, Hants; 85 miles SW of Romsey. Real property, with Fritham,

£1.346. Pop., 38.

CANTIUM, the North Foreland promontory, at the NE extremity of Kent. The Cantil of the Romans were the ancient Britons of Kent.

CANTLEY, a parish in Blofield district, Norfolk; on the river Yare and the Yarmouth railway, 10 miles ESE of Norwich. It has a station on the railway and a postoffice unler Norwich. Acres, 1,850. Real property, £2,862. Pop., 235. Houses, 19. Cantley House is a Ed. Fop., 255. Houses, 15. Canary from the diocess of Norwich. Value, 2203. Tatron, W. A. Gilbart, Esq. CANTLEY, a parish in Doneaster district, W. R.

Yorkshire; near the river Idle, 3 miles N by W of Rossington r. station, and 31 ESE of Doncaster. It includes the hamlets of Bessecar, Branton, Gatewood, and High and Low Ellers; and has a post-office under Doncasand Low Ellers; and has a post-ollice unter Donca-ter. Acres, 5,150. Real property, 25,373. Pop., 663. Houses, 127. The property is divided between two. Cantley House is the seat of J. W. Childers, Esq. The Cantley House is the seat of J. W. Childers, Esq. Ine living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, 2233. Patron, J. W. Childers, Esq. good; and there is a national school.

CANTON, a chapelry, with a village, in Llandaff parish, Glamorgan; adjacent to the Taff Valley and the Rymney railways, I mile NW of Cardiff. It has a post-

Rymney railways, I mile NW of Cardiff. It has a post-office; under Cardiff. Rated property, 25,539. Pop., 3,920. Houses, 709. The property is much subdivided. The chapelry was constituted in 1853. The living is a rectory in the diosess of Llandaff Value, 2300. Patron, the Bishop of Llandaff. A Baptist chapel, in the Lombardic style, was built in 1858.

CANTREFF, or CYNNEDD, a parish in the district and county of Brecon; near the river Usk and the Brecon and Hereford railway, 21 miles SSE of Brecon. It in-cludes the chapelry of Nantddu; and its post-town is Precon. Acres, about 29,000. Real property, £1,807. Pop., 221. Houses, 39. The property is divided among a few. The surface includes the Brecknock Beacons; which see. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. David's. Value, not reported. Patron, the Rev. T. Powell. The church is good. The p. curacy of Nantddu is a separate benefice. The learned T. Powell was rector.

CANTREF-GWAELOD, a submerged tract, 12 miles by 5, off Gwallog and Aberystwith, in Cardigan; now forming the Sarn-Gwalod shoal. It was a low llat tract, defended by dykes and dams, and said to contain sixteen towns: and was submerged in 520.

· CANTSFIELD, a township in Tunstall parish, Lancaster LEDD, a bowning in reason parish, Ban-cashire, near the river Gerta, 44 miles NE of Kirkby Lonsdale. It has a post-office under Burton-in-Kendal. Acres, 1,221. Real property, £1,786. Pop., 116. Houses, 20. Cantsdeld Hall is the seat of the Tath-

CANTWARABYRIG. See CANTERBURY. CANVEY-ISLAND, a chapelry in Billericay and Rochford districts, Essex; encircled by the Thames, opposite the Hope, adjacent to Benfleet r. station, 41 miles posite the Hope, adjacent to behinder I. Sation, 13 inhere is SW of Rayleigh. It comprises parts of Vanga, Pitsea, Bovers-Gifford, North Benfleet, South Benfleet, Hadleigh, Prittlewell, and Southchurch parishes; and its post-town is South Benfleet, under Chelmsford. Acres, about 3,500. Pop., 111. The property is much subdivided. The surface is marshland sheep-pasture; and it is protected all round by embankment, and connected with the mainland by a causeway. Fairs are held on 25 June and 25 Sept. The living is a p. curacy in the dio-cese of Rochester. Value, £58. Patron, the Bishop of Rochester. The church is good.

CANWELL, an extra-parochial tract in Tamworth district, Stafford; on the verge of the county, 5 miles district, Stafford; on the verge of the county, 5 miles SW of Tamworth. Acres, 220. Real property, 2681. Pop., 43. Houses, 7. Canwell Hall is the seat of Sir F. Lawley, Bart. A Benedictine priory was founded here in 1142, by C-va. daughter of Hugh Lupus; and given, at the dissolution, to Cardinal Wolsey. CANWICE, a perich in the district and county of Lincoln; on the Gainsborough and Boston railway, within the borough, and 11 mile SE of the town, of Lincoln. Post-town, Lincoln. Acres, returned with Lincoln city. Real property, 25,223. Pop. 228. Houses, 42. The property is not much divided. Canwick House is the property is not much divided. Canwick House is the seat of the Sixthorres. The hiving is a viewage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £291.* Latrons, the Mer-cers' Company. The church is Norman. Charities, £13. CAPAS-HEICCHT, a handlet in lattley-township and parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 5] miles NW of Wekefield. CAPE CORNWALLs a headland in the SW of Corn-wall; 1 mile WNW of St. Just, and 42 N by E of Lands. Each. It is 220 feet high contains murty insuer.

End. It is 230 feet high; contains quartz, jasper, tiu, copper ore, red iron, and other minerals; and has, on the face of its cliffs, the engine of a mine which is worked to depths below the sea.

CAPEL, an ancient British name, signifying an oratory or a chapel.

CAPEL, a village in Llanfihaugel-Ystrad parish, Cardigan; 61 miles NW of Lampeter.

CAPEL, Suffolk. See CAPEL-ST, ANDREW and CA-

PEL-ST. MARY.

CAPEL, a parish and a sub-district in Dorking district, Surrey. The parish lies 5 miles NW by N of Faygate r. station, and 6 S of Dorking; and has a post-office under Dorking. Acres, 5,522. Real property, £4,566. Pop., 1,074. Houses, 201. The property is divided Pop., 1,074. Houses, 201. The property is divided among a few. Part of the surface is moorish. The living is a vicarage in the dioces of Winchester. Value, £34. Patron, Charles Webb, Esq. The church is good. The vicarage of Cold Harbour is a separate benefice. There are a Quakers' meeting house, a national school, and charities £15.—The sub-district contains five pa-and charmes 15.—The sub-district contains are parishes. Pop. 4,094.

CAPEL, or CAPLE, a parish in Tunbridge district, Kent; near the Southeastern railway, 3 miles SE of Tunbridge. Post-town, Tunbridge. Acres, 1,568. Real property, 23.261. Pop. 611. Houses, 115. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, and the subdivided of Captengry. The church perty is much subdivided. The fiving is a vicange, an-nexed to Tudeley, in the dio. of Canterbury. The church is small, but has a steeple. There is a uational school. CAPEL-ARTHOG, a hamlet in Llangelyuin parish, Merioneth; on the river Maw, under Cader-Idris, 61 miles WSW of Dolgelly. It has a post-office under Cor-wen, and a chapel of ease.

CAPEL-BANGOR. See BANGOR, N. Cardigan. CAPEL-BETTWS. See BETTWS-CLYRO and PEN-

CAPEL-CADWALADR, a ruined church in Llanddaniel parish, Anglesey; 2 miles NNW of Llanidau. It is very ancient; and makes a claim, but against good evidence, to have been the first church ever erected in the county.

CAPEL-CALLWEN. See GLYNTAWE. CAPEL-COELBREN, a chapelry in Ystradgynlas parish, Brccon; on the river Llech, 5 miles NNW of Glyn-Neath r. station, and 12 NNE of Neath. Post-town, rish. The scenery is picturesque, and borrows grandeur from the Cribarth mountain. The Llech makes a noble fall of 100 feet. Some erect coal-trees, of the sigillaria class, have been found in the bed of the stream. are remains of a Roman road. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £100. Patrou, the Rector of Ystradgynlas. The church is a small primitive structure; and contains a curious old tombstone. CAPEL-COLMAN. See CHAPEL-COLMAN.

CAPEL-CURIG, a hamlet and a chapelry in Llandegai parish, Carnarvou. The hamlet lies on the river Llugwy, at the foot of Moel-Siabod and Snowdon, 51 miles WSW of Llanrwst r. station. It has a post-office nuder Conway, and a hotel; and is a polling-place, and a resort for tourists and anglers. Public coaches daily pass through it. The surrounding scenery is most romantic; and the route hither to the top of Snowdon, though the most toilsome, is the best. The chapelry though the most toilsome, is the best. The chapelry includes the hamlet; and is a vicarage in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £89. Patron, the Bishop of Bangor.

The church is very old but good.

CAPEL-CYNON, a chapelry in Llandisilio-Gogo parish, Cardigan; 8 miles NNE of Newcastle-Emlyn r. station. Post-town, Newcastle-Emlyn, under Carmarthen. Pop., 413. Houses, 90. Henry VII. encamped here on his march to Bosworth. Fairs are held on Holy Thursday and on the second Thursday after 10 Oct. The chapelry was constituted in 1859. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £100. Patron, the Bishop of St. David's.

CAPPL-DDEWI, a hamlet in Llaudyssil parish, Cardigan; 61 miles E of Newcastle-Emlyn. Pop., 304. It forms a curacy with Llandyssil.

CAPEL-EVAN, a village in Kilrhedin parish, Carmarthen; St miles S of Newcastle-Emlyn.

CAPEL-GARMON, or GARTH-GARMON, a chapelry in Llanrwst parish, Denbigh; on the river Conway, 1 miles S by E of Llaurwst r. station. Post-town, Llanrwst. Statistics returned with the parish. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, not reported. Patron, tho Rector of Llanrwst. The church is not good. There is an Independent chapel.

CAPEL-KINGS. See KINGS-CAPLE.

CAPELLANTE, a mountain in the south of Brecon; 7 miles W by S of the Brecknock Beacons. Its altitude is 2,394 feet.

CAPEL-LE-FERNE, a parish in Dover district, Kent; on the coast, and on the Dover and Folkestone railway, on the coast, and on the Dover and Folkestone railway, 3 miles NE of Folkestone. Post-town, Folkestone. Acres, 1,736; of which 100 are water. Real property, £1,459. Pop., 193. Houses, 37. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Alkham, in the diocese of Canterbury. The church consists of nave and chancel, with a western tower; shows interesting internal features of early English; and contains a piscina, a sedilia, and a brass of CAPEL-LLANDURY, a hamlet in Pembrey parish, Carmarthen; 2 miles SE of Kidwelly. It has a chapel;

Carmarthen; 2 miles SE of kidwelly. It has a chapel; and forms a curacy with Pembrey.
CAPEL-NANT-DDU, a place, with a church of 1864, in the S of Brecou; 6 miles NNW of Merthyr-Tydvil.
CAPEL-NEWYDD, a chapeiry in the NW of Monmouth; 43 miles N by W of Pontypool. See Blaenavov.
CAPEL-ST. ANDREW, a parish in Woodbridge district, Suffolk; near the coast, 6 miles ESE of Melton r. trict, Sutfolk; near the coast, o mines less of account station, and 7 E of Woodbridge. Post-town, Orford, under Wickham-Market. Acres, 2,272. Real property, £851. Pop., 231. Houses, 48. The living is a p. cu-£851. Pop., 231. Houses, 48. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the p. curacy of Butley, in the dioceso racy, annexed to the p. curacy of Entley, in the dioceso of Norwich. There is no church.

CAPEL-ST. MARY, a parish and a sub-district in Samoral district, Suffolk. The parish lies on the Hadleigh railway, 5 miles SE of Hadleigh; and has a station on the railway and a post-office under Ipswich, both of the name of Capel. Acres, 1,910. Real property, 22,723.

Pop., 669. Houses, 145. The property is subdivided. Top., cos. Houses, 143. he property is subdivided. The living is a rectory, nnited with the rectory of Little Wenham, in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £632.* Patron, the Rev. J. Tweed. The church is good.—The sub-district contains fifteen parishes. Acres, 22,565.

SID-district contains inteen parishes. Acres, 23,000. Pop., 6,502. Houses, 1,486.
CAPEL-VOELAS. See Pentre-Voelas.
CAPEL-VILOCHWY. See HOLVHRAD.
CAPENHURST, a township in Shotwick parish, and a chapelry in Shotwick and Neston parishes, Cheshire. The township lies on the Birkenhead railway, 2 miles The township lies on the Birkenhead railway, 2 miles NNW of Mollington station, and 54 NNW of Chester. Acres, 1,173. Real property, 21,315. Pop., 131. Houses, 25. The chapelry was constituted in 1859; and its post-town is Sutton, under Chester. Pop., 224. Houses, 40. Capenhurst Hall is the seat of the Rev. R. Richardson. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Chester. Value, 2120. Patron, the Rev. R. Richardson. The church is recent.

CAPERNWRAY, a hamlet in Over-Kellet township, Bolton parish, Laucashire; 31 miles S of Burton-in-Keudal. Pop., 118. Capernwray Hall is the seat of the CAPESTHORNE, a township-chapelry in Prestbury parish, Cheshire; 2\frac{1}{2}\text{ miles ESE of Chelford r. station, and 5 W by 8 of Macclesfield. Post-town, Chelford, under Congleton. Acres, 748. Real property, £1,294. Pop., 114. Houses, 20. Capesthorne Hall is the seat of the Davenports; and was burnt in 1861. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Chester. Value, £76.* Patron, Ē. D. Davenport, Esq. The church is good. CAPHEATON, a township in Kirkwhelpington parish, Northumberland, near the Wansbeck Valley railway, 7\frac{1}{2}\text{ miles N of the Roman wall, and 11 WSW of Morpeth. 1t has a post-office nnder Newcastle-upon-Tyne. Acres, 2,213. Pop., 195. Houses, 44. Capheaton Castle dates from 1267; is the seat of Sir J. E. CAPESTHORNE, a township-chapelry in Prestbury have been found. Lave teen round.

350

CAPLAND, a tything in Broadway parish, Somerset;
2 miles NW of Hainster. Acres, 410. Real property,
2846. Pop., 118.
CAPLE. See CAPEL, Kent.

CAPLE SECUREL, nemer in Horsemonden parish, Kent: 74 miles E by S of Tunbridge-Wells.
CAPLE-KINGS. See KINGS-CAPLE.
CAPPENHURST. See CAPSHUEST.

· CAPTON, a hamlet in Dittisham parish, Devon; near the river Dart, 31 miles N of Dartmouth. Pop., 104.

It has a Weslevan chatel. CAPTON, a hamlet in Stogumber parish, Somerset;

CAR. See CAER.

CAR, or CHAR (THE), a stream of Dorset; running 5 miles south-westward to the English Channel at Char-

CARADOC. See CARADOC.
CARADON, a hill and copper-mines in Cornwall; 4 miles N of Liskeard. The hill is 1,208 feet high; and commands a fine view. The mines are at the south foot of the hill, excavated in granite. A mineral railway, called the Liskeard and Caradon railway, 83 miles long, opened in 1846, connects them with Liskeard.

CARAN (THE), a stream of Gloucester; falling into the Avon, near its influx to the Severn, in the vicinity of Tewkesbury.

CARBECK, a hamlet in Lunedale township, Romald-Kirk parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 10 miles NW of Barnard-Castle

CARBROOK, a hamlet in Attercliffe chapelry, W. R.

Yorkshire; 2 miles NE of Sheffield.
CARBROOKE, a parish in Wayland district, Norfolk; near the river Wissey, 2 miles NE of Watton, and 8 SSW of Derekam r. station. Post-town, Watton, under Thetford. Acres, 3,033. Real property, £5,296. Pop., 751. Houses, 172. The property is divided among a few. Carbrooke Hall is the seat of J. Wing, Esq. A commandry of the Knights Templars was founded, near the church, in 1173, by Roger, Earl of Clare. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Norwich. Value, 2170. Patron, R. Dewing, Esq. The church is later English and good; consists of nave, two aisles, a chancel and two porches, with a lofty square tower; and is fitted with open benches. There are a national school, is fitted with open benches.

CARBURTON, a chapelry and a sub-district in Work-sop district, Notes. The chapelry is in Edwinstowe parish; and lies contiguous to Clumber Park, 4 miles SSE of Worksop r. station. Post-town, Worksop. Real protesty, 21,216. Pop., 177. Houses, 31. Carburton Lodge was the seat of Dr. Aldrich. The living is a permety, annexed to the vicarage of Edwinstowe in the diocess of Lincoln. The sub-district contains also five other parishes and an extra-parochial tract. Acres,

,440. Pop., 5,523. Houses, 1,096. CARCARRICK-TOR, an eminence 61 miles WNW of Callington, in Cornwall.

CARCLATE, a range of moorish downs, 2 miles N of St. Austell, in Cornwall. It has an altitude of 665 feet; and commands an extensive viow. Its substance, some war down from the surface, is disintegrated schorlaceous granite; and deeper down, comparatively compact granite. A tin mine, open to the day, has been worked in it from time immenorial; is now about a mile in circumference and fully 130 feet deep; and calibits a striking contrast in the whiteness of its cliffs to the sembreness of the surrounding moer.

CARCLEW, a seat 31 miles N of Penryn, in Cornwall. It belonged formerly to the D'Angerses, the 1 mithons, and others; and belongs now to Sir C. Lemon, Burt. The gardens are tich in rare plants; and the park is of great extent and grandly timbered.

CARCLIFF-TOR, an eminence on Stanton-moor, in Derby; 2 miles N of Winster. Some rock basins are on it; and a hermitage is below.

CAR-COLSTON, a parish in Bingham district, Notts; near the Car-Dyke and the river Trent, 3 miles NNE of Bingham r. station. Post-town, Bingham, under Not-tingham. Acres, 1,200. Real property, £3,466. Pop., 299. Houses, 49. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £203. Patron, the Rev. J. C. Girardot. The church is good; and there are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £18. CARCROFT, a hamlet in Owston township and parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 51 miles N of Doncaster.

CARDEN, a township in Tilston parish, Cheshire; under Broxton hills, 41 miles N by W of Malpas. Acres, 802. Real property, £1,269. Pop., 208. Houses, 40. Carden Hall is a fine old seat; and figured in the public events of 1643.

CARDESTON, or CARDISTON, a parish in Atcham district, Salop; near the river Severn, 5 miles S by W of Baschurch r. station, and 64 W of Shrewsbury. It includes part of Wattlesborough township; and its postnetuces part of netresion of the sharps and its post-town is Alberbury, under Shrewsbury. Acres, 2,400. Real property, £3,478. Pop., 294. Houses, 65. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £274. Patron, Sir

B. Leighton, Bart. The church is very good. CARDIFF, a town, two parishes, a sub-district, and a district in Glamorgan. The town is a seaport, a borough, a head-quarters of militia, and a polling-place; and shares with Swansea the diguity of being the capital of the county. It stands on the Julian way, the river Taff, the Glamorgan canal, and the South Wales railway, 1½ mile N of the Bristol Channel, 11¾ miles SW of Newport, Monmouth, and 45% by railway ESE of Swansea. The tract around it is rich low land, artificially protected from inundation by spring tides, and overlooked on the north by well-wooded hills. Great works, variously railway, canal, and docks, connect it with the Bristol Channel: the Taff-Vale and the Rhymney railways connect it with the rich mineral fields of Glamorgan and Monmouth; and the South Wales railway, with its ramifications and connexious, gives it communication with all parts of the kingdom.

Cardydd is the Welsh name of the place; and is supposed to be a corruption either of Caer-Taf, "the port of the Taff," or Caer-Didi, "the port of Didius." Didius was a Roman general, who succeeded Ostorius, in the command of the legions; and is thought to have had a camp here, on the Julian way. Jestyn-ap-Gwrgan, lord of Glamorgan, removed hither from Caerleon; raised some fortifications on the spot, probably around a previous stronghold; and gave assistance to the overthrow, in 1091, of Rhys, Prince of Walcs. The Norman Fitzhamon, with twelve knights, had been taken into alliance with him; but turned against him, fought and defcated him on a battle-ground in the neighbourhood, took possession of his fortifications and estates, and built a new strong castle at Cardiff. The manor descended from Fitzhamon to the De Clares, the De Spensers, the Beauchamps, and the Nevilles; passed, at Bosworth, to the Crown; was given to Herbert, first Earl of Pembroke; and went, by marriage, first to the Windsors, and next to the Marquis of Bute. Robert, Duke of Normandy, eldest son of the Conqueror, was kept a prisoner twenty-six years in the castle; and died here in 1144. The town afterwards was strongly fortified; and had an encompassing wall, of five gates. Owen Gleudower took the castle and destroyed the town. The royalists held the place in the civil wars of the 17th century; and are said to have made such stout resistance hero to Cromwell as to have been eventually overcome and expelled only by the aid of a traitor, who disclosed a subterraneous passage. Rawlins White, a poor but zealous protestant, in the terrible year 1555, was first imprisoned in the castle, and then burnt at the stake in the market place,

The ancient gates have disappeared; but portions of the walls on the east side, with a watch-tower, are preserved. The castle adjoins the Taff; is partly ancient, partly modernized; and includes inhabited buildings, forming a seat of the Marquis of Bute. It consists of a spacious quadrangular court, defended toward the river by a lofty 360 wall, and enclosed on the other side by a lofty earthwork. The gateway and the gate-house tower are on the south side; and the latter is alleged to have been the prison of the Duke of Normandy, but shows clear marks of much later date. An artificial mound, 75 feet high, is on the north side; was evidently the site of an ancient edifice; and is now crowned by a polygonal shell and perpendi-cular English tower. The inhabited buildings are on cular English tower. The inhabited buildings are on the west side, toward the river; were partly renovated, partly built, about the beginning of the present century; include a fine central multangular tower, and some early English turrets; and contain pictures of the Herberts and the Windsors. Four monastic establishments were founded in the town and its vicinity, in the 12th and 13th centuries; some traces of one of them, and considerable ruius of another, still exist; and the buildings of the latter were long a seat of the Herberts.

The town was, not long ago, an ill-built, dirty village, but is now large, well-built, and agreeable. It possesses tolerably regular streets; is, in great measure, new; has been much improved in every part; and includes modern suburbs towards Roath and Maindy, at Penarth, Canton, and along the road to Llandaff. It displays great public spirit; and, owing to the docks being at some distance from the bulk of the population, it shows less of the unpleasant accompaniments of commerce than almost any other considerable seaport of the kingdom. The townother considerance scaper of the kingdom. Interconstitution half is a good modern edifice; and was the scene of an "eisteddfod" in 1850. The county-jail is on Mr. Howard's plan; was built in 1832, at a cost of £12,000; and has capacity for 164 male and 61 female prisoners. A nandsome bridge, of five arches, built by Parry in 1796, spans the river. St. John's church is a plain Norman structure of the 12th man structure of the 13th century; has a lofty, conspicu-ous, and very beautiful tower, of perpendicular date and character, with open battlements and pinnacles; and contains two curious altar-tombs of Sir William and Sir John Herbert. St. Mary's church is a structure in strange taste, erected in 1842. St. Andrew's-church was built in 1863, at a cost of £4,800; and is in the geometric decorated style. A chapel of ease in Roath was reconstructed from a secular building in 1859. Two Bautist chapels are recent structures in the Lombardic style. A Roman Catholic church was built in 1861, at a cost of upwards of £4,000. A building, for free library and museum, was projected in 1869, to cost £12,900. Other public buildings are several dissenting chapels, a new neat hall of the Young Men's Christian Association, a market-house, a custom-house, a theatre, barracks, an infirmary, a free school, alms-houses, and a workbouse.

The Glamorgan canal, opened in 1794, and 25 miles long, commences in the Talf, pear its mouth, with gates 27 feet wide; and has an area of 124 acres adapted to loading and discharging, with from 9 to 13 feet of water. tolding and discharging, with room sto 13 feet of water. The Taff-Yale railway, which is also the Rhymney railway to a deflecting point at Walnut-tree Bridge, commences at the harbour; and has a station there called the Cardiff Docks station. The docks comprise the East and West Bute docks, with communication canal, a tidal dock, and three graving docks; and were constructed by the late Marquis of Bute, and by his trustees, at a cost of probably not less than a million of pounds The West Bute dock was opened in 1839. Its length is 4,000 feet; its width 200 feet; height of water in springs 28 feet 84 inches, at neaps 18 feet 74 inches; width of sea-gates, 45 feet. The East Bute dock was constructed in three successive portions, and completed in 1860. Its length is 4,300 feet; its greatest width, 500 feet; height of water in springs, 31 feet 81 inches, at neaps, 21 feet 71 inches; width of sea-gates, 55 feet. The tidal dock was 74 inches; without strengths, 3 let 1 fet that wide was opened in 1857. Its length is $\frac{1}{2}$ of a mile; its width, 150 feet; average depth of water at springs, 26 feet 8\frac{1}{2}$ inches, at neaps, 16 feet 7\frac{1}{2}$ inches. All the docks are provided with steam-cranes and staiths; the former capable of discharging 40 tons per hour, the latter capable of shipping 150 tons of coal per hour. The steam packet harbour has charging 49 thou, the factor tapace of sapping 150 tons of coal per hour. The steam packet harbour has been undergoing an extension and improvement, at an estimated cost of about £10,000. An import warehouse was procted in 1860-1 at the north end of the East Bute dock, at a cost of about £9,000; and a large new busin and a low water pier at the mouth of the Tail, with other works, were in progress in 1869. The harbour of Penarth, at the mouth of the river Ely, opened in 1859, is also practically a harbour of Cardiff. See PEXARTH. The auchorage off the mouth of the Taff, protected by Penarth-head about 200 feet high, is very good.

The general trade of the port and the town arises from their being the outlet of the agricultural produce of a considerable tract of country, and specially of the mineral produce, coal and iron, of the Taff and its tributary valleve, brought hither by the canal and the railways, and attracted by the magnificent docks. The export of coal attracted by the magnificent docks. The export of coal rose, in the twenty years following 1826, from 40,718 to 626,443 tons; and that of iron, from 64,303 to 222,491 tons. The vessels registered at the port, in the beginning of 1868, were 30 small suling-ressels, of aggregately 857 tons; 55 larger sailing-vessels, of aggregately 17,960 tons; 33 small steam-vessels, of aggregately 60 tons; and 5 larger steam-vessels, of jointly 733 tons. The vessels which entered in 1867, from the British colonies and foreign countries, were 441 British sailing-vessels of aggregately self-vessels. foreign countries, were 441 British sailing-vessels, of aggregately 141,221 tons, 1,356 foreign sailing-vessels, aggregately 325,875 tons, 419 British steam-vessels, of aggregately 222,022 tons, and 28 foreign steam-vessels, of aggregately 11,667 tons; and coastwise, 2,015 sailing-oessels, of aggregately 165,961 tons, and 831 steam-vessels, of aggregately 81,965 tons. The vessels which cleared in 1557 were, for abroad, 3,829 sailing-vessels of 1,120,972 tons, and 644 steam-vessels of 347,390 tons; and coastwise, 7,397 vessels of 630,438 tons. The customs amounted, in 1858, to £16,647; in 1867, to £14,297. Steamers sail regularly to Burnham, Bristol, Ilfracombe, and Cork. The town has a head post-office, t a railway station with telegraph, three banking-offices, and four chief inas; and publishes two weekly news-papers. Markets are held on Wednesdays and Saturdays: and fairs on the second Wednesday of March, April, and May, and on 29 June, 19 Sept., and 30 Nov. Quarter sessions are held on 1 Jan. and 2 July; and assizes at the summer circuit. An area, exclusive of suburbs, but conterminate with the two parishes, forms the borough; is terminate with the two parishes, forms the borough; is governed by a mayor, six allermen, and eighteen councillors; and unites with Cowbridge and Llabtrisaint in sending a member to parliament. Electors of all the boroughs in 1868, 2,123. Direct taxes, £19,744. Pop. of Cardiff borough in 1841, 10,077; in 1861, 32,951. Houses, 4,696. The town gives the title of Baron to the Marquis of Bute. The famous King Arthur and Wilson the painter were natives.

The two parishes are St. John and St. Mary; and there are also chapelries of St. Andrew and All Saints, constituted in 1863 and in 1867. Acres, 2,321. Real property, £237,036; of which £91,831 are in railways, and £2,686 in gas-works. Pop., the same as the borough. The livings of St. John, St Mary, and All Saints are vicarages, and that of St. Andrew is a p. curacy, in the diocese of Llandaif. Value of St. John, £260;* of St. Mary and All Saints, each £200; of St. Andrew, not reported. Patron of St. John, the Dean and Chapter of Gloucester; of St. Mary, the Marquis of Bute; of All Saints, the Bishop of Llandaff; of St. Andrew, not reported. Charities, £137 The sub-district contains also the parishes of Roath, Llandaff, Radyr, St. Fagan, Cairau, Leckwith, Penarth, Cogan, Lavernock, Michaelstone-le-Pit, Llandough-juxta-Penarth, St. Mellons, and Rumney,—the two last electendly in Monmouth. Acres, 26,543. Pop., 46,954. Houses, 7,080.—The district comprehends also the sub-district of Caerphilly, containing the parishes of Eglwysilan, Ruddry, Lisvane, Llanedarn, Llanishen, Whit-church, and part of Bedwas; the sub-district of Llantrisaint, containing the parishes of Llantrisaint, Llantwitvairdre, Pentyrch, Pendoylan, St. Bride-super-Ely, variate, renyren, femogran, St. Bindesaper-by, Peterstone-super-Ely, and the parochial chaplery of Llanillterne; and the sub-district of St. Nicholas, containing the parishes of St. Nicholas, St. Lythans, St. Andrew, St. George, Wenvoe, Eonvilston, Michaelstone-super-Ely, Sully, Cadoxton-juxta-Barry, Merthyr-Dovan, Barry, Porthkerry, Penmark. Llancarvan, Llantrithyl, and Welsh St. Donats, and the extraparochial tracts of Highlight and Llanvithin. Acres 117,797. Poor-rates in 1806, £30,074. Pop. in 1861, 74,575. Houses, 12,710. Marriages in 1806, £17,175. Houses, 12,710. Marriages in 1806, £17,176. Marriages at 1806, £17,176. Marriages at 1806, £17,176. Marriages in 1806, £17,176. Marria

CARDIGAN, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Cardiganshire. The town is a seaport, a district in Cardiganshire. The town is a seaport, a brorough, and the capital of the county. It stands on the river Teif, 34 miles from its mouth, 10 miles WNW of Newcastle-Emlyn; at the terminus of a railway to it from Carmarthen, originally authorised in 1854, rea-authorised from Newcastle-Emlyn in 1863, opened to Llandyssii 1864, and near completion to Cardigan in July 1869. The Welsh call it Aberteifi. A castle was built at it, a 1160, by Gilbert de Clare; sustained many assaults, by alternately the Welsh and the English; changed owners at least half a sore of times before 1240, when it was rebuilt by Gilbert Marshall; and was garrisoned by the royalists in the wars of Charles I., sustained then a regular siege, and surrendered to the parliamentarian forces under General Langhorne. Remains of it stand on a low clift, at the foot of the ancient bridge; consist of little more than two bastions and part of a curtain-mansion, erected by Mr. Bowen. A Benedictine priory, a cell to Chertsey, stood in the vicinity of the church; and a modern mansion, the seat of the Miles family, occupies its site, and was inhabited by Mrs. Philips, who wrote "Letters of Orinda."

The town stands on a gentle eminence; comprises two principal streets; contains several good houses; has a suburb on the Pembroke side of the river, called Bridgend; looks well in the distance; and presents a good subject for the pencil, as seen from the bridge. It once was walled; but the walls have disappeared. A suite of buildings, of picturesque appearance, comprising townhall, news-room, library, grammar-school, corn exchange, and public markets, was erected in 1860, at a cost of about £5,000. The previous town-hall, used as the county court-house, was built in 1764. The county jail was creeted, in 1793, by Nash; and has capacity for 19 male and 4 femule prisoners. The barracks were constructed in 1847. A handsome seven-arched bridge spans the Tein. The church is chiefly perpendicular English, recently restored; consists of spacious nave and elegant chancel, with western square tower; and contains a good canopied piscina. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyans, and Calvinistic Methodists. The town has a head post-office, a banking-office, and three A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on 13 Feb., 5 April, 8 Sept., 10 Nov., and 19 Dec.

A good herring fishery, and a very productive salmon fishery, are carried on. Commerce is much cramped by a dangerous bar in the river; where the depth of water at low tides is sometimes so little as 6 feet, and in the average of neaps, 11 feet. Vessels of 400 tons occasionally come up to the bridge; but vessels of from 20 to 100 tons are chiefly employed. The port's jurisdiction extends from Abertayron to a point 4 miles below Fishguard. The vessels registered, at the beginning of 1858, were $9 of 50 tons and under, aggregately 2,587, and 61 of upwards of 50 tons, aggregately 6,944 tons. Those which entered in 1807 thom the colonies and foreign ports were 2, of junity 557 tons, and coastwise 574, of aggregately 17,437 tons. Those which cleared in 1807 were none for abroad, and 25 sailing of 903 tons, and $5 stem of 600 tons, coastwise. The chief exports are grain, slates, and bark. The enstons, in 1867, amounted to nothing. The borough includes both the town and the Bridgend suburb; was incorporated by Edward I; is governed by a mayor, four aldermen, and twelve councillors; and unites with Aberystwith, Adpar, and Lampeter, in sending a member to parliament. Electors of all the boroughs in 1868, 692. Direct taxes, 24,476. Pop. of Carligon borough in 1841, 3,800; in 1861, 3,543. Houses, 900. The town gives the title of Earl to the family of Brudenell.

The parish comprises 2,412 acres of land and 105 of water. Real property, £7,132. Pop., 2,706. Houses, 630. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £153. Patron, the Lord Chancellor.—The sub-district contains also the parishes of Llangoedmore, Verwick, Mount, Llantood, Bridell, Kilgerran, Monington, Moylgrove, and St. Dogmells,—the last six electorally in Penhoroke. Acres, 2,7932. Pop., 8,856. Houses, 2,171.—be district comprehends also the sub-district of Llandy wydd, containing the parochial chapely of Lleedryd, in the parishes of Llandygwydd, Aberporth, Blaenport' Tremain, Materdivy, and Llandhangel-Penhedw,—t. ½ Last two electorally in Penhoke; and the sub-district of Newport, containing the parishes of Newport, Jinas, Llanychlwydog, Nevern, Bayvil, Meline, Eglwyswrw, Whitchurch, and Llandhir-Nant-Gwyn,—all electorally in Penhoke, Acres, 8,431. Poor-rates in 1866, 267, 178. Pop. in 1861, 13,555. Houses, 4,533. Marriages in 1866, 126; births, 435,—of which 21 were illegistimate; deaths, 315,—of which 61 were at ages under 5 years, and 27 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851–60, 1,146; births, 4,365, deaths, 3,770. The places of worship in 1851 were 27 of the Church of England, with 4,373 stitus; 17 of Independents, with 4,901 s.; 20 of Baptists, with 6,002 s.; 13 of Calvinistic Methodists, with 3,368 s.; and 1 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,079 scholars; 17 private day schools with 3,052 s.; 49 Sunday schools, with 6,253 s.; and 2 crening schools for adults, with 31 s. The workhouse is in St. Dogmells.

CARDIGAN BAY, a gulf on the west coast of Wales; along the counties of Cardigan, Merioneth, and Carnaryon, from Cardigan-Head to Braich-y-Pwill. Its length, across the entrance north and south, is 48 miles; its length, from Cardigan-Head to the top of a projection between Merioneth and Carnaryon, north-north-eastward, is 64 miles; and its greatest breadth, from the line of cartrance to the mouth of the river Dyfi, eastward, is 30 miles. Part of its bottom is the submerged track of Carter-Gwaelod, and is there beset by the reefs of Sarn-y-Gynelyn, Sarn-y-Bwch, and Badrig; but the rest is free from obstacles to navigation, and has a depth of from 3 to 30 fathoms. Eardsey Island stude it in the vicinity of Braich-y-Pwil; and is washed by a strong current setting from the south. The chief harbours are those of Cardigan, Aberayron. Aberystwith, Aberdovey, Barmouth, Mochres, Fwillheli, Portmador, and Aberdaron. See Canter-Gwaelog and Bardest islands.

CARDIGAN-HEAD, a headland at the northern extremity of Pembrokeshire; on the left side of the month of the river Teif, 34 miles NW of Cardigan.

CARDIGAN ISLE, an island in Cardigaushire; on the right side of the mouth of the river Teil, 31 miles NNW of Cardigan. It measures about 40 acres; and is pastured by sleep.

by sheep.
CARDIGAN RAILWAY. See CARMARTHEN and CARDIGAN RAILWAY.

CARDIGANSHILE, a maritime county of South Wales; bounded on the west by Cardigan bay; on the morth by Merioneth; on the north-cast by Montgomery; on the east by Radie and Brecon; on the south by Carmarthen and Pembroke. Its length, north-eastward, is 45 miles; its greatest breadth is 35 miles; its circumference is about 150 miles; and its area is 443,387 acres. It is the most primitive and the wildest county of South Wales. The coast, for the most part, is low and rather tame. The interior, except in three valleys, has little level land; includes vast sweeping ranges of hills; and is largely mountainous. The south-western portion may, comparatively speaking, be called low country; while the north-eastern is high, and culminates in Plinlimmon. Some parts contain grand scenery, in varieties of the picturesque; but the upland parts, generally, exhibit a dreary sameness. The river Dyfi goes to the sea on the northern boundary; the river Teifi goes to the sea on the southern boundary; and the Rheidol, the Ystwith, the Mynach, the Ayron, the Dothie, the Pyscottwr, the Claerwea, the Elan, the Betwyn, the Gwyrai, the Lery, and other streams water the interior. Lakes are numerous; but none of them are large. Rocks of the lower silurian series occupy the entire area. Metal mines, of high celebrity, yielding great wealth, were worked in the 16th century; were, for a long time, almost wholly abandoned; and have, of late years, been partially resumed. Lead, zinc, and silver ores are the chief; and copper ore also is found. Slate, for roofs and floors, is worked.

The soil, in much of the valleys, is peat or vegetable mould; in the vales among the uplands, chiefly stiff clay, with mixture of light learn; on the higher grounds of the lowland tracts, generally a light sandy learn, from four to twelve inches deep; and on the uplands, for the most part, a coarse, shallow, barren detritus. About one-half of the entire area is waste. Tolerably good farming is practised in the valleys of the Tein and the Ayron, and in some other parts; but the husbandry elsewhere is rude and unimproved. Lime is brought from Pembreke, and much used as a manure; but sca-weed and peat-ashes also are much used. Barley and oats are the chief crops; while wheat, rye, pease, beans, potatoes, and turnips also are raised. The arable farms may average about 150 acres. Farm-buildings have begun to be improved; but the cottages are miserable. Butter and pork are produced for the market. The cattle are a small hardy black breed; the sheep also are small, but have begun to be improved by crosses with the Southdowns, the Leicesters, and the Dersets; and the horses seldom exceed fourteen and the Dorsets, and the noises senting execution thands in height, but are strong and hardy. Ancient woods were extensive, but have been nearly all swept away. Ask, ash, and alder are native trees; and some large plantations of larch have been made. The only manufactures of any note are woollens and gloves for local use. The Llanelly railway and the Carmarthen and Cardigan railway give facilities to the southeastern and the southern borders; the Aberystwith and Welsh Coast railway gives facilities to the northern districts; and a railway gaves facinities to the northern districts; and a rati-way partly in progress in 1869, partly then in operation, in connection with the Central Wales system, from Llanid-loes to the neighbourhood of Newcastle-Emlyn, is of value to the central districts. Good roads connect the towns, and traverse much of the interior.

The county contains sixty-five parishes; and is divided into the boroughs of Cardigan and Aberystwith, and the hundreds of Geneur, Ilar, Moyddyn, Pennarth, and Troedynaw. The registration county excludes 11,264 acres to Montgomery; includes 162,760 acres of Carmarthen and Pembroke; measures 594,883 acres; and is divided into the districts of Cardigan, Newcastle-Emlyn, Lampeter, Aberayron, Aberystwith, and Tregaron. The market-towns are Cardigan, Aberystwith, Lampeter, Tregaron, and part of Newcastle-Emlyn. The chief seats negation, and part of Newcastle-Larly II. The chief sears are Gogerthan, Nanteos, Peterwell, Crosswood, Elaenhant, Coelmore, Hafod, Mabus, Allt-yr-Odyn, Llanina, Tyglyn, and Llanerchayron. Real property in 1815, £216,835; in 1851, £216,835; in 1860, £226,552. The county is governed by a lordneutenant, a high sheriff, and about forty-five magistrates. It is in the South Wales judicial circuit, and the Home military district. The assizes are held at Cardigan; and quarter sessions at Aberayron. The police force, in 1864, consisted of 35 men, at a cost of £2,553; the crimes committed were 40; the depredators and suspected persons at large were 113; and the houses of bad character, 47. One member is sent to parliament for the county; and one for the boroughs of Cardigan, Aberystwith, Lampeter, and Adpar. The electors for the county in 1868 were 3,520. The county is in the diocese of St. David's; and, with parts of adjoining counties, forms an archdeaconry. Pop. in 1801, 42,956; in 1821, 57,784; in 1841, 68,766; in 1861, 72,245. Inhabited houses, 15,754; uninhabited, 529; building, 105.

The territory now forming Cardiganshire was anciently part of Dimetia. It had an important station of the Romans, called Loventium, at Llanio-isan; and was nomi-nally included in their Britannia Secunda. The Danes harassed it in 987 and 1071. The Normans came into it in 1092, but were driven out in 1097. Henry I. granted in tools, bit were invention to Mar. I restored it to Prince Rhys; and Edward I., in 1284, on the overthrow of the last Llewelyn, united it to England. Druldical monuments occur at Yspytty-Cynvyn, Alltgoch near Lampeter, Carrog near Llanliwchairn, and in other places. Roman road, called Sarn-Helen, went through Loven-tium toward Penalt and Carnaryon. British fortifications stood at Cardigan, Aberystwith, Ystradmeiric, Lampeter, Llaurhysted, Kilcennin, Dinerth, Abercuion, Castell-Gwalter, Castell-Flemish, Moyddyn, Penweddie, Aberayron, and a number of other places. A famous abbey stood at Strata-Florida, now Ystrad-flur, on the Roman way; and monastic houses stood at Cardigan, Llanrhysted, Lampeter, and Llandewi-Brefi.

. 4

CARDINAL'S CAP. See WHITE HILL.

CARDINGTON, a village and a parish in the district and county of Bedford. The village stands on an affluent of the river Ouse, adjacent to the Midlauf milway, 2½ miles SE of Bedford; and has a station on the railway. The parish includes also the township of East Cotts. Post-town, Bedford. Acres. 5.170. Real wre-Cotts. Post-town, Bedford. Acres, 5,170. Real property, £9,079. Pop., 1,419. Houses, 275. Cardington House is the seat of the Whitbreads; and was, for some years, the residence of the philauthropist Howard. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £245.* Patron, Trinity College, Cambridge. The church is Patron, Trinity College, Cambridge. The church is later English. There are an Independent chapel, a handsome industrial school, a British school, alms-houses with some industrial school, a British school, annis-nouses wen £50 a-year, and other charities £28. CARDINGTON, a village and a parish in Church-Stretton district, Salop. The village stands on a pleasant spot, under Cardington, illi, 23 miles E of the Shrews-bury and Hereford railway, and 4 ENE of Church-Stretton; and has a post-office under Church-Stretton. The ton; and has a post-office discovered by parish includes also the townships of Broom, Chatwall, Comley, Enchmarsh, Holt-Preen, Lydley-Hayes, Plaish, Wilstone, and part of Gretton. Acres, 6,713. Real property, £4,723. Pop., 768. Houses, 141. The property is much subdivided. Fine clay and quartz for the porty is much substituted. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Hereford. Value, £237. Patron, R. Huat, Esq. The church is good. A school has £25 from endowment; and other charities, £53.

dowment; and other charities, £53.

CARDINIAM, a parisli in Bodmin district, Cornwall; on the river Fowey, 3 miles NNE of Bodmin Road r. station, and 4 E by N of Bodmin. It has a post-office under Bodmin. Acres, 9,534. Real property, £3,881. Pop., 717. Houses, 129. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged to Robert de Cardinham, ancestor. of the Lords Dinham; and has traces of an ancient castle. Glynn, a heautiful place on the Fowey, is the seat of Lord Vivian; and contains an early portrait by Reynolds, which opened the way to his career as an artist. Cardin-ham Bury is an ancient circular entrenchment. The livpairs an archeretracture and the first fig is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £524.*
Patron, Mrs. Viviau. The church is good; and has a brass of a priest.
CARDISTON. See CARDESTON.

CAR-DYKE, a cut in the fens of Lincoln; from Thurlby, northward to Sleaford canal. It is 20 miles long and 60 feet wide; extended formerly to the rivers Welland and Witham; and is thought to have been a work of the Ro-

CAREBY, a parish in Bourn district, Lincoln; on a branch of the river Glen, 1} mile SW of little Bytham pranch of the fiver Gien, 15 mile Sw of little Bytham, r. station, and 55 WSW of Bourn. Post-town, Castle-Bytham, under Stamford. Acres, 1,454. Real property, £1,873. Pop., 107. Honses, 23. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged formerly to the Hatchers; and belongs now to C. B. Reynardsou, Esq. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Holywell and Aunby, in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £400. * Patron, G. B. Reynardson, Esq. The church is very good.

CARESWELL. See CAVERSWALL

CAREW, or CAREY, a village and a parish in the dis-ict and county of Pembroke. The village stands on a trict and county of Pembroke. The village stands on a creek of Milford haven, near the Pembroke and Tenby railway, 4 miles ENE of Pembroke. Here is a very ancient and beautiful cross, probably Saxon or Danish, of a single shaft, 14 feet high, covered with Runic carvings. a single shart, 14 neet mgn, covered with number at angu-The parish comprises 5,256 acres of land, and 380 of water; and its post-town is Pembroke. Real property, £5,953; of which £458 are in quarries. Pop. 993. water; and its post-town is Fembroke. Real property, £5,958; of which £458 are in quarries. Pop. 993. Houses, 216. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged to the princes of Sonth Wales; was given as a dowry with Nesta, daughter of Rhys an Tewdwr, to Gerald de Windsor; passed to Sir Rhys ap Thomas; gave entertainment to the Earl of Richmond. on his way to Bosworth field; was, soon afterwards, the scene of a great tournament, the first show of its kind in Wales; and belongs now to the Carews of Crocomb. A fortress stood here in the times of the Welsh princes; and a magnificent mansion was added to this in the time of Herry VII. Some part of the ancient fortress seems still to exist in a shattered, ivy-clad barbican; and the shell of the added mansion still stands, and is one of the finest ruins in Wales. The architecture is rich late perpendicular; the windows are large, square, and lantern-like; and the great hall has a lofty porch, and measures 102 feet by 20. Milton House, Freestone Hall, and Wilsdon are fine mansions; and the last occupies ground on which Cromwell had his quarters when besieging Pembroke castle. Extensive limestone quarries were worked, but have been stopped. The living is a vicar-age in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £182.* Pa-tron, the Bishop of St. David's. The church is early English, with good perpendicular tower; and contains monuments of the Carews and others. The vicarage of Redberth is a separace benefice.

CAPEY, a locality of miles from Ross, in Hereford; with a post-office under Ross.
CAPEY, Northumberland. See CARY-COATS.
CAPEAN. See PRISK and CARFAN.

CARGO, OSE PAISS AND CAPPAN.
CARGO, Or CRAGHOW, a township in Stanwix parish, Cumberland; on the river Eden, adjacent to the Silloth railway, 3 miles NW of Carlisle. Acres, 1,196. Real property, £2,553. Pop., 262. Houses, 63.
CARGO-FLEET. See CLEVELAND-PORT.

CARHAM, a village and a parish in Glendale district, Northumberland. The village stands adjacent to the river Tweed, to the Tweedmouth and Kelso railway, and to the boundary with Scotland, 51 miles WSW of Cornhill; and has a station on the railway. The parish includes also the townships of Shidlaw, Downham, Hagg, New Learmouth, West Learmouth, Fast and West Mindrim, Moneylaws, Preston, Tythchill, Wark, and Wark -Common; and its post-town is Coldstream. Acres. 19,382; of which 127 are water. Real property, £17,411. Pop., 1,274. Houses, 236. The property is divided among a few. Carham Hall belongs to the is divided among a rew. Carnam trait belongs to the heirs of A. Compton, Esq. Shidlaw hill and other offsets of the Cheviots are in the south, and command charming views. A house of black monks, a cell to Kickham priory in Yorkshire, anciently stood here; and was burned by the Scots under Wallace, whose place of encampment is still called Campfield. Three sanguinary battles were fought in the parish; one at an early period, between the Saxons and the Danes; the other two, in 1018 and 1370, between the English and the Scots. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Dur-ham. Value, £233.* Patrons, the heirs of A. Compton, Esq. The clinreh is good.

CARILAMPTON, a village, a parish, and a hundred in Somerset. The village stands near the coast, 11 mile ESE of Dunster, and 4 W of Watchet r. station. It dates from uncient times, under the name of Carumtune; and is a seat of petty sessions. The parish includes also the hamlet of Rodhuish; and is in the district of Willithe hamlet of Kodhulsh; and is in the district of winton. Post-fown, Dunster, under Taunton. Acres, 5,724; of which 525 are water. Real property, £6,076. Pop., 706. Honses, 141. The property is divided among a few. The surface is diversified with glen and hill. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Rodhuish, in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £182. Patron, J. F. Luttrell, Esq. The church is ancient, interesting, and good; and contains a screen. Charities, £9.—The hundred contains sixteen parishes.

60,350. Pop., 8,502. Houses, 1,674.
CARHARRACE, a locality 2 miles from Scorrier Gate r. station, in Cornwall; with a post-office under Scorrier.

CARHAYES-BARTON, a hamlet in St. Michael-Carhayes parish, Cornwall; 3 miles SE of Tregony. CARHAYES-ST. MICHAEL. See MICHAEL-CAR-

HAYES, (ST.) CARINGTON. See CARRINGTON.

CARISBROOKE, a village and a parish in the Isle of Wight. The village stands on an affluent of the river Medina, 1 mile SW of Newport; was formerly the capital of the island and a market town; and has a post-office under Newport. A Roman station seems to have been here; and previously, perhaps, a British city. The presence of the Romans here, or even anywhere in the island, has been doubted; but was fully proved in 1859 by the discovery of a Roman villa of about 120 feet by 50. with two large halls, tesselated pavements, a semicircular bath, a hypocaust, some coins, and a few small articles. An early fortress crowned an adjacent hill, 239 feet high; and was taken, in 530, by Cerdic, the Saxon. A castle, on the site of this, was built by William Fitz-Osborne, the first Norman lord of Wight; rebuilt, in the time of Henry I., by Richard de Redvers, Earl of Devon; enlarged, in 1262-93, by Isabella de Fortibus; repaired and outwardly strengthened by Elizabeth; used as a state prison by Cromwell, and made then the prison of Charles I. and his children; used as a state prison also by Charles I.; long occupied by the governor and the garrison of the Isle of Wight; allowed eventually to go greatly to decay; and subjected recently to considerable restoration. The site is very fine; the appearance of the castle is picturesque; and a walk of about a mile goes round it, commanding delightful views. The encompassing bastions, faced with stone, are of the time of Elizabeth; the entrance, by archway stone bridge, and machicolated gatehouse, with flanking circular towers, is partly of the time of Edward IV., partly of the time of Elizabeth; the range of building containing Charles I.'s prison rooms, on the left past the gatehouse, belongs to the later years of the 15th century; the polygonal keep, on a moated mound, in the north-east corner of the inner court, was probably the work of Richard do Redvers; the great hall, now divided into two stories, and otherwise modernized, is early English, and was probably the work of Isabella de Fortibus; and the chapel, at right angles with the hall, seems to have been constructed along with it, and was long desecrated, and afterwards restored. The castle-well is a regular excavation through solid rock, and famous for its depth, reputed to be 300 feet, though really no more than 145; and is covered by a structure of the 15th century, recently restored. Sir William Davenant, the poet, was confined in the castle.

The parish includes also the hamlets of Bowcombe, Billingham, and part of Chillerton; Parkhurst forest, with part of Parkhurst prison; Albany barracks; and the Isle of Wight house of industry. Acres, 7,400. Real property, £24,734. Pop., 7,502. Houses, 1,196. The property is much subdivided. A priory was founded near the church by Fitz-Osborne; attached to the Benenear the church by FITZ-Osborne; attached to the Lendictine abbey of Lire; and given by Henry V. to his new establishment at Sheen. The living is a vicarage, united with the p. curacy of Northwood, in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £200.* Patron, Queen's College, Oxford. The church was built by Fitz-Osborne; Saminad of its characle and neath side in the living of deprived of its chancel and north aisle in the time of Elizabeth; has a fine tower, with pinnacles and an octa-gonal turret; and contains two interesting monuments of Lady Wadham and William Keeling. The p. curacy of Lady Watham and William Keeling. The p. curacy of St. John and that of St. Nicholas-in-the-Castle are separate charges. Value of St. John, not reported; of St. Nicholas, 224. There are an Independent charpel and charities £20. A Dominican priory for eighteen nuns was built in 1867, at a cost of £12,000, defrayed by the Countess of Clare.

CARK, a village on the west coast of Morecambe bay in Lancashire; 2 miles SW by S of Cartmel. It has a post-office under Newton-in-Cartmel, and a station, jointly with Cartmel, on the Ulverstone and Lancaster railway; and a public coach runs daily from it to Newby CARKIN, a township in Forcett parish, N. R. Yorkshire; S miles NNE of Richmond. Acres, 650. Pop.,

Houses, 13.

CARLATTON, an extra-parochial tract in Brampton district, Cumberland; 10 miles ESE of Carlisle. Acres, 1,810. Pop., 71. Houses, 10. CARLBURY, a hamlet in Coniscliffe parish, Durham; on the river Tees, 54 miles WNW of Darlington. Pop.,

Limestone is worked.

CARLBY, a parish in Bonrn district, Lincoln; on the river Glen and the Great Northern railway, near Essendine r. station, and 5 miles NNE of Stamford. town, Stamford. Acres, 1,020. Real property, £1,555. Pop., 183. Ilouses, 40. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £195.* Patrons, the Marquis of Exeter and Sir Value, 2130. "Farons, the sharquis of Exeter and Sir E. Smith, Bart. The church is good. Charities, 27. CARLCOATES, a hamlet in Thurlestone township, Penistone parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 1 mile W of Peni-stone. Pop., 382. CARLEOL. See Carlisle. CARLESFORD. See Carlison. CARLES-WORK, a stone embankment on the moors, between Castleton and Hathersage, in Derby. It is, in between Castleton and Hathersage, in Derpy. It is, in some parts, 8 feet high. Its origin is unknown.

CARLETON, a township in St. Cuthbert parish, Camberland; adjacent to the Newcastle railway, 2 miles SE of Carlisle. Pop., 181. Houses, 42.

CARLETON, a township in Drigg parish, Cumberland on the riger Wife near the cast 2 miles NNE of land; on the river Mite, near the coast, 2 miles NNE of Pop., 143. Carleton Hall is the seat of Ravenglass. the Burroughs.

CARLETON, a hamlet in Penrith parish, Cumber-land; on the river Eamont, 1 mile SSE of Penrith. Pop., 81. Carleton Hall was formerly the seat of the Carletons; and belongs now to the Cowpers.

CARLETON, a township in Pontefract parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 1 mile S of Pontefract. Acres, 620. Real property, £2,012. Pop., 191. Houses, 44. CARLETON, Durham, Notts, Leicester, Suffolk, and See CARLTON.

CARLETON, or CARLTON, a township-chapelry in Snaith parish, W. R. Yorkshire; near the river Aire and the Goole railway, 2 miles N of Snaith. It has a postoffice under Selby. Acres, 3,070. Real property, £7,479. Pop., 752. Houses, 183. The property is much sub-Pop., 752. Houses, 183. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of York. Value, £163. Patron, the Rev. W. W. Ware. The church was built in 1863. There are a Roman Catholic chapel, a national school, and charities £25.

CARLETON-FOREHOE, a parish in Forehoe district, Norfolk; on the river Yare, 2 miles NE of Kimberley r. station, and 3½ N by W of Wymondham. Post-town, Wymondham. Acres, 772. Real property, £1,732. Pop., 124. Houses, 25. The property is divided among four The living is action; property is divided among four. The living is action; the Allonges of Norwich. a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £159.* Patron, Lord Wodehouse. The church is later English, with a square tower; and was repaired in 1839. Charities, £26.

In 1599. Charties, 229.

CARLETON (Great and Little), a township in Poulton-le-Fylde parish, Lancashire; adjacent to the Blackpool railway, 1 mile SW of Poulton. Acres, 1,979. Real property, 23,905. Pop., 363. Houses, 76.

CARLETON-ST. PETER, a parish in Loddon district,

Norfolk; near the river Yare; 3 miles NNW of Loddon, and 31 SW by S of Buckenham r. station. Post-town, and of SW by Soi Buckennain r. station. Post-town, Loddon, under Norwich. Acres, 772. Real property, £1,159. Pop., 79. Houses, 18. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Ashby, in the diocess of Norwich. Value, £294. Patrons, Sir W. B. Proctor and Sir C. H. Rich, Darty. The harby his gas. Barts. arts. The church is good.
CARLFORD, a sub-district and a hundred in Suffolk.

The sub-district is in Woodbridge district; lies between Woodbridge and Ipswich; and contains thirteen parishes. Acres, 19,634. Pop., 5,358. Houses, 1,201. The hundred contains the same parishes as the sub-district, and two more; but is joined to Colneis.

.

364

CARLINGCOTT, a hamlet in Camerton and Dunkerton parishes, Somerset; 44 miles SE of Bath.
CARLINGHOW, a hamlet in Guisbrough township and parish, N. R. Yorkshire; near Guisbrough.
CARLINGHOW, a hamlet in Batley township and parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 64 miles NW of Wakefield. CARLISLE, a city and a district in Cumberland; and a diocese in Cumberland, Westmordand, and Lancashire. The city stands on the river Eden, at the influx of the Petterill and the Caldew, on the great western line of communication from England to Scotland, within a mile communication from Engage to Section, whilm a line of the Roman wall, 91 miles SSE of Gretna, and 301 NNW of London. Railways go from it in six directions, toward Hawick, Annandale, Silloth, Marypert, Lancaster, and Newcastle-upon-Type; and give it communica-tion with all parts of Great Britain; and all of them meet in one central station.

History .- A Roman station stool on the city's site; Heavy,—A name of Luguvallum, signifying the "tower by the wall." This was shortened by the Britons into Luel, and prefixed with Caer, their word for a fort; and the name Caer-Luel passed, in course of time, into Carleol and Cartisle. Roman altars, inscriptions, vases, coins, and other relics have been found within the city; and Roman roads went from it to Longtown, Ellenborough, and Lancaster. A native fortress succeeded the Roman station; was maintained by both the Saxous and the Normans; and made resistance to the Picts and the Scots. A city-wall was constructed at an early period, perhaps in the 7th century; was reconstructed at subsequent periods; enclosed a triangular space of 2,000, 650, and 460 yards; and had three gates. The Cumbrian king Arthur figures in two famous ancient ballads the one on the marriage of his knight Sir Gawaine, the other entitled the "Boy and the Mantle"—as having held his court at Carlisle. The Northumbrian king Egfred founded here a religious house, and placed it nnder his establishment at Lindesfarne. The Danes took and wasted the town in 875. William Rufus revived it, and gave it a new fortress. Stephen resided some time in it, and greatly improved its defences. The Scots be-sieged it under their kings David I., Malcolm IV., William the Lion, and Alexander II.; and held possession of it during an aggregate of eighteen years. Edward I. retreated to it from Falkirk in 1293; convoked his barons and knights at it in 1300; and held his last parliament in it in 1307. It suffered much and often in the subsequent wars; resisted a siege, in 1315, by Bruce; and both then and afterwards endured great disaster. It also figured in the raid, in 1338, which led to the battle of Otterburn; and served for ages as the main bulwark, in the west, against the Scottish forays. Mary, queen of Scots, was here taken into custody; Kinmont Willie, the notable Border trooper, celebrated in song and story, was rescued from durance here by a beld exploit of Scott of Luccleuch; and "Hughie the Graeme," Hobbie Noble, and other famous Scottish reivers, were here put to death. The city shared much in the troubles here put to death. nere put to deadh.

The entry shared much in the troubles which followed the Reformation; sustained a siege of six months, in 1945, from General Leslie's army, and was held by Prince Charles Edward, in 1745, from the time of his advance into England till after the retreat of his main force to Scotland. Executions in it, during about two centuries, were more numerous than in any other provincial town in the kingdom; and those which folLived the affair of Prince Charles Elward were rendered memorable and ghastly by the fixing of the heads of the victims on the city gates. Hence says a poetical fragment preserved in Scott's Border Antiquities—

"When I first cam by merry Carlisle,
Was ne'er a town sae sweetly seeming;
The white rose flaunted o'er the wall,
The thistlel banners far were streaming!
When I cam rext by merry Carlisle,
O sad sal seem'd the town an 'eerie!
The auld anld men cum out and wept—
'O maiden come re to seek yere dearie!'

His lang lang hair in yellow banks Waved o'er his cheeks sae sweet and rud lie; Bat now they wave o'er Carlisle yetts La dripping ringlets clotting bloodie."

Site and Steets.—The city occupies a swell or gentle eminence, in the midst of an extensive, fertile, well-wooded plain. The environs are all rich low country, profusely adorned with water, culture, parks, and manisons. The higher points both within the city and around it command a brilliant pancrama, away to the Northambeland hills, the Scottish mountains, Criffel beyond the Solway, and the group of Skiddaw. The exterior of the city, as seen from various approaches, presents a striking appearance, and looks as if combining modern elegance with remains of antiquity. The interior, as entered from the railway station, seems entirely, neatly, and briskly modern. The castle, which most prominently links it with the past, does not come immediately into view; and the cathedral, which also speaks largely of the past, has been so outwardly renovated as to appear almost new. The three principal streets, English-street, Scotch-street, and Castle-street, diverge from the market-place, adjacent to the central railway station, and are wile and handsome. Other streets are straight, airy, and well built; and the city, as a whole, seems little different from a well-plannel, lively, thriving, modern Public Buildings .- The court-houses and the county jail form a grand suite of buildings; and were erected, after designs by Smirke, at a cost of about £100,000. The court-houses stand partly on the site of what was called the citadel, comprising two very strong circular towers for defending the city gates; and they themselves form two circular Gothic towers, on opposite sides of the form two circular bottle towers, on opposite sides of the upper end of English-street. The county jail stands on the site of a black friary; was partly remodelled, and principally rebuilt, in 1869; and now has capacity for 112 male and 55 female prisoners. An elegant bridge, of five elliptical arches, spans the Eden on the great road to the north; was creeted by Smirke, at a cost of upwards of £70,900; and is connected with the city by an arched causeway, nearly 1 of a mile long. Two small bridges span the Petterill and the Caldew. The central railway stution stands partly on the site of the citadel; presents a neat front to the head of English-street; is a long, spacious, well-contrived arcade; and contains handsome refreshment and waiting rooms. The news-room, reading and coffee rooms, are a beautiful recent structure, erected by subscription, from a design by Rickman. An octagonal chimney stalk, 305 feet high, connected with a large cetton factory, is a conspicuous object. Other noticeable things are a market-cross of 1632; an old town-ball, where the mayor's court and the city sessions are held; a n-wer hall, where the city council and other corporate bodies meet; a statue of the late Earl of Lonsdale, on a pelestal, in Court-square; a statue of Mr. Steele in Market-square; a theatre; assembly-rooms; new water-works, formed in 1898; and the great public luiblings to be noticed in subsequent paragraphs.

The Castle.—The fortress built by William Rufus pro-

The Castle.—The fortress brill by William Rufus prohably compile the site of the previous Savon fortress and Borano station. Bullings were abled to it, or creete adjuscut, by several kings, forming fortifications, prison, and palace; and all were called the castler but they have, in resent times, been greatly altered. The site is a bold but not high emineuse, overlooking the Eden; and commands one of the best prospects which the city or the environs alford, over the great rich surrounding country. The chief existing structures are a very thick enclosing wall, and buildings used as barracks. The entrance is an embattled gateway, with the ancient portcullis, and a defaced sculpture, believed to represent the arms of Henry II. A half-moon battery formerly defended the inner court, but is now dismantled. The great keep still stands; and is a lofty massive tower; but has been converted into an armory. The hall of the palace was destroyed in 1827; the chapel of it was turned into barracks in 1837; and a small staircase is the only other part of it that remains. Sir William Wallace rested a night under the castle gate; and Wavetley, in Sir Walter Scott's novel, watched from the gatchouse Fergus

Maclvor going out to execution. The Catheral.—This was originally the church of an Augustinian priory, built, in 1011, by Walter the Norman, and endowed by Henry 1; but it has undergone sweeping changes, and great recent restorations. "The cloisters of the priory have disappeared; but the entrancegateway and the fratry or refectory remains. The gateway has a circular arch, with an inscription recording it to have been built by the prior, Christopher Slee. fratry is lighted on the south side by a row of well-proportioned Tuder win lows, and aderned on the opposite wall with three niches, surmounted by elegant crocketted canopies; and it contains a curious stone chair, with impanelled foliated ceiling, called the confessional. This is the place in which Edward I held his parliament, and it is now used as the chapter-room. The cathedral is cruciform, and has a square embattled tower, 127 feet high, rising over the intersection of the cross. The nave high, rising over the intersection of the cross. and the transepts are Norman, narrow and without aisles. Their columns are very massive, each 171 feet in circumference, and 14 feet 2 inches high. The nave was deprived of about 90 feet of its length in the time of Cromwell, to yield material for the erection of guardhouses and batteries; and the rest of it was afterwards closed with a wall, and fitted up as a parish church. The transepts measure 124 feet in length and 28 feet in width; and the north one is now used as the consistory court. The choir was built at great expense, with vast effort, by aid of money obtained through sale of indulgences and remissions, in the reign of Edward III. Most of it is early English; but the east end is the decorated. Its length is 137 feet; its width, 71 feet; its height, 75 feet. The north side makes a fine appearance to the street, and is divided from the thoroughfare by a new enclosure-wall and clegant iron railing, and by a belt of ground with a row of trees. The east end shows rich grandeur of de-sign, with a most magnificent central window, with other windows to correspond, and with bold buttresses, crocketted pinnacles, and gable crosses. The interior is arranged in side aisles and central aisle, with triforium and clerestory. The columns are clustered, and the capitals are alorned with carved figures and flowers. The clerestory has a rich parapet pierced with foliated circles. The great east window, as seen in the interior, has been pronounced by many competent judges the finest decorated window in the kingdom. It measures 60 feet by 30, contains nine lights, and is filled in the bead with surpassingly rich flowing tracery. The win-dows of the side aisles have a corresponding character. A rew of beautiful niches appears below them, and is continued all round the walls. A very fine organ, crected in 1856, stands above the entrance to the choir. The stalls are embellished with tabernacle-work, in carved oak, black with age. The bishop's throne and the pulpit are modern, and not so rich in design, yet elegant and stately. The screens in the aisles show some curious legendary paintings from the histories of St. Angustine, St. Anthony, and St. Cuthbert. A fine mural monu-ment to Dr. Paley, simply recording his name and age, appears in the north aisle; and monuments to Bishops Bell, Law, Smith, Robinson, Barrow, and other distinguished men, are in other parts. A small chapel, dedicated to St. Catherine, founded and endowed by John de Capella, a citizen of Carlisle, stands in the south aisle, adjoining the transept. The deanery stands within the precincts of the cathedral. It was built by Prior Senhouse, in 1507, and contains a fine apartment used as a drawing room, with a remarkably ornate ceiling in carved emblazoned oak."

366

Churches.—St. Mary's church is part of the cathedral on the site of a previous very old one; and has a monu-ment of Dean Carlyle. Trinity church, in Caldewgate, and Christ church, in Edelwgate, and Christ church, in Edelwgate, tures of 1830, the former in the Tudor style, the latter in the early English, each with a tower and spire. Stephen's and St. John's are beautiful edifices of 1865, the former in early and decorated English, the latter in pure early English. The first five are vicarages, and the last a p. curacy, in the dio. of C. Value of each, £300. Patrons of the first four, the Dean and Chapter; of St. Stephen's, the Bishop; of St. John, Five Trustees. The places of worship, in 1851, were 5 of the Ch. of England, with 4,039 sittings; 1 of the Ch. of Scotland, with 750 s.; 1 of U. Presbyterians, with 470 s.; 3 of Independents, with 1,370 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 1,000 s.; 1 of Quakers, with 360 s.; 2 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,000 s.; 1 of the Wesleyan Association, with 1,000 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 89 s.; and one of Roman Catholics, with Four other churches are in the rural parts of the parish; a new church of St. Mary-Without, to cost £4,000, was projected in 1869; a new Presbyterian church, in plain Gothic, was built in 1863; and an Evangelical Union chapel also is recent.

Schools, de.—The grammar-school was founded in 1546, by Henry VIII.; has two exhibitions to Queen's Thomas and Dean Carlyle. A girls' school has an endowed income of £37. There are an academy of arts, and a literary, philosophical, and mechanical institution. The infirmary is a recent edifice, built by subscription; and has a tetrastyle Doric portico. The dispensary is notable for a child born in 1788 without a brain, who lived six days. Alms-houses and other charities have an endowed income of £85.

Trade. dc .- Manufactures of cotton thread, ginghams, checks, hats, whips, hooks, and other articles are carried The large factory, with the lofty chimney stalk, employs about 550 hands. There are also iron-foundries, tan-yards, and breweries. Vast stir and much business arise from the traffic on the railways. Markets are held on Wednesdays and Saturdays; and fairs on 26 Aug., 19 Sept., and the first and second Saturday after 10 Oct. The city was formerly connected with the Solway by a ship canal, now superseded by the Silloth railway; and it ranks as a seaport, with Allonby and Port-Carlisle as sub-ports. The vessels registered at it in 1868 were 8 sailingvessels, of aggregately 288 tons, 14 sailing vessels, of aggregately 1,883 tons, and 6 steam-vessels, of aggregately 1,202 tons; and the vessels which entered in that year were 8 from British colonies, of aggregately 3,705 tons, 7 from foreign countries, of aggregately 1,812 tons, 36 sailing-vessels coastwise, of aggregately 2,757 tons, and 343 steam-ressels coastwise, of aggregately 53,013 tons. The vessels registered at the end of 1862 were 28 sailing-vessels of aggregately 2,370 tons, and 5 steamvessels of aggregately 806 tons; and the commerce in that year, with foreign and colonial ports, comprised 13 vessels inwards of aggregately 3,301 tons, and 8 vessels outsers inwards of aggregately 2,05 tons, and 6 vessels oftwards of aggregately 2,05 tons. The customs amonated, in 1853, to £23,535; in 1867, to £21,067. The city has a head post-office, ‡ a telegraph-office, three banking-offices, and seven chief inus; and publishes several newspapers. Races are run, in the immediate neighbourhood, on a fine course of 1 mile 90 yards, in July. The Borough .- The city is a borough by prescription; was chartered by Heury II.; is governed by a mayor, 10 aldermen, and thirty councillors; and sends two members to parliament. Its borough limits, both for government and for representation, comprise the townships of Botchergate and English-street in St. Cuthbert parish; the townships of Scotch-street, Fisher-street, Castle-street, Abbey-street, and part of Caldewgate, in St. Mary parish; and the extra-parochial place of Eaglesfield-abbey. Assizes are held at both circuits of the judges; and quar-Assizes are held at both circuits of the judges; and quarter sessions on I Jan., 9 April, 2 July, and 15 Oct. Real property, £96,723; of which £7,119 are in railways, and £2,734 in gas-works. Direct taxes, £14,348. Electors in 1868, 1,506. Pop. in 1841, 20,815; in 1861, 29,417. Houses, 5,140. The city gives the title of Earl to a branch of the Howard family.

The District.—The registration district comprehends the sub-district of St. Mary, containing all the borough parts of St. Mary parish, with the rest of Caldewgate township; the sub-district of St. Cuthbert, containing all the townships of St. Cuthbert parish, and Wreay chapelry in St. Mary; the sub-district of Stanwix, containing the parishes of Stanwix and Rockliffe, and the extra parochial tract of King-Moor; the sub-district of Burgh, containing the parishes of Burgh-by-Sands, Kirkandrews-upon-Eden, Beaumont, and Grinsdale; the sub-district of Dalston, containing the parishes of Dalston and Orton, and the Cummersdale township of St. Mary; and the sub-district of Wetheral, containing the parishes of Crosby-upon-Eden, Warwick, and five townships of Wetheral. Acres, 70,810. Poor-rates in 1866, £17,364. Pop. in 1861, Houses, 8,299. Marriages in 1866, 421; births, 44.820. 1,412,-of which 153 were illegitimate; deaths, 977,of which 321 were at ages under 5 years, and 20 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,644; births, 14,681; deaths, 9,988. The places of worship in 1851 were 21 of the Church of England, with 8,464 sittings; 1 of the Church of Scotland, with 750 s; 1 of the United Presbyterian church, with 470 s; 3 of Independents, with 1,370 s; 1 of Baptists, with 1,000 s; 3 of Quakers, with 710 s; 5 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,260 s.; 12 of the Wesleyan Methodist Association, with 1,430 s.; 2 of Primitive Methodists with 100 s.; 1 unde-1,400 s.; 2 of Frindry's Methodists with 100 s.; 1 third fined, with 100 s.; 2 of Latter Day Saints, with 111 s.; and 2 of Roman Catholics, with 1,130 s. The schools were 35 public day schools, with 3,640 scholars; 64 private day schools, with 1,830 s.; 35 Sunday schools, with 3,913 s.; and 6 evening schools for adults, with 251 s. There are two workhouses, both in the city. The Diocese. -The see was founded, in 1132, by Henr.

The first bishop was Athelwold, the king's confessor; and among his successors have been De Everdon, De and among his successors have been be Evendon, be Kirkby, Merks, Oglethorpe, Usher, Nicholson, and Sterne. The bishop's income is £4,500; and his resi-dence is Rose Castle. The chapter comprises a dean, two archdeacons, four canous, four honorary canous, and a chancellor. The diocese comprehends all Cumberland, except Alston parish, all Westmoreland, and the Lancashire deaneries of Cartmel and Ulverstone; and is divided into the archdeaconries of Carlisle and Westmore-Pop. in 1861, 266,591. Some livings have recently been raised in status, as named in our articles on them; but all will be named here as they stood in 1861.

The archideacoury of Carlisle comprises the rural dear-cries of Appleby, Brampton, Carlisle, Greystoke, Kes-wick, Kirkby-Stephen, Lowther, Penrith, and Wigton. The deanery of Appleby includes the rectories of Asby, Dufton, Kirkby-Thore, Long Marton, Newbiggin, and Ormside; the vicarages of Appleby-St. Lawrence Ormside; the vicatages of Appleby-St. Lawrence and Appleby-St. Michael; and the p. curacies of Milburn and Temple-Sowerby. The deanery of Brampton in-cludes the rectories of Beweastle, Castlecarrock, Nether Denton, and Stapleton; the vicarages of Brampton and 1rthington; and the p. curacies of Cumrew, Cumwhitton, Over Denton, Farlam, Hayton, Lanercost, Cilsland, Nichol-Forest, and Walton. The deanery of Carlisle includes the rectories of Arthuret, Kirkandrews-upon-Eden, Beaumont, Kirkandrews-upon-Esk, Kirkhampton, Kirk-linton, Orton, and Scaleby; the vicarages of Burgh-by-Sands, Crosby-upon-Eden, and Stanwix; and the p. curacies of Carlisle-St. Mary, Carlisle-St. Cuthbert, Carlisle-Trinity, Carlisle-Christehurch, Upperby, Wreay, Grinsdale, Hesket-in-the-Forest, Armathwaite, Rockliffe, Houghton, Wetheral, Warwick, Holm-Eden, and Scot-The deanery of Greystoke includes the rectories of Greystoke, Skelton, and Hutton-in-the-Forest; the vicarages of Castle-Sowerby and Dacre; and the p. curacies of Raughton-Head, Matterdale, Mungrisedale, Watermillock, Patterdale, and Sebergham. The deanery of Keswick includes the vicarage of Crosthwaite, and the p. curacies of Keswick-St. John, Borrowdale, Grange, Newlands, St. John-in-the-Vale, Thornthwaite, Wythburn, Bassenthwaite, Buttermere, Lorton, Threlkeld, and Wythop. The deanery of Kirkby-Stephen includes the rectories of Crosby-Garret and Great Musgrave: the vicarages of Brough-under-Stainmore, Kirkby-Stephen, and Warcop; and the p. curacies of Stainmore. Mallerstang, Soulby, and Ravenstonedale. The deanery of Lowther includes the rectories of Cliburn, Clifton, and Lowther; the vicarages of Askham, Bampton, Croshy-Ravensworth, Morland, Orton, and Shap; and the p. curacies of Mar-tindale, Bolton, Thrimby, Mardale, and Swindale. The deanery of Penrith includes the rectories of Brougham, Melmerby, Onsby, and Great Salkeld; the vicarages of Addingham, Ainstable, Barton, Edenhall, Kirkland, Kirkoswald, Lazonby, and Penrith; and the p. curacies of Langwathby, Culgaith, Skirwith, Plampton, Newton-Regny, Renwick, and Christohnrch-Penrith. The deanery of Wigton includes the rectories of Aikton, Bolanery of Wigton includes the Rectories o ton, Bowness, Caldbeck, Kirkbride, and Uldale; the vicanges of Bromfield, Dalston, Thursby, and Wigton; and the p. curacies of Allonby, West Newton, Highet, Holme-Cultram, St. Cuthbert, St. Paul, Newton-Arlosh, Ireby, and Westward. The archdeaconry of Westmoreland comprises the rural deaneries of Aldingham, Ambleside, Cartmel, Cockermonth, Gosforth, Kendal, Kirkby-Lonsdale, Ulverstone, and Whitchaven. The deanery of Aldingham includes the rectory of Aldingham; the vicarages of Dalton-in-Furness, Pennington, and Urswick; and the p. curacies of Dendron, Lindale, Staveley, Kirkby-Ireleth, Rampside, Walney, and Bardsea. The deanery of Ambleside in-cludes the rectories of Grasmere and Windermere; the clinies in rectories of Grammer and Wilhermere; the vicarage of Hawkshead; and the p. curacies of Ambleside, Langdale, Rydal, Eruhay, Low Wray, Satter-thwaite, Applethwaite, and Troutbeck. The desnery of Cartmel includes the p. curacies of Cartmel, Cartmel-Fell, Field-Broughton, Flookburgh, Grange, Lindale, Scapelar, Calton Fivethesis, Mg. and Pres. Staveley, Colton, Finsthwaite, Haverthwaite, and Rus-land. The deanery of Cockermonth includes the rectory of Planbland; the vicarages of Aspatria, Bridekirk, Brigham, Dearham, Gilerux, Isell, and Torpenhow; and the p. curacies of Alihallows, Great Bronghton, Cockermouth, Embleton, Mosser, Setmurthy, Camerton, Clifton, Crosscanonby, Maryport, and Flimby. The deanery of Gosforth includes the rectories of Bootle, Corney, Gosforth, Waberthwaite, and Whicham; the vicarage of Millow; and the p. curacies of Drigg, Eskdale, Irton, Thwaites, Muncaster, Ponsonby, Wastdale-Head, Nether-Wastdale, and Whitbeck. The deanery of Kendal includes the vicarage of Kendal; and the p. curacies of Kendal-St. George, Kendal-St. Thomas, Burneyside, Crook, Grayrigs, Helsington, Ilugit, New Hutton, Old Hutton, Kentunere, Long Sleddale, Natland, Selside, Staveley, Underbarrow, and Winster. The deanery of Kirkby-Lonsdale includes the vicarages of Beetham, Burton-in-Kendal, Heversham, and Kirkby-Lonsdale; and the p. curacies of Witherslack, Holme, Preston-Patrick, Crosthwaite, Crosscrayke, Levens Milnthorpe, Barbon, Casterton, Firbank, Hutton-Roof, Killington, Mansergh, and Middleton. The deanery of Ulverstone includes the vicarage of Kirkby-Ireleth; and the p. curacies of Brough-Victorian Francis, and the products of Bought too in-Furness, Scathwiste, Woodland, Ulpha, Ulver-stone, Ulverstone Trinity, Blawith, Coniston, Egton-cum-Newland, Lowick, and Torver. The deaucry of Whitehaven includes the rectories of Dean, Discington, Egremont, Harrington, Lamphigh, Moresby, and Workington; and the p. curacies of Arlecdon, Beckermet-St. Bridget, Beckermet-St. John, St. Bees, Ennerdale, Honsinghau, Loweswater, Whitehaven-St. James, Whitehaven St. Nicholas, Whitehaven-Trinity, Whitehaven-Christchurch, Workington-St. John, Cleator, and Hayle, CARLISLE AND FILLOTH RAILWAY, a railway in Cumberland; from Carlisle westward to Silloth bay.

of the old ship canal; a branch, 23 miles long, goes thence, in the same direction, to Port Carlisle; and the remaining reach, 123 miles long, from Drumburgh to Silloth, goes south-westward to Abbey, and west-northwestward thence to Silloth. This last part was authorized, in 1855, in connection with the scheme for Silleth dock; and the railway was opened in 1856,-the dock. in 1859. See PORT CARLISLE and SILLOTH.

CARLISLE (OLD), a locality 2 miles S of Wigton, in Cumberland; the site of the Roman station Olenacum, on the Roman road from Carlisle to Ellenborough. Materials were taken from ancient buildings on it toward the erection of Wigton; and numbers of Roman relies

have been found

CARLISLE (PORT). See Port-Carlisle. CARLISLES QUARTER. See BIGGES QUARTER.

CARL-LOFTS, a remarkable antiquity, either Druidical or Scandinavian, in Westmoreland; on the Lancaster and Carlisle railway, 2 miles S of Shap. It was originally an enclosure about a mile long, and frem 30 to 60 feet wide, by lines of unhewn granite blocks of great size, with a terminating circle, about 40 feet in diameter, of similar character; but it has been extensively demolished by blastings for building material, and by the forming of the railway.

CARLTON, a parish in the district and county of Bedford; on the verge of the county, near the river Ouse, 45 miles NE of Olney, and 55 SW by W of Sharnbrook r. station. It has a post-office under Bedford. Acres, 1,530. Real property, £2,174. Pop., 470. Houses, 109. Carlton Hall is a chief residence. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Chellington, in the diocese of Ely. Value, £370. Patron, Lord Dynevor.

There is a Baptist chapel.

CARLTON, a township in Redmarshall parish, Dur-ham; on the Clarence railway, 4 miles NW of Stocktonupon-Tees. It has a station on the railway. Acres, 1,453. Real property, £1,324. Pop., 176. Houses, 37. CARLTON, a chapelry in Market-Bosworth parish, Leicester; on the Ashby-de-la-Zouch canal, 12 mile NW by N of Market-Bosworth, and 5 WSW of Eagworth r. Post-town, Market-Bosworth, under Hinckley. station. Post-town, Market-Bosworth, maker runerier, Acres, 680. Real property, £1,755. Pop., 277. Houses, 63. The property is divided among a few. The chapelry was constituted in 1863. The living is a vicerage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £173.

CARLTON, a township and a sub-district in Basfort district, Notts. The township is in Godling parish; lies on the Nottingham and Lincoln railway, adjacent to the river Trent, 3 miles ENE of Nottingham; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Nottingham. Real property, £5,733. Pop., 2,559. Honses, 564. Many of the inhabitants are lace and stocking makers. There are a chapel of ease, and chapels for Baptists, Wesleyans, and Free Methodists.—The sub-

Dayloss, Nesicyans, and Free Methodists,—The Sto-district contains three parishes, and great part of another. Acres, 8,435. Pop., 4,328. Houses, 939. CARLTON, a viltage, two townships, a parish, and a sub-district in Worksop district, Notts. The village stands 4 miles N of the Manchester and Sheffield railway at Worksop; was a place of some consequence in the at worksop; was a place of some consequence are worksop. The townships comprise all the parish; are for highway purposes only; and bear the names of North and South. The parish is called Carlton-in-Lindrick; and contains 3,980 acres. Real property, £6,354. Pop., 1,035. 3,980 acres. Real property, £6,354. Pop., 1 Houses, 227. The property is much subdivided. Houses, 227. The property is much subdivided. The manor was given at the conquest to Roger de Busli. Carlton Hall belonged formerly to the Cliftons and others, and passed to the Ramsdens. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, 2576. Patron, the Archbishop of York. The clurch is partly Norman; has a lofty square tower; and is pretty good. There are a Wesleyan charlet and a free school.—The sub-d. contains the manner of the property of the p a westeyin chaptan articles another, and an extra-percelulal four parishes, part of another, and an extra-percelulal tract. Acres, 25,200. Pop., 3,586. Houses, 787. CARLTON, a parish in Blything district, Suffolk; on the East Suffolk railway, 3 of a mile NW of Saxmundi-

The first reach of it, 81 miles long, from Carlisle to the East Suffolk railway, 3 of a mile NW of Saxmund-Drumburgh, goes west-north-westward, along the course ham. Post-town, Saxmundham. Acres, 543. Real property, £1,132. Pop., 116. Houses, 26. A chantry was founded here, in 1330, by John Framlingham; and given to the Honings. Carlton Hall belongs to Lady Stradbroke. The living is a rectory, annexed to the rectory of Kelsale, in the diocese of Norwich. The church is Norman. Charities, £56. CARLTON, a township in Coverham parish, N. R. Vorkshire; in Highdale, 5 miles SNW by Wo Middle-ham. It has a post-office under Bedale. Acres, 2,716. Real property, £1,931. Pop., 276. Houses, 69. The surface is the lower part of an upland vale, traversed by a tributary of the river Ure. See Carlton-Hondale. CARLTON, a parish in Stokesley district, N. I., York-CARLTON, a parish in Stokesley district, N. I., York-

CARLTON, a parish in Stokesley district, N. Il. Yorkshire; on an affluent of the river Tees, adjacent to the shire; on an affluent of the river Tees, adjacent to the Northallerton and Stokesley railway, 33 miles SW of Stokesley. It has a post-office under Northallerton. Acres, 830. Real property, £1,808. Pop., 243. Houses, 66. The property is divided among a few. There formerly were extensive alum-works. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of York. Value, £56.* Patron, C. Reeve, Esq. The church is good; and there are a Wesleyau chapel, and charities £24.

CARLTON, a bamlet in Helmsley township and parish,

N. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles N of Helmslev.

CARLTON, a township in Husthwaite parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 5 miles NNW of Easingwold. Acres, 810.

Yorkshire; 5 mues ANN of Lassingwood, Actors, on Real property, £1,367. Pop., 170. Houses, 34. CARLTON, a village and a parish in Skipton district, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands on the river Aire, Verth Mid. W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands on the river Aire, near the Leeds and Liverpool canal and the North Midland railway, 2 miles SW of Skipton; and has a post-office under Skipton. The parish includes also the hamber of Lothersdale. Acres, 5,117. Real property, £5,919. Pop., 1,506. Houses, 311. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Ripon. Value, £490.* Patron, Christ Church, Oxforl. The church was rebuilt in 1859. The vicarage of Lothersdale is a separate benefice. Almshouses, founded in 1700, by Mr. Spence, have £291 a-year; and a school, founded in 1709. by Eigabeth Wikikinson, has £120. founded in 1709, by Elizabeth Wilkinson, has £120.

CARLTON, a township in Guiseley parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Warp, 2½ miles SE of Otley. Acres, 1,270. Real property, £1,272. Pop., 192.

Houses, 20.
CARLTON, a township in Roystone parish, W. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the Barnesley canal, and the York Notes and seems to the Damesley canal, and the Fork and Derby railway, 3 miles NNE of Bannesley. Acres, 1,953. Real property, £4,049; of which £1,500 are in mines. Pop., 351. Houses, 84. CARLTON, Rothwell, W. R. Yorkshire. See Lofthouse-with-Carlton.

CARLTON, Cumberland. See Carleton. CARLTON, Pontefract and Snaith, W. R. Yorkshire.

See CARLETON.

CARLTON-CASTLE, a parish in Louth district, Lincoln; adjacent to the East Lincoln railway, near Anthorpe station, 5 miles SE of Louth. Post-town, Carlthorpe station, o miss s. 6 or Louth. Post-town, Carl-ton, under Louth. Acres, 500. Rated property, £427. Pop. 45. Houses, 9. The property is divided among a few. A populous market-town was formerly here, ea-joying many privileges. Sir Hugh Pandelph beld the manor in the time of Henry I.; and had a castle on one of three artificial mounds, called the Castle hills. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £69.

Patrou, John Forster, Esq. The clurreh is good.
CABLTON-COLVILLE, a parish in Mutford district,
Suffolk; on the East Suffolk railway, between the rivers
Lothing and Waveney, 24 miles SW by W of Lowestoft.
It has a station on the railway; and its post-town is Lowestoft, Acres, 2,504. Real property, 25,255. Pop., 946. Houses, 202. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £345.* Patron, W. Andrews, Esq. The church is old but good. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and a private lunatic asylum.

CARLTON-CUM-WILLINGHAM, a parish in Linton district. Cambridges in the veryes of the powder. It wide district, Cambridge; on the verge of the county, 41 miles ESE of Six-Mile-Bottom r. station, and 7½ S of New-rearket. It has a post-office, of the name of Carlton, under Newmarket. Acres, 2,200. Real property, £3,102. Pop., 402. Houses, 87. The property is divided among a few. Part of the land is common. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, 2937. * Patrons, the Trustees of the Rev. W. S. P. Wilder. The church is eld but good; and has a monument of Sir T. Elliot, author of a Latin Dictionary and other works. There is a Primitive Methodist chapel.

a Primitive Austronist chapter.

CARLTON-CURLIEW, a village and a parish in Billesdon district, Leicester. The village stands on an affluent of the river Welland, 2 miles NE of Kibworth r. station, and 71 NNW of Market-Harberough. The parish includes also the township of Ilston-on-the-Hill; and its post-town is Great Glen, under Leicester. Acres, and its post-town is Great Gien, under Leicester. Acres, 2,970. Real property, £4,838. Pop., 308. Houses, 61. The property is divided among a few. Carlton-Curliew Hall, a Tudor edifice, is the seat of Capt. F. Sutton. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £242. Patron, Sir J. H. Palmer, Bart. The church is good; and has some old monuments.

Bart. The church is good; and has some old monuments.
CARLTON (EAST), a parish in Henstead district, Norfelk; on the Norfolk railway, near Hethersett station, 4½ nules E of Wymondham. Post-town, Hethersett, nuder Wymondham. Acres, 1,213. Real property, £2,400. Pop., 241. Houses, 56. The property is divided among a few. There were formerly two parishes, St. Mary and St. Peter. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £176. Patron, Mr. Peter Day. The church is very good.
CARLTON (EAST), a parish in Kettering district, Northampton; near the river Wellaud, 3½ miles SW of Rockingham r. station, and 7 E by N of Market-Harborough. Post-town, Rockinghan, under Leicester. Acres, 1,598. Real property, £3,293. Pop., 70. Houses, 17. The property is divided among a few. Carlton House is a seat of Sir J. H. Falmer, Eart. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £103.* Patron, Sir J. H. Falmer, Bart. The church is modern, Patron, Sir J. H. Palmer, Bart. The church is medern, and has a tower.

CARLTON (GREAT), a parish in Louth district, Lin-CARLION (CHEAT), a parish in Louin unsurer, san-coln; 21 miles E of Legobourne r. station, and 6 ESE of Louth. It has a post-office, of the name of Carlton, under Louth. Acres, 2,190. Real property, £4,231. Pop., 333. Houses, 64. The property is divided among For 355. Houses, ot. The property is unified among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £502.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln. The church is good; and there are a Western State of Lincoln. leyan chapel and an endowed school, the latter with £26

a-year.
CARLTON (GREAT), Laucashire. See CARLETON

(GREAT and LITTLE).

CARLTON-HIGHDALE, a township in Coverham parish, N. R. Yorkshire; in Highdale, 9 miles SW of Middleham. It includes the hamlets of Gammerscill, Horsehouse, Swineside, Arkleside, Blackrake, Braidley, Woodale, Hindlethwaite, Pickill, West Close, Flensop, and Coverhead. Acres, 12,480. Real property, £2,863. Pop., 363. Houses, 69. The surface is the upper part of a mountain vale, traversed by a tributary of the river Ure; and ascends in high bleak tracts, called Carlton-Moors, at the boundary with the west riding.
CARLTON-HUSTHWAITE. See CARLTON, Hus-thwaite, N. R. Yerkshire.

CARLTON-IN-LINDRICK. See CARLTON, Worksop, Notts.

Sop, Notts.

CARLTON-ISLEBECK. See CARLTON-MINIOTT.

CARLTON-LE-MOORLAND, a parish in the district of Newark and county of Lincoln; between the rivers Witham and Brant, 21 miles SEZ of Swinderby r. sta-tion, and 7 ENE of Newark. Post-town, Eassingham, under Newark. Acres, 2,610. Real property, £3,931. Pop., 334. Houses, 80. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Stapleford, in the discess of Lincoln. Value, £158. Patron, Lord Middleton. The church is good; and there are a Baptist chapel, and charities £10.
CARLTON (LITTLE), a parish in Louth district, Lincoln; 2 miles E of Legbourne r. station, and 41 ESE of Louth. Post-town, Carlton, under Louth. Acres, 1,006.

269

Real property, £1,735. Pop., 181. Houses, 33. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in property is much subdivided. The living the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £159.* Patron, John Ferster, Esq. The church is good. CARLTON (LITTLE), Lancashire.

See CARLETON

(GREAT and LITTLE).

CARLTON (LITTLE or SOUTH), a hamlet in South Muskham parish, Notts; 31 miles NW of Newark.

Pop., 79.
CARLTON-MAGNA. See CARLTON (GREAT).
CARLTON-MINIOTT, or CARLTON ISLEBECK, a township-chapeler in Thirst parish, N. R. Yorkshire; township-chapelry in Thirsk parish, N. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the Great Northern railway, 2 miles W of Thirsk. Post-town, Thirsk. Acres, I,555. Real property, 23,607. Pop., 314. Houses, 70. The property is subdivided. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of York. Value, 2125. Patron, the Archbishop of York. The church is very old.

CARLTON. MOORS. See CARLTON-HOHDALE.

CARLTON (Norm), a parish in the district and county of Lincoln, 31 miles E by N of Saxelby radiation, and 5 NW of Lincoln.

ecunty of Lincoln, 33 miles E by N of Saxelby r. station, and 5 NNW of Lincoln. Post-town, Saxelby, under Lincoln. Acres, 1,795. Real property, £2,500. Pop., 163. Honess, 27. The property is divided between two. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £35. Patron, the Eishop of Lincoln. CARLTON (North and SOUTH). See CARLTON, Worksop, Notts.

CARLTON-ON-TRENT. See CARLTON-UPON-TRENT. CARLTON-PARVA. See CARLTON (LITTLE).

CARLTON-RODE, a parish in Depwade district, Nor-folk: 2 miles NE of New Buckenham, and 4 ESE of Attleborough r. station. Post-town, New Buckenham, under Attleborough, Acres, 2,931. Real property, 25,832. Pop., 905. Houses, 203. The property struch subdivided. An ancient rood or cross gave rise to the suffix Rede. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £850. Patron, Sir R. J. Buxton, Eart. The church is good; and there are a Baptist chapel, a national school, and charities £65.

CARLTON-SCROOP, a parish in Grantham district, Lincoln; on a brauch of the river Witham, 24 miles W of Ancaster r. station, and 6 NNE of Grantham. It has or Ancaster; station, and of NN of Grantian. It as a post-office unler Grantian. Areas, 1,342. Real property, 22 937. Pop., 266. Houses, 53. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £356.* Patron, alt. Earl Brownlow and two others. The church is good. There are a Westler above the advantage of the character of the ch levan chapel, a national school, and charities £13.

CARLTON (SOUTH), a parish in the district and county of Lincoln; 31 miles E of Saxelby r. station, and A NNW of Lincoln, Post-town, Lincoln. Acres, 1,910. Real property, 22,282. Pop., 181. Houses, 32. The property is divided between two. The living is a vicar-age in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £200. Patron, age in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £200. Patron, the Bishop of Lincoln. The church is tolerable. Admirable Sir W. Monson, of the time of Elizabeth, was a CARLTON (SOUTH), Notts. See Carlton, Worksop, and Carlton (Little or South).

CARLTON-UPON-TRENT, a chapelry in Norwell parish, Notts; on the river Trent, at a ferry, and on the Great Northern railway, 64 miles N of Newark. It has a station on the railway and a post-office under Newark. Acres, 1,165. Real property, £2,151. Pop., 290, Houses, 51. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the church is modern, in the carly English style; and has a tall spire. There is a parochial school.

CARLTON - WITH - ASHEY. See CARLETON - Sr.

PETER.

CARLTON-WITH-FOSHAM, a hamlet in Aldborough township and parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 61 miles S of ornsea. Real property, £1,850.
CARLYON, a locality 2 miles S of Truro, in Cornwall;

the reputed birthplace of Sir Tristram, the companion of Arthur.

CARMARTHEN, a town, a parish, a sub-district and a district in Carmarthenshire. The town stands on the Julian ways, the river Towy, and the South Wales railway. 9 miles NNE of the Towy's mouth, and 193, by railway NNW of Llanelly. The two lines of the Julian way met at it; the river Towy is navigable to it for sea-borne vessels, and makes it a sub-port to Llanelly; railways strike from it in four directions, the South Wales one southward and westward, the Carmarthen and Cardigan north-westward, and the Carmarthen and Llandilo eastward into connexion at Llandilo with the Central Wales system. It was known to the Romans as Maridunum; and, for a long time to the Welsh, as Caer-Fryddyn and It figured as the capital of Wales till the Caer-Merlin. removal of the princes to Dynevor in 877; and it retained the chancery and the exchequer of South Wales, from the annexation of the principality till the abolition of the Welsh jurisdiction. A Roman station stood at it; remains of a Roman camp are still visible in a field adja-cent to it, called the Bulrack; traces of a Roman causeway, from this camp nearly parallel with Priory-street, have been discovered; and Roman bricks, coins, and other relics have been found. A castle of the Welsh princes succeeded the Roman station; occupied the brow of a hill, rising abruptly from the river; was extended and strengthened into a fortress almost impregnable; included a citadel, interior buildings, exterior towers and bastions, and a strong encompassing rampart on a ground-plan nearly square; was taken in 1113 by Gruffrond ab Rhys, in 1140 by Owen Gwynedd, in 1215 by Llewelyn ap Jorwerth, in 1223 by the Normans under the Earl of Pembroke, in 1405 by Owen Glendower, and in the civil wars of the 17th century by the parliamentarians under Langhorne; was dismantled in 1648, and converted into a prison; and continued to be used as a prison till 1787, when a portion of it, left standing, was incorporated with the new county jail. The famous reputed magician Merlin was a native, and gave rise to the alternative name Caer-Merlin; and a spot 3 miles distant is alleged to have been the place of his entombment by the Lady of the Lake, and bears the name of Merlin's cave. Lewis Bayly, chaplain to James I., afterwards Bishop of Bangor, Sir Thomas Picton, the hero of Water-loo, and Sir William Nott, the recent hero of the East, also were natives. Sir Richard Steele spent his later years partly in a house of the town which was converted into the Ivy Bush hotel, and partly in a house in the vicinity called Ty-Gwyn; and composed here his "Conscious Lovers" and other pieces. Spenser speaks of Carmarthen, in allusion to its old history, in the lines,-

'To Maridunnm, that is now by change Of name Cayr Marrddin call'd, they took their way."

The town occupies irregular ground, sloping to the river; and commands extensive and beautiful views. is about a mile long and half a mile broad. Several of the streets are very narrow; some have been partially widened; and the best contain many good houses. A lovely public walk, called the Parade, is at the upper end, overlooking a fine reach of the river. A grand view of the town itself, the picturesque vale of the Towy, and the ruins of Dynevor castle, is got from Grongar hill. celebrated in the descriptive poem of Dyer. The guild hall, in the middle of the town, is a large, handsome, pillared, molern building, with market-place below, and a grand front staircae. The county jail is a substantial structure, on the plan of Howard, with a recent addition; and has capacity for 50 male and 16 female prisoners. A bridge of six spacious arches, with four auxiliaries, spans the river. A bronze statue of Sir William Nott, on a granite pedestal, is in front of the guild-hall; and an obelisk to the memory of Sir Thomas Picton, in room of a monnment by Nash, pulled down in 1846, is at the west end of the town. Barracks for about 1,500 men, crected since 1847, are 2 miles to the west. The lunatic asylum, for the counties of Carmarthen, Cardigan, and l'embroke, erected in 1863-4, after designs by D. Brandon, with accommodation for 260 patients, is also in the neighbourhood. The parish church is a large plain edifice, ancient and originally cruciform, but renovated and altered; has a lofty square tower; and contains a fine altar-tomb to Sir Rhys ap Thomas, who died in 1527, a monument to Bishop Farr, who was burnt in the market-place for his religion, and a monument to Sir William Noti. St. David's church is a recent Gothic structure, raised at a cost of £1,450. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Unitarians, Wesleyau Methodists, and Calvinistic Methodists. Vestiges exist, behind the guild-hall, of an ancient church or chapel. A priory of black canons, founded before 1148, stood at some distance NE of the parish church; and part of an arched gateway of it, with some other remains, are still standing. A house of greyfriars, a cell to St. Augustine's monastery at Bristol, stood at the other end of the town, but has disappeared. The grammar-school, founded in the 17th century, by Bishop Owen, has £20 from endowment, with three exhibitions. The collegiate institution, for training young men for the dissenting ministry, is supported by a fund in London. The training school for Sonth Wales, founded in 1847, stands & a mile west of the town, and is a very handsome edifice, raised at a cost of £8,000. There are a literary and scientific institution, a theatre, an infirmary, alms-houses, and a workhouse.

The yearly aggregate of endowed charities is £180.

The town has a head post-office,‡ a railway station with telegraph, two banking-offices, and three chief inns; publishes two weekly newspapers; and is the capital of the county, the seat of assizes at both circuits, and of quarter sessions in April and Oct. Markets are held on Wednesday and Saturday; and fairs on 15 and 16 April, 3 and 4 June, 10 July, 12 Aug., 9 Sept., 9 Oct., and 14 and 15 Nev. Some manufacture is carried on in flannel. malt, ropes, and leather; much business is done in connexion with numerous copper and tin works, and coal and lead mines, in the neighbourhood; and considerable traffic exists in the export of agricultural produce, and import of miscellaneous goods. Upwards of 50 vessels belong to the town; and vessels of about 300 tons come up to the quay. Steam communication is maintained with Tenby, Bristol, and Wexford. The town was chartered by Henry VIII.; is governed by a mayor, six aldermen, and eighteen councillors; and unites with Llanelly in sending a member to parliament. The borough limits include all the parish, together with the extra-parochial tract of Castle-Green. Electors of Carmarthen and Llanelly in 1868, 889. Direct taxes, £10,253. Pop. of Carmarthen in 1841, 9,526; in 1861, 9,993. Houses, 1,768. The town gives the title of Marquis to the Duke of Leeds,

The parish encircles the extra-parochial tract of Castle-Green, which is in the town, around the jail. Acres, including this, 5,155. Real property, £31,298. exclusive of Castle-Green, 9,798. Houses, 1,746. Pep., The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £176.* Patron, St. David's College, Lampeter. The vicarages of St. David's and Llanllwch are separate Value, The charges; and the former has an income of £190, * and is in the patronage of the vicar. The sub-district includes also the parishes of Llangain and Abergwilly. Acres, 18,563. Pop., 12,583. Houses, 2,303. The district comprehends likewise the sub-district of Llangendeirne, containing the parishes of Llangendeirne, Llanddarog, Llanarthiney, Llangunner, Llandefeilog, and St. Islimaels; the sub-district of St. Clears, containing the parishes of St. Clears, Llanstephan, Laugharne, Llausadurneu, Llausadurneu, Llansthaugel-abercowin, and Llandilo-abercowin; and the sub-district of Convil, containing the purishes of Llan-llawddog, Llanpumpsaint, Newchurch, Merthyr, Abernant, Treleach-ar-Bettws, Mydrim, and Llanwinio, and the parochial chapelry of Conwil-in-Elvet. Acres, 172,546,
Poor-rates in 1866, £18,013. Pop. in 1861, 36,575, Houses, 7,515. Marriges in 1866, 929; births, 1,097, —of which 100 were illegitimate; deaths, 895,—of which 211 were at ages under 5 years, and 53 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,879; births, 11,793; deaths, 7,933. The phees of worship in 1851 were 35 of the Church of England, with 8,814 sittings; 32 of Independents, with 7,359 s.; 17 of Baptists, with 3,511 s.; 2 of Unitarians, with 316 s.; 6 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,489 s.; 29 of Calvinistic Methodists, with

5,828 s.; 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 100 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 120 s. The schools were 37 public day schools, with 2,528 scholars; 46 private day schools, with 1,136 s.; and 113 Smiday schools, with 11.973 s

CARMARTHEN AND CARDIGAN RAILWAY, a railway in South Wales. It commences in a junction with the South Wales railway at Carmarthen; and goes north-north-westward to Newcastle-Emlyn, and thence west-north-westward to Cardigan. It was authorized in 1864; and sopened to Llandyssi in 1864; and was empowered in 1864-5 to have branch connexion to Kidwelly.

powered in 1861-3 to nave orance connexion to returning CARMARTHEN BAY, a large bay of South Wales; on the coast of Pembroke, Carmarthen and Glamorgan. It opens from the Bristol Channel, between Giltar Point and Worms Head; measures 17 miles, east-south-eastward, across the entrance; makes a somewhat semicircular sweep, with offsets at the Towy and the Burry entar sweep, with onsers at the lowy and the onry rivers; and penetrates about 9 miles from the line of entrance to the Tovy's mouth. Caldy Island lies at the west side of the entrance; the Cein-Sidan sandbank spreads over the north-eastern portion; and the ports of Tenby, Saundersfoot, Carmarthen, and Llanelly are on the minor baylets or rivers. Caldy island forms a natural breakwater; and lights are there and elsewhere to guide the navigation. A very productive fishery might be carried on, but has been strangely neglected.

CARMARTHENSHIRE, a maritime county of South Wales; bounded, on the W by Pembroke; on the X, by Cardigan; on the E by Brecon; on the SE, by Glamorgan; on the S, by Carmarthen bay. Its length, north-eastward, is 50 miles; its greatest breadth, 35 miles; its eastward, is 50 inues; its greatest breatth, 55 miles; its circuit, about 165 miles; its area, 606,331 acres. A low tract, reclaimed from the sea, lies round Laugharne; another low tract lies along the Towy; a great congeries of hills and uphands fills most of the interior; a rango of mountains, striking away to Plinlimmon in Cardigan, is in the north; and a loftier range, forming the main part of the Black mountains, culminating at an altifule of 2,596 feet, is in the east. The chief rivers are the Town, with the Gwill, the Tothi, the Bran, the Sawildy, and the Cennen; the Tave, with the Gwynin, the Cowyn, and the Morlais; the Teifi on the boundary with Cardigan; the Lloughor, on the eastern boundary to the sea: the two Gwendraeths; and the Amnon. Several lakes occur; of no great size, yet full of interest either to the angler or to the tourist. Numerous medicinal springs exist; and one, at Mildleton-park, is chalybeate of greater strength than the Tunbridge waters. Lower silurian rocks form the northern and the central districts; upper silurian rocks form narrow belts in the SE; old red sandstone rocks form a considerable belt on the coast. from the western boundary to the east of the Towy, and thence east-north-eastward; and rocks of the carboniferous series, rich in the coal measures, constituting part of the great coal-field of South Wales, form all the tracts on the SE, both sea-board and inland. Lend ore, copper ore, ironstone, slate, building-stone, fire-stone, and dark blue marble are worked; and there are 87 cellieries.

The soils on the higher tracts, over all the different kinds of rocks, are, for the most part, rather poor; while those in the valleys, especially in the lower parts of those of the Towy and the Tave are, in general, very fertile. About one-third of all the land is waste; and a larg aggregate of the rest is so miserably cultivated as to yield a niggard produce. Agriculture, generally, is in a primi-tive or backward condition: yet has begun to be incited, and much improved, by the influence of Agricultural Lime, not only on the tracts where limestone abounds, but on others to which it has to be brought from a considerable distance, is profusely used; and the system of augmenting farm-yard maunre by the best apsystem of augmenting attrayant manure by the text appliances of cropping and house-feeling, has been much on the increase. The enclosing and the cultivating of wastes also have been going on. Peat is the only fuel throughout much of the uplands; and crushed cod, mixed with clay, and formed into bally, is the chief fuel in the other tracts. The enclosures are chiefly of stone; the farm-buildings, generally, are inferior; and the cettages, for the most part, are of mud and thatched. Oats are the chief grain crop, both for home use and for exporta-tion. Butter and bacon are sent, from dairy tracts, to market. The cattle are chiefly a small or middle-sized native breed; but in some of the best parts of the valleys, native oreea; one in some of the ocst parts of the varietys, are large kinds from other counties. The sheep also are small, native, and degenerate; but have begun to be much improved by crosses with the Southdowns. The much improved by crosses with the Southdowns. The draught horses are mostly compact, bony, middle-sized animals; and saddle-horses, of a fine breed, have begun to be reared. Woods formerly were abundant; but have, of late years, been greatly demolished. A large export trade is carried on in coal, stone, and iron; and some manufactures exist in woollens and leather. Several tram railways, one of them 15 miles long, serve for the mining produce; the South Wales railway goes along the whole seaboard; the Llanelly and the Vale of Towy railways traverse the centre northward; the Carmarthenshire railway, authorised in 1864, comprises three lines in conjunction with the Llanelly; and the Cardigan railway traverses the northwest.

The country contains 72 parishes, parts of four others, and an extra-parochial place; and is divided into the horoughs of Carmarthen and Llandovery, and the hundreds of Carnwallon, Cartninog, Cayo, Derllys, Elvet, Iskennen, Kidwelly, and Perfedd. The registration county gives off 12 parishes to Pembroke and 10 to Cardigan; takes in a parish from Glamorgan and two from Brecon; comprises 497,776 acres; and is divided into the districts of Carmarthen, Llandilofawr, Llandovery, and Llauelly. The market towns are Carmarthen, Llauelly, Llaueily. The market towns are Carmartnen, Laueily, Landilofawr, Llandovery, Newcastle-Enilyn, Kidwelly, Laugharne, and Llangadock; and the other chief towns are Landybie and St. Clears. The chief seats are Golden Grove, Abergwili, Newton, Iscoed, Edwinsford, Dolcolhy, Middleton, Henllys, Llwyn-y-Wermod, Llaustephan, Ystrad, Maesgwynne, Kilgwyn, and Aberglasney. Red. 1817, 1851. property in 1815, £282,030; in 1843, £396,915; in 1851, £385,600; in 1860, £439,056. The county is governed by a lord-lieutenant, a high sheriff, and about thirty-five magistrates: and is in the Home military district, and the South Wales judicial circuit. The assizes are held at Carmarthen; and quarter sessions, at Carmarthen and Llandilo. The police force, in 1864, comprised 62 men, at a cost of £4,426; the crimes committed were 95; the depredators and suspected persons at large, 330; the houses of bad character, 89. Two members are sent to normal state state of the parameter, or a first order of the boroughs. County electors, in 1868, 4,833. Pop., in 1801, 67,317; in 1821, 90,239; in 1841, 106,326; in 1861, 111,796. Inhabited houses, 23,070; uninhabited, 925; building,

The territory now forming Carmarthenshire belonged to the Demetre or Dyfed; was included in the Roman Britannia Secunda; afterwards formed part of Ceredigion or Dynevor; made very stout resistance to the Normans; gave way to the forces of Edward 1 .; and was not entirely subdued by England till the commencement of the 16th Druidical antiquities have been discovered in century. the parishes of Llanboldy, Conwil-in-Elvet, Eglwys-Newydd, and Penboyr. The maritime Julian way ran through the county nearly in the route of the South Wales railway; the mountain Julian way went up the vale of the Towy from Carmarthen; and the Western way or Sarn Helen, is distinctly traceable in several parts of the parish of Llanfairarybryn. Buins or remains of castles exist at Dynevor, Dryslwyn, Llandovery, Carrig-Cinnen, Carmarthen, Llanstephan, Laugharne, Kidwelly, and Newcastle-Emlyn; and remains of monasteries are at Talley, Whitland, Llandlwny, and Carmarchen. CARMEDES, a valley in Cornwall; descending from the hills of Hensbarrow, south-eastward, past Luxulian, to the vicinity of St. Blazev. It is traversed by a romantic stream, and by a railway from the china-clay works of Hensbarrow to the harbour of Par; is flanked by granite cliffs and tors, in picturesque arrangement; has, in one part, a grand cascade through a wood; and presents finer groups of scenery, with water, wood, and rock, then any other valley of Cornwall.

CARMEL HEAD, a headland at the NE side of the entrance of Holyhead bay, 7 miles NNE of Holyhead, in Anglasev.

CARN, a Celtic name, signifying "a heap or a prominence," and used as a preix.

CARNABY, a parish in Bridlington district, E. R. CARMABY, a parish in Briddington district, E. Workshire; on the Hull and Scarborough railway, 24 miles SW of Bridlington. It has a station on the railway; and its post-town is Bridlington under Hull. Acres, 2,000. Real property, £2,616. Pop., 152 Houses, 25. The property is divided among a few. The Houses, 23. The property is withder among a text. In living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Fraisthorpe, in the diocese of York. Value, £82. Patron, Sir G. Strickland, Bart. The church shows some early English features; has a good later English tower; and contains a circular Norman font.

CARNANTON, a seat 21 miles WNW of St. Columb, in Cornwall. It belonged, in the time of Charles I., to Attorney-General Noy; and belongs now to H. Willy-ams, Esq.

CARNAEVON, a town, a sub-district, and a district, in Carnarvoushire. The town stands adjacent to the Carnarvon railways, on the Sarn Helen way, at the mouth of the river Seiont, on the SE side of the Menai strait, in the parish of Llanbeblig, 83 miles SW by S of Bangor. The Roman station Segontium was at Llanbeblig, within & a mile, on the road to Beddgelert. It occupied a quadrangular area of about 7 acres, on the summit of an emineuce gradually sloping on every side; and was defended with strong walls of masonry. sive portions of these walls, on the south side, still exist; and traces of a Roman villa and baths were discovered in 1835. Roman coins and other relics also have been found; and one of the coins is that of Vespasian, struck at the capture of Judea. A strong fort, some remains of which are still standing, was near the Sciont, to secure a landing-place at high water; other ontposts, which can still be traced, were on the opposite side of the Seiont; a well in the vicinity still bears the name of Helena, the mother of Constantine the Great; and a very strong, conspicuous, circular, artificial mound, on the sca-shore, where Roman coins have been found, and which is now called Dinas-Ddinlle, was the chief ontpost. Constantine the Great and other Roman emperors visited Segontium; and Helena, Constantine's mother, was horn at it. The Welsh appear to have called it Caer-Seiont and Caer-Custeint,-"the fort of the Sciont" and "the fort of Constantine;" and, on building a strength of their own in its vicinity, within a district then named Arfon, The Welsh princes had their seat here till 878, when they went back to Aberilian. Edward I. took possession of it in 1282; and came to it in person, and founded a castle at it in 1284; and his son, the Prince of Wales, afterwards Edward II., was born here in the same year. Walls were built round the town in 1286; the castle continued to be in progress in 1291; both the walls and the castle were much demolished at Madoc's insurrection in 1295, and were afterwards refounded; and the grandest part of the castle, called the Eagle tower, was built by Edward II., and finished in 1320. Owen Glendower besieged the place in 1402, but failed to take it. Both parties in the civil wars of Charles I. repeatedly took and retook it, till the parliamentarians eventually got the mastery. warrant was issued by Charles II., in 1660, for destroying the fortifications; but did not take effect. The castle still stands, on strong ground, at the west end of the town; was recently repaired, under the direction of the Board of Woods and Forests, at a cost of upwards of £3,000; and is exceedingly grand and imposing. "It covers about 21 acres, and forms an oblong irregular sonare. The external walls are very high, and have within them a lofty series of galleries, with numerous millets or arrow slips. There are 13 great towers, of pentagonal, hexagonal, and octagonal designs. The very massive pentagonal Eagle tower, guarding the month of the Scient, is so called from a now shapeless figure of that bird brought, it is alleged, from the mins of Segontium; but an eagle was one of Edward's crests. This majestic tower has three turrets, and its battlements display a mutilated series of armed heads of the time of Edward I. In front of the august Gothic main entrance is a mutilated statue of Edward I, sheathing a sword, with a defaced shield under his feet. The grooves of four portcullises remain. On the east side of the castle is the Queen's refunit. Online east side of the cashe is the Queen s gate, so called, according to tradition, because Queen Eleanor entered this way; it is now much above the level of the ground, but a very high bank existed opposite to it, from which a drawbridge was let down. The interior. which is greatly dilapidated, is divided into an outer and inner ward; and the state rooms were fitted with spacious windows and elegant tracery, of which little is left. The only staircase that remains perfect is that to the Eagle tower,—158 steps." The town was visited by the Prince and Princess of Wales in 1868.

The environs are strikingly picturesque; comprise great views of the Menai straits and the Snowdon and Eifl mountains; and contain charming drives and walks. The Twr hill, immediately adjacent, resembles the Calton hill of Edinburgh, and commands a brilliant panoramic prospect. The town walls, defended by many round towers, remain nearly complete round all the circuit; but blocked up by houses; and only a small part of their summit, adjoining the town church, is available for the public; but a broad pleasant terrace runs on the outside of them, from the north end to the quay, and forms a fashionable promenade. The town consists of ten streets inside the walls, and twice that number outside, with many handsome villas. The suburbs are very pleasant, and have undergone recent extensions, as a sea hathing resort. The baths unite elegance and utility; comprise suites of hot and cold sea-water baths, with large swimming bath and dressing-rooms; and were erected by the Marquis of Anglesey, at a cost of upwards of £10,000. The county hall, opposite the main entrance to the castle, The county hall, opposite the main entrainer to the eastle, is a poor-looking structure. The guild hall, over the east town-gate, is occasionally used for balls and concerts. The county jadl is part of the eastle; and has capacity for 49 male and 6 female prisoners. The market-house is a recent creation. The museum, adjoining the baths, contains a good collection in natural history, and many Roman and British antiquities. The custom-house stands at the south end of the terrace; a pier and landing-slip are at the north end; and the harbour extends under the walls of the castle. New harbour works, on the north side of the town, estimated to cost £50,000, were commenced in 1869. The town church is a chapel of ease to the parish church; and was formerly the garrison chapel. The services here are always in English; while those in the parish church are in Welsh. There are nine chapels for dissenters; a national school erected in 1844; a training college, said to be the cheapest for pupils in the kingdom; a mechanics' institute; a commodious newsroom; and two excellent libraries.

The town has a head post-office, a railway station with telegraph, two banking-offices, and three chief inns: is the capital of the county, with assizes, sessions, elections, and militia head-quarters; and publishes two weekly newspapers. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on the second Thursday of Feb., March, and April, the first Thursday of May, the third Thursday of June, Sept., and Oct., the fourth Thursday of Aug., 9 Nov., and the first Friday and Saturday of Dec. and the first Friday and Saturday of Dec. A steam ferry boat runs to the opposite shore of Anglesey; a steamer plies twice a-day to Menai Brilge; and they can load and discharge at all states of the tide. The port includes Barmouth, Fort-Madoc, and Forthdynllaen as sub-ports. The vessels belonging to it, at the beginning of 1808, were 179 small sailing-vessels, of aggregately 5,619 tons; 361 larger sailing-vessels, of aggregately 5,639 tons; 361 larger sailing-vessels, of aggregately 5,639 tons; 361 larger sailing-vessels, of gately 38,289 tons; and 5 steam-vessels, of aggregately 280 tons. The vessels which entered, in 1867, from abroad, were 37, of aggregately 8,916 tons; and coastwise, 1,337 salling vessels, of aggregately 70,264 tons, and 104 steam-vessels, of aggregately 16,626 tons. The vessels which cleared, in 1867, for the colonies, were 163 of 18,978 tons; and coastwise 74 of 5,288

The customs amounted, in 1858, to £7,759; in 1867, to £9,527. The chief exports are slates and copper ore; and the chief imports, timber, coal, and foreign produce. The annual average export of slates is 91,000 tons. The town was chartered by Edward I.; is governed by a mayor, six aldermen, and eight councillors; and unites with Bangor and four other boroughs in sending a member to parliament. Its borough limits include about three-fourths of the parish; and extend, in some directions, two miles from the town. Electors of the six boroughs in 1868, 1,023. Direct taxes, £6,903. Real property of Carnarvon town, £23,846; of which £2,000 are pers) of Carnarvon town, 223,540; or which 22,000 are in railways. Pop. of Carnarvon borongh in 1841, 8,001; in 1861, 8,512. Houses, 1,820. The town gives the title of Earl to the family of Herbert.

, 4

The sub-district contains the parishes of Llanbeblig and Llanfaglan. Acres, 8,676. Pop., 10,190. Houses, 2,149. -The district comprehends also the sub-district of Llandwrog, containing the parishes of Llandwrog, Llanwnda, Llandlyfni, and Clynnog; the sub-district of Llanrug, containing the parishes of Llanrug, Llanberis, Llanddeiniolen, Llanfair-is-Gaer, and Dettws-Garmon; and the sub-district of Llanidau, in Anglesey, containing the parishes of Llauidan, Llangaffo, Llangeinwen, and St. Peter-Newborough, and the parochial chapetry of Llanfairynyewmnwd. Acres, 97,635. Poor-rates in 1866, £14,329. Pop. in 1861, 32,425. Houses, 7,023. 1806, £14,529. Fop. in 1001, 52,420. Houses, 7,020. Marriages in 1806, 300; births, 1,196,—of which 84 were illegitimate; deaths, 1,022,—of which 379 were at ages under 5 years, and 24 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 2,265; births, 9,909; deaths, 6,941. The places of worship in 1851 were 21 of the Church of England, with 5,464 sittings; 23 of Independents, with 4,453 s.; 8 of Baptists, with 1,250 s.; 9 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,159 s.; 36 of Calvinistic Methodists, with 11,678 s.; and 1 of Latter Day Saints, with 58 attendants. The schools were 25 public day schools, with 423 scholars; 16 private day schools, with 400 s. 59 Sunday schools, with 11,973 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 59 s. The workhouse is in Carnarvon.

CARNARYON BAY, an offset of the Irish sea on the west coast of Anglesey and Carnaryonshire. It com-mences between Holyhead on the north and Braich-y-Pwll on the south; measures 36 miles across the entrance has a somewhat triangular outline; and penetrates 18½ miles eastward to the SW mouth of the Menai strait.

CARNARYON RAILWAYS, four railways in Carnarvonshire. One, the Bangor and C., goes from Bangor station to C. Another, the C. and Nanttle, goes 9 miles from C. to Llandwrog; and was anthorised in 1867 to go Si miles further. Another, the Carnaryonshire, goes 17 miles from C. to Avon Wen; became united with the preceding; and was opened in Sept. 1367. Another, the C. and Llanberis, was authorised in 1864 to go 9 miles from C. to L.; and in 1865, to have an extension to the Bangor

C. to E.; and in 1995, to have an extension to the bangor and C., and a branch into the Bettws-Garmon Valley. CAKNARVONSHIRE, a maritime county of North Wales; bounded, on the north, by Beaumaris bay and the Irish sea; on the north-east, by Denbigh; on the south-east and the south, by Merioneth and by Cardigan bay; on the south-west, by Carnarvon bay; and on the north-west, by the Menai strait, dividing it from Anglesey. Its length, south-westward, is 55 miles; its greatest breadth, 231 miles; its circuit, about 150 miles; its area, breauth, so mines; its circuit, about no mines; its area, 370,273 acres. The part between Cardigan bay and Carnarvon bay, 23 miles long, and diminishing in breadth from 13 miles to a point, is the peninsula of Lleyn; and the other parts are mainly filled with the vales and mountains of Snowdonia. Much of the Lleyn peninsula is low country; parts of the other scaboards also are low; yet these tracts abound in bold picturesque diversities; while the mountains of Snowdonia, regarded either in the group or in detail, are the richest for grandeur, force, and beauty, in the British Isles. The Couway river goes along the north-eastern boundary to the sea; the Machno, the Lleder, and the Llegwy go into the Conway; the Glas-Llyn, a romantic stream, goes to Cardigau bay; and the Seiont and the Gwrfai descend from Snowdon to the Menai strait. Numerous lakes lie among the mountains; | and innumerable rivulets run around their bases. Cambrian and silurian rocks, with vast and manifold protrusions of erupted rocks, fill nearly all the area. The cambrian form considerable belts in the north-west and the south-west; the lower silurian spread from the middle west, through all the centre, to the south and the east: and the upper silurian form a small tract in the northeast. The crupted rocks range from granite, through all the trans, to the simply volcanic; and include great uplifted masses of clay slate and other schists. Old red sandstone appears on the coast from Conway to Bangor, also in Braich-y-Pwll; and carboniferous limestone analso in Braich-y-rwit; and carbonnerous innessore appears in Orme's Head, and in a strip along part of the Menai strait. Copper, lead, and zinc, are worked; roofing slates, in vast quantities, are quarried; and mill-stone and other are found.

Not more than 8,000 acres are in tillage; rather more than half the entire area is enclosed pasture; and the rest is either waste, or can be depastured only in the summer months. Wheat is grown in a few fertile spots on the sea-boards; but cats, barley, and potatoes are the chief crops, and sometimes very precarious. Husbandry, in general, is rule; yet has been much improved. The black cattle are smaller than those of Anglesey; the sheep are a very diminutive breed, with long legs and slender redies; and the hogs are unshapely creatures, tall and meagre, like those of Ireland. Butter, wool, and lambs are sent to the market; and stockings, flannel, and coarse woollen cloth are manufactured. The Chester and Holyhead railway goes along the northern seaboard; the Llangwest railway serves for the tracts on the Conway; and the Carnaryon railways go along the Menai strait, and traverse the interior. Tram railways also connect and traverse the interior. Tram railways also connect the great quarries with the ports; and good roads traverse the most populous tracts.

The county contains 69 parishes, parts of 5 other parishes, and 2 extra-parochial places; and is divided into the boroughs of Carnarvon and Pwllheli, and the hundreds of Commitmen, Creyddyn, Dinliaen, Effionydd, Gadlagion, Isaf, Isgorfai, Nant-Conway, Uchaf, and Uchgorfai. The registration county includes 68,817 acres of Denbigh and Anglesey; excludes 78,527 acres to Denbigh and Merioneth; and is divided into the districts of Carnaryon, Bangor, Conway, and Pwllheli. The towns are Carnaryon, Bangor, Pwllheli, Conway, Criccicth, Nevin, and Tremadoc. The chief seats are Glyncieth, Nevin, and Tremadoc. The chief seats are Glynllifon Park, Glynllifon Hall, Gloddaeth, Nant Hall, Penrhyn Castle, Nanthoran, Llanvair, Madryn, Cefn-Amwich, Tanyr-allt, Maenan, and Coed-Helen. Real property in 1815, £131,213; in 1843, £251,044; in 1851, £255,893; in 1560, £379,623, of which £119,002 are in quarries, £1,127 in mines, and £2,000 in canals. county is governed by a lord lieutenant, a high sheriff, and about thirty magistrates. It is in the Home Military district, and in the North Wales judicial circuit. The assizes and the quarter sessions are held at Carnar-The police force, in 1864, comprised 51 men. at a cost of £3,525; the crimes committed were 114; the depredators and suspected persons at large were 260; the Louise of bad character, 76. One member is sent to parliament by the county at large; and one by the boroughs. County electors in 1868, 2,190. Pop. in 1801, 41,521; in 1821, 58,099; in 1841, 81,093; in 1861, 95.694. Innabited houses, 20,256; uninhabited, 593; building, 171. The county is in the diocese of Ban-

The territory now forming Carnaryonshire belonged anciently to the Cangi and the Ordovices; was included by the Romans in their Britumia Secunda; and formed part of Venedotia or Gwynedd. It was the chief theatre of the successive and protracted struggles of Romans, Saxons, Normans, and English for the subjugation of Wales; and it possessed the stoutest means for offering resistance. It's natural defences, themselves of the highest order, were so strengthened by artificial strongholds essioner, were so strengthener by arthural strongholds as to make the parts of it around Snowdon one vast mountain fortress. The passage of the Conway was guarded by Castell-Diganwy; the pass of Bwlch-y-ddanfaen, by a fort at Caerhun; the northern seaboard by the great hill camp of Penmaeu-Mawr, and by forts at Aber aud in Nant-Francon; the pass of Llanberis, by Dolbadarn Castle; the pass under Mynydd-Mawr, by a fort overlooking it; and the passage over the Tracth-Mawr. or great sands, by the castle of Harlech in Merioneth on the one side, and by that of Criccieth on the other, with a watch-tower at Castell-Gwyvarch, and a fort at Dolbenmaen. Snowdonia thus could not be entered without a siege, or penetrated without encountering the double resistance of artificial defences and stupendons natural fastnesses; and it, in consequence, was the scene of continued and desperate warfare, because the last retreat of unconquered freedom .-

"The Briton's last resource-his mountains hoar-Where weeping Freedom from the centest fled, And Cambria saw her dearest beroes dead."

Cromlechs occur at Bacheren, Cefn-Amlwch, Ystym-Cegid, Ymeinauhirion, and Penmorfa; and other Celtic antiquities exist; while many more have been destroyed antiquities exist; while many more have been destroyed since the latter part of last century. Several large an-cient British camps or forts, especially at Diganwy, Dol-benmaen, Dinas-Dinorwig, Dinas-Ddinlle, Braich-y-Dinas, and Trer-Caeri, still exist. Roman stations stood at Caerhun and Carnarvon; a branch of the northern Watling-street joined the main Roman road at Caerhun; the Sarn-Helen way went from Carnarvon to Herira-Mons in Merioneth: and many Roman antiquities have been found. The castles of Carnarvon and Conway are two of the finest extant specimens of their class in the kingdom; and those of Dolbadarn and Criccieth still present features of interest. Vestiges of monastic houses are at Bangor, Beddgelert, Clynnog-Vawr, Maenan, and Bardsey; and a large ancient church is at Clynnog. CARN-BODUAN, a hill, with traces of ancient buildings, near Nevin, in Carnarvon.

ings, near Nevin, in Carnarron.
CARNBREA. See CAMBORNE.
CARNOCED, a village in Llangirrig parish, Montgomery; 31 miles S of Llanidloes.
CARNED, a township in Llandinam parish, Montgomery; 54 miles NNE of Llanidloes.

CARNEDD-DAVYD and CARNEDD-LLEWELYN two peaks of Snowdenia, in Carnarvon; 5 miles NW and NNW of Capel-Curig. They have altitudes of 3,426 and 3,469 feet; and are joined by a narrow ridge, 2 miles long. Carnedd-Llewelyn commands a very magnificent prospect; and has traces of an ancient camp. CARNEDDI, a hamlet in Llanllechid parish, Carnarvon; near Bangor.

CARNEDDI-HENGWM, a defile 51 miles N of Barmouth, in Merioneth. Several cairns are here; one of them 60 yards long, and containing a cistvaen.

CARNEDD-LLEWELYN. See CARNEDD-DAVYD. CARNELIAN BAY, a pretty little bay 3 miles S of Scarborough, N. R. Yorkshire. Carnelians, jaspers, moss-agates, and other pebbles are found on its shere.

CARNFORTH, a township in Warton parish, Lanca-shire; on the Lancaster and Carlisle railway, 6 miles NNE of Laneaster. It has a r. station with telegraph, a post-office; under Laneaster, six blast furnaces erected a post-conce, anner taneaster, six orasi furnaces effected in 1865, and an endowed school used as a church. Acres, 1,492. Real property, £2,202. Pop., 393. Houses, 82. A subterranean brook bursts up here, after having run 2 miles under ground from a limestone cavern at Dunald-mill-hole. The Furness and Ulverston railway makes its junction with the Laucaster and Carlisle at Carnforth; and the Furness and Midland, connecting the former with the Little Northwestern, and opened in 1867, goes hence to Wennington.
CARN-GALVA, a hill on the coast of Cornwall; 5 miles NNW of Penzance. It is beautifully crested with granite; and commands a good view.

CARNGIWCH, a parish in Pwllheli district, Carnarvon; on the river Erch, 33 miles NW of Nevin, and 51 WNW of Avon-Wen r. station. Post-town, Nevin, under Pwllheli. Acres, 1,344. Real property, £412. Pop., 130. Houses, 28. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Edern, in the diocese of Banger. The church is tolerable

CARN-LLECHART, a Druidical circle in Llangyfelach parish, Glamorgan; near the top of Mynydd-Maen-Coch, in the neighbourhood of Swansea. It is in a state of almost perfect preservation.

CARN-MADRYN, a hill 7 miles W by S of Pwliheli, in Carnarvon. It is 1,205 feet high; and has some aucient ruins

CARN-MARTH, a hill in the south-eastern vicinity of Redruth, in Cornwall. Its height is 757 feet. An excavation in the side of it, called Gwennap-pit, was the scene of Wesley's famous preaching to the miners; and is still used, by the Wesleyans, for an anniversary celebration, generally attended by upwards of 20,000 persons.

CARNMENELLIS, or CARN-MENELEZ, a chapelry in Wendron parish, Cornwall; on the river Kennal, near the Comwall railway, 3 miles S of Redruth. It was constituted in 1846. Post-town, Redruth. Pop., 3,094. Houses, 589. Carn-Menelez hill here is 822 feet high. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £184.* Patron, Mrs. Broadley.

CARN-MINNIS, a hill 3 miles W by S of St. Ives, in Cornwall. Its height is 805 feet; and it commands an extensive view.

CARNO, a river, a village, and a parish in Mont-omervshire. The river rises near the watershed with gomeryshire. the Dyfi; and runs 9 miles south-eastward to the Severn, 21 miles N of Llandinam. The village stands on the river, adjacent to the Newtown and Machynlleth railway, 10 miles W by X of Newtown; and has a station on the 10 miles W by X of Xewtown; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Shrewsbury. The parish comprises the townships of Derlwyn, Llysyn, and Trowscoed; and is in the district of Newtown. Acres, 10,982. Real property, £3,168. Pop., 969. Houses, 166. The property is much subdivided. Great part of the surface is mountainous. Remains of a Roman fortress, called Caer-Noddfa, are contiguous to the village; and vestiges of two castles are on a hill above Avon-Cerning and on a spur of Allt-Mawr, both within a mile of the village. A battle, decisive of the sovereignty of North Wales, was fought, in 946, at the village; and another, of fierce character, with similar result, was fought, in 1077, on Myaydd-Carn. The living is vicarage in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £95. Patron, Sir W. W. Wynn, Bart. The church occupies the site of an old one of the Knights of St. John; and was built in 1807. There are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Calvinistic Methodists, and Wesleyans.

CARNO, a locality in the southern vicinity of Crickhowell, in Brecon. Ethelbald, king of Mereia, on his invasion of Wales in 728, was met and defeated here by the Britons.

CARNON, a stream and a village in Cornwall. The stream runs 4 miles south-eastward, down a valley, to the head of a creek of Falmouth harbour, 4 miles N of Falmouth. Great tin stream works were carried on at its mouth, over a space 300 yards wide, upwards of a mile long, some distance into the bed of the estnary, and banked round to keep off the water; but have been abandoned. The village stands a short way up the stream; and has extensive works for preparing arsenic from arsenical pyrites, CARNSMERRY, a locality 5 miles from St. Austell, in Cornwall. It has a post-office under St. Austell, and fairs on 13 July and 20 Oct.

CARNWALLON, a hundred in Carmarthen; 9 miles along the Loughor river, to the coast. It contains five parishes. Acres, 61,282. Pop., 20,944. Houses, 4,045. CAROGE, a township in Llandister parish, Ralmor; 11 miles W of Knighton. Real property, £533. Pop., 144.

CARON. See CARON-YS-CLAWDD.
CARON-UWCH-CLAWDD, or STRATA-PLORIDA, a township-chapelry in Caron-ys-Clawdd perish, Cardigan; on the Sarn Helen way and the river Toiti, 4 miles NNE of Tremaron r. station, and 221 N by W of Llandovery. It includes the village of Rhydfendigaed; and its posttown is Tregaron, under Carmarthen. Rated property, £368. Pop., 868. Houses, 181. The property is di-vided among a few. The surface consists of mountains, intersected by narrow vales. A Cistertian abbey, often called Ystrad-Flwr abbey, was founded here, in 1161, by Rhys-ap-Gryfydd, prince of South Wales; burnt down in the wars of Edward I.; restored afterwards to more than its original splendour; and given, at the dissolution, to the Stedmans. It was the repository of the national records from 1156 till 1270, and the scene of a grand assembly of lords and barons in 1238; and was the burialplace of many of the Cambrian princes. It stood on the Teif, overshadowed by mountains; and was alike se-cluded and magnificent; but almost the only part of it now remaining is a very beautiful Norman arch, which formed the west cutrance to its church. An older but small monastic house stood two miles to the south, at a spot still showing ancient foundations, and called Llan-Monachlog, "the old monastery." The living is a vic-arage in the diocese of St. Davids. Value, £80. Patron, W. E. Pewell, Esq. The church is a small mean structure, within the precincts of the abbey. There is a Calvinistie Methodist chapel.

. 4

CARON-YS-CLAWDD, a parish in Tregaron district, Cardigary on the Sarn Helen way and the rivers Ber-wyn and Teiti, at Tregaron r. station, and 181 miles NNW of Idandovery. It is called also Caron, Tre-garon, and Trefgaron; and it contains the townships of Caron-Uwell-Clawdd, Blaen-Aeron, Trc-Cefel, Blaen-Caron, Tref-Lynn, Croes and Berwyn, and Argord and Ystrad, the last of which includes the town of Tregaron, with a post-office under Carmarthen. Acres, 39,133. Real property, £4,056. Pop. 2,008. Houses, 567. Much of the surface is bog and monutain. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. Davids. Value, £156.* l'atron, the Bishop of St. Davids. The church has a good tower; and the churchyard contains some ancient monumental stones. There is a Calvinistic Methodist chapel. Twin Shon Catti, the famous robber of the 17th century, who afterwards became high sheriff of the county, was a native.

CARPERBY-CUM-THORESBY, a township in Aysgarth parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 31 miles E of Askrigg. Acres, 4,950. Real property, £3,245. Pop., 315.

CARR, a hamlet in Laughten-en-le-Morthen parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 54 miles SW of Tickhill. Pop., 66. CARRATON HILL, a hill 4 miles NNE of Liskeard, in Cornwall. Its height is 1,208 feet. Prince Rupert's army encamped on it in 1644, CARR-BANK, a shoal in Milford haven, Pembroke; off Milford. A floating light is on it.

CARRE (THE), a tributary of the river Parret, in Somerset.

CARREDFYNYDD, a township in Llannefydd parish, Denbighshire; 51 miles NW of Denbigh. Real property, £3,009.

CARREG-CENNEN CASTLE, an ancient ruin 25 miles SE of Llandeilofawr, in Carmarthen. It crowns a precipitous, isolated, limestone rock, nearly 300 feet high, overhanging the river Connen, almost surrounded by bare sandstone hills, and commanding extensive vistaviews along valleys and to the sea. It covers a platform of fully an acre; is inaccessible on all sides except one; and must, in old times, have been almost impregnable. and must, in our times, have been amost impregnance. Its history is not known; and its origin has been ascribed variously to the ancient Britons and the Romans. Its remains comprise two square towers, defending the eutrance, a large round tower, and an octagonal tower; and do not appear to be older than the time of Henry III. or Edward I.

CARREG-GWASTAD POINT, a headland in Llan-wada parish, Pembroke; 44 miles WNW of Fishguard. A French force of 1,400 men landed here in 1797; and were beaten and captured by a body of yeomanry under Lord Cawdor.

CARREGHOVA, a township in Llan-y-Mynech parish, Montgomery; on the river Vyrmwy, near Offi's Dake and the Montgomery canal, 54 inites SSW of Oswestry. Acres, 1,223. Real property, £3,441; of which £1,432 are in quarries, and £30 in mines. Pop., 400. Houses, Limestone is extensively quarried.

CARR-END, a hamlet in Bainbridge township, Aysgarth parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 1 mile SW of Askrigg. CARR-GREEN, a hamlet in Darton township and parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 34 miles NW of Barnesley. CARRHOUSE, a hamlet in Belton parish, Lincoln;

2 miles N of Epworth. Pop., 143. CARRINGTON, a township-chapelry in Bowden parish, Cheshire; on the Mersey, 31 miles NW of Broadheath r. station. Post-town, Ashton-on-Mersey. Acres, 2.333. Real property, £4,480. Pop., 521. Houses, 102. The living is a vicarage in the dio. of Chester. Value, £375. Patrou, the Earl of Stamford. The church is There are two Methodist chapels and a n. school. good. CARRINGTON, a parochial chapelry in Boston district, Lincoln; in the fens, 4 miles NE of Langrick r. station, and 7½ N of Boston. Post-town, New-Bolingbroke, under Boston. Acres, 2,660. Real property, £5,056. Pop., 197. Houses, 23. It was formerly a township of Helpringham; but was made parochial on the draining of Wildman fen in 1812, and named after Lord Carrington, the principal proprietor. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £86.

CARRINGTON, a hamlet and a chapelry in Basford parish, Notts. The hamlet stands 11 mile N of Nottingham, and has a post-office under Nottingham. Pop., 353. The chapelry was constituted in 1843. Pop., 2,426. Houses, 519. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £150. Patron, the Bishop of L. There are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels, and a national school.

CARR-LANE, a hanlet in North Brierley township, Bradford parish, W. R. Yorkshire; near Bradford, CARROCK-FELL, a mountain of the Skiddaw group, in Cumberland; 34 miles S of Hesket-Newmarket. Much of it is rocky and broken; many parts are interesting to the mineralogist; and the summit has an altitude of 2,110 feet, is biforked, and appears to have once been surrounded by a wall.

CARROG, a township, with a r. station, in Corwen parish, Merioneth; 3 miles E of Corwen. Pop., 199. CARROW, a hamlet in Trowse parish, Norfolk; within the city boundaries of Norwich.

Patrons, certain Trustees.

CARROW, a hamlet in Warden parish, Northumberland; on the Roman wall, 43 miles N of Haydon-Bridge. Carrowburgh here was the Procolitia on the Wall, where the Batavian cohort was stationed; and two Roman altars have been found.

CARSHALTON-pronounced Casehorton or Cays-HORTON—a village, a parish, and a sub-district in Epson district, Surrey. The village stands near the river district, Surrey. The village stands near the river Wandle and the Epsom railway, 3 miles W by S of Croydon; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office unier London, S. It was known at Domesday as Aulton; and was once a market-town. The parish comprises 2,904 acres. Real property, £14,178. Pop., 2,538. Houses, 492. The property is subdivided. Carshalton Park was formerly the seat of Sir N. Throckmorton, Dr. Radcliffe and the Scawens; and is now occupied by James Aitken, Esq. The parish is watered by the Wandle and its head-streams; and has flour, paper, oil, and snuff mills. A spring, overarched with stone, close to the churchyard, is traditionally associated with Queen Anne Boleyn, and bears her name. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £575. Patron, In the diocese of Whichester, Value, 2576. Laron, Albert Cator, Esq. The church is early English, much altered, but in good condition; and contains a remarkable brass of Sheriff Caynesford, who died in 1490, and three claborate monuments of last century. There are gas-works, a pelice station, a British school, a national school, an infant school, and charities £58. The sub-district contains four parishes. Acres, 12,119. Pop., 8,311.

Houses, 1, 451.

CARGICK-HILL, a handet in Upper Hallam township,
Sheffield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles W of Sheffield. CARSINGTON, a parish in Ashborne district, Derby; on the Peak railway, 2 miles W of Wirksworth r. station. and 5 W of Whatstandwell Bridge. Post-town, Wirks-

Acres, 1,118. Real property, £1,965. Pop., 269. Houses, 54. The property is divided among a few. Limestone abounds; and lead ore occurs. The living is The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £176. tron, the Dishop of Lichfield. The church is good. An endowed school has £30. Oldfield, the non-conformist, and Farneworth, the translator of Machiavel, were rectors.

CARSWELL. See BUCKLAND, Berks.

CARTER-FELL, one of the Cheviots, on the boundary of Northumberland with Scotland; 16 miles NW of Otterburn. Its height is 1,602 feet. A depression on its NE shoulder, called Carter-Bar, is traversed by Watling-street, a principal inland route to Scotland; and was always a noted pass in the times of the Border forays. A smart skirmish took place, in the vicinity of the pass, on the Red Swire, in 1575, at a judicial meeting for redressing Border wrongs; and nearly kindled national hostilities between the Scottish king and Elizabeth. The skirmish is commemorated in a fine old ballad, given in the "Border Minstrelsy."

CARTER KNOWL, a hamlet in Ecclesall-Bierlow township, Sheffield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 41 miles

SW of Sheffield.

375

CARTERMOOR, a hamlet in Kirkley township, Poute-Land parish, Northumberland; 64 miles SSW of Morpeth. CARTHAMARTHA ROCKS, a group of picturesque limestone cliffs, 6 miles S of Launceston, in Cornwall. CARTHKENNY (IHE), a tributary of the river Cym-men at St. Clear, in Carmarthen.

CARTHORPE, a township in Burneston parish, N. R. Yorkshire; near the river Swale, 44 miles SE of Bedale. Acres, 2,055. Real property, £2,401. Pop., 347. Houses, There is a Wesleyau chapel.

CARTINGTON, a township in Rothbury parish, North-umberland; on an affluent of the river Coquet, 3 miles NW by N of Rothbury. It includes the township of Bankhead and the hamlet of Sandylands. Acres, 1,912. Pop., 84. Houses, 15. Cartington Castle was a seat of the Ratcliffes and the Widdringtons.

CARTLETT, a hamlet in Lower Guyting parish, Gloucester; 41 miles ESE of Winchcomb.

CARTLETT, a suburb of Haverfordwest, in Pembroke.

CARTMEL, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district in Ulverstone district, Lancashire. The town stands in a fine valley, overlying by the Coniston fells, within 21 miles of the Leven sands, 2 NE of Cark and Cartinel r. station, and 62 Eof Ulverstone. Egfrid, King of Northumbria, gave the surrounding lands to St. Cuthhert; Ethclred, a successor of Egfrid, put to death here two rivals to his throne; and William Mareschal, Earl of Pembroke, founded here, in 1188, a grand Augustinian priory. The priory enjoyed the privilege of providing guides for the Leven and Morecambe sands; and was given, at the dissolution, to Thomas Ilolcroft. The church of it still stands; measures 157 feet along the nave and choir, 100 along the transepts; and is now the parish church. The nave was rebuilt in the 15th century; the rest is early English; the choir has an eight-light, transomed, east window; the central steeple exhibits the curious feature of a diagonal belfry on a square basement; and the church contains carved stalls, two aucient monuments of Prior Walton and Sir J. Harrington, and monuments of the Prestons, the Lowthers, and The town consists of good stone houses, in others. The rown consists of good stone obases, in narrow irregular streets; and has a post-office‡ under Newton-in-Cartmel. It once had a weekly market; and it still has fairs on the Wednesday before Easter, Whit-Monday, the Tuesday after 23 Oct., and 5 Nov. grammar-school has £116 from endowment; and other charities £49. B.shop Law was a native; and was educated in the gramm ir-school. The parish includes also the village of Newton-in-Cartmel; and contains the town-ships of Cartmel-Fell, Staveley, East Broughton, Upper All thwaite, Lower Allithwaite, Upper Holker and Lower Holker. Acres, 28,747. Real property, £29,658. Pop., 5,103. Houses, 1,033. The property, in many parts, is much subdivided. Some of the inhabitants are emploved in cotton mills. A medicinal spring, called the Holy Well, occurs about 3 miles south of the town and draws numerous visitors. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £200.* Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. The p. curacies of Cartmel-Fell, Grange, Field-Broughton, Flookburgh, Lindale, Allithwaite, and Staveley are separate benefices. The sub-district is con-terminate with the parish.

CARTMEL-FELL, a township-chapelry in Cartmel CARTMEL-FELL, a township-chapelry in Cartmel parish, Lancashire; on the river Winster, 43 miles N of Grange r. station, and 61 NNE of Cartmel. Posttown, Newton-in-Cartmel. Acres, 2,900. Real property, £3,114. Pop., 303. Houses, 61. The property is subdivided. The living is a p. cnracy in the diocess of Carlisle. Value, £120. Patron, the Duke of Devonshire. The church is cool.

histe. Value, £130. Patron, the Duke of Devonsnire. The church is good; and there is a Quakers' chapel. CARTWORTH, a township in Kirkburton parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on a branch of the river Colne, 6 miles of Huddersfield. It includes part of the village of Holmfirth, and part of the hamlet of Scholes. Acres. 2,820. Real property, £7,930; of which £122 are in quarries. Pop., 2,503. Houses, 503. Many of the inhabitants are employed in the woollem manufacture. CARUMTUNE. See CARHAMPTON.

CARVARCHELL, a village in St. David's parish,

Pembroke; 31 miles ENE of St. David's. CARWINNEN. See CAMBORNE.

CARWOOD, a township in Hopesey parish, Salop; 61 miles SE of Bishops-Castle.

CARY-CASTLE. See Castle-Cary.

CARY-COATS, a township in Thockrington parish, Northumberland; 65 miles ESE of Bellingham. Acres, 1,799. Pop., 41. Houses, 9. CARY-FITZPAINE, a hamlet in Charlton-Mackrell parish, Somerset; 31 miles NW of Ilchester. Real property, £825.

CARY-LYTES, a picturesque old seat in Somerset; 2 miles N of Ilchester. A wing of it, forming a chapel, is of the time of Edward III.; and the rest is of the time of Henry VIII.

CARY'S SCONCE. See ALUM BAY.

CASCOB, a township and a parish in Presteigne district, Radner. The township lies in Radner forest, near trict, Radnor. The township hes in Radnor forest, near the river Lug, partly within the berough boundaries of New Radnor, 5\(\frac{1}{2}\) miles W by N of Presteigne, and 5\(\frac{2}{2}\) SW by S of Knighton r. station. Pop., 117. Houses, 22. The parish includes also part of the township of Litton and Cascob; and its post-town is Fresteigne, Radnorshire. Acres, 2,548. Real property, with the rest of Litton and Cascob, £1,941. Pop., 153. Houses, 28. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £190.* Patron, the Richard St. David's. The abuse his vert code. Bishop of St. David's. The church is not good. CASEHORTON. See CARSHALTON.

CASEWICK, a hamlet in Uffington parish, Lincoln; 31 miles ENE of Stamford.

CASEY-GREEN, a hamlet in New Forest township, Kirkby-Ravensworth parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 41 miles N of Richmond.

CASHIO, a hamlet and a hundred in Herts. hamlet is in Watford parish; and lies adjacent to Watford town, the river Gade, and the Northwestern railway. It bears also the name of Cashiobury; and it occupies the site of an ancient town of the Cassii, and was given by King Offa to St. Alban's abbey. Cashiobury Park, immediately N of it, belonged once to the Morrisons and the Capels; and is now the seat of the Earl of sous and the Capels; and is now the seat of the Earl of Essex. The mansion is a Tudor edifice, containing many fine family portraits; and the park is spacious, and was laid out by Le Notre. The hundred extends from Bucks and Middlesex, north-north-eastward, past the hamlet and past St. Alban's, to within 23 miles of Stevenage; and contains nincteen parishes. Acres, 82,090. Pop. in 1851, 31,009; in 1861, 33,053. Houses, CASKETS, or Casquers (The), a group of rocks in the English channel; 8 miles W of Alderney. They are about a mile in circuit, granitic, fantastically shaped, barren, and so abrupt that a line-of-battle ship can pass within an oar's length of them. They were long a terror to mariners; but have now three lighthouses, put up in 1723, placed triangularly, connected by strong walls, and showing revolving lights, visible, all round, at the distance of 15 miles. Admiral Balcher was wrecked on them in 1744.

CAS-LLWCHWR. See LOUGHOR.
CASQUETS (THE). See CASKETS (THE).
CASSIBELAN. See ALBANS (St.).

CASSINGTON, a village and a parish in Woodstock district, Oxford. The village stands near the river Isis, and near Handborough Junction r. station, 5 miles NW of Oxford. The parish includes also the hamlet of Warton; and its post-town is Oxford. Acres, 2,990. Real property, £2,899. Pop., 433. Houses, 92. The manor belonged anciently to the Montacutes, and had a castle. belonged ancienty to the atomacures, and had a casule. The paper mill of Oxford university is here. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £166. Patron, Christ Church, Oxford. The church was built by Geoffrey de Clinton, chamberlain to Henry II.

CASSINO (GREAT and LITTLE), two seats in Aldborders.

cassing ough parish, Suffolk.
CASSOP, a township and a chapelry in Kelloe parish, Durham. The township lies on the Hartlepool railway, 44 miles SE by E of Durham; and has a post-effice, of 44 miles St. by L. of Durnam; and has a post-office, of the name of Cassop-Colliery, under Ferryhill. Acres, 1,622. Real property, £5,243; of which £2,839 are in mines. Pop., 1,661. Houses, 321. The chapelry in-cludes Quarrington. Pop., 3,130. Living, a p. curacy. Value, £300. The church was built in 1968.

Value, 2300. The church was built in 1868.
CASTELDWYRAN. See CASTLE-DYRAN.
CASTELL, a township in Llanawchyllyn parish,
Merioneth; 64 miles SW of Bala. Real projectly, £429.

Prop., 73.
CASTELL-ABER-LLEINIOG, a small runed fort on the E coast of Anglesey, 2 miles NNE of Beaumaris. It was built, in 1098, by Hugh Lupas; has turrets at the corners; and was taken, in 1645, by the royalists.

CASTELLAN, a chapelry in Penrith parish, Pembroke; under Vrenin-vawr, 6 miles SSE of Cardigan.
Aeres, 899. Pop., 165. Houses, 43. The church is in ruins.

CASTELL-BYTHE. See CASTLE-BYTHE.

CASTELL-CADWGAN. See ABERAYRON.
CASTELL-CAEREINION, See CASTLE-CAEREINION. CASTELL-CAERSEION, a ruined ancient British town on the coast of Carnarvon; on the summit of a serrated ridge, 13 mile W of Conway. It comprises very distinct circular houses, a citadel, and outworks; and commands an exquisite view.

CASTELL-CIDWM, an ancient British fort in Snowdonia, Carnarvonshire; on a rugged steep of Mynydd-Mawr, 64 miles SE of Carnarvon. Its name signifies "the Wolf's Castle."

CASTELL-COCH, an ancient fort in a pass of its own name, in Glamorgan; on the river Taf, 3 miles SW by S of Caerphilly. Its site is a precipitous escarpment, overhanging the pass; its plan was triangular, with a round tower at each corner; and its remains show fea-tures of the time of Henry III. Its name signifies "the Red Castle;" and alludes to the tint of the sandstone of which it is built.

CASTELL-CARNDOCHAN, an ancient British fort in Merioneth, 64 miles SW of Bala.

CASTELL-CYMARON, an old baronial fortalice in Llandewy-Ystradenny parish, Radnor; 10 miles E of Rhayader. It was built by the Normans; and became a seat of the Mortimers.

CASTELL-DINAS-BRAN, an ancient fortress at the Valle Crucis, in Denbigh; on a conical eminence 910 feet high, rising from the Dee in the north-castern vicinity of Llangollen. It dates from very early times; was the chief scat of the lords of Yale and Bromfield; gave refuge to Gryffydd op Madoc, at his alliance with Henry III.; and sustained a siege in the conflict between Owen Glendower and Lord Grey De Ruthin. Little more than substructions of it exist; but they show it to have been an oblong, 290 feet by 140, and very strong. Traces of entrenchments also are seen on the shoulders of the hill. The site commands extensive and very interesting views.

CASTELL-DOLBADARN. See DOLBADARN CASTLE.

CASTELL DOLWYDDELAN. See DOLWYDDELAN. CASTELL-DWYRAN. See Castle-Dyrran. CASTELL-EDWIN, an ancient British fort in Flint;

31 miles E of Rhuddlan.

CASTELL-EINION-SAIS, an old baronial fortalice in Brecon; in the valley of the Usk, near Capel-Bettws.

It was built by Einion, who fought under Edward III.

CASTELL-FLEMING, an ancient British fort in Cardigan; near the Sarn-Helen way, 3 miles NW of Tre-

CASTELL-GLAS, a ruined fort in Cardigan; on the river Ebwy, 2 miles NW of Tregaron. It was built during the baronial wars; and a tower and traces of the walıs remain.

CASTELL-GLYN-ITHON. See CEFNLLYS.

CASTELL-GWALTER, an ancient hill-fort on the coast of Cardigan; 3 miles NE of Aberystwith. A castle is said to have been built on it by Walter L'Espec, the ancestor of the Duke of Rutland, and destroyed, in 1135, by Owen Gwynedd; but no vestige of this exists.
CASTELL-LLEINIOG. See CASTELL-ABER-LLEIN-

CASTELLMAI, a village in Llanbeblig parish, Carnarvoushire; near Carnarvon.

CASTELLMOCH, a township in Llanrhaiadr-yn-Mochnant parish, Montgomery; 34 miles N of Llanfy-

Ilin. Pop., 98. CASTELL-NADOLIG. See PENBRYN.

CASTELL-PRYSOR, an old fort in a defile of Merioneth: between Moel-Uchaf and the lofty heights of the Garn, 4 miles S by E of Festiniog. It is now a mere fragment; and it has been ascribed variously to the Britons and the Romans. Roman coins and urns have been found at it.

CASTELL-NHYFELL, an ancient camp in Cardigan; near a remarkable ancient British road, 41 miles E by N of Trevaron.

CASTELL-Y-BERE, an ancient castle, 71 miles NE of Towyn, in Merioneth. It was visited by Edward I.; and was in a defensible state during the wars of the Roses

CASTELNAU. See BARNES.

CASTER, CESTER, or CHESTER, a word varied from the Saxon "ceaster" or the Latin "eastruin," signifying a camp, a fort, a castle, a fortified town, or a city, and used often, in conjunction with other words, to designate places which had ancient military strengths.

CASTERLEY CAMP, an entrenched area of 64 acres in Salishury plain, Wilts; 81 miles SE of Devizes. It is surrounded by a single vallum, 28 feet high; and has a sacred circle in the centre. Sir R. C. Hoare pronounces it "one of the most original and unaltered works of the British era in the county."

CASTERN, a hamlet in Ham parish, Stafford; 10 miles ESE of Leek. Pop., 45.

CASTERTON, a township-chapelry in Kirkby-Lons-CASIERTON, a township-chaptery in Kirkby-Londale parish, Westmorelaud; on the river Lune, adjacent to the Ingleton branch of the Northwestern railway, 13 mile NE of Kirkby-Lonsale. It has a post-office under Burton-in-Kendal. Aeres, 4,230. Real property, 23,444. Pop., 587. Honses, 61. The property is divided among a few. Casterton Hall is the seat of the Wilsons. The scenery is so fine as to have been called "the pride of Lousdide." Coal and limestone are found. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, not reported. * l'atrons, Trustees. The church was built in 1853, and has a tower. Schools, established by the late Rev. W. Carus Wilson, are widely known to CASTERTON (GREAT), or Bridge-Casterton, a parish in the district of Stamford and county of Rutland; on Ermine street and the river Gwash, near the Leicester and Peterborough railway, 21 miles NW of Stamford. It has a post-office, of the name of Great Casterton, under Stamford. Acres, 1,590. Real property, £2,021. Pop., 323. Houses, 76. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged formerly to the Husseys, the Scroops, the Delawarts, and others; and belongs now to the Marquis of Exeter. A Roman !

station, burnt by the Picts, is thought by some to have been here. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Pickworth, in the diocese of Peterhorough. Value, £450. Patron, the Marquis of Exeter. The church was later English, but has been rebuilt. National schools were erected in 1861.

CASTERTON (LITTLE), a parish in the district of Stamford and county of Rutland; on the river Gwash, near the Leicester and Peterborough railway, 21 miles N by W of Stamford. It includes the hamlet of Tolethorpe; and its post-town is Stamford. Acres, 1,450. Real property, £2,117. Pop., 118. Houses, 24. The Real property, £2,117. Pop., 118. Houses, 24. The manor belongs to Lord Chesham. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Tolethorpe, in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £254.* Patron, Lord Chesham. The church is partly Norman and later English, but has been modernized. There is a free school.

CASTHORPE, a hamlet in Barrowby parish, Lincoln;

2 miles W of Grantham. Pop., 51.

CASTLE, a hamlet adjacent to the river Brue, and to the Mid-Somerset railway, 31 miles NNE of Glastonbury, in Somerset. It has an ancient cross; and an eminence adjoining it, called Castle Hill, was the site of an ancient stronghold.

Strongnon.

CASTLE, a hamlet in Pentyrch parish, Glamorgan; 31 miles NW of Llandaff. Real property, £1,195. Pop., 195.

CASTLE, a township in Castle-Cacreinion parish, Montgomery; 41 miles WSW of Welshpool. Pop., 197.

CASTLE, Llanwnog, Montgomery. See ESGOB AND

CASTLE.

CASTLE, Notts. See NOTTINGHAM.

CASTLE, Northumberland. See Castle-Ward.

CASTLE-ACRE, a village and a parish in Freehridge-Lynn district, Norfolk. The village stands on the Peddar way and the river Nar, 31 miles NW of Dunham r. station, and 4 N of Swattham; and has a post-office under Brandon, and fairs on 1 May and 5 Aug. Here are extensive remains of a castle and a priory, founded, in 1085, by the Earl of Warrenne. The castle occupies the site of previous works; covered an area of about 18 acres; and had an encircling embattled wall, 7 feet thick. The priory was a cell to Lewes; included an area of 29 acres; had a cruciform church 218 feet long, a chapter-house 40 feet by 20, and a refectory 110 feet by 26; and was given, at the dissolution, to the Duke of Norfolk. Part of the south-west tower, some pillars of the nave, the walls of the transepts, the chapter-house, the refectory, the prior's lodge, and the gatehouse are still standing; exhibit features from Norman to perpendicular; and look exhibit teatures from Aorman to perpendicular; and took very picturesque.—The parish comprises 3,249 acres. Real property, £5,427. Pop., 1,405. Houses, 334. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, not reported. Patron, the Earl of Leicester. The church is ancient. large, and good; has a lofty square tower; and contains an ancient font and some curious monuments. There are chapels for Baptists, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists, and a national school.

CASTLE-AN-DINAS, a hill 21 miles ESE of St. Columb, in Cornwall. Its summit has a height of 735 feet; commands a superb panoramic view; was occupied, as a military strength, by Britons, Romans, and Danes; and is erowned by an earthwork and a ruined tower.

CASTLE-ASHBY. See ASHBY-CASTLE.

CASTLE-BARNARD, See BARNARD (CASTLE). CASTLEBEAR-HILL, a locality between the river Brent and the Great Western railway, 23 miles N of Brentford, in Middlesex. It has a post-office under Ealing, London W. A mansion here was the seat of the Duke of Kent.

CASTLEBERG, a limestone cliff contiguous to Settle, W. R. Yorkshire. It is about 300 feet high; and commands a fine prospect.

CASTLE-BIGH. See CASTLE-BYTHE. CASTLE-BOLTON.

Sec BOLTON CASTLE.

CASTLE-BROMWICH. See BROMWICH (CASTLE). CASTLE-BYTHAM See BYTHAM-CASTLE.

CASTLE-BYTHE, or CASTLE-BIGH, a parish in Haverfordwest district, Pembroke; 5 miles N of Clarbeston Road r. station, and 10 NE of Haverfordwest. Post-town, Haverfordwest, Acres, 2,537. Real property, £1,056. Pop., 227. Houses, 48. Part of the surface is upland, on the skirt of the Percelly mountains. An ancient military strength was here, supposed to be the Roman Ad Vigesimum, on the maritime Julian way. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. Davids. Value, not reported. Patron, the Lord Chancellor.

Value, not reported. Fatron, the Lord Chancellor. CASTLE-CAEREINION, a parish in the district and county of Montgomery; 4 miles WNW of Forden r. station, and 4 WSW of Welshpool. It includes the townships of Castle, Gaer, Moydog, Sylhen, Trefnant, Cwmgoron, Hydan-Ucha, Hydan-Dol, Nautforch, and Trehelig; and has a post-office under Welshpool. Acres, 6,540. Rated property, £4,619. Pop., 682. Houses, 214. The property is divided mangag flew. A castle of Treneng; and mas a post-office that it is a post-office that it is a post-office that for porty is divided among a few. A castle of the princes of Powys was here. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, £575.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church was recently in a dilapidated state. A school has £17 from endowment; and other charities £45.

CASTLE-CAMPS, a parish in Linton district, Cambridge; on the verge of the county, 31 miles SW by W of orange; on the verge of the county, 35 miles SW by W Haverhill r. station. It has a post-office under Cambridge. Acres, 2,703. Real property, £3,835. Pop., 901. Houses, 199. The property is divided among a few. The manor was given, at the Conquest, to Abbrey de Vere; conveyed, in 1530, by his successor, one of the Earls of Oxford, to Sutton; and given, by the latter, to the Charter-House, London. A castle of the De Veres stood on it; and appears to have been magnificent; but is now represented by only a deep most round a farm-house on its site. Large entrenchments of the East Angles and the Danes were in the parish; and these, with the castle, gave rise to the name of Castle-Camps. living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £570.*
Patron, the Charter-House of London. The church is good; and there are an Independent chapel and a charity school CASTLE-CAREY. See Castle-Cary.

CASTLE-CARLTON. See CARLTON-CASTLE.
CASTLE-CARROCK, a parish in Brampton district, Cumberland; on the river Gelt under Cumrew fell. 3 miles SE of How-Mill r. station, and 4 S of Brampton. It has a post-office under Carlisle. Acres, 3,640. Real property, £2,026. Pop., 337. Houses, 65. The property is much subdivided. Limestone and freestone proty is much subdivided. Limestone and freestone abound; and there are two mineral springs. Traces exist of two ancient military strengths. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £159.* Patrons the Dean and Chapter of Carlisle. The church was rebuilt in 1828. There are an Independent chapel and an endowed school—the latter with £14.

CASTLE-CARY, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district in Wincanton district, Somerset. The town stands on valley and on slopes, amid charming environs, stands on valuely and on stopes, and charming environs adjacent to the East Somerest railway, 12 miles NNE of Yeovil. A castle at it was built by the Lovells, and made a figure in the civil wars of the time of Stephen; but has disappeared. A manor-house adjacent, gave shelter to Charles II. after the battle of Worcester; but has been almost demolished. A beautifully-broken hill-side, called Castle-Cary Park, was probably the chase of the lords of the manor; and commands a very splendid and extensive view. The principal street of the town runs up a hollow between two hills. The market-house is an elegant edifice, built in 1855, at a cost of £2,300; and contains an assembly-room upwards of 50 feet long. The parish church surmounts a hillock; has a tower and spire, erected in 1855; is itself partly decorated English of the time of Henry I., partly recent reconstruction; and contains an old font and a richly-carved pulpit. are Independent and Wesleyan chapels, a national school, a post-office; under Bath, a railway station, a banking-office, and three chief inns. Markets are held on Mononce, and three chef ins. Markets are first on Romaday, I May, Whit-Tuesday, and the Tuesday after 19 Sept. Some trade is carried on in flax-spinning and hair-clothweaving .- The parish includes also the hamlets of Clanville, Dimmer, and Cockhill, and the manor of Foxcombe. Acres, 2,625. Real property, with Almsford, £11,977. Pop., 2,060. Houses, 433. The living is n vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £312.* Patron, the Bishop of Bath and Wells .- The sub-district contains fifteen parishes. Acres, 16,906. Pop., 6,129.

Houses, 1,303.
CASTLE-CHURCH, a parish and a sub-district in the district and county of Stafford. The parish adjoins the south-western suburbs of Stafford; and includes the south-western suburbs of Stafford; and includes the town-ships of Forbirdige and Rickerscote. Post-town, Stafford. Acres, 3,774. Rated property, £15,772. Pop., 3,362. Houses, 669. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £120. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is old but good. A district church, forming a separate charge, is in Forebridge; and there is a neat Roman Catholic chapel.—The sub-district contains three parishes and part of another. Acres, 13,071. Pop., 5,413. Houses, 1,039.

CASTLE-COMBE, a village, a parish, and a sub-district, in Chippenham district, Wilts. The village stands on the Box rivulet, near Akeman-street, 5 miles NNW of Corsham r, station, and 51 WNW of Chippenham; and has a post-office under Chippenham, and an inn. It and has a post-office under complement, and an inn. was once a place of some note, and had a weekly market; and it still has a fair, for cattle, sheep, and horses, on 4 May. An ancient market-cross is in it; a number of gable-fronted old honses line its streets; and an old dowry-house and an old manor-house stand, the one at the end of its principal street, the other in the near neighbourhood. A Saxon fort, or even a Roman camp, is supposed to have crowned an adjacent hill; and a great castle of the Dunstanvilles was built there about the year 1200, and dismantled before the close of the 14th century. Both the earlier fort and the later castle, perhaps the former quite as much as the latter, are now represented only by remains of a fosse and rampart. The manor passed from the Dunstanvilles to the Ballesmeres and others; but has belonged, for about 500 years, to the Scropes. The present mansion occupies a romantic site on the Box, deeply embosomed among steep and wooded slopes. Two notable occupants of the manor were Lord Chancellor Scrope, of the time of Richard H., and Wil-liam Scrope, author of "Days of Deer Stalking." The parish comprises 1,494 acres. Real property, £3,241. Pop., 534. Houses, 122. The property is not much divided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucette and Paristal. divided. The ming is a rectory in the uncesse of Storic cestor and Bristol. Value, not reported. Patron, G. P. Scrope, Esq. The church is early English; consists of nave, chancel, and two ailses, with a square tower; was restored in 1851, at a cost of £3,000; and contains an octagonal font and a cenotaph of the Scropes. There are chapels for Independents and Baptists. The sub-district contains eight parishes. Acres, 14,011. Pop., 3,286. Houses, 701.

CASTLE-COYTY. See COYTY. CASTLE-CRAG. See BORROWDALE. Cumberland. CASTLE-DITCH, an ancient camp on Little Haldon Hill, 25 miles W of Dawlish, in Devon. It is circular, and 124 yards in diameter.

CASTLE-DITCH, an ancient camp, 4 miles SE of indon, in Wilts. It is triangular; includes 24 acres: Hindon, in Wilts.

And has a treble ditch and ramparts 40 feet high.

CASTLE-DONINGTON, a town, a parish, and a subdistrict in the district of Shardlow, and county of Leices-The town stands near the river Trent, 3 miles W of Kegworth r. station, and 71 NW by N of Loughborough. It was known at Domesday as Dunitone; it takes the first part of its present name from an old castle, now a fragment, said to have belonged to John of Gaunt; and it contains vestiges of a monastery, founded in the time of Henry II. It has a church, four dissenting chapels, a large handsome parachial school, a post-office; under Derby, and two chief inns. The church is very old; has Derry, and two cines mas. In enture is very out; has a large chancel, with fine east window, and a handsome spire, 180 feet high; and contains a double canopied brass of 1433, and some old effigies. A weekly market is held on Saturday; and fairs on 18th March and 29

Sept. Several departments of manufacture are carried | on. Pop., 2,291. Houses, 561. The parish comprises 4,250 acres. Real property, £12,856. Pop., 2,445. Houses, 617. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged formerly to the Plantagenets and the Huntingdons; and belongs now to the Marquis of Hastings. Donington Park, the seat of the Marquis, a mile west of the town, is a grand edifice, in a mixed style of pointed and Tudor, by Wilkins; has picturesque grounds of 350 acres: and contains an extensive library and a large colhection of valuable paintings. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £223.* Patron, the Marquis of Hastings. The sub-district contains six parishes and an extra-parochial tract. Acres, 13,355. Pop., 5,775. Houses, 1,385.

CASTLEDOOR, or CASTLE-Dor, a locality 21 miles N of Fowey, in Cornwall. It takes name from a small ancient camp, probably Danish; and has a post-office

under Par Station

CASTLE-DURRAN. See CASTLE-DYRRAN.

CASTLE-DYKE, an ancient camp on high mounds, in Ugbrooke Park, 14 mile SSE of Chudleigh, in Devon. It is circular, and thought to be Danish; but has outworks of a much later time than that of the Danes.

CASTLE-DYKES, a Roman camp at Farthingo, in Northampton. It includes 13 acres; and is double-It is thought to have been occupied by Ethelfleda, and burnt, in 1013, by the Danes.

CASTLE-DYKINGS, au extra-parochial tract in the district and county of Lincoln; within the city boundaries of Lincoln.

Lincoln. Pop., 188. Houses, 33. CASTLE-DYRRAN, a hamlet in Cilymaenllwyd parish, Carmarthen; 31 miles NE of Narberth. Pop., 61.

It forms a curacy with Cilymaeullwyd.

CASTLE-EATON, a small village and a parish in Highworth district, Wilts. The village stands on the river Thames, adjacent to the Thames and Severn canal, 35 miles ENE of Cricklade, and 61 NE of Purton r. sta-tion. The parish includes also the tything of Lushill; and its post-town is Kempsford under Swindou. Acres, 1,956. Real property, with Lushill and Marston-Maisey, 26,171. Pop., 286. Houses, 64. The property is divided among a few. Lushill House is the seat of the raided among a few. Listant rouse is the seat of the Archers. A place called the Butts seems to have been notable, in old times, for the practice of archery. The parish is famous for cheese. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £633.* Patron, the Rev. C. E. Bowlby. The church dates from count 140; has a singular enpole; and is very good.

CASTLE EDEN, a rivulet, two villages, and a parish in Easington district, Durham. The rivulet traverses a romantic dell, called Castle-Eden dean; and goes eastward to the sea. The villages are Castle-Eden and Castle-Eien-Colliery; they stand near the Hartlepool and Ferry-hill railway, 74 and 63 miles XW by W of Hartlepool; and they have stations on the railway, and post-offices under Ferryhill. There is also a post-office of Castle-Eden Station under Ferryhill. The parish comprises 1,935 gares. Real property, £1,942; of which, £1,500 are in mines. Pop., 535. Houses, 110. The property are in mines. Pop., 535. Houses, 110. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged anciently to Gisborne priory and the see of Durham. Castle-Eden Hall, the seat of R. Burdon, Esq., is a handsome modern castellated white, surmounting a wooded precipice contiguous to Castle-Eden dean, and commanding brilliant views. Coal is extensively worked, and there are brickworks and a brewery. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Durham. Value, £242. Patron, R. Burdon, The church was bailt in 1764, and has a fine spire. Esq. The church was built in 1764, and has a nue spire. The vicarage of Wingate Grange is a separate benefice. There are Weslevan and P. Methodist chapels. CASTLE-FLEMISH. See Ambleston.

CASTLEFORD, a township and a parish in Pontefract district, W. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on Watling-st.eet, the river Aire, and the York and Leeds railway, 71 miles ENE of Wakefield; and has a station on the radway, and a post-office; under Normanton. Roman station Legiolium is supposed to have been here: and Roman coins, urns, pavements, and substructions have been found. Coal-mining, glass-making, and carthenware manufacture are largely carried on; and have ocenware manufacture are largely carried on; and have oc-casioned much recent increase of population. A railway hence to Ardsley was opened in May, 1889. Acres, 540. Real property, £9,023. Pop., 3,876. Houses, 813. The parish includes also the township of Glass-Houghton. Acres, 2,040. Real property, £11,395. Pop., 4,365. Houses, 926. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £555.* Patron, the Duchy of Lancaster. The church is ancient and cruciform. There are a school-church, an Independent chapel of 1862, four Methodist chapels, and two public schools.

CASTLEFORD, a hamlet in Ipplepen parish, Devon. CASTLE-FROME, a parish in Ledbury district, Here-CASILE-ROJE, a parish in Ledbury district, Hereford; on the river Fronce, 3 miles NNE of Ashperton r. station, and 6 NNW of Ledbury. Post-town, Bishops-frome, under Worcester. Acres, 1,511. Real property, £2,042. Pop., 115. Houses, 18. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Hereford. Value £300.* Patron, F. T. Freeman, Eag. The church is good.

CASTLE-GATE See Very

CASTLE-GRESLEY, a township in Church-Gresley parish, Derby, 44 miles SE by E of Burton-upon-Trent. Pop., 236. Houses, 52.

CASTLE-HALL, a chapelry in Dukinfield township, Stockport parish, Cheshire; on the verge of the county, adjacent to the river Tame, the Manchester and Sheffield railway, and Stalyhridge. It was constituted in field railway, and Stalymridge. It was constituted in 1846. Post-town, Stalybridge, Lancasitire. Pop., 7,512. Houses, 1,479. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Chester. Value, £300. Patrons, Trustees. CASTLE-HEAD. See DelWENT WAIEL. CASTLE-HEDINGHAM, a village and a parish in Halstead district. Essex. The village stands on the Halstead district, Essex. The village stands on the river Colne, and on the Colne Valley railway, 4½ miles NW of Halstead; is a seat of petty sessions and a pollingplace; and has a post-office under Halstead, a railway tation, and an inn. Fairs are held on 14 May and 25 July. A grand castle was built on an adjacent eminence, in the early part of the 12th century, by Aubrey de Vere, Earl of Oxford; was the death-place of Queen Maul; made a great figure in the wars in the time of King John; was the scene of a sumptuous entertainment to Henry VII.; suffered much demolition, in 1592, by Edward de Vere; and was reduced to ruin, in 1666, in the first Dutch war. Only the keep of it now stands; and this is pure Anglo-Norman, 62 feet wide, 55 feet broad, and about 100 feet high,—the walls, from 10 to 13 feet thick,—the height disposed in five storeys, pierced with loop-holes and narrow windows. A Benedictine nunnery and an hospital also were founded here by the De Veres, -the former in 1198, the later in 1250; -part of the minnery is now a farm-house. The parish comprises 2,429 acres. Real property, £6,027. Pop., 1,203. Houses, 300. The property is divided among a few. The manor passed from the Do Veres to the Ashursts and the Humbberg and Aller and the Tennance of the Property is divided among a few. and the Houghtons; and belongs now to A. Majendie, loops. The parish is notable for its produce of Essex loops. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £100. Patron, A. Majendie, Esq. The church dates from the time of King John; shows Norman traces; has a tower of 1616; and contains monuments of the De Veres and the Ashursts. There are a large Independent chapel and several alms-houses.

CASTLE-HEWIN, an extinct ancient stronghold, at Tarn Walling, Cumberland; under the north side of Blaze fell, in the eastern vicinity of High Hesket. It is mentioned in the old ballad of the "Marriage of Sir CASTLE-HILL, any one of numerous eminences, in all parts of England, either now or formerly crowned with military works. Most of them possess little intorest, except the name; a few have vestiges or ruins of ancient camps, forts, or castles; and some give name to contiguous localities.

CASTLE-HILL, the seat of Earl Fortescue, in Dovon:

on the river Bray, 3 miles NW by W of South Molton. An adjacent place of the same name has a post-office under South Molton.

CASTLE-HILL-SIDE, a hamlet in Almondbury town-slup and parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 1 mile SE of Huddersfield.

CASTLE-HORNECK, a seat in the western vicinity of Penzance, in Cornwall. 1t belongs to S. Borlase, Esq.; and takes name from an ancient entrenchment, encircling an adjoining eminence.

CASTLE-HOW. See ENNERDALE-WATER,

CASTLE-HOWARD, a railway station and a noble mansion in N. R. Yorkshire. The station is on the York and Scarborough railway, adjacent to the river Derwent, 33 miles SW of New Malton. There is also a post-office of the name under York. The mansion is the seat of the Earl of Carlisle; and stands 3 miles NNW of the station. It occupies the site of the old castle of Hinderskelf,-destroyed by accidental fire; and was built, in 1702, after designs by Sir John Vanbrugh. The south front is 323 feet long; consists of a centre and two wings; and is adorned, at the centre, with an attached Corinthian portice. The north front also has a Corinthian centre; and is surmounted there by a cupola. The great the drawing room, 27 feet by 23; the saloon, 34 feet by 24; the drawing room, 27 feet by 23; the saloon, 34 feet by 24; the drawing room, 27 feet by 23; the state bed-room, 26 feet by 22; the muser by 29. The decorations, painting agallery, 160 feet by 20. The decorations, painting tique gattery, 100 feet by 20. In a decorations, paintings, and curiosities are exceedingly rich. The gardens occupy 12 acres; and the pleasure-grounds contain statues, temples, an obelisk, a pyramid, and a grand mansoleum. Queen Victoria visited Castle-Howard in 1850; and planted a tree in the grounds.

CASTLETINN See Paperprise.

CASTLE-INN. See BRECKNOCK. CASTLE-LEAVINGTON, a township in Kirk-Leavington parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on a branch of the river Ington parts, A. K. Torkshire; on a brainen of the river Tees, 3\(\frac{1}{2}\) miles SE of Yarm. Acres, 1,828. Real pro-perty, 21,327. Pop., 53. Houses, 6. CASTLE-MAELOWN, the seat of the Gower family, in Pembroke; on the river Teifi, 3\(\frac{1}{2}\) miles SE by E of CASTLE-MALWOOD, a walk in the New Forest, Hants; 3½ miles NW of Lyndhurst. It takes name from an old fort in it, the keep of which is still standing. CASTLE-MARTIN, a village, a parish, and a hundred in Pembrokeshire. The village stands on the coast, it is the NWW of Decembra.

53 miles WSW of Pembroke, and 71 SW of New Milford r. station; and has a post-office under Pembroke. An ancient castle, of uncertain origin, or perhaps an ancient British fort, stood here; and has left some vestiges. The parish extends a considerable way, along a rugged coast; and is in the district of Pembroke. Acres, rigged coast; and is in the district of Telmhots. Actes, 4,867; of which 365 are water. Real property. £4,024; of which £140 are in quarries. Pop., 422. Houses, 65. The property is divided among a few. Brownslade House is a chief residence. Several ancient British and Danish remains are on the coast. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. David's. Value, £315.* Patron, Earl Cawder. The church is old but excellent .-The hundred contains fifteen parishes, and parts of two others; and is famous for its breed of black cattle. Acres,

48,122. Pop., 5,856. Houses, 1,035.
CASTLE-MONA, the quondam residence of the Dukes of Athele, in the Isle of Man; adjacent to Douglas. It was a magnificent place; and is still surrounded by fine plantations.

CASTLE-MORTON, or Morron-Folior, a parish in Upton-on-Severn district, Worcester, under the Malvern hills, 44 miles SW by W of Upton-on-Severn, and 35 S by E of Malvern r. station. Post-town, Longdon, under Towkesbury. Acres, 3,656. Real property, £5,569. Pop., 818. Houses, 195. The property is much subdivided. A castle of the De Montes stood here. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the vicarage of Longdon, in the diocese of Worcester. The church is ancient but good; and a chapel for the outlying portions of Castle-Morton and Berrow was built in 1869. There are a national school, and charities £28.

CASTLE-NADOLIG. See CASTELL-NADOLIG. CASTLE-NAROLIG. See CASTLEL-AAROLIG.
CASTLE-NORTHWICH, a township in Great Budworth parish, Cheshire; on the river Weaver, in the south-western vicinity of Northwich. Acres, 100. Real property, £18,218; of which £15,484 are in canals. Pop., 1,395. Houses, 308. See Northwich.

CASTLE (Old). See Old Castle.

CASTLE-PRECINCTS, extra-parochial places in the city of Durham, the city of Bristol, and the borough or Lewes.

CASTLE-RIGG, an eminence 11 mile SE of Keswick, in Cumberland. It commands an extensive and most gorgeous view, much admired by all lakers, and specially noted by the poets Gray and Wordsworth.

CASTLE-RING. See CANNOCK.

CASTLE-RINGS, an ancient entrenchment on the 4

SW border of Wilts; on Tittlepath hill, 2½ miles NE of Shaftesbury. It consists of ditch and lofty rampart; encloses 151 acres; encircles the hill, and gives it a singular shape.

CASTLE-RINGS, OF WEATHERBURY CASTLE, ancient British camp in Dorset; 3 miles WNW of Bere-Regis. It is rectangular; and bas two ramparts and A fir plantation and a modern obclisk are within it.

within it.

CASTLE-RISING, a decayed town, a parish, and a sub-district in Freebridge-Lynn district, Norfolk. The town stands 21 miles NE of Wootton r. station, and 42 NE by N of Lynn; and has a post-office under Lynn. A Roman station and a Saxon fort probably were here; and a great castle was erected on their site some time before 1176 by William de Albini, first Earl of Sussex. Remains of the castle still exist; and show it to have been a place of much importance. The interior is greatly dilapidated, but is least so in the room where the court-leet was held. The walls of the keep are 9 feet thick; the encompassing ditch is deep, and the rampart bold; a strong wall, with three towers, formerly surmounted the rampart; and the entire place was on a similar plan to Norwich castle, and nearly as large. Several kings made visits to it; and Isabel, the queen of Edward III, was confined in it from 1330, after the murder of her husband, till her death in 1358. The town is now a paltry village; but was formerly a seat of great markets, a centre of political influence, a brough by prescription, and probably a scaport; and it sent two members to parliament, till disfranchised by the act of 1832. Tradition assumes that the sea came up to it in the same manner that it now does to Lynn; and an old rhyme says,- " Rising was a seaport town, When Lynn was but a marsh; Now Lynn it is a seaport town.

And Rising fares the worse!"

The parish comprises 2,096 acres. Real property, £2,298. Pop., 377. Houses, 79. The property all belongs to the Howard family. The living is a rectory, united with the rectory of Roydon, in the diocese of Nor united with the rectory of Roydon, in the diocess. A switch. Value, £419.* Patrons, the Heirs of the late Hon. Col. Howard. The church is partly Norman, partly Norman, partly Norman, partly Norman, partly Norman, partly Norman, partly September 1844 and 1857. There early English; and was restored in 1844 and 1857. the latter was founded, in the time of James II, by Henry Howard, Earl of Northamyton, and has 2100 a-year.—The sub-district contains seven parishes. Acres, 19,006. Pop., 2.420. Honess *500 are a national school and an alms-house-hospital, and a-year.—The substitute contains sorter pairshes. Acts, 19,006. Pop., 2,420. Honses, 529. CASTLE-ROCK, a picturesque crag at the head of the Vale of St. John, in Cumberland; 3 miles ESE of Keswick. It looks as if castellated; and might be mistaken by a stranger, in some states of the atmosphere, for an actual, great, lofty fortress. Sir Walter Scott, describing it, in his "Bridal of Triermain," as it appeared to the charmed eye of King Arthur, says-

"A mound Arose with airy turrets crown'd, Buttress and rampart circling bound, And mighty keep and tower; Seem'd some primeval giant's hand The castle's massive walls had plann'd, A ponderous bulwark, to withstand Ambitious Nimrod's power."

331

CASTLE-ROUGH, an ancient camp on the N coast of K-at; in Kemsley marsh, 2 miles N by E of Sitting-bourne. It is an earthwork about 100 feet square, with broad ditch and single rampert; and was formed by Hasten the Dane, at his landing in 892.

CASTLE-RUSHEN. See CASTLETOWN, Isle of Man. CASTLESIDE, a chapelry in Lanchester parish, Dur-ham; 3 miles SSW of Shotley-Bridge. It was constituted in 1864; and it has a post-office under Gateshead. Pop., 1.176. The living is a vicarage in the diocesc of Pop., 1,176. The living is a vicarage in the diocesc of Durham. Value, £300.

CASTLE-SOWERBY, a parish in Penrith district, Cumberland; in Inglewood forest, under Carrock fell, 3 miles SE by E of Hesket-Newmarket, and 7 W of Plumpton r. station. It contains the townships of Bustabeck-Bound, How-Bound, Row-Bound, Southernby-Bound, and Stockdalewath-Bound; and its post-town is Hesketand Stockdalewan-Dound; and its post-town is resect-Newmarket, under Wigton. Acres, 7,940. Real pro-perty, £5,112. Pop., 906. Houses, 194. The property is much subdivided. The manor belongs to the Duke of Devonshire. An ancient fortress stood near the church; and an old circular fort is at How-hill. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Carlisle. Value, £90.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Carlisle. The church is tolerable. The p. curacy of Raughton-Head is a separate benefice

CASTLESTEADS, or CAMBECK-FORT, the Roman station Petriani, on the Wall, near Brampton, in Cumberland. It measures 450 feet by 300; has yielded altars, inscriptions, coins, and other relics; and gives name to an adjacent mansion, formerly the seat of the Daures

CASTLE-STREET, a locality on the confines of Lancashire and Yorkshire, 1 mile from Todmorden; with a post-office under Todmorden.

CASTLE-STREET, a township in St. Mary-Carlisle parish, Cumberlaud; within the city of Carlisle.

CASTLE-THORPE, a parish in Newport-Pagnell district, Bucks; on the verge of the county, the river Tove, and the Northwestern railway, 21 miles NNW of Wolverton r. station, and 31 NNE of Stony-Stratford. It has a post-office under Stony-Stratford. Acres, 1,380. Real property, £2,844. Pop., 338. Houses, 69. The projecty is divided among a few, but belongs chiefly to Lord Carrington. The ancient castle of the barony of Hauslope stood here, but is represented now by only a deep ditch and au artificial mound. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Hanslope, in the discesse of Oxford. The church is an old edifice, with low square tower; and has a monument of Judge Tyrrell, of the time of Charles II.

CASTLE-THORPE, a township in Broughton parish, Lincoln; on the river Ancholme, I mile N of Glanford-Brigg. Pop., 346, CASTLE-TOLL.

See NEWENDEN.

CASTLETON, a village, a township, and a parish in Chapel-en-le-Frith district, Derby. The village stands in a deep hollow, at the foot of Mam-Tor mountain, 6 miles N of Millers-Dale r. station, and 10 NE of Buxton. A steep and commanding eminence at it, upwards of 200 feet high, is crowned by the ruined castle of "Peveril of the Peak." This is supposed by some to have been preceded by a Saxon fort; by others, to have been built originally by William Peveril, a son of the Conqueror. It passed from the Peverils in the time of Henry II.; was held by the Earl of Montaigne, afterwords King John; was given, in the time of Edward H., to the Earl of Warren; passed afterwards to John of Grant; and has belonged, since his time, to the duchy of Lancaster. The keep and portions of the walls still stand; they consist of massive masonry, 9 feet thick; and they present a most interesting specimen of the features of Norman architecture. The Peak cavern is adjacent, while all the other grand attractions of the High Peak region are near; and they draw bither great numbers of summer visitors and tourists. The village has a post office; under Sheffield, three chief inns, a church, a Wesleyan chapel, a Primitive Methodist chapel, an endowed school, and an excellent library. The church is partly carly English, neat and in good repair; and has three interesting monuments to the mineralogist Mawe, the Rev. E. Bagshaw, and Micha Hall. Fairs are held on the third Wednesday of March, 21 April, the first Wednesday of Oct., and the third Wednesday of Nov.—The township includes the village, and extends over neighbouring mountains. Real property, £5,005. Pop., 771. Houses, 167. The property is much subdivided. Lead ore, fluor spar, mountain limestone, and other useful ore, nor spar, monitain missione, and other usern interals abound. The working of lead mines long em-ployed a large portion of the inhabitants, but, of late years, has been unproductive.—The parish includes also the township of Edale. Acres, 10,205. Real property, £8,156. Pop., 1,157. Honses, 243. The manor belongs to the duchy of Lancaster; and is leased by the Duke of Devonshire. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £186. Patron, the Bishop The vicarage of Edale is a separate of Lichtield. benefice.

benence.

CASTLETON, a parish in Sherborne district, Dorset; on the Yeoril and Salisbury railway, § of a mile EXE of Sherborne. Post-town, Sherborne. Acres, 69. Real property, £581. Pop., 59. Houses, 13. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £81. Patron, G. D. W. Digby, Esq. A fair is held on the Wednesday before Holy Thursday.

CASTLETON, a township and two sub-districts in Rochdale parish and district, Lancashire. The township stands on the Rochdale canal and the Manchester and Leeds railway, partly within the borough of Rochdale, partly in the south-eastern suburbs and environs. Real property, £102,077; of which £24,424 are in the canal. Pop. in 1841, 14,279; in 1861, 23,771. Houses, 4,884. 10p. in 1841, 14, 229; in 1804, 23,711. Houses, 4,832 The part without the borough includes the villages and hamlets of Buersill, Lowerplace, Newbold, Marlaod, Lower-Lane, Broad-Lane, Backlanes, Roecare, Captainfold, Castleton-Moor, and Bluepits. There are traces of a castle, supposed to have been built before the Conquest.—The sub-districts are C. Within and G. Without; and are jointly conterminate with the township. Pop. of C .- are jointly conterminate with the township. Fol. of Within, 13,971. Houses, 2,892.

CASTLETON, a village in Marshfield parish, Momouth; 5 miles SW of Newport. It has a post-office under Cardiff, two dissenting chapels, remains of a Norman castle, and three annual fairs.
CASTLETON, a village in Dauby parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the North Yorkshire and Cleveland railway, Theories E. of Cardio-Saste Laboratory with 71 miles SE of Guisbrough. It has a r. station with

74 miles S.B. of cuitisprough. It mas a r. station: with telegraph, a post-office under Yarm, and a weekly market. CASTLETON, Glamorgam. See Athan (St.). CASTLETON.-MOOR, a chapetry in Castleton township, Lancashire, 21 miles SSW of Rochdale. Pop., about 3,000. Living, a vicarage. Value, £300. The church was built in 1862; and is a fine culifice, with a spire.

CASTLETOWN, a scaport village in Portland Isle, Dorset; 42 miles S by E of Weymouth. It has a postoffice under Weymouth, a hotel, and a stone wharf and pier. CASTLETOWN, a town in Kirk-Malew parish, 1sle of Man; on a bay of its own name, near the southern extremity of the island, 10 miles SW of Donglas. The bay is separated, on the NE, by only the narrow isthmes oay is separated, on the Mr., by only the narrow istimute of Longness peninsula, from Derby laven; measures about 2\frac{1}{2}$ miles by 2; and has an occasional light, sen at the distance of 8 miles; but is unsheltered from southerly winds, best with sunker rocks, and comparatively shallow. Some vessels frequent it, in a good corn and the state of the s and coasting trade; but most prefer Derby haven. The town is thought to be the oldest in the island; was the residence of its kings; and is still the sent of its government; yet consists chiefly of modern houses, in regular streets. A rivulet runs through it to the bay; and is crossed by two bridges, for carriages and pedestrians. A market place, a large square, is near the centre. Castle-Rushen, once the abode of royalty, now variously courthouse, prison, and barracks, stands on a rock between the market-square and the rivulet, and overlooks the country for many miles. This was originally built, about 945, by Guthred, the Dane; is said to resemble Elsinore Castle, the scene of Hamlet; was the theatre of the events which form the plot of Sir Walter Scott's "Peveril of the Peak;" retains the formidable gloomy grandeur of the mediæval architecture, with massive walls and square towers, one of them 80 feet high; and was partially restored in 1815. A memorial to Governor Smelt, a Poric pillar, is on the parade. St. Mary's church, facing the parade, is an ornamental structure, built on the site of a previous church, in 1828. Three Roman coins were got at the founding of the church; and a Roman altar is at the governor's house. King William's college, founded in 1830, stands at Hango-hill; and is an imposing edifice, in the pointed style, 210 feet by 135, with a tower and lantern 115 feet high. The training here is liberal, preparatory for the church; and several of the masters, as also many of the pupils, have been distinguished.

There are also chapels for Wesleyans, Primitive Methodists, and Roman Catholics, a free school, and a literary institution; and the town has a post-office; under Doug-las, a banking office, and a weekly market. Pop., 2,373. Houses, 442.

CASTLETOWN-QUARTER, a township in Rockliff CASTLETON'S QUARTER, a township in Rockhit parish, Cumberland; on the river Eden and the Cale-doniau railway, 5 miles NNW of Carlisle. Acres, 5,225. of which 1,134 are water. Pop., 502. Houses, 106. CASTLE-VIEW, a liberty within the borough of Lei-cester. Pop., 139. Houses, 29. CASTLE-WARD, a district and two divisions in Northumberland; extending northward from the borough boundaries of Newcastle. The district comprehends the sub-district of Ponteland, containing the parishes of Ponteland, Dinnington, Stannington, Gosforth, Whalton, Bolan, and part of Morpeth; and the sub-district of Stamfordham, containing the parishes of Stamfordham, Newburn, Heddon-on-the-Wall, parts of Hartburn, Kirkwhelpington, and Ovinglan, and the chapelry of Kirkheaton. Acres, 88,587. Poor-rates in 1866, £8,991. Pop. in 1861, 14,943. Houses, 3,018. Marriages in 1866, 39; births, 517,—of which 41 were illegitimate; deaths, 264,—of which 94 were at ages under 3 years, and 10 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years and 10 at ages above 55. Darriages in the tell years 1851-60, 433, births, 4,514; deaths, 2,747. The places of worship in 1851 were 17 of the Church of England, with 3,521 sittings; 3 of the United Presbyterian Church, with 223 s.; 14 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,070 s.; 3 of Primitive Methodists, with 468 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Reformers, with 448 s.; and 1 of Roman Catholics, with 170 s. The schools were 23 public day schools, with 1,377 scholars; 13 private day schools, with 418 s; 27 Sunday schools, with 1,432 s; and 1 evening school for adults, with 20 s. The workhouse is in Ponteland township. The two divisions are East and West; and they include most of the district, but extend beyond it, and are jointly larger. The E. div. contains six parishes and parts of four others. Acres, 39,163. The W. div. conparts of four others. Acres, 39,163. The W. div. contains five parishes and parts of eight others. Acres, 56,571. Fop. of both, 58,132. Houses, 11,063. GASTLEWRIGHT, a township in Mainstone parish, Montgomery. Acres, 1,332. Pop., 145. Houses, 32. GASTLEY, a township in Leathley parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Wharfe, 44 miles E of Otlev. Acres, 527. Real property, £927. Pop., 73. Houses, 11. GASTLE-YARD, an extra-parochial place in the city of Exster. Pop., 4. House, 1. CASTON, a parish in Wayland district, Norfolk; 32 miles SE of Watton, and 6 WNW of Attleborough r. Station. It has a post-office under Attleborough. Acres, station.

station. It has a post-office under Attleborough. Acres, station. It has a post-office under Attreoforgin. Acres, 1,557. Real property, £3,122. Pop., 510. Houses, 116. The property is sub-livided. The living is a recory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £495.* Patron, Heary Dover, Esq. The church is good; and there are a Wesleyan chapel, a n. school, and charities £10. CASTOR, a village and a parish in Peterborough district, Northampton. The village stands on Ermine-street, adjacent to the river Neu, and to the Peterborough and Northampton railway, 5 miles W of Peterborough: and has a station on the railway and a post-office under Peterborough. It occupies part of the site of the Roman station Durobrive; and was known to the Saxons as Castra or Krueburgeestre. Numerous Roman relies, in-cluding a Jupiter Terminalis, pavements, urns, and coins from Trajan to Valens, have been found around it. A numery was founded at it in the 7th century, by a daughter of King Penda; and destroyed, in 1010, by the daughter of lang Fenda; and destroyed, in 1919, by the Danes.—The parish contains also the hamlet of Allesworth, and the chapelries of Sutton and Upton. Acres, 7.020. Rated property, £8,519. Pop., 1,323. Houses, worth, and the chapelries of Sutton and Course, 7,020. Rated property, £8,519. Pop., 1,323. Houses, 272. The property is divided among a few. The living the living the state of Peterborough. Value, £528. 272. The property is divided among a sister of the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £528.

Detroit the Bishop of Peterborough. The church is a shipling a shipling and the sister of the Patron, the Bishop of Peterborough. The church is Norman, with early English tower and spire; exhibits curiously the features and decorations of the Norman period; and underwent recently a thorough renovation. The vicarages of Sutton and Upton are separate charges. Bishop Madan was rector. There are an Independent chapel and a national school. CASTOR, Lincoln. See Caistor.

CASWELL BAY, a small bay in Glamorgan; 43 miles SW of Swansea. Its shores are picturesque; and have a hotel and boarding-house.

CATARACTONUM. See CATTERICK.

CAT BELLS, a mountain on the SW of Derwentwater, in Cumberland. Its height is 1,448 feet. CATCHBURN, a village in Morpeth-Castle township, Morpeth parish, Northumberland; 11 mile S of Morpeth.

Morpout parish, Norththmoertand, 12 mile 30: Morpout. CATCHEDECAM. See HELVELLYS. CATCHEM'S END, a hamlet in Pattishall parish, Northampton, 14 miles NNW of Towcester. CATCHERSIDE, a township in Kirkwhielpington parish, Northumberland; 71 miles SE of Otterburn. Acres, 3. Pop., 19. Houses, 2. CATCLIFFE, a township in Rotherham parish, W. R.

CATCLIFFE, a township in Rotherham parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the York and Derby railway, 3 miles S of Rotherham. Acres, 648. Pop., 279. Houses, 61. CATCOMB, a tything in Fillmarton parish, Wilts; 3 miles NN E of Calne. Pop., 68. CATCOTT, a chapelry in Moorlineh parish, Somerset; 3 miles SNS of Shapwickr, station, and 7 ENE of Bridgewater. It includes part of Burtle hamlet. Post-town, Eridgewater. Acres, 2,256. Real property, 23,701. Pop., 740. Houses, 159. The property is much subdivided. The living is a donative in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Valne, £100. Patron, A. Henniker, Eso. and Wells. Value, £100. Patron, A. Henniker, Esq. The church is Norman. There are two Methodist chapels, a free school, a national school, and charities £60. CATEBY. See CADERY, Yorkshire. CATEL, or St. Mark De CASTEA, a parish in Guernsey; 1½ mile WNW of St. Peter-Port. It contains the village of King's Mills; and has a post-office under Guern-Pop., 2,071. Houses, 356. The castle of a scaking, named Le Grand Jeffroi, stood here on an eminence, commanding an extensive view of the sea; and was destroyed, in 1061, by William Duke of Normandy. church, dedicated to the Virgin, was built on the castle's site out of its materials; and hence the name St. Mary de Castro. The living is a rectory in the diocese of chester. Value, £150. Patron, the Governor. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchurch appears still to retain portions of the original one of the castle; has a Norman transept and a tower; and was recently repaired. Cattle fairs are held at Easter, Midsummer, and Michaelmas.

CATERHAM, a village and a parish in Godstone dis-ict, Surrey. The village stands at the terminus of a trict, Surrey. branch of the South-eastern railway, 7 miles S by E of Croydon; and has a r. station with telegraph, and a postoffice under Red-Hill. The branch railway dedects from the Brighton line, at Caterham Junction station, 21 miles the brighten has, at Caternani duction example, 4 miles S of Croydon; is 41 miles long; was opened in 1856; and has stations at Kenley and Warlingham. An omnibus runs from Caternam station to Westerham. The parist. comprises 2,460 acres. Real property, £2,997. Pop.,

CATESBY.

Houses, 146. The property is much subdivided. The Roman vicinal way, called Stane-street, went through the parish; and ancient works, indicative of warkike operations, and amend worss, indicative of warkike operations, are in it, near a place called War coppies. The living is a rectory in the discoss of Winchester. Value, $255. Patron, the Rev. J. L. Hesse. The church is mainly early English. The p. curacy of Caterham Valley is a separate charge, and was constituted in 1856. The Warehousemen and Clerks' Orphan asvium, reported to be in Caterham, but really in Beddington, was built in 1865 at a cost of about £20,000; is in the Venetian Gothic style; and has accommodation or 150 toys and girls.

CATESBY, or CATESBY-ABBEY, a parish in Daventry datisty, for Carssyr, on the verge of the county, near the Unford canal, 5 miles SW of Daventry, and 6 ESE of Southam Road r. station. It includes the hamlet of Newboll-grounds; and its post-town is Daventry, Acres, 1,999. Real property, £3,553. Pop., 107. Houses, 21. A Benedictine nunnery was founded here, as early at least as the time of Richard I., by Robert de Esseby; and given, at the dissolution, to John Onley. Catesby House occupies the nunnery's site; belonged to the Parkhursts; was the birth-place of Parkhurst, the Greek and Hebrew lexicographer; and passed to James Attenborough, Esq., of Brampton-Ash. The parish is Attenborough, Esq., of Brampton-Ash. a resort of sportsmen. The living is a vicarage in the livingese of Peterborough. Value, not reported. Patrons, T. and M. Scrafton, Esqs. The church was long in ruins; and a new one, instead of it, incorporating some time materials of the old, was recently erected by Mr.

Attenberough.
CATFIELD, a parish in Tunstead district, Norfolk; alizzent to Barton and Hickling meres, 53 miles SE of aljasent to Barton and Hickling meres, 53 miles SE of Worstead, and 10 NNE of Brundail I r station. It has a post-sifice under Norwich. Acres, 2,393. Real projectly, £4,413. Pop., 650. Houses, 162. The property is rach sublivided. Catfield House is the seat of the Rev. B. L. Cubitt. The living is a rectory and vicarage in the discess of Norwich. Value, £606. Patron, alt. the Bishop of N. and the Rev. B. L. Cubitt. The church is partly large English. There is a P. Methodist chapel. CATPOED-BRIDGE, a railway station in the west of Kent, on the Beckenham railway, adjacent to Ravenstones river, 6 miles SE of London Bridge.

CATFOSS, a township in Sigglesthorne parish, E. R. Yorkshire; 41 miles W of Hornsea. Acres, 1,050. Real Yorssire; 44 miles wel Hornsea. Acres, 1,000. Real processy, 41,266. Pop., 63. Houses, 8.

CATHANGER-CUM-STOWEY, a tything in Fivehead parish. Somerset; 44 miles SW of Langport. Pop., 20.

CATHANGER-CUM-STOWEY, AND GLYNN, a conjoint hamlet in Lianthangel-Aberbythych parish, Carmarthen; 51 miles S of Llandeilofawr. Pop., 466.

CATHEREGION. See CADBURY (SOUTH). CATHEDINE, a parish in the district and county of Breson; on an affluent of the river Wye, near the Here-ford and Breson railway, 6 miles SSW of Talgarth. It contains the nominal ancient borough of Blaenllynfi; and its post-town is Llaugorsei, under Hereford. Acres, 1,557. Real property, £1,463. Pop., 191. Houses, 44. Cathadine House is the sent of the Ven. R. W. P. Davies. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. Davids.

Value, 2141. Parron, the Ven. R. W. P. Davies, CATHEDRAL CHURCH, an extra-parachial place in Re-haster city, Kent; contiguous to St. Nicholas parish, Pop., 256. Houses, 34.

CATHEDRAL CHURCH, an extra-parochial place in Chater city. Cheshire; contiguous to St. John-Baptist Pop., 376. Hauses, 68. parisa.

CATHEDRAL CLOSE, an extra-parochial place in himester city. Sassex. Pop., 156. Houses, 24. Chickester city. Sassex.

CATHEDEAL YARD, an extra-parochial place in CATHERINE HALL See CAMBRIDGE.

CATHERINE (St.), a village and a parish in the district and country of Gloucester. The village is suburban to be neester city, within the borough, on its north side. Pop., 1.27). Houses, 233. The parish includes also the handers of Kingsholm and Longford; the former within the borough, the latter not. Acres, 200. Pop., 2,478. Houses, 430. The living is a p. curacy in the discess of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £34. Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Bristol.

383

CATHERINE (Sr.), a parish in Bath district, Somerset; on the verge of the county, 31 miles WNW of Box r. station, and 31 NE by N of Bath. Post-town, Batheaston, under Bath. Acres, 1,040. Real property, with Easten-Amoril, £11,106. Pop., 84. Houses, 23. The manor belonged to the abbots of St. Peters, Bath; and their residence, an edifice of 1499, with a porch added in the time of Charles I., is still standing. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Batheaston, in the diocese of Bath and Wells. The church was built about the same time as the abbots' residence; and contains a carved pulpit, a Norman font, and an altar-tomb of 1631. CATHERINE (Sr.), one of the tower hamlets in London; on the Thames, immediately below the Tower. Most of it was destroyed in 1823, to give place to the St. Catherine docks. A church and an hospital were founded at it, in 1148, by Queen Mand; refounded by Queen Eleanor; and enlarged by Queen Philippa. The church was rebuilt by Henry VI.; claimed at the Reformation, as Queen's property, by Anne Boleyn; and used by the inhabitants till 1825. A new church and hospital, in lieu of the demolished ones, were erected by the Dock company in the Regent's park. The docks occupy a space of 24 acres; and were formed at a cost of £195,640 per acre. Upwards of 1,200 houses were demolished, to clear the site. Pop. of the hamlet in 1801, 2,652; in 1831, 72.

CATHERINE (Sr.), a western suburb of Guildford, in Surrey. It has a post-office under Guildford, and a fair on 2 Oct. A small hill at it is surmounted by a ruined chapel, of the time of Edward II., commanding a fine view.

CATHERINE'S BAY (Sr.), a bay on the east side of Jersey; 8½ miles E by N of the south-eastern extremity of the island. It measures nearly 2 miles across the entrance; but does not penetrate more than 3 of a mile. Vast works, by government, are far advanced, to convert it all, with some area outward, into an artificial harbour. 3 miles in circumference, to serve as a harbour c? refuge, and as a war naval station.

CATHERINE'S CHAPEL (St.), a ruined chapel, serving as a sea-mark, on the coast of Dorset; 83 miles NW of Weymouth.

CATHERINE'S DOWN (St.), a hill on the south coast of the Isle of Wight; 43 miles W of Ventnor. It is 769 feet high, and about a mile long; and commands a full view of most part of the island, and of a great tract of the mainland. A hermitage was built on it at an early period; a chapel succeeded the hermitage in 1323; and the belfry of this, an octagonal structure. 35 feet high, with a pyramidal roof, still stands, and serves as a sea-mark. A lighthouse was commenced adjacent, about 1780, but never finished; and stands as a mere shell. A column, 72 feet high, is on the north end of the hill, erected by Michael Hay, a Russian mer-chant, to commemorate the Emperor Alexander's visit to England in 1814.

CATHERINE'S HILL (Sr.), an eminence adjacent to the river Itchen, 11 mile SSE of Winchester, in Hants. Its summit has foundations of an ancient chapel; is engirt by a deep fosse, which probably belonged to a Roman camp; and commands a fine view of Winchester and the circumiacent country.

CATHERINE'S HILL(St.), an eminence on the southwest border of Hants; adjacent to the river Avon, 2 miles NW of Christelurch. It has barrows, ancient earthworks, and remains of a small, square, doubleditched camp; and commands a fine view.

CATHERINE-SLACK, a village in Northowram town-ship, Halifax parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 miles NE of Halifax.

CATHERINE'S POINT (St.), a headland in the Isle of Wight; the southermost land of the island, under St. Catherine's Down, 14 miles WNW of Ventuer. A coast-guard station and a lighthouse are here; the latter a handsome structure of 1840, with a fixed light visible 1 at the distance of 18 miles.

CATHERINE'S TOR (St.), a conical hill on the north coast of Devon; in the western vicinity of Hartland. The foundations of a Roman building have been discovered on its summit.

CATHERINGTON, a village, a parish, and a district in Hants. The village stands about a mile NNW of Horndean, under Catherington down, near Bere forest, 31 miles NW by W of Rowlands Castle r. station, and 51 NNW of Havant. The parish comprises 5,139 acres. Post-town, Horndean. Real property, £7,265. Pop., 1,151. Houses, 231. The property is subdivided. Catherington House is the seat of the divided. Catherington House is the seat of the Rev. N. Pearse. The living is a vicarage in the dio-cese of Winchester. Value, £280.* Patron, G. Pritchard, Esq. The church is early Norman; has a massive tower; and contains a fine old monument of Chief-Justice Hvde. Charities, £16.—The district includes only the sub-district of Horndean, containing the parishes of Catherington, Bleadworth, Chalton, and Clanfield, and the ville of Waterloo. Acres, 10,551. Foor-rates in 1866, £1,802. Pop. in 1861, 2,497. Houses, 502. Marriages in 1866, 22; births, 95,—of which 2 were illepatriages in 1800, 22; off which 11 were at ages under 3 years, and 3 at ages above 55 years. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 163; births, 776; deaths, 478. The places of worship in 1851 were 6 of the Church of England, with 1,340 sittings; and 5 of Independents, with 510 s. The schools were 5 public day schools, with 200 scholars; 4 private day schools, with 88 s.; and 9 Sunday schools, with 457 s. The workhouse is in Catherington.

CATHERSTON-LEWSTON, a parish in Bridport dis-trict, Dorset; on the river Char, 4 miles NE of Lyme-Regis, and 64 WNW of Bridport r. station. Post-town, Whitchurch-Canonicorum, under Bridport. Acres, 248. Real property, with Marshwood, Griddleshay, Samm-Wells, Wild, Wootton-Abbas, and Wootton-Fitzpaine, Wells, Wild, Wootton-Abbas, and Wootton-Fitzpaine, £12,648. Pop., 34. Houses, 9. Catherston was the seat of Judge Jeffreys; and his judge's cap is preserved in the church. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £67. Patron, Mrs. Hildyard. The church was built in 1859, and is in the decorated Eng-

CATHILAS, a hamlet in Llanfynydd parish, Carmarthen; 51 miles SE of Llandeilofawr. Pop., 79. See also CATHARGOED.

CATHINOG, a hundred in Carmarthen. It marches with Cardigan, in the vicinity of Lampeter; extends 164 miles southward; and contains nine parishes and parts of two others. Acres, 85,064. Pop., 10,161.

CATHORPE. See CATTHORNE.

CATISFIELD, a hamlet in Fareham parish, Hants; near Fareham.

CATLEY. See Bosbury.
CATLEY-LANE, a hamlet in Spotland township,

Rochdale parish, Lancashire; near Rochdale.

CATMORE, a parish in Wantage district, Berks; near the Ridge way, 23 miles WSW of East 1lsley, and 8 N by W of Newbury r. station. It includes Later tything; and once had a market. East Hsley, under Newbury. Acres, 696. Pop., 121. Houses, 22. The manor has been held, for unwards of five centuries, by the Eystons. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £900. five centuries, by the Eystons. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £200. Patron, C. Eyre, Esq. The church is Norman, without porch or tower; and was recently restored.

CATON, a township, a chapelry, and a sub-district in Lancaster district, Lancashire. The township lies on the river Lune and the Middand railway, 4½ mides NE of Lancaster; is in Lancaster parish; includes Littledale hamlet; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Lancaster. Acres, 5,273. Real property, £6,683. Pop., 1,160. Houses, 223. The property is much subdivided. A rising ground commands a noble view, much praised by the poet Gray, of the valley of the Lune, backed by Ingleborough mountain. Coal and slate are found; and the cotton manufacture is carried on .- The chapelry comprises all the township, except Littledale hamlet. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester, Value, £10.0.* Patron, the Vicar of Lancaster. The clutch was rebuilt in 1864. There are Independent and Wesleyan chapels, a national school, and charities £20. -The sub-district contains also Quernmoor township and Claughton parish. Pop., 1,817. Houses, 316. CATON, a hamlet on Erme river, near Ivy-Bridge, in Devon.

Devon.

CATOR, a hamlet in Widecombe-iu-the-Moor parish, Devon; 6 miles NW by N of Ashburton.

CATSASH, a hundred in Somerset. It contains Alford parish and eighteen other parishes. Acres, 24,003.

Pop., 7,912. Houses, 1,683. OATS-DEANS, a hamlet in Monks-Risborough parish, 7.912. Houses, 1,683.

CATSFIELD, a parish in Battle district, Sussex; near the Tunbridge Wells and Hastings railway, 21 miles the Tunbridge-Wells and Hastings railway, 21 miles SW of Battle. It has a post-office under Battle. Acres, 2,944. Real property, £2,812. Pop., 584. Houses, 109. The property is much subdivided. Catsfield Place is a chief residence. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £311. Patron, the Earl of Ashburnham. The church is decorated English. There are a mating choice and a charity for the blind the left. are a national school and a charity for the blind, the latter £60 a-year.
CATSGORE, a hamlet in Somerton parish, Somerset; near Somerton.

CATSGORE, formerly KEATS-GORE, a locality 2 miles N of East Ilsley, in Berks. Here were the great stables erected by the Duke of Cumberland for his race-horses.

CATSHALL, a tything in Godalming parish, Surrey; near Godalming. Real property, £796.

CATSHILL, a chapelry in Bromsgrove parish, Worcester; 24 miles from Bromsgrove r. station. It was constituted in 1844; and has a post-office under Bromsgrove. Pop., 2,393. Houses, 509. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £120. Patron, the Vicar of Bromsgrove. The church was built in 1838. There are four dissenting chapels, CATSHILL, a hamlet in Shenstone parish, Stafford.

CATSTREE, a township in Wortield parish, Salop. CATTAL, a township in Hunsingore parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Nidd, and on the York and High Harrogate railway, 63 miles ESE of Knaresborough. It has a station on the railway. Acres, 950. Real pro-

CATTERHAM. See CATERHAM.

This a station on the failway. Acres, 700. Read property, 21,891. Pop., 159. Houses, 40. CATTERALL, a township in Garstang parish, Lancashre, on the river Wyre, adjacent to the Lancaster canal, and to the Lancaster and Preston railway, 14 miles canal, and to the Lancaster and Freston landay, to me S by W of Garstang. It has a post-office under Garstang. Acres, 1,733. Real property, £3,851. Pop., 867. Houses, 168. Catterall House is the seat of A. Simpson, Esq. There are two large cotton mills, Caldervale church, and a Wesleyan chapel.

CATTERIAGI. Ger CALERIAGI.
CATTERICK, a village, a township, and a sub-district, in Richmond district, and a parish in Richmond, Northallerton, and Bedale districts, N. R. Yorkshire. The village stands on the river Swale, near Erminestreet, 11 mile S of Catterick-Bridge r. station, and 51 SE of Richmond; and has a head post-office, and an inn. An ancient camp was here, probably around the area now occupied by the churchyard; and an hospital area now occupied by the churchyard; and an hospital was founded in the time of Heary III.—The township comprises 1,561 acres. Real property, £4,206. Pop., 623. Houses, 146.—The sub-district includes three townships in three other parishes; and contains the townships of Catterick, Calbourn, Scotton, East and William of Catterick, Calbourn, Scotton, East and University of the Catterick parish. Acres, 20,179. Pop., 3,164. Houses, 681.

The reside includes also the townships of University of the well. rick parish. Acres, 29, 179. Pop., 3,164. Houses, 681. —The parish includes also the townships of Hudswell, Hipswell, Killerby, Whitwell, and Kiplin. Acres, 22,569. Real property, 253,475. Pop., 2,914. Houses, 606. The property is much subdivided. Brough Hall of the seat of Sir W. Lawson, Bart. Ermine-street crossed the Swale at Catterick-Bridge, about a mile north of the village. The Roman station Cataractomum was an tris way at Thornbrough, & of a mile from Catterick-Bridge; enclosed an area of about 9 acres; and was Bridge; encosed an area of about 9 acres; and was walled along the sides, respectively 240 and 175 yards. Substructions, pavenients, an altar, a bronze vessel, coins, fragments of pottery, and other Roman relics have I sen found at it. An ancient camp is on a hill about a mile SE of the village; and several tumuli are near. Rices are run, in April, on a flat oval course of 1 mile 69 yards, in the vicinity of Catterick-Bridge. The liv-69 yards, in the vicinity of Cattrick-Bridge. The hy-ing is a vicarige, united with the p. curacy of Tunstall, in the diocess of Ripon. Value, 2678.* Patron, the Biskop of Ripon. The church is early and perpendicular Inglish, in good condition. The p. curacies of Bolton-on-Synle, Hipswell, and Hudswell are separate benefices. Tyddail's hospital has £45 a-year; and other chari-

CATTERICK-BRIDGE, a station on the Richmond and Darlington railway, 31 miles E of Richmond, N. R.

Yorkshire. See CATTER-CK.

CATTERICK-FORCE, a romantic waterfall, 21 miles NW of Settle, W. R. Yorkshire.

CATTERLIN, a township in Newton-Regny parish, Currierland; 34 miles NW by N of Penrith. Real pro-I=str, £1,092. Pop., 112. Honses, 21. CATTERTON, a township in Tadcaster parish, W. R.

Yorkshire, 21 miles NE of Tadcaster. Acres, 712. Real property, 2536. Pop., 43. Houses, 9. CATTHORPE, or CALTHORPE, a parish in Lutterworth district, Leicester; on the verge of the county, Worling-street, and the river Avon, near the Midland rallway, 4 miles ENE of Rugby. It has a post-office number Rugby. Acres, 625. Real property, 61,493. Pop., 145. Houses, 36. The property is divided among a few. The parish is a meet for the Pytchley hounds. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £250.* Patron, the Rev. L. Harper. The church is good; and has a very old font. Charities, £16.

CATTISTOCK, a parish in Dorchester district, Dorset; on the river Frome, and on the Dorchester and Yea-vil railway, near Maiden-Newton station, 44 miles WSW of Cerns-Abbas. It has a post-office under Dorchester.

Area, 3,000. Real property, £4,912. Pop., 510.

Houses, 133. The property is subdivided. Cattistock

House is the seat of the Farmharsons. The living is a rectory in the discose of Salisbury. Value, £500.* Patron, Mrs. Still. The church is good, CATTO. See LANDMORE WITE C.

CATTO. See LANDMOTH-WITH-CATTO. CATTON, a township in Croxall parish, Derby; on the river Trent, adjacent to the Birmingham and Derby railway, 51 miles SSW of Barton-upon-Trent. Acres, 1,664. Real property, £2,322. Pop., 76. Houses, 18. CATTON, a village and a parish in St. Faith district, Norfolk. The village stands on high ground, amid leasant environs, 2 miles N of Norwich; contains several large ancient houses; and has a post-office under Norlarze ancient houses; and has a post-office under Advice. The parish comprises 805 acres. Real property, 24,305. Pop., 649. Houses, 133. The property is divided among a few. The muon belonged, at the Conquest, to Archibishop Stigned; and was given, afterwards, to Norwish exthedral. The living is a vicarage in the discose of Norwich. Value, 2442. Patrons, the Doan discrete of Norwich. Value, £142. Patrons, the Dean and Charter of Norwich. The church is early and perrendicular English; has a round tower, surmounted by an ectagon; and contains a rich monument to T. G.

an etagen; and comming a rich monument to 1, 6, Adams, Est. There are a free school and charities £10.

CATTON, a grieveship in Allendule parish, Northumberland; near C.-Roed r. station, and 13 mile NW of Allendule parish. dale. It has a post-office under Carlisle. Pop., 585. CATTON, two townships in Pocklington district, and a patish in Pocklington and York districts, E. R. York-The townships are High and Low Catton; they like coefficients to each other; and the latter is on the river Derwon, I mile S of Startford-Bridge r, station, and 7 E by N of York. Acres, 1-619 and 2,140. Real property, 21,519 and £1,661. Pep., 215 and 179. House, 42 and 93. The parish contains also the town-thips of East Starford-Bridge, Kexby, and Stamford-landge-with-Scoreby; and has post-offices at Stamford-

Bridge and Kexby, both under York. Acres, 8,102. Real property, £9,623; of which £181 are in quarries. Pop., 1,189. Houses, 223. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £410. Patron, Lord Leconfield. The church is tolerable. The vicarage of Kexby is a separate bene-tice. There are a Weslevan chapel, an endowed school with £25, and other charities with £11,

CATTON, a township in Topeliffe parish, N. R. Yorkshire; on the river Swale, 5 miles SW of Thirsk. Acres, Sol4. Real property, £1,306. Pop., 104. Houses, £6. CATWATER, or PLYM (The), a river of Devon. It rises in Dartmoor, near Sheep's Tor; and runs 16 miles south-south-westward to Plymouth sound, at Plymouth. It there forms, inside of Mount Batten, a good estuarial harbour; and is crossed by a five-arched iron bridge, 500 feet long, erected in 1827.

CATWICK, a parish in Skirlaugh district, E. R. Yorkshire; 4 miles WNW of Hattield r. station, and 54 NSW of Hornsea. Post-town, Leven, under Beverley. Acres, 1,650. Real property, £2,723. Pop., 248. Houses, 51. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of York. Value, £149.*
Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church was rebuilt in

Patron, the Lord chancerior. The chine was rebind in 1864, and is in the decorated English style. Charities, £7. CATWORTH (Great), a parish in St. Neots district, Iluntingdon; 33 miles N by W of Kimbolton: t station, and 7 ESE of Thrapston. It has a post-office, of the Huntingdon; 32 miles A ny w of Kimboton 1. Season, and 7 ESE of Thrapston. It has a post-office, of the name of Catworth, nnder Thrapston. Acres, £2,090. Real property, £2,316. Pop., 640. Houses, 143. The property is subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Fly. Value, £337.* Patron, Brasenose College, Oxford. The church is early and later English. There are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels, a national school, and charities ±32. Lord Mayor Dixie was a native.

CATWORTH (LITTLE), a chapelry in Stow parish, Huntingdon; 31 miles N of Kimbolton, and 8 ESE of Thrapston r. station. Post-town, Catworth, under Thrapston. Pop., 52. Houses, 12. The church is CAUCA ARIXA. See CHARMOUTH. CAUDLE-GREEN, a hamlet in Brimpsfield parish, Gloucestershire; 83 miles SE of Gloucester.

CAUGHALL, a township in Eackford parish, Cheshire, 31 miles NNE of Chester. Acres, 328. Pop., 19.

Houses, 2. CAULCUTT, a hamlet in Grandborough parish, Warwick: 51 miles NE of Southam.

CAULDON, a parish in Chealle district, Stafford; on the river Hamps, 31 miles ENE of Froghall r. station, and 7 WNW of Ashborne. Post-town, Ashborne. Acres, 1,458. Real property, £2,985; of which £1,044 are in quarries. Pop., 400. Houses, 77. The property is diquarries. Pop., 400. Houses, 77. The property is divided among a few. Much of the surface is barren moor. Excellent limestone is extensively quarried on the lofty hill of Cauldon-Lowe; and sent, on a railway of three inclined planes, to Froghall. Good fossil marble also is found; and limestone is burnt. The river Hamps runs a long distance, in the neighbourhood, under-ground. Urns and flint-headed arrows have been found at Big-Lowe. The living is a vicarage in the diocest of Link field. Value, £80. Patron, A. Henniker, Esq. The The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lich church has a square tower; and contains monuments to the Croppers, Wilmots, Marshalls, and Wheldons.

CAULDWILL, a hamlet in Stapenhill parish, Derby; 4 miles NNE of Enrton-upon-Trent. It has a post-office under Button-upon-Trent, and a Baptist chapel. Real property, 22,002. Pop., 132. Houses, 26. CAULEDGE-PARK, a handet in Alnwick parish, Northumberland; 2 miles S of Aluwick. Pop., 33.

CAULK. See CALKE.

CAUNANT-MAWR, or CEUNANT-MAWR, a fine waterfull of 60 feet, in Carnatvon; under Snowdon, 2 miles WNW of Llanberis.

CAUNDLE-BISHOP, or BISHOPS-CAUNDLE, a parish in Sherborne district, Dorset; 4 miles S by E of Milborne-Port r. station, and 5 SE of Sherborne. It includes Caundle-Wake tything and Bishopsdown hamlet; and has a post-office, of the name of Bishops-Caundle, under Sherborne. Acres, 1,397. Real property, of Caundle-

Sherborne. Acres, 1,397. Real property, of Caunalle-Bishop only, £677. Pop., 371. Houses, 92. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £226. Fatron, G. D. W. Digby, Esq. The church is old, and has a tower. Charities, £13.
CAUNDLE-MARSH, a parish in Sherborne district, Orset; 32 miles S by W of Millome-Port r. statiou, and 4 SE of Sherborne. Post-town, Bishops-Caunalle, under Sherborne. Acres, 792. Real property, 1,128. Pop., 84. Houses, 16. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £143. Patron, Sir H. A. Hoare, Bart. Hoare, Bart.

CAUNDLE-PURSE, a parish in Sherborne district, Dorset; on the verge of the county, 14 mile SE of Milberne-Port r. station, and 43 E of Sherborne. Post-town, Milborne-Port, under Sherborne. Acres, 1,470. Real Milborne-Port, under Sherborne. Acres, 1,470. Real property, £1,498. Pop., 185. Honses, 36. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value; £160. Patron, Sir H. A. Hoare, Bart.

CAUNDLE-STOUKTON, a parish in Sturminster district, Dorset; 3½ miles SE of Milborne-Port r. station, and 4½ WNW of Sturminster. Post-town, Stalbridge, under Elandford. Acres, 1,975. Real property, with Lydlinch, Wake, and Stock-Gaylard, £8,445. Pop., 395. Houses, 94. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £48. Patron, Sir H. A. Hoare, Bart. The church is ancient, and has a tower. Bishop Mew was a native.

CAUNDLE. WAKE, a tything in Caundle-Bishop parish, Dorset. It belonged to Archbishop Wake. CAUNSALL, a hamlet in Wolverley parish, Worcester; near Kidderminster.

CAUNTON, a parish in Southwell district, Notts; on an affluent of the river Trent, 5 miles SW of Carlton r. station, and 6 NW by N of Newark. It includes the hamlets of Knapthorpe, Beesthorpe, and Deanhall; and has a post-office under Newark. Acres, $130. Real property, £3,845. Pop., 506. House, 133. The property is divided among a few. Beesthorpe Hall belongs perty is an accuration at text. Decisioner that belongs to S. E. Bristowe, Esq. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £171. Patron, the Bishop of Ripon. The church is old and has a tower. There are chaptes for Wesleyans and Primitive Methodists, and a parcehial school.

CAUSE, a township in Westbury parish, Salop; 93 miles WSW of Shrewsbury.

Traces exist of an ancient eastle of the Corbets, on a spot commanding an extensive

CAUSENNÆ. See ANCASTER.
CAUSEY-PARK, a township in Hebburn parish, Northumberland; 5½ miles NNW of Morpeth. Acres, 1,117. Fop., 101. Houses, 19. Causey-Park House is the seat of the Ogles; and was built in 1582.

CAUSEY-PIKE, a mountain on the north flank of Keskadale, in Cumberland; 5 miles SW of Keswick. It has a height of 2,030 feet; and figures conspicuously in the grand surrounding scenery

CAUSTON, a township in Chunbury parish, Salep; 6, miles SE of Bishops-Castle. Pop., 21.
CAUTLEY, a hamlet and a chapelry in Sedbergh parish, W. R. Yorkshire. The hamlet lies among grand mountain scenery, adjacent to Westmoreland, in the vicinity of Sedbergh. A waterfall here, called Cautley Spout, makes three descents, of aggregately about 860 feet, between such screens, precipices, and cliffs, that those on one side can be scaled only by much care and effort, and those on the other not at all .- The chapelry includes also the hamlet of Dowbiggin; was constituted in 1853; and bears the name of Cautley and Dowbiggin. Posttewn, Sedbergh, under Kendal. Pop., 276. Houses, 55. The living is a p. enracy in the diocese of Ripon. Value, #55. Patron, the Vicar of Sedbergh.

CAVE. See CAVE (NORTH) and CAVE (SOUTH).
CAVE HILL. See ARENGELE.
CAVE HOLE, a cavernous hollow, near Portland light, on the coast of Dorset. It is swept by sea-billows during storms.

CAVENDISH, a parish, with a village, in Sudbury district, Suffolk; on the Haverhill and Melford railway,

21 miles E of Clare. It has a post-office under Sudbury. ar station, and a fair on 11 June. Acres, 3,354. Real property, £5,519. Pop., 1,301. Houses, 293. The property is subdivided. The manor belonged anciently to the Caventish family, ancestors of the Dukes of Devonshire. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Ely. Value, £733.* Patron, Jesus' College, Cambridge. The Value, £133. Patron, Jesus' College, Cambridge. Indehurch is later English. An endowed school has £115 a-year, and a lecture-hall was built in 1869. CAYENHAM, a parish in Mildenhall district, Suffolk; on the river Lark, 2½ miles N of Higham r. station, and 4½ SE of Mildenhall. Post-town, Tuddenham, under Soham, Acres, 2,630. Real property, £1,270. Pop. Solam. Acres, 2,630. Real property, £1,270. 1915, 229. Houses, 48. The property is divided among a few. Cavenham-Hall is the seat of the Waddingtons. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely. Value, £113. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is a neat small edifice, with a tower. Charities, £43.

edifice, with a tower. Charities, £43.

CAVE (NORTH), a township in Howden district, and a parish in Howden and Pocklington districts, E. R. Yorkshire. The township lies 44 pulses NE of Staddlethorper, station, and 63 S by E of Market-Weighton; and has a post-officet under Brough, Yorkshire. Acres, 3,270. Real property, £5,489. Pop. 976. Houses, 6,500 per pop. 10 3,270. Real property, £5,489. Pop., 976. Houses, 219. The parish contains also the townships of South Cliff and Drewton-with-Everthorpe. Acres, 6,913. Real property, £2,358. Pop. 1,281. Houses, 269. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £247.* Patrons, H. and S. Burton. The church is good; and there are three dissenting charels and an endowed school.

CAVERSFIELD, a parish in Bicester district, Oxford; near the Oxford and Bletchley railway, 1½ mile N of Bicester. Post-town, Bicester. Acres, 1,200. Real property, £2,142. Pop., 183. Houses, 30. The property is divided among a few. Caversfield House is the seat of the Marsham family. Roman coins have been greater than the control of the Marsham family. found. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £69. Patron, R. B. Marsham, Esq. The church is old, of various dates, but good; and has a Norman perch and a very ancient font.

man perm and very ancert ion.

CAVERSHAM, a village and a parish in Henley district, Oxford. The village stands on the river Thames, in the vicinity of the Great Western railway, I mile N of Reading; and has a post-office under Reading. It is a long straggling place, partly mean, partly well-built, partly winged with neat new villas. A bridge connects it with Reading; was the scene of a sharp skirmish in 1643; was rebuilt in 1869; and in the clear, is 290 feet long. An island below the bridge was the place where Robert de Montfort and Henry de Essex fought in the resence of Henry II. A priory of black cauens, a cell to Nutley abbey, stood at the village; and was famous, in the old Romish times, for some beasted relics. The martial Earl of Pembroke, protector of Henry III., died at Caversham; South, the celebrated preacher, prepared his sermons at it for the press; and Earl Cadegan takes from it the title of Viscount. - The parish comprises 4,772 acres. Real property, £11,167. Pop., 1,783. Houses, 335. The mator belonged, at the Conquest, to the Ciffords; passed to the Marsacs and the Cadogans; and belongs now to W. Crawshay, Esq. The mansion, called Caversham Park, occupies a commanding site, amid fine grounds laid out by Brown; and was destroyed by fire in the time of George I., and again in 1850, and each time immediately rebuilt. Queen Anne of Denmark was splendidly entertained in the original edifice; and Charles spiendiary entertained in the original enthee; and Charles I. was for some time kept prisoner in it, and allowed to have interviews with his children. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Oxford. Value, £116. *P. atton, Christ Charch, Oxford. The church is partly Norman, partly later styles; lost its north side and its tower in the civil wars; and was partly restored in 1857. The vicarage of Kidmore is a separate charge. There are a Eaptist chapel of 1866, another dissenting chapel, a a Laplast chapter of 1990, another disserting chapter, it national school, a British school, and charities £13.

CAVERSWALL, or CARESWELL, a township and a parish in Chealle district, Statford. The township lies on the river Blythe, I mile NE of Blythe-Bridge r. station and 4 W of Cheadle; and has a post-office, of the name of Caverswall, under Stafford. Real property, 27,941; of which £1,200 are in mines. The parish contains also the township of Weston-Coyney-with-Hulme. Acres, 5,000. Real property, £16,937; of which £4,400 are in mines. Pop., 3,046. Houses, 609. The property is much subdivided. Caverswall Hall is a chief residence. Caverswall castle is a large edifice with lofty keep and four corner towers; was built originally, in the time of Edward II., by Sir William de Caverswall; re-built, in the time of James I., by Sir William Craydock; and converted, in 1810, into a Benedictine numery. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, 2217. Patron, the Hon. E. S. Jervis. The church is ancient; and contains monuments of Sir William de Ca-The church is verswall and Earl St. Vincent. There are a Weslevan chapel, and charities £31.

CAVE (SOUTH), a small town, a township, and a subdistrict in Beverley district, and a parish in Beverley and Howden districts, E. R. Yorkshire. The town stands in a hollow, on the Roman road from Brough to York, 3 miles NNW of Brough r. station, and 12 W by N of Hull; is a seat of petty sessions; and has a postoffice; under Brough, a banking-office, 3 inns, a weekly market on Monday, and a cattle fair on Trinity Monday. The township extends to the Humber; and comprises 4,620 acres of land, and 194 of water. Real property, 4,520 acres of land, and 194 of water. Real property, 28,552. Pop., 894. Houses, 211. The parish contains also the townships of Faxfieet and Broomfleet. Acres, 8,660. Real property, £13,388. Pop., 1,377. Houses, 211. The property is much subdivided. The manor belauged formerly to the Bolderos; and belongs now to Mrs. Barnard of Cave Castle. John Washington, granifather of George Washington, the liberator of America, held landed property here, and emigrated hence in 1657. The living is a vicarage in the diocese ct York. Value, £258. Petron, Mrs. Barnard. The church was built in 1601; and is in excellent condition. The vicarage of Proponflect is a senarate charge. tion. The vicarage of Broomfleet is a separate charge. There are three dissenting chapels, and an endowed sel.col.

CAVIL See Portington and Cavil.

CAWDEN AND CADWORTH, a hundred in Wilts. It contains fourteen parishes, and parts of two others, and includes part of Salisbury Plain. Acres, 22,769. Pop., 4,624. Honses, 976.

CAWPRY, a detached portion of Bradnop township, Leek parish, Stafford; near Leek.

CAWKWELL, a parish in Horncastle district, Lin-coln; 64 miles SW of Legbourne r. station, and 7 N of 1603; 64 miles SW of Legoourne r. station, and 7 A of therneastle. Post-town, Scamblesby, under Horneastle. Acres, 549. Real property, £870. Pop., 36. Houses, 7. The property is divided among a few. The living a vicarage in the diocess of Lincoln. Value, £46. Patron, Lord Yarborough. The church is good.

CAWOOD, a village and a parish in Selby district, W. P. Yorkshire. The village stands on the river Ouse, 3 miles ESE of Ulleskelf r. station, and 41 WNW of Seloy. It was formerly a market town; is a seat of petty sessions; and has a post-office; under Selby, and fairs on 13 May and 23 Sept. A castle was built at it, about 920, by King Athelstane; given to the see of York; rebuilt, in a palatial style, in the time of Henry VI., by Archbishops Bowett and Kempe; held, for two years, by the regalists, in the wars of Charles I.; and taken and dismantled by the parliamentarians. Many of the archbishops lived in the castle as their chief residence; Archbishop Matthew, famed for extemporaneous preaching, and Archbishop Montaigne, a native of Cawona, accinity and Cardinal Wolsey retired to it after his fall, and was arrested in it by the Earl of Northumberland. only remains of it are the gateway tower, square and buttressed, and a brick building, which seems to have been u chapel. The parish comprises 2,840 acres. Real property, £3,566. Pop., 1,213. Houses, 301. The property is much sublivided. The living is a vicarage in the directed of York. Value, £300.* Patron, the Archivehop of York. The church is early English and good; a. I there are Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist chapels. An hospital has £76 from endowment; a school, £103; and other charities £252.

See ARKHOLME.
It contains CAWOOD, Lancashire. See ARKHOLME. CAWRSE, a hundred in Montgomery. Forden parish, and parts of five other parishes. Acres, 16,803. Pop., 2,548. Houses, 453. CAWSAND, a village on the coast of Cornwall; on a small bay of its own name, on the west side of Plymouth sound, opposite the Breakwater, 4 miles SW of Plymouth. It has a post-office under Devonport; and is a coast-guard and pilot station. The bay has an anchorage for the largest ships; is well sheltered; and was used as the chief auchorage of the sound prior to the construction of the Breakwater.

CAWSAND BEACON, or Cospon, a mountain in the north of Dartmoor, Devon; 4 miles SE by E of Oakhampton. Its height is 1,792 feet. It was a station of the Ordnance survey; and it commands a very extensive and most striking view. CAWSTON, a village and a parish in Aylsham district, Norfolk. The village stands on a pleasant spot, near an affluent of the river Wensum, 4 miles WSW of Aylsham, and 91 E of Elmham r. station; and has a post-office under Norwich, and fairs on 1 Feb. and the last post-office under Norwich, and fairs on 1 Feb. and and the Wednesday of April and Aug. The parish comprises 4,296 acres. Real property, 25,374. Pop., 1,019. Houses, 245. The property is divided among a few. The living the property of Value 4, 1015. is a rectory in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £1,015. Patron, Pembroke Hall, Cambridge. The church is decorated perpendicular, and was partly restored in 1865. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £11.

CAWSTON, a hamlet in Dunchurch parish, Warwick; 2 miles SW of Rugby. It is a meet for the North Warwick hounds. Cawston House is the seat of Luly John Scott.

337

CAWTHORN, a township in Middleton parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 3½ miles NNW of Pickering. Acres, 1,540. Pop., 33. Houses, 3. Here are four Roman camps, in good preservation; one of them square and double-ditched; another, nearly oval, 850 feet long and 320 broad. Some British tumuli are near.

CAWTHORNE, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in Wortley district, W. R. Yorkshire. The village stands 2 miles NNW of Silkstone r. station, and 45 WNW of Barnesley; and has a post-office under Barnes-ley. The parish includes also Barnby-Basin hamlet, at the end of Barnesley canal, and the hamlets of Barnby-Threen of Barnestey canal, and the namiers of barnoy-frumace, Deacon-Brook, and Norrorft. Acres, 3,440. Real property, 25,684. Pop., 1,283. Honses, 271. The property is divided among six. Coal, limestone, and ironstone are worked. The living is a p. curacy, under the vicarage of Silkstone, in the diocese of Ripon. Value, 119. Patron, J. S. Stanhope, Esq. The church is old but fair; and there are Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist chapels, and a slightly endowed school.—The sub-district contains also parts of two other parishes. Acres, 8,396. Pop., 4,825. Houses, 973. CAWTHORPE, a hamlet in Bourn parish, Lincoln:

near Bourn. Pop., 94. Houses, 19. There is a Baptist chapel.

CAWTHORPE (LITTLE), a parish in Louth district, Lincoln; 1½ mile WSW of Legbourne r. station, and 3½ Lincoin; 14 mile WSW of Legoourne r. station, and 35 SSE of Louth. Post-town, Louth. Acres, 460. Real property, £942. Pop., 223. Houses, 46. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £69. Patron, not reported. The church was built in 1560; and is a structure of light-coloured bricks, striped with lines of black. There are Wesleyan and Free Methodist chapels. CAWTON, a township in Gilling parish, N. R. Yorkshire; 5 miles S of Helmsley. Acres, 1,038. Real property, £1,255. Pop., 79. Houses, 18.

perty, £1,255. 1°on, 79. Houses, 18. CANTON, a decayed town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Cambridgeshire. The town stands on Ermine-street, 31 miles NNW of North Read r. station, and 9½ W of Cambridge; and has a post-office? under Royston and two inus. It had a market from the 13th century till the naiddle of the 18th; and it still has a fair on the 12th of Oct.-The parish comprises 2,000 acres.

Reaf property, £2,276. Pop., 545. Houses, 97. property is divided among a few. The manor belonged property is divited among a row. In a maior belonged to the D Eschallerses, the Freviles, the Burgoynes, and others. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ely Value, £50. *Patrons, the Dean and Canons of Windsor. The church contains some old tombs; and was recently restored. There are a national school and a workhouse. M. Paris, the historian, was a native.—
'The sub-district and the district are co-extensive; and contain the parishes of Caxton, Bourn, Knapwell, Elsworth, Longstow, Hatley-St. George, East Hatley, Tadlow, Croydon-cum-Clapton, Arrington, Wimpole, Or-well, Little Eversden, Great Eversden, Kingston, Caldecote, Toft, Hardwicke, Gamlingay, Eltisley, Croxton, Papworth-St. Everard, Little Gransden, Great Gransden, Yelling, and Papworth-St. Agnes,—the last partly and the two previous whelly in Hunting lon-proper. Acres, 49,885. Poor-rates in 1866, £5,414. Pop. in 1861, 10,966. Houses, 2,200. Marriages in 1866, 56; births, 416 .- of which 30 were illegitimate; deaths, 236 .- of which 113 were at ages under 8 years, and 12 at ages above which 113 were at ages under 3 years, and 12 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 733; hirths, 3,907; deaths, 2,046. The places of worship in 1851 were 26 of the Church of England, with 4,951 sittings; 2 of Independents, with 740 s.; 7 of Baptists, with 1,757 s.; 5 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 688 s.; and 1 of Primitive Methodists, with 70 s. The schools were 17 public day schools, with 1,282 scholars; 8 private day schools, with 196 s.; and 27 Sunday schools, with 1,716

The workhouse has capacity for 215 inmates. CAYNE (THE), a stream of Merioneth; running 7 miles south-south-westward to the Maw, 4 miles N of Dolgelly. A fall of nearly 200 feet occurs on it, called the Pistyll-y-Cayne, over a mural precipice.

CAYNHAM. See CANMAM.
CAYNTON, a township in Edgmond parish, Salop;
3 miles NW of Newport. Pop., 51.
CAYO, a village and a hundred in Carmarthen. The caro, a vinage and a numerica in Cambattien. The village is in Conwil-Cayo parish, 6½ miles TW of Llandorery; and has fairs on 21 Aug. and 6 Oct. The hundred lies around the village; extends from the boundary with Cardigan to the vicinity of Llandeilofawr; and contains six parishes, and parts of three others. Acres, 107,889. Pop., 12,339. Houses, 2,593. CAYTHOLPE, a village and a parish in the district of Newark and country of Lincoln. The village stands user the Grantham and Lincoln railway, 9 miles N by E of Grantham; and has a post-office; under Grantham, a r. station, and a fair on the second Friday after Good r, station, and a tair of the second relay after door friday. The parish includes also Friston hamlet. Acres, 4,210. Real property, £8,038. Pop., 822. Houses, 178. The property is much sublivided. Caytherpe Hall is the seat of G. H. Packe, Esq. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £976. Fa-tron, G. H. Packe, Esq. The church is cruciform and decorated English; suffered extensive injury, with destruction of a beantiful spire, by a storm in 1859; and has been subsequently restored. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £7.

CAYTHORPE, a township in Lowdham parish, Notts; on the river Trent, 5½ miles S of Southwell. Real property, £1,413. Pop., 315. CAYTHORPE, a hamlet in Rudstone parish, E. R.

Yorkshire; 34 miles NE of Great Drilleld.

CAYTON, a township and a parish in Scarborough district, N. R. Yorkshire. The township lies on the coast, and on the Scarborough and Hull railway, 4 miles SSE of Scarborough; includes the hamlets of Deepdale and Killerby; and has a station on the railway. Acres, 1,208; of which 63 are water. Pop., 457. Houses, 131. The parish contains also the township of Osgodby; and its post-town is Seamer under Searborough. Acres, 2,583, —of which 153 are water. Real property, £5,203. Pop., 531. Houses, 111. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Scamer, in the diocess of York. The church is good; and has an embettled tower. There is a Wesleyan chapel.

CAYTON, a hamlet in South Stainley parish, W. R.

Vorkshire: 31 miles NE of Ripley.

CEALSOYTHE. See CHELSEA.

CEDIRS, a township in Talyllyn and Llanfilangel-y-Pennant parishes, Merioneth; 65 miles SSW of Dolgelly, Real property, 2752. Pop., 196. CEFEN-COCH, a township in Llanfialadr-yn-Mech-nant parish, Montgomery; on the verge of the county. 51 miles N of Llaufyllin. Pop., 331. CEFFENPAWL. See CEFNPAWL. CEFN, a Welsh or ancient British word, signifying the ridge or upper part of a mountain, and used much as a prefix of local names, CEFN, a hamlet in Gelligaer parish, Glamorgan; 64 Peal property, £9,719; of which CEFA, a namet in Genigaer parish, Gianforgan; og miles Not Gaerphilly. Real property, 29,719; of which £7,191 are in mines. Pop., 659. Houses, 120. CEFA, a chapelry in St. Asaph parish, Deubigh; 3 miles SW of St. Asaph. It has a post-office mider Rhyl. Pop., 620. The living is a rector. Value, £292. The church was built in 1564, and is handsome

.

CEFN, a railway station in the east of Denbigh; on the Shrewsbury railway, 62 miles SSW of Wrexham.

CEFN, a railway station in Glanorgan; on the Portheawl railway, 41 miles SW of Bridgend.

CEFN, or CEFYN, a township in Cilcen parish, Flint; 51 miles NW of Mold. Pop., 220. Houses, 44.

CEFN-AMWLCH, the seat of the Finch family, in the vicinity of Nevin, Carnarvon. CEFNBLAIDD, a hamlet in Talley parish, Carmarthen; 71 miles N of Llandeilofawr. Pop., 376. CEFN-BRYN, a hill ridge across the western peninsula of Glamorgan; in the vicinity of Reynoldstone. height is 581 feet. A famous cromlech, called Arthur's Stone, and numerous cairns and Druidical circles are on it. Stone, and numerous carris and Drundical circles are on it.

*CEFN-COED, a village on the north-cast border of Glamorgan; 2; miles NNW of Merthyr-Tydvil. It has a post-office under Merthyr-Tydvil, and a r. station.

*CEFN-CYMER, a township in Llangwyn parish, Denbigh; 14 miles SW of Ruthin. Pop., 119.

*CEFN DEISIOG, a township in Llandishangel parish,

Montgomery; 53 miles SW of Llanfyllin. CEFNDU, a township in Rhudilan parish, Flint; near

Rhuddlan CEFNHAFODAN, a township in Llangirrig parish,

Montgomery, 5½ miles S of Llandloes. Pop., 336. CEFNI (THE), a river of Anglessy. It rises near the centre of the county; rans 5 miles south-eastward to Llangefui; and goes thence 7 miles southward and south-westward to Malldracth bay. The Chester and Holyhead railway crosses it, about 14 mile above its mouth, on a nincteen arched viaduct.

on a mincteen-arched viaguet.

CEFNELNYD, an extra-parochial tract in Llanfyllin district, Montgomery; 74 miles E of Llanfyllin. Pop., 15.

CEFNLLYFNOG, a township in Meifod parish, Montgomery; 34 miles S of Llanfyllin. Pop., 52.

CEFNLLYS, or KEVENLUCE, a village, a parish, and a hundred, in Raduor. The village stands on the river lithon, 21 miles SSW of Penybout r. station, and 16 W ithon, 21 miles SSW of Penycont r. station, and Ib W N of Kington; and is a contributary borough to New Radnor, and a polling-place. The parish includes also the townships of Cwmbrecth, Trefonnon, and Treegoed. Post-town, Penybont, Radnorshire. Acres, 4,135. Real property, 21,500. Pop., 305. Houses, 62. The vale of the Ithen here is strikingly pictures ue. A fortress, called Castell-Glyn-lihon, crowned a steep hill norriess, cancer Casteric Gyn-ruon, cowned a Steep Indianadjacent to the village, was erected, in 1242, by Ralph Mortimer; and passed, in the time of Edward IV., into the possession of the Crown. The living is a rectory in the diorese of St. Davids. Value, £135. Patron, the Bishop of St. Davids. Charities, £22.—The hundred contains also five other parishes, and parts of four others.

37, 201. Pop., 3,579. Honses, 606.

CEFNLLYS-ISAF and CEFNLLYS-UCHAF, two townships in Llanerfyl parish, Montgomery; 4! miles townships in Landerty parsa, stongonery, 42 mass WNW of Llandeir. Pop. 192 and 223.

CEFN-MABLEY, the seat of the Kemes family, in Glamorgan; on the Rhymney river, 64 miles NNE of Carliff. The house is old and curious. CEFN-OGO, See ABERGELE, CEFNPAWL, a township in Abbey-cwm-Hir parish, Radner; at the indux of the Clywedeg river to the ithou, 54 miles ENE of Rhayader. Real property, £828. Pop., Houses, 27.

CEFNPENNAR, a hamlet in Aberdare parish, Glamor-The river Cynon, the Merthyr-Tydvil canal, and the Taf Valley railway, under Twynmawr, 41 miles SW the rai vaney railway, inner raymman; 43 miles SW of Merthyr-Tydvil. Real property, £23,867; of which £15,968 are in mines, £8,000 in iron-works, £2,185 in cands, and £69 in quarries. Pop., §34. CEFNPOST, a township in Llandhangel-Glyn-Myfyr CEFAROSI, a township in mammagnesis and appraish, Merioneth; 64 miles NW of Corwen. Aeres, 3,538. Pop., 70. Houses, 16.

CEFARHOS: ISAF and CEFARHOS UCHAF, or ISAF-CEFARHOS and UCHAF-CEFARHOS, two townships. in Towyn parish, Merioneth; near Towyn. Real property, £1,479 and £533. Pop., 633 and 93.
CEFN-SIDAN SANDS, a shoal in Carmarthen bay; extending about 6 miles south-south-eastward, from the north of the Towy river. It has been fatal to many ships. CEFNTREFFRAW, a tything in Aberffraw parish, Anglessy; near Aberffraw.

CEFN-Y-BEDD, a locality on the east border of Denbigh; 33 miles NNW of Wrexham. It has a post-office under Wrexham, and r. station.

CEFN-Y-BEREN, a township in Kerry parish, Mont-

CEFN.Y.BEILEN, a township in Kerry parisa, montgomery; a miles ESE of Newtown. Pop., 83.

CEFN.Y.COED, a township in Eglwysfach parish, Denbigh; 4½ miles SSE of Conway.

CEFN.Y-GWRDY, a township in Llangwyfan parish, Denbigh; 5½ miles N of Ruthin. Pop., 114.

CEFN.YR-OGO. Seo ABERGELE.

CEFN.YR-OGO. Seo ABERGELE.

CEFN.YR-OGO. Seo ABERGELE. Merioneth; near Dolgelly. Real property, £416. Pop., 66. CEFYN. See Ceff, Flint.

CEGID (THE), a river of Carnarvon. It rises on the east side of Snowdon; and runs 12 miles, north-north-westward, to the head of Beaumaris bay, in the vicinity of Banger. The Chester and Holyhead railway crosses it on a via luct 600 feet long.

CEGIDOG. See George (Sr.), Denbigh.
CEIDIO, a parish in Pwliheli district, Carnarvon; 23 miles SW by W of Nevin, and 7 SW of Pwllheli. Postmiles SW by Workerin, and 7 SW of revined. Town, Nevin, under Pwilheli. Acres, 1,081. Real property, £1,044. Pop., 154. Houses, 25. The living is a ricarage in the diocess of Bangor. Value, £85. Patron, T. P. J. Parry, Esq.

CEIDIO, Anglesey. See RHODOGEIDIO.

CEID10, Angle-sey. See RHODOGEIDIO. CEIRCHIOG, a parochial chapter in the district and county of Anglessy; 2 miles NNE of Ty-Croes r. station, and 43 N by W of Aberfraw. Post-town, Bryngwran, under Holyhead. Acres, 613. Real property, £637. Pop., 174. Houses, 37. The living is a p. curacy, anaexed to the rectory of Llanbeulan, in the diocese of Bancor

CEIRIOG (THE), a river of Denbigh and Salop. It rises under Cader-Ferwyn, in Denbigh; and runs 18 miles, in great curves, prevailingly eastward, past Glynn and Chirk, to the river Dee, 3 miles NE of Chirk.

CELLAN, or Kellan, a parish in Lampeter district,
Cardigan; on the river Tein, 2 miles NE of Lampeter r. taringan; on the river len, a lines and of Lampeter is station, and 14 NW of Llandvery. Post-town, Lampeter, under Carmarthen. Acres, 3,645. Real property, £1,184. Pop., 532. Houses, 128. An ancient road, British and Roman, passed through; and numerous antiquities exist, including cairns, camps, standing-stones, the Bedd-y-Vorwyn or Virgin's Grave, and the Liceh-Cynon, an enormous stone on an artificial circular tumu-Lus. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. Davids. Value, £83.* Patron, the lishop of St. Davids. The church has an ancient font. The Rev. M. Williams, the autiquary, was a native.

anti-pary, was a native.
CELLAR-HEAD, a hamlet in Cheddleton parish,
Stafford; 44 miles NW of Cheadle.
CELLWS, a township in Llambadarn-fawr parish,
Stadnor; 72 miles SE of Rheyader. Pop. 191.
CEMAS-COED, a village in Trewal-hmai parochial chapelry, Anglesey; 51 miles NNE of Aberfarw.
CEMASES, a township in Llambadeig parish, Anglesey; on Yrwylfa bay, 44 miles W of Audrech. It has a soy; on Yrwylfa bay, 41 miles W of Audwch. It has a post office; under Bangor. Real property, £2,566; of which £100 are in quarries. Pop., 909. A creek is here, with a small pier. A small church was built in 1865. CEMMAES, or CEMMES, a village and a parish in Machynlleth district, Montgomery. The village stands in Gwernyhwlch township, on the river Dyfi and the Mawddwy railway, 8 miles NE of Machynlleth; and Mawddwy railway, 8 miles NE of Machynlleth; and has a post-office; nucle Shrewsbury, and a r. station. The parish consists of the townships of Gwernybwich and Brynnehel-Tafadog. Acres, 9,247. Rated property, £2,805. Pop., 872. Houses, 187. The property is divided among a few. Some remains exist of an ancient circle for games. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bangor. Value, £288.* Patron, the Bishop of Bangor. The church is good; and there is an Independent chapel.

CEMMAES-ROAD, a railway station in North Wales; on the Newtown and Machynlleth railway, 5 miles E of Machynlleth.

389

CENARTH, or KENARTH, a township in St. Harmon

DENARTH, or RESMITH, a COMBRID IN SC. PRIMOR parish, Radnor; 44 miles N of Rhayader. Real property, £1,575. Pop., 500. Houses, 80. CENARTH, or KENARTH, a hamlet, a perish, and a sub-district in the district of Newcastle-in-Emlyn, and county of Carmarthen. The hamlet lies on the river Teifi, adjacent to the Cardigan railway, 3 miles W by N of Newcastle-Emlyu; and has a post-office under Car-marthen. The parish includes also the town of Newcastle-Emlyn, and the hamlets of Dolbryn, Emlyn, and Gellygally. Acres, 6,429. Real property, £4,110. Pop., 1,744. Houses, 404. The Tein is crossed, at Cenarth hanlet, by a picture-sque bridge; falls, immediately above the bridge, over a bold ledge of rocks; and has there a famous salmon-leap, at which 100 fish have been taken in a single morning. Gelli-Dewyll is the seat of the Brigstokes. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. Davids. Value, £158. Patron, the Bishop of St. Davids. There is a Calvinistic Methodist chapel. The Acres, 47,459. sub-district contains eight parishes.

Pop., 8,072. Houses, 1,844.
CENIN, a village in Llanihangel-y-Pennant parish, Carnarvon; 5½ miles N of Criccieth. Pop., 215.
CENNANT-MAWR. See CANNANT-MAWR.

CENNANT-MAWR. See CANNANT-MAWE.
CENNEN (THE). A stream of Carmarthen; running 7 miles to the Loughor, 3 miles S of Llandeilo-fawr.
CENOL, a parcel in Llanihangel-ewndi parish, Brecon; 5½ miles NW of Crickhowell. Pop., 264.
CENTRAL CORNWALL RALLWAY, a railway in Cornwall; first, of 21 miles, authorised in 1864, from Launceston to the Bodmin and Wadebridge; next of 23 miles, anthorised in 1865, from Ruthern to Truro.

CENTRAL WALES RAILWAY, a railway in South Wales. It commences at Knighton, on the verge of Wales adjacent to Salon; and goes south-westward, through the counties of Radnor and Brecon, to Llandovery in Carmarthenshire. The part of it to Llandrindod, 20 miles long, was authorized in 1859, under the name of the Central Wales; and the part thence to Llandovery, 26) miles long, was authorized in 1860, under the name of the Central Wales Extension. It has such junctions and connexions with other railways, and such extensions of its own, as to give a continuous and direct route from Manchester and Central England, through Shrewsbury, to Swansea, Llanelly, and Milford-Haven. It was opened to Swansea, Llanelly, and Milford-Haven. to Llanwrtyd in May 1867, and farther in 1868; and it to Linburry In May 1807, and late is worked by the Northwestern.
CEORTESIGE. See CHERSEY.
CERCHEDE. See CHELSEA.

CERDICESIEAGH. See CHARFORD (NORTH). CERDICESIEAGH. See CHARFORD (NORTH).

CERDRE. See CHARD. CERDYN (THE), a stream of Cardigan; running 5 miles south-eastward to the Teili, near Llandyssil. .
CERIST, a towaship in Mallwyd parish, Merioneth; miles S of Dinas Mowldwy. Real property, £468.

Pop., 197. CERNE, a river, a sub-district, a hundred, and a division in Dorset. The river rises near Mintern; and runs 10 miles southward, past Cerne-Abbas, Nether-Cerne, and Fersten, through a tract of chalk hills, to the Frome in the vicinity of Dorchester. The sub-district lies round Cerne-Abbas: is in the district of Dorchester; and contains nineteen parishes and a parochial chapelry. Acres. 45,363. Pop., 7,318. Houses, 1,543. The Acres, 45,363. Pop., 7,318. Houses, 1,543. The hundred also lies round Cerne-Abbas, is partly in Bridport and Dorchester divisions, but chiefly in Cerne division; bears the name of Cerne, Totcombe, and Modbary; and contains five parishes of the sub-district, to-gether with one parish and part of another not in the sub-district. Acres, 10,501.—The division is more ex-tensive than the sub-district; and contains the hundreds or liberties of Alton-Pancras, Buckland-Newton, Piddletrenthide, and Sydling-St. Nicholas, and parts of Fordington, Bindon, Sherborne, Tollerford, Whiteway, Yetngton, Bindon, Sherborne, Tolerhord, Whiteway, Yeb-minster, and Cerne, Totcombe, and Modbury. Acres, 47,653. Pop., 7,318. Houses, 1,543. CERNE-ABBAS, a small town and a parish in Dor-chester district, Dorset. The town stands on the river Cerne, 43 miles ESE of Evershot r. station, and 74 N by W of Dorchester. It includes four or five streets; is a seat of petty sessions; and has a post-office, t of the name of Cerne, under Dorchester, three inns, and a workhouse, a church, two dissenting chapels, and some remains of a Benedictine abbey. The church is perpendicular English; and has a tower. The abbey was founded, in 987, by Aylmer, Earl of Cornwall; plundered, in 1015, by Cannte: and occupied, in 1471, by Queen Margaret, on her way to Tewkesbury. St. Augustine is said by some to have founded it; Edwald, the brother of St. Edmund the martyr, is said by others to have founded it, and to have been buried in it; and Cardinal Morton, born at Bere-Regis, was one of its monks. The remains of it are a gatehouse, bearing escutcheons, a long buttressed barn, still used as a granary, and some traces of the gardens and park. An ancient earthwork, unknown to record, is north of the churchyard. A lofty emineuce, called Trendle-hill or the Giant's hill, rises adjacent to the town; has the figure of a man, 180 feet high, cut on its chalky surface; and is crowned by an ancient camp. Markets are held on Wednesdays; fairs are held on Mid-Markets are netd on Wednesdays; laurs are netd of Marchet Monday, 28 April, and 2 Oct; and some trade is carried on in neating, brewing, and leather-dressing.—

The parish comprises 3,063 acres. Real property, with Upper Cerne, £6,389. Pop., 1,185. Houses, 254. The property is not much divided; and the manor belongs to Lord Rivers. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £81.* Patron, Lord Rivers.

ARPLY NETULES = parish in Dorchester district.

Salisbury. Value, £81. Patron, Lord Rivers.

QERNE-NETHER, a parish in Dorchester district,
Dorset; on the river Cerne, 47 miles E of Maiden-Newton r. station, and 5½ N by W of Dorchester. Posttown, Cerne, under Dorchester. Acres, 845. Real property, with Godmanstone, £2,204. Pop., 95. Houses,
16. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £60.
Patron, R. B. Sheridan, Esq. The church is small but part and bys an iyx-glat lower.

neat; and has an ivy-clad tower.

CERNE (UPPER), a parish in Dorchester district, Dorset; on the river Cerne, 11 mile N by W of Cerne-Abbas, and 4 E by S of Evershot r. station. Post-town, Abbas, and 4 E by S of Evershoft, Satton.

Derne, under Dorchester. Acres, 1,103. Real property, with Cerne-Abbas, £6,389. Pop., 75. Houses, 13. The property is all in one estate. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £152.* Patron, J. White, Esq. The church was reported in 1859 as

CERNEY (NORTH), a parish in Cirencester district, Gloucester; near Ermino-street, 4 miles N of Cirencester r. station. It includes the tythings of Calmsden and Woodmancote; and has a post-office under Circuester. Acres, 4,168. Real property, £5,191. Pop., 692. Houses, 153. The property is divided among a few. Cerncy House is the seat of the Croomes. a rectory in the diocess of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, ±654. Patron, University College, Oxford. The church is very gool; and there is a national school. CERNEY (Sourn), a parish in Grencester district, Gloucester; adjacent to the Thanes and Severn canal, and naar the Cheltenham and Western Union railway, 4 miles SSE of Circucester. It has a post-office under Circneester. Acres, 3.100. Real property, £6,364. Pop., 1,006. Houses, 247. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarege united with the p. curacy of Cerney-Wick, in the diocese of Gloncester and Bristol. Value, £231. Patron, the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. The church ranges from transition Norman to decorated English, and was partly rebuilt in 1862. There are a chapel of ease, an Indepen-dent chapel, a national school, an asylum-college on a bequest of £11,000 in 1834 for widows and orphans of poor clergymen, and other charities £70. CERNEY-WICK. See CERNEY (SOUTH).

CERNIOGE, a locality 10 miles SE of Llanrwst, in Denbigh. A famous inn stood here, ou the road from London to Holyhead; and is now a tarm-house. The ground is high, adjacent to the watershed between the Doe and the Conway; and a spot in the vicinity commands a very grand view of Snowdonia.

CERRIG-CEINWEN, a parish in the district and county of Anglesey; 3 miles N of Bodorgan r. station, and 5½ NE of Aberliaw. Post-town, Llangefin, under Bangor. Acres, 1,582. Real property, 21,621. Pop., 465. Houses, 108. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Lianguisticius, in the diocese of Bangor. The church was built in 1861; is in the carly English style; and consists of nave and chancel, with bell-turret and vestry.

CERRIG-DEWI, a hill near Ystrad-Ffin, in Cardigan. It is about 600 feet high; and it commands a fine view of the upper part of the Towy. The cave of Thomas ap Catherine, the Robin Hood of Wales, is in it.

CERRIG-Y-DRUIDION, a village and a parish in the strict of Corwen and county of Denbigh. The village district of Corwen and county of Denbigh. stands on a headstream of the river Dee, on the quondam status on a nearastream of the river Dee, on the quodnation mail road from London to Holybead, 10 miles WiW of Corwen r. station, and 13 SSW of Denbigh; and has a post-office under Corwen, and fairs on 14 March, 27 April, 27 April, 29 Oct., and 7 Dee. The parish in-April, 27 Aug., 20 Ct., and 18 Compenance, cludes also the townships of Clustyblaidd, Cympenanner, Gwernheurn, Hafod-y-Maidd, Llaethwryd, Park, and Voel. Acres, 11,556. Assessed property, in 1815, £4,016. Pop., 1,243. Houses, 256. The property is much subdivided. The land lies high, and is chiefly mocy and upland pasture. A collection of large stones, including cistvaens, was formerly at the village; but has disappeared. An ancient British fort, with a circular rampart, was on Pen-y-Gaer, about a mile to the east; and is said to have been the place where Caractacus was taken prisoner; but is now reduced to slight vestiges. The living is a rectory in the diocese of St. Asaph. Value, £500.* Patron, the Bishop of St. Asaph. The church is tolerable; and there is a Calvinistic Methodist chapel. An almshouse has £98; and other charities £104. CERTEHAM. See CHARTHAM.

CESTOR. See CASTOR.

CETEILAM. See CHATHAM.
CEULAN-Y-MAES-MAWR, a township in Llanfi-hangel-Geneur-Glynn parish, Cardigan; on an afluent of the river Lery, 5½ miles ENE of Aberystwith. It conof the river Lery, vs. indes EAL of Aberystwith. It contains the village of Penrhylog. Acres, 7,439. Pop., 840. Houses, 172.
CEUSWYN, a township in Talyllyn parish, Merioneth; 51 miles S of Dolgelly. Pop., 362.
CHACEWATER. See CHASEWATER.
CHACEWATER. See CHASEWATER.
CHACEWATER. See CHASEWATER.

CHACKMORE, a hamlet in Radelive parish, Bucks; 1 mile NNW of Buckingham. Pop., 238.

CHACOMBE. See CHALCOMBE.

CHAD. See CHAD (ST.).

CHADBURY, a tything in Norton parish, Worcester; 2 miles N of Evesham. Pop., 23.

CHADD. See CHAD (St.).

CHADD. See CRAD (ST.).
CHADDENWICK, a tything in Mere parish, Wilts;
2 miles from Mere. Real property, with West Knoyle,
22,591. Pop., 21. Honses, 5.
CHADDERTON, a township, two chapelries, and a sub-district in Oldhan district, Lancashire. The township lies on the Oldham railways, the river Irk, and the Rochdale canal, within Oldham borough, and I mile

ESE of Middleton; and has a post-office under Mancheser. Acres 2,978. Real property, £22,727; of which 5,907 are in nines. Pop. 7,486. Houses, 1,503. The property is much subdivided. Chadderton Hall was formerly the seat of the Hortons.

Many of the inhabitants are employed in collieries, and in cotton and silk factories. -The chapelries are Chadderton-St. John and Chadderton-St. Matthew; were constituted in 1844; and jointly are a little more extensive than the township. The livare a little more extensive that the obsaints are interesting are vicuouses in the diocess of Manchester. Value, £300 and £300. Patron, alternately the Crown and the Bishop. St. M. 's church was built, at a cost of £1,900, in £57. There are chapels for Baptists and Wesleyans. The Oldham cemetery also is here.—The sub-district consists of Chadderton and Tonge townships. Acres, 3,345. Pop., 12,092. Houses, 2,456. 3,345.

CHADDESDEN, a parish in Shardlow district, Derbyshire; adjacent to the Derby canal and the Midland railway, 2 miles E of Derby. It has a post-office under Derby. Acres, 2,080. Real property, £4,551. Pop, 465. Houses, 99. The property is divided among a f-w. Chaddesden Hall is the seat of Sir II. Wilmot, The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £89. Patron, Sir H. Wilmot, Bart. The church was restored in 1859, at a cost of £2,000. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, six alms-houses, and the Derby new cemetery, comprising 32 acres, and containing two mortuary chapels.

CHADDESLEY-CORBETT, a village, a parish, and sub-district. in Kidderminster district, Worcester. a sub-district, in Kidderminster district, Worcester. The village stands on an affluent of the river Severn, 31 miles NE of Hartlebury r. station, and 41 SE of Kidderminster; and has a post-office under Kidderminster, and fairs on the last Monday of April and the Monday before 18 Oct. The parish comprises 5,914 acres. Real property, £13,509. Pop., 1,457. Houses, 311. The property is not much divided. There are coal pits, some lorges, and a yarn factory. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £541.* Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is partly Norman, partly later. There are P. Methodist and R. Catholic chapels, two en lowed schools, five alms-houses, and other charities £320.—The imb-district contains three parishes. Acres, 9,582. Pop., 2,091. Houses, 448. CHADDLEHANGER, a hamlet in Lamerton parish, CHADDLEWORTH, a parish in Wantage district, Berks; 6 miles WSW of East Ilsley, and 7 NNE of Kinthury r. station. It includes Woolley tything; and has a post-office under Wantage. Acres, 3,319. Real property, £4,099. Pop., 529. Houses, 99. The proproperty, £4,090. Pop., 509. Houses, 90. The property is divided among a few. The manor was given by the Conqueror to Robert D'Oyley; and belonged after-wards to the mother of Edward I. Chaddleworth House, the seat of the Pipons, was rebuilt in 1810; and Woolley Park, the seat of the Wroughtons, was built in 1690, and much altered in 1799. An Augustinian priory was founded at Ellensfordsmere, in 1161, by Balph of Chaddleworth; and destroyed in 1532. The living is a vicar-age in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £272.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of Westminster. The church has a Norman doorway; and is good. An endowed school has £100; and other charities £22.

CHADKIRK. See ROMELEY.

CHADLINGTON, a village, a chapelry, a tything, and a hundred, in Oxford. The village stands near the river Evenlode and the Oxford and Worcester railway, 22 miles NW by N of Charlbury r. station, and 33 SSE of Chipping-Norton; and has a post-office under Enstone. The chapelry includes the village, and bears the name of l'ast Chadlington. The tything lies a mile to the NW, and bears the name of West Chadlington; and both are in Charlbury parish. Acres of both, 7,300. Real property, of E. Chadlington, £1,385; of W. Chadlington, £3,520. Pop. of both, 753. Houses, 157. The chaplry living is annexed to the vicarage of Charlbury. church is ancient. There are a Baptist chapel and a national school.—The handred extends to the boundary with Warwick and Glonce-ter; and contains twenty-three parishes, and part of another. Acres, 67,695. Pop. io 1851, 13,894; in 1861, 13,837. Houses, 2,986.

CHAD (Sr.), a parish and a sub-district in Shrewsbury The parish lies on the river Severn, the district Salop. Ellesmere canal, and the Shrewsbury and Oswestry railway, partly within Shrewsbury borough, and extending thence to the NW; and it comprises the townships of Longney, Crow-Meele, Onslow, Frankwell, Betton and Alkmere, Bicton and Calcott, Shelton and Oxon, Whitley and Welhatch, and Woodcote and Horton. Post-town, Shrewshury. Rated property, £36,014. Pop. town, Shrewsbury. Rated property, £36,014. Pop., 8,318. Honses, 1,690. The property is much subdivided. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Florifield. Value, £350. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The original church was built by the Mercian kings; was long collegiate and a royal free chapel; was burned in 1393, afterwards restored, and finally ruined by the fall of the tower in 1783; but an aisle of it, of Norman character, was relitted for funeral services, and afterwards appropriated to a charity school. The present church was propriated to a contry school. The present church was built in 1792, at a cost of £20,000; is a circular Grecian edifice, 100 feet in diameter, with dome and handsome tower, 150 feet high; and has the "Resurrection" by Egginton after West, brought from Lichfield cathedral. The vicarages of Bicton, Betton-Strange, Frankwell, and Oxon and Shelton are separate benefices. Job Orton, the biographer of Doddridge, was a native.—The snb-district contains also the parish of Muole Brace. Pop., 9,533. Houses, 1,950.

Pop., 9,533. Houses, 1,950.
CHAD (Sr.), Stafford. See LICHFIELD.
CHAD, or CHADD (Sr.), a chapelry in Malpas parish, Cheshire; on the verge of the county, 33 miles NNW of Whitchurch r. station. Post-town, Whitchurch. Statisties, with the parish. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Chester. Value, £140.* Patrons, the Rectors of Malpas. The church was built in 1863.
CHADSHUNT. a parish in Southam district, Warrish. 11 villa NY of Kington and 52 W of Fenny Counrish. 11 villa NY of Kington and 52 W of Fenny Coun-wick; 13 mile NE of Kineton, and 5 W of Fenny-Compton r. station. Post-town, Kineton, under Warwick. Acres, 1,366. Real property, £1,770. Pop., 37. Houses, 5. The manor belonged early to the monks of Coventry; and passed to the see of Lichfield. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Bishops-Itchington, in the diocese of Worcester. An image of St. Chad, in the Romish times, stood in the churchyard, and attracted many pilgrims.

CHADSTONE, a hamlet in Castle-Ashby parish, Northamptonshire; 71 miles E of Northampton. Pop., 52. CHADWELL, or CHADWELL-HEATH, a ward in Barking parish, Essex; on the Eastern Counties railway, 23 miles E by N of Great Ilford. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under London E. Real property, £3,615. Pop., SS2. Houses, 181. There is a perty, £3,615. Baptist chapel.

CHADWELL, or CALDWELL, a chapelry in Rothley parish, Leicester; near the Salt way, 5 miles NNW of Saxby r, station, and 5 NE of Melton-Mowbray. Posttown, Scalford, under Melton-Mowbray. Acres, 1,730. Pop., 139. Houses, 27. The living is a p. curacy, aunexed to the vicarage of Rothley, in the diocese of Peter-The church is good, and has a tower. boronch.

CHADWELL-ST. MARY, a parish in Orsett district, Essex; on the Thames, and on the Tilbury and Southend railway, 2 miles E of Grays r. station, and 21 S of Post-town, Grays, under Romford. Acres, Orsett. Orsett. Post-town, Grays, under konnou. Acres 1,977; of which 150 are water. Real property, 22,946. Pop., 457. Houses, 85. The property is divided among a few. Chalk cares occur here, called Dancholds and Cunobelin's gold mines. Tilbury for it is partly within the border. The living is a rectory in the diocess of the border. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Rochester. Value, £427.* Patron, the Rev. J. P. Herringham. The church is old but good. Charities, £12.

CHADWICK, a bunlet in Spotland fownship, Rochdale parish, Langushite; 2 unles W of Rochdale, CHAPTCOMET, a parish in Chard district, Somer set; on the Chard canal, 2 miles NE of Chard r. station, and 3 S by W of Humster. Post-town, Humster. Acres, 999. Real property, with Knowles-St. Giles, £2,896. Pop. 246. Houses, 50. The property is di-vided among a few. The living is a rectory in the dio-Poulett. The church is early English, and was restored in 1859

CHAFFORD, a hundred in Essex. It touches the Thames for 7 miles above and below Purfleet; extends 121 miles northward; and contains fourteen parishes. Acres, 35,712. Pop., 16,001. Houses, 2,769.

CHAGFORD, a small town, a parish, and a sub-dis-CHAGVILD, a small town, a parish, and a saucher trict in Okehampton district, Devon. The town stands on elevated ground, near the river Teign, on the skirts of Dartmoor, 4 miles WNW of Moreton-Hampstead r, station, and 12 SW of Crediton; and has a post-office; under Exeter, and two inns. It is a pieturesque old place, amid romantic environs, in a bracing climate, repulsive during winter, but attractive to tourists and to invalids in summer. It was made a stannary town in 1323; and it sustained an attack by the royalists in the wars of Charles 1. The Three Crowns inn at it was built as a mansion, by Judge Whyddon, in the time of James I.; and served afterwards as the dower-house of Whyddon Park. Markets are held on Saturdays: and Wuyddon Fark. Markets are held on Saturdays, and fairs on the first Thursday of May, and the last Thursday of March, Sept., and Oct. The purish comprises 7, 192 acres. Real property, £7,014. Pop., 1,379. Houses, 233. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged to Dodo the Saxon; was given by the Conqueror to the Bishop of Coutances; and passed, in the time of Henry III., to Sir Hugh de Chagford, and afterwards to Judge Whyddon. Several ancient British antiquities occur among the hills. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £539.* Patron, the Rev. H. The church is a good ancient structure, with G. Hames. a square embattled tower; and contains a grand monu-ment of Judge Whyddon. There are chapels for Wesleyan Methodists and Bible Christians. Charities, £44.
The sub-district contains four parishes. Acres, 19,821. Pop., 2,907. Houses, 608. CHAIGLEY, a hamlet in Mitton parish, Lancashire;

51 miles W of Clithrone. Pop., 266. CHAILEY, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in Lewes district, Sussex. The village stands 3 miles E of Cook's Bridge r. station, and 5½ N by W of Lewes; and Cook's Bridge r. station, and 5½ N by W of Lewes; and has a post-office under Lewes, and a fair or 29 July. The parish comprises 5,889 acres. Real property, £5,610. Pop., 1,344. Houses, 245. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £505.* Patrons, Mrs. Hepburne and Mrs. Blencowe. The church is early English, and good. There are a national school, a workhouse, and charities 19. The sub-district contains four parishes. Aeres, 18, 164. Pop., 4,947. Houses, 931. CHAIR-LEDDER, a remarkable group of columnar rocks on the coast of Cornwall; a little SE of Lands-End.

CHAIR OF THE WITCH. See BWA-MAEN.

CHAKENDEN, See CHECKENDON.

CHALBURY, a parish in Wimborne district, Dorset; near the Roman road from Dorchester, 3 miles NNE of Bailey-Gate r. station, and 5 N by E of Wimborne-It includes Didlington tything; and its post-Minster. town is Horton, under Wimborne. Acres, 1,344. Real property, £1,409. Pop., 194. Houses, 41. The property is divided among a few. Part of the land is high; has an ancient entrenchment; and commands a line view, to the sea. The living is a rectory in the dio-cese of Salisbury. Value, £165.* Patron, the Earl of Pembroke. The church is tolerable.

CHALCOMBE, or CHACOMBE, a parish in the district of Banbury and country of Northampton; adjacent to the river Cherwell, near the Oxford and Rugby and the Buckinghamshire railways, 34 miles NE of Banbury. It has a post-office under Banbury. Acres, 1,694. Real property, £4,213. Pop., 463. Houses, 111. The property is much subdivided. A number of the inhabitants are stocking-makers. A priory was founded here, in the time of Heary II., by Hugh de Chacombe; and given, at the dissolution, to the Foxes. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Peterborough. Value, £250.* Patron, C. W. Martin, Esq. The church is chiefly de-corated English; has a porch and a tower; and contains a fine Norman fout and a brass of 1509. There are Weslevan and Primitive Methodist chapels.

leyan and Primitive Methotist enapsis.
CHALDON, a parish in Reigate district, Surrey; near the Brighton and the Caterham railways, 2 miles NE by N of Merstham r. station, and 5 NE of Reigate. Posttown, Merstham, under Red Hill. Acres, 1,622. Real property, £1,253. Pop., 169. Houses, 32. The property is dvided among a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £255.* Patron, the Rev. H. Shepherd. The church is partly early English, and has a spire.

lish, and has a spire. CHALDON-BOYS, or West CHALDON, a quondam parish in Wareham district, Dorset; near the coast, 10½ miles WSW of Wareham. It was incorporated, in 1446, with Chaldon-Herring.

CHALDON-HERRING, or East Chaldon, a parish in Warcham district, Dorset; near the coast, 33 miles S of Moreton r. station, and 9½ WSW of Warcham. Post-town, Winfrith, noder Dorchester. Acres, 2,981. Real property, with Chaldon-Boys and Holworth, £3,235.
Pop., 341. Houses, 63. The property is all in one estate. The living is a vicarage in the dincese of Salisbury. Value, £62. Patron, Joseph Weld, Esq. The church is good.

CHALE, a parish in the Isle of Wight; on the south coath 61 miles W of Venture. It has a post-office under Southampton. Acres, 2,375; of which 80 are water. Real property, £3,940. Pop., 584. Houses, 130. The property is divided among a few. The manor belonged to Carisbrooke priory; and passed to the Pelhams. Chale Farm house is an interesting architectural relic, with features of decorated English. The coast includes Blackfeatures of decorated English. gang chine; and the interior includes St. Catherine's A slight indentation of the coast, 3 miles long. hill. A stight indentation of the coast, 8 miles long, bears the name of Chale bay; is overhing by terrific cliffs; and was the scene of the shipwreck of the "Clarendon" in 1836. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Winchester. Value, 2331.* Patron, James Theobald, Esq. The church is partly transition Norman; has a perpendicular English tower; and contains a piscina, and a handsome monument to Major-General Sir Henry Worsley. The graves of many of the passengers and crew of the Clarendon, with a monument to the Shores, are in the churchyard. An endowed school has £22.

CHALFIELD (GREAT), a parish in Bradford district, Wilts; on an affluent of the river Avon, 11 mile N of Holt Junction r. station, and 3 W of Melksham. Posttown, Holt, under Trowbridge. Aeres, 700. Real property, with Little Chalifeld and Cottles, £2,432. Pop., 12. Houses, 3. The property is divided among three. The manor belouged to the Tropenells, and passed to the Eyres; and the manor-house, built by the former, still stands, is surrounded by a most, and forms a beau-tiful specimen of a mansion of the time of Edward IV.

The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £162. Patron, Lady Neale. The church is fair. CHALFIELD (LITTLE), AND COTTLES, an extra-parochial tract in Bradford district, Wilts; contiguous to Great Chalfield, 32 miles W of Melksham. Acres, 560. Pop., 43. Houses, 7. The manor belonged to the Eyres; and the manor-house is Tudor.

CHALFONT, a sub-district in Amersham district, Bucks. It consists of the two Chalfort parishes and Acres, 10,102. Pop., 3,029. Houses, 670.

CHALFONT-ST. GILES, a village and a parish in Amersham district, Bucks. The village stands on the Misboura rivulet, 3 miles SE by S of Amersham, and 6 E by N of Loudwater r. station; and has a post-office; under Slough. The poet Milton resided here during the under Stongn. The poet afficial resided here during the plague of London in 1045, and finished here his "Paradise Lost;" and the house which he occupied, a half-timbered cottage, still exists, and has his name on its front. The parish comprises 3,641 acres. Real property, £6,117. Pop., 1,217. Houses, 255. The property is subdivided. The manor belongs to T. N. Allen, Esq. Salantines. I he manor belongs to 1. N. Alten, Esq. Watche House, or the Vache, is a modernized ancient edifice; was long held by the flare family; belonged previously to the Alstons; and is said to have been built originally on a dairy-farm of King John. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £015.* Patron, the Bishop of Oxford. The church is ancient; has a Norman tower; was restored in 1863; and contains brasses and monuments of the Gardiners, the Fleetwoods, the Claytons, and Bishop Hare. There are chapels for Independents, Pritoitive Methodists, Free Methodists, for Independents, Pritotive Methodists, Free Methodists, and Quakers; and the remains of William Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, and Thomas Ellwood, the friend of Milton, are in the Quakers' burying-ground. A school has £58 from endowment; and other charities £100.

CHALFONT-ST. PETER, a village and a parish in Amersham district, Bucks. The village stands on the Misbourn rivalet, 5 miles SSE of Amersham, and 6} E by N of Woburn-Green r. station; is a seat of petty sessions; and has a post-office under Slough. The parish comprises 4,717 acres. Real property, £7,335. Pop. 1,344. Houses, 303. The property is divided among a few. Chalfont House was built by General Churchill, the brother-in-law of Horace Walpole; owed much of its original character to Walpole's taste; but has been its original character to Waipole's taste; but has been much altered and improved; and is now the seat of J. Hibbert, Es., A house called the Grange was for some time the residence of Judge Jeffreys. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Oxford. Value, 2731. Parton, St. John's College, Oxford. The church is a brick edide of 1723, highly-improved by Street in 1854; and contains three good brasses. The p. curacy of Gerrard's Cross is a separate benefice. There are a Baptist chapel. Cross is a separate benefice. There as a national school, and charities £25.

CHALFORD, a chapelry in Bisley parish, Gloncester; on the Stroulwater canal and the Cheltenham and Western Union railway, adjacent to Brimseomb r. station, and 3) miles ESE of Strond. It has a post-office; under Strond. It was constituted in 1842. Pop., 2,008. Houses, 509. Much of the surface is a picture sque reach of valley, called Chalford Bottom; and many of the inhabitants are employed in various manufactures. The of valley, extent Challort Bottom; and many of the in-habitants are employed in various manufactures. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Glouester and Bristol. Valley, 2150.* Patron, the Archdeacon of Clouester. The church was built in 1724. There are charels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyans, and charles for independence, Educates, and Science, and Princitive Methodists, and two public schools. CHALFORD, a liberty in Aston-Rowant parish, Oxford; 31 miles S of Thome. Real property, £692.

CHALGRAVE, a parish in Woburn district, Beds; 33 miles N by W of Dunstable r. station, and 64 ENE of Leighton-Bazzard. It includes the hamlets of Tebworth and Wingfield; and its post-town is Hockliffe, under Ead winglest; and its post-town is nockine, under Leighton-Euzzed. Acres, 2,130. Real property, £4,665. P.p., 761. Houses, 297. The property is subdivided. The living is a vicurage in the dioceso of Ely. Value, 2,150. Patron, the Rev. J. M. Hamilton. The church is andent. There are a Wesleyan chapel and an school.

CHALGROVE, a village and a parish in Thame district, Oxforl. The village stands on an affluent of the Thame, 5 miles SW of Tetsworth, and 54 NNE of Wallriagned r. station; and has a post-office under Tetsworth. The parish includes also the liberty of Rufford. Acres, 2004. Real property, 23,747. Pop., 519. Houses, 124. A skirmish was fought on Chalgrove Field, in 1943, between the royalists under Prince Rupert and the · arliamentarians. John Hampden at first mustered the Surks militis on the same ground; and he led them in this skirmish, and received then his death wound. A siller to his memory, bearing a medallion portrait and an inscription, was erected on the spot in 1843. The living is a cicarage, united with the p. curacy of Berwick-clome, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, 2600. Patron, Christ Church, Oxford. The church is Norman; on-tots of nave, two aisles, and chancel, with a tower; and contains an octagonal fout, and several fine monuments. There are a Wesleyan chapel, and charities £97. CHALK, a parish in North Aylesford district, Kent; on the river Thames and the North Kent railway, 21 miles SE by E of Gravesend. It has a post-office und r mines SE by E of Glavescold. It has a post-office year, of cravescold, and a fair on Whit-Monaday. Acres, 2,246; of which 305 are water. Real property, with Denton, £5,177. Pop., 382. Houses, 74. The property is divided among a few. The surface is variously marshy and chalky. Gun flints of prime quality were formerly manufactured; and much fruit is sent to the London manufactured; and mach truth is sent to the Louton narket. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ro-chester. Value, £200. Patron, the Lord Chancellor. The church is of flint, very ancient and good; has two grotesque figures on the porch; and contains curious monuments and sedilia, CHALK, a hundred in Wilts. It lies around Broad-

CHALK, a hundred in Wills. It has around Broad-chalk, and contains seven parishes and part of another. Acres, 24,822. Pop., 3,493. Houses, 732. CHALK (BROAD). See BROAD-CHALK. CHALK-FARM, a place of 32 acres in the north-western suburbs of London, now partly occupied by the Northwestern railway and its depot; adjacent to the Zoological Gardens and Primrose Hill, 31 miles NW of St. Pauls. It was notorious for duels fought on it; specially for one between Col. Montgomery and Capt. Macnamara in 1803.

CHALKTON. See CHALTON, Hants.

CHALLACOMBE, a parish in Barnstaple district, Devon; on the river Bray, near its sources, on the verge of the county at Exmoor forest, 10 miles NE of Barnstaple r. station. Post-town, Paracombe, under Barastaple a. Staple a. Stapl a large extent, high wild moorland. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £200.* Patron. Earl Fortescue. The church is a recent erection, in the Gothic style, with a tower.
CHALLOCK, a parish in East Ashford district, Kent; adjacent to the river Stour and to the Ashford and Canterbury railway, 2\frac{1}{2}\text{ miles NW by W of Wyer. station, and 5 N by E of Ashford. It has a post-office under Ashford, and a fair on 8 Oct. Aeres, 2,837. Real property, \(\frac{1}{2}\text{cd}\), Pepp. 373. Houses, 78. The property is subdivided, \(\frac{1}{2}\text{catted}\) Fark, the sent of the Earl of Winchelsea, is on the south. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Codmersham, in the diocese of Canterbury. The church is ancient. Charities, 25. of Canterbury. The church is ancient. CHALLOW. See FARINGDON-ROAD

See Faringdon-Road.

CHALLOW (EAST), a chapelry in Letcombe-Regis parish, Berks; on the Berks and Wilts canal, 1 mile WXW of Wantage, and 2 SE by So f Faringdon-Road:r. station. Post-town, Wantage. Real property, £3,186. Pop., 391. Houses, S4. The property is much sub-divided. There are extensive agricultural implement divided. There are extensive agricultural implement works. The living is a p. curacy, united with West Challow, in the dio. of Oxford. Value, £100. Patroo, Challow, in the dio. of Oxford. Variety 2100. * Fatrop, C. Ferrard, Esq. The church was restored in 1858. CHALLOW (West), a chapelry in Letcombe-Regis parish, Berks; on the Berks and Wilts canal, 2 miles W by N of Wantage, and 11 S of Faringdon Road r. station. Post-town, Wantage. Real property, £1,485. Pop., 192. Houses, 43. The property is divided among a few. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to East Challow, in the diocese of Oxford. The church is good.

CHALTON, a hamlet in Toddington parish, Beds; 31 miles N of Dunstable. Real property, £1,714. Pop., 224. CHALITON, or CHALKTON, a parish in Catherington district, Hants; on the verge of the county, 21 miles NNW of Rowland's Castle r. station, and 54 S by W of Petersfield. It includes the chapelry of Idsworth; and its post-town is Horndean. Acres, 1,723. Real property, £1,261. Pop., 619. Houses, 125. The property is all in one estate. Part of the surface is high, and bears the name of Chalton Down. The living is a rectory, united with the p. curacy of Idsworth and the rectory, united with the p. curacy of Idsworth and the rectory of Clanfield, in the diocese of Winchester. Value, £600.* Patron, King's College, Cambridge. The church is ancient, and was repaired in 1859. CHALVEY, a chapelry in Upton parish, Bucks; ad-

jucent to the Great Western milway, I mile W of Slough

Post-town, Slough. Pop., 674. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Upton, in the diocese of Oxford. The church was built in 1861; and is in the early decorated English style, with some peculiarities of CHALVINGTON, a parish in Lewes district, Sussex; adjacent to the river Cuckmere, 2½ miles NNW of Berwick r. station, and 5 W of Hailsham. Post-town, Ripe, under Hurst Green. Aeres, 729. Real property, £1,057.

Pop., 149. Honses, 26. The property is much subdivided. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Chichester. Value, £200.* Patron, O. Fuller Meyrick, Esq. The church is decorated English.

CHAMBER-HALL. See BURY, Lancashire.

CHAMBOIS. See CAMEOIS.
CHAMPION-HILL, a suburb of London; in Camberwell parish, 4 miles Sof St. Pauls. It has a post-officet under Camberwell, London S, and a r. station.

CHANCTONBURY, an ancient camp in Wiston parish, Sussex; on one of the Downs, S14 feet high, 34 miles W by N of Steyning. It has a dark clump of trees; and figures in the landscape views of half the county. It is circular, and may have been originally British; but it lies near a Roman road running east and west, and has yielded Roman coins. The prospect from it is extensive, panoramie, and grand.

CHANDLER'S FORD, a railway station in Hants; on the Salisbury railway, 31 miles ESE of Romsey. CHANDLINGS, an extra-parochial tract in Abingdon other of the control of the control

CHANNEL

CHANNEL ISLANDS, a group of islands in the English Channel; near the coasts of Normandy and Brittany in France. The chief are Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney, and Sark; and others are Herm, Jethou, Le Marchant, and the Caskets. They were known to the Romans; were early occupied by the Gauls; were an asylum of refugee Britons, fleeing from the Roman power in England; received Christianity, early in the 6th century, from Wales; were ceded by France, in 912, to Rollo, first Duke of Normandy; continued to be held by William, the seventh duke, at his conquest of England; and though frequently attacked by France, and sometimes severely shaken by political changes in England, have, with slight interruption, remained ever since annexed to the English crown. The several islands will be separately described, in separate articles, in their alphabetical place.

rate articles, in their alphabetical place.
CHANTRY, a chapelry in Whatley, Great Elm, and Mells parishes, Somerset; near the East Somerset milway, 2 miles W of Frome. Post-town, Frome. The chapelry was constituted in 1816. Pop., 264. Houses, 49. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, 290% Patron, the Rev. J. Fussell. The church was built in 1846. There are a Wesleyan chapel and a girls' industrial and boarding school.
CHAPEL, CHAPEL, or PONTISERGER, a parish in Leaden district. Essex, on the Chape vives and the Calon

Lexden district, Essex; on the Colne river and the Colne Valley railway, 7 miles WNW of Colchester. It has a station, of the name of Chapel, on the railway; and its post-town is Marks-Tey, under Colchester. Acres, 1,146. Real property, £2,021. Pop., 370. Houses, 86. The property is much subdivided. The living is a p. euracy, nanier the vicarrage of Great Tey, in the dio-cess of Rochester. Value, 270. Patrons, the Parishioners. The church is old but good, and has a spire. CHAPEL-ALLEUTON. See ALLEUTON-CHAPEL. CHAPEL-ALDICTON See ALLEUTON-CHAPEL.

bridge, in Cornwall; with a post-office under Wadebridge.

CHAPEL-ASCOTE. See Ascote (Chapel).
CHAPEL-BILLINGE. See BILLINGE.
CHAPEL-BRAMPTON. See BRAMPTON-CHAPEL. CHAPEL-BRIDGE, a railway station in Monmouth; on the Western Valleys railway, 91 miles NW of New-

CHAPEL-BROKE. See ASTERLEY.
CHAPEL-CARNBREA, a rocky hill at the southwestern extremity of Cornwall; 2 miles SE of Land's

It is 640 feet high; and it commands a grand

CHAPEL-CHORLTON. See CHORLTON, Stafford. CHAPEL-CLEEVI, a hamlet in Old Cleeve parish, Somerset; on the coast, 2 miles W of Watchet. A chapel here, dedicated to the Virgin, was much frequented, in the Romish times, by pilgrims; and the remnent of a cross, for guiding them hither, stands midway between Washford and Old Cleeve church.

CHAPEL-COLMAN, or CAPEL-COLMAN, à parish in the district of Newcastle-in-Emlyn, and county of Pembroke; near the Cardigan railway, 6 miles SE of Cardigan. Post-town, Cardigan. Acres, 770. Rated property, £510. Fop., 157. Houses, 30. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of St. Davids. Value, £72. Patron, Miss Jones. The church was reported in 1859 to need repair.

CHAPEL DALE. See CHAPEL LE DALE. CHAPEL END, a locality on the NE border of Warwickshire; 3 miles from Nuneaton and 4 from Atherstone.

CHAPEL EN LEFRITH, a small town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Derby. The town stands on the slope of a high hill, near the High Peak, adjacent to the Buxton and Whaley-Bridge railway, and 5 miles N of Buxton. It sprang from an ancient church or cha-pel within the Peak "frith" or forest; and is now a neat centre of local trade, a seat of petty sessions, and a polling place. It has a post-office; under Stockport, a railway station, two chief inns, a town-hall, a church, two dissenting chapels, and a suite of schools. The townhall is a neat edifice of 1851. The church is an ancient structure with a square tower, renovated in 1834. The schools were built in 1846, at a cost of fully £1,100. Manufacture is carried on in cotton and paper mills; and considerable traffic exists in the transfer of lead, coal, considerative traine exists in the transfer of lead, coal, and limestone from neighbouring works to distant places. Markets are held on Thursdays; and fairs on the Thursdays days before 14 Feb., 3 March, 29 March, Easter, 30 April, 24 Aug., and 11 Nov., Holy Thursday, the third Thursday and the Holy Thursday, and the Thursday after 29 Sept.—The parish includes also the townships of Country Live Parish Law Edwa and Bowles 18 Live 18 and 18 W 1999. Edge, Bradshaw Edge, and Bowden-Edge. Acres, 13,220.
Real property, £14,389. Pop., 4,264. Houses, 780.
The property is subdivided. Much of the surface is The property is subdivided. Much of the surface is hill and moor. The canal reservoir is a fine sheet of water; and the Barmere-Clough well is an ebbing and flowing spring. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £300.* Patrons, Resident Freeholders.

The sub-district contains the parishes of Chapel-en-le-Frith and Castleton, parts of the parishes of Hope, Hathersage, Glossop, and Tideswell, and the liberty of Peak Forest. Acres, 57,507. Pop., 9,878. Houses, 1,923. The district includes also the sub-district of 1,923. The district includes also the sub-district of Buxton, containing parts of the parishes of Eachwell, Hope, and Hartington. Acres, 63,248. Poor-rates in 1866, £3,728. Pop. in 1861, 14,020. Houses, 2,692. Marriages in 1866, 110; births, 586,—of which 22 were illegitimate; deaths, 266,—of which 127 were at ages ninder 3 years, and 11 at ages above 85 years. Mariages in the ten years 1851-69, 814; births, 3,826; deaths, 2,513. The places of worship in 1851 were 10 of the church of England, with 3,483 sittings; 2 of Independent dents, with 475 s.; 1 of Baptists, with 150 s.; 17 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 2,795 s.; and 6 of Primitive Methodists, with 500 s. The schools were 14 public day schools, with 1,009 scholars; 15 private day schools, with 336 s.; 25 Sunday schools, with 2,033 s.; and 3 evening schools for adults, with 46 s.

CHAPEL-FOLD, a hamlet in Batley parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 64 miles NW of Wakefield.

CHAPELGATE. See BILSDALE-MIDCARLE and RET-

FORD (EAST).

CHAPEL - HADDLESEV. a township-chapelry in CHAIGE-HAIDELSON, a townsinp-enaperry in Birkin parish, W. R. Yorkshire; on the river Aire, 4½ miles SSW of Selby r. station. Acres, 1,000. Real property, £1,830. Pop., 210. Houses, 47. A three-arched iron bridge here spans the Aire. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Birkin, in the diodese of York.

se of York. There is a Wesleyan chapel. CHAPEL-IIILL, a chapelry in Swineshead parish. Lincoln; near the Lincoln and Boston railway, 3 miles Statistics, with the parish. The living is a p. curacy in the diocese of Lincoln. Value, £47. Patron, the Vicar of Swineshoad

CHAPEL-HILL, a seat in Mardale, Westinoreland; near the head of Hawes water, 6½ miles WSW of Shap. It belougs to the Holmes, descendants of a follower of William the Conqueror; and took its name from a place of worship built by one of them after enduring political of worship blue by one of them are enduling pointers disaster in the time of King John.

CHAPEL-HILL, a parish in Chepstow district, Monmouth; on the river Wye, 4½ miles N of Chepstow r. It contains Tintern Abbey; which has a postoffice under Chepstow. Acres, 820. Real property, £1,503. Pop., 497. Houses, 101. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Llandaff. Value, £00. Patron, the Duke of Beaufort. The church was reported in 1859 as dilapidated. Charities, £63. See TINTERN ABBET.

CHAPEL-HOUSE, a quondam famous inn, 1 mile NE of Chipping-Norton, in Oxford. A chapel of Cold-Norton priory once occupied its site; and stone coffins have been found near it.

CHAPEL-LE-DALE, or INGLETON-FELLS, a chapelry in Bentham parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 5 miles NNE of Bentham r. station, and 101 NW of Settle. Post-town, Bentham I. Station, and Ioy N. W. Secties. Test-town, Bentham, under Lancaster. Pop., 190. The surface is mountainous. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. Value, £122.* Patron, the Rector of Bentham.

CHAPEL (LOWER), a locality 5 miles from Brecon, in

Breconshire; with a post-office under Brecon. CHAPEL-MUMBY, a hamlet in Mumby parish, Lin-

CHAPEL-MOMENT A Manuer in studio partsin, Linicoli; on the coast, 5 in miles ESE of Alford. Pop., 316. CHAPEL (North). See North Chapel. CIIAPEL-PLASTEP, a place 3 miles SW of Corsham, in Wilts. It was, in the Romish times, a resting-place of pilgrims on the way to Glastenbury abbey; and, in last century, the retreat of the notorious highwayman, John Baxter.

CHAPEL-POINT, a headland in Gerran parish, Cornwall; 8 miles S of St. Austell. A ruined chapel is on it. CHAPEL-ROW, a locality 31 miles SE of Bishop-Auckland, in Durham. It has a post-office under Dar-

CHAPEL-SUCKEN, a township in Millom parish, Cumberland; on the river Duddon, 12 miles SE by S of Ravenglass. Acres, 2,054. Real property, £1,893.

Ravenglass. Acres, 2,054. Pop., 291. Houses, 59.

Pop., 291. Houses, 59. CHAPELTHORPE, a chapelry in Great Sandall parish, W. R. Yorkshire: adjacent to the North Midland railway, 3½ miles S of Wakefield. It was constituted in 1843; and it has a post-office under Wakefield. Pop., 2,021. Houses, 431. Many of the inhabitants are coal miners. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Ripon. miners. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lipon-Value, £189. * Patron, the Vicar of Great Sandall. CHAPELTOWN, a railway station and a village in Lancashire; on the Bolton and Blackburn railway, 31 miles N by E of Bolton.

CHAPELTOWN, a sub-district in Hunslet district, R. Yorkshire. It contains Chapel-Allerton and W. R. Yorkshire. It contains Chapel-Allerton and Potter-Newton townships in Lecds porish, Shadwell township in Thorner parish, and Roundhay township in Barwick-in-Elmet parish. Acres, 7,271. Pop., 5,930.

Houses, 1,252

CHAPELTOWN, a chapelry in Ecclesfield parish, W. R. Yorkshire; adjacent to the Sheffield and Barnes-ley railway, 7 miles N of Sheffield. It has a post-office; under Sheffield, and a station, jointly with Thorncliffe, on the railway. It was constituted in 1811. Pop., 4,063. Houses, 797. Many of the inhabitants are colliers. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of York. Value, £300. Patron, alternately the Crown and the Bishop. The church was built in 1860. There are three dissenting chapels, two public schools, and endowed alms houses with £150 a-year.

CHAPELTOWN, a hamlet in Tawstock parish, De-

CHAPELWICK, a hamlet in Ashbury parish, Berks.
CHAPELYATE. See BILSDALE-MIDGABLE.
CHAPMAN-BARROWS, a mountain in the western part of Exmoor; on the confines of Somerset and Devon.
Its altitude is 1,549 feet.

CHAPMAN-SAND, a shoal in the Thames; off the south side of Canvey island. A beacon is on it. south side of Canvey island. A beacon is on it. CHAPMANSLADE, a village in Westbury, Uptou-Scudamore, and Corsley parishes, Wilts; 33 miles SW of Westbury. It has a post-office under Westbury, a church built in 1867, and an Independent chapel. CHAPMAN'S POOL, a small bay on the coast of Dorset; immediately west of St. Alban's head, and 31 miles

S of Corfe-Castle. A lofty eminence of Kimmeridge clay, rising from cliffs, overhangs it; and contains beds of bituminous shale which have long been in slow combus-

CHAPPEL. See CHAPEL, ESSEX. CHAR (THE). See CAR (THE).

CHARBOROUGH, a hamlet in Morden parish, Dorset; on an affluent of the river Stour, 6 miles W of Wimborne-Minster. It was formerly a separate parish; and it still ranks as a rectory, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, not reported. Patron, Mrs. Draz. Charborough House, formerly the seat of the Erlcs, now the seat of the Draxes, has on the ceiling of the staircase a painting of the Judgment of Paris by Thornhill; and the park contains a small building in which the revolution of 1688 was concerted, and a conspicuous obelisk.

CHARD, a town, a parish, a sub-district, and a district in Somerset. The town stands on high ground at a watershed between the Bristol and the English channels, within a mile of the boundary with Dorset, 31 miles E of the boundary with Devon, and 13 SSE of Taumton; and is connected by a branch railway of 3 miles with the trunk line of the South-western, at Chard Junction. It was known to the Saxons as Cerdre; was visited, in 1644, by Charles I., on his return from Cornwall; was the scene of a defeat of the royalists, under the conduct of Col. Penruddock; and witnessed a sanguinary execution, in 1685, in connexion with the affair of the Duke of Monmouth. It comprises three chief thoroughfares; presents an irregular appearance, with very much recent improvement; and has a head post-office, a railway station, two banking-offices, a town-hall, an assembly room, a parish church, tour dissenting chapels, a grammar school, a national school, an alms-house, with £844 a-year, a workhouse; two large iron-foundries, and two large lace factories. The town-hall is a recent erection, in the Tuscan style; with market-hall; and superseded an ancient Gothic one. The church is later English, long, low, and cruciform; was restored in 1828; has a window, representing Christ in the garden, put up in 1829; and contains an elaborate monument of 1614. An Independent chapel, at a cost of £3,000, was built in 1869. attended markets are held on Mondays; and fairs on the first Wednesday of May, Aug., and Nov. A good trade exists in agricultural produce; and was much aided by a canal northward to the Bridgewater and Taunton canal, 3 miles E of Taunton. The town was made a borough in the time of Edward I.; sent members to parliament till the time of Edward III.; and is now governed by a mayor, four aldermen, and twelve councillors. The borough formerly comprised only 52 acres; but new comprises about 180. Real property, ±6,102. Pop., 2,276. Houses, 446. Sandford, the divine of the 16th century, and Sir Simou Every, who figured as a royalist in the civil war, were natives. The branch railway of 3 miles to the town was authorized in 1860, and opened in the spring of 1863. Another railway, called the Chard and Taunten, 154 miles long to connect the Chard line with the Bristol and Exeter, was authorized in 1861, to be completed within four years; but the scheme for it broke down in 1863, was then transferred to the Bristol and Exeter, and was in operation in 1869.

The parish includes also the tythings of Old Chard, South Chard, Criv. Chard, and Forton and Tatworth.

Acres, 5,449. Real property, £20,144. Pop., 5,316. Houses, 1,037. The property is much subdivided. Snowdon, a high hill, connected with the Black Downs, rises immediately above the town; and commands a magnificent prospect over Somerset and Devon. Several barrows, called Robin Hood's butts, and traditionally associated with the exploits of Robin Hood and Little John, are on Bath and Wells. The vicarage of Tatworth is a separate The sub-district contains also the parishes of Chaffcombe, Winsham, and Cricket-St. Thomas. Acres, 10,276. Pop., 6,661. Houses, 1,307. The district The district comprehends likewise the sub-district of Crewkerne, containing the parishes of Crewkerne, Wayford, Cudworth, Chillington, Dinnington, Hinton-St. George, Lopen, and Merriott; the sub-district of Ilminster, containing the parishes of Ilminster, Shepton-Beauchamp, Stocklinch-Magulalen, Stocklinch-Ottersey, Seavington-St. Michael, Seavington-St. Mary, White Lackington, Kingstone, Dowlish-Wake, West Dowlish, Cricket-Malherbie, Donvatt, Ilton, Ashill, and Broadway; and the sub-district of Combe-St. Nicholas, containing the parishes of Combe-St Nicholas. Buckland-St. Mary, White Staunton, St. Nicholas, Buckland-St. Mary, White Staunton, Knowle-St. Giles, Yarcombe, and Wambrook,—the last Allowests, further and the state electorally in Dorset, the next last electorally in Dorset, the next last electorally in Devon. Acres, 66,342. Foor-rates in 1866, £12,752. Pop. in 1861, 25,551. Honses, 5,224. Marriages in 1866, 179; births, 840,—of which 51 were illegitimate; deaths, 41,—of which 153 were at ages under 5 years, and 13 at ages above 85. Marriages in the ten years 1851-60, 1,860; bitths, 8,183; deaths, 5,264. The places of worship in 1851 were 33 of the Church of England, with 11,097 sittings; 6 of Independents, with 2,173 s.; 8 of Baptists, with 2,100 s.; 2 of Unitarians, with 276 s.; 10 of Wesleyan Methodists, with 1,408 s.; 2 of Bible Christians, with 160 s.; 2 of Latter Day Saints, with 90 s.; and 2 undefined, with 190 s. The schools were 26 puband 2 nucenned, with 190 s. The schools were 25 public day schools, with 1,850 scholars; 39 private day schools, with 4,523 s.; and 1 evening school for adults, with 10 s. CHARD AND TAUNTON RAILWAY. See CHARD. CHARD (CHM), a tything in Chard parish, Somerset; a mile N of Chard. Pop., 517.

CHARD (OLD), a tything in Chard parish, Somerset.

Pop., 1,331. CHARD-JUNCTION, formerly CHARD-ROAD, a railway station near the confines of Somerset and Dorset; on the South-western railway, 7 miles WSW of Crewkerne. CHARD (South), a tything in Chard parish, Somer-set; 2 miles S by E of Chard. 1t includes the hamlet set; 2 mines so pt of Chard. It includes the named of Chilson, and part of the hamlet of Perry-street; and has a post-office under Chard. Pop., 471. CHARDSTOCK, a village, a parish, and a sub-district in the district of Axminster, and cornty of Dorset. The village stands on the river Kitbridge, near the Yeovil and Exeter railway, between the Chard-Road and Axminster stations, 31 miles SSW of Chard; and has a post-office under Chard, and a fair on Old Michaelmas day. The parish comprises 5,800 acres. Real property, with Wambrook, £9,543. Pop., 1,461. Houses, 233. The property is much subdivided. A number of the inhabitants are employed in woollen mills. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £450.* Patron, the Bishop of Salisbury. The church was rebuilt in 1340. Charities, £82. The sub-district contains three parishes. Acres, 17, 447. Pop., 3,827. Houses, 714. CHARDSTOCK-ALL SAINTS, a chapelry in Chard-stock and Axminster parishes, Dorset and Devon; adsoos and Aminister parishes, Dorset and Devon; adjecent to the Yeovil and Exeter railway, 2 miles NNE of Axminister. Post-towo, Axminister. The chapelry was constituted in 1840. Pop., 453. Houses, 93. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £300,  Patron, the vicus of Chardstock.

CHARFIELD, a parish in Thornbury district, Gloucester; on an affluent of the Severn, and on the Glowester and Bristol railway, under the Cotswolds, 2 miles N of Wickwar. It has a station on the railway, and a post-office under Wotten-under-Edge. Acres, 1,369. Real property, £3,977. Pop., 629. Houses, 137. The property is divided among a few. The living is a rectory in the dionese of G. and Bristol. Value, £351.* Putron, Sir J. Neeld, Eart. The church is ancient and good.

There are an Independent chapel and an endowed school.
CHARFORD, a hamlet in South Brent parish, Devon.
CHARFORD (NORTH), a parish in Fordingbridge dis-CHARTORD (AGERII), a parisis in Forumgorage district, Hants; on the river Avon, at the verge of the county, 61 miles SSE of Salisbury r. station. Posttown, Downton, under Salisbury. Acres, 570. Red, property, 21,045. Pop., 70. Honses, 15. It was known to the Saxons as Cerdicesford; and is said to have taken that name from Cerdic having formed his court at or near it, on the founding of Wessex. It has no coclesiastical status; and its church is in ruins.

CHARFORD (South), a parish in Fordingbridge district, Hants; formerly reckoned a tything of North Char-ford, and lying contiguous to it, 7 miles SSE of Salis-bury. Acres, 833. Real property, £1,068. Pop., 70. Houses, 13. It has no ecclesiastical status.

CHARING, a village and a parish in West Ashford district, Keut. The village stands on the necent road called the Pilgrims' way, near the source of the Len, 5 miles N by E of Pluckley r. station, and 54 NW of Ashford. It is an ancient place, known at Domesday as Cheringes; and it has a post-office; under Ashford, an inn, and fair; on 29 April, and 29 Oct. The parish com-prises 4,551 a.res. Real property, £7,610. Pop. 1,285. Houses, 255. The property is divided among a few. The manor belong a early to the see of Canterbury; was held some time by the Saxon kings; reverted to the Archsome time of the Saxon kings; reserted to the Archishops; was given up by Cranmer to Henry VIII.; and passed to the Whelers of Otterden. A palace of the Archishops stood here; was rebuilt in the 14th century; and gave onte tainment to Henry VII. and Henry VIII.
The edifice was in the early decorated style, and badly The edifice was in the early accounted style, executed; and considerable ruins of it still exist. The £475.* Patrons, the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's. The church was chiefly rebuilt after a destruction of it by fire in 1590, but retains portions in early English and perpendicular; and it contains monuments of the Erents, the Sayers, the Honeywoods, and Mrs. Ludwell. A school, founded by Mrs. Ludwell, who died in 1765, has £SS a-year from endowment, and two exhibitions at Oriel college CHARING-CROSS, a sub-district and a railway in London. The sub-district is part of the parish and district of St. Martin-in-the-Fields; includes St. James There of St. Jardin-in-the-rieus; inclines St. Jarnes Palace and Whitchall; and comprises 241 acres of land and 22 of the Thames. Pop., 11,071. Houses, 1,248. The railway was authorised in 1859-61, to go from Charing Cross to the South-Eastern at London bridge, and thence, across the Thames, to Cannon-street; and was opened to London bridge in 1864, to Cannon-street in 1866.

CHARINGWORTH, a hamlet in Ebrington parish,

CHARLBURY, a small town, a parish, and a sub-district, in Chipping-Norton district, Oxford. The town stands on an eminence, adjacent to the river Evenlode, and to the Oxford and Worcester railway, near Cornbury Park and Wychwood Forest, 6 miles SE of Chipping-Norton; and has a station on the railway, a post-oifice; under Enstone, a banking-office, an inn, a church, several dissenting chapels, and a grammar-school. The church is variously Norman, early English, and decorated; has a tower of the 13th century; and contains monuments of the Somersets and the Jenkinsons. The grammarschool has £40 a-year from endowment, with two exhibitions at Brasenose college; and other charities have £70. A weekly market is held on Friday; fairs are held on 1 Jan., the second Friday in Lent, the second Friday after 13 May and 11 Oct.; and some trade is done in glove-making and leather-dressing.—The parish contains also the humlets of Finstock, Fawler, and Walcott, the tything of West Challington, and the chapelries of Shorthampton and East Challington. Acres, 11,320. Real property, £15,117. Pop., 1,388. Houses, 301. The property is much subdivided. The manor belonged to the Mercian kings; was given by them to the Bishops of Lincoln; passed to the Abbey of Eusham; and went, at the dissolution, to St. John's College, Oxford. The living is a vicarage, united to the p. curacies of Shorthampton and Chadlington, in the diocese of Oxford. Value, £800. Patron, St. John's College, Oxford. The ricarage of Finstock is a separate benefice. The subdistrict contains eight parishes, part of another parish, and two extra-parochial tracts. Acres, 40,288. Pop., 8,915. Houses, 1.863.

397

CHARLCOMBE, a parish in Bath district, Somerset; near the Great Western rudway, 1½ mile N of Bath. Post-town, Bath. Acres, 571. Real property, 25,604. Pop., 378. Houses, 37. The property is divided among a few. Water-works are here for supplying the city of Bath. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £200. Patrons, the Mayor and Corpora-tion of Bath. The church is ancient and curious, but tion of Bath. good; and the churchyard contains a very old yew-tree.

CHARLOTE, a village and a parish in Stratford-on-Avon district, Warwick. The village stands on the river Avon, 03 miles W of the Fosse way, and 44 ENE of Stratford-on-Avon r. station. The parish includes also the hamlets of Thelsford and Hunscote; and its posttown is Hampton-Lucy, under Warwick. Acres, 2,190. Beal property, £4,025. Pop. 245. Houses, 54. The manor, with all the property, belongs to Henry Lucy, Est. The Lucys have been in possession since the time of Richard I. The manor-house, Charlcote House, was built in 1553, by Sir Thomas Lucy, believed to be the Justice Shallow of Shakspeare. It forms three sides of a quadrangle; shows all the characteristics of the Tudor rehitecture; has been altered and renovated in strict keeping with its original character; has a gatehouse with an oriel window, flanked by octagon towers, and stands in an extensive well-wooded park. The great hall is believed to have been the scene of Shakleare's examination, consequent on his deer-stealing exploit; and retains many of the features which it originally possessed. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Worcester. Value, £183. Patron, Honry Lucy, Esq. The church was rebuilt in 1853, in the decorated style of the 14th century; and the Lucy chapel, separated from the chancel by a richly carved oaken screen, contains the tannument of Sir Thomas Lucy and his lady by Bernini, and two other interesting monuments. Charities, £10.

CHARLCOTT, a tything in Whitehurch parish, Hants; near Whitchurch. Pop., 22.

CHARLCOTT, a tything in Brembill parish, Wilts;

31 miles N of Calne.

CHARLES, a village and a parish in South Molton district, D-von. The village stands on the river Bray, 5 miles NNW of South Molton, and 9 E of Barn-taple t. station. The parish includes also the handet of Brav-7. staton. The partsh includes also the name of bray-ford. Post-town, South Molton, North Devon. Acres, 2,429. Real property, £2,527. Pop., 356. Houses, 7.5. The property is subdivided. The manor belongs to 7.5. The property is subdividued. The mander of land Skr T. D. Acland, Bart. The living is a rectory in the discess of Exeter. Value, £390.7 Patron, the Rev. R. Blackmore. The church is perpendicular English, with CHARLES THE MARTYR, a sub-district in the district of Plymouth, and a parish in the districts of Plymonth and Plympton-St. Mury, Devon. The sub-district is part of the borough of Plymouth. Acres, 876 of land, and 249 of water. Pop., 23,309. Houses, 2,121.

—The parish includes also the tything of Compton-Giffor L. Acres, 1,517 of land, and 240 of water. Pop., 24,270. Houses, 2,561. The living is a vicanage, with the p. curvy of Compton-Gilford, in the diocese of Exeter. Value, 2575. Patrons, the Executors of the late Sir C. Bishopp, Bart. See Plymouth.

CHARLESTON. See Astron-Under Lyne. CHARLESTOWN, a six discaport town and a chapelry in St. Austell parish, Cornwall. The town stands on the coast, 2 indies SE of St. Andell; is a sub-port to Fewey; and has a post-office under St. Austell. It was founded, coards the close of last century, by Charles Rashheigh, Log; has had been and docks, of capacity for large ships; has also building-yards and pilchard fisheries: carries on a large export trade in lime, china-clay, and other mineral produce; and is connected, by tram railway, with St. Austell, and with extensive tin mines of its own name, Austein, and with extensive in mines of its own name, employing about 430 hands.—The chaptery includes the town; and was constituted in 1846. Pop., 3,367. Houses, 675. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Exeter. Value, £160. Patron, alternately the Crown and the Bishop. The clurch is good.

and the Bishop. The church is good.
CHARLESTOWN, a village and a chapely in North-CHARLESTOWN, a village and a chapely in North-owram township, Hallika parish, W. R. Yorkshire; 2 niles NE of Hallika. The chapelry was constituted in 1861; and its post-town is Hallika. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of York. Valne, £300. Patron, the Vicar of Hallika. The church was built in 1860. CHARLESTOWN, a chapelry in Eccles parish, Lancashire; adjacent to the Manchester and Preston railway, near the river Irwell, in the northern part of Salford, suburban to Manchester. Post-town, Manchester. Pop., about 5,000. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £300. Patron, the Bishop of Man-

CHARLESWORTH, a township and a chapelry in CHARLESWORTH, a township and a enaperty in Glossop parish, Derby. The township lies on the river Etherow, near the High Peak, 14 mile SSW of Glossop r. station, and 2 N of Chapel-en-le-Frith; and has a post-office under Manchester. Pop., 1,565. Houses, 206. The chapelry is more extensive than the township; and was constituted in 1845. Pop., 2,564. Houses, 508. The property is all in one estate. The inhabitants are chiefly cotton spinners and colliers. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Lichfield. Value, £150.* Patron, alternately the Crown and the Bishop. The church is modern; and there are chapels for Independents, Baptists, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists.

CHARLETON, a village and a parish in Kingsbridge district, Devon. The village stands on a sea-crock, 2 miles SSE of Kingsbridge, and 11 S by E of Kingsbridge Road r. station; and is a straggling place, in two parts, called East and West. The parish includes also the cancel East and West. The parish includes also the handlets of Goveton, Lidstone, and part of Frogmore Post-town, Kingsbridge. Acres, 2,779; of which 406 are water. Real property, with Sherford, £7,451. Pop., 568. Honses, 127. The living is a rectory in the dio-cese of Exeter. Value, £522.* Patron, Mis. J. Twysden. The church is ancient; consists of nave, chancel, and aisles, with a tower; and has an ancient carved screen.

CHARLETON, Derks, &c. See Charleton, CHARLETON (Queen), a parish in Keynsham dis-trict, Somerset; near Wans Dyke, 2 miles SW of Keyns-ham r. station, and 5 SE of Bristol. Post-town, Keynsham, under Bristol. Acres, 955. Real property, 21,956. Pep., 141. Houses, 31. The property is all in one estate. The manor belonged to Keynisham abbey; and was given by Henry VIII. to Queen Catherine. The essue. The manor belonged to Reynslam abbey; and was given by Henry VIII. to Queen Catherine. The gateway of the Abbey-grange, a Norman structure, still stands. The living is a vicanage in the diocese of Bathwall W. L. Villia and M. V. Villia a and Wells. Value, £65. Patron, Mrs. Dickinson. The church was recently restored.

CHARLEY, or Charnwood, an extra-parochial tract in Loughborough district, Leicester; on the Wolds, near Charnwood forest, 54 miles SW of Loughborough. Acres, 500. Real property, £670. Pop., 34. Houses, 5. Augustinian friary was founded here, in the time of Henry H , by the Blanchmains; and some remains of it exist. CHARLEYMOUNT, a locality 2 miles from Wednesbury, in Stafford; with a post-office under Wednesbury. CHARLINCH, or CHARLIDGE, a parish in Bridge-water district. Somerset: on an adduct of the river Parnet, near the Quantock hills, 4 miles W by N of Bridgewater r. station. Post-town, Bridgewater. Acres, 1,432. Assessed property, £1,916. Pop., 241. Houses, 44. The property is divided among a few. The Agape-none or Love's Abode here is an establishment of Com-nunists, nonded by Henry James Prince, originally a curate, and called after him Princites. The living is a Patron, Lord Taunton. The church is old but g.ed. There are a national school and charities £9.

CHARLTON, a hamlet in Wantage parish, Berks; adjacent to the Berks and Wilts canal, near the Great Western railway, 1 mile NE of Wantage. Real property, £2,708. Pop., 255. Houses, 53. The hamlet forms a curacy with Wantage, in the diocese of Oxford; and is a meet for the Vale of White Horse hounds. Charlton House belonged once to the Wilmots; was visited in the control of the Wilmots; was visited in the control of the Wilmots; was visited in the control of the wall of t their time, by Charles I.; and passed to the Freemans.

CHARLTON, a hundred in Berks. It marches with Hants, at the Blackwater river; is 7 miles long; and contains Barkham and Finchampstead parishes, and parts of three others. Acres, 18,840. Pop., 3,202. Houses, 660.

CHARLTON, a tything in Henbury parish, Gloucester;
5 miles N of Bristol. Acres, 1,320. Real property,
£2,548. Pop., 425. Houses, 88.
CHARLTON, a tything in Tetbury parish, Gloncester; near Tetbury. Real property, £1,890.
CHARLTON, a hamlet in Andover parish, Hants; within Andover borough. Pop., 323.
CHARLTON, a hamlet in Sunbury parish, Middlesex;
21 miles Ex. of Spring. Pop. 106.

31 miles SE of Staines. Pop., 106. CHARLTON, a hamlet in Newbottle and Kings-Sutton parishes, Northampton; 4 miles W by S of Brackley. Pop., 446. There is an Independent chapel.

Pop., 446. There is an Independent chapel. CHARLTON, a township in Wrockwardine parish, Salop; 31 miles W of Wellington. Pop., 101. CHARLTON, a hamlet in Kilmersdon parish, Somerset; 64 miles WNW of Frome. Pop., 241.

CHARLTON, a hamlet, partly extra-parochial, partly in Shepton-Mallet parish, Somerset; 1½ mile E of Shepton-Mallet.

CHARLITON, a hamlet in Cropthorne parish, Worcester; near the river Avon, 2 miles NW of Evesham.

op., 374. There is a Baptist chapel. CHARLTON, a hamlet in Singleton parish, Sussex;

51 miles S of Midhurst.

CHARLTON, a tything in Donhead-St. Mary parish, Wilts; 75 miles S of Hindon. It forms a curacy with Donhead-St. Mary, in the diocese of Salisbury; but its church is in ruins.

CHARLTON, a chapelry in Downton and Standlinch parishes, Wilts; on the river Avon, 4 miles SSE of Salisbury. It was constituted in 1851; and it has a post-office under Salisbury. Pop., 393. Houses, 74. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury.

Value, not reported. Patron, the Vicar of Downton.
CHARLTON, a parish in Malmsbury district, Wilts;
21 miles NE of Malmsbury, and 4 WSW of Minety r. station. It has a post-office under Chippenham. Acres, 4,780. Real property, £4,926. Pop., 621. Houses, 129. The property is not much divided. The manor belonged to Malmsbury abbey; passed to the Knevits; and belongs now to the Earl of Suffolk. The mansion on it, Charlton House, is a stately edifice, of Jacobean architecture, with west front by Inigo Jones; contains a large collection of valuable paintings; and was frequently visited by the poet Dryden. The living is a vicarage, annaxed to the vicarage of Westport, in the diocess of Cloucester and Bristol. The church is early English; and contains the burial-vault of the Earls of Suffolk. Charities, £10.

CHARLTON, a parish in Pewsey district, Wilts; on CHARLION, a parish in Pewsey district, Wilts; on the river Aron, near Salisbury plain, 3; miles Sof Wood-borough r. station, and 8; SE by E of Devizes. Post-town, Pewsey, under Mariborough. Acres, 1,706. Real property, £1,835. Pop., 222. Houses, 44. The pro-perty is divided among three. An alien priory was founded here, in 1157, by Reginald de Raveley; given, at the suppression of alien monasteries, to St. Catherine's hospital; and transferred, in the time of Edward VI., to hospital; and transferred, in the time of Casterley. The the Sheringtons. A Roman camp is at Casterley. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Salisbury. 2143. Patron, Christ Church, Oxford. The church is old but excellent; with a tower; and has a mutal buss of 1524. Stephen Duck, the author of the "Thrasher's Labour," was a native.

CHARLTON, a station on the Border Counties railway in Northumberland; at Charlton-East-Quarter and

Charlton-West-Quarter townships, 21 miles NW of Bellingham

CHARLTON, Devon. See CHARLETON. CHARLTON, Dorset. See CHARLTON-MARSHALL. CHARLTON, Kent. See CHARLTON-NEAR-DOVER and CHARLTON-NEXT-WOOLWICH.

CHARLTON-ABBOTS, a parish in Winchcomb district, Gloucester; under the Cotswolds, 24 miles S by E of Winchcomb, and 6 E by N of Cheltenham r. station. of Winencomn, and 6 L by X of Chertemann I. Samton.
Post-town, Winehcomb, under Chelfenham. Acres,
2,190. Real property, £1,247. Pop., 109. Houses, 18.
The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Glouester and Bristol. Value, £38. Patron, C. J. Chamberlayne, Bristol. Value, £38. Esa The church is old.

Esq. The church is old.
CHARLTON-ADAM, a parish in Langport district, Somerset; on the Fosse way, 23 miles NNE of Martock r. station, and 7 ENE of Langport. Post-town, Charlton-Mackrell, under Taunton. Acres, with Charlton-Mackrell, 3,910. Real property of C.-A. only, 22,011. Pop., 530. Houses, 119. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath a tew. The fiving is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £137. Patron, the Rev. Guy Bryan. The church is later English. There is a Wesleyan chapel. CHARLTON-BY-DOVER. See CHARLTON-NEAR-

CHARLTON CROSS, an extra-parochial tract in Som-

CHARLTON CROSS, an extra-parochial tract in Somerset; 51 miles N of Frome.
CHARLTON-EAST-QUARTER, a township in Bellingham parish, Northumberland; on the North Tyne river, and the Border Counties railway, 2 miles NW of Bellingham. Pop., 119. Honses, 25. See CHARLTON. Bellingham. Pop., 119. Honses, 25. See CHARLTON. CHARLTON-HORETHORNE, a parish in Wincanton district, Somerset; 3 miles N of Milborne-Port r. station, and 51 SW of Wincauton. It has a post-office under Sherborne. Acres, 2,363. Real projecty, 24,331. Pop., 506. Houses, 122. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £384. Patron, the Marquis of Anglesey. The church was restored in 1846. There are Anglesey. Angesey. The Child was resolted in 1940. There are a Weslevan chapel, a national school, and charities £11. CHARLTON-KINGS, a parish and a sub-district in Cheltenham district, Gloucester. The parish lies in the south-eastern environs of Cheltenham, nominally 13 mile south-eastern environs of the retentian, nominary 12 inner distant; and has a post-office under Chelterham. Aeres, 3,170. Real property, £17,974. Pop., 3,442. Houses, 741. The property is much subdivided. Charlton Park is a chief residence. There are mineral springs. The living is a vicarage in the diocesse of Gloucester and Bristol. Value, £177. Patron, Jesus College, Oxford. The church is later English, with enlargement in 1842; and has a tower. The churchyard contains a stone cross. There are a Wesleyan chapel, national schools, and chari-ties £69.—The sub-district comprises all Cheltenham district, except Cheltenham parish. Acres, 21,136. Pop., 10,099. Houses, 2,083.

CHARLTON-MACKRELL, a parish in Langport district, Somerset; on the river Cary and the Fosse way, 31 miles N of Martock r. station, and 51 ENE of Langport. It includes the hamlets of Cary-Fitzpaine and Lytescary; It includes the hamlets of Cary-ritzpaine and by tescary, and has a post-office under Taunton. Acres, with Charton-Adam, 3,910. Real property of C.-M. only, £2,637. Pop., 387. Houses, 77. The property is divided among Pop., 387. a few. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Eath and Wells. Value, £490.* Patron, John Brymer, Esq. The church was recently restored. There are endowed schools with £45 a-year, and charities £8. CHARLTON-MARSHALL, a parish in Blandford district, Dorset; on the river Stour, near the Blandford railway, 2 miles S of Blandford-Forum. It has a postranking, 2 miles 5 of Education Friend. It has a post-office, of the name of Charlton, under Blandford. Acres, 2,109. Real property, £2,732. Pop., 553. Houses, 114. The property is divided among a few. Roman coins have been found. The parish is a meet for the Blackmoor harriers. The living is a p. curacy, annexed to the rectory of Spetisbury, in the diocese of Salisbury. The church was built in 1727; and contains a monument of Wake, the founder of the corporation for the sons of the clergy. There is an Independent chapel. CHARLTON-MUSGROVE, a parish in Wincanton district, Somerset; on the river Cale, near the Somerset and Dorset railway, I mile NNW of Wincauton r. station. Post-town, Wincanton, under Bath. Acres, 2,153. Real property, 23,762. Pop., 418. Houses, 103. Part of the land is recently enclosed common. Tale living is a rectory in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Value, £463. Patron, the Rev. Paul Leir. The church is decorated English; and has a fine tower. There are a Baptist chapel and a national school. CHARLTON-NEAR-DOVER, a parish in Dover district, Kent; on the river Donr and the Southcastern railway, contiguous to the north side of Dover, and mostly within Dover borough. It has a post-office; of the name of Charlton, under Dover. Acres, 381. Rated property, £7,254. Pop., 4,993. Houses, 761. The property is much subdivided. The surface is hilly and picturesque; and there are paper, oil, and corn mills. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £93. Patron, the Rev. J. Monins. The church was rebuilt in 1820. There is a national school.

CHARLTON (New), a locality in Charlton-next-Woolwich parish, Kent; between Charlton-next-Woolwich village and the Thames. It has a post-office under See next article. Charlton.

CHARLTON-NEXT-WOOLWICH, a village and a swich in I owisham district. Kent. The village lies parish in Lewisham district, Kent. The village lies among the low hills between Blackheath and Woolwich, adjacent to the North Kent railway, near the river Thames, 8 miles E by S of London Bridge; and has a station on the railway, and a post-office under London S. E., both of the name of Charlton. It formerly was a market town; and it still has a famous fair on 18 Oct., known as Horn Fair. The parish comprises 1,251 acres of land and 91 of water. Real property, £36, 162. Pop., 8,472. Houses, 1,117. The manor was given by William Rufus to Bermondsey abbey; went, at the dissolution, to the Newtons; passed to the Langhornes, the Ducies, and the Maryons; and belongs now to Sir T. M. Wilson, Bart. Charlton House was built, about 1612, by Sir Adam Newton; forms a fine specimen of the architecture of its age; contains a good portrait of Henry, Prince of Wales, to whom Sir Adam Newton acted as tutor; was the death-place, in 1679, of Lord Doune; and is now the scat of Sir T. M. Wilson. The grounds connected with it have some very old cypresses; the "Hanging Wood," adjoining it, affords a charming walk; and some sand-pits in the vicinity present great attrac-tions to geologists. A farm-house in the parish, called Cherry Garden, is said to have been erected by Inigo Cherry Garden, is said to have been erected by Inigo Jones for his own residence. Several handsome villas have recently been built. The living is a rectory in the diocese of London. Value, £350.* Patron, Sir T. M. Wilson, Bart. The church is a plain brick editiec of 1640. The rectories of St. Thomas and St. Paul, and the chapelries of Elackheath Park and St. Germans-Dlackheath, are separate charges. Value of St. Thomas. £400; * of St. Paul, £286. Patron of both, Sir J. M. Wilson, Bart. St. Thomas church stands at New Charlton; is a handsome structure; and was built in 1850, at n-cost of £5,000. St. Paul's church was built in 1867; is in the second pointed style, cruciform, and highly ornate; and has a SW tower and spire. There are a Wesleyan chapel, the cottages on Woolwich Common, Morden college for decayed merchants, national schools, Langhorne's school and alms-houses, and other charities £80. CHARLTON (North), a township in Ellingham pa-

CHARLION (AORII), a townsing in Amagana parish, Northumberland; 64 miles N by W of Almwick, Acres, 2,731. Pop., 184. Houses, 43.
CHARLION (South), a township-chapelry in Elling-

CHARILON (SOCIETA, a township-enaperty in Lining-ham parisk, Northumberland, 31 miles SW of Christon B.nk r. station, and 5 NNW of Alnwick. Post-town, Rock, under Alnwick. Acres, 1,896. Pop., 153. Houses, 25. The living is a p. curacy in the discose of Durham. Value, £200. Patron, the Duke of Northumberland. The church was built in 1862.

CHARLTON-UPON-OTMOOR, a village and a parish in Bicester district, Oxford. The village stands adjacent to the river Ray, near the Roman road over Otmoor, and near the Oxford and Bletchley railway, 24 miles NE of Islip r. station, and 5 SSW of Bicester. The parish includes also the handets of Fencott and Mureott. Posttown, Islip, under Oxford. Acres, 1.864. Real property, £1,831. Pop., 687. Houses, 152. The property is much subdivided. Part of the land is marshy. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Oxford. Value, not reported. * Patron, Queen's College, Oxford. The church is cruciform, carly English, and good; and contains a richly-carved oaken rood screen, stone stalls, and an ancient brass. There are chapels for Eaptists, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists.

CHARLTON-WEST-QUARTER, a township in Bellingham parish, Northumberland; on the North Tyne river and the Border Counties railway, 21 miles NW of Tiver and the border Commiser rations, 2,3 mines Now Bellingham. Pop., 181. Houses, 39. See Charlton. CHARLWOOD, a parish in Reigate district, Surrey, on an affluent of the tirer Mole, 3g miles SW by W of Horley r. station, and 6½ S by W of Reigate. It has a post-office under Crawley. Acres, 7,000. Real property. £6,668. Pop., 1,542. Houses, 268. The property is subdivided. Charlwood Park and Charlwood Place are suburweed. Characterist and Characterist chief residences. The living is a rectory in the diocess of Winchester. Value, 2550.* Patron, H. C. Wise, Esq. The church is partly Norman, and was repaired in 1859. There are an Independent chapel, an endowed school, and charities £28.

CHARMINSTER, a village and a parish in Dorchester district, Dorset. The village stands on a branch of the district, Dorset. The ringe stands on a radiation of river Froom, adjacent to the Dorchester and Yeovil rail-way, 2 miles NNW of Dorchester; and has a post-office under Dorchester. The parish contains also the hamlets of Burton and Forston, and the county lunatic asylum. Acres, 4,095. Real property, £2,608. Pop., 1,020. Houses, 148. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, united with the vicarage of Stratton, in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £137. Patron, Henry Pickard, Esq. The church is very good.

CHARMOUTH, a village and a parish in the district of Axminster and county of Dorset. The village stands on the coast, at the month of the river Char, under Charmonth hill, adjacent to the line of a Roman road, 2 miles NE by E of Lyme-Regis, and 63 W of Bridport r. station. It occupies the site of the Cauca Arixa of the Remans; is itself an ancient place; and consists now of one long street, or edificed road, with a sprinkling of villas, on a declivity. It was the scene of two battles, in 830 and 840, between the Saxons and the Danes; and the scone of a narrow escape of Charles II, from capture, on the eve of his embarkation for France after the battle of Worcester. It has a post-office ; under Bridport, and two chief inns; is a watering-place and a coast-guard station; was once a market-town; and contains an old cottage, originally part of an inn, in which Charles II. spent the night of his peril. The parish comprises 433 acres of land and 85 of water. Real property, £3,344. Pop., 678. Houses, 151. Charmouth Hill is about 1,000 feet high; and was called by Hutchins the Plinlimmon of Dorset. The ground rises from the sea in cliffs and dark slopes; and presents features of great interest to geologists.

A part of the cliffs, rich in pyrites, ignited in 1531; and another part underwent a great hindslip, with a shock like an earthquake, in 1839. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Salisbury. Value, £159. Patron, J. Hunt, Fsq. The church was rebuilt about 1503; on 1 contains a screen and some curious old oaken carvings. There are chapels for Independents and Wesleyans, and charities £48.

CHARNDON, a hamlet in Twyford parish, Bucks; 61 miles SSW of Buckingham. Acres, 1,880. Real property, 22,070. Pop., 170. Houses, 41. CHARNES, a township in Eccleshall parish, Stafford; near the river Sow, 14 miles XW of Eccleshall. Acres, 570. Pop., 107. Houses, 13.

CHARNEY, a chapelry in Longworth parish, Berks; on the river Ook, 3 miles NE by N of Faringdon-Road r. station, and 43 NNW of Wantage. Post-town, Longworth, under Faringdon. Acres, 1,220. Real property, £1,946. Pop., 21. Houses, 53. The property is divided among a few. The living is a vicarage, annexed to the rectory of Longworth, in the diocese of Oxford. The church has a Norman deorway, and is good. CHARNHAM-STREET, a tything in Hungerford parish, Wilts; about a mile from Hungerford. 2,490. Pop., 450. Houses, 95.

490. Pop., 450. Houses, 95. CHARNOCK-HEATH, a township in Standish parish, Lancashire; on the Bolton and Preston railway, at Adlington station, 21 miles SE by S of Chorley. Acres, 1,596. Real property, £4,207; of which £450 are in mines, and £230 in quarries. Pop., 772. Houses, 150.

There are brickworks and a cotton-mill.

CHARNOCK-RICHARD, a township-chapelry in Standish parish, Lancashire; adjacent to the Wigan and Preston railway, near Coppull station, 3 miles SW by Preston railway, near Coppuir station, o mices Survey, W of Chorley. Post-town, Coppull, under Chorley. Acres, 1,948. Real property. £6,253; of which £2,700 are in mines. Pop., 899. Houses, 161. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £141.* ate in mines. 101, 638. Moses, 101. The Invige a vicange in the diocese of Manchester. Value, £[41.* Patron, James Darlington, Esq. The church was built in 1861; is in the perpendicular English style; and consists of nave and chancel, with tower and vestry.

CHARNWOOD-FOREST, a bare hilly tract, about 20 miles in circuit, in the NE of Leicester; near Charley, 5 miles SW of Loughborough. It was disforested after the Conquest. It consists chiefly of trap rocks; but includes slate, freestone, and coal. Its highest ground is Bardon hill: which has an altitude of 853 feet, and commands a very extensive view. Charley hermitage and Ulvescroft priory were within it; and a monastery of St. Bernard was built in it, near Bardon hill, in 1845, and has a chapel, a chapter-house, and cloisters in the early Euglish style. The three vicarages of Oaks, Copt-Oaks, and Woodhouse-Eaves are in it; and will be sepa-

Oaks, and Woodhouse-Eaves are in it; and will be separately noticed. The property of it is in six manors, belonging to different owners.

CHARSFIELD, a parish in Woodbridge district, Suffolk; 34 miles WNW of Wickbam-Market r. station, and 54 N of Woodbridge. Post-town, Wickbam-Market Acres, 1,299. Real property, £2,397. Pop., 484. Houses, 103. The living is a vicarage in the diocese of Norwich. Value, £100.* Patron, Earl Howe. The church is a neat brick structure. There are a Eaptist should be a property of the property chapel, a national school, and charities #S.

chapel, a national school, and charities 48. CHART, or CHIERT, a chapelry in Frensham parish, Surrey; 5 miles SSE of Farnham r. station. It was constituted in 1865; and it has a post-office under Farnham. Pop., 425. The living is a p. curacy. Value, £150. Patron, the Archdeacon of Surrey. CHART AND LONGERIDGE, a hundred in the lathe of Shepway, Kent; containing Great Chart parish and ten other parishes. Acres, 21,655. Pop. 5,303. CHART-OGNEE, a locality in Chart-next-Sutton-Valence parish, Kent; 5 miles N by E of Staplehurst. It has a post-office under Staplehurst.

It has a post-office under Staplehurst.
CHARTER-HOUSE, an extra-parochial place in Holburn district, London; near Aldersgate Street and Smithfield, 3 of a mile N of St. Paul's. It includes a smithent, 3 of a mile N of St. Pails. It includes a square and gardens; comprises 10 acres; and extends slightly into the extra-parochial liberty of Glasshouse-yard. It was purchased, in 1349, by Bishop Stratford, to be a burial-place for victims of the plague; became the site, in 1371, of a Carthusian priory, founded by Sir Walter Manny; passed, in 1537, to the Crown; and was purchased, in 1611, for £S1,217, by Thomas Sutton, to a much shape of a public acked. The half-liberty was be made the place of a public school. The buildings are partly ancient, partly modern; form seven courts, of collegiate appearance; and include an ancient pointed gateway and a great Tudor hall; the latter erected by the Duke of Norfolk and the Earl of Suffolk. The school has an income of about £28,000; is governed by the Queen, the Prince of Wales, the two Archbishops, the Bishop of London, and twelve elected noblemen and gentlemen; consists of 44 scholars on the foundation, and usually from 120 to 130 "externs;" and numbers among its famous pupils Bishops Monk and Thirlwall, Judge Blackstone, Lord Chief-Justice Ellenborough, Dr. Barrow, Addison, Steele, John Wesley, Grote, the Earl of Liverpool, Sir Charles Eastlake, Thackeray, and General Havelock.

CHARTER-HOUSE, an extra-parochial place in Scul-

CHARTER-HOUSE, an extra parenna prace in scar-coates parish, E. R. Vorkshire; I mile N of Hull. CHARTER-HOUSE-HINTON, a parish in Bath dis-trict, Somerset; on the verge of the county, near the Ridge-way, 1 mile S of Freshford r. station, and 41 SSE Indige-way, I mile S of Freshford F, station, and 44 SSE of Bath. It has a fost-office under Bath. Acres, 2,890. Real property, £4,527. Pop., 615. Houses, 135. A Carthusian priory was founded here, in 1232, by Ela, Countess of Salisbury, and some remains of it, supposed to have been the chapter-house, the refectory, and the dormitory, still exist. Hinton Great Abbey House belonged formerly to the Hungerfords; is now the seat of Lieut.-Col. Cotgrave; and contains some fine paintings. Some Roman relies, including coins, pottery, and traces of an amphiliteatre, have been found. The living is a vicarage in the diocess of Eath and Wells. Value, £100.* Patron, the Vicar of Norton-St. Phillip. The £100. Patron, the Vicar of Norton-St. Phillip. The church is ancient. There is a national school. CHARTER-HOUSE-ON-MENDIP, an extra-parochial ville in Axbridge district, Somerset; adjacent to Blagdon parish, 5 miles E by N of Axbridge. Acres, 2410, Pop., S2. Houses, 16. It had anciently a cell to Witter Charles.

Fon. 82. Houses, 16. It had anciently a cell to Witham Carthusian priory; and it is still ecclesistically connected with Witham-Friary parish.
CHARTERIBOE, a hamlet in Chesham parish, Bucks; near Chesham. Real property, £1,960. Pop., 404.
CHART (Genzar) a village and a parish in West Ashford district, Kent. The village stands adjacent to the Ashford and Tunbridge railway, near the river Stour, 2 miles W by S of Ashford; and has a post-office under Ashford. It was formerly a market-town; and it still Asinote. It was to fine the a mathematical and its above has a fair on 5 April. The parish comprises 3,281 acres. Real property, £4,389. Pop., 806. Houses, 152. The property is divided among a few. The manor helonged anciently to Christ Church, Canterbury; and belongs now to the Chapter there. An earthquake was felt here in 1580. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canter-bury. Value, £600.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church is chiefly perpendicular English; was much repaired, in the 15th century, by the Goldwell family; and contains monuments of the Goldwells, the Tokes, and others. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a Tokes, and others. There are a Wesleyan chapel, a national school, and two alms-houses.

CHARTHAM, a village, a paris:, and a sub-district, in Bridge district, Kent. The village stands on the river Stour and the South-eastern railway, 3½ miles SW of Canterbury; and has a r. station, and a post-office under Canterbury. It was known at Domesday as Certeham; it occupies a low site, round a green; and it contains a house built by Dr. Delangle, a French refugee who became rector here, and marked by a bust of Charles II. The parish includes also Horton, consisting of 399 acres, and the hamlets of Chartham-Hatch and Shalmsacres, and the manners of cantilant read and similar ford-Street. Acres, 4,530. Real property, £6,672. Pop., 1,009. Houses, 242. The property is much subdivided. The manor was given, in $71, to Christ Church, Canterbury; belongs now to the Chapter there; and is still called the Deanery. Chartham downs, above the village, have remains of a number of tumuli, called Danes' Banks; and are marked by lines of ancient entrench-One of the earliest discoveries of great fossil bones, giving rise to the modern science of paleontology, was made, in 1668, at Chartham, in the sinking of n well. A large paper mill is at the back of the village. The living is a rectory in the diocese of Canterbury. Value, £800.* Patron, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The church is cruciform, variously early and decorated English; has rare and very beautiful tracery in the windows, and an embattled tower at the west end; and contains brasses, monumental slabs, a monument of Dr. Delangle, and an elaborate monument, by Rysbrach, of Sir William Young. There is a Wesleyan chapel.—The sub-district contains nine parishes, part of another, and an extra-parchial tract. Acres, 18,523. Pop., 5,020. Houses, 1,051.

CHARTHAM-HATCH, a hamlet in Chartham parish, Kent: 1 mile N of Chartham village. CHARTINGTON. See CARTINGT See CALTINGTON.

CHARTLEY-HOLME, or CHARTLEY-LODGE, and xtra

